C. H. CADE OLDEST HERE

Our story last week asking for dope on the oldest person has borne fruit in a number of places.

We learn that Mr. A. C. Davis, about whom we inquired, is 80, and has been here 22 years.

C. H. Cade on Market Street Road is 94 and still driving his own car.

Mrs. Mary Weber, of Fulton, will be 92 this year, and Mrs. R. H. McHugh was 90 on March 6 this year. A. L. Bruhl and Mrs. Henry Bailey are in their high 80's, Mrs. W. S. Roe is 82, and there are doubtless more whose age we don't have.

Third Session Of Art School To Start Here Aug. 8

The third and final summer session of the Rockport School of Fine Arts will start Aug. 8 and continue for two weeks, according to Director Simon G. Michael, who said that landscape and marine painting will be taught.

During the two weeks of the students stay, they will move to a new location morning and evening of every day, and will turn out twenty or more canvases dealing with everything from sand dunes to sea gulls, and from oaks to Spanish daggers.

The canvases will be finished later, during the winter months, and the majority of them will be shown at the next outdoor show of the school, which is held on the grounds in South Rockport.

During the ten years that the school has been operating, students have flocked here from all over the United States, drawn by the varied and attractive subjects to paint. Many of the paintings made here have been shown elsewhere, students holding one man shows and competing at art exhibits throughout the area.

Six of the students from the school have been chosen artist of the month by the Corpus Christi Fine Arts Colony in the past few years, and last month, Mrs. N. F. Jackson of Rockport, one of Michael's pupils, was chosen to hold a one-man show in the bank at Goliad.

Another, Mrs. Ella Mielsch, of Bay City, has become famous for her sand dunes and still lifes, while Dalhart Windberg, of Victoria, another of Michael's pupils, has attracted wide-spread interest for the quality of his paintings. The two portraits of A. C. Glass and F. W. Heldenfels, Sr., which decorate the director's room of the First National Bank of Rockport are both by him.

A Beeville pupil, Miss Nancy Everett, while still studying under Michael, has set up her own school in Bee County, and, in addition, has been kept busy with local commissions. This summer she is studying in Mexico, but expects to return soon.

GET A LICENSE BEFORE FISHING DURING AUGUST

Austin.—Another warning has been issued by the director of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission, to buy fishing licenses before starting on your trip in August.

"A number of people will be going on vacation during August," he said. "Some of them are just careless; others think because there is only a month left of the present season they can get by without getting a $2.15 fishing license. Every month they find this to be pretty expensive because wardens have been asked to make careful check on fishermen without licenses."

