Clouds Prevail, But Little Rain

Heavy clouds prevailed over the Snyder area Sunday, but no rain had fallen up to midnight. A brief shower Friday night left 2 1/2 inches of rain in the Snyder gauge at the city water plant. However, rains were reported to the north and east as thunderstorms skirted the area. A high temperature of 78 degrees, with a low of 54 degrees, and a relative humidity of 70 percent, were expected Saturday night.

Visits Are Suspended

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John XXIII lingered in bed early Sunday the third day of his illness, but his grave condition worsened steadily, his doctors stubbornly resisted the end his doctors said is inevitable. Healing in Rome, the Roman Catholic pontiff still slipped back and forth between coma and consciousness. His temperature several times rose to 102 degrees, and doctors feared pneumonia could set in. Late Saturday night doctors had ordered suspension of all visits, even those by cardinals, but the pontiff held on no hope that he could fight back from the onslaught of a stomach tumor hemorrhages and peritonitis, an inflammation of the abdomen. His doctors were surprised that the pontiff had held on so long since he took a critical turn early Friday, received the last sacraments of the church and quietly asserted his readiness to give up his life, devoted to Christian unity and world peace. "I have been able to follow the course of my death step by step," he told a priest in a period of lucidity. "Now I am going peacefully toward the end." The pontiff suffered periods of pain and difficulty in breathing and at times received oxygen through a tube from the throat and had maintained a serene look at all times. The Pope's sister sat at his bedside, and his two nephews, chairs around his bed. In her lap was a silver bowl filled with water. From time to time she dipped a white handkerchief in the water and dabbed the Pope's forehead. Her touch was professional, she had once been a nurse. Across the bed sat the three nephews, hardly older than the Pope's grandsons. They wanted to do more than just watch as life ebbed from the Pope. The brothers and sister were from Rome, their native village of Sotto il Monte Friday night, arriving just as the Pope entered a period of alternating consciousness and unconsciousness. Since then they have rarely left the Pope's apartment. They were there as the pontiff received the last sacraments of the church. The cardinal, said that he was the Pope and pray for him. But an announcement at 9:30 p.m. had ended all visits. The Pope's condition worsened steadily, his doctors stubbornly resisted the end his doctors said is inevitable. Woman, Two Children Are Found Dead

HOUSTON (AP)—The estranged wife of a Houston wallpaper company executive and her two small children were found dead at their fashionable memorial area home about noon Saturday. The dead included Mrs. Rae Jacobs, 40, wife of Roy Jacobs Sr., and their two children, Roy Jr., 2, and Nancy, 9. Police said after a preliminary investigation that they apparently died from monoxide fumes. Investigators said a note in Mrs. Jacobs' handwriting was found in her purse. Police said Jacobs, who had been separated from his wife for six months, found the bodies. Officers said the body of Mrs. Jacobs was found in the bathroom. The boy's body, clad in pajamas, was found on the floor of a bedroom. The body of the girl was found on the floor of another bedroom. She also was in her night clothes. Police Sgt. Raul C. Martinez said Jacobs told him he had to break a door glass to get in and that he smelled fumes in the house and strong automobile exhaust fumes in the garage. Jacobs told officers he was to have visited the children Saturday and upon arriving he found the door locked. He said he went to a neighbor who had a key to the house. He said the neighbor could not find the key immediately so he got a hammer from his car and broke the rear door of the home. Police said the three apparently had been dead for several hours. Neighbors said they last saw the children playing in the yard Friday.

'Charity Rackets' Problem Draws Solons' Attention

There was a knock on the door. Responding, the lady of the house found a rather dignified woman standing at the threshold. The caller advised that she was soliciting funds for a well-known welfare agency. When upon the lady of the house recalled that her family already had made a contribution to this particular agency. The caller...

Reflecting upon the call while proceeding with her household, the lady of the house became suspicious. Only a couple of months had passed since she had contributed to the agency mentioned by the caller. Why were they seeking funds again so soon? Or why were they prolonging their drive?

