Rumors That Veto By Hoover Would Necessitate Extra Session Of Congress Stirs Leaders To Action

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Confident of enacting the veterans' loan bill over the forthcoming veto of President Hoover, senate advocates today made available additional funds to safeguard against complaint that the cost of the legislation could not be met.

Senator Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, told the senate a reservoir of $785,000,000 already was available in the treasury for meeting the obligations of the loans. However, he obtained an amendment to the naval supply bill making an additional $112,000,000 already voted to the government insurance fund available by July 1.

Stirred To Action

Rumors that the president in his veto message on the bill might declare an extra session of congress necessary to raise funds for meeting the obligation stirred the advocates to action.

In the debate, Chairman Smoot of the senate finance committee who opposed the veterans' loan measure told the senate he did not think the legislation would involve an increase in taxes or make necessary an extra session of congress.

Vandenberg is proposing his amendment to the naval bill said "A new myth is growing up to the effect that congress has authorized loans without adequate reservoir for paying them."

Replying to Senator Johnson, Republican, California, the Michigan senator asserted "not a sin-

Democrats To Fight Raskob On Wet Issue

Party Leaders Make Protests To Rumor That Chairman Is To Bring Up Prohibition At March 5 Meeting

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Persistent reports that Chairman Raskob intended to bring up the prohibition issue at the March 5 meeting of the Democrat national committee stirred party leaders in congress today to send out notice that any such move would be opposed as out of order.

Members high in the Democratic council have said since Raskob called the party meeting that its sole purpose was to present to the committee a plan for erasing the half million dollar party debt before the 1932 campaign gets under way.

Protests Are Heard

However, reports have poured in at the capitol so persistently that the Democratic chairman was preparing to ask for a commitment of the party against prohibition that the leaders in congress took steps today to protest privately against any move in this direction.

The antagonism to open the prohibition issue at the March 5 session is not confined to the dry ranks alone. Some of the members of congress with wet inclinations are prepared to send word, also, to Raskob that they feel it would be a mistake to stir up this issue so far in advance of the presidential campaign.

Southern Democrats are taking the initiative in the protest against the prohibition commitment. They have the active support of Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader and vice presidential candidate with Alfred E. Smith in the 1928 presidential race.

Detroit Man Commits Suicide Saturday After Writing A Note To Police; Asks Wife, Father Be Notified

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANGELO, Feb. 21.—Roger I. Manwaring, about 42, of Detroit, Mich., was found dead, shot through the head, in a hotel room here this afternoon. A verdict of suicide was returned by B. E. Gray, justice of the peace.

The man registered at the hotel Feb. 12 as "Robert I. Manning" but a note to police revealed his real name and stated that he resigned Dec. 1, 1930, as president of the Fairbairn Hotel company and several other Detroit firms. He was a member of the Detroit Athletic club, the Detroit Polo club, the note said, a 32nd degree Mason, Elk and a graduate of the University of Michigan law school.

He asked that his former wife, Mrs. Janet M. Manwaring of Rochester, N. Y., and his father, E. B. Manwaring of Ann Arbor, Mich., be notified following his burial here.

Banks And Postoffice Will Close Monday For Holiday

In observance of George Washington's birthday, all the banks of Lubbock and the Lubbock postoffice will be closed Monday, it was announced yesterday.

The postoffice will be closed the entire day, Postmaster John L. Vaughan announced. Only one delivery will be made during the day and it will be confined to the business district. It will be at 10 o'clock. Collections in the business district only will be made at ten, two-thirty and six o'clock.

No residence or rural deliveries will be made.

Conviction Of Local Woman Upheld; Returned To Jail

Conviction of Mrs. F. E. Barron in Lubbock county court last March 22 on a charge of aggravated assault having been upheld by the state criminal court of appeals, Mrs. Barron was returned to jail Saturday pending payment of a fine of $200 and costs.

Mrs. Barron was convicted of assault upon Tita Licon, 16-year-old Mexican girl whom she had adopted. Testifying at the trial, Mrs. Barron said she had punished the girl because "she had been out late with a young man."

Doomed Pair Will Die In Electric Chair Tomorrow

Mrs. Irene Schroeder And Glenn Dague Are Calm As Electrocutions Are Prepared

(By The Associated Press)

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Feb. 21.—Their last journey at an end, Mrs. Irene Schroeder, 22, and W. Glenn Dague, 34, convicted slayers who are to die Monday morning, arrived late today at the Rockview prison, scene of Pennsylvania electrocutions. The trip, made by motor, was started from Newcastle earlier in the day with the couple under heavy guard.

Two fast automobiles left Newcastle this morning bearing the doomed pair to Rockview penitentiary near here, where they are to die Monday morning for the killing of Corporal Brady Paul, of the state highway patrol.

Woman Smiles

The woman stepped smiling from the Lawrence county jail at Newcastle while the inmates within sang hymns. To a person in the crowd about the jail who said "good bye, Irene," Mrs. Schroeder replied: "Good bye, honey."

Dague was calm as he and his gun woman companion climbed into the automobile to begin the several hours drive to Bellefonte, the last of many trips they have made together, first as robbers and then as fugitives from the law.

Speeding from Newcastle under a guard of county officers and an escort of state police and highway patrolmen, the condemned pair passed the place where Corporal Paul was shot in a spectacular gun battle December 27, 1929. Paul was

Senate Demand Made For More Pro Testimony

"Sensational" Data On Booze Conditions In 32 States Sought By Solons; Withheld By Wickersham Commission

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21. —A demand upon the Wickersham commission for more of its prohibition data came today from a senate already loaded with a conflicting mass of testimony as to prohibition conditions in 32 states.

The senate adopted without debate a resolution by Senator Tydings, Democrat, Maryland, an opponent of prohibition, demanding the commission's reasons for withholding any inforamiton as to prohibition enforcement in the 16 other states and the District of Columbia.

"Less Sensational"

Earlier, word had come from commission headquarters that "less than half" the data upon which its conflicting prohibition report was based had been submitted to the senate, and that the portion transmitted was the "less sensational" part.

One commissioner explained this as arising from "a natural inclination" on the part of some witnesses to "paint a rosier picture" in public statements than in private affidavits. The commission was requested in the previous senate resolution only for its "non secret" data.

Meanwhile, a survey of the material already before the senate disclosed a bewildering variety of reports on conditions in the 32 states touched upon. Prohibition enforcement conditions in six states were assailed as extremely bad, with one, Wisconsin, pictured as provided with "flood of intoxicants."

Limit To Representation In Legislature Is Sought

AUSTIN, Feb. 21. (AP)—Representative Moffett of Chillicothe will introduce a constitutional amendment resolution Monday to limit representation in the house of the Texas legislature.

Under Moffett's plan, no county would be permitted to have more than five representatives unless the population exceeded 500,000. They would be allowed a representative for each additional 100,000 population. Moffett said under his resolution a more equitable representation would be assured. A bill has been introduced by Representative Metcalfe of San Angelo to redistrict the state on a straight 38,000 population basis. This would permit Harris county to have nine representatives, Dallas eight, Bexar six and Tarrant five.

Delay In Mail Delivery Seen In Rail Pleas

A. B. Davis Reports Loss Of From Half Day To 24 Hours If Proposed Texas-Pacific Consolidation Allowed

Mail deliveries would be delayed from half a day to 24 hours in Lubbock and other South Plains towns on the Santa Fe railroad, if the Texas & Pacific railway should consolidate trains between Dallas and Sweetwater as proposed in an application to the state railroad commission.

That is the report of A. B. Davis, manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, who represented Lubbock and several other South Plains towns in protesting the Texas & Pacific road's application at a hearing Friday in Sweetwater before C. V. Terrell, chairman of the state railroad commission.

Permission Asked

In its application, the Texas & Pacific company asked permission to consolidate trains No. 5 and 7 and eliminate all other trains between Dallas and Sweetwater. The proposed consolidation would affect Lubbock and, other South Plains towns on Santa Fe connections, Mr. Davis said.

Such a consolidation would result in the morning Santa Fe train arriving in Lubbock an hour and 15 minutes later than at present, or at 8:20 a. m., and correspondingly later at other points, according to the chamber of commerce manager.

Old-Time Indian Fighter Is Dead

SAN ANGELO, Feb. 21. (AP)—Sam L. DeLong, 85, and the last of the Indian fighters in West Texas, died tonight at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Emma Peeples at Christoval, 18 miles south of here.

A resident of this section for more than 58 years, Mr. DeLong and his brother, the late William DeLong, engaged in the last Indian fight in this part of the country.

The fight occurred in 1876 near Christoval, where the brothers had built a pickett house. Sam DeLong returned to the house one day to get an axe and found a large Commanche ransacking the rooms. After a struggle in the house the Indian followed the white man outside where the red skin was killed by a rifle shot.

"Alky" Racket Thought Prize Of Bitterest New York Gang Skirmish In Months; Racketeers Try To Rub Out Foes

One Man Is Dying

"Squealer" Shot In Back For Turning State's Evidence In Slaying Trial; Wounded Hoodlums Refuse To Talk

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Gangsters fell lustily to the task of rubbing out their foes today and when the bitterest skirmish in months had ended three men were dead, one was dying and three wounded.

The lucrative "alky" racket was the prize, police were sure, for which warfare roared in the Hatfield house, East Side hotel. There Albert Wagner died with enough lead in him to kill several men and Harry Brown, a close mouthed Brooklyn youth with Manhattan "business interests" was hit so badly he probably will die. Police believed Abe Wagner, Albert's brother, stopped some bullets but he wasn't there when they arrived.

Squealer Slain

In the Bronx John Franzone met a "squealer's" fate. He was found in the middle of a lonely avenue, his right eye shot out and several slugs in his back. Franzone and four other gangsters fought police last July on McCombs dam bridge and a detective was killed. Franzone had turned state's evidence and helped to send Frank Corelli to prison for 45 years.

Several hours earlier John (Ages) Manza, minor minion of New York's rackets fell in front of an East Side cafeteria, shooting at his assailants as he died. The hail of bullets wounded two other men.

To End Career

The Hatfield house invasion, police said, was for the prime purpose of ending the career of Abe Wagner. Only two days ago he

Second Meeting Of West Texas City Officials Association To Be Held In Connection With Gas Rate Controversy

Second meeting of the West Texas City Officials association will be held here Tuesday at the Lubbock hotel for further consideration of the controversy over natural gas rates.

Mayor J. J. Clements, president of the association will preside at the meeting which is scheduled to begin at noon with a luncheon session. Fifty municipalities of this section are expected to be represented.

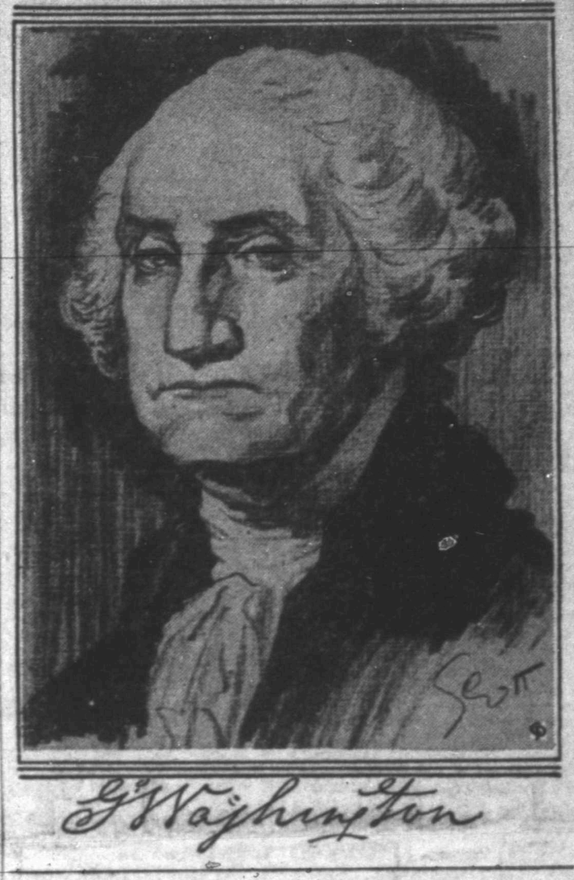

Association Formed Here

The West Texas City Officials association was formed at a meeting here February 13, when it was decided to hold another meeting Tuesday. Forty-two out-of-town officials attended the first session and joined in concerted action to investigate allegedly exohbitant gas bills.

A committee appointed at the first meeting to outline definite recommendations, following investigation which was to include conferences with gas company officials, will meet here Tuesday morning. Final copy of the committee's report will be drawn at that time. J. B. Cardwell, mayor of Plainview,

Right To Destroy Ingredients For Home Brew Making Denied

Hops And Malt Confiscated By Federal Prohibition Agents Ordered Returned To Defendants In Libel Action

(By The Associated Press)

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 21.—Federal prohibition agents were denied the right today to destroy a $50,000 stock of ingredients for manufacture of home brew, seized in a raid.

The government's libel action, regarded as a test case of the prohibition department's right to confiscate such stocks, was upset by a jury verdict which returned the stock, seized in a raid last May, to the National Beverage Distributing company, defendants in the libel action.

Government Faces Action

The government also faced a possible action by the beverage company to recover deterioration damages.

Shortly after Federal Judge F. A. Geiger read the jury's verdict freeing the stock, Norman J. Morrison, Washington, special government prosecutor, asked the court for a certificate of "probable cause." It was granted.

A. H. Sawyer, defense counsel, explained this certifies the court's belief there was probable cause for the agents to believe the law was being violated, and there were grounds for a raid. In case of appeal for government payment of the losses of deterioration, he said, the government might use the certificate. Losses were chiefly in the damage to 10 tons of hops seized in the raid, he said.

The trial hinged chiefly on whether there was any illegal intent in the sale of the hops and malt and the company's knowledge of the purchasers' intended uses.

Judge Geiger had advised the jury it might give the government complete control of the stock, split it according to portions used or intended for illegal purposes, or find as it did.

Paderewski Contrasts Art And Politics

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, Feb. 21.—His Unconscious preparation for the job, and the foresight to recognize the opportunity when it came, led Ignace Jan Paderewski, 70, to give up the piano for six years and become the savior of his native land, Poland.

That was the brief explanation the great pianist and statesman gave today in a visit with Mayor Ernest O. Thompson, of his desertion of the stage for politics.

"Luck" Only Opportunity

"Luck is only opportunity," Paderewski said. "When the opportunity comes one must be prepared. I had traveled everywhere and had met many great people. I thought the proper time had arrived for Poland to strike for her liberty, and I was in a position to lead the fight.

"I was very lucky, and I have had a wonderful career. But it took work to prepare for it."

"I am in politics," the mayor said. "I know its fascination. My wife, May Peterson, is a concert singer, and I also know her devotion to her part, which of these has given you the gerater pleasure?"

"So Different"

"They are so different," Paderewski replied, avoiding the question. "But there is one point in common: It takes eloquence to suceed in either." To carry his point, Paderewski compared two of France's greatest statesmen, M. Poincare and Aristide Briand.

"Poincare is one of the world's greatest men, but his voice has been a handicap. Briand has a

Voters Of Howard County Again Defeat Bond Issue

BIG SPRING, Feb. 21. (AP)—For the second time within sixty days, the voters of Howard county today deefated a $800,000 county road bond issue. The total vote, with only one box unreported, was 1,300 for and 939 against, or 206 votes short of the required two-thirds majority. On December 23, with a vote considerably lighter, the bond issue lacked only 34 votes of being adopted.

Lubbock Girl Suffers Minor Injuries In Auto Accident

Minor injuries were suffered by Miss Edith Wallace, of 1922 Twentieth street, when she was knocked to the pavement by an automobile at 7:30 o'clock Saturday night.

The accident occurred at Broadway and Texas avenue. Driver of the automobile, a light coupe bearing a Swisher county license plate, placed the unconscious girl in his car and took her to West Texas hospital.

Hospital attendants reported that Miss Wallace had suffered only minor bruises and abrasions, and that x-ray pictures had not revealed any fractures. Miss Wallace was dismissed from the hospital Saturday night.

Suspects Face Charges After Sunday Holdup

Group Of Indictments Alleging Robbery With Firearms And Assault With Intent To Murder Are Returned

Three Men Wounded, One Critically; First Story Of Fray Contradicted; Three Suspects Later Released

(By The Associated Press)

PLAINVIEW, Feb. 21.—A group of indictments charging robbery with firearms, accessory to robbery with firearms, and assault with intent to murder were returned by the Hale county grand jury today against W. W. "Buck" Raulie and B. S. Cawthon, held in connection with a hijacking early last Sunday morning in which three men received gunshot wounds.

Both Raulie and Cawthon were charged with "aiding the guilty party to escape." Sheriff Nath Burkett said a third man had escaped into New Mexico.

Condition Critical

Raulie was indicted for assault with intent to murder in the shooting of Irvin Byars, who attempted to escape through a door during the holdup in a house near the business district. Byars is still in a critical condition at a local hospital.

In a burst of gunfire that followed Byars' effort to escape, L. R. Longshore and Lawrence Denny were injured less seriously.

The shooting which resulted in grand jury indictments against W. W. Raulie and B. S. Cawthon at Plainview first was reported to have occurred during a holdup of eight men assembled in a Plainview house.

A lone masked man was said to have entered the house with drawn revolver and taken about $200 from the group, firing when one of the men dived through a doorway.

Three Released

Three of the eight men were wounded, one critically, and the other five were arrested. Three of those taken into custody as suspects subsequently were released.

65,000-Barrel Oil Well Starts Flow

KILGORE, Feb. 21. (AP)—The J. W. Olvey-Crim No. 1 half a mile south of the Crim discovery and 200 yards east of the estimated 50,000-barrel Eddie Jones well, blew in at 4:45 p. m. today for an estimated production of 65,000 barrels a day.

The well flowed 140 barrels in a 15-minute test several minutes after it had been turned into the tanks. The flow was allowed through a one-inch tube and a three-fourths inch outlet in the casing.

Basing their estimate on this 15,-500-barrel daily flow through one-and three-fourths inch outlet, production experts present at the bringing-in of the well agreed it would be good for between 45,000 and 65,000 barrels daily if opened up. Casing pressure was 300 pounds.

This well, the third producer in the Kilgore field, is the largest of all.

Mud-Slinging Mayorality Campaign In Chicago Climaxed With Fiery Oratory

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—The mud-slinging campaign, known officially as the Chicago mayoralty primary contest, reached its climax today in a burst of fiery oratory and another libel suit.

Additional bands, dozens of screeching ballyhoo wagons, scores of speakers and columns of newspaper space warned the voters that Tuesday is near at hand and with it the power to name nominees for the highest office in the nation's second city.

Some of the "whispering campaigns" that the candidates in the hotly contested Republican race have objected to came out in the open today. Municipal Judge John H. Lyle filed a $100,000 slander and libel suit against George O. Fairweather, assistant business manager of the University of Chicago, a supporter of Alderman Arthur F. Albert, saying Fairweather had indicated, in a letter released to the press, that Judge Lyle was connected with a burlesque theater.

Mayor William Hale Thompson meanwhile charged that Lyle was supported by Anton J. Cermak, the Democratic candidate who has not organized opposition. Thompson said Democratic workers were helping Lyle in the Republican primary "so they would not have Bill Thompson to run against again."

The voters were reminded of the possibility of violence next Tuesday by both Lyle and Thompson and the police and state's attorney both laid plans

Accomplishments Of C. Of C.'s Program Of Work Cited

Effectiveness Of Efforts On Needs Shown

Program Has Served As Guide For Organization During The Past Three Years; Many Improvements Stressed

BY BOB McCALL
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

ECHOING adoption of a program of work by the directorate of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development in December, 1927, a report has been made by the joint-chambers citing accomplishments in projects which were included in that program.

Work and results obtained by the chamber of commerce and board of city development have not been limited, however, to activities suggested in the program of work.

To Serve Needs

The program was made from the suggestions of more than 500 member-citizens, and was designed to reflect the wishes of the citizenship and outstanding needs of the community at that time accurately.

"For the past three years this program has served as a guide, a chart or blue print for the board of directors and committees to follow in directing and executing the work of the organization," said A. B. Davis, manager.

"It has given the organization a definite objective and has eliminated haphazard methods and aimless procedure. "The outstanding and gratifying fact is that so much has been accomplished in such a short period of time.

Coperation Given

"This program could not have been carried out but for the support and cooperation given the chamber of commerce and board of city development by other organizations, public bodies and patriotic individuals, to whom credit and appreciation is gratefully accorded.

"Obviously, this report does not include the thousands of specific services rendered by the organization to individuals, firms and the community.

"Three years ago the present drouth and economic conditions could not be foreseen but the chamber of commerce and board of city development has taken the lead in this emergency."

Aiding In Loans

The Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development was a major force in obtaining federal crop loans for drouth stricken farmers of Lubbock county, and initiated the movement to obtain Red Cross relief for the immediate assistance of the farmers, attaches of the local chamber said.

A resume of accomplishments in projects on the program of work, preceded by general statements from the program, follows:

Advertising Promoted

1. "Promote a general advertising campaign for Lubbock and the South Plains with the special object of colonizing the section."

Results: $30,000 has been spent for display advertising in farm journals of national and southwestern circulation; more than 20,000 inquiries have been received and answered; more than 1,500 farm families purchased homes in the South Plains last year and hundreds of other farm families have decided to locate on the South Plains as soon as agricultural conditions improve.

The publicity department of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce has obtained more publicity in newspapers, general and trade magazines than any other in the state.

In 1930 and 1931 more conventions have been obtained for Lubbock than any other city of similar size.

Worked For Good Roads

2. "Use every endeavor to promote a comprehensive system of permanent good roads over the entire South Plains."

Results: A county-wide bond issue has been passed; the road west has been designated to Levelland; the highway to Odessa has been designated with the exception of a short gap. Roads have been paved by bonds voted to pave in all counties except Gaines and Terry counties; Gaines county is voting on a bond issue for this purpose this month; two direct highways to Fort Worth, one via Seymour and the other via Snyder, have been marked; distance markers were placed on all highways out of Lubbock by the chamber of commerce two years ago.

3. "Plans for immediate betterments and improvements and for future city growth, covering the subjects of city planning, zoning, streets, sidewalks, parks and playgrounds, subways, water supply, building code, etc."

City Planning Proposed

Results: The chamber's city planning committee has recommended that a city plan expert be employed and action is expected soon from the City commission; subways on Broadway and Avenue E have been provided; the City commission has appointed a park board; additional parks have been obtained; a municipal swimming and wading pool has been provided.

City and county parks are being beautified; sidewalks have been built; most of the streets leading to highways have been paved; all city streets have been marked and houses numbered; a cleanup campaign has been conducted; water and sewer mains have been extended; an additional fire station and substation have been constructed.

4. "Do everything possible to help develop agriculture in all its phases over the entire South Plains."

Results: Marketing associations have been organized; pure bred seed campaigns have been conducted; short courses have been promoted; the chamber of commerce annually has appropriated about $1,200 to the support of home demonstration and farm agent work, and in co-operation with the agents has promoted field days, achievement days, and contests for boys and girls clubs; community meetings have been held; trade trips have been conducted.

To Stage Show

A pig, calf, and meat show will be held in March; the chamber of commerce obtained federal and Red Cross relief for drouth sufferers in Lubbock and adjoining counties; the chamber is paying one-fourth of the salary of an assistant county agent.

5. "Extend the trade territory of Lubbock and make definite efforts to secure maximum business from this area by co-operative efforts, trade trips and a cordial welcome to the people who come here to trade."

Results: A merchants institute has been conducted; group and committee meetings of business men are held here continually; roads are better maintained than ever before; the Howdy Stranger banquet has done much to make strangers feel welcome; traffic officers are assisting materially in this respect; news stories are furnished about 50 newspapers of the section weekly and display advertisements have been carried in papers over the section; Lubbock chamber is represented at most of the meetings held on the South Plains.

Building Code Passed

6. "Encourage the building of more and better houses, as well as houses and apartments for rent at moderate prices."

Results: City commission has passed a modern building ordinance, which requires better construction and has employed inspectors to enforce provisions of the ordinance; the City and board of education employed tax experts to fairly assess all property, and representative citizens are appointed annually on the various boards of equalization to investigate assessments and appraisals, and equalize the taxes.

7. "Co-operate with and assist our schools and Tech college."

Results: The new high school will have have one of the best gymnasiums in the state ("work for a high schol gymnasium" was a specific point in project VII); all school children are given a physical examination by a public health nurse; bus transportation now is available in Lubbock; adequate provision has been made for the housing of students; assistance has been rendered in securing adequate appropriations for Tech college; $500 or more is spent annually in specifically advertising the college; the fair grounds have been equipped and are being used by the high school as an athletic park.

8. "Create conditions favorable to and encourage the location of new and more diversified industries in Lubbock."

Can Secure Cotton Mill

Results: The largest elevator in West Texas has been established here and the chamber is working on a "flour mill proposition"; a cotton mill can be secured by subscribing for a "good part" of the stock locally, which is the way virtually every cotton mill in Texas and the south has been secured; satisfactory clay for the manufacture of brick has not been found.

"Because of the lack of markets, due to the sparsity of the population over this section," says the report, "we have been unable to induce factories which are dependent upon a local market to locate here;" such plants include overall, shirt and other factories; many small factories, e. g., feed mills, have been established.

Worked With Fair

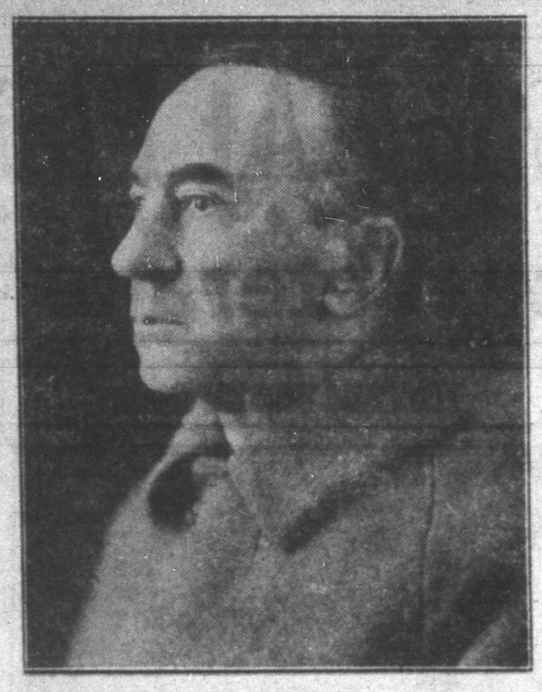

9. "Work with officials of the Panhandle-South Plains Fair association and make the fair the best in West Texas."

Results: A 90x130 foot fire-proof livestock building has been constructed by the fair association, and a similar building, 84x130 feet in size, is under construction; additions have been made to the poultry and women's building.

10. "In general, do whatever will promote the welfare of Lubbock as a civic, commercial, educational and industrial center."

Results: A community chest has been organized in Lubbock; county and city appropriations have been made for charity patients; better mail service and delivery has been obtained; Lubbock has been included in the common point freight rate structure on a large number of commodities; fake advertising and soliciting propositions virtually have been eliminated.

Veteran Actor Brings Company Here

Albert Taylor, for years one of the leading actors of the southwest and considered the dean of American stock company drama, is staging a comeback after eleven years of retirement. He is bringing his show company here for an indefinite run at the Rex theater. He will also make Lubbock his headquarters and present his players in surrounding cities of West Texas and Eastern New Mexico.

Bill To Bar Hunting Of Quail, Turkeys

Representative Jones Of Jourdanton Introduces Measure To Prohibit Hunting For Five Years

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 21.—Texas hunters would be prohibited from hunting quail and turkey for five years if a bill introduced by Representative Jones of Jourdanton becomes a law. The bill would impose a maximum fine of $200 for each violation.

Jones said quail and wild turkey were being killed off in Texas at an alarming rate and that unless steps were taken immediately to protect them, they would become extinct in a few years.

Vegetables Being Stored by Women

Two Lubbock county farm women have been enjoying vegetables from their gardens all winter and now, with the warm weather in sight, they are almost ready for a new crop.

Mrs. L. A. Armstrong, of the Foster home demonstration club, has fresh collards that she has kept in storage all winter long. Miss Ruth Stockton, home demonstration agent, reports. "Mrs. Armstrong has vegetables up but they are not quite ready to use," Miss Stockton said. "She has a good hotbed."

Another woman is Mrs. L. A. Matthews, of the New Hope community, who will soon be able to pick greens from her hotbed. She also has had fresh vegetables from her hotbed most of the winter.

"We have a number of women over the county who have had fresh vegetables during the winter," Miss Stockton explained. "There will be more hotbeds started this spring than ever before. I have heard of a number of women who are starting them in communities where there is not a home demonstartion club.

"Lubbock county women are going after the gardens this spring. They are going to find that the garden on the farm will pay them much more than any similar sized plot of ground on the entire farm."

Zack T. Riley Returns To Run For Mayor Of Lockney

LOCKNEY, Feb. 21. (Staff Special)—Zack T. Riley, who with Mrs. Riley and the children have just returned from the winter spent in the Rio Grande valley, has announced his candidacy for mayor of Lockney at the April primaries.

To celebrate the tenth anniversary of the founding of the Ypres League, a parade was held in London recently, and Princess Beatrice laid a wreath on the Cenotaph.

WORK ON MINSTREL PROGRAM

Practice has begun on the first annual "T" club minstrel which will be held at the Lubbock High school auditorium Wednesday night and tickets went on sale last week for fifty cents each. The money from the ticket sales will be used to decorate the "T" club room.

About seventy-five persons will take part in the performance, approximately thirty-five of the number being Tech co-eds.

Stunts, songs, tap dancing and other sorts of entertainments will be featured and special attractions include the Georgian quartet and a chorus of 16 girls. The quartet is composed of four girls.

TO ELECT QUEEN

Polls will be opened tomorrow morning and voting will get under way for the selection of a queen of the Tech freshman class. Fourteen co-eds have been nominated and the winner will be formally crowned at the annual dance in April.

The election is being sponsored by The Toreador, Tech weekly newspaper, and ballot boxes will be placed on the third floor of the administration building near the Toreador office.

All members of the freshman class will be allowed to vote, according to officials of the election. Frank Emison, editor of The Toreador from Brownwood, has charge of the election and will announce the winner.

COLLECTS PICTURES

Cecil Horne, director of publicity in the college, is collecting framed pictures of noted Texans who had much to do in the establishment of the college. He already has pictures of Pat M. Neff, who was governor of Texas at the time the bill establishing the college was passed, the late R. N. Chitwood, first business manager of Tech, Dr. Paul W. Horn, Tech president, and Will C. Hogg, noted Texan who recently died leaving the college loan fund $35,000.

