The number of applications that have been submitted so far for the Hereford Independent School District's superintendent's job have been narrowed down to five men with interviews to commence next week said Jim Conkwright, school board president.

He made the statement this morning following an interview with The Hereford Brand.

"IN GENERAL, we have selected five men based on the applications turned in at this time," he said. "We hope to get some interviews started next week or the week thereafter."

Cautiously, he noted that not all the applications expected have been turned in since some administrators of other school districts are meeting in Austin and therefore have not been able to turn in forms they have obtained. The application form lists Aug. 6 as the last day to submit applications.

The Hereford School Board of Trustees met in a lengthy closed session Wednesday night to discuss possibilities among the 25 to 30 applicants obtained at this point, the board president said.

Since Hereford superintendent Roy Hartman, who resigned last month to accept a job in Grapevine, is leaving as of Aug. 1, Conkwright said that no plans have been made now to appoint a temporary replacement. "At this point, we have not discussed it seriously. No names have been mentioned for temporary superintendent."

"OUR PRESENT STAFF is very capable of carrying on," he said. "The first day of School (Aug. 19) and the teacher in-service (Aug. 16 and 18) are set and school will start on schedule," he said even though a new superintendent may not be named by then.

The board plans to be flexible with its selection of a superintendent. "We will wait to get the man we want. We don't want a man who would drop his district at a moment's notice and come here," Conkwright explained. "If he were willing to do that, they would have to consider very seriously whether he is the man we want or not."

He said earlier that if a man had not been chosen by mid-summer, then the task was going to be much harder to replace Hartman since schools across the Rocky Rodriquez and Steve Hoover [in forecourt] get in a little practice Wednesday evening against Ricky Mendiaz and David Cortez as all four prepare for the 1976 Deaf Smith County Tennis Tournament which gets underway Friday and concludes Sunday at the Hereford High School Tennis Complex.

Silver Anniversary Rodeo Starts Tonight

The rough and ready will be the only types of a people to perform at the 25th annual Hereford Rider Club Rodeo since the contestants will need stamina to battle bareback broncs, pull down and rope bull dogs and tangle with stubborn bulls.

Beginning at 8 p.m. today at the Hereford Riders Club Arena, cowboys and cowgirls will be geared to entertain spectators with their daredevil events. The rodeo, the silver anniversary of the events organized in the early 1950's, will run through Saturday night. It is being produced by the Halliday Rodeo Co. of Elida, N.M.

TRAVIS SHIELDS, president of the Club, said the rodeo was experiencing a good turnout with most of the contestants leaning toward bull riding since it filled up the fastest.

"We hope that Hereford residents turnout in big numbers for this event," he said. It observes the 25th year the rodeo has been sponsored. It began in 1952.

The shows begin at 8 p.m. each night with seven different events being held. Entries are being taken on a first come-first serve basis. Books for the entrants were opened early Wednesday and closed that night. All fees are to be paid by 6 p.m. today.

The number of entries are as follows: bareback riding, 39; bull dogging, 40; bull riding, 42; calf roping, 57; saddle bronc riding, 11; head and heeling, 100; and barrel racing, 48.

A SPECIAL FEATURE of this year's rodeo is a red wagon race, in which anyone may enter. It involves a $10 entry fee which will be split with the pair of wagon rider and horseman who compile the best time. The wagon is pulled by a horse with a 30-foot rope.

Also, a calf scramble will be sponsored each night. Those 12-years-old and under may enter with $10 prize as the reward for successful efforts. It will be held in between rodeo events.

In conjunction with the rodeo, a dance will be held Friday and Saturday night at the Little Bull Barn. Music will be provided by Tex Rhodes and Sound Express.

Tickets cost $2.50 per adult and $1 for children 6-12-years-old.

Vandals Hit At Duplex

An apartment duplex at 407 Sycamore was damaged by vandals according to a report received by city police today.

Heavy water damage to the carpet was reported at the duplex, which is owned by Sentry Property Management Inc. of Lubbock. Police reported that the carpet was soaked and the water level showed to be about six inches according to water marks on the wall.

The bathroom in the duplex was also vandalised.

Police also received a report today of a burglary at the Alberto Lopez residence at 305 Grand. Entry was gained through a window and about $20 in cash and some keys were taken from the living room. Several suitcases were also opened and gone through, but apparently nothing was taken from them.

HEREFORD SCHOOL Board members are facing a lot of overtime work in their search for a new superintendent. We understand they have more than 30 applicants, with more expected. It's not likely we'll have a new administrator by the time school starts, but trustees are not letting that date rush them into a decision. Personal interviews are expected to get underway next week.

The new school chief will have a tough act to follow. You can't please everyone,

Tennis Tournament Starts Friday

BY BOB NIGH
Brand Sports Editor

Approximately 100 individuals and teams will take to the courts Friday and Saturday as play begins in the 1976 Deaf Smith County Tennis Tournament at the Hereford High School Tennis Complex.

The Tournament is sponsored by the Sports Committee of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. All persons living in the county, or within the Hereford School District were eligible to enter.

STEVE THOMAS, Tournament Director, reports that a good turnout is expected in nearly all divisions in the tourney.

"There will be some good playing going on, and we urge everyone to come out and watch the action," Thomas said.

Events for the junior players, those 18 and under, will begin at 9 a.m. Friday, with most finals scheduled for Saturday afternoon. The adult events will start at 9 a.m. Saturday, with finals on Sunday.

Trophies for the first and second place finisher in each division will be awarded at the completion of each division's play. The Vass system of scoring will be used during the tournament. The system does away with deuce and add scoring to speed up play.

TO ADVANCE a player or team must win two of three standards game sets. As in most tournaments, players themselves will be responsible for line calls.

The Men's Open division drew the largest number of entrants in the tournament with 11 signed up. Thomas lists Rocky Rodriguez and Steve Hoover as the favorites in the division, and says Dave Hopper is the man to watch in the Men's 35 division.

Hoover won the Boys 18 singles and teamed with Hereford's Clayton Faubion to take the Boys 18 Doubles crown at the T-Bar-M Meet in Amarillo last weekend. Hopper finished second in the Men's 35 Singles at the T-Bar-M Meet.

THE TEAMS OF DAVID and Connie Cupell and David and Pat Pruitt head the list of entries into the Mixed Doubles. In the Boys 18 Doubles Rodriguez and Hoover are the favorite.

Pat Pruitt, Ellen Jorde, and Jane Hoffman are listed as the top competitors in the Women's Open Division. In the Girls 18 singles Jorde and Janet McWhorter have been tabbed the favorites.

Due to a lack of entries, no competition will take place in the Boys 12 Doubles, Girls 14 Doubles, Boys 16 Doubles, Girls 18 Doubles, or the Women's 35 Singles.

Gun Wielding Bandit Robs Motel In Vega

The Vega Courts Motel in Vega was robbed at gunpoint at about 1 this morning.

ACCORDING TO the motel clerk on duty at the time, a black male brandishing "a long barreled pistol" came into the motel from the south and ordered a guest registering at the motel and the clerk to place their hands on the counter at the desk.

The bandit then ordered the clerk to open the cash register in the office. A total of $151 was taken in the robbery.

The thief left the same way in which he came, and the clerk reported that she did not see or hear a vehicle prior to alerting police.

The clerk described the bandit as "tall and round-faced," wearing a black shirt and brown trousers. She estimated that the robber was in his late 20's or early 30's.

"THE ROBBERY didn't last long, although it seemed like an eternity," the clerk said. "I saw that long pistol, half covered with a rag or handkerchief, and after that, it seemed as if the robber would never leave," she added.

Vega law enforcement officials were conducting a search for the bandit early today.

Appraisal Notices Mailed Out; Tax Equalization Board To Meet

The Hereford Independent School District reappraisal program is fast coming to a close with the mailing this week of notices stating the values placed on the property of residents within the district.

Orpha Click, tax assessor-collector for the district, said today that notices were mailed out to all rural and city property owners with the 100 per cent appraised value listed.

"The 100 per cent value was used," he said, "Some people try to get out their last year's tax receipt and compare values. But the receipts only contained the 60 per cent assessed value used by the district to compute taxes."

The notices were only part of the reappraisal program conducted by Jim McMorries, tax consultant and appraiser, and his associates for the district. It was contracted by the school board for about $90,000 last year to complete the first reappraisal in 15 years to equalize values between the rural and city property owners.

The school board has already set up the same 60 per cent ratio of assessment but this is combined with the tax rate (to be set Aug. 17) to compute taxes. Tax statements, mailed out later, will contain only 60 per cent of the value listed on the notices sent out this week.

Click said another problem arising from the reappraisal is that irrigation water wells are not pumping as much as farmers originally thought. Therefore, flow meters are being placed on them to arrive more accurate pumping levels. This affects the value placed on the wells.

"We encourage all farmers to use meters and turn the information into us," he said.

Those not satisfied with their values may appeal to computations to McMorries and Co. at meetings scheduled from 9 a.m. - 4 p.m. Monday-Wednesday, July 26-28 in the County Commissioners Courtroom on the second floor of the courthouse. Explanation will then be given for valuing specific property the way it was.

Provided no solutions are arrived at these meetings, then taxpayers may appear before the Tax Equalization Board hearings set for 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Thursday and Friday, July 29 and 30, in the same courtroom. This body is composed of representatives of the school district, city and county. The values figured at these meetings apply to all local taxing agencies.

Click asked that anyone with questions come to his office as soon as possible so that any misunderstanding may be cleared up before the meetings. "However, no evidence will be presented before the meetings are held next week. At that time, any information may be presented by the taxpayer and data will be shown by the appraisers.

Jobs Bill Passes

WASHINGTON (AP) - Congress, with an attack on unemployment as a major goal this election year, today overrode President Ford's veto of a $3.95-billion public works jobs bill, enacting it into law.

Final action came in the House, which overrode Ford's veto by a vote of 310 to 96, or 39 more than the required two thirds.

The Senate voted 73 to 24 on Wednesday to override President Ford's veto

ERMA BOMBECK penned a thought-provoking column in Tuesday's Brand. "Remember when..." was the theme as Erma made a comparison of crime now and in 1940.

You don't really have to look that far back to see how public morals and standards of conduct have been eroding. Just 10 years ago, profane and gutter language was rare on stage and film; most people had little to worry about when on city streets late at night; pornography was not widely available on newsstands and in film, and marijuana was used by very few people.

A good explanation of what has happened was recently given by John A. Howard of Rockford College in Illinois.

"To a very great extent, the degeneration of public standards of conduct and the increasingly corruptive character of literary, artistic and dramatic works are simply the result of what the citizens tolerate without voicing their strong objections."

