Storms Hit 10 States, Death Toll Rises To 55

TWISTER-SMASHED DWELLINGS — These three homes were among an estimated 100 dwellings heavily damaged or destroyed by a tornado which ripped through Drumright, Okla., causing five deaths and injuring a dozen persons.

Michigan Hit Worst Blow

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A series of tornadoes and destructive windstorms struck with unabated fury across 10 states in the mid-continent yesterday, killing at least 45 persons and injuring more than 300 others.

The violent spring storms, battering areas from the Midwest prairie lands southward into Mississippi, came in the wake of tornadic winds which raked the Southwest earlier yesterday and Monday night.

The casualty toll in the two days was at least 55 dead and more than 325 injured. Property damage was estimated in the millions of dollars.

Western Michigan, in the Grand Rapids district, suffered the heaviest death and injury toll. Latest reports showed at least 22 dead, 18 identified and 4 unidentified. More than 200 were injured. A dozen twisters hammered the area destroying scores of homes. Some 2000 were reported homeless.

Eight were killed and more than 50 injured in two Wisconsin communities. Also in the path of the turbulent weather were sections of Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Kentucky, Nebraska, Tennesee, Arkansas and Mississippi.

In Washington, the Red Cross said in a preliminary report, that 170 homes were destroyed, 403 damaged and a total of 835 families affected by the storms in Tennessee, Mississippi, Michigan, Wisconsin, Oklahoma and Kansas. The Red Cross sent 43 disaster specialists into the stricken areas.

Tornado warnings for the Midwest and South were lifted late last night.

The stormy weather appeared headed into the Northeast. The Boston Weather Bureau forecast severe thunderstorms for New England late tonight. The bureau said they might be the "first lead" up to a tornado in the region.

Heavy hail and rain pelted the storm stricken regions. Temperatures, which had climbed into the 70s in Midwest areas, dropped. The cooler air, however, did not reach into the South.

The intense storm center in Minnesota spread ice and snow over parts of the central and northern Great Plains. Several South Dakota were isolated. Heavy drifting snow and ice was the outlook from eastern North Dakota and extreme northeast South Dakota across northwestern Minnesota. Around 2 inches of snow fell in sections of Nebraska and the Dakotas, with falls measuring up to a foot in some areas.

The tornadoes which hammered Michigan caused heaviest loss of life and damage at Hudsonville, a town of 1,300 about 10 miles southwest of Grand Rapids on the Grand Rapids-Holland highway to Lake Michigan. At least 17 persons were killed. Some 130 persons were treated for injuries in the three main hospitals of Grand Rapids, a city of nearly 200,000 population. Included were injured brought from Standale, a suburb where the storm struck a trailer camp which housed from 50 to 75 trailers.

A deputy sheriff estimated damage at Standale alone at a million dollars. Hospitals in nearby Zeeland and Holland were jammed. Some 1,000 National Guardsmen and civil defense workers moved into the stricken area.

Twisters that hit central Wisconsin killed 6 persons and injured some 50 others in Berlin, a town of 5,000, and killed 2 in Bancroft. The twisters missed by yards hitting the Berlin High School where 400 students were in classes. A knitting mill factory was demolished but 90 employes escaped serious injury.

In the South the storms struck areas in Arkansas, Tennessee, Mississippi and Kentucky. Four were killed and 36 injured in Tennessee and three were killed in Kentucky, and one in Mississippi.

Sen. Johnson May Outline Future Plans

AUSTIN (AP)—Sen. Lyndon Johnson will hold a news conference at his Pedernales River ranch tomorrow at 11 a.m.

Johnson, center of a current battle among Texas Democrats over who will lead the state's delegation to the national convention, has been at the ranch near Johnson City during Congress' Easter recess.

He gave no indication of what he plans to say at the news conference.

Some speculation was that the Senate majority leader has been talking to friends over the state to get their reaction to Speaker Sam Rayburn's proposal that he go to Chicago as the Texas favorite son candidate for President as well as leader of the Texas delegation.

Johnson said earlier this week he was home merely for a rest. He suffered a severe heart attack in July.

Gov. Shivers, proposed by the conservative wing of the party in Texas for delegation leader, challenged Johnson last week to say how he stood on numerous issues if he expected to represent "a majority' of Texas Democrats.

Shivers linked Johnson's name indirectly with the Americans for Democratic Action, the NAACP and the Texas Democratic Advisory Council.

Johnson snapped back that Shivers knows "that I am not and never have been the creature of the ADA, the DAC . . . or any other group the governor may have named."

Rayburn and Shivers are leaders respectively of the liberal and conservative factions of Texas Democrats now battling for control of the May precinct, county and state conventions.

The May conventions will decide the makeup and policy of the Texas delegation to the national convention at Chicago.

Johnson may say more specifically tomorrow whether he plans to continue in the state fight, or whether he will drop out of it and also as a possible "favorite son' candidate.

MEN IN THE STREET — Surrounded by newsmen who tagged along on the ex-President's habitual early morning walk, Harry S. Truman and New York's governor, Averell Harriman chat before microphones on a street corner in New York. Truman walked from his hotel to meet Harriman on Fifth Avenue and the two strolled to the governor's home for breakfast. Truman denied any political connection with the meeting.

Heavy Vote Is Cast In Snyder Election

In an unusually heavy vote for a city election here a new mayor and two new councilmen were elected yesterday, and two councilmen were re-elected.

Harold Bennett, 42-year-old owner of Bennett's Office Supply, was elected mayor by more than a two-to-one margin over Walter Hales, owner of Hales Lumber & Supply Co. The vote in the mayor's race was Bennett 690 to Hales' 242.

Steve Birdwell owner of Birdwell Conoco Service Station, was elected councilman in place No. 2 with 673 votes to 238 for R. T. (Bud) Howard, Star- Telegram agent here.

J. H. (Jim) Mixon, owner of Mixon Tire & Supply, was elected to the council in place No. 5 with 552 votes. Bill Fisher, owner of Snyder Wholesale, received 331 votes for place No. 5.

The two councilmen re-elected were unopposed incumbents Dr. Robert H. Hargrove, Jr., with 829 votes for place No. 4, and owner of Phillips Bros. Hardware, with 868 votes for place No. 6.

A total of 932 persons voted yesterday, and six persons had cast absentee ballots earlier.

It was one of the heaviest council election votes cast here in recent years.

The new mayor is a native of Loraine, Tex., who came to Snyder in June of 1950 to become manager of the Scurry County Chamber of Commerce. He was manager of the chamber until Dec. 5 1951, when he resigned to become a partner in ownership of the Times Printing Co., and was active manager of the firm, and has since been sole owner of Bennett Office Supply.

Bennett is married to the former Miss Lois Burdine of Colorado City. The couple have one son. He is a graduate of Loraine High School, and attended John Tarleton Agriculture College. He is a member of the First Methodist Church, the Masonic Lodge, and several civic organizations. He has served two terms as Scurry County Democratic Party chairman.

The other candidates for mayor, Walter Hales, recently resigned from the city council, place No. 5, to become a candidate for mayor.

Apparently each candidate for the five offices filled in yesterday ran on individual merits, and there was no coalition between the candidates.

Mixon was elected to a one-year term to complete the term started a year ago by Hales. The other successful candidates are to serve two-year terms in their respective offices.

Hargrove and Phillips have both served on the council since the switch to the city manager form of government here, and Hargrove had served a partial term under the former mayor-council government.

Election to the council gives Bennett, Birdwell and Mixon their first public office, although Bennett was county Democratic chairman, and Birdwell has served as president of the Snyder Junior Chamber of Commerce.

A sprinkling of write - in votes were cast for various individuals.

For mayor Franklin Pruitt received two votes, G. W. Parks, Jr., five, Anderson Davis, Jr., one, and William J. Schiebel, one.

For councilman in place No. 2, Fred Cullum received two write-in votes, Ab Williamson, one, Ralph Laswell, one, Lyle Deffebach, one, and J. B. Davidson, one.

For councilman place No. 4, T. C. Goss and E. D. Walton received one write-in vote each.

For councilman place No. 6 Wayne Boren and Ben Young each received one write-in vote.

Salesman Reports Big Jewel Theft

FORT WORTH (AP)—Abe Soloman Houston jewelry salesman, told police yesterday of the theft of his car loaded with $20,000 in jewelry.

Soloman parked his car while he visited a store. In the car were about 1,000 men and women's unmounted rings, some diamond rings, 500 charms and 25 bracelets for charms, watches and watch cases.

Blaze Kills 4 Brothers

FORT WORTH (AP)—Four small brothers, the oldest 5, died yesterday when a flash fire destroyed a shed in which they were playing.

The victims were Vernon Hunter, 5; Dennis Hunter, 4; Gary Hunter, 3; and Roger Hunter, 2, sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hunter.

The sheet iron building, two doors from the Hunter home, had been used by the father to store produce crates and baskets, which he bought and sold for a living.

The mother said she thought the boys had some matches.

She said her sons had left home a few minutes before while she was feeding her 9-month-old daughter.

"They didn't have two minutes in which to do it," she said. The mother said both she and her husband had spanked the boys for playing in the building.

The building quickly became a roaring blaze. Nearby residents restrained the parents from trying to enter the flaming shed.

All the bodies were badly burned. Firemen found three bodies huddled together near the front and another near the center.

Nations Review U. S. Arms Plan

LONDON (AP)—Four leading U.N. atomic powers today studied the new U.S. "steps-to-disarmament" plan calling for staged cutbacks in both conventional and nuclear weapons to reduce the threat of war.

The plan calls for strict international inspections and controls, a stumbling block in previous efforts to halt the big power arms race.

Once this is working, the plan provides for a census of nuclear stocks and gradual conversion of such stockpiles to peaceful purposes.

U. S. Delegate Harold E. Stassen outlined the proposal at a meeting of the five-power subcommittee of the U.N. Disarmament Commission. Delegates from the Soviet Union, Britain, France and Canada studied the lengthy, detailed draft overnight before meeting again today for fresh discussion.

The U.S. plan differs significantly from an earlier Russian proposal in that it would set up controls over nuclear weapons and production as well as limitations on conventional armaments. The Soviet plan, offered last week, dealt only with conventional weapons. This was a reversal of previous Russian demands that nuclear weapons must be banned as a first step to planning disarmament.

The U.S. plan also would limit military forces of America and the Soviets to 2½ million men each, while the Russian proposal would restrict them to 1½ million.

A spokesman said the United States regards its plan as workable "in the world we now are living in"—a world divided and torn by tensions in many areas. He termed the draft an informal framework which can be revised.

Under the U.S. plan, the nuclear phase of disarmament would not be started until reduction of conventional arms is working smoothly.

The nuclear phase would begin with a world census of atomic and hydrogen weapons, supplies and production. Then it would proceed to a system of control and inspection, a freeze on production and finally conversion of nuclear stockpiles to peaceful uses.

Roulette Is Played By Winston Churchill

MONTE CARLO (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill didn't break the bank at Monte Carlo but he left the famous gambling casino a few hours before dawn today as a winner.

Churchill, vacationing on the French Riviera, played roulette for several hours, his usual cigar jutting from the corner of his mouth.

After cashing in his chips, Sir Winston sat and talked for nearly half a hour with Aristotle Onassis, the Greek shipping millionaire who owns a controlling interest in the company that operates the casino.

Snyder Fire Chief Will Give Address

Durward Porter, Snyder fire chief, will present a 30-minute address on toxic gases at the eighth annual Firemen Instructors Conference in Lubbock, April 23 to 25.

Porter was selected by the Texas Engineering Extension Service of the Texas A & M College to give the address.

The letter requesting Porter to make the address said in part: "You are recommended very highly in this important phase of fire fighting and we feel that such a contribution will be most important and beneficial to our state wide training program."

The letter was from H. D. Smith acting chief of the Texas Firemen's Training School.

