Fifteen Feared Dead As Radar Plane Falls

NANTUCKET, Mass., (AP) — A U.S. Air Force plane loaded with sophisticated radar gear crashed into the Atlantic Ocean like "a ball of fire" Tuesday night. There was only one known survivor among the 16-member crew.

The pilot, Col. James P. Lyle, 47, was credited with ditching the four-engined Superconstellation in a heroic effort to avoid the sleepy island village of Nantucket.

Lyle, who has 47 combat missions on his record, was one of 13 crewmen missing. Two bodies were recovered.

Rescued from the water was Lt. Joseph L. H. Guenet, 29, Montreal, Que., the navigator. He was listed in fair condition.

"I am convinced that he—Lyle—was fighting desperately to get it to the water and avoid this summer colony," said Albert L. Manning, one of three experienced private pilots who agreed that a last-minute maneuver kept the craft from striking the island.

The plane left Otis Air Force Base at Falmouth on Cape Cod at 6:50 p.m. and crashed in flames 10 minutes later 1¼ miles south of Nantucket, an island just off the coast of Massachusetts.

The piston-powered craft was one of several the Air Force uses as "pickets," flying race track patterns in 12-hour shifts over an area extending over the Atlantic from the Canadian border to Charleston, S.C.

An eight-man investigating board headed by Col. Albert Evans, commander of the 21st Air Division, McGuire AFB, N.J., was appointed to probe the crash, third of such a craft within the past two years.

Skies were clear and visibility almost unlimited this morning as search boats, planes and helicopters swarmed over the area.

All that could be seen, however, was a large oil slick, a half mile square. There was no sign of survivors or debris.

Lyle was commander of the 551st Airborne Early Warning and Control Wing at Otis in nearby Falmouth.

Rene A. Orleans, one of the private pilots who witnessed the crash, said he had "never seen anything like it. It skidded along the water for about 4,000 feet and when it hit there was this huge burst of fire and a big red fireball."

Officials at Otis said they had reports before the crash that crewmen were manning individual life rafts for a ditched landing at sea, but there were doubts that many could have survived the explosion.

If the crewmen were able to don their rubber suits and escape in the life rafts, they could survive at sea "for a considerable period of time," Col. John M. Konosky, wing vice commander, told a news conference at Otis.

The crash was the third fatal plunge in less than two years involving Otis radar planes, which fly air defense missions between Newfoundland and Bermuda. The propeller-driven craft cost $2.5 million and carry additional millions worth of radar equipment.

Manning, chairman of the island's Airport Commission, and two pilots airborne near the island airport — Orleans and Michael Lamb — said Lyle apparently made a last-minute decision to ditch at sea instead of risking a fiery landing at the airport.

The craft was less than 10 minutes out of Otis and carried about 7,330 gallons of fuel.

Kiesinger, Johnson Sound Agreement

By CARL HARTMAN

BONN, German (AP) — President Johnson said today he and West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger agreed they would have "constant, complete and full consultations" before either of their governments takes decisions on matters of interest to both countries.

The President spoke to newsmen after his second meeting with the West German chancellor since his arrival Sunday for the funeral of former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Johnson said he and Kiesinger had taken "no hard and fast decisions" but he hoped there would be more to announce after the chancellor visits the United States "at an early date."

The two men spent more than two hours together at Kiesinger's residence. The President said they discussed:

1. The projected treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons;

2. Trade and monetary problems;

3. Troop deployment;

4. The security of the two nations;

5. The prosperity of their peoples.

After the discussions with Kiesinger, Johnson took off by plane for Washington accompanied by Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Kiesinger, who spoke to newsmen first, put the emphasis on the agreement to consult. West German leaders have often complained in the past that they were not consulted sufficiently before American decisions.

Kiesinger has said that the Soviet Union and the United States were in "atomic complicity" on the nuclear pact, to which the West Germans have strong objections.

"We will speak openly to one another," Kiesinger said, 'without doing anything of which the other is not informed."

Johnson referred to Adenauer as "the great man who was laid to rest yesterday, whose passing we all mourn."

"He would have wanted us to do what we have done: reaffirm the friendship between the people of the Federal Republic of Germany and the people of the United States of America" Johnson said.

He and Kiesinger, Johnson went on, would review their problems in depth when Kiesinger visits the United States.

"It was clear from our discussions," he added, "that the friendship and the close relationship of two decades will be continued and that there will be constant, complete and full consultations before action by either country."

Johnson predicted that there would be differences of opinion, but that the consultations would be not only friendly but result in agreements that would meet the approval of both peoples.

"We want peace in the world and prosperity for all people," Johnson concluded. "By working together we can make a contribution to these goals."

Kiesinger thanked Johnson for coming "with so many distinguished Americans" to the Adenauer funeral.

In Paris, the French cabinet was told that Presidentu Charles de Gaulle and Johnson had a friendly talk Tuesday at the Adenauer funeral and that they brought up the possibility of a future meeting.

Girl, 14, Is Wounded

Lynda Mae Hughes, 14-year-old daughter of Silas Hughes, Route 3, received a serious gunshot wound in the left shoulder at the family home about 7 o'clock Tuesday night.

Sheriff's Authorities, who investigated the shooting, said the girl obtained a .22 caliber pistol from under the mattress of her bed and apparently shot herself accidentally.

Other members of the family were outside when the shooting occurred, according to officers, and they discovered the girl on the bedroom floor when they went inside the house after hearing a shot. They took her to Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Officials at the hospital described her condition as serious rather than critical. She was transferred to Hendrick Memorial Hospital by Snyder Ambulance Service.

Damaged Cable Cuts Off Some Phones

Approximately 75 telephones in the north part of town were out of service temporarily this morning when a cable was damaged at the intersection of Avenue R and Twenty-fourth Street, the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. announced.

Cecil Fowler, Telephone Co. Manager, said a 300-pair cable was accidentally damaged while some repairs were being made to other utility lines in the area. The incident occurred at about 8:15 a.m. and repairs were expected to be completed to restore full service by noon.