Put another way many years ago: "Truth is violated by falsehood, but it is outraged by silence," said Swiss author Henri F. Amiel. And, Shakespeare observed: "A little fire is quickly trodden out which, being suffered, rivers cannot quench."

state would be getting underway.

"It will be difficult to have a man by the start of school," he noted. "However, everything is running real smooth."

OF THE APPLICATIONS submitted, he said all were "highly thought of and very conscientious persons." About two thirds of the applications are from the West Texas and the Panhandle with the remaining from other parts of Texas. No applicants so far live out-of-state.

The board last night made several calls in attempts to set up interviews especially for the five top men. Other meetings are planned within the next week or two for board members to discuss possibilities.

"Anything can happen within the next two weeks," Conkwright concluded. "We don't want to limit our choices."

Tower Backs Override Of Military Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) - U.S. Sen. John Tower says he would vote to override President Ford's veto of a $3.3 billion military construction authorization bill if it reaches the Senate.

Tower was one of nine senators to sign a letter urging their Senate colleagues to vote to override the veto. The issue will go to the Senate if the House votes today to override.

The bill provides $36.7 million for projects at nine Army and Air Force bases in Texas.

The bill also would give Congress the right to review prospective base closings or reductions. This would take in Webb Air Force Base at Big Spring and the Corpus Christi Naval Air Station.

Ford vetoed it July 2.

"I believe it is essential that Congress has the right to review base closings," Tower said in a statement. "The impact of base closures on the national security and on the local economy of the effected areas is too broad for the decision to be made by the executive branch alone."

The President in his veto objected to a section of the bill which would require the Department of Defense to give Congress notice one year before implementing a decision to close or substantially reduce a military base.

That would mean the Texas installations could not be closed before next March if the plans were approved.

Sens. Stuart Symington and Thomas Eagleton of Missouri, Edward Brooke and Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts, James Buckley and Jaiob Javits of New York and William Hathaway of Maine also signed the letter urging a vote to override.

Hawaii Trip Outlineed At Lions Meet

Farris reported that some 45,000 Lions and their wives attended the convention from 149 countries and principalities. He showed a number of slides depicting activites of the convention, parade and scenic sights.

One new member, Rex Harris, was introduced at the regular club luncheon meeting Wednesday at Civic Club Center, and a number of guests were recognized.

Weldon Dickson announced that members would meet at 7 p.m. Thursday to begin setting up booths for the annual carnival.

Judge's Order On Juveniles Downed By 5th Circuit Court

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - A federal judge's order imposing strict reforms on the Texas system for handling juvenile deliquents was struck down by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Wednesday.

The court ordered the whole thing submitted to new hearings before a three-judge federal panel of the type convened to hear legal fights involving constitutional issues.

One judge does not have the power to make the sweeping changes in state law that U.S. Dist. Judge William W. Justice imposed on the Texas Youth Council TYC, the court said in reversing his decision.

The council operates the state-wide system for youths held to be deliquent and jailed.

Judge Justice imposed his reform order on the TYC on Aug. 30, 1974, in a suit filed against the council by Alicia Morales and others. The council appealed.

"The sheer comprehensiveness of the memorandum opinion that was issued makes it impossible to recount here the multitudinous requirements that the decision imposes on the TYC," the 5th said.

A few examples:

-Coeducational reform schools.

-The biggest school, Gatesville State School for Boys, and the maximum security facility, Mountain View State School for Boys, were to be closed because of a "history of brutality and repression."

-Psychiatric treatment for juveniles held in close confinement, and complete individual psychological assessment for each new arrival.

-Safe and sanitary conditions; medical and dental service.

-Regulations which would ensure decency, comfort, privacy, reasonable and frequent visiting periods...adequate unmonitored telephone access," and no whippings.

"It is precisely this type of thoroughgoing disruption of a state's autonomous implementation of its own legislative and administrative policies that warrants the added deliberation and procedural protection provided by the three-judge court statute," the 5th said.

"We accordingly remand this case for proper empanelling of a three-judge court."

Gas Hearing Scheduled

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - The Texas Railroad Commission scheduled a meeting Wednesday with Coastal States Gas Corp. and customers of its troubled subsidiary, Lo-Vaca Gathering Co., to consider a proposal to settle more than $1.4 billion in lawsuits involving Lo-Vaca.

Major customers include Austin, San Antonio, Corpus Christi, Brownsville and the Lower Colorado River Authority.

Austin city council members met in executive session Wednesday and agreed that they wanted the city utility lawyer to take a closer look at the plan before making any decision.

The commission voted July 10 to require Lo-Vaca to report Wednesday on the status out-of-court negotiations over the lawsuits, and a general plan was made public Monday.

Coastal States proposed to convert Lo-Vaca into a totally independent company and to carry out a natural gas search program costing as much as $230 million over 15 years.

The plan calls for Oscar Wyatt Jr., Coastal States chairman, to dispose of the new company stock to which he would be entitled.

Coastal States would assume existing debts of about $108 million and would insure unsecured promissory notes of an estimated $120 million during the next 15 years.

The new company would issue $115 million in preferred stock to be placed in trust for the benefit of Lo-Vaca customers.

The stock would have a divident rate of 8½ per cent and, initially, have 20 per cent of the voting rights in the new company.

All of the common stock of the new company would be spun off of Coastal States shareholders.

Senate Moves For Guaranteed Income

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate, approving a liberalized day-care tax subsidy for working parents, appears to be moving gradually toward a federal guaranteed income for the poorest Americans.

The Senate plan is not nearly as extensive as the family-assistance plan offered and rejected during the Nixon administration. But some conservatives fear the Senate may be getting there fast.

The latest step came Wednesday when the Senate voted an annual government check for certain working parents with incomes so small they owe less than $800 in federal tax.

This provision, as part of a more generous tax credit for child care, follows enactment last year of a bonus payment for families earning less than $8,000 a year.

The proposal adopted Wednesday and the one that became law in 1975 have one thing in common: each amounts to a negative income tax - meaning that families whose incomes are below specified levels get a government check instead of having to pay a tax.

'I can't support having supposed taxpayers making a profit out of the tax laws," protested Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala. "Don't mix social programs and taxation....I don't see the logic of that."

But Allen was in the minority as the Senate voted, 71 to 21, to amend the child-care tax subsidy to allow the government payments to the poorest families.

The Senate also approved a new tax credit for the elderly that would replace the complicated retirement-income provisions in current law.

Information Seekers Need Not Disclose Reasons, Court Decides

AUSTIN (AP) - Courts cannot compel anyone to disclose why they want access to information made public by the Texas Open Records Act, the state Supreme Court ruled Wednesday.

The court's 5-4 decision said a business organization, the Industrial Foundation of the South, is entitled to receive information on workmen's compensation claims maintained by the Texas Industrial accident Board.

But it imposed restrictions on the release of possibly embarrassing data.

The board had contended the foundation wanted the information for use in blacklisting employees with a record of filing claims for on-the-job injuries.

An Austin district court had ruled with the foundation but the 3rd Court of Civil Appeals here said it should have granted the board's request to compel the foundation to answer a series of written questions about its intended use of the information.

The appeals court said a writ of mandamus, such as the foundation sought, was not available unless one came into court with clean hands.

"We think the act itself makes clear that the motives of the person requesting information are not to be considered in determining whether the information must be disclosed," said the high court's majority opinion by Justice Ross Doughty

"Although we recognize that there is often much potential for abuse of information in government records, the task of balancing the public's right of access to government records against potential abuses of the right has been made by the legislature; the court's task is to enforce the public's right of access given by the act," Doughty's opinion said.

"Since the purposes of the requestor the foundation are not relevant to a determination of whether the requested information must be disclosed, the trial court was not in error in suppressing defendant's the board's interrogatories."

The court said, however, that some information in the workmen's compensation claims files was exempt by law from disclosure if it contained "highly intimate or embarrassing facts the publication of which would be highly objectionable to a reasonable person" and was not of legitimate public concern.

For that reason, it sent the case back to the trial court to determine whether any such information was contained in the files sought by the industrial foundation.

It said claim files containing allegedly private information should be supplied to the judge for private inspection in chambers. The judge would then determine that would and could not be released to the foundation.

"We...recognize the enormity of the task which a case-by-case review of these workmen's compensation files may entail. We believe, nevertheless that the effective protection of the individual's right of privacy, and the effective application of the policy of openness of government records mandated by the open records act, necessitate the result which we have reached," the court said. The foundation has a direct tie-in to the board's computer, but the board had objected to the cost.

Export Program Called 'Giveaway' of Tax Money

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) - In the view of Eugene Lang, who terms himself an "entrepreneurial idealist," this country's export program is a ripoff by big business, "a massive give away" of taxpayer's money.

The aspect of the program that generates most of Lang's ire is the "DISC" portion, under which U.S. manufacturers can set up a domestic international sales corporation and, in effect, cut in half their taxes on profits of domestic manufactures sold abroad.

Said Lang in a letter to Commerce Secretary Elliot Richardson, "The prime beneficiaries would be exporting just as vigorously without the incentive." Most have assets of at least $100 million; they are by nature exporters.

In contrast, he continues, small manufacturers who represent the innovative spirit, find themselves with relatively few opportunities, or federal programs to assist them in selling abroad. They are the ones who need help, he maintains.

Lang, an expert in exporting the technology of small manufacturers, and himself the founder of an international manufacturing, consulting and licensing company with sales of $15 million a year, is beginning to hope again.

During the Richard M. Nixon administration, he said, "it was futile to try to promote small business. Secretary Dent Commerce Secretary Fredrick B. Dent wasn't interested in what I was saying."

Now, with Congress considering changes in the DISC legislation, and with Richardson apparently more receptive to the small business story, Lang believes there is a chance to promote his proposals, which contain three essentials:

1. A small business presence at the top policy levels, similar to the President's Export Council, which is staffed almost exclusively by the chairmen or presidents of the nation's largest corporations.

2. Financial incentives for small business that will not deprive the country of existing tax revenues.

3. A mechanism that small business can use, such as a Small Business Export Trade Corp., to enable it to take advantage of the opportunities in world markets.

Lang believes that while big business exporters have the organizational skills, the funds and the easily identifiable products, small-business men are faced with what they see as a hopeless task.

It is such as these who need the help, he argues. Moreover, he believes they deserve help because it is small business that much of the innovation, the experimentation, the creativity is nurtured.

Big business, in his view, is much less innovative. He notes that the number of Japanese patents in the United States is growing three times faster than the number of U.S. Patents in Japan.

Lang knows of what he speaks since the licensing of American technology is part of the expertise of his company, REFAC Technology Development Corp. It has helped, for a share of the profits, numerous small companies establish contacts and distributors abroad.