Finally, she made a phone call to the agency and learned that no campaign was in progress. Moreover, the agency was interested in a description of the solicitor, the neighborhood being worked, etc. Shortly thereafter, the solicitor was picked up and unmasked as an imposter.

This happened in a neighboring city recently. And such occurrences, along with promotion of unworthy agencies, has sparked a new project for the Texas Legislative Council. The council has been assigned the task of seeking a solution to the "charity rackets" problem.

The council has a tough assignment. Cities, towns and counties have been warring with it for years. Limited funds and community chest organizations have provided a partial answer, but their effectiveness varies, usually in proportion to membership and participation by the various agencies.

Statewide regulation likely would face even greater difficulties, but it may come to that if communities are unable to find solutions of their own.

Backstage...

We think that one of the almost sure signs of a "depressed area" of a town that has lost pride in itself is when the citizens permit old junk cars to clutter up the streets, yards, and the town in general. Look at the old decaying and half-deserted mining towns in the eastern coal-mining states and the old dying towns in Colorado. Each is dotted with old rusty junkers. Somewhere back down the line the people gave up. Therefore we applaud the action of the Snyder police, who will, probably this week, start a campaign against old junk cars parked on Snyder streets. But of course they can do something only if the old cars, trucks, or trailers are on public property. We hope that people won't let them stand around in their yards either. They look just as depressing there as on the street. Snyderites still have pride in their city, and we know they won't let the old car disease get started here.

AREA OIL

Ruby Wallace has been completed as the second Strawn line producer and a location southwest extension for that pay in the large West multiple field in Kent County, Arkansas southwest of Fayette.

On the labor potential, it produced 150 barrels of 29 gravity oil plus 10 barrels of water, flowing through an 1844 inch choke and perforations at 4.57 and 4.57 psi. The well is 2,250 feet from the surface and has a 70-foot depth. The location is 1,900 feet from the surface and 250 feet from the line.

Blanks No. 1 Wallace completed in February as the Strawn line discovery in the Jayton, West area and as the second Strawn well in the field.

The American Petroleum Corporation No. 1 A R. Jordan is to be drilled as an 8,000-foot operation in the Fluvanna multiple area, four miles northwest of Plovanna.

This project, projected to the Strawn, is in the Northwest Seelye County sector of the two-county field. It is 1,900 feet from north and 750 feet from east lines of section 579, block 97, H&TC survey.

The location is four miles southeast of the Earnest Strawn pool. A Straight Drilling Company of Ahlens and associates No. 1 Mrs. M. E. Leech, scheduled 7,700-foot minimum prospect, had reached 6,877 feet and was drilling deeper.

It is 1,900 feet from north and 500 feet from west lines of section 279, block 3, H&TC survey. The location is four miles southeast of the Earnest Strawn pool.

Ross Brunner of Midland No. 1 H. H. Eiland, five miles northwest of Jayton, West Seelye, had progressed below 6,000 feet and was being ahead on a 7,000-foot Canyon reef contract.

The driller is 2,500 feet from north and 650 feet from east lines of section 174, block 97, H&TC survey and two miles southwest of Canyon production in the Schatte pool.

Gulf Oil Corporation No. 1 F. J. Helms, 12 miles north of Camp Springs, in Northeast Seelye drilled to 5,000 feet in an unidentified horizon. It found no shows of production and has been abandoned.

This duster was 467 feet from south and 760 feet from west lines of section 429, block 97, H&TC survey and four miles northwest of the Ocho Juan pool.

Heart Unit Membership Session Set

The Seelye County Heart Unit will hold its first annual membership session on Friday at a luncheon at the Snyder County Club.

Dr. Appel, a vice president of the Texas Heart Association, will be the guest speaker for the occasion. He is a native of New York City, a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Cornell University, and a graduate of the New York Medical College of Philadelphia.

He held the rank of major in the U.S. Army Medical Corps with service in Korea and Japan, and was chief of cardiovascular service, William Beaumont General Hospital, El Paso, from 1953-54. Since that time Dr. Appel has been in the private practice of cardiology in El Paso.