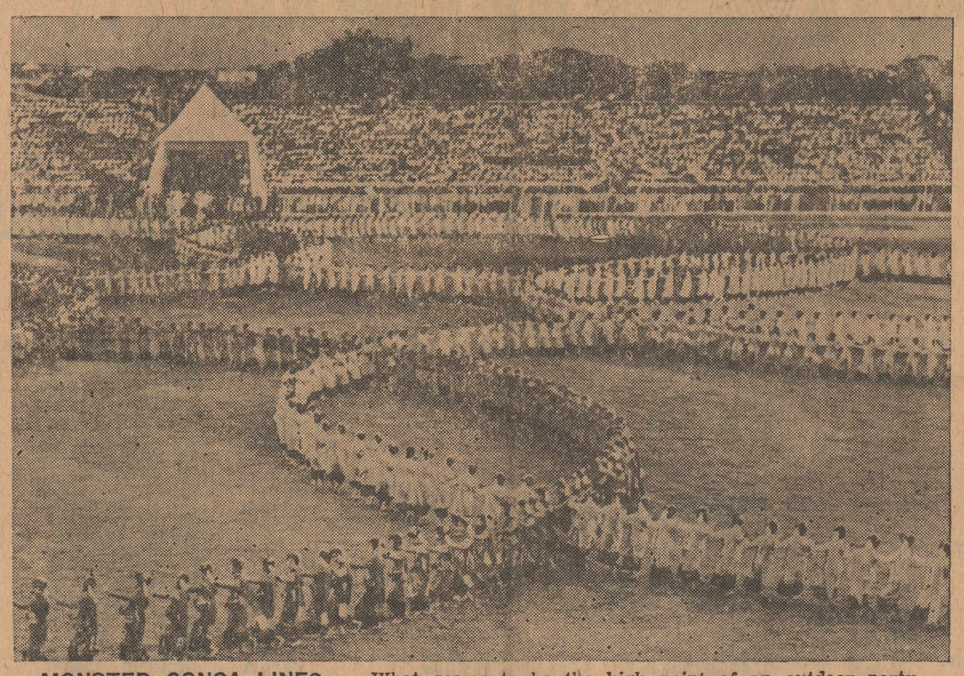

The director also warned against rushing the hunting season. Dove shooting in the North Zone will be permitted after Sept. 1. New hunting licenses also will be required. They will be available at local sporting goods stores the last week in August.

He also pointed to the change in white-winged dove regulations this year. The season will be Sept. 9, 10 and 11—three consecutive days days instead of three alternate days as previously. Whitewings may be taken in several counties in the Rio Grande Valley. The limit will be 10 per day and 10 in possession. During thit 3 day shoot hunters also may take mourning doves. They can kill 10 whitewings and five mourners the first day. But they must not have in possession at the end of the second day's shoot more than 30 doves—10 whitewings and 20 mourners.

CORPUS CHRISTI'S INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT OPENS SAT.

Corpus Christi (Sp)—Dedication ceremonies for the new Corpus Christi International Airport Saturday will feature a two-day open house, giving South Texans their first chance for a full tour of the new facility.

Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, famed World War I flying ace and president of Eastern Airlines, will make the dedication address at 10 a.m., following a welcoming speech and introduction by Mayor Ellroy King.

The dedication ceremonies will begin a half hour earlier at 9:30 a.m. with a musical program by the Naval Air Station band. At 9:45 a.m. the first official aircraft landing will be made by a Trans-Texas Airways plane, carrying city, county and state officials from the old Cliff Maus Airport.

Mayor King and Rickenbacker will cut the ribbon, opening the main entrance to the terminal building to the public. Several thousand persons are expected to attend the dedication ceremonies.

Inside the terminal building attendants will be stationed at concession stands to explain the part each facility will play in serving the air-traveling public.

More than 40 aircraft will be displayed on the flight apron at the terminal building. Navy, Air Force and commercial airlines and private aircraft will be represented. A special air-sea rescue equipment display is planned.

The open house will be continued Sunday, with guided tours from 1 to 5 p.m.

Regularly scheduled flights from the new airport will begin Monday for all three local airlines, Baniff, Eastern and Trans-Texas. Cliff Maus will continue in operation on a limited basis for several days.

The new International Airport cost six million dollars. It is located one mile east of Clarkwood off Highway 44, between Robstown and Corpus Christi.

Father O'Doherty Day Celebrated

Thursday was Father O'Doherty Day in Rockport. Of course there were other clergy at the Pontifical High Mass at Sacred Heart Church that afternoon, including a bishop and monsignori by the dozen, but to people here all of them were overshadowed by the lovable Irish priest who came here five or six years ago and took over the duties of pastor at the old Socred Heart Church.

Sinee then, the new church has been built and parishioners are now engaged in a school building program under their pastor's leadership, although it was interrupted a year ago by his long and serious illness.

Occasion for the celebration was Father O'Doherty's elevation by Pope John XXIII to the rank of Papal Chamberlain and the title of the Very Reverend Monsignor Gerald J. ODohery. Actual investiture ceremonies were held at Corpus Christi Cathedral, July 21, when Father O'Doherty and nine other South Texas priests received their titles through the Most Reverend M. S. Garriga, D.D., Ll. D., Bishop of the Diocese of Corpus Christi.

But somehow, the parishioners of Sacred Heart didn't feel that the whole thing was quite official without a celebration here. And it will be a long time before most of them remember to call him by his new title.

The day began with the arrival of clergymen from neighboring towns.

A Pontifical High Mass was held in the Sacred Heart Church, with Bishop Garriga presiding and preaching the sermon.

Deacons of honor were Reverend Anthony Elsing, M.S.F., and Reverend Alfred Boeing, O.S.B., of Corpus Christi.