Several more pictures are to be obtained soon, according to Mr. Horne.

CONVOCATION CALLED

A student convocation has been called for Wednesday at 11 o'clock in the Tech gym. The meeting was called by Wayne Castleberry, president of the student council. It is probable that most of the 11 o'clock classes that day will be dismissed for the meeting.

The purpose of the meeting is to consider the acceptance of revised music for the Tech song, "Matador". Harry LeMaire, Tech band director has rearranged the music to fit the words which were adopted by the student body last year. The words were submitted by R. C. Marshall, Hillsboro, and a prize of twenty-five dollars was given Marshall by the Tech Chamber of Commerce.

Castleberry is requesting all students to attend the assembly in order that the new music might be considered. The band will play the revised music.

REPRESENTS TECH

MEETING CALLED TUESDAY

Meeting of the Tech YMCA cabinet has been postponed from Monday night until Tuesday night, Cecil Kersey, "Y" president said late yesterday.

DEBATERS TO ATTEND MEET

A Tech debating team and one alternate will be special guests at a meeting of Pi Kappa Delta, honorary debate fraternity, at a meeting in Waco, April 3 and 4, Miss Annah Jo Pendleton, acting head of the Tech speech department, said yesterday afternoon. No announcement as to who will comprise the team has been made, Miss Pendleton will accompany the team.

STUDENT WILL SPEAK

Miss Helen Jackson, Tech student, wil speak at a Baptist Student union meeting at Plainview next Saturday on "What the Baptist Student Union Means to Tech." Several college students from here will attend the gathering which will be attended by students from West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon, Amarillo Junior college at Amarillo and Wayland Baptist college at Plainview.

Among the prominent speakers who will appear Saturday will be Dr. W. R. White, former pastor of the First Baptist church here.

WRITES FRUIT ARTICLE

A two page article on "Texas Fruits" recently appeared in the New York Tribune which was written by Mrs. Leola Cox Sides, Tech graduate of the home economic school in 1928. Mrs. Sides is now a nutrition expert at Texas A. and M. college at College Station.

WILL ATTEND CONFERENCE

Several representatives of the Tech "Y" associations will attend the North Texas Student's conference at Dallas February 27, 28 and 29, according to Jack Boyd, Tech YMCA secretary.

The trip will be made in cars and enough students have signified their intentions of going to fill at least two automobiles. Students will be required to pay a registration fee of $2.50, but at least three meals wil be furnished and rooms will be available for the two nights which will be spent in Dallas.

MAY ENTER CONTEST

Tech students are eligible to enter the Peace Movement oration contest which will be held at the University of Texas at Austin, May 8, according to recent information received by Dr. Paul W. Horn from Ellwood Griscom, state director of the contest. A prize of $80 will be awarded the winner of the first prize and $40 will be given as the second prize.

The winner of the state contest will be eligible to compete in the national contest for which several prizes are being offered.

Improvement Of City Park In Littlefield Is Planned

LITTLEFIELD, Feb. 21 (Staff Special)—Improvement of the city park is being planned by civic clubs of Littlefield and planting of trees is the first number on the program.

R. A. Box, vocational teacher in the high school and chairman of the chamber of commerce committee, has prepared a plan for City Lake Park on the west side of the city. Members of the general committee handling the work include: Mrs. F. G. Sadler, Woman's club; T. S. Sales, Rotary Club; Mayor Otto Jones, the city; Mr. Box, the schools and J. W. Hale, chamber of commerce and the Parent-Teacher Association.

The new South African Art Gallery at Cape Town, South Africa, has just been dedicated.

A Message to the Public from the United States Gypsum Company

Now... there is no excuse for Cracked Walls and Sagging Paper

NOW you can enjoy permanent freedom from wrinkled, sagging wallpaper—from walls that crack and warp.

This patented construction insures walls and ceilings that remain smooth and beautiful under conditions as they are right here in Texas. It is called Metalock Sheetrock, and consists of Sheetrock, the fireproof wallboard, with all joints securely armored against cracking by a patented USG metal fabric.

These three advantages provided by Metalock Sheetrock are important to every Texas home-owner:

1. Tongue and groove edges form smooth, strong joints which are then armored to assure a sealed construction that does not crack, split open, sag or bulge.

2. Metalock Sheetrock walls and ceilings permit any kind of decoration. Wallpaper or paint if you wish, or secure beautiful textured effects with Textone, the plastic paint.

3. Metalock Sheetrock is fireproof and vermin proof. Wind and sand cannot penetrate its smooth, sealed surface. Dependably weather-tight.

PRESENT homes, as well as new ones, can have Metalock Sheetrock construction. The cost is moderate. Why tolerate the embarrassment of ugly interiors when it is now so easy and economical to secure enduring beauty of walls and ceilings? You will find material and labor costs especially favorable at the present time.

Ask your builder, carpenter or contractor about this new-type construction. Ask, too, about Sheetrock Tile Board for bathrooms and kitchens. Your dealer in lumber and building supplies can furnish the material. Or write direct to us. United States Gypsum Company, Santa Fe Building, Dallas. Mill: Sweetwater, Texas.

MEADOWBROOK AND COUNTRY CLUB OFFICIALS ANNOUNCE BUSINESS IS ON UPGRADE; NORMAL CONDITIONS ARE IN THE NEAR OFFING

Plainview Defeats Meadow, 29-23, For District Title

Final Game Is Feature Event Of Tournament

Plainview Eliminates Lubbock In Semi-Final Event; 16 Teams Play In First Rounds Of District 2 Tournament

In a game truly worthy to be called the championship contest, Plainview's Bulldogs defeated the Meadow basketball team, 29 to 23, last night to win the high school championship of District 2 and won the right to meet the winner of District 1 in the bi-district game this week.

Castleberry, center for the Meadow team was elected by an almost unanimous vote of the officals of the tournament as the outstanding and most valuable man, and received as a permanent trophy a silver statue at the close of the championship game last night. Eight members of the Plainview squad were given gold miniature basketballs emblematic of the championship and silver basketballs were given eight members of the Meadow squad.

Meadow and Plainview made known their power earlier in the tournament when they defeated their opponents in the first round contests by decisive scores. Meadow defeated Wilson, champion of Lynn County, 26 to 22, in the semi-final while Plainview had quite an easy time with Lubbock High school in its semi-final event, winning by a 34 to 21 count.

Teams Keyed To High Pitch

The finalists entered the championship game last night keyed to a high pitch, although they had played second round and semi-final games earlier in the day. Each team was backed by a large band of supporters who kept up a constant uproar throughout the game.

But it was a game where an uproar on the part of the fans was inevitable. From start to finish the teams battled on almost even terms. It was the best matched game of the series, and was even nearly all the way. Plainview spotted Meadow to a 5-point lead as the game got under way but had staged a goal-shooting show just before the half that found the teams resting with Plainview leading, 13 to 11.

Simpson, Meadow forward, came back in the second half to tie the score shortly after the tip-off. Castleberry made a free toss to gain a 1-point lead. Then Walker, Williams and Griffiths for Plainview dropped the ball through the net for an 18 to 14 lead. At the end of the quarter, Plainview was leading, 24 to 17. Meadow never gained the advantage again.

Griffiths Is Hero

White, Meadow guard, looped a crip and his work was followed by Castelberry who fired another to cut the Plainview lead to 3 points. Then Finley poured one in to make the score, 24-23. Somebody fouled for Meadow and Griffiths, the high-point man of the game, sunk two free ones. The end was drawing nigh, very nigh, in fact, and the Meadow boys fought furiously, missing a couple of crip shots that would have won the game. But again Griffiths came to Plainview's rescue, sinking a beautiful field goal as the final gun fired.

In the second round games played late Friday night, Ralls defeated Spring Lake, 27 to 16, Plainview eliminated Stanton, 43 to 13, in an easy game, and Slaton lost to Meadow, 48 to 18. Wilson defeated Ralls, 32 to 16 Saturday morning in a continuation of second round games, and Lubbock, who had drawn a bye, eliminated Ralls, 19 to 16, in a closely played game as a quarter-final contest.

Meadow met Wilson in the first semi-final contest yesterday morning and won after a hard fight in one of the better games of the tournament, 26 to 22. Plainview had little trouble in gaining and maintaining a lead over the Lubbock Westerners and won, 34 to 21.

Williams High Point Man

Williams, Plainivew forward and Number 2 man, was high point man of the tournament with a total of 49 points. L. Crews of Wilson was second with 43 and Simpson of Meadows came third with 42 points.

Moreland Wins Way To Finals With Goodman

Dallas Youth Defeats Carlton Of Houston And Goodman Is Conqueror Over State Champ; Meet Today In Finals

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON COUNTRY CLUB, HOUSTON, Feb. 21—Young Gus Moreland survived a veteran opponent today to enter the finals in the 17th annual Houston Country club gold tournament, along with Johnny Goodman of Omaha.

Moreland, 19-year-old Dallas golfer, won two up from Ossie Carlton of Houston, thrice winner of the invitations in this, his home club, while Goodman downed the graying W. C. Hunt, state champion, 3 and 2.

Goodman and Moreland will play 36 holes tomorrow in the finals.

The Dallas boy had even par for the afternoon 18 holes, but Carlton might have staved him off, save for a wide slice in his last drive which sent the ball into the woods and caused him finally to concede the hole and the match. Carlton was two up at the turn of the 18th.

Hunt waged a losing fight nearly All day. He was able to turn number 18 all square, but in the afternoon round began falling off at once. He went three down on the 22nd hole, got back to one down through the 27th, evened things up at the 28th and lost the 30th, 31st and 32nd, the latter by Goodman's fine birdie three. They halved the last two holes.

Reuben Albaugh of San Antonio won the first flight final from Bud McKinney of Del Rio, 5 and 4.

Texas Conference Title Depends On Games This Week

ABILENE, Feb. 21. (Special.)—With the Texas Conference champion depending on the outcome, the league leading Simmons Cowboys will invade two South Texas courts for the closing games of their basketball season this week. They take on St. Edwards at Austin Monday night and engage the Southwestern Pirates at Georgetown Tuesday evening.

Granting that the Cowboys will win from the Saints and that Southwestern will beat Howard Payne Monday night and both of these are almost assured facts the game Tuesday night will decide whether the Cowboys rule the conference or whether they share the throne with the Corsairs. Les Cranfill's men have a perfect standing with eight wins and no losses while the Pirates have lost only one game.

The Cowmen have been working diligently on tip off plays a weakness which almost cost them their first encounter with the Pirates. Cranfill feels that with Captain Bob "Hook" McCollum pouring them in the basket from all angles as he has been doing of late, his men can win if they so much as break even with Southwestern on the tip off.

Matador Cagers Off Today For New Mexico Where They Open Relations With University On Tuesday

Locals Meet School Of Mines First In One Game

Coach W. L. "Crip" Golightly and a small band of select cagers representing the Black and Scarlet of Texas Technological college leave Lubbock early this morning for the state of New Mexico where they begin the last leg of the 1931 basketball season.

Tomorrow night they will meet the New Mexico School of Mines five at Socorro. It will be the first meeting of the teams this year. Last fall A New Mexico Mines football team came to Lubbock with the avowed intention of running wild over the Matador gridsters. The result was the first victory of the season for Tech. The Miners are tough customers under most and circumstances but in their own home town and on their own floor they are likely to put up a battle.

At Albuquerque Tuesday

Going from Socorro to Albuquerque on Tuesday the Matadors enter a two-game stand with the University of New Mexico Loboes. The game will signalize the opening of athletic relations between the two schools their teams having never played each other. The Loboes are regarded as high class cagers in their section and their scorebook for the season shows a majority of games won. One of the leading football games appearing on the Matador card for next fall will be played here when the Loboes come in gridiron regalia.

The Matadors rest Thursday night, trekking to El Paso in the meantime. Friday night they begin a two-game engagement with Mack Saxon's Texas School of Mines quintet. The final game of this series means the end of the season for Tech.

Close Season at El Paso

The El Paso game is due to bring out the best in both teams. In one of the early series of the season, the Miners dropped two to the Matadors on the local court. Both games were battles, and there was no judging the outcome until the last minute.

They Are Hosts To Tech's Matadors This Week

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—When the Texas Tech Matadors come to this city on February 24 and 25 they will find Al Seery and his New Mexico Loboes ready to do battle. Seery is playing his last year on the New Mexico varsity and is starring in all positions. He is an excellent defensive man and is the best floor man on the New Mexico squad. McGuire hails from Iola, Kansas, Junior College and is playing his first season with the Loboes. Tully, a veteran guard from Glencoe, New Mexico, has returned to the fold after a year's absence. Tom Churchill, former Dalhart, Texas, star, and captain of last year's Oklahoma Sooner five, is serving his first year as head basketball coach at New Mexico U.

Flip Of Coin Over Long Distance Gives Commerce TIAA Championship Play

COMMERCE, Tex. Feb. 21. (AP)—The flip of a coin, over long-distance telephone, today decided that Commerce would be the place for holding the Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association championship basketball games.

The East Texas Teachers' college quintet of Commerce had won the eastern division and the West Texas Teachers of Canyon, the western division, in the T. I. A. A. race. During a long-distance telephone conversation today between Coach Acker of Commerce and Coach Burton of Canyon, Blair Cherry of Fort Worth flipped a coin and the Commerce won the choice.

The Commerce basketeers will leave here tomorrow, to play Canyon Tuesday night, while the West Texas cagers will come here to play Friday and if a third game is necessary to decide the championship, also will play here Saturday.

Lights Of Boxing Firmament On Miami Card Tuesday Night

Max Schmeling, Young Strib To Appear In Exhibitions On Card Featured By Bout Between Walker And Risko

(By The Associated Press)

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 21. — The first of Miami's two winter fistic carnivals under the palms, featuring a ten round bout between Mickey Walker and Johnny Risko next Tuesday night, drew the spotlight of preparations today with an assortment of ballyhoo stunts.

Their training completed, Walker and Risko joined in the demonstration of welcome to Max Schmeling, German holder of the world's heavyweight championship. The Dempsey-esque Teuton puncher was greeted with flowers, music and a parade on his arrival with his manager, Joe Jacobs, and two sparring mates.

On tour in the interests of the build-up for his title match with Young Stribling probably at Chicago in June Schmeling will appear on the Risko-Walker card in a three round exhibition. So will Stribbling who varied the monotony of training routine today by taking two newspaper friends for an airplane ride during which he gave them a thrill by executing several vertical turns with his cabin plane.

"Pa" Stribling head man of the famous Georgia fighting clan and promoter of next Tuesday's show announced that the latest impetus to box office activity assured financial success. The "gate", he figures, will be at least $50,000 at a top price of $5 and may go as high as $75,000.

It is because of the existence and noise of such men as Senator Woodruff in the Texas Legislature that that body is usually referred to in an humorous manner. Texans meeting for the first time usually open the initial conversation by discussing the antics of Texas weather, and if they are the least bit witty they follow up with the Texas legislature.

Last week Senator Woodruff introduced a bill advising the retrenchment of intercollegiate athletics between state institutions. He would have intramural sports pushed to the front and inter-college games cut to a minimum. Woodruff is a great sportsman—we don't think. He has been reading too much newspaper bunk about the over-emphasis of college sports. Texas is one of the last states in the union where overemphasis, which is a word that has never been applicable to sports anywhere in the world yet, should come in for discussion.

Senator Woodruff will never be elected governor of Texas. He is not likely to serve another term in the legislature. He should be forced to return to college and re-live a freshman year. Maybe he never attended college. Surely he never entered the college spirit, or maybe he went to C. I. A. At any rate, as a sportsman he is a good Texas legislative unit.

There must be intercollegiate sports and lots of 'em before intramural sports can exist. Unless colleges were pitted against each other on football fields and basketball courts and baseball diamonds there will be no revenue for campus sports, which do not increase the treasury one iota in a million seasons. It costs about as much to sponsor an intramural season, so far as training, equipment, and the staging of games go, as it does to engage in a regular season. The regular season pays for the intramural seasons. The colleges and universities which engage in the most extensive intercollegiate schedule and which have the best teams and whose games draw the biggest crowds always have the biggest and best intramural programs.

The honorable senator says that during the football season the students are so thoughtful of the weekend game that they spend half the time preparing for seeing and discussing the game and divide the other half between class room work and plans for pep meetings. It is generally known, perhaps not to the senator, that no student is compelled to attend a pep meeting, a ball game, nor required to answer questions relative to the game, before or after it is played. He is required to attend classes, supposed to study, and must answer examination question relative to his studies. Which is why he is in school.

Coach "Crip" Golightly and a dozen Matador cagers left early this morning for Socorro, New Mexico, where they tangle with the New Mexico School of Mines basketball players tomorrow night. They will be gone all this week, returning here next Sunday or Monday, depending on when they'll be able to leave Jaurez. They wind up the season Saturday night in El Paso with the Miners of Mack Saxon, a former play mate of Golightly at Austin college.

Pete Cawthon, Tech head mentor, returned late last week from down the state where he refered a flock of Southwest Conference basketball games. It was his privilege to spend a day or two in the company of his old friend, one Knute Rockne, known for his wizardry with the Notre Dame gridsters. Cawthon says that reports of Rockne's illness have not been over exaggerated. "Knute is a sick man," Cawthon said. "He probably will never put on another football uniform, leaving the heavy work to his assistants. His legs give him the most trouble, and he has to rest hours every day. He keeps his legs, from ankles to knees, encased in tight rubber wrappings all the time.

Cawthon also talked with Joe Utay, president of the Texas Board of Football Officials association and chairman of the Dixie Classic while in Dallas last week and says the PENSACOLA, Fla., Feb. 21. (AP)—Johnny Farrell, St. Augustine professional, put together rounds of 72 and 73 here today for a 145 to take the early lead at the half way mark of the Pensacola open.

Johnny Farrell Leads Pensacola Professionals

Harry Forbes, once bantamweight champion of the world, is a bailiff in Chicago.

Joe has accepted the invitation to lead in the West Texas football rules interpretation meeting here next fall. Cawthon is president of the West Texas organization, which is a branch of the Southern association. The West Texas meeting will be held one week after the state meeting at San Antonio.

Bruce "Ox" Reed, assistant coach at Vernon High School, more recently an outstanding lineman on the Texas Tech Matador grid team, is visiting friends here this weekend. "Ox" says that the eastern division of the old District 1, which is a separate district now, including Electra, Vernon, Quanah and Wichita Falls as District 2 under the reorganization of the Texas Interscholastic league, will be fairly strong next fall. Electra stands out now as the probable stronger team, but "Vernon will also be stronger than usual next fall. If we can beat Electra we'll have a good chance to win the district," avers Reed. While it is not definite, Reed says Heinie Weir is likely to remain at Vernon as head coach another year.

Flag Tournament Open To All Lubbock Golfers; Begins At Close Of Driving Match This Morning

The first of a series of tournaments to be held this spring and summer at the Lubbock Country club begins at 9 o'clock this morning when local golfers gather for a long driving contest. The contest is open to all Lubbock golfers. Following the driving event, the players will engage in an 18-hole flag tournament.

The flag tournament will be limited to one day. Other jousts to follow in order this season will be played over two-and and three day periods but with only 18 holes to go and with the match up to the individual the tournament today can be played in an afternoon.

Other Tournaments Planned

Anticipating an early spring Lubbock Country Club officials have arranged a series of tournaments that are intended to keep alive the golfing interests of the city throughout the year. A ladder tournament, open to all Lubbock golfers, is going on at all times. Nearly 100 golfers are entered, and a few have already completed the 72-hole play that gives them a place on the ladder.

Gibson Payne heads the list of golfers who have completed 72 holes and stands at the top of the ladder with a total score of 312. Payne appeared here for his first introduction when he played against Walter Hagen in an exhibition match February 5. John Edmisson follows in second order with 317. A number of golfers have completed 36 and 54 holes of the first 72.

When all of the players have completed the 72 holes their names will appear on a "ladder" with their score in order. The tournament in perpetual in that a golfer may challenge the man just above him on the ladder and if successful may advance one rung higher. A glance at the ladder will at any time show the individual handicap of every player.

The next tournament begins on April 15 and is called the professional and business men's tournament. On May 17 the country club championship will be decided. The annual "Neck and Gizzard" match is carded for June 14. The 1931 city championship will be played June 21-28 and on July 4 the "Roman Holiday" tournament will be played.

Sad Sam Jones Departs For Sen Training Camp

WOODSFIELD, O. Feb. 21. (AP)—Thirty-eight years young, Samuel P. (Sad Sam) Jones was busy today packing bags and bidding good-bye to winter cronies as he prepared, for the eighteenth time, to start for a big league training camp to condition himself for the long grind this summer.

Jones will leave this town Monday for Biloxi, Miss., where he joins the vanguard of Walter Johnson's Washington Senators.

This will be Jones' 18th year as a big league hurler, being surpassed only in the American League by Urban Faber, of the Chicago White Sox, for consecutive years of service.

Pipkin And Walker Are Added To Indian Staff

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 21. (AP) — Two pitchers have been added to the Indian roster, Secretary Tom E. Connor of the San Antonio baseball club announced today. One of these is Ray Pipkin, who pitched and played second base for the Houston Buffs in 1925, and the other is Roy Walker, formerly with Birmingham in the Southern League, and obtained from the Montgomery South Atlantic League club.

Base Running, A Lost Art, Is Due To Flourish, Carey Says

Former National Leaguer Is Counting On Better Base Running, Better Hurling This Season

BY ALAN GOULD

Associated Press Sports Editor

MIAMI, Feb. 21.—Base running, which has become almost a lost art during the Ruthian age of baseball, may be revived this year, Max Carey believes, if the new and less lively ball adopted by the big league fulfills its purpose of restoring the more scientific features of the national game.

"For years, youngsters and veterans alike have been skinning from their heels," said the veterans national leaguer, who hopes, after 21 years in the game, to land a job as coach and base running tutor this spring.

"There has been no purpose in playing for a run or two by exercising the fine arts of base running, the hit and run, or squeeze play. Consequently, scientific features of baseball that were stressed when I went up to the Pirates from South Bend around 1910, as understudy to Tommy Leach, have been neglected.

"When I was breaking in, base running was one of the first things taught to me. Batting, too, was more of a science. The so-called defensive hitters, such as Johnny Evers, Burt Shotton and the late Miller Huggins, have vanished altogether in the slugging era.

"Nowadays, lead-off men, like the rest, go up to the plate to take a healthy cut at the ball. Instead of making the most of walting or defensive tactics. Then, if they got on base, they await there for a long hit to bring them in."

Plainview To Be Host To Girls In State Cage Tourney

Invitations Go To Nearly 300 Texas Schools

Athens Sextet, State Champ Last Year To Come; Dates Set For March 12, 13, 14; Dimmitt Is Joint-Host

PLAINVIEW, Feb. 21. (AP)— The champion girls' basketball team among high schools of the state will be determined in the Texas Amateur Athletic Union Girls' Basketball tournament at Plainview March 12, 13 and 14.

Invitations have been sent out to 298 high schools to send a competing team to the tournament. Early entrants total more than three dozen teams and include the Athens sextet that won the state championship last year.

Dimmitt Is Joint Host

Dimmitt, Castro county, will be joint-host to the tournament, having been runner-up in the 1930 meet. Since Dimmit was too small to accommodate the hundreds who will attend, Dimmit citizens invited the annual tournament to Plainview.

The tournament will be open to all registered high school teams in the state. Interscholastic League and A. A. U. rules will govern play.

As awards to the winners, the Plainview Chamber of Commerce is offering six loving cups, four of them going for first, second, third and fourth places in the championship class, and the others for first and second places in the consolation. Ten gold basketballs will be given as individual awards to members of the winning team, 10 to the personality team, 10 to the team displaying the best sportsmanship, and 15 to the first all-state team. Ten silver balls will go to the runners-up, 10 to the third team, 10 to the fourth team, 10 to the consolation runner-up, and 15 to the second all-state team.

Gold Balls To Best Players

Two gold basketballs will be awarded the most valuable players, one the prettiest blonde, and one the prettiest brunnette.

The Panhandle-Plains region will have the best representation ever sent to a state tournament, Dallas, Fort Worth, Sherman, Greenville and Henderson are among downstate teams who have entered.

The Dimmitt team will be a strong contender again for the title. Ona Faye Smith, forawrd, is considered one of the greatest scoring stars in the history of the Texas A. A. U. tournaments. She shares honors with Evelyn Blanton guard as stars of the team. Other members include Zopelle Brooks captain and center; Frank Center, forward; Gertrude Wesson, center, and Elaine Dye, guard.

Texas Aggies Win Over Methodists

COLLEGE STATION, Feb. 21. (AP) —Bull Marcum, Aggie forward, sank a field goal in the final half minute of play tonight to give Coach John Reid's Texas Aggie cagers a 25 to 23 victory over the Southern Methodist University Mustangs.

The defeat was the second straight for the Ponies and left them one-half game behind the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs, now at the top of the column.

The Ponies took an early lead when Bill Skeeters sank a free shot and the game continued 1 to 0 for seven minutes, both teams exhibiting sterling floor play; but the Aggies took the lead on two free throws by Hoke and the Mustangs were in the lead again only once, 5 to 3 early in the game.

Meadowbrook Golf Gossip

By Th' Bug

THOSE Tech boys showed how golf should be played under adverse weather conditions when they finished their second annual student tournament in a downpour of rain. They displayed the kind of gallery, composed mostly of Tech spirit it takes to win contests. The students, showed a very comendable admiration for their favorites when they stuck it out to see the finish.

BILL HOLMES says he is going to remind his Dad about that new set of clubs he was promised for winning his first championship in golf. Holmes set a nice example when he played the route against a fine field of golfers. He hails from Shamrock.

"SPEC" KOGER, another student, one of the first bracket men in the tournament, got a double "birdie" on par 4 hole No. 8 the other day. He hit one so far and high that he caused a pintail duck to dodge and break his neck on the high line just outside the fence. He marked up a 2 for the hole and brought home the duck.

TH' BUG has seen the new gold and silver golf balls that are to be given to the ten low scorers in the coming trophy tournament. They're mighty pretty. Five gold balls will be given to the five lowest scorers and the silver ones will go to the next five. The tournament will be held on March 1, 2 and 3. The balls are on display at the club house, and have already been spoken for. But the arguments will be settled next week.

DOCTOR ATER believes Joe Behl should be barred from all future tournaments. The latter is a caddy by profession but he also knows how to hit the ball. He bested Doc Ater by 8 strokes in a match the other day.

AN IDEA of golf economy, thinks th' bug after losing $4 worth of balls on the first nine the other day, is to tee off from the woman's tee box on No. 1 with a string tied to the ball, which shall be a floater from now on. In the drive, if the ball goes across the lake, the string will break. If it falls in the water the string may be used to haul the pill back to the tee for a second, third, etc. shot.

Alford Right As Bears Down Texas Longhorns, 34-21

WACO, Feb. 21. (AP)—Raymond Alford, captain of the Baylor Bears was back in trim tonight, leading his team mates to a 34 to 21 victory over Texas University. He scored 21 points.

The victory assured Baylor a percentage of .500 for the season, the Bears having won six and lost five. They have but one more game to play.

The guarding of Witcher was good. If Texas had a star he was E. Taylor. Taylor managed to score seven points and was high man for the Longhorns. The guarding of the Texas team was fair, but it was long shots by the Bruins that proved the undoing of the proteges of Fred Walker.

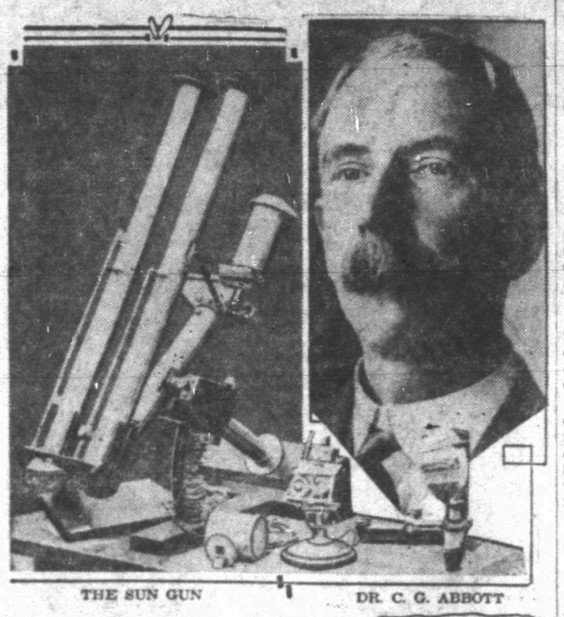

Baylor led 17 to 14 at the half.

Jack Dempsey engaged in 79 boxing contests with 47 knockouts to his credit.

LeRoy Shine, student manager of Alabama's basketball team, "Shines" brightly on the hardwood, and track.

Dallas Warren, catcher, a University of Arizona product, has been signed by the Fort Worth club of the Texas league.

Lubbock County Club Boy Wins Trip To Washington

James Potts Makes Average Profit Of $329.50 Yearly

(Special to The Avalanche-Journal)

COLLEGE STATION, Feb. 21— Two West Texas boys, James Potts of Lubbock and Buster Worley of Shamrock, have been selected to represent Texas 4-H club boys at the National 4-H Club Encampment in Washington in June, and will make the trip as guests of the Texas Bankers Association, according to announcement by M. T. Payne, state boy club agent in the Extension Service, A. and M. College of Texas and the United States Department of Agriculture. The selections were based on ability to make money by farming and on qualities of leadership.

Has Averaged $329.50

The average net profit of James Potts of Lubbock county for each of the past three years has been $329.50, made mostly from pure seed production and dairying. Ten years ago he began club work as a youngster with a grade pig on which he won third place at the county fair. He then bought a registered gilt and with prize money from her bought a dairy calf from which he now has four cows. For seven years he has specialized in production of pure seed, particularly of grain sorghums, and has averaged twenty-three acres in crops the past three years. Many of his neighbors plant only pure line seed as a result of his work which he intends to follow as a profession. D. F. Eaton is his farm demenstration agent.

Buster Worley, Coiltngsworth county boy who has worked under the direction of County Agent C. C. Stinson, has made net profits averaging $646.85 for each of the past three years from field crop demonstrations that average thirty-one acres a year, and from livestock enterprises. In addition to feed, cotton, peanuts and potatoes, he has raised dairy cows, pigs, turkeys and baby beeves. For the past two years Worley has been selected chairman of the Boys' and Girls club assembly at the Farmers' Short Course at the A. and M. College where more than 1500 4-H club members meet annually.

Longhorns To Meet Pros In First Go

AUSTIN, Feb. 21. (AP)—The university of Texas baseball team will receive its first taste of competition of the season Monday when Uncle Billy Disch's charges tangle with Bib Falk's all-stars, a combination of former university players and members of organized baseball teams.

