Wellington Masonic Lodge Observes 60th
Anniversary of Founding at Program Sat.

A highlight in the history of Wellington's Masonic Lodge comes Saturday night, January 30, when with special services the members observe the 60th anniversary of its founding.

The guest speaker will be Senator George Moffett of Chillicothe, Deputy Grand Master Lodge of Texas, will be the guest speaker.

A short history of the Wellington Lodge will be given by J. M. Strong, long-time member, and Judge Luther Gribble will introduce the speaker, James Sullivan, Worshipful, will be in charge.

All Master Masons are invited. The actual anniversary of the founding of the lodge comes Wednesday night, January 27, for it was on that date in 1894, that a group of seven men met with W. L. Sayre, District Deputy Grand Master, for the organization, according to Frank Anderson, who checked the lodge records.

These members, and the officers to which they were included J. W. Anderson, Worshipful Master; J. W. Koons, senior, senior warden, D. T. B. Miller, junior warden, J. H. McDowell, Treasurer, O. W. Alexander, secretary W. W. Swafford senior deacon and H. C. Clement, junior deacon.

All these men were leaders in the three-year-old town of Wellington and the area surrounding.

Several early settlers wishing to keep up with their Masonic work had placed their membership in the Memphis Lodge N. 729. Among these who attended the organization of the Wellington Lodge were A. G. Powell, R. H. Cocke Sr., H. W. Mayfield, and B. W. Benson. J. J. Bowen, a member of White Rock Lodge No. 234, was also present.

At the second meeting, February 10, 1894, Mr. Cocke petitioned to affiliate with the Lodge, and on May 12, Mr. Bowen petitioned affiliation.

It was a year later, January 12, 1895, that the Lodge Charter was delivered.

Officers then were Mr. Anderson, Worshipful Master; Mr. Koons, senior warden; Dr. Miller, junior warden; Mr. Cocke, chaplain; Mr. McDowell, treasurer; Mr. Alexander, secretary; Mr. Cocke, senior deacon; Mr. Clement, junior deacon; J. J. Bowen tiler; R. H. Cocke and H. C. Clement.

During the first year, the Lodge met in the law office of J. W. Koons, on the south side of the square, about where the real estate office of Mrs. Eddie Smith now stands.

In the early minutes of the book is the notation that Mr. Koons was allowed the amount of his dues, $3.00 per year, as rent. Later the lodge met in the Dining Room of the O'Neil Hotel, paying $1.00 per month. Then for several years a room in the northwest corner of the court house served as a meeting place, and still later the meeting place was on the second floor of the wooden building on the site of the present building, at the northwest corner of the courthouse square. The lower floor was occupied by W. M. Cook's Mercantile Store.

In 1916, when the Cocke brothers build the 50-foot brick building on this location, the Masonic Lodge arranged to build their own 25-foot second story, for the last 28 years, this has been the lodge home.

A. V. Cocke is the oldest member in point of service as Worshipful Master. He was the fifth in that office, succeeding Judge E. H. Small in 1901. The next oldest is J. M. Strong, the 15th Worshipful Master.

There'll be a knock on the door of every house in Wellington Friday night, January 29, when members of the VFW Auxiliary sponsor the Mothers March in behalf of the March of Dimes Drive, Mrs. Jim Leach, chairman, announced this week.

National Foundation for Infantile paralysis. This year, more money will be spent on research in an effort to find the cause and prevention of the disease. More money will go to gamma globulin, so far the most effective preventative found.

Workers who will be collecting for the March of Dimes Friday night are Mmes. Hubert Leach, Joe Coleman, James Richardson, Quinton Brewer, Herman Childress, Jim Leach, James McClellan, Durant McInnis, Hiram Cudd, John Rainey, Buster Hughes, Louis Berg, Guy Clay, Hezze Jones, Donald Curry and Miss Dora E. John Elmer Hightower, five year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bynum Hightower of Dodson, received a fracture on the back of his head Sunday, January 24, when he fell from the car in which the family was riding.

