A HARD DAY? — Shoppers often find a day of visiting the various shops a tiring task. And sometimes it's hard on the children who may accompany them. On a recent shopping trip with her mother, Heidi Simpson, 13-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Simpson, 1120 Terrace, finally fell asleep on the floor of a local department store while her mother looked at some clothes.

Officials To Request Removal Of Lon Nol

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Several high-ranking members of the Cambodian government have asked the Nixon administration to arrange for the ouster of President Lon Nol and the immediate restoration to power of exiled Prince Norodom Sihanouk, according to well-informed sources.

The sources said Sunday that if the Nixon administration agrees, Henry A. Kissinger would being up such a proposal to Chinese leaders when he visits Peking.

Sihanouk would at the same time be approached by Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and any prior conditions he may wish to impose will be relayed to the Cambodian regime before the plan is put into action, according to the sources, who asked UPI correspondent Sylvana Foa that they not be identified by name.

Today, however, Cambodian Information Minister Sum Chhum told a Phnom Penh news conference Lon Nol and the entire cabinet will remain in the capital and fight the war so long as aggression by the North Vietnamese continues.

"The president will remain with us," Sum Chhum said. "The members of the cabinet have no idea of leaving."

An Integral Part

An integral part of the plan would be the prior removal of President Lon Nol and key members of his regime from the country by the United States, the sources said.

(In Washington, Kissinger said the reports do not "seem to be true" when questioned about them. "I'm not familiar with anything like that," Kissinger said in a telephone interview from his White House office. "I'm not familiar with any major new developments at this point."

(Kissinger also said he knew of no new communications from Sihanouk to Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader who was reported to have been sent a cable by Sihanouk.

("We have not heard from Mansfield and if he had received such a cable, he would have called me," Kissinger said. He also said there was no date set for his next trip to Peking.)

One high level Cambodian said, "The Americans will probably have to use force to get Lon Nol to leave but face can be saved on both sides if he is taken to a hospital in the United States for treatment." Lon Nol is crippled from a stroke.

Friends for Years

Mansfield and Sihanouk have been friends for years. Mansfield taught Southeast Asian affairs in college and is regarded as one of the most informed members of Congress in that field.

Immediately after Lon Nol's departure, the sources said, the rest of the Phnom Penh government would telegraph Sihanouk at his Peking-based government-in-exile urging him to return immediately to Cambodia to take over.

"Now it is up to the Americans. If Nixon insists upon continuing his support of Lon Nol, if Nixon insists that Lon Nol must remain, then we are all lost..."

Cambodia Battle Situation 'Grim'

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — A furious rebel assault Sunday drove Cambodian troops from a key northern town the government soldiers had used as a refuge center from earlier fighting that cost them 300 casualties, military sources said today.

The sources said that after government troops evacuated Skoun, a government bastion at the junction of Highways 6 and 7, Cambodian aircraft began bombing the rebel-held town but no details of the raids were available.

A U.S. pilot taking part in the strkes around Skoun said, "The situation is grim and untenable."

The sharp fighting was in contrast to a lull in activity around Phnom Penh. Government troops took advantage of the letup to consolidate and expand the capital's defense perimeter in anticipation of the U.S. bombing halt less than 48 hours away.

Sihanouk's Remarks Monitored

But exiled Cambodian leader Prince Norodom Sihanouk today said victory for his forces in Cambodia "is already practically achieved." North Korea's semiofficial KCNA news agency, monitored in Tokyo, reported Sihanouk's remarks at a farewell banquet in Pyongyang.

Forces loyal to Sihanouk control about 70 per cent of Cambodia and the rebels two weeks ago drove to within three miles of Phnom Penh before suddenly disappearing from the capital's fringes, apparently regrouping for what some intelligence reports say will be a new offensive on the city after Wednesday's bomb halt.

The agency quoted Sihanouk as saying "...a final, total and irreversible victory of the peoples' armed forces in Cambodia already is practically achieved."

Campaign Must End

America's air campaign in Cambodia must end Wednesday under an agreement between President Nixon and Congress, but U.S. warplanes took advantage of their final hours of bombing overnight to blast suspected rebel positions around the capital.

Concussions from the bombing reverberated through the capital all through the night but today's raids were curtailed by low clouds and monsoon rains.

The sources said Skoun fell Sunday night after exhausted government troops retreated to the east along Highway 7. Skoun, 48 miles northeast of Phnom Penh, has been surrounded by rebel forces for several months and officials viewed Sunday's action as a full-scale drive to seize it.

AS SELF-DEFENSE

Israel Defends Seizure Of Lebanese Airplane

Israel defended its seizure of a Lebanese jetliner as "self-defense" but said today U.S. disapproval of the act made passage of a U.N. Security Council condemnation likely.

A government spokesman "there have been contacts with the United States" on Friday's interception of the plane. Israel forced it to land in a military field inside Israel in the belief it carried Palestinian guerrilla leader George Habash and other leaders.

"I have my sincere doubts that the United States will veto a motion against Israel," said one official. The United States vetoed last month a Security Council resolution demanding that Israel withdrawal from all occupied Arab territories.

This time, he said, Washington was not expected to back Israel, judging by a statement from the U.S. State Department Saturday deploring the action.

Criticism Was Matched

The criticism was matched by the Israel Airline Pilots' Union which previously backed Israel's tactics to prevent threats to civil aviation.

Chairman Itzhak Shaded, a flight captain for the government-owned El Al airline, said "We cannot accept a deed like this even when the purpose was the capture of the No. 1 criminal against civil aircraft."

"I see absolutely no reason to describe this as a hijack," said a government official. "It was a preventive action ... Israel acted in self - defense since no one else was doing the job."

"Acts of piracy have been committed by Habash and his group, and what we have been looking for is the pirate," the government official said.

"Before you have international criticism you must have international action," said Israeli Transport Minister Shimon Peres, calling for heightened multilateral action to combat hijacking and guerrilla attacks.

"We have the right to protect ourselves, said Health Minister Victor Shemtov. "This is what the world must understand."

Paper Backs Stand

To back Israel's stand that it had not set a precedent, the Foreign Ministry issued a "background paper" which said France in 1956, Algeria in 1967 and Libya in 1971 had forced international civilian aircraft to land, in each cases arresting passengers for political reasons.

Cox Calls Special Jury To Investigate Campaign

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A special grand jury was convened today at the request of Watergate Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox to investigate a wide range of activities in the 1972 presidential campaign as well as the ITT antitrust settlement.

Judge John J. Sirica, chief of the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia, called the panel into session to inquire into matters separate from those being investigated by a grand jury that has been concentrating on the Watergate burglary and its aftermath.

Aides to Cox described the new grand jury as "a general purpose" panel. The original Watergate grand jury's tenure is to run out in December, although Sirica could extend its life.

While the jury will be looking into possible illegal practices—so-called dirty tricks—of the presidential campaign, it will also study conflicts connected with an antitrust suit filed by the government in 1969 against International Telephone & Telegraph Co. (ITT).

There have been allegations that the suit was settled by compromise partly in exchange for a pledge to underwrite some of the cost of the Republican National Convention when it was scheduled for San Diego.

Conflicting statements and testimony have emerged at congressional hearings and elsewhere concerning the negotiations which led to a consent decree issued by a federal court.

The government had sued to force ITT to shed three major affiliates, Hartford Fire Insurance Co., the Canteen Corp. and the Grinnell Corp.

The agreement allowed ITT to keep Hartford, while divesting the other two. Critics have charged that this was a victory for ITT.

Testimony of former Attorneys General John N. Mitchell and Richard G. Kleindienst and several ITT officers has been examined by Cox's office to ascertain if perjury had been committed.

The question of possible obstruction of justice also has been raised because of destruction of some documents related to the case.