He is a past president of the El Paso Heart Association, and in addition to holding the office of vice president of the Texas Heart Association, is an active member of several committees of that organization.

Bill Newman, president of the local heart unit, indicated that interested members of the public are invited to attend the meeting. Price for the luncheon is $1.75 per person. Reservations should be made by calling Mrs. Badger Robertson, H-3-5460, by 5 p.m. Thursday, June 6.

For teaching me right from wrong, for teaching me to love and to share, and for giving me faith when everything seemed lost. I thank you with all my heart. I love you and Daddy very, very much.

A PROUD MAMA

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have followed your column for years and have greatly appreciated your advice to teen-agers. In raising my own daughter I went through all the normal trials and tribulations of life. I had a deep feeling of failure.

Our daughter is now married and lives 800 miles away. We correspond regularly. Her last letter made me so happy I want to share part of its contents with you. You may publish it to let other parents know that the long hard days they put up to raise good children is well worth the effort.

"Dear Mama: Since I have been married, and now that I am approaching parenthood, I've done a lot of thinking to you and Daddy. I want to say 'Thank you.' I don't believe any child ever really appreciates its parents while they are under the same roof. First, I want to thank you for being a good husband and wife to each other. Mom, by just being you, you taught me so much about being a good wife without saying a word. If I can be just half the mother to my children as you were to me, I'll be satisfied. I mean all the love and attention, and even all the 'bouncing' you did when you thought it necessary to get after me about brushing my teeth, practicing the piano, and going to church fellowship. For teaching me right from wrong, for teaching me to love and to share, and for giving me faith when everything seemed lost. I thank you with all my heart. I love you and Daddy very, very much."

DEAR ABBY: I am planning a party to which I would like to invite a sister-in-law of mine who is separated from her husband. Another one of my sisters-in-law says she will not come if the one who is separated from her husband is invited. I do not want to cause hard feelings. I want them both. What should I do?

DEAR OLD-FASHIONED: You can keep him in his place by "kiddling" calling him "Grandpa." I don't think you're being childish — I think you're being wise.

DEAR PUZZLED: Invite the one who is separated from her husband. The OTHER sister-in-law has no business putting you on the spot.

DEAR PROUD: Certainly not. And, the pride you feel at this moment is well deserved. Congratulations!

DEAR ABBY: The girls in our foreigner's surprise party for his son's birthday. We had a birthday cake and all pitched in to buy him a wallet. After we sang "Happy Birthday," we lined up to give him a kiss. When it was my turn, I offered him my cheek. He said, "Kiss me from the Abby, he is a grandfather and I am only 19, and I wouldn't think of kissing him, only the lips. Now every time he sees me he kiddingly tells me 'I owe' him a kiss and he makes a grab for me. I feel so self-conscious around him I find myself dodging him. Am I being childish? How can I keep him in his place?"

DEAR ABBY: I am planning a party to which I would like to invite a sister-in-law of mine who is separated from her husband. Another one of my sisters-in-law says she will not come if the one who is separated from her husband is invited. I do not want to cause hard feelings. I want them both. What should I do?

NRA Peddling Surplus Carbines 'For A Song'

The Postal deficit may be cured, one outdoors writer says, by the disclosure that the National Rifle Association is selling surplus 30-caliber M1 carbines to members. John Wooters Jr. said the mail really has been flooding for the rifles. The association announced the sale of the short, rugged rifles. M1 fans have been paying up to $90 for the rifle, Wooters said.

Sectional Play Takes Its Toll

NUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—A total of 925 pro golfers are scheduled to shoot for 86 places in the 1963 Professional Golfers Association Championship in the next couple of weeks, making it one of the world's toughest tournaments to get into. Because of a long list of exemptions, fewer than one out of 10 of the club pros who form the bulk of the entry list has a chance to make it through the sectional rounds into the main tournament—once known as the club pros' private party.

The starting field in the PGA Championship, to be played at the DGC Country Club in Dallas, Texas, July 18-21, is about 186. But nearly half the places go to players who are exempt from qualifying for one reason or another.