Hall Named To Committees

WASHINGTON (AP) - Rep. Sam Hall, recently elected in Texas to succeed the late Wright Patman, was named Wednesday to the Judiciary and Veterans Affairs Committees.

Introduced earlier at a meeting of the House Democratic Caucus, Hall won applause in which he said he was following the advice of the late Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas gave new congressmen:

"Your main duty for the first two years is to keep your mouth shut and listen."

Injured British Official Was Target of Terrorists

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) - Irish police hunting the killers of British Ambassador Christopher Ewart-Biggs think the British official who was injured in the explosion may have been the man the terrorists wanted to kill.

Police officials said they suspected the man marked for death was Brian Cubbon, permanent undersecretary of state in Northern Ireland and the top British civil servant there.

Cubbon, on a visit to the Irish republic from his post in Belfast, was seriously wounded by the land mine that blew up the ambassador's car just after it left his residence on the southern outskirts of Dublin Wednesday. The explosion killed Ewart-Biggs and Cubbon's secretary, 26-year-old Judith Cooke, and also wounded the ambassador's Irish chauffeur, Brian O'Driscoll.

"The abmassador had been here for less than two weeks," said one senior police officer. "It's entirely likely the people responsible for his death were after someone else in the car."

"We feel there was no real reason for the IRA to murder the ambassador, even though he was Britain's representative here," another police official said. "We believe there are strong grounds or suspecting he was not the real target of this outrage."

Cubbon and Miss Cooke arrived in Dublin Tuesday night. He and the ambassador were on their way to see Foreign Minister Garrett Fitzgerald when the car was blown up.

St. Vincent's Hospital said Cubbon was in intensive care unit with a fractured spine and other serious injuries.

The Irish Republican Army's Provisional wing, which is waging a guerrilla war to end British rule and Protestant domination in northern Ireland, attacked the homes of a number of British civil officials there earlier in the year. It said they "share as much responsibility for the oppression in our country as the warlords of the British army."

The police blamed the killing of the ambassador on the IRA Provisionals, but IRA sources did not admit responsibility.

Within minutes of the explosion, the government launched a citywide dragnet for two men seen running from an adjacent field after the blast. Later, police said the mine was planted in a drain under the road and was detonated by remote control by at least three men hidden in a thicket about 200 yards away.

A reward of $36,000 was offered for the terrorists.

The assassination was expected to prompt British pressure on the Dublin government for a major crackdown on the Provisionals, who use the republic as a base for their operations in Northern Ireland. British Prime Minister James Callaghan told the House of Commons the killers were the "common enemy" of both the British and Irish governments and must be destroyed.

Prime Minister Liam Cosgrave said the murder of the ambassador was an "atrocity... that fills all decent Irish people with shame." He said his government "is determined that all the resources at its disposal will be used to insure that the perpetrators are brought to justice and face the full rigors of the law."

Public Housing Bill Sent To White House

WASHINGTON (AP) - A $4.7 billion measure authorizing $850 million for new public housing has been sent to the White House. Much of the money in the bill would provide housing assistance to the elderly.

The two-year authorization, including $2.5 billion to fund housing aid for the elderly and the handicapped, passed by a voice vote.

The bill provides $576 million for existing public housing projects, and requires the Department of Housing and Urban Development to use at least $100 million to finance new or sustantially rehabilitated projects.

The Ford administration had objected to language in an earlier version of the bill that would have required HUD to build far more new public housing units.

Briefs

MONTREAL - Egypt and Morocco became the 29th and 30th nations to withdraw from the Olympic Games in protest against New Zealand association with South Africa and its apartheid policy.

MONTREAL (AP) - Canada lost three first-round matches in Olympic boxing Tuesday but it didn't surprise countryman Michael Prevost, a 23-year-old Montrealer who won a silver medal in the 1975 Pan American games in the light-middleweight division.

"Personally, I expected things like that," said the outspoken Prevost. "They weren't thinking positively and the winning effect wasn't on them."

MONTREAL (AP) - S.N. Maghraby apparently didn't get the word. Although Egypt pulled out of the Olympic games Tuesday in an Afro-Arab boycott Maghraby stayed around as a referee in the afternoon session of the boxing tournament.

Nadia, Yank Swimmers Show They Are Human

By BOB GREEN
AP Sports Writer

MONTREAL (AP) - She was the closest thing to perfection the Olympics have ever seen. She was cool and poised beyond her meager 14 years at a massive, jostling international news conference.

But Nadia Comaneci was just a little girl, subject to all the human faults, at the presentation ceremonies.

The gold medal as the Games' all-around gymnast was around her neck, some incredible marks were in the books and some vanquished Russians were at her sides when Nadia turned to watch the Romanian flag being raised.

Just as the first strains of the Romanian national anthem sounded - while a worldwide television audience of people watched, while thousands of newsmen were proclaiming her the queen of the Games - Nadia turned human.

At that poignant moment, one for which she had trained through most of her life, she screwed up her face in a grimace - a typical teenage effort to stifle an itching nose.

And America's all-conquoring male swimmers turned human, too. But not much. They won all the medals they could in Wednesday's events - they still haven't been beaten - but, for the first time in the Games, they failed to break a world record.

Like Nadia, it wasn't much of a lapse. It came in the men's 100-meter butterfly. To make up for the failure to break Mark Spitz' 4-year-old record, the Americans turned it into another 1-2-3 sweep, their third of the Games.

The sweep by Matt Vogel, Fort Wayne, Ind., Joe Bottom, Santa Clara, Calif., and Gary Hall, Fayetteville, N.C., along with a winning, world-record time of 7 minutes, 23.22 seconds in the men's 800 freestyle relay, pushed the male swimmers' medal accumulation so far to all seven gold medals awarded, five silver and three bronze in four days.

In all, the American team now has 10 gold, eight silver and four bronze. East Germany is second with seven gold, five silver and four bronze while Russia, also the beneficiary of a women's swimming sweep, is third with six, six and one. No other nation has more than one gold medal.

In addition to the swimmers, the United States also got a gold and a silver from its shooting team. Included was the first Olympic medal ever acquired by a woman in that sport.

Margaret Murdock, 33, who's in nursing training at Topeka, Kan., took the silver in a controversy with officials. It may yet turn out to be a gold, or a piece of a gold.

U.S. team manager Joe Berry said he was asking officials to reconsider and award two golds. Miss Murdock was originally named the winner with 1,162 out of a possible 1,200 in the small bore rifle, three positions, with Army Capt. Larry Bassham, Bedford, Tex., one point behind.

After a 3½-hour check, officials discovered a clerical error had been made, giving the two Americans the same score. Under international rules, the last 10 shots from the kneeling position are used to break the tie. And the reluctant Bassham was named the winner.

The Americans also survived another scare in basketball, saw one of their boxers move into prime position for a medal after a decisive victory over his chief opponent, a Russian, and had the first and second qualifiers, Capt. Phil Boggs of the U.S. Air Force Academy and Bob Cragg, Maple Glen, Pa., going into tonight's finals in the men's three-meter platform diving.

The basketball teams, now 3-0 in the round-robin tournament, trailed tough Yugoslavia by four points at halftime and had all three centers in foul trouble before pulling out a 112-93 decision behind Scott May, with 25 points, and Adrian Dantley, with 27.

Russia also remained unbeaten with a 108-85 rout of Canada. The Americans automatically go to 4-0 tonight when they pick up a forfeit against Egypt, which has withdrawn its team from the Games.

Davey Armstrong gave a classic performance of boxing and punching in an unanimous decision over Anatoly Volkov, the Russian who stopped him in two rounds in a bout in Moscow early this year.

The attention of the Games, however, was riveted on little Nadia and her flying exhibitions in the finals of the women's all-around gymnastics. And she didn't disappoint anyone - unless it was her Russian challengers, Nellie Kim and Ludmila Tuourischev, for years the queen of the world's gymnasts. Miss Kim eventually finished second, Miss Tourischev third.

MAN IS THE ONLY ANIMAL YOU CAN INSULT BY CALLING HIM AN "ANIMAL"

When Reggie Smith was with St. Louis earlier in the season he had a hunch he might be traded, so he took a cram course. His subjects were the Cardinal pitchers.

The hunch came true last month when the Cards dealt him to Los Angeles and now Smith is teaching a slam course ... and the St. Louis hurlers are receiving failing marks.

Smith has hit five home runs in a Los Angeles uniform...all in the last 10 games...and all against the Cardinals. Two of them came Wednesday as the Dodgers topped St. Louis 7-6 in 10 innings.

"I would be lying if I didn't say that I got more satisfaction hitting this way against the Cardinals," Smith admitted.

"But the main satisfaction is the fact we won the game. It seemed like my name kept coming up in trade talks all the time, so I just made an extra effort to study the Cardinals pitchers. I guess it paid off."

In other National League contests, the Cincinnati Reds blanked the New York Mets 4-0, the Philadelphis Phillies trimmed the San Diego Padres 5-1, the Pittsburgh Pirates took a pair from the Houston Astros 5-1 and 4-1, the Montreal Expos nipped the Atlanta Braves 4-3 and the San Francisco Giants edged the Chicago Cubs 2-1.

While Smith jolted his former St. Louis teammates with solo homers-his 12th and 13th-in the third and fifth innings and a pair of singles, another ex-Cardinal, pinch hitter Ted Sizemore, singled home an unearned run in the bottom of the 10th inning off St. Louis relief ace Al Hrabosky to give the Dodgers the victory.

Reds 4, Mets 0

Phillies 5, Padres 1

Jim Kaat won his 10th game with ninth-inning help from Gene Garber while Tommy Hutton hit a three-run homer, his first of the season.

Pirates 5-4, Astros 1-1

Spot starter Larry Demery allowed a no-hitter for 6 2-3 innings in the nightcap. In the opener, Jerry Reuss scattered nine hits and Bill Robinson socked a two-run homer.

Expos 4, Braves 3

Montreal erased a three-run deficit in the sixth on Jose Morales' two-run pinch single and a game-tying hit by pinch hitter Tim Foli.

Giants 2, Cubs 1

The Cubs took a 1-0 lead in the top of the ninth on Joe Wallis' homer off John Montefusco, who hurled a three-hitter, but the giants came back with two in the bottom of the ninth. Marty Perez and Gary Matthews opened the rally with singles and Bobby Murcer punched a bunt into left-field for a run-scoring double.

Ellis CHILE GOOD! BETTER! BEST!

Tilleez
Processed CATTLE MANURE
Great for this year's crop
...and the next and the next and the next.

Unlike raw manure, Tilleez™ nutrients are available for plant uptake for this year's crop. And, it builds the soil and moisture-retaining capacity for future crops.