The ITT case came up during the Senate Watergate hearings, now in recess, when it was reported that admitted Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt had a hand in taking an ITT employe, Dita Beard, to a Denver Hospital after publication of a memo she was purported to have written about the alleged ITT convention arrangement.

The memo attributed to Mrs. Beard, addressed to an ITT superior in Washington, suggested that Mitchell was aware of the arrangement whereby ITT was to underwrite the Republican convention in San Diego. Mitchell denied it.

The convention later was moved to Miami and the ITT underwriting arrangement was never consummated.

Libya Nationalizes U.S. Oil Company

BEIRUT (UPI) — Libya nationalized 51 per cent of the U.S. Occidental Oil Co. and warned other foreign oil concerns in the country Sunday they face similar action unless they meet "legitimate" demands that Libya control its own wealth.

At Occidental's Los Angeles headquarters, board Chairman Armand Hammer said the company was paid $135 million in cash for transfer of 51 per cent of its assets to the Libyan National Oil Co. and that the amount was "acceptable to the company."

Hammer said the company "acquiesced" to the new agreement, signed in Tripoli by Occidental Vice President George M. Williamson.

Tripoli Radio said Libyan Oil Minister Ezzedin Mabrouk Sunday warned other international oil companies operating in Libya "against the consequences of their failure to respond to the ministry's wishes and persisting in their evasive policies....

"We Will Take Control"

"If these companies continue their evasion attempts, we will take control of our national wealth by our own special methods," Mabrouk said.

Mabrouk did not clarify what he meant by "evasive policies," but a Libyan official of Occidental who asked not to be named said he believed the Occidental nationalization "is a reply to America's all-out support of Israel."

A Libyan government official termed the takeover "yet another slap in the face of America and I believe the slaps will continue."

That was an apparent reference to a statement by Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy, who announced June 11 the takeover of America's Bunker Hunt Oil Co., saying the United States "deserves a hard slap in its insolent face" for its policy of support for Israel.

Was "Totally Unexpected"

R. H. Espey, president of Occidental's operations in Libya—which account for 15 per cent of the country's total crude oil production—said the nationalization was "totally unexpected."

BULLETIN

HOUSTON (UPI)— Sheriff's deputies today dug up from shallow graves on a Texas beach the 24th and 25th bodies of two young boys killed during a three-year spree of sex and sadism by two teen-agers and a homosexual friend.

The two victims were wrapped in black plastic bags and sprinkled with lime, like most of the others found during the past week at three locations.

Officers — digging with a back hoe and a giant road-grader — said they expected to find at least one more body at the beachfront site at High Island.

Phase IV Plans Begin Operation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Phase IV of the administration's economic program began today. Officials expected it to be marked by new increases in prices in most products other than beef and petroleum.

The phase started at midnight when prices on most products were declared free to rise within a range laid out under rules administered by the Cost of Living Council (CLC).

Gasoline, home heating oil and other petroleum products will remain under the freeze an extra week until Aug. 19. Beef will remain under price ceilings until Sept. 12, unless the administration gives in to pressures caused by beef shortages.

Freeze Thawed in Stages

Economic planners decided to thaw the freeze in stages in an effort to prevent a sudden price explosion and to give the economy time to absorb the higher prices that officials conceded are on the way.

Consumers will not feel the weight of some price increases until mid-September, because the largest corporations will have to give 30 days advance notice to the government before boosting prices.

The Phase IV rules also require businessmen to cut prices under certain conditions, but reductions are expected to be rare.

Administration officials said shoppers should brace for a new inflationary surge as companies race to mark up prices that were held in check during the two-month freeze.

The Basic Rule

The basic rule governing Phase IV allows a company to add a penny to its price tags for every cent it incurs in higher labor, raw material and other costs. Nothing extra can be added for profit.

Required to give the CLC 30 days advance notice before boosting prices are companies with annual sales of more than $100 million.

Nixon Signs Highway Act

He noted that under the new law, states and localities for the first time "will have the flexibility they need to set their own transportation priorities."

Congress completed action 10 days ago on the bill which authorizes nearly $20 billion worth of expenditures over the next three years from the highway trust fund.

The fund collects $6 billion to $7 billion a year through federal taxes on gasoline, tires and trucks. Started in 1957 to finance construction of the Interstate Highway System, the fund until this year had been guarded from raids for non-highway purposes.

No money would be spent for nonhighway purposes during the first year covered by the new bill. During the second year, $200 million would be released for spending on buses and during the third year, $800 million more would be available for fixed rail systems such as subways.

Commission To Consider Ordinance, Hearing Dates

The Pampa City Commission will meet in regular session tomorrow at 8:30 a.m. in the City Hall.

Among the items to be considered are the passing of an ordinance to allow the First National Bank an easement to construct a brick facing on the east side of the bank building and the reappointment of Dr. R. Malcolm Brown as city health officer.

Also to be considered is a resolution setting Sept. 11 at 8:30 a.m. for a public hearing on buildings at 520 Maple, 1040 S. Gray, 418 Oklahoma, 522 Oklahoma, 712 S. Somerville, 716 S. Somerville, 508 Maple and 512 Maple.

The hearing would be to determine if the buildings at the above addresses are in violation of city building ordinances.

Routine budgeted salary increases are also on the agenda involving four new employes, one part - time employe and two merit raises.

City Manager Mack Wofford said today the tentative delivery date for Pampa's new computer system is Wednesday. Burrough's Corp. is providing the system.

UNTIL NEXT MONTH

Price Thaw—Delayed Reaction

By C.W. ORR
United Press International

With the Phase IV thaw of the price freeze beginning today, except for beef and petroleum, shoppers can expect higher prices. If there is a bright side, it is that the full effects will not be felt until next month.

The delay for some hikes comes from the fact that Phase IV requires companies with annual sales of $100 million or more to give the Cost of Living Council 30 days notice of price increases.

Under Phase IV, sellers can raise their prices, but only as much as their costs increase.

Gasoline and other petroleum prices will remain frozen for another week. Beef will continue under price controls the longest, until Sept. 12.

Beef Remains Frozen

It is the freeze on beef that has brought the most criticism of Phase IV. It remained frozen when other food prices were decontrolled on June 13. While beef prices cannot be raised, the supply has dwindled.

New York's city purchasing commissioner, Marvin Gersten, said Sunday the city will begin buying cattle on the hoof because nobody wants to sell slaughtered beef. The beef probably would be purchased and slaughtered in the Midwest before being shipped to New York. This would probably cost more, $1 a pound compared with the ceiling price of 77 cents, but the city has no choice, Gersten said.

Cala Food Stores in San Francisco put buffalo meat on sale, in hopes its supply would last at least until the beef price freeze ends.

A grocer in Anderson, Calif., John Johnson, reported he quickly sold out the meat of five buffalo over the weekend. It was priced at $1.59 a pound for ground buffalo to $2.98 for choice steaks.

Run on Rice Reported

The Chinatown areas of San Francisco and Los Angeles have had a run on rice, although dealers say there appears to be no reason for a shortage. The run has pushed the price in San Francisco from $10 to $14.50 for a 50-pound sack.

Edward S. Farish, the chief game law enforcement officer in Alabama, says meat costs and shortages may triple illegal deer hunting in Alabama.

"An informer tells me a 'pair of eyes' (a fawn) brings $15 with no questions asked," Farish said. "A skinned adult goes for $40 to $35 and goes like hotcakes."

John A. Love, the administration's special assistant on the energy problem, said there are indications drivers are cutting back on gasoline consumption. Early in the year, the increase in demand for gasoline was estimated at 7.1 per cent. In June, the forecast had dropped to 3 per cent, he said.

Love conceded the government would have to use mandatory control if shortages bring an "actual crisis" in petroleum products.

MISS PAMPA — Gayla McKinley, 17, was named Miss Pampa at the conclusion of the Miss Top o' Texas beauty pageant Saturday. She received the title automatically after being the highest ranking Pampa girl in the contest; she was selected as second runner-up. Miss McKinley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McKinley, 1809 Grape, will represent Pampa at the Miss Wheatheart of the Nation contest in Perryton Aug. 25.