Hermleigh Woman Dies This Morning

Mrs. Lloyd Reeves of Hermleigh, died at 6:15 a.m. this morning at her home in Hermleigh.

Funeral arrangements are pending at the Bell Funeral Home.

No Sabotage

DALLAS (AP) — A preliminary probe of a million dollar ffire at an electronics equipment plant at Garland Sunday night has "failed to show any signs of sabotage," William Murphy of the FBI said yesterday. The Varo Manufacturing Co. had been making equipment for the government under tight security regulations, Murphy said.

Ike Beats Kefauver In Test Of Popularity In Wisconsin

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Democrats claimed their best showing in a Wisconsin spring election in the past several years yesterday as they gave Sen. Estes Kefauver a 42 per cent share of the total vote compared with 55 per cent won by President Eisenhower.

The outcome gave Democrats considerable hope for the future, particularly in the farm belt.

The normally Republican state elected 30 delegates pledged to President Eisenhower and 56 Kefauver delegates — with one-half vote each.

In the 1952 presidential preference primary, Republican delegate tickets claimed 75 per cent of the vote and in 1948 the GOP had 70 per cent. Prior to that there was little basis of comparison, as convention delegates were elected individually rather than on full slates.

The Tennessee Democrat outscored the President yesterday in the 9th and 10th congressional districts which take in the far northern part of the state—one of the most rural and thinly populated areas. Eisenhower led in all other districts.

"Because I am carrying rural precincts, I believe it shows great unrest among the farmers" Kefauver said at Miami. "Since the present administration offers no suitable relief for the farmers' distress, believe I can carry the farm belt. I think the results also show the farmers are voting for my program and me."

Kefauver had no Democratic opposition and the Eisenhower slate had only token opposition. Thus the primary was considered a test of popularity between the chief executive and Kefauver. There is no party registration in Wisconsin and voters may vote any ballot they choose.

The delegate vote in 3,196 of the state's 3,321 precincts was:

Eisenhower (R) 417,954

Kefauver (D) 315,602

John Chapple (R-favorite son) 20,251.

It was on the basis of these comparative figures that the Democrats found cheer.

The figures showed the Democratic delegates polling about 42 per cent of the total vote—the largest percentage any Democratic candidates have run up in a spring primary in the past several elections.

The Republican Eisenhower candidates got about 55 per cent of the total vote and the Chapple slate about 3 per cent. Chapple's slate was entered as a group that opposed the President's foreign policy.

The Democratic gains led leaders to hail Kefauver's showing as an indication that he will be able to carry the farm belt. Republican leaders said, however, that the President's showing was a contest that indicated nothing.

Kefauver, at Miami, Fla., said that the primary showed "great unrest among the farmers" and predicted he would carry the entire farm belt. He recently won the bulk of Minnesota's Democratic delegates and outscored an Eisenhower slate there, crediting his showing in part at least to farm unrest.

UN Mission Is Pushed By United States

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States and its Western allies pressed for Security Council approval today of a Middle East peace mission by U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold.

Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., council president for April, expressed belief the council would reach a vote today on his proposal that Hammarskjold seek ways to reduce explosive tensions along the Israeli-Arab frontiers.

A vote late yesterday on the U. S. resolution was delayed when Ahmed Shukairy of Syria and Egypt's Omar Loutfi said they wanted to postpone their final statements until today. Representatives of Israel, Jordan and Lebanon—the other countries immediately involved—raised no objections to the American resolution.

Lodge turned down Soviet amendments intended to restrict somewhat the scope of Hammarskjold's mission. Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev said he had no objection to the principles of the American resolution but felt the wording could be improved by his amendments.

The Western Big Three delegates rejected a Soviet charge that their governments are planning armed intervention in the Middle East under the pretext of preventing an Arab-Israeli war. Sobolev charged this would violate the Arab countries' national rights. He argued no such action should be taken outside the U. N., and none should be taken unless the Middle East countries themselves agreed.

Piggy Bank Burglar Picks Wrong House

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — It looks as if the jig is up for the piggy bar burglar

He climbed in a window of Lorin C. Harvey's home yesterday and escaped with a few pieces of jewelry and coins from Harvey's daughter's piggy bank.

But Harvey is a fingerprint technician for the Long Beach Police Department, and he said the thief left behind several clear fingerprints on the window sill and the bank. Harvey said he expects to solve the case.

Services Set For Anderson

Warning On State Clinic Is Sounded

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government issued a formal public warning today against the Hoxsey cancer treatment which it termed worthless and "imminently dangerous" if its use leads to neglect of other care.

The Food and Drugs Administration said some of the medicine used by Harry M. Hoxsey in his cancer treatment contains potassium iodide, and it added, "There is evidence that potassium iodide accelerates the growth of some cancers."

Hoxsey disputed the government contentions. At his clinic in Dallas, he said he has records of cases "proving that we have been successful after radium, X-ray and surgery have failed." He said the government never has made a full investigation.

Hoxsey said his clinics now have 10,000 patients.

The FDA has been fighting Hoxsey since before 1948. After years of litigation, a decision by a U. S. District Court in Texas in October 1953 prohibited Hoxsey and his clinic from shipping in interstate commerce what the FDA today termed "their worthless cancer medicines."

The agency said Hoxsey set up his clinic at Dallas in 1936 and that its growth has been steady. It said a Hoxsey clinic was opened March 7, 1955, at Portage, Pa.

FDA officials said the agency never had taken a precisely similar action to warn the public against any medicine or treatment. The public warning is to be published in the Federal Register as an official document. It is signed by FDA Commissioner George P. Larrick.

In a separate statement, the agency said it is developing a contempt of court proceeding alleging that Hoxsey and members of his staff have violated the 1953 injunction against interstate transportation of their products.

But it said this is almost certain to be a lengthy court case, and the action "may not result in a cessation of his activities for some time to come."

This statement declared also that FDA "has received reports of deaths which occurred after surgery was forsaken in favor of the Hoxsey treatment while the cancer was still operable and where surgery promised excellent prospects of cure."

The FDA said the Hoxsey treatment costs $400 plus $60 in additional fees, and added that these "expenditures will yield nothing of any value in the care of cancer."

Ike Says Congress Must Okay Troop Use If War Breaks Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today he would never order American troops into any kind of action which could be interpreted as war without prior approval by Congress.

Eisenhower told a news conference that of course there might come a time when it would be necessary for U.S. forces to defend themselves in a local action.

He made it plain that under such circumstances the troops would defend themselves but he said emphatically that would not be war.

Eisenhower reacted sharply when a reporter asked whether he might order U.S. Marines, who were recently sent to the Middle East, into war if he thought the circumstances warranted it, and without getting the approval of Congress first.

A reinforced battalion of Marines, about 1,500 men, was sent last month to join the 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean.

With a show of exasperation, Eisenhower told his questioner that sometimes he gets discouraged. Then he added that he has said time and time and time again that he never would engage. American troops in any kind of action which could be interpreted as war without getting a go-ahead first from Congress.

For war, Eisenhower said forcefully you need money and a draft law. Actually there already is a draft law on the books.

It was at that point Eisenhower went on to say there are times when it might become necessary for U.S. forces to defend themselves.

The question to the President was prompted by the views expressed yesterday by Secretary of State Dulles.

Dulles said at his news conference that he thought Eisenhower would not be disposed to use American troops without prior approval by Congress, unless some emergency arose which left inadequate time for action by the lawmakers.

AREA OIL ROUNDUP

Dual Producer In Borden Completes

Amerada Petroleum Corp. No. 2 Cates, project in Southwest Borden County, has been completed as a dual well from the Spraberry and Dean sand sections, with the Dean pay being a new pay section for the Jo-Mill (Spraberry) field.

From the Dean, it gauged 52 barrels of 34.5 gravity oil and two barrels of water daily through perforations from 7,753 to 7,848 feet after 500 gallons of mud acid and 20,000 gallons of fracture fluid. Gas-oil ratio was 192-1.

Earlier, it was completed from the Spraberry for 414 barrels of 37 gravity oil daily through ¼-inch choke and perforations from 7,252 to 7,332 feet after treatment with the same amount of mud acid and fracture fluid. Gas - oil ratio was 689-1.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 22, block 33, T-4-N, T&P survey.

Blanco Oil Co. of San Antonio and others will drill No. 1 L. M. Brown as a link operations between the Arthur (Spraberry) and Stripling (Spraberry) pools of Southwest Borden County.

Location is 700 feet from north and 1,800 feet from east lines of section 5, block 33, T-3-N, T&P survey.

Rotary tools will be used to drill to 8,500 feet.

It is one and one-quarter miles northeast of the Stripling pool and one mile southwest of the Arthur field.

T. Fred Hodge of Fort Worth will drill a 3,850-foot Glorieta wildcat in Northwest Garza County as No. 1-A J. M. Bland.

Location is 330 feet from south and 990 feet from east lines of northwest quarter of section 1256, AB&M survey and eight miles southeast of Southland.

It is 1,600 feet southeast of Hodge's No. 1 Bland, a recent failure.

General Crude Oil Co. has abandoned No. 1 Jameson, wildcat two miles northwest of the Round Top field in Northeast Fisher County. It was drilled to 6 236 feet in barren Ellenburger.

It was 660 feet from north and west lines of section 93, block 1, HxTC survey.

Jennings sand production has been assured in the Norton, North field of Runnels County at Murray Petroleum Co. No. 4 Kirby Robinson.

Operator took a 13-minute drillstem test between 4,558 and 4,568 feet. Gas surfaced in two minutes, mud in seven minutes and oil in nine.

The project flowed oil at the rate of 15 to 20 barrels per hour. Flowing pressure was between 700 and 950 pounds and 10 - minute shutin pressure was 1,595 pounds.

Location is 1,011 feet from north and 990 feet from east lines of section 440, block 5, Thomas M. Fowler survey and four and one-half miles northeast of Norton.

Orders Issued For Halting State Trains

AUSTIN (AP)—The Cotton Belt Railroad has been allowed to stop operations of its last two passenger trains in Texas.

No effective date of the discontinuance was set by the Railroad Commission in issuing its order yesterday.

Trains 7-107 and 8-108 served Texarkana, Tyler and Dallas.

Commission Chairman William Murray Jr., and Commissioner Ernest Thompson signed the order. Commissioner Olin Culberson wrote a concurring opinion.

Culberson said it was a "useless and futile gesture for me to express my complete sympathy with the protestants in this case." He said previous court decisions had left the commission no other choice.

The discontinuance was protested by several East Texas groups on grounds that the railroad's schedule was unsatisfactory and that only a little money had been spent by the Cotton Belt to promote the road.

They also protested a lack of convenient facilities and poor insurance would provide an economical hardship for the area.

The Cotton Belt showed it was losing money on the trains.

Rites For Snyder Man's Father Held

Funeral services were to be held at 3:30 p.m. today for Paul F. Roeber, 74, father of Mrs. Ned White, 3208 Hill Avenue. Mr. Roeber died Tuesday in Stamford.

Rites were to be conducted at the Bethel Lutheran Church, with burial in the Highland cemetery in Stamford.

Mr. Roeber was a native of Halle, Germany, and came to the United States at the age of 8.

Survivors, in addition to Mrs. White, are three other daughters, Mrs. C. L. Moritz, Mrs. Alvin Hinze and Mrs. Jimmy Muehlstein, all of Stamford; and one foster son, Paul Schoenerstedt of Dallas.

Nervous Bride Has Reason For Running

OUNDLE, England (AP) — Pretty Margaret Collins hit a new high in nervousness for brides, and small wonder. All through the ceremony at St. Wilfred's church, a bee buzzed beneath her bridal boleró.

Just at the end of the nuptial mass the bee sank its stinger.

The smarting bride and her husband, Patrick Cunningham, dashed out of the church and into nearby drugstore—where a pharmacist applied a soothing lotion.

New Revision On Insurance Is Expected

AUSTIN (AP) — The Insurance Commission was expected to announce within about 10 days a revision on credit insurance policies and premium rates after a statewide hearing yesterday.

