Rudolf Hess Is Trying To Escape Trial

Two Top Leaders In Fifth Column Move Are Named

(By The Associated Press)

NUERNBERG, Nov. 28.—Franz von Papen and Arthur Seyss-Inquart—two of the top Nazi leaders on trial before an international military tribunal—were described by American prosecutors today as leaders of the fifth column which paved the way for Hitler's invasion of Austria in 1938.

While the Nazi plot to seize Austria was unveiled, the four-power court announced medical examiners had found Rudolf Hess, Hitler's former No. 2 deputy, was "not insane" at present. Arguments on Hess' plea to be released from trial on grounds of amnesia were set for Friday.

Meet First Setbacks

American prosecutors met their first setback of the trial when the court ruled against their move to introduce an affidavit from Kurt Schuschnigg, deposed as chancellor and jailed for seven years by Hitler, in which he told of Nazi plotting against Austria.

Schuschnigg, the first of many European leaders called to Berchtesgaden for the Hitler treatment of intimidation and terror, may get his revenge by appearing to testify against the Nazi leaders.

The prosecution showed that von Papen was sent by Hitler as minister to Austria in 1934 to bring "slowly increasing pressure" against Germany's neighbor.

Original Quisling

Seyss-Inquart, who succeeded Schuschnigg as chancellor, was described by assistant U. S. Prosecutor Sidney S. Alderman as "the original Quisling."

Reporting on results of mental examinations, British, Russian and American psychiatrists agreed Hess' loss of memory was self-induced and he was, in the words of British doctors, "not insane at the present time in the strict sense of the word."

The British psychiatrists' report revealed that Hess had tried to commit "suicide on several occasions since his sensational and mysterious flight to Scotland in May, 1941.

Pays Scant Attention

Declaring that Hess was not insane, the psychiatrists conceded that his loss of memory would "interfere with his ability to make his defense." Hess went on trial

U. S. Codes Destroyed

Gen. Marshall Leaving Soon For New Post

Byrnes Says No Sweeping Probe Will Be Staged

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 — Gen. George C. Marshall received an initial fill-in today on what President Truman expects of him as special White House ambassador to China. Afterward, a presidential aide said the general would leave for Chungking "as soon as possible."

The retired Army chief of staff, called to take over the post which Ambassador Patrick J. Hurley spectacularly resigned yesterday, spent an hour in the president's study during the morning and arranged to return for a further conference during the afternoon.

No Sweeping Inquiry

Secretary of State Byrnes told a news conference today that Hurley had complained to him about the reports of only two American diplomats while Hurley was ambassador to China.

He made it clear in response to repeated questions that he has not planned any sweeping inquiry into the State department's personnel as a result of Hurley's resignation blast yesterday.

Amid signs of increasing American concern over the civil war in that country, Mr. Truman quickly followed Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley's spectacular resignation as ambassador yesterday by calling Marshall from his week-old retirement.

Temporary Replacement

The former Army chief of staff will become special envoy to China as a temporary replacement to Hurley, who caught both the president and Secretary of State Byrnes by surprise with his 1500-word statement that he was quitting.

By selecting a five-star general to succeed one with two stars, rather than choosing a civilian diplomat, Mr. Truman appeared to be emphasizing again the viewpoint that the present top job in China remains the disarming of Japanese troops.

It appeared likely that before Marshall's departure from Washington, Mr. Truman would have fresh information on the Chinese situation from two sources.

Gates Due Back

Undersecretary of the Navy Artemus Gates is due in Washington momentarily from the Far East. He told reporters at Pearl Harbor Monday that he would "make specific recommendations which may affect United States policy in China."

Edwin A. Locke, personal representative of the president, also is en route by plane from Chungking after touring China for the last two months on an economic mission.

Marshall himself was due at the White House at 9 a. m. (CST) for a conference with Mr. Truman and Byrnes.

White House Press Secretary Charles G. Ross described the assignment as one "to do a particular job that needs to be done in China." Marshall will leave soon, Ross added.

Hurley, meanwhile, scheduled

Tyler Oil Man Seeks Release From Jail

DALLAS, Nov. 28 (AP) — After serving four days of a 30-day sentence for contempt of court, A. S. Genecov, Tyler oil man, asked to be released from the Dallas county jail, following his apology to Judge John A. Rawlins of the 116th district court.

Genecov said he was ready to pay fines of $1,500 and $3,000 for allegtdly failing to obey an injunction prohibiting him from polluting the Angelina river with salt water from the East Texas oil wells.

Truman's Trip To Texas "Still Off"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (AP)—The White House reported today that President Truman's visit to Waco, Tex., to receive an honorary degree from Baylor, a Baptist university, is "still off."

A reporter asked Press Secretary Charles G. Ross at his press conference if the trip had been revived for Dec. 5.

Ross replied in the negative. The trip was canceled along with other out-of-town engagements of the president some weeks ago

Military Training Plans Are Opposed

Three Billion Dollar Spending Program Reaching Into Every County Is Offered

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—A three billion dollar spending program reaching into every county was offered to the House military committee today as a substitute for universal military training.

Calling for promotion of education, health and recreation, the plan was outlined by Donald Dushane of Washington, secretary of the national commission for the defense of democracy through education.

Would Leave Balance

In a statement prepared for the committee Dushane contended the expenditure of $3,000,000,000 annually as he proposed would leave a balance of more than $15,000,000 if the cost of his plan were compared with the cost of universal military training.

With $3,000,000,000 a year, Dushane asserted, Congress could:

Construct a ten-room modern school building in every county every year; build a $50,000 library in every county annually; erect one $150,000 hospital for every county; maintain in every county a psychiatric and behavior clinic; increase recreational facilities and educational standards, and erect a $750,000 trade and technical school every year in each congressional district.

Would Increase Suspicion

"Of more importance to our national defense than compulsory training," Dushane's statement said, "is the maintenance of a sound economy, large scale production, and a high national income.

He added that to resort to compulsory military training now might "increase international suspicion of our purposes and encourage armament races which might endanger world peace."

A second opposition witness scheduled at today's committee hearing is Miss Elizabeth A. Smart, representing the Women's Christian Temperance union.

Chinese Fire On U. S. Ship

(By The United Press)

SHANGHAI, Nov. 28—American naval headquarters announced today that the American patrol vessel 134 was fired upon yesterday, presumably by Communists, while on convoy duty in the Yangtze river.

Rear Admiral Charles T. Joy, commander of the Yangtze patrol, said the craft was fired upon by small arms from the shore at a point eight miles above Kichau while in a small convoy returning from Hankow.

Fire Is Returned

The craft returned the fire with its 20-millimeter cannon. There were no American casualties.

A similar incident involving another patrol craft occurred Oct. 23.

The top commanders of the American Army and Navy in China departed for Chungking today to confer with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek about the future of American forces in North China.

Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, commander of the American Army in China, and Vice Admiral Daniel E. Barbey, commander of the U. S. Seventh fleet, were expected to receive from the generalissimo a detailed account of military and political developments in the dispute with the Chinese Communists.

Second Session In Week

It will be Barbey's second session with Chiang Kai-Shek within the past week. He was in Chungking over the weekend with Edwin C. Pauley, American reparations commissioner for Japan.

Former Chief Of Staff Will Be A Witness

Ex-Envoy Relates Actions In Tokyo To Guard Secrets

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Former Ambassador Joseph C. Grew testified today that some codes used by the American embassy in Tokyo were destroyed before war broke out December 7, 1941.

And some were not destroyed until after the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor on that date, he told the Senate-House committee investigating the disaster. The inquiry also brought these developments today.

To Hear Marshall

(1) Moves within the committee to hear General George C. Marshall before the former chief of staff leaves for China as President Truman's special envoy.

(2) A brief flurry over a suggestion by Senator Brewster (R-Maine) that committee counsel be permitted to go through Grew's personal dairy in search of items that perhaps should be studied.

Grew told of the destruction of the codes after Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) asked him:

"Do you remember when you got word to destroy codes in the embassy at Tokyo?"

Kept Until Last Moment

"We destroyed some of our codes a few days before Pearl Harbor," Grew replied. "We kept certain others until the last moment; we destroyed them after we had learned that war had begun."

Several members said they wanted to hear Gen. Marshall before his departure.

Chairman Barkley (D-Ky) told reporters he thought "the committee would expect to hear him before he leaves." Senator George (D-Ga) assumed Marshall would be leaving soon and thought it was important to call the former Army chief of staff "right away."

Rep. Gearhart (R-Calif) commented that he would be "inclined to insist upon hearing him before he leaves."

Message Is Noted

An Army board which investigated the surprise Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941, took especial note of the way a final warning message from Marshall to General Walter C. Short, Army commander, in Hawaii, was handled.

The board said that while Marshall telephoned an alert to General Douglas MacArthur in the Philippines, he sent a similar message to Short by commercial ca-

Several Sentences Handed Down Here

Several pleas of guilty were entered this morning in 99th district court, after juries had been waived.

Judge G. V. Pardue assessed a two-year sentence against Tommy Mason for forgery; three years against C. T. Anthony for car theft (Anthony already was under two-year sentence for car theft from Fort Worth); five-year suspended sentence against Ernest H. Adams for car theft; five-year suspended sentence against Mollie Harris, a negro woman, for theft of $50 from Mrs. O. T. Lindsey; five-year suspended sentence against W. H. McClure for car theft (Sheriff Grady Harrist of Lubbock has a holdover order from Houston, which indicated it would file a similar complaint there.)

J. B. Jackson, a negro accused of rape, will be tried before a regular jury panel Dec. 17. B. B. Chappell, court-appointed counsel for the black, waived a special venire, said District Attorney Burton S. Burks.

Judge Pardue will hear a motion for a new trial at 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, by Lish Dansby, a negro who had been tried for assault with intent to murder and given four years in the penitentiary.

Provision For Water Softening Plants Made In Bond Program

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another of a series of articles on the city's five-year expansion program on which taxpayers will vote on Dec. 11. An over-all bond issue of $3,894,000, offered in 14 different propositions, will be offered for approval or rejection on that date.

BY C. W. RATLIFF
Journal Staff Writer

Proposition No. 14 in the city's $5,894,000 bond election to be voted on by taxpayers Dec. 11 provides for approval or rejection of a complete water softening and treating plant with all machinery and equipment for a total cost of $650,000.

City commissioners had originally included the water softening plant in the water supply system project, but after discussion of the bond issue with citizens and bond authorities, it was decided to separate the two projects.

Will Increase Rates

One of the main reasons for separation of the two projects was the fact that in installation of the water softening plant, the cost of production will necessarily have to be increased, thereby causing an increase in the water rates for the City of Lubbock. Extension of the present water supply system will not affect water rates, it was pointed out by city officials.

Cost of water softening per year would be approximately $200,000, a recent water supply report made for the city estimated. Hardness of Lubbock water ranges from 400 to 900 parts per million in the ex-

Senator Says U. S. Is Drifting Toward War With Russia

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28—Sen. Edwin C. Johnson, (D., Colo.) told the Senate today that the United States "is drifting toward war with Russia with certainty and speed."

Johnson asserted that "a combination of suspicion, bluff and appeasement brought on war with Japan," and added:

Trying To Bluff Russia

"Today we are trying to bluff Russia with conscription of 'teen-aged boys but we are only fooling ourselves. Russia knows that we are waving an empty pistol by our conscription prattle and their contempt for us must grow with each passing hour. Panic action, appeasement and defeatism must certainly end in disaster."

Johnson made his prediction as the Senate continued debate on legislation detailing U. S. obligations as a member of the United Nations organization.

Sen. Robert A. Taft, (R., O.) meanwhile, pressed a fight to limit presidential powers to deal with UNO without specific congressional approval.