Flash Fire Ruins Auto

A late model car was destroyed in a flash fire at Hometown Motor Sales, 1100 Twenty - fifth Street, about 9:30 a.m. today.

Sam Stephens, co-owner of the firm along with Pinky Ferguson, said mechanics were cleaning the motor of the car when the flash fire erupted.

Nobody was injured, but flames spread quickly over the car and caused considerable damage to the re-conditioning shed just west of the main office.

Stephens estimated damage to the car at $2,500 and damage to the shed at $1,500. The extent of loss to materials in the shed had not been immediately determined, but total damages could be as high as $5,000.

The car had been sold last month to J. T. Laroux, 3021 Thirty - eighth Street.

City Firemen extinguished the blaze.

Preliminary Hearing Ordered For Cassius

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) Federal Judge Allen B. Hannay ordered today a preliminary hearing on efforts by attorneys for Cassius Clay to block the heavyweight champion's Friday induction into the armed services.

Hannay set the hearing for 2 p.m. Thursday, just 18 hours before Clay is scheduled to report at the Houston induction center.

The final court round to halt the induction asks that Hannay prevent the government from taking criminal action against Clay while the champion challenges the legality of the selective service system.

Local Realtors Are Urged To Accept Responsibility

"Responsibility rests with local realtors."

That was the message brought by Pleas C. Naylor, Jr., president of the Texas Real Estate Association to Snyder realtors in a speech at the American Restaurant Tuesday night.

A member of the faculty at St. Mary's College in his native San Antonio, Naylor urged his audience to be "community builders" through active participation in future planning affecting their city.

He called for support of a 1 per cent sales tax, thus broadening the base of the tax structure. Naylor said that governing bodies need more money, but that it should come from sources other than taxes on real property. Real estate has been taxed heavily over the years, he said, and that is one reason why the state association has endorsed a sales tax.

A member of the Texas Real Estate Commission and advisor to the Texas Industrial Commission, Naylor said that the state and national associations are powerful because of support on the local level.

The World War II veteran praised action of the association in helping to prevent passage of "Title IV" last year. This bill, which would require private owners to rent property to persons regardless of race or color, if passed, would result in a removal of the freedom of choice, he said.

"LBJ brought it (the bill) back," said Naylor. The civic leader called for continued opposition to Title 4, terming it a "forced housing" law which threatens constitutional rights.

Naylor said realtors are "not just against things" but actively advocate legislation which will bring genuine improvement. In connection with this, he pointed out that present efforts of the Texas Real Estate Association for passage of House Bill 506 would set up an ethical code relationship between the seller and the public.

House bill 506 (or senate bill 215) is ready for floor action, according to the speaker. He said passage would result in better enforcement of ethical violations.

The bill calls for 30 hours of classroom work in the first year of selling and would require applicants for brokers licenses to have three years experience and 90 hours of classroom study.

"Mistakes by realtors and brokers through ignorance can be costly, said Naylor.

The bill is not designed to limit anyone or to prevent anyone from going into business, said Naylor, but it will result in higher standards of operation. Persons already licensed would not be affected by a "Grandfather" clause, he stated.

Master of ceremonies was Brud Boren, president of the Snyder Real Estate Association. He introduced the speaker. Invocation was given by Dr. A. B. Lightfoot, a guest of the local group.

US Pilots Press Raids On Hanoi

By EDWIN Q. WHITE

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Air Force pilots pressed their war against the Hanoi area with unrelenting fury today, bombing a key railway and highway bridge across the Red River four miles from the center of the North Vietnamese capital.

The steel and concrete bridge carries the only rail line between Red China and the North Vietnamese capital, the U.S. Command said.

U.S. spokesmen were unable to give an immediate assessment of damage to the bridge. They said it was a steel and concrete structure with five spans, 738 feet long and 20 feet wide, and with the center span is movable to allow passage of ships.

Other Air Force raiders from Thailand made the second attack of two days on an electrical transformer site seven miles north of Hanoi.

It was the third consecutive day of American raids on prime targets in North Vietnam's Hanoi-Haiphong heartland.

Pilots returning from the raids reported heavy opposition from antiaircraft fire, surface-to-air missiles and MIG jets. The American spokesman made no report of any planes downed, but a dispatch from Hanoi to Tass, the Soviet news agency, said a missile brought down one plane near Hanoi in flames and that Radio Haiphong reported four American planes and a helicopter were shot down there.

There was no immediate American announcement of any raids today in the Haiphong area, however.

The U.S. Command did announce the loss of two more American planes over North Vietnam Tuesday, raising the number admitted lost Monday and Tuesday to six during the strikes on MIG airfields and key targets around Hanoi and Haiphong. U.S. spokesmen said 516 American planes now have been lost in the air war against North Vietnam.

Military Leaders, Greek King Meet

By PHILIP DOPOULOS

ATHENS (AP) — King Constantine met today with members of Greece's New Military government in his royal palace in downtown Athens.

The 26-year-old monarch drove to the meeting from Tatoi Palace in the suburbs. This fact appeared to discredit reports that the military leaders who took over Friday were holding him a virtual prisoner there.

The meeting with the new government was the strongest evidence yet that Constantine was adjusting to the army takeover.

Speculation had grown that the king was opposed to the power seizure although launched in his name, and was resisting the military's pressure to lend his personal sanction.

Before the meeting, troops were withdrawn from most parts of Athens and calm prevailed throughout Greece. But the military regime kept the nation under tight rein.

The new rulers are acting under a 55-year-old siege law that strips the people of most of the guarantees normal to a democracy.

The law provides for:

— Arrest of anyone without a warrant and indefinite detention awaiting trial;

— No bail for political prisoners;

— Bans on gatherings of more than five persons, labor unions and all strikes;

— Censorship of press, radio, letters and all other communications.

The law was bolstered by an army order giving military authorities the right to search private homes; requiring all hunting rifles, shotguns and ammunition to be turned in to the nearest police station; canceling all hunting licenses and forbidding all hunting; requiring heads of households to report all persons living with them and any visitors or foreigners.