Astros Perform Routine Labors

HOUSTON (UPI) — Skylab 2 astronauts, using a patched up stabilization system, performed routine experiments today, including one that had commander Alan L. Bean testing a one-man flying machine in the space lab.

Entering their third week of the two-month journey around and around the Earth, Bean, Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma also conducted biomedical experiments and studied the sun.

Ground control engineers and the astronauts negotiated a nettlesome problem Sunday when three of their eight working gyroscopes quit working.

Mission control spoke of a possible unscheduled spacewalk to fix the problem since the astronauts carry extra gyros aboard, but that alternative was avoided.

They're Not Worried

"It doesn't particularly have us worried," Flight Director Charles Lewis said of the gyro problem. "If we lost all the gyros in an axis or we were down to one that was not reliable, at that point we would start thinking about an EVA (spacewalk)."

Bean had four hours set aside to run the first zero-gravity test of the Astronaut Maneuvering Unit (AMU), wearing the contraption on his back like a camper setting out on a hike.

The AMU has a propellant tank and its own stabilization system. The schedule called for Bean to maneuver himself about the 21-by-20 foot experiment compartment by hand operated thrusters.

He was to evaluate how an apparatus like the AMU might be improved for use by astronauts working outside a spacecraft.

It was an experiment that might someday make the problems like the gyro trouble less serious in the future.

Gyros Keep Ship Stable

The gyros keep the giant ship stable in space and it needs at least one working gyro in each of its three axes in order to fly correctly.

One gyro has not worked in months and three more went out briefly Sunday. Engineers quickly restarted two failed gyros but that left only one working gyro in one of the axes —a workable but borderline situation.

The engineers then figured out a system that harnessed the solo gyro to good gyros in the other axes.

"We're going to use these patches and see if they won't relieve the gyro problem," said Lewis.

Bean, Garriott and Lousma managed to complete their last earth resources photographs for three weeks taking detailed shots of the western United States and Latin American despite the gyro trouble.

Two Charged With Burglary

Bob Chester Mims, 22, 701 Frost, and James Dewitt Berry, 24, 633 N. Zimmers, were placed in jail yesterday pending $1,000 bond each on charges of burglary.

Both men had been hired by Michael Jay of Garland to look after property owned by Jay at 424 N. Sumner.

A window was broken at the residence on the lot and two storage sheds were broken into, Jay reported to police.

Nothing was missing from the house but a tool box, some tools and a lawn mower were taken from the storage sheds.

Police investigating the incident discovered fingerprints on the broken window pane at the house.

Mims, who was mowing the lawn there at the time, then told police that he and Berry had taken the missing items, police said.

Berry later confirmed the burglary and Justice of the Peace Nat Lunsford set bond for the pair.

CORRECTION

It was erroneously reported in yesterday's edition of the News that the picture of the fire on Page Two was of waste oil.

The picture is of a field that was burned off near the Cities Service Oil plant west of the city Friday afternoon.

J.R. Jamison, plant superintendent for Cities Service, said today that telephone poles and lines at the plant were damaged by the fire.

He also said that employes of Cities Service fought the blaze for about three hours Friday after the man who set it left.

DYING OF CANCER

Cheerful Patient Hosts 'Farewell'

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (UPI) — Ruth Hoffman gave her own farewell party so she could "see and talk and touc " as many of her friends and relatives as possible.

Mrs. Hoffman, 57, was the cheerful hostess at the party she gave in her hospital room Saturday because—dying of bone cancer—she was afraid she might not last the weekend.

"Don't I look better?" she asked 8-year-old Janelle Gregory, grasping the child's hand.

"Everybody says I look better. Do you know why?" She pointed above her head toward the ceiling.

"I have a date way up there with God. Today is my happy day."

She Takes Calls

Propped up in bed, Mrs. Hoffman took telephone calls from as far away as Greenville, S.C., and greeted more than 100 persons at the eight - hour open house at Sequoia Hospital in this San Francisco Peninsula community.

"I asked the doctors to tell me the truth, and they did. They told me I had bone cancer from my head to my knees and had no chance to recover," Mrs. Hoffman said.

"We all have to die," she added philosophically. "I'm ready now. I've learned the closer one lives to God, the happier one becomes as the end approaches."

Guests at the party had punch, cookies and cake and Mrs. Hoffman received telegrams from all over and vase after vase of roses, marigolds and lilies.

One telegram from Omaha, Neb., read: "My doctors have told me I also will join you because of cancer. I have never seen you but I will as we know everything will be lovely where we're going. God bless. Al Forney."

They Were Reluctant

Mrs. Hoffman's daughter, Linda Gage, 23, of nearby Sunnyvale, said, "At first we were reluctant about this party, but now we're glad. She's just super."

Jan Gregory, until recently Mrs. Hoffman's hospital roommate, said, "I had my blue days while I was in the hospital with a bad back. Ruth kept my spirits up.

"After I went to surgery for the removal of two discs, Ruth insisted upon being wheeled up to the surgery section every day just to cheer me. She is the most amazing woman I've ever met."

Sylvanus Hoffman, her husband of 34 years and an airline electrician, helped serve the food. Her son, Don, 24, came from Grants Pass, Ore., for the party.

Mrs. Hoffman wore a button on her white hospital gown reading, "Keep me in good humor."

As the last guests left, she told one who leaned over to hug and kiss her:

"Oh, yes, I think I'll be around—but not for long."

Charges Filed For Shoplifting

Lawrence Arthur Stein, 61, of Pampa, was arrested yesterday and charged with shoplifting. Charges were formally filed in the county attorney's office this morning.

Stein was observed putting a small can of food in his pocket by the store manager of Ideal No. 1, the police report noted.

After paying for other groceries and receiving change, Stein was confronted outside the store by the manager and a police officer.

Upon submitting to a search, Stein was found to have the unpaid for can in his possession — a 49 cent tin of boned turkey, according to the report.

The term Potter's Field for a cemetery where poor or unidentified persons are buried derives from an account in Matthew 27:7 of the purchase of a field, where potters took clay, for use as a burial place for foreigners dying in Jerusalem.

NOT NECESSARILY SO

Beef Cheaper Across Border?

By PRESTON McGRAW
United Press International

Mexico has never had a Phase 1, 2, 3 or 4 but except for Juarez it is not proving an oasis for Texas border housewives looking for full beef counters and low prices.

Grocers in Juarez, across the Rio Grande from El Paso, report a slight increase in American shoppers during weekdays and a big increase on weekends.

The reason is pretty plain. T-bone steak in Juarez sells for $1.23 to $1.44 a pound against $1.79 in El Paso. And there is no talk of shortage in Juarez.

There is in El Paso, where the Ft. Bliss commissary is rationing beef. Ground beef in Juarez is 44 cents a pound against 88 cents in El Paso.

Vegetables, Too

El Paso housewives generally pick up a few vegetables while stocking up on beef in Juarez. Mexican vegetables are not packaged as prettily as on the U.S. side but there is a considerable saving.

The traffic is so heavy from El Paso to Juarez supermarkets that they sell in pounds and by the dozen. At most other points, Americans buy by the kilo (2.2 pounds).

Even by the kilo, prices are up 50 to 100 per cent in Matamoros, across the Rio Grande from Brownsville. Two months ago, steaks and roasts were 16 pesos a kilo in Matamoros ($1.28 for 2.2 pounds). Now the same meat is $2.40 to $2.80 a kilo.

Eggs, which sell by the kilo in Mexico, now are 72 cents. A kilo of large Grade A eggs is about 2½ dozen, so that still is a saving over Brownsville where eggs are 79 a dozen.

There's A Rub

But the rub is that pork, eggs and chickens cannot be brought across the border into the United States because of a quarantine to prevent the spread of hog and poultry diseases.