Heading this list, of course, is Gary Player, the South African strong boy who won the PGA title last year. Then there's an assortment of ex-champions, Ryder Cup players and stars of the PGA tour who have earned exemptions. Among them are 11 Approved Tournament Players—non-members who were given special invitations because of their play on the tour.

Other exemptions go to the winners of championships of the PGA's 34 local sections. Of these 27 have entered the big tournament, including such well-known players as Tony Lema, Johnny Pott, Dave Ragan, Art Wall and Bo Wininger. Three didn't enter and three sectional titles still are to be decided.

Only one of the local sections will hold their 36-hole qualifying tournament this year, the "national" date June 10. Others will be scattered from June 3 through June 18.

Miss Wright's 140 Good For Tourney Lead

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—Mick Wright, leading women's golf in both money and tournament victories, fired a 5-under-par 68 with a fantastic putting exhibition Saturday to take over the lead at 36 holes in the $8,000 Bala Zaharias Open.

Miss Wright, the tall Dallas blonde seeking her fourth tournament victory in a row, had five birdies and no trouble on any hole, as she displaced her strongest rival, Marilyn Smith, with 140.

Clifford Ann Creed, the 88-pound Louisiana freshman on the tour, also cracked a 5-under-par 68 and had a 141 to take to her second place.

Miss Smith, who led the first round with a 71, saw her game go completely awry and she soared to a 75 that knocked her down to a tie for fourth at 146.

Another darkhorse, Judy Kimball, had a 70 to move up from eleventh to third with 144. Miss Wright needed only 25 putts in completing the par 73, 6,219-yard Beaumont Country Club course. Her best shot came on the 16th hole, a par 4, 361-yard affair, where she made a sensational hook around a stand of trees to land within 3 feet of the pin. She sank it for a birdie. Miss Creed had seven birdies and two bogeys in her remarkable round. She sank a 40-foot putt on No. 6 for a birdie but otherwise used a strong game on the fairways. She had 30 putts.

C-Spots Favored In Belmont Stakes

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Candy Spots will be favored for the first Belmont Stakes, each-way bet on the triple crown, when the jewel on the triple crown, will slug it out in the rubber match of the Belmont Stakes, with Candy Spots favored.

Candy Spots won the Preakness after Chateaugay had scored an upset in the Kentucky Derby. They're the two top choices for the June 8 running of the Belmont at Aqueduct. But some other colts may come along to mess up the 3-year-old situation just as it was last year, and in many other campaigns going back to the days after the Civil War when the three events began.

Last year, for example, Decidedly won the Kentucky Derby, Greek Money the Preakness and Jaipur the Belmont. Aside from a handful who swept all three events, only 11 horses have won both the Preakness and Belmont, only six the Derby and the Belmont.

One thing is certain. The Belmont will be raced for the first time at Aqueduct, the 1 1/2-mile track that replaced the old track at the Rockaways. Belmont Park, which opened in 1905, is closed in 1963. Engineers say the grandstand is ready to collapse, and until it is fixed, all racing in the New York metropolitan area is confined to Aqueduct.

Rex C. Ellsworth's Candy Spots was the favorite at Louisville May 4 for the Derby, but finished third behind John W. Galbreath's Chateaugay and Cain Hoy Stable's Never Bend.

He was the favorite again in Baltimore May 18, and ran like his backers hoped he would in the Belmont. He won the Preakness, with Chateaugay second and Never Bend third. Never Bend has a strained ankle, and Capt. Harry F. Guggenheim is resting his 1962 champion, 2-year-old for a few weeks.

Belmont fields are usually small and if half a dozen show up June 8 for the 99th running of the great 1 1/2-mile triple crown finale, it will be nothing unusual. The Greentree Stable's Outing Class, who was forced out of the Blue Grass Stakes won by Chateaugay before the Derby because of the coughing epidemic, may be ready to tackle the big boys next Saturday. His stablemate, No. Robbery, still is on the shelf with sore shins. He bucked his shins in the Derby, and joined Candy Spots in picking that occasion to lose the first race of his career.

