EIGHTEENTH WEEK

... Son of a gun ...

Guess we may as well retile this column and call it "The Edgar A. Guest Cozy Corner of Verse At It's Best," or something, since every couple of weeks brings us a new poetry effort by somebody.

This week's contribution is from a former Sonoran, Don Dunklin, whose father was employed at the bank, and who, with his family, moved to Fort Worth about 20 years ago. Don now lives at 4601 Marks Place, Fort Worth, in case any of his old friends want to write him.

Here's what he has to say. "I passed through your swell little city a few weeks ago for the first time in many years. As I left when I was twelve, I had forgotten just about everything about it except for a few scenes and a few names. It was interesting how things came back as I drove around there for an hour or two.

Something I seldom do is to attempt poetry but in this case I have. If you ever hit a week where you need to fill up a little space, you might want to stick it in. People who can remember things there 25 or 30 years might get a kick out of it.

When I was there a Mr. Wilson ran the paper, I believe. I also remember when the paper was printed one sheet at a time with an old hand operated press, although I was too young to work there at the time. One of my most vivid memories was the fire that destroyed practically all of the business houses on the south side of the main street. I believe that was around 1926.

One thing that is apparent to any traveler is that Sonora is a clean, progressive little city."

SONORA

By Don Dunklin
I don't feel so young today,
For, as I traveled on my way
I passed the "land of the Angora".
A West Texas town named Sonora.
I looked 'way back to '21
When my life had just begun,
For I was then a tot of four,
(Or maybe just a little more.)
We lived between the school and town

Near a foot bridge, now torn down,
To remember more I have to delve,
Because we moved when I was twelve
Though I can't remember much,
I can recall a sheriff named "Hutch".

The school was run by a Mr. Britt
Who gave the pranksters quite a fit.

Then I recall some other folks
Like Johnny Hamby and Buzzy Stokes;
And Mr. Lowry, the County Official Who, on every document put his initial.

Mrs. McDonald, who ran the hotel
Had a daughter named Estelle,
The theater man, I nearly forgot,
Was King Victor Emanuel Scott.

The driver of the bus to Angelo
Had a daughter named Martha Jo,
She was my first sweetie, so you see

I can easily remember his name—
J. B. Lee.

Other people about whom I could tell
Were named Halbert, Sawyer, and Aldwell;

And there were the Trainers who ran the store,
And the Gilmore's and Hightowers,
To name two more.

Recalling schoolmates, that's an easier story,
Three were Herbert Fields, V. J. Glascock, and Sarah Ory;

And two other girls who looked quite sharp
Were Nina Roueche and Ches Thorp.

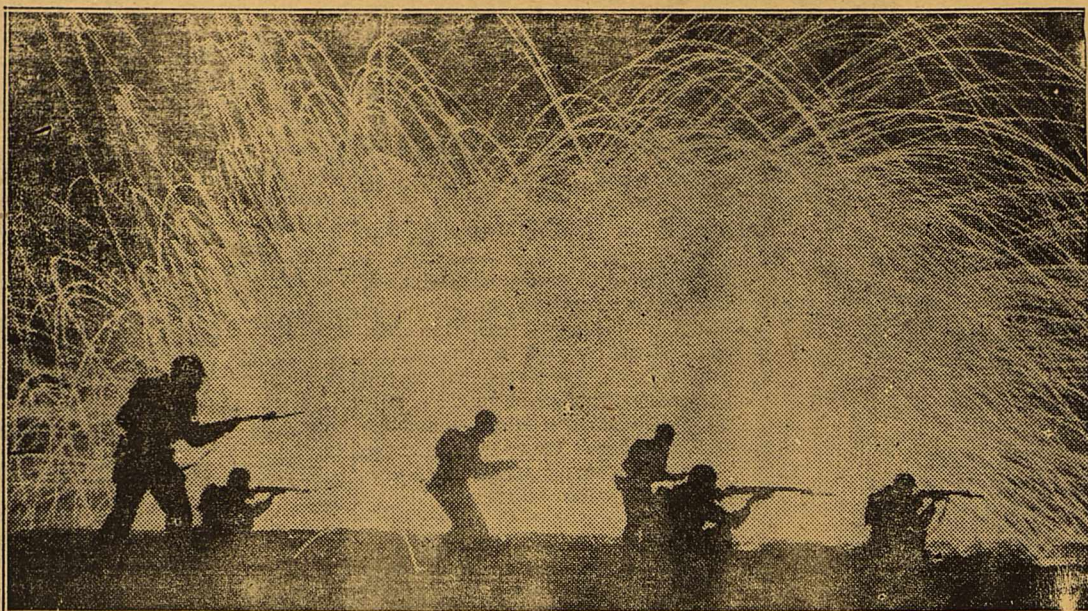

A trip to Angelo in a Model T
Always meant flats—at least two or three;
And you found bumper gates by the score