Tilleez benefits your soil and gives it improved tilth. The bacterial mass developed in the Tilleez process makes use of the locked-up nutrients, already in your soil, by converting them to readily usable plant food.

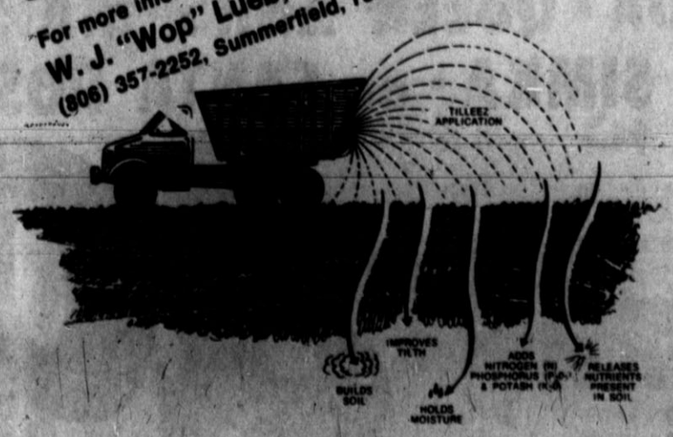

And, with all of these advantages, you still get a good supply of nitrogen...usable nitrogen!

Tilleez is the result of a unique process of aerobic bacterial digestion that converts raw manure into a valuable soil conditioner and fertilizer. In the big million-dollar plant at Summerfield, aerobic microorganisms create the heat that kills weed seeds and changes the manure into a form that makes its natural nutrients readily available to plants.

NadiamaniaReigns At Gymnastics Hall

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

MONTREAL (AP) - Little Nadia Comaneci stood on the victory stand, smiling, her arms held high like an empress acknowledging the fealty of her loyal subjects.

It was the end of a storybook chapter in ladies' gymastics. At 21, Olga, the onetime wonder child from the Soviet Union, was over the hill. In her place, wearing an Olympic gold medal instead of a tiara, stood Nadia, 14, just a twig of a girl out of Romania, the new queen of the uneven bars and balance beam.

Could Nadia, in her moment of glory, be looking at the distressed Olga and wondering what might be waiting for her in Moscow in 1980? Somewhere - in Leipzig, Louisville or Liverpool - some 10-year-old tyke must be swinging on a bar and coveting Nadia's medal.

Today, however, she is on top of the gymnastic world - hailed across continents and oceans - and Olga, who won three gold medals and a silver four years ago to send the sport into unprecedented popularity, is left only with memories.

The nerveless tyke from Romania whisked through her four demanding routines - the horse vault, uneven bars, balance beam and floor exercises - with such daring and precision that she swept easily to the ladies' individual all-around championship.

Ludmila Tourischeva, the USSR's defending titleholder, a poised veteran of 23, finished third behing a spectacular young teammate, Nelli Kim, 19, and announced her retirement.

Olga Korbut scored a poor 9.5 on the balance beam, where Nadia scored her fifth perfect 10, and finished in fifth place.

Larissa Latynina, Olga's coach, was livid over the seemingly unjustified low score for her once star pupil. Olga herself plunked herself into a chair and broke into tears. She couldn't believe it herself.

Miss Latynina, in full view of the Forum's 16,000 sellout house, strode to the officials' box to make a protest.

"They told me," Miss Latynina explained afterward, "that Olga had exceeded her time limit on the balance beam and had been penalized two-tenths of a point."

It was a silly copout for the judges - an ugly, unnecessary gesture in the case of a young girl who had them all mesmerized four years ago. At Munich, little Olga could have stayed on the beam all day if she had chosen. She was untouchable.

So go the judges in the Olympic Games. Like the thousands of spectators and millions of TV viewers, they were caught up in the wave of "Nadiamania."

THOUSAN OAKS, Calif. (AP) - A knee operation was scheduled today for running back Preston Pearson of the Dallas Cowboys.

The National Football League Club's physician, Dr. Marvin Knight, said surgeons would re-attach a ligament to the bone in Pearson's left knee. He suffered the injury in training camp here Tuesday when he was tackled on an end sweep.

Knight said recovery would be comparatively rapid because the ligament was not severed or torn. He estimated Pearson would be able to play again by late September.

MONTREAL (AP) - Ticket scalpers are striking it rich at Olympiad XXI. One scalper, who asked not to be identified, said he earned enough money in four hours Monday to pay his $600 university tuition fees.

One scalper has his business set up on the lawn of a church.

MONTREAL (AP) - Susan Nattrass of Hamilton, Ont., had no excuses for her dismal day as the first woman ever to compete in an Olympic shooting event. She finished 20th after two rounds of the clay pigeon event and said: "Most people choke near the end of an event but I did mine much earlier." Asked if she felt any resentment from her fellow male competitors, She said "There hasn't be any ... that I know of."

William Howard Taft was the first president to play golf and was considered a good player. In August, 1909, the first year of his presidency, a man bet $1,000 that Taft could not play the difficult Myopia Golf Course in Boston within the required 100 strokes. Taft turned in his clubs at 98.

All-Stars Will Rely On Strong Running Game

BY JOE MOOSHIL
AP Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) - Great running, a strong defensive but a questionable quarterbacking corps is what the College All-Stars will unveil Friday night when they meet the two-time Super Bowl champion Pittsburgh Steelers Friday night in Soldier Field.

The midsummer football classic in which the pros hold a 30 9-2 edge will be nationally televised ABC, 9:30 p.m., EDT.

Down through the years the All-Stars have had the talents of such great name quarterbacks as Sammy Baugh, Cecil Isbell and Otto Graham and recent standouts like Roger Staubach, Steve Bartkowski and Bert Jones.

The No. 1 pro draft pick this year was Richard Todd of Alabama but Todd did not report to camp, leaving the quarterbacking duties to Mike Kruczek of Boston College, Craig Penrose of San Diego State and Jeb Blount of Tulsa.

One of them will get the starting job and all three might get to play because of their various abilities. Coach Ara Parseghian is hoping one of them will get the hot hand which will enable the All-Stars to end an 11-game losing streak to the pros.

The All-Stars have not won a game in the series since 1963 when they upset the late Vince Lombardi's Green Bay Packers 20-17.

"Each excels at a particular type of skill and each maybe has a little shortcoming," said Parseghian, "But there's no perfect football player."

"Significantly, all appear to have tremendous competitive instincts, which is a super asset.

Kruczek probably is little faster, but Penrose and Blount probably can throw the ball better. I think all three are excellent leaders in the huddle and they have the respect of their teammates," said Parsenghian.

All three have tremendous credentials statistically.

Kruczek set an all-time pass completion percentage record of .673, hitting on 225 of 337 attempts in three years at Boston College to erase the record of .631 held by Staubach, now one of the National Football League's top passers with Dallas.

Penrose led the nation in passing last season with 198 completions in 349 attempts for a .567 percentage. He threw for 15 touchdowns and 2,660 yards.

Blount completed 356 of 654 passes for 5,123 yards in his career at Tulsa. He threw for 13 touchdowns last season.

Although the Stars have a great array of running backs this time around, it will be impossible for them to even hope for a victory if they are unable to mount a passing attack.

Hunter Stops A's, 10-1

The Oakland A's haven't been the same since Catfish Hunter left - and no one knows it better than Catfish Hunter.

"Oakland doesn't have the defense now," says the New York Yankee pitcher.

On Wednesday night, they didn't have the offense, either - losing a 10-1 decision to their former teammate.

"There are only four guys playing regularly on the A's now," said Hunter. "And there are only 10 players at the most who are still there that I played with in 1974."

Hunter, who came to the Yankees after escaping from Oakland through a legal loophole in his contract, has treated the onetime world champions with utter disdain since 1974. Hunter holds a 5-1 edge over the team he once led to three world titles.

In the other American League games, the Baltimore Orioles beat the Texas Rangers 6-4 in 12 innings; the Minesota Twins turned back the Boston Red Sox 5-1; the Chicago White Sox took a doubleheader from the Detroit Tigers 4-1 and 3-0; the Milwaukee Brewers stopped the Kansas City Royals 5-0 and the Cleveland Indians defeated the California Angels 6-2.

Hunter, 12-8, scattered nine hits and got ample batting support from Thurman Munson.

The Yankee catcher drove in five runs with a three-run homer and two singles.

The only run off Hunter came in the first, on Joe Rudi's RBI single. Munson hit his home run in the fifth inning and run scoring singles in the first and eighth.

Orioles 6, Rangers 4

Paul Blair, hitting only .206 at game time, socked a two-run homer off Joe Hoerner in the top of the 12th inning to lead Baltimore over Texas. Blair's blast, his second of the season, followed a walk to Bobby Grich and gave the victory to reliever Tippy Martinez, 3-0.

Twins 5, Red Sox 1

Bob Randall drove in two runs with a third-inning double to help Dave Goltz and Minnesota defeat Boston. Goltz, 8-8, stopped a personal five-game losing streak as he pitched the first seven innings.

White Sox 4-3, Tigers 1-0

Lamar Johnson drove in two runs and pitcher Chris Knapp won his first major league game with a four-hitter as Chicago beat Detroit in the first game of a doubleheader.

Bucky Dent drilled a two-run triple in the fourth inning and Bart Johnson scattered six hits to carry Chicago to a sweep in the second game.

Brewers 5, Royals 0

Von Joshua and Tim Johnson collected two hits apiece as Milwaukee beat Kansas City with the help of six errors by the Royals.

The victory went to Bill Travers, 11-7, who gave up four hits in 6 2-3 innings, walked six, threw two wild pitches and hit two batters. Al Fitzmorris, 11-6, who made one of the Royals' errors, was victimized by the faulty support.

Indians 6, Angels 2

Charlie Spikes drove in three runs and Rick Waits scattered seven hits as Cleveland beat California. Waits, 4-4, outdueled California ace Nolan Ryan, 7-12.

Local Teams Eliminated

Both Hereford teams playing in All-Star competition were eliminated from their tournaments Wednesday night as the Girls Pony League All-Stars lost 17-11, and the Boys Bronco All-Stars were white-washed 12-0.

The Hereford girls saw their season end as they dropped a 17-11 game to River Road at their tourney in Amarillo. The winners took advantage of a 14-run fourth inning to come out on top.

Through three innings the score stood 2-2, but River Road got hot in the fourth to put Hereford behind 16-2. Hereford came back to outscore the winners 9-1 in the last three frames, but it was too late.

Suzanne Duvall blasted a homerun for Hereford in the first inning, and later picked up a single to lead the Hereford batters. Rita Soliz added a pair of safeties to the effort.

Hereford coaches Julie Urbanczyk and Linda Pagett inserted Yolanda Cantu in relief of starter Teresa Lambert in the fourth inning, and Cantu was sacked with the loss.