The commission heard some charges that loan sharks use credit insurance to evade the law limiting interest rates.

More than 100 representatives of credit insurance underwriters, military personnel and private citizens appeared at the hearing, first of its kind since present rates were set in 1951.

Credit life insurance is generally taken out as an indirect guarantee of payment of unsecured small loans. Such insurance has helped some small money lenders get around the Constitution's prohibition against a charge of more than 10 per cent a year on loans.

Jack Reimer, assistant commission actuary, outlined previous experience in determining rates. He said credit insurance has grown from $4,103,695 in 1951 to $22,513,564 last year in Texas with a loss ratio for the industry of only 13 per cent. The ratio is compiled by dividing the paid losses by the earned premium.

Reimer, replying to a reporter's question, said the loss ratio for companies in handling auto coverage amounted to 57 per cent.

Representatives of the credit insurance writing firms defended their business and said most evils were committed by the lending agents.

Chairman Byron Saunders said the commission has no authority to regulate the small loan business but that it does have power to fix rates on credit policies issued with the small loans.

William Walsh, general counsel of the Consumer Credit Insurance Assn., a national trade association composed of legal reserve life insurance companies writing credit insurance, testified.

Drumright Starting To Clean Up Debris

DRUMRIGHT, Okla. (AP)—Assistance came from all quarters today as Drumright and other Oklahoma towns began fighting back from the brutal attack of Monday night tornadoes which killed five and injured about 50 others.

Drumright was hit the hardest by the spring twisters which struck at nine Oklahoma points before moving into southeastern Kansas and Missouri. The five dead and a score of the injured were from this Creek County city of 5,000.

Both Creek and Ottawa counties have been declared disaster areas by the Small Business Administration in Washington.

THIS BOY'S TOPS—Frank B. Boyce, 13-year-old youngster from Elizabeth City, N.C., joyfully displays his "Boy Of The Year" plaque after a ceremony staged by the Boys' Clubs of America in New York City. Those handlebars belong to the bicycle Frank also received for his "service to home, church, school, community and Boys' Club." The youngster was chosen from among the 450,000 club members throughout the nations, ranging in age from seven to 20.

Spain Ready To Weclome Ben Youssef

MADRID, Spain (AP)—Spain prepared a royal welcome today for Morocco's Sultan Mohammed ben Youssef, coming here to receive a grant of independence for the Spanish-ruled part of his North African empire.

A declaration ending Spain's protectorate over its 18,009-square-mile zone was approved by the government last night.

An announcement after a meeting of Generalissimo Francisco Franco with his Cabinet said the declaration recognized Morocco's independence and the unity of French and Spanish Morocco.

It said the Cabinet also approved terms of reference for further negotiations with the Moroccans on putting the independence declaration into effect. It did not elaborate.

It was anticipated that one of Spain's chief objectives would be the right to maintain military bases in Morocco, major training ground for Spanish armed forces.

Ben Youssef returned to the Moroccan throne last November after more than two years of French exile. He at once launched a drive to unify the old sherifian empire of his ancestors, which had been split into the protectorates of French and Spanish Morocco and the international zone of Tangier.

France formally recognized the independence of its Moroccan territory March 2. The agreement granted Morocco the right to maintain an army and its own diplomacy under conditions of "interdependence" with France still to be defined.

Presidential Aide Urges Work By GOP

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Howard Pyle, deputy assistant to President Eisenhower, said last night that "the results of the election at all levels will depend on just how badly we want to win."

He urged listeners at a Young Republicans box supper to exert individual, evangelistic efforts to convince the public that continuation of the Eisenhower administration would mean peace, prosperity and confidence.

Compromise Bill Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Holland (D-Fla) said today one of the final decisions to be made in a Senate-House compromise farm bill will be between a compulsory or voluntary soil bank.

Holland is one of the 10 senators and representatives trying to patch together widely differing Senate and House bills. Members of the group planned daylong closed sessions again today although a final vote on the bill is not expected until Friday.

"We agreed to put off a decision on the compulsory provision until we have decided what we can do with corn and other feed grains," Holland said.

Holland won Senate approval by a 48-46 vote of a provision that would require farmers to place up to 15 per cent of their croplands in the soil bank in order to get price supports on their basic crops.

He did this after the Senate approved a similar provision limited to corn, oats, barley, rye, grain sorghums and other livestock feed grains.

President Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson recommended a voluntary soil bank. Under it farmers would get payments for reducing their plantings of crops in surplus.

Rep. Cooley (D-NC), chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, said House conferees will insist on a voluntary soil bank.

Uncle Harvey Has It Figured Out

OMHA (AP)—The Thomas John Millikens were expecting a baby and Uncle Harvey E. Milliken told Thomas "name him Harvey Earl and I'll send along a check for $500."

The baby arrived Oct. 1, 1954, and Thomas sent uncle a notice "(Monday through Saturday) "Thomas John Milliken, Jr." "(Sundays and Holidays) "Harvey Earl Milliken."

Uncle yesterday said he had it figured:

"For the first year I figured 52 Sundays, six paid holidays—that's fifty-eight three hundred and sixty-fifths—I think it comes to $140."

A Mangone suit is a Spring "must" and here it is with all the quality and agelessness that Mangone represents. In typical good taste, it has a lowered collar which is so face flattering and a pique petal detail that buttons onto the jacket opening. Svelte from shoulder to hem, this meticulously cut model has slash side pockets, a straight skirt with back slit. If you prefer to wear it as a two piece dress, it can be made without a lining and in the fall you can make the petal tabs in velveteen and continue to enjoy wearing it all year 'round. Choose suiting wools, faille or other silks with body, pique or stiffish cottons. This pattern is cut to Designer Measurements, not Standard Pattern Measurements. VEAL AND PORK EN BROCHETTE
1 pound veal steak
1 pound pork shoulder
1 egg
1 cup fine crisp cereal crumbs
Fat
1¼ teaspoons salt
½ cup water
⅓ cup sour or sweet cream

Cut veal and pork into 1½-inch suares. Place 2 squares of pork and 2 of veal alternately on each of several skewers. Dip each into egg, then into crumbs and brown in fat. Season, add water, cover and simmer until tender, about 1 hour. Remove to hot platter and pour cream into pan. Heat to boiling and serve with meat. Serves 8.

OLD FASHIONED STEAMED PUDDING
1 cup bread crumbs
½ cup sour milk
¼ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 egg
½ cup sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking soda
1-16 teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup raisins
½ cup chopped nuts

Soften bread crumbs in sour milk. Cream shortening and sugar until fluffy; add vanilla and blend thoroughly. Beat egg and combine with milk and crumbs, then add to sugar and shortening mixture. Mix thoroughly. Sift flour, salt, soda and spices together; add raisins and nuts. Combine with first mixture. Steam for 1 hour in greased mold. Serves 6.

Terrific Salad

Drain a can of mixed vegetabes. Toss with a good French dressing. Chill in the refrigerator to blend flavors. Heap on crisp greens. There you have a tasty, trrific salad—and so easy to toss together.

Treat With Bananas

Cut bananas in halves lengthwise. Sprinkle lemon, roll them in crushed corn flakes and fry in butter directly over the flame. Serve with main meat dish.

Just Relax In Soapsuds

Any busy homemaker would be smart to set aside thirty minutes sometime during each day just to relax in a tub full of thick warm soapsuds—a full tub, where she could sink back and forget herself and all her problems.

Thirty minutes sounds like a big hunk of time to take right out of the day—but it can be done if a woman is determined. And the benefits more than justify letting some minor chore go undone. For this sort of relaxing, soaking bath does so much to relieve nerve tension and tight muscles and irritable dispositions that the family would reap wondrous rewards!

Use Ham As Dish For Luncheon Meal

Ham can be used in many ways. For a luncheon surprise; split English muffins, toast lightly and butter. Cover with a slice of ham, spread with mustard, cheese, and a thick slice of tomato.

Season and pop under broiler just long enough for the tomato to brown and the cheese to melt.

Pieces Of French Bread Dry Easily

French bread is delicious and crunchy, but any pieces left from those handsome loaves are apt to dry out more quickly than other breads.

Use them this way: toast lightly, in your broiler, sprinkle with grated cheese and run under the broiler flame again until the cheese bubbles. Now float them, cheese up, in a bowl of soup in the traditional French manner. Especially good in onion, tomato, or vegetable beef soup.

Phony And Dangerous

On closer study it was impossible to get anything sensationally promising out of Soviet Russia's counterproposal in the field of arms limitations as put forward at the London conference last week. A few overoptimistic commentators affected to see in it the beginning of a relaxing of Russia's adamant stand, but the counterproposal did not justify such a belief.

It stood pat on Russia's long-standing insistence that further atomic tests be stopped. The U.S. takes the view that this cannot be done because there is much to learn in that field and the free world cannot afford to put experimentation on the shelf as long as there is a threat to peace from Communist sources.

The Reds really want to win this argument for prestige and propaganda purposes; to be able to tell the world that they forced the U.S. to stop setting off atomic weapons tests.

Russia's "proposal" that the U.S. and the U.S.S.R. reduce their armed forces to 1.5 million men isn't anything more than a talking point for propaganda purposes. In the first place, the U.S. has the only powerful military force in the free world. France's strength is tied up in Africa. West Germany has none at all, and Britain's is pretty well tied down in the Middle East and West Europe.

Besides, should the U.S. agree to whack its manpower to 1.5 million and Russia do the same, there would still be powerful satellite strength in Eastern Europe and up to 4 million men under arms in Red China.

Phony as the Russian "offer" is, it nevertheless poses an immediate and dire threat to the West. Already some of our allies have been unduly impressed by the Kremlin's "new look" of sweet reasonableness and friendly gestures. It is getting harder and harder for the U.S. to hold its allies in line. And here on the home front the talk of armament reductions, of "peace and prosperity," is slowly but remorselessly undermining the national will to put forth whatever effort and expense required to maintain that "posture of defense" which is our sole hope of survival.

At $3.30 Per Vote

Look magazine's current number estimates the Republican and Democratic parties will spend about $3.30 per voter this year, or somewhere near $200 million, depending on the size of the vote.

Seventy percent of this astronomical sum will come from fewer than 20,000 wealthy "bankrollers," Look says. Less than 5 percent of those who voted in 1952, or 3 million voters, will contribute anything at all to this year's campaign.

Fifteen percent of the Democratic funds of that year came from persons giving less than $100 a piece. Seven percent of the GOP funds came from the same source.

Look finds that Republicans have a corner on the market of rich contributors. The bulk of the 1952 GOP money came from 75 big contributors. The Pew family of Philadelphia accounted for $146,480, spread over a round dozen states. The DuPonts gave the GOP $81,000, the Rockfellers $150,000, the Mellons $51,000, the Weirs $29,000, the Vanderbilts $57,000, the Luces $25,000 and the Guggenheims $42,000.

"Texas oil money" was mentioned often in 1952, and after. The Look survey finds that the H. L. Hunt family of Texas gave the Republicans $46,800, distributed to Wyoming, Maryland, Montana, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana and New Mexico. H. R. Cullen of Houston gave GOP candidates $20,000.

In 1952 the GOP out-collected the Democrats two to one. Look points out, however, that the Democrats had the advantage in spending by labor unions, which cut the two-one ratio down to 13-8.

Of the total given both parties the magazine said from 15 to 25 percent was "hot money"—that is, contributions not publicly reported under the law.

As the two parties square off for this year's contest the GOP coffers are in excellent shape, but the Democrats are already having money troubles. Those $10, $25 and $100 contributions don't stack up very fast against the multiple thousands that drop into the GOP campaign committee's lap.

Pacific Ocean Is Core Of Greatest Patch Of Active Volcanoes In World

By JOHN GRIFFIN

HONOLULU, April 4 (AP) — A strange sight unfolded below passengers on a Navy transport plane flying from Wake Island to Hawaii. Smoke and brownish-yellow scrum belched from the sea as an island tried desperately to push itself above the waves. It didn't make it—that time . . .