Celebrants of the Mass, other than Monsignor O'Doherty, were Reverend William Kelly, Taft, deacon; Reverend Adrian McKenna, Kingsville, subdeacon; Reverend John Killeen, Corpus Christi, master of ceremonies; Reverend William Daly, Roymondville, and Reverend John Hamilton, as acolytes.

All of these attended the same seminary in Ireland as Monsignor O'Doherty and were his classmates.

Cross bearer was Reverend Thomas Meany, Corpus Christi, who was assistant pastor here during Monsignor O'Doherty's illness.

The Sacred Heart Choir, directed by Mrs. Jerry Wendell, furnished the music.

In the early hours of the evening, a private reception was held for the visiting clergy at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Delo H. Caspary.

A dinner for the clergymen and choir followed at Brocato's.

The public reception, which a big part of Aransas County attended in honor of Monsignor O'Doherty, was held at the Aransas County Woman's Club from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., with ladies of the Sacred Heart Altar Society acting as hostesses.

The refreshment table was laid with a lace cloth, centered with an arrangement of pink gladoli and deep red roses.

Mrs. R. L. Hart served the cake; Mrs. Harold Picton was in charge of the punch bowl; and Mrs. Jerry Wendell presided at the coffee table. At the registry table, which

C of C Directors Discuss Causeway

One of Aransas County's greatest assets—Aransas Wildlife Refuge—is practically wasted as far as this county is concerned because of lack of convenient access roads, Chamber of Commerce directors decided at their regular meeting this week.

Suggested remedy for the situation was a causeway from the eastern tip of Goose Island State Park across the mouth of St. Charles to the southern tip of Blackjack Peninsula on which the 47,000-acre Refuge lies.

There the causeway could tie in with an extension of the present Indian Head Point road leading to sanctuary headquarters.

The causeway, reaching for almost half a mile, would be of piling in order not to impede the circulation of water between St. Charles and Aransas bays; the road would have to take the course indicated to keep from disturbing the winter home of America's last flock of whooping cranes.

But directors pointed out that these were not insuperable difficulties and, once they were overcome, the sprawling wilderness area would be a prime attraction easily reached from Rockport.

Other facets of the problem were also discussed.

Although the northern tip of the Refuge is within half a mile of the mainland, it requires a round trip of more than forty miles from the closest point where accommodations are available to visit the sanctuary. This inaccessibility lessens its value as a tourist attraction and is not helped by a paucity of signs pointing the way for visitors.

Nor, one director pointed out, does it contribute anything to the county's economy from the standpoint of taxes, as its acreage, amounting to about a fourth of the dry land in the county, is tax exempt.

Hence, as several directors said, its operation is in marked contrast to the Welder Wildlife Refuge, which has become extremely important to Sinton's economy, largely because of enlightened administration policies

And Welder Refuge, with its 8,000 acres is only a sixth the size of the Aransas sanctuary, and could be easily dropped into one corner of the vast 70,000-acre refuge at the back door of Miami, Fla., maintained largely because of the tourist trade.

During the discussion, it was brought out that Dr. Clarence Cottam, former assistant director of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service and now head of the Welder Refuge apparently doesn't believe that tourists and wildlife are completely inimical to one another.

In a recent talk to the Sinton Kiwanis he said that in a visit to Atascosa Wildlife Refuge near San Benito last spring, members of the Texas Ornithological Society were estimated to have spent more than $25,000 in the two days they spent in San Benito, while more than 9,000,000 tourists visited Federal Refuges throughout the country.

"Dr. Cottam estimated that the whooping cranes are worth a million a year to Texas," said one one Chamber of Commerce member. "If they are, it's in spite of everything, for it certainly isn't easy to reach the Refuge or even to find it.

"Over in Florida, they have birding tours on the Refuges as well, and when the waterbirds nest in the spring time, Audubon wardens conduct birdwatchers by boat or car and afoot to see them.

"We have great rookeries here, on the offshore islands, reached from Refuge territory, but few people ever see the. And a road up the west side of the Refuge is so far from the whooping cranes' feeding grounds that it wouldn't disturb them.

"If we could get a few more signs along the roads now, more people would visit the Refuge. If we could get this causeway, it would be a great thing for everybody. Look how many people visit at Welder, Dr. Cottam said that over 1500 came in three months, and that sanctuary still isn't officially open.

