(By The Associated Press)

VERNON, Nov. 12. — Reports of sound membership and financial status from 450 congregations in Northwest Texas and the Oklahoma Panhandle tonight encouraged delegates attending the annual Northwest Texas Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, south.

Bishop Hiram A. Boaz of Houston opened the conference this morning with a plea for faith and courage in the face of present discouraging conditions. He counseled pastors to say little about business depression since "we have heard enough about that already."

"Some of us sometimes have an apologetic attitude," he appealed. "Let no preacher be ashamed of his calling."

1,000 Attending

Nearly 1,000 delegates and visitors were at the conference from 65 Northwest Texas counties and three Oklahoma Panhandle counties included in the district.

The note of optimism and courage Bishop Boaz injected into the conference at the outset was reflected in addresses during the day by Dean E. D. Jennings of Southern Methodist university; Dr. R. N. Allen, chairman of the general board of church extension at Nashville, Tenn.; Dr. J. W. Hunt, president of McMurry college, Abilene; Dr. King Vivion, president of Southwestern University, Georgetown; and Rev.

Allred Declares Control And Domination Has Been Sought By Firms; Governor Sterling Makes No Comment

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 12.—Texas moved today to oust fifteen nationally known oil companies and two associations.

Alleging violation of the anti-trust laws in a 138-page document, James V. Allred, youthful state attorney general, demanded forfeitures of charters and non resident permits and maximum penalties of $17,850,000.

The suit, filed here in Travis county court, in which are tried all cases in which Texas is plaintiff, came after months of investigation of the oil industry and its operations. The inquiry was directed by the Texas legislature after charges were made at a recent special "oil session" that major companies had monopolized Texas oil operations and were throttling independent operators.

Defendants Listed

The Allred suit named these defendants, styling the case "Texas versus the Standard Oil company of New Jersey et al": Standard Oil company of New Jersey, Standard Oil company of New York, Standard Oil company of California, Shell Union Oil corporation, Humble Oil and Refining company, Texas company, Gulf Refining company, Pastoex Petroleum company, Continental Oil company, Sinclair Refining company, Magnolia Petroleum company, Simms Oil company, Shell Petroleum corporation, Cities Service Oil company, the Texas Pacific Coal and Oil company, the American Petroleum Institute and the Texas Petroleum Marketers association.

Mary Pickford Pledges Support Of Movie Industry To Hoover Relief Campaign

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12. — A diminutive motion picture actress, Mary Pickford, pledged to President Hoover across the White House luncheon table today cooperation of the motion picture industry in his unemployment relief plans.

It was not all a business luncheon, however. For Miss Pickford spoke to the president and Mrs. Hoover, too, of her own plans for a new picture. She disclosed also that her equally famous husband Douglas Fairbanks is planning a trip across Siberia and into China.

As part of her visit, the screen star presented to Mr. Hoover and the first lady, tickets numbered 1 and 2 of the 10,000,000 to be printed for National Motion Picture Week.

During it, she said, motion picture theatres throughout the country will give benefit performances, the proceeds of which will be turned over to relief agencies in the communities where the performances are given.

Miss Pickford explained her own philosophy as consonant with that of the president, that of local aid to the needy.

Dreiser Declares He Is Not Afraid Of Kentucky Law

BY LORENA A. HICKOK
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 12. (AP)—Theodore Dreiser came back to New York today and announced Kentucky can't scare him.

"Even if it were true," discussing the indictment for adultery brought against him by the Bell county grand jury, "I wouldn't give a damn."

He said he did not know whether he would return to Kentucky to face the charge and added:

Is Not Afraid

"But if you think I'm afraid, sister, you've got another guess coming."

Concerning the adultery indictment he apparently was not so irritable. He denied the charge, reiterated his previous statement that it was for him a physical impossibility, and added:

"Even if it were true, I wouldn't give a damn. My views on that subject are radically different from the public opinions of the average American—and I mean public opinions, not private opinions."

Immoral Man

"If any attractive woman became interested in me, I'd think it was a very lovely thing. But you must remember I am an immoral man. I am the only man in the United States who would do that sort of thing."

Dreiser said he knew the woman

This is Friday the Thirteenth—Black Friday. And there will be some who will heave a sigh of relief—if they get through the day safely—when it is past. Today is the final Friday the Thirteenth of 1931, two others—in February and March—having been crossed out by Father Time.

Cotton Co-Op Manager Urges A Return Of Confidence From People; Marketing Methods Receive Praise

THERE will be enough cotton held to participate in higher values to restore conditions in West Texas this year according to R. J. Murray, general manager of the Texas Cotton Cooperative association, who arrived here Thursday for a visit of several days in the South Plains territory. Mr. Murray is a former resident of Lubbock.

"The bottom's been hit and we're turning back," Mr. Murray said as he predicted advances in cotton prices during the future. "All needed now is the restoration of confidence on the part of the people. Next year if we are fortunate in getting a good season in the ground, we will never know there has been a depression."

Membership Grows

Mr. Murray said deliveries in the association now totalled over the 400,000-bale mark and were averaging better than 5,000 bales a day. He said 40,000 farmers in Texas were members of the association and the membership was increasing at the rate of about one thousand per month. He expects the deliveries to exceed 1930's total of 600,000 bales.

"There is a better feeling toward the farm board and its work and a better understanding of what the cooperatives are trying to do," Mr. Murray declared. He has just completed a series of visits which carried him to every corner of the state and has made several trips to Washington and New Orleans in connection with business of the association.

Salary Scales Get Reduction Here Thursday

Total Of 109 City Employes Will Be Affected By Slash Ranging From Five To Ten Per Cent Of Wage

Reduction of salaries of 109 city employes, effective December 1, was voted by City commission Thursday afternoon. The salary cuts will result in an annual saving of about $18,840 a year, City Manager W. H. Rodgers said.

Department heads had agreed, as representatives of the personnel of their respective divisions, to the slash before it was effected officially, the commission was told. Ten per cent will be taken from salaries of $125 or more a month and 5 per cent from those less than $125. Virtually all city employes are affected. The rate paid by the city for common labor was lowered from 40 to 30 cents an hour.

Other Moves Made

Since last June 1 and prior to Thursday's move, a saving of $24,000 annually had been effected by reducing personnel of the water, electric, engineering, and building departments and by lowering salaries of the city manager, city secretary-treasurer, and the municipal airport manager, City Manager Rodgers said.

Commissioners said they believed

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 12 — L. Gregory Dowling, 27, vice president and cashier of the Midland Savings bank here, battled two robbers with pistols today and although struck by three bullets himself killed one of them and seriously wounded the other as they attempted the holdup.

Police identified the man killed as Bennie Bethel and one wounded, is a serious condition with a bullet wound in a lung, as Jimmy Woods. Both have been arrested frequently in robbery investigations in recent years.

Describes Attempt

The youthful official of the bank, which is on the northwest outskirts of St. Louis, has gone through two previous robberies since the bank opened in 1928, and in the second one fired at two robbers, but missed.

Describing the attempt today, which occurred about noon, Dowling said he was alone in the bank with another officer when the two men entered. They came back of the cashier's cage with drawn guns and said "this is a stickup, walk over in the corner and turn around."

Each Waves Pistol

"Stick 'em up," the two men commanded as each waved a pistol. They forced the three against the wall. One went into the vault and collected $6,000 in cash while the other covered the two employes and customer. They overlooked $1,200 in cash which was inside the cage in packages.

Way to Get At a Cold Is Through the Bowels

As soon as you catch cold, the pores close; perspiration is checked Gases and waste can't escape through the skin. That's why your doctor's first advice in case of colds is a mild laxative like cascara. Medical authorities agree it actually strengthens bowel muscles. You get cascara in its most pleasant form in candy Cascarets.

Remember this when you catch cold; whenever breath is bad; tongue coated; or you're headachy, bilious, constipated.

Why resort to harsher things when Cascarets activate the bowels so quickly, so harmlessly and pleasantly—and cost only a dime?—Adv.

How Doctors Treat Colds and Coughs

Medical writers agree that the important point in the treatment of a cold, or cough due to a cold, is to relieve the congestion in the nose and throat, thereby preventing serious complications which may follow a neglected cold. To stop this congestion calomel was the accepted and standard remedy until Calotabs, the improved calomel compound tablet was introduced.

Now that science has robbed calomel of its nausea and danger, making it pleasant to take and perfectly safe for general use, over forty million Calotabs are consumed in the U. S. yearly with only the most pleasant and satisfactory results. In millions of homes Calotabs have proven their superiority in the prompt relief of colds and coughs due to colds.

One or two Calotabs at bed-time with a glass of sweet milk or water. No salts necessary. No nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, work or pleasure. Next morning the congestion has subsided, your cold or cough is relieved, your system is thoroughly purified and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you wish—no danger.

Get a family package of Calotabs, containing full directions, only thirty-five cents. Trial size, ten cents. At any drug store.—Adv.

Baptists Hear State Reports

Women Members Of Church Are Heard From Thursday While School Presidents Tell Of Year's Progress

BY R. W. BARRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WACO, Nov. 12. (AP)—The Baptist general convention of Texas heard from women members of the church today.

Dr. W. M. Craig of Dallas submitted a report on activities of the Woman's Missionary Union.

It revealed that Baptist women had given $1,233,359 for all purposes during the year, $798,452 having been applied to local work of the churches and $443,907 spent in missions, education and beneficiences fostered by boards of the local churches.

Of the latter amount, Buckner orphans home of Dallas received $30,671 in cash and boxes valued at $44,646.

During the year 333 new societies were organized among women and young people, bringing the total number of Women's Missionary societies in Texas to 1,732.

There were 548 young women's auxiliaries, 467 royal ambassador bands and 922 sunbeam bands.

Turning from church benevolences considered yesterday, the convention received reports from its universities, colleges and schools.