A ship off Formosa came across a two-block area of pumice floating like rocks on the ocean. Another saw a patch of smoke rising from the water like steam from a hidden teakettle . . .

Men stood over a hissing crack in a cucumber patch on the island of Hawaii. It started to widen. They jumped aside, and within minutes a new volcano was born before their eyes . . .

Strange occurrences?

Yes, to almost everyone. But these things which happened within the past year are not entirely unusual in the huge Pacific Basin.

For out here land is still being born, and these are labor pains.

About 300 of the world's 500 active volcanoes are said to either rise from the bottom of the Pacific or circle its shores in chains of mountains like strings of glowing campfires around a huge lake.

Hawaii's well-known volcanologist Dr. Gordon MacDonald gives this picture of how this chain of volcanoes looks, with the approximate number of active craters in each area:

Up the Andes in South America, 48; Through Mexico and Central America, 51; the United States, 4 (Mt. Lassen was the last active); Canada, none; Alaska, 13; across the Aleutian chain, 12; down the Kamchatka Peninsula from Siberia, 10-20; through Japan, 25-30; the Philippines, 12; along the East Indies, 160; and out into the ocean basin.

Under the Pacific itself, ridges of submarine mountains have piled up thousands of feet of lava from the ocean floor.

Some of them—Hawaii is the prime example — pushed their peaks above the waves. Dozens of others never reach the air. They remain unknown, until, perhaps, passing ship or plane happens by as smoke and pumice rises to the surface.

On the island of Java alone, the most densely populated area of its size on the globe, some 52 million people live in the shadow of more than a dozen active craters.

The greatest volcanic disaster the world has ever known is still a living memory in Indonesian history.

Its beginning was almost quiet, compared to what came later. Krakatoa, an uninhabited island between Java and Sumatra, had been quiet for some 200 years before May 30, 1883. Yet its initial eruption that day was heard in the present city of Jakarta 100 miles away.

This first phase lasted for 14 weeks, with smoke rising upwards to 17 miles at times.

Then, on a Sunday, the great explosions began.

The entire 18-square-mile-mie island disappeared behind a black vaporous cloud as a series of almost unbelievable blasts sent a rain of pumice covering the ocean within 10 miles. Most of the island was blown away.

Enormous tidal waves, more than 50 feet high at times, rolled out from Krakatoa, sweeping away towns and villages along the Strait of Sunday. A ship was carried inland for nearly 529 Miles on Sumatra.

The eruption seemingly spread to other volcanoes, causing more death and destruction on other islands. All told, an estimated 3,000 persons died.

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

WINGLESS VICTORY by Frances Winwar (Harper; $5)

On the great plaza which every visitor to Venice inevitably crosses after the inevitable gondola ride, there met quite by chance on an early morning 60 years ago a perfumed little dandy and an anguished empress of theater. The unplotted conjunction was for Gabriele d'Annunzio and Eleanora Duse the beginning of a famous liaison — and supplies the central episode of this new biography.

Actually Miss Winwar has aimed her pen mostly and shafted her chief research at D'Annunzio in the dual story, followed him most steadfastly from Pescara birthplace through amorous ventures, poetic flights and patriotic charges. The great Duse, whose name lingers today a landmark still in stage acting, is not the flashing, irascible, coruscating personality who can hope to hold equal attention with Gabriele through 334 pages, copious notes, bibliography and index.

The reader will require exceptional starchness to keep unsnarled the fast-moving scene-and-partner shifts in the poet's amorous career. For Miss Winwar, who previously authored "Life of the Heart" and "The Immortal Lovers," has turned over many leaves of correspondence and musty files with industrious devotion in piecing the separate careers of D'Annunzio and Duse, then focussing them together.

The author is dealing with a fine name-dropping era of not too distant past, the ribald, creative Continental counterpart of the Victorian age.

What she has signed is a readable, restrained account of a famous pair, with scholarship rather han sensationalism as the core.

Ex-King Causes Problem For Airport's Personnel

GENEVA, April 4 (AP)—A tall young man in corduroy slacks who has just started work in the hangars of Geneva Airport is giving etiquette - conscious airport employes a headache: how to address an ex-King.

The young man is 34-year-old former King Michael of Romania, an exile since a Communist coup forced him to abdicate December 30, 1947.

Most of the time since his abdication, Michael has lived in England with his wife, Princess Anne of Bourbon-Parma, and their three daughter. At the beginning of this year he decided—despite protests from Romanian monachist exiles —to earn his living by accepting the post of European sales manager for an American aviation equipment manufacturer.

The manufacturer, William Lear of Santa Monica, Cal., is setting up a big assembly and maintenace plant at Geneva Airport, and Michael started work there in February.

"We're having a bit of trouble over how to address him," one airport mechanic confided. "He probably doesn't want people to think of him as royalty while he is working here, and I suppose 'Monsieur Michel' or something like that is the best solution.

"Unfortunately there are some people here who make life rather embarrassing for him by calling him 'majesty' and courtseying and things like that."

A secretary in Lear's office said the problem was far from solved. "At the moment I just mumble something when I talk to him." she said. "When we get used to working with him, it will probably be much easier."

Michael himself laughed when asked how his fellow employes ought to address their royal colleague. "I'm afraid we haven't got around to that yet," he said.

Many Frenchmen Believe U. S. Planning To Take Over Section Of North Africa

By PRESTON GROVER

ALGIERS, French North Africa (AP)—Many Frenchmen here — and in France for that matter — believe the United States is trying to oust the French from North Africa so the Americans can take over.

A lot of Arabs believe that too. It is a wonderful weapon for the rebels to use as propaganda. One Frenchman told me that the day after an uprising last August, he went into a little village in the Aures Mountains to find the villagers shouting: "The Americans are coming."

Terrorist agents had told them that liberating armies both from Egypt and America were going to help them win their liberty. Neither army landed, but many are still hopeful.

In Constantine, an Arab virtually shadowed me for two days trying to find out who I was, then introduced himself.

"We want the Americans to come in," he said. "I was here in 1942 when the Americans landed in Oran. In 48 hours they were in Constantine and we were in the dollar zone. Every shoeshine boy had a thousand dollars by night. We want to be in the dollar zone."

The French are not happy about it. They are bitter. They blame the United States for inciting the Arabs to resistance.

For a long time the French have insisted that America should speak out for her ally. But the State Department has refused to run the risk of antagonizing the Arabs in the Middle East.

When, early in March, French colonists in Tunis sacked an American consulate, the State Department agreed it was time to speak out. Ambassador Douglas Dillon told Paris correspondents at a press luncheon that the United States stood solidly back of France's efforts to find a "liberal and equitable" solution of the Algerian problem.

It was a public endorsement of the French, to be sure, but it implied a demand on the French for a solution that would meet the Arabs at least halfway. That has been said on an official level for a long time. But American declarations won't, by themselves, solve the North African crisis.

The Americans want French influence to remain in North Africa. But they would like to see the French move forward on a program of giving extensive home rule and near independence to the Arabs.

By this system, the United States hopes to keep North Africa friendly to the West. At the same time, it hopes to be able to point out to the Arabs in the Middle East that America is not supporting colonialism in North Africa.

But France has been so slow in moving that only in 1955 did it give home rule and near independence to Morocco and Tunisia and then seemingly only under the pressure of events, especially in Morocco.

The fact that the United States did not long ago come out openly and endorse this program irritates the French. It led to bold talk by the present foreign minister, Christian Pineau, that America was not supporting her allies.

The "bad blood" between the Americans and French extends all over North Africa. The French accuse American officials in North Africa of being too friendly to the Moslem population, which has been trying to crowd France into granting home rule. On the other hand, many Moslems feel that America hasn't gone far enough in pressuring the French.

All this, of course, is complicated still further by the fact that North Africa is terribly important for America, which has air bases on the northwest corner of Africa, in Morocco. French naval bases and ports at Casablanca and Port Lyautey in Morocco and at Oran and Algiers in Algeria, are vital links in the defense of the Western Hemisphere and Europe.

There is talk both in France and here in Algeria of the need of American help, but it is never stated officially, because officially France doesn't want interference of any kind from outside. They didn't like it in Indochina.

But the hard fact is that France doesn't have the money for the job that must be done down here. The only source available outside the Iron Curtain is the United States.

Caught in an unhappy position, the United States can't do much except to try to avoid irritating either side too much.

It is not made any easier by the Israeli-Arab question. An important Moroccan official to whom I talked was very blunt about it:

"If war breaks out between Israel and the Arab states, the whole Moslem world will slip into the Communist camp. We know in our hearts that the United States will support Israel."

The Americans feel that all this Arab problem, so far as it affects North Africa at any rate, could have been avoided if the French had acted more wisely. But that is water over the dam. The problem still remains — what to do now?

Americans Should Call For Trained Diplomats

By INEZ ROBB

That peppery pixie of the British press, Lord Beaverbrook, is alarmed over the present state of Anglo-American relations caused, he feels, by a steady flow of anti-British criticism from the U. S. A. to the U. K.

Although my heart is with the British in many of their present troubles, which stem from a valiant attempt to preserve the Western world, there is a temptation to whisper to the Beaver that perhaps now the British will understand how the shoe feels on the other foot.

But, having nobly resisted that temptation, I line up four-square behind Lord Beaverbrook in his politely-phrased but valid criticism of the type of men the United States government selects as diplomats to represent it in the most important and sensitive posts in the foreign service.

The Beaver contends that the United States is permitting the Russians to steal the propaganda stage in Great Britain because we are represented at the Court of St. James by a man "whose chief interest and training has been in finance and not in politics" — in short, U. S. Ambassador Winthrop W. Aldrich, former chairman of the board of the Chase National Bank of New York.

Amen! to the Beaver's contention. As a diplomat, Aldrich is one of the foremost bankers and financiers in the United States. At a time when the flaming fuse is creeping ever closer to the powder keg, we are represented in London by an honorable man whose chief qualification as a diplomat is that he has the immense fortune it takes to run the fabulous American embassy.

The alarming fact is that Aldrich is typical of the kind of big businessmen, pre-eminent in their respective fields, who invariably get the diplomatic plums in return for their moral and monetary support of whatever political party is in power.

These men, plucked from business and industry, know approximately as much about the delicate matters of diplomacy as a bull in Wedgewood's.

Before the more recent Congressional curbs on campaign contributions, it was generally understood that a contributor who could or would cough up $50,000 to the war chest of either major party could take his pick of the diplomatic posts—if he had bet on the right horse.

We American citizens have only ourselvs to blame. We never have demanded a trained, professional diplomatic corps, and worse yet, we never have been willing to support one in the manner to which it MUST conform.

A poor man simply cannot accept a diplomatic post in any major world capital. The cost is staggering, and it is a cost that Uncle Sam ought to bear. The costly frills that go with diplomacy are essential, like it or lump it.

As long as we, as a nation, refuse to pay the price of a first-rate, trained diplomatic service, as long as we toss the important embassies up for financial grabs and rewards, we will get the well-meaning, inept Aldriches and shall merit the Beaver's censure.

RADIO-TV REPORT

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Omnibus (CBS-TV) concluded its fourth season Sunday with a dramatization of the court-martial of Col. Billy Mitchell and a filmed study of the life of a jet test pilot. The home screen will be less enjoyable until this distinguished weekly 90-minute program returns in October.

A review of its programs in the last six months reveals an amazing range of subjects combined with a penetration of treatment that has not yet been matched on TV. The usual categorical thinking in TV programing runs something like comedy, drama, variety, music. Omnibus annually ranges much farther and digs deeper.

Quite apart from the distinguished performances of many fine actors and the appearances of other nontheatrical persons who normlly would void TV, the subjects taken up by Omnibus in 1955-56 included comedy, drama, variety. Music — yes, but with a difference. Robert Saudek, director of the Ford Foundation's TV-Radio Workshop, and his inspired company of co-workers do not think categorically.