Among the former Longhorns who will match bats with Disch's proteges are Bib Falk of the Cleveland Indians; Chester Falk, Kelly Payne, Frank Higgins, 1930 captain and a member of the Philadelphia Athletics; Tommis Hughes of the Beaumont Exporters; Ed Olle, business manager of University of Texas athletics; and Potsy Allen.

Eddie Marshall, second baseman of the New York Giants will be in the all-star lineup.

Falk is expected to borrow a pitcher from the varsity squad. The all stars have been working out with the steers for several days.

Garza Farmers Getting Cash

Checks Received Totaling Between $20,000 And $25,000 Recently; Only Two Applications Rejected

POST, Feb. 21 (Special)—Checks totalling between $20,000 and $25,000 have been received by 103 Garza county farmers this week and other are rapidly being sent in by the St. Louis office.

Over $125,000 in checks have been mailed from the St. Louis office to over 400 counties in four states and one fifth of the total amount has come to Garza county farmers.

A few of the applications of this county have been returned for corrections but have been immediately corrected and sent back to the St. Louis office. Only two applications out of the 468 in all have been rejected.

Appeal Is Made For Payment Of Taxes In Levelland Area

LEVELLAND, Feb. 21 (Special)— An appeal has been made by the trustees of the Levelland school district to taxpayers to pay up their taxes so that the schools may be able to operate. There is at present about $18,000 due in 1930 taxes.

The board points out that there are over 1,100 pupils in school, with 32 teachers and 16 buses to transport children to and from their homes to school. These salaries must be met if the work is to continue.

"Another teacher and another truck also is badly needed," says the statement.

Disease Among Livestock In Hockley County Is Noted

LEVELLAND, Feb. 21 (Special)— A disease known as hemorrhagic septicemia, is becoming common in the cattle, sheep and hogs of Hockley county according to W. T. Magee, county agent. The disease is likely infectious and death follows from 12 to 24 hours after it appears unless steps are taken to relieve the situation. Mr. Magee recommends a serum as the best treatment.

Chess Wizard Proposes To Make Game Harder So That There Won't Be So Many Draws; Proposes Additions

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Something must be done, says Senor J. R. Capablanca, chess wizard, to make the game of chess more difficult.

In 20 or 25 years, he says, there will be probably a half dozen players who will have mastered all of its possibilities, enabling them to make every game a draw.

To avoid this state of affairs, Capablanca proposes the addition of two more pieces, and two more squares' width to the board.

The pieces he suggests would go in between the queen and the queen's bishop, and between the king and the king's bishop. He would call them, perhaps, the minister and the marshal. Two additional pawns also would have to be added. The new pieces would move, as one as a rook and the knight, the other as the bishop and the knight.

Possibly the board would have to be made two squares longer as well as wider. On this point Capablanca is not yet entirely satisfied in his own mind.

Capablanca cited two championship matches of his own experience. When he won the world title in 1921, he said, the number of draw games in the long match was negligible. But when he lost the title six years later it became nearly impossible to end the match because of the large number of draws.

OPEN UP PRODUCE HOUSE

CARLSBAD, N. M. Feb. 21. (Staff Special)—Two former Lubbock residents, F. E. Sheil and O. Head, have opened up the Carlsbad Produce company here. It is located on East Fox street in the building formerly occupied by the Sears Motor company.

The two men are experienced produce men and poultry buyers. For the present they plan to handle chickens and eggs. Later they may branch out into other lines, it is said.

A bill to prohibit the export, in whole or buildings, has been presented to the English parliament.

Post Prepares For Oldtimers

Hundred And Fifty Invitations Are Mailed Out To Early Settlers Of Plains Area; Banquet Tuesday Night

POST, Feb. 21. (Staff Special)— Many acceptances from old timers of this section have been received by the Rotary club for its annual Old Settlers banquet to be staged here the night of February 24, in Double U hall, Leo Walkow, chairman, announces.

One hundred and twenty-five invitations were mailed by the committee. These have gone all over the area.

Mrs. Mae Bouchier has charge of a program which local musicians will give. In addition there will be an old fiddlers contest for West Texas old fiddlers.

Girls of the Garza county 4-H clubs will serve the meal.

Britain's oldest married couple, Mr. and Mrs. William Walker, who are 93 and 92 respectively, recently celebrated their seventy-third wedding anniversary at Wainfleet, England.

Texas Tech Extension Department Serves Entire Area

Thousand Or More Courses Being Taught

Classes Are Being Held In Six Towns Of Territory Besides Correspondence Work; 225 Took Work In 1st Term

ONE ACTIVITY at Texas Technological college about which there is very little publicity attached, is the work of the extension department of the school, under the direction of J. F. McDonald, director of extension, who began the work in a small way in the year 1926-27.

The work covers several phases, including extension classes held in six towns, with a total enrolled for this term of 171; night courses at the college, attended by 53 persons for six classes; four classes of religious education held in connection with as many Sunday schools on Sunday morning, with 60 participating and proposed adult education and vocational education classes under the Smith-Hughes law. These activities are in addition to the regular correspondent courses.

Growth Is Rapid.

Growth of the department may be seen by the following figures: for the 1926-27 scholastic term there were 38 courses taken; for the 1927-28 term the number increased to 546 courses; for 1928-29 the number was 1,349 courses and for the 1929-30 term 1,659 courses.

"We had about 225 persons taking 324 courses by correspondence, in 21 departments and covering a possible 250 subjects, for the first term," said the director. "That number was one more than for the same period last year. This term so far we have 110 people to enroll in 156 courses by correspondence."

Out-of-Town Classes Held.

Six out-of-town classes in extension work are being taught this term. The classes, enrollment and teachers, are as follows: Class in education, at Amarillo, 67 enrolled under Dr. A. W. Evans; class in education at Plainview, 25 enrolled under Dr. R. E. Garland; class in American government at Brownfield, 20 enrolled under Prof. J. W. Jackson; class in history at Lorenzo, 13 enrolled under Prof. C. D. Eaves; class in education at Levelland, 21 enrolled under Prof. W. P. Clement; class in English at Meadow, 25 enrolled under Prof. A. B. Cunningham.

Local night classes, six in number, have 53 enrolled. They are: business economics, taught by Prof. J. O. Ellsworth, economist of the agricultural school and held Tuesday nights at the chamber of commerce; history of architecture, Prof. F. A. Kleinschmidt; education, Prof. J. T. Shaver; chemistry, Prof. C. C. Galbraith; geology, Prof. Raymond Sidwell, and German, by Prof. T. J. Beck.

Get Credit For Classes.

On Sunday morning some 60 persons are taking religious education in four Sunday schools. "These people get college credit for this work and it is a part of our department," said Mr. McDonald. Teachers and classes are: First M. E. church, taught by Jack Boyd; First Baptist church, taught by J. F. McDonald; First Presbyterian church, taught by Dean James Gordon, and Asbury M. E. church, taught by Miss Mary De Bardeleben.

A new course in public speaking is about ready. The class in German is a reading class, with members of the faculty of the school who are working on degrees and high school teachers taking the work.

Can Take One Fourth.

"A good many people do not realize that one-fourth of the work for a degree may be taken by correspondence, or one-half of the work for a certificate," Mr. McDonald explained.

"We are just starting a course in adult education, designed for those who did not get to graduate from college. We had one class in sewing in December and we plan to have another class and others in cooking, applied art and home making.

"For young people who did not complete their work and who want to go ahead along the line of business they are following, we hope to have some work also. This will enable them to continue their education. We can do this along the line of vocational education instruction under the Smith-Hughes act."

Four vocational classes, two in sewing, one in cooking and one in applied art, probably interior decorating, are now in the making.

empty cartridges in its chambers was found near the house at which the shooting occurred, according to Sheriff Burkett.

Several days after his arrest, Raulle was reported to have made a signed statement in which he identified the man who did the shooting and said the holdup had been "framed."

Irvin Byars, 22, was wounded critically when a bullet partly severed his spinal column. He was said to have been shot in the back.

Proposals To Be Received On Plainview-Lockney Line

PLAINVIEW, Feb. 21.—(Staff Special)—Sealed proposals for the mail route between Lockney and Floydada to Plainview and return, will be received by the assistant postmaster general at Washington until March 31. A three year contract is to be made, closing June 30, 1934. Only first class mail, special delivery and parcel post will be carried. There will be no box delivery or collection service, it is announced.

Government Spends Much Time, Money Killing Predatory Animals

Eddie B. Ligon Tells Of His Work In West Texas Area; Coyotes Object Of Greatest Hunt; Plains Busy

BY J. SAM LEWIS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

THOUSANDS of predatory animals are killed each year in Texas by employes of the United States Biological survey working in cooperation with the state of Texas and the saving money to ranchers and owners of livestock amounts to many thousands of dollars.

There are more than 100 men engaged in this work over the state, under the direction of the U. S. bureau and about 25 of these are engaged in West Texas. Eddie B. Ligon, of San Antonio, who is making temporary headquarters in Lubbock, is in charge of this work.

7,000 Were Coyotes

"During 1930 more than 9,000 purely predatory animals were killed in Texas," Mr. Ligon said in an interview here. "Of these, 7,000 or more were coyotes. It is conservatively estimated that the average coyote destroys domestic animals belonging to farmers or ranchmen at the rate of more than $15 a year. This does not apply to the wild game life he destroys also."

Just now Mr. Ligon is concentrating his work on the Panhandle-Plains country. This winter 30,000 baits, each consisting of about an ounce of fresh pork that has been poisoned, were placed on the ranches of Garza county. Scurry county had an additional 15,000 baits distributed and Borden county 5,000.

Seven Counties Busy

Four counties in the North Panhandle country, Dallam, Hartley, Oldham and Potter, will soon complete the distribution of approximately 40,000 more baits. Mr. Ligon is working on the distribution of 30,000 more in Hemphill and Lipscomb counties and Wheeler county is the latest to seek the plan of getting rid of its predatory animals.

"We have an order for 5,000 baits from the Pitchfork ranch in Dickens county," Mr. Ligon said. "I have sent 20,000 more baits into Garza county for a cleanup drive. The Matador Land and Cattle company have coperated with us and they used 3,000 or more baits on one ranch.

Ranches Cooperating

"The Swenson and Sons cattle company also are strong supporters of the work and we are cooperating with them on all of their ranches."

Poison used in the meat is made under the supervision of government chemists. It is placed in pork fat bought from the Armour and company plant at Fort Worth. The meat costs the government about a cent a bait, with the poison adding about a quarter of a cent a bait. By the time the freight or express is paid to destination, the total cost per bait is around two cents.

In the poison is a five per cent strychnine solution and other poisons. The government charges ranchers and others one cent a bait or about half the actual cost. This is done, Mr. Ligon says, to enable ranchers and cattle owners to buy a large quantity and this rid themselves of the pest.

Rabbits Are Killed

The method of operation is for Mr. Ligon and his associates to make a drag and kill some rabbits. The bait is then placed near these animals and the coyotes come along and help themselves to both.

"The poison we use will kill coyotes and also skunks," Mr. Ligon explained. It does not kill fur bearing animals. Also the bait does not kill wild game animals with craws. It will kill a hawk or an eagle or a crow or raven.

Coyotes Enemies To Game

"There is one thing I would like to point out, he said, "that is, coyotes are the worst enemies of much of our wild game. One reason why we have not had as much quail in this part of West Texas is because of the many coyotes. They destroy many prairie chickens, quail and other game birds, antelope and deer.

"Distribution of poison bait is a wild game conservation measure that every hunter should support. Coyotes kill more game than the average person realized," he pointed out.

Mr. Ligon's territory includes all of the state west of a line through Wichita Falls, Sweetwater, San Angelo and on down to El Paso. He has a number of men working along the line between the Pecos river and El Paso, including the Davis mountains.

Capture Mountain Lions

"Some of my men captured two mountain lions in the Davis mountains in January," Mr. Ligon said. "Last year they captured or trapped seven mountain lions.

Mr. Ligon has been in the government service since 1915, handling the biological survey work, with the exception of his war service. He organized the work in Arizona and New Mexico when he started, then went to Nebraska and South Dakota, coming to Texas four years ago.

Gas Meeting

is chairman of the committee, which includes City Manager J. Bryan Miller of Lubbock, City Attorney E. L. Klett of Lubbock, and Mayor E. B. Ireland of Hereford.

To Submit Constitution

Proposed constitution and by-laws will be submitted at Tuesday's meeting for approval of the West Texas city officials. Chairman of the committee on by-laws and constitution is Mayor Leon Goodman of Midland.

City Attorney Klett and possibly two other persons will go to Austin to represent Lubbock, Tuesday, at a hearing before the state affairs committee of the house of representatives on a utility bill sponsored by the League of Texas Municipalities. The proposed legislation would empower city and county governments to control utilities and create a state utilities commission as a fact-finding body with appelate power.

Rival Bill Up

A rival bill introduced in the senate would center power in a state commission. Sponsors of the senate bill declare that the legislation which they propose would allow seekers of franchises more leverage in forcing competition.

Testing of domestic meters was conducted here Saturday by Laten Stanberry, of the gas utility division of the state railroad commission, who was accompanied by a representative of the West Texas Gas company and a representative of the city.

Meters tested were those of persons who had filed gas bills with the city commission for investigation or had appeared before the commission to protest bills. The city will continue to test meters at places from which complaints have been filed, City Manager Miller said Saturday night.

Paderewski

flute-like voice. He can say nothing, and the people listen because of his eloquence."

For thirty minutes Paderewski and the mayor talked about war, politics and music, but chiefly about politics and world affairs. The visit was made to Colonel Thompson's law office to return a courtesy the mayor paid Paderewski Friday.

Conference Recalled

They recalled especially the conference of allied war veterans and the council of ambassadors, both in session in 1923. Colonel Thompson attending the veterans meeting and Paderewski the meeting of ambassadors. The two groups faced one problem in common, the slaying of an Italian sailor in Greece that aroused the ire of Mussolini. Colonel Thompson prepared the telegram for the veterans that led Mussolini to refer the matter to the council of Ambassadors.

"It was the proper thing to do," Paderewski commented.

Paderewski regards Colonel House as the greatest Texan. "His work has not been appreciated as it should be. It will take time to give the people the proper perspective of his efforts," Padesewski said.

Thrill Has Gone

A discussion of his music brought out that Paderewski no longer "thrills" at playing his Minuet in G.

"I have played it until it is worn out, but my audiences like it," he said. "It is not half so beautiful as many of the more difficult numbers."

In taking his leave, Paderewski asked Colonel Thompson: "Which title do you prefer, mayor or colonel?"

"Colonel," replied the mayor.

"That is right," said Pederewski. "It means much more."

His interest in government led Paderewski to put in his pocket a copy of Amarillo's charter, said to be unique because of the direct representation of the people in governing the city.

Eight Hundred Members Attend Second Meeting Of Mickey Mouse Club Here

Meeting in their second regular weekly session, more than 800 members of the Lubbock Mickey Mouse club assembled at their club house, the Palace theater, and for more than three hours were entertained most highly by a program of song and dance on the stage, pie-eating contests and moving picture shows.

John Houston won the pie-eating contest when he bested a group of powerful masticators on the stage and won as prize a handsome tie given by Carter-Houston company of Lubbock.

Copeland In Charge

Under the direction of Truett Brooks, song leader and band director of the club, the entire "gang" rose and sang "America" to formally open the program. President Jack Copeland was master of ceremonies and director of the program.

The theme song of the club, flashed on the screen, was led by little Miss Bobby Pierce, recently of Los Angeles. Miss Layett Lindsey performed in a special song and dance and Misses Marie and Susan Tyson of the Kitty O'Connor school of dancing, entertained with special dance numbers, accompanied by their mother at the piano. A saxaphone solo was rendered by John Caraway of Lubbock.

The club officially adopted black and white as organization colors.

On the screen, in an all-squeakie, Mickey and Minnie Mouse and their animal friends appeared to delight the hearts of the membership of the club named for them. Added screen attractions were an Harold Lloyd comedy and a regular feature, "The Great Meadow," starring John Mack Brown.

The club convenes each Saturday morning at the Palace. An extensive program, details of which will be announced through this week, is planned for next Saturday morning.

Veterans' Loan

gle penny is lacking to meet all the loan plans."

Charges Misrepresentation

"Then I take it," said Johnson, "there has been utter, gross misrepresentation in some official quarters and in the press regarding the mathematics of this legislation."

Vandenberg added that in his judgment the loan bill, allowing World war veterans to borrow half the face value of their adjusted service certificates would not involve a bond issue by the treasury nor an increase in taxes.

Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, who yesterday was informed by the president that he would veto the loan bill, said nothing had been indicated to him of an intention by Mr. Hoover to call an extra session. He went further and stated he did not think an extra session would be necessary if the measure was enacted.

Sure Of Majorities

Convinced that the overwhelming majorities for the bill in both the senate and house would show a two-thirds majority on over-riding the veto, leaders sent word to the veterans' bureau to prepare for administering the law.

The measure allows World war veterans to borrow half the face value of their bonus insurance certificates—an average of $500 to each of the 3,400,000 ex-service men.

to prevent any outbreak at the polls.

Specific cases which they said proved their charges of favoritism and graft in the city hall were cited by Lyle and Albert. Lyle said that on the last large construction contract let before the primary, only four contractors submitted bids and they were all members of the "contracting combine." The $3,000,000 job went to a company in which the president of the board of local improvements was interested, Lyle said.

All three camps issued optimistic claims of victory. Thompson's managers asserted they had 500,000 signed pledge cards, indicating victory for the present mayor by about 200,000. The Lyle headquarters predicted he would win by 100,000. Roy O. West, former cabinet member and manager of Albert's campaign, said his candidate would win "if the men and women who prefer him will vote."

Midland Mayor Ready To Report On Work

MIDLAND, Feb. 21. (Special)—Mayor Leon Goodman and his constitution and by-laws committee will be prepared to report at the general meeting of West Texas towns and cities in Lubbock next Tuesday.

T. J. Smithan, city manager of Big Spring, and Carl Roundtree, councilman of Lamesa will meet with Goodman in Midland Monday to draw up a constitution and by-laws to submit at the general meeting in Lubbock.

Goodman will propose that the league of West Texas towns and cities be called the West Texas Municipal association. The constitution and by-laws is expected to set forth very definitely the limited matters into which the association will go.

RADFORD UNIT RUMORED

CLOVIS, N. M., Feb. 21.—(Staff Special)—Reports are in circulation here that the J. M. Radford Grocery company of Abilene would erect a $75,000 warehouse for its branch here. Dirt from the basement of the new hotel is being hauled to the lots owned by the grocery company. Low ground is to be raised several feet. No official announcement has been made but it is reported that work will start on the structure in the spring Plans have been finished for the building.

slain when he stopped the automobile in which Mrs. Schroeder and Dague were fleeing from a grocery store robbery at Butler.

Death Instrument Ready

The state's instrument of death was ready to receive the first woman ever to be placed in it. The prisoners will be kept in the prison death house until they are taken to the chair, the woman probably first, at 7 a. m., Monday.

Mrs. Schroeder bade her five-year-old son, Donnie, a last good bye at Newcastle this morning. Her father, Joseph Crawford, and a brother-in-law, John Schroeder, left Newcastle in an automobile for Bellefonte, the father saying: "I want to be out there with Irene and we are going."

At a roadside barbecue where the automobiles were halted midway on the journey, Mrs. Schroeder and Dague were asked if they desired to eat. The woman partook of three ham sandwiches and a soft drink, and Dague asked for two sandwiches and the same drink.

In Light Spirits

Those in the car with the doomed couple said they had never seen Mrs. Schroeder in better spirits. She laughed and joked almost constantly, they said. Dague, while not showing the same light-hearted attitude as the woman who has come to be termed the "blonde bandit," did not appear at all depressed. He didn't talk as much as his companion, but was said to have conversed in a carefree manner at times.

Each prisoner was shackled to a guard during the long ride. As soon as they entered Rockview, Sheriff Frank Johnston of Lawrence county, in whose custody the prisoners had been more than a year, turned them over to Warden Stanley Ashe of the Western penitentary of which Rockview is a division. Warden Ashe has taken personal charge of preparations for the executions.

Five Thousand See Exhibit At Lamesa

LAMESA, Feb. 21. (Special) — More than 5,000 persons viewed an exhibit of Lamesa and Dawson county home-made products here this week. The event was sponsored by the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce.

The Lamesa broadcasting station broadcasted programs of entertainment and advertising with R. E. Renfro, owner, announcing. Exhibit hall was closed at 10 o'clock tonight.

Idea of a home-made products display was conceived by chamber of commerce officials as a part of a five-year program to advertise Texas-made products.

E. R. Yates was chairman of the event.

Members of a committee in charge of the 42 exhibits were O. H. Morris, S. A. Debnam and H. B. Taylor, of the Lamesa Luncheon club.

Compromise Muscle Shoals Bill Goes To Hoover Soon

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21. (AP)—The compromise Muscle Shoals bill, proposing governmental manufacture and distribution of Hydro-electric power, will be in the hands of President Hoover by Monday night or Tuesday under plans formulated today by senate leaders.

Senate approval of the measure which passed the house yesterday 216 to 153, was virtually conceded by its opponents.

Despite assertions from the White House that the president has not yet studied the bill, however, the belief prevailed among members of congress that he will veto it.

Ex-Governor Moody Wins Suit From Western Union

AUSTIN, Feb. 21. (AP)—Ex-Governor Dan Moody won the first law suit he tried in district court after retiring from public office.

A verdict for $2,000 damages to J. H. Hicks was to be entered in the 98th district court following a jury verdict against the Western Union Telegraph company on special issues. The suit was filed by Governor Moody in 1929, before he entered public office. One judgment for $2,800 was reversed by the supreme court.

Hicks charged Western Union with failing to deliver a telegram announcing the death of his wife.

Hlavaty, James R. Gambill, V. B. McBride, Lubbock; W. L. Blackerby, Slaton; A. G. Hunt, Lubbock; N. B. Shearer, Idalou; B. F. Hutson, Lubbock; N. J. Rogers, Idalou; J. M. Burnham, Lubbock; W. F. Rollins, Shallowater; Smith Shaw, Idalou; C. P. Staples, Becton; F. H. Campbell, Idalou; H. A. Loftis, J. A. Barton, Lubbock; Otto Sims, Wolfforth; C. B. Reasoner, Lorenzo; S. A. Johnson, Idalou; Harry Morris, Lubbock; R. L. Powell, County Line.

Mail Service

Lubbock and other South Plains towns resulted in the introduction by the protesting municipalities of three requests. The requests were:

1. That the Texas & Pacific train be required to arrive in Sweetwater 30 or 40 minutes earlier than proposed in the application.

2. That if No. 1 could not be granted, the case be postponed and reset to enable Lubbock and other interested towns to prepare evidence for introduction at another hearing so that effects of the proposed schedule on South Plains towns could be shown.

3. That if the railroad commission granted the Texas & Pacific application, the commission stipulate that the T. & P. train should not arrive in Sweetwater later than the tentative time of 4:40 a. m.

The manager of the Lubbock chamber said a Texas & Pacific representative prior to the hearing had notified him that the proposed schedule would not result in delaying Santa Fe connections to this section more than 30 or 40 minutes. Texas & Pacific officials at the hearing said arrival here and at other South Plains points would be at least an hour and 15 minutes later, the chamber manager reported.

Hearing Continued

The hearing Friday was continued, a period of 20 days being granted the Brotherhood of Railmen and Trainsmen for filing of a brief protesting the proposed consolidation.

At present, all mail and daily papers arriving in Lubbock via the Santa Fe at 7:05 a. m., is a part of the 8:15 a. m. city mail delivery in the business district and the 9 a. m. delivery in the residential district.

Arrival of the train at 8:25 a. m. as proposed, would present delivery of mail from that train as early as at present, Mr. Davis said, and would result in business houses not receiving such mail until shortly before noon. The mail would not be delivered in the residential districts until afternoon, according to the chamber manager.

Mail transferred from the Texas & Pacific to the Santa Fe at Sweetwater would reach Crosbyton, Lamesa, Seagraves, Bledsoe and intervening points on the Santa Fe branch line from an hour and a half to two hours later than at present, the Lubbock chamber manager said.

Rural route mail carried by these connecting trains and delivered from Lubbock and a majority of the other towns on the Santa Fe branch line would arrive at its destination as much as 24 hours late, as rural carriers would be unable to wait for mail from those trains before beginning the day's run, according to Mr. Davis.

Judge Dismisses Obscenity Charges

CHICAGO, Feb. 21. (AP)—Charges of obscenity brought by the police against members of Earl Carroll's "Sketch Book" cast were dismissed today by Municipal Judge Justin F. McCarthy.

The court granted a defense motion to quash complaints against James Carroll, Earl's brother who manages the show; William Demarest and Don Howard, two male principals, and 26 chorus girls. The company moves to Milwaukee tonight but will return after one week for a second run here.

"Shows should be censored before they are presented to the public," Judge McCarthy ruled. "I had the pleasure of seeing the show before and after the police raided it, Feb. 13. Obscenity is determined by the average citizen, not by statute of law, and I have also in mind the modern tendency toward freer and more elastic aspects of the stage and screen."

BUYS INTO HARDWARE

DIMMITT, Feb. 21.—(Staff Special)—Ernest Medkief, has purchased a half interest in the Dye Hardware and Furniture company here it is announced. The firm will hereafter be known as the Dimmitt Hardware and Furniture company. The new firm member was formerly with the Krump-Medkief Mercantile company. He is a member of the Lions club and of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce.

Dancing School
(The School of Refinement)
1009 Ave. Q

TAKES THIS METHOD

of announcing that his studio is one of refinement for those who want the best and he wishes to tell the people how it is run.

MOST BALL ROOM LESsons are given privately and four nights of the week are devoted to class dances.

TAP AND STAGE DANCing if given in classes. A large number of girls are taking chorus work. Some of these girls will be presented in the floor show to be given soon. Elaborate costumes furnished by Mr. Walker.

I have one of the best and biggest dancing schools in West Texas.

A copy of rules, which are posted in the studio, reads like this:

RULES TO BE OBSERVED IN LEWIS WALKER'S DANCING SCHOOL

1. Smoking prohibited at all times.
2. Drinking is "absoultely prohibited!"
3. Correct holding is essention. Cheek to cheek dancing not allowed.
4. Please do not chew gun during classes.
5. This is a dancing school, not a loafing school. There are other places more suited to loafing.
6. Don't talk crude. This doesn't help you or anyone else.
7. If anyone wants your opinion they will ask it. Don't talk out of place in class.
8. Do not Interrupt Classes. Tell the office girl your business, she will help you.
9. Please be quiet in the office. People come here for business and loud talking disturbs.
10. Cleanliness is essential. Please do not throw paper, matches, etc., on the floor. This school is owned and managed by Lewis Walker. Your courtesy and respect to him in observing these rules will be appreciated. If you do not observe these rules, please do not come here.

Stormizing
The Accurate Method of Motor Re-Powering

Seeing the gas you are paying for leak onto the ground in front of you would stop you from buying gas at this station . . . it isn't pleasant to pay for wasted gas. However, thousands upon thousands of motorists are paying for needless waste of gas, caused from gas passing down between worn pistons, rings, and cylinders.

When to Stormize

WHENEVER THE MOTOR has lost its full compression has less power on hills has slow get-away
has lost its snappy pickup consumes more gasoline uses more oil fouls spark plugs quickly exhausts heavy blue smoke develops piston slap develops motor knocks is noisy and vibrates is hard to start

—then, the cylinders, pistons, rings and piston ring grooves are worn sufficiently to lose compression and power.

These motor conditions can all be completely cured by Stormizing motor and installing new pistons and rings.

J. W. Scott Reelected As Snyder C. Of C. Secretary

SNYDER, Feb. 21. —(Special)—J. W. Scott was unanimously reelected as secretary of the Scurry County Chamber of Commerce at a called meeting of the board of directors Thursday evening. He is serving his third year. A number of other applications for the secretaryship were tabled in favor of Mr. Scott, whose constructive work during his term of office was commended for its conservatism.

A vigorous campaign to educate Scurry county concerning its chamber of commerce and to enlist new members and support will be waged, the new directors, headed by Harris Winston, president, decided. Continuation of its three major 1930 projects—Texas Cotton Cooperative Association, government drouth relief and Red Cross work—will be the chamber's chief work during the early part of 1931. Ten new members of the board, selected from the country at large, will be added next week.

Cotton Trading Is Fair During Week-End Livestock Cattle Trade Is Slow Past Week Grain Fair Demand For Light Offerings

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 21. (AP)—There was fairly good trading in the cotton market today for a short week end session. Prices were rather erratic, declining during the first hour 6 to 8 points due to poor Liverpool cables and liquidation in advance of the holiday Monday and before the first notice day for March deliveries Tuesday. There was a good rally in the second and last hour on the activity in the stock market, the recovery amounting to 7 to 10 points from the lows. The close was at the top the general market being called steady and showing net gains for the day of 1 to 3 points on all active months but January which showed a net loss of 1 point for the day.

Liverpool came in 2 to 4 points worse than due and private cables reported local and foreign liquidation. Manchester dulness there were moderate sales also to Egypt and South America. First trades here showed losses of 4 to 6 points and the market continued to ease off after the start mainly owing to liquidation of the March position in advance of the first notice day and general evening up in advance of the Monday holiday. May traded down to 11.18 and October to 11.47 or 6 to 8 points below the previous close.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Feb. 21. (AP)—An early decline in cotton under futher realizing and near month liquidation, was prompted by relatively easy Liverpool cables today, but offerings were readily absorbed and after selling off to 11.15, May contrast rallied to 11.25 on renewed covering. That delivery closed at 11.23, with the general market closing very steady at net advances of 1 to 3 points.

Trading was moderately active at the opening and again toward the close, but otherwise consisted largely of switching from March to later deliveries.

There was very little change in the differences between months during the day's trading, with the closing quotation for March 100 points under the price of December.

Liverpool cables reported hedging with local and foreign liquidation absorbed by trade calling at the decline in that market and said there were moderate sales of cotton cloth for shipment from Manchester to Egypt and South America.

Local Markets

These prices are furnished by the following Lubbock firms: Poultry—Lubbock Poultry and Egg company; delivered Lubbock; Dairy Products—Bell Ice Cream company and Mistletoe Creameries; Grain—S. E. Dealers Will Discuss Show

Meeting Will Be Held Monday Night At Kuykendalls To Arrange Final Details; Service To Be Stressed

Making further plans for the annual automobile show which will be staged at the Up Town Dance palace, March 6 and 7, automobile dealers of the city will meet tomorrow night at 7:30 at the Kuykendall Chevrolet company. Final arrangefor the show will be made at the meeting.