In Altus, Oklahoma the Hereford boys came up against Bixby, Oklahoma and were soundly defeated 12-0. Bixby gained a 14-4 advantage in hits.

Six Hereford errors greatly helped the Bixby cause as Hereford's Rod Simon picked up the loss. Matt Collier, Alex Valdez, and Gary Long each pitched in a relief role.

Our rates are reasonable. You can include freight, installation, pump . . . other "above ground" items in one flexible package, tailored to your needs.

Let's Cook

Homemaker Adds Personal Touch

Ready-made home decorating acessories and clothing are convenient for today's busy homemaker, but Mrs. Chancie Mercer of 435 Ave. C enjoys adding a personal touch to the family's home.

An eye-catching feature in the living and dining room areas of the home are the lovely drapes, all handmade including the unusual cornice boards and trim designed by the homemaker.

To make an attractive cornice, several steps are involved.

First, a pattern is decided on and cut from plywood. A special electric saw is needed for this.

In order to allow room for display rods, the cornice should be set about five inches from the window.

The pattern is then cut on the chosen fabric and lining. Mrs. Mercer uses unbleached domestic as a lining material.

Cotton batting, stapled or glued to the board, is used for padding, and the fabric is then placed on the cornice board and trimmed with fringe or rope.

Mrs. Mercer also enjoys sewing for her children and canning fresh fruits and vegetables during the summer.

The three Mercer children are Kenneth, 16; Quintin, 13; and Pamela, 12. They attend Mt. Siani Baptist Church.

An easy and economical dish to prepare is Hungarian Goulash and the family also enjoys gelatin salad during the summer for a light desert.

HUNGARIAN GOULASH

In a large skillet, brown two pounds of beef or veal steak. (If using steak, cut into ½ inch cubes brown in ¼ cup hot shortening. Reduce heat; add one cup chopped onions and one clove garlic minced.

Cook mixture until onion is tender but not brown. Blend in ¼ cup all-purpose flour, three teaspoons papricka, one teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon dried thyme, crushed and two bay leaves.

Add one pound 12 oz. can tomatoes. Cover and simmer, stirring occassionally until meat is tender. (1-1¼ hours) Stir often toward the end of the time.

Stir in one cup diary sour cream and serve at once over hot buttered noodles. This recipe makes eight servings.

JELLO FRUIT SALAD

Mix one package of strawberry flavored Jello and let set in refrigerator until soft gelled. Blend in one pint whipped cream, one can drained fruit cocktail, one cup chopped peacans and stir. Chill well and serve.

RECIPE

By Sarah Anne Sheridan

Here's a simple but delicious dessert. You can serve with a scoop of vanilla ice cream instead of the sauce.

Apple Pudding

1 c sugar
¼ c soft butter or margarine
1 egg
2 large unpeeled apples shredded (2c)
1 c sifted flour
1 t soda
1 t cinnamon
½ t nutmeg
¼ t salt
½ c chopped nuts

Beat together sugar, butter and egg until fluffy. Shred apples and stir in. Add sifted dry ingredients and nuts. Bake in a greased 9 inch square pan 45 minutes at 350 degrees. Cut into squares while still warm and serve with the following sauce.

½ c butter
1 c sugar
½ c light cream

Combine the above three ingredients and heat slowly for about 15 minutes, stirring occasionally until slightly thickened. Add 1½ teaspoons vanilla, a dash of nutmeg and 3 tablespoons rum. Serve hot over Apple Pudding.

At Wit's End ...

By ERMA BOMBECK

Of all the styles the United States has to offer, it seems incongrous that "jeans" would capture the imagination of young Russians.

It has been rumored jeans are capitalistic decadance, moralistically hostile to the socialist way of life and make men and women sartorially equal.

If any of that means you can't cough in them, they're right.

A pair of jeans aren't what I would recommend as a friendly hand across the sea. You can't build a realtionship for lasting peace on something that shrinks three inches around the waist, two inches in one leg, three inches in the other, fades all over the towels, and has to be washed 287 times before you can sit in them.

It's the only thing in the last 200 years the Russians don't lay claim to having invented. That should tell you something.

Frankly, my sympathy goes out to the Russian mother whose child brings home his first pair of American jeans.

"What are they?" she asks.

"They're dzhinsys, Mama."

"How much did you pay for them?"

"Fifty rubles."

"FIFTY RUBLES! That's 65 American dollars. For a pair of work overalls your father changes out of before he comes into the house!"

"But, Mama, all the comrades are wearing them."

"What else do they do besides stand in the corner by themselves?"

"I'll get you a pair, Mama, and you'll see how comfortable they are."

The next afternoon, Mama is so comfortable she can barely breathe. From the crotch to the waistband, the jeans measure six inches. Mama twelve inches. Her blouse pops out of the jeans every time she clears her throat. When she walks, her legs sound like the German army marching into Poland.

"Sit down, Mama," suggests her son.

"I am sitting," she says. "And you say everyone in America is wearing them?"

"Yes, it makes them feel independent and free."

As her gripper pops open, Mama frowns. "Maybe we underestimate the Americans. Maybe they're tougher than we think."

Personalized Sandals Enliven Fashion Scene

CHICAGO (AP) — Young people, busy creating "one-of-a-kind" personalized fashions by embroidering their jeans and stenciling their T-shirts, are now decorating their sandals with everything from bandanas to stars and stripes.

The many moods of "sandal art" surfaced in a national design contest in which high school students submitted hundreds of ideas for decorating the wooden-sole exercise sandals that have become a popular accessory with casual jeans and cut-offs.

Winning entry in the contest was a tasty serving of colorful fruits painted on the sandal strap and wooden sole — including a partially eaten piece of watermelon on the toes.

Creator was 17-year-old Laurie Van Sant of Trenton, N. J., who was awarded a college scholarship by Scholl, co-sponsor of the event with Seventeen Magazine's At-School publication.

Another student took off on the current ethnic fashion looks by designing a "needlepoint" look of embroidery for the strap, then engraving the sides of the sole. This design won second place honors for Norma Salvatto, 17, of Yonkers, N. Y.

Other entries reflected the popular Western influence by using hand-tooled leathers, calico prints and even a cotton bandana. In fact, third-prize winner Holly Hopke, 17, of Florence, Ky., actually tied up her sandal strap with a dime-store bandana.

Other teens celebrated the nation's 200th birthday by going patriotic with red, white and blue designs. Sandals were decorated with stripes, emblazoned with stars and etched with the "Spirit of '76." To honor the military, one student went further and covered his sandal with infantry insignia.

Natural fabrics received a good share of attention among the sandal decorating ideas. Nubby textures like tweed and burlap were suggested for the sandal strap. Hand-tooled designs and Indian symbols were other popular looks.

An interest in the environment also predominated in the teen-agers' sandal designs. Students used sunshine or blue sky and cloud motifs, along with a variety of flowery variations on both the strap and sole. But probably the most authentic of these was an outdoor scene of woods and stream, topped off with "fake" shrubbery (the kind used to build model train sets).

Ann Landers
Life Turned Around

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm the girl everyone is talking about behind her back. I'm the girl mothers tell their daughters not to associate with. Why? Because two years ago I made a big mistake and got pregnant.

The guy swore he loved me and wanted to marry me. He said if I loved him I should be willing to prove it. The clincher was when he said, "Everyone does it."

I had the baby and put it up for adoption. (Any 15-year-old who keeps her baby is being very unfair.) The guy, of course, disappeared. I haven't heard from his since.

Now I am 17 and in love with a wonderful person. He knows all about my past and never mentions it. He respects my wishes and I don't have to fight with him about proving my love. He says he is willing to wait because I am worth waiting for. Believe me, Ann, I feel like the luckiest girl in the whole world.

So please print my letter for all teenagers to read. There are two lessons here that might be of value. First -- everybody ISN'T doing it. Second, just because a girl makes a mistake doesn't mean she is branded for life and nobody decent will give her a second look. If she thinks of herself as a good girl and acts like one, others will, too. -- From Shame to Pride

DEAR PRIDE: Your letter will have infinitely more meaning coming from you than from me. Thanks for writing. And heartiest congratulations for turning your life around.

DEAR ANN: I haven't the nerve to say it. Please print this:

DEAR FAMILY: I love you and your children and their children. You all visited me yesterday. Today I spent five hours wiping walls, cleaning candy off carpets, removing food stains from the furniture. I am 70 years old. I have no help. It takes all my energy to do what I need to do for myself. I'm so exhausted as I write this letter I feel ill.

Please come often. I love you all, but don't ever leave my house in such a mess again. --Grandma

DEAR GRANDMA: I wonder how many readers are asking themselves -- "can it be -- ????" Well -- it just might. I hope you letter helps not only you, but other grandmas as well.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My problem isn't really serious, but I'd like to know the answer. I am afraid of worms. They really give me the creeps. When I see one unexpectedly, I react like many people react to snakes. My question is this: Can a worm crawl up cement steps? Since we moved to this new house, I've found a worm of two on the top step and this has got me thinking. Is someone putting them there or do they get there on their own? -- Shrecked In Oshkosh

DEAR SHRECKED: Worms can crawl up concrete steps. The ones you've seen got there by themselves.

I hope you will make friends with the little fellows. They are just about the most harmless creatures on the face of the earth. Read about them, then force yourself to look at one for about ten minutes. You will marvel at the way they move. When you can hold one in your hand -- presto, the fear will be gone.

Fashions Have Colorful History

NEW YORK (AP) — Silken knee breeches and colorful shirts were in fashion for men on dress occasions in colonial America.

Today the trend in formalwear is back to color and individuality.

In between, men's special clothes for special events have undergone numerous changes, including many years when somberness was the order of the day — or night — according to a slide history prepared by the American Formalwear Association here.

Through most of the 18th century men in this country emulated the French court in their choice of formalwear.

"The more obviously opulent the attire, the higher the prestige of the wearer," the AFA history reveals. "Noblemen the world over chose rich brocades, fabrics shot with gold and silver and magnificent styling."

Then, near the end of the 1700s, a young man named Beau Brummel — a favorite at court in England — singlehandedly changed everything.

Brummel had the audacity to appear at a formal gathering dressed entirely in a silk suit of all black.

"It caused a sensation among the group, and soon black and white was decreed the only proper way for a man to attend a formal event," the AFA narration recounts.

"Tails" were created as part of the clothing of the 1800s, to permit gentlemen to wear the clothes for riding horseback. And it was the tuxedo, a garment without tails, that was the next innovative addition to men's fashions after the introduction of black as "the" appropriate formal color, says the AFA.

Griswold Lorillard designed a suit cut along the lines of the stylish "sack" coat of the day. It astounded the crowd when he wore it to a formal dance and was immediately nicknamed after the exclusive town of Tuxedo, N.Y., where it first appeared.