They took up such subjects as history (the Renaissance, a three-part study of the Constitution, Abraham Lincoln), the ballet, swimming, skiing, boxing. Their offerings in music, thanks chiefly to the appearance of Leonard Bernstein, were among the season's best. Their study of Harvard and the role of a great university in our time was superior to anything that has been done in TV at has been done in TV mmmm on American higher education. It is not surprising that Omnibus has received 37 major awards since its inception.

There are, of course, two things necessary to any first-rate creative effort: concept and execution. The entire TV industry could learn much, from the Workshop's approach to both. Its high level of production — or execution — is accomplished on the relatively small budget of $65,000 a week. So it demonstrates that a big outlay of money does not necessarily make a good TV program.

But it's in the realm of concept that Omnibus points up its greatest lesson. In the Workshop a group of people don't sit around a table and try to "think up" programs. Nobody says "Let's give 'em this" or "Let's give 'em that." Rather, someone—perhaps a person not connected with the Workshop — comes in and expresses his fascination with a specific subject.

There are many rejections and many changes, but each subject begins with a burning interest on the part of someone. This is the manner of all significant creation in all the world's art forms. Unfortunately too many of the programing ideas which come to view on the home screen are the result of uninspired categorical thought, because somebody wanted to make a quick buck or fill an empty hiur.

California Congressman Is Ready For Retirement

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—After serving 14 years in Congress Rep. John Phillips (R-Calif.) expects to retire next year and "go back and sit in the sunshine on the desert."

The congressman and his friendly wife, who served as his secretary for eight years, will take their sunning at their home in Banning, where Phillips got his start in politics as city councilman.

"I expect I'll keep on raising Scottish terriers," he told me, "I got myself some 74 dogs, 63 of them Scottish terriers, some prize winners. They're the most intelligent of all breeds."

Police Chief Late To Get Holdup Men

BATESBURG, S. C. (AP) — Filling station operator Chevis McGee had a long wait while he held two men at bay with a pistol when they attempted a robbery of his station.

"Tell Joe to come as quickly as possible," McGee told Police Chief Joe Rankin's house in a quick telephone call while he kept the men covered.

Thirty minutes later, the chief and other officers showed up. They had had quite a hunt — McGee forgot to say where he was.

SPORTS

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

IT IS GENERALLY AGREED by most baseball fans that the homerun is the most thrilling part of the diamond sport. That being the case West Texas fans viewing yesterday's Cleveland Indian -New York Giant exhibition game at Lubbock certainly got their money's worth.

Seven balls were slammed out of the park, three by the winning Giants and four by Cleveland.

The wind may have had something to do with some of the circuit smashes but most of the home run balls were well tagged.

The fences at the Lubbock ball park seemingly are inviting to the major league sluggers. We have been watching the exhibition games played yearly at Lubbock and homeruns are always a "dime a dozen."

The distance down the foul lines at Lubbock are about the same as in most major league parks but the left and right centerfield fences and the centerfield wall are somewhat closer at Lubbock than in the major league ball yards. With this in mind, the major league power hitters know that if they get hold of one it will sail out of the park regardless of where it may be hit.

In some major parks, a batter may slam one 400 feet but still have the ball caught.

Gene Woodling, ex-Yankee, and now a Cleveland Indian, gave an indication of what was to follow when he led off in top half of the first with a homer. Other Indians to hit round trippers were Sam Mele, Wayne Terwiliger and Earl Averill.

Giants hitting homers were Dusty Rhodes, hero of the 1954 World Series; rookie Ed Bessoud and pitcher Ruben Gomez.

There were 31 hits in the ball game, 16 by the Indians and 15 by the Giants.

Both Managers Empty Benches

Managers Al Lopez of the Indians and Bill Rigney of the Giants gave the fans a look at most of their personnel as 39 players got into action.

Cleveland used 17 players while 22 New Yorkers saw action.

Mike Garcia, one of the Indian aces, absorbed most of the beating among the pitchers although he wasn't charged with the loss. Big Bear got the Giants out in order in the first inning but he never could get them out in the second as the Giants paraded nine men across the plate.

Major leaguers aren't perfect afield, either. Second baseman Bobby Young of the Indians booted an easy grounder that set the stage for the big second inning Giant rally. Then left fielder Hoot Evers, ex-Detroit Tiger, who has been around for a long time, dropped an easy fly ball.

All in all, though, fans witnessing yesterday's exhibition clash got their money's worth I believe.

Tiger football coach John Conley perhaps came closest to predicting the score of yesterday's game. Noting the strong wind and short fences, Conley said, before the first pitch was made:

"Looks like were going to have one of those 15-13 games." The final score of the game, as you'll note elsewhere on this page, was Giants 14, Indians, 13.

Texas Relays Entry List Jumps To 1,141

AUSTIN (AP)—The 29th Texas Relays total entries jumped to 1,141 yesterday with the addition of the 1955 NCAA two-mile champion in the Olympic 5,000-meter open run.

He is Lt. Kenneth W. Reiser, who has been tabbed as the favorite in the event by Director Clyde Littlefield.

Reiser, representing Fort Lewis, Wash., won a 5,000-meter run in Finland last summer in 14:56.4, which is better than the relays mark of 15:24.0. The Army lieutenant also won the NCAA title running for the University of Oregon last year with a time of 9:04.5 and the two-mile national AAU steeplechase in 10:27.7.

The race also has attracted Jerry McNeal, Kansas; Don Ladd, Oklahoma; Sture Landquist, Oklahoma A&M; Charles Williams, Missouri; and Jack Blackburn, Ohio State. The event is set for 7:50 p.m. Friday.

Twenty-one institutions are entered in the university class with 278 participants. There are 17 in the college class with 170 participants, 23 in the junior college-freshman class with 158, 52 high schools with 517 and 18 unattached.

The 120-yard high hurdles and jumping events are drawing attention because of their records which seem safe enough for Friday and Saturday's events.

The safest seem to be the high hurdles which have not been touched from 11 to 19 years ago.

Three hurdlers in separate divisions are considered strong favorites. They are Bill Curtis, Texas Christian; Eddie Southern, Texas University; and Donald Beard, Thorndale high school.

Favorites include:

University broad jump: Raymond Vickery, Baylor, who this year has defeated Kim Ellis, Oklahoma A&M, last year's champion at the Texas, Kansas and Drake relays.

Junior college-freshman high jump: Don Stewart, Southern Methodist, has already set a national freshman mark of 6 feet, 8 inches this season.

Tigers Surprise Midland, 5-4

Bengals Run Win Streak To Six

MIDLAND, April 4 — Snyder's pesky Tigers exploded for three runs in the seventh inning here Tuesday to grab a 5-4 decision over the Midland Bulldogs in a non-district baseball contest.

Pitcher Dwayne Prince won his own ball game for the Bengals with an infield hit that drove in Milton Ham from third with the winning run. Ham, only seconds before, had tied the score with a tremendous 2-run triple off the centerfield wall.

The victory ran the Tiger winning streak to six and boosted the Snyder season record to 10-4. The Bengals will meet San Angelo at San Angelo Friday in their next tilt. Then the Tigers will return home Saturday to host the Monterey Plainsmen of Lubbock in a doubleheader.

Today's defeat was the fourth for the Bulldogs as compared to eight wins.

The Tigers and Bulldogs wound up all square in their four-game series this season, each winning two

Coach Speedy Moffett's Snyder lads won today's game the hard way, defeating the ace of the Midland mound staff, Larry Cooper. The Bulldog lefty had things going his way in the first four innings during which time he held the Tigers hitless.

But the Tigers began pecking away at Cooper's offerings in the fifth and before the ball game had ended the Bengals had combed Cooper for nine safe blows.

Joe Reaves doubled with one away in the fifth for the first Tiger hit. Reaves was cut down at the plate on Tommy Prichard's single but Prichard later scored on a wild pitch, tieing the score at 1-1. The Bulldogs had tallied in the first inning when Prince walked Rosson with the bases loaded.

The Tigers took the lead in the sixth, 2-1, when Prince and Gary Vice hit successive singles and Prince scoring on Alan Snead's double.

Midland came back in her portion of the sixth to tally three times and take a 4-2 lead. Catcher Gary Samford singled and scored on Delbert Trolinder's triple to tie the score at 2-2. Then Lupe Hernandez singled to drive in Trolinder with the lead run. After the next two were retired, Bobby Hillin doubled to send in Hernandez to make it 4-2.

The Tigers, however, were not to be denied as they surged right back to score three runs in top of the seventh to take the lead and hold it by blanking the Bulldogs in their portion of the seventh.

Don McNew opened the Tiger rally in the seventh with a single. McNew was forded at second by Reaves and when Prichard popped out to the Bulldog shortstop, the picture looked gloomy for the visitors. But Pat Fowler kept the rally alive with a single and then Ham connected for his triple that sailed over the centerfielder to drive in Reaves and Fowler and tie the count at 4-4. Prince then beat out an infield hit to send in Ham with the winning run.

Midland threatened in her half of the seventh when Cooper led with a double. But Prince braced at this moment and got the next three Bulldogs with Cooper never getting any further than the keystone bag.

Smith Wins Again For Tiger Netters

Sweetwater nipped the Tigers in a dual tennis match yesterday at Sweetwater, 5-2-1.

Ronnie Smith, No. 1 Tiger singles player, won over Sweetwater's No. 1 player, Jamie Jamison, for the Tigers' lone point. Smith dropped the first set, 3-6, but came back to win the next two, 6-2 and 9-6. It was Smiths' 6th win in 7 matches this season.

The other two matches played also went the three-set limit with Sweetwater edging out the Tigers in both matches.

In the No. 1 doubles match, Carl Franklin and Kent Camoli of Sweetwater defeated Jerry Hale and Ronnie Pitner, of the Tigers, 6-2, 4-6 and 6-3.

In the No. 2 singles match, Franklin won over Snyder's Danny Tankersly, 2-6, 6-3 and 6-4.

Two other matches were scheduled but were postponed because of a strong wind and dust.

Saxton-Basilio Rematch Seen

MILWUKEE (AP)—The National Boxing Assn. today urged an early rematch between welterweight champion Johnny Saxton and former champion Carfen Basilio, whom the NBA listed as the only logical contender.

The listing was a part of the NBA's quarterly ratings, issued this afternoon.

Saxton won the title from Basilio on a 15-round decision in Chicago. Fred J. Saddy, Milwaukee, chairman of the NBA's championship rating committee, said Basilio rates a rematch because of the closeness of the Chicago fight.

The NBA said there is no logical contender for heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano's title and said the lack of competition is more obvious now than at any time since he became champion.

Floyd Patterson was listed as top contender for Archie Moore's light-heavyweight title, but Chuck Spieser and Germany's Gerhard Hecht were ranked close behind him as logical contenders.

The NBA suggested the bantamweight situation be cleared up by a match between Raton Macias of Mexico, whom the NBA recognized as champion, and Robert Cohn of France regarded in Europe as world champion. The NBA Cohn behind Mario d'Agata of Italy as logical contender for the title.

Advanced from ninth in the featherweight class to 4th place "outstanding" was Paul Jorgensen of Texas.

PHOG ALLEN'S SUCCESSOR—Dick Harp, (above), assistant to University of Kansas basketball coach Phog Allen Since 1949 at Lawrence, Kan., has been elevated to the head coaching job. The State Board of Regents officially retired Allen effective June 30. Allen is dean of the nation's basketball coaches.

66ers, College Stars Reach OlympicFinals

KANSAS CITY (AP) —Only two teams, the College All-Stars and the Bartlesville Oilers, can win the Olympic basketball playoffs.

And they settle the issue head on tonight.

Undefeated going into the third night of the round-robin playoffs, Coach Frank (Bucky) O'Connor's College All-Star squad faced a tough fight.

