Giant Pincers Develops As Soviet Lunges On Westward

By JUDSON O'QUINN
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Tuesday, Nov. 9.—The Red Army smashed through 60 villages yesterday in pursuit of the battered remnants of 12 German divisions routed from wrecked Kiev, killing 1,500 more enemy troops and striking to within 115 miles of the old Polish border and 140 miles of Rumania.

A midnight communique supplement recorded by the Soviet monitor from a Moscow broadcast said the Russians had forded the Zdvish river to take Makarov, 28 miles west of Kiev, and the other nearby localities of Vyshev and Motyzhin.

15,000 Nazis Dead

This followed a special bulletin saying the Germans had left 15,000 dead and 6,200 prisoners out of an original force of 180,000 men routed on the Kiev battlefields in the four-day fight preceding the Ukraine capital's capture last Saturday.

Expanding their break-through at Kiev into an 80-mile front, the Russians seized Gornastaipol, 45 miles above Kiev and 10 miles west of the Dnieper river as they steadily pinned Germany's northern Ukraine forces against the Pripet marshes.

The Russians also were reported 45 miles beyond Kiev on the southwest in their push from Fastov toward the Rumanian border—an advance which will bring disaster to huge German forces in the Dnieper bend if it is not checked.

Crucial Situation

A German radio commentator said: "A situation is developing which is regarded as crucial by both belligerents."

The Moscow newspaper Pravda, in telling of the German flight beyond Kiev, said the Germans threw away weapons, ammunition and even clothing, and that many were trampled to death on roads jammed with moving and wrecked vehicles.

Aside from the casualties inflicted on the Germans by the Russians fanning out far beyond Kiev, the communique said 800 were killed near Kerch in the eastern Caucasus, and 500 more in the Nevel sector of the north-central front where another heavily fortified German strongpoint was seized.

Makarov, 28 miles due west of Kiev, and only 50 miles from Zhitomir, a junction on one of the last two north-south railways available to the Germans short of the Polish border, was taken by the hard-hitting forces of Gen. Nikolai F. Vatutin, the daily communique said.

140 Miles Of Frontier

Southwest of Fastov the Russians were reported to have gained 10 miles to put them within 140 miles of the Rumanian frontier in their powerful effort to

Russia To Pay All War Debts

Stalin Gives His Pledge To Nelson

NEW YORK, Nov. 8. (AP)—Soviet Russia intends to repay her obligations to the United States in full, Donald M. Nelson, War Production board chairman, declared tonight.

Quoting Marshal Joseph Stalin directly, Nelson said the Russian leader had told him without qualification that 'any obligation undertaken by this government (Russia) will be repaid in full and not by token payments."

Nelson, who returned last week from a three-week survey of Russian war industry, was emphatic in his prediction of long and lasting friendship between Russia and the United States, in an address before the Congress of American-Soviet Friendship at Madison Square Garden.

Mostly Lend-Lease

(Most of what the United States has done for Russia has been in the form of lend-lease shipments, which now total over $2,500,000,000.

(Terms of the third lend-lease protocol signed by Russia, the United States, Britain, and Canada last month have not been published However, Russia and the United States have an agreement that the Soviets will be allowed to make their final repayment to United States in such a way as "not to burden commerce but promote mutually advantageous economic relations between them.")

"I came away convinced," Nelson said, "that there will be found no two peoples anywhere in the world better qualified to win each other's respect and admiration and friendship than the Russians and the Americans."

"I have gained a sense of the warm human feeling which underlies this wonderful achievement of Mr. Hull (Cordell Hull, secretary of state) and his associates" in the signing of the Moscow unity past, Nelson cotinued.

"To my way of thinking, the pact which Mr. Hull signed is far more than an important agreement between great powers. It is an expression of the rooted desire of the people of America and Russia and England and China to come closer together, to seek better ways of understanding each other and a better means of expressing their common interests."

Nelson hinted that the top executives of the Allied production command believe the Germans know that they are whipped right now.

"I am amazed at the stupidity of the German leaders who continue to fight against the hopeless odds that are steadily mounting against them," he said, "I do not think that the Nazi high command can have any real hope left."

Prisoner Makes Good His Boast To Officer

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 8 (AP) — Frank Celli, 26-year-old convict serving 30 years in state prison for robbery by firearms in Tarrant county, who recently wrote a Houston detective that it was pretty easy to get out of Retrieve state prison farm made good his statement by walking out of the farm at 10 a. m. today, was still at large and being sought by Houston police tonight.

Celli walked out of the farm with Leonard Wilson, 33, who is serving 15 years for robbery from Ward county, police learned.

Detective H. N. Martin several days ago received a two-page handwritten letter from Celli, who said that all a prisoner had to do was "just walk off" to get away from the farm.

Allies Hammer Relentlessly In Drive For Rome

Nazis Apparently Destroying Gaeta Harbor For Flight

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Nov. 8.—Allied forces hammered relentlessly toward Rome today, the Eighth Army reaching a point less than 30 miles from the port of Pescara on the Adriatic sea and the Fifth Army driving hard on Gaeta, only 70 miles from Rome.

The Germans apparently were destroying Gaeta's harbor facilities in the face of imminent Allied occupation.

From their frontline positions nine miles from Gaeta, Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth Army fighters heard several great explosions in the city, evidently from mines set off by the hard-pressed Nazis. Gaeta is the best port between Naples and Civitavecchia, above Rome, and would be of supreme value in supplying the next stage of the campaign for the Italian capital.

Eighth Gains Six Miles

Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's Eighth Army, sustaining its powerful offensive up the Adriatic, registered a six-mile gain to capture Casalbordino, occupy the entire length of the Sinello river and turn the whole left flank of the German front.

Thirteen miles inland from the mouth of the Garigliano river, American troops slugged forward a mile over wild mountainous terrain to seize Calabritto, while other units occupied heights overlooking the key enemy stronghold of Mignano after breaking back heavy Nazi counterattacks.

(An Algiers broadcast by radio France declared the Fifth Army already had taken Mignano and had advanced 10 miles north of Venafro.)

Two Divisions Rushed In

The Germans, in belated realization of their danger tossed two fresh divisions into the fighting—the 305th and 94th infantry—but the reinforcements came too late to stem the determined Allied rush. There now are nine Nazi divisions, approximately 135,000 men, in the line across the Italian peninsula.

Eighth Army veterans took over the entire strength of a major lateral highway running inland from Vasto on the Adriatic and at some points were within seven miles of the Sangro river, along which the Nazis were expected to attempt their next stand.

Pescaga, apparent objective of Montgomery's crushing drive, is the Adriatic terminus of the most valuable lateral road in central Italy—the main highway crossing the peninsula through Avezzano to Rome. The Germans were launching repeated tank attacks in unavailing efforts to halt this serious "back door" threat to the Eternal City.

Yanks Seize Heights

Scarcely less serious from the enemy standpoint was the seizure by General Clark's Americans of heights around Mignanc. This drive opened the way for a thrust behind the Aurunci mountains and up a broad valley to Cassino along the Via Casilina, main inland route to Rome.

There was much evidence that

Japs Trying Out New Type Bomb

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Nov. 8 (AP)—Seeking frantically for ways to stop the devastating Allied raids on the Japanese air and sea fortress of Rabaul, the enemy has tried something new—aerial phosphorous bombs.

Liberator pilots, returning from yesterday's attack on Rabaul's Rapop airdrome which resulted in the destruction of 35 enemy planes, said the Japanese fighters swept overhead and dropped bombs which made an octopus-like pattern, 100 feet across.

The fliers said the bombs sent streamers of smoke and flame through the air for 400 to 500 feet.

Flies Right Through

Flight Officer Richard Loughman, of Newark, Ohio, co-pilot on a Liberator flown by Capt. William Jennings, Los Angeles, said the pilot flew the bomber right through the phosphorous smoke of the aerial bombs.

First Lt. Russell Massey, 1101 Castle Court, Austin, Tex., was co-pilot of a plane at which Zeros made a single pass.

The attacking planes flew so close together that an empty shell fell from the gail turret of one bomber and broke the front window of a Liberator below. The latter bomber was piloted by Lt. Howard Meesells, Morton, Miss. A 20-MM shell from an interceptor crashed through the fuselage of Measells' plane.

Duck Hunters Found Marooned In Bayou

HOUSTON, Nov. 8 (AP) — Five duck hunters who failed to return in a motor boat last night from Trinity bay were found marooned late today in Double Bayou near Anahauc.

Objects of a day-long search by coastguardsmen and planes of the Civil Air Patrol and of Ellington field, the hunters were reported in water presently too shallow for navigation.

Mrs. C. O. Crenshaw, wife of the group's navigator, said the rising tide would permit the hunters to reach the mainland.

In Crenshaw's party were E. O. Rulon, Chief of Guards at San Jacinto Shipbuilding company; W. S. Lewis and W. H. Rose, company guards, and Crenshaw's 17-year-old son.

WACO, Nov. 8 (AP) — Judge Charles A. Boynton today naturalized 99 soldiers, most of them from Camp Hood, and 25 civilians. Among the soldiers were 20 Germans, six Italians, five Austrians and one each from Hungary and Rumania.

Plans Moving Swiftly For Continental Second Front

By LEWIS HAWKINS
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Nov. 8 — American and British troops are swiftly preparing for the second front which Marshal Joseph Stalin has said is near and which President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill have promised will be on an unprecedented scale.

Bits of information filter through official channels which tell the enemy nothing he doesn't know, but indicate that the preparations are under way on a rising tide of anticipation.

The American Army that will storm history's mightest fortress will be better prepared, better equipped and in greater strength than any Army that ever took the field under the Stars and Stripes.

They will meet the best of Hitler's Army beside an Allied force equally powerful, as thoroughly trained in new techniques, and superbly equipped.

Obviously, no major attack will be launched without the full support of armored, artillery and air units.

Northwest Texas Methodist Conference To Open Today

Most Districts Are Debt Free

Optimistic Report Is Made To Laymen

The general financial state of the Methodist churches in the Northwest Texas conference was presented by Bishop Ivan Lee Holt to the Board of Laymen at a banquet in Lubbock hotel last night.

The laymen's banquet was one of many pre-conference meetings that were held Monday prior to the opening of the 34th annual Methodist conference this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the First Methodist church.

HOUSING NEEDS MET

What to do with some 500 delegates who began arriving in Lubbock Monday to attend the Methodist annual conference was the problem facing the Rev. H. I. Robinson and his housing committee in charge of finding sleeping quarters in an already overtaxed Lubbock.

The 'old time' spirit of housing delegates at this conference was put into practice by Rev. Robinson and his committee.

An appeal to all other religious denominations in Lubbock was sent forth and in no time at all, the committee reported, every delegate had a place to sleep. Some in homes of Baptists, Presbyterians, Christians and other denominations, while a few were able to get Hotel reservations. "This is a fine spirit shown by our neighboring churches and their membership, Rev. Robinson, said.

Financial Status Good

Bishop Holt told the group of laymen that the financial status of the Methodist churches is higher than it has ever been.

During the five years that Bishop Holt has been in the Northwest Texas conference he has dedicated 77 Methodist churches and there are only two districts in the conference that have any indebtedness on church property. These, the Bishop said, are expected to be cleared during next year.

Others On Program

Other speakers appearing on the program included Joe Salem of Sudan who spoke to the laymen on "Effective Organization of Laymen"; Fred Storey of Childress spoke on the "Circulation of Church Literature," and Dr. Harold G. Cooke, president of McMurry college in Abilene told the group of the necessity of educating Methodist ministers. Dr. Cooke pointed out that 11 per cent of the Methodist churches in the Methodist conferences in Texas are without Methodist ministers; 25 per cent of the pulpits in Oklahoma are vacant today, he said, and to fight this shortage problem

Bishop Ivan Lee Holt To Preside

First Methodist Is To Be Host Church

By EDWIN WATSON
Avalanche Staff Writer

MINISTRIAL and lay delegates began arriving Monday for the Thirty-fourth session of the Northwest Texas Methodist conference, which will convene in the First Methodist church Tuesday afternoon at 2 p. m.

Bishop Ivan Lee Holt and his nine cabinet members, consisting of the nine district superintendents of the conference, met Monday afternoon to discuss the appointments of approximately 225 ministers to various churches in the conference for the coming year.

The roll call of delegates will be promptly at 2 p. m. Tuesday afternoon in the main auditorium of the church.

Conference Delegates

Casting of ballots for the election of delegates to the quadrennial general conference which meets in Kansas City, Mo., next April, will probably begin Wednesday morning. There will be four delegates nominated from the Northwest Texas conference.

This session of the conference will be the shortest held since the winter of 1918 when the influenza epidemic broke out in Texas and a one-day conference was held with only a few delegates in attendance.

Dr. J. M. Lewis, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Lubbock, will deliver the welcome address of the conference at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday.

To Ordain Ministers

The most impressive ceremony of the conference will be held at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night when Bishop Holt will ordain the new ministers accepted by the conference to preach in the Methodist church. Bishop Holt will be assisted by several of the leading ministers of the conference.

Bishop Holt will deliver the devotional sermon of the conference from 12 to 12:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Pre-conference committees were in session Monday afternoon and night preparing the business that will come before the conference during the three-day meet.

Fuller Defines Duty Of Church

DALLAS, Nov. 8. (AP) — The church must define the gospel of redemption and preach it with unrelenting power if it is to save the world from war's destruction, in morality, drunkenness and crime, Dr. Ellis A. Fuller of Louisville, Ky., told the state Baptist Brotherhood convention here tonight.

Dr. Fuller, president of the Southern Baptist Theological seminary, spoke to Baptist laymen from over the state as they initiated their meeting, being held in connection with the Baptist General convention, which opens tomorrow night, and the state Women's Missionary union meeting, which begins tomorrow morning.

World At Its Worst

The world is at its worst, said Dr. Fuller, with all wealth, manpower, and scientific progress harnessed for destruction.

The church must clarify the minds of men, confused on the subject of religion itself, he said.

Judge E. S. Cummings of Abilene presided at the opening session for the third consecutive time as president of the state organization.

The executive board of the WMU, headed by Mrs. B. A. Copass of Seminary Hill, Tarrant county, met today to discuss matters which will be presented to the organization tomorrow.

Missionary To Speak

Dr. M. T. Rankin, missionary to China who was interned by the Japanese in the Stanley prison camp following the outbreak of the war, will address the WMU tomorrow.

R. G. Baucom, of Winnsboro, acting president, will preside over the initial sessions of the Baptist General convention tomorrow night. Seminary and missions reports will be made by the Rev. T. P. Lott of Harlingen and the Rev. J. C. Sisemore of Amarillo, respectively. J. Q. Woodard of Beaumont will lead the song service.

Argentina Brands U. S. Reports False

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 8 (AP) — President Pedro Ramirez's press office said tonight that a report published in the United States that Argentina had secretly released 90 former German naval crewmen from internment so they might return to active service could be 'officially denied."

(The Argentine Embassy in Washington termed the report "impossible and barbaric" last night and the U. S. State and Navy departments said they had no information and no comment.)

Hitler Vows Battle To End, Warns Of Mass Executions To Avoid Collapse At Home

LONDON, Nov. 8 (AP) — Adolf Hitler vowed today the Nazis would fight fanatically to the end, and, admitting some persons in Germany wanted an Allied victory, warned he would resort to mass executions to prevent a home front collapse.