Dr. F. S. Groner, president of the College of Marshall, reported his institution had 50 more pupils this year than the same time in 1930. He predicted the enrollment would exceed 400 this academic year.

The student body added a large frame gymnasium building to the school plant. Assets of the institution were estimated at $342,054.

R. M. Caveness, president of San Marcos Baptist academy, said assets of his plant now totaled nearly $500,000. The bonded debt was $74,000. He announced that the youngest son of former President Calles of Mexico had recently enrolled there.

J. L. Ward, president of Dectaur college of Decatur, reviewed the 33-year-old institution's history. He said it had been difficult to obtain improvements because of the college's policy of not making debts. He said his was the only educational institution of the convention adhering to the no-debt rules. He asked the convention to afford the school adequate help to carry on its work, stating that there had been a 25 per cent increase in enrollment this year.

Dr. G. W. McDonald, president of Wayland college at Plainview, reviewed progress of the school. He reported loss of the college's funds in a recent bank failure. In spite of this set-back, faculty members had agreed to carry on with what ever money was received from time to time, he said.

Yesterday's program was given over to consideration of the church's beneyolence—hospitals and orphanages—and an explanation of the Baptists' cooperative program where in it is proposed to enlist all the churches in a campaign to raise a $6,500,000 budget.

Lubbock Turkey Market Will Remain Open Rest Of Week

The Lubbock turkey market for the Thanksgiving season will remain open through Saturday, W. R. White, manager of the Lubbock Poultry and Egg company, said Thursday.

Deliveries of turkeys this season have been light, and only one-half of the normal turkey crop is believed already on the market. Sufficient quantities of feed, low price and the busy cotton picking season are blamed for the small quantity of birds being sold.

The Titman Egg corporation bought between 1,500 and 2,000 birds in the Lubbock county turkey pool.

Becoming homesick for his wife and children in Antwerp, a Belgian recently shipped his baggage home and made the voyage across the Atlantic as a stowaway in the same ship.

3 RULES
big help to BOWELS

What a joy to have the bowels move like clockwork, every day! It's easy, if you mind these simple rules of a famous old doctor:

1. Drink a big tumblerful of water before breakfast, and several times a day.
2. Get plenty of outdoor exercise without unduly fatiguing yourself.
3. Try for a bowel movement at exactly the same hour every day.

Everyone's bowels need help at times, but the thing to use is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. You'll get a thorough cleaning-out, and it won't leave your insides weak and watery. This family doctor's prescription is just fresh laxative herbs, pure pepsin, and other helpful ingredients that couldn't hurt a child. But how it wakes up those lazy bowels! How good you feel with your system rid of all that poisonous waste matter.

Six Periods In State History Are Portrayed; Wear Costumes

Austin Woman Presides For Dinner That Ends Meeting Of Texas Club Women; 185 Are At Affair

Portraying the six periods in Texas history in table decorations, and a series of tableaux, a Texas dinner at Hilton hotel closed the thirty-fourth annual convention of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs Thursday evening. There were 185 in attendance.

Mrs. Lee Joseph of Austin presided at this dinner and introduced the retiring presidents of the seven districts in the federation. Six of these later presided at tables representing one flag under which Texas has served. The seventh table, presided over by Mrs. J. W. Fincher, Houston retiring president of fourth district and the new president of the Texas unit, represented the Texas of the future.

These presiding women were dressed in the costumes of the periods represented, as were the local hostesses who served with them. The tables were presided over as follows: French flag—Mrs. Greenleaf Fisk, Abilene, with Mrs. E. L. Banks, president of the Shakespeare club, as local hostess; Spanish flag—Mrs. Volney Taylor, Brownsville, with Mrs. J. D. Peters, president of Sorosis club as local hostess; Mexican flag—Mrs. J. T. Whitmore, Snyder, presiding, with Mrs. O. R. Copeland, president of the Daleth Delphian club, as local hostess; Texas Republic flag—Mrs. Ben G. O'Neal of Wichita Falls presiding, with Mrs. George Field, president of the Junior Twentieth Century club, as local hostess; United States flag—Mrs. F. R. Pettengell, Cleburne, presiding, with Mrs. H. F. Godeke, president of the Lu Beta Delphian chapter, as local hostess; Confederate flag—Mrs. Sam Cox of Mexia, presiding, with Mrs. James H. Goodman, president of the Twentieth Century club, presiding; Future Texas—Mrs. Fincher presiding, with Mrs. S. B. Haynes, president of the Athenaeum club, as local hostess.

Each presiding officer was called upon for a short talk telling of the period in history that her table represented.

Decorations on the tables were typical. For the French table, there was Dresden china. The Spanish table was centered with a senorita and red geraniums were paloed the length of the board. The Alamo was reconstructed for the Mexican table, while a log cabin, a stage coach and covered wagon marked the period for the Texas Republic.

Red roses and the United States flag were used to typify the period of the United States, flag, while oil derricks, airplanes, cotton wagons, gins, elevators—symbols of present and future industry were used on the table of the future.

In connection with this dinner, a pageant, "Texas Under Six Flags," was given by about 100 local people under the direction of Miss Ruth Pirtle. This was presented in a series of tableaux.

Dr. L. H. Hubbard, president of the College of Industrial Arts at Denton, talked on "Future Womanhood of Texas" and a $500 award was given to E. C. Eisenlohr, Dallas artist, as winner in an exhibit that the Texas Federation of Women's clubs fostered here during the week.

Permanent Headquarters For Club Women At Last Assured

Building Under Construction At Austin Will Be In Five Units; Is Planned To Fill Needs For Fifty Years

Club women of the state in session at the convention which closed here yesterday were brought to a realization that the permanent headquarters which they have been looking for thirty-four years will soon become a reality. Dirt has been broken for the project, construction is underway and it is probable that the January meeting of the organization can be held within the building.

This $162,000 building is to be complete in five units and is planned to care for the needs of the federation during the next fifty years. The building has become a reality only recently. It was one of the major projects and accomplishments of the administration of Mrs. R. F. Lindsay, Mt. Pleasant, which is drawing to a close today.

Financing of the project was completed less than two weeks ago when the Praetorian Life Insurance company of Dallas loaned the federation the $162,000 for 10 years at a low rate of interest. The transaction was made without a commission charge.

In addition to the building, the federation purchased a lot in Austin where the house is to stand. This lot, costing something like $20,000, is paid for.

Dreamed For Years

A vision of the future needs of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs was felt by the founder, the late Mrs. Edward Rotan of Waco, who wrote into the orginnal constitution that the permanent headquarters of the organization should be in Austin. This was thirty-four years ago. Until two years ago when Mrs. Lindsay became president of the Texas unit, there was little tangible evidence of a club house. It became one of the aims of her administration.

Mrs. James F. Welder of Victoria was appointed chairman of a committee at the federation board meeting in January 1930 and this group of women was empowered to work out plans for erecting the house. Mrs. Lindsay served as an ex officio member of the committee until this week when members of the board of directors of the organization gave her the power to vote. Other members of the original committee are yet serving. These include Mrs. Sam J. Smith of Austin and the seven district presidents who are retiring today. These latter are Mrs. J. T. Whitmore of Snyder, Mrs. Greenleaf Fisk of Abilene, Mrs. Volney Taylor of Brownsville, Mrs. J. W. Fincher of Houston, Mrs. Sam Cox of Mexia, Mrs. F. R. Pettengell of Cleburne and Mrs. Ben G. O'Neal of Wichita Falls.

This group of women was given all authority for the erection of the building.

Choose Dallas Architect

After architects had been sought from over the state, Henry Coke Knight of Dallas was chosen. Almost two years ago he submitted the first plans. Until the final ones were accepted, he conferred with women from over the state. At the Wednesday session of the federation at First Methodist church here, he presented the final draft and gave a detailed talk on the building.

Contracts for the plumbing, heating, electricity, wiring and such were divided between San Antonio and Austin firms.

The building is of Georgian colonial design and is to be of brick with a tile roof. It is constructed in the form of the letter "H". An auditorium that will seat more than 700 people is to be at the back of the building. General offices will be along a central hall. One wing will be devoted to an art gallery. In the other there will be a library and tea room. In the second story, there will be eight rooms and private baths for entertaining visitors—on the plans of a hotel—and a room for the housekeeper.

The building which was started this month is to be ready for occupancy at the end of 140 working days, according to present plans.

Through a system of patrons, founders and memorials, the building is being financed by the club women of Texas. A treasurer's report Wednesday showed $14,833.58 paid to date with a total of $36,473.08 pledged. Since the pledge are made in four annual payments, all are due at the end of four years.

Reporting by districts Wednesday the totals were as follows: First district—patrons, founders and memorials, 52, with the total pledge of over $5,000 paid; second district—patrons, founders and memorials, 62, with $1,239 paid from total pledges of $4,420; third district—patrons, founders and memorials, 80, with a total pledge of $1,225.50; fourth district—patrons, memorials and founders, 96, with $3,593.25 collected out of a pledge of $10,207; fifth district—patrons, founders and memorials, 83, with $2,315.58 paid out of pledges of $10,307; sixth district—patrons, founders and memorials, 34, with $1,003 paid out of pledges totalling $4,535; seventh district—founders, patrons and memorials, 24, with $2,400 pledged.

Three Lubbock clubs are among those pledging in seventh district. These are the Twentieth Century, Junior Twentieth Century and Athenaeum.

Totals from district reports will not tally with those of the treasurer as all pledges and payments had not been recorded at the Wednesday meeting, it was announced.

Exhibits Will Continue Here

Two Art Showings Displayed During Convention Remain Open To Public; Many View Paintings Here

Two art exhibits which were shown during the convention of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs in Lubbock will continue to be open to the public today, Saturday and Sunday, it was announced last night. One exhibit, a collection of 193 oil paintings of Texas subjects, is at Hotel Lubbock. The other includes drawings done by Tech students, work of local artists and of A. W. Mack of Amarillo. The latter exhibit is at Mrs. Earl Hunt's studio at 1906 13th street.