But it took some time for the tuxedo coat to catch on. Lorillard first wore his own in the 1890s, but until the 1920s it was considered eccentric and unacceptable to wear a formal coat without tails in the presence of ladies.

The elegant look of tails and top hat was epitomized by Fred Astaire in the movies.

But the tradition of the top hat with formal wear was breached when Dwight Eisenhower was inaugurated as president in 1953 and chose a homburg instead. However, John F. Kennedy stilled the furor in the world of etiquette when he went back to the top hat for his inauguration in 1961.

Today the black tuxedo and the black suit with tails are still unassailably acceptable at formal gatherings, but the AFA advises men to consider new options as well.

Screwworms Invade Panhandle

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)-The Agriculture Department says screwworms have invaded northern Texas and pose a threat to livestock, pets and even people in a five-state area.

"So far as we can tell, this is the first time they have been confirmed in northern Texas," a spokesman said. "We want everyone to be alerted in those areas."

The department's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service said the outbreak of screwworms were found in Dallam and Hartley counties in the northwest part of the Texas Panhandle and in Red River and Montague counties in the northeast.

Officials said the new cases "greatly extend the threat of this parasite to livestock" and warned that screwworms are a potential threat in New Mexico, Colorado, Kansas, Oklahoma and Arkansas.

Screwworms are maggots or larvae hatched from eggs of the screwworm fly laid in open wounds. If untreated, they can maim or kill cattle, sheep wildlife and humans. As the eggs hatch, the tiny worms burrow into the wound and feed on living flesh.

"Flies have been known to migrate as far as 180 miles in search of a wound," the department said.

Dr. M.E. Meadows, director of filed operations of USAD'S SCREWWORM ERADICATION PROGRAM AT Mission, Tex., said in a statement that livestock owners should watch carefully for infestations in all warm-blooded animals. He said suspected screwworms should be sent to the laboratory at Mission for indentification and that postage paid sample kits are available from county agents, veterinarians and animal health officials.

Since 1962, the department has been trying to eradicate screwworms along the U.S. Mexico border. Although the efforts have been credited with holding the parasites in check, they still have cropped out periodically in the southwest.

The control program involves releasing sexually sterile male screwworm flies in the area. Those males mate with natural females and since the females mate but once in their lifespan they lay unfertile eggs which do not hatch into screwworms.

In 1972, about 95,000 of those occured in Texas. About 4,000 cases have been reported so far this year.

Officials said about $22.5 million was allocated last fiscal year for screwworm control, including $11 million for a cooperative program in Mexico, which has been severly infested.

A recent study of the government's screwworm program said that if the effort was not made, livestock losses might exceed $200 million a year.

Disaster Payments Made On Wheat

By JOHN FUSTON
Executive Director

DISASTER WHEAT PROVISIONS: We started mailing disaster payments to producers July 12th. If you have some money coming, we will try to make your payment soon.

To be eligible for low yield disaster wheat payments, you must make less than 66% of your established yield, and you must report the acreage harvested and production to this office within 15 days after harvest. The production evidence must be identified by farm. In addition, the wheat acreage must be checked by this office before the stubble is destroyed.

COTTON ACREAGE REPORT DUE AUGUST 1: The final date to report 1976 cotton acreage is August 1. This is very important if you desire to protect the yield on your farm. Farms that do not report, even though none is planted, will receive zero production for 1976. If a zero acreage report is received by August 1, the farm becomes a special category farm and will receive a yield adjustment offsetting the zero. Who know, we might want to plant cotton again one of these days.

CORN OR GRAIN SORGUM DISASTER ACREAGE HARVESTED FOR NON-GRAIN USE: To be eligible for disaster payments on these acres, you must report the acreage and request an appraisal prior to cutting for silage, or haying or grazing the acres.

DISASTER FEED GRAIN PROVISIONS: To be eligible for disaster payments on feed grain, the requirements are the same as for wheat. You must report your acres and have them appraised prior to making other use of the land.

AGRICULTURAL CONSERVATION PROGRAM: The Fall signup period for the 1976 ACP program will be August 9th through August 25th. Applications must be filed with the office before you start the practice. We have limited funds available, but we will try to make them go as far as we can.

CROPLAND ADJUSTMENT PROGRAM: Acreage still under CAP contract must not be grazed without prior approval. This restriction applies to CAP acreage broken out and planted to wheat this Fall, as well as to the grass cover. Grazing permission may be otained by filing a request at the County office. The fee for grazing CAP acreage is 15 % of the average per acre payment rate, applied to the number of acres to be grazed.

U. S. Team In Moscow To Eye Spring Wheat

WASHINGTON (AP)-A team of top U.S. experts is in Moscow for a three-week survey of 1976 spring wheat harvest prospects in the Soviet Union.

The three-man team is led by Arthur Shaw of the U. S. Extension Service, Montana State University, Boseman. The Agriculture Department said the team also includes Vance Goodfellow of the Crop Quality Council and Edwin Stone, International Multifoods Corp., both of Minneapolis.

Teams of American experts have visited the Soviet Union periodically since a U. S.-Soviet agreement was signed three years ago.

The new team will inspect Soviet wheat planted this spring and report back on Aug. 9. Their findings will be made public the following day, officials said.

Although wheat and other grain planted last fall suffered some loss from drought and cool weather, spring-planted crops apparently have done well. The department on July 9 raised its estimate of 1976 total Russian grain production to 195 million metric tons, up five million from its first forecast in June.

If the new harvest of 195-million tons proves out, the Soviet harvest would approach Moscow's goal of 205-million tons this year and outstrip by far the meager output of 139.9 million tons last year. A metric ton is 2,205 pounds.

HELP FIGHT FATIGUE

Farm homemakers can help fight accidents caused by routine and fatigue by providing coffee, tea or milk breaks. If the operator is far away from home, pack vacuum bottle and "brown bag" on equipment to give him an excuse to stop. Modern machinery can operate continuously but man cannot. Give him a break.

BICENTENNIAL FACTS

The terms "lynch law" and "lynching" were coined in the Revolutionary War as a result of the harsh punishment dealt to Tory "conspirators" in an extralegal court presided over by Charles Lynch, a Virginia justice of the peace. Actually, Lynch's court did not hand down sentences any more severe than whippings.

Beef Grading Upheld By Federal Judge

DALLAS (AP) - A federal judge says he would not grade baby beef the way the Agriculture Department does, but yet has upheld the USDA's right to grade as it wishes.

U.S. District Court Judge Patrick Higginbotham ruled Wednesday against the baby beef industry, refusing to knock down new gradings of meat set forth by the USDA.

"While the court would not have drawn the line between good and standard grades as it was drawn," U.S. District Court Judge Patrick Higginbotham said, "it cannot say the rules are without rational justisication."

The baby beef industry, which brought the suit, had argued that the USDA had narrowed its good grade category "arbitrarily." It contended the new USDA rule, which takes much of baby beef out of the good grade and puts it into standard grade, would cost them $120 million a year.

The new grading went into effect in February. The USDA contended the good grade was changed to make the meat more marketable.

Ned Tyler, co-author of the standards, had told the court in a March hearing that there would be less "taste variability" under the new good grade.

Higginbotham said, "As one proceeds vertically on the meat scale, the meat changes. The setting of standards requires that lines must be drawn somewhere and, given the progressive nature of the changes in meat grades, much of the same attack as launched by the plaintiff baby beef producers here could in all likelihood have been launched as to the juncture point of each of the grades.

"The rub here is that much of the baby beef is aimed at the retail grocery outlet. The downgrading to standard effectively eliminates that meat from the grocery shelf; whether this elimination is only a temporary phenomenon remains to be seen."

But Higginbotham noted the baby beef industry focused their attack on a small segment of the new meat grades which affect their businesses, while the USDA had a much broader view.

SAFETY CORNER

Riding a bike on a public road is hazardous, but, expecting the unusual can avoid many accidents. For example, expect:

- Doors of parked cars to open in your path. (Allow 3 ft. or more space when p ssing.)
- Cars to cut in front of you and make a right turn at the next corner. (Slow down and avoid a cut off.)
- To be squeezed to the right as vehicles pass. (Look ahead for a place to go if squeezed.)
- Some drivers of cars, buses, or trucks to be hostile. (Don't demand your rights. They could be your "last rites.")

TOBACCO RESEARCH

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — In the early 1900's, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.'s research department consisted of a Bunsen burner and one employe. Today, it employs nearly 400 persons, including 100 in machine design and 35 Ph. D.'s trained in chemistry, chemical engineering, biochemistry and plant embryology.

Production workers in American manufacturing numbered 4.5 million in 1899. They reached a peak of 15 million during the World War II year of 1943.

Two Democratic Congressmen, Jim Weaver from Oregon and Frederick Richmond of New York, urged that the Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz appear before Congress to explain how the government plans to deal with the developing drouth conditions that are threatening food crops world wide.

Weaver and Richmond wanted Secretary Butz to give the House Agriculture Committee and accounting of continued grain sales to the Soviet Union and the creation of U.S. Government held food reserves. The two Congressmen claim that Secretary Butz has no policy to deal with food shortages. Weaver and several other Congressmen requested that the Agriculture Committee create a special unit to concentrate on the extent and effects of a drought affecting the west and midwest.

In a report released July 12, the USDA announced that farmland values should rise 8 to 10 per cent during the year ending February 1, 1977. This projection however depends upon the U.S. crop production and export demand during the current season.

Farmland values increased an average 14 per cent from $345 to $403 during an eleven month period from March 1, 1975 to February 1, 1976. In the past five years farmland values have doubled nationwide. Total value of U.S. farm real estate as of February 1, was $421 billion, up $51 billion dollars from a year earlier. Farm buildings accounted for $72 billion of the total.

In its round-up of World Agricultural Highlights the USDA estimates that the total French grain production should fall about 14 per cent below last year's poor crop and nearly 26 per cent below the year before the last "normal weather" crop of 41.2 million tonnes in 1974.

France, the largest grain producer in Europe and in past years a net exporter of its surplus grain, has suffered from a prolonged dry weather spell. The USDA currently estimates that France's total grain exports are likely to decline by more than 50 per cent from the 14 million metric tons exported in 1975. Current opinion now has it that France will be looking at the U.S. as a source to replenish their exhausted corn coffers. Wheat supplies however, seem to be adequate for another year's usage even though wheat production is estimated to be down 25 per cent or 700,000 metric tons from last year.

The value of all mineral fuels produced in 1970 was $20.2 billion, 168 times the value in 1880, according to the Census Bureau's "Historical Statistics of the United States."