Flanked by Nazi party bigwigs in a Munich beer cellar, Hitler, in a belligerent, somewhat boastful speech broadcast by the Berlin radio and recorded by the Associated Press, demanded loyalty above all.

He aimed sharp threats in many directions, but marked the sharpest toward his own home front.

Demands Impossible

"I know that I demand the apparent impossible from the battlefront," he asserted, "but this almost impossible must force a decision in our favor."

In a speech, which took just short of an hour to broadcast and marked the anniversary of Hitler's abortive beer hall putsch of 1923, the Nazi dictator apparently took a stab at whipping up new national courage when he declared:

"Everything is possible, but that I should lose my nerve is impossible."

Hitler challenged the Allies to open a "second front" in Europe, and declared that "if they try . . . it will be seen whether the reserves we have been keeping in many fields are a sign of weakness or prudence."

The Nazi chief acknowledged reverses in Russia and, refetring to Allied bombings of Germany, said "the sufferings of the Ger-

Fanatical Japs Said Set To Fire Building Housing Camp Aides

TULE LAKE, Calif., Nov. 8. (AP) —Rebellious Japanese internees apparently made ready to set fire to the administration building of the Tule Lake segregation center while 150 white employes were being held there as hostages during the uprising last Monday, a former officer of the center testified today.

C. L. Payne, internal security officer who went to work at the camp for disloyal persons eight days ago but resigned within four days, told a state Senate investigating committee that sacks of straw "which looked like they had been soaked with oil" encircled the building.

Ultimatum Served

The hundreds of Japanese massed about the building sent in a committee which informed virtually imprisoned War Relocation administration officials that if their demands were not met "they would not be responsible for anyone in the building." The Japanese demanded better food, oiled streets, and changes in white personnel, including the dismissal of Dr. Reece N. Pedicord, who had been severely beaten by the internees.

Payne, a former deputy sheriff in Clark county, Washington, said the Japanese themselves removed the sacks of straw when the dem-

Damage Is Light In Fires At Two Gins

Two out of town fires were answered by the Lubbock fire department Monday night. The first was at Holmes Gin in Wolffarth, about 12 miles from Lubbock on the Brownfield highway. The second fire was in the gin at Canyon where minor damages was reported by officials of the fire department.

Japs Lose 63 More Planes

Shipping Also Pounded In Spreading Pacific Battles

By WILLIAM F. BONI
Associated Press Staff Writer

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Tuesday, Nov. 9.—While there still was no confirmation of naval action as reported by the Japanese, airmen of the South and Southwest Pacific commands in 48 hours covered by the latest MacArthur communique have accounted for the destruction of 63 enemy aircraft.

The actions, which ranged from another major strike on Rabaul to interceptions of feeble Japanese attacks, covered an area extending eastward from Madang on New Guinea to New Georgia in the central Solomons.

Heaviest At Rabaul

The heaviest blow at the enemy airforce was struck at Rabaul where 23 Jap fighters were shot out of the air and nine bombers and three fighters were destroyed on the ground during an attack by Liberators and P38s in daylight Sunday.

Japanese planes also were active on a widespread scale. They struck at Empress Augusta Bay, where U.S. Marines hold a bridgehead on the west coast of Bougainville. There 12 enemy divebombers tried to attack nearby shipping but were driven off, with five planes downed by ship and shore anti-aircraft.

Japs Lash At Treasury

The Japanese also struck south of Bougainville at Allied-won Treasury island. They also attacked two positions on New Guinea and another on New Georgia.

In the continuing Allied air strike at concentrations of enemy warships and freighters sent into the battle for the Solomons, a heavy cruiser and two destroyers were attacked off Bougainville Hits or near misses were believed to have been scored at low altitude by the night flying torpedo planes on two destroyers.

Despite the heavy enemy air raid at Empress Augusta Bay, the Marines continued to consolidate their positions there.

Six Small Vessels Sunk

Off the northern coast of Bougainville near Buka, Mitchell medium bombers of Adm. William F. Halsey's South Pacific force sank an enemy corvette and five small cargo boats.

Rabaul, where an inrush last week of warships from Truk was the signal for attacks by the air forces of both General MacArthur and Admiral Halsey, was blasted in the latest raid Sunday with 84 tons of bombs by fighter-escorted Liberators. They concentrated their daylight attack on Rapopo airdrome.

Nine bombers and three fighters were destroyed on the ground. In addition to the 23 downed, eight others probably were destroyed out of the 50 fighters which intercepted. Five of the Japanese Paying Staggering Price

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Tuesday, Nov. 9. (AP)—Japan is paying a terrific price to hold Rabaul, anchor of its entire South Pacific position, and the showdown battle is yet to come.

Since the United Nations forces put the pressure on in earnest to unhinge Rabaul and throw the Nipponese entirely out of the Solomons, Japanese plane and warship losses have reached staggering proportions.

42 Warships Put Out

In that period, covering less than a month, 42 enemy warships have been listed as sunk or damaged and nearly 800 planes have been destroyed, probably destroyed or damaged over Rabaul. The warship figures include vessels sunk or damaged in last week's battle of Empress Augusta bay and actions in the waters of the general Rabaul area, but do not count the many non-combat ships sunk or damaged.

A comparative lull in fighting that developed over the weekend doubtless was explained by the enemy's losses and his efforts to restore his defense position.

Simple Figures Show Why Nip Bridge Of Ships Fails

By GEORGE H. MILLER
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Simple arithmetic tells why the little brown men of Nippon have hit a snag in attempting to link Japan and its "co-prosperity sphere" with a bridge of ships.

It would take Japanese shipyards more than four years, working at their previously known peak productive capacity, to make good the announced damage wrought by Allied bombs, shells and torpedoes in 23 months of war. Even with war-speeded production schedules, there is no doubt Japanese shipping has been hard hit.

Admiral Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief of the U. S. fleet, in a Navy day address said "Our ships and carrier based planes have destroyed more than one-third the total tonnage Japan had at the time of Pearl Harbor." In September Navy Secretary Knox made a similar estimate of Japanese losses in announcing that American forces had taken a toll of 2,500,000 tons of Jap cargo carriers. It has been estimated that Japan had available on Dec. 7, 1941, 7,618,819 tons of merchant

Final Nazi Gasp In Air Due Soon

Struggle Promised In Skies Over Italy

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED MILITARY HEADQUARTERS SOMEWHERE IN ITALY, Nov. 8—There is every prospect that, starting in December, one of the war's last great air struggles will be fought in the skies over Italy between the luftwaffe and the powerful American-British airforce in this theater.

Officers who have been attached to the staff of Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesserling quote him as saying the full strength of the luftwaffe will be turned to the Mediterranean for the winter after weather blocks operations on the Russian front.

He'll Show Americans

These officers quote Kesserling as saying "then I will have a real airforce and we will show the Americans."

Allied military men believe that any such large-scale German air effort will mean its last big gasp of the war.

Not only Allied airmen but many ground generals as well believe that the crack in German military strength in this war will come not in the fleet as in the last war but in the air force.

While Kesselring is reported to have been removed from command in Italy and replaced by Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, this is expected to make no difference in the German high command's plans.

Realize Allied Might

The Germans realize fully the might of the Allied airforce being assembled in the Mediterranean for a winter attack against Germany and are determined to stop it at all costs.

This is one of the main reasons why the Nazi high command is making every effort to keep the Allies away from the big bomber fields around Rome as long as possible even at a heavy cost to their ground forces.

It is expected the Germans will concentrate numbers of fighters in the Po valley to try to intercept Allied bomber fleets as they cross the Alps.

"Two Plate" Nelson Proves His Point

NEW YORK, Nov. 8. (AP) — They're calling him "two plate" Nelson now, the American good will ambassador who wins Russians friends by smashing dinner dishes.

Donald M. Nelson, War Production board chairman, told the story on himself today. In Novo-Sibrisk, on his recent Russian tour, a Russian production official shook him by the hand and told him how much he liked Americans, Nelson related.

"When we Russians like somebody, we break a plate—like this," Nelson quoted the Russian, who seized a dinner plate from the table and smashed it with his fist.

Not to be outdone, Nelson grabbed two dinner dishes, and swung his good right fist.

"When we Americans like somebody, we break two plates," Nelson informed his companion.

P.S.: Nelson cut his hand. The Russians at the dinner embraced him fervently, acclaiming the blood as shed in friendship.

SEVENTY per cent of the country's supplies of cocoa and chocolate are now going to the armed forces, according to unofficial reports of government agencies. As a result, although imports from the American tropics have increased with improvement in the shipping situation, civilians will not get much more than they have been receiving.

It's reported that cocoa supplies are not very far below the prewar level, but allotments to food and confection manufacturers will remain 30 per cent below their 1941 consumption.

Although the plant originated in the American tropics, most of the supply before Pearl Harbor came from Eastern areas, to which it was transplanted late in the nineteenth century. Sorority Conducts Pledge Service

Observing an annual tradition, Alpha Delta chapter, Beta Sigma Phi sorority, held a pledge service, dinner and initiation ceremony Sunday evening at the Hilton hotel with Mrs. Max Power, president, in charge of the services, assisted by Mrs. Herbert T. Johnson and Miss Julia Lair.

The pledge service was held at 6:30 o'clock in the Aztec room and the following took pledge oaths to keep for siv months: Mesdames Earl D. Miller, C. L. Howard and J. W. Howze, Misses Imogene Boyd and Joyce Halsey. Initiated to full membership after serving as pledges for six months were Miss Nell Flanagan and Mesdames Lucy Gene Skinner, Harold Fulghum and J. T. McWilliams.

In Yellow And Black Motif

The room was lighted with yellow and black candles and decorated with the sorority's flower, yellow roses.

The dinner was served in the Chimayo room at a table centered with a spray of roses and lighted with yellow candles in crystal holders.

Mrs. Power was toastmaster.

Miss Lair gave a toast to new pledges and Miss Joyce Halsey made the response. Mrs. Herbert T. Johnson talked on "What Beta Sigma Phi Means to Me."

Plate flavors were black flowers bearing the sorority's name in yellow Greek letters on one side and the crest on the other.

Attending, in addition to those already mentioned were Mesdames Oretha Vannoy, W. H. Galloway, W. B. Rushing, H. M. Gibson, jr., Misses Nina Scifres, Ruby Lee Leary, Hazel Burton and Gladys Ruth Parnell.

Poppy Sales Total $768.10 Saturday

American Legion auxiliary sale of 6,000 red paper poppies on downtown Lubbock streets Saturday totaled $768.10, Mrs. Paul Hardwick announced Monday morning. Flowers were worn in memory of the men who gave their lives in World War I.

Money derived from the sales will be kept here for rehabilitation of ex-service men, and for welfare work among children of disabled veterans and care of service men in World War 2.

The poppies were made by veterans in the government hospital at Legion, Texas.

LSO Sadie Hawkins Dance Is Featured

A group of Hubettes were hostesses and dancing partners at a traditional "Sadie Hawkins day" dance at the LSO Saturday night with music by the orchestra composed of Tech pre-flight students.

The dance was the last activity until the center is re-opened Friday after a new floor is laid, Miss Leona Gelin, director, said this morning.

S/Sgt. Jack Gulbin of the glider detachment at South Plains Army Air field and Miss Kathleen Gordon, a secretary at the Lubbock Army recruiting office, were crowned "Lil Abner" and "Daisy Mae," after judged to most nearly resemble the characters in the popular comic strip.

Winners in a cracker eating contest were John Hammett, who is stationed at the weather station at Lubbock Army Air field, and Miss Ella B. Shelley.

Glider Pilots' Wives Club To Meet Today

Bridge games will be played by Glider Pilot's Wives meeting at South Plains Army Air field this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Favors will be given for high score.

Mrs. John W. Ross is chairman of the affair.

H-D CLUB TO MEET

Monroe Home Demonstration club will meet Thursday in the home of Mrs. E. W. Smith, route 3.

Current Problems To Be Considered By Women At Federation Convention In Austin Today

AUSTIN, Nov. 8.—In a convention of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs in Austin, today, Wednesday and Thursday the questions of equal status for women and the possible draft of American woman-power will be considered.

The women will also work out plans for furthering their many war services and considerations for their post-war activities, according to Miss Ethel Foster, president.

With more than $15,000 raised this year alone for Nursing Scholarships for student nurses, it is probable that the Texas Federation will turn to the important wartime need of home-nursing and practical nursing training with greater emphasis upon such projects.

GFWC President To Speak

Mrs. John L. Whitehurst of Baltimore, Md., who returned a few weeks ago from a trip to Great Britain to study the war activities of the British women, will be the convention's featured speaker. Her address and conference talks will be distinct challengers to the junior clubwomen.

Other featured speakers will include Col. Homer Garrison, jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, who will assist the women in their study of juvenile delinquency problems; Col. Ora J. Cohee, chief of the chaplains' branch of the 8th Service Command, who will discuss "Woman's Place in This Changing World"; Dr. E. W. Bertner, director of the Anderson Hospital Cancer Research, of Houston; Mrs. Clara Hood Rugel, director of the USO center at Midland; F. Alatorre of Mexico City, who will discuss "Pan America"; Dr. Vienna Moog of Brazil, who will speak on "The Amazon and Its Future"; and Major A. P. Morris, quartermaster depot, Fort Worth, whose address title will be "The Army Travels on Its Stomach."

Mrs. Davis Is Chosen President Of H-D Club

Mrs. Leo Davis was elected president of the Wolfforth Home Demonstration club meeting recently in the home of Mrs. Fred Worsham. Others elected were: Mrs. R. S. Hobgood, vice president and program chairman; Mrs. R. R. Hutcheson, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. S. R. Jerden, home improvement demonstrator; Mrs. A. R. Carlie, food demonstrator.

Miss Clara Pratt demonstrated how to can chicken to seven members and one visitor.

The club will have a Christmas party Dec. 17.

Wednesday Needle Club Meet Postponed

A party planned for the Wednesday Needle club this week in the home of Mrs. C. J. Wagner was postponed indefinitely because of the death of her brother, C. M. Tinker, in Riverside, Ill.

Beauties Chosen But Winners Unannounced

Final eight Texas Tech beauties were selected last night by Don Budge, famed tennis champion who is stationed on Tech campus with the pre-flight detachment.

Announcement of the beauties will be made December 10 at a La Ventana semi-formal dance to be given at the Lubbock hotel. Tickets for the dance are now on sale on the campus. Out of each couple attending the dance, one must be a Tech student. Only Tech students and servicemen stationed on the campus are to come as stags.

Budge selected the final eight from sixteen co-eds who were elected in a student body election recently. Selection was made in the girl's dormitory lounge with all girls appearing in person. Candidates wore street clothes. They were introduced by Lt. Harry Layton, public relations officer of the pre-flights.

The eight winners will each have full page pictures, and the eight runner-ups will each have one-half page pictures in La Ventana, college year book.

The sixteen, listed in order of the number of votes received in the student body election, include Peggy O'Brien, Hope Cade, Jeanne Roco, Thelma Ruth Strain, La Rue Hall, Sue Grimes, Bernice Cocanougher, Frances Sitter, Evelyn Jones, Jerry Shaw, Martha Larche, Elizabeth Robinson, Rosemary Anderson, Norma Croxton, Jackie Wilkison, and Frances Keim.