The accident occurred near Dodson.

He was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital and his condition Monday was as good as possible, although he was still in danger, his mother said. She added that the little boy opened the door of the car and tumbled out before anyone was aware of what was happening.

This accident occurred just two weeks after John Elmer was kicked on the head by a horse, that blow being only about two inches from the concussion he received Sunday.

elopment committee of the Wellington Chamber of Commerce Friday night, January 29, at the county court room, Herman Crowley, a member of the committee said this week.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p. m., and all interested persons are invited to attend, although they may own no more than one cow.

The manager of a milk processing plant, who will be present at the meeting, has offered to take all of the Friday night meeting is to explain the program that is proposed and arrange for an assembly in Wellington.

Mr. Crowley said that at present there are approximately 3,000 milk cows in the county of which only 400 are producing Grade A milk.

"Farmers are also faced with the fact that they are going to put their surplus cotton and wheat acres into some crop this year and most of them will put the land in feed," Mr. Crowley pointed out.

"The development of milk production will provide one of the best markets possible for roughage."

In explaining some of the details of the program, Mr. Crowley pointed out that Grade C milk is any whole milk not produced in approved Grade A dairy barns.

Present plans are to set up the local assembly station and work out milk routes covering the county. A farmer would simply strain the milk into a milk can and each day set it out where it can be picked up by the milk truck.

There is no market in the present setup for skimmed milk, and some farmers who are now separating their milk, selling the cream to produce houses and feeding the skimmed milk to hogs or chickens may find it more profitable to their individual setup to continue doing so.

Payment is made on the basis of butterfat content of the whole milk, which will vary with breeds and individual animals. A Jersey cow, as an example usually gives (Continued on Page Twelve)

FARMERS WITH EXCESS WHEAT
ACRES MAKE FINAL DESIGNATION

All wheat farmers who planted wheat in excess of their allotment for green manure or cover crop should make final designations of the wheat acreage to be harvested by not later than Feb. 5, 194

by calling at the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office (PMA) and having the acreage measured on the Aerial maps and a sketch made of the final designated acreage. The farmer will then be required to stake off, where necessary, the designated wheat acreage for harvest so it can be checked at a later date by a performance reporter after the green manure of cover crop acreage has been destroyed, according to Millard Brown, as secretary.

The final date for destroying the green manure or cover crop acreage will be announced later. Any such acreage not destroyed before the wheat matures will be counted against the wheat allotment for the farm and any excess wheat will be subject to a penalty and all wheat produced on the farm will be ineligible for price support, and further no wheat can be marketed until the penalty is paid on the excess wheat. Also, the farmer becomes ineligible to receive ACP payments for Conservation work done under the 1954 program.

County Agent Lists Desirable Peach Varieties of Area

As a result of the intensive breeding program conducted during the past few years by state and federal research agencies several superior varieties have been developed for most peach growing areas in this state, according to J. W. Thomas county agent. The early white fleshed, poor quality varieties such as early Wheeler and Early Rose have been replaced by early yellow fleshed high quality varieties. The demand for early peaches of high quality has far exceeded the supply in recent years. This is partly due to the development of the modern grocery where tree-ripe peaches can be displayed in half bushel, wooden boxes, wrapped in attractive paper, to full advantage.

Those varieties best adapted to this area are: Cardinal ripens around June the 1st — medium sized, clingstone, bright red, yellow fleshed, and good flavor — replace early Wheeler. The Cardinal is productive, but not as vigorous as Dixired.

Dixired — Ripens 10 days later than cardinal. Highly colored yellow fleshed clingstone, vigorous producer. The flesh is firm and melting in contrast to the tough rubbery flesh found in the early Wheeler and early Rose. This peach is slightly larger than the Cardinal. Tom Demman of Stephenville crated Dixireds in ½ bushel boxes, wrapped individual fruits attractively and sold them through the stores at Stephenville at $5.00 per box last year. These Dixireds were sold along side out of state grown peaches in the stores.