The once defeated Oilers bounced back into title consideration last night, rallying in the second half to win from the national AAU champion Seattle Bakers 72-64. The loss pasted the second straight defeat on Seattle and eliminated the club.

The All-Stars scored their second straight victory with another second-half rally, coming from five points behind the armed forces team at the half to win 82-74. That loss, although their first, also eliminated the armed forces.

Nothing but a chance for individual players to win attention will hinge on tonight's second game matching the armed forces and the Seattle Bakers.

The team winning the playoffs will be assigned from five to seven places on the squad the United States will send to the Olympics in Australia in November. The balance of the 12-man Olympic squad will be selected after tonight's games by the Olympic Basketball Committee in consultation with the coach of the winning team. The coach of the winning team becomes the Olympic coach.

Giant, Indian Tilt Consumes 3:11 Hours

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Are major league games going to be shorter this season?

It doesn't look that way if yesterday's New York Giants-Cleveland Indians game in Lubbock, Tex. is any indication.

The game won by the Giants 14-13 in regulation nine innings, took 3 hours and 11 minutes to complete. A sandy infield a soft outfield and a 30 m.p.h. wind didn't help matters.

Pastrano, Arthur In 10-Rounder Tonight

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Willie Pastrano of New Orleans, rated the No. 7 challenger for Rocky Marciano's heavyweight title, spots South African Johnny Arthur 35 pounds tonight in their 10-round bout as Willie tries to prove he can handle the real big boys.

The 20-year-old Pastrano, an accomplished master in the art of hit-and-run, recently graduated to the heavyweight ranks. He turned in convincing decisions over former light-heavy king Joey Maxim and heavyweight Rex Layne, but Arthur is by far the biggest man he's faced.

Pastrano is expected to weigh in around 185 while Arthur probably will hit 220 or better.

Several Skulboy Stars Sign Letter Of Intent

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was "open season" on the schoolboy football stars and members of the Southwest Conference were signing them to letters of intent Wednesday but only SMU and TCU were talking about it publicly.

Most conference members leave it up to the boys to fell of the letters.

SMU already has gotten letters from Steve Smith, Tyler fullback; Danny Gordon, Wichita Falls halfback; Mike Everett, Alice tackle; James Welch, Abilene fullback; Walt Madison, Irving end; Monroe Jackson, Galveston end; Robert Koke, Dallas Sunset guard, and Elmo Cure, Abilene center.

TCU has Ronald Wilkinson, Fort Worth North Side guard, and Don Singleton, Dallas Highland Park halfback.

Giants Nip Indians At Lubbock, 14-13

By BEN OLAN
The Associated Press

The Washington Senators decided it was time for a change in the Nation's Capitol this season and that could mean trouble for the other American League ball clubs.

The guy nominated to do the most damage is Roy Sievers. He is being boomed as most likely to take advantage of the shortened fences in Griffith Stadium, the Senators' home ball yard.

Why Sievers?

For one thing, Roy walloped 25 of Washington's 80 homers last season for a club record. For another most of his power is to left field and it'll be only 350 feet to home run territory compared to 358 feet in 1955.

And Sievers is warming to his task as the Senators move northward along the exhibition trail. Yesterday, the 29 - year - old first baseman walloped two homers to lead Washington to a 4-1 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs. Roy's blow came in the fourth and eighth innings, both times with no one on base.

Andy Seminick, who isn't expected to break any home run records also slammed a pair yesterday as the Philadelphia Phillies downed the Detroit Tigers 3-1. Herm Wehmeier and Saul Rogovin limited the Tigers to four safeties.

The New York Giants and Cleveland Indians tore into each other pounding out six homers in a wild and wooly game, won by the Giants 14-13. Gene Woodling, Sam Mele and Earl Averill homered for the Indians while Ruben Gomez, Dusty Rhodes and Ed Bressoud connected for the winners. With all the slugging, New York got its deciding run in the ninth inning on an error, a couple of walks and a sacrifice fly.

The St. Louis Cards, showing surprising strength this spring, won another one, knocking off the Chicago White Sox 7-5. The Cards got a three-run homer from Rip Repulski, a triple from Bill Virdon and doubles from rookies Jackie Brandt and Hal Smith. Luis Aparicio another first year fan homered for the sox.

Don Drysdale, a 19 - year - old righthander up from Montreal, turned in a versatile job for the champion Brooklyn Dodgers. He limited Milwaukee to two runs on three hits in six innings and hit a homer as the Brooks won 6-3. Relief ace Clem Labine nailed down the victory.

The Boston Red Sox ended Rip Coleman's scoreless exhibition skein at 12 innings and went on to edge the New York Yankees 5-3. Tom Brewer pitched seven scoreless frames for the Bosox, who were paced by Jacgie Jensen's three runs batted in. The Yanks got to Leo Kiely for their three tallies in the eighth.

Baylor Nips Texas In 11th

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Baylor Bears took the measure of the Texas Longhorns, 4-3, Tuesday in 11 innings.

The SMU Mustangs took a ninth inning 5-4 victory over TCU. A third Southwest Conference baseball tilt between the Rice Owls and the Texas Aggies at Houston was postponed by rain.

The Baylor victory at Waco was credited to the Bears' veteran pitcher Jack Goodwyn who shut out the Longhorns for nine innings between home runs and scattered six Texas hits, never allowing more than one in any single inning. At the same time the Bears touched Texas hurler Harry Taylor for 11 safeties.

The deadlock was broken by the Bears' first baseman, Donnel Berry, who slammed a two-run double in the 11th inning.

A three-run triple by Danny Brown gave the Mustangs their victory in the final inning of the Fort Worth game. Pitcher Don Presley was credited with the victory for the Ponies. Bob McDaniel, who was seeking his third straight victory for the Frogs, was debited with the loss.

The postponed game between the Owls and the Aggies will be made up May 4-5 when Baez goes to College Station for a two-day series.

Conference play will be resumed Friday when Baylor meets Rice at Waco, TCU journeys to College Station for a tilt with the Aggies, and SMU is host to Texas at Dallas.

Humble Again Gets SWC Grid Contract

DALLAS (AP)—Humble Oil and Refining Co. again has the contract to broadcast and telecast football of the Southwest Conference next fall.

Humble has sponsored radio broadcasts since 1935 and moved into television last year with the NCA plan of televising games on a regional basis.

Giant Pitching, Outfield Set; May Be Pennant Contender

By BOB MYERS

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—The New York Giants are swinging back toward the East for the National League baseball wars but they left several definite impressions when they broke training camp here.

For one, Bill Rigney, the new manager, does not as yet have a completely set ball club. The second and third base positions are still open, in a matter of speaking.

The pitching looks good, headed up by Johnny Antonelli and Allan Worthington as the work-horses of the staff.

The outfield, featuring Willie Mays and his bat, is sound. The catching is quite adequate and reserve bench strength is most excellent.

Most observers honestly believe the Giants, once Rigney gets his personnel set and jelled, can be a pennant contender.

Antonelli, the hefty southpaw, should have a far better year than his 14 wins last season Worthington, who won 19 for Minneapolis, appears ready for full-time major league duty.

Backing this pair up as valuable relief pitchers will be Johnny McCall, Hoyt Wilhelm and Marv Grissom. Jim Hearn, Ruben Gomez and Ramon Monzant complete the veteran corps, with Don Liddle capable of spot assignments. Monzant did not pitch a game here but the club thinks he will deliver after a late arrival in camp.

Rigney is still keeping a few rookie pitchers on deck. The most promising seem to be Joe Margoneri, Jim Constable and Pete Burnside, all lefthanders.

Constable may see relief work and Margoneri, a nine-game winner at Minneapolis might be the best rookie bet, although hampered by a sore arm. Burnside is a wonderful prospect but may need more seasoning.

Mays, Don Mueller and Jim (Dusty) Rhodes most likely will lead off in the outfield, with Whitey Lockman a most reliable fill-in and Bob Lennon, defensively valuable, the fifth outfielder.

The Giants will carry four catchers until cutting time, Wes Westrum, No. 1; Ray Katt, Ray Murray and Jim Mangan. A personal prediction is that Mangan, who can't be sent down with waivers, will make the Giant varsity.

Gail Harris apparently has first base, and Capt. Alvin Dark is an outstanding shortstop.

Now problems set in.

Daryl Spencer probably will start off at second and Foster Castleman at third. Veteran third baseman Henry Thompson has not been impressive, and Wayne Terwilliger, as a replacement at second, is a woefully weak hitter.

Among other things, the talent involved here would make for little batting strength at the tailend of the lineup.

Still to be figured in present plans is a likely looking rookie shortstop. Ed Bressoud, also up from Minneapolis. Rigney says he's keeping Bressoud to spell Dark.

Another personal guess: Dark may move to third and Bressoud take over short. That's strictly a personal guess.

Rigney is also keeping rookie Bill White, a first baseman, at least for a while. But White probably will go to Minneapolis because (1) he can't quite beat out Harris, or Harris' replacement, Lockman, and (2) White needs to be played regularly if he is to develop.

There are others on the bench—George Wilson, Bob Hofman, Bill Gardner—to be reckoned with.

Over-all, Rigney is not bereft of talent. It's just a matter of getting it adjusted. Once done, the Giants will be an interesting ball club, and a threat to anyone.

Sports Expecting Help From Sens

(This is another in a series discussing Southwestern League prospects)

By ART GATTS
(Sports Editor Hobbs NewsSun

HOBBS, N.M. (AP)—The Hobbs Sports went into spring training with 16 players already signed for the 1956 Southwestern League season and expecting to pick up several more top prospects from Washington.

"We are sitting right under clubs with loaded rosters,' Pat Stasey, field and general manager, says. "Charlotte and Chattanooga the only clubs ahead of us in the Senator chain have players galore. We know we'll get some.'

The Sports received 23 players from Hagerstown when the Piedmont League folded and personal scouting reports on some of them by Ozzie Bluege, Washington farm director, indicated that some may stick with Hobbs.

Stasey expects only four or five of last year's Sports to have a chance with the new Class B team. Carlos (Potato) Pasqual has already signed. Ozzie Alvarez, Bert Baez and Pete Aldazabal will be given a chance to make the club. Evelio Hernandez might come down from Charlotte.

First base is especially well fortified with two veterans and a limited service player already signed. Charles Stroup and Gail Penza are the veterans, Waymond O'Neal the LS player. Bluege believes Stroup has the best chance.

Other infielders signed are William Recotro, LS shortstop, and Pasqual, who is expected to give a good battle for third base. Allan Bailey (LS), Leonard Cumberbatch (LS), Waldo Gonzalez (LS) and James Hrabovsky (LS) are given a good chance by Bluege to make the club. With Alvarez and Baez that gives Stasey 11 infielders to pick from.

There are seven outfield candidates now, five of them signed. Already with contracts are Daniel Dobbek, the $4 000 bonus player just out of college, and other rookies Gene Harris, Louis Reynolds and Leo Weinzierl, an NDS player, and James Hubbard (LS).

Four catchers have signed—James Crawford (LS), Robert Payne (NDS), Billy Suggs (LS) and Edgar Ruiz, rookie. Pitchers in camp are Mihael Kraiah (LS); David Nunlist, rookie; Ernest Stensa, rookie, and Marquis Hughes (LS).

The Sports train with other Senator clubs at Fernanlina Beach, Fla. They wil have a full working agreement with Washington.

West Germany Conscription Runs Into Strong Opposition

BONN, Germany (AP)—Powerful opposition to compulsory military service is building up in West Germany.

Some political groups want no conscription at all. Others want to keep the term of filitary service down to 12 months. The pressure has placed the government of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in this dilemma:

1. Bonn has promised to raise armed forces totaling about 508,000 men for the North Atlantic Alliance (NATO). This cannot be done without conscription. It would be too costly to induct that many men to serve voluntarily as professional soldiers.