FOR AVERAGE FIGURES: This simple dress in sheer gray wool by Forstmann is made with shorter waist.

Armour Ideas Make the Most of Meat

To Extend Flavor Try Star Bacon Rolls!

Just about everybody goes for the meaty, smoked flavor of really good bacon. And here's a new trick to spread that bacon flavor a long way. Serve these Star Bacon Rolls stuffed with toasted bread crumbs. They give you bacon-goodness in every bite!

To serve 4 persons, you'll need only 8 slices of Star Bacon. We suggest Armour's Star Bacon because it's slow smoked over fragrant hickory and hardwood fires... has that smoky savor that is America's favorite.

First, brown 1 cup chopped onions and ½ cup chopped celery in 2 tablespoons bacon drippings. Lightly toast 4 cups day-old bread crumbs and add onions, celery, ¾ tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. pepper, ¼ cup chopped parsley and ¼ cup water.

You make the rolls by crossing two slices of bacon and placing the dressing in middle. Then fold over the bacon slices and secure with toothpick. Bake rolls on rack in uncovered pan for 30-35 minutes in 375° oven . . . or until bacon is nicely crisped. Serve with broiled tomato halves and your favorite creamed vegetable.

Continued Fall Bible Studies Mark Monday Meetings Of Lubbock Church Organizations

Continued studies of missions and Bible lessons marked Monday meetings of women's church organizations in the forms of councils, auxiliaries and missionary societies.

The lesson of circle 1 of Central Baptist church, taught by Mrs. Jeff D. Welch, was based on a study of the first three chapters of Revelations. Mrs. W. L. Atkins opened the meeting by leading the group in singing. A business meeting was presided over by Mrs. Earl Horton with a closing prayer offered by Mrs. W. R. Dean.

Class Meets With Mrs. Weed

Rev. Jeff D. Welch was guest at the Monday afternoon meeting of Arnett-Benson Bible class in the home of Mrs. I. T. Weed, 2706 Locust. He taught a Bible lesson to the following members: Mesdames J. W. Gollihough, E. H. Hazlewood, Claude Payne, W. L. Sumrow, L. W. Parker, Roy A. Wells. The next class meeting is to be in the home of Mrs. A. R. Pendley, 2708 Ruby.

Rev. Liff Sanders taught the Bible lesson to members of Broadway Church of Christ Bible class in the absence of the regular teacher. The eighth chapter of Acts was discussed by attending members.

Mrs. Cecil Matthews, guest, spoke on "Worship" in presenting a devotional to 20 members of St. John's Methodist WSCS meeting at the church. A song at mediation closed the meeting.

Mrs. Arch Harper led the program of Asbury Methodist WSCS by presenting a devotional which was followed by an exposition by Mrs. Doc Eagle on "Ladies of Belgian Congo." Eighteen members attended.

Baptists Elect Delegates

Mrs. Eula Draper presided for an election of delegates to the Baptist State convention at a meeting of First Baptist WMS at the church.

Mesdames W. I. Pittman, J. V. Jones, Dewey George, and O. T. Williams, discussed the subject "Paganism." Mrs. Tommy Dixon brought the devotional and later, assisted by Mesdames James Shelton and Weldon Findley, rendered special musical selections.

The meeting closed with a meditation by Bernice Cocanougher. Also 14 Sunbeams met at the same hour with their two leaders.

To Conduct All-Day Meet

Members of College Avenue Baptist WMS meeting at the church planned an all day meeting Monday to study a mission book. At this meeting the 11th chapter of Matthew was discussed.

Attending were Mesdames Bob Fry, J. C. Pharr, A. T. Campbell, S. L. Cates, G. E. Lowe, Max Morris, R. J. Ledbetter, R. C. Hay, G. W. Tate, A. L. Cates and three visitors.

Mrs. J. A. Alred was program leader at Calvary Baptist WMS meeting with Mrs. J. T. Meek and Mrs. Bill Dethridge presenting lessons and leading songs. Others participating on program were Mesdames Bryan Landers, A. L. Curtis, R. D. Harris and Miss May Horn. Sixteen attended.

Meeting jointly in the home of Mrs. G. P. Kuykendall, 2201 Sixteenth street, circles 1 and 2 of First Christian Woman's council were guests at a 1 o'clock luncheon. Mrs. R. I. Griner presided for business and Mrs. R. L. Howell led the devotional for 27 attending members.

Mrs. H. D. Phillips was hostess to circle 5 at a luncheon attended by 22 guests. There Mrs. M. O. Owens presented the lesson. Other circle hostesses were Mesdames Wayne McMurray, J. H. Hackfield and Mack Scroggins. Appearing on the program at these meetings were Mesdames A. T. Biggers, Hilliard Moore, Fred Childers, L. O. Armstrong and Otis Hackney.

Home Mission Study

Circles 3, 5 and 6 of the First Presbyterian Woman's auxiliary met in homes Monday with the Training circle meeting in Fellowship hall. Approximately 50 members attended.

Hostesses were Mesdames R. V. Kimmell, J. H. Murdough and Jack Lewis. Taking part on the programs were Mesdames Thord Dockray, T. R. Prideaux, James Samson, Bill Foster and G. M. McCleary.

CLASS POSTPONES LUNCHEON

Sorosis class of First Methodist church has postponed it's regular luncheon previously scheduled for today because of Northwest Texas Methodist conference being conducted here. The next meeting will be Dec. 14.

Tech Press Finishes Biography Volume

Texas Technological press has just completed publishing a biography of Charles DeMorse, denominated as the "Father of Texas Journalism," by Dr. Ernest Wallace, assistant professor of history at Texas Tech. It is a 272-page volume.

In addition to its being a biography, it is in some respects a history of Texas for the half century following San Jacinto—the story of annexation, the Mexican war, early statehood, the Civil war, reconstruction, the formation of new constitutions, and the mad scramble for land during the 1880's.

Hearings To Open On Food Subsidies Plan

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP) — Chairman Smith (D-SC) announced today the Senate agriculture committee will begin hearings Monday on the general question of food subsidies and farm prices.

Smith said state commissioners of agriculture and spokesmen for farm organizations will testify in connection with President Roosevelt's recent request to Congress for the authorization of additional food subsidies to be paid through the Commodity Credit corporation (CCC).

Opposition To Gas Pipeline Narrows

AUSTIN, Nov. 8. (AP) — Gov. Coke R. Stevenson indicated today his opposition to a proposed pipeline for export of Texas natural gas had narrowed to the question of whether the gas intended for transport is now being wasted.

He said he would confer with Railroad commission members in this connection but did not say what protests, if any, he might make against export of gas.

Meanwhile the Tennessee Gas and Transmission company announced award of contracts for the 1,188-mile line from Corpus Christi to Charleston, W. Va.

Depletion Feared

The governor had declared opposition to export of gas on grounds it would deplete a natural resource needed for the development of Texas industry. He has mentioned the possibility of asking the legislature to place a severance tax on gas for export and declared builders of pipelines would proceed at their own risk.

At a press conference today he declared the controlling question seemed to be whether gas intended for interstate shipment could be conserved from supplies now being wasted.

The governor exhibited a letter from Richard Wagner, president of the Chicago corporation which owns Tennessee Gas and Transmission company in which Wagner advanced these factors as possible effects of the export line:

A stiffening of the price of gulf coast natural gas.

Larger returns to land and royalty owners.

Increased tax collections for the state.

A greater conservation and recovery of gas now being wasted.

Conserve More Gas

It was Wagner's contention that another effect of the pipeline would be conservation of more gas—because of increased price—than is required to supply the line.

He declared requirements of the line would be negligible in relation to estimated reserve of more than 40 trillion cubic feet of natural gas in the gulf coast area. He added that his company and affiliate have ample wells to supply the pipeline requirements.

Railroad Is To Train Army Rail Battalion

DALLAS, Nov. 8 (AP)—The Texas and Pacific railroad will train soldiers of the 748th railroad operating battalion on its Fort Worth to El Paso division, the Eighth Service command announced today.

Soldiers will receive instruction from civilian employes. The railroad will train engineers, firemen, conductors, brakemen, yardmen and other classes of employes.

REGISTRATION SHOWS GAIN

AUSTIN, Nov. 8 (AP)—Registration for the winter term at the University of Texas has reached 6,678, an increase of 300 students over the fall semester.

Japs Start Running Sans Shirts And Some Even Without Pants

WITH MARINE RAIDERS ON BOUGAINVILLE, Nov. 3 —(Delayed) (AP)—The Japanese troops on Bougainville island, northern Solomons, were hit so rapidly some of them left their pillboxes on the run, without helmets, shirts or pants, Lt. J. M. Rouse, Los Angeles, related.

"I saw some of them wearing only their underpants," he said.

"When we got in among pillboxes on the cape (probably Cape Torokina) we threw some bombs and grenades into the dugouts and almost all they had on were their gas masks as they came running out or when we found their bodies inside the pillboxes, after fragmentation bombs had finished them off."

"I was amazed at how young the Japanese soldiers appeared to be. I saw one who looked only 13 or 14 years old."

Missionaries Still At Work In Spite Of War

BOSTON, Nov. 8 (AP) — More than 200 Congregational missionaries are serving actively in many parts of the world despite the global war raging about them, Dr. Wynn C. Fairfield, secretary for East Asia of the American board of Foreign Missions, reported today.

Speaking at the 134th annual meeting of the American Board of Foreign Missions, he revealed that 19 missionary repatriots are returning on the exchange ship Gripsholm.

This leaves 20 other American board workers interned in occupied China and the Philippines, he said, and added that 30 still are at work in Free China, with six more on their way to posts in that country.

Dr. Fairfield said that there were 174 other Congregational missionaries at work in India, Ceylon, Syria, Turkey, South Africa, Southern Rhodesia, Angola and Mexico.

ODT Asks Limitations On Federal Vacations

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP) — The Office of Defense Transportation today requested all government agencies and private employers to deny holiday vacation leaves to employes, where travel is involved, from December 17 through January 10.

DALLAS, Nov. 8 (U.P.)—Mrs. Tamako Izumi, wife of an American-born Japanese serving in the American Army, was rejected by the Army yesterday when she failed to pass a physical examination for entrance in the WAC.

Secretary Hull's Return Awaited

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. (U.P.) — Official and unofficial Washington waited expectantly today for the triumphant homecoming of Secretary of State Cordell Hull, hopeful that he will explain some of the details of the Moscow conference soon in a public address.

The time of his arrival back in this country has not been announced. He left Moscow last week after the historic pacts signed there were announced to the world.

Plans Series Of Addresses

The 72-year-old elder statesman of the Democratic party who has held the office of secretary of state longer than any of his predecessors probably will be ready for a well-earned rest. His health has been only fair in recent years.

But he is committed to a series of addresses on the future of American foreign policy. That commital was made before he went to Moscow in an address on Sept. 12 in which he urged United States participation in a system of organized cooperation "based upon the willingness of the cooperating nations to use force, if necessary, to keep the peace."

Senate Already On Record

Hull's proposal for an international organization equipped to maintain peace is embodied in article 4 of the four-powered Moscow pact. He will return to this country to find that the Senate, empowered by the Constitution to ratify treaties, already is on record approving that particular article. By a whopping 85 to 5 vote last Friday it approved a resolution to which that section of the Moscow declaration had been added.

It will be a sharply different atmosphere. The new undersecretary of state, Edward R. Stettinius, jr., is well settled in his job, having handled the affairs of the department during Hull's absence.

Whereas the department was the subject of much criticism before Hull left, the personnel shake-up and the results of the Moscow conference have dispelled much of it. Hull's work at Moscow has gone a long way toward answering former charges in many quarters that his attitude was anti-Soviet.

Winslow's Condition Said Satisfactory

Condition of Rev. John A. Winslow, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, who suffered a fractured left femur in a fall Sunday, was described as satisfactory late Monday by officials at Lubbock General hospital where he is receiving treatment.

The accident occurred early Sunday morning when Mr. Winslow, after ringing the bell for 8 o'clock mass discovered one of the thermostats needed regulated, climbed a ladder to adjust the apparatus and slipped and fell several feet to the floor.

It takes 65 trains to move a division of 15,000 men and its equipment.

UP Writer Admitted To One Of Algiers' Better Clubs

EDITOR'S NOTE: War Correspondent Chris Cunningham has cabled the United Press that he was admitted into a club at Algiers. Such personal society notes don't usually make press association wires but the U. P.'s editors think this is an unusual case. Here is Cunningham's cable.

By CHRIS CUNNINGHAM
United Press Staff Writer

ALGIERS, Nov. 8.—I was admitted to one of Algiers' better clubs today — the "Brush-Off Club."

The not-too-exclusive club room is the office of Capt. Al Paris of the air force public relations section. Just inside Al's door is a scroll, surmounted by a paint brush. The scroll is inscribed:

"The Brush-Off Club."

Under that comes columns — "Your name," "her name," and "to whom."

Around the wall, mingling with pictures of Generals Eisenhower, Giraud and de Gaulle, Jimmy Doolittle, Air Marshal Tedder and other big shots are the black bordered pictures of pretty girls—the former fiances of my "brushed-off" fellow members.

Thereby A Club Was Born

Al tells me the club started when a member of the air force produced a newspaper clipping which announced the marriage of his former girl friend with the doleful remark: "Fellas, I've been brushed off." It turned out that he had company. And thereby a club was born.

It's a very unusual club in that it has no regular meetings, dues, officers or by laws. You just have to be "brushed off" to get in.

Charter member is Capt. Howard Hammersley, he has filled in the other two columns as follows: "Her name—Bernice Prassett; to whom—a good friend."

Texan Is A Member

Another early member has this listing:

Lt. Russell Brickell Marianna Bronston, a four-effer.

Brickell hailed from Texas and met Marianna in Florida.

Hammersley and Brickell are two-time losers, for scanning farther down the list I found that Hammersley was brushed off by Barbara Tayler for a "a foot soldier." Brickell noted the marriage of Karolyn Trowder to "a private in the walking army."

(Brickell formerly worked on the copy desk of the Austin, Tex., American. He volunteered for army duty shortly after the outbreak of the war.)

Canadian Flight Lt. F. Bakhouse listed Patricia and "a XXXXX civilian." (Cunningham says the X's denote an adjective the lieutenant crossed out.)

Jean Feeman was Lt. William H. Graffis' membership "card."

How did I make the club? Sorry folks—military secret.

CUNNINGHAM NOT ENTITLED TO CLUB MEMBERSHIP

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 5. (U.P.)—United Press War Correspondent Chris Cunningham apparently was a bit too hasty joining that "Brush-Off Club" in Algiers—provided he's still thinking about the girl he was thinking about when he left for the war fronts two years ago.

Cunningham sent a dispatch from Algiers telling of his admittance to the club organized for soldiers and apparently open to war correspondents, whose girl friends back home have given them the "brush-off."

WAC And Definitely Pretty

The United Press found out his "military secret" and interviewed the girl.

No, her name can't be used. "He says it's a military secret; let's keep it that way," she said. But it can be told she's a WAC and definitely pretty.

Anyway, she thinks he's not qualified for membership in any "Brush-Off" club because he hasn't been brushed off, at least by her he hasn't.

"Maybe I'm Not The One"

She thought about that for a minute. "Goodness," she suddenly exclaimed, "maybe I'm not the one he's accusing of brushing him off."