"Rockport is the logical place to enter the Aransas Refuge. There are few accommodations as close, and even from here it's more than 40 miles.

"People visiting the Refuge now have to do it on the fly, so to speak, driving from Rockport, Corpus Christi, Port Lavaca, or Victoria and this causeway would change all that."

Jack Sparks Appointed Judge Pro-Tem

Aransas County Judge John D. Wendell is on vacation for the next two weeks. During his absence County Commissioner Jack Sparks was appointed to act as judge pro-tem at the regular meeting of the Commissioners Court.

In other action, the commissioners received a report from the state that Aransas County's share of the road fund surplus would amount to $6,534 as of August 31. After discussion, it was moved by Commissioner W. B. Allen that the state be notified the the county desires this money, to be used for construction of lateral roads in the county.

The commissioners also accepted West Terrace Boulevard, Red Bird Drive, Heron Lane, Seagull Lane and the connecting streets between Red Bird Drive and Market Street from the subdividers.

Auditor J. R. Millikin called attention to the fact that Road and Bridge Time Warrants in the amount of $14,500 could be called and cancelled, and it was so ordered.

Official Census Count 2961 For Rockport

In order to answer local inquiries on the census, Mrs. Jean Tuer was instructed by the mayor and council to write Senator Lyndon B. Johnson. A letter from his administrative assistant, Arthur C. Perry says:

"In behalf of Senator Johnson, I am enclosing a letter from the Director of the Census Bureau giving the preliminary count for Rockport."

The Director's letter says:

"The preliminary population count of Rockport is 2961. It should be noted that the preliminary figures are subject to revision on the basis of the final count, but such revision is usually minor, averaging less than 1% in most cases.

"We expect to issue the official and final figures for Texas by the end of the year. These will be the figures for counties, cities, and other political subdivisions and a copy of the report will be sent to Mrs. Tuer."

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

"Section 11. The Legislature shall have authority to classify loans and lenders, license and regulate lenders, define interest and fix maximum rates of interest; provided, however, in the absence of legislation fixing maximum rates of interest all contracts for a greater rate of interest than ten per centum (10%) per annum shall be deemed usurious; provided, further, that in contracts where no rate of interest is agreed upon, the rate shall not exceed six per centum (6%) per annum. Should any regulatory agency, acting under the provisions of this Section, cancel or refuse to grant any permit under any law passed by the Legislature; then such applicant or holder shall have the right of appeal to the courts and granted a trial de novo as that term is used in appealing from the justice of peace court to the county court."

Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at an election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1960, at which election all ballots shall have printed thereon the following:

"AGAINST the Constitutional Amendment giving the Legislature authority to classify loans and lenders, license and regulate lenders, define interest and fix maximum rates of interest; and providing for a maximum rate of interest of ten per centum (10%) per annum in the absence of legislation fixing maximum rates of interest."

Proposed CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT
NUMBER ONE ON THE BALLOT

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO BE VOTED ON AT AN ELECTION TO BE HELD ON NOVEMBER 8, 1960.

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 39 proposing an amendment to Article IX of the Constitution of the State of Texas by adding thereto new Sections to be known as Sections 6, 7, and 8, to provide that the Legislature may authorize the creation of Hospital Districts co-extensive with Lamar County, Hidalgo County, and County Commissioners Precinct No. 4 of Comanche County, having certain stated powers and duties and subject to certain stated limitations; providing that any enabling Acts shall not be invalid because of their anticipatory character; providing for an election; prescribing the form of ballot and providing for the necessary proclamation and publication.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Article IX of the Constitution of the State of Texas be, and the same is hereby, amended by adding the following Sections which shall read as follows:

"Section 6. The Legislature may by law authorize the creation of a Hospital District co-extensive with Lamar County, having the powers and duties and with the limitations presently provided in Article IX, Section 5(a), of the Constitution of Texas, as it applies to Wichita County, except that the maximum rate of tax that the said Lamar County Hospital District may be authorized to levy shall be seventy-five cents (75c) per One Hundred Dollar ($100) valuation of taxable property within the District, subject to district taxation.