The showing at Hotel Lubbock will be open during the afternoon and evening and the exhibit at Mrs. Hunt's studio will be open during the morning and until 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

Keen interest was shown in both exhibits, according to those in charge. Mrs. C. M. Ballenger was exhibit chairman for the showing at Hotel Lubbock.

Mrs. M. E. Ogdon is a patient at the West Texas hospital.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Moore, Miss Genevieve Crawford, Mrs. Stevens, Mr. Miller and Miss Anna Barker of Wichita Falls.

UNCLE WILLIAM'S BEANS

Uncle William was an obscure eating house owner in a mountain mining town, until one day he served a marvelous new dish.

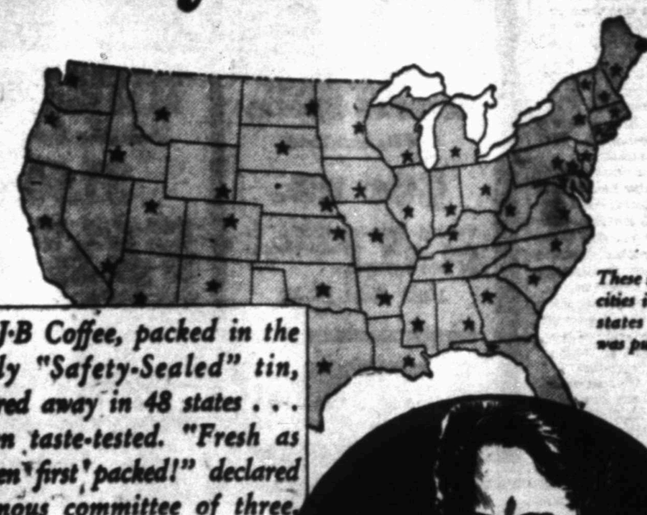

Beans they were—but such beans! Great, plump, brown, mountain-grown beauties, rich and meaty, cooked to the most appetizing mellowness and smothered in a glorious sauce, whose secret only Uncle William knew.

Far and near, people begged Uncle William for Brown Beauty Beans. So he arranged to have them canned. Your grocer has them on his shelves today. Telephone him and ask him to send you a can and the recipe folder that comes with them.

"Safety-Sealed" FOR FLAVOR-PROTECTION

Still at peak of flavor after 120-day test in 48 States!

These stars indicate cities in each of 48 states where coffee was put out on test.

M·J·B Coffee, packed in the only "Safety-Sealed" tin, stored away in 48 states . . . then taste-tested. "Fresh as when first packed!" declared famous committee of three.

Here's actual proof that the richer flavor of M·J·B stays rich for you to enjoy!

A tin of freshly packed coffee was sent to every state in the Union. It was subjected to all the different climatic conditions in each of the 48 states.

Four months later this coffee was returned and tested by impartial experts.

"We found the 'test' coffee as fresh and richly flavored as coffee that had just been roasted," declared the committee after critical taste-tests.

Winning such a verdict is positive proof of the patented "Safety-Seal" method of vacuum packing—a method only M·J·B can use.

The "Safety-Seal" is unlike ordinary vacuum processes. This seal on the bottom of every M·J·B tin closes only if all air is out. No other coffee has this protection.

"Because of the exclusive "Safety-Seal" none of the rich, delicious flavor of M·J·B can possibly escape," declared this committee of experts: Genevieve Callahan, EditorSunset Magazine (shown here); Chef La Faille, St. Francis Hotel, San Francisco; Prof. W. W. Ogier, Jr., Calif. Institute of Technology.

In M·J·B you get a finer blend, always at the peak of flavor and freshness. It's America's quality coffee in America's only "Safety-Sealed" tin.

Woman Arraigned For Killing Mate

TULSA, Nov. 12. (AP)—Mrs. May Spratt, 38, pleaded not guilty today when arraigned on a charge of murdering her husband, D. O. J. Spratt, Tulsa salesman, while the two were hunting last Saturday.

Another woman was arraigned here on a similar charge Monday. At that time Mrs. Ruth Dilllione, 21, pleaded not guilty to shooting Jack Dilllione, 31, to death as the two argued in an automobile downtown in the Hallowe'en throng.

Mrs. Spratt and Mrs. Dilllione are held without bond pending preliminary hearings later in the month.

Mrs. Spratt was arrested shortly after she attended the funeral of her husband, who was shot in the back as the two tramped the woods hunting near Tulsa.

Business Is Said To Be On Upgrade

"Business conditions in Lubbock are much better than they were when I was here the last time, about a month ago," Charles B. Hinsey, Oklahoma City, traveling freight and passenger agent for the Frisco railroad, said yesterday while here.

"I could tell the difference as soon as I got around town a little," he continued. "There has been a steady increase in business and merchants are buying all over this territory. Our railroad business is on the upgrade now."

Mr. Hinsey stated that the package shipment business was growing as the new 300 mile pick up and delivery service became more popular. There is a steady although not a great increase, he added, along this line.

"Our greatest trouble is trucks hauling cotton from Oklahoma down into Texas," he explained. "We do not have the low rate there that you do in Texas and because of that more cotton is shipped to Gulf ports by truck than by rail."

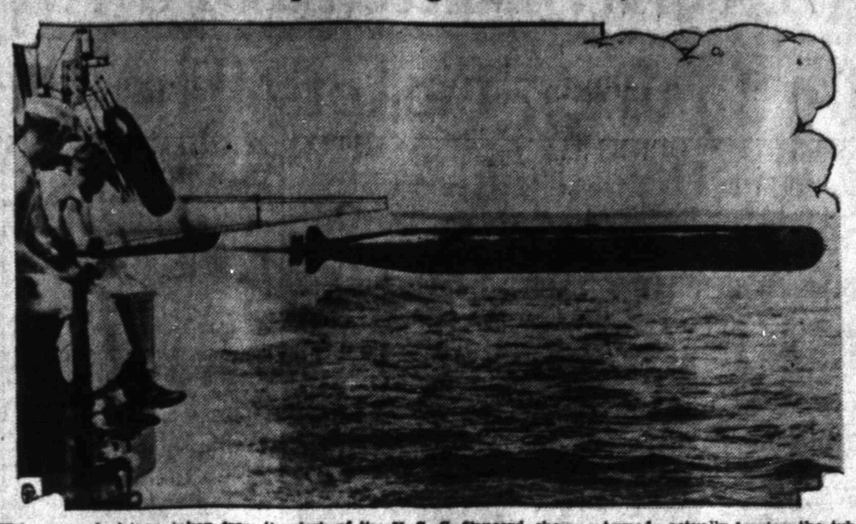

Abrupt End Is Reached In Port Arthur Election Suit

BEAUMONT, Nov. 12. (AP) — An abrupt end came today to the contest suit brought by Fred H. Drunagel against J. M. Reagan for the office of commissioner of public improvements at Port Arthur, now held by Reagan. Drunagel accepted a non-suit without prejedice but his attorneys announced they would refile the suit later.

Termination of the hearing, which was in its fourteenth day, came as a surprise. Judge George C. O'Brien ordered all election boxes used in the disputed election sealed and poll lists turned over to the district clerk.

Road District Two, Coke county, recently voted bonds for $175,000 for highway construction, 463 to 172.

Torpedo Caught On the Fly

Garner Likes Joke And Gives Texas Sombrero

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12. (AP)—Representative Garner of Texas appreciates a laugh at himself.

He presented Clifford Berryman, cartoonist for the Washington Evening Star, with a ten-gallon Texas sombrero today in appreciation of original caricatures Berryman had given Mr. and Mrs. Garner depicting the Texas Democratic leader in the hat of a southeastern cow hand.

Mrs. Garner has made a collection of cartoons of her husband during the 28 years he has been in congress and placed most of them in what Garner calls a "hall of horrors" at their Uvalde home.

FILES RESIGNATION

AUSTIN, Nov. 12. (AP)—J. B. Robinson of Dallas, a member of the state board of barber examiners, today filed his resignation, effective December 1, with Governor R. S. Sterling. Robinson's letter of resignation stated he was resigning to become international representative of the Journeymen Barbers' international Union of America.

Department Of Commerce Man Lands At Airport Thursday

R. W. Delaney, representative of the department of commerce, spent Thursday night in Lubbock, after flying in here about 4:30 p. m. yesterday.

Delaney, who tests would-be private, limited commercial and transport pilots, will spend part of Friday here before hopping off in his Wright J5 Travelair for his home, Dallas. Although five applicants for pilot licenses, two from Lubbock, were given the tests here last month by Delaney, there will be no applicants this month so far as was known Thursday night. Ben Branson, flying instructor, said there probably would be some to try their wings next month.

Farmer Claims Another Record

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 12. (Special) John Burnett, who claims to have farmed longer in Terry county than any other farmer now living here, claims another record.

Off of a block of 30 acres of his cotton he gathered 29 bales on the first picking and he believes that he will get more than a bale per acre off the entire block. He has a large acreage and is expecting the biggest yield he has ever had.

Mr. Burnett is now gathering his 27th crop. He has reported the largest yield per acre for the first gathering of any in this part of the county.

Frank Proctor, another old timer and also a well known farmer, reports getting 22 bales from 45 acres the first time around. He at first piled his cotton on the ground. Frank expects an average of three fourths of a bale or better per acre.

The island of St. Croix will launch a homesteading project to further the economic rehabilitation of the Virgin Islands.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

His name is Cagle, and for all we know he may be the famous Cagle of the Army, and he comes here next week to play at end against Pete Cawthon's Texas Tech Matadors in the annual Tech Homecoming Day program. They say he or some other member of the University of New Mexico team can kick goals for extra points, too.