Would Hear Defendant

Taft's first amendment would prevent the U. S. delegate to the UNO security council—who would act only on presidential orders—from voting for military or economic action against any country before the defendant country has been heard before the security council. It also would instruct the U. S. delegate to try to get all disputes referred to the international court of justice, and forbid

First Votes Show Favor For Strike

Workers In Steel Industry Ballot; Seek Pay Boost

(By The United Press)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 28 — First returns reported today in a strike vote being taken in the steel industry showed that CIO steel workers favor a strike to back their demands for a $2 a day wage increase.

Official returns from five small plants in western Pennsylvania gave a margin of a little less than two-to-one in favor of a strike. Unofficial returns from two small eastern Pennsylvania plants, however, gave a margin of nine to to one in favor of a strike.

Voting Is Heavy

The voting was reported heavy throughout the 27 states involved. Steel union officials predicted that when the votes from the larger plants are compiled they will show an overwhelming majority in favor of a strike.

A survey of three Pittsburgh plants showed that 75 per cent of the eligible voters had cast ballots before 11 a. m. Similarly, heavy voting was reported at the Homestead and Irvin works of Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp.

NLRB Regional Director Frank Kleiler said the voting has been orderly and that there has been less difficulty than expected, in view of the size of the task.

Yanks Burning Gear Or Dumping It Into Sea Before Leaving

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 28 (AP)—C. A. Burley, correspondent for the Sydney Sun, said today in a dispatch from Rabaul that Americans abandoning Pacific islands are "dumping into the sea or are burning millions of pounds worth of gear."

Burley said "the American argument is that if the stuff is shipped home it would merely mean shifting junk heaps from one place to another."

Drive On Rats Planned Here

A county-wide campaign to reduce the rat infestation and thereby erase the threat of typhus fever was announced this morning by Drs. J. W. Rollo and W. L. Baugh, respective city and county health officers.

Plans call for dusting and poisoning every business and industrial house in Lubbock and the county, with the exception of buildings in Lubbock where rat eradication and proofing has already been carried out, the announcement said. And the service will be free to owners of the establishments.

To Use New Poison

A 10 per cent formula of DDT powder will be used first to rid the rats of fleas, mites and lice and other typhus-bearing pests then about a week later sodium fluoracetate, a deadly new poison, will be applied to kill the rats.

The United States Public Health service and the Texas State Department of Health will furnish the DDT, the poison and most of the costs of labor. The city and county each will furnish and pay a man to help the three USPHS men assigned to the job. Heading the federal unit is Terry Lowrey, who is assisted by Ray Moore and Chester Shans.

James H. Harris, state health department representative, said the venture would "fit in nicely" with the current city-state campaign against rodents in the city.

"It will serve to reduce the rat

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28, (AP) — President Truman today nominated Admiral William F. Halsey, jr., for promotion to the five-star rank of admiral of the fleet.

Halsey, who requested retirement "to give the young fellows a chance," reported to the Navy department today for temporary duty pending retirement.

Crime Wave Is Rolling Across Europe; Youths Said Involved

LONDON, Nov. 28. (U.P.)—Military and civilian police in half a dozen capitals today were trying to smash a crime wave, frequently involving youths of high school age, which is rolling across Europe in the wake of war.

From Allied and former enemy territory alike came reports of murders, robberies, disorders and juvenile delinquency which were growing in number as cold weather struck the damaged and often heatless cities.

Seventy Held In Berlin

Seventy young terrorists were being held on charges of robbery and looting in Berlin after a night raid by American and Russian security police, aided by German civilian police, trapped them in the ruins around the Anhalter and Potsdamer railroad stations.

In Moscow, criminal police caught a band of five boy burglars, aged 17 and 18, who have made eight daring housebreaks this year, stealing property worth 290,000 rubles.

Take Drastic Steps

Russian authorities are taking drastic steps to liquidate lawlessness which developed in the capital during the war. A series of widely publicized "demonstration trials" probably will be held to teach young men the old axiom that crime doesn't pay.

Mounted policemen are making nightly rounds of Moscow's side streets, dispatches said, and armed

Observer Says American Rule Is Threatened

Byron Price Urges Action; Declares France To Blame

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28—The White House made public today a recommendation by Byron Price for re-examination of the entire basic structure of military government in Germany, including the Potsdam decalaration.

"We must decide whether we are going to permit starvation, with attendant epidemics and disorders, in the American zone, or ship the food to prevent it," said the former censorship director who investigated conditions in Germany at the request of President Truman.

Worthy Of Consideration

Mr. Truman, in a brief statement accompanying Price's report said it "is worthy of the most careful consideration."

The chief executive requested the War, State, and Navy departments to give "careful consideration" to its recommendations.

The report amplifies Price's assertion that as a result of the French attitude, "Germany is not being treated as an economic unit," but is being handled in a way that virtually amounts to "its economic dismemberment."

"The necessity of breaking the present deadlock in the control council in Berlin is so important that use of the full force and prestige of American diplomatic power to that end is fully warranted," Price declared.

Attempts Have Failed

"Repeated attempts have been made to set up common policies so that the German railways, the German postal service and other essential facilities could be operated as integral national systems. All of these attempts have failed, due almost entirely to the rigid opposition of the French."

If France is bent on dismemberment of Germany, Price said, "she should be made to acknowledge that policy before the world.

Using what he described as "blunt" language Price said that the next few months will determine whether the American government, in its first large scale attempt at governing a conquered people, is to succeed, or fail, or abandon the effort."

Germans Nurse Hatreds

Price said there was "plenty of evidence" that Germans "are nursing old and new hatreds with mounting bitterness" as their situation becomes more desperate and that they are "listening hourly, with traditional credulity, for the voice of whatever type of new

Death Ordered For Renegade

LONDON, Nov. 28 (U.P.) — John Amery, renegade son of the former secretary of State for India, was sentenced to death today on charges of high treason and treachery for broadcasting Nazi propaganda from Berlin.

Amery pleaded guilty to eight counts in a brief trial at the Old Bailey. He was sentenced only eight minutes after pleading guilty.

The white-wigged justice told Amery, "you have forfeited your right to live. You now stand a self-confessed traitor to your king and country."

Shows No Emotion

Amery, a slim man with gaunt features, bowed deeply to the judge, then walked from the courtroom without a show of emotion.

He is a son of Leopold Amery, who headed the India office in Winston Churchill's government.

John Amery, who has had little relationship with his family for a number of years, broadcast Axis propaganda from Italy and Germany during the war. He was also engaged in trying to recruit members of the "British free corps" to fight for Germany.

Rules For Picketing In Auto Strike Are Set Out By Union

BY FRED W. PERKINS
Special Correspondent

DETROIT, Nov. 28 — "Don't drink on the picket line, boys. Conduct yourselves in a manner becoming members of the world's largest and best union."

This is an admonition in a little mimeographed newspaper distributed to pickets at the Ternstedt works, one of the numerous Detroit operations closed down by the CIO United Automobile Workers' strike against General Motors.

Not A Bottle Seen

So far as this correspondent could find or smell, there wasn't a bottle-on-the-hip among picketers at the Ternstedt and other plants visited in rain following the frigid weather at beginning of the strike.

The rain cut down the number of picketers, and most of them used what shelter they could find. This, said union officers, was per instructions. But the rain did not dampen the spirits of the picketers, according to a sampling of opinions.

A passenger automobile drove up to the picket line, and from it the picketers were served soup, sandwiches and coffee. This correspondent decided to follow the trail of this food to its source.

The trail led about three miles, past many factory buildings and surrounding business communities of retail stores, restaurants, bars and movie houses to the former hall of a fraternal order which is now the three-story home of the UAW's west side local No. 174.

Largest In World

This local has 40,000 members, and boasts it is the "largest amalgamated local in the world." Amalgamated means its membership comes from a variety of industrial plants, about 80 in this case. So said Edward J. Cote, the local's president, who was standing back of the desk with a pleasant manner, ready to receive dues from members or to welcome non-paying visitors.

George Lyons, who is one of the main union men at Turnstedt, took me down to a basement kitchen, equipped to serve large gatherings, and there half a dozen women were working on the sandwiches, soup and coffee for the picket line.

Jack Vincent, who is in general charge of all this work, figured that the daily output now is about 100 pounds of meat sandwiches, 50 dozen doughnuts, 50 gallons of soup, and 100 galoins of coffee.

Mrs. Elsie Kratz and her helpers said there was no doubt that the women are back of this strike, that "we're the ones who have to bear the burden, do the buying, and we want more pay for the men who bring home the pay."

All Support Strike

This correspondent has heard nothing else in conversations with union members and their wives. There may be women who see an imminent Christmas colliding with a lack of pay checks—but so far their voices are drowned out by the chorus supporting the union's strike.

Mr. Lyons explained why his union is preventing clerical employes from entering the Turnstedt offices. There has been a question whether that helped the union in its strike.

"It helps the union because its mostly for the compan to pay them —you might call it pressure," said Mr. Lyons. "Then we don't know who all these people are, whether they're going in to try to break the strike or not. So we keep them out as part of the maintenance of an effective picket line."

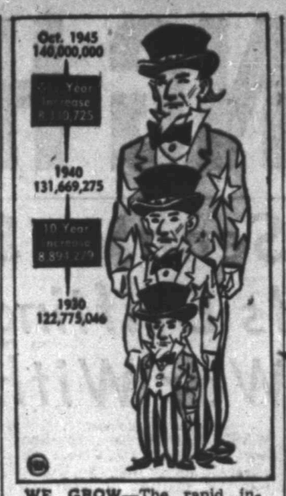

Mr. Lyons was proud of Turnstedt's its war production record and lack of strikes. He explained: "We have been hiring everybody who showed up for a job." Questioned about the "we," he said the company and the union have a mutual interest.

It was the first "we" this correspondent had heard in all of the General Motors imbroglio. Usually they have been referring to each other—management and the union —as "they" and "we."

If Labor Secretary Schwellenbach could get them all to say "we" in his imminent conferences with the union and management heads—and include the public as part of "we" — the whole thing should be over soon. If not, it may run indefinitely.

REQUESTS TANKS

NEW ORLEANS, (U.P.)—The Louisiana state museum has asked for its share of surplus Army tanks and guns. They will be placed alongside relics of other wars. The museum already has a full-sized facsimile of the Japanese surrender document.

WE GROW—The rapid increase in U. S. population is shown on chart above. About Oct. 1, says the Bureau of Census, Uncle Sam's family passed the 140,000,000 mark. Last official census was 1940, and in the five and a half years since then, the population has increased almost as as much as it did in the 10 years previous.

Quint Calves Born On Nebraska Farm

FAIRBURY, Neb., Nov. 28. (AP)—Quintuplet calves born at the Lee Schmoldt farm near Fairbury were a week old today and doing nicely, thank you.

The quints are fed eight ounces of milk each from a nipple fitted bottle every four hours, and are kept in a brooder house for warmth, Dr. J. L. Smith, Fairbury veterinarian who attended the births, said quadruplet calves occur about once in 850,000 births. Quints are much rarer.

Farming Needs Are Discussed

WACO, Nov. 28 (U.P) — Farmers of Texas should work together more closely on their number of problems of the future, said P. O. Davis, director of Alabama's extension service, a featured speaker at the 12th annual convention of the Texas Farm Bureau federation.

For an example of working together, Davis cited the present parity laws which he said were enacted at the behest of organized farm groups, and have added hundreds of millions of dollars to farm income.

Program Offered

Davis offered a four-point program for insuring a "sound future for agriculture." He stressed (1) stability of production on a basis of adequate supply at home and abroad; (2) world trade, without its harmful handicaps; (3) stability of prices of farm products at parity, and (4) full employment at good wages in industry.