Chisox Edge Boston, 3-1

CHICAGO (AP)—Taking advantage of young Dave Morehead's wildness, the Chicago White Sox defeated the Boston Red Sox 3-1 Saturday for their fourth straight victory. Morehead, an 18-year-old right-hander suffered his fourth loss against three victories and left the game in the fourth inning after yielding two hits and five walks. He walked Floyd Robinson with the bases loaded in the third for Chicago's first run and departed when he walked the first two men to face him in the fourth. The two walks resulted in the decisive runs, one scoring on Mike Hershey's infield bouncer, and the Houston (Bruce 2-3) at Milwaukee (Lemaster 2-3).

Yanks Victory Taken For Granted At St. Andrews

By TOM REEDY
SE ANDREWS, Scotland (AP)—The 78-year-old British Amateur Golf Championship returns to half-dome St. Andrews Monday, and the realistic Scots are asking only one question.

Which of the eight Americans will win it? The eight are members of the Walker Cup team which defeated the British last year at Gullane. They all played the kind of pressure golf which wins even if sometimes it doesn't look pretty. At St. Andrews, which started this golf back in 1754, they do not ask how you look when you hit it. They just want to know how many times.

The issue will be decided on the basis of pure stamina. The Old Course offers 18 of the most fearsome holes imaginable stretching a total of 6,936 yards, par 72. At match play the amateur champion must negotiate 18 holes until the final and the entire route may be as much as 150 holes.

There are 256 entries, 39 of them Americans. Each match is over 18 holes until the final which will be 36 holes on Saturday, June 8.

Dick Davies of Pasadena, Calif. is defending the championship he won at Hoylake last year. His Old Course teammates at Turnberry were even more impressive so the experts have concluded it is the Americans against the field. In the early rounds of the amateur, the American group will have some comparatively easy matches. U.S. Amateur Champion Larn Harris, at 21 one of the youngest in the field, drew the honor of the first match Monday. He plays Paul Coat, listed from France but actually an American who is headmaster of the U.S. Air Force School in Chateaufort. The other U.S. Walker Cup players tee off as follows: Davies vs. Robert Goodwin of Canada; Dick Sikes, Springdale, Ark. vs. J. G. Salvesson of St. Andrews, Dr. Edgar Upedgraff, Tucson, Ariz., vs. K. H. Bowden.

Three Teams Tie For Best Ball Crown

The ladies helped captain the teams during the Memorial Day golfing activities at the Snyder Country Club, and the featured mixed event best ball foursome of the day ended in a three-way deadlock for the top. The three teams tying for the title each had a best ball of 58, which is 12 under par. Approximately 40 participated in the day's round of play. Mrs. Lou Keeble was captain of one of the teams tying for the top, rounding out her foursome were Cecil Barrow and Steve and Ed. Ed. Mesdames Glen Wilson and Ray Devers captured another of the teams, with their husbands completing that foursome. The third unit deadlocking for the title was headed up by Hollis Jones and included Mrs. Jones, Dr. R. J. Kidd, and J. E. Harney. Home run—Boston, Clinton (7).

Her present book delves into such subjects as international society, social climbers, the right and wrong resorts in the right and wrong seasons, her television experiences and some personal adventures—such as her relations with the Duke and Duchess of Windsor and her fondness for Mexico.

Maxwell is a name-dropper de luxe, and only occasionally does the dropping sound a little hollow; most of the time it has the ring of sterling. She is only human, after all, and she lets her claws show now and then. Phillips, of Lubbock, at 6:00 o'clock Friday evening at the First Methodist Church in a double ring ceremony. Mr. Phillips is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Ely, Snyder, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ely Snyder, Snyder.

Miss Jeanne Menefee, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Miss Becky Shands of Lufkin was junior bridesmaid. Miss Sarah Alice Gilmore of Dallas, Miss Sami Sue Songgrass of Tennessee, Miss Sharon Smith of Clearendon, Miss Roanne Harless, cousin of the groom, of San Angelo, Mrs. Kendal McNeil, and Mrs. Cecil Roach of Tyler were bridesmaids.