Six or seven dealers are preparing to show models in the show. Indications are that between 30 and 40 of the latest models of their lines will be exhibited. Special showings will be made of featured models of each dealer.

As the importance of proper service of automobiles is to be stressed in the show, service men and factory representatives are to be here for the show to explain various phases of motor operation.

Special entertainment features will be given during the show, it was stated yesterday.

Post To Stage Pretty Yard Contest During This Year

POST, Feb. 21. (Staff Special.)—Sponsored by the Civic club, another pretty yard contest is to be held in Post this summer, it is announced. Prizes are to be offered by the committee in several classes.

It is also planned to ask the city to establish a special irrigation rate so that yard owners may be able to water their lawns and gardens entered in the contest.

Members of the committee are: Mrs. John T. Herd, Mrs. M. B. Ray, Mrs. A. C. Surman and Mrs. Ira Lee Duckworth. George Samson, of the chamber of commerce, is helping with the detail work.

Stock Market Refuses To Be Disturbed By Profit Taking To End Week Strong

BY JOHN L. COOLEY

(Associated Press Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, Feb. 21. (AP)—In the largest Saturday turnover since last spring—2,434,640 shares—the stock market today refused to be disturbed by profit-taking and closed the week with a flourish of strength.

The list of issues up 1 to 3 points net embraced all groups, including the rails. Specialties asserted their leadership in no uncertain manner, with rallies of 4 to nearly 12 points on some instances. United States Steel, American Can, American Telephone, Anaconda, General Electric, Radio, Bethlehem Steel, and New York Central were a few of the prominent stocks to push through their previous 1931 highs.

Highest Since October

At the close, the average for 90 equities was 142.4, an advance of 1.8 points for the day, and the highest since October 15. The volume was the best for a week-end since May 3 when prices were breaking badly.

Commodity prices, according to the department of labor's January index, declined 1.4 points last month, making the drop from the July, 1929, high a matter of 21 per cent. Wholesale farm prices sagged appreciably. There were small gains in iron and steel.

Grains failed to follow stocks. Losses in wheat amounted to about a cent and a half, reflecting easiness in Winnipeg, rains in Kansas and an increase in world visible supply. Corn dipped half a cent on forecasts of large receipts and lower Buenos Aires quotations. Cotton steadier after selling and futures closed 1 to 3 points higher.

The rise of a cent in bar silver, following favorable action by the senate on the Pittman resolution, brought a sympathetic rally in Shanghai exchange, but other foreign rates were mildly irregular. Sterling cables improved nominally to $4.86 21-32 for cables.

Irrigation Is Being Revived In Bailey Area

Eight Or Ten Wells Already Started And Others Attracting Attention; Water Is Shallow

MULESHOE, Feb. 21—(Staff Special)—A great revival in the number of irrigation plots in the famous Blackwater draw of Bailey county is under way here, with eight or ten wells already started and more than that many contemplated.

The valley now has more than 60 wells in operation. Irrigation work has been going on there for a number of years and has attracted wide attention over the state and in the sections where irrigation has been in vogue for some time.

Water Is Shallow

One feature of wells in this county is the small lift for water that is necessary. While most of the wells are around 100 feet in depth, the water in them rises often to a height of 80 to 90 feet.

"It is necessary only to lift the water in the well a distance of from 25 to 35 feet," Fred S. Reynolds, county agent, explained. "I think the average depth of wells is probably 100 feet but the water level in them is very high.

Using Ford Engines

"I know of a number of farmers who are using engines from old second hand cars for running the pump," he said. "It seems that some of the old model T Ford engines are just about the right thing. Farmers tell me that they can, at a cost of probably $40 to $50, convert one of these engines into a first class pumping outfit that will lift as high as 1,000 gallons of water a minute. The engines that are now in use are very satisfactory, according to all reports I have had.

Has Great Future

"My belief is that the Blackwater Valley has a great future as an irrigation center." Mr. Reynolds declared. There is a tremendous amount of interest in it and I believe that we will see one of the greatest increases in irrigation of land we have ever had here."

There are said to be more than 100,000 acres of land in the Blackwater that is yet available for irrigation purposes. During the past winter a number of farmers from the northwest, who have been irrigating, have moved here and purchased acreages for development.

Local real estate men report that several more deals are under way, in addition to a large number of inquiries.

The Steele ranch, one of the famous ranches of this section, has been cut up into small farms and a number have been sold. Other ranch properties have been given the same program also.

Livestock

MIDDLEWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 21. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Cattle trade this week was slow with most killing classes selling at new low price levels for the season. Demand continued to center on the better weights steers, several markets reported losses of 35-50 on the general run of fed steers and light yearlings. There was a fair country outlet for the better grades of light weight yearlings but other replacement stock slipped to lower price levels. Receipts were estimated at 150,500.

Hog prices also dropped to new low levels for the season. A reaction however on late days left values somewhat higher than the low time. Current rates on offering 220 lbs are 15-40 under a week ago while strong weight butchers are steady to 15 lower. St. Louis had a top of 7.75. Offerings were around 581,000.

Fat lambs after selling higher on midweek sessions, are closing steady to slightly lower than last week. Matured killing classes of sheep are steady to strong with a week ago. Shippers and city butchers in Chicago paid 8.00 for numerous loads of choice lambs. The supply numbered around 319,610.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Feb. 21. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Hogs, 600; no full hogs offered; truck hogs steady, 170 to 230 pound truck hogs 6.85 @ 7.00; packing sows 5.50 er steady.

Cattle, 150; for week: slaughter steers steady to slightly lower; yearlings, she stock and bulls mostly steady calves around 25c higher; stock cattle and calves unchanged. Week's tops: steers 7.75, fat yearlings 6.75, practical top fat cows 4.75, bulls 4.50, heavy fat calves 7.25, light weight vealers 6.00, fairly good stock steer calves 7.50 and good stock yearling steers 7.75. Bulk prices: slaughter steers 5.25 @ 7.00, better grades fat yearlings 6.00 @ 6.25, butcher cows 3.25 @ 5.25, heavy slaughter calves 5.00 @ 6.50, cull sorts 3.25 @ 4.00.

Sheep, 50; for week: aged wethers 25c lower; other classes steady; bulk better grade fresh and fall shorn lambs 5.00 @ 7.40; yearlings 6.50 @ 6.80, aged wethers 4.50 @ 5.00; ewes 4.00; feeder lambs mostly 5.50 @ 6.50.

Tech Officials To Make Plea For Funds This Week

Officials of Texas Technological college and members of the board of directors expect to go to Austin this week to attend the meetings of State legislative committees on appropriations for the next biennium., according to Dr. Paul W. Horn, president.

Dr. Horn and W. T. Gaston, business manager, have been in Austin recently and when the hearings start, they expect to return. Clifford B. Jones, chairman of the board, Houston Harte of San Angelo and several other members also are expected to be in Austin when Tech's appropriation is called up for discussion.

The hearing on the teachers colleges will start Monday.

How long it will take to get the teacher's colleges cases out of the way is not known. That there will be a determined fight to reduce appropriations as recommended by the state board of control, is well known. The local school will have as many friends as possible before the committee to urge that the school be permitted to operate on its proposed program.

Scout Officials Named Thursday

TAHOKA, Feb. 21.—(Special)—Departmental chairman of the southern district, South Plains Area council, of Boy Scouts of America, were appointed at a meeting of the district committee here Thursday night.

Chairman Dyer called the meeting to order at 8:10 p. m. and announced the following selections:

Awards, M. O. Canaday of Tahoka; activities, J. N. Spikes of Lamesa; organization, Ben S. Coln of O'Donnell, and education, Rev. E. H. Surface of Lamesa.

D. T. Jennings, area executive, of Lubbock, explained methods of council, district and local procedure and recommended means of developing a court of honor committee.

A survey of the schools to obtain the number of 11, 12 and 13-year-old boys not in scouting was recommended, as well as organization of troops, farm patrols, or Lone Scouts in surrounding rural districts.

Fourteen men attended the meeting.

INSTALL GENT'S FURNISHINGS

LEVELLAND, Feb. 21 — (Staff Special)—U. I. Bridges and R. E. Tipps have installed a gent's furnishing department in their cleaning establishment on the north side of the square. The two men will operate the lines of business together.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Feb. 21. (AP)—Fair demand for light offerings was reported again on the cash grain market today. Estimated receipts included: wheat, 7 cars; corn, 6; oats, 3 and sorghums, 4.

Quotations ranged as follows basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Wheat, No. 1 hard, of any protein, 78 1-2 @ 80 1-2c.

Corn, No. 2 mixed 69 @@ 70; No. 2 white 72 @ 73c; No. 2 yellow 71 1-2 @ 73 1-2c.

Oats, No. 2 red 42 3-4 @ 43 1-4c (No. 2 white delivered group one, same price).

Sorghums, No. 2 milo per 100 pounds 1.21 @ 1.23; No. 2 kaffir 1.17 @ 1.19.

Cane seed bulk country run red top per 100 pounds, according to type germination, origin and clean out, 2.65 @ 2.85.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 21. (AP)—Almost heedless of soaring prices for stocks, the grain markets pursued a general downward course today. Reports of rain and snow in Oklahoma, Kansas and Colorado, together with predictions of moisture for the greater part of the grain belt, had a decided bearish influence. Besides, general export demand for North American wheat and eastern shipping call for corn were apparently at a standstill, although talk was heard that government sponsored agencies had disposed of some export wheat at the gulf of Mexico.

Wheat closed heavy, unchanged to 1 cent lower, corn 3-8, 3-4 off, oats unchanged to 7-8 decline and provisions a shade to 5 cents up.

Nearly all the buoyancy of stocks disregarded by grain traders, but evening up transactions to prepare for a double holiday were also minus any lasting stimulus. Wheat closed at about the day's bottom level.

Corn and oats accompanied wheat downward. Reports of large offerings of corn to be shipped from other terminal markets to Chicago were persistent, and one Chicago industry announced booking of 120,000 bushels.

Lead Roles In Local Picture Are Selected

Miss Frances Gunn, Brooks Penney, Mildred Price And Raymond Pfluger To Take Part In Local Movie

Miss Francis Gunn and Brooks Penney have been selected to play the leading roles in the local motion picture, "The Romance of Lubbock" which is being filmed in Lubbock, it was announced yesterday by George L. Satterwhite of the Photo Arts Production company of San Antonio. The company is filming the picture.

Mr. Satterwhite stated that the filming of the picture will be continued through this week and that the work is expected to be finished by Thursday or Friday. All of the scenes will be of places in and around Lubbock. Scenes today will include shots of the audiences emerging from the local churches.

Supporting Miss Gunn and Mr. Penney in the story will be Miss Mildred Price and Raymond Pfluger. Junior members of the cast who will appear in the earlier part of the picture will be Ethel Bennett, Sonnie Boy Daniels, Orvesta Lee Green, Rose Marian Levine, Dorothy Daniels and Bobbie Campbell.

The film will be shown at the Lindsey theater on March 4, 5 and 6.

Uncle Sam Is To Probe Walking Of His Mail Carriers

Some time next April if you happen to have your mail delivered by two men instead of one, don't be surprised. It will merely be the semi-annual count of the number of pieces of mail., handled by each city carrier.

Twice a year Uncle Sam sends out the superintendent of mails in Lubbock and in towns of this size and even larger, to see just how much work his gray clad "walkers" have to do in the delivery of first, second, third and fourth class matters.

Will Be John R. Green

In Lubbock"s case it will be John R. Green, superintendent of mails, who will make the survey, according to Postmaster John L. Vaughan.

"Twice a year we count the number of pieces of mail each carrier handles in a day, the number of stops he has to make, the number of blocks he has to walk and so on," said the postmaster. "Mr. Green will go with each of the carriers for both morning and afternoon deliveries. In that way we will get a pretty good picture of just what the average amount of work each carrier has to do."

Blanks are provided by the government for the count. Before the start is made from the postoffice, the number of pieces is counted. Then as a stop is made to deliver mail, a record is made. The number of blocks from the postoffice to the starting of the route is recorded and also the number of blocks on the route.

Post Vocational Class Has Raising Baby Chicks Project

POST, Feb. 21 (Staff Special)—A vocational class project in the raising of baby chicks has been undertaken by the boys of the vocational agriculture class of the Post high school.

Mrs. H. J. Dietrich of the Post Hatchery has given the class a brooder of baby chicks. A brooder house has been secured and the latest best equipment possible will be secured.

Records will be kept of the cost of producing chicks. From time to time the boys will take turns in doing the work.

Film Version Of "Billy The Kid" Is Condemned By New Mexicans; Chaves County Historical Group Plan Meet

ROSWELL, N. M., Feb. 21. (Staff Special.)—The ears of a lot of folk out in Hollywood who had to do with the filming of the picture depicting the life of William Bonney, otherwise known as "Billy the Kid", should begin to turn a deep red when old timers of this section who were acquainted with the facts about the famous "Lincoln county War" get together here February 26.

Occasion is a meeting of the Chaves County Historical Society, to be held in the junior high school auditorium.

Condemns Version

The society has gone on record as condemning the film version of the life of the most famous character in this section. The whole plot and story is way out of joint, they say.

Also the society went so far as to ask R. C. Dillon, former governor and known as "Governor Dick" to withdraw his endorsement of the picture, which he gave while chief executive of the state.

"Days of Billy the Kid in Story, Song and Dance" will be the program as given at the high school. Early day events will be protrayed.

To Relate Incidents

An old timer, who was here when Billy was alive and who not only knew him but who had worked with him, will relate incidents of the life of the former officer-bandit. He will tell of the escape of Billy from the Lincoln county jail after the killing of two deputy sheriffs, Bell and Olinger.

Not only that but a lot of other old timers are expected to be on hand to add their evidence to the lot to prove that the film version is far from correct.

P. Park Lea, related to the late Captain J. C. Lea, founder of Roswell, who lives now in National City, California, has written that he has seen the film and does not like it." I saw the picture of 'Billy the Kid' on the screen and was thoroughly disgusted. I hope the people in Roswell will produce a correct picture of Billy the Kid and all concerned," he wrote.

Other old timers have also written here protesting the film.

WORTH 33 OTHERS

DURHAM, N. H. (AP) — Some farmers have to-milk 33 cows each to make as large returns above feed cost as others who milk only three. In a test 1,800 cows averaged an annual income of $18 over feed cost while 2,000 others, producing five times as much butterfat, averaged $200.

School Heads Are Retained Another Year

L. T. Green Is Reelected Superintendent At Slaton; Watson Retained At Colorado; Lane At Lorenzo

SLATON, Feb. 21 (Staff Special) —L. T. Green, superintendent of schools here for the past two years, coming here from Levelland, was reelected as superintendent by the board of trustees. David Leunes, with the schools for the past two years, was named high school principal.

COLORADO, Feb. 21. (Staff Special)—John E. Watson, superintendent of schools here for the past year, was reelected to that post by the school board at its last meeting. Mr. Watson came here from Post last year where he had served for several years.

LORENZO, Feb. 21. (Staff Special)—H. B. Lane, who is completing his first term as superintendent of the Lorenzo schools, has been reelected to the post for another term. Mr. Lane came here last summer from Midland where he had been employed for some time.

FLOYDADA, Feb. 21. (Staff Special)—Troy Jones, principal of the Andrews ward school here, has resigned effective February 28 to go to Gatesville where he becomes agent for the Continental Oil company. It is expected that W. R. Patty superintendent of schools, will handle the work of Mr. Jones for the remainder of the year.

FLOYDADA, Feb. 21. (Staff Special)—Harper Scoggins, former principal of the Floydada high school and for the past year superintendent of schools at Groom, has been elected to that post for another year.

Mr. Scoggins is a graduate of Texas Technological college. He was principal here for six years before going to Groom. Election was unanimous and Mr. Scoggins accepted.

Pure Seed Is Being Bought

More Than 90,000 Pounds To Be Sown This Year; Eaton Expects Many More Farmers To Buy Better Seed

More than 90,000 pounds of pure cotton seed, or 2,000 bushels, has been sold to farmers in three communities of Lubbock county for planting in the spring and it is expected that there will be more sold between now and time to plant, according to D. F. Eaton, county agent.

The gins at Shallowater and Wolffarth and one in Lubbock have made the purchases, according to Mr. Eaton.

Of Mebane Strain

"This seed is of the Mebane strain," the county agent explained. "It came from the Mebane estate and was a pedigreed seed that a gin in Runnels county bought as certified seed.

"What has been bought here is known as pure seed. It is a year from the certified seed. The Runnels county gin apparently was a one crop gin and used Mebane altogether."

Others To Plant

In addition to these three car loads of pure seed, a large number of farmers are expected to plant certified or pure seed.

Most of this will be sold in small lots, enough seed to plant from six to ten acres, so that there can be built up on the South Plains a large amount of pure seed for planting.

No estimate has been made of the amount of certified or pure seed that will be sown in the county, Mr. Eaton said. Certified cotton breeders are making arrangements to dispose of a large amount of the seed direct to farmers, between now and May 1.

Mr. Eaton and others are urging against any large acreages of a new type cotton seed for the Plains, stating that it will be better to see if there can be developed a type of seed that can be grown here to take the place of the present short staple.

Interest Is Manifested In Land Leased By Westheimer

SEMINOLE, Feb. 21. (Special)—Great interest is being manifested in the future of a 10,000 acre tract of land southeast of Seminole which Max Westheimer, of the firm of Westheimer and Daube, oil operators, has leased. Recently Mr. Westheimer visited the tract. His visit has given rise to rumors of a drilling campaign.

Five years ago, in 1926, the company, with headquarters at Ardmore, Okla., drilled a test. It bottomed at 3,420 feet. The company has 10,000 acres in fee and under lease 12 miles southwest of town.

All Weather Road Is Sought In New Mexico Oil Section

LOVINGTON, N. M. Feb. 21 (Staff Special) — The Lovington chamber of commerce has under way plans to secure an all weather road connecting the Lea county oil fields with Clovis and Portales.

It is the plan to connect up the present road from Hobbs through Lovington to Tatum, with a road to Dora and to connect with the Portales-Clovis highway at Portales.

Bedford, Ind., high school lost a basketball game to Washington Ind., high without scoring a field goal. The score was 33-10.

"LUBBOCK'S FINEST DEPARTMENT STORE"

Amarillo Is Preparing For Stock Display

Tri-State Exposition Units Are Being Improved To Care For Stock Show; Entries Expected To Be Large

AMARILLO, Feb. 21 (Special)—Additions and improvements being made at the Tri-State Exposition grounds to accomodate the needs of the first annual Fat Stock Show, March 2-3-4-5 are virtually complete.

A new sales and exhibit arena seating 1000 persons is being constructed, stock barns are being enlarged, and railroad switch tracks and modern scales are being installed.

Word has just been received of the entry of a complete carload of baby beef from New Mexico, coming from Fort Sumner and Las Vegas. These animals will be unloaded here Saturday, February 28, and are the entries of the Boys' Baby Beef Clubs of those places.

Is Well Sponsored

Although this is to be Amarillo's first annual Fat Stock Show, it is assured an auspicious start, since it is with the combines efforts of five old and recognized livestock organizations that it is being staged, backed also by the Tri-State Exposition board of directors.

Organizations fostering the show are the Panhandle Livestock Producers' Association, Panhandle Hereford Breeders' Association, and the Panhandle Boys and Girls Pig Clubs.

To Hold Conventions

The holding of the annual conventions of the Panhandle Livestock Producers' Association and the Panhandle Swine Breeders' Association during the Fat Stock Show, and the fact that auction sales both of Herefords and swine will be held as a feature of the show, is expected to attract beef cattle and hog producers from many surrounding states.

A last minute addition to the premium lists appears in the catalogue, just off the press. Carload beef cattle have been added, carrying $300.00 in premiums, contributed equally by the Fat Stock Show, the American Hereford Cattle Breeders, and Julian Bivins, of Amarillo. Fifteen animals, either heifers or steers, comprise a carload.

The Fat Stock Show is backed by the Tri-State Fair, and Wilbur C. Hawk, famous throughout the southwest as a successful fair manager, is president of both organizations.

Hawkins Will Face Trial On Killing Charge

Crosby County Man To Be Up In Second Hearing For The Slaying Of Father-In-Law; Interest In Case

(Special to Avalanche-Journal)

FLOYDADA, Feb. 21.—Joe Hawkins, 34, charged with the murder of his father-in-law S. M. Walker, 76, on the afternoon of October 28, 1929, will go to trial in the Floyd county district court here Monday morning, according to announcement made by Durwood H. Bradley, district attorney of the 72nd district court at Lubbock.

On an appeal recently the state court of criminal appeals allowed a change of venue from Crosby to Floyd county and the case was remanded for new trial.

Appealed 50-Year Term

Mr. Bradley, together with A. J. Folley, district atotrney of Floyd county, will prosecute the prisoner. In the first trial, held a year ago, Hawkins was found guilty of murder and given a sentence of 50 years in the state penitentiary. He appealed and has since been free on bond.

The killing was said at the time to have been the outcome of a quarrel between the two men over a dog fight.

Over Dog Fight

Walker, a resident of Crosby county for 36 years, was returning from work in his garden and passed by the Hawkins place, northwest of Crosbyton. Noticing several men in the yard, Walker stopped to investigate and found the dog fight.

Witnesses said that he asked the younger man to stop the fight but the latter refused. An argument followed and Hawkins ordered his father-in-law to leave. The older man refused and Hawkins said he would make him. He went into the house and returned with a shotgun. When his father-in-law again declined to leave the yard, Hawkins shot him, the charge taking effect in Walker's heart.

Hundred And Eight Licenses Are Issued By Clovis Clerk

CLOVIS, N. M. Feb. 21. (Staff Special)—One hundred and eight marriage licenses were issued during January, George H. Barrows, county clerk, announces.

The number is eight less than the January 1930 number, which was 116. This city is still the most popular place for securing marriage licenses. A great majority of those who were married here were from Texas.

NO DATE SET

FLOYDADA, Feb. 21. (Staff Special)—No date has been set for the annual meeting of the Floydada Chamber of Commerce, J. B. Jenkins, president, announced. New directors are to be chosen at the meeting

Frosh Queen To Be Selected At Tech Monday, Tuesday

Fourteen candidates will vie for the favor of their classmates Monday and Tuesday when the annual election for selection of the Texas Tech Freshman Queen will be held. Winner of the election will reign at the annual Frosh dance, to be held on April 18.

Observing a tradition of the school, The Toreador, school paper, will sponsor the election. Ballot boxes will be placed in the hall at the Toreador ofice and in the Engineering building. Voting will be by secret ballot, each first year student being allowed one vote. Aggie and Home-Ec students must cast their votes at the administration building.

High Spot of Year

"The annual freshman dance and coronation of the queen is the high spot in any student's life," according to Matt Seymour, Frosh president. Seymour urges each freshman to cast a vote during the two days and to enter into the spirit of the occasion, to make the dance the most brilliant affair of the year.

Committees have been appointed and are engaged in the formulation of elaborate plans for the coronation. Identity of the queen will not be revealed until April.

The royal court will be composed of dukes and duchesses from the Fish class with representatives from other classes and social clubs.

Plans Discussed For Annual Hospital Men's Convention

Plans for the annual convention of the Northwest Texas Clinic and Hospital Managers association, to be held at San Angelo April 20 and 21, were discussed recently at a meeting in Abilene of the directors of the group.

C. E. Hunt, superintendent of the Lubbock Sanitarium and president of the association, presided at the conference. A preliminary program was outlined.

Others present included: Miss Eca Wallace, superintendent of the Wichita Falls Clinic Hospital R. R. Fuller, business manager at the same place; H. L. Barber, business manager of Harris Clinic Hospital, Fort Worth; Earl Dunn, superintendent, Baptist Hospital, San Angelo and E. M. Collier, superintendent, West Texas Baptist Sanitarium, Abilene.

Lubbock last May entertained the meeting here. It had the largest attendance in the history of the organization. Abilene, according to reports, will ask for the 1932 meeting.

Not one case of parrot disease (psittacosis) has been reported in England since May 20, when importation of the birds was banned.

Preparations For Banquet Made In City

Reservations For Texas Ex Banquet Sought By Committee This Week; Gathering To Be At Hilton, March 2

Officials and members of various committees of the Texas Exes association are anxious that reservations for the annual dinner, to be held at the Hilton hotel on March 2, be made immediately in order that proper arrangements can be completed, Mrs. Wm. Dingus, president of the association, has announced. The dinner will start promptly at 7 o'clock.

Tickets for the affair, costing 75 cents, may be secured from Miss Doris Baugh, telephone 180, or from any other member of the committee, including Mrs. E. L. Klett, telephone 323, Mrs. O. C. Corry, telephone 969-W, or Mrs. Clyde P. Elkins, telephone 1943.

Invitations Mailed

A letter of inviation has been sent out to a list of several hundred Texas Exes in Lubbock and other South Plains counties by A. B. Davis and Mrs. Elkins, members of the publicity committee.

A letter is to be sent to every person whose name appears on the list received from officials of the university recently. Mrs. Dingus and members of the committee, however, urge that all who have attended Texas university attend the banquet whether or not they receive one of the letters.

"We feel sure that there will be a number of people whose address will be given us incorrectly by officials at Austin, or who have moved here recently and whose name will not appear on the list," Mrs. Dingus stated Saturday. "Those persons will not receive a letter from us and for this reason we wish to extend a special invitation through the press for all Texas ex-students to attend."

Strictly Informal

The gathering here is being held in conjunction with similar meetings over the state. The dinner will be strictly informal and speeches will be no longer than six minutes each. Edgar Shelton will be song and yell leader, assisted by Miss Johnnye Gilkerson and Willis Evans, in charge of music.

R. E. Mills, chairman of the program committee, and members of his group have worked out a snappy program for the evening.

Interest In Meat Show Is On Increase

Preparations Are Being Made To Entertain Large Crowd Of Visitors In Two Days Of Show; Prizes Offered

WITH the date set but a month away interest is growing throughout the South Plains and even other parts of the State in the first annual Lubbock Fat Calf, Pig and Cured Meat show, to be held in this city on March 27 and 28. Perhaps one of the main attractions of the event is the first annual Hereford sale which will be staged in connection with the show. The sale will be held on March 27.

Sponsored by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, the show also is being aided by the Texas Extension service and the Panhandle South Plains Fair association.

Numerous Prizes Offered

Planned primarily as an exhibitory affair with numerous prizes being offered for winner a number of special entertainment features also are to be listed for those who attend during the two days.

Two dances, one on the night of March 26 and the other on the evening of the 28th, will be given by those in charge of entertainment. A good orchestra is promised for each event and the dances of years passed will feature while the fast steps of the modern youth will be banned.

To Hold Banquet

On the evening of March 27 a "Quality Meats" banquet will be held. Among the principal speakers on the banquet program are Frank P. Holland, jr., of Dallas, president of the Texas Feeder-association; Amon G. Carter, Fort Worth publisher, and O. B. Martin, superintendent of the Texas Extension service.

Meat for the banquet will be furnished by the animal husbandry department of Texas Technological college. The department is fitting a prize winning steer which will be shown earlier in March at the Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth and later be killed for the program here.

To Sell Herefords

Forty-three of the finest Hereford cattle in the state have already been consigned for the Lubbock pure-bred Hereford sale, to be conducted on the first day of the show. Dr. I. E. Barr, chairman of the sale committee, has announced that interest in the affair has grown steadily and that prospects at this time are for a wonderful display of cattle with a large number of buyers represented.

John M. Giss, of Odessa, premier Hereford breeder and president of the state association under whose auspices the sale is being promoted, recently declared that in his opinion the Lubbock sale will be the best in Texas this year.

Announcement has been made that $1,000 in cash prizes will be offered to those competing with exhibits at the show.

Judges Selected

Judges for the show are Sterling Evans, meat department; W. L. Stangel, baby beef department; A. L. Ward, pig division.

A number of agricultural authorities of Texas and the South have indicated that they will attend the two-day affair. Among those who will be here are W. L. Blizzard, head of the department of animal husbandry, Oklahoma A. & M. college; C. W. Mullen, associate editor of the Oklahoma Farmer-Stockman, and Clarence Roberts, editor of the same publication; E. B. Spiller, secretary Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' association, Fort Worth; Eugene Butler, editor, Progressive Farmer, Dallas.

Following the show, an auction sale is to be conducted, with an outstanding auctioneer selling the cured meats and the livestock to highest bidders. Hotel representatives, buyers from packing houses, local meat markets and others will be on hand to make bids for the meats.

Engineers To Hold Banquet On Saturday

Annual Gathering To Be Held In Matador Ballroom Of Hilton Hotel; Program Is Arranged For Affair

Two hundred and fifty Texas Tech engineers will lay aside their slides rules next Saturday night, exchange their boots for a pair of oxfords and make merry at the annual Tech engineering banquet in the Matador ballroom in the Hilton hotel. The affair will be sponsored by the Tech Engineering society of which practically every student in the Tech engineering school is a member.

Professor Edgar Shelton of the Tech architectural department has been named master of ceremonies and one of the principal speakers will be W. T. (Tanlac) Strange, architect from Big Spring. Mr. Strange was the speaker at the banquet two years ago and is well known for his wit and humor and for his interesting talks he is able to deliver on engineering subjects. At least one more speaker will be obtained according to Winnifred Wardell, president of the society.

Each class in the engineering school has selected a speaker for the night. G. Tommie Morris, Amarillo, will orate for the dignified senior class; Willard Nott, Waco, will speak for the juniors; Carl McAdams, Gordonville, will represent the sophomore group and Edgar Neal, Lubbock, will speak for the freshmen. All toast and joke books have been checked out of the Tech library and many funny stories are expected to have to be listened to.

According to Wardell most of the most interestinf programs ever wbrked out for a banquet has been aranged for the event. Several special guests will be present.

Tickets went on sale Monday morning for $1.50 each. At the same time the banquet will be in swing here, Tech engineering graduates will gather in at least three other places for feeds. Graduates who are working at Dallas plan a banquet there, one will be held at Chattanooga, Tennessee, and one will be held at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. At least eight Tech graduates will be in attendance in each case.

Dates Set For Press Session

West Texas Press Association Members To Gather Here, August 14 And 15 For Annual Convention

Dates for the 1931 convention of the West Texas Press association to be held in Lubbock, were definitely announced as August 14 and 15, by W. S. (Bill) Cooper, of Colorado, president of the association, who was a visitor in Lubbock Saturday.

Mr. Cooper, who is editor of the Colorado Record, was in this city to confer with Charles A. Guy, vice-president and a member of the executive committee of the association, officials of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and C. A. Sheffield, manager of Hotel Lubbock, where headquarters of the convention will be established.