Dixigem, ripening in July. Earliest yellow fleshed freestone, good coloring, very productive, similar to havens about producing, usually needs thinning so the fruit can get size. This peach is excellent for dessert purposes and ranks high for freezing and canning.

Red Haven — ripens in July, yellow freestone, smaller than Ranger, heavy producer, very sweet, non-acid flavor.

Ranger — ripens around last of July, firmer and larger peach than Dixigem, or Red Haven. Better shipper and expected to be best commercial peach for this area. Highly colored yellow fleshed, resistant to bacterial spot and is considered exceptional quality for canning and freezing. Due consideration in replacing golden Jubilee.

Halehaven — Proven peach for this area. Highly colored, yellow fleshed and best quality of the havens.

Frank or Rio-Oso Gem — Frank is a clingstone. Rio oso Gem is a freestone. Both are yellow fleshed, productive and come late in August. Good sellers. Is a ten to fifteen acre orchard a good enterprise on the good peach soils in this county.

Your Count Agent has addresses of nurseries where these varieties may be obtained if you are interested.

MYSTERY FARM NO. 22

Until the Mystery Farm series began running, The Leader Staff had no idea there were so many homes over the county built along the same style as this one. Good, substantial five and six room houses, with a porch in front and maybe in the back, they reflect an agriculture that is also good and substantial. Readers are asked to look at this farm home for identifying features, such as the trees, placement of farm out-buildings, etc., then call or bring your guess to the newspaper after 8:00 a. m. Thursday. The first person to correctly identify the farm will receive free show tickets. The owner is asked to come in and receive his free mounted picture of the farm.

Eaglettes Edge Rockettes By Narrow Margin

The fast moving Eaglettes, Samnorwood girls basketball team, edged the Wellington sextet out of the show Wednesday night on the Wellington court.

The girls from the north end of the county were all over the court in the first period and at the end of this time the Wellington team was trailing 12-4. The Eaglettes kept up the swift pace in the second quarter, and when the bell sounded ending the half they were leading 19-10. The third period was a little slower, and the Rockettes scored 4 points while Norwood failed to rack up any. The last quarter turned out to be the best of the night with the score being tied 3 times. In the last few minutes of this quarter the Eaglettes pulled out and scored 3 straight giving them the three point lead that won the game. The final score was 26-23.

The Eaglettes started the first quarter with a bang and jumped ahead of the Rockettes with R.

Montgomery accounting for 5, and Newkirk 4 of 12 points rolled up before the first period ended. The scorers for the Wellington team were McAlister 2 and Pritchard 2. These score left the Eaglettes ahead by a score of 12-4.

In the second quarter the action took the same course with Amerson doing the biggest part for the sextet of Samnorwood while Pritchard and McAlister evened up the points, each scoring 3. The Eaglettes scored 7 points to bring the total to 19-10.

The third period gave the bunch from Wellington a boost when they were able to hold the Eaglettes scoreless, although only four points were racked up by them. At the end of this quarter the score was 19-14.

Wellington was able to stage a rally in the fourth when Pritchard, McAlister, and Crawford chalked up 9 points between them with two field goals and five throws. Genevieve Bartlett, Barbara Graves, and Betty Karnes showed up well by keeping the Eaglettes' score down, letting them count only 7 points on three field goals

It's a 24-hour clock — and mine is a 24-hour job!

Yes, it's a 24-hour clock — and Reddy Kilowatt is on the job every minute of those 24 hours!

From the time you get up in the morning 'til you flick off the light at night he is there to help you — with the washing, ironing, cooking, cleaning, almost every household chore! And when you go to bed at night Reddy goes steadily on — heating the water, cooling the refrigerator, ready the instant you call on him.

That is real round-the-clock service, isn't it? Yet Reddy's service cost only a few pennies a 24-hour day. What else in your family budget gives you so much for so little money?