Mr. Robert M. Phillips of Lubbock, father of the groom, was best man. Messrs. C. L. Harless, H. L. Quinn of the groom, of San Angelo, Joe Round, cousin of the groom, of Salem, Virginia, Robert W. Crowell of Austin, Robert Mangrum, William Hicks, and Gary Ackers of Ft. Worth, and Don Powell of Lubbock were groomsmen. Ushers were Messrs. Robert Phillips, brother of the groom and Richard Land of Lubbock, lighted the tapers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of ivory tulle de soie fashioned in the heidiom tradition. Delicate re-embroidered lace scalloped the oval necklined, long sleeved fitted bodice. Motifs of the lace were scrolled about the bodice and extended down into the front of the dome shaped skirt to form a circle effect. The skirt swept to elaborate side and back fullness, accented by sprays of the lace and cascaded to a flowing chapel length train. Miss Menefee's tiered veil of imported pure silk illusion was held in place by a tiny coil of ivory of the valley and silk organza roses. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white stephanotis, white supreme roses, and white orchids with long white satin streamers tied in love knots.

Miss Menefee's attendants wore identical gowns of yellow silk organza over taffeta. The cocktail length dresses, with elbow length sleeves and a scooped neckline, featured controlled, floor length, removable overskirts of matching fabric. Their hats designed in the same fabric, overlaid with short bridesmaids veil of illusion. The maid of honor carried a basket of yellow and white Marquette daisies and ivy streamers. The attendants carried baskets of white Marquette daisies and ivy streamers.

The Rev. Edwin Mathison officiated at the ceremony, and traditional wedding music was played by H. C. Alfred, organist. Mr. Alfred accompanied Miss Clara Massingale of Fort Worth, who sang "Because" as the pre-nuptial solo. Urn arrangements of white gladioli and stock adorned the chancel, and candelabras of long white tapers and greenery of smilax on each side of the altar. White satin bows marked the aisles.

Mrs. Menefee chose an aqua silk sheath with a bell skirt and matching accessories. Her corsage was a yellow orchid. Mrs. Phillips chose a mauve-pink silk shantung with a shirred chignon bodice and matching accessories. Her corsage was a green orchid.

Mrs. Earl Williams, grandmother of the bride, of Nacogdoches, wore a silk mauve pink. Mrs. W. E. Menefee, paternal grandmother of the bride, wore a green silk

By Katharine H. K. Hsu, M.D., Pediatrician in Charge, Tuberculosis Division, Jefferson Davis Hospital, Houston, Texas

Babies can be had medicine for babies. Had in the sense that they can give children tuberculosis.

Babies aren't born with TB and they don't get it from the milk they drink — at least in this country. But more than 2,000 future cases under five years of age have active tuberculosis. They get it from the air which they have to breathe to stay alive.

Very young children get TB because they breathe in tubercle bacilli that have been spawmed in the air by grown-up persons in close contact with them.

Fortunately, it is easy to test a baby for tuberculosis. A tuberculin test will tell the story. These are remarkably sensitive skin tests which cause a reaction if there is infection.

Nowadays most pediatricians advise prophylactic treatment for the tuberculin positive child. This calls for a drug known as "isoniazid" for at least a year. Sometimes a second drug is advised. This is commonly known as PAS, instead of the tongue-tangling word, "para-aminosalicylic" acid.

However, studies have shown that "isoniazid" alone is very effective to provide the necessary protection. It has been shown that this drug will prevent the development of serious disease among children who already are infected with tubercle bacilli.

Treatment, of course, is the first step, but it is urgent that the source of infection be found, to prevent further exposure. This means examination of all persons in close contact with the child: relatives, friends, or domestics. They should be given a tuberculin test and chest X-Rays. If a case

ANYWAY HE'S MORE IN THAN OUT!

Effects Of Wheat Plan Defeat Cannot Be Assessed At Once

By OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Full effects of the defeat of the Kennedy administration's tight wheat control plan may be months, and possibly several years, in becoming known.