Class B Race Narrowed Now To 3 Outfits

Lamesa Tornadoes To Meet The Winner Of Floydada-Littlefield Game For Championship In District Two

Three strong teams are left in the running for Class B honors in District 2 as a result of Armistice Day games. The district winner must be determined by November 28, under the Texas Interscholastic league rules, and bi-district games will start the following weekend.

Lamesa defeated Post, 19 to 0, for the championship of the southern half of the district. The Golden Tornadoes of Lamesa had downed Brownfield on the previous weekend for leadership in the quadrant. Post had won its sub-district title earlier.

Floydada's Whirlwinds whirled wildly above the heads of the Lockney Longhorns to smash out an 83 to 0 victory in a game in which every available substitute took part.

Now Floydada must meet Littlefield for the championship of the northern half of the district and the right to meet Lamesa in the final game. The Whirlwinds defeated Littlefield earlier in the season in a practice game and both teams have improved considerably since then.

No definite date has been announced for the playing of the semi-final game between Littlefield and Floydada. The winner probably will meet Lamesa on Thanksgiving Day or on the Saturday following.

Joe Jacobs Returns To U. S. And Lays Schmeling's Cards On Table Before M. S. Garden

NEW YORK, Nov. 12. (AP)—Madison Square Garden must compete with a $200,000 offer from Los Angeles for Max Schmeling's services as heavyweight champion if it is to retain it's legendary control of boxing's big business asset.

So spake Joe Jacobs, manager of the black browed Teuton, as he sailed into port today after a visit of several months in Germany. Furthermore he has much more to say, all of it indicating there may be stirring times ahead for the heavyweight division, either in the prize rings of the nation or the law courts.

Jacobs said he had a cable from Jack Dempsey while in Berlin saying the old man mauler would fight again and would be ready for a match with Schmeling, and Schmeling only, in June. This duel, bringing together the old Dempsey and the youngster who looks enough like him in ring clothes to be a brother, will revive the $2,000,000 gates of the golden Tex Rickard era. Jacobs maintained, and is open to the highest bidder, the Garden included.

William Brennan, St. Louis bowler, rolled three straight games of 199 in a recent amateur match.

Light Workout Follows Game; Injuries Felt

Barnett And Davidson Still On Injured List; Coaches Fight Against Overconfidence; Ducats Here Saturday

Coach Weldon Chapman turned his Lubbock High school Westerners loose yesterday afternoon after an hour of light work on the Fair Park gridiron and after admonishing them against thinking about anything except the Amarillo Sandstorm.

No evidence of "swelled heads" or overconfidence has manifested itself yet in the ranks of the Westerners, and care is being taken that no such calamity overtake them during the last two weeks of preparation for the biggest game of the season, or for what looms as the most important. A tie with Amarillo, under ordinary circumstances and rules of mathematics, would cinch the District 1 rag for Lubbock, but the Westerners hope to make it definite enough to banish all doubts.

Meanwhile the Sandies go ahead in preparation for the game that means so much for three teams of the district. An Amarillo victory would muss up the whole thing, throw three teams into a tie for first place and delay the bi-district game. But that is just what the Sandies are seeking to bring about on Thanksgiving Day at Butler Field.

Injuries Hurt Two

Injuries continue to play an important part in the rehearsals for the Turkey Day game. It is unlikely that Gene Barnett can afford to throw away his crutches until about the middle of next week, a broken foot keeping him out of practice since the Childress game a week ago tomorrow. Gene may be able to play against Amarillo and he may not. Coach Chapman reported yesterday that the injured member was "coming along as nicely as could be expected."

Bill Davidson, who can hardly be called the fifth man of the Westerner backfield after his stellar performance against Plainview Wednesday, is hobbling about with an injured knee. The member was wrenched in his last play, a 27-yard run, Wednesday. Cecil Merrill, regular halfback, is still troubled with an arm injury, Wednesday's game serving to increase the pain and seriousness of the hurt.

Tickets Coming Soon

Athletic Business Manager Pinkey Lowrey of Lubbock High school announced yesterday that an order for 4,000 tickets to the Turkey Day game in Amarillo had been ordered and would be on sale at the Hilton Hotel drug store here after this week. There is a possibility that the ducats, for which there is already a great demand, may arrive tomorrow. Due to a rush of business at the printing office where the tickets are made it has been impossible to secure the tickets for sale here. Local officials declare they are not responsible for the delay.

Of the 4,000 tickets ordered, only one thousand are for students, the remaining 3,000 being adult tickets calling for reserved seats. According to Lowrey's announcement yesterday, the adult tickets will not be sold without the reserved seat stub.

Junior High Sooners Win, 7-6 Over Plainview Junior 'Pups

The Lubbock junior high school Sooners deefated the Plainview Bull Pups at Plainview Thursday afternoon 7-6.

A pass, Hill to Ellis, for the extra point after Calhoun had scored in the final period accounted for the margin of victory. The Bull Pups got away to a lead in the first quarter when they scored.

Starting line-up for the Sooners: Ellis, McCandless, ends; Phillips, Young, tackles; Dow, McFarland, guards; Chuncy, center; Hill, quarter; Aycock and Whitehorn, halves; Calhoun, full.

Dallas was the winner of the tournament last year, but will receive strong competition from El Ranchito this fall. Texas-T.C.U. Game Holds Southwest Conference Spotlight This Week At Austin; Teams Prepare For Hard Go

Paul Snow Shows As Starter In Frog Lineup

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, Nov. 12.—When the Texas Christian Horned Frogs open their ever-important battle with the University of Texas Longhorns Saturday at Austin, Paul Snow may be among the starting warriors. This was indicated by Coach Francis Schmidt at the completion of Thursday workout, final stiff session the Frogs will take in preparation for the Longhorns. They embark at 8:50 o'clock Friday morning for Austin, with a signal drill planned on the Memorial Stadium gridiron Friday afternoon.

"Red" Oliver's bruised hip has prevented him from working out this week and he may not be able to play Saturday, which leaves us with Paul Snow and Hurbert Dennis for left half back," said Coach Schmidt, "and I may start Snow."

The possible starting of Snow at left half will be the only change in the backfield, with Grassy Hinton, Blanard Spearman and Captain Harlos Green being at their usual posts.

But there is likely to be a change in the starting line. Foster Howell appears to have fully recovered from injuries to his knee in the A. and M. game and probably will be at tackle instead of Jack Shakelford. The best of the line will be intact, with Cy Perkins still filling Ben Boswell's vacated position.

Mustangs Taper Off For Baylor Game

DALLAS, Nov. 12. (AP)—The Southern Methodist Mustangs featured their practice today by working on a defense to use against the Baylor Bears here Saturday in the Mustangs semi-final conference game this season. Coach Morrison allowed his regulars to take things easy while he worked his first and second string reserves.

"Bears down on the Bars" cards appeared on the Southern Methodist campus today. Coach Morrison was still pleased over the showing his regulars made in scrimmage yesterday when they clicked off their formations without a miscue. Tomorrow, the Mustangs will taper off with a light signal drill.

Major League Bornstormers Defeat Jap All-Stars, 14-1

MAEBASHI GUMMA, Japan, Nov. 12. (AP)—The barnstorming team of major league baseball stars today defeated an all-Japan team 14 to one, behind the eight hit pitching of Larry French of the Pittsburgh Pirates but the Japanese fans got one chance to cheer when Saburo Miyatake, one of the two Japanese pitchers, slammed out a three bagger.

The batteries: U. S. All-Stars — French and Muddy Ruel; All-Japan: Tsuji, Miyatake and Kuku.

Newark Bears Go Into Hands Of Col. Jake Ruppert As Yanks Buy A Farm

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 12. — The "chain" system, once frowned upon by baseball's elect but now regarded as an invaluable adjunct to a pennant winning club, received an important convert today with announcement the New York Yankees had purchased the Newark Bears of the International League, lock, stock and barrel.

The deal, announced by Paul Block, owner of the Bears since 1927, was confirmed by Col. Jacob Ruppert, wealthy owner of the Yankees, who long has been an ardent admirer of the baseball clearing house conducted by the St. Louis Cardinals.

"I have purchased the Newark club 100 per cent," said Col. Ruppert. "We consider it a fine deal, not alone from the baseball angle, but as a real estate investment."

Although the Yankees for several years have been "friendly" with such clubs as Hollywood, St. Paul and Jersey City, the Bears are the first team of which they have acquired complete control. The purchase price was not announced. Block, a prominent publisher, bought the club at a receivers sale for $520,000.

Acquisition of the Newark club, which finished a strong second to Rochester in the last International League race, promises to prove an ideal arrangement for the Yankees. They will be able to shuttle reinforcements back and forth across the Hudson river in record time. Two Yankees, Dusty Cooke and Gordon Rhodes, spent part of last season with Newark.

Whether Al Mamaux, veteran pitcher, will be retained as the Newark pilot has not been decided. Although he made a fine showing the past season, Mamaux never has been connected with the Yankees and for that reason is not considered a likely choice.

Encroachment of the "chain" system partly was responsible for the sale of the club by Block.

Lubbock Cowhands Meet Slaton Here In Afternoon Go

Coach John "Swede" McMurray will send his Lubbock High school Cowhands against the Slaton High school second team this afternoon at 4 o'clock on the Junior high school field.

Today's will be the first game for Westerner kick-backs since the opening day of the Panhandle-South Plains fair when they defeated Amherst by a terrific score. The Slaton team is due to give them plenty of trouble today.

Ellsworth Vines, 1931 national tennis champion, has laid aside his racquets to turn out for the University of Southern California basketball squad. He seeks the varsity's center position.

The first barefoot football league in Lanai City, Hawaii, has six teams competing.