From Edward A. O'Neal, president of the Farm Bureau federation, came the assertion that "people are really more interested in food and fiber than in the atomic bomb." He urged strong leadership. "But," he warned, "keep your heads. Don't ask for 35-cent cotton and $2.50 wheat. The gravest danger agriculture faces is inflation."

Dr. Ide P. Trotter of College Station, Texas extension service director, wanted a place in extension work for ex-servicemen. He also urged farm leaders to make full use of improved methods, and modern discoveries in implements, crops and conservation.

Deserves Consideration

Still another farm leader, President J. Walter Hammond of the Texas Federation declared that "agriculture deserves the same economic consideration as labor and industry." He branded as unfair, the recommendation by labor and industry that agriculture be deprived of price support polies. His view was that neither labor nor industry could do without price supports "which they set up long before the farmers got around to it."

Agriculture needs an annual income of 20 billion dollars to enable the farmer to buy the products of high priced industry and labor, Hammond said.

"Goodness! Princess Elizabeth? It would be very nice, but I don't know anything about it."

Mrs. Duke stated, "Planning is not a financial cure-all because the best planning in the world can only stretch limited funds so far, but planning can help insure that one's income will be used to the best possible advantage and in accordance with his own considered judgment." Continuing she said, "Budgeting can result in better balanced expenditures, provide protection against impulsive spending and make it easier to put funds aside for emergencies and future needs."

Strike Vote On In Texas

HOUSTON, Nov. 28 (U.P.) — Fifteen thousand steelworkers in 13 Houston plants today voted to determine if they will walkout from their jobs in an attempt to get a $2 a day wage increase.

The vote, called by the United Steel Workers of America (CIO) would decide whether they strike for an additional 25 cents an hour.

Results of the balloting are expected to be announced tomorrow but Frank A. Hardesty, district director of the CIO, said a walkout was not contemplated immediately if the strike is voted.

Charges Are Hurled

As the CIO conducted the vote, an independent union at the Hughes Tool company, employing the largest number of steel workers in Houston, charged the CIO with attempting to establish a closed shop.

T. B. Everitt, president of the Independent Metal Workers union which seeks recognition as a bargaining agent, said the CIO was calling the vote "in spite of a promise of a substantial increase in wages by management."

Hughes company officials meantime said they would raise wages to compensate for loss in take-home pay when workers revert to a 40-hour week but would not meet CIO demands of a $2 a day increase.

Marshall Promised Welcome In China

CHUNGKING, Nov. 28. (U.P.)—A government spokesman said today that China was ready to extend a "warm welcome" to Gen. George C. Marshall who was named yesterday as President Truman's special envoy to China with the rank of ambassador.

He said that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek had invited Marshall several times in the past to visit China and "the generalissimo will be happy to meet him on arrival."

The spokesman said he was not surprised at Ambassador Patrick J. Hurley's resignation because he was sick when he left China.

He added that Hurley was "a true and great friend of China."

Officials declined to comment on Hurley's attack on U. S. policy in China pending receipt of documentary details.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Alice Whitaker; two sisters, Miss Ann and Miss Bess Whitaker, both of Beaumont; a brother, Capt. Frank Whitaker, Brooklyn, and two aunts, Mrs. C. A. Smith, Texarkana, and Mrs. Sunshine Pope, Tyler.

Water Softening

isting 18 city wells with the average approximately 625 parts per million. Salts of calcium and magnesium are the principal causes of the hardness; however, sodium and potassium, carbonates and bicarbonates, sulphates and chlorides are also prevalent in fairly large quantities.

Saving In Soap Cited

The report estimated a saving of $13.05 per family in soap alone by the softening of Lubbock water, a total of approximately $200,000 yearly for the entire city.

Hardness of water also causes formation of hard and soft scale in boilers in industrial plants. The water service committee of the American Railway Engineering association estimates the cost of boiler operation is increased 15 cents for every pound of scale in boiler water used. On this basis, the use of water containnig 450 ppm of hardness would be $530 per million gallons over what it would be using a water containing 80 ppm hardness.

A third reason for softening water is the saving in the wear and tear of fabrics during washing. It is estimated that clothes washed in soft water (less than 6 grains per gallon) have an increased life of from 25-to 100 per cent, and the time required to launder clothes is 50 per cent less in soft water than in hard water.

Saving As High As $400,000

A fourth reason for a municipal soft water supply is the elimination of duplicate plumbing, soft water tanks and reservoirs, private softening plants, the saving in maintenance on domestic hot water heaters, and in the plumbing system in general. There is no feasible way to estimate the cost to the city from this source.

If it were possible to accurately estimate the yearly cost to the citizens and industries of Lubbock it would probably run as high as $400,000 and would increase as the city develops.

Would Construct Two Plants

Under the city's proposed water softening program two softening plants would be constructed, one, a cold lime-soda unit at station No. 1 in the northeast section of the city at Fourth and Ave. A and a second plant, either a Zeolite (base exchange) or a combination of it with the soda-lime method, at station No. 3, located in the vicinity of College avenue and Second street.

Cost figures brought out in the recent report show that softening is eminently worth while from a standpoint of economics, as the citizenship would be saved approximately $200,000 per year aside from the standpoint of attracting industry to Lubbock for the value of softened water would be incalculable.

As previously stated, softening of water for Lubbock will of necessity cause an increase in water rates of approximately 5 to 8 cents per 1,000 gallons, the recent report brought out.

Continuance In Case Granted Prosecution

DALLAS, Nov. 28 (U.P.) — A continuance of the case against Chesley A. Gragg, charged with drowning his wife two years ago, has been granted the prosecution by District Judge Winter King.

The State asked for the delay because of the absence of its principal witness, Mrs. A. W. Gragg, a sister-in-law of the accused man.

For Gragg it was the second trial. He was sentenced to death the first time, only to have the State Criminal Appeals court reverse and remand the case because the indictment did not specify in what kind of liquid Mrs. Gragg was drowned.

Iran Rebels Seize Towns

TEHRAN, Nov. 28 (AP)—Iranian government forces were under orders today to defend the capital at all costs against an insurgent military force officially reported marching toward the city from the north.

The government announced officially last night that forces of insurgents in Azerbaijan province were marching southward along the main rail line toward the capital.

Observers here believed it was questionable whether the Azerbaijan forces would continue to march on Tehran itself, in view of the presence of armed Iranian troops and tanks at Sharifabad, four miles east of Kazvin. But the government announced that one insurgent column had occupied the small rail town of Takistan, nine miles southwest of Kazvin and 85 miles northwest of Tehran.

Confirmation was given by the government to earlier reports that another insurgent column had occupied all of Zenjan, a rail station. This represented an advance of 56 miles from Mianeh, which the government reported last week had been occupied by the insurgents.

The government said Astara, Caspian sea port, also was occupied by the insurgents.

The Azerbaijan have announced a demand for autonomy within the Iranian state.

AUSTIN, Nov. 28 (AP) — Texas service men still in the Army and Navy are apparently banking strong on voting personally and not absentee in next year's elections, says Secretary of State Claude Isbell.

Thus far he has received only a few inquiries from service men about how they may vote absentee, or putting other questions about the elections. This time last year, there had been several thousand such inquiries.

Industrial Peace Parley Said Failure; HST Asked To Help

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (AP) — Hope that President Truman's labor-management conference could accomplish any of its major objectives dimmed today despite an eleventh-hour plea for White House intervention.

Leaders of the three-week old session charged with setting up machinery to minimize industrial strife acknowledged privately that their own machinery was bogged down by disagreements. They added that delegates probably would go into general session tomorrow to consider split recommendations from four of the six subcommittees.

Aid Is Asked

It was reported last night that several conference members and others, including Secretary of Commerce Wallace, Dr. George W. Taylor, conference secretary, and Fred Smith, conference press officer, had urged White House advisers to persuade the president to step in.

This disclosure came from public officials who may not be quoted by name. These officials said a proposed presidential message was drafted, embodying two specific objectives which Mr. Truman might set before the conference.

1. Machinery for voluntary arbitration as a means of avoiding strikes and lockouts.

2. Machinery for fact-finding, so that informed public opinion could be brought to bear in labor strife.

"The plan was taken up with White House advisers, but even its advocates were pessimistic that Mr. Truman would step in.

Bells Of St. Mary's McCarey's Christmas Gift To The Nation

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 28—"Bells of St. Mary's" is Leo McCarey's Christmas gift to the nation. It is an ever-wonderful event.

It is unfortunate, but inevitable that the picture will be compared to Leo's great hit of last year, "Going My Way." There will be much argument as to which picture is better. This reviewer would put his money on "Bells."

The main reason the more recent picture seems better is because its story is simpler. "Going My Way" rambled beautifully, but still, it rambled. It was a series of episodes held together by the warming personality of the priest, played by Bing Crosby. "Bells" also rambles, but it is more compact.

Nuns Can Be Jolly

Earlier this year I sat all one afternoon with Leo and Writer Dudley Nichols while they told me what they wanted to do with their picture. In "Going My Way," Leo wanted to show that priests can be human. In "Bells" he and Nichols wanted to prove "that nuns can be jolly." They succeeded wonderfully well. The scene in which Ingrid Bergman as a nun tries to teach a youngster how to box is an unforgettable classic.

The story, which is a simple one of the relationship of a priest and a nun, is beautifully done because of the peculiar genius of Leo McCarey. Certainly there is more humanity in his pictures than in those of any other movie maker. Every scene must be perfect for him, and he will spend a whole morning tinkling on a piano until the day's shooting is right in his mind. In these days of production schedules and efficiency experts, such a practice is unknown in Hollywood.

Better set aside a few Oscars.

"Fordhook 242" is a new lima bean that has distinguished itself for heavy yields, superior adaptability and a long bearing season.

Dog Lives Man's Life As Air Group Mascot

WICHITA, Kans., Nov. 28. (AP)—Bruce Boydston went to a lot of trouble to get his outfit's mascot, a Belgium-born canine named "Jumper," home from Europe after the dog had piled up 19 hours of flying time and passed unscathed through five battles in the ETO.

Boydston, formerly with the 370th Fighter group of the Ninth Air force, said he fed Jumper two sleeping pills and carried him aboard ship in his barracks bag He got him ashore in this country the same way.

But the hardy little brown and white battle veteran is laid up—Jumper tried to hop aboard a moving automobile and suffered a badly torn leg.

Star Returns After Five Years In Navy

Flying Grandma Plays Hookey From Her Church-Going But Had Two Good Reasons

HOLDENVILLE, Okla., Nov. 28 (AP)—Mrs. Ida Kelton, 70, Holdenville's "flying grandma," has gone and played hookey from church, but she had two good reasons—she saw her home town from the air for the first time and her favorite preacher was out of town.

Mrs. Kelton, an Oklahoma pioneer of the Atwood community, reared a family of eight. Then she had time for aviation.

She had never seen Holdenville from the air, so, on Sunday, she broke over from her usual church-going routine, and went up.

Son-In-Law At Controls

Her son-in-law, Sam Bagby of Ardmore, was at the controls. Flying at 2,000 feet, the elderly woman saw her old Atwood homestead and picked out her farm as well as the homes of many friends.

"I've heard Brother Blue (the Rev. Perry Blue) preach for 35 years and since he was out of town I figured he wouldn't care if I played hookey Sunday and took a look at this country from the air," Mrs. Kelton said.

Plans are being developed by 19 airlines in the United States to transport nearly one billion pounds of cargo in the near future, according to Distribution Age.