If you went a hundred miles or more.
Around the Ford Garage we'd take a spin
To Allison and Wardlaw's Dew Drop Inn;

And if a car you wanted to buy,
You'd first try Eaton's Hill in high.

I worked part time at the Devil's River News
Meltin' metal, foldin' papers, or whatever the boss would choose,
And I couldn't a had more fun with a million shekels

Than I had on the ranch of the Ben F. Meckels.

TACTICAL TRAINING WITH SPECTACULAR EFFECTS—White phosphorus bombs make an outstanding pattern during the tactical training problems of the 40th Infantry Division while at Camp Cook, California, before their departure for the Far East Command.

In some respects the town's changed a lot,
But in other ways it has not.
It's plain to see that the folks don't waver,
For the town's still got that western flavor.

I've always had a yen to return to the west,
For I'm sure as shootin' that the livin' there is best.
People shake your hand and say,
"How're things today?"
Shore makes a feller want to go back there to stay.

Sonorans' Kin POW In Korea

Milton Jones, Sonora driller, received a pleasant surprise Saturday when he spotted a picture of his brother, Pfc. Billie Wayne Jones, reported to be a Communist prisoner in Korea, in the Dallas Morning News.

Pfc. Jones was reported missing in action May 18, 1951. No other word was received until his name was announced over the radio during the recent peace talks in Korea. Since that time four letters have been received from him. In one of his letters he stated, "I am well and am doing pretty good. Would you send me a picture of you? (his father). Another letter, dated December 24, 1951, stated, "We are having a Christmas party and have plenty of good things to eat including chicken and ham."

Jones' brother received word from the army that he could write the prisoner one one-page letter a month and that Billie could not receive any packages or other mail.

Pfc. Jones came to Sonora in 1949 and was employed by the Wesley Young Drilling Company. He also worked for the Gene Cowan Drilling Company. He joined the army in July, 1950 and was sent overseas in January, 1951.

According to Mrs. Frank Mayhew, whose daughter is Jones' sister-in-law, Jones looked to be in good health in the picture. She also remarked that she hoped the picture of the prisoners enjoying a game of checkers was not just a pose.

The House approved the Hoover Commission plan to reorganize the Bureau of Internal Revenue last week. Under this new set-up, 64 tax collectors would be abolished and replaced by not more than 25 District Commissioners. In addition, all officials of the Bureau except the top Commissioner would be under Civil Service. It's now up to the Senate which must act before March 14 to prevent the plan from going into effect. I voted for the reorganization.

Pushing toward a show-down on UMT, the House Armed Services Committee last week concluded nearly a hundred witnesses being heard, pro-and-con. The Committee is considering a UMT Commission report on detailed plans for making this training a reality. Last year Congress adopted UMT in principle but provided that before it could go into effect a Commission be appointed, work out the details, and then Congress would approve or disapprove the plan as reported, with any desired changes.

The proposal—which is misunderstood in some quarters—is designed to give basic training for young men, then put them in ready reserve units. A civilian army would thus be created, with the likelihood of a smaller standing army and therefore burden to the taxpayers. The House will act on this issue within two or three weeks.

A LETTER THAT CAME in the mail last week quotes Dean Alfange as saying:

"I do not choose to be a common man. It is my right to be uncommon—if I can. I seek opportunity, not security. I do not wish to be a kept citizen, humbled and dulled by having the state look after me. I want to take the calculated risk: to dream and to build, to fail and to succeed."

"I refuse to barter incentive for a dole. I prefer the challenges of life to the guaranteed existence; the thrill of fulfillment to the stale calm of Utopia. I will not trade freedom for beneficence nor my dignity for a handout. I will never cower before any master nor bend to any threat. It is my heritage to stand erect, proud and unafraid; to think and act for myself, enjoy the benefit of my creations and to face the world boldly and say, 'This I have done.' All this is what it means to be an American."

Miss Darlene Meyer, of Raceland, Louisiana, returned home this weekend after a week's visit here in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Moore.