If she is, he can forget it—at least until he gets back home and they have a chance to talk over some of the things they didn't clear up before he left.

"I think he ought to relinquish his membership in that club—and take my picture down off that wall," she commented.

"And why doesn't he say something about when he's coming home?" she asked.

Good Neighbor Board Appointed In Terry

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 8 (Special) A committee to work for better relations between Anglo and Latin Americans has been named by the Terry County Board of Development.

A statement issued by W. R. McDuffie, president of the board, pointed out that South Plains farmers owe much to the people of Latin-American descent who each fall help harvest their cotton crops. He said, "Many of these folks are American citizens, have sons in our armed services, buy war bonds, pay taxes, have lived in Texas for three generations and are in fact just as American as you or I."

Soldier Vote Still Unsolved Problem

By DEAN DITTMER
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 — Congress wants millions of Americans in the armed forces to vote in next year's presidential election, but members are up a stump how to go about it.

Soldier-vote bills are under discussion in both the Senate and House and, despite hours of discussion and the hearing of dozens of witnesses, members are in agreement in only one thing: soldiers and sailors should have the privilege of voting.

Legislation Not Practical

Some members of the House elections committee, currently trying to find ways and means of getting ballots to the battlefront and back again without violating the Constitution — "usurping states' rights"—and in time to be counted, insist that enactment of such legislation is not practical and is being pushed as a "political gesture by those who think they will get the soldier vote."

Others, including Rep. Eugene Worley, D., Tex., sponsor of the House bill now being heard by committee, and Committee Membesr Herbert C. Bonner, D., N. C., and Harris Ellsworth, R., Ore., have argued that such legislation "can be worked out."

Constitutionality Major Issue

The major issue is whether any law giving the federal government authority to conduct the voting of any group is constitutional.

All admit that the Worley bill which is similar to the Green-Lucas bill in the Senate, conflicts with the constitution and-or statutes of practically every state. Along with these two problems, the house bill writers object to the ballot form proposed by Worley, Green and Lucas, and cannot agree on what the ballot should include.

Other Problems Cited

Among other things there are these problems:

1. In some states absentee ballots may not be mailed out until 15 days before election.
2. Delaware and Kentucky do not permit absentee ballot voting
3. Several state primaries will be held too late to allow time for printing and distribution to military bases.
4. Registration and poll tax laws of several states will be violated.
5. Many states do not permit absentee ballots to be counted unless they arrive by midnight the night before the election.
6. Can the Army and Navy conduct elections without too much of a burden on the military effort, and how will the transportation of ballots be handled?

YES, WE HAVE — Seven pounds of bananas, taken internally, have put Frances Ward of Atlanta in the Marine Corps. Short on weight at her first examination, Miss Ward stuffed on the filling fruit, then was accepted. What's bothering us is, where's she get the bananas?

Federal Aid To Be Given Storm Victims

FREEPORT, Tex., Nov. 8 (AP) — Three federal agencies today planned relief measures for this war plant town where a tornado Saturday night sheared through a four-by-eight block area, killing two persons, causing damage estimated at $500,000 and leaving hundreds homeless.

In Houston, Claude E. Belk, area director of the War Manpower Commission, announced that workers would be shifted to Freeport for repair work if they were needed.

John Lindsay, official of the Houston district War Production Board announced that he would issue emergency ratings for repair materials.

Red Cross, Salvation Army and Office of Civilian defense workers arranged quarters in private homes for persons who had lived in the damaged area. No lights and only emergency telephone service were available today.

Military police continued to patrol the area where many houses were flattened and others unroofed or damaged.

Mexicans Held In Car Mishap

TAHOKA, Nov. 8. (Special) — County Attorney W. C. Huffaker, Jr., took statements today from two young Mexicans who, he said, would be charged in connection with theft of an automobile Sunday night from Sam Allen.

Traveling at 70 miles an hour, the Mexicans said they struck the rear of a Texas New Mexico & Oklahoma Coaches, Inc., bus when enroute to Lubbock.

Bus Driver's Statement

M. N. Reed of 606 Avenue L in Lubbock, driver of the bus, said he had pulled to the right side of the road and stopped to allow a passenger to enter the bus three miles south of Woodrow, and the Mexicans piled into his machine, damaging it approximately $300. None aboard the bus was injured, however.

Both Mexicans apparently were dead, so a blanket was pulled over them. In the confusion, none noticed when one crawled from under it and sprinted away. A farmer took him to Tahoka for treatment this morning, and Sheriff Sam Floyd arrested him. The other Mexican was treated in West Texas hospital at Lubbock, for lacerations and internal injuries, then was taken in custody to Tahoka.

Discovers New Type Of Synthetic Rubber

NEW YORK, Nov. 8. (AP)—Herbert Smith, president of the U. S. Rubber Co., said today the company's technicians had developed a new type of synthetic rubber, with a high degree of resistance to solvents.

While not suitable for tires, Smith said, the chemical product may take the place of tire-suitable synthetics in other uses. One possibility foreseen by Smith was manufacture of raincoats which could be dry-cleaned since the rubberlike product, named "Uskol," is relatively unharmed by cleaning fluids.

Wage Proposal Is Turned Down

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. (AP)—A new proposal for settling the wage demands of 1,100,000 of the nation's railway employes was quickly turned down today by spokesmen for the workers, adding fresh fuel to disputes that threaten to paralyze rail transportation.

A special presidential board, the second charged with tackling the year-long controversy, recommended a 4 to 10 cent an hour increase for the non-operating employes, such as clerks, maintenance of war laborers, machinists and others who do not operate trains.

The recommendation, approved by Economic Stabiliaztion Director Fred M. Vinson, chairman of the rail employes wage conference committee, and as "unacceptable" by George M. Harrison, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks.

Holding Strike Votes

The 15 unions embracing the non-operating employes as well as unions representing the 300,000 operating workers — enginemen, firemen, switchmen—already are conducting strike votes in protest against the government's wage awards.

A previous presidential board had recommended an 8 cents an hour increase for the non-operating groups, but Vinson refused to approve it. Another board had awarded a 4 cent an hour increase to the operating groups, but this was rejected by the workers.

As the rail dispute headed toward a crisis, these were other developments on the labor front:

The majority of the nation's miners, tapering off their fourth general walkout in six months, went back to the pits and restoration of normal operations Tuesday or Wednesday was generally expected.

Others Dissatisfied

A report that labor groups are dissatisfied with the "Little Steel formula," limiting wages increases to 15 per cent of the January, 1941, level, was relayed to President Roosevelt by Sidney Hillman, head of the CIO Amalgamated Clothing Workers.

The executive board of the CIO United Steel Workers, the first to benefit under the "Little Steel formula," decided in Philadelphia to call for reopening of its wage contracts in an attempt to obtain increases exceeding the formula's ceilings.

Announcement of the special board's recommendation in the non-operating railway case came as Jewell and Harrison were testifying before a Senate Interstate Commerce subcommittee in support of a resolution to enforce the first board's award of an 8 cent increase, already accepted by the carriers.

Italian King Said Secure For Moment

ITALIAN GOVERNMENT HEADQUARTERS In Southern Italy, Nov. 8. (AP)—King Vittorio Emanuele, Italy's monarch for 21 years of Fascism, has apparently saved his throne for the moment, but few are willing to bet that he can hold on to the crown after Rome is freed.

The best information is that the king has won a temporary reprieve from his opponents on the grounds that a political truce is necessary until Rome is liberated and other political leaders can have a voice in the governement.

The king's grandson, the six-year-old prince of Naples, previously had been mentioned as a possible successor to the throne after political leaders were said to have refused to come into a coalition government unless the king abdicated.

Heavy Rains Brighten Prospects In Valley

WESLACO, Nov. 8 (AP)—Soaking rains last week brightened crop prospects in the Rio Grande valley, but slowed harvesting of winter vegetable and fruit crops.

There were indications that the valley's 1943 farm revenue would surpass the estimated $85,000,000 figure.

As many as 150 cars of fruit were leaving the valley daily. Vegetable shipments were averaging 50 cars per day. Citrus shipments for the season were nearing the 4,000-car mark as the week closed.

Fresh citrus prices were maintaining a steady level at $35 to $40 for grapefruit and $50 to $55 per ton for oranges—the highest prices growers have received over a period of several weeks at the season's start in several years.

Revenue Officer To Visit Lubbock Area

DALLAS, Nov. 8 (AP) — W. A. Thomas, collector of internal revenue for the Dallas district, ieft here today for Wichita Falls, Amarillo and Lubbock, where he said he would establish divisional offices this week to handle collections for those areas.

At present those cities have zone offices equipped only to accept payments by check or money order which must be forwarded to the Dallas office.

Later in the month a division office will be set up at Abilene.

Deposits Of Helium Found In New Mexico

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP) — The Bureau of Mines announced today discovery of large deposits of helium in western New Mexico which it said were equal to or larger than those in Texas.

The deposit was located on the Navajo Indian reservation near Gallup and officials said test wells had shown a very high content of helium with high pressure. The bureau said no details of the exploration would be given at this time as helium is being used by the Army and Navy for war purposes.

Three Plead Guilty In Liquor Law Cases

Three of five men charged Monday with liquor law violation pleaded guilty and were fined, and bond was set for the other two, B. S. Satchel and Jeff Wortham, county court officials said Monday night.

Fined were: L. Z. Cannon, $100 and costs; Hubert Tyler, $100 and costs, and Frank Johnson, $150 and costs.

Antionio Balderaz, 18, pleaded guilty of theft and was sent to jail for 10 days and given court costs.

Court To Decide In Price Fixing

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. (AP) — The Supreme court decided today to rule on the constitutionality of wartime price-fixing regulations, pillar of the government's stabilization program.

In another action which may affect efforts to control living costs, the tribunal also agreed to review litigation which the Justice department said involved the question whether public utility rate increases should be denied as inflationary unless the increases are "clearly" shown to be necessary.

Challenged At Boston

The price regulations administered by the Office of Price administration were challenged by two Boston meat dealers, Benjamin Rottenberg and Albert Yakus, who were convicted and sentenced to imprisonment on charges of violating OPA maximum whole prices on beef.

Yakus and Rottenberg contended that the emergency price control act represents an unconstitutional delegation of congressional powers. The first federal circuit court ruled, however, that Congress may control prices as part of a war-time program to prevent inflation.

The public utility rate increase involves an order of the public utilities commission of the District of Columbia, permitting the Washington Gas Light company to increase its rates $200,000 annually. The commission declared the increase was granted under a sliding scale formula after full consideration of wartime factors, including wage increases.

Justice Department Appeals

The Justice department, intervening for Economic Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson and the OPA, appealed from a lower court decision upholding the commission's attack.

In other actions today, the court:

Upheld the dismissal of an "informers" suit for more than $40,000,000 damages from the Bausch and Lomb Optical company and Carl Zeiss, Inc., of New York, accused of conspiracy to submit non-competitive bids on sales of optical instruments to the Army.

Granted a review of Anthony Kramer of New York, convicted of treason. Kramer is alleged to have aided two of the eight Nazi spies brought to this country in 1942 by submarines.

Ruled, in its first opinion of the term, that the federal fire statute exonerates a shipowner of liability for damages from fire to cargo aboard his ship.

Texas Officer Dies After Brief Illness

GREENVILLE, Pa., Nov. 8. (U.P.) —Interment will be in the Arlington National cemetery, Va., for Col. Zim E. Lawhon, 53, commander of Camp Reynolds, who died there yesterday after a brief illness, it was announced today.

A native of Texas, Col. Lawhon began his military career with the Texas National guard in 1908. Commissioned in the field artillery of the regular army in 1917, Lawhon served with the American Expeditionary force in France. He attended the University of Texas.

Unofficial word was received at Camp Reynolds three days ago that he was to be named soon to the temporary rank of brigadier general.

Battle For Rabaul Important To Japs

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press War Analyst

The progressive battle being waged in the waters of the Bismarck archipelago and the Solomons has become one of the most important to date in the southwest Pacific campaign.

Whatever its outcome, it cannot be decisive. The Japanese are risking valuable units of their fleet and taking damaging losses on the surface and in the air in their effort to save Rabaul, their key base on New Britain island.

Not Taking Big Chance

They are not, however, taking chances in sustaining a crippling blow at their main fleet strength. No battleships or carriers have been reported south of Truk, 800 miles to the north, where their main Pacific strength outside the home islands is centered.

These are dangerous waters for the Japanese, especially by reason of the strategic land bases for aircraft which the Allies have laboriously obtained along their outer arc of defense.

If the Japanese accepted the challenge of a showdown sea and air battle in the area they would, as attackers, be at an initial disadvantage. If they won, they would at best merely have halted the Allied northward drive and seriously upset one branch of the general strategic plan in the Pacific.

Would Expose Other Bases

If they lost, it is probable that they would have critically exposed the Marshall and Gilbert islands and Truk. It would mean the smashing of their entire outer perimeter of defense and a withdrawal to the inner defense of the home islands.

The Japanese more probably hope to delay considerably the Allied sweep of the remainder of the Solomons and occupation of New Britain. This they may be able to do, assuming they ar willing to write off the heavy losses involved.

Air Inferiority Deceptive?

These losses have not been and are not likely to be in any way fatal. Japanese air inferiority in the southwest and south Pacific in th last two months, which has cost them a ratio of much worse than 10 to 1 in planes, is likely to be deceptive.

They are saving their main fleet strength and probably a formidable air reserve for the later defense of Truk and the island system of which it is the hub.

The present battle must therefore be considered a preliminary to the big show, but that does not detract in any way from its major importance in the struggle to come.

School For Physically Handicapped Persons To Open On Nov. 15

AUSTIN, Nov. 8. (AP)—The state board of vocational education today announced the opening Nov. 15 of the Inks Lake Technical school for training physically handicapped persons.

The school, on the banks of Inks lake, Northwest of Austin, has a capacity of 350 students with 10 work shops and 16 dormitories with an estimated valuation of more than $400,000. Formerly it was a National Youth Administration training school.

There is no age limit on applicants, whose inquiries may be received to the nearest supervisor of vocational rehabilitation.

Supervisors are in Dallas, Fort Worth, Longview, Lubbock, El Paso, San Antonio, Houston, Huntsville and Waco.

Flier Dies In Leap From Striken Bomber

DALHART, Tex., Nov. 8 (AP) — Sgt. James A. Dempsey of Chicago was killed yesterday when he leaped from a heavy bomber and his parachute failed to open, the Dalhart Army Air base public relations office announced.

Lieutenant Harold Woodson, pilot, ordered the plane abandoned when two engines caught fire. Five enlisted men bailed out but Woodson and the co-pilot did not have time to do so. Woodson managed a landing on the field and fire crews extinguished the flames.

BELK IS APPOINTED

AUSTIN, Nov. 8 (U.P.)—Lt. Col. Orville S. Carpenter, regional director of the War Manpower commission, today announced appointment of Claude E. Belk as state director of the commission for Texas.

Belk has been director of the Houston area since April 1.

Rites Set For Doctor Groner

MARSHALL, Nov. 8 (AP)— Funeral services for Dr. Frank Shelby Groner, 65, president emeritus of the College of Marshall, will be held here tomorow. The body will be taken to Waco for services and burial Wednesday.