"Early indications are that we will have a large attendance at the sessions," Mr. Cooper said yesterday. "Between now and August we plan, with the cooperation of your local chamber of commerce and hotel officials, to make an effort to get every newspaper man in West Texas to pledge his attendance at the annual meeting."

SOUTHLAND, Feb. 21—(Staff Special)—Southland's streets were given a good dragging by the city under the direction of S. N. Hendrix. Both residential and business streets were worked over, following a good rain. Gutters also were deepened.

Calendular Activities Here Are Predominated By Clubs

DR. MYERS

Doctor Myers' Daily Column On Child Welfare

BY GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

The Father of Our Country is still an inspiration to children and their parents.

Although the cherry tree story may be a myth, the attitude of George Washington toward his mother and toward his own family, toward his fellow countrymen, and theirs, in turn, toward him, are strong evidence of his remarkable integrity.

We admire him for his vision while still a youth, for his systematic mode of self-improvement, self-education, for his industry, and for his extraordinary will power. Always he had definite plans in private and in public life. Nothing small or large could turn him from his plans once he felt sure that he was right. Perhaps no American has ever met with so many discouragements and difficulties as he did in public life. Certainly none ever rose so victoriously above them.

George Washington did not stoop to do or say small things. He was a model of poise, graciousness and dignity.

One of the most beautiful things of his life was his visit to his old mother just before entering office as the first president of the United States.

The Literary Digest for May 10, 1930, carried on its front cover a reproduction of the painting by Ferris of "Washington's Farewell to His Mother (1789)."

Mr. Ferris has written:

"An affecting scene ensued. The son remarked the ravages which disease had made upon the aged frame of his mother, and adrest her with these words: 'The people, madame, have been pleased to elect me to the Chief Magistracy of the United States, but before I can assume the functions of my office I have come to bid you an affectionate farewell. So soon as the weight of public business which must necessarily attend the outset of a new government can be disposed of, I shall hasten to Virginia and'—here the matron interrupted with—'And you will see me no more; my great age and disease warn me that I shall not be long for this world; I trust in God that I may be somewhat prepared for a better. But go, George, fulfil the high destinies which heaven appears to have intended for you; go, my son, and may heaven's and a mother's blessing be with you always.'

"Her hand was laid upon his bended head, and the great man's frame trembled while a sob burst from his breast, for already he saw the shadow upon her.

"When Washington rose to go, she went with him to the door, leaning fondly upon his arm, and stopt upon the threshold to repeat last adieu."

Let us at this time encourage our elder children to read the life of George Washington, and tell the younger ones about him. Let us talk about this great man at the dinner table. The children will find great amusement and enlightenment in enumerating the conveniences we today enjoy which George Washington and his parents never knew about.

Nevertheless, the problems of conduct, of right and wrong, of character, indeed, are not fundamentally different.

Dancing Here Continues As Popular Note

Younger Set Dances Saturday Evening At Country Club When Two Entertain For Plainview People

WITH dancing as a leading diversion, entertaining continues through the week-end in Lubbock, as society swings into a festive mid-winter mood.

High school people, collegians, townspeople all dance, particularly during week-ends when ballrooms of hotels and clubs are filled for gala events. During this week-end four dances have featured entertainments with a number of other affairs furnishing additional diversion.

Dance At Club

About one hundred couples, drawn from the younger set, danced last evening at the Country Club at an affair given in honor of a group of young people from Plainview. This dance was a return courtesy for a dance given a week ago in that city.

Hosts last evening were Hilton Martin and Orval Marshall and dancing was from 10 until 1 o'clock.

Colors of red and yellow were used in decorations in the club halls and these same hues were reflected in the refreshment course that was served late in the evening.

Hostesses for a sixteen-table bridge party that was given Friday afternoon in the F. R. Friend residence at 2005 Broadway received their guests in Colonial costume. These hostesses were Mesdames Carl E. Slaton, Richard B. Borders, Will N. Morgan and Thomas Young.

The Washington Day motif was carried throughout the party in tallies and scorers for bridge, favors and the refreshment course.

High score in the games was made by Mrs. K. L. Riggs with Mrs. M. N. Hale scoring second high and Mrs. Harry Hunter low.

Glen Hunts Hosts To La Novia Club

Entertaining in their home on 15th street, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hunt were hosts Friday evening to members of La Novia club. Bridge was played.

Special guests for the evening were Messrs. and Mesdames W. G. Alderson, Clinton Lackey, Sturgis Hurley and John Edmisson.

Club members who attended were Messrs. and Mesdames Claxton Draper, Marlin R. Smith, W. D. Benson, jr., and Frank Griffith.

Red, white and blue were used in appointments for the party. The Drapers made high score among the club members and the Aldersons scored high among visiting couples. Mr. Smith was low in bridge.

Series Of Lenten Programs Are Planned For Auxiliary

The first of a series of weekly meetings, which will coutine through Lent, will be attended by members of St. Paul's Episcopal auxiliary Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Guy R. Johnston, 2511 21st street. Mrs. Clarence Hotson will be co-hostess. Mrs. Doak will lead the study for Lent, which will be on India.

Mr. And Mrs. Flenniken Are Hosts To Club Here Friday

Members of the 1931-42 club were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Flenniken, 1802 Avenue J, Friday evening. The George Washington motif was used in appointments.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Paul Carter and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ellis were guests. Members present were Messrs. and Mesdames H. L. Cantelou, O. W. Ribble, Joe Telford, W. E. Bourland, Albert Fryar, Allan Hill.

College Club Entertains With Gay Informal Dance; Few Friends Asked

A gala occasion of the week-end was the informal dance given by members of the College club Friday evening at the Country club.

Music for dancing was furnished by Frank Stone's Collegians and at 11:30 o'clock a program was given. Young women who attended were presented with vanities with their initials engraved on them.

Members are Messrs. Raymond Pfluger, Chuck Williams, Herman Houk, John R. Johnson, Jimmie Renfro, Tedo Hazelwood, Wilson Holden, Bob Hooks, Gus Joiner, Frank Kelley, James Loughridge, Clyde Thompson, Dennis Vinzant, Robert Walker, John Wulfman, C. A. Doose, Jack Durham, Milton Moffett, J. P. Ruhman, Blake Smith, Claude Thompson, Hogue Williams, Gene Womack, Alton Hutson and Clarence Underwood.

Ben Anthony, Tom Agerton, Drew Dickson, Edward Brown, Jack Flowers, Frank Maddox, Reuben Smith, Le Furs Doucette, Frederick Poffenbach, Woodrow Wilson, Don Maddox and Floyd Wooldridge.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Cole and Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Heard were special guests for the occasion.

Jaunty Two-Piece Costumes Are New In Fabrics

* * * * * * * * * * * *

JAUNTY SUITS, two-piece frocks, in new fabrics and new colors promise unusually interesting fashion parades this spring. Left to right: three-quarters sleeves, edged in fox, a bloused and belted tunic waist and a vestee and belt of white kid are fascinating style points in a rich violet colored flat crepe street costume, displayed at the charity benefit for Everybody's Thrift Club in New York City by Frederica Gallatin. A double-breasted, cutaway jacket and wrap-around skirt and a gilet, with stock collar, of white pique, give individuality and tremendous chic to a new spring suit of monotone blue tweed, modelled by Elizabeth Campbell, Social Registerite. The black-white combination ranks next to blues as spring's favorite color combination. Camilla Marvin, a society leader, displayed an ultra feminine little black shantung street suit, with white lace embroidery edging the flaring seven-eighths cuffs, outlining the long bolero and fashioning the sweet, little collared blouse. Short sleeves, long gloves and a fancy Rodier scarf collar in brown, white and beige, with fringed ends mark a golden beige silk street frock as very new and very smart. It is belted a bit high and has its sleeves and hemline finished in hand-made points. Edith Betts, Social Registerite, showed it.

Matrons Are Hostesses To Women's Club

Mesdames P. F. Murray And L. B. Rice Entertained On Friday Afternoon With Gala Party

Mesdames P. F. Murray and L. B. Rice entertained members and guests of the Merry [illegible] Friday afternoon in the E. B. Adcock home at 2601 19th street.

Colonial Costumes Are Worn When D. A. R. Chapter Has Annual Event; Patriotic Motif Is Used For Tea

Picturesque Eighteenth century costumes lent a melloy air to the tea hour Saturday afternoon when Daughters of the American Revolution here entertained with an anniversary affair, observing the birthday of George Washington.

The tea was given in the Sam T. Davis home at 1002 Avenue O and friends of members were asked to call during the afternoon.

Little Virginia Bondurant and Sarah Beth Kimmel, also in costume, welcomed arrivals at the door, where they were met by Mrs. Clyde F. Elkins or Mrs. William Dingus. A receiving line was made up of officers in the chapter and there include Mesdames A. H. Leidigh, the regent, F. V. Kimmel, W. C. Rylander, O. V. Adams and C. S. Mast.

Tea was poured during the afternoon by Mrs. W. L. Baugh and Mrs. Dingus during one hour and by Mrs. Mast and Mrs. Adams during the other hour. Mesdames O. B. Hewett and D. K. Bondurant were assisted in the dining room by Misses Dorothy and Ruth Mildred Rylander, Mary and Katherine Leidigh, Doris Baugh and Mrs. Burnett Cox, all of whom are daughters of D. A. R. Members.

Other members of the chapter were in the house party, serving as hostesses and these included Mesdames Theodore Sutton and Isabel Garrison and F. A. Kleinschmidt.

Tea was served from a table placed before a long mirror. A large American flag was hung on the wall and the table was attractive with blue candlesticks and a centerpiece of red tulips. The colors of red, white and blue were reflected in the plate which was passed. During the afternoon, U. V. Blake's orchestra played old-time airs in the background.

As general chairman, Mrs. W. C. Rylander was in charge of arrangements for the annual Colonial tea given Saturday afternoon by members of the D. A. R. here.

Musical Fete Is Given For Club Friends

Music Club Entertains With Annual Occasion; Season Reflects Washington Day In Appointments

HARKING back to Colonial days, hostesses in Lubbock have gone to history for their party appointments during the last few weeks, remembering the birthday of George Washington and honoring him.

The nation's colors of red, white and blue have been featured. Hatchets, cherries, flags and other symbols of the day have appeared repeatedly and the colorful costumes of the Eighteenth century have been used on some occasions.

Used On Tea Table

Suggestions of the day were seen in table decorations Saturday afternoon when members of the Lubbock Music club entertained with an annual seated tea at the Hilton Hotel. Silver candlesticks and bud vases on the table were tied with red, white and blue ribbon and a large flag was draped across the back of the stage in the ball room, where the program was given.

Red roses completed the table appointments for the tea hour, which followed the program.

As guests arrived at the hotel, they were greeted by several members of the club who were on the balcony. These include Mesdames R. L. Douglas, L. J. Von Tungeln, T. A. White, A. B. Short, G. N. Atkinson, C. G. Stinson, O. K. Peters, R. A. Mills and R. D. Maxley.

Mesdames J. T. Shaver and J. C. Powell were at the doors leading into the ball room.

Program Given

With Mrs. Carl Scoggin as choral director and Mrs. Mamie I. Neal as accompanist, the following program was given during the afternoon:

The Jester (for two pianos)—Carl Beecher, by Mesdames L. J. Von Tungeln and Marlin R. Smith, Jr.; March Triumphal—Ellis Levy and To A Wild Rose—Edward MacDowell, by Misses Margarett Stone, Elitabel Tillory, Mesdames Charles Hilburn and Gettys Tucker; Blue Waves of Tranquil Ocean—Wilson Bishop and Steal Away—Arr. by Wm. Arms Fisher, by Mesdames Scoggin, Rogers, Atkinson, Miss Parmley, Messrs. H. W. Moore, W. W. Rix, G. E. Damewood, J. D. Carroll and Sam Leifeste; Romance, Opus 23—Mrs. H. H. A. Beach, by Mrs. Charles Hilburn; Jazz Study (for two pianos)—Burlingame Hill, by Miss Margaret Huff and Mrs. E. F. George; Indian Mountain Song, The White Dawn Comes Stealing, The Moon Drops Low—Charles Cadman, by Mesdames Beck, Lewis, Shaw, Douglas, Von Tungeln, Blocker, Shaver, White, Atkinson, Rogers, Miss Parmley.

This tea is an annual occasion on the calendar of the music club, the affair being scheduled each spring. Each member of the organization invited three guests to attend yesterday.

Dances, parties and other events willed the week-end for collegians and townspeople.

D. A. R. members entertained with an annual tea and a number of bridge parties were given.

Eighth Annual Spring Music Festival Is To Be March 4, 5, 6

The Woman's Angle

Avalanche Woman's Editor

SOME revelations that have come through a survey conducted by Dr. Eugenie Andrus Leonard, acting dean of women at Syracuse University, among more than 200 freshmen women in the college are of interest. And, whatever conclusions one may draw from the information the survey elicited, the answers indicate something of the problems of college girls. The young women probably are typical of these in other universities today.

Casting aspersions at the girls for the habits that have admitted will do no good. Forty-one percent of them smoke, ninety-two percent of them dance. These admissions may and may not indicate that today's freshman is "worse" than her mother was, for there were other admissions which surely indicate that these girls are alert, serious in their thought and frank in their attitudes.

Eighty-five percent of the girls said that they have already decided just what they will do when they leave college. Basing my conclusion on the law of averages, I believe that many of the girls will make new decisions on careers during the next three years, but there is nothing wrong with that and they have a definite purpose now to guide them in their college studies.

Since entering college, 35 per cent of the girls have changed some of their religious beliefs, which indicates some more serious thought and religion probably is a major topic for conversation in the freshmen gab fests. Religious beliefs can be changed tremendously without any loss of spirituality.

Seventy-three per cent of the freshmen believed that a college girl should know about sex. Representative statements from the girls indicated that they believed knowledge is essential for the co-ed and that one who has not been on her own to some extent during her high school years should not be allowed to go away to college. Knowing what to do under any circumstances in which she may find herself is considered an asset among these girls and for those who cling to the ideal of the entirely innocent young thing this may come somewhat as a shock. Facing problems rather than deploring them is going to help a lot in their solution.

Only 7 per cent of the girls included in the survey do not dance, but of the 92 per cent who dance, only 24 per cent go regularly to week-end dancing parties.

The survey might not be comprehensive enough for one to draw many conclusions about college coeds, but at least the questionnaires have indicated trends in thought and habits among young women in college today, whether or not one wishes to believe that the "younger generation" is following some purpose in a frenzy of thoughtlessness.

THE NEW COLORS

FOR spring street wear beige combined with dark brown, and a new Pompeiian red featured with black or tobacco brown promise to be among the most popular colors, style notices indicate.

USING EGGS

SINCE eggs are so cheap now, Mrs. O. N. L. Peters would like to see some recipes using eggs and, to show that she has the right spirit, she suggested some ways in which she uses eggs.

This one sounded good for supper—or for breakfast. When the usual milk gravy is made, eggs can be dropped into the sauce and poached and the whole served with toast. The gravy should not be too thick before the eggs are dropped in as they thicken it some, she suggested.

Eggs a la goldenrod—white sauce with eggs chopped in and grated over the top—was mentioned also. This is served with toast.

"We like a toast that I call French Fried toast but which isn't the usual such toast at all," Mrs. Peters related. Three eggs usually make a dozen slices of toast. The eggs are broken into a small bowl, salted slightly, but not beaten, and then the bread slices are cut and dropped into the mixture before they are fried in deep hot fat—just as croquettes are. The toast can be served with maple syrup.

These should help the supper menus along that most of us have. In every household there is probably some favorite way of preparing eggs that other families will be glad to hear of. If these are called or sent in to the Woman's Angle, they can be reproduced for others to use. Thanks, Mrs. Peters, for the suggestion and the recipes.

Bible Classes Of Tech Have Affair

Bible students of Texas Technological college were guests at a party given in the parlors of the First Methodist church Friday evening.

The rooms were decked in red, white and blue bunting and several persons attended in George and Martha Washington costumes.

Contests were a feature of the entertainment which was directed by Miss Mary De Bardeleben, professor of Bible. Several charades were staged also, with incidents in the life of Washington furnishing the theme.

Mesdames J. B. McCauley, R. T. Campbell, and C. A. Bickley, the Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Haymes and the Rev. and Mrs. G. P. McCollom were special guests.

Nine Hundred Are Expected For Contests

South Plains Teachers Of Music Are To Sponsor Annual Festival In Lubbock For Three Days

PLANS for the eighth annual Spring Festival, which is sponsored yearly by the South Plains Music Teachers association, have been completed and a program announced for the event.

The festival will be conducted in Lubbock, the usual meeting place, on March 4, 5 and 6. Contests will continue through the three days. Two concerts will be given by guest artists. A student ensemble and a massed piano concert will complete the program.

Judges Chosen

Nine hundred contestants are expected for the Festival this spring, according to Miss Mary Dunn, who is director of that division. Judges have been chosen from music schools over the state, including the music departments of the West Texas State Teachers College, Canyon; College of Industrial Arts, Denton; Amarillo College of Music, Amarillo; Simmons University, Abilene; Fort Worth Conservatory of Music, Fort Worth; Texas Technological College, Lubbock.

Miss Hazel Griggs, pianist of Houston, is to appear in concert on the afternoon of Wednesday, March 4, at the High School auditorium. On that evening, Miss Flossie Lee Harper, Dallas soprano, and the Abilene String Quartette, are to appear in a concert in the same hall.

The student ensemble, consisting of string, vocal and wind instruments, is to be on Thursday evening in the gymnasium at Texas Technological college. The massed piano concert will be in the same place on Friday evening. At this time about 15 pianos are expected to be in play.

Luncheon Announced

Among the other features of the Festival will be a luncheon at 12 o'clock the first day, Wednesday, at 2601 19th street. Members of the music teachers association will be hosts on this occasion. A luncheon will be served at the Hilton Hotel on the next day for the members and guests with the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce as host, and at 10 o'clock on Wednesday evening the music teachers association is having a refreshment hour for their guests.

Mrs. Lillian Butler, of Slaton, is president of the South Plains Music Teachers association this year and Mrs. M. E. Ware, of Ralls, is secretary. Other officers include Miss Jeannette Ramsey, of Slaton, first vice-president; Mrs. Roy Hollingshead, Lamesa, second vice-president; Miss Carrie T. Bier, Plainview, third vice-president; Mrs. Mamie I. Neal, Lubbock, secretary; Miss Dunn, treasurer.

These Will Judge

Judges for the festival include Wallace R. Clark and Mr. Berryhill, of West Texas State Teachers college, Canyon; Miss Griggs, Houston; David C. Hansford, William E. Jones and Miss Elizabeth Leake, College of Industrial Arts, Denton; Miss Flossie Lee Harper, Dallas; Miss Ruth Lasley, Abilene; Mrs. Lila Austin Meyers, Amarillo College of Music, Amarillo; Miss Camilla Marrs and D. O. Wiley, Simmons University, Abilene; W. R. Waghorne, Texas Technological college; E. Clyde Whitlock, Fort Worth Conservatory of Music, Fort Worth.

Committee chairmen in the piano department include: Miss Juanita Nugent, Levelland, ages 5, 6 and 7; Miss Pauline Buck, Crosbyton, ages 8, 9 and 10; Miss Carrie T. Bier, Plainview, ages 11, 12 and 13; Miss Ramsey, ages 14 and above.

Mrs. Hollingshead is chairman of the theory division, Miss Beulah Dunn, Lubbock, is chairman of the violin department, and Mrs. L. J. Von Tungeln, Lubbock, is chairman of the voice department. H. A. Anderson is chairman of the wind instruments and bands division. No particular chairman has been listed for the hymn playing contest, which will be on the afternoon of March 5.

Contestants are expected to enter from counties all over the South Plains section for the festival again this spring.

Miss Alma Spikes Is Party Hostess

Included in the club parties which were given during the week-end here was the one attended by members of Sans Souci club in the home of Miss Alma Spikes, 1612 Broadway, Saturday afternoon.

Games of bridge were played and the George Washington theme was used in appointments.

Guests were Misses Dorothy Oxsheer, La Verne Yowell, Virginia Conley, Catherine Jameson, Christine Carter, Marjorie Leaverton, Mary Allen, Kate Boyd, Lois Graves, Effie Smith, Catherine Mitchell, Cheville Whitehill, Dorothy Rushing, Mary Lee Bardwell, Mrs. Clarence Wiginton and Mrs. John Edmisson, alumnae members, were also guests for the occasion.

SNYDER MAN GETS BID

SNYDER, Feb. 21 (Staff Special)—John Cole, local contractor, was awarded the contract for paving two streets by the city council. His bid was $3,009, or $28 lower than that of A. L. Martin, Snyder.

Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Dickinson, jr., of the D Bar ranch near Tatum, N. M., are visiting relatives here.

Newest Decorative Schemes Give Striking Contrasts

This charming bedroom achieves contract without sacrificing restfulness or good taste. Contrasting woods go to make the dressing table, with its long mirror and crystal lighting. Golds, brown and rose upholster the chair. Rayon tints in a blue tone fashion the curtains. The quilted silk cover for the stool matches the design for an old-fashioned studio couch in the same room

By JULIA BLANSHARD
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Interior decoration schemes, like new spring clothes, are making use of contrasts in materials, contrasts in color, contrasts in different periods of furniture to effect stunning results.

If you have good taste, certainly with such limitless opportunities for individuality you can achieve rooms that are devastatingly lovely in their color and material combinations.

If you haven't good taste, and know it, you will go slow on trying to create an over amount of contrast in color or in types of furniture. For a quiet room that is not quite right is far less trying than a noticeably not-quite-right gaudy one.

A Chance to Be "Different"

There is something challenging about this new wide range of choice allowed one in rooms. You can start out with a piece or two of modern furniture, combine them with a comfortable antique upholstered bed and a very Frenchy, feminine type of curtain. Even your wall paper can be something different from what one might expect.

French Provincial furniture and modern are used together in some rooms, a bit of early American and a decorative touch of Louis XV. And the more you manage to combine plain and figured materials in a given room, the more you select home-spun for this, a pretty touch of quilted silk for that, the richer your ensemble.

A good place to begin experimenting with a lot of new materials and a few new pieces of furniture, is your own bedroom. You know more what you want in this room than any other room in the house. You know what colors you would like, what would make you cheerful and rested.

Quite an excellent example to go by is a room that uses a most modern dressing table and chair, with several quite different types of things.

The dressing table, with its crystal lighting and long, comfortable mirror, is made of contrasting woods, with handy drawers on both sides and one big drawer below the mirror. The chair, with its golds, brown and rose upholstery, looks comfortable enough to make anyone want to doze immediately.

Quilted Design Carried Out

The old-fashioned studio couch is covered with the most delectable quilted silk cover, in the rose tone that is softest and most appealing with browns and tan. The little stool for the dressing table is covered in the same quilted design.

For curtains, one of the new rayon prints is used, in a beautiful blue tone that is deep enough to go with tans and brown and light enough to make the rose in the room look better. These curtains have a patterned design not unlike the quilting design of the couch cover, though it is not the same design at all.

All of this richness is used in a room that has one of the new diagonally striped metal papers, this one a tan-gold that has a coziness about it that makes it perfect for so intimate a room as a bedroom.

31 Paintings To Be Shown In Exhibition

Texas Fine Arts League Will Include Lubbock In This Year's Circuit Of State Cities For Exhibit

Thirty-one paintings by Texas artists, including one from Lubbock, are to be on display during the first week in March at the Hilton hotel when the Texas Fine Arts Association has a showing here under the auspices of the Junior Twentieth Century club.

This collection is to include 23 oils, six watercolors and one charcoal from artists over the state and a portrait, "Doris", by Mrs. Chester Hubbard, of this city, who is a member of the association.

Leading artists of the state are represented in this collection, which has been on display in many of the larger Texas cities. This circuit started last October and will continue through the state until July of this year. This is the first time that Lubbock has been included in a circuit for the Fine Arts Association.

Some of the artists who will exhibit in this collection have shown their works in the leading galleries of the United States and have studied extensively here and abroad.

The list of oil paintings to be hung in the exhibit includes: "Commanche Peak", Florence B. Allen, Hearne; "Jugs and Gourd", Kathleen Blackshear, Navasota; "Summer Showers", Charles T. Bowling, Dallas; "Place de l'Eglise, Nogent de Rol", Frederic Browne, Houston; "Old Trees", Pannie Tabor Camp, Brownwood; "True to Type", Ethel Chamberlin, Wichita Falls; "Across the Valley", E. Richardson Cherry, Houston; "Carnations", McNeill Davidson, Houston; "Prickley Pear and Ocotillo", Lois Denton, El Paso; "May Morning", Edwin G. Eisenlohr, Dallas; "Spring's Enchantment", Raymond Everett, Austin; "Peonies", Minta H. Garrison, Houston; "Irises and Poppies", Ernest R. Hardin, Georgetown; "Texas Hills", Polly Hoffman, Wichita Falls; "Noon, Taos Pueblo", Frank Klepper, McKinney; "Santa Barbara", A. MacDonnell, Houston; "Texas Glory", Alyxe Martin, Galveston; "Summer Afternoon", Sallie Blyth Mummert, Fort Worth; "Poppies", Watson Neyland, Liberty; "Mexican Boy", George Q. Rust, Wharton; "Old Spanish Couple", Henrietta Sanderson, Austin; "Bittersweet", Martha Simkins, New York City and Dallas; "Candles of God", Ruth Pershing Uhler, Houston.

Watercolors to be shown are "Study", Evelyne Byers Bessell, Houston; "The Office", Frances T. Camp, Brownwood; "Colorado River Above the Austin Dam", Samuel E. Gibson, Austin; "Red, Blue and White", Rebecca Henry, Houston; "Pomegranates", Dorothy Denslow House, Houston; "Cannas and Bananas", Emily Langham, Houston.

Ruth G. Y. McGontigle is exhibiting "Study No. 1", in charcoal. She is of Houston.

Heads Council

Miss Lena Madesin Phillips, above, New York attorney and president of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women, has been elected president of the National Council of Women. The Council, with an aggregate membership of about 12,000,000, serves as a clearing house for the principal women's organizations of the country.

Club Women Are To Meet In Plainview

Business And Professional Clubs Are To Gather For Two-Days Meeting During Next Month

PLAINVIEW, Feb. 21. (Special)—Members of the Business and Professional Women's club of Plainview will act as hostesses to the district convention of Panhandle Clubs which will be held March 21 and 22. The sessions will be held at the Hilton hotel and registration will begin at 5 o'clock on the afternoon of the 21st.

Ten clubs besides the Plainview club are included in the Panhandle district and are Amarillo, Borger, Childress, Dalhart, Lubbock, Memphis, Vernon, Pampa, Shamrock and Quanah. Ten or more representatives are expected to attend from each place, according to members of this organization.

Mrs. Adella S. Drew, of Plainview, is president of the Panhandle district and is working with Mrs. Julia E. Kelley, of the program committee, on plans for the two-day program. A banquet probably will be held on the evening of March 22. Several out of town speakers will be here for the occasion and an unusually interesting conference is expected.

Annual Social Occasion Of Women's Club Is Wednesday

LITTLEFIELD, Feb. 21. (Special)—The Woman's Study club of Littlefield, the oldest organization of its kind in the city, held its annual social on Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. W. H. Gardner. The club entertained the members of the Junior Study Club. A number of games of 42 were played. Several violin selections were rendered by Miss Evelyn Phelps, with Mrs. T. Wade Potter at the piano. A very enjoyable evening was spent.

More than 1,400,000,000 yards of cotton cloth were made in Japan last year.

Thousands Of General Federation Club Members Are To Attend Biennial Council Meeting During Spring

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 21.—Westward Ho! is the watchward of the thousands of members of the General Federation of Women's Clubs who expect to attend the fourteenth biennial council meeting to be held in Phoenix, Arizona, April 27 - May 2 inclusive, the president, Mrs. John F. Sippel, presiding.

"Life's enrichment through united effort" is the keynote of the meeting and the program will revolve around the central idea of making life a fuller and richer experience by placing greater emphasis on the aesthetic and spiritual aspects of life and using the combined interest and effort of the millions of club women throughout the world to attain these ends. Directors night at convention and council meetings is invariably a high point of interest. On this occasion the General Federation director from each state gives a two minute presentation of club work of her state in the light of an assigned subject. The subject chosen for this year is "Contributing to Life's Enrichment."

Mrs. W. E. Minier of Nebraska is chairman of the program committee. In addition to some brilliant outside speakers on subjects related to club work, the club women themselves will have a more conspicuous part than usual in the program. Past accomplishment, present activities and future projects of the various divisions of the following departments, will occupy a prominent place on the program: American citizenship, American home, education, fine arts, legislation, international relations, press and publicity and public welfare. The addresses, discussions and reports will be interspersed with the best available musical talent.

Mr. Seth T. Arkills, president of the Arizona Federation; Mrs. George F. Kitt, General Federation director; Mrs. E. G. Berryhill, local biennial chairman and Mrs. Eugene B. Lawson, contact chairman for the General Federation, are in general charge of local arrangements, including some delightful entertaining, sightseeing, play day features, etc. The Arizona Federation will give a dinner to the official family of the General Federation followed by a reception and garden party given in the grounds of the Hotel Westward Ho, official headquarters for the convention. The pageant, Masque of the Yellow Moon, presented by several thousand high school students at the stadium will be an entertainment feature. A tea will be given at the Arizona Biltmore at the foot of Camelback Mountain by the five district Federations of the state.

Play day, the one day set apart as a period of fun and frolic when all serious matters are cast aside, will take the form of a drive around the valley, ending in a barbecue or chuck wagon lunch at 1 p. m. at the Heard Boy Scout Pueblo in the South Mountains. Visiting club women will also be shown a part of the great Salt River valley which has been converted from a desert to fertile fields by the construction of the immense Roosevelt Dam a number of years ago.

It is expected that several thousand will attend this meeting as already many of the eastern states are making up special parties, several of which will continue to other western points of interest.

Forty-Two Is Played When Mrs. Sandlin Has Function

Games of forty-two were played at a party given by Mrs. C. V. Sandlin, 2217 25th street, Friday afternoon for members of the Pastime club. The entertaining room was decked with pansies and other spring flowers.

Guests present were Mesdames Hugh Sandlin, K. T. Thomas, R. Grantham, C. E. Copeland. Members in attendance included Mesdames Albert Fryar, C. E. Moreman, W. J. Spikes, J. L. Murfee, R. L. Stewart, Joe Baldridge, J. D. Reese, Marvin Stovall and O. W. Ribble.

The club will be entertained next by Mrs. Spikes in her home at 2222 16th street.