Stanford Grid Team Of 1894 Lines Up At White House Table For Reunion At Invitation Of 'Bert' Hoover, Manager

BY JOHN F. CHESTER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12. (AP) A famous football team of the 90's lined up again tonight with President Hoover as its center, and the White House dining table the gridiron for its story-swapping play.

The team was the 1894 varsity of Leland Stanford university. The man now chief executive of the nation, but to them "Bert" Hoover, was its financial manager. And the invitation for a reunion was his.

There were multifold tales to be retold as the team, many now white haired, gathered about a White House dinner table decorated with red and white chrysanthemums, the Stanford colors, with a band to play the Stanford football airs of 37 years ago.

Will Irwin, New York author, who was cheer leader in the class of 1896, said he would not be averse to leading an old time college yell.

"I haven't been asked but if I am I will," Irwin said.

He had led one earlier, as several of the team members gathered on the back lawn of the White House for a picture with the president. He held a football marked "Stanford '94."

As the varsity lines up tonight the first string ends will be absent. Stuart Cotton, San Francisco, an outstanding star during his college days, died during the World war. The other, Dr. Alfred Spaulding, medical professor at Stanford, was kept away by illness.

Tech Varsity Returns Late And Turns In

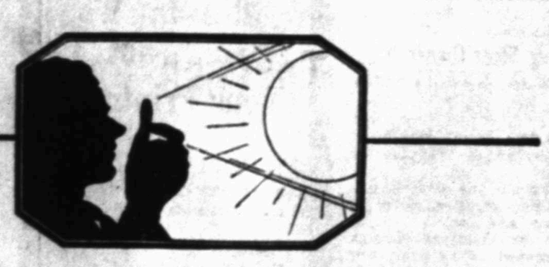

Weary Matadors In First Drill Today Since Abilene Game; Prepare To Meet University Of New Mexico Friday

Some what battered and bedragged in none too friendly a spirit and glad to be home, the Texas Tech Matadors rolled in last night after an all-day bus ride from El Paso. It was a weary crew, and it showed the marks of a tough experience in the border town, losing a hard-fought game to the Texas College of Mines team by a count of 14 to 12. Failure to kick goal after neat plays which brought touchdowns resulted in failure to gain a tie with the Muckers.

There was little comment last night regarding the Armistice Day game at El Paso. Everybody was eager to eat and hit the hay. Practice will be resumed this afternoon on the practice fields but it is not likely that rigorous session will come about.

The next game for the Matadors will be played next Friday when alumni and ex-students of Tech gather on the campus and in the stands to celebrate Homecoming Day. The opponents for the day will be the University of New Mexico Loboes from Albuquerque.

Until they lost to the Miners Wednesday, the Matadors were favorites to win the Homecoming Day game, thus winding up a perfect home stand. The Homecoming game will mark the last appearance of the Matadors on the home field for this season, provided no additional games are added to the regular schedule. The season ends Thanksgiving at Abilene when the Bullfighters meet the Simmons University Cowboys in the annual Turkey Day game.

Road Bond Issue Again Is Revived

(Special to the Avalanche)

MULESHOE, Nov. 12.—Discussion of a proposed road bond issue in Bailey county has been revived with the re-routing of U. S. highway No. 366 through Plainview and Muleshoe into Clovis, N. M., instead of by way of Amarillo.

The Clovis Chamber of Commerce and other organizations began discussions with other towns between that city and Plainview and also to Lubbock recently with a view of paving highways 28 and 7. No. 28 is paved eight miles east of Plainview and 22 miles west, or entirely across Hale county. It also is paved in Cottle, Wilbarger and Foard counties to connect with No. 5 at Vernon. In Motley county the grading work has been finished and bridges completed.

Lubbock county plans to pave No. 7 northwest to the Hockley county line this winter. This improvement will leave only Hockley and Lamb counties unpaved between Muleshoe and Lubbock county's south line.

Terry Conditions Said To Be Good

Terry county has ginned about 20,000 bales, J. C. Bond, owner of the Brownfield hotel at Brownfield, said yesterday afternoon while here on a business trip.

"Our gins are working night and day, some of the ginners working 24 hour shifts at a time," he said. "The latest report indicated better than 20,000 bales for the entire county. I think this is about half of the crop and it looks like we will gin at least 40,000 bales in Terry county this year.

"Business is better than it has been in a long time. A week ago Saturday the merchants reported the biggest business they had had in months. Last Saturday night some of the merchants closed at midnight and some early Sunday morning.

Mr. Bond said that the corn crop of the county while probably not as large as in other years was "the best ever."

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 12. (AP)—Eugene R. Cochran, special investigator in the disappearance of Thad G. Landon, young air line promoter, piloted by Russell Dick, returned to Kansas City this morning after what he described as a futile effort to uncover clues at Dallas where Landon's wallet was mailed to his wife.

Cochran said the point where the wallet, received here Monday, had been mailed at 4:30 p. m. Sunday had been located, but that no clues to Landon's whereabouts had been discovered.

Reproductions of 150 recognized masterpieces of art will be on display to students and the general public from November 17 to 27, and on December 1 an exhibition of American paintings will be sent to Tech through the College Art association, F. A. Kleinschmidt has announced.

These reproductions are true to the originals in all respects, with the possible exception of size, showing even the most delicate variations in color. In most instances the brush strokes in the original pictures are discernible. The exhibition is made possible through recent improvements in color photography and printing, which make it possible to bring faithful reproductions to even the smaller towns, Mr. Kleinschmidt explained.

Something To Think About

THERE is a lot of speeding in Lubbock and there is a lot of reckless, or purely thoughtless driving. Possibly it is because we see more of Lubbock's gyrations than of any other city that we think Lubbock is the home of the world's worst drivers, but at any rate, most of us will have to admit that there is plenty of room for improvement of the motor kind here.

Small fines assessed speeders and reckless drivers have been tried and tried again, here and other

Most experienced officials have discovered that there are nothing more than a temporary deterrent. Some have discovered other measures bear better and more fruit.

Take the justice at Malverne, a small community near metropolitan New York, as an instance. He found that small fines didn't do much good so he hit them something else. He sentenced a speeder to mowing the streets—and whether the speeder liked the experience or not, the action of the justice at once offers food for thought.

The Morning Avalanche is of the opinion that a few street sweeping sentences in Lubbock would go much further than the assessing of the same number of five and two dollar fines. The proposition should be worth some attention about the next time speeding or reckless driving smashes cars or sends victims to the hospital.

SCIENCE AND THE ATOM

Under the auspices of the Royal Italian Academy some 50 scientists of international reputation are gathered in Rome to discuss their varied theories and discoveries. Senator Gugielmo Marconi greeted them and opened the congress with a speech in which he confidently foretold the solution of a very ancient mystery. Science, he said, is on the verge of discovering what the world is made of.

Far back in history the scientists and philosophers speculated on this question. Thales of Miletus, one of the "seven wise men of Greece," was looking for the answer six centuries before the Christian era. He was seeking amid the variety of nature for a single material cause and came to the conclusion that "things are water." He was wrong, of course, as are less students of the problem have been wrong than his time. But by the hard road of error science has come steadily closer to the essential problem. There was a great victory when the atom was identified. There was another triumph when the atomic theory was solved and the microcosmic system of the nucleus of electrons was proved.

But the essential mystery remains, near at hand but not yet within reach. Within the invisible atom and its infinitesimal parts science still seeks for "the reason origin of all things" which baffled the philosophers of old. And though Marconi is hopeful that the solution is at hand, there are other and greater scientists who admit that science has done little more than to define the problem.

CHICAGO'S OWN CAMPAIGN

Unchly maligned Chicago, with the World's fair to inspect, is struggling against the bonds which have lashed her to the racketeer and thus far is making a good job of extracting herself. Indications are the reign of the hoodlum in America's second largest city is near its end as Chicago, with a new ally in the mayor's office and in the police department, continues its drive.

Although the trick was turned by Federal men, the conviction of Alphonse Capone, "Public Enemy No. 1," is but a great deal as will the jolt handed his dear brother, Ralph.

Even today the forces of law and order are turning siege guns on Dago Leonard Mangano, Capone lieutenant and widely publicized as successor to the fallen gangster, who faces deportation. A whole group of the lesser lights have been jailed or scattered. The ultimate headquarters of the Capone legion in a downtown hotel are deserted as the drive against business goes on.

The rest of the country may well applaud Chicago's action and may well hope that it will continue to the point where the gangster will be fully convinced that he and his ilk are not wanted and will not be tolerated. Chicago has made a good start toward retrieving her good name. The finished job will restore it to her.

Practical Health Problems

DISCOVER CURE FOR BALDNESS

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, And of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

It has long been recognized that the glands of internal secretion are definitely associated with the development of what are called the secondary sex characteristics. It is because of the special type of glandular activity that a male develops the way he does in contrast to the female. It is because of glandular activity that a rooster grows a comb and a hen does not.

British investigators have been able to cause a hen to grow a comb by changing its glandular mechanism.

Dr. B. N. Bengtson noticed that pituitary extract when injected may develop a profuse growth of hair. Reasoning from this that there is some relationship between secretion of this gland to the growth of hair, he decided to inject people who had suffered a loss of hair with this glandular extract. The regular injection of extracts of the pituitary gland brought about a stimulation and growth of hair in several instances. A man 58 years old who had been bald for many years developed a complete growth of white hair after continued injections caused the gradual growth of the black hair. Some of the cases treated were definitely cases of deficiency in the secretion of the gland.

It is not certain that this represents a method for cure of baldness of all types; indeed, the method has now that it is not safe to make any certain statements as to its value. On the other hand, much evidence has been established by Dr. Bengtson to indicate that in certain cases of baldness in which there may be a deficiency of the secretion of a particular gland, the injection of extract of the pituitary gland resulted in overcoming baldness.