2. There is a general election next year and conscription is no more popular here than it is in any other country. Party leaders shudder at the possible political effects of draft notices being issued to thousands of homes just before the vote.

The result will probably be a compromise.

The government cannot go back on its promise to NATO. But the electorate may well be appeased by parliament approving only 12 months of service.

First solid indication of this came when the conscription bill went before the Bundesrat (upper house). It voted to cut compulsory service from the government-planned 18 months to only 12 months. That would bring the West German term down to the shortest in NATO, along with Luxembourg.

The United States, Britain, Turkey and Greece have two years, France, Belgium, Italy, Holland and Portugal 18 months, Denmark and Norway 16 months. Canada has no draft and Iceland no armed forces.

The government will be faced with the draft issue again when it submits the bill to the Bundestag (lower house) within the next few weeks.

Opposition to the draft is spearheaded by Adenauer's chief political rivals, the Socialists.

The conscription bill would make all men between 18 and 45 liable for the draft. In peacetime only men reaching the age of 20 would be called up. World War II veterans would be liable to recall for short refresher training.

One Is Killed In Crash Of Big Airplane

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A Superfort, its power failing and desperately short on altitude, smacked into a 410-foot radio transmission tower yesterday, then careened half a mile before crashing. One man was killed.

Six crewmen walked away from the plane shortly before it exploded and burned.

The B29 from nearby Randolph Air For'e Base was on a routine training flight. It had just taken off from the base when it radioed that its power was failing and it was crash-landing.

Before it could reach the emergency spot the pilot had picked—a corn field—it hit the tower.

Killed was A.I.C. S. B. Gibbons, engineer, Muldrow, Okla.

The tower of WOAI — one of the more powerful stations in the Southwest — was topled when the plane struck it. The main transmission building escaped damage.

The crewmen who walked away were hospitalized for observation. They were:

Lt. R. R. Hildebrand, plane commander, Spring Valley, Calif.; Lt. R. E. Spining, pilot, Bakersville, N.C.; Lt. C. R. Templin, copilot, Stockton, Calif.; M.Sgt. S. W. Galloway, chief engineer, Houston, Tex.; A.1.C. G. W. McGrebor, engineer, Shawnee, Okla.; and A.3C. W. M. Harrison, engineer, Memphis, Tenn.

Milwaukee's Mayor Stays

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Mayor Frank Zeidler, buffeted in a hot campaign because of his Socialist background, was voted a third four-year term yesterday, defeating Milton J. McGuire president of the Common Council.

With 519 of the city's 526 precincts reporting Zeidler polled 116,012 to 93,954 for McGuire.

The election was nonpartisan but Zeidler, a lone-time Socialist, made his bid for the backing of labor and Democratic elements. McGuire, who described himself as a Democrat prior to his election to head the Council 12 years ago, was supportel by Republican elements. However, neither candidate had the official backing of any party.

McGuire, 50, made Zeidler's background an issue when he charged Zeidler was attempting to introduce a "foreign ideology" into the community. McGuire said that if elected he would "keep the American sysetm of government."

In his final campaign speeches Zeidler, 43, lashed out at those "who have raised false issues of communism, socialism and the like." He defined his brand of socialism as "working together for the people."

Tulsa's Republican Administration Beat

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Tulsa's Republican administration of the past two years was swept aside by Democrats yesterday in a record-breaking vote for a city election.

All ssues were of a local nature but they stirred up enough interest to bring out a vote of 47,533, the highest since 1952 when 44,938 ballots were counted.

It was the first time the Democats, who take office May 1, had made a clean sweep since 1942. It sent their candidates into six key positions.

George Norvell, a former district judge, unseated Mayor L. C. Clark, 28,795 to 18,738.

Suicide Is Ruled

DALLAS (AP)—Suicide was ruled in the death of Mrs. Fannie Teasley, 64, who was found hanged in the bathroom of her home yesterday.

THE FOLLOWING NAMES APPEAR ON THE PETITIONS NOW ON FILE IN THE OFFICE OF THE COUNTY CLERK REQUESTING THAT AN ELECTION BE CALLED IN SCURRY COUNTY TO LEGALIZE THE SALE OF ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES IN THE COUNTY.—

This list of names is being published by the Scurry County Civic Loyalty League, an organizatio composed of citizens of Scurry County who believe that the sale and/or use of beverage alcohol is wrong.

We realize that some my have signed the petitions merely to call for a vote on the issue and would not vote for it. However, we believe the names should be published since it has been suggested by some that their names appear on the petition through error or mistake. Some have requested the removal of their name already and there is still opportunity for such action before the petitions are certified.

George Parr's Party Running Close Race In Duval County

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

New faces will be in many a city hall across Texas as result of Tuesday's elections. A number of upsets, several by write-in balloting, were reported.

Among the most warmly contested elections were those in Duval County where South Texas political leader George Parr showed he was still a power to be reckoned with.

Parr's Old Party won easily at Benavides. At San Diego his slate was trailing slightly behind an anti-Parr ticket headed by County Judge Dan Tobin in incomplete returns.

The San Diego balloting was so heavy that some polling places ran out of ballots.

The Independent Club, which has dominated Laredo city politics for years, won by a better than 2 to 1 over candidates of the Reform Party.

At Plainview and Arp, write-in campaigns defeated incumbent mayors. At Donn., a write-in campaign lacked only 11 votes of defeating Mayor Walter Weaver.

Upset victories at Henderson, Pharr and Texas City saw mayors swept out of office.

Lindale elected the first woman ever to run for the city council there. At Sherman a woman won a spot in the run-off election.

Negroes who sought city commission posts at Sherman and Wichita Falls were defeated.

Port Arthur approved a $1,750,000 bond issue. At Electra, a proposal to adopt a city manager form of government was rejected.

At San Diego, Tobin's slate held a slight lead in all races, ranging from 5 votes in the mayor's race to 101 votes in some aldermen's races. The Parr slate was a close second. Candidates of the Freedom Party were far back in third place.

At Benavides, Parr's candidate for mayor, Octavio Saenz, was elected 607 to 374 over Regulo Benavides of the Freedom Party. Old Party candidates for aldermen, Leopoldo Chapa and Reyes Ramos, had almost a 2 to 1 victory.

Ballots Are Impounded

Ballots were impounded in Webb County as the Laredo boxes were brought in. Three state attorney general assistants have been there checking charges that there might be an attempt to vote persons irregularly.

In final returns, the Independent Club candidate for mayor of Laredo, J. C. Martin Jr., received 7,872 votes to 4,187 for A. W. Gates of the Reform Party. The margin of victory for all Independent Club candidates was about the same in all races.

A write-in campaign elected M. B. Hood mayor of Plainview. He received 1,539 to 493 for Mayor C. L. Abernathy. The upset stemmed from the fact that Plainview failed to get a 3 million dollar highway project recently.

It was also a victory for write-in forces at Arp. Ed Watts got 83 for mayor, defeating the incumbent, D. B. Alexander, who got 45. R. B. Butler's write-ins and Vaughn Lowry's 97 gave them the two council posts.

At Alto, Buel Rogers, Paul Martin, Douglas Bradford and James Blanton were elected to the city commission.

One candidate died as the balloting was in progress at Alto. He was City Councilman Allison King. He died of a heart attack Tuesday afternoon. Observers there said he probably would have been re-elected had he not died.

Mayor Gene Darby of Pharr in the Rio Grande Valley was defeated by B. F. Bowe. Darby received 1,149 votes and Bowe 1,184.

In another Rio Grande Valley race, a write-in campaign almost defeated Donna Mayor Walter Weaver. Weaver won by 11 votes over Dale Washburn, 316-305.

Two of the three city councilmen seeking reelection at Sherman won. Frank Westbrook received 1,050 votes and Gus Turley 1,027. The third councilman, Grover Cantrell, was forced into a runoff with seven other candidates. One of the runoff opponents of Cantrell will be Mrs. John W. Ellis, the only woman to seek election. The only Negro ever to run for office at Sherman, the Rev. S. M. Wright, received 309 votes and will not be in the runoff.

At Longview, one city commissioner was reelected. He was D. A. Benton. A political newcomer, Tom Willmoth, defeated Commissioner Cecil Burdick. A total of 1,919 votes were cast, the third heaviest vote in a commissioner election in Longview's history.

New Lubbock Mayor

S. S. Forrest Jr., a lumberman, was elected mayor of Lubbock. He received 2,289 votes. Casey Charness, an attorney, received 911. Mayor Murrell Tripp did not run. Councilmen Homer Maxey, O. L Byrd and David Casey were not opposed.

Mineola returned the entire incumbent slate to city office after a hot campaign. Elected were Mayor J. C. McGlothlin and Commissioners D. D. Starnes and Haywood Watts.

W. C. Hebert, R. A. Fyke and L. O. Brown were elected at Carthage to the City Commission in a record turnout—780 votes compared with 81 last year. Hebert got 605 votes, Fyke 547, Brown 546, Ethon Birdwell 264, J. B. Hardin 198 and Raymond Brown 171. Mayor W. A. Patterson's term does not expire until next year.

Gladewater elected its first seven-man commission since adoption of the city manager-commission type of government last year. Homer Reeves, mayor under the 3-man council system was the only councilman elected. Bill Weiser and Dick Hunicutt, incumbent councilmen, were defeated.

In an upset at Henderson, Clifford Matthew unseated L. H. Reed for mayor 868 to 826. Roy Carlisle trailed with 152. E. B. Alford and Noble Davis won decisively for councilman.

Bond Issue Okayed

Port Arthur voters approved $1,175,000 in bonds for public improvements. J. C. Ford, Moise Borel and Zane Johnson were named to the city commission. Balloting was light.

Mayor J. E. Green was elected to his fourth term at Hawkins.

Alvin McKibben was reelected mayor of Van with 170 votes to 142 for Sam Pitman.

Mayor Sam Woods was re-elected. Stanley Weiss, William Yowell and James Kilpatrick were named councilmen.

At Nacogdoches, 4 candidates sought 2 places on the commission. Elected were Hilliard Stone, with 378 votes, and Bieto Beseler, with 287. Beseler was an incumbent. Jim Power got 168, and H. F. Sanders 76. Frank Hancock, an incumbent and chairman, did not run.

At Troup, Mayor C .B. Reagan was reelected with 222 votes. Foye Fowler was elected mayor of Grand Saline.

Jacksonville will have run-offs for City Council. For Place 1 the vote was Eddie Johnson 328, Paul Dublin 293, Lynn Starkey 265, Jack Maxwell 73, and R. A. Huttash 3. For Place 2: Norman Ragsdale 318, Lincoln Barber 253, B. A. King 122, L. C. Way 14, Delbert Cummins 220, and Huttash 37. Neither incumbent, Huttash and Wayne Goodson, sought reelection.

L. A. Robinson, mayor of Texas City for 8 years, lost to newcomer W. J. Godard 1,929 to 4,236. Four city commissioners were elected. Commissioners W. P. Tarpey, 2,344, and Foster Jones, 3,691, were re-elected. Other elected were Emmett Lowry with 4,106 and Gail Bradley with 2,604.

In the Dallas suburbs of Highland Park and University Park, only handfuls of voters turned out to cast ballots for unopposed slates of municipal officers.

In light voting at Hamilton, with only 157 out of a possible 1,125 persons voting, a mayor and three councilmen were elected. Mayor Charles Eck received 149 votes and was unopposed.

A plan to install a city manager plan in Electra was rejected with 164 for the proposal and 249 against. Mayor T. E. Shaw received 398 votes for reelection. His only opposition was 17 write-in votes for former Mayor Leo Moore.

Only 8 per cent of the 29,349 eligible voters balloted in Waco. Dr. Neill Simpson was named new alderman, beating King Bridges 1,613 to 621. Truett Smith was reelected 1,385 to 200 for A. J. Jewell Sr. and 629 for John Sloan. Melvin Gilliam, an incumbent, was unopposed.