Two Entertain In Shop For Society

Carrying out a St. Patrick's Day theme, Misses Gertrude Standefer and Helen Blythe entertained members of Las Chaparritas club Saturday afternoon at the Glorieta.

Special guests for the afternoon were Misses Polly Barrow and Frazier Winston, of Dallas.

Lecture Is Heard At Club Meeting

Seventy-five people were in attendance at a meeting of the Lubbock Garden club Friday afternoon in the Engineering auditorium of Texas Technological college. Prof. C. E. Russell gave an illustrated lecture on "Bulbs", including in his summary the kinds, planting and culture of the flowers.

Clyde Bates, of Dallas, who has been visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Haynes, has gone to Amarillo to visit his sister during the week-end.

Church Director Speaks At Meeting Of Methodist Folk

Fiske Miles, educational director of the First Methodist church, talked on "Freedom of the Will" Friday afternoon at a meeting of the Parent-Teacher association of the Methodist Sunday school in the chapel of the church.

A program was sponsored by the junior department of the school, Mrs. A. L. Schoolcraft read the scripture lesson and a reading was given by Virginia Bell Gamble. A social hour followed the program.

Young Women Are Hosts With Party

Seven young women students who are residing in the home management house on the campus were hostesses with a buffet supper and party Friday evening.

A miniature cherry tree was used as a center piece for the dining table which was lighted with white candles in crystal holders.

After the supper the guests returned to the living room where tables were arranged for games.

Hostesses were Miss Jonnie McCrery, Leta Alyce Cross, Lovie Warnock, Eleanor Ragle, Margaret Hervey, Moselle Treadaway and Evelyn Jennings.

Guests included Misses Margaret Weeks, Mabel Erwin, Gertrude Pool, Pauline Hargrove, Frances Winn, Dorothy Gleason, Neva Dean, Lelia Batchelor, Mrs. Charles Weeks, of Canada, Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Cunningham, Messrs. R. W. Fowler, O'Brien Thompson, L. D. Barrick, Narl Davidson, Willie Roane, Roe Bavousett, Hal Gray, Leon Havis, Herbert De Shazo and Clyde Drake.

SEINES PROPOSED

The Co-Ed Cotton Campaign

CO-EDS at University of Mihsouri started a tempest in a teapot recently when their organization, the "Women"s Student Government association", voted to wear cotton hose, cotton dresses and cotton underwear to aid the cotton industry of the South.

Male students wise-cracked, newspapers printed humorous stories and a good time was had by all. Yet behind the brave stand of the co-eds lies a principle worthy of commendation.

The Avalanche-Journal doesn't have much hope that the co-eds will stick by their guns, as they say they will. Their plan probably will fall by the wayside and never aid the cotton industry one, little bit. But the incident does give us something to think about.

It isn't possible, of course, but suppose it were possible to band three-fourths of the women of this country together for the benefit of the crippled cotton industry.

Let us suppose, just for the fun of the thing, that forty million women would forego their pride and purchase nothing but cotton hose, cotton dresses and cotton underwear for just one year.

Our crop surplus would slip away, like the June dew before the morning sun. Textile mills would start running full blast and the full dinner pail would be something more than a campaign slogan in factories and on the farms of the Southland. Economic conditions in the cotton country would improve, almost over night and the price problem would be solved for a time, at least.

It's a very pretty mind picture but like the castles in Spain is restricted to the green pastures of imagination. Looking at the co-eds in a cold-blooded manner, their good intentions, even if carried out, will not be copied in any appreciable manner.

But it's fun to think about it, anyway—and offers the individual an opportunity to revert to the fairy story days when knighthood was in flower and many pleasant hours were spent in the realm of make believe. It's something that could be done, were the flesh as willing as the spirit, but something that won't be done to any great extent, regardless of the economic need.

Practical Health Problems

CHILDREN'S SPECIALIST TELLS SUCCESS SECRETS MOTHERS SHOULD KNOW

Children have quite a siege of coughs in the winter. Coughs and colds and infections of all kinds assail them. And children are queer customers in some ways, and do not always present the same sort of picture to their families and doctors that adults do with the same disease.

Dr. Clendening

A famous children's specialist has recently written that he made his reputation because he learned two things. The two thing he learned are part of what every mother should know. One is that pneumonia does not hurt children. The other is that if a child has a cough and fever it is a sign there is an ifection in the ear.

He relates an experience of having been called on the long distance telephone and being asked to come quite a distance to see a sick child who seemed to be puzzling the local experts. He asked what the child's symptoms were and was told by the father "Cough and fever." He suggested that the ear be examined, and it turned out that the child had an infection of the inner ear. The family was saved a large consultation fee, the doctor a tiresome trip and the patient a long wait before diagnosis was made by the exercise of this piece of wisdom.

Cough caused by irritation in the ear is a reflex due to a curious anatomical arrangement of the nerves. One of the nerves which goes to the bronchail tubes sends a small branch to the canal of the ear. As a consequence, any irritation of the ear is likely to induce a cough by setting up a reflex. You may be familiar with this by remembering any time your ear was washed out for treatment purposes with syringe: it always makes you cough.

One of the frequent experiences of physicians with children is to find a loud persistent whoop as the sign of a foreign body in the ear. The child playing on the floor pops a bean or a pea into the ear. It immediately induces a violent fit of coughing which wedges the bean tightly into the canal of the ear. By that time the child has forgotten all about it or it afraid to say anything about it for fear of being scolded. The only thing that remains is the coug's. To the mother this sounds like croup or bronchitis. Only to the initiated does this spell the advisability of looking into the ear for the cause of the trouble.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

L. G. S., Massachusetts: "What is the cause of shingles? How does one prevent attacks?"

Answer: Shingles, or herpes zoster, is generally considered to be an infection due to one of the organisms too small to be seen with any of our microscopes. There is no known method of preventing a first attack. But the first attack confers immunity and therefore second attacks do not occur. If you have already had it you need not worry about prevention.

What Other People Think

With machines ever enlarging man's power and capacity, with electricity extending over the world its magic, with the air giving us a wholly new realm, our children must be prepared to meet entirely new contacts and new forces. They must be physically strong and mentally placed to stand up under the increasing pressure of life. Their problem is not alone one of physical health, but of mental, emotional, spiritual health.—President Hoover.

Tip Not Appreciated

WASHINGTON, Feb 21.—According to Eugene Meyer, Jr., under examination by the senate committee on banking and currency, as to his suitability for the post of governor of the federal reserve board, to which President Hoover recently appointed him, the board seems to him "to have done its best to warn people against the orgy of speculation" preceding the crash of October, 1929.

"But some people," supplemented the veteran financier, "didn't want to be warned."

He might have added that some hadn't sense enough, either.

If ever anyone had a tip, concerning what was to come, handed it him from high authority, I had one handed to me, forecasting that market slump—and never realized it until long after it was all over.

Not that it made a particle of stock exchange difference to me, stocks being a commodity in which I never dabbled in my life.

But oh! what a choice bit of news I lost! through being "too dam dumb" (as Vice President Curtis expresses it, when he wants to convey his idea of the limit of stupidity) to understand what Secretary of the Treasury Mellon (no less an individual!) was trying to explain to me and a few others, early in March of 1929, relative to speculative prospects.

In the light of what followed, I know now what he meant, believe me—

He was worried by what Governor Meyer of the reserve board refers to as the then "orgy of speculation," which was wildly rampant in March, 1929. as most folk doubtless will remember.

Obviously, however, it cannot have been very easy for him to say so.

Imagine!—if he had said so; if he had given it as his considered opinion, as secretary of the treasury, that stocks were away too high; that a smash was inevitable.

Naturally the smash would have occurred—right then.

Yes, and what would business men have said about Secretary Mellon?—for "precipitating" it. Why, he would have been blamed for everything that has happened since then. Of course he would.

Yet he was worried. He wanted to broadcast a warning and he couldn't.

That was just the time when President Hoover was organizing his cabinet.

In my capacity as a chronicler of Washington events, I was making the rounds of the departments, establishing news relationships with the holders of the various portfolios. In due season, Secretary Mellon's continuation in office having been announced, I thought I ought to look in and refresh my recollections of him.

Accordingly, I applied to his chief assistant, John Kieley, for an audience.

"All right," said Kieley, "here are two or three of the newspaper boys waiting to see him now. Go ahead with the rest of them." And in we went, without further formality.

The venerable multi-millionaire was sitting at his desk, smoking a cigarette and looking as subdued and neutral as usual. There appeared to be no information of consequence to give out, and the affair passed off with half a dozen commonplace questions and answers.

It was as we started to file out that the secretary raised a detaining hand, with the air of a man who has been struck by an unimportant after thougrt, and we paused inquiringly.

"You m-m-might say," he observed indifferently (he stutters a little), "that I th-th-think this is a g-g-good t-t-time to b-b-buy b-b-bonds."

That was all there was to it.

We newspaper chaps consulted outside for minute, as to whether the bond suggestion amounted to anything. We decided in the negative. A couple of the others did include it in their "stories" but only perfunhtorily. For myself. I disregarded it entirely, not having been looking for news, anyway, but merely for a "personality impression. Not knowing the least thing about stocks and bonds, either one, the hint meant nothing in my young life.

In fact, hardly anyone paid a bit of attention to it —only, as I subsequetly learned, the merest handful of singularly perspicacious individuals.

I chanced to meet one of them at the club not long ago— a friend of mine who has a little money—not much, as fortunes count nowadays, but a quarter of a million, maybe.

Although quite active in the market during the early boom period, his astuteness in getting out of it unscathed has often been remarked on.

He was telling me about it.

"Perhaps you remember," he said (not knowing, of course, anything of my call on the treasury secretary), "that 18 months or so ago Andy Mellon advised everybody to buy bonds. Somehow I got a notion that he meant to say, not so much that bonds were especially promising, but that he didn't think a great deal of stocks any longer. A man who isn't wide awake to such inklings has no business playing the market."

And, at these words, did I, indeed recollect that remark that Secretary Mellon stuttered? Migosh! it was as if a brick house had fallen on me.

RECALLING THE MARINES

If the decision of the Hoover administration to recall more marines from Nicaragua, announced by Secretary of State Stimson, remains unchanged, the force of the devil dogs in that country will be reduced to 500 by next June.

In this instance, it can reasonably be depended on that the administration decision will not undergo alternation. Public opinion will be overwhelmingly, if not unanimously, in favor of this withdrawal of American armed forces from a duty to which, most Americans believe, they should never have been assigned.

Forty-two marines have been killed in Nicaragua since 1926. There are few Americans in Nicaragua. There have been no reports that the lives of more than two or three of these have been endangered. Yet the United States government sent several thousand marines to Nicaragua, ostensibly to protect "the lives and property of its citizens."

It has never been conclusively proven that protection of bananas was not the major portion of their task.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Because life was so slow in the little town of Red Thrush, Iowa, GINGER ELLA TOLIVER conceived the idea of a Junior Country club to save the younger set from utter boredom. It was to be exclusive — no parents allowed, no babies. Accordingly, she arranged for the purchase of the Mill Rush farm, a 10-acre, tract with an old house on it, and proceeded, with the assistance of her friends, to overhaul and furnish it.

Ginger was the daughter of a minister and the stepdaughter of a very wealthy woman, the former PHIL VAN DOORN, who was a tolerant person and crazy about Ginger.

One day, while the rehabilitation of the club house was going on, an artist called at the kitchen of the Tolliver home and offered to do a portrait in exchange for a meal. After he had shaved off his beard Ginger found to her surprise that he was good looking. He had studied in Paris and his name was BARD HOLLOWAY.

Ginger, who was never at a loss for ideas, thought it would be a good one if Bard remained for a while in Red Thrush, instead of wandering about the country like a hobo. He could pick up some money painting portraits for families who would be flattered—especially if the Tollivers sponsored him. And he could do the mural decorations in the new club house, for Ginger was bound it would be a success.

So Ginger gets her stepmother, Phil, to invite him to stay with the Tollivers. The artist demurs, but Phil makes him accept. Ginger explains to him about the club, and she takes him out to inspect it before he starts to work on it. The name of the club, it is decided, is to be "Joie de Vivre."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIII

But Ginger went first of all to a sign painter and arranged for an old, presumably worm-eaten signpost with a colonial lanter to swing below it, proclaiming to the world that Joie de Vivre had taken up residence at Mill Rush on Rabbit river.

Iry Ford was particularly interested in the selection of a name, because he wanted to have a couple of large "college flags" made up to inform the public that his taxi was the best if not the only means of transportation to that delectable resort.

Ginger printed out the name for him and he perused it frowningly.

"I don't like that name," he said. "Looks furrin to me. What's it mean, anyhow?"

"Oh, it means happiness—the fun of living—have a good time, and all that sort of thing," she explained.

"How do you pronounce it?"

"Zshwa da veev'r," she enunciated slowly.

"I don't like it," he complained again. "Why not just say, 'Have a good time,' and be done with it, if that's what it means? Seems homier somehow."

But Ginger was not to be dissuaded and on Saturday nights for a great many weeks thereafter Iry stood with his old cab at the northeast corner of the Square, his college flags flying in the wind, while his stentorian voice proclaimed to a delighted audience:

"Taxicab to the Jaw da Veever. Right this way, ladies and gents—bus to the Jaw da Veever."

From friendly lips to interested ears flew the news that Ginger Tolliver had a French painter drawing pictures on the walls at Mill Rush, and immediately upon their release from school that afternoon, ardent prospective Junior Clubbers took the road, and countless were the eager hands to carry up the furniture that Ginger and Patty had collected in advance.

"Gosh, you certainly get things done," said Bard, amazed and admiring.

"I do my best," was the modest answer.

The presence and the fascinating labors of Bard Holloway incited the nearest approach to a rebellion among her followers that she had experienced. Her assistants were all too eager to lend a hand. There was plenty of paint and there were a dozen untouched panels.

Many of them frankly announced their unequaled excellence in doing turkeys on the blackboards for Thanksgiving, heads of George for the birthday of the Father of our Country, and United States flags at half-mast for Decoration day. The responsibility of keeping his supplies from depletion and his art from prostitution at the hands of her loyal cohorts was very great.

"I wish I had brought Nicolo Calleno out with me," Bard said as they were driving back to town. "He wanted to come, but I didn't know where I was going nor when I'd be going back and I was afraid to run the risk. He'd create a sensation out here. Joie de vivre exudes from his every pore."

"Who is he?"

"He's a little Italian lad in Chicago, a sort of waiter, sort of musician—I don't really know what he is. Plays the piano, plays the violin, plays the banjo, and warbles like a little Italian angel. He's pretty as a picture, looks more like a girl than a boy. Just a kid. He was playing in a beer garden orchestra and took on some outside work without reporting it and got in bad with the union. He was laid off for three months.

"He'd look great sauntering up and down among the tables in the ballroom, strumming his banjo and singing Italian love songs. He wears velvet trousers and a sash, and a velvet tam. Oh, he's a picture!"

"How much would it cost?" Ginger was always practical.

"Why, I think he would come for his expenses until he is reinstated. I'm sure he would, because he is only marking time there. We could keep him for a week or two if we liked and then send him back. He'd get you off to a stunning start."

"The fare to Chicago is six-seventy-five. He could sleep in one of the gable rooms in the attic; heaven knows we'll never have any other use for them. And we could sort of feed him around from hand to mouth wherever we happen to be."

"He could cook his own meals. All Italians can cook."

"He wouldn't be very expensive, then. But are you sure he would come?"

"I think he would be crazy about it. He should be! He's not doing a thing there — except a little bank messenger bootlegging. You'd better include an extra fiver in the check if you can because one of his instruments is usually in hock.

"If we send him a letter tonight he could be here in three days. Just in time for the dance on Saturday. And if I know Nicolo, he'll be here. I did some sketching of him in Chicago. Really, he's picturesque."

"But be sure and make it very plain," cautioned Ginger anxiously, "that we can only give him a little spending money and his expenses. We can't pay him a regular salary."

"He'll eat it up—I know he will," said Bard.

Now the fame of the Joie de Vivre and its unique conception had spread like wildfire through the countryside, and letters were pouring in from couples and cliques of young people, 20 and 30 miles away, asking for reservations for the Saturday night opening dance. Ginger talked it over with Ben and Jenky Brooks—Patty and Bard were there, too, and were allowed an opinion, which in no way dissented from the others'—and it was decided to let them come.

"And we'll raise the price of admission and refreshments, too," said Ginger. "If the food is cheap they'll eat us out of house and home. We don't know them—there's no reason why we shouldn't make money on them. Double rates for outsiders. Members of the club and their guests deserve a reduction."

And in the printed cards that were sent out acknowledging the reservations the terms of operation were briefly stated — that parents, preachers and babies were barred.

"For we are purely a worldly organization," Ginger explained firmly to Bard, "and all uplifting is strictly taboo."

On Saturday morning—the morning of the Saturday which was to open the summer's series of informal dances at Joie de Vivre—a

In Which Walter S. Ruffner, Lubbock Man, Describes His Experiences During Japanese Consular Service

EDITOR'S NOTE: Below is another of a series of articles being written by Walter S. Ruffner for the Sunday Avalanche-Journal. Mr. Ruffner, former consular official for the U. S. Government on three continents, is now an executive for the West Texas Gas company. Other articles on his experiences are to follow on this page on successive Sundays.

The Mahout

The first time I saw the Mahout he had a real grievance.

Davis had gotten this nickname from the focs'l crew while en route from Shanghai to Yokohama. He had signed on as a workaway at the last minute, not knowing, of course, just what he would be called upon to do.

It appears, however, that it didn't take the mate long to make arrangements with a certain gentleman in charge of a cargo of wild animals, to the end that upon Davis devolved the duty of chaperoning watering, feeding, etc., a full grown elephant.

As soon as he turned to for this work the focs'l gang began to call him "Mahout."

The mahout went to work with little enthusiasm but, having no serious trouble, he appeared satisfied. This attitude was short lived, as the elephant began to get restless and run things to suit himself Often, during the day, he would step from the hatch cover, his alloted place, down to the deck and would, despite the mahout's continual pleading, stay there until he was ready to get back to where he belonged and where the mahout was ordered to keep him.

Many Other Reasons

It appeared that there were, also many other reasons why one like Davis should throw up the sponge.

That is why he appeared at the office, requesting that he be signed off. I told Davis, hardly able to keep back a big grin, that it wouldn't be fair to the elephant for him to desert it, as it would miss him considerably and might die. Davis thought this over (he had been drinking) and became very sentimental, telling me that he was glad that I had put him straight on this matter, and further assuring met that he would stay with it unto the zoo, if necessary.

The next day the ship sailed and later, while congratulating myself upon the fact that I had gotten rid of a potential beachcomber, the door opened and Davis appeared telling me that we was not an elephantrainer and didn't care how it fared on the rest of the voyage. I am sure that if it did go where Davis vehemently said it belonged, it never saw a zoo. I didn't blame and signed him on another ship.

Pierre Monteir

I mentioned above the fact that the Japanese were slow to mix with American seamen, and relate my experience with a French policeman to show that this is not the case the world over.

Pierre Monteir had been especially assigned by the chief of police to waterfront duty. He was about six feet and two inches; broad and heavily muscled; and as light on his feet as a panther.

While he usually had a jovial smile you could discern beneath it a determined and fearless mien.

I met him one Sunday after he had arrested two seamen while quelling a general fight aboard an American ship, for which the captain had given him 100 francs—about a month's salary. He assured me that it was his desire to co-operate with me at all times and, if notified, would be on hand immediately. Of course, I thanked him courteously hoping that I would never require his services.

Made Quick Time

One day I needed a little assistance; so I called the gendarmerie, at the edge of town, for Pierre. Within 10 minutes he was at the office and I have never been able to figure how he covered that distance in such a short time. From that time on, he became very friendly and, while never asked to do so used to come in each morning at about the time the usual arguments with the seamen were beginning. He would ask me if there were any to be locked up. Naturally, I would assure him that there were not, but he would never be satisfied until he walked up to each one and then turned to me remarking "this one?"

Consulate vs. Shipping Companies

I should preface this incident by remarking that a friendly rivalry often exists at ports between shipping men and consulates.

A shipping man will ask you to pay off a seaman and take care of him knowing that the ship is liable under existing conditions for his maintenance, hospitalization, etc.

The consul must understand the navigation laws, etc., and be sure that all expenses he incurs are lawful and will be approved. Otherwise he will be held personally liable. Furthermore, he must exert himself to minimize expenses and keep the beach as clean as possible, the latter for his own peace of mind. In attending to these duties he frequently has the shipping men to contend with. Both, however, can appreciate the viewpoint of the other and are willing to admit it when they have been bested.

Drank Much

Now Charley Owens appeared at the office one day sick, and asked to be sent to the hospital. He was a legitimate case and was placed in a Japanese hospital, being the only one available. About the third night after he drank all the whiskey in the place, put on his clothes and went out into the night.

He came into the office a day or two later in an awful state. His nerves were shattered from a case or two of delirium tremens, and it was evident that he required considerable medical treatment.

The head of the hospital refused to take him again; so it was decided to send him to the States as a consular passenger, paying two cents per mile for passage. Since the ship is permitted to work such passengers and as a doctor can seldom collect anything extra for treating such a case aboard ship the master is very particular concerning their health and ability to work.

Upon deciding to send Owens home our doctor and myself took him by car down to the ship's side. The doctor stayed with him while I went up to see the captain. Naturally, he asked me if Owens could work. I replied to the effect that it depended on the work. So he told the mate to go down with me to see Owens.

In the meantime the doctor had helped Owens aboard and had stood him in a corner near the purser's office, being careful to lend him support. He couldn't, as a result of this position, fall whether he wanted to or not.

When the mate and myself appeared Owens stood where he was but fortunately his face lighted up with a broad smile. The mate remarked that he looked good to him and reported the same to the captain. We made final arrangements then, and left the ship as fast as we could.

Owens remained in the hospital during the volage to Seattle; so the captain told me later, and no one complained concerning why such a man was wished on the ship.

The Negro Artist

A chief engineer of any ship, as a rule, has two vital interests—his family and his engine room. Since we seldom see his family, his engine room appears paramount. Talk to him a second and if he thinks anything of you at all, he will say immediately "come down with me to see the engine room." Go, if you wish, but if you don't he'll probably avoid you in the future.

Most engine rooms are spotlessly clean and the "black gang," engine crew, puts in many hard hours shining up, painting the walls, turbines and, in fact, everything where paint will reach and stick.

The chief engineer of the S. S. Lebanon, I believe it was, will tell you how his engine room was the prettiest (that's the word) in the harbor of St. Nazaire and further venture the opinion that it had any ship afloat beaten.

How he was enabled to make this statement was due to the captain and a colored gentleman. The latter, I shall call Rastus.

Send Me Home

Rastus came in one morning with the usual request "Mr. Consul send me home. I'll do anything to get there." I asked him if he had been to sea, or in the army. "Nossuh, I'se been in Paris for years." Since this was before jazz bands had taken Paris by storm literally, I couldn't quite understand Rastus; so I asked him what he had been doing. He replied to the effect that he had been studying art.

I asked him to wait until I had a chance to talk with some of the captains. One finally agreed to sign him on as a workaway, (working for passage at $.25 per month usually).

Rastus was happy and left the office immediately for the ship evidently thinking that the master might change his mind.

About a week later the chief engineer came in the office, and asked me if I would have lunch with him aboard ship, as he had something to show me.

I went aboard with him, and in due course was invited to see his engine room. I admit that I was not prepared for what I saw—several beautiful landscapes in oil on the wall, a portrait on a turbine and Rastus hard at work on another.

Rastus, when he reported for duty, told the chief that he could paint, so the latter bought paints, brushes, etc.

Establishment Of Air Mail Service In Area Is Studied

Survey Of Present Business Is Being Made By Officials; Session In City On March 10

Gap Between Big Spring And Amarillo Would Be Closed Under Plan Considered; Service Would Be Available To Practically All Of Panhandle-Plains Area

POSTMASTERS over the district are checking their air mail business this month preparatory to making a survey for the next meeting of a group to meet in Lubbock March 10 to discuss securing of an air-mail service between Lubbock, Amarillo and Big Spring, according to John L. Vaughan, postmaster of Lubbock and temporary chairman.

At a recent meeting in Big Spring it was decided to attempt to close the gap between Big Spring and Amarillo as both towns are on transcontinental mail lines and the intervening towns are without adequate air mail service.

Committees Named

Local committees in each town along the proposed route were named to go into the matter of securing support for the proposed line. These groups are to consist of: the postmaster, mayor, member of the chamber of commerce aviation committee and a banker.

Business men will be interviewed to ascertain just how much mail can be expected for the line. A tentative schedule has been prepared to show connection with the Amarillo and Big Spring lines.

Can Save Much Time

"We can save 17 to 24 hours on many towns over the country if we can get their air mail route through Lubbock." Mr. Vaughan explained. "All our connections now are by mail train to Amarillo or Big Spring and from there by plane."

Mr. Vaughan wrote letters to postmasters of towns along the branch lines out of Lubbock regarding possible service. He received replies indicating that quite a business from surrounding towns could be developed.

Letters received were from postmasters at Lehman, Anton, Wilson, Plainview, Littlefield, Post Hale Center, Plains, O'Donnell, Ropeville, Seagraves and Bledsoe.

Needs 50 Pounds Daily

It is understood that if an average of around 50 pounds of air mail a day can be developed from the proposed line, that the service can be secured. At present Lubbock probably is furnishing a pound or two or more of mail daily. "We can get 25 pounds or more," says the postmaster.

Towns that probably will be included on the route are: Canyon, Tulia, Plainview, Lubbock, Tahoka and Lamesa, besides the terminals.

Mr. Vaughan pointed out that Lubbock could be the center of gathering mail from towns as far east as Crosbyton, Dickens and Spur and west to the state line, both southwest to Seagraves, west to Bledsoe and northwest to Muleshoe. Also some mail from Abernathy and Hale Center would come here.

Plainview Could Collect

Plainview could get air mail from Olton, Dimmitt, Lockney, Floydada, Hale Center, Abernathy and a number of inland postoffices.

Mail from Post, Brownfield and several inland offices would be available for Tahoka while Lamesa could get mail from Seminole, Gail, Snyder and other towns.

Present air mail service is east and west out of Amarillo and east and west out of Big Spring. Two mails a day are available for the north bound, mail leaving the local postoffice at 6:30 in the morning via the Santa Fe arriving at Amarillo at 10:30 and at 3 in the afternoon, arriving at Amarillo at 7:30.

Southbound, mail at present leaves Lubbock postoffice at 8:..0 p. m. for Big Spring by rail.

Would Give Fast Delivery

The first mail in the morning gives next day delivery of air mail to the following towns: Arkron, Ohio; Chicago; Cincinnati, Cleveland and Columbus, Ohio; Detroit, and Grand Rapids, Mich; Indianapolis Ind; New York; Philadelphia, Pittsburgh; San Francisco; St. Louis, Toledo, O; and Washington D. C. Same day delivery is available for the following towns; Albuquerque, N. M. at 2:45 p. m; Kansas City, Mo., 8 p. m; Los Angeles, 8 p. m; Wichita, Kas. 6:25 p. m. and Winslow, Ariz, 5 p. m.

Afternoon service by way of Amarillo gives next day delivery to: Chicago; Indianapolis; Kansas City; St. Louis; Toledo; Tulsa, Okla. Second day delivery is available at; Akron, Cincinnati, Columbus Dayton and Cleveland, Ohio; Boston, Mass; New York; Philadelphia; Pittsburgh and Washington.

Next day delivery is had via the south bound train mail to Big Spring, to; Atlanta, Ga; Austin, Boston; El Paso; Galveston; Houston, Indianapolis; Kansas City; Los Angeles; San Antonio; San Francisco; Shreveport; St. Louis; Toledo; Tulsa and Waco.

Second day delivery is possible at; Akron; Boston; Cincinnati; Cleveland Columbus and Dayton, Ohio; Detroit; Grand Rapids; New Orleans; New York; Philadelphia; Pittsburgh and Washington.

New Settlers Moving Into Hockley Area

Between 100 And 150 Farmers Have Located; Much Land Is Being Sold Out To New People In County

(By Staff Correspondent)

LEVELLAND, Feb. 21—Between 100 to 150 new settlers have come into Hockley county this winter and by spring it is expected that the number will be near the 200 mark, with 50 to 75 or more sections of land being broken out for the first time.

These are estimates of real estate men and others in close touch with the situation.

To Open Up Farms

W. D. Cope, secretary of the chamber of commerce, this week placed the number of new farmers at "not less than 150," adding "there are several big farms that will be opened this spring. I know of one farm of about 6,000 acres, south of town and another farm nearly as large, north."

W. T. Magee, county agent, said he believed a conservative figure would be "100 to 150 new settlers" with 30 to 50 section land.

No Reduction Likely

"Whatever reduction of cotton acreage there will be in Hockley county by our present farmers, will be more than overcome by the large number of new farmers who will put in cotton," Mr. Magee pointed out.

"Also, we will have more feed in our county this year than we have ever had. The new men are going to plant feed this year and the farmers who have been here for some time will replace their cotton with feed."

Other business men and real estate men confirmed the estimate that there would be a substantial increase in the number of new residents, although perhaps not as many as in former years. Real estate men indicate the number of persons who are making inquiries about farms is greater than ever.

World Tunes In On Chicago Again; This Time It's Big Political War With Big Bill Thompson Actively Engaged In 'Showmanship'; Judge Lyle, Crime Opponent, Running

BY VICTOR T. HACKLER

CHICAGO, Feb. 21 (AP)—A parade of jackasses, a display of gang weapons, a bitter exchange of personalities, and the world tunes in on Chicago again.

This time the attraction is the three-cornered race for the Republican nomination for mayor. Mayor William Hale Thompson, older and hoarser but still vigorous, is opposed by Municipal Judge John H. Lyle and Alderman Arthur F. Albert in a contest that combines all the old-time theatricals with ultra-modern campaign methods.

Knows It's a Good Show

As it turns the dials to Chicago and sits back to listen, the world know it is in for a good show. Chicago is an old, familiar station; it has entertained, amused, sometimes shocked those on the receiving end for many years.

The gang wars, Dion O'Banion's dramatic death, the shooting of Tony Lombardo on a Loop street, the Valentine's Day massacre of seven gangsters, slaying of Alfred Lingle in a pedestrian tunnel, the activities of Czar Al Capone, all have been exploited to the far corners of the earth.

Progress Told

In less spectacular but still impressive way, Chicago's news has told of industrial progress, enormous factories, the stockyards, great building projects, the glory of one world's fair and the hopes of another.

But the political life in the midwest metropolis has always attracted attention, especially since the entry of the master showman, William Hale Thompson.