Rib steak in a Brownsville supermarket is $1.39 and beef roast is $1.29. Brownsville has had no trouble getting beef so the grocery buying traffic toward the south has not increased. It never was what it was at El Paso.

There are some things that money can be saved on anywhere along the border by careful Mexican shopping. But they are not things in short supply yet.

"It's just kinda if you're gonna be over there anyway," a man at Laredo said. "My wife tells me that she likes to go over there for fruit and vegetables because there are a number of items she can save a little on."

There has not been a great increase in Juarez grocery buying by Laredo housewives. Beef prices are not up excessively but beef on the Mexican side is cut differently and the quality is not what it is in Laredo.

Cheaper In Reynosa

A McAllen resident said he found things cheaper in Reynosa but the meat was not up to U.S. quality and it sells by the kilo.

"There are certain things over there women know as a bargain," he said. "Thirty or 40 per cent of the people who go over there go to buy sugar. It's $1 for 10 pounds. It's a good grade of sugar, too."

A Reynosa resident who works in McAllen said he saw no point in buying beef in Mexico as long as it was available north of the border.

Piedras Negras

At Piedras Negras, across from Eagle Pass, roast and steak beef was selling for $2.08 to $2.24 a kilo and $1.15 a pound on the U.S. side. There was not a big increase in the shopping traffic.

Ranchers Reject Navy's Proposal

LLANO, Tex. (UPI) — Rear Admiral Robert Kaufman stood on the stage of the high school auditorium and spoke to a crowd of 1,200 patriotic but hostile ranchers.

"I think the Russians could be crazy enough to attack Washington," he said. "But I'll be damned if they're crazy enough to attack Texas."

The 1,200 stomped, hissed and booed.

"I feel sure that the Navy is going to pull this old deal that we're not patriotic," one of the ranchers, Edgar James Moss, 56, said. "If you find more patriotic people than us here, I'd like to see it. We don't have much land but we're proud of it and we want to keep it."

The Navy wants 500 acres of the Texas Hill Country to construct an underground submarine communications system called Project Sanguine. The extremely low frequency communications system could send messages to submarines in almost any area of the globe.

The ranchers don't want any part of it. They have circulated a petition to keep the Navy out of Central Texas by claiming Project Sanguine would destroy their source of income, ruin property values and make the area a prime target for nuclear attack.

"Ranchers aren't known for being reasonable and we may not be being reasonable at this time," rancher Herman Raesener told Admiral Kaufman and the other Navy officials at Saturday night's town meeting. "But we have our druthers and our druthers are we'd druther not."

Vice Admiral Frederick J. Harlfinger told the 1,200 "We hope to show you this system is a good idea for the United States."

But Raesener said: "If you were a housewife you wouldn't like a public phone booth in your kitchen."

The Navy likes the Llano area because of the hard granite a few feet under the top soil is especially effective in aiding the transmission of messages.

Llano is the leading deer producing county in the state. Ranchers, whose land can do little more than support cattle, rent deer leases annually and from that gain a steady income.

Spanish Caravelle Airplane Explodes

LA CORUNA, Spain (UPI) — A Spanish Caravelle airliner with 85 persons aboard exploded in flight today and crashed while the pilot was circling through rain and low hanging clouds in his fourth attempt to land in near zero visibility.

"There is no hope of survivors," a statement by the Aviaco Air Lines, owner of the aircraft, said.

Both an airport spokesman and the national Spanish news agency Cifra, however, reported at least one survivor. The airport spokesman said one injured person was rescued from the flaming wreckage on the edge of a nearby village. Cifra said two persons including a man in his forties were rushed to a La Coruna hospital.

Aviaco said the Caravelle jet carried 79 passengers and a crew of six.

An airport spokesman said it crashed on its fourth attempt to land in bad weather. Cifra reported the pilot had been told shortly before by the control tower that visibility had dropped below minimum levels.

The plane, on a scheduled flight from Madrid, made three attempts to land at La Coruna and had just started to circle the cloud-shrouded airport once again when it apparently exploded in the air, the spokesman said.

Most of its wreckage fell on an abandoned farm house in the village of Montrove, four miles from the airport.

The airport spokesman said radio contact with the plane broke off without any indication of anything being wrong with the plane, apart from Captain Lopez Pascual's apparent difficulties of landing the craft under the prevailing bad conditions.

Cifra said the crash happened after visibility at the airport had dropped below minimum levels, and that Pascual was informed of the condition.

Most passengers aboard the plane appeared to be vacationers. La Coruna is one of three airports serving the northwestern Galicia Provinces and its seaside resorts. The ill-fated flight, AV-118, is a special vacation flight run daily by Aviaco during the summer season.

Cifra said one of the two injured persons found at the site of the disaster might have been a villager.

The plane left Madrid at 9:14 a.m., more than an hour late for the 60-minute flight. The crash happened an hour later.

La Coruna airport was closed down to all incoming traffic after the crash.

Cifra said members of a Barcelona swimming club (Club Natacion Barcelona) were aboard the plane flying to a swimming meet in La Coruna.

The crash was Aviaco's second this year. Another of its two engine Caravelles crashed into the sea near the Azores Islands on a training flight last spring, killing all three crew members abroad.

Two other Spanish airliners, a scheduled Iberia DC9 and a chartered Spantax Coronado, collided over France during an air controlers strike in spring killing 68. Last December, another Spantax Coronado crashed on takeoff from Santa Cruz de Tenerife killing all 155 persons aboard in Spain's worst air disaster.

Search For Boy Halted

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI) — The ground-air search for a small boy believed lost in the mountains of Central New Mexico has been called off. Officials say there were never certain the radioed "distress" calls were legitimate.

"We have not come up with any information that is definite enough to say that there actually is someone out there and where this person might be," State Police Chief Martin Vigil said Sunday.

Just in case, he said, four directional finding stations were established in the area to listen for any further signal and pinpoint its location.

The boy's calls for help, often tearful and incoherent, were first reported Tuesday by a California citizens band operator. Since then operators across the nation and in Canada have reported hearing the boy.

The voice said his name was Larry and that he was seven years old. He said his father was dead or seriously injured in a pickup truck accident. He did not know where he was.

"There is the real possibility that this whole thing was a hoax," Civil Air Patrol coordinator Lawrence Marshall said Sunday. "But there is also the possibility there had been some real distress calls."

It was on this logic that a search was mounted. More than 30 civilian and military aircraft carrying some of the most sophisticated radio tracking devices in existence were involved. Several hundred persons scoured the area on foot and in vehicles with radios.

Every time the listening devices were about to fix the signal's location, static would interrupt or the signal would fade.

For days the boy cried and called. Sometimes the air was silent and the listeners thought he might be sleeping. Then he would begin again.

The last confirmed contact with the boy who said he was in distress came Friday and since that time there had been only unconfirmed reports and rumors.

Obituaries

LLOYD W. WHARTON

A former Pampan, Lloyd William Wharton, 61, died Sunday, Aug. 12 at his ranch home in Lexington, Okla., of an apparent hear attack.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Primrose Funeral Home in Norman, Okla.

He's locked out, now she's left out

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Phil and I were married for two years, and I thought we had a great marriage. He was 23 and I was 25.

Then Phil went back to college full time while I worked and paid the bills. [I'm a surgical nurse.] It was working out fine until Phil became more than casually involved with a female classmate, and in a sequence of events they were both kicked out of school. [He had stolen a test and they were both caught in possession of it.]

Phil then transferred to another school. The girl also transferred with him. By the way, she's 21, divorced, and has a child.

I demanded a showdown and Phil said he "loved" us both and couldn't decide between her or me.

My pride was hurt, so I locked him out, and now, of course, he is seeing her.

I still love him and regret locking him out. I don't want to lose him, but I couldn't take his running from her to me.