Chamber Adopts Chemical Policy

The Board of Directors of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has adopted a position paper regarding use-bans placed on agriculture chemicals recommending that use-bans be made only after sufficient evidence of detrimental effects has been firmly established by a viable data base to justify the ban and not before.

Faced with an ever increasing cost of production, the farmer and rancher must constantly seek chemical materials to be used in the production of food and fiber that will help hold costs to the consumer as low as possible.

"Use of agri-chemicals has become a necessity in today's agriculture," says Dick Yeager, chairman of the Agriculture and Ranching Committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and Farm and Ranch Manager for the W.T. Waggoner Estate headquatered in Vernon. "We are alarmed by the policies followed by government agencies in imposing use-bans on increasing numbers of chemicals used by the agri-producer prior to development of enough facts to indicate that harm would actually result from their use."

"Prior to placement of an agri-chemical on the market," says Yeager, "large amounts of capital have been expended in research and development. Indiscriminate banning results in cost increases to the agri-producer and to the consumer."

In its position paper, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce points out that there are cases warranting the removal of chemicals from the market in order to protect consumers and the environment, and WTCC is in complete accord with such action when it is based on facts and not suppositions, hysterics and other motives.

After graduating from Dartmouth College in 1961 with an A.B. in English, he won a fellowship in law at Stanford University. But after two years the acting bug got to him and he switched to UCLA for an M.A. in theatre arts. After two years in the Army, he began his acting career in earnest, winning awards and fans along the way.

Gemini Man Murphy is Renaissance man

Ben Murphy never had a hard time finding a job after finishing college. The fact is he had to quit school because he was in such demand as an actor. He was studying towards a master's degree at the same time he co-starred in The Name of the Game as a young reporter. The demands of his job became so great that he finally had to hold off getting the degree. He hasn't stopped working since.

After starring in a couple of series at ABC -- Alias Smith and Jones and Griff -- Ben is back at NBC starring in the new fall series Gemini Man. It's a remake of the network's Invisible Man series, which didn't make it.

Before all this television activity, Ben had a small, but he feels prophetic role in "The Graduate."

"All I had to do was appear in a fraternity house scene and say to Dustin Hoffman: 'Save a piece for me -- of the cake,'" Ben recalls. "In a way, Smith and Jones answered that request. I never thought I'd get as big a piece of the television cake that soon."

He came into this world on March 6 in Jonesboro, Ark., the son of Patrick and Nadine Murphy. His family soon moved to the Chicago suburb of Hinsdale, where he grew up and his parents still live.

After graduating from St. Precopius School in Lisle, Ill., Ben enrolled at Loras College in Dubuque, Iowa. This was the first in a long string of college enrollments.

Next on the list was Loyola University, where he managed to stay put for a year. Then it was off to Mexico City, for a studying stint at the University of the Americas.

Despite this hopping around, he managed to keep his credits in order, and after transferring to the University of Illinois Murphy got his Bachelors of Arts degree in political science. That was his first. He received his second after graduate study at Loyola, the University of the Americas (second time around) and a two-year course in theatre arts at the Pasadena Playhouse in California.

Since then, Murphy has done further graduate work in theatre arts at the University of Southern California and in physical education at San Fernando Valley State College.

Between bouncing from school to school and studying, he also managed to travel the length and breadth of the United States, filling several notebooks with his impressions. This he hopes to eventually turn into a book.

Murphy is still a bachelor and describes his tastes in home decorating as "cheap motel plastic." When not living amid this luxury he is off skiing, horseback riding or playing tennis somewhere. And although he doesn't have time to go to school at the moment, he can still be found nestled in a corner of the set with his nose in a book.

Robert Fuller, who plays the role of heart surgeon Kelly Brackett in NBC's Emergency!, probably served the strangest "internship" of any doctor in television. He didn't stop riding the range long enough to study the anatomy of anything, except a horse, between 1959 and 1972.

Fuller's first stardom came in 1959 via Laramie, followed by several seasons as a scout on Wagon Train, that famous western soap opera on wheels. So it was a bit of a surprise when he turned up on television wearing a white coat and stethoscope, instead of a six-gun.

Actually, Fuller was prepared to do more than cowboy roles. He attended Sanford Meisner's acting school in New York, had been a member of Richard Boone's repertory company and had spent a childhood playing roles in various parts of the country, before his family moved to California.

On the homefront, Fuller is a dedicated family man with three children, Robert (11), Christine (10) and Patrick, who's a year and a half. He and his wife Patty are active in the community, and he is particularly devoted to charities concerned with the welfare of children and animals. He is therefore a focal point for the "happy family" atmosphere which pervades the Emergency! set.

Dr. Lamb

She's guilty about eating

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 17-year-old girl with an eating problem. I am so weight conscious I can't really eat a meal without feeling guilty.

About two years ago I started forcing myself to vomit after I'd overeaten. Now it is a regular habit, but now I don't have to force it.

Because of this I either go on a starvation diet or eat almost continually and then throw up. I feel like I have a double personality — one that knows what a bad thing I'm doing to my body and one that is completely senseless, especially where food is concerned.

So far I have kept this from anyone. But I realize I must do something soon. I hope you will be able to tell me or send me something to help. I'm not overweight but most likely undernourished.

DEAR READER — You have trapped yourself into a condition we call anorexia nervosus. This, or a variant of the problem, is common in young girls who become obsessed with the idea of being slim, or downright emaciated. That is a reflection of our times and ideas about beauty. Venus was a full bodied woman, not a Twiggy, according to mythology.

Vomiting after eating is not new. The Romans did it after overeating — during a Roman orgy. They then returned to the banquet to gorge themselves further.

There are two main dangers in the practice. You can tear the lower part of the esophagus with forceful vomiting, causing severe hemorrhage that may require surgery. And you can develop malnutrition. The severe repeated instances of starvation or vomiting resulting in excessive weight loss is anorexia nervosus. Once the situation gets control of a person it is difficult to correct it. You will need professional help. By that I mean the guidance of a psychiatrist. The emotional factors in your eating and vomiting habits are very important and are no doubt the key to your problem. I would like for you to know how to diet properly so you can establish a well balanced diet for yourself and eat the amount of calories you need to maintain a proper weight. For that purpose I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-7, Weight Losing Diet. Others who want basic information on how to lose weight safely can send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with 50 cents for it. Send your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Starvation diets, crash diets and habits such as you have developed can lead to serious changes in the body. There may be a significant loss of vital muscle mass from the body. Growth and feeling of well being can be adversely affected. Crash diets can also lead to loss of hair. The hair on the head may fall out in large amounts leading to temporary baldness. It may take several months to start regrowing a normal head of hair after the diet problems are corrected.

Such dieting practices can seriously affect the endocrine functions of the body. Young women may lose their normal menstrual cycles. Men may become impotent or lose their normal sex drive. Personality changes are common. The loose skin, personality changes, loss of hair and strength all resemble premature aging. That is a high cost to pay because a person will now follow a slow sure sensible way of eliminating obesity or preventing it.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Manure is a word from the Old French, literally meaning "handwork," and was applied to tillage by manual labor and, later, to the dressing applied to the land.

A mix of longevity and adulation comes naturally to the live oak. According to one legend, the tree grows for 200 years, lives for 200 years and dies for 200 years.

SLEEK little raspberry pink culottes are topped with a solid color tee shirt. Note drawstring waist, slant pockets and bow detailing in this Red I design.

STRIPES are everywhere this summer. A smart evening outfit is an extension of the knit sweater dress from James Kenrob summer collection. It packs well for travel.

Summer is truly exposure time

By Ellie Grossman

NEW YORK — (NEA) — First, you have to accept the theory that summer clothes truly differ from spring clothes.

Those Seventh Avenue designers who do came up with two new concepts for summer which will keep men eyeing women — and women rushing to get what they're eyeing into shape.

If you're sitting, it had better be on a stationary exercise bike because one emphasis is on hips.

Sure, there are plenty of big clothes around: easy wrap skirts and full pants. But nudging its way in there, hugging hips and derrieres in a way not too many women can afford to be hugged, is the slim skirt. Also known as the pencil or tube.

Topped with an assortment of tunics, blazers and tank tops, the slim skirt is making its move, albeit with short, tight steps.

Another attack in the same area comes from the folk or peasant skirt, either stitched down from waist to hip, or suffocatingly shirred. But take heart. Even the boniest models don't handle shirring well.

And, of course, you have the fanny wrap, that little scarf or sash meant to be tied at the hips over a long skirt, or just about anything else you want to tie it over. It doesn't really work without a bandeau top and desert headwrap. In fact, the headgear is a must when the fanny wrap is superimposed on tunic and pants.

The second trend for hot, humid weather is exposure. That which has been traditionally bared at night, is now coming out in the sun.

Strapless used to mean a formal gown worn to high school proms. Now, it's running amok in almost all categories.

Strapless jumpsuits, strapless tunics, strapless sundresses. They're all over the place, in addition to skinny tubes, midriff tees and bandeaus which are part of the same open family.

Even vests are being shown solo, on top of short shorts and skirts or as modest coverups for bandeaus.

If you're the kind of woman who can't quite see herself walking down a main thoroughfare in a strapless outfit at three in the afternoon, there's always layering to fall back on.

Pull on a blazer or cardigan blouse or safari jacket. Even a tee shirt.

Or, for something truly different, take that shirred strapless dress, pull it to the waist and top it with a shirt. Now it's a hip-wrapped full length skirt.

The essence of both new trends, finally, is the apron or pinafore dress. Worn alone, it allows for scalloped, fluted exposure. Sweet and innocent. And if it's not that innocent, wrap, tie or button it over a tee shirt.

Out at the beach, the unconstructed maillot, often plunging in front with straps criss-crossed in back, is still the suit to be seen in. And, depending on how truly unconstructed it is — some are lined with nothing more than a label — and how translucent the material, the sight can be considerable.

Even young girls accustomed to the briefest bikinis are turning to maillots which are beginning to show up with bandeau tops. The strapless look again.

The maillot, incidentally, is a good choice for bulging thighs because it bypasses the problem and elongates the torso. If you have the problem and prefer to camouflage it, the boy-leg bottom will do that, in one or two-piece suits.

Tunics are still important for the fuller figure, with girdle-like construction underneath, and there's a sufficient variety of bikinis with halter, bandeau and convertible tops for any figure that can wear them.

How much can you do with tenniswear, the designers ask? For one thing, you can offer lots of warm-up suits in bright terrycloth and tons of cotton knit skirts with ruffled underpants, apron dressed, tennis tees, culottes, shorts and even an occasional short jumpsuit. Give the player colorful trims, they say, but don't stray too far from tradition. Keep it white.

The one thing the designers haven't provided this summer is the one thing we could all use: a way to go back to having July and August off. At the least, they could see to it that all the weekends are sunny.