Dr. Groner, who was closely associated with the work of the Southern Baptist convention for a long period of time, died here today in a hospital, after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage last night.

Collin County Native

Dr. Groner, a native of Collin county, Tex., resigned as secretary of the Baptist Convention of Texas in June, 1928, to become president of the College of Marshall.

He served as president of the college for 14 years. Two years ago he resigned because of ill health and was made president emeritus.

Dr. Groner was the founder of the Hillcrest Memorial hospital at Waco and the Southern Baptist hospital at New Orleans.

A county attorney of Jack county, Tex., when he resigned to enter the ministry, Dr. Groner went to Stamford, Tex., in his first pastorate, which lasted seven years.

Was Pastor At Waco

Later he was pastor of the Columbus Street Baptist church in Waco, which post he resigned to become executive secretary of the Baptist Convention of Texas.

Dr. Groner's survivors included in addition to his widow, Mrs. Clyde M. Phillips of Wilmette, Ill., and Mrs. Orrin Battle of Houston, daughters; Edward Groner of New Orleans; Frank S. Groner, jr., of New Orleans, and Lt. Pat Neff Groner, Kelly Point, N. C., sons; and the following sisters and brothers: Mrs. M. A. Moore, New Orleans; Mrs. L. G. Hiller, Picayune, Miss.; H. L. Groner, Conway, Ark.; Mrs. J. H. Bonderson, Dallas; Mrs. Maud Robinson, Dallas; Orville Groner, Dallas, and Mrs. Winnie Horffall, New Orleans.

Mrs. Mary Stewart Dies Here Monday

Mrs. Mary Stewart, 79, died at the home of her daughter Mrs. M. C. Kinser, Thirty-fourth and College, at 6:30 a. m. Monday.

Survivors include four children, Mrs. M. C. Kinser, Mrs. J. B. Marion, Lubbock; Will Stewart, Greenville; Mrs. F. O. Sparks, Liberty; eight grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Services will be held in Sanders Funeral chapel at 3 o'clock this afternoon with Elder Liff Sanders, of the Church of Christ, officiating. Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery with Sanders Funeral home conducting.

Smaller Cotton Crop Forecast

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. (U.P.) — The Agriculture department today estimated the 1943 cotton crop at 11,442,000 bales, a reduction of 36,000 bales from the estimate made a month ago and 1,346,000 bales under the 1942 crop.

The department said conditions on Nov. 1 indicated an average yield of 253.4 pounds of lint cotton per acre, considerably above the 1932-41 average of 217 pounds but below last year's record yield of 272.5 pounds per acre.

Ginnings Are Lower

Cotton ginnings to Nov. 1 totalled 9,061,252 bales, compared with 9,713,354 bales to the same date of last year.

The slight reduction in production prospects during October were the result largely of mid-month killing frosts in North Carolina, Tennessee and Missouri, the department said.

Credit Associations To Go On Their Own

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP) — Gradual withdrawal of government aid from reduction credit associations was foreseen today by A. G. Black, governor of the Farm Credit administration.

Black told a House Agriculture sub-committee that government subsidies to the 527 associations scattered throughout the country are being withdrawn as rapidly as possible. About 300 of them, he said, still must receive some federal aid but in several years should be able to go on their own except in "periods of difficulty and approaching collapse."

Visiting Day Set At Schools Here Today

Today has been set as visitation day in the Roscoe Wilson, George R. Bean and K. Carter schools in connection with observance of National Education Week. Theme of the day in various programs to be presented by schools will be "Education for the Air Age."

Seventy-one third year intermediate students of K. Carter school, under direction of Miss Imogene Webster and Miss Mary Mathis, presented "American Freedom" at a meeting of the Junior chamber of commerce Monday noon.

Junior High school's boys' and girls' glee clubs and speech students entertained with a program Monday night in the American Legion hall.

American Education Week activities are being carried on in all city schools this week accenting the theme "Education for Victory."

Reynolds To Retire From Senate Post

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. (AP) — Robert Rice Reynolds, chairman of the Senate Military committee, formally announced tonight his decision to retire from the Senate when his present term expires at the end of 1944.

Asserting he will not be a candidate for renomination in the North Carolina Democratic primary next year, the 57-year-old opponent of administration foreign policy declared:

"While I shall not be a candidate in the Democratic primary of 1944, I wish to state emphatically that I am not retiring from public life.

"I shall at all times, not only during the balance of my present term in the Senate of the United States, but thereafter, continue to champion those principles which I have always felt were to the best interest of my state and my country."

Reiger Lost To Westerners For Battle With Amarillo

The hopes of the Lubbock Westerners was given a rude jolt over the weekend with that announcement that Jim Joe Reiger, star end and co-captain, would be out of the Amarillo game Armistice Day.

Reiger was stricken with pneumonia Saturday night and will be out for at least a week, and may not be in shape to play against Plainview in the final conference game of the season. He was reported much improved Monday, but will be confined to bed until at least Friday.

The loss of Reiger will leave the Westerners with only one letterman for the all important battle of the Amarillo Golden Lookies on Butler field. This will be Jim Strawn, tackle.

The wing posts seem to be the hardest hit spot on the Westerner club, and Monday found Kenneth Cawthorn, reserve wingman, also missing from the practice because of an injury to his leg which took a turn for the worse in the past few days. The injury was suffered in practice early last week.

There were no other injuries on the club. The Westerners came through the tough battle last Friday afternoon with Brownfield in good shape.

The team spent Monday working on the offense for the Amarillo game. A long scrimmage was held with the Cowhands Monday with Coaches J. Mule Davis and Dixie White using many offensive combinations against the younger lads.

Jerry Crawford, 136 pounder, was being groomed Monday to replace Reiger at the right wing post, and was showing up well in the rough scrimmage session.

The Westerners were ripping off nice gains against the Cowhands, and were looking good. Several new surprise packages were being made up for delivery to Butler Field Thursday, and much attention was being centered on these plays during the scrimmage session.

The team will hold two more workouts at home and leave Wednesday for Amarillo after the last workout. The team will spend the night in Amarillo Wednesday and be ready for the crucial battle Thursday afternoon.

E. J. (Pinkey) Lowrey, business manager of athletics at Lubbock High school, said Monday night that "about half" of the tickets for the game had been sold Monday, and the rest would again be on sale this afternoon at the Hilton hotel. He warned fans again that those intending to go to Amarillo must get their tickets before they leave, for all tickets at Amarillo have already been sold.

Rice Shooting At Old Jinx In Aggie Battle

HOUSTON, Nov. 8 (AP)— When Rice and Texas A. and M. collide here Saturday in a game that could bounce the Aggies from a chance at the conference championship the Owls will be gunning for the jinx that has denied them victory over the College Station boys since 1935.

Only twice have the Owls bested Homer Norton-coached teams from Aggieland—and those wins in 1934 and 1935, Norton's first two years as A. and M.'s head coach.

Last year the teams battled to a scoreless deadlock which cost the Owls a tie for the conference championship.

The Aggies hold an all-time edge in games of 18-6 over Rice. Three games have been ties.

Mustangs Polish Up Attack For Porkers

DALLAS, Nov. 8 (AP)—Southern Methodist University's Mustangs went through a light offensive drill today as they opened preparations for Saturday's game with Arkansas at San Antonio.

C. D. Allen, letterman fullback who received an elbow injury in last week's loss to the Texas Aggies, was not suited out for today's workout. Coach Jimmy Stewart expressed hope that Allen would be ready to play against the Porkers.

South Texas Service Teams To Pack Power

HOUSTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Basketball squads able to compete with the best Southwest Conference teams are being groomed by three South Texas Army camps—Ellington Field, Corpus Christi Naval Base and Camp Wallace.

Ellington will support a post team for the first time. Lieut. C. C. Williams, the highest scoring center in Stephen F. Austin college history, will direct it.

Carl Hubbell and Fred Fitzsimmons are the only active National League pitchers who have scored more than 200 victories.

Baylor To Put Cage Team In Conference

(By The Associated Press)

Baylor University will return to Intercollegiate athletics with a basketball team in the Southwest Conference race, it was announced Monday by the physical education department of the school.

Baylor dropped football this year due to shortage of manpower and was not expected to participate in any other sport but it now has been decided to put a team in the cage campaign, thus bringing the conference to full strength with seven members battling for the championship.

Baylor will obtain some material from the Naval V-5 prgram which has 100 trainees. The V-5's could not play football because they didn't have time as they do all their work during the day hours. However, they will be able to participate in basketball since it is played at night.

Baylor started practice three days ago with a squad of 30 reporting. Marlin Hicks, 6-foot-7 center, is the only returning letterman. A coach has not been named but will come from the Physical Education Department.

Meanwhile the six other members of the conference will all move into training this week. Rice, which tied Texas for the championship last season, has the most lettermen with two.

Texas Christian, Southern Methodist, Texas and Rice will be able to obtain material from the Naval training program. Arkansas and Texas A. and M. do not have trainees.

Rice's lettermen are center Bill Henry and guard Russell Darling.

Texas doesn't have any lettermen but has Roy Cox, squadman who was a sensation in the National Collegiate Tournament last winter when the Longhorns beat Washington. Also on the Texas roster will be Slater Martin, all-state guard with the Jeff Davis High School team of Houston that won the Texas championship last season.

Southern Methodist has one letterman, guard Acie Cannady, and two squadmen, forward Dennis Hayden and center Harry Teal.

Arkansas has one letterman, forward Ben Jones, and one squadman, Charles Jolliff, center.

Texas Christian also has one letterman and one squadman—Floyd Chronister and Douglas Kinny, respectively.

There are no lettermen or squadmen at Texas A. and M.

New Mexico To Accept Bid If Denver Beaten

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Nov. 8 (AP)—If New Mexico University's Lobos defeat Denver University Saturday, they will accept an invitation to be the host team in the Sun Bowl classic at El Paso, Tex., New Year's Day.

This was the decision of the athletic council and the Lobo players announced today by George (Blanco) White, university athletic director. White was authorized to telegraph the school's acceptance from Denver if the hoped for victory were forthcoming.

Three Former Techsans To Face Red Raiders Saturday

It will be home coming at Texas Tech this week, and even the gridiron foes of the Red Raiders will share in the home coming honors.

Three members of the North Texas Aggies frm Arlington makes that team an appropriate selection for the home coming game. Listed on the North Texas roster are three former Texas Tech students, one of them who won a freshman and two varsity letters with the Red Raiders.

One of the towers of strength in the Aggie forward wall against his old mates Saturday will be James Reid, a lad who is well known to Texas Tech grid fans.

The other two on the Aggie roster with Tech backgrounds are P. A. Wynn and Joe Beavers, a pair of linemen who were out for spring training at Texas Tech this year.

Other grid greats playing now with the Junior Aggies are Woodfin, last season the regular center with Texas Christian, John Steele, another Frog starter, and Batchelor, who played one year with the Texas Longhorns.

The Red Raiders were given a day of complete rest Monday, and there was no workout, but Coach Dell Morgan said that Tuesday the team would settle down to the task of getting ready for the Navy packed Aggies.

The team came through the game last Saturday with Texas Christian without any injuries, and barring accidents during the week, will enter the game at top strength.

The Red Raiders came back strong Saturday to defeat Texas Christian 40 to 20, and win their first college game of the season, and hope that it will be the start to a blazing finish for the grid season.

Much of the spark for that comeback Saturday was provided by Buster Melton, who had been held out of the first half of the game because he "missed the bus" at Lubbock when the team left for Fort Worth.

Melton was given a unanimous vote of the team to return to the lineup, and the Red Raiders started the second half with a 15 yard penalty while waiting for Melton to suit up and get ready for battle. He played a great game while in there, and the 15 yard setback seemed worth it.

There had been much speculation among radio listeners regarding the 15 yard penalty at the start of the second half.

The game here Saturday will be the last home game of the season, and next to the last game for the Red Raiders, who still have a game left with Southern Methodist University at Dallas the following week.

North Texas Ags Add Strength For Raiders

ARLINGTON, Tex., Nov. 8 (AP) The North Texas Aggies, much stronger than they had anticipated following transfer of Naval trainees, will go to Lubbock Saturday to play the Texas Tech Red Raiders, next to last game on the Aggie schedule.

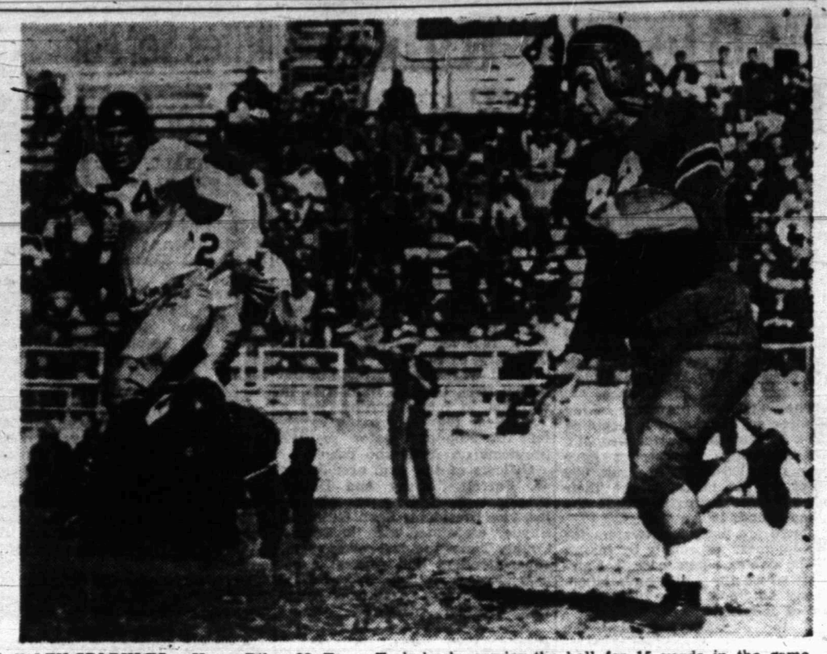

NTAC closes out Nov. 20 with Randolph Field at San Antonio.

When the Aggies lost to Blackland Army Field in their last engagement they were greatly weakened because they had a number of regulars away on furlough but all are back and Coach Klepto Holmes has been sending his squad through scrimmage sessions daily preparing for Tech.

Texas Hopes To Have Ace Back Against TCU

AUSTIN, Nov. 8 (AP)— Ralph Ellsworth's elbow sprain was responding fairly well to treatment and hopes were high today around the University of Texas football camp that the speedy tailback would be ready to start against Texas Christian here Saturday.

The Longhorns meet the Christians in their next to last Southwest Conference game and Coach D. X. Bible was working toward restoration of a backfield composed of Ellsworth, Joe Magliolo, J. R. Callahan and Ralph Park.

RILEY SPARKLES — Harry Riley, 22, Texas Tech back, carries the ball for 15 yards in the game with TCU at Fort Worth last Saturday. On this play in the second quarter of the game, Riley was pulled down by Dub Garren, back, and Bill Marshall, end. Number 84 is TCU center, Owen Lease. The final score was Texas Tech 40, TCU 20. —(NEA Photo)

Texas Aggies To Play For Starting Places

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Coach Homer Norton today looked over his three Texas Aggie grid teams which trounced Southern Methodist last week 22 to 0 and came out with this plan of action for the Rice Owl game in Houston Saturday:

"We have an A, a B and a C team," said Norton. "The A team looked good Saturday against SMU; the B team looked better but that C team was a whiz.