"Section 7. The Legislature may by law authorize the creation of a Hospital District co-extensive with Hidalgo County, having the powers and duties and with the limitations presently provided in Article IX, Section 5(a), of the Constitution of Texas, as it applies to Hidalgo County, except that the maximum rate of tax that the said Hidalgo County Hospital District may be authorized to levy shall be ten cents (10c) per One Hundred Dollar ($100) valuation of taxable property within the District subject to district taxation.

"Section 8. The Legislature may by law authorize the creation of a Hospital District to be co-extensive with the limits of County Commissioners Precinct No. 4 of Comanche County, Texas.

"If such District is created, it may be authorized to levy a tax not to exceed seventy-five cents (75c) on the One Hundred Dollar ($100) valuation of taxable property within the District; provided, however, no tax may be levied until approved by a majority vote of the participating resident qualified property taxpaying voters who have duly rendered their property for taxation. The maximum rate of tax may be changed at subsequent elections so long as obligations are not impaired, and not to exceed the maximum limit of seventy-five cents (75c) per One Hundred Dollar ($100) valuation, and no election shall be required by subsequent changes in the boundaries of the Commissioners Precinct No. 4 of Comanche County.

"If such tax is authorized, no political subdivision or municipality within or having the same boundaries as the District may levy a tax for medical or hospital care for needy individuals, nor shall they maintain or erect hospital facilities, but the District shall by resolution assume all such responsibilities and shall assume all of the liabilities and obligations (including bonds and warrants) of such subdivisions or municipalities or both. The maximum tax rate submitted shall be sufficient to discharge such obligations, liabilities, and responsibilities, and to maintain and operate the hospital system, and the Legislature may authorize the District to issue tax bonds for the purpose of the purchase, construction, acquisition, repair or renovation of improvements and initially equipping the same, and such bonds shall be payable from said seventy-five cent (75c) tax. The Legislature shall provide for transfer of title to properties to the District.

"(b) The Legislature may by law permit the County of Comanche to render financial aid to that District by paying a part of the expenses of operating and maintaining the system and paying a part of the debts of the District (whether assumed or created by the District) and may authorize the levy of a tax not to exceed ten cents (10c) per One Hundred Dollar ($100) valuation (in addition to other taxes permitted by this Constitution) upon all property within the County but without the County Commissioners Precinct No. 4 of Comanche County at the time such levy is made for such purposes. If such tax is authorized, the District shall by resolution assume the responsibilities, obligations, and liabilities of the County in the manner and to the extent hereinabove provided for political subdivisions having boundaries co-extensive with the District, and the County shall not thereafter levy taxes (other than herein provided) for hospital purposes nor for providing hospital care for needy individuals of the County.

"(c) Should the Legislature enact enabling laws in anticipation of the adoption of this amendment, such Acts shall not be invalid because of their anticipatory character."

Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at the general election to be held the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1960, at which election all ballots shall have printed thereon:

"FOR the Constitutional Amendment authorizing the Legislature to create a Hospital District co-extensive with Lamar and Hidalgo Counties, and co-extensive with County Commissioners Precinct No. 4 of Comanche County"

"AGAINST the Constitutional Amendment authorizing the Legislature to create a Hospital District co-extensive with Lamar and Hidalgo Counties, and co-extensive with County Commissioners Precinct No. 4 of Comanche County."

Sec. 3. The Governor shall issue the necessary proclamation for said election and have the same published as required by the Constitution and laws of this State.

Weimar resident, Mrs. L. G. Ringgenberg, says "GLADIOLA is a must for yeast baking"

Mrs. L. G. Ringgenberg, Weimar, Texas

Encouraged by friends who tasted her delightful Glazed Raisin Loaf, Mrs. L. G. Ringgenberg, Route 3, Weimar, Texas, entered her recipe in the GLADIOLA'S "yeast bread" Baking-Recipe-of-the-Month Contest.

Upon learning that her recipe had won first prize, Mrs. Ringgenberg exclaimed, "I've never won anything in my life . . . and now here I am, the big winner."

One of the secrets of Mrs. Ringgenberg's yeast baking is GLADIOLA Special Hard Wheat Flour . . . with natural strength and character that guarantees uniform good texture whenever yeast breads are baked.