SANTA CLAUS COMES TO KOREA—More than 200 South Korean orphans are convinced that Santa Claus is a United States citizen. This Christmas they've received a whole tentful of gifts from hundreds of donors in 28 States, sent in response to appeals by U. S. Marines at an airbase near the orphanage. The presents included 40 cartons of clothing from a school in Ohio, 25 miniature automobiles from a Chicago manufacturer, scores of checks and money orders, and 25 seabags full of toys from a Boston Marine just home from Korea.

Originators of "Operation Santa Claus" were Sgt. Frank W. Czech of Chicago and Chaplain Joseph A. Sullivan of Newport, R. I., who interested other Marines in telling hometown newspapers of the youngsters' bleak Yule prospects. "A lot of little people doing a lot of big things," observed Father Sullivan.

The animals are four years old. Mr. Kelly already has seven dogs of this breed on his ranch, 13 miles below Sonora. With them, he not only hunts bob cats and bears for sport, but easily keep his pastures free of wolves and other beasts of prey.

Several years ago Mr. Kelly killed four mountain lions in the Glass Mountains of Brewster County. In June 1917, he and his wife went to Idaho on a trip to purchase bucks and while there Mr. Kelly slew eight big bears. Mrs. Kelly was with her husband when he brought down one of the big animals.

At Sonora gasoline sells at 38 cent a gallon, and if it is raining the dealers are apt to be out as they have to haul everything by truck.

It's Loaded—So Be Careful!

Before you drive the Golden Anniversary Cadillac, there is one thing we should like to impress upon you: It's loaded—so be careful!

There's more power in that dynamic engine than you'll ever need—except for the rarest emergency. And it should never, never be used for dramatic display on the get-away.

If somebody else wants the honors when the light turns green—let 'em go. You don't have to prove anything, anyway.

But that great power works for you—even when you're not unleashing it to the limit.

It works for you as a reserve—and gives you that easy, quiet, flowing ride which makes a Cadillac such a joy to own and such a thrill to drive...

It gives you that slow-moving engine—that simply loafs at all legal speeds—and which is a literal Methuselah when it comes to long life...

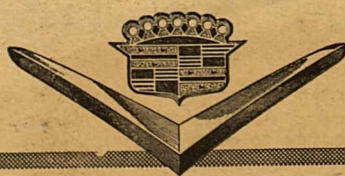

And it is a primary reason for that unbelievably low upkeep expense, at which Cadillac owners never cease to marvel. Some fleet owners have found, for instance, that Cadillacs cost less to operate and maintain than any other cars they have ever used. And the easy-going engine, that never operates under strain, is a big factor in this economy.

Yes—Cadillac's great power works for you—and is necessary—and is one of the vital reasons why Cadillac's performance is so outstandingly different.

But we trust that no Cadillac owner will ever use it for dominating the highway. To do so is not only counter to the rules of safety—but it is not in keeping with the graciousness the motoring public has come to expect from the person who sits at the wheel of a Cadillac.

Have you seen this great Golden Anniversary creation? If not, we should be pleased to welcome you to our showrooms—at any time.

How "big" should government be?

Lincoln was President at a time when the federal government had to take away from its citizens more rights and liberties than ever before.

But he didn't like it. He believed, with the writers of the Constitution and the Declaration, that our government should protect people's independence, not push people around.

"In all that the people can individually do as well for themselves, government ought not to interfere," Lincoln once said.

Lincoln never let Americans forget that. He kept reminding the nation that the government's vast wartime powers must be only temporary.

He made powerful enemies. For there are always those who want to see the government run things—and run people—permanently.

We have them today. They think up all kinds of reasons why the federal government should take over this or that business, industry, or service. They never say they want socialism. Maybe they don't even realize it. But that's actually what they propose.

Most Americans don't want socialism any more than you do. The job is to recognize it—and halt it—no matter what disguise it wears!

The people who plan and work for a socialistic U. S. A. know that permanent control of a few key industries and services will give government the power to take over just about everything. One of the key industries that they're trying to take over is electric light and power.

Parent - Teachers Association Observes Founders Day With Tea

The Sonora Parent Teachers Association celebrated Founders Day with a silver tea in the elementary school following a program in the auditorium. Miss Anne Palmer was the main speaker on the program. Her topic was "The Stat. us Quo". The talk concerned children and what they should be taught to make them better citizens. She stated "children should be taught there are better things in life than comic books and hillbilly music. They should be taught higher values and given an appreciation for what is best in good literature, music, art, architecture, and a higher value in morals and spiritual training."