"So this week we're going to play a round-robin schedule in practice. The winner will be in there against Rice next Saturday."

Texas Christian Has Another Cut In Squad

FORT WORTH, Nov. 8 (AP) — Texas Christian's football team, already weakened drastically by shifts involving Naval personnel, lost another six players today—five of them first stringers.

First stringers lost were Bill Marshall, right end; Arthur Teixeira, fullback; Quintin Lawrence, halfback; Norman Morrill, guard; and Bill Gaggney, left tackle. In addition Moose Green, who had reported only recently, was shifted by the Navy.

Counting end George Gartner, who will be out against Texas Saturday because of illness, the

Hogs Arrive For Game On San Antonio Field

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 8. (AP) — The University of Arkansas football squad arrived here late today for a week-long stay to be culminated Saturday afternoon when they take on the Southern Methodist Mustangs in a Southwest Conference game.

The team will work out every morning and will devote the afternoon to class room studies.

Frogs have lost 17 men of an original squad of 35. Coach Dutch Meyer, however, was philosophical.

"We'll put a team on the field Saturday at Austin, and we'll do the best we can. We won't give up," he said.

OUR PLEDGE

WE pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands; One Nation, indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all.

Well, It's About Time!

AMERICAN taxpayers were given real cause to cheer, for several reasons, when the House Appropriations committee slashed nearly a billion dollars from the 1944 deficiency appropriations bill several days ago.

True, the committee cannot take credit for most of the economies represented by the slash. More than three-fourths of the total sum was eliminated at the request of the Navy department from the appropriations it originally had asked. Thus, the slashing of more than $750,000,000 from the deficiency bill became no more than a formality for the committee.

Even so, this does not mean that the Navy is due all the credit for this particular economy. Certainly it is possible, if not probable, that officials of the Navy department were persuaded that their requests would be refused by Congress if they should be pressed. So it might be that the Navy simply beat Congress to the draw in this particular matter.

But, aside from the Navy's item, the action taken by the committee was filled with cheering significance for the taxpayer.

First and most obvious is the very evident fact that this is the most economy-minded Congress since the Roosevelt administration reached power. No longer is a request for more money enough to obtain it. The requests are being studied. Questions are being asked concerning what has been done with money already appropriated and as to what is intended with appropriations asked.

This attitude accomplishes a two-fold purpose. It helps to eliminate unjustified appropriations. Of even great importance, almost certainly it eliminates requests for the sort of appropriations which won't stand scrutiny. Not even a New Deal agency is likely to ask for money when the officials know in advance that they are going to be asked questions they cannot answer persuasively and when they know that they almost certainly will be refused.

It is cheering, too, in this matter that the congressional committee has dealt so positively with "deficiency appropriation" requests. Heretofore, government agencies have paid little attention to budget limitations. They have spent with a bland confidence that when their appropriated funds ran out, Congress would provide anything more that was asked. The action of the Appropriations committee has served notice that the government agency which does not operate within its budget is likely to be out of luck.

On the whole, the whole action adds to previous proof that Congress has drawn the purse strings tighter. This won't add to the happiness of those accustomed to spending with wild abandon. But the taxpayer certainly is enjoying it.

Let's Uncover The Facts

IT IS to be hoped that senators and representatives from Southern and Western states will support the recommendation by the Senate Interstate Commerce committee the other day that an investigation be made into the desirability of decentralizing the nation's steel industry.

Certainly Texas, and probably a good many other states, have axes to grind in this matter. As to Texas, the flat charge has been made that the influence of "big steel" has resulted in a determined effort by the War Production board to block the construction of steel mills near Daingerfield. This has occurred, it is charged, in spite of the fact iron ore sufficient for the operation of such mills for more than a century is adjacent and abundant coal for fuel is nearby. Furthermore, there is no denial of the urgent war need for the steel that such a plant might produce.

Perhaps other factors have entered into the consideration of the Daingerfield project. Perhaps there is merit in the WPB attitude.

But there can be no question but that "big steel" is tremendously powerful. Only "big steel" itself denies that it is utterly ruthless with competition. Certainly its conduct on occasions has resulted in charges that it has placed post-war self-interest ahead of war needs.

The matter is one that could stand investivestigation. If "big steel" is in the clear, well and good. If there is substance to accusations and suspicions, it is time for people of the nation to know about it.

CHAPTER XVI

You'd look so sweet,
Upon the seat—(if we had another seat!)
Of a bicylcle built for two-o-o-o!

Duane Hogan sang that, wiht interpolation, in a deeply Texan basso as he pedaled in the same rhythm out toward the athletic field. Behind him clung what could have been mistaken for a child. She sat on the rigid package carrier over the fender, her shapely legs held forward so toes wouldn't touch the ground. Her dark curls reached hardly up to his shoulder. She clung to his cadet uniform belt.

"I like it better this way!" she laughed back at his sally. "If we really had a bicycle built for two, I'd have to help pedal!"

"So! You want a man to do all the work!"

"Sure thing!"

"Oughta be a law against women."

"Men would soon repeal it."

"Oh-h-h-h no they wouldn't!"

"Oh-h-h-h yes they would!"

You could cut up thus with Duane Hogan; happily, youthfully; on the rare occasions when you could be alone with him. He never said very much, never talked like some men. But his strength and good humor pervaded his whole life. It was one reason why Blythe loved him. One reason for being frantic because he had never shown any love for her in turn.

"I'm gonna be disgraced if the gang sees me riding a girl's bike," he lamented now. "Towing a gir!."

"It was your idea," she reminded him.

"I never could think. Papa always said I ought to be a—"

"So, you admit it!"

"Hush! Or I'll make him buck you off."

"This isn't a horse. This isn't your ranch, either; this is Lincoln boulevard, mister!"

"Nnnn!" He pretended to growl.

Back of their easy banter was the knowledge that each concealed serious thoughts. Duane faced a deadly earnest business of learning to fight in the air. More immediately, he nursed a burning desire to win a football game this week, because his beloved coach and friend, Pop Miller, was in some kind of trouble. Blythe had hinted of that trouble. He thought he understood; Pop wanted to beat State U. again, this time as a flying-field coach. And here he was sick in bed.

When Duane was silent for a block or so, Blythe turned serious too.

"Duane," she asked, surprisingly, "do you have a pistol?"

"Do I—hunh?"

"Please, I'm not joking."

"Sure I have. But why?"

"Never mind. Would you lend it to me?"

"Whatcha gonna shoot? Japs?"

"I am not joking, Duane."

"But I'm still curious. After all, lady, a gun—"

"It's for Pop."

"Pop? . . . What's a gun got to do with winning a game?"

"I—I don't know! But, Duane—please! We're friends, you and Pop and I. You—you better just—trust us. And not say anything."

He considered that, pedaling in powerful, deliberate strides. "Hmm," he murmured. "Where I come from, pistols are used to—to—"

"I know. It scares me, to. But Pop asked me to borrow one. I told you Pop was in trouble, but I don't know enough to tell you what kind."

"You don't say!"

He stopped the bike, the better to talk to her. When he turned, his face showed deep concern.

"Listen, Bly," he spoke intently, low, "if Pop needs that" — he moistened his lips—"I mean, if it's that kind of help Pop wants, then let me use the gun! Me!"

"Oh, Duane! . . . No. No, it'll have to be his way. I'm afraid. Until—at least until we know more. I do know this much, he needs it for protection. And you must promise to say nothing. To go right out with the rest of the team and be yourself! Understand? . . . Practice hard and — and kid everybody and keep the spirit up. Don't let anything spoil the team's morale, even if Pop shouldn't be able to come!"

He looked at her a long moment, then resumed pedaling again. And Blythe knew he would question her no more. He had already said a great deal more than was his custom. But she couldn't end it quite so abruptly.

"Duane, it's kind of personal, I guess. But it concerns Pop and it concerns the team. And it concerns Nancy Hale."

She tacked that last hint on purposely. Would he now show wild, desperate concern? For the other girl?

Bly waited. Duane kept on pedaling as if he had never heard at all. Finally he said, calmly, "I'll stick around. The commandant has already said I could take my duties easy this week. He meant leave of absence, if needed. I'll stick around, Bly."

That's all he ever said about it, and Blythe herself volunteered no more. As to his feelings concerning Nancy, she had learned exactly nothing.

When Nancy had telephoned, that note of urgency in her voice was definite. But Bly was almost afraid to face her again.

Afraid, this time ,not because Nancy was making an admitted play for Duane Hogan's love, and had even asked Bly's help in winning him; but afraid because of what she had overheard on the stairs.

Nancy Hale had said "All right" when a gambler's agent had offered her $1000 to drug two football men! One of them—worse—was Duane. Not only would Nancy sacrifice team spirit, friendship, all the finer loyalties, but for money she would even sacrifice love itself! Blythe's first quick impulse to expose Nancy had been stifled when she remembered baby Scooter Hale. And, too, there's just naturally something despicable about a tattler. Run quick and get the police after the girl who had stolen her boy friend? No, Bly couldn't bring herself to that. Not yet.

They were nearby Pop's office when Nancy ran outside to meet them. Both Duane and Bly senseed her concern.

"Bly," she began at once "Duane. Listen—the field hospital called. Heavy Underwood is hurt! There was a plane crackup at dawn. He and the instructor both hurt. And I—if Pop Miller is sick, I'm afraid it may—the team—!"

The import of this was obvious. Heavy Underwood was the real power of the Lincoln football line. The great charging center. The team's third man, following only Norman Dana and Duane.

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

ONCE again, at luncheon today, we were discussing our favorite subject—women.

We are a regular little foursome—a novelist, an editor, a sales manager and myself—who eat our lunch together five days a week.

Sometimes others join us, artists, writers, lawyers, publishers, but eventually we always wind up talking about women.

Nothing out of the way, mind you, we all respect women and three out of the four have wives, but we have found that no matter how much or how often you talk about 'em, you can never exhaust the topic.

Today, for instance, one of the fellows, complained that women never make an outright decision.

"They always leave a loophole," he said, "so that they need never admit they were wrong."

"If I ask my wife a question," he went on, "she'll never say yes or no. And then she'll go to great length to prove to me that both yes and no is correct."

"Well, what's wrong with that?" I asked him. "Take that chocolate eclair you are eating. I ask you: Is chocolate eclair good?

"Your answer is a straight yes. But your wife's would probably say yes and no.

"It's good if it agrees with you, it's bad if it upsets your stomach or if you are trying to lose weight."

"Sure," he replied, "but supposing I asked you if you like chocolate eclair. There certainly is only one answer to that."

"Not if you ask a woman." I said. "She'll say: 'I like it from a purely piggish point of view. But my common sense tells me not to eat it because it spoils my figure!"

OF course, being a man, it's pretty hard for me to see it a woman's way.

But we have been taught that there are two sides to every story, and probably women are more apt to consider both of them.

Men are stubborn. Giving in to them is a sign of weakness. No man who spells the word m-a-n, ever wants to admit that he is wrong.

In a peacock that's called strutting. man calls it strength.

Women don't mind admitting that they are wrong. Not that they really mean it.

But they figure that as long as it makes my little boy of a lord and master feel good to have his way, why not give it to him?

That's how women get mink coats.

The National Whirligig

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

SENATOR Styles Bridges of New Hampshire has just scored a victory over President Roosevelt after a heated exchange of correspondence with the White House. FDR rarely offers apologies to political enemies but he did in this instance.

Few weeks ago, following a press conference, the Chief Executive asked three or four picked correspondents to remain for a chat. It is quite a regular custom, practiced in this and past administrations. Through this indirect manner of contact with friendly journalists the head man is able to "inspire" the sort of stories he wants.

He showed the group a British newspaper clipping in which Bridges was criticized for interpreting the appointment of Lord Mountbatten to command in Southeastern Asia as a snub to General Douglas A. MacArthur. The London dispatch suggested that this kind of action did not promote unity among the United Nations.

Mr. Roosevelt explained that the yarn had been forwarded by Ambassador John G. Winant, adding that the emissary had also sent a "covering letter." When the senator learned of the incident, he wrote the President a tart note questioning the procedure.

He also explained that he had not sought to create discord and that MacArthur's performance entitled him to senatorial praise. FDR penned a reply that he and Mr. Winant have long been rivals in Granite state partisan affairs.

WEAKEN: Republican strategists on Capitol Hill and elsewhere are making heroic efforts to neutralize or eliminate the issues of the war's conduct and postbellum planning in the 1944 presidential campaign. Recent elections, which they won by hammering at domestic grievances, convince them they cannot afford to buck FDR on the general subject of foreign affairs.

Rep. Robert F. Jones, for instance, has done a magnificent job unearthing what he regards as samples of poor management by lend-lease authorities. Through inside channels he obtained information which revealed that this agency served as an international PWA. In his opinion, the shipment of heavy machinery to many countries for manufacture of durable goods will jeopardize our future trade.

But the Ohio member has been cautioned against spilling his discoveries on the floor. Leaders fear that such action might place them in a position which would be interpreted as opposing full prosecution of the conflict. So they prefer to pass up the opportunity of attacking the administration on this front.

GOP-ers joined with Senate Democrats in repelling amendments designed to clarify the Connally resolution. Inasmuch as the proposal cannot bind the next Congress, they decided it would be unwise to support a move which would seem to weaken it.

SHATTERED: Behind these tactics lies the unpublicized admission that the minority has been wrong on two of the most important questions of the last decade—international security and home social security. FDR measured public sentiment more correctly and his handling of these problems enabled him to win victory after victory.

The need for continued cooperation to restore a shattered world and to preserve peace is now generally recognized on all sides. Legislation providing for the aged and unemployed is no longer a debatable matter. Everybody is for it.

By getting these two erstwhile controversial topics out of the political system, the GOP believes it will have a better chance of a smashing comeback next year.

TROUBLE: Detailed post-election surveys made by Republican and Democratic checkers lead to the conclusion that the trend against the "ins" marks an uprising of the great middle class. For almost 12 years this group has been outvoted by President Roosevelt's supporters, joined now in what is known as the New Deal.

This combination was composed chiefly of organized and unorganized workingmen, farmers, small shopkeepers who had suffered in the depression and younger elements just reaching the age of suffrage. All his policies were directed toward winning and holding these followers. In three national campaigns he was eminently successful.

But, as astute associates warned him time and again, there was neither political nor economic unity in this mass. As he found it necessary to antagonize labor, agriculture and liberals, each fell away as suddenly as it had rallied to him in 1932, 1936 and 1940. By catering to this crowd to the detriment of the regular Democratic organization, he alienated the men who form the backbone of the party.

Nor did his recent shift to the right help him or the fortunes of those who had his backing on Nov. 2. From the balloting, it appears to be too late for him to lasso the conservatives.

In other words, the folks are returning to their old partisan homesteads. When they perform the prodigal son act, it usually means trouble for the Democrats.

WINNING THE WAR

By Albert Leman

DIPLOMATIC circles have uncovered the sensational tip that Hitler has gone to Tokyo, and may be there now personally appealing to Tojo to open a "second front" against Russia in Siberia. This is in line with a veiled radio announcement from enemy sources that there will be a meeting of Axis bigwigs in the Japanese capital—a counter to the Hull-Eden-Molotov conference in Moscow.