Bachelor Governor Has An Admirer

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 28. (AP)—Alabama's 61-year-old bachelor Gov. Chauncey Sparks won't talk about it much, but somewhere in far-off Los Angeles is a feminine admirer who has a "cute shape" and "would love to get a good man."

What's more, she is blonde, can "pass for 40" and "sure can make good biscuits, too."

At least that's how she described herself in a letter to the governor in which she explained "I heard from a friend of yours you were a lonely bachelor," and "since you are lonely, why not write to me."

Her name was not disclosed.

The governor grinned, said he had no comment. And he has not answered the letter.

Rural Power Plan Favored

AUSTIN, Nov. 28 (AP)—Full and unamended support of pending legislation in Congress providing for a $350,000,000 expansion of rural power facilities throughout the nation has been voted by the Texas Power Reserve Electric co-operative.

The organization of electric co-ops of this state met one day in advance of the annual convention of the National Rural Electric Co-operative association of the Tenth region, opening today.

It approved a resolution calling on Texas members of Congress to back HR 1742 by Rep. W. R. Poage (D-Tex), which if enacted would permit the Rural Electrification administration to make loans for a three-year expansion program.

No Amendments Asked

The resolution also requested that no amendments to the Poage resolution be accepted, nor other legislation "that would limit or prevent REA from making loans for the construction of generating plants or transmission lines."

This action was taken after several speakers emphasized what they characterized as dangers confronting the REA in coming months.

One of these was W. J. Neal, deputy administrator for the REA, who said "a real cause for alarm by everyone who believes in the REA program is the recent attack of utility executives in hearings on the Poage bill."

Co-Ops Serve 107,000

"It is significant that these men were executives in operating companies affiliated with two of the nation's great utility holding companies whose properties extend from coast to coast," he said.

The session was told there are now 71 energized electric co-operatives in Texas serving more than 107,000 consumers along 43,000 miles of rural electric lines.

Conciliators Study Greyhound Strike

FORT WORTH, Nov. 28 (U.P.)—Three federally appointed conciliators met again today with union representatives and company officials in an effort to settle a month old strike against the Southwestern Greyhound lines.

The conciliators said they are here to develop the issues and get them settled, and added that "it should not take so long to do that."

Opposing representatives, however, still were deadlocked over a one cent a mile wage boost for Greyhound drivers.

TIJUANA, Mex., Nov. 28 (AP)—Miguel Aleman, 42, campaigned here today for the presidency of Mexico with speeches promising a "fair deal" for foreign capital and advocating suffrage for women at least in municipal elections.

Former minister of the interior, Aleman has the approval of President Manuel Avila Camacho. He also is backed by PRM, strongest political party in that country, which will make nominations at the convention in January.

Aleman said that American capital will be encouraged in developing Mexican industries provided Americans comply with Mexican laws.

Young Sailor To Get Honorable Discharge

HOUSTON, Nov. 28. (U.P.)—Sixteen-year-old Bobby Lee Pettit, Navy veteran of three years Pacific warfare, today headed for Camp Wallace to get an honorable discharge in exchange for a slip of paper given him ten days ago.

When released, the Navy gave him a brief statement saying his enlistment was void because he signed up when only 13.

Later he was refused employment because he couldn't produce an honorable discharge and was denied education assistance under the G. I. Bill of Rights for honorably discharged servicemen.

Through the Houston veterans' center Bobby carried his protest to Congressman Albert Thomas and Secretary of Navy James V. Forrestal.

Rep. Thomas announced yesterday that he had learned from the Navy department that Bobby could pick up his discharge certificate and button at Camp Wallace today.

Simple Services For Mrs. Ernie Pyle

AFTON, Minn., Nov. 28. (AP)—They buried "that girl" of Ernie Pyle's Tuesday amid evergreens on a snow-blanketed hill overlooking the picturesque St. Croix river.

It was "back home" for Mrs. Geraldine Pyle, 44-year-old widow of the famed war correspondent.

The services were as she had wished them—with only near relatives, a few intimate friends of herself and her husband, and Ernie's father and his "Aunt Mary" to pay last tribute to her memory.

Ernie's father, William Pyle, and "Aunt Mary,"—Mrs. Mary Bales—had come from Dana, Ind., their home, for the services.

Mrs. Pyle died last Friday in an Albuquerque, N. M., hospital, seven months after a Jap sniper had killed her husband on Ie Shima, off Okinawa.

She had not wanted to live after that, her brother-in-law, Roy Johnson of Stillwater, said today. After her husband's death Mrs. Pyle had expressed a hope that she soon could "join Ernie."

Montgomery Ward

Jap General Denies Guilt

MANILA, Nov. 28.—Bluff, bullet-headed Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita described himself today as a subordinate commander having somewhat of a bystander role in the defense of the Philippines and hence not accountable for the long list of Japanese atrocities detailed by the prosecution in his war crimes trial.

Testifying in his own defense before the U. S. military tribunal, Yamashita declared he always was under orders of Field Marshal Count Hisaichi Terauchi, supreme Japanese commander for the Southwest Pacific, and never had control of the air force, marine transportation corps, naval men and 30,000 other Japanese troops in the Philippines.

Ordered No Atrocities

Asked whether he ordered or knew of atrocities, Yamashita gestured with his large, muscular hands and replied through his interpreter, "no, absolutely not."

Further, Yamashita insisted, he had determined that Manila was indefensible and had ordered his troops out last December.

Yamashita contended it was Japanese Navy troops that remained there, although he didn't know of it at the time, and that he himself never at any time even had his headquarters in the city.

While the general was testifying, the Philippine supreme court denied his counsel's contention that the military tribunal was illegal and that Philippines civil courts should take jurisdiction.

Made No Inspections

He admitted never having inspected prisoner of war or internment camps because of day and night absorption in the task of planning the defense of Luzon.

The man who conquered Malaya from the British in a slickly-run operation at the start of the war, said that when he arrived in the Philippines he found his chief of staff was sick in bed and that only three staff officers were familiar with the terrain of the islands.

There were five fewer divisions than needed, he testified, and those that he had were short of supplies, especially food and fuel.

Another witness, Shigemasa Sunada, a former Japanese diet member, testified that Yamashita had refused to let his troops celebrate the fall of Singapore but instead had held memorial services for the dead and had erected a monument to the fallen enemy.

Nazi Plot

on war crime charges last week with 19 other top Nazi leaders but has paid scant attention to proceedings, reading a novel much of the time and giggling occasionally.

Hess, the medical board reported, is suffering from "hysteria" and "in addition, there is conscious exaggeration of his loss of memory and a tendency to exploit it to protect himself against examination." Three separate reports of examinations were filed, one by the British, one by the Russians and a third by American, French and Canadian doctors.

Is Not Exonerated

A Russian psychiatric report followed the other reports in describing Hess as hysterical, but flatly stated that his present behavior "does not exonerate him from his resposibility under the indictment."

The report declared that Hess "prior to his flight to England, did not suffer from any kind of insanity nor is he now suffering from it."

The Russian report revealed that Hess tried to stab himself in the heart while under detention in England.

The American report declared that "we consider that the existing hysterical behavior will continue as long as he remains under threat of imminent punishment."

The British report added that Hess' "loss of memory would not entirely interfere with his comprehension of the proceedings."

Treatment Refused

The Russian report stated that Hess refused to undergo treatment for his amnesia.

American and Canadian doctors who signed the reports were: Col. Paul Schroeder of Chicago; Dr. D. Ewen Cameron, Columbia university; Dr. Noland Lewis, McGill university.

Referring to Hess' flight to the British Isles to offer peace proposals to Britain, the British report said:

"Partly as a reaction to the failure of his mission these abnormalities (delusions he was being poisoned) got worse and led to suicidal attempts."

Hess' first loss of memory lasted from November 1943 to June 1944 and his second loss of memory began in February 1945 and has lasted up to the present time, the report said. It added: "This amnesia symptom will eventually clear when circumstances change more."

an on-the-record luncheon talk before members of the National Press club.

At the same time, Byrnes' weekly news conference at noon afforded him an opportunity to reply to Hurley's contentions yesterday that American career diplomats had sided with both the Chinese Communists and an "imperialist bloc" to hamstring U. S. foreign policy in the Far East.

Hurley added he thought Marshall's appointment would be "helpful to the situation in China."

This sentiment was widely shared on Capitol Hill. It also was expressed by Chinese ambassador Wei Tao-Ming.

Services were scheduled for 4:30 p. m. today for Troy Barron, nine-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Barron of near Abernathy, who died at Lubbock Memorial hospital at 11:10 Tuesday night. Rev. Survivors include the parents, two brothers and two sisters and the grandparents.

Suggested changes in the federal government were presented by Chas. A. Guy, editor of the Avalanche-Journal, at a luncheon of the Rotary club today at the Hilton hotel. He was introduced by Irvin Jones, program chairman. Miss Louann Hardy, violinist, played three selections, "I Dream of Jeanie With the Light Brown Hair," "Indian Love Call" and "From the Cane Brake." She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. C. E. Hereford. Miss Hardy recently was awarded the Sabino scholarship, one of three offered in Texas by the North Texas State Teachers college. Visiting Rotarians were R. E. Fry, of Floydada, J. Edd McLaughlin of Ralls, Arnold Dussler of Sweetwater, Frank D. Carroll of Dallas and Leonard Harrol of Slaton. Alex McDonald, president, announced that the club will be host to Tom Warren, International Rotary president, Monday, Jan. 7.

Lt. and Mrs. Ronald J. Nash and daughter, Ronda Kay, of Memphis, Tex., are visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey A. Cook, 1711 Ninth. Lt. Nash, who was a German prisoner of war, is on convalescent leave from the Chickasha, Okla., Army hospital.

Doyle J. Doss, identified as a Lubbock physician and surgeon, pleaded guilty in county court of adultery and paid a fine of $100 and court costs ,it was announced today. A 17-year-old girl, a juvenile under Texas laws, figured with him in the case, representations made to County Attorney Syrian E. Marbut said. There were two other pleas of guilty announced in other cases. W. D. Tillman was fined $100 and court costs for liquor law violation, William M. McGill, $25 fine and costs and one day in jail for theft. McGill is a soldier, officials said.

L. L. Thompson, 22, a sailor from Floydada, was brought to Lubbock Memorial hospital this morning for treatment of a gunshot wound in the chest. leader desperation may produce."

In addition to breaking the four-power deadlock, Price also recommended:

1. That the change-over of military government to civilian control should be made with the very highest type of civilian administrators and that it should not take place at the top level earlier than June 1.

2. Revision of top level instructions issued from Washington to the military government in Germany "into a few hundred words of general principles."

More Food Needed

3. Provision should be made for the shipment of additional food exports from the United States on credit, "to prevent starvation."

"If starvation comes, as now seems likely, epidemics and rioting will not be far behind," Price said.

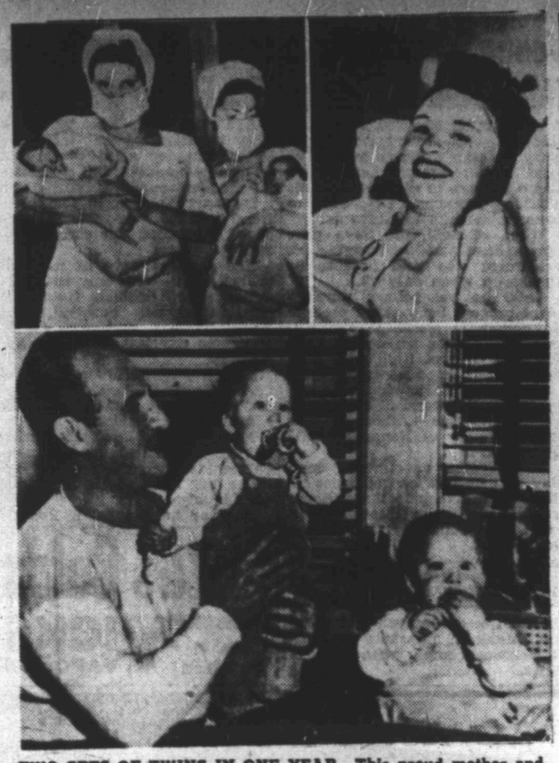

4. Discontinuance of the present practice of "screening" spot information coming into Germany from the outside world since "suppression in the German press or on the German radio raises the question of how our policy differs from that of Goebbels."