Naturally, farmers and their leaders will be watching for indications of what influence the referendum results will have on President Kennedy and on Congress.

In March, the President told the National Farmers Union the wheat vote would be a test of his administration's farm policy. He was supposed to stabilize producer prices and farm supplies.

Opponents of the wheat plan argued it was such a test. The American Farm Bureau Federation, the major foe of the wheat proposal, is saying now that the referendum showed farmers want less, rather than more government, in agriculture.

As the date for the referendum approached, Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman and farm groups backing the wheat plan sought to discount the referendum as a farm-policy test. They contended it was nothing more than a economic issue—the price farmers were to get for their wheat.

The Kennedy plan offered $2 a bushel on the bulk of the crop and $1.50 on the remainder. The alternative plan accepted by wheat growers provides no controls and limits price supports to around $1.25 a bushel, and the supports will be available to only those farmers who cut back acreages.

Kennedy administration thinking on future farm policies may come out when and if Congress moves to provide still another wheat plan for 1964. Administration leaders now indicate they prefer that there be no new legislative action and let farmers have the dominating urban areas.

The administration may be influenced more by the reaction in Congress than by anything else. Congressmen, particularly those from the dominating urban areas, may take a position that it is about time to quit passing legislation. Certainly, the idea of less government in agriculture appeals to many of them. They figure the fewer the farm programs, the lower will be the cost to taxpayers and urban consumers.

The defeat of the wheat plan could have significant influence on pending cotton legislation. Something must be done about cotton this session, or the American crop will face further serious setbacks in its competition with synthetic fibers and foreign cotton. The present cotton program holds the crop too high in relation to its competition.

Those favoring the Kennedy farm supply management approach would like to meet the cotton problem through the use of government subsidies, either to domestic mills or to growers. They want to maintain present grower price supports. But strong elements in the cotton industry, including many producers from Mississippi west to California, favor lower supports to regain markets.

Congress may enact a cotton program of this nature.

Thus, should Congress pass new wheat and cotton programs not meeting the pattern of the administration's supply control approach, the President might find it advisable to shift his farm policies in the direction of more freedom to produce and, at somewhat lower price supports.

Certainly, there is much speculation as to the possible effect of wheat referendum will have on Freeman's tenure. There are no precise indications that it will have any effect.

The wheat referendum has virtually killed off any prospects of controls on livestock, milk, poultry, and other crops.

Tight controls are in effect now only for cotton, tobacco, peanuts and rice.

The referendum also could have an effect on the major farm organizations. There has been sharp conflict between the Farm Bureau on the one hand and the National Grange, the National Farmers Union, and the National Farm Organization on the other. The latter three want strong farm programs while the Farm Bureau wants fewer and less restrictive programs.

The influence of the Farm Bureau in Congress undoubtedly will be increased and that of the other groups decreased. All this could have an impact on membership drives of the various farm groups. Undoubtedly the wheat referen-

Swede Most Durable Of Premiers

By BRACK CURRY
STOCKHOLM (AP)—He is 6 feet 3, and you may see him standing in the outside government house, patiently waiting for a taxi to take him home.

He is Tage Erlander, Sweden's prime minister and the most durable premier among the free governments of Europe.

"No one can beat Erlander," says one astute Swede. "He'll probably be prime minister when he is 100."

Erlander has headed the government since 1946—longer than any other prime minister in Swedish history. Most Swedes consider him to be a shoo-in for another 4-year term in 1966 elections.

Erlander checked the flagging fortunes of his Social Democratic (socialist) Party in the '50s. He pushed through sweeping educational reforms which have resulted in doubling the students in high schools and universities.

He has instituted major improvements in working hours, and vacation periods. Family security, compulsory health insurance and pensions.

Erlander's energetic reforms paid off handsomely in the 1960 election. His party drew the largest vote in its history—over two million out of 4 1/2 million votes and an absolute majority in Parliament.

What sort of man is this? He does not look like a formidable politician. He walks with a stooping gait. He has a shock of graying hair, wears horn-rimmed glasses and dresses in conservative suits. He is calm, even-tempered and suave. He puts his thoughts across in simple terms.