Although the rumor is fantastic, it comes from statecraft sources heretofore unimpeachably reliable. The dramatic gesture—if true—is in keeping with Hitler's character; on more than one occasion, when desperate, this mad gambler has staked his own fortune and Germany's on a single throw of the dice—and won.

It is said that he delivered this ultimatum to his Axis partner: Attack the Soviet Union from Manchuria at once, despite the approach of winter, or the Reich will quit the war and leave Nippon alone to face the combined weight of Allied arms. If he should carry out this threat, the Oriental barbarians would be stamped out, root and branch.

If Hitler's rumored mission is successful, Germany may gain a breathing spell while the Russian bear turns around to beat off the new foe in the Far East.

Hirohito has mobilized fully equipped legions on the Manchurian border which could not be molested by the United States so long as the fringe of Pacific island fortifications menaced. Bad weather and lack of bases in the Kamchatka zone would be a handicap in our rescue of the USSR.

The supreme objective of a great diversion would be prolongation of the war, for only by holding the United Nations at bay until one or all should weary, could Germany or Japan escape extinction.

If Hitler's suspected errand fails, he can stay in Japan as an emigre and—for a time—save his own skin. No other place on earth would harbor him. If he were out of the way, a peace party in Germany might point to his absence and beg for mercy.

CRUCIAL: Although a map-conscious layman may question how Nazi No. 1 could have reached Nippon, marine experts confirm the possibility.

He could have taken a long-range U-boat from a port in southern France around the Cape of Good Hope to Singapore. Thereafter the trip would have presented no difficulties.

The route has been covered many times by blockade runners carrying delicate machinery to Malaya, returning with rubber. As late as September 27, the South African Air Force sank an enemy submarine in the Indian Ocean off Cape Town as it was trying to make the Atlantic.

If the news of Hitler's rash journey is authentic, we may look for the war's most crucial period.

Here And There In Texas

By HOMER G. OLSEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

THE recent launching of the SS L. H. McNelly at Houston recalled to many Texans the famous Ranger captain whose name the new Liberty ship bears.

McNelly, described as having been a man "rather under average height and slimly built," quiet and reserved in manner, is the only Texas Ranger so far honored in this way.

Those who knew him said McNelly never raised his voice nor lost his temper but his word was law among the rangers and they loved him. One of his favorite admonitions is said to have been: "Take no chances" — meaning take no prisoners.

Fought Cattle Rustlers

McNelly figured most prominently in that wild period of Texas history when renegade bands of cattle rustlers raided ranches along the border in the 1870s, and nearly every male citizen went about armed.

Perhaps the best account of the ranger chieftain's exploit is contained in the book, "A Texas Ranger," by a newspaperman named N. A. Jennings, who at one time was a member of McNelly's company. This book, along with other material on the historic figure, may be found today in the state archives at Austin.

J. Frank Dobie in a foreward to the Jennings book said that in the brush country between the Nueces river and the Rio Bravo the tradition of McNelly is "part of the inheritance of the soil."

MCNELLY died Sept. 4, 1877, at the age of 31 from illness brought on by exposure and the strenuous life he led. He was buried at the little town of Burton, Washington county, and a monument is erected there in his name.

The war between the North and the South began when McNelly was 17, hearding sheep in Washington county. He went to San Antonio, persuaded the officers he was old enough and enlisted in the Fifth regiment of the Texas Mounted Volunteers. Shortly thereafter he saw action in the engagement at Val Verde, across the Rio Grande in Mexico.

Volunteering as a scout on a mission to locate the federal forces, McNeely succeeded, took part in the attack that followed and was commended by his colonel. The youth then went to Galveston and helped capture an enemy vessel. Later he left for Louisiana where he was commissioned to raise a company of scouts.

Here McNally's fame increased after he had gathered around him what was described as "a troop of reckless young riders and fighters." He took part in hundreds of skirmishes and sorties and once, by a clever ruse, McNelly and 40 scouts captured 800 federal troops.

History Is Uncertain

Accounts differ as to McNelly's connection with the state police of the reconstruction era after his return to Texas following the war. One says merely that he was a captain in the organization and that his joining it made him unpopular. The other story, more in keeping with the tradition, says McNelly was called in by Gov. Davis and asked to take command of the force.

"But I'm a Democrat and you're a Republican," McNelly is reported to have replied.

"I know," answered Davis, "but I'm not looking for a politician. I want a soldier and a brave man."

AFTER leaving the state police, McNelly was chosen to captain a ranger company to guard against cattle and horse thieves on the Texas-Mexico border. There was a big fight in the legislature against the bill establishing this troop, with solons from East Texas contending it wasn't necessary. They finally compromised when the company's authority was limited to the area west of the Colorado river.

McNelly's rangers (privates) were paid $40 a month and received their rations, carbines and ammunition. They bought their own side arms and horses, but if a horse died in service the state paid for another.

When directed to organize the company, McNelly got thousands of applications. Though a Texan himself, he choose only a handful of fellow Texans to ride with him. Nearly every Southern state was represented among his 40 men. Only one was from north of the Mason-Dixon line. There was also one Scot, one Irishman and one Englishman in the company.

Brought Peace To Border

Once near Brownsville when his Rangers had trapped a band of outlaws, McNelly gave orders to hold their fire until they could be sure of killing with every bullet.

On another occasion he told his men:

"I am going to take you into hell, but I believe I can bring you out."

By 1875, McNelly and his men had brought peace to the border country.

Cold Wave Hits Most Of State

Winter's heaviest blast hit Lubbock and the Panhandle Monday as cold winds swept through the plains area. No relief from the first cold wave is in sight for Tuesday as the temperature is expected to hit a new low. At midnight Monday the reading at West Texas Gas company station in Lubbock was 31 degrees.

Pampa felt a low of 21 degrees and Plainview 24, while Big Spring saw a thermometer reading of 26. Minimum readings in Austin and Houston yesterday were 36 and Paris, in Northeast Texas, shivered undre a 29-degree temperature. Late Monday both Texarkana and Beaumont reported temperatures of 50 degrees, and a brisk norther was blowing at the latter city.

Frost was seen in Austin Monday and was predicted again for this morning there and also in Houston.

Other low reading Monday: Wichita Falls 35; Corpus Christi 35.5; Dallas 36; Corsicana 34 and Laredo 40.

Giant Red Pincer

create a huge trap around the hundreds of thousands of Germans fighting in that area between the Dnieper river and the Black Sea.

A Moscow broadcast beamed to the Baltic states said that spearheads of another Red Army fighting west and southwest of Nevel on the north-central front had reached the outskirts of Polotsk, only 20 miles from the old Polish border.

Polotsk is a junction on the Vitebsk-Riga railway where it meets the line running north to Leningrad. It is 60 miles northwest of Vitebsk, which is being outflanked by the Russians.

Eastern Caucasus

In the eastern Caucasus, the Russians still were fighting to improve their bridgeheads near Kerch, and the German high command acknowledged "local success" by Soviet units fighting on the Perekop isthmus at the northwestern corner of the big sealed-off peninsula.

The Russians were cleaning out the 30-mile area between Fastov and Makarov, running scores of Hamlets as they fanned out in all directions from their breakthrough at Kiev.

Indirectly acknowledging the gravity of the German position, the daily Berlin communique said the Nazi Army was fighting bitter defensive battles against "superior forces."

Laymen's Meeting

"We must send more of our boys to church colleges and educate our younger preachers so they will be in a position to become leaders in our churches.

Ray Nichols of Vernon was re-elected chairman of the Board of Laymen during Monday night's meeting. Other officers elected were: E. M. Connell, of Anson, vice-chairman; C. B. Breedlove, Haskell, secretary, and A. V. Crowder of Sweetwater, treasurer.

Airmen Celebrate By Bombing Turin

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Nov. 8 (AP)—Flying Fortresses of the newly formed U. S. 15th Airforce bombed the ball-bearing works of the giant Fiat Motor factory at Turin today, on the first anniversary of Allied landings in North Africa.

It was the first American attack on Turin, which previously had been bombed by RAF night squadrons which flew across the Alps, and was a vital blow at the Nazi industrial machine, following up obliteration of Germany's main ball-bearing producing plant at Schweinfurt by Britain-based Flying Fortresses Oct. 14.

(The Bern radio tonight quoted an official Rome announcement as admitting "heavy material damage" was caused by the Turin raid, the CBS short-wave listening post reported. The Rome announcement further said "the number of casualties is considerable," the Swiss radio broadcast reported.)

The fact that North Italy's industrial targets now are well within range of bombers from this theater stresses the importance of the Allies' gains since the North Africa landings.

Adolf's New Line

man people through this bombing are enormous."

He reiterated, however, that "however long this war lasts, we shall never capitulate. We shall not give in at the 11th hour. We shall go in fighting past 12 o'clock."

"I can support and lead the German people," he said. "I can say that whatever may happen at the end, victory is certain.

"If Germany breaks under the strain, I would not be sorry for it. It would not deserve any better fate. But this will never happen. . . . The fight for Germany has made me what I am."

The entire speech carried an obviously defensive note—an apparent effort to answer reports of unrest in the Reich, reports which have been coming from neutral capitals with growing frequency.

Must Destroy Unworthy

Hitler averred that only the Nazi party was holding the German nation together, and demanded that party members "must bring to reason the unworthy and, if necessary, destroy him, because there is one thing which is beyond doubt and that is that this is a war without pity."

In a sarcasm-dripping reference to the recent Moscow tri-power parley of the United States, Britain and Russia, Hitler said:

"They set up committees to study the shape of the world after the war. They would do better to think out how to shape their own world at present."

Hitler said of the fighting in Italy that "the storm to Brenner (Brenner Pass in northern Italy next to southern Germany) has become a snail offensive far to the south of Rome. (The Allies are reported less than 75 miles south of Rome). It will have to pay its toll of blood—and that is according to our plans."

Vengeance On Britain

Promising vengeance against Britain, Hitler declared that "whether our enemies believe it or not, our day of vengeance will come, and since we cannot reach America, there is a state very near us which will pay dearly."

He said "Germany's enemies have become modest, and what today they are claiming as victories, they originally snubbed as operations of no importance."

The fighting in the east, Hitler said, was the most severe the Germans have faced.

Wait For Last Battle

"Here, however," he added, "the enemy's last aim to force the collapse of the German front will not be reached. The last battle will bring the decision, and it will be won by the people with the greatest persistency."

On the subject of home executions, Hitler said "there are indeed a few individuals also in Germany who may believe in the enemy's victory, but when thousands are falling at the front, no one would hesitate to hand a few hundred such criminals over to death."

Annual Conference

gether Monday afternoon with Rev. C. C. Armstrong of Canyon in charge. He was assisted during the two-hour conference by Rev. H. L. Thurston of Vernon, Secretary of the Mission board and Rev. A. W. Carter, conference Missionary secretary also of Vernon.

A committee from the Town and Country commission presented before the Board of Missions a plan that would set the minimum salaries at $1100. This plan will be introduced to the entire membership of the conference by Dr. E. D. Kohlstedt, chairman of the General Board of Missions and Church Extension of New York City. He will present both the church extension work and the mission work to the conference as well as World Service work.

Dr. Score To Speak

Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock Dr. J. N. R. Score, president of Southwestern university at Georgetown, will speak to the conference on the work being done at McMurry college at Abilene. The McMurry Chanters, an all-girl choir, will furnish the music for the occasion.

The final service of the conference will be the memorial hour Thursday from 12 to 12:45 p. m. Dr. C. A. Bickley of Abilene will deliver the memorial address.

The appointments will be read by Bishop Holt at 3:30 p. m.

SUICIDE VERDICT RETURNED

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 8 (AP) — Justice of the Peace J. G. Bacon today returned a verdict of suicide in the death of Roy R. Masseck, 37, union stockyards employe whose body was found hanging by baling wire from a tree on the Fredericksburg road Sunday.

STOCKS BREAK SHARPLY

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP) — Financial markets today suffered one of their worst breaks of the year as heavy liquidation in virtually all categories was touched off by more insistent talk of an early European victory.

Paradoxical selling on the outlook for peace was explained in the light of difficulties which numerous domestic industries might encounter through cancellation of government contracts and reconversion costs if Germany collapses before economic preparations are made for the change-over. It was figured that earnings and dividends could be seriously affected, at least temporarily.

The stock list nose-dived after an irregular opening and offerings became so pressing the high-speed ticker tape fell 2 minutes behind actual floor transactions for a brief interval. There were subsequent slow-downs and bursts of activity. Losses for leaders ranged from 1 to 4 point with a few violatile performers dropping around 10.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was off 1.6 points at 47.6, most substantial recession since April 9 when the President issued his "hold-the-line" order. It was one of the broadest markets of 1943, 1,007 individual issues being traded. Of these 885 were down, 29 up and 93 unchanged. Transfers totalled 2,30,180 shares, largest since May 10. They compared with 789,080 in the previous full session.

The recently soaring American Distillers toppled 10 points and Douglas Aircraft hit a new year's bottom with a loss of 4½. Prominent on the offside were Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, New York Central, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Goodrich, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, United Aircraft, Western Union, American Telephone, Standard Oil (NJ), Loew's, Philip Morris, Westinghouse, Du Pont, Pepsi-Cola and Schenley.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP)—Cotton futures closed $1 to $1.35 a bale lower today on liquidation and hedge-selling attributed to a growing belief that the war might end in Europe sooner than had been previously expected.

Reaction in other markets aided the decline but final prices were up from the bottom levels of the session when losses ranged to as much as $2.65 a bale. Earlier, trade buying and covering prior to issuance of the government crop report had rallied the list.

onstration finally ended.

Two white persons who tried to leave the building earlier were shoved back by Japanese shouting, "Get back there you ——," Payne testified.

Oil Poured Around Autos

Payne added that Dillon Myer, national WRA director, tried repeatedly to send the crowd of Japanese away but they refused to budge. Some poured oil around automobile tires in the garage and others marred parked automobiles. On one was scratched the words "to hell with America."

A number of the internees carried knives and sticks, Payne said.

Payne's testimony was part of a story of long-smouldering unrest, sabotage, strikes and threats of violence against officials at the center.

istration, command and supply of military forces on an unprecedented scale is now taking shape in Britain. Within this framework is a liaison organization patterned after that used in the Mediterranean theater to weld Allied land, sea and airforce into single, devastating weapon.

America's Navy also may be expected to be fully prepared for its place in the armada that may dwarf the Allied Mediterranean fleets.

American units, including an aircraft carrier, are already disclosed to have been operating with the British home fleet, and if reinforcements are needed it may be assumed that other units of the United States fleet will be ranged alongside Britain's squadrons.

largest and most potent weapon of its kind in the world, and the Allied Strategic airforce, which is second only to the Britain-based RAF in bomber fleets, welcome this expected showdown battle.

The Allied airforce in this theater has won every sky struggle since last January against the luftwaffe by continuous bombing of Nazi airfields until they finally catch the German planes on the ground and wipe them out.

As long as the Americans have daylight bombers to operate over German airfields it is difficult to see how the Germans ever will be able to build up enough strength to challenge the Allies seriously, let alone throw great bomber fleets into action.

shipping, including seized vessels.

The announced 1938 output of Japan's shipyards was 146 ships of 441,720 tons, a figure which probably has been materially exceeded in subsequent years when published statistics were lacking.