Please tell me how to get him back. SORRY

DEAR SORRY: You could swallow what's left of your pride and ask Phil to reconsider, but after locking him out, I'd say you blew it.

DEAR ABBY: I get so riled up when I read those pathetic letters signed, "Neglected Mother," or "Forgotten Father." They are from old folks who are not wanted by their children. Abby, I wonder if they have ever stopped to ask themselves why?

One day, many years ago, I came home from work and found my four children watching TV. When I poked my head into the room, they didn't even say hello. I was hurt and angry. Then I said to myself: "You fool! If you can't make yourself more interesting than that damned TV set, it's your own fault."

I admit, I used a bit of bribery in the form of peppermint candy and a few minor toys, but within a few days when I entered the house, there were hoots and hollers: "Daddy's home!"

Old people should consider that their loneliness could be caused by themselves. Many are excused for being difficult because of their age. Why? No one has a right to be difficult whether he be young or old. Old age doesn't give one the license to complain all the time [we all have troubles], to talk all the time and reminisce too much [other people like to talk about themselves, too], or to expect constant attention.

Old people should make an effort to be good company. They should also have a hobby, so they can enjoy being alone.

I am 60 years of age, and if I grow old and nobody comes to see me, I hope I am wise enough to realize it's 99 per cent my own fault. CHARLIE IN ROME

DEAR CHARLIE: Loneliness for you? I'll bet against it.

Lynch-Stephenson Vows Repeated In Skellytown

The marriage of Miss Julia Kathleen Lynch and David Franklin Stephenson, Ft. Bragg, N.C., was solemnized at 8 p.m. Saturday, July 28, in the First Baptist Church, Skellytown.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Joe Lynch, Skellytown, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Joe Stephenson, also of Skellytown.

THE CEREMONY

Rev. Milton Thompson, pastor, officiated at the double - ring ceremony. Mrs. Larry (Vicki) Owens, organist, cousin of the bride, played traditional wedding selections and accompanied Miss Teresa Campbell, vocalist, as she sang "Whither Thou Goest." Other musical selections were the theme from "Romeo and Juliet," and the theme from "Love Story."

The ceremony was performed before a large tree candelabrum with two smaller tree candeabra on either side of two tall bouquet arrangements of white gladioli, accented by apple green satin bows. Pews of honor were marked by large pale green satin ribbon bows.

THE BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I," avowal, the bride was attired in a formal length wedding gown of white Chantilly lace over bridal taffetta designed with a scalloped neckline and sequin trim, gathered sleeves to just below the elbow, fitted from there to points over the hands. The gown was styled with a fitted bodice and a bouffant floor length skirt featuring rows of ruffles in waterfall fashion. A detachable chapel - length train fell from a coif decorated with tiny seed pearls, sequins and lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations with white satin ribbon streamers tied in love - knots atop a white Bible, a gift of the bridegroom's parents.

She carried out the tradition of something old, new, borrowed, and blue; something new was her wedding gown; something old was a Bible cover made of white satin and lace belonging to her cousin, Mrs. Larry (Vicki) Owens, a blue garter, and a six pence in her shoe.

Before the ceremony, the bride presented her mother a long - stemmed red rose, and as the couple left the altar she presented the bridegroom's mother a long - stemmed red rose. The bride sang "The Lords Prayer," after the vows had been repeated.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Randy (Lynda) Truelove, Dallas, sister of the bridegroom, served the bride as matron of honor, and maid of honor was Miss Sarah Lynch, sister of the bride. They both wore identical floor - length gowns of green and white lace over solid green satin styled with round necklines, short sleeves, and green satin belts. They wore garden hats with matching ribbons and carried cascading bouquets of white carnations with white satin ribbon streamers.

Dennis Tollison, cousin of the bride, and Tyson Bunn, Amarillo, cousin of the bridegroom, were candle lighters.

Serving as best man was Randy Stephenson, brother of the bridegroom, stationed at Bethesda Naval Hospital in Maryland. John Beck, stationed at Fort Bragg, N.C. with the U.S. Army, served as groomsman. Ushers were Danny Joe Stephenson, brother of bridegroom, Billy Lynch, brother of the bride, and Randy Truelove, brother - in - law of the bridegroom, Dallas.

Miss Sarah Lynch, sister of the bride, sang "Because," as the couple lighted a memory candle.

MOTHERS

The bride's mother wore a two - piece double knit street length dress of orange trimmed with white lace collar and cuffs. The bridesgroom's mother chose an apricot double knit one - piece street length dress. Both wore white accessories and corsages of white carnations.

MRS. DAVID FRANKLIN STEPHENSON
...nee Miss Julia Kathleen Lynch

RECEPTION

For the reception in the church parlor, the bride's table was covered with a floor - length green satin cloth with an inlay of white nylon lace. Serving as the table centerpiece were the bride's and the attendants bouquets. The five - tiered white wedding cake was baked and decorated by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Mary Tollison, Tacoma, Wash. The cake was decorated with mint green roses and rosebuds, held together by white Grecian pillars and topped with white sugar wedding bells. Serving the bridal cake was Mrs. Larry (Vicki) Owens and Miss Sarah Lynch, Miss Cindy Wofford and Miss Kathy Tice presided at the crystal punch bowl. Registering the wedding guests was Miss Cindy Wofford.

The bride chose a double knit green skirt, green and white check top, white accessories, and lifted the corsage from her bridal bouquet, for traveling to Amarillo.

The couple will reside in Fayetteville, N.C.

AFFILIATIONS

The bride is a 1972 graduate of White Deer High School. The bridegroom is a 1971 graduate of WDHS and is presently serving in the U.S. Army at Fort Bragg, N.C.

PRE-NUPTIAL EVENTS

The bride was honored July 17 with a bridal shower in Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church, Skellytown, hosted by Mmes. Gene Pace, Bill Campbell, Everett Crawford, C.D. McCloud, Troy May, Bill Moreland, Darwin Allen, Jim Davis, Jimmy Fox, Leroy Allen, Don Easley, Clifford Coleman, Bill Houghton, J.C. Jarvis, Ralph Fox Jr., Wesley Russell, M.L. Giesler, Jimmy Ray McCann, Jackie Cooper, Melvin Norris, Elmer Nichols and Paul Sangster.

OUT-OF-TOWN GUESTS

Attending the wedding from out - of - town were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Julia Tollison, Tacoma, Wash.; Mrs. George Pierce, Newark, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Harlin, Lubbock, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. R.A. McDonald and son Joe, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Riley and daughter Stacy, Mrs. Mary Tollison and Sissy Moreno, all of Tacoma; Mr. and Mrs. George Bunn and children, Amarillo; Jan Griffin and daughter Jackie Sue, Greeley, Colo., Mr. and Mrs. Weldon (Doc) Bates and daughter Tammy, Lefors; and Annabell Brown and Mrs. Ronald Bybee, Borger, Tex.

Watch the fishie?

NEW YORK (UPI) — Children who stare into fish tanks for a long time may be damaging their eyes, according to Dr. Alden Haffner, consultant to the Society for Visual Care and director of the Optometric Center of New York.

Haffner warned that youngsters should not get too close to fish tanks which have ultra-violet fluorescent lamps. The lamps emit rays which can be harmful to the tissues of the eyes after prolonged exposure.

The five official United Nations languages are English, French, Chinese, Spanish and Russian.

KATHRYN DIANNA TICE

Kathryn Dianna Tice, Skellytown, enlisted in the Navy Waves on Aug. 16.

Miss Tice is taking advantage of the six - month delay program, and will not report for recruit training in Orlando, Fla., until January, 1974.

After recruit training, Miss Tice will have a leave period of two weeks before she reports to her selected school of Hospital Corps Wave. Miss Tice is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benny Tice, Skellytown. She graduated from White Deer High School in 1973.

GORDON DEAN WARREN

Pampa has a hometown recruiter.