Junior Play a Comedy of High School Hi-Jinks

Curtain time for "Beauty and the Beast" junior class play, is 8:00 p. m. Monday, February 1, Mrs. Taylor Lowrie, who is directing the production, said.

A comedy, it will be one of the top student entertainments of the winter.

Here is the story of the play as the junior tell: "Ginny Hopes her past on a quiz program will be a closed book. She is tired of having a plus on every paper and no dates. Beef, the captain of the football team, has offered to help with her American History.

"Ginny's brother, Les, is on her side, too. He is sick of being the brother of a brain. In fact, he is out to make the school band. He doesn't know anything about music, so he has picked the bass drum. Molly Wood's dad has a drum, so he picks on her. He talks her into sneaking it out from him and then the fireworks start.

"Ginny knows her dad's weakness is bragging of her record. He almost lets the cat out of the bag, but remembers in the nick of time. But Beef sees Ginny's prize cup and discovers that he has been helping a brain.

"Ginny and Franny sure fix things. They put epeacac in the team's cocoa so the game will be postponed until Beef can play, because with out him, they wouldn't stand a chance to win.

"What a razzle-dazzle scene that it! But Horrors! That stunt almost gets them in trouble with the law. Maybe they aren't so brainy after all. Still it's straightened out and Ginny has her date with Beef.

"It's human, heartwarming and

All His Life On the Same Farm

Home of Farm Leader Alex Coleman Featured in Series

In this area, where so many families pack their belongings and move to California or Washington, or even to some point overseas, and think nothing of it, it is coming more unusual to find a person who is born and lives sixty years on the same farm.

Yet this is the case of Alex Coleman, of Dozier, whose farm home was pictured in the Mystery Farm series January 14.

Perhaps there has never been a more active farm leader in Collingsworth than the Coleman family, particularly in farm organizations and the administration of the government farm program.

The farm is located a mile south and one and one fourth west of Dozier, and it is the north part of the section that the late John Coleman filed on when he came to Collingsworth County in the early 1890's. This part has been the property of his son for the past 25 years.

Alex Coleman was born in a tent under a tree on Sandy Creek, which is seen in the background of the above picture, in 1894, before the family's first home was built. The tree is still green, and the spikes driven in it to hold the tent ropes can still be seen. The Coleman family come from Earth County.

Mrs. Coleman is the former Lettie M. Hooten, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Hooten came to Shamrock from near Ardmore, Oklahoma, in 1910. They were married September 9, 1914.

The Colemans have six children, Mildred, who is Mrs. Guy Bell of Wellington, Joe Alex, also of Wellington, Donald of Samnorwood, Camilla, who is Mrs. Jim Ray of Dozier, Aleta and Laverne.

When Mr. and Mrs. Coleman moved to this part of the farm, there were no improvements except a two-room house and windmill.

Mr. Coleman's work with the government farm program is already well known. He was active as PMA county chairman for a number of years. He was active in the organization of the Farm Bureau and served as president for several terms, and he was also a longtime president of the Greenbelt Rural Electric Co-operative. He is now a member of the state ASC board of appeal under the acreage allotment program.

The family are active members of the Church of Christ.

Mr. Coleman practices what he preaches in connection with soil conservation. The family operates about one thousand acres, although there is only 100 acres in the home place. He has a balanced farming program that includes cotton, feed, alfalfa and wheat.

He also runs around 150 head of cattle. He wasn't hurt as badly as many stockmen during the drought last summer, for as Mrs. Coleman explained, the cattle were practically raised on Johnson grass.

He was one of the leaders in the irrigation movement, in fertilizing and deep plowing.

Altogether this prominent farm family is one of the busiest in the county.

Pfc. Edward Hajek and Richard McClaskey visited recently in Midland, with the former's brother, Charles Hajek, and in Austin with friends. Hajek has been stationed at Camp Chaffee, Arkansas, and is scheduled for overseas duty at the end of his leave.