5. He said, "this is the wrong time to permit General Eisenhower's armed forces in Germany to be decimated and robbed of military effectiveness by debobilization."

6. Asserting there is "widespread surprise among Germans" over the delays in bringing Nazis to trial as war criminals, Price said that "wherever the responsibility lies," this failure "does not improve relations with a German people who traditionally respect only firm and swift authority."

The value of farm lands and buildings in Missouri in 1940 was $1,167,302,598.

Auto Owners Get A Break

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 — Car owners who need new tires get a bit of a break from strikes and bottlenecks in new car plants.

And it seems likely tire rationing will end early in 1946. It will if production meets government hopes. It's been mounting month by month.

The government is not going to wait, to end rationing, until there are enough tires to meet all demands.

New car makers—under rules of the government's Civilian Production administration — can't build stocks of new tires larger than will be needed within 15 days.

Works In Reverse

Since strikes and bottlenecks cut down new car production, the auto makers' need for new tires is less. Thus—more new tires for old cars.

Eventually, this works in reverse. When new car output picks up, they will gobble up new tires. Then—less for old cars.

Even so, those owners of old cars—on government figures, hopes and forecasts—won't fare too badly.

End of rationing early in 1946 depends not only upon continued tire production but increased production.

The government schedule calls in the first quarter of 1946 for 13,000,000 tires; about 16,000,000 in the second quarter; 18,000,000 in the third quarter and 19,000,000 in the final three months.

By the end of 1945 the government hopes the supply in the hands of dealers and manufacturers will have been built up 6,000,000 tires. The government wants a good supply on hand before ending rationing.

Car Shortage Delays Troops' Home Trips

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28 (AP) A shortage of railroad cars is delaying the homeward movement of thousands of Pacific veterans, Maj. Gen. Homer M. Groninger, commander of the San Francisco port of embarkation, announced today.

Groninger said the port had a backlog of unfilled requests for 41 trains to carry 18,514 men, some of whom had been waiting to go home for six days.

He asserted the railroads could promise only two trains. His statement added "so far as my figures show, the return of men is not beyond the schedule agreed upon several months ago. At that time, after consultation with the railroads on the number of men they could handle, the return for November was set at around 200,000 soldiers at all western ports. It will total approximately that by month's end."

Mullin had lived here about five years.

Aggies Seek Revenge For Upset By Longhorns In 1940

Pep Rallies Held Tonight; Overflow Crowd Is Assured

BY HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Staff Writer

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 28—Back in 1940 an underdog University of Texas football team ruined Texas A. and M.'s greatest winning streak and knocked the Aggies out of the Rose Bowl.

Since that bleak November day A. and M. has been trying to ruin something for Texas without success.

Thursday, the Aggies have another chance. This time it's the Cotton Bowl that beckons to the Longhorns as they enter the traditional battle with the Cadets — the fifty-second game in more than half-century of bitter football rivalry. Texas can clinch the Southwest conference championship by either beating or tying the Aggies — and that would mean the Cotton Bowl.

Would End In Tie

But if the underdog Aggies can clip the Longhorns, the conference race would end in a four-way tie with A. and M. one of the principals. Who would go to the Cotton Bowl then would be something about which there would be long and loud talk.

Texas, with much the better record and moving along in championship style, is a heavy favorite to bounce the Aggies. There is no Kyle field tradition. There was one but Texas blasted that long ago. There is nothing but the deepest rivalry in football to spur the Cadets to the heights.

Be A Great Game

Coach D. X. Bible of Texas isn't taking the words of the critics to heart — that the Longhorns are a cinch to win. "It always is a great game and this one will be a great game," he said today. "It's one that you can't figure on past performances or comparative performances. Records don't count. We have a real battle on our hands. Both teams will extend themselves to their fullest capabilities."

Bible ought to know. He once was coach at Texas A. and M. and had to win his share of victories over Texas the hard way.

A. and M. adherents point to the fact that Texas will be at full strength and that the Aggies enter this game with two keymen definitely out. Tom Daniel, quarterback and passer, and Bob Butchofsky, blocking back, will be watching the game from the sidelines because of injuries. Texas is at full strength.

But that has dimmed in no way the spirit of Aggieland on the eve of the season's big game. There will be a bonfire here tonight that will equal any ever held on the Aggie campus.

Texas, too, will have its pregame rally and booster bonfire tonight with Col. George Hurt, director of the Longhorn band, and Dean of Men Arno Nowotny as the principal speakers. They are calling this year's bonfire the "Aggies' funeral pyre."

An overflow crowd of 40,000 is certain for Kyle stadium. Not a space remains despite the addition of approximately 8,000 temporay seats. Ticket Manager Pete Jones said he could have sold 75,000 seats had they been available.

No Sleeping Space

You can't find sleeping space within 100 miles of here. All tourist camps, hotels and other sleeping facilities were sold out long ago — not on reservations but paid for in advance. Eating facilities in Bryan and College Station will be supplemented by service in the two college dining halls which will be thrown open to the general public tomorrow noon. The student body will eat early to make way for the visitors.

All automobile traffic on the campus will be stopped at 10 a. m. and those coming to the game by car will have to park in the free parking lots adjacent to the stadium.

All-District 6-A Team Chosen; Streety And Everett Selected Guards Second Year In A Row

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 28 (Special)—Two District 6-A grid stars repeated here last night as All-District stars as the conference executive committee named Denver City's Gene Streety and Seminole's Charles Everett as the top guards for the second year in a row.

Two boys named on the second team last year were back on the honor roll for 1945, one moving up to the first team. It was Grayson Tate, the sparkplug in the smooth working machine that Coach Wilson Head piloted into the bi-district play, who moved up from the second team to take one of the backfield posts on the first team this year.

Constant Hood, the Seminole star, was back at a second team berth this year. Hood is the sole survivor of the 1943 regional champions of the Seminole school.

Champs Place Four

The Champion Denver City club placed four men on the All-District eleven, more than any other team. Andrews Mustangs, runners-ups to the Denver City-Ponies, and Seminole, considered by many as the outstanding team in the late season play, each placed three men on the first team, while Tahoka's Bulldogs claimed the eleventh spot.

Besides Streety and Tate, the Denver City club placed Bob Edwards, an end, and Calvin Trice, a tackle, on the first team.

Jack Young, the spark plug of the Andrews club, also held down one of the backfield spots. Other Andrews stars on the first team were Hudgeons at end and Nixon at tackle.

Fred Blair, the big 200 pound fullback star of the Seminole Indians, Everett and Jamiel Aryain, center, were the three members of Coach John Burns' Seminole eleven.

Bragg Eleventh Man

Buddy Bragg, the Tahoka speedster, was the eleventh man, and the lone Tahoka star on the first team honor roll.

On the second team, Denver City named Bob Miller in the backfield and Reed at guard. Andrews placed Stewart in the backfield. The other backs were Hood and Harris of O'Donnell. Seminole also placed Loyd Lunceford at end and Jack Ridens at tackle. Jerry Edwards of Tahoka manned the other end. Woodward of Sundown of Sundown held down the other tackle slot. Post placed two men on the second team, rounding out the honor roll with Thomas at guard and Duren at center.

Plans were set at the meeting here tonight for the coming basketball season, with the championship tournament for the south half of District 5-A play (made up of football district 6-A) set for the week-end of Feb. 9, with the site still undecided.

Lookabaugh Is Coach Of Week

Jim Gives All Of Credit To Boys

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 28—His football team, like probably all others, might be a bad "also ran" in a game with Army, but at least it has one thing in common with the "hurryin' horde" from West Point—it is the only other eleven in the nation to preserve a perfect college record for two full seasons.

He brought big-time football to the cow country and like purebred Hereford cattle and the verdant Osage pasture land which surrounds the college campus, it's there to stay.

They're Bowl-Bound

He's the United Press coach of the week, Edwin Maurice (Jim) Lookabaugh of the unbeaten and untied Oklahoma A. and M. Cowboys.

The Cowboys are bowl-bound for the second straight year, having been invited to the big New Year's day Sugar sociable at New Orleans where they play the St. Mary's Gaels of California and Lookabaugh thinks they will "give an adequate performance."

That means for sure that he thinks they will win, because nothing less than victory would be adequate for the spirited homegrown mentor who looks like Abraham Lincoln.

Haven't Tasted Defeat

Led by bounding Bobby Fenimore, the nation's leading yardagegetter in all departments, the Aggies haven't tasted defeat against a college team since 1943, their only loss in two seasons being to the professionally - manned Norman, Okla., Naval Air station eleven last year.

They reached their peak last Saturday against their oldest and bitterest rivals, the cross-state Oklahoma Sooners, whom they disposed of to the tune of 47 to 0. Oklahoma, a year-long contender for Big Six conference title honors, simply fell apart.

Boys Do Neat Job

Lookabaugh, not even trying to conceal his elation at this biggest victory margin on a schedule that included such first rate opposition as Tulsa, Texas Christian, Southern Methodist, Arkansas, and Texas Tech, said that "the boys have done a great job—not me."

"I think the key to our success is team work," he said. "Almost any of our backs will toss laterals at the most unexpected moments, demonstrating that no one is trying to hog scoring honors."

The players think otherwise. They believe that Lookabaugh takes the place of the "dads" they left at home and they play for him first and the school second. As far as they're concerned the major credit for the team's success belongs to him.

Southwest Cagers Going Into Action

(By The Associated Press)

Three Southwest conference basketball teams will be in action this week, each with one game.

Southern Methodist plays Dallas Naval Air station at Grand Prairie tonight.

Baylor entertains Camp Hood tomorrow night.

Saturday night Arkansas opens the season against Sedalia, Mo., Army Air field at Fayetteville.

S. M. U. is the only conference team to have played a game. The Methodists beat Ashburn General hospital 50-28 last Friday night.

Next week Texas Christian, Texas A. and M. and Rice will open the campaign. Texas does not play a game until Dec. 12.

Navy Is Depending On Two Giant Ends To Stop Speedy Glenn Davis' Scoring Runs

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 28. (AP)—One position at which Navy figures it holds a decided advantage over Army is at end, and therein lies Navy's chances of penning up swift Glenn Davis.

Dick Duden, six feet tall, 203 pounds, 20 years old and Leon Bramlett, six feet one, 195, and 21 years old, will shoulder the responsibility of halting Davis in Saturday's service spectacle in Philadelphia.

Nobody this season has been able to prevent Davis from sweeping wide on touchdown runs, as Army applied its one-two punch, Davis in the open and "Doc" Blanchard down the middle.

But Navy supporters contend that Davis never has run up against wingmen of the caliber of Duden and Bramlett.

Both have been mentioned repeatedly for All America and Navy coaches consider them the "finest pair" of ends in the country.