Soviet Union Nixes Bid To Improve Prisoners' Lot

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has turned down a U.S. request for a joint move to try to improve the lot of American prisoners of war in North Vietnam.

The rebuff from Moscow this week is interpreted in the State Department as fresh evidence of a toughening line on the part of the Soviet government in support of North Vietnam.

This marks a sharp swing away from the Soviet position in February when Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, meeting with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson in London, played an important role in seeking to get peace talks started.

The peace mission failed and apparently the Soviets found the failure and their part in it embarasuing because of their rivalry with Communist China in opposing the United States and supporting Communist forces in Vietnam.

Several days ago, U.S. officials said today, the United States asked the Soviet government to use its good offices with the North Vietnamese government to bring about a change in the condition of the POWs — captured American airmen — held by North Vietnam.

The Soviet reply, officials said, boiled down to saying North Vietnam is a sovereign country and the United States should take up its problem with Hanoi directly. The United States does not recognize or have direct relations with Hanoi, but officials said it already had addressed a new appeal to North Vietnam through the International Committee of the Red Cross.

The State Department's figures through April 18 show 128 American airmen confirmed as prisoners in North Vietnam, 52 suspected, and 203 missing — a total of 383.

A new wave of concern swept through the government here after publication recently of photographs of American POWs by an American photographer permitted to visit Hanoi. The photographs and descriptions gave rise to official fears the men might have been subject to drugs or brainwashing.

DEAR ABBY: If you suspect that your friend who also is a waiter might feel "insulted" should you try to tip him, why put a strain on the friendship? Eat somewhere else.

And one should not go to a restaurant where his friend is working expecting to "socialize" with him. Do your socializing when you are both off duty.

I was a waiter for many years and some of my best friends still are, so I am not talking thru my . . .

Since tips are his main source of income, why not? I have no qualms whatsoever accepting payment for the dental work I do for my friends.

DEAR ABBY: I am a waiter in one of the most famous resorts in the Catskills, so I can speak with some authority on whether to tip a friend who wait on you.

The friend who sits at your table is taking up the same amount of space and time as a stranger would, so I say he should leave a tip.

I might add that I have been a waiter for nearly 20 years and I saw only one waiter who was "insulted" when a friend of his left a tip. (This waiter went to the men's room and cried, so you know what kind of "man" he was.)

SIGN ME AL

DEAR ABBY: Offering a tip to a waiter who also is a personal friend is as justified as paying for groceries even tho the grocer is your grandfather.

An exception may be noted: If the waiter invites you to drop by for an evening to enjoy the cuisine and the show, a tip would not be in order since it was his suggestion that you spend an evening at his table.

DEAR ABBY: After my husband died, I was left with no financial assets — only bills, so I returned to college at the age of 30 to get my degree. To accomplish this, I took a job as a cocktail waitress.

I had to eat, pay my bills, and drive my car, and I tipped just as everyone is expected to do.

One of these days I am going to get my teeth fixed, my gallstones removed, patronize a beauty parlor regularly, and and even take a trip and stay in certain hotels. But this won't cost me as much as you think, because I am going to all my "good friends" who never tipped me because they didn't want to "insult" me. So I won't "insult" them by offering them money either.

POLLY

DEAR ABBY: Waiters very often belong to a "pool" or "kitty," and must share their tips with other waiters, bus-boys, and sometimes captains, so they cannot rightfully refuse tips that do not belong to them entirely. That is why my husband who is a waiter is obliged to accept a tip from his own father!

A&M Ups Dorm Fees

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Citing the extension of the federal minimum wage as the cause, the directors of Texas A&M University adopted Tuesday a $20 raise in per semester fees and said all students living in dormitories would have to pay board fees.

The action increased from $308 to $328 per semester the fee for room, board and laundry at the school. Directors said extension of the minimum wage to some employes was responsible.

The board approved a record $4,067,903 in contracts and other allocations for new facilities and improvements. William Maters of San Antonio submitted the low bid of $2,131,750 for general construction in expansion of the school's veterinary medicine complex.

Taylor Manufacturing Co. of Taylor got a contract for laboratory furniture and equipment on a $197,524 bid. The total cost of the veterinary school expansion is expected to exceed $4 million.

Stein Architectural Products of Fredericksburg got a contract for shelving and fixtures in the Texas A&M library addition on a $309,782 bid.

AF Plane Crashes Into Austin Home

AUSTIN (AP) — An Air Force reconnaissance plane crashed in flames and the two men aboard perished as it skidded into a modest frame home Tuesday night.

Lorenzo Caldwell his wife and six children escaped through the back door of their house as the twin jet RF4C struck and exploded. The dwelling burned.

Authorities at Bergstrom Air Force Base where the ship was based, identified the dead as Lt. Col. Lewis J. Cowart 42, the pilot, of Austin and Capt. Charles J. Ramone 34, the navigator, of Houston.

The craft struck in an open field 200 yards short of a runway after severing power lines as it returned from a training mission to Berstrom, on the southeast side of Austin. Power was knocked out for a time at the base and elsewhere in the vicinity.

Firemen found the fuselage of the plane in the Caldwells' kitchen. Witnesses reported the plane crossed a roadway and skidded more than 100 yards before hitting the house.

Caldwell, a son and a daughter were treated for minor cuts. Others in the family were unhurt.

Judge Denies Hoffa's Bid

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Teamsters President James R. Hoffa's bid for temporary freedom from the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., was denied without comment today by U.S. Dist. Judge Frank W. Wilson.

Wilson, in a five-page order on motions and procedure, also sharply limited the scope of a hearing to start May 9 on Hoffa's fourth motion for a new jury tampering trial. He ruled that evidence growing out of a Supreme Court wiretapping decision favorable to a Hoffa lieutenant would not be admissible.

Hoffa, who began serving an eight-year sentence for jury-tampering at Lewisburg, asked earlier this month to be released on bail so he and his lawyers could prepare for the upcoming hearing.