Premature baldness is one of the chief sources of income for all sorts of charlatans and for the exploitation of various types of nostrums and hair tonics. Institutions have been established where baldness is treated by ultraviolet rays. Probably charlatans may endeavor to reap the usual income from these new investigations. Readers are warned that the time is not yet ripe for every baldheaded man to try the new treatment.

Progressive Threatens

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The threat of formidable opposition to President Hoover's renomination next year has loomed up with startling suddenness in the last few days.

Senator Hiram Johnson

The threat has been visible on the horizon indefinitely, but Mr. Hoover's managers have not considered it formidable.

It may not be, yet it begins to look like it.

Senator Hiram W. Johnson's recent denunciation of the administration's foreign policy, for example, is hard for politicians to regard otherwise than as preliminary to an announcement of the California solon's candidacy for first place on the G. O. P. ticket in 1932.

News of the offer of powerful support from responsible Republican sources if Senator William E. Borah will enter the contest has an even more ominous suggestion, supposing the sources referred to to be as responsible as represented.

Progressive strategists, it is interesting to note, for a long time past have been weighing Senator Johnson's chances and Senator Borah's potentialities against each other, in the light of each statesman's possibilities as leader of a drive to wrest control from the Hoover forces at the coming Republican convention.

UNMISTAKABLY the trend of these advance deliberations of late has been in favor of Senator Johnson, assuming that he can be induced to accept the political perils and toil of the progressive high command during the campaign already in its early stages.

This obvious preference for the Californian's leadership is not born, to be sure, of a progressive belief in his greater popularity with the voters. On the contrary, Senator Borah's appeal to the public is estimated as wider, if not deeper, than Senator Johnson's.

The essential argument which one does hear advanced in Senator Johnson's favor is that, once committed to a cause, he can be relied on to fight for it to the bitter end, regardless alike of prospects of success or failure. Senator Borah, on the opposite hand, is accused of a chronic lack of dependability in situations of stress and emergency.

AS ONE senator, with much influence in progressive counsels, expressed it recently:

"Throughout the west there is a presidential boom ready made for Senator Borah. His consent having been obtained to avail himself of it, no time need be lost in preliminaries. A strong delegation unquestionably could be sent to the Republican convention to work for his nomination. Nominated, his candidacy almost certainly would be the most effective the party could offer to the electorate.

"His weakness is that no progressive could feel confident of his leadership through the exigencies of a hotly-contested convention—could be free for an instant from the suspicion that, at the psychological moment, he might throw the bulk of his strength to President Hoover.

"It isn't disloyalty that the progressive fear in Senator Borah, but an apparently inherent instability in his character."

THE PROGRESSIVE field has, at any rate, gradually narrowed down to the two senators—California's and Idaho's.

Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska, it is taken for granted, would support either of them, but clearly has no intention of permitting his own name to be used under any circumstances. Because of his youth, if for no other reason, suggestions of young Senator Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin never have produced much impression.

Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania is spoken of as having failed to "ring the bell" in the western farm area, where progressive-ism thrives most luxuriantly.

As between Johnson and Borah, the balance of practical political progressive sentiment plainly tilts slightly in the former's direction but it might easily be shifted to the latter. The progressives like the Idahoan and are satisfied he could, if he would, make a cyclonic campaign for election. The only objection they raise to crystallization of a movement in his favor is—

They are not sure of him.

THE CAUSE OF ACCIDENTS

Millions of people are obsessed with the idea of saving time who have no idea of making use of the time they save. This is particularly true of motorists. The automobile is a great time-saver. Everyone knows that. And out of this common opinion seems to grow the notion that every effort in driving a car should be directed to saving split seconds.

So, out of this fallacious idea comes the cause of most of the motor car fatalities. Three bad practices in driving were responsible for the bulk of the accidents during the past year, says an insurance authority. These were, driving too fast in traffic, driving on the wrong side of the road, and failing to give right of way. All of these are phases of the mania for time-saving. The fast driver dodges out of line and tries to beat the other fellow across the intersection. He is bent on "making time."

On a day's drive the difference between safe driving and this break-neck splitting of seconds would amount to not more than a few minutes. Rarely does the speed pirate who cuts in and out and horns everybody off the road to make a record, know the slightest reason why is is in a hurry. He is merely the crazed addict of the speed stimulant.

"The automobile multiplies the characteristics of its driver," continues the insurance expert. "If he happens to be a bit selfish, a bit of a hog, his automobile converts him into a 60-horsepower, ton-and-a-half hog—and that's a large and dangerous pig."

WON A BEAUTY PRIZE AND FUNNY FACE CONTEST THE SAME DAY:

Miss Aileene Aalbu of Pawtucket, R. I., won a recent beauty contest in Minneapolis, and on the same day received word that she had won the Photomaton Funny Face Contest of New York City.

During a recent "Believe It Or Not Contest" in Boston, Miss Aalbu's suggestion won second prize, and she proved her claim to both distinctions before the audience at the R. K. O. theatre, Boston, when the prizes were awarded.

THE MAN WHO CAN'T GET OUT OF HIS HOUSE:

Joe Raggio, who lives at 908 South 12th Street, Philadelphia, hasn't been seen on the street for eleven years—just because he can't get through the door of his home.

Joe is only 27 but in that short time he has grown to 701 pounds, and his circumference of 78 inches is 10 inches greater than his height. Joe's favorite dish is spaghetti, and four pounds will not completely satisfy his appetite. He also enjoys frankfurters (five pounds at a sitting) but doesn't eat them unless he is really hungry.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Old MRS. JUPITER, wife of the millionaire automobile manufacturer, gives an engagement dinner and dance for her secretary, MARY HARKNESS, who is to marry DIRK RUYTHER, blue-blood yonug lawyer.

Mary receives a telephone call from her scrapegrace brother, EDDIE, saying he is in trouble and must see her. The house is strictly guarded against "gate-crashers" because Mrs. Jupiter is wearing the famous Jupiter rubies.

Mary arranges for Eddie to be admitted secretly. When she goes upstairs to meet him she finds Mrs. Jupiter robbed and murdered in her room. Seeking Dirk, she finds him with CORNELIA TABOR, his childhood sweetheart. Dirk advises her to keep silent about Eddie until he can locate the boy.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER V

It was Dirk's voice—tired, rather, but blessedly his. Mary went weak with joy.

"I've got word of—the person we were speaking of," he said. "I'll see you at three o'clock. Can you be ready to go with me then?"

"Oh, Dirk, of course! Then it's all right? Everything's all right?"

"I don't know that," he hedged. "I haven't talked with him. Better not say anything to anybody yet. Well, I'm going home and get some sleep now, and I'll be around for you at a quarter of three, sharp. See you then."

The relief Mary had felt at first gave place to a new and more oppressive fear. If he had had good news, or even the hope of it, he would have told her. He had meant to be comforting, but the effect of his words was just the opposite. She was really alarmed now.

The telephone rang again. She picked it up wearily. It was another reporter.

"Yes," she told him automatically, "Inspector Kane will see you here at 11 o'clock. Mr. Jupiter will be present also. No, there will be no other interview. Mr. Jupiter is very tired and has been ordered to bed."

"But it's half-past 10 now," an outraged voice complained, "and I'm in Hackensack, New Jersey!"

"Well," Mary permitted herself the rare luxury of flippancy, "that's what you get for it." She hung up. What a way to talk—she must be getting lightheaded.

The phone shrilled again even as she hung up. She walked away and let it ring.

Three o'clock. If she could just keep her own counsel until then. Somehow she could not bear to face Mr. Jupiter with the knowledge of what she was holding back. "So far there has been nothing—nothing!" There was something—not much, perhaps, but something. She would feel better when the strain of waiting was over, when Mr. Jupiter knew.

She was almost fatalistic about it now. She knew that sooner or later someone would interrogate Bessie, if they had not already done so, and that in all probability Bessie would tell frankly about the side door she had left unlocked at Mary's request. She ought to speak to Bessie.

But something held her back. Pride, of a sort. She could lie her self but she could not ask Bessie to lie. Intrigue with a house-maid would be humiliating at best. Perhaps Inspector Kane was so busy he would forget about Bessie. But as she passed the library door she saw Kane there with Mr. Jupiter and the lawyer, talking with a fourth man who had his back to the door. She recognized with a start that it was Tom, the chauffeur.

Tom was shaking his head with great positiveness.

"I'd take my oath on it," he said, that it was the same car. Three times it came in and went 'round the circle, in the space of half an hour."

"You'd know it again if you saw it?"

"I would. A black body with alumnium trimmings and alumnium hood. Mr. Jupiter called our attention to it, that's why I noticed it. A guy was driving it, but I didn't see his face."

"Anybody in it?"

"Nobody in it that I could see."

The detective made a rapid note.

"Lorimor. Special body." The chauffeur nodded.

"All right, Tom. You can go." As an afterthought he called after him, "That maid around, the one that was with you?" Tom disclaimed all knowledge of Bessie with an indifferent shrug. "Probably sleeping. You want to see her?" The faint accent he placed on the word "her" indicated that in his opinion this would be a pure waste of time.

"Never mind," Kane said. "I'll see her presently. You talk to her last night? She say anything to you?"

"Dumb as an oyster," Tom shrugged.

ged. "She don't know the time of day."

"All right," said Kane absently. "I'll get around to her after while. Now where are those reporters? Let's get them out of the way."

The group of newspapermen waiting in the dining-room, where sleepy-eyed servants had laid a buffet supper at Mr. Jupiter's order, were ushered into the library next. Mary would have slipped away but Inspector Kane, spying her as he greeted the men on their entrance, summoned her with a nod.

"Come in, will you please, Miss Harkness? We need a rose among all these thorns."

The newspapermen eyed her curiously; she felt as overpowered with shyness as if she had suddenly been thrust out on a stage, alone. But they behaved toward her with the most formal courtesy.

Kane jumped into the middle of his discourse. Evidently he had gone over most of it with them individually before.