Bulldozer On Offense And An Atomic Bomb On Defense Best Way To Play Army, Coach Says

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 28 (AP) — Horace Hendrickson, Penn backfield coach who saw his boys pummeled by both service teams, sums up the Army-Navy prospects this way: "I'm not going on record as saying the Army team is the best I've ever seen — but I've never seen better." . . . And Columbia's Lou Little puts it this way: "The best way to play Army would be to use a bulldozer on offense and an atomic bomb on defense, and I'd still be pessimistic." . . . Does anyone remember there's a Yale-Harvard game Saturday? . . . Three of the first five All America teams Walter Camp picked were entirely Yale-Harvard-Princeton affairs. Now the Big Three hasn't been represented since 1941, when Harvard's Chub Peabody made the grade . . . The important fact about Saturday's game seems to be that it comes on Howie Odell's birthday.

SUGGESTIONS NOTED

Cpl. Charlie Callahan of the Second Air Force proposes: "Since the Louis-Conn fight next summer will be the biggest event of the post-war sports boom, why not turn over the first two or three rows around the ringside to every living holder of the Congressional Medal of Honor? . . . A lot of folks still are plumping for an Army vs. pro champions playoff, overlooking the fact it couldn't take place before Dec. 22 and that date comes just after the Cadets' tenday examination period, when they couldn't practice.

SHORTS AND SHELLS

Red Trautman, who quit bossing the American association to boss the Detroit Tigers, once played two games of "outlaw" baseball at Hartford, Conn., while enroute from Ohio State U. to an eastern stop. . . . Country Ferguson, welterweight champion of Dixie when he went into the coast guard, emerged recently with a record of 25 straight victories in service bouts . . . Carlton Fredericks, radio nutrition expert, is preparing a special diet for the bowl-bound footballers of his alma mammy, Alabama. Why not feed them in the West Point mess hall for a few days?

Coaches, Officials To Gather Tuesday

South Plains coaches and officials have been invited by Coach Howard "Bull" Lynch of the Amarillo Golden Sandies to attend the party planned by the Panhandle-Plains Coaches and Officials association next Tuesday night at Amarillo.

A dinner at the Amarillo Country club has been planned for the meeting, with grid officials and coaches from throughout West Texas expected to be on hand. The dinner will cost $1.75 per plate.

Lynch urged that all those intending to attend the meeting make their reservations with him by Friday.

Westerners To Meet Lobos At Levelland

The Lubbock Westerner basketball team will get its first official action Thursday night when Coach Marlin "Shorty" Hayhurst sends his charges against the Lobos at Levelland for the season's first game at 7 o'clock.

Coach Hayhurst has been working with a squad of about a dozen boys this week, with flu keeping several boys from coming out for the team.

There will be both an A and B game on the schedule.

Hayhurst also announced that the Lobos will return the game in Lubbock next Tuesday night. Hayhurst also announced that a home and home series with the Abernathy Antelopes have been booked for Dec. 7 and 11, playing at Abernathy first. Both A and B squads will play on all these dates.

Hayhurst said that he would start Bob Crawford at one forward, but was undecided about the other. Either Gerald Davis of Jerry Thrush likely will get the nod. Verdell Turner, only returning letterman, will be at center. The guards will be Jimmy Clark and Don Finley.

PASADENA 20, WEBSTER 6

PASADENA, Tex., Nov. 28 (AP)—Paced by the brilliant running of Harold Dixon and Earlyn Frazier, the Pasadena Eagles whiped Webster's Wildcats 20-6 here last night in a bi-district clash which sends the Eagles to the regional finals.

The annual rainfall in Santa Fe, N. M., ranges from 9 to 22 inches, with an average of 14 inches.

Quail Season Opens In Texas On Dec. 1

Quail hunters may take to the fields in both North and South zones of Texas on Dec. 1 for a season which extends through Jan. 16, according to a report through the local office of the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster commission.

Hunters may use shotguns no larger than a 10 gauge, and guns must be plugged so they will hold no more than three shells, the report said. The bag limit for hunters is 12 birds a day and not more than 36 a week. Possession limit is also 36.

Possession limit west of the Pecos, however, is only 24 and Fool or Mearns quail can not be killed.

Andrews, Duvall, Garza, Scurry (Precinct 3), and Terry counties are closed.

Hunters 17-years of age or older must have hunting licenses when hunting outside their home county.

Duck hunters were reminded that the federal law for hunting migratory birds says that hunters may start shooting 30 minutes before sunrise and must stop at sunset. Sunrise in Lubbock for Dec. 1 is 7:34 o'clock and for Dec. 2 at 7:35 o'clock. Sunset for the two days is 5:38 p. m.

COCKADES ARE UPSET

FRANKFURT, Germany, Nov. 28 (AP) — The 71st Infantry Division football team, champions of the Third Army, today defeated the previously unbeaten Third Infantry eleven regiment Cockades, Seventh Army champs, 20 to 6.

New Deal Is Beaten By Abernathy Club

ABERNATHY, Nov. 28 (Special)—The schoolboy basketball season started here last night with the Abernathy Antelopes nosing out the New Deal High club, 15 to 13.

Harvey Lutrick paced the Antelopes with six points, but the high point man of the night was New Deal's Hall, who looped in 12 of his team's 13 points.

Santa Fe, N. M., oldest capital in the United States, is known as "the ancient city."

Preston Sturges To Seek Independence For His Young Son

By BOB THOMAS
Association Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 28—In an effort to provide complete financial independence for his son, Preston Sturges will give the boy complete rights to a play which he will write and direct for Broadway production.

Fifteen years ago Sturges wrote the successful "Strictly Dishonorable" and then came to Hollywood to become a topnotch screen writer. He achieved more fame by directing his own pictures, such as "Miracle of Morgan's Creek." After producing "The Sin of Harold Diddlebock" and "Columbia" he intends to return to the stage.

"Naturally I hope that my three-year-old son, Solomon, will be amply provided for with what I earn from pictures and my other ventures," Sturges said today. "But in these days of high income and inheritance taxes, not to mention possible depressions, I can't be sure that he will be taken care of. So full rights to the play will be in his name."

If the untitled play is a success (and nearly everything Sturges has touched in recent years has been successful), Solomon should be well off. The play's run would provide a large, steady income and screen rights to successful plays are going for as high as half-million dollars.

Solomon should be paying a healthy income tax for a boy of his age.

BENNY CAN AD LIB

I paused during lunch with Jack Benny to inquire: "Is Fred Allen's accusation correct that you couldn't ad lib a belch after a Hungarian dinner?"

Somewhat hurt, Jackson replied that his friends think he is pretty nifty with the unwritten joke: "I can ad lib if the occasion is right," he said, "but usually I don't like to break up the continuity of the program."

Occupation Forces Reported Cheerful

KYOTO, Japan, Nov. 28 (AP) — The Chugaku News published a story of the cheerfulness of American troops in the Kure-Hiroshima area.

Members of the 41st Infantry division "sing songs, dance and play games in barracks," it said.

A Japanese reporter approached some of the soldiers and asked: "Have you ever been kicked or beaten by your superior officers?"

The GI's replied: "No; not even once."

THERE seems to be not one iota of a doubt that the atomic bomb "practice" explosion near Alamogordo, N. M., last summer left strange results on both animal and vegetable life nearby.

No one, as far as we've ever seen or heard, has argued against the authenticated stories about the sand in the vicinity of the test blast having been turned into something closely resembling glass. But some did question stories that cattle have been strangely marked as a result of atmospheric disturbances following the explosion.

However, there is little or no question now that cattle 50 to 60 miles removed from the test explosion were marked.

W. J. Hooten, editor of the El Paso Times, heard the story about the marked cattle so he went to see for himself. Here is what he reported upon return to his desk:

"In Alamogordo, I was taken to see the 'atomic calf' that was brought in there from the ranch of the Red Canyon Sheep company and placed in the Alamogordo zoo.

"The back of the animal looks like a heavy frost had just fallen on it. The calf also has a number of blisters.

"A number of cattle on the nearby C. M. Harvey ranch were affected in a similar manner. So were other cattle on other ranches in the same neighborhood. The Harvey cattle were 50 to 60 miles from the bomb's test explosion. The Red Canyon cattle were 10 miles closer to it."

AFTER inspecting the "atomic calf," which has aroused all sorts of interest in the Alamogordo country, Mr. Hooten says the animal shows no signs of being injured, aside from the "frost strips" on its back, and the blisters.

Admitting that he's no authority on steaks "on the hoof," the El Paso editor says he'd be willing to gamble that the meat on the "atomic calf" has not been injured by the blast.

Editor Edward M. (for Montmorency) Pooley, Bill Hooten's more-or-less friendly competitor in El Paso, admits in his Herald-Post column that he is convinced that the "atomic calf" story is true. He has testimony from two prominent Alamogordo citizens, Mayor L. A. Hendrix and George Shipley, that it's true and surely Mr. Pooley would never agree with Mr. Hooten if there were any way out.

Mr. Pooley is so impressed by the "blondining" of cattle by the test explosion that he finds himself wondering if atomic power might not be employed in the super-duper beauty shoppys of the future to blondine the locks of ladies who, as he puts it, "want to turn themselves into the type of beauties which gentlemen prefer."

He envisions atomic blondining relegating the time-honored peroxide me'hod to the ash-heap — but that's something else again!

INCIDENTALLY, Mother Nature pulled a stunt in the area not too far from Alamogordo the other night — a stunt fully as awesome as the man-made freak, the "atomic calf." Nature's trick was noted by numerous persons in the El Paso, Alamogordo and Chihuahua areas, but an American Airlines pilot, Capt. G. P. Eckhardt, apparently had the best vantage point.

Captain Eckhardt was piloting his airliner from Los Angeles to El Paso on the night of November 17 when he saw a meteor sweep across the skies over Northern Mexico and dissipate into gas. He described the meteor as "a burning trajectory traveling horizontally with the ground and which did not leave a trail." He said the meteor appeared as a green ball, without a tail.

In the four years he has been flying in the Southwest, Captain Eckhardt has seen several celestial phenomina.

Most striking of such sights, he says, was a big meteor which swept across North Texas last year. It was larger and moved much faster than the one he recently saw over Northern Mexico.

People of the South Plains area will remember that what was taken to be a meteor was noted in this area on the night of June 15 of this year.

Many persons saw it and it apparently appeared closer in the vicinity of Abernathy and Hale Center than anywhere else.

No remains of the "fireball" have ever been reported, indicating that it didn't explode but, instead, disintegrated due to the intense heat.

Science says that when a meteor hits the ground it becomes a meteorite and remains of a number have been found in this section in earlier years.

Most are remnants of disintegrated comets.

THE papers carried a story out of Washington the other day quoting the U. S. Bureau of the Census as saying the nation's population passed the 140,000,000 on October 1. It wasn't a very long story and perhaps it went unnoticed by a lot of people. Yet it was a very important article—one which has a bearing upon the lives of us all, and which likely will have a greater bearing upon the lives of our children and their children.

According to the Census bureau's figures, the U. S. has gained about 8,330,725 residents in the last five and one-half years — or almost as many as it gained in the entire 10 year period between 1930 and 1940, when the gain was 8,894,229. It doesn't take an arithmetical genius to realize that in the past 15 years we have gained more than 16,000,000 in population, which is quite some gain.

All this means that as time rolls along, the U. S. must produce more of everything (in direct ratio to population gain) if our standard of living can be no more than maintained. It means that if our standard of living is to be improved —as we all hope it can and will be — we're going to have to produce a lot more than we've ever produced before.

How are we going to keep increasing our production, year after year, as the population grows?

It would take a crack economist — or a whole flock of 'em — to answer that question.

IT does not, however, require the mind of an economist to come to the conclusion that we can't keep our production abreast with, let alone ahead of, our population by a continuation of the industrial warfare which has been too much on the American scene during the past dozen years.