"Big Bill The Builder" has staged many of them, vote-getters and side-splitters. He campaigned in 1915 on the resurrected slogan of "a full dinner pail," argued among other things for home rule for Ireland in 1919 and astounded the world in 1927 by promising to "crack King George in the snoot" if he ever came to Chicago.

"Wears No Man's Halter"

This time Thompson has found someone closer home to campaign against. He vows with gusto daily that he "wears no man's halter" and attempts to show that his opponents do—that their halters lead to newspaper offices.

For once Thompson has an opponent willing to engage him at his own game. Lyle, who became a national figure while in the usually inconspicuous office of municipal judge, relishes a fight and has no objection to histrionics or to strong language.

Thompson started using a jackass parade, depicting Lyle on a mule and Albert on a burro. Lyle, vociferous foe of gangdom, responded by bringing machine guns, sawed-off shotguns, blackjacks and pistols to his meetings and charging that the men who used such weapons were all for Thompson. Starting from "the nutty judge" and "that big clown," the two worked up to a name calling contest that got too strong for print.

Albert backed by the faction headed by Senator Charles S. Deneen, has pointed to the antics of his opponents and asked the voters, "is that the kind of a mayor you want?"

Anton J. Cermak, with no organized opposition for the Democratic nomination, asks merely that his party members stay out of the Republican primary Tuesday and prepare for the big contest two months hence.

APPOINTMENT CONFIRMED

SNYDER, Feb. 21. (Staff Special)—Confirmation of the appointment of Mrs. Gladys M. Anderson as postmaster of Snyder, has been made by the U. S. Senate. Mrs. Anderson has arranged for her bonds and expects to have the papers completed by March 1.

Want $25,000?

Just Find Oil In Arizona

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 21. (AP)—Want to earn $25,000? Find an oil well in Arizona.

Representative Harry J. Valentine, Pinal county, introduced a bill today in the legislature designed to encourage oil prospecting.

The finder of the first producing well would receive a gift of $25,000 from the state.

Only one string is attached, the well must produce 200 barrels a day for six months.

For the first time in its history a British tobacco company last year had a net profit of $50,000,000.

ICE PLANT IS SOLD

SNYDER, Feb. 21. (Staff Special)—Sale of the Citizens Ice company to the King ice interests of Fort Worth was announced by Glenn Sample, founder and owner. R. L. Miller of Fort Worth came here as manager for the new owners. Mr. Sample is moving to Hearne, Texas, where he is establishing a 25-ton plant.

Amarillo Presbytery Meets In O'Donnell, This Week-End

O'DONNELL, Feb. 21. (Staff Specil) — Amarillo Presbytery of the Cumberland Presbyterian church, will hold its spring meeting in the First Presbyterian church here beginning February 26 and closing March 1. Rev. Walter O. Parr, pastor, announces.

The presbytery covers both the South and North Plains, from Amarillo to Lamesa. A large attendance of both ministers and laymen from all over this part of West Texas is expected.

Coal mined in the Netherlands last year totaled 13,475,000 tons.

Improved Market Is Farmer's Hope For 1931 Season

Short Course Dates Are Set

Farmers To Gather In College Station, July 27 To August 1 For Annual Program Series On Farming

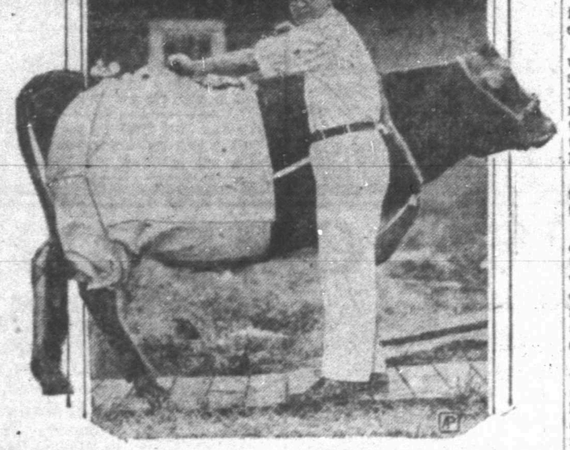

(By The Associated Press)

COLLEGE STATION, Feb. 21.—Dates of the 193. Farmers Short Course at Texas A. & M. college have been announced as July 27-Aug. 1, inclusive, by H. M. Williamson, state agent of the extension service. Cutting the cost of production to meet the low farm price levels, and short cuts to living at home will feature the programs of this twenty-second annual event which will follow as a guide the Texas farm policy of the College as re-stated last Fall by President T. O. Walton.

Women and girls will be offered programs designed to help in living at home and in improving rural standards of living, according to plans of Miss Mildred Horton, state home demonstration agent. The subjects covered will include meal planning, canning budgets, organization of pantries to save food, health steps, principles of clothing design and material selection, living room, kitchen and bedroom improvement, farm landscaping, and increasing the family income by the preparation and sale of home products.

Men and boys from the farms and ranches will be given intensive work in livestock and crop production, dairying, poultry raising, pecan and fruit culture, insect and disease control, and grading and marketing of farm products. Especial attention will be paid the broad subject of land utilization, Williamson said, and how to adapt the farm business to meet changing economic conditions.

Bossy Will Wear Bloomers For Barn Dance; Dog Ticks Are To Be Studied

JEANERETTE, La., Feb. 21 (AP)—The well-dressed cow will wear tailor-made canvas bloomers this season.

They are the mandate of science. Veterinarians of the United States department of agriculture belive that the brown dog tick is the intermediate host responsible for transmitting "anaplasmosis" to cattle. It's pretty hard to keep track of a tick—hence the bloomers.

The idea is to study the life cycle of the tick, particularly that period after they engorge and fall from the animal to molt.

Plant Now, Advises Tech Professor

Plant Your Trees And Shrubs Now And Also Begin To Put Out Early Vegetables; Cold Frames Needed

Plant your trees and shrubs now instead of waiting until later, generally about April, to plant.

"It is usually a good thing to wait until April for planting trees or shrubs, but because we have a wet February, it is all right to plant now," advises C. H. Mahoney, professor of horticulture and head of the deartment at Texas Technological college.

A wet month in the winter is better for planting than waiting a little later and planting.

Spring planting of shrubs or fruit or shade trees is preferable to fall, because of the danger of loss by winter kill. Tthere is not as much opportunity for trees to get a start in the winter and with any kind of a hard, cold season, the percentage of loss is high.

"Better to wait until the weather warms up and we have some moisture," Mr. Mahoney explained. "I have seen trees planted in the spring do better than those planted in the fall before.'

"It is getting a little late to do much pruning of trees. The sap should be starting to flow soon and when it does, the time for prunning trees is past," he added. Best time in this section for the pruning of grapes is in December or January.

Plant your early vegetables in cold frames if you want them for the spring season.

This is the advice of C. H. Mahoney, professor of horticulture and head of that department at Texas Technological college, who is following his own advice.

April 10 Latest Frost

"Our average last date of killing frost in this territory is April 10," he pointed out. "If people want to make fairly sure of their vegetables earlier than that, they should plant them in cold frames.

"Tender plants, such as radishes, lettuce and the like, should have protection, especially at night. A cold frame, with a muslin top to keep off the frost, is usually enough."

Now is as good a time as any to plant vegetables according to Mr. Mahoney. Cabbages, onions and other plants can be started in cold frames and then transplanted when danger of frost is past. Peppers, tomatoes and other plants also can be started in cold frames.

Build Cold Frame

Mr. Mahoney goes even farther than transplanting. He says, "One could build a cold frame two feet high and about 20 feet square, of light boards, with a muslin top. Then when it is warm enough, just lift it off and let the plants grow right where they are. They will be well advanced and there is little danger of a setback due to transplanting."

One thing, however, that Professor Mahoney is favoring rather than an early garden, is a late garden. He says that there is more money in it, both for the householder and for those who may want to sell a little, to have plenty of fresh vegetables in the fall and late summer.

Soon Play Out

Vegetables from the Rio Grande valley, he points out, begin coming in in the early spring and late winter. Then these begin to drop out of the picture about the last of May or the first of June. "It is too hot down in the valley to grow vegetables in the summer,' he says. "That is the time we need them out here.

"Anybody with plenty of water, either city water here in town or a windmill on the farm, can have plenty of good, fresh vegetables right up to frost," the horticulturalist declares. "It takes a good windbreak to protect them from the southwest winds, but any windmill on any farm can irrigate an acre of ground or more."

Good seeds are essential to success as a gardener, either for the home table or for commercial purposes. All seeds should be carefully selected and it is better to pay a higher price for good seed than a low price for other seeds of not as high quality.

FIRM NAME CHANGED

AMHERST, Feb. 21. (Special)—L. A. Daniel, local motor dealer, in announcing the change of the name of his firm from the L. A. Daniel Motor company to the Daniel Motor company, also announced he would become the local Chevrolet dealer. Formerly he handled the Whippet car.

Dickens County Club Women Give Beef To Charity

SPUR, Feb. 21 (Special) — The Home Demonstration Clubs of Dickens County under the direction of Miss Jennie Osborne have canned 6 beeves for the Red Cross. The meat was put up in 800 number 3 cans and valued at .60 per can or a total value of $480. The beeves were donated by the public spirited stock men and farmers of the County. In addition to the meat many cans of wheat and turnup greens were put up for the same purpose.

Wheat And Cotton Are Again Facing Surplus If Nothing's Done To Reduce Production

By FRANK I. WELLER
(Associated Press Farm Editor)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21. (AP)—The American farmer appears from the annual agricultural outlook conference to be moving into the 1931 season with his tactics practically unchanged.

Regardless of local acreage adjustment, there still is huge surplus production in prospect for the two great cash crops—wheat and cotton.

The world carryover of American cotton, added to the current crop, gives a supply 1,200,000 bales greater than for 1929-30. Unless adverse conditions develop between now and harvest another large crop of winter wheat will be produced.

The prospects are for a level far above the domestic requirements for hard winter wheat and slightly above domestic consumption of soft winter wheat.

Chairman Legge of the farm board, whose theory there should be a 20 per cent reduction in wheat acreage has been answered in the winter wheat belt by a cut of about 1 per cent, warns that the domestic market is being maintained artificially through the stabilization corporation at heavy expense.

"The farmers themselves," he says, "must realize how impossible it is to carry on such a program indefinitely."

"Our hope is," he continues, "that the American wheat grower will take the action necessary to correct this situation, in which event the accumulation of wheat could be worked off gradually without destroying the market for what he is now producing.

"However, if the growers cannot see their way clear to do this, this stabilization effort will have to be abandoned, the loss written off and leave the adjustment to the old time principle of the survival of the fittest."

For all the operation of remedial legislation, the outlook conference finds that the consumer rather than the producer still sets the price for farm products.

It is on the belief that the world economic depression will have run the worst of its course by the summer of 1931 that the conference predicts a possibility of slight agricultural improvement after the first six months of the year.

While it says farmers may reasonably expect somewhat lower production costs, a probable tendency toward improvement in market demand and a greater degree of stability in general commodity prices later this year, it admits that the situation is clouded chiefly by the general business depression and the volume of agricultural production.

In the latter connection the bureau of agricultural economics says that the increased supply of potatoes in prospect will more than offset any improvement in demand.

Even the anticipated improvement in the business situation is not expected to restore the former favorable relation of dairy prices to the prices of other farm products.

There will be some tendency to increase the corn acreage in the corn belt proper and 1931-32 prices are expected to average somewhat lower than in the current season.

A slight decline in hog production is in prospect. This is regarded as a favorable factor in the long time outlook for the hog industry.

The livestock industries will have the advantage of relatively cheap feed grain, but sheep producers are faced with the problem of reducing breeding stock numbers and disposing of a larger proportion of their annual lamb production through slaughter channels.

Cattle prices for the first half of 1931 are expected to average considerably below those of the first half of 1930, but it is believed that prices of most classes and grades may improve during the second half of the year.

Possibly some increase is justified in the number of trees in commercial apple orchards. The increase in oranges now in prospect does not appear excessive. Prospective changes in bearing acreage are moderate in peach producing areas outside California. The commercial strawberry acreage for harvest in 1931 promises to be considerably smaller than in 1930.

Some improvement in the price trend of eggs may be expected during the last half of 1931. Poultry prices for the first half of the year are expected to be somewhat above those of the same period a year ago.

Although production credit may be curtailed during the next farm season, ample marketing credit is expected. Farm wages are the lowest in many seasons and materials and fertilizer prices are lower than they were a year ago. The condition of farm equipment and of the whole agricultural producing plant is fairly good.

In general, agriculture apparently stands to gain by the gradual stabilizing of business and prices.

Seeks Corn Crown

Although the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference is not to be held at Regina, Canada, until 1932, entries are already being received from all over the world. One of the first is Leo J. Winkler, above, 23-year-old corn farmer of Jefferson, Wis. He helps his father operate a 105-acre farm and has won many trophies at county, state and international corn shows.

Farmers Will Attend Short Course Events

Two-Day Courses To Be Held In Brownfield And Levelland This Week; Hundreds Of Farmers Expected

By Staff Correspondent

BROWNFIELD, Feb. 21.—Hundreds of farmers in Terry county are expected here Monday and Tuesday for the short course sponsored by the agricultural extension department of the International Harverster company.

Agriculture, horticulture, gardening and home economics will be discussed by the speakers. Those on the program include H. S. Mobley, John M. Hannon and Grace Marion Smith.

No Charge Made

The course is free. No charge is made those who desire to attend.

Terry county is one of two or three counties in this section to secure the course, which is an annual event of the farm machinery concern.

The Brownfield chamber of commerce and a committee of business men are helping with the work of acquainting farmers with the purpose of the course. Every one of the more than 1,200 farmers in Brownfield's trade territory has been invited to attend.

Farmers Of Two Counties To Gather At Levelland

By Staff Correspondent

LEVELLAND, Feb. 21.—Farmers of both Cochran and Hockley counties are expected to attend the two-day short course to be held in the high school here Thursday and Friday by experts for the agricultural department of the International Harvester company.

Three sessions daily will be held, at 10 o'clock in the morning, at 1:30 in the afternoon and at 7:30 at night.

Committees have been named by Crede Rhea, president of the chamber of commerce, to assist in handling the course. W. T. Magee, county agent and Miss Marie Tarwater, home demonstration agent, also are helping with the work.

Wayland Officials Elected To Positions For 2 Years

PLAINVIEW, Feb. 21. (Staff Special)—Dr. G. W. McDonald, president of Wayland college here and Dr. Z. T. Huff, dean of the college, were reelected to their positions for a two-year term, by the board of trustees of the local Baptist institution.

The trustees also voted an expression of confidence in the work of the two men. Election of the faculty will be held later, it was announced.

MOVED TO ABERNATHY

ABERNATHY, Feb. 21 (Special)—E. D. Cook of Lubbock, an employe of the Texas Utilities company there, has moved with his family to Abernathy and will make his home here. Mr. Cook is connected with the company's new plant at Tuco, north of town. Mrs. Cook has become a member on the high school faculty, taking the place of Miss D'Aun Sammons who recently resigned.

THE RICHEST MAN IN THE WORLD—THE NIZAM OF HYDERABAD

The Nizam of Hyderabad Asaf Jah, is a Mohammedan, and the ruler of the most important native state in India. His status as the richest man on the globe, topping the combined wealth of Ford, Rockefeller and Baker, has been determined on the basis of a statistical survey.

This world's richest human makes no investments, and deprives himself of a vast annual income because he fears that a further accumulation of riches might in the end become too cumbersome. Practically the total of his tremendous fortune consists of hard cash, bullion and jewels, which he keeps in elaborately fortified and guarded treasure rooms at his palace.

He is the futher of 40 sons and 201 daughters. These children were born to his four wives and several hundred concubines.

CARBIS WALKER SWAM ACROSS LAKE ERIE

A few years ago Carbis A. Walker, a long-distance swimmer of the Central Y. M. C. A., Cleveland, swam from Pelee Passage Lighthouse, Ontario, to the Lorain Lighthouse, Ohio. He left Pelee at 9:15 AM., August 1, and arrived at Lorain at 4:30 A. M. August 2, covering the 35 miles in 20 hours and 15 minutes. Walker made this quatic journey without the aid of a compass, after the power boat, Argus, which set out to accompany him, became lost.

THE 42-FOOT VIKING SHIP "LEIF ERICSSON" SAILED ACROSS THE ATLANTIC

On Aug. 19, 1926 four modern Vikings entered Boston harbor in a tiny ship modeled after that in which Ericsson made his crossing in the year 1000, to discover America. The craft was built by its captain, Gerhard Folgero, in Bergen, Norway, and was exhibited in this country at the Sesquicentennial Exposition in Philadelphia. The voyage was made in 34 days, which included 21 days they were locked in the ice off the coast of Labrador.

West Texas Sure To Gain In Redistricting Of State

Territory Has Large Boosts In Population

South Plains Area Is Revealed As One Of Strongest Senatorial Districts; May Be Divided

The basis of state senatorial redistricting is not population, but voting strength. The rule has been, since passage of the Terrell election law, to use pool tax payments as the most accurate indication of voting strength. Section 25 of Article II of the state constitution reads as follows:

The state shall be divided into senatorial districts of contiguous territory according to the number of quarified electors, as nearly as may be, and each district shall be entitled to elect one senator; and no single county shall be entitled to more than one senator.

The last clause should be kept in mind as the poll tax payments of 1930 are studied.

With a total of 1,116,370 poll tax receipts issued last year the average per district is that number divided by 31, or 36,010. However, that basis cannot be adopted, because there are three counties— Harris, Dallas and Bexar—whose poll tax payments are well in excess of the figure given. As the constitution says these counties cannot have more than one senator each, regardless of voting strength, a new basis must be established.

The Three Largest Cities

Harris had 58,033 poll taxes, Dallas had 56,771 and Bexar 50,871. Each of these counties is thus clearly entitled to be a senatorial district by itself, as Harris and Dallas are already. The total payments in these three coutnies, 165,675, subtracted from the state total 1,116,370, leaves 951,195, with 28 districts to divide that number. The quotient is 33,971, which becomes the obvious basis.

The 1930 poll tax payments in the existing districts reveal that there must be considerable readjusting, and that the same general condition that prevails with regard to congressional districts is found here. That is that West Texas is entitled to increase its representation at the expense of East Texas. The following table gives, in successive columns, the number of each district, its principle city, and its 1930 poll tax payments.

Dist. No.	Principal City	1930 Poll Payments
1	Texarkana	18,366
2	Marshall	23,971
3	Lufkin	26,728
4	Beaumont	34,679
5	Huntsville	26,691
6	Corsicana	33,896
7	Tyler	27,213
8	Paris	24,407
9	Sherman	28,384
10	Greenville	24,400
11	Dallas	56,771
12	Cleburne	33,930
13	Waco	37,893
14	Bryan	23,952
15	LaGrange	27,772
16	Houston	58,033
17	Galveston	33,530
18	Victoria	26,799
19	Seguin	21,436
20	Austin	37,143
21	Temple	31,127
22	Denton	27,355
23	Wichita Falls	38,625
24	Abilene	48,229
25	San Angelo	43,054
26	San Antonio	55,960
27	Corpus Christi	51,282
28	Fort Worth	35,393
29	El Paso	40,906
30	Lubbock	51,645
31	Amarillo	51,740

The Gains in West Texas

The Beaumont, Corsicana, Cleburne, Waco, Temple and Fort Worth districts are so close to the required basis that they may expect to be left undisturbed. The Galveston, Victoria, Austin and Wichita Falls districts are each several thousand in excess of the basis but not enough so to require much, if any, readjusting. The Houston and Dallas districts are far in excess, but must be content with one senator each.

The West and Southwest Texas districts, those in which Abilene, San Angelo, San Antonio, Corpus Christi, El Paso, Lubbock and Amarillo are the principal cities, are each far in excess of the basis. The total of poll tax payments in these seven districts in 1930 was 247,686. If Bexar county is allotted the senator to which it seems to be clearly entitled, and Bexar's figure is substracted from the total, the remainder is 296,815. That is about nine times the adopted basis. The counties in these seven districts, therefore, would seem to be entitled to 10 senators, an increase of three.

The total poll tax payments in 12 districts, most of them in East Texas, were 222,988. The 12 districts are those in which the chief cities are Texarkana, Marshall, Lufkin, Crockett, Tyler, Paris, Sherman, Greenville, Bryan, Seguin and Denton. On the basis of 33971 polls per district, the counties in these existing districts would be entitled to nine senators.

Thus there are 12 existing districts which can be left practically undisturbed, seven, the counties in which are entitled to three additional senators; 12, the counties in which are entitled to not more than nine senators, or three less than they now have.

A Personal Matter

It can be taken for granted that such a readjustment will not be effected readily. The state senator may have his eye on a seat in congress, as was noted in last Sunday's article, but he has something else on a seat in the state senate. Even if he does not intend to seek re-election, he is not going to submit willingly to any dedistricting plan that reduces the proportionate representation of his section.

That is why it has always been more difficult to get senatorial redistricting measures enacted than congressional or representative redistricting. It is a very personal matter for most of the senators.

In the 42nd legislature the personal ambitions of senators will be a factor in redistricting, as well as the factors represented by the conflicts of city vs. county, East Texas vs. West Texas. It was with much difficulty that a senatorial redistricting bill was passed 10 years ago, despite the great inequalities that the 1920 census had revealed.

Redistricting for the House

In representative redistricting, the same general situation prevails as in senatorial redistricting. The basis is population, so that with a total population of 5,824,715, and 150 representative districts, the basis is 38,831.

The 119th district, in the South Plains, including the counties of Cochran, Crosby, Dawson, Gaines, Hockley, Lubbock, Lynn, Terry and Yoakum has a population of 100,259, nearly three times the basic figure. The 123rd district in which are Potter and five neighboring counties, has a population of 71,606, nearly twice the basic figure. Cameron county, now with one representative, has a population almost exactly twice the basic figure. Each of the three most populous counties, Harris, Dallas and Bexar now has five members of the house. But on the basis for 1930, Harris with 359,000 is entitled to nine, Dallas, with 325,000, to eight, and Bexar with 292,000 to seven. Taylor, Tom Green, Travis, McLennan and Jefferson counties are due for enlarged delegations.

With the house membership limited by the constitution to 150, which it already has, can be provided. The increased representative due to the largest cities and to West and South Texas regions, can be given only at the expense of the districts, mostly in East, North and Central Texas, where the population increase was less than for the state as a whole.

The Case for West Texas

The rule heretofore has been to give one representative to each East or South Texas county whose population came anywhere close to the basic figure. Thus, at present, each of such counties as Panola, Rusk, Shelby, Lavaca, Washington, Houston, Red River, Hopkins, Van Zandt, and Henderson constitutes a representative district. None of these is shown by the 1930 census to have a population as large as the basic figure, And there are several others.

The case for West Texas may be briefly stated. Taking the 98th meridian as an arbitrary dividing line, the region west of it has 40 per cent of the state's population and 30 per cent of the membership of the house.

Here's Good Way to Lower Your Gas Bill; Kansas City Man Drills Well

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 21 (AP)—Seeking relief from an average monthly gas bill of $300, Joe C. Cerese drilled a well in the rear of his group of apartments and electrical shop.

Today he had brought in a well gauged at approximately 100,000 cubic feet a day. Henceforth he expects to use his own gas in his buildings.

Dr. Horn To Speak Before Plainview Rotary Tuesday

PLAINVIEW, Feb. 21. (Special)—Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of Texas Technological college, will be the principal speaker before the Plainview Rotary club here Tuesday noon, February 24. Dr. Horn is to speak on some phase of International Rotary work. G. C. (Froggy) Lovvorn, former Ralls athletic coach and now head of the work at Plainview high school, is program chairman.

Tuesday afternoon Dr. Horn is to speak before the Plainview chapter of the A. A. U. W.

TO CONSTRUCT GOLF COURSE

LOVINGTON, N. M. Feb. 21.—(Special)—E. M. Smith, a druggist here, has announced plans for opening a full sized nine hole golf course on his farm two miles south of Lovington on U. S. highway 6, the Carlsbad Caverns highway. The course is to be ready by March 1, it is announced. A club house may later be built, according to Mr. Smith.

Plans Worked For Plainview Rotary Confab

Almon Roth, Palo Alto, Cal., International President, Is To Attend Convention On April 20, 21

(Special to The Avalanche-Journal)

PLAINVIEW, Feb. 21.—Plans for the District Conference of the 41st District of Rotary International to be held in Plainview April 20-21 are rapidly being worked out. The high point in the program will be an address by Almon Roth, Palo Alto, California, President of Rotary International. This is the only Rotary District in this section that President Roth is visiting.

The program will soon be completed by District Governor Raymond H. Nichols, Vernon, and his committee. Every minute of time for the two days will be filled with things of interest to Rotarians. Local details for taking care of the conference visitors are being worked out by Maury Hopkins, President of the Plainview club, and his committees.

A change in the plan of registration is being made by Governor Nichols this year. A fee of $1 will be charged all Rotarians who attend any of the meetings.

The Midland, Lockney, Waco and Plainview clubs have registered 100% of their members. Many other clubs in the District will register their entire membership also.

Warrants Of Tech Cashed

Tech Directors Arrange To Settle Faculty Salaries Of College In Satisfactory Manner; Funds Short

"The board of Texas Technological college has been able so far to make arrangements to cash all warrants for members of the faculty without having to take a discount," Dr. Paul W. Horn, president, declared in an interview.

"I do not know just how long this will continue, but so far our school has not had to do what a good many other schools have done," he continued. "All warrants have been met promptly and in full."

The present situation over the state, wherein many school officials and other employes of the state have had to take as high a discount as two per cent a month, is largely a matter of bookkeeping rather than an actual shortage of funds, it was explained. The state is not broke, but the money for meeting warrants has not been transferred into the proper funds.

Failure on the part of a large number of taxpayers to pay their taxes, as well as the action of the legislature in postponing the final date for payment without penalty, has reduced the receipts from tax sources.

CLAY DRUMS?

CLAY DRUMMERS

If you have lived in Lubbock two years, you remember the days when there were no clay drums in the city, days when every drum was of the old fashioned circus type with plenty of sound and thunder. From those good old days we gradually emerged into a period of clay drums. Silence reigned supreme, with life resolving itself into a matter of speculation and uncertainty. It was so in business. But today, the clay drum is going out. It is going out rapidly, too.

Only recently over 200 farms were sold in Hockley County. Building in Lubbock is on the Upward trend. Public confidence in business is rapidly being solidified into a telling force. Oil development in this territory is at an interesting stage. With the coming of new crops and newly created capital, the outlook is good. Smash the clay drums.

Chaplin Will Never Produce Talkie; Barrymore Is Autograph Gatherer

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 21. — Many rumors have been flying around of late that Charlie Chaplin's next production will be a talking film.

Impetus was given these rumors by a statments attributed to the actor in which he is quoted as saying that if he ever did make a talkie he would assume an entirely new characterization.

CHARLES CHAPLIN

However, we don't believe that the little comedian who is so well known by his baggy pants, cane and derby hat ever will speak from the screen. And those at the Chaplin studio agree. Charlie now is enroute to Europe for a six months' vacation so he cannot be reached for his views on the subject. But we have heard him speak on the subject of talking pictures enough to know pretty well what he thinks about them.

Naturally if he did make a talkie, Charlie would have to become a different character. His rather decided English accent never would coincide with the character he portrays on the screen today. And Charlie has become pretty fond of that character through the many years he has portrayed him—too fond to want to be anything else. Then, too, Charlie is one of the world's greatest pantomine artists. He can do with a gesture what other actors need 50 words to accomplish.

You may see Chaplin in a talking film. But he won't talk. If "City Lights," his latest picture which was made silent, isn't as successful at the box office as he thinks it should be, he may put dialogue into his next film. But the talking will be done by the other characters. That's about the closest Charlie ever will come to making a talkie.

MOVIELAND has discovered another adherent to the ranks of autograph gatherers, who literally infest the film village. This new member of the clan really is one of the pioneers, however. But he has escaped detection up to now because he never asks for an autograph himself—he has someone else do it for him. John Barrymore is the man of whom we are speaking. Barrymore is said to have the name of practically every film star of the last 10 years in his book, which is attaining rather sizable proportions.

WHILE we're on that subject wouldn't it be rather amusing to see the great Barrymore appearing here and there at openings and whatnot competing with other autograph gatherers for the names of the stars—that is, when he wasn't busy signing the kids' books himself.

WE would like to see "Once in a Lifetime," that very amusing play which satirizes Hollywood beautifully, brought to the screen. If done in the same spirit that the play is staged, it would make a glorious comedy and would go a long ways toward showing the general public just how human film folk really are. Those who have seen or read the play probably think it is wildly exaggerated, but it isn't. Things like that actually do happen here.

"Hell's Angels" Showing; Stock Company Here

Thrilling War Picture Here For Four Days

Ben Lyon And Jean Harlow Head Cast Of Super Film Of The Air; "The Easiest Way" Coming This Week

"HELL'S Angels", super-picture of the air, in the production of which $4,000,000 was expended over a period of three years, a cinema production which has been truly classified as the most thrilling of all time, will open a four-day run at the Lindsey today. A special preview presented this drama of the air to the hardy ones who stayed up until 11:30 Saturday night.

"Hell's Angels" therefore easily leads the program of cinema entertainment in Lubbock for the week.

Howard Hughes Director

This spectacular drama of the screen was produced under the personal supervision of Howard Hughes, president of the Caddo company, and entailed in its creation 87 airplanes, the largest fleet ever assembled except by the governments; 137 pilots; 20,000 extras; and the usage of every sound recording device known to the cinema art.

Most gripping of all are the air sequences. In one scene alone, 50 battle planes take the air. Eighteen thousand feet above the earth they grapple in mortal combat. The aerial scenes have been classified as the most authentic and the most spectacular of any yet recorded.

The United States government has praised "Hell's Angels" for its authenticity.

Ben Lyon Stars

Ben Lyon is the leading man, and Jean Harlow, flashing blonde, takes the feminine lead. Supporting in the cast are James Hall, Lucien Prival, and John Darrow.

"The Easiest Way", taken from one of the most successful of stage productions, will be seen at the Lindsey Thursday, Friday and Saturday. It presents as its star the deft and beautiful Constance Bennett of "Common Clay" fame.

"Laura," one of the keenest, clearest studies of a woman's emotions ever written, is gloriously presented by Richard Bennett's talented eldest daughter. She makes very human indeed the girl of the city who seeks a way out of poverty, only to find her mistakes blocking her path when love finally comes into her heart.

Adolphe Menjou's "Brockton" is a particularly splendid picture of a man of the world. "Brockton" is not painted as a black villain. He is just human. The part is a difficult one and we doubt if any other actor could have handled it as well.