Pvt. Gordon Dean Warren, has returned to Pampa as a hometown recuiter. He will be working with Sgts. Ball and Baker, at the recruiting office on Cuyler St.

Warren enlisted in the Army on Sept. 15, 1972 for surveying.

After completing his training, he went to Ft. Sill. He was then chosen by his commanding officer to represent his unit as a hometown recruiter.

Warren is a 1972 graduate of Pampa High School.

Warren also got married this summer to a Pampa girl, LaDona Jo Knutson. They have an apartment in Lawton, Okla. and will return there after he has finished his job in Pampa.

He can be contacted at the recruiting station any time between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., phone 665-2022.

JOHN J. WALKER

USS DALE — Navy Yeoman Third Class John J. Walker, whose wife, Judy, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Faughn Hopper of 1128 Sierra, Pampa, Tex., is on an extended deployment in the Mediterranean on the staff of Commander Destroyer Squadron 32 aboard this guided missile frigate.

While in the Mediterranean the squadron will provide anti - submarine and anti - aircraft protection to our aircraft carriers on station guarding NATO's southern flank and will represent our country as "good will" ambassadors during port visits.

JOEY D. STONE

USS JONAS INGRAM — Navy Fireman Apprentice Joey D. Stone, son of Mrs. Pauline Barnes of Wheeler, Tex., participated in search and rescue operations in the Gulf of Aden as crewmember of this destroyer.

While operating with the U.S. Middle East Force June 25, 1973, Jonas Ingram received a distress call from the Indian merchant - passenger ship Saudi. After relaying this call through U.S. Navy channels in the Middle East, she proceeded at full speed to the last reported position of the stricken vessel.

Together with the Israeli merchantman Leora, the two ships initiated a search. Soon the Ingram began sighting and recovering survivors and bodies from the choppy water.

A total of 54 survivors and 6 bodies were brought aboard Ingram for transfer to a Somalian hospital.

This destroyer is a unit of Destroyer Squadron 14 and homeported in Mayport, Fla.

RONALD G. FELLOWS

A former Hawaii newspaper reporter and public relations man, Staff Sergeant Ronald G. Fellows has joined the staff of the Army's recruiting main station for West Texas, based in Amarillo.

Sgt. Fellows will serve as chief of the Advertising and Information Division at the recruiting management headquarters in Amarillo.

Brinlee In Port Arthur Area

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — State and federal law enforcement officers believe escaped killer Rex Brinlee Jr. is in the Port Arthur, Tex., area and that they can keep him there, Gov. David Hall's office said today.

Ed Hardy, Hall's pres aide, said officers also believe Brinlee has about $300 in cash and is dressed in civilian clothes. He said source of the money is un-clear.

Hardy said Brinlee apparently went to a small hotel in Shreveport, La., after police there released him at 9 a.m. Tuesday without knowing his true identity.

Two Boys Indicted

AUSTIN (UPI) — A Travis County peace justice Monday indicated two young boys at the Austin State School died at the hands of other mentally retarded students last year.

Peace Justice Jim Dear said he would report on a formal investigation into the March, 1972, deaths at a late afternoon news conference. Dear ordered the investigation Thursday.

Dear, in an interview with a Houston Chronicle reporter, said one of the boys "definitely" was stomped by a fellow student and other students "probably" killed another boy by stuffing sand down his throat.

Dear also said the deaths were never reported to the county coroner because of a "genuine misunderstanding" of the law rather than an attempt to cover up the deaths.

Austin police homicide Lt. Colon Jordan said today the deaths were never reported to the Austin police or the Texas Rangers — the two agencies which handle matters at the state institutions in the city. Jordan said each death was "just thrown into a corner and forgotten."

RETIRED — Joe C. Myers, former Pampa postal carrier, has retired from the Bakersfield, Calif., branch of the United States Post Office, where he was serving as superintendent of Station A. He began his 37-year career as a city carrier in Pampa in 1936, living at 411 S. Faulkner.

Pampa Resident Receives Recognition

The daughter of a late Pampa resident recently received a certificate of recognition for the military service rendered to the nation by her father.

Mrs. Rachel Bailey, 2105 N. Dwight, received a letter signed by President Nixon in honor of her late father, Charles T. Barnett, 80, who died June 26 of this year.

Presented through the mail, the letter reads:

"The United States of America honors the memory of Charles T. Barnett. This certificate is awarded by a grateful nation in recognition of devoted and selfless consecration to the service of our country in the Armed Forces of the United States."

Barnett served in World War I with the American Expeditionary Force as a member of the Keystone Dutch Division, 108th Machine Gun Battalion, 28th Division, in France. The unit was composed mostly of Pennsylvania Dutch.

He was discharged from the service in 1919.

Born Feb. 16, 1893, he had lived as a farmer north of Hollis, Okla., until he moved to Pampa seven years ago. He had remained here until two months before his death, when he was taken to the Veterans Administration Hospital in Amarillo.

He had eight children. One preceded him in death in 1948, with the other eight, including Mrs. Bailey, still living. Among his survivors are 30 grandchildren and 11 great - grandchildren.

TV blamed

BONN (UPI) — Television was blamed for poor attendance in movie houses in West Germany in 1972.

A total of 151 motion picture theaters closed, compared with the opening of 42 new houses. A cinema owners' organization said business was especially bad in small towns of less than 10,000 population. The Federal Republic had 3,112 movie houses at the end of 1972.

Oldtimers hired

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Oldtime comedians Ben Blue and Herbie Faye have been hired by NBC-TV as creative consultants for the network's variety-comedy Hour, "NBC Follies."

Battin' Around

By C.R. BATTEN

This observer has never met Dick Sill, of Reno, Nev., but I believe he is a person worth knowing. He recently resigned from the Board of Directors of the Sierra Club.

His immediate reason was to avoid a possible conflict of interest in his positions as chairman of the Environmental Studies Board (ESB) at the University of Nevada.

In his letter of resignation, he wrote "... there is pervasive distrust of the Sierra Club by the public in Nevada — a feeling that is based on two factors: a substantial disagreement with what is generally thought to be the Club philosophy and a displeasure with what is thought to be the Club's disregard for 'facts'.

"People with whom I must deal as ESB chairman hold the opinion that the Sierra Club changes, disregards, or invents facts to reflect its own point of view. Any information that I issue as a university professor and as chairman of the ESB not only must be free of bias but must also be considered to be free of bias, even by those who agree with my and the Club's position."

COINCIDENCE?

In the Jan. 30, 1973 Colorado Springs (Colo) Gazette Telegraph, columnists Howard Kershner and Edward Rowe wrote of a congressional investigation of grants that were being made by some of the great foundations to "left - wing agitation groups."

One of the investigators told Kershner and Rowe in 1962 of a conversation he had with Rowan Gaither when Gaither was president of the Ford Foundation.

"During those times, and without exception, we operated under directives issued by the White House, the substance of which was to the effect that we should make every effort to so alter life in the United States as to make possible a comfortable merger with the Soviet Union. We are continuing to be guided by just such directives."

The Ford Foundation Newsletter for Feb. 1, 1973 reports the Foundation has granted $143,000 to the Sierra Club legal defense fund for the defense of the environment through legal action. The grant will underwrite attorneys' fees in court cases concerning such matters as the protection of the wilderness and elimination of water pollution.

ENFORCED FREEDOM?

Word seems to have gotten around that this observer is a died - in - the - wool conservative — an accusation he will deny to the end of his days.

At any rate, I have been receiving a considerable amount of promotion literature recently from what appear to be conservative organizations that seem to be sprouting out of the woodwork.

Some time back it was "Friends of the FBI," promoting law and order and a probe of the news media. More recently, I have received fund - raising appeals from such organizations as "The American Security Council" and "The New Spirit of '76 Foundation."

The first impression is that the goals of the organizations are worth supporting — that they are working toward a strong and free America. On looking the literature over more closely, one can find no clear statement of goals or objectives.