"So as I said before to you boys, I'm convinced the crook who did this was an amateur and a bungler. I haven't changed my mind."

"Bungler!" someone snorted sarcastically.

Kane raised his voice. "Bungler, I said. And why? Because he'll have to take the rap for murder, that's why. Any jewel thief who knew the A B C of the business could have got those jewels and never left a mark on the old lady." Remembering the presence of Mr. Jupiter, he lowered his voice somewhat as if to soften what he had to say.

"But how did he get in?" somebody asked.

Kane waved him down. "He got in, didn't he? We'll get around to that. Two Pinkerton men looked over the guests as they came in and there wasn't a 'mug' in the lot. But they left at midnight. Nobody was admitted at either door without a ticket. But there were plenty of windows open and the French doors in the ballroom were open. If a man could get into the grounds, he could get into the house.

"But let's get on. As I say, Mrs. Jupiter's feet hurt and she went upstairs to her room on the third floor to give 'em a little rest. That tallies because she had on house-slippers when she was found. Her maid was downstairs looking after the women guests. The thief was either hiding in a closet, or in the next room, or else he came in after she did. He steps out, throws a gun on her, and tells her to hand over the jewels. But the old lady was game. She wouldn't give them up.

"Now! How do I know the guy was an amateur? Because first off he grabs her rings and the diamond ti-ayra. Diamonds are flashy, and any fool knows what they're worth. But rubies," he broke off to ask, "any of you ever seen the Jupiter necklace?"

There was shaking of heads. "Pictures of it," one man admitted.

"Well, then you know it doesn't look like so much. You'd never think to look at it that $500,000 wouldn't buy it. A cool half a million! That's money, in any language. But just to look at, why, say, my wife's got a string of pearls I bought her for Christmas that knocks the spots off it for looks!"

"Taking a little graft, Kane?" somebody snickered, Kane overlooked the raillery.

"Now, the way I figure it, this guy don't have any real idea of the value of that necklace or he wouldn't have fooled with the other stuff. Here's what he did; he pocketed the diamonds, and made a pass at the necklace. Now, any crook smart enough to know a ruby from an agate knows that a valuable string of any kind don't depend on no catch that's gonna come apart with a jerk. A woman can't lose a necklace nowadays. They've all got patent catches. This guy was new and he was scared, for when the old lady refused to hand over the necklace it rattled him. He tried to snatch it and she held it up in her hands, tight. He cusses her and she runs to the balcony and he lets her have it. Now, why would he do that?

"He must have thought the upper floor was deserted or he wouldn't have been there. And if somebody did hear her scream and came in, what difference would that make? If he'd been a regular stick up that knew his job he'd have stood them up against the wall and made a getaway just the same, cool as you please.

"No, that guy had a nervous trigger finger. I might go so far as to say he was yellow, clear through. Maybe he monkeyed with the catch and couldn't open it as the old lady lay on the floor—we'll know when we get the fingerprint man's report. But the chances are he didn't, for he didn't have time. Miss Harkness thinks she didn't scream, but she isn't sure. She probably made a sound of some kind. Then it couldn't have been more than a minute before she came in and the man was gone. When Miss Harkness came in and when she went out, the lights were on, full and bright. She didn't make a search, naturally, and it's a good thing she didn't, for Miss Harkness," he turned to the girl, "you can take my word for it the murderer was still in that room, all the time you were there!"

He watched the girl's white face with obvious relish of the impression he was creating.

The butler answered Mrs. Jupiter's bell that had just rung a minute before he met Miss Harkness at the foot of the stairs. When the butler entered the room, it was dark. He switched on the lights himself."

"I don't get you, Sergeant," somebody commented. "Who rang the busser—Miss Harkness?"

"No. He did. The thief did. The push-button that summons the servants is right next the light switch. In trying to turn out the lights to cover his getaway he missed the light switch the first time and rang the busser by mistake.

"We've got the story of a chap named Doulton that he went out through the grounds. Matter of fact, he ran into Doulton and nearly knocked him down. He must have climbed up and come in by the balcony. There's footprints below. No evidence on the balcony rail or the wall to prove it, but that's the most likely thing."

"Doulton get a look at him?"

Kane looked disgusted. "I regret to say that Dr. Doulton was more than a trifle drunk."

"Any fingerprints?"

"None 'so far. But I've got another witness that saw him probably. Saw him plain. Can identify him. But I'll tell you boys frankly that I don't think his life would be worth a nickel if I told you who he was."

One of the men—he was the veteran police reporter for the Star—asked slowly, "Saw him before or after the shooting?"

Kane hesitated. "Before," he admitted finally.

There was some talk about the exact value of the jewels, a request to photograph the necklace. And in a remarkably short time, the newspapermen had all left the house.

Only the man from the Star hung back, while his photographer went upstairs to "shoot" the necklace. "You know, you sound to me, Inspector, as if you had already made up your mind who did this. Am I right, or wrong?" he asked.

"And if I had," barked Kane disconcerted, "would I spring it to you guys? What you'll print anyhow may put him wise till I'll never be able to lay a finger on him."

"Ah, the old alibi," chided the Star man. He lowered his voice. "How about telephone calls into the house last night? Have you traced 'em?"

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 12. (AP)—Cotton showed a moderately downward trend today, notwithstanding favorable Liverpool cables and a sharp upturn in silver both in London and New York. Weakness in wheat and liquidation by recent buyers were said to be the causes of the easier tone, although the market encountered some support.

Following an opening dip of 3-8 points, prices gradually eased off during the morning and early afternoon until they showed losses compared with the previous closed of 12-13 points. The market was quiet most of the afternoon with prices keeping near the lows. There was a slight rally of a couple of points at the end due to steadiness in stocks. The market closed steady showing net declines for the day of 10-13 points. Liverpool is due tomorrow on New Orleans 2-4 penny points down.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Nov. 12. (AP)—Cotton was irregular today, with trading only moderately active and prices fluctuating within a range of 10-12 points.

January contracts, after selling up to 6.72 during early trading, broke to 6.63 and closed at 6.64, with the general market closing barely steady, net 3 points lower to 1 point higher.

The opening was steady 2-5 points higher on a moderate demand from trade and commission houses.

December closed at 6.62 and March at 6.70, or at practically the low prices of the day.

Sino-Japanese

Japanese and Chinese began today in the Tsitsihar zone in Manchuria.

The dispatch reported the arrival of two Japanese regiments and heavy artillery at Tahsin in preparation for a new offensive on a large scale and said Chinese expected Soviet interference shortly.

Munitions from Soviet Russia were unloaded at Tsitsihar last Saturday through the agency of the Chinese Eastern railway, which was mainly operated by disguised Soviet officers and men, it was added.

Portions of the seventh and ninth Soviet railway corps were reported to be acting as guards along the railway.

A second contingent of 2,000 Koreans and Chinese trained in Russia and employed in the 1929 conflict between Russia and China arrived from the Soviet frontier Tuesday, fully equipped with arms and artillery, it was reported.

a prevailing lower cost of living justified the salary reductions. Commissioners J. F. Bacon, J. E. Roach, and G. E. Benson were present and voted unanimously to make the cut. Commissioner D. N. Leaverton did not attend the meeting.

Routine Business

The commission recommended that preliminary study be made in connection with a proposal to form a tax equilization board of local men working under supervision of a professional appraiser.

Purchases of lubricating oil and copper wire were authorized and other routine business transacted.

D. D. Martin, city accountant conducting a preliminary examination of books of the West Texas Gas and South Plains Pipe Line companies, was not prepared to submit a report to the commission on his findings, City Manager Rodgers indicated. The commission ordered the inquiry after a hearing at which counsel for the utilities presented a brief to show that natural gas rates here should not be reduced.

Motion For New Trial Will Be Heard In Court Saturday

Motion of C. A. Sheffield for a new trial will be heard in county court by Judge E. L. Pitts Saturday, morning. Sheffield, manager of a local hotel, was convicted in county court last week of a charge of second degree negligent homicide and fined $1,500.

The hearing is set at 9 o'clock. Schenck, & Triplett, Sheffield's attorneys, indicate the conviction will be appealed if the motion is overruled. Sheffield was charged in connection with the death of Palma Kelley, 16, in an automobile-pedestrian accident here in April.

Stocks Lose Heart In Late Trading And Close On Market Is Irregular

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 12. (AP) — Stocks managed to disregard weakness of grains during much of today's session, but lost heart in the late trading, or just after the day's best rally.

Closing prices were irregular, with the balance, as measured by the averages, favoring the down side by a narrow margin. The market was even quieter than yesterday, however, sales totaling 1,450,462 shares. Bonds were somewhat mixed, although firmness in United States governments and many high grade loans was constructive. Silver bullion recovered almost a cent of yesterday's loss.

A last minute break in New York Central, which was off 4 points net, unsettled the list, especially the rails. Central's decline suggested short selling bases on Wall street gossip concerning the nature of the road's dividend. Union Pacific lagged after the regular dividend had been voted; most leading carriers closed lower.

companies allegedly operated in restraint of trade was the "code of ethics," sponsored and advocated by the American Petroleum Institute.

Amos L. Beatty, newly elected president of the institute, declared at Chicago the suit did not "amount to a hill of beans," expressing belief "it will soon die out."

Conspiracy Charged

Allred charged that a nation-wide conspiracy existed "to control and dominate the business of marketing gasoline and petroleum products and to destroy independent filling station operators."

The companies were charged with having been engaged in a systematic program of acquiring all independent filling stations in Texas; with fixing the price of gasoline and petroleum products; with fixing the price of filling station equipment; lessening and eliminating competition among themselves and "generally dominating the marketing branch of the oil industry."

The Standard of New Jersey operates in Texas through the Humble Oil and Refining company of which Governor R. S. Sterling is a former president. Asked to comment on Allred's action, the governor said he had "nothing to say."