Mrs. Ringgenberg, who looks forward to baking the recipes found inside GLADIOLA flour packages, says, "I really love GLADIOLA flour, and it isn't just talk . . . I've tried almost every brand of flour and I always go back to GLADIOLA. I use it in all of my baking."

GLAZED RAISIN LOAF (1 LOAF)

Gladiola's Baking-Recipe-of-the-Month

MRS. L. G. RINGGENBERG'S GLAZED RAISIN LOAF

1 cup seedless raisins
¼ cup soft butter
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup scalded milk
1 cake compressed yeast
¼ cup lukewarm water
2 eggs, well beaten
4 cups (about) sifted GLADIOLA Special Hard Wheat Flour

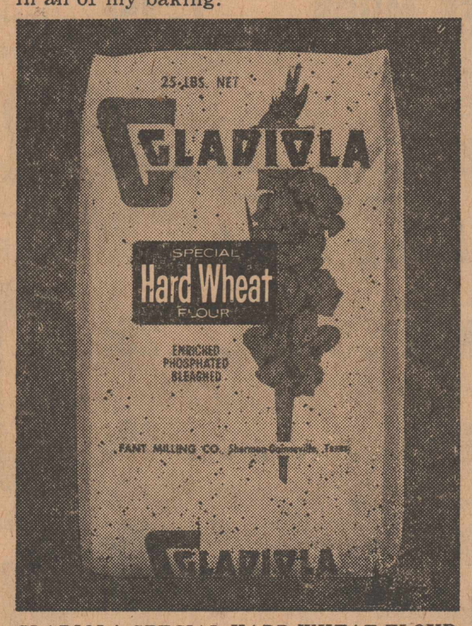

Combine raisins, butter, sugar, and salt in mixing bowl; add scalded milk, stir well, then cool to lukewarm. Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water. Add yeast, eggs, and 1 cup flour to cooled raisin mixture and beat until smooth; add remaining flour gradually, beating well, to make a medium soft dough. Cover and let rest 10 minutes, then knead on lightly floured surface until smooth and elastic, adding more flour as necessary to prevent sticking. Place dough in a greased bowl, turn to grease surface of dough, cover and let rise in a warm place until double in bulk. Punch down and let rest 10 minutes; shape into a loaf and place in a greased 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan. Cover and let rise until almost double in bulk. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) about 30 minutes or until done. When loaf is sufficiently brown, cover lightly with foil to finish baking. Cool and glaze top with thin powdered sugar icing.

Clip this recipe and paste on file card.

Refugio Park Monument To Texas Heroes

A century and a quarter ago, Captain Amon B. King and 14 of his men were slaughtered by a Mexican firing squad under General Urrea of the Mexican Army while defending Refugio during the Texas Revolution.

Today the only signs of that execution are a stone in Mount Calvary Cemetery and a statue in Refugio Plaza, which is almost as much a monument to the three determined women as it is to King and his men.

The square was laid out two years before the revolution in Texas, and served first as a park, then as a vegetable garden and later as a pasture before the ladies went to work.

Prime movers of the project were Mrs. Pat Lambert, Mrs. Oscar Mitchel and Mrs. F. B. Rooke, Sr. They envisioned a memorial in place of the mesquite, but before they reached that point had a number of vicissitudes to overcome.

Clearing was begun, and the Mexican laborers understood that everything was to go. And it nearly did. Only the fact that one of the trio happened by to look saved the last three trees on the plot, which had once been planted in umbrella chinas, ash, mulberry, hackberry, elm and cottonwood.

Money for a monument was raised by various means, and it was finally erected and dedicated on March 14, 1886, fifty years after the death of King and his fellow heroes.

The plaza rocked along for another 30 years or so, getting weedier and weedier, until at last the State Parks Board was persuaded to accept responsibility for the whole thing as a state monument. This situation was ideal until funds ran out and the place was once more an eyesore.

The Mayor at that time, Lynn Jeter, and City Clerk Joe Heard thought they could run a sandy on the folks up at Austin.

"If you don't want it," they told the Board, "give it back!"

And, Heard said later, that's just what happened.

W. H. Borglund built the walks and the recently renovated bandstand to state plans before the plaza became the city's once more.

In 1936, the Texas Centennial Commission moved the marker the ladies had erected to the Mount Calvary Cemetery, where a number of King's men had been reburried.