Bombing Reaches Incredible Rate

By BOB HORTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — The tactic is bomb, bomb, bomb — and U.S. planes are doing it over North and South Vietnam at the incredible rate of more than 3,000 pounds a minute around the clock.

In March, as the administration quickened its drumbeat of explosive persuasion against Communist targets in the two countries, American planes unleashed 77,000 tons of bombs — a one- month record for the war.

This total is just short of the 80,000 tons dropped in Europe during the average month of the peak year of bombing in World War II.

With the recent intensification of raids over the North and the widening of the approved target list, the April tonnage seems likely to exceed the World War II rate.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara often points to the bomb tonnages to show that the magnitude of air operations in Southeast Asia "is just unbelievable. . . fantastic in size against any previous standards."

The 77,000 tons in March compares with 29,000 tons per month spilled against the Japanese at the height of World War II operations in the Pacific, and with 17,000 tons a month dropped during the Korean War.

The bulk of the effort it directed at North Vietnam, although airpower is used on an unprecedented scale to support ground operations in the south.

In various configurations and sizes — from 250 pounds to one-tonners, plain impact types to delayed fuses — bombs are hitting virtually anything directly or indirectly associated with Communist operations in South Vietnam.

This includes roads, highways, bridges, railroads, trucks, boats, barges, fuel tanks — and most recently major power plants and MIG fields in North Vietnam.

Destruction is not the only reason for the bombing.

Although no administration official has ever stated publicly that U.S. planes are being used to terrorize North Vietnam, Air Force Secretary Harold Brown said pointedly in a major policy speech last December:

"All of these targets are hostages to U.S. airpower which operates over North Vietnam every day. That power can be increased to a much higher level if it is concluded, on balance, that this will contribute to the attainment of our objectives.

"It is also a constant and visible reminder to the people of North Vietnam that their leaders cannot avoid the cost of aggression."

Still, administration spokesmen say the chief consideration in the selection of targets is the question of how many civilians might be killed. Policy is to avoid, or at least minimize, damage to the populace.

The massive reliance on bombs forced the Pentagon to order full speed ahead on production last year, so much so that now the brakes are being applied.

March production almost went over 100,000 tons, and bomb stocks in Vietnam surged from 61,000 tons in inventory a year ago to 209,000 tons on hand last month.

Officials, concerned that "we're going to sink the whole place with the weight of bomb tonnage," called for a cutback, and production for April, May, June and July is being trimmed to 80,000 tons monthly.

Soldier Reports Real Hole In The Road

NEW YORK (AP) — The Long Island Press, a New York newspaper, periodically runs a hole-in-the-road campaign. If a person spots a pothole, he fills out a form that appears in the paper and mails it in. The Press notifies the authorities and they no doubt fix the street defect.

The Press got this complaint: a highway hole 300-feet long, 18 inches deep and 5 to 10 feet wide.

U.S. Army Spec. 4 M. Anderson, who sent in the form, says the hole is near Quan Loi, Vietnam, where he is serving.

Rifle Is Reported Stolen From Home

Someone stole a .30-30 caliber Winchester rifle from the home of Ronney Autrey, 1205 Twenty-eighth Street, Monday night while he was out of town on a trip, according to a City Police report.

Officers also are investigating an act of vandalism. Some youths reportedly threw a rock through a window of the Bill Wright residence, 1503 Avenue S, about 10 o'clock Tuesday night.

Tomato Pieces Contribute Color, Flavor To Loaf

A meat loaf that's distinctly different from what you've had before is made zesty with horseradish and colorful with tomatoes and green pepper.

Beef and Tomato Loaf, make with two pounds of ground beef, makes eight servings. Soft bread crumbs, with milk poured over them, start the easy preparation procedure for this generous - sized loaf.

When only five or six servings are required for dinner, the remainder may be used for sandwiches. Since horseradish is in the loaf itself, make sandwiches with lettuce and mayonnaise, with mustard, if desired.

Beef and Tomato Loaf

2 pounds ground beef
1-3 cup milk
1½ cups soft bread crumbs
1 medium onion, chopped
¼ cup chopped green pepper
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon prepared horseradish
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
2 eggs, beaten
3 firm medium - size tomatoes, cut in 1-inch pieces

Pour milk over bread crumbs. Add ground beef, onion, green pepper, salt, pepper, horseradish, Worcestershire sauce and eggs. Mix thoroughly, add tomato pieces and mix lightly. Pack in a 9 x 5-inch loaf pan. Bake in a slow oven (300 degrees) for 1½ to 1¾ hours. 8 servings.

It's best to use the exact ingredients called for in cake recipes; for example, butter and shortening cannot always be successfully switched in these rules. To be on the safe side, when butter is called for in a cake formula, use butter; when shortening is recommended, use shortening.

Reaction Shows Critics Are Also Sensitive To Criticism

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is said to be very sensitive to criticism about his handling of the war in Vietnam. But his critics seem sensitive too to criticism about criticism.

There was a good example of it this week after Gen. William C. Westmoreland made a 5-paragraph speech on the war — enough to fill half of a newspaper page — and then answered questions that took up the rest of the page.

But in all he said the commander of the U.S. forces in Vietnam used only one paragraph, plus one sentence in another paragraph to criticize American critics of the war.

It was this bit about the critics that the critics seized upon, skipping over the rest of the speech which Westmoreland made to the annual meeting of The Associated Press in New York.

He was accused of being a kind of messenger boy for Johnson — a propaganda agent — ordered by Johnson to say what he said.

Yet, it was a very excellent speech, full of details and background and explanations for the U.S. part in the war the very kind of speech some people think Johnson should have made long ago to the American people, but hasn't.

Briefly, Westmoreland said this about the criticism at home: While the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese are discouraged by military defeats, they are encouraged to keep on fighting by the criticism.

They interpret the criticism, he said, as "crumbling morale" in this country and popular opposition to the war. He added: The longer the enemy keeps fighting the higher the cost in American lives.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., perhaps Johnson's most persistent critic on the war, protested that Westmoreland's criticism of the critics was part of a Johnson administration attempt to "shut up" dissenters and link dissent with treason.