Miss Palmer went on to say that although parents and teachers try to give them security and achieve security for ourselves financially, we cannot guarantee this security or even security of health to our children. The only thing we can do is teach them to learn to choose the best we have to offer in the arts and teach them an appreciation of these. Teach them what is right and good both morally and spiritually. She said, "We must teach and be tolerant ourselves of rance, religion, and creed different from our own, for it is this freedom on which America was founded. Most people feel that money can do anything but our children must be taught and we must return to a spiritual line of thought. Parents, by selecting radio programs, picture shows, and literature for their children, can help to develop a better way for the child and give it a better appreciation for what is good." She concluded with this thought: "That our children must be taught the best of the humanities might be a purpose of Founders' Day."

Mrs. Ben Cusenbary recalled some of the early history of the Sonora P.T.A. The organization was formed in 1913 or 1914 and was known as a Mothers' Club. Mrs. S. C. Dunn was the first president and Dr. Peak was superintendent at the time. Mrs. S. T. Gil-

CHRYSLER V-8 ENGINE!

HEART OF FIREPOWER!
This hemispheric combustion chamber, with large, well-cooled valves right in the dome, is the basic reason FirePower outperforms all previous engines, even on non-premium fuel!

Whether you plan to buy a Chrysler or not, we cordially invite you to drive this revolutionary Chrysler FirePower V-8 engine. Only FirePower performance can possibly tell you what it is like. We want you to have that experience. The FirePower engine is a basic new design so advanced it can meet rising performance needs for years to come. Today it delivers 180 horsepower, even on non-premium fuel, and when desirable with simple changes in manifolding, compression, and carburetion the horsepower can be raised to 250... or over 300, as in the experimental Chrysler K-310 car. Naturally, others will imitate this Chrysler achievement, at least in part. We honestly believe that the FirePower engine will outperform any other car in America... and we invite you to learn the new standard in engine performance Chrysler has set by driving it yourself.

SIDEWALK OBSERVATIONS By W. H. Marshall

Conscience, like a pencil, must be sharpened before it is useful. None is ever so wrong as he who thinks himself always right. A church is built not by those who CAN, but by those who WILL. Feelings that are too easily hurt should be reinforced with love. A man's bigness is judged by his heart, not his head.

We usually find in the other fellow about what we have in ourselves.

Power is a dangerous thing for a small man to handle. No man ever rises above the average without becoming a shining mark for criticism.

Avoid any success that you are ashamed to tell the home folk about. No man ever grows in popularity by planting suspicions in the minds of others.

The road to hell is filled with people who did not stop to think.

Trying to live straight and think crooked is a difficult business.

Some men make up in noise what they lack in logic.

Your second thought is usually worth waiting for.

SERVICEMEN'S CORRESPONDENCE FILLS THOUSANDS OF MAIL SACKS

Mail sacks to and from the Far East carry tons of letters and parcels every week in the interchange of correspondence between the American Armed Forces in Korea and their friends at home, and throughout the world.

Letter writing in the present conflict is declared to be carried on to greater extent than in World War II. This is said to be due to the increased efficiency of the Army and Fleet postal services and the more general use of air mail bringing letters across the Pacific and into the hands of correspondents on both sides of the water in a matter of a few days.

Here is a picture of a soldier writing home—a photograph that could be duplicated hundreds of times every day along the fighting front in Korea, and with slight variation as to background, among the men on the ships, or on the airstrips.

Pfc. Dwight W. Exe of Minneapolis, Minn., is a sand-bagged dugout is catching up with his letters to the folks at home during a break in the action against the Communist forces in the rugged mountains of Northern Korea. He is a second gunner on a 75-MM recoilless rifle with the 1st U. S. Cavalry Division. He writes left-handed, but is equipped with a fountain pen and seems to be pleased with the message he is inditing. He hopes that before another week rolls by it will reach its destination and bring happiness and comfort to his friends over here. (Army photograph released by the Department of Defense.)

One ride and You'll say:

"That's the Smartest Million Dollars BUICK Ever Spent"

WHEN we tell you that every 1952 Buick rides like a million dollars, we're not just slinging slang—we're talking real money—right-on-the-barrelhead cash.

A million dollars and more were poured into research and testing—design and tools—engineering, production and components—to team up the combination of ride features you'll find on a Buick—and on no other car in the world.