Failing to find explicit goals, I look at the list of Very Important Persons who are on the board of directors, or the advisory committee, or whatever they have chosen to call themselves.

Almost invariably I find that the list is dominated by retired military men and members of Congress, with perhaps two or three presidents of large companies included as token representatives of free enterprise. The exception is the Friends of the FBI, which has an advisory board that appears to consist primarily of law and political science professors.

These are the people who are going to enforce freedom onto the people of the United States and the world — whether they want it or not.

Those organizations that get support from me are those that have no politicians or military men sitting on their governing bodies.

Tourists Crowd Village For Grand Prix Races

WATKINS GLEN, N.Y. (UPI) — This sleepy tourist village at the southern tip of Seneca Lake in New York's Finger Lakes region, is used to large crowds.

Three times a year, up to 100,000 jam the Grand Prix auto race track just south of the village for the finest in Can-Am auto racing.

But when 600,000 rock fans—some of whom walked from as far as 30 miles away—swarmed in to attend the "summer jam" rock festival, the villagers were caught off guard. And they say they never want their prideful village to be the site of such a massive gathering again.

The rock fest, which was planned for a crowd of about 150,000, became "the largest public gathering ever recorded in the history of the United States," according to the New York State Public Health Department.

"No one kid realized his responsibility in creating this, this rape of the land," said Mrs. Hope Merletti after the human wave swept out. Surveying her litter-strewn land and that of her neighbors, Mrs. Merletti was bitter about the whole experience.

Having moved to Watkins Glen only four months before the fest, Mrs. Merletti was extremely annoyed at the promoters. She was just one of the many living near the site whose property was damaged or destroyed.

"They ran a truck through our fence and field, and left about half a ton of litter in our yard," she said after starting to clean up. "They were just city kids, mostly, and they didn't know how to live in the country."

She said her neighbors were hit even harder than she was on her family's 32 acre site.

"Just look at poor Mr. Hughey," she commented about a neighbor whose home is at one of the track entrances mobbed by the concert-goers. "They've been living here all their life, the Hugheys, and now look at the garbage."

Down in the tiny one-street village, residents and business people were not so upset about the invasion. Many mentioned the long-term benefits, and said the rock fans were apparently on "their best behavior" when they came into town.

"I'm very proud of the young people," Mrs. Joseph Borzell said. "This crowd was even better than the race crowd."

Shopkeepers reported that the youths were generally very polite. There was no shoplifting to speak of, and that when they were faced with shortages the multitudes understood and didn't get out of hand.

The day after the concert, the town was strewn with papers and cans as if it had been hit by a tornado. But by mid-day, even that problem had been resolved.

At the festival site, where garbage was knee-deep in spots, crews were organized to clean up. They went into Montour Falls, Watkins Glen and other areas, cleaned up until the area was spotless and then returned to the race course for more work.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Hal's wife is insanely jealous and chronically accuses him of affairs with other women. Yet he is innocent, so is she having clandestine affairs herself? Or deceived him into thinking she was a virgin on their wedding day? Or is imbued with a sexual inferiority complex?

CASE X-585: Hal W., aged 28, is a handsome husband.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I am married to a wonderful girl whom I met in college.

"We have two children and what should be a very happy home.

"But my wife is insanely jealous!

"She accuses me of having affairs with girls at my office or even with attractive wives in our suburban neighborhood.

"Since I am a salesman, I often must deal with women and they always seem friendly to me, but I am not interested in affairs with them.

"Yet my wife refuses to believe that, so what's wrong with her?

"She knows I come home to her every night and am a devoted husband and father, so what makes her so insanely jealous?"

CAUSE OF JEALOUSY

Jealousy is generally based on a secret fear.

Its victim may imagine herself as lacking in the charms of her rivals so she believes others can outbid her for the affection of her mate.

Sometimes, however, it is a combination of buck-passing with a secret desire to punish herself.

For example if a wife is currently unfaithful and thus has numerous affairs of which her husband knows nothing, she may then pass the buck and accuse him of her own infidelity.

In this way, she figures she can divert his attention from suspecting her.

For in his preoccupation with proving that he is a faithful spouse, he doesn't think to suspect her.

"It takes a thief to catch a thief" is often pertinent in this type of situation.

Besides, many wives who feel this sense of guilt for their own clandestine affairs, thus plant the idea for the same infidelity in the minds of their husbands by such constant accusations.

"Dr. Crane," they will confess, "if he would only have an affair, too, then I'd not feel so guilty, for then we'd both be in the same boat."

So a wife's excessive jealousy can combine buck-passing with the additional idea of encouraging her mate to have an affair as a means of equalizing domestic sexual guilt!

But there is another deep-seated cause for jealousy in wives, even if they have never had outside affairs after marriage.

For example if a bride deceived her groom into thinking she was a virgin on their wedding day, but had been promiscuous previously, her conscience may bother her.

So she nags her husband with trumped up charges of infidelity with other women AFTER their wedding.

This chronic indulgence in accusations about sex, is thus a psychological safety valve, that helps reduce the twinges of her own conscience.

For as she continually repeats her false charges, she soon begins to believe them.

And this reduces her own inner feelings of guilt.

But another common cause for abnormal jealousy is based on a wife's belief that she is organically inadequate.

Even though she may have borne children, millions of such wives derive the notion that they are deficient in their sexual anatomy.

Watch for my actual diagnosis of Hal's wife on Wednesday!

GROWING-UP EXERCISES NO.6

Fingers and toes

(Marjorie Craig is the author of Miss Craig's 21-Day Shape-up Program for Men and Women and Miss Craig's Face-Saving Exercises — both best-sellers. She has directed the exercise program of Elizabeth Arden Salons for 21 years and has worked on physical rehabilitation with men, women and children at the Neurological Institute of Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center, N.Y.)

By MARJORIE CRAIG

This exercise is for the abdominal muscles. Do exercise six times (three for each leg).

Lie on the back on the floor, arms at sides, legs extended. Bend knees slightly and try to keep the bottom of the feet on the floor.

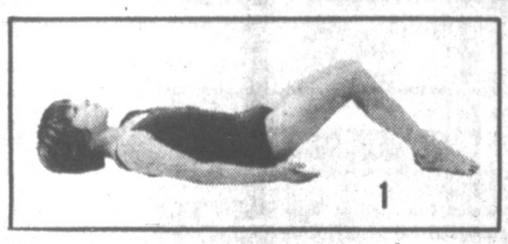

As you raise the head, bring the shoulders, back and arms up off the floor, all at the same time.

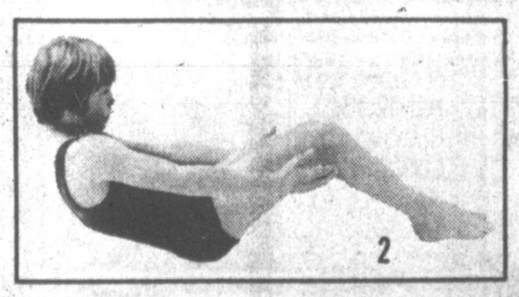

Raise one leg and touch both hands to the lifted foot.

Lower the back, arms, head and leg back to the floor at the same time. Keep the knee bent and place one foot on the floor beside the other foot. Rise again in the same manner and repeat the exercise with the other leg.

Broadway

By JACK GAVER
UPI Drama Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — There are still some sanguine folks in Broadway show business looking to the fall season.

Full-page newspaper ads on June 24 announced theaters and opening dates for two ambitious new musicals. That's confidence.

One is "Molly," starring Kay Ballard, Oct. 8 at the Alvin Theater, tune version of the famous "Goldbergs" radio and television series, created and starred in by the still-lamented Gertrude Berg. It plays Boston Sept. 3—22.