Fulbright last year said he looked upon the Vietnam conflict as a civil war and "I think we are . . . intervening in a civil war."

But Westmoreland, with a ringside seat in Vietnam as commander there for three years, said in his speech that the war is anything but civil, that it is a boldfaced attempt by the Communist North to take over the non-Communist South.

To explain why, he went into a lot of detail which may satisfy those Americans who were puzzled about who did what to whom. But it undoubtedly won't move the critics an inch, including Fulbright.

Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., another war critic, stated off the attack in the Senate on Westmoreland's speech with a speech of his own that called for an end to the bombing although the enemy never moved any closer to the peace table when Johnson ordered a bombing pause a number of times.

McGovern said he didn't blame Westmoreland for what he said because "he is obviously doing both in Vietnam and in New York exactly what he was told to do by his commander in chief, the President."

Westmoreland failed if, as Fulbright claimed, he was just a Johnson mouthpiece trying to silence the dissenters. As can be seen from this, instead of feeling chastened, the speech started the critics all over again.

Johnson and Westmoreland must have figured it would. In this war few seem to change their minds. Therefore, it would seem the best Westmoreland could hope for was to make the critics self-conscious.

It seemed to do that, all right, judging from their fast reaction.

Junior Editors Quiz on CATAMARANS

QUESTION: Why do people build catarmaran boats?

* * *

ANSWER: The ordinary sailing or motor boat has only one hull. Catarmarans are boats having two hulls, just alike. They are usually long and narrow and fastened together as shown in cross section (2). Modern catarmarans have descended from small craft sailed in Eastern and Pacific Ocean areas. In (1) we see a narrow South Seas canoe, with an outrigger, a long log held away from the hull by two supports. Sailors may climb out on this log to prevent the boat from heeling (tipping). If it heels the other way, the log will rest on the water and prevent the boat from going over too far. The twin hulls of catarmarans work in much the same way, and they are built and used today because they are so stable. In (3), you can see that the wind is coming from the right, but the air-filled hull on the left is preventing the boat from heeling down on that side. The catarmaran idea is also being used in the making of modern motor boat hulls. Here, the stability of the catarmaran is particularly useful, because modern motor craft travel at such a high speed.

You'll Need Double Talk This Summer

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Spring is a good time to start brushing up on the double talk you'll need in the long hot summer ahead.

Double talk of course changes as the seasons do. You would no more use last winter's double talk in August than you would wear a heavy overcoat to a picnic.

What is double talk? It is the safety valve of civilized conversation. It is the art of saying something that is socially acceptable while your own mind keeps its inner sanity by thinking what you'd really like to say. It is a form of necessary and enlightened hypocrisy.

Here, for example, are a few typical samples of double talk you may find useful in the coming months — followed by their literal translations.

"I just love hot weather, don't you?" — Our air-conditioner has broken down again.

"It's so balmy out, I really wouldn't mind walking." — But if you don't hail us a cab, Buster you're the one who's balmy.

"You look so cool in your new short haircut, Myrtle." — It looks like it had been gnawed off by a dog with a broken tooth.

"No, of course, I don't think that new bikini is a bit too daring. After all, dear, with a shape like yours what is there to hide?" — But you'd attract even more attention at the beach if you wore sandwich boards advertising the circus.

"Darling, have you and your husband really made up your minds to go to the mountains?" — Because, if you have, my husband and I are definitely going to the seashore.

"Mind if I join you fellows to make it a foursome? The ones I usually go around the course with couldn't make it today" — Ever since they caught me lying about my score, I've been playing alone

"This year we've decided just to stay at home It is really so much more restful" — All my husband's credit cards have been canceled, and the bank refused us a loan

"Just take off your shoes and make yourselves to home. Here in the country, naturally, we like to live as informally as possible." — But next year we do plan to put in an indoor bathroom.

"I can't tell you how much fun we had staying with you." — But it doesn't nearly come up to the sheer ecstasy of leaving.

"Come back anytime. The latchstring is always out Remember, we don't think of you as guests" — Parasites.

Another Project By Gainesville Jaycees

GAINESVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Members of the Gainesville Junior Chamber of Commerce recently carried out another of their traditional community service projects.

The Jaycees cleaned up the former Southland Paint Co. facilities on Moran Street. They put the premises in first-rate condition for an inspection tour by a new industrial prospect.

The 40,000 square foot building has been vacant since early January, when Southland moved into its new facilities in the Gainesville industrial park.

The Houston Astros opened spring training with five catchers.

FCA WEEK — Snyder Mayor M. L. Broman signs a proclamation officially declaring the week of April 27 through May 3 as "Fellowship of Christian Athletes Week in the City of Snyder." Interested observers are, from left to right, standing, Jack Greene, Murry Bowden and Tommy Bullard, all of the Snyder Huddle of Christian Athletes.

Tigers Blank Cubs, 5 To 0

The Snyder Tigers kept alive their hopes in the District 3-AAA baseball race here Tuesday afternoon with a convincing 5-0 shutout of Brownfield's Cubs. Over in Lamesa the same afternoon, the Tors remained atop the chase with a late rally which brought them a 10-9 win in a slugfest with Levelland.

Lane McMillan blanked the Cubs on three singles — one each in the 2nd, 3rd and 5th frames. Brownfield was able to put only one man on second base — in the 3rd — and nine of the Cubs went down on strikes. Moreover, Lane issued no free passes as he thwarted the visitors with ease.

Losing pitcher Ruben Garcia was tagged for six hits. The little lefty struck out 11, but he was bothered by a touch of wildness. He walked 7 and forced in a run in the 3rd. McMillan singled and strolled around the bases on successive walks to Steve Moffett, Mickey Almond and David Cadena.

Almond cracked a Gracia offering over the left field fence in the 5th, scoring Moffett, who had singled ahead of him. Cadena then doubled and scooted home on a single by Buddy Powell. Powell advanced on a passed ball and scored when the catcher dropped the ball in a play at the plate.

Snyder held the upperhand all the way, threatening in every inning except the 2nd when a doubleplay, pitcher - to - first - to - second, killed an early uprising.