Known top for Japanese ship production, however, was reached in 1919 when, with large imports of steel plate available to them, Nippon's shipways turned out 133 vessels of 611,883 tons.

At the 1919 production figure, the Japanese would be at least two years behind in keeping up with their current annual rate of losses, which President Roosevelt recently estimated at 1,400,000 tons.

Navigation Title Is Given Hondo Flier

HONDO, Tex., Nov. 8 (AP) — Navigation Cadet Herbert D. Hamilton of Ann Arbor Michigan, who yesterday was given the title "all American cadet navigator," won his laurels under extremely difficult flight conditions, judges of the navigation competition said today.

Hamilton won individual honors in a 1,200-mile contest in which cadets from three fields participated.

A cadet at San Marcos, Tex. Field, Hamilton was the only one of 15 contestants to navigate his ship to a designated point over the El Paso, Tex., municipal airport without a second's error in time calculation, the judges announced. His estimated time of arrival, they said, was "on the nose."

Navigation on this leg of the training flight was accomplished by celestial procedure and under severe weather conditions.

TORPEDO BOATS "JUMPED"

Liquor Tax Increased To $10 Per Gallon

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP) — Reversing itself again, the House Ways and Means committee decided today to increase the liquor tax to $10 a gallon, which would amount to 12.5 cents a drink for 100-proof liquor when figuring 80 drinks to the gallon.

The present spirits tax is $6. The committee previously had jumped the tax to $10, back-tracked to $8, and now has put it back to $10.

By the latest action the revenue in the new tax bill was boosted by about $243,000,000 to approximately $2,250,000,000—80 per cent short of the administration request for $10,500,000.

The committee expects to report the bill to the house later this week.

The committee made no other changes in the previously hiked excises on so-called luxuries.

Freight Rate Hike Is Suspended Until July

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. (AP) — Railroad freight rate increases authorized in 1942 were suspended today by the Interstate Commerce Commission until July 1, 1944.

Acting without protest from the carriers, the Commission found that the increases ranging from 4 to 6 per cent were "no longer necessary or justified under present conditions." An earlier order had set January 1, 1944 as the effective date of the increases.

The suspension does not affect a 10 per cent passenger fare increases also approved in 1942.

The commission said that freight revenue of the carriers between now and July 1, 1944 under present rates would "meet the objectives of the National Transportation Act."

Poll Tax Bill Gets Another Postponement

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. (AP) — The Senate Judiciary committee today postponed until Friday a vote on legislation to prohibit collections of poll taxes as a requirement for voting for federal officers.

"Although members of the committee have been bombarded with telegrams and letters criticizing the committee for failure to report the bill out,' chairman Van Nuys (D-Ind.), told reporters, "we could not act today because labor attorneys have not returned to the committee the transcript of their testimony, which we sent to them for corrections."

German Planes Lash At London Suburbs

LONDON, Nov. 8. (AP) — Fast German planes attacked London's suburbs again tonight within 24 hours after a single Nazi bomb wrecked a crowded dance hall, the Cinderella, and two taverns with heavy casualties.

The best information was that damage in the new raid, which set off the sirens for the seventh time in as many nights, was small and only a relatively few persons were injured.

Allied fighters and bombers had crossed the channel by daylight to attack Nazi targets in northern France.

The siren blasts found many of the habitually-crowded amusement places virtually deserted, for Londoners were shocked by the tragedy of the crushed dance hall.

As on Sunday night, only a small number of German attackers got across the coast, but a few of them streaked through to the capital's outskirts.

The attackers bombed a school building, injuring several persons; a taxicab garage, and a number of private houses before they were driven off.

An authoritative statement said three of the raiders were destroyed.

Pope Plans Note To Allies And Germany

LONDON, Nov. 8 (AP) — Pope Pius XII will send a note to both the Germans and the Allies on the aerial violation of Holy See territory, the Vatican City correspondent of the German DNB agency said tonight.

In a broadcast recorded by the Ministry of Information, the agency quoted the Vatican newspaper Observatore Romano as saying: "It is to be hoped that the evil custom of flying over Vatican City will at last be ended and the nationality of every plane which does fly over Vatican territory will be quickly and effectively ascertained."

Simplified Price Regulation Hinted

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP) — The Office of Price Administration (OPA) today said 17 subcommittees representing retail stores are exploring the possibility of writing a single, simplified price regulation covering all retail sales except food and fuel.

The OPA stressed that it is not committed to anything further than surveys to determine whether a simplified regulation is possible or desirable.

NAZI'S ARE GUESSING

MADRID, Nov. 8 (AP)—Germans in Spain expect the next Allied moves to be launched simultaneously on several fronts, a Madrid source said tonight. The Nazis are said to believe the Allies have sufficient manpower and equipment available to make attacks at several points at the same time.

SEARCHLIGHT FIGHTERS

LONDON, Nov. 8 (AP) — Some British night fighters have been equipped with powerful searchlights as an aid to hunting down and destroying German air raiders, the latest of which to be thrown against Britain is the Messerschmitt-410, similar to the RAF's famous Mosquitos.

KASSEL RUBBED OUT

LONDON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Kassel has ceased to exist as part of the Nazi war industry "for some time at least," the air ministry said tonight after studying new reconnaissance photographs of the heavily bombed Ruhr industrial city of 200,000 persons.

Large fires sprang up where airplanes were dispersed and barracks were damaged.

There still were no reports of any naval action in the Solomons sector such as have been made, with extensive claims of sinkings, by the Japanese.

Admiral Halsey's air units kept right on pounding into continued uselessness the enemy airfields on invaded Bougainville. Meeting no enemy air interception, Avenger torpedo bombers, Dauntless dive bombers and Mitchell medium bombers tore at gun positions—the only working defenses for those airfields—and installations at the Kera strip on the southern coast of Bougainville with 72 tons of bombs.

13 Nip Raiders Downed

Nine enemy bombers, escorted by 10 fighters, raided the Allied Nadzab base in the Markham valley northwest of Lae, New Guinea and caused moderate damage. Fighters shot down seven bombers and six fighters with five other raiders listed as probables.

There were no indications that the Japs still are running down convoys between Truk and Rabaul. In the only reported action against enemy warships, Australian-manned Beauforts went after the cruiser and two destroyers 90 miles southwest of Buka early Sunday.

Gigantic Pincers Launched By Reds

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

A monster new Russian trap designed to destroy all Nazi forces in southwestern Russia or force them in demoralized flight into tottering satellite Rumania is shaping up tonight west of recaptured Kiev.

One branch of the double northern arm of the Red Army is already 50 miles or more southwest of its jump-off from recaptured Kiev. It has cut 200 miles in their rear the prime rail and road communications for all German forces still in the Dnieper bend pocket, or east of the Bug river line in the southwestern Ukraine. Coupled with the Russian break-through to Kherson in the south, a scant 40 miles from Nikoleav at the Bug month, it menaces a million or more Nazi troops with encirclement.

SIMPSON

No Parallel For Plan

There is no parallel in military history for what the Russians appear to be attempting. In territorial scope, the boldness of strategic conception, the speed of attack and in the gigantic size of the forces involved on both sides, no previous military operation matches this final phase of the battle of the Ukraine.

A supreme military disaster that could shorten the war in Europe by months is confronting the German high command.

The obvious minimum objective at which Red leadership is aiming in this blow is to squeeze all Nazi forces south of the Pinsk marshes to the Black Sea out of Russia and into wavering Rumania, cut off from all direct communication with Germany via Poland. The maximum goal is destruction of at least a third and possibly virtually a half of the German Army in Russia.

Second Column Pushes On

Moscow is taking no chances. Supplementing the drive southwest from Kiev down the Kiev-Kayments Podolsk rail lateral which has swept beyond Fastov junction in its first lunge, a second Red column is pushing northwest up the Kiev-Korost line.

Its obvious objective is the southern rim of the Pinsk marshes and its main mission is to throw Nazi forces north of the dangerous Fastov advance off balance, preventing a counter attack against the upper flank of that fast-moving southwestward drive.

Political Effects

Perhaps the most vital threat to the Germans, however, lies in the possible political effect in the Balkans of the Russian breakthrough to Fastov and beyond. It poises a Red Army spearhead within 100 miles or less of the Rumanian-Russian border on the Dniester.

Methodical Allied pounding also is forging a new German retreat in Italy.

There is no question that the German high command now has no substantial strategic reserve left for emergencies. It can fill the gaps in one front only, creating weakening gaps in others.

Rites Held Monday For Hale Pioneer

HALE CENTER, Nov. 8 (Special) Funeral services were held in Hale Center Church of Christ this afternoon for M. F. McKnight, 55, pioneer Hale county farmer, who died Sunday.

A. M. Lemmons of Hale Center, M. E. Wood of Abilene and Paul McClung of Plainview will officiate. Burial will be in Hale Center cemetery.

Survivors include the widow; a daughter, Mrs. June Shipley of Amarillo; and four sons, Clark and Billy of Hale Center, A. L. of Hobbs, N. M., and M. F. jr., an aviation cadet stationed at Edmond, Okla.

Born in Alabama March 4, 1888, Mr. McKnight was brought to Texas when six years old. The family settled in Wood county. He moved to Hale county in 1920.

News Briefs

The favorite magazine of the service man is the comic magazine, Sgt. Si Simon, of the Lubbock Marine office, said he was inclined to believe after a recent rail trip from Abilene to El Paso. "Remembering results I read of a recent survey conducted by a Chicago newspaper which showed the majority of service men prefer comic magazines, I though I'd make a check of my own," Sgt. Simon said. He walked through seven coaches and observed that the reading material most in evidence was comic books and newspapers, with an occasional popular magazine to be seen. "There were bales of funny books," he said.

Registration for ration book No. 4 will be resumed this morning at the rationing office in Slaton, it was announced Monday by Briggs Robertson, secretary of the Salton Chamber of Commerce, and member of the Lubbock county war price and rationing board.

Slaton business houses will close Thursday in observance of Armistice day, and a patriotic program will be presented at 1 o'clock in the afternoon at the Slaton High school auditorium, it was announced here Monday by Briggs Robertson, secretary of the Slaton Chamber of Commerce. Dean James M. Gordon of the division of arts and sciences at Texas Technological college will be the principal speaker, he said. Members of the Slaton Rotary club will attend en masse and personnel of the Slaton Texas State Guard unit will be present.

It was estimated that approximately 2,000 ration books 4 were issued Monday when registration was resumed for those who did not register during the original dates, Oct. 22-23 when 62,389 books were issued.

After being informed that the seven months old son of his wife's niece had been fatally burned Saturday night, Clarence A. Bestwick, 2423 Twenty-first street, left Sunday for Great Bend, Kansas. Mrs. Bestwick, who was in Denver, was to meet her husband in Great Bend. The child, George, was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Milam, of Great Bend.

Following a medical discharge from the Army Air forces, with which he served as a lieutenant in the coastal air patrol about a year, R. D. Shinkle, former assistant manager of Lubbock chamber of commerce for four years, has assumed duties as manager of the Taylor chamber. Shinkle was manager of the chamber in Alice for two years immediately after leaving Lubbock and before his enlistment.

According to Staff Sgt. Charles G. Baker of the Lubbock Marine office in the federal building, five 17-year-old members of the Marine Corps reserve in the Lubbock section have been given orders to report this month to San Diego, Calif., for "boot training."

They are Herschel B. Maupin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover C. Maupin, Lubbock; Troy Weldon Booth, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Booth, Spur; John Weldon Parrack, son of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Parrack, Lockney; Archie Henry Nelson, son of John A. Nelson, Post, and Donald C. Gregory, son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Gregory, Petersburg.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles J. Wagner 1644 Broadway are expected to return to Lubbock the latter part of this week from Chicago where they were called due to the death of Mrs. Wagner's brother, Clarence M. Tinker. Mr. Tinker, about 60, succumbed to a heart attack Sunday, and funeral rites will be held Wednesday afternoon in Riverside, Ill. Mr. Tinker has visited the Wagner family here.

Ensign Adelaide Becker of the Dallas Naval office, will be in the WAVE recruiting office on the federal building this week and next to interview women interested in joining the WAVES. A quota of 15 for the South Plains area has been set for November and December. Women either with skilled or unskilled experience are wanted in about 50 trades, it was stated.

Alaskan Chief Visits His Son

Governor of the Territory of Alaska, Dr. Ernest Gruening, visited in Lubbock Sunday with his son, Aviation Student Peter Brown Gruening, of the Texas Tech Preflight detachment.

Dr. Ernest Gruening, who possesses a degree in medicine, left Sunday night for Washington, where he expects to stay for about a month. He flew from his headquarters at Juneau, Alaska to Amarillo, thence by bus to Lubbock.

Former Newspaper Executive

Characterizing his visit here as "very pleasant and satisfactory," and Lubbock as "a most attractive city," Gov. Gruening said he really had not encountered much "war atmosphere" until he got to the states. Except for the presence of troops in Alaska, people in the territory's interior have seen very little of war's activities, he said.

A former newspaper executive in New York and Boston, the Alaskan chief executive was appointed to his present position four years ago. Prior to going to Juneau, he headed the Division of Territories and Island Possessions of the U. S. Alaska, Puerto Rico, Hawaii, and the Virgin Islands then came under his general jurisdiction. Formerly on the staff of The Nation, an author of books and articles on international relations and politics, Dr. Gruening has long been acknowledged as an authority on Pan-American affairs. He was an advisor to the U. S. delegation at the Montevideo conference in 1933.

Governor Gruening expects Alaska to be a great tourist mecca after victory but believes most U. S. visitors will travel by boat and plane, rather than by the famous highway which, while not fully complete, already is handling traffic. He bases his opinion on the fact that the highway route is very long and that "the first 1,000 miles of the trip is likely to be tedious."

Probably Alaska's No. 1 booster, the governor reminds Texans that the territory is twice as large as the Lone Star State. He likes to dwell upon Alaska's appeal to sportsmen; says fishermen can't lie about their catches because the truth is unbelievable.

Some of the trout caught there, he says, are 36 inches in length. His best catch, however, was a 31-incher.

Cotton Is Destroyed In Fairgrounds Fire

One hundred and nine bales of cotton, roughly valued at $8,175 were lost in a fire which broke out in an overflow yard at the fairgrounds at 7:05 o'clock Sunday night.

The cotton, it was understood by the fire department, belonged to three gins. Loss was confined to two tiers. Several hundred bales in other tiers were not damaged. No cause of fire origin had been advanced.

Two other alarms were answered Sunday by Central Fire department. A flue of a residence on Thirty-fourth street outside city limits set a small fire. An electric motor in Pinson Drug was damaged in the other.

Sgt. Bell Held As Prisoner Of Nazis

Staff Sgt. J. R. Bell, brother of city Policeman L. W. Bell, 2010 Ninth street, who was reported missing in action somewhere in Germany two weeks ago, is held by Germany as a prisoner of war, a War department notice said Monday.

Sgt. Bell, who was a waist gunner on a Flying Fortress, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Bell of Oakland, Calif., who formerly lived in the Shallowater community.

Sgt. Bell was said missing on a foray Oct. 1.

According to Policeman Bell, his brother was involved in at least two other "close shaves"; once when his plane, badly damaged by Nazi fire, barely made it back to England, and again over north Africa when he and the radio operator bailed out as the only survivors of their bomber's crew.