Polly's Pointers

Perspiration stain gives husband pain

By Polly Cramer

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — What do you suggest using to get perspiration stains out of my husband's undershirts? The underarm area has hardened with many washings, making them uncomfortable to wear. — MARY D.

DEAR MARY D — Old perspiration stains can often be removed by applying vinegar and then rinsing. If there is a yellow discoloration, you might dip stains in a solution of equal parts of chlorine bleach and water, rinse immediately with clear water to be sure all bleach is removed. This could be repeated if need be. This recommendation is only for white cotton undershirts. If any odor remains in the shirts, soak in a strong salt solution before laundering. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — Am always pleased to see pictures in the newspaper of our school children, scout troops and other organizations donating their time to pick up cans and other trash in the parks and along the highways. But, as a mother, my Pet Peeve is the fact that not one of these children ever seems to be wearing gloves to protect hands from germs, dirt, etc. that must be on th trash. This is especially upsetting when a package of disposable plastic gloves is so inexpensive. — MRS. W.E.M.

DEAR POLLY — I have a few painting tips for those who do it themselves. A small hook or two fastened in the top or paint shelf of a step ladder is handy for hanging rags or cleanup cloths. Much better than putting them in your pocket.

When replacing towel bars and other hardware on a newly painted wall, I wax the screws before replacing the fixture. This makes them easier to remove the next time. Also, a bit of cooking oil is handy to put around the edge of the paint can lid before putting the can away for later use. Lids are easier to remove, too. — LOU.

DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is for those girls who have long hair. When you take a bath, put a large toothed comb in the tub. then after showering or bathing, wash your hair as usual, pour cream rinse or conditioner on your hair and leave on for one minute. Before washing this out comb the hair with the rinse still on. When the comb slides easily, rinse the hair thoroughly. This keeps the hair from breaking so badly and seems easier on the scalp, too. — MRS. P.S.

Made No Secret

A portrait of Truman dominates the presidential office.

Mr. Ford makes frequent references, in public and in private, to the "gutsiness" of his predecessor.

This admiration for a liberal Democrat by a conservative Republican has to relate mostly to the "common man" image which both share.

And the historical upset victory of Truman over Dewey in 1948 is right now all that's keeping President Ford's hopes alive.

Many White House staffers are deserting what they consider a sinking ship.

"We can read the polls just like everybody else," says an official of the Transportation Department.

So Administration insiders are looking for private jobs outside and it is increasingly difficult for the President to recruit outsiders for Administration positions.

The lame-duck syndrome almost emptied the Truman White House in 1948. Then, as now, departments and agencies of the executive branch were vacant, policy decisions stalled, former party faithfuls were throwing in the towel.

Truman's surprise victory proved a humiliation to the defectors and an encouragement to every underdog since.

Another thing: Some of the Washington bureaucracy are offended by the persistent attacks by the candidates on the so-called "Washington Establishment." Even President Ford has made jokes about the inefficiency of government employees. Of course, not all are.

Truman, on the other hand, never allowed himself to be anything less than totally loyal to all who had remained loyal to him.

Another dissimilarity between then and now is that Truman was assured his only nomination for the Presidency while Mr. Ford is having to preoccupy himself with the solicitation of convention delegates. Perhaps no incumbent President ever faced a stiffer challenge.

President Ford has made some courageous decisions. When confronted with a choice between political expediency and responsible government he has voted or veoted in favor of responsible government.

He has rescued the economy from recession without drastic countermeasures. Yet he has somehow failed to inspire the electorate. His audiences come to their feet respectfully but not enthusiastically.

When he has tried to assert his presidentiality--in SALT talks or on Africa or on swine flu--his best intentions seem to drift into difficulty and demise.

President Ford would argue that he inherited a nation in need of policies of moderation, that it was time to take the pressure off, and so he has.

And-in anything but an election year this "peace and quiet" would be both appropriate and welcome.

I do not know what President Ford will do with these next weeks but I remember what Harry Truman did. Like a feisty terrier yapping at a larger adversary, he whistle-stopped the nation sounding more like a challenger than a Chief Executive.

And the "sympathy vote" tipped the scales.

CIA U-2 Pilot Not Star Spy Type

LOS ANGELES (AP) - It may be a good thing Lee "Six Million Dollar Man" Majors is playing Francis Gary Powers next fall when NBC airs a dramatization of Powers' 1970 book, "Operation Overflight."

Powers just doesn't seem a star spy, even though he became the CIA's best-known snooper in May 1960, when an antiaircraft missile knocked his jet-powered U-2 plane from the sky more than 68,000 feet over Russia.

It caused a major flap for the U.S., downed a summit meeting aimed at defrosting the cold war and put Powers in a Soviet jail until his exchange in February 1962 for Col. Rudolph Abel, a Soviet spy.

But for five years now, Powers, a graying, compact man of 47, has done nothing more monumental than report LA traffic conditions for station KGIL while tooling about in a light plane at 2,500 feet altitude.

It still seemed kind of ironic when he explained why he wasn't up flying for KGIL the morning of the interview, a gray and overcast morning.

"The ceiling was a bit too low and we're only supposed to fly VFR visual flight rules," grinned Powers, who estimates he has 7,000 flying hours logged, 3,500 of it jet time and 2,500 of that U-2 time.

A guy who smiles easily and talks softly, Powers was an Air Force F84 jet pilot when he joined the CIA to fly U-2s. After his release by Russia, he said, he test-flew U-2s for Lockheed, the plane's maker, until Lockheed pink-slipped him in 1970, citing hard times.

He said he found it a bit strange the pink slip came in the same month he'd submitted the manuscript of "Overflight" - which is about his life, the U-2 incident and the aftermath - to the CIA for comment.

"There's supposedly no connection," he laughed. "But it'd be hard to convince me. They told me they were in hard times, but it wasn't long after that they hired a bunch of U-2 pilots with less experience..."

Powers, who spoke of all this with a wry that's-the-way-it-goes shrug, said the CIA never had asked to see the manuscript and only had told him to use his own judgment when he and author Curt Gentry began it.

The reason he sought CIA comment, he added, was because any seemingly innocent passage about the work he and others did could prove a valuable tidbit of information when put together with other data by foreign intelligence agents.

He said the CIA only asked him to delete two segments and that he voluntarily agreed to both.

Mondale Continues Attack on Pardon

WASHINGTON (AP) - Democratic vice presidential nominee Walter Mondale says he'll continue to speak out against President Ford's pardon of Richard Nixon, even though both he and Jimmy Carter say they don't plan to make the pardon a campaign issue.

Carter said at a news conference Tuesday that he will not make the Nixon pardon an issue, although he said he personally believes the pardon was "improper and ill-advised."

Mondale said he will not use the pardon as a tactic, but "I plan to answer question and speak out on it.

"This is not something new to me in this presidential compaign. "I've felt deeply about it from the start."

The Minnesotan said he will speak out on the Nixon pardon because he feels equality before the law "is one of the most fundamental principles of American life.

"It has to be restored, and we intend to restore it."

Mondale made the comment after being told of Carter's statement during a brief airport news Conference Tuesday night.

He was arriving back in Washington after a long weekend of fishing and relaxing in northern Minnesota.

He said he will meet with Carter next Saturday and is scheduled to make some campaign appearance in the South, although he said that schedule in tentative.

Meanwhile, Mondale said, he will resume his duties in the Senate and will be on hand to vote on overriding President Ford's veto of a public works jobs bill.

Like Mondale, Carter said Tuesday that he would answer questions on the Nixon pardon if asked.

But Carter said the voters know the circumstance of the pardon and "they don't need to have it raised for political advantage by a candidate. I think they would resent it if it were."

Carter said he honors Ford's right to make the decision he did. But Carter said he would not have pardoned Nixon until after a trial where "all the facts relating to his crimes could be known."

In Plains, Ga., Hamilton Jordan, Carter's campaign manager, said Tuesday that Mondale and Carter will merge their campaigns and that both will operate from Atlanta.

The integration of the staffs is designed to avoid "traditional frictions and problems between presidential and vice presidential candidates," Jordan said.

Senate Votes To Bar Campaign Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate voted Wednesday to prohibit high-level presidential or vice-presidential campiagn officials from becoming attorney general or deputy attorney general.

The prohibition was adopted by voice vote as an amendment to a bill creating a special prosecutor to investigate such scandals as Watergate, which brought the resignation of fromer President Richard M. Nixon.

The Watergate reform bill has widespread bipartisan support, and final action was expected late Wednesday or today.

Offered by Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., the ban specifically bars presidented or vice-presidential campaign managers, finance committee chairmen, party national chairmen "and other high officials" from being named as attorney general or his deputy.

Bentsen said naming campaign officials to such posts "contributes to a growing perception of the Department of Justice as a political instrument."

He said it is "time to assure the American people" that the department is not such an instrument.

BICENTENNIAL FACTS

The Founding Fathers would be astounded to learn that 150,041,000 Americans will be eligible to vote in the forthcoming presidential election. To vote in the early days of our nation, a man had to "have a stake in society." He had to own property or prove he paid taxes. And a man had to be "free, white and 21" to have a say in choosing the new nation's leaders, The World Almanac reports.

Newspaper Given To Harris Jurors

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The judge in the William and Emily Harris trial has ordered an investigation to discover who tried to sabatoge the Harris trial by smuggling an old newspaper to jurors.

The 2½-year-old newspaper, reporting on Patricia Hearst's kidnapping, mysteriously turned up in the heavily guarded jury room and set off volatile arguments Tuesday.

Superior Court Judge Mark Brandler, responding to defense attorneys' bitter complaints of sabotage, said he would launch his own investigation of the matter.

"The court concurs that who-ever did that did a very reprehensible act, and the court will conduct its own investigation," he said.

He told a reporter later he was assigning the probe to the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department. The department's officers had been cited by the defense as prime suspects in the matter.

Chief defense attorney Leonard Weinglass noted that only jurors and sheriff's deputies guarding the super-secure bullet-proof courtroom have access to the jury room.

"I'ts either someone on the jury or someone in the sheriff's office," Weinglass told reporters after an angry confrontation with the judge.

The judge revealed earlier that an unknown culprit had planted in the jurrors' restroom a Feb. 6, 1974, edition of The Los Angeles Times. Its banner headline read: "HEARST PLEADS WITH KIDNAPPERS," and the subhead, "Vows Help if Daughter is Released Unhurt."

Harris, acting as his own lawyer, told Brandler: "as a defendant, I am concerned that a member of the security detachment guarding that jury, could have done this. It is frightening."

Defense attorneys said the incident could have a prejudicial effect on jurors who have been told to forget the history of the Hearst case in judging the Harrises.