No economic gains can result from prolonged and frequent wars between capital and labor — a fact that neither the CIO nor the American Manufacturers Association can dispute.

Therefore, if for no other reason than to safeguard the national standard of living the Congress should move to pass legislation outlawing economic warfare and making sure that both strikes and lockouts are much more difficult of achievement than they are today.

While the U. S. may be, and probably is, a long way from being over-populated, the day shall surely come when it will be. And the best way to postpone overpopulation is for us all to cooperate in making increased production run well ahead of the population gain.

Feminine Viewpoint

BY RUTH MILLETT

(Copyright, 1945, For The Journal)

IN answer to the complaint of a group of weary overseas WACs, returned from Manila on a 17-year-old ship, that it was a "vermin infested hell-hole," a disgusted soldier also aboard the transport declared: "Combat troops have played nursemaids to WACs aboard this ship. We even had to carry their bags aboard."

MILLETT

Well, maybe that was a good introduction to civilian life, having to lend their masculine strength to helping the feminine soldiers aboard.

THEY'LL GET IT AT HOME

FOR their women back home are going to expect that much pampering—if that is what they feel treating women as women really is.

In wartime the women in uniform were expected to look after themselves, to shoulder their own load. And so were the women at home.

But this is peacetime. And it does seem as though the girls who went into uniform and endured the hardships of the Pacific should be treated as women again, even to having their bags carried aboard ship.

Even combat troops are going back into a world where women expect extra courtesies simply because they are women.

TIME TO START LEARNING

SO if the WACs and other uniformed women can get men used to that idea before they ever get home, it will be that much easier on the women who are waiting for them.

Plenty of women who have mowed lawns, put on storm windows, shoved heavy furniture around—and maybe even driven trucks or worked in shipyards—are going to expect to be treated just as well get used to saying, like ladies again once their men are home. And the men might "Here, let me do that."

Honduras is noted as a valuable source of mahogany.

LEGISLATION TO CONTROL LABOR

As great automobile plants are tied up by strikes and as the labor-management conference proceeds on what evidently is a washboard road, Congress is being urged more and more to pass laws which would put labor under the government's thumb, or what some might say a reversal of the present situation.

One of the more sensible suggestions has been put forth by George Romney, general manager of the Automobile Manufacturers association, who says that Congress should make unions and union officials subject to the same laws and policies which apply to all other Americans. Mr. Romney, incidentally, is not among those who would put union labor under the government's thumb; he merely wants equalization under the law, as do most fair-minded citizens.

Though organized labor is inviting it, wo do not believe the majority of Americans are for hamstringing the unions. That they have a needed place in our industrial set-up is no longer disputed. But Mr. Romney and the country at large do demand that the unions be controlled and prevented from throwing the nation into disruption at the wave of a finger from some John L. Lewis, R. J. Thomas or J. Caesar Petrillo.

But union labor may get the works, anyhow. For Congress no doubt realizes that its most recent attempt to slow down labor rampages has been unsuccessful. The so-called Anti-Strike act with its provision against contributions by trade unions in national election campaigns, was a soft, compromising measure. The act, in practice, actually encouraged strikes, and the unions circumvented the political barrier by creating separate organizations to act for them at the polls.

Now, with aroused public opinion forcing Congress to act to protect the majority of the people against labor's excesses, legislation may be expected to pack a wallop. We, like the majority of Americans, are in favor of just control, but we hope Congress does not take excessive action because if it does the result will only be to make a bad situation worse.

Poll Shows Most Navy Men Hate Officers

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—Carefully guarded in secret Navy files is a Gallup poll of Naval men which top Annapolis officers aren't going to say a word about—unless a Congressional committee blasts it out. The report spells out the reason why peacetime conscription is considered necessary if we are to keep large armed forces after the war.

To read some of the answers it would almost seem that mutiny was imminent. What enlisted men said about their officers frequently was unprintable. The overwhelming proportion of the men did not want to stay in the navy, are fed up with the caste system, and consider they have little chance to become commissioned officers.

Most significant was the fact that only 10 per cent of the regular Navy men—in other words, those who hitherto had made a career of the Navy—wanted to stay in after the war.

The Navy's poll was taken after careful consultation with the Gallup experts and with the Elmo Roper experts, who take the Fortune poll. It was a sound, professional job. Experts were even flown to Okinawa and various parts of the Pacific in order to make sure that a cross-section of Navy men were interviewed.

Furthermore, the poll was taken during the last week in July and the first week in August before the atom bomb was dropped and when the Navy was at the peak of its fighting. If the poll had been taken during the post-war slack, when men are idle and restless, obviously it would have shown more anxiety to get back to peacetime life.

OFFICER TRAINING DEFECTIVE

THOSE who have studied this poll admit privately that something is seriously wrong at the Navy's core. One trouble, they believe, may be that officers are trained in strategy, navigation and other technical problems, but not in the human problem of handling men.

Perhaps, they feel, the Navy needs more of the democratic spirit which Josephus Daniels tried to instill at the close of the last war. Daniels was in the act of putting through plans for enlisted men's study and advancement, considered revolutionary by many Annapolis brasshats, when his term of office expired.

Whatever the remedy, here is one cross-section of the poll, which Navy experts say is representative of all enlisted men's opinion, both reserves and regulars:

Question: "Whether you plan to stay in the Navy or not, what are the advantages of staying in the regular Navy after the war?"

Answer: "Over 95 per cent—security."

Question: "If you do not want to stay in the Navy write down all the reasons for leaving."

Answers: "60 per cent, caste system and dislike of officers . . . Officers are heels . . . It's an officer's navy . . . Enlisted man is always wrong . . .; 16 per cent, lack of freedom . . Regimentation; 16 per cent, desire to be with family; 8 per cent, lack of opportunity, uniform, miscellaneous."

Note—Especially significant is the fact that not one sailor mentioned food, sea duty, danger, crowded bunkrooms, or discomforts as a reason for wanting to leave the Navy.

CASTE SYSTEM

ANOTHER significant question was No. 28, the answers to which indicated that financial reasons were not the motive inspiring most men in their desire to leave the Navy, but rather dislike of officers and Naval regimentation. Question 28 read:

"If you stayed in the Navy, do you think you would make more or less money than you could make in civilian life during the first year or two after the war?"

Answers: "15 per cent, I would probably make more money in the navy; 20 per cent, I would probably make less money in the navy; 60 per cent, I would probably make about the same amount of money; 5 per cent, undecided."

A second part of question 28 asked: "In the long run, and taking everything into consideration, where do you think you would be better off financially, in the Navy or in civilian life?"

Answer: "20 per cent, better off in the Navy; 25 per cent, better off in civilian life; 50 per cent, the same financial position no matter where I stayed; 5, undecided."

Questions 19 and 20 pointed toward one of the chief reasons why enlisted men wanted to leave the Navy. Question 19 read: "Generally speaking, do you feel that you have had a chance to show what you really can do in the jobs assigned to you in the Navy?"

Answers: 2 per cent, yes; 15 per cent, usually had a chance; 57 per cent, I seldom have had a chance; 25 per cent, I never had a chance; 1 per cent, undecided."

Question 20: "Would you be able to advance in rate fast enough to suit you in the peacetime Navy?"

Answers: "15 per cent, advancements would be often enough; 80 per cent, advancements would be too slow; 5 per cent, undecided."

FURTHER NAVAL EDUCATION

QUESTION 24 also is considered significant. It read: "How easy do you think it will be to get assigned to Navy schools for further education in the peacetime navy?"

Answers: "10 per cent, easy; 25 per cent, fairly easy; 60 per cent, I think it would be too difficult; 5 per cent, undecided."

The Naval poll also showed that few men thought they had a chance to become commissioned officers, and some were too discouraged even to try.

Question: "If you stayed in the navy, would you want to have the chance of becoming a commissioned officer?"

Answers: "20 per cent, yes; 75 per cent, no; 5 per cent, undecided."

Reasons: ("Yes," answers) 70 per cent, officers privileges; 20 per cent, advancement; 10 per cent, leadership. ("No" answers) 70 per cent, dislike for officers; 15 per cent, social obligations; 15 per cent, lack of freedom.

Question: "Regardless of whether you would want to or not, how much chance do you think you would have to become a commissioned officer?"

Answers: "5 per cent, very good chance; 8 per cent, fair chance; 55 per cent, very little chance; 27 per cent, no chance at all; 5 per cent, undecided."

The question of enlisted men's uniforms brought forth some interesting comments. 5 per cent favored small changes in the uniform; 35 per cent found it "completely unsatisfactory and should be entirely changed." Only 11 per cent were reasonably satisfied with the uniform.

Those who wanted to eliminate jumper, neckerchief; collar, flat hat and whites included about 85 per cent of those dissatisfied with the uniform. An approximate similar proportion proposed a shirt, necktie, pockets and a jacket similar to that worn by chief petty officers as the regular enlisted man's uniform.

The state of Wyoming stands second in wool production in the United States.

"Try And Stop Me"

By Bennett Cerf

WHEN HEYWOOD BROUN III was about ten, his father decided that a progressive schooling was what the boy needed, and went to inspect one of the most prominent of such institutions in New York.

As he approached the head of the stairs, a class was dismissed. One after another, the moppets dashed into Mr. Broun's ample frame, shoved him angrily aside with mutters of annoyances, and continued on their way. Only the last little boy to leave the room stopped long enough to say "I beg your pardon" when he stepped on a Broun toe.

The teacher watched the proceedings with absorbed interest. "You'll have to excuse that last student," she said to Mr. Broun. "He's only been in the school for three days."

Heywood Broun, by the way, blithely ignored small-time hecklers who poked fun at his theories on education and politics. When friends asked him why he didn't hit back at his self-appointed critics, Broun said. "Why use dynamite when insect powder will do?"

President Truman's Position Is Extremely Difficult

Congress Cannot Afford To Sulk Just Now

By MARQUIS CHILDS
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The fact that Congress has not adopted a single piece of legislation requested by President Truman in the form in which he requested it has not escaped the attention of our Allies in the war so recently ended.

The visitors from London last week commented on this fact in private conversation. They wanted to know whether it meant that Truman's policy in the foreign field might fail of approval by Congress. Specifically, of course, they were worrying about the loan to Britain which the administration is negotiating.

CHILDS

In any negotiation, a British prime minister has a great advantage over an American president. When the prime minister's government sets a policy, it means that that policy will be accepted by a majority in parliament. The prime minister stays in office only so long as he has a majority.

* * *

President Is Helpless

Our president can make a decision. But if Congress overrules him, as it very often does, he is helpless.

President Truman's position just now is extremely difficult. He is faced with what might almost be called a sit-down strike by Congress. Messages and recommendations go up to the hill—such as the one on health insurance—but nothing happens.

Truman must take a share of the blame for this. At times he could have been more tactful. He has occasionally rushed in to fix policy on matters still being studied by Congress.

The statement on control of atomic energy is a case in point. It would have been easy to have invited members of the Senate atomic committee to the White House 24 hours before the statement was given out.

THAT would have made them feel they were being consulted. Instead, they were summoned only a short time before reporters were called in for the announcement. There was resentment on that score.

But by and large, the blame for the stalemate does not belong on the White House doorstep. Truman is the victim of a combination of circumstances. He is caught in the backlash of a terrible war. All the pent-up grievances and resentments tend to concentrate on the man who happens to have been dropped into the driver's seat.

It is an unenviable position. The president must now and then have the feeling that he can do nothing without stirring up a hornet's nest somewhere or other.

Rapped By Baptists

The Baptists took him to task the other day for drinking and playing poker. They would have been more honest if they had condemned him for having the candor to admit that occasionally he took a drink and that he liked to play small-stakes poker.