EDITORIAL COMMENT — THE WELLINGTON LEADER

Will You Have A Vote in Your Government in 1954

The people of Collingsworth County had paid poll taxes to the magnificent number of 1268 up to Monday, January 25. This is in contrast to over 2,600 paid last year as compared to a total of about 3,000 of those who could vote. This has nothing to do with the overs and unders who can vote without paying a poll tax.

There is something very wrong about this. In the coming year Texas will elect a full slate of state officials as well as a United States Senator and a Congressman, but less than about one third of our potential voters have paid their poll taxes. Right here at home we are going to be asked to vote on constables, justice of the peace, county commissioners, county clerk, district clerk, county treasurer, county attorney, sheriff, county judge, district attorney, state representative, and a whole lot of other officials including the attorney general, lieutenant governor, governor, as well as a congressman for our own Panhandle.

This is not all. There may be bond issues upon which you will wish to vote. There are officials and issues that we know about. Many more could be in the offering. But the stark fact remains that only one third of our potential voters have made themselves eligible to vote.

In Russia everybody votes. They either vote or else they may get shot or sent to the salt mines of Siberia as slave labor. (P. S., Russia has a lot more slave labor camps than the salt mines.) The people in Russia vote for one set of officials. They must vote under penalty of death or imprisonment. But they have no choice. They must vote for the candidates that the Communists have nominated.

Yet here you live in a comparatively free country and yet only 1,268 of you made sure that you could exercise your right to vote for what you think is best for your school, your city, your county, your state, your nation and the world. Such a record is one of very poor patriotism. Someday your children and their children may read these figures about a once free county in a once free state in once a free nation and stand aghast at the stupidity of their forefathers. Perhaps they won't blame us so much, for by that time they may have been brain washed so much that they will have no knowledge of the old freedoms.

Texas Observes 100 Years of Public Schools

This week Collingsworth County Schools join with all others of Texas in observing the 100th anniversary of the establishment of public schools in the state.

It is well that parents join with the students during the first week of February in paying tribute to 100 years of public education in our state.

This is a year, also that parents in many parts of the country are turning the spotlight on their schools for a critical review of what they offer the boys and girls. We would urge that Collingsworth parents give more time, more attention, more study, to the schools that teach their children. Encourage that which you approve in the system. Work with the teachers, take part in the trustee elections. Keep abreast through the press and magazines with what is happening to education on a larger scale.

The character of a school is determined by the teachers who make up the faculty and by the parents who work with them. Much of the policy of a school is determined by the state school set-up. That is why an interest in education should not stop at "our school" but extend on beyond it.

The need for the public never changes, but times and conditions may change or require to be changed methods and practices of public education. This is inherent with anything that grows, for growth is the result of change.

Our Texas public schools were created 100 years ago. 1854 the first law passed establishing the public school. What about the next 100 years?

It is a healthy thing in our democratic way of life to have an intelligent understanding of the important functions of our basic institutions. This is especially true of the schools. The initiative and resourcefulness and the wisdom and leadership that our schools are inculcating in the youth of today are the answer of the problems of citizenship in the years ahead.

Yes, "bring me men to match my mountains." That is the need of our times and must come from the public schools—schools that are strong in the virtues required for building strong men and women.

We can be assured of this and do our part in understanding and helping the public schools to fulfill their great obligation to our times by being a participant in the annual Public Schools Week, March 1 through 6. Schools will hold open house; accept their hospitality. and you will enjoy the experience of going back to school if but for a day. Remember it is Centennial Year for Texas Public Schools—"Texas Public Schools—Democracy in Action."

Bible Comment For January 31

Ten Commandments Are Moral Code

A competent Biblical scholar (in Hasting's Bible Dictionary) has set down as the ideal elements of Jewish Law (1) social justice, (2) purity and (3) honor.

He credits Moses as propounding the laws.