Light Vote In Odessa

An extremely light vote was cast in Odessa. Mayor Harold Downs and Councilmen Ed Costello, C. R. Phillips and L. B. Cooper were reelected without opposition. Only 191 votes were cast. Odessa had 17,000 paid poll taxes.

Denison Commissioner Hi Weideman was reelected. He carried all wards and polled 849 votes. His opponent, Ben Lacey, received 653.

Tyler elected two city commissioners. Dave Talley won with 1,396 votes and Robert Spence with 1,183. Defeated were Ross Robertson with 758 and Mrs. Henry Breckel with 370.

At Wichita Falls, K. C. Spell defeated Henry Mason for mayor by 12 votes. Spell had 5,276, Mason had 5,264. Three councilmen elected were Tom Foley, Avery Mitchell, J. B. Jarratt. Mayor Lloyd Thomas was not seeking reelection.

At Lockhart ,Mayor Sam Glosserman and Commissioners R. A. Beaty and A. A. Kreuz were reelected without opposition.

At Georgetown, Mayor J. T. Atkin and Aldermen A. C. Woodsin and E. K. Frederickson all were reelected without opposition.

West Texas Results

In Big Spring, a dentist, Dr. Lee Rogers, unseated incumbent Alfred Goodson for mayor by a 2 to 1 margin. Rogers got 1,073 votes to Goodson's 562 in the only contested race.

In Sweetwater, Hez Hawley Jr. defeated Kenneth Winn 588 to 148 for a seat on the City Council. Roy DeBusk was reelected unopposed. Voting was light.

Two of the youngest men ever elected to the Abilene City Commission, both lawyers, won. Tom Webb, 29, polled 3,236 votes to defeated J. A. Conlan, 1,372, and G. Scogin 266. John Crutchfield, 30, polled 2,827 votes to beat Oscar Rose, 2087.

Voters turned out in record numbers to elect the first woman candidate ever to offer for the City Council at Lindale. Mrs. Leila Jones, a motel operator, ran third in a six-candidate race for three council seats, and was elected along with incumbents Clarenee Terry and Jack Gregory. Ed Caudle, a funeral home official, defeated Mayor Clyde Plessinger 201 to 80.

State Tax Totals

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal tax collections in Texas last year were $177,882,000 higher than in 1954, the Internal Revenue Service reports. Collections were $2,331,764,000 compared with $2,153,882,000 the previous year.

Love Field Income

DALLAS (AP)—Love Field operations netted $37,180 for the city during March.

THE FOLLOWING NAMES APPEAR ON THE PETITIONS NOW ON FILE IN THE OFFICE OF THE COUNTY CLERK REQUESTING THAT AN ELECTION BE CALLED IN SCURRY COUNTY TO LEGALIZE THE SALE OF ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES IN THE COUNTY.

This list of names is being published by the Scurry County Civic Loyalty League, an organization composed of citizens of Scurry County who believe that the sale and/or use of beverage alcohol is wrong.

We realize that some may have signed the petitions merely to call for a vote on the issue and would not vote for it. However, we believe the names should be published since it has been suggested by some that their names appear on the petition through error or mistake. Some have requested the removal of their names already and there is still opportunity for such action before the petitions are certified.

Recalls Election In Kansas Town

ARGONIA, Kan. (AP) — Sixty-nine years ago an election plot boomeranged in this tiny central Kansas town and presented the country with a startling political innovation.

On April 4, 1887, somewhat to its own astonishment, Argonia elected the nation's first woman mayor, 27-year-old Mrs. Susanna Madora Salter.

The local temperance leader and mother of two was the intended victim of several nontemperance men who secretly drew up a slate headed by Mrs. Salter. They expected to embarrass her by a humiliatingly low vote.

At Norman, Okla., where she ives today—a hale and heart 96—Mrs. Salter recalled her triumph.

"I didn't know I was on the ballot until I went to the polls," she said. "I stopped my washing to see what all the fuss was about and found people were campaigning for me."

Suffragettes leaped for joy at her election. Men, discussing the Argonia revolution over their nickel beers, morosely predicted the collapse of civilization. Pros and cons of "petticoat rule" were widely debated. Eastern newspaper reporters thumbed through atlases and betook themselves to the mayor's tiny domain—then, as now, with a population of about 500.

Some newspapers predicted, wrongly, America's first lady mayor would weary of her job and quit, proving that "women's suffrage is its own cure." One paper headlined an account: "How Women Lost Self-Respect — Argonia Under Female Government."

"We have a few old-timers who proudly remember her," said Chris Jurgens, the town's present mayor. "She was a good mayor, and I think the only woman mayor we ever had."

A plaque in Argonia's public square commemorates her.

Mrs. Salter's recipe for getting along with her all-male council was simple and effective.

"First thing I did," she said, "was to make them think they were the finest men on earth. Never had any trouble after that."

Scout Troop Formed Under New Program

The first Boy Scout troop to be organized here under the new "Together" plan was announced today by Don Hire, chairman of the new unit division of the organization and extension committee of the Boy Scout district here.

The new troop will be sponsored by Lion Oil Co., with J. F. Reed as institutional representative. Troy W. Wylie as chairman of the troop committee, Joseph E. Dupont, John W. Pickering, and Garth B. Carter as troop committeemen, W. . Vestal as scoutfaster, and I Floyd as assistant scoutmaster. Vestal, who has been serving as camping and activities chairman for the district, is also an Eagle scout.

Charter members of the troop are James Reed, Jimmy Dupont, Larry Hart, John W. Pickering, Jr., Ronnie Overby, George W. Wylie, and Spencer Dyer.

The new troop will meet at the Lion Gasoline Plant each Monday night.

Hire said there are some 12 other institutions which are in the process of organizing Cub Scout packs, Boy Scout troops, or Explorer units. The plan calls for these institutions to organize their units duuring April. The new units will add approximately 200 new boys to the Boy Scout movement.

Music Festival Set

DALLAS (AP)—Musicians from Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Missouri are expected to participate in the Highland Park School District's annual invitational music festival opening Friday. A grand concert will be given on the final day, April 14, in McFarlin auditorium.

Diamonds for phonograph needles are about 1-300th of a carat.

Truman Claims Soviet Threat Is More Dangerous Than Ever

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman says the Eisenhower administration is misleading the nation when it claims recent shifts in Soviet tactics mean failure of Russian policy.

"I believe the Communist threat is more dangerous now than ever before," Truman said last night. "I believe recent changes in Soviet tactics are not signs of 'failure' but evidence of growing economic power."

The former President called for a "bold, new program for foreign economic aid" to meet the Soviet threat.

Truman criticized Republican conduct of foreign affairs in a speech at the annual awards dinner of the Overseas Press Club.

One of the awards went to Clifton Daniel of the New York Times, who is to marry Truman's daughter Margaret later this month.

In a message sent to the dinner, President Eisenhower praised the awards as "sharply" demonstrating "the high standards which American men and women of the press keep before them."

Truman said the Eisenhower administration has "not been frank with the American people" on foreign affairs and, instead, has been telling them "only what seems to be politically expedient at the moment."

"The American people will not support a vigorous foreign aid program if they do not understand the need for it," he said.

"But instead of explaining the need, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles tells us that Soviet policy has already failed and is bankrupt. The fact is that Communist policy has never been more aggressive than it is now—in its new form of economic and political penetration. Not since the end of the war has the Communist strategy been more effective and more dangerous.

"But the administration can't expect us to understand this if it continues to insist that Soviet policy is beaten. The Eisenhower administration's premature claims of success may well be the bar that prevents the actual achievement of success . . .

"The fantasies of the secretary of state make it all the more necessary for others to see things through."

Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-SD) said in Washington that Truman was criticizing "a national leader (President Eisenhower) who has brought peace to the world," and he added:

"The new foreign policy operated by the team of Eisenhower and Dulles has resisted the outward march of communist aggression so successfully that there has been a serious crack in the Communist dike within Russia."

Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) said that in his opinion "there is less tension, less government by crisis, today than there was four years ago."

Scouters Get Commendation By Smallwood

Scouting commissioners were commended here this week in a meeting by Bill Smallwood, district commissioner for the Boy Scouts of America, for their service to various units throughout the district.

Smallwood announced that the next roundtables for Cub leaders, Boy Scout leaders, and Explorer leaders will be held at 7:30 p.m. April 19 at the junior high school in Colorado City. Commissioners have made plans for special efforts to promote attendance of the various volunteer leaders at the meeting.

Royce Burrows will lead the Cub leaders roundtable, with more games and actions offered. W. A. Grief will head the Boy Scout section, which will be composed of demonstrations by members of the health and safety committee and other activities. In the Explorer roundtable, which will be headed by Roy Dunlap, efforts will be made to promote an Explorer conference on May 17.

Smallwood said neighborhood commissioners, while visiting units, will deliver some new work sheets to cubmasters, who will in turn deliver work sheets to their denmothers. These are designed to assist cub leaders in obtaining reports on badges earned by the Cubs in dens. Denmothers will record all advancement and other details of their dens and will give them to cubmasters at least 10 days prior to pack meetings so they can be turned in to the council headquarters in time to get returns before the pack meetings.

The commissioners will also deliver to scoutmasters the "Eight Defense Plan" booklet, pertaining to water safety in swimming, boating, and other water activities.

Production Of Crude Drops During Week

TULSA (AP)—Daily average production of crude oil dropped 6,900 barrels to 7,169,360 during the week ended March 31, the Oil and Gas Journal's survey showed today.

This raised the Journal's estimate of 1956 production to 646,245,530 barrels compared to 614,310,240 a year ago.

Oklahoma had the largest drop, falling 6,100 barrels to 615,700. Sizeable declines were reported also for Arkansas, down 3,450 barrels to 7,400; and Louisiana, 1,850 to 820,300. Colorado was up 1,400 barrels to 162,200; and New Mexico 200 to 244,200.

Tax Returns Behind

DALLAS (AP)—With the April 15 deadline less than two weeks away, some 500,000 taxpayers in the Dallas Internal Revenue District have not filed income tax returns. The district covers 143 Texas counties. It had received 800,000 returns up to yesterday.

In 1950, there were 19 million U. S. war veterans.

George Gives His Views On Middle East

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga) said today President Eisenhower should get Congress' approval before using U.S. ground forces in any outbreak of Middle East conflict.

Administration officials indicated, meanwhile, that use of U.S. troops in the oil-rich area would be seriously considered only if other efforts to preserve peace failed and vital American interests were directly threatened.

Secretary of State Dulles told his news conference yesterday he sees no emergency of that magnitude developing.

Sen. George, who heads the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, likewise said in a telephone interview from his home at Vienna, Ga., he does not anticipate an emergency which would require employment of American troops.

In any unexpected crisis, he said, Eisenhower might order U.S. air and naval forces into action, if he felt it necessary.

"But certainly if we were going to put troops into that area, the matter should be brought before Congress," George said. "From all I know of the situation, however, I wouldn't anticipate any request of this kind, even for standby authority."

Dulles told reporters that if U.S. forces should ever have to be employed to put down an aggression, Eisenhower would act only after approval by Congress—provided there was time to get approval.

He said, however, that if an emergency required use of U.S. forces almost instantly, Eisenhower could act under his constitutional powers. He said there would undoubtedly be consultation with congressional leaders.

He said:

"It is very strongly the disposition of President Eisenhower, as I think you all know, to resolve any of those doubts (about constitutional powers) in favor of going to Congress, assuming that Congress is in session and can be expected to act promptly, or could be called into session promptly.

"I would think that in the absence of an emergency of such a character that congressional consultation and action would be impractical the President would not be disposed to act without such consultation and concurrence by the Congress."

As to the Middle East, Dulles said he does not know of any emergency which would require use of American forces and "we do not have any present plans to seek congressional action."

Other sources said privately any decision to use U.S. troops probably would be conditioned on a prior finding by the U.N. Security Council or General Assembly that one side or the other had commited an aggression.