He is condemned because he doesn't take a firm hand with Congress. And he is condemned for trying to dictate to the lawmakers in the fashion of his predecessor.

The basic unfairness of much of this is ignored in the general misery and disorder that go with the effort to get back to some kind of peacetime existence. Part of it is a reaction to the "strong government" inevitable in wartime. We want to relax and be left alone after years of tension and compulsion.

IT would be grand if everybody could go fishing for six months or a year. But it happens that vital tasks must be done unless we are to drift into a serious economic slump ignoring our responsibilities at home and abroad. And that slump may come much more quickly than some of the optimists think.

If the present mood persists, then voters in 1946 are likely to turn out the Democratic majority in the House in favor of the GOP. That happened in 1918 just as the war was ending.

There is another and more unhappy parallel. After the Civil war, festering hatreds continued to poison the atmosphere. The whole country had been torn apart. Poor Andrew Johnson, who succeeded to the presidency upon Lincoln's assassination, struggled manfully but in vain with overwhelming problems and a hostile Congress.

Congress cannot afford to sulk at this moment .The president is entitled to a chance to show what he can do. He deserves something besides sabotage from his own party.

Storage Of Vessels In Texas Planned

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (AP) — Maritime commission plans to anchor approximately 500 surplus cargo vessels in Peggy's lake near Houston were made known today by Rep. Thomas (D-Tex).

The lake is about two miles from the Houston ship channel. It will have to be dredged at a cost of $1,000,000, Thomas said, to make it suitable for storage of the vessels.

Thomas estimated that it will cost between $3,000 and $6,000 for each ship to put them into condition so that they can be recalled immediately into use in an emergency.

Governor Sets Bond Week, December 2-8

DALLAS, Nov. 28 (AP) — Gov. Coke R. Stevenson today proclaimed the week of Dec. 2 as Victory Loan E bond week.

Nathan Adams, state chairman of the Victory Loan drive, announced that he had received a special proclamation from the governor asking each citizen in Texas to purchase E bonds during the period Dec. 2-8.

Adams revealed that through Nov. 27, Texas has purchased only 31.9 per cent or $28,719,792.50 of its 90 million dollar E bond quota.

bles. It was not delivered until three hours after the attack.

Former Secretary of State Hull was excused from testifying today because of cold, rainy weather. As the hearing resumed, Joseph C. Grew, former ambassador to Tokyo, returned to the witness chair.

Ask About Information

Rep. Murphy (D-Pa) said today he planned to ask Hull specifically whether the former secretary of State received information from any source Dec. 6 or 7, 1941, that the Japanese were planning the Pearl Harbor attack.

Grew yesterday told of a meeting with Prince Fumimaro Konoye, on Sept. 6, 1941, in which the then Japanese premier urged the ambassador to arrange a meeting for him with President Roosevelt. The meeting never was held.

Grew testified that he and Konoye went to the trouble of changing the license plates on their cars and meeting at the home of a mutual friend in Tokyo to avoid detection by the Japanese military extremists.

Konoye told him, Grew said, that if a meeting with Mr. Roosevelt could not be arranged, the Konoye government would fall and be replaced by a militarist regime. Grew messaged Weshington that Konoye's downfall would bring about "the formation of a military dictatorship lacking either the disposition or temperament to avoid colliding headon with the United States."

When the meeting wasn't held, Konoye was succeeded as premier by Gen. Hideki Tojo, who served during most of the war.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 28 (AP) — Persistent mill buying against textile orders along with scattered local demand advanced cotton futures in moderate trading today. The buying met only scale up hedge selling. Growing tightness in spot cotton supplies and prospects of larger exports influenced some buying. Traders generally anticipated a higher mid-November cotton parity price due to be announced Friday and expect a lower government crop forecast for next month.

After reaching gains of 45 cents a bale the market turned irregularly lower on light hedge selling and profit taking by locals.

Futures closed 15 cents a bale higher to 10 cents a bale lower.

population in the buildings which we will be unable to reach for several months yet," he said, "and so will cut the costs of eradication when we do get around."

To date, 15 blocks, mostly in the industrial section, have been freed of rats and rat-proofed, Harris reported.

Dr. Rollo pointed out that the campaign would not eliminate the necessity for full-scale continuance of the city-state program. "But it will arrest rodent depredations in buildings which cannot be treated for a while and will be insurance against a serious outbreak of typhus next spring," he said.

Work was slated to begin in the city Thursday or Friday. Four or five weeks will be taken to cover the county, it was said.

Rehearing For Case Rejected

AUSTIN, Nov. 28 (AP) — The supreme court today rejected the state's attempt to re-open before it litigation involving title to Padre island, potentially oil-rich strip of land extending along the coast from Corpus Christi to Brownsville.

The state last week had applied for permission to file a second motion for rehearing. The court refused to grant this permission. The motion the state had sought to file opened several federal questions hitherto unposed in the long litigation.

The state court's action was regarded as another step leading to ultimate submission of the case to the United States supreme court.

The state supreme court had ruled that the title held by present owners of the land, dating back to Mexican grants made a century ago, is good. The state had attacked validity of the title.

Former Resident Of City Dies In Mexico

C. E. Hight, about 35, formerly a Lubbock and Midland resident who moved to Houston as an employe of The Texas company, died Tuesday morning when on a vacation trip with his wife and brother-in-law, T. L. Patterson, jr., in the Republic of Mexico.

Details were lacking here, friends said.

Hight, former student of TCU, left Lubbock in 1933. His wife is Alene Hight, daughter of T. L. Patterson of Roswell, N. M., and formerly of Lubbock. Hight's mother lives in Midland.

A 3-year-old daughter, Beverly, also survives.

Crime Wave

militia patrols have been increased.

In Belgium, a search by American military police and Belgium gendarmes was in progress for the hoodlums who stole 16 barrels of deadly German mustard gas from an American depot. The thieves apparently thought they were getting barrels of oil.

Paris Blames Yanks

Attempts by Paris newspapers to blame the growing crime wave in the French capital upon American soldiers were denied by the American provost marshal's office. Provost officers said there has been no "material" increase in serious crimes involving American soldiers during the past year.

A high French police official said the French were disturbed by an increase in drunkenness and disorderliness among the Americans.

London, too, has been afflicted by a growth of lawlessness. Scotland Yard has reinforced street patrols of the tall-hatted "bobbies" and is putting more radio patrol cars onto the streets at night.

Strike Ballot

the General Motors corporation walkout.

Would Offset Loss

The auto workers struck a week ago to back up their demand — a 30 per cent wage increase. Their objective is to offset loss in take-home pay caused by the change-over from a 48 to 40-hour week.

CIO-steelworkers laid the groundwork for similar action under the Smith-Connally war labor disputes act with a strike poll at more than 750 steel, iron and aluminum companies. They want $2 a day more.

Another 5,000 steelworkers at 14 additional companies will vote December 6, and an additional 50,000 employed by 130 other firms on December 20, McDonald said.

The union has concentrated its wage increase campaign on the United States Steel corporation. The corporation has declined to reopen negotiations, broken off October 23, until OPA sets higher price ceilings on steel products.

No Justification Seen

OPA Administrator Chester Bowles declared last week there is no justification for price increases now.

The reconversion wage dispute of still another big CIO union — the oil workers — went before a government fact-finding commission for public examination. The commission will recommend a solution, but the parties are not bound to accept it.

Named to the fact-finding panel were:

Dr. Frank P. Graham, president of the University of North Carolina, chairman; Otto Beyer, former labor relations adviser to the Office of Defense Transportation, Maritime Commission, TVA, and Bonneville dam; Paul Eliel, professor of industrial relations at Stanford university and an arbitrator in the San Francisco shipping industry.

Although Nevada has been in the Union more than 80 years, only two native Nevadans have served in the U. S. Senate—Sen. Pat McCarran and Rep. Berkeley Bunker, who was appointed to fill an unexpired term after the death of Sen. Key Pittman.

The parents of Abraham Lincoln, 16th President of the United States, were married at what is now Harrodsburg, Ky., and a building known as the Lincoln Marriage Temple marks the site.

Old Badger Game Receives New Guise In Sale Of Chinese Wives To Jap Soldiers

SHANHAIKWAN, China, Nov. 28. (AP)—Tricky Chinese women, nimble of foot and mind and with a flair for the financial angles of matrimony, led Japanese troops a merry chase here in the shadow of China's great wall during eight years of Nipponese occupation.

Far from home and lonely, Japanese soldiers frequently bought wives from Chinese peasants. The standard price was $85,000 in puppet money for each wife.

Collected Part Of Money

After marriage the wife lived with her Japanese husband for a week or so, then ran away and eventually turned up at the home of her parents to collect half of the money paid for her.

Some of these merry wives of wartime wedded half a dozen husbands before Tokyo's swollen empire crashed and the Japanese soldier lost his financial status.

Irate Japanese husbands never knew where their wives really lived and could not find them. They were afraid to report the hide-and-seek swindle lest their own officers order them punished for intermarrying with a so-called inferior race. So they were left alone, bankrupt and bewildered, while their purchased mates lived happily on their money.

Adelman Is Chosen Lineman For Week

NEW YORK, Nov. 28 (AP) — Harry Adelman, who played a stellar role in Southern California's triumph over Oregon State Saturday, has been named the Associated Press' lineman of the week.

The Trojans had to beat State to stay in the running for the Rose bowl nomination and Adelman's spectacular job at left end was a prime factor in their 34-7 victory.

Among the other forwards who were praised for their play Saturday were:

Ends — Gene Wilson, Southern Methodist and Bruce Bradber, Rice.

Tackles — Tom Dean, Southern Methodist.

Centers — Doug Brightwell, Texas Christian.

Ivan Jones Tangles With Hood Tonight

The regular weekly mat show at Lubbock Horse and Mule Auction arena tonight will pair two well known performers in the featured spot, with the Hood, the masked grappler, tangling with popular Ivan Jones. Starting time is 8:30 o'clock.

The main event is scheduled for the best two out of three falls, with a two hour time limit.

Two more familiar figures will be back for the semi-final of the card, a one hour time limit scrap pairing Milt Olsen and Charley Trijo.

A special event, with a 45 minute time limit, will start the show, the curtain raiser pitting Tony Ross with Gorilla Poggi, a pair seen last week on the team tag matches.

Promoter Pete Hallas also announced that in case of cold weather, stoves have been installed at the arena to provide comfort to the fans. Babe Ritchie is the referee. Tickets are on sale in Lubbock at the Busy Bee cafe.

Soldier To Be Asked About Man's Death

FORT WORTH, Nov. 28 (AP) — An 18-year old Fort Worth soldier will be questioned in connection with the slaying of Sgt. John W. Murphy, whose body was found in a cornfield near New Braunfels, Maj. A. A. Muckelroy, provost marshal here said today.

The soldier, AWOL nine days after being inducted at Fort Sam Houston, was arrested at his Fort Worth home early Nov. 21 and later transferred to Camp Wolters for disciplinary action. He is now in custody of Fort Sam Houston.

Major Muckelroy said that the soldier's conversation while in jail here indicated he had knowledge of Murphy's death before the discovery of the body.

The funeral was to be held in San Marcos this afternoon.

HST Sets Holidays For Federal Offices

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (AP) — President Truman has approved an adjustment of the holiday work week to permit federal employes to have four days off at Christmas time and three days at New Year's.

The White House said today the President had asked all executive departments and agencies to establish administrative work weeks beginning Dec. 24 and Dec. 31, from Tuesday through Saturday. For these two weeks the working days will be Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday "for the employes whose work week can be so arranged." Christmas and New Year's day fall on Tuesday.