Coach Speedy Moffett's boys host Levelland in a 2 p.m. affray Saturday, then entertain Lamesa here next Tuesday.

Bob Aspromonte has lined up with one-shot villains Elston Howard and Jim Fregosi on the pitchers union's Unwanted List.

But the Houston third baseman rates a special spot — alongside ex-teammate Joe Amalfitano — on Al Jackson's personal ledger.

Jackson, St. Louis' stylish little left-hander, allowed only one hit — a leadoff single by Aspromonte in the eighth inning — as the Cardinals blanked the staggering Astros 4-0 Tuesday night.

It was the third one-hitter in the majors this spring — and the second for Jackson in his seven-year National League career. Each time, he has picked on Houston.

Bill Rohr of Boston, making his first big league start 11 days ago against New York, held the Yankees hitless until Howard singled with two out in the ninth. Two days later, Baltimore's Steve Barber went into the ninth with a no-hitter against California before yielding a one-out single by Fregosi.

In 1962, Jackson's first year with the New York Mets, the slender sinkerballer fired a one-hitter against Houston, giving up a first-inning single to Amalfitano before slamming the door.

Aspromonte broke up the no-hit bit Tuesday night with a line shot to left. Otherwise, Jackson who came to St. Louis in a 1965 winter trade and posted a 13-15 record last year, was in complete command. He walked three and struck out three in hiking his early-season record to 2-1.

"It was one of my best games because I was in control all the way," he said afterward.

Reaction Shows Critics Are Also Sensitive To Criticism

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is said to be very sensitive to criticism about his handling of the war in Vietnam. But his critics seem sensitive too to criticism about criticism.

There was a good example of it this week after Gen. William C. Westmoreland made a 5-paragraph speech on the war — enough to fill half of a newspaper page — and then answered questions that took up the rest of the page.

But in all he said the commander of the U.S. forces in Vietnam used only one paragraph, plus one sentence in another paragraph to criticize American critics of the war.

It was this bit about the critics that the critics seized upon, skipping over the rest of the speech which Westmoreland made to the annual meeting of The Associated Press in New York.

He was accused of being a kind of messenger boy for Johnson — a propaganda agent — ordered by Johnson to say what he said.

Yet, it was a very excellent speech, full of details and background and explanations for the U.S. part in the war the very kind of speech some people think Johnson should have made long ago to the American people, but hasn't.

Briefly, Westmoreland said this about the criticism at home: While the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese are discouraged by military defeats, they are encouraged to keep on fighting by the criticism.

They interpret the criticism, he said, as "crumbling morale" in this country and popular opposition to the war. He added: The longer the enemy keeps fighting the higher the cost in American lives.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., perhaps Johnson's most persistent critic on the war, protested that Westmoreland's criticism of the critics was part of a Johnson administration attempt to "shut up" dissenters and link dissent with treason.

Fulbright last year said he looked upon the Vietnam conflict as a civil war and "I think we are . . . intervening in a civil war."

But Westmoreland, with a ringside seat in Vietnam as commander there for three years, said in his speech that the war is anything but civil, that it is a boldfaced attempt by the Communist North to take over the non-Communist South.

To explain why, he went into a lot of detail which may satisfy those Americans who were puzzled about who did what to whom. But it undoubtedly won't move the critics an inch, including Fulbright.

Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., another war critic, stated off the attack in the Senate on Westmoreland's speech with a speech of his own that called for an end to the bombing although the enemy never moved any closer to the peace table when Johnson ordered a bombing pause a number of times.

McGovern said he didn't blame Westmoreland for what he said because "he is obviously doing both in Vietnam and in New York exactly what he was told to do by his commander in chief, the President."

Westmoreland failed if, as Fulbright claimed, he was just a Johnson mouthpiece trying to silence the dissenters. As can be seen from this, instead of feeling chastened, the speech started the critics all over again.

Johnson and Westmoreland must have figured it would. In this war few seem to change their minds. Therefore, it would seem the best Westmoreland could hope for was to make the critics self-conscious.

It seemed to do that, all right, judging from their fast reaction.

The Houston Astros opened spring training with five catchers.

Junior Editors Quiz on CATAMARANS

QUESTION: Why do people build catamaran boats?

• • •

ANSWER: The ordinary sailing or motor boat has only one hull. Catarmarans are boats having two hulls, just alike. They are usually long and narrow and fastened together as shown in cross section (2). Modern catarmarans have descended from small craft sailed in Eastern and Pacific Ocean areas. In (1) we see a narrow South Seas canoe, with an outrigger, a long log held away from the hull by two supports. Sailors may climb out on this log to prevent the boat from heeling (tipping). If it heels the other way, the log will rest on the water and prevent the boat from going over too far. The twin hulls of catarmarans work in much the same way, and they are built and used today because they are so stable. In (3), you can see that the wind is coming from the right, but the air-filled hull on the left is preventing the boat from heeling down on that side. The catarmaran idea is also being used in the making of modern motor boat hulls. Here, the stability of the catarmaran is particularly useful, because modern motor craft travel at such a high speed.

You'll Need Double Talk This Summer

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Spring is a good time to start brushing up on the double talk you'll need in the long hot summer ahead.

Double talk of course changes as the seasons do. You would no more use last winter's double talk in August than you would wear a heavy overcoat to a picnic.

What is double talk? It is the safety valve of civilized conversation. It is the art of saying something that is socially acceptable while your own mind keeps its inner sanity by thinking what you'd really like to say. It is a form of necessary and enlightened hypocrisy.

Here, for example, are a few typical samples of double talk you may find useful in the coming months — followed by their literal translations.

"I just love hot weather, don't you?" — Our air-conditioner has broken down again.

"It's so balmy out, I really wouldn't mind walking." — But if you don't hail us a cab, Buster you're the one who's balmy.

"You look so cool in your new short haircut, Myrtle." — It looks like it had been gnawed off by a dog with a broken tooth.