In its place they built a tall shaft of stone, crowned with a bronze figure bearing a broken sword, as a memorial to King and other soldiers of the Texas Revolution.

ARTIFICIAL FISH REEFS PAYING OFF WITH NEW BUOYS

Austin. — Fishing around the artificial reefs off Port Aransas on the Texas coast is now paying off, according to the executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission. These reefs were created by dumping some 600 old car bodies in 60 feet of water.

Although the reefs have been there for some time, many boaters reported they could not locate the exact spot. Recently the Game and Fish Commission placed a lighted buoy over one of the spots. Fishermen flocked to it in numbers and reported large catches of several species of fish.

Another buoy, not yet lighted, has been placed over another segment of the reef, about a half-mile away. Fishermen now are able to work between these two buoys. They report catching of snapper, ling, grouper, sand trout and drum in both areas.

Two other artificial reefs, one near Port Isabel and the other near Freeport, also will be buoyed so that boatmen may find the exact location without the use of instruments.

Studies also are being made on other locations for these artificial reefs. The old car bodies provide protection for smaller fish. As a result, larger fish go there in an attempt to feed on the smaller ones, thus increasing the fishing potential.

DOVE STUDIES MAKE POSSIBLE LONGER SEASON

Austin.—The dove population of the central management area, which includes Texas, has increased 14 percent this year, according to estimates of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Since 1953 there has been a 69 percent increase.

These were given to Howard Dodgen, executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission, as one of the reasons this year's dove season was extended to 60 days and the possession limit increased to 30, or the daily bag limit of 15.

For many years there were only two management areas considered in the national survey—eastern and western. The dove banding program and call counts made by biologists, however, have indicated the central management area, where the heavy population increase has been noted.

According to the department figures, 95 percent of the unit's hunting kill is produced within the area, Thus the majority of the doves killed in Texas were hatched in the central unit.

Texas biologists and game wardens for a number of years carried out a banding program and call counts, to assist in the overall program.

Port Lavaca Deep Water Waits on Study

Hottest question around Port Lavaca these days is "when are we going to get deep water?" For every citizen of Calhoun County is eagerly hoping for the day when ore carriers from Jamaica will start unloading in a turning basin off Point Comfort, feeding the insatiable maws of the two giant Alcoa aluminum plants that crouch on the headland.

But Calhoun County folks are going to have to wait until the U. S. Engineers complete their studies of a miniature Matagorda Bay at the Waterways Experiment Station several hundred miles away, in Vicksburg, Mississippi, before the dredges can even make a start on the channel.

The finished project will cost some $15,000,000, so the engineers are taking no chances with a bay as treacherous as this one.

Navigation through Pass Cavallo has been hazardous since before LaSalle landed somewhere near Port Lavaca, after creeping through the channel across the shifting bar that still keeps ships from entering.

A deep-water channel has been authorized through the pass to make the Port Lavaca-Point Comfort area a deep-water seaport, capable of handling ocean going vessels.

However, designing channels, jetteies, docks and basins is chancey business unless you know exactly what you're doing. Hence the engineers have built a scale model of Matagorda Bay and part of the Gulf of Mexico.

All the tidal elements in the 800-square-mile area have been duplicated on a model covering only 20,000 square feet. Tides and tidal currents are reproduced by a tidal generator located in the Gulf of Mexico portion of the model, and the exchange of tidal flows between the Matagorda Bay system and Espiritu Santo Bay to the west and the Intracoastal Waterway-Colorado Rives system to the east is duplicated by discharge regulating devices.

Fresh water inflows of all significant tributaries are introduced into the model, and the salinity of the Gulf of Mexico is reproduced to scale.

The model also simulates silting conditions by injecting finely-ground material to represent the dirt brought down by flows of fresh water.

Designed to operate in the same manner as the real bay area, the hydraulic model is under study to determine the proper location for the entrance channel, and to ascertain the length and the spacing of the jetties necessary to keep the pass open for deep-water vessels.

The tests will take approximately 20 months to complete, but the engineers say they are worth it. They have conducted hundreds of similar investigations and in practically every case the benefits—improved design or better construction with the saving of large amounts of money—have far outweighed the costs involved.