A million dollars and more was the price paid to work out control of end-sway and side-roll on curves—to double-check vertical "throw" with shock absorbers and big soft-acting coil springs for all four wheels—to V-brace the torque-tube keel and X-brace the frame—to cushion body and engine—and to silk out the whole operation with Dynaflo Drive.*

You may not care how the job was done, or what it cost. But we'll lay you this: You're going to say "thanks a million" to Buick engineers once you get this spirited smoothie under your hands and haunches.

Old familiar roads take on a new smoothness. Gone are the weave and wander, the jitter and jounce that you've felt in lesser cars. You ride with road-hugging assurance and level ease.

All of which only begins to tell you what really great cars these 1952 Buicks turned out to be.

Never before have style and stamina—comfort and character—power, performance and price been brought together with such satisfying skill.

The obvious thing for you to do is come in and look them over. How about taking half an hour off to do that—today?

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Interesting Effects Noted After 3 Years Under Gilmer - Akin Law

Some interesting early effects of the Gilmer-Akin laws on rural education in Texas have been reported by Dr. R. L. Skrabanek, rural sociologist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. These laws, enacted in 1949, called for a complete revision of the method for financing public schools and guaranteed each child of school age in Texas a school program for nine full months per year.

Dr. Skrabanek recently conducted a study of the effects of the Gilmer-Akin laws in five rural counties in different parts of the state-Burleson County in East-central Texas, Castro and Lynn counties on the High Plains, Schleicher County on the Edwards Plateau and Tyler County in East Texas.

Although the five counties had a loss in population of 12.7 per cent between 1940 and 1950, the study showed that both school enrollment and attendance of rural children have increased since the Gilmer-Akin legislation was enacted.

The average length of school term in 1945-49 was 171.8 days. In 1949-51, the average number of days that school was taught had increased to 175.1.

Dr. Skrabanek reported that the number of pupils per teacher in 1945-49 was 24.6. This number had been reduced to 22.5 in 1949-51.

"Special service" teachers provided in the five county during the 1950-51 school year included four librarians, three school nurses and four itinerant teachers. Dr. Skrabanek points out that schools in these five rural counties had no such personnel on their staffs before the Gilmer-Akin laws were enacted.

As a result of the minimum wage scale for teachers provided by the Gilmer-Akin laws, classroom teachers received an annual salary increase of almost $1,000—an increase from an average of $1,909 for 1945-49 to $2,808 for 1949-51.

SHOW SENSATION

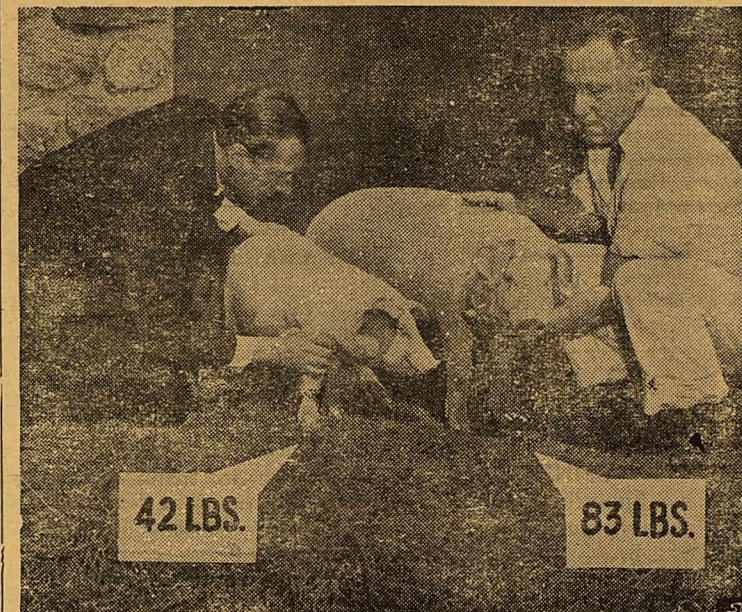

The standout sensation of the 1952 Chicago furniture show this year is not a chair... or a table... or a bed... but, believe it or not, a shortie nightgown, created especially for The Englander Company, Inc., leading makers of sleep equipment, by Elizabeth Hult, noted designer.

The wide-striped gown is made out of an exciting fashion-wise mattress cover material of great importance because it introduces ticking that is softer than the traditional kind, with sensational eye-appeal.