The straight lead is carried by Robert Montgomery. Marjorie Rambeau is pictured as the "bad example" and Anita Page as the little sister.

"The Great Meadow"

One of the features of the week's theater program is "The Great Meadow", now showing at the Palace. John Mack Brown, who stepped to fame in "Billy the Kid", plays the leading role. Others in the cast include: Eleanor Boardman, Lucille La Verne, Anita Louise and Gavin Gordon. The picture is an engrossing page out of American history, dealing with a hardy band of pioneers in 1775. The talkie continues through tomorrow.

Tuesday and Wednesday at the Palace, "The Bachelor Father" will be presented, with Marion Davies and Ralph Forbes in the leading roles. Miss Davies has a part that is ideally suited to her talents as a light comedienne. She is cast as a rowdy East Side waif, who, through an error in parentage, suddenly is transported to the aristocratic family of an English baronet, who thinks she is his long separated daughter. Her ludicrous attempts at becoming the "grand lady", the various love affairs in which she becomes involved and the absurd situations in which she places the grumpy baronet are said to make the film a constant round of hilarity.

Realism in depicting gangland and gangsters is the keynote of "The Widow from Chicago" which comes to the Palace Thursday and Friday. Neil Hamilton, Edward G. Robinson, and Alice White head an all-star cast. With its underworld setting, the picture is chock full of thrills and chills.

At the THEATERS

Albert Taylor Makes City His Headquarters

Dean Of Spoken Drama Will Present Productions Here At Rex Theater; To Show In West Texas, New Mexico

BY CHAS C. WATSON
Avalanche-Journal Staff

"JUST for the sake of Auld Lang Syne."

Eleven long years have passed since Albert Taylor looked across the footlights and thrilled audiences with the actual tenseness of the spoken drama—eleven years which have held for him a longing for return to the stage—a return to the life which had a beginning in the applause of our fathers and mothers—before the first thrill of the silver screen came to claim the spotlight.

Coming Back

Albert Taylor is coming back!

The dean of the American spoken drama, for 20 years head of the Albert Taylor Stock company, will take up a career left off eleven years ago.

Not only is Albert Taylor coming back to the scenes of early day triumphs — he is establishing headquarters in Lubbock. After a limited engagement in this city, starting on February 27 at the Rex Theater, which is being opened especially for the purpose, Mr. Taylor and his company will work throughout West Texas and New Mexico, home offices being in Lubbock.

Mr. Taylor's first two productions in Lubbock will be "The Game," by Jack London, and "The Man Hater," by Sydney Grundy. Both productions have been proclaimed as dramatic successes and Mr. Taylor's company is especially adapted to their presentation. In both plays Mr. Taylor himself takes a leading role. As Tim Mayo in "The Game," the veteran adds another role to the American hall of theatrical fame for dramatic characterizations. As "the tamer" in the second play, he gives a rare comedy characterization which has placed him in the front rank of American comedians.

Years ago, when but a young man, Albert Taylor supported such theatrical figures as Frank C. Bangs, in "The Silver King"; Robert Downing in Shakesperean and classic repertoire; Viola Allen in "The Christian"; Richard Mansfield, Effie Ellsler and Nat C. Goodwin.

For twenty years, 1900 to 1920, he toured the states of Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and Colorado, presenting the highest of American drama.

Many stage and screen stars of today and of years passed received their training in the old Albert Taylor company. Some of these included Herbert Brenon, Lasses White, Lon Chaney, Lucia Peyton, Gertrude Ewing, Bebe Daniels, Foster Ball, Hollingsworth sisters and Gail Kane.

Records Set

A number of records were set during those 20 years of stock successes. Albert Taylor played an engagement for 15 consecutive summers at Cycle Park, Dallas; the Christmas date for 11 years at Palestine, Texas; the Thanksgiving date for 11 years at Wichita Falls; was the opening attraction for 11 seasons at the Greenwall Opera house, Fort Worth; the Grand Opera house, San Antonio; and the Sweeney and Combs theaters, Houston; played the first week in November for 12 consecutive years at the Overholser theater, Oklahoma City, and, during those engagements, read from the stage, the returns of three presidential elections.

Many old timers will remember Mr. Taylor and his company when they played in this section. He was at the heighth of his career during the period when "The Man in the Box," "The House of a Thousand Candles," and "Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway" were popular current hits.

Since 1920 Mr. Taylor has been in the East, engaged as stockstar and dramatic director for theatrical interests. During 1928, '29 and the spring of 1930 he played over the Keith and R. K. O. circuits with a comedy sketch, "The Days of '61."

Tech 'T' Men To Give Show On Wednesday

Seventy-Five Students Are To Take Part In Minstrel To Be Given At High School; Girls To Take Part

With a cast of more than 75 men and women students of Texas Technological college, the first Texas Tech "T" club minstrel will be staged at the Lubbock high school auditorium next Wednesday night, February 25.

Officials in charge of the affair have announced that rehearsals indicate the show will be one of the best presentations ever made to citizens of Lubbock in the way of local entertainment.

Tap dancers, a girls' chorus and black face comedians, under direction of Miss Johnnye Gilkerson and Miss Zella Riegal are rehearsing daily to insure a perfect program.

There are a number of special divisions on the program. These will include solo dancers, blues songs, men's quartet, Georgian tap dancers and the freshman with beaming eyes.

Dr. W. A. Jackson, head of the Texas Tech department of government, has been chosen by members of the "T" club as interlocutor. He will be the only performer not in black face makeup.

Proceeds from the minstrel will be used by the "T" club to furnish and re-decorate their club room located in the school gymnasium.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Travel Man said, "This big hat is not becoming. It's too flat. You see, I am a plump man and I need a larger lid. This woven hat looks fine on some, but as for me, I just look dumb. Just leave it with the weaver." so, that's just what Clowny did.

Then Scouty asked the weaving man, "Please tell me, Mister, how you can make hats like these. They're simply great to wear beneath the sun." The weaver said, "I will be glad to show you how it's done, my lad. When you know how to weave just right, it isn't work. It's fun."

And then he got some stranda of straw, and as the Tinies watched in awe, he worked a big hat into shape and put it on his head. "Well, how does that look, now?" he cried. "To make a nice one I have tried." "I must admit it's wonderful and looks fine," Scouty said.

The Travel Man then called the bunch and said, "I have a happy hunch that we will leave Tulear today. We've seen all of the sights. There yet is much that we must see in other distant countries. Gee, let's hurry right down to the docks. I see some big boat's lights."

So, in the dusk, they ran along down to the docks. A breeze, quite strong, was blowing. Clowny promptly said, "Let's travel on a ship. The wind will make a sea trip fine. A real cool night's just right, for mine. Let's head right back to Africa. We'll all enjoy this trip."

The Travel Man replied, "You're right." They bought their passage on a boat and promptly went aboard. 'Twas day break, though ere they were gone. The big ship didn't leave till dawn. Then, as the big ship left the dock, "We're moving!" Scouty roared.

For Ginger's Sake

ed but happy Ginger sat at breakst, her parents and her artist uped about her. Her thoughts re pleasantly engaged with the rmess of success which her protic nature had promised for the ming. And as if from a great disnce the voice of Iry Ford cut ntly through her sweet abstracn.

"Ginger! Hey, Ginger!"

"Did somebody call Ginger?" wonred Phil.

Hamill appeared at the door. Exse me," he said apologetically, t Mr. Ford wishes to see Miss nger—Mr. Ford is—not alone, if nay say so."

"Oh, it must be Nicolo," said Bard. ay I go out with you, Ginger? 't it great he got here this morn-?"

They ran down the hall to the nt door, comfortably pleased that ir brilliant plan had not miscarI. Now was the success of their ning doubly sure.

But at the end of the driveway, ere the decrepit old taxi with its ght college flags was discreetly ked, restrained by sheer physical effort on the part of Iry from making a concerted rush upon the house, they saw — not one, slim, pretty Italian as they had expected—but what appeared to be a large company of them, gesticulating excitedly, not in noisy argument in their native tongue.

"Fascisti—upon us!" gasped Ginger Ells.

"Listen!" roared Iry Ford. "Wait, I tell you, wait for Ginger! You can't go in unless you're asked. Miss Phil wouldn't like it!"

Use Of More Air Cooled Motors Seen

Improvement Will Feature Economy Car

Remarkable Progress Is Made In Engine Type Thought To Be Near Demise; May See More Adopt Its Use

By ISRAEL KLEIN
Science Editor, NEA Service

DETROIT, Feb. 21.—Any motorist who has an idea that the air-cooled automobile is near demise should have attended one of the sessions at the recent annual meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers here.

What a revelation that meeting of some of the leading automotive engineers in the country was even to the engineers themselves!

For they learned that the one remaining air-cooled engine now in active use, has been so far improved as to leave its predecessor far behind.

They learned further that their own favorite water-cooled engine is not so hot, compared in efficiency with the air-cooled product. And, finally, they heard the prediction of one of their leaders to the effect that more air-cooled automobiles will be on the market soon!

This prophet was Thomas J. Litle, former president of the S. A. E., and a highly respected engineer.

But Economy Prevails

Although Litle said that water is not ideal for cooling and that many engines run entirely too cool, E. D. Herrick, another engine builder of note, pointed out that the water cooled engine is much more economical to produce than the air-cooled product—which is quite an important factor today in the final price-fixing and sale of automobiles.

The main point brought out in this discussion was the remarkable progress made in the improvement of the air-cooled engine. E. S. Marks and C. T. Doman, air-cooling engineers, brought out the fact that, without a change in piston displacement, which is the usual way of increasing an engine's horsepower, they were able to raise their air-cooled engine's brake horsepower at 3500 revolutions a minute by as much as 76 per cent.

Cooling Problem Solved

Cooling used to be one of the great faults motorists found with the air-cooled car, especially in summer. It would be too cold in winter, but it would get much too hot in summer. Now an engineer points out that the engine could be warmed up in the coldest weather in from five to 10 minutes, and it was just a little too cool at high speed.

One of the important reasons for continued exirtence of the air-cooled car, and an argument for more of them, lies in the use of hard water in the rural regions for the cooling systems of the water-cooled engines. The result, one engineer said, has been that the water jackets of such engines became coated with limestone, which is a heat insulator, and therefore reduced the efficiency of the cooling system by clogging.

Perhaps, the engineers agreed, in a few years the outstanding objection to air-cooled engine production—its high cost—will be overcome and the way will be open to entering the rural market with a cheaper, but efficient, competitor to the water-cooled car.

Bailey County Seeks Relief

Application For Loans For Crop Production Will Be Made; County Organization For Work Completed

MULESHOE, Feb. 21. (Staff Special)—Organization of Bailey county for the purpose of securing federal farm loans for crop production, has been completed, following receipt of advices from both Washington and St. Louis that the county was included in the list of those in Texas entitled to aid.

J. E. Aldridge was named chairman of the county committee, with C. P. Gupton, Muleshoe merchant and W. M. Poole, farmer and pure seed breeder as the other members. Mr. Aldridge is connected with the Blackwater Valley state bank.

Two Committees Named

Two community committees, one for the southwest section and the other for the southeast section, have been named. J. L. Howard, Carl Hall and Henry Hanover comprise the southwest committee and J. A. Nichols, R. D. McCormick and W. M. Jiant the southeast group.

J. E. Adams, county judge and Fred S. Reynolds, county agent, are ex-officio members of the county group.

Some Hard Hit

"There will be between 150 and 200 farmers who will ask for this aid," Mr. Reynolds said in discussing the situation. "Some of our communities were very hard hit by the drouth conditions of last year, harder than many people realize.

"We are getting down to the making out of applications and the county committees will begin to function right away."

An average of between $200 and $300 is expected to be had for the loans that will be asked of the federal government. There may be a larger amount than members of the committee expect will be sought by most of the farmers.

Brief Bits Of News About Autos And Auto Dealers

Not Weather Regulators

If Lubbock automobile dealers could control weather conditions they would have sunshine and cloudless skies for this week, a spell of moisture and a period of lowered temperatures during the early part of next week, then let the springtime blossom forth in all its traditional glory for the latter part of next week. But auto dealers are not weather prophets or regulators.

Would Have Spring

For that is the week set for the Lubbock Automobile show. The dates are March 6-7, come frost, snow or spring flowers. Local representatives of American made automobiles for American people are getting their caps for one of the most successful shows of its kind to be held in Lubbock and on the South Plains. They would have advance advertisements of an early spring come true, but they are neither newcomers nor fools, and they do not stake much on West Texas weather.

Two Cars Unloaded

Two car loads of new automobiles will be unloaded early this week and carefully serviced and shined for their first public appearance in the show. An important announcement by Scoggin-Dickey Pontiac and Oakland company is that the first carload of 1931 Oaklands is on the way here. The new Oakland will be formally introduced at the auto show. In addition the shipment includes two new Pontiacs, models of which have already been sold to Lubbock drivers. Ratliff and Rogers, Buick representatives, have been notified of the shipment from the factory of a car load of new Buick eights.

Expecting New Cars

The Lubbock Auto company, Ford dealers, are expecting the arrival of four 1931 model Lincolns from Dallas early next week. These will also be on display at the show.

Sales Still Climbing

W. W. Royalty of the Royalty Motor company, distributors of Dodges and Plymouths, is in receipt of a letter from the home company at Detriot that the week ending February 7 marked the fifth consecutive week this year during which retail deliveries of Dodge cars have exceeded the corresponding week of 1930, thus maintaining the auspicious start with which Dodge entered the new year.

Officials Here

H. J. Burkett, manager of the Dallas branch of Ford Motor company, and B. F. Ritchie, also of Dallas, zone sales manager for this section, were in Lubbock Thursday and Friday conferring with the local Ford dealers.

To Sell Buicks

R. E. Smith, formerly associated with a local insurance company, more recently affiliated with the Plainview Buick agents, has accepted a position as city salesman with Ratliff-Rogers Buick company of Lubbock. He moved his family here this week.

Used Cars Selling

While new car deliveries have been more or less at a standstill for the last week, nearly all of Lubbock's dealers report an appreciable increase in the movement of used cars. With prices lower than ever before South Plains drivers are taking advantage of the market and buying quantities of used automobiles.

Fords Sold

Four new Ford passenger cars and one truck were delivered last week by the Lubbock Auto company. W. T. Lewis of Lubbock is driving a new Ford standard coupe. J. S. Edwards of Slaton and Melville Hankins of Levelland registered new Ford two-door sedans and B. E. Needles, Goodrich tire dealer of Lubbock, purchased a new truck.

Display Rooms Remodeled

Davis Bros. Oldsmobile Company's display rooms and office spaces are being remodeled in order that Frigidaire, another Davis company holding here, may merge under the same roof with the automobiles. Considerable interior work, including redecorating and finishing, is being done at the building on the south side of Main street. Frigidaire was formerly on the opposite side of the thoroughfare.

Mrs. John Brady, of Dundee, Scotland, who recently gave birth to three boys, has applied for the King's Bounty awarded for large increases in families.

Methodists To Gather In New Orleans Soon

General Missionary Council To Be Held In Louisiana City, Feb. 24-26; Memphis Is Host, March 11-16

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Feb. 21—Methodists of Texas, in the section covered by the Central Texas, North Texas, Northwest Texas, Texas, and West Texas conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, are expected to participate in the General Missionary Council at New Orleans February 24-26, and the Woman's Missionary Council at Memphis March 11-16, for the 53rd anniversary of the woman's missionary movement in the denomination.

Bishop S. R. Hay, of Houston president of Central Texas and West Texas Methodism, Bishop H. A Boaz, of Dallas, president of Texas North Texas, and Northwest Texas conferences, and the Rev. E. V. Cole of Dallas, editor of Texas Christian Advocate, the Rev. S. A. Ashburn, of Fort Worth, and the Rev. Frank E Singleton, missionary secretary and chairman board of missions Central Texas conferences; the Rev. S M. Black of Dallas, missionary secretary and chairman board of missions, North Texas conference; the Rev. T. C. Willett, of Hamlin and the Rev. D. B. Doak of Plainview, missionary secretary and chairman of board of missions of the Northwest Texas conference; the Rev. A. T. Walker, of Huntsville, and the Rev. H. T. Robinson also of Huntsville, missionary secretary and chairman of board of missions Texas conference; and the Rev. J W. Albritton, Weslaco and the Rev Cullom T. Booth, of San Antonio missionary secretary and chairman of board of missions, West Texas conference, will represent the Methodism of the state at the General Missionary Council meeting at New Orleans, when more than 200 leaders from every section of the denomination will discuss the missionary outlook and program of the church.

Women To Take Part

Mrs. J. H. Stewart, of Arlington, Mrs. T. S. Landrum, of Mexia, president and corresponding secretary Central Texas conference; Mrs. S M. Black, of Dallas, Mrs. John S Terry, of Terrell, president and corresponding secretary of North Texas conference; Mrs. Mat G. Rollings, of Abilene, Mrs. J. Frank Potts, also of Abilene, president and corresponding secretary of Northwest Texas conference; Mrs. J. W Mills, of Beaumont, Mrs. C. T Schaedel, of Wharton, president and corresponding secretary of Texas conference; Mrs. R. R. LeMaster, of Goliad, Mrs. Seth A. Craig, of San Antonio, president and corresponding secretary of West Texas conference woman's missionary society and Mrs. J. O. Handy, of Navasota member at large, will carry a report of the missionary activities of Texas Methodist women to Memphis. The past year's work in missions will be reviewed and plans discussed for future enlargement.

Of the $2,500,000 required annually to finance the missionary program of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, approximately 300,000 women members of missionary societies raise over one million dollars to maintain work established by the Woman's Missionary Council in the United States and in eleven foreign fields. Of the total amount Texas women contribute approximately $157,281 a year.

English is becoming so generally adopted in Norway that practically every important business concern can correspond in it, and American salesmen seldom need an interpreter.

What, No Wine?—Students Marvel

Letters Exchanged Between Tech French Students And College Students In Franc; Girl Is 'Short Haired'

FRENCH college students who consider wine as a part of their daily meals, marvel at the lack of wine in this country.

In the exchange of letters between Tech students who are studying French, and college students in France who are studying English, Miss Eleanor Nelson and Don Boggs were the first students here to receive replies from their letters. Tech students of French are exchanging letters in order to become acquainted with the customs in the colleges in France.

Boggs received a letter from Aguste Chapalain, sergeant fourrir in the military school Prytannee in La Rieche, Sarte, France. Boggs wrote to the French student in French while the latter replied in English.

Good Gas Service A Community Asset

A city with public utilities that can be depended upon to give good service year in and year out is a city that is up and coming.

A city with poor service from its utilities is badly advertised and does not attract new citizens or new industries.

Consider the advertising value to a community when its citizens can say.

"Yes, we can depend on our gas company to give us plenty of fuel, even if it has to go hundreds of miles to get it."

The company doing its part to give the cities which it serves a plentiful supply of gas. In fairness to themselves and the company the consumers should see that their gas-burning appliances are in shape to give them the most efficient and economical service possible.

The gas company maintains a Service Department, the services of which are absolutely free to its customers.

Water, gas, electric and telephone service all must be good if a city expects to be regarded as a good place in which to live.

In order to give the kind, of service that favorably advertises a community, the public utilities must be permitted to earn a fair return on their properties. For, unless they are allowed a reasonable return, the utility companies become crippled and the service suffers.

We believe the conscientious Lubbock effort our organization has successfully put forth to give plenty of gas reflects favorably upon the city as a good place in which to live.

"TEXAS HISTORY MOVIES" BY PATTON AND [illegible]NFIELD

ITURBIDE HAS WRESTED MEXICO AND TEXAS FROM SPAIN. REPUBLICANS OF MEXICO HAVE MURDERED ITURBIDE AND ARE NOW IN POWER. TEXAS IS DESOLATE. NOW WE LEAVE THIS SORRY STORY TO BEGIN A NEW ONE.

Thus far we have told of brave explorers; of dashing heroes of battle; of mad pirates; of ambitious soldiers who would be Kings ---- Jolly adventurers all.

NOW COMES THE HISTORY OF ----

Stephen Fuller Austin

"If he who by conquest, wins an empire, receives the world's applause, how much more is due to those who by unceasing toil, lay in the wilderness the foundation of an infant colony, and build thereon a vigorous and happy state! Surely there is not among men a more honorable destiny than to be the peaceful founder and builder of a new empire. Such was the younger Austin."

NOW BEGINS THE CHRONICLE OF THE ANGLO-AMERICAN COLONIZATION OF TEXAS, THE EVENT THAT MADE US ALL WHAT WE ARE TODAY.

TO BEGIN THIS TALE WE MUST GO BACK MANY YEARS.

Religious Census Of City To Be Taken This Morning

Hundreds Of Workers Will Count People

Affiliation Of Citizens Are To Be Recorded; Breakfast To Be Served Workers At Start Of Work

THE second annual religious census of the city of Lubbock gets underway this morning shortly after 7 o'clock when hundreds of workers meet at the First Methodist church for breakfast and instructions.

J. D. Carroll, director of activities of the First Baptist church, was in charge of general arrangements and was assisted by directors in other churches of the city.

Breakfast Served

The workers are being served breakfast at the First Methodist church at 6:45 o'clock which was prepared under the direction of Ethridge W. Eagan and Miss Virginia McLean.

A. C. Jackson, independent school tax collector, divided the city into 300 districts for the census taking which was expected to be finished by 9:30 o'clock.

This is an annual check-up which has been found valuable because of the new people who are moving here periodically. Each church is to be given the cards of its denomination and those who prefer that membership.

Part Of Campaign

The census is sponsored by the ministers association and is a part of the "Go to Church Campaign" which is being conducted in Lubbock at this time.

Members of the West End Baptist church are to attend a formal opening of their new church at Tenth street and College avenue today. An all-day meeting is to be held and luncheon served at 12 o'clock.

To Hold Song Service

In the afternoon a song service will be led by Carroll Atchison and talks will be made by Mrs. Tom Campbell, Miss Rachel Jackson, J. D. Carroll and Rev. C. J. McCarty, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church. A male quartet will sing.

The Amarillo Presbytery of the Cumberland Presbyterian church will convene with the O'Donnell church February 26 at 7:30 p. m. Rev. W. O. Parr moderator is pastor host and moderator. Rev. O. N. Baucom is stated clerk.

Included in those who will attend from the local church are I. M. Campbell, E. P. Earhart and Rev. Baucom. Mrs. George DeShazo, Miss Jessie Judd and Mrs. Pearl Tatum will attend the Ladies Presbyterial which convenes at O'Donnell at the same date.

The Rev. John W. Goodwin, general superintendent of the Church of the Nazarene, who resides in California is to begin a series of services at the local Church of the Nazarene, Avenue Q and 14th street, today. The meetings will continue throughout the week twice daily at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

Rev. R. M. Hooker, pastor, has issued an invitation to the public to attend the services. The visiting speaker is widely traveled and an interesting speaker, having been around the world in the interest of his church.

Closes Services

Dr. S. L. Joekel, of Austin, will close a series of services which he has been conducting at the First Presbyterian church during the past week today. He will preach at the morning service, again at vesper services this afternoon at 5:30 o'clock and will address combined Endeavor groups at 6:30 o'clock tonight.

During the week Dr. Joekel conducted a Bible class at the church at 9 o'clock, discussed the book of Job at the administration building, Texas Technological college, at 5 o'clock before a group of college students and faculty members and preached nightly at the church.

Saturday evening the visiting speaker talked before a group of young people on the subject, "Is the Young Man Safe."

What, No Wine?

"If I were in America, I would be wet too," Chapalain wrote Boggs." "I would find it very hard to have a meal without my wine to drink," he added.

The French student writes that there are 24 sergeants and 18 Corporals in the school where he is enrolled and especially emphasizes that they are well commanded.

Miss Renee Mollard of Lyon, France has written to Miss Eleanor Nelson with an eight-page letter written partly in French and partly in English. She included a photograph of herself and her two sisters. The French lassie is still in high school but will soon take the examination required of those who are to go to college there. The examination are somewhat difficult there but when a student passes a test qualifying for higher learning the expenses are paid by the French government.

The queerest thing about America to Miss Mollard is the lack of wine She explains that she drinks it for every meal and that she is healthy. She is greatly interested in America and wants Miss Nelson to describe in detail all about this country and especially about Texas Technological college.

"You asked how the French are wearing their hair this year," the French lassie writes." I am short haired. Are You?

Wheat Reported Up To Good Stand In Motley Territory

MATADOR, Feb. 21.—(Staff Special)—The more than 20,000 acres of wheat in Motley county are all up to a good stand, with plenty of moisture to carry through for some months to come.

Scores of farmers have planted small acreages of wheat for the winter, expecting that the pasture would carry their livestock through until spring. It is believed that there will be a good wheat crop in the early summer, besides the pasture.

To break all wheat production records of the country is the object of a movement just started in Italy.

The BOOK SURVEY

Navajos Refused To Act Like Dying Race, Coolidges Tell Us In Latest Book On Indians Of The Southwest

MR. AND MRS. COOLIDGE have spent many years studying the civilization of the different native tribes in our vast Southwest and may well speak as having authority. A few years ago, Mrs. Coolidge published The Rain Makers, a scholarly and comprehensive account of the history, the social and religious life, the arts and industries of the Pueblo Indians of Arizona and New Mexico. This more recent book, The Navajo Indians (Houghton Mifflin Company) in which she and her husband collaborate makes a similar survey of the Navajo people. This tribe is the largest and apparently the most virile of all North American Indians, Navajo population having increased from eight to forty-five thousand within the past sixty years.

It is believed that the Navajos have descended from the Mongol horde of North Asia, crossing the Bering Sea, centuries ago, a wandering, warlike people, fighting, raiding, and later becoming expert horsemen. Fleeing from the Spanish, late in the 1600's, they found shelter in an almost inaccessible canyon, where for more than a century they increased and prospered, undisturbed. Slaves and women farmed the rich bottom land, the men stole horses, sheep and goats, women and children from their Mexican or Pueblo neigbors. Business was excellent; the women cared for the rapidly increasing herds and developed the are of weaving into a tribal industry

After New Mexico was acquired by the United States in 1848, however, it was not long before the Navajos came into conflict with the new authorities. Their final defeat and surrender occurred in 1863, when a surviving remnant was ordered to Fort Sumner, 300 miles eastward. This exodus is still referred to as the Big Walk. Three years later the tribal chiefs were sent to Washington; overawed by the white magic, a treaty was thereafter concluded to return to their ancient grazing grounds, a Reservation of "10,000 miles ever lay out of doors," as an indignant Indian Agent once wrote his superiors Navajo history since then has been one continuous record of unfulfilled promises, mistakes and neglect on the part of the Government. Indian affairs have incredible parsimony, ignorance, and red tape, not to mention graft and corruption.

Nevertheless Navajos have not only survived, but have greatly increased in numbers. Our authors soberly testify that here is a fine people in the making, possessing exceptional courage, hardihood and humor, with a rare appreciation of beauty as expressed in chants, sand-paintings and handicraft.

Out Of The Bottom Drawer

Memories and Vagaries by Axel Munthe; E. P. Dutton company.

Memories and Vagaries consists of a collection of pleasant, readable, honest and good sketches and whimsies, written more than 30 years ago by the author who has recently produced the vastly popular Story of San Michele. Whatever may be said for the latter, which I have not yet read, the first part of the earlier book might have been written by almost anyone . . .

The author claims that he does not love mankind. Yet, as a young medical student in Paris, he admittedly does adore Italians; and he has a friendly feeling for lions, bears, dogs, monkeys and ants.

As the title indicates, the book is rambling in character; it has little unity of thought and is loosely knit throughout. One regrets that Munthe permitted the warming over this late-Victorian dish, which follows his San Michele made reputation like soup after dessert.

What Did These Men Do?

Take the average one-room kitchenette apartment, bring the ceiling three feet lower, divide it into nine equal parts, and you will have a smaller than average dinette. Imagine a chamber of this size cut into a sand bank, with sand instead of hardwood floor, woven mice-ridden moss instead of craftex walls; a smoking moss-burning stove instead of radiators, two sleeping bags on the floor instead of chairs or folding beds, an open garbage can instead of an incense burner, a twelve inch gold pan instead of a bathtub, a fox trap instead of windows or electric light, nothing for a table, the temperature outside 80 degreese below zero, and your position four hundred miles from the nearest outpost of civilization. Imagine living for six months under such conditions without a bath, without a shave or haircut, putting clothes on at night instead of taking clothes off, eating lean dear meat fried in wolf fat, lying on your stomach to avoid suffocation from smoke, wondering whether the roof is going to collapse and entomb you in a living grave. Imagine yourself a young Bengal Lancer fresh from the Tropics living there in squalor with an eccentric man called The Hermit of the Arctic, and then for long months more fighting your way through starvation and hardship over 2000 miles of Arctic country to civilization. Malcolm T. Waldron's "Snow Man," which Houghton Mifflin company is to publish in March, tells the story of what these men did and what they thought, and even how one was rumored to have killed the other.

Sketches Of War

I hope you will not shy away from "Roads to Glory," by Richard Aldington, just because it is a collection of essays—short stories and sketches dealing with the World war; for it most emphatically is not "just another war book," and if you avoid it on the ground that you are tired of books about the war you will be missing something very good.

These studies of the war are devoid of the cheap sensationalism and the sophomoric irony that we have seen so much of in the past year. One or two of the sketches are in the mood of "Journey's End"; a few are bitter with a cold fury that is all the more effective because it is so controlled and objective; and one or two—particularly the last one in the book—are tremendously moving bits of prose poetry that no sensitive reader will soon forget.

If this book had appeared a year ago it would have made a sensation. As it is, the reading public is apt to overlook it, and that is a shame; for only a very few of the many books about the war that have been written in the past year or so are its equals.

Doubleday, Doran and Co., publishes it.

Fannie Hurst's Latest Heroine Couldn't Say 'No'

Back Street by Fannie Hurst; the Cosmopolitan Book corporation.

It wouldn't be so bad if the modern novelist called "a spade a spade," wrote an unknown wisecracker, "but he takes a rake and makes a hero of him." Fannie Hurst varies the formula of taking a "fly" girl and making a heroine of her, adding a dash of piquancy at the beginning by endowing her with so deep a pity for men that it hurts her more to say "No" than to endure their caresses—rather new in the way of motivation.

The remainder of the book, however, falls back upon the old formula of a woman who loves not wisely but too well. The author would have us believe that for love of a man and precisely nothing else, Ray sacrifices a doubtful virtue, and devotes her life to "yes-yes-ing" Walter and painting china for a living, while his wife wears diamonds. I, for one, don't believe it. As stepsister Freda says incredulously, "If I went that way for a man, it would have to be for a reason, and a money reason at that!"