The ten commandments are, of course, the most familiar of the laws. They have been widely accepted as a moral code and variously established in the legal codes of many lands.

Despite all the moral laxity of much of modern life, it is still true that the strength and welfare of a people depends upon the reality with which the essence of the Ten Commandments is ingrained in the life and practice of the community.

Integrity to family life, honor of parents, devotion to children, regard for the liberties and rights of others—these are the elements upon which social strength and welfare depend.

The extent to which these elements are denied and disregarded indicates the depths of weakness to which many communities have fallen, and the acuteness of the problems confronting society as a whole.

Yet there is something more, and higher, than the Commandments. John 1:17 states, "The law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ."

This does not mean that Jesus originated grace and truth, but that He, as He Himself said, fulfilled what was inherent in the law.

For the New Testament everywhere represents the fulfillment of the law in the commandment of love—"Thou shalt," instead of only "Thou shalt not."

The Ten Commandments would establish correctness of life. The law of love would give that life fullness in the growth of grace and knowledge.

Friends and Customers — we need your help NOW just as you will need our help very urgently between now and April 15.

THE TEXAS HIGHWAY PATROL has been ordered to pick up all car and truck drivers who operate a vehicle on the streets or highways after APRIL 15 without a current inspection sticker. The instruction is definite to all Highway Patrolmen.

Here is what we are up against as the few qualified inspection agencies in Collingsworth County. Only 10 per cent of the cars and trucks in the Wellington area have been inspected to date.

The reason we need your help is that we can't possibly inspect all the remainder unless you start bringing them to us in an orderly manner NOW. There just is not enough time left.

We do not make any money to speak of out of this effort. It is a service for our customers. So please won't you bring in your car now so that you can drive on the highway later.

Proclamation

WHEREAS the Texas Public School System observes its 100th anniversary on January 31, 1954, remembering with pride that act of the pioneers of Texas who "entrusted the education of their children and ours to the only safe repository we know, the people themselves"; and by the same act of 100 years ago the founding fathers of public education in Texas expressed the hope that Texas would some day "show the world that we will not only be the Empire State in point of territory, but also in the number and excellence of our institutions of learning."

NOW THEREFORE, I Lester Hunter, Mayor of Wellington, in keeping with the traditions and achievements of this state, do hereby proclaim January 31 for the observance of the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Texas Public School System.

Given under my hand this the 27th day of January, 1954.

Lester Hunter, Mayor
City of Wellington
Correct Attest; Mrs. Jennie Holcomb
City Secretary

milk with a 5 per cent butter fat content.

The present price for butterfat is 80 cents per pound.

"We have figured that a farmer selling 15 gallons of whole milk per day will get $31.50 per week, on the basis of a test of five per cent butterfat, after the hauling is deducted," Mr. Crowley said.

Figuring it another way, the committee estimates that one low-producing cow will bring her owner around $210 per year with the hauling figured out.

"Our committee believes there is a potential of 5,000 gallons of milk per day from the 3,000 cows in the county," Mr. Crowley said.

Milk producers will sign no agreement with the milk processing plant and they may quit any time they wish.

The committee feels that setting up this program will greatly increase the number and quality of milk cows in the county and will tie in with the artificial insemination program which a number of dairymen are setting up for the improvement of their herds.

Called Here on Monday Night

A meeting of all farmers interested in planting orchards or enlarging present orchards has been called for Monday night, February 1, at 7:30 in the county court room, County Agent J. W. Thomas has announced.

Now is the time to buy orchard stock, he pointed out.

Problems of fruit raising in this area will be discussed, as well as the best varieties to be planted in this area.

Mr. Thomas pointed out that if he is unable to give fruit growers the help he needs on a problem, he will be in a position to get this help for him.

Miss Pauline Able and Mrs. Iris Prestridge spent last week end in Oklahoma City with Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Able.

Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Brown of Wortham were week end visitors in the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Wilson.