"No, of course, I don't think that new bikini is a bit too daring. After all, dear, with a shape like yours what is there to hide?" — But you'd attract even more attention at the beach if you wore sandwich boards advertising the circus.

"Darling, have you and your husband really made up your minds to go to the mountains?" — Because, if you have, my husband and I are definitely going to the seashore.

"Mind if I join you fellows to make it a foursome? The ones I usually go around the course with couldn't make it today" — Ever since they caught me lying about my score, I've been playing alone

"This year we've decided just to stay at home It is really so much more restful" — All my husband's credit cards have been canceled, and the bank refused us a loan

"Just take off your shoes and make yourselves to home. Here in the country, naturally, we like to live as informally as possible." — But next year we do plan to put in an indoor bathroom.

"I can't tell you how much fun we had staying with you." — But it doesn't nearly come up to the sheer ecstasy of leaving.

"Come back anytime. The latchstring is always out Remember, we don't think of you as guests" — Parasites.

Another Project By Gainesville Jaycees

GAINESVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Members of the Gainesville Junior Chamber of Commerce recently carried out another of their traditional community service projects.

The Jaycees cleaned up the former Southland Paint Co. facilities on Moran Street. They put the premises in first-rate condition for an inspection tour by a new industrial prospect.

The 40,000 square foot building has been vacant since early January, when Southland moved into its new facilities in the Gainesville industrial park.

FCA WEEK — Snyder Mayor M. L. Broman signs a proclamation officially declaring the week of April 27 through May 3 as "Fellowship of Christian Athletes Week in the City of Snyder." Interested observers are, from left to right, standing, Jack Greene, Murry Bowden and Tommy Bullard, all of the Snyder Huddle of Christian Athletes.

Tigers Blank Cubs, 5 To 0

The Snyder Tigers kept alive their hopes in the District 3-AAA baseball race here Tuesday afternoon with a convincing 5-0 shutout of Brownfield's Cubs. Over in Lamesa the same afternoon, the Tors remained atop the chase with a late rally which brought them a 10-9 win in a slugfest with Levelland.

Lane McMillan blanked the Cubs on three singles — one each in the 2nd, 3rd and 5th frames. Brownfield was able to put only one man on second base — in the 3rd — and nine of the Cubs went down on strikes. Moreover, Lane issued no free passes as he thwarted the visitors with ease.

Losing pitcher Ruben Garcia was tagged for six hits. The little lefty struck out 11, but he was bothered by a touch of wildness. He walked 7 and forced in a run in the 3rd. McMillan singled and strolled around the bases on successive walks to Steve Moffett, Mickey Almond and David Cadena.

Almond cracked a Gracia offering over the left field fence in the 5th, scoring Moffett, who had singled ahead of him. Cadena then doubled and scooted home on a single by Buddy Powell. Powell advanced on a passed ball and scored when the catcher dropped the ball in a play at the plate.

Snyder held the upperhand all the way, threatening in every inning except the 2nd when a doubleplay, pitcher - to - first - to - second, killed an early uprising.

Coach Speedy Moffett's boys host Levelland in a 2 p.m. affray Saturday, then entertain Lamesa here next Tuesday.

Svetlana May Write A Sequel

NEW YORK (AP) — Svetlana Alliluyeva reportedly is considering writing a sequel to her soon-to-be-published memoirs describing her life in the Soviet Union after the death of Stalin, her father.

She has told friends the book might center on the disillusionment she and other Russian liberals experienced when curb on free expression were not lifted following the dictator's death.

Her first book, to be published by Harper & Row Oct. 16, ends with her father's death and deals with her childhood, family life and gradual estrangement from Stalin.

When she arrived here from Switzerland last Friday, she explained in a statement she had come "to seek the self-expression that has been denied me so long in Russia."

Today Mrs. Alliluyeva will hold a news conference at which she is expected to enlarge on that statement and detail her future plans. It will be televised and broadcast live by all major networks beginning at 2 p.m. EST.

Reporters were asked to submit their questions in writing in advance for the scheduled one-hour session at the Plaza Hotel.

On her arrival, Mrs. Alliluyeva greeted newsmen at Kennedy airport warmly but declined to answer questions. Her written statement said she had grown disillusioned with communism with age and experience.

Moreover, Mrs. Alliluyeva, 42, declared, "I found that it was impossible to exist without God in one's heart. That was a great change because since that moment the main dogmas of communism lost their significance for me."

She said she had left Moscow for New Delhi last December to scatter the ashes of the Indian she considered her third husband on the waters of the Ganges.

It was in India she decided to defect and applied for help to the U.S. Embassy. Though Washington officials feared her act might embitter Soviet-American relations, permission was given the embassy to do all possible.

She was flown first to Rome and then to Switzerland where she hid for six weeks. During that time, the State Department made a copy of her book available to George Kennan, onetime U.S. ambassador to Moscow, who made arrangements for its publication.

Since her arrival here she has been in seclusion at the Long Island estate of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Johnson, parents of Russian expert Priscilla Johnson Macmillan who is translating Mrs. Alliluyeva's memoirs.

Tormented User Of LSD Sent To Mental Hospital

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "When I see my face in the mirror, I see it turn into a thousand faces," said the handsome 19-year-old.

"He tried to poke out his eyes with his fingers," said his mother. "He tried to kill himself. It was as if there was something inside telling him this is what he was supposed to do."

The tall, husky youth was semiconscious and strapped to a bed when Superior Court Judge Allen Miller directed Tuesday that the teen-ager be committed to a state mental hospital. Hospital records said he couldn't stand the after-effects of his experiments with the drug LSD.

The bedside commitment was made at Los Angeles County General Hospital. His mother, a leader in Los Angeles social circles, told a newsman what had led to her son's present state.

He took the initial injection in February, she said. In March he became ill with serum hepatitis (liver trouble) — apparently from an infected needle. The mother, a registered nurse, decided to care for him herself.

"Then one of his friends slipped him some more LSD," she related. "It was about two weeks ago. I could tell something was wrong. I decided to sleep next to him on another living room couch.