Aside from his record of social reforms and of guiding Sweden from a postwar depression into unparalleled prosperity, Erlander is liked by the Swedes for his personal qualities.

He often answers his own office telephone. Apologizing one day for keeping a visitor waiting, he said: "The foreign minister wanted to see me. It was rather urgent. I hope you will excuse me."

In political campaigns, Erlander tours the country with his wife. And driving.

The Erlanders live in an ordinary house with 30 other families. Hundreds of books line the walls. Either Erlander or his wife, a teacher of chemistry and mathematics, has read most of them.

Erlander enjoys the theater, fishing, swimming, news programs and foreign travel. He has visited the United States three times as well as Russia, India and most of West Europe.

He likes to stress to Americans that he has cousins in the United States, mostly in Minnesota.

"There is hardly a Swede who doesn't have relatives in the United States," Erlander says.

Lanky and rubber-faced, he is a favorite, with political cartoonists and an ideal model for caricature.

Erlander's type of socialism is left-of-center progressivism rather than Marxism. In foreign affairs, he pursues Sweden's traditional course of armed neutrality with emphasis on active support of the United Nations in settling international disputes.

Junior Editors Quiz on PENDULUMS

QUESTION: What makes a pendulum swing endlessly?

ANSWER: If you look inside a grandfather's clock as Joe is doing in our picture, you will see, besides the swinging pendulum, a weight hanging on a cord. This weight keeps the pendulum swinging, and the steady swing of the pendulum keeps the clock working at an even pace. Long ago, the Italian astronomer Galileo timed the swinging of a lamp which hung on a long cord. He discovered that the swings were perfectly regular. Later the Dutchman Huygens used this principle to construct a pendulum clock. In the clock's works is an "escapement" (see diagram) which holds back the wheels. This is connected so that when the pendulum moves a little and then connected with the weight. This movement gives the wheel a "kick" to the pendulum and keeps it swinging. The steady swings of the pendulum hold the mechanism of the clock to a steady pace.

FOR YOU TO DO: Tie a weight to a cord and swing it back and forth. Notice that (unless you swing it all the way around) it is difficult to hurry the weight or slow it down. It tends to a steady movement like the pendulum in a grandfather's clock.

The Gardeners' Corner

WERE YOU ONE of the 80,000 weekend gardeners who operated power lawn mowers carelessly and were hurt last year?

The estimate of injuries came from the American Standards Association and National Safety Council, which recommends rigid manufacturing standards intended to cut down accidents. But lawn tenders must adopt human safeguards.

Don't let your young children operate a power mower and keep them off the lawn until you've cut it. Remove all debris from the lawn. BEFORE you start the mower, this includes stones, wood, wire, glass, clothespins and toys.

Learn how to start the mower quickly. Mow only in daylight and never when the grass is wet, lest you slip. Wear shoes, not slippers or sneakers.

Use proper mowing technique. Don't pull a mower too fast. Operate at the slowest speed that will cut satisfactorily. Don't tamper with the engine. Start the mower when you are ready to cut, not before. Shut off the mower if you leave the mower. Aim the mower's discharge away from sidewalks.

Don't fill the gasoline tank in doors, or while smoking.

If your maple trees developed leaf galls or swelling last year, chances are they will again this year. The swellings are caused by microscopic gall mites. The injury generally is temporary but an abundance of gall mites will spoil the tree's appearance. To control, use a dilute a pint of liquid lime-sulfur in a gallon of water and spray before leaf buds open. Spraying after galls form is ineffective.

Lime sulfur will stain paint or bricks, so apply carefully.

In the northeast, malathion sprays should be applied in late April and early May, when buds first show green.

Washday Ingredients

One or more of the following items will help you achieve better laundering results: an automatic washing machine, really hot water from an automatic water heater, a water softener if you live in a hard-water area, a good soap or detergent and an automatic clothes dryer. Any of these make it possible to turn out a whiter, cleaner wash with less work.