The new Englander ticking was designed with broad stripes in varying shades of aqua or wood rose and is used on the company's Airfoam ensemble, featuring its Airfoam mattress and exclusive Red-Line Foundation.

The Ozona Firemen entertained the Eldorado and Sonora Firemen with a barbeque Wednesday evening at their new fire station. Those attending from Sonora were Messrs. and Mmes. Tom Womack, Ford Allen, Ervin Willman, Cash Taylor, Lee Patrick and George Barrow. Also attending were A. H. Adkins, Gomer Minnick, Travis Glasscock and J. P. Smith.

Britisher Amazed at 'Miracle Drug' Pigs

Chapman Pincher (t), science editor of the London Daily Express, recently visited I. Laboratories at Pearl River, N. Y., and got a first-hand view of what the American farmer is doing with the antibiotic feed supplements to increase the nation's pork supply. It is obvious Pincher needed no tape measure. Both these pigs are from the same litter and received the same basal diet. The only difference was that the larger pig also received a supplement containing aureomycin and vitamin B12. While here, Pincher also observed similar growth-promoting results in poultry.

BIG BROTHER NOW "AIDING" SELF EMPLOYED

Many self-employed persons do not know that the 1950 amendments to the Social Security Act extend coverage to them, according to the San Angelo social security office.

This change became effective on January 1, 1951. Self-employed persons are now penalized the same as their employees.

Self-employment includes individual store owners, partners, owners of shoe stands and numerous other business activities. There are 14 specific exceptions for professional people, among them doctors and lawyers.

Self-employment coverage is not voluntary. The individual is either covered or not covered. The self-employed person's income is not reported until the end of the year and will be reported with his annual income tax return. The first report is due before March 15, 1952. The tax rate is 2 1/4 % of the first $3,600 of net business profit.

Don't forget — Big Brother is looking after you!

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS FROM VETERANS ADMINISTRATION

Q - I am attending school under the GI Bill, and I have just been awarded disability compensation by the VA. Will my compensation payments reduce the amount if subsistence payments I am getting as a GI Bill trainee?

A - No. Your disability compensation payments have no effect whatsoever on the amount of subsistence allowance you are receiving.

Q - May I obtain a GI business loan to expand a business in which I am already engaged? Or must the business loan be used to enter a new business only?

A - The loan may be used in either way to expand an existing legitimate business venture, or to start a new enterprise.

Q - I am on active duty in the Navy, and I have a GI term policy in force under waiver of premiums.
How do I pick up my insurance again, once I am discharged?

A - You must pay the required premium to the Veterans Administration, Washington 25, D. C., within 120 days after your release from active service. The sooner you pay the premium, the better; that way you guard against any chance of your policy lapsing.
Q - How much military service must a veteran have had, in order to qualify for a nonservice-connected pension?
A - He must served for at least 90 days, part of which was with-

Wish good luck to Sergeant Hun Toon of Vermont
Rifleman, U.S. Infantry
-and 54 years old his next birthday!

FIRST WORLD WAR... SECOND WORLD WAR... KOREA—these are milestones in the career of this sturdy Vermont volunteer.
A true son of America's original Minute Men, his whole life has been devoted to battling in defense of the land all of us love!
Men like this are rare. And they deserve all the respect the rest of us can give.

Here's an idea. Today stop at your pay office—if your company has the Payroll Savings Plan—or else stop at your bank. Buy yourself an extra United States Defense Bond. And tell yourself you're showing an old soldier—a good soldier—that you appreciate what he's doing for you.

For your bonds, and other forms of saving, put a strong American economy behind a strong American army. They protect you, your family, and our servicemen overseas. Because they help create the productive strength that keeps us at peace today—when peace is only for the strong!

So how about wishing good luck to Sergeant Hun Toon—and more security to the family you love? How about buying an extra United States Defense Bond for them—today?

The U. S. Defense Bonds you buy give you personal financial independence

Don't forget that bonds are now a better buy than ever. Because now every Series E Bond you own can automatically go on earning interest every year for 20 years from date of purchase instead of 10 as before! This means that the bond you bought for $18.75 can return you not just $25—but as much as $33.33! A $37.50 bond pays $66.66. And so on. For your security, and your country's too, buy U. S. Defense Bonds now! Bankers recommend them as one of the safest forms of investment.

PEACE IS FOR THE STRONG... BUY U.S. DEFENSE BONDS NOW!