"I woke up and found him completely covered with blood. There was blood all over the floor. I saw a razor blade and realized what had happened. He had slit his arm inside the elbow."

She called an ambulance from the family's fashionable apartment in West Los Angeles.

The youth was taken to the nearby UCLA Medical Center, where the wound was sutured.

"Mother," he asked, "why didn't you sleep another hour — and let me die?"

Fearing another suicide try, she had her son transferred to the psychiatric unit of the county hospital.

"He broke a glass, ripped his other arm and his throat," she said. "Then later, he took a pencil and tried to stab himself. Two orderlies grabbed him. But he broke loose and ran and tried to ram his head against a wall and break his neck.

"Then he tried to poke out his eyes with his fingers."

It was at Los Angeles County General Hospital on April 18 that Mark D. Sanders, a mental health counselor, interviewed the boy.

"He was strapped down, both eyes and his hands bandaged," Sanders recalled.

"When asked with whom he lived, he said he lived with God.

"He did not know how old he was and, when asked when he was born, he stated he was not born, he had been created.

"Asked if he had brothers and sisters, he said all the people in the world were his brothers and sisters."

Sanders said the youth then told of looking into a mirror and seeing a thousand reflections.

A medical examiner's report, which recommended institutionalization, said the youth was suffering from a schizoid reaction — split personality — "possibly LSD induced."

Bible Society Seeks Funds For Project

DALLAS (AP)—A continuing appeal for funds needed to put Bibles in the hands of Texas youths is under way. Funds were presented to the Texas Bible Society meeting in executive session by George F. Mixon Sr., chairman, and Bert Pfaff of Tyler, vice chairman. Each contributed $2,500.

The society, chartered in December, plans to purchase one million Bibles for distribution over the next five years. Each Bible costs about $1, officials said.

Liquor By Drink Bill Wins Approval For Debate

By LEE JONES

AUSTIN (AP)—After weeks of pulse-taking and predictions it was dead, Gov. John Connally's liquor by the drink bill won House Tax Committee approval Tuesday for floor debate.

The measure, with several provisions watered down to placate opponents, moved out of committee on a 10-7 record vote.

Four committee members, who probably would have swung the result the other way, were absent.

An uncertain future faces the bill on the House floor, where no poll has yet shown a majority in favor.

One roadblock to committee approval and possible House passage came down when an amendment was attached which allows liquor by the drink only in wet areas where voters affirmatively decide to have it.

The bill as originally written made liquor by the drink automatic in precincts where sale of distilled spirits was already legal and where beer and wine may already be served for on-premise consumption. The provision was designed to make the bill an immediate revenue raiser with its steep retail drink permit fees and nickel an ounce tax on drinks, payable at the wholesale level.

But Speaker Ben Barnes said Monday that Comptroler Robert S. Calvert had assured him the bill would bring in $15 million over the next two years without the automatic feature, which would have affected about 122 counties.

Another big change, softening somewhat the enforcement provisions for sale of liquor to minors, allows the Liquor Control Board to relax the requirement in specific cases of the six-month license suspension for serving a minor.

A licensee could keep his permit if he proved to the board's satisfaction he had shown "due diligence" in trying to obey the law against serving liquor to persons under 21.

Rep. Jim Nugent, Kerrville, tacked on an amendment based on Iowa's "dram shop law." The amendment makes the owners of establishments where liquor is sold liable for personal injuries or property damage by intoxicated persons. Liability would be up to $25,000 for property damage or personal injury and up to $50,000 for loss of earnings because of death or injury.

Rep. J. E. Johnson of Houston brought out the subcommittee report which made the big change in the local option feature.

Another provision in the committee amendment lowers the permit fee for veterans and fraternal clubs from $1,000 to $100 if the organizations have been chartered for at least five years.

Also added was a provision allowing the same owner to operate two separate establishments, one limited to beer and wine, the other serving liquor by the drink.

Connally's bill would allow legalized sale of mixed drinks only in restaurants, hotels, motels, lodges, private clubs and such common carriers as airlines, excursion boats and railways.

Retail drink permits would cost $1,000 a year and counties and cities could get an additional $500 for retail drink licenses.

The bill also toughens up the law against selling liquor to minors, and persons under 21 could be fined $10 to $100.

Private clubs in "wet" areas would get retail drink permits and be subject to the same rules as other permit holders.

Clubs in dry areas would pay special registration fees in the same amounts charged for retail drink permits. They also would pay a 10 per cent "occupational tax" on gross receipts for storing and serving liquor from members' own bottles.

Cub Pack 61 Launches Project

Cub Scout Pack 61 has embarked on "Project Kool Aid."

The project, which was initiated by Den 1, was inspired by a recent article in the Snyder Daily News about the appreciation expressed by men in Vietnam who had received Kool Aid to add to their drinking water.

The Cub Pack's project, Kool Aid will be collected at each Den meeting this week and then will be shipped to area servicemen serving in Vietnam.

Plans for the project were made at the pack meeting last night. Also during the meeting Cubmaster Charles Stephens presented awards to several boys, include Gold Arrow Points to Steven Morris, Jay Duck and Randy Parrott; a one-year award to Henry Surita; a Bobcat pin to Barry Chaney.

Opening ceremony was given by Den 1, and a skit, "Mountain Men;" was presented by Den 3. The closing ceremony was given by Den 2.

Attending the meeting were Frank Miller, institutional representative, and Del Hirst, ADC.

Historic Flight To Be Commemorated

SANTA, ANA, Calif. (AP) — A replica of Charles A. Lindbergh's "Spirit of St. Louis" will be flown to France to commemorate the 40th anniversary of his historic trans-Atlantic flight.

But with a little help.

The plane, bearing parts of five old Curtis-Wright J5B engines, will be loaded aboard a big cargo plane.

Not that it can't fly.

Frank Tallman owner of Tallmantz Aviation Co., who took the plane for a test flight at the Orange County Airport, said it handled perfectly during a 15-minute flight.

Once the plane arrives in France Tallman will pilot it to Le Bourget Air Field where Lindbergh ended his famous flight on May 11, 1927.