If successful, the suit would forfeit the charters of the domestic corporations and cancel the permits of the foreign corporations and each of the defendants would be liable to a minimum fine of $35,000 and a maximum fine of $1,050,000.

A writ of attachment for the stocks and certificates owned by the foreign corporations in their Texas subsidiaries was filed. The Standard companies, the Texas company, Continental, Cities Service and Sinclair were listed as foreign corporations.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 12. (AP)—A few loads of better fed steers and yearlings sold at steady prices around the circuit but a slow, weak to 25 lower market prevailed on short feds which made up the bulk of supply. mentioned in the indictment as "Marie Pergain."

He said she was a member of the party — somebody's secretary, he thought. When he was asked where she lived he replied:

"That's my business."

Seemed Irritated

The novelist returned from his investigation in the Kentucky coal region in a somewhat truculent mood. He was considerably irritated with the manner in which, on the whole, newspapers and press associations had reported the situation and the hearings conducted by himself and the writer's committee and charged the press with being "traitors to every person who really works."

Dreiser discussed conditions he said he found in the mining districts of Harlan and Pineville.

"I've seen labor conditions all my life," he said, "but I have yet to see conditions equal to those I saw there.

"The miners and their families are dying of starvation. They have not got enough work, and they are not paid enough for what they do. They are living on pinto beans and potatoes — many of them — and there's nothing for the babies."

vault and attempted to lock it but were unsuccessful. They forced Black to leave the bank and enter the car at the curb. As they left the bank another customer, Charles Readnour, came in the door. One of the robbers forced the gun against him and threw him inside the door of the bank.

Man Put Out

Driving north about one mile the robbers stopped and put Black out of the car with instructions not to hurry back to town too fast. Black started to walk back but stopped a car and was given a ride.

A posse took up the chase but had found no trace of the three men tonight. The two men entering the bank were said to be about 27 and 35 years old.

Sorghums, No. 2 milo per 100 lbs. 80@84; No. 2 kaffir 80@82.

Delivered group three points: oats, No. 2 red 26@27.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 12. (AP) — Confronted by a surprise reappearance of Russia's will-o'-the-wisp export shipments of wheat, and rye, the world's grain markets plunged downward anew today. Russian wheat exports this week announced as totaling 2,480,000 bushels, with Russian rye exports 2,356,000 bushels, demoralized Liverpool prices, and led to heavy stop loss selling here. Chicago wheat quotations tumbled to more than 7 cents under their recent high point and rye to about 8 cents off.

Wheat closed unstable, at the day's bottom figures, 2 1-8 to 2 7-8 cents lower than Tuesday's finish, corn 1 5-8 to 2 down, oats 1-4 to 1 off, and provisions unchanged to 10 cents decline.

years include Mrs. Volney Taylor, Brownsville, first vice-president; Mrs. Frank B. Slater, Dallas, second vice-president; Miss Ollie Coon, Greenville, recording secretary; Mrs. C. D. Kelly, Groesbeck, treasurer. Mrs. Lindsay was unanimously elected Texas director of the General Federation Wednesday morning.

District presidents installed included Mrs. J. A. Hill, Canyon, seventh district; Mrs. Bob Barker of Fort Worth, Mrs. A. S. Lewis of Dallas, Miss Elizabeth Bonnor Phillips of Tyler, Miss Carrie Reeves of Brownwood, Mrs. J. L. Brock of Bryan and Mrs. Alex Adams of San Antonio, from the other divisions of the state.

Invitation Issued

A formal invitation was issued in the afternoon by Mrs. G. R. Scott of Corpus Christi for the federation to come there next November. Other women from that city and neighboring towns supported the invitation. No selection will be made until the January meeting of the board of directors.

A pageant, "Texas Under Six Flags," was a feature of the evening program. About 100 people participated under the direction of Miss Ruth Pirtle of Texas Technological college. In connection with this program, Dr. L. H. Hubbard, president of the College of Industrial Arts, Denton, talked on the place of women in the future development of the state.

Status Is Reviewed

He reviewed the status of American women in early history, called attention to the outstanding women in the nation during past eras and pointed to the poets, the writers, the women in public life of Texas today, saying that "history teaches dearly" and "that only a spiritual residium survives from one age to another." He closed with an appeal for improved educational opportunities that will enable women to make the contributions of which they are capable.

In her final address, Mrs. Lindsay said that today's problems cannot be solved by legislative deliberations or the emotionalism of mass meetings but that the need of the hour is for individual effort. Her talk was closed with three recommendations:

"Make this a cotton Christmas. Replenish depleted household furnishings. Apply a coat of paint."

Fifth district, which includes Corpus Christi, received a loving cup for the most canned foodstuffs reported among club members. First district was second in this contest with sixth district third.

One new club, the Wednesday Study club of Cross Plains, was received into the federation at a board meeting Thursday, and two women were made life members of the board of directors: Mrs. Henry Redmon of Corpus Christi and Mrs. Lee Joseph of Austin.

Mrs. Greenleaf Fisk, Abilene, president of sixth district, received a loving cup for her district on good citizenship programs.

A plea from the colored women of Texas came before the convention Thursday morning when Mrs. A. B. DeMent of Mineral Wells, president of the Texas Colored Women's Federation, talked on the needs of women in her race. She asked the convention to assist in securing for the colored woman a fair chance to make an honest living, the right to participate in primary elections affecting her, a training school for delinquent negro girls, social rights, a higher respect for the negro mothers and hospitalization for negro tuberculars and nurseries for children whose mothers must help make a living.

She outlined the ideals and aims of the colored women's federation, which has been in existence for 25 years, and made a forceful plea for help, saying that the hope of the colored woman lies in the Christian white women.

Murray On Program

R. J. Murray, formerly of Lubbock, and now manager of the Texas Cotton Co-operative association, Dallas, told of the work of his organization, advocating fixed prices for farm products and legislation that will give to farmers the same protection that commercial enterprises enjoy.

The market for products of this nation is in America and not abroad and when the 60,000,000 farmers of the mid-west have the purchasing power they should enjoy, there will be more balance in the production and consumption of products, he said.

A committee was appointed Thursday to confer with Miss Decca Lamar West, of Waco, in financing a federation history. This consists of Dr. Annie Webb Blanton, Mrs. Edgar E. Witt of Austin and Mrs. J. T. Whitmore of Snyder.

Connie To Marry Marquis Nov. 22?

Maybe they'll wed—and maybe they won't—but Hollywood reports persist that fair-haired, blue-eyed Constance Bennett, above, screen star, and the Marquis de la Falaise, lower left, will say "I do" on Nov. 22. Constance who was educated in exclusive private schools and became a popular society deb, once received $833 an hour for appearing in a film. The marquis, handsome, magnetic and cultured, is the former husband of Gloria Swanson.

Reports Deficit

Bishop Boaz reported a deficit of about $255,000 in the general benevolences fund and said the only way the situation could be met would be to curtail activities.

Reports were heard from preachers in the Abilene and Amarillo districts. Most of the reports revealed shortages in both salaries and benevolences. Two Amarillo churches evoked applause when all salaries and benevolences were reported paid in full.

Rev. Ira F. Key, pastor of the Polk Street Methodist church, Amarillo, preached the afternoon sermon and Dean Jennings was on the program for a sermon tonight.

Ratify Amendment

The proposed amendment to the church constitution relating to the election and powers of the general judicial council was ratified, 134 to 13.

On motion of Rev. W. M. Murrell, presiding elder of the Clarendon district, a committee was appointed to investigate the case of W. R. McPherson, former pastor of the church at Clarendon, who surrendered his credentials in the conference year.

Another general conference business session will be held tomorrow, when committee and board meetings will be resumed. Bishop Boaz will not announce pastoral appointments until Sunday night, but the list was expected to show few changes. In the interest of economy.

Cotton Prices

of Americans," Mr. Murray continued. "There are 60,000,000 people in the middle west and southwest whose purchasing power has been limited through reduction of agricultural revenue. The best way to restore this power is to pay the farmer a profitable price for his cotton and wheat."

The recent agreement to hold 7,000,000 bales from the market by the bankers and the coop is plainly indicative of the efforts of the two to restore the farmer's buying strength, he pointed out.

The seed loan pool, recently created by the association, is proving very popular, Mr. Murray said. Under the terms of the pool, cotton is collateralized at eight cents a pound and when the amount the farmer places in the pool equals the loan made by the government, the balance of the crop is released. The cotton in the pool is set aside and not sold until a price is agreed upon by the government and the grower. The remainder of the crop is therefore left to the farmer's disposal.

Mr. Murray said the association's work of securing new members would be continued on through the winter and until "at least half of the farmers of Texas are members, the ultimate goal of the association."

Scout Survey Is Conducted In Lubbock Public Schools

Number of non-scouts between the age of 12 and 14 years in Lubbock schools will be determined in a survey announced Thursday by Scout Executive D. T. Jennings.

M. H. Duncan, superintendent of schools, has agreed to the survey, and preliminary work was done yesterday in junior high schools. The survey also will be made in central, Dupre and Saunders ward schools.

Each boy will be asked what church and Sunday school he attends, whether he is a scout, a former scout and if an ex-scout where and in what troop he was registered. The father's name and occupation also will be asked.

South Plains Students Are To Be In Judging Contests

One Lubbock student at Texas A. and M. college, H. D. Pool, is a member of the school's livestock judging team that will compete with the team from Texas Tech in two contests this month.

Another South Plains student, L. O. Ranson, is from Lamesa. The team has started for Chicago and Kansas City. The trip will last 22 days according to R. M. Milhollin, coach of livestock teams at A. and M.

Mr. Milhollin was formerly county agent at Plainview, resigning there to go to College Station. He was succeeded by Roy Davis. Mr. Milhollin is well known to many farmers in the county and also to a large number of Lubbock people through his long association in this part of the state.