The other is "Raisin," which opens Oct. 18 at the 46th Street Theater. This is a musical based on the late Lorraine Hansberry's prize drama, "A Raisin in the Sun," about a Negro family's efforts to find a better place to live. It has had a successful engagement at the Arena State in Washington, D.C. It will play a Philadelphia engagement, prior to New York, beginning Sept. 12.

***

Visitors to New York this summer will find the fewest number of Broadway shows in many years, nine at most. These are the ones they can reasonably count on:

"Grease," Royal Theater; "Pippin," Imperial; "A Little Night Music," Shubert; "Irene," Minskoff; "Seesaw," Uris; "Don't Bother Me, I Can't Cope," Edison; "That Championship Season," Booth; "The Sunshine Boys," Broadhurst and "The River Niger," Atkinson.

The first six in that list are musicals.

The off-Broadway list is also slim: "The Fantasticks," Sullivan Street; "The Faggot," Truck and Warehouse; "Godspell," Promenade; "Hot 1 Baltimore," Circle in the Square; "National Lampoon's Lemmings," Village Gate, and "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest," Mercer-Hansberry.

A little travel out to Jones Beach on the south shore of Long Island will be rewarding because the open-air amphi-theater there has a fine revival of the Rodgers—Hammerstein "Carousel" musical through Labor Day.

If it is Shakespeare you want, a slightly longer trip to the American Shakespeare Theater in Stratford, Conn., will find "Julius Caesar," "Measure for Measure" and "Macbeth", as well as the Wycherley comedy classic, "The Country Wife."

Visitors with a leaning toward nostaglia, seniors with memories and juniors who want to know about the past, can get a free sample of the theater through Labor Day at the Museum of the City of New York, where a display of Ziegfeldiana can be found.

This consists of costumes, scenery models, photographs, posters, playbills and sheet music of the many musicals produced by the late Florenz Ziegfeld in a fabulous career of some 25 years.

Lt. Gov. To Speak At Dinner

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby will be the guest speaker at an appreciation dinner in honour of Sen. Max Sherman and Rep. Dean Cobb for the work they have done in getting the Palo Duro River Authority bill passed.

Cobb introduced the bill creating the authority in the House and Sherman pushed it through the Senate.

The Chambers of Commerce of Spearman and Perryton will co - host the dinner at the Perryton Club in Perryton, Tuesday, Aug. 21.

Investment Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — The report Vice President Spiro Agnew was under investigation regarding contract awards "apparently resulted in weakness in the dollar overseas after some recent strength," says E. F. Hutton. The stock market more often than not, according to the firm, has tended to follow the daily trend of the dollar in foreign markets in the past couple of months. Despite Wall Street's negative response to the Agnew story, this news development temporarily will "unsettle the market but is not likely to have any lasting impact," it adds.

"The prevalent belief that common stocks no longer provide a satisfactory hedge against inflation is a myth," says Wright Investors' Service of Bridgeport, Conn. Over the past ten years the Consumer Price Index has grown by 44 per cent, the firm says, but the price of the Dow Jones Industrial Average has risen by 39 per cent while its dividend income has increased by 42 per cent. On the other hand, the market value of the average high-grade bond has dropped by 34 per cent over the same period with no increase in interest income, it adds.

"Fears of a global depression are ill-founded," according to Loeb Rhoades' Fortnightly Review. Although the unrest in foreign exchange markets and unruly capital flows have raised the specters of the '30s, "today's economics are not deflation prone," the letter says. The depression of the '30s was brought on by underutilization of resources and price weakness, it says, while the major industrial nations now are faced with inflation stemming from their commitment to full employment.

The market's strong performance in July should spur some consolidation and profit taking, says Laidlaw-Coggershall's Monthly Investment Letters. It advises investors to take advantage of good values now since it might prove costly to wait for a market slump. "Money awaiting investment is sitting on the sidelines, and once investors feel that the bull market has resumed, aggressive buying will take place," the letter says.

Actor Married Saturday

WELLFLEET, Mass. (UPI) — Actor Tony Perkins with his dog acting as best man married photographer-socialite Berinthia Berenson in a small private ceremony on Cape Cod Thursday, it was announced Saturday.

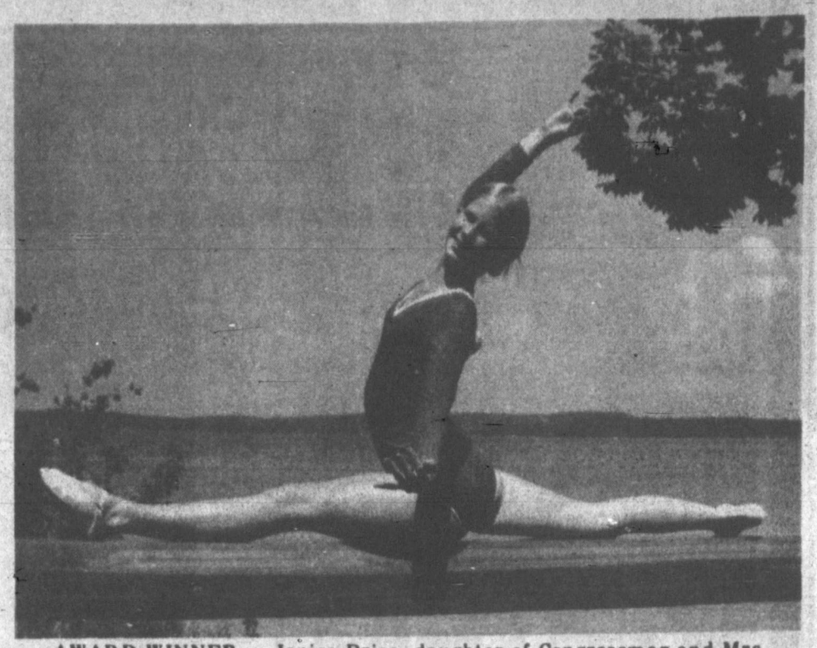

"It was a very simple little service," said the Rev. Ernest Davis Vanderburgh, an Episcopal minister at whose home the couple was married.

Vanderburgh said "six or eight" persons attended and Perkins' collie Murray was best man.

"He (the dog) walked with the bridal couple," Vanderburgh said. "He did a very good job. The dog stood by his master during the ceremony."

The couple dressed very casually for the garden wedding and picnic that followed. The bride, the granddaughter of famed French couturier Elsa Schiaparelli, was shoeless while Perkins, the Broadway and Hollywood star who played the quiet killer in the movie "Psycho," wore 15-year-old white bucks.

The Perkinses announced earlier that they are expecting a child.

AWARD WINNER — Janice Price, daughter of Congressman and Mrs. Bob Price, Pampa, won a first beam award in Level 5 competition in the age group gymnastics competition at the National Summer Palaestrum in Williamsburg, Mich., recently.

Business Today

By DEAN C. MILLER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Budgeting is an economic "must" for nations, businesses and individuals, so teaching a child how to manage money should be done as early as possible.

Since spending habits are acquired at an early age, that's when parents should start the learning process.

Children first notice money when they visit stores with parents or friends. Shopping trips with pre-schoolers might be the best time to start the learning process, according to "Consumer Views," a First National City Bank of New York publication which has reviewed the question. "Give your toddler or five-year old some change and let him pay for his own crayons," the bank suggests.

Once the child becomes aware of numbers let him decide whether he wants to spend his coin on one soda or a pack of gum. Under five or six, according to the experts, children still are too young for a weekly allowance. They don't have a sense of "tomorrow," a necessary ingredient in any such planning.

At the start, keep the child's budget responsibilities simple. An allowance for a child under eight or nine should be only enough to buy ice cream, inexpensive toys and other small things that make him happy.

At nine or 10, the allowance can cover more needs. Here's when the "heart to heart" talks begin. Sit down with him and list his needs and fancied needs — lunch, carfare, movies, magazines. Along about that time it also might be wise to help the child set up a record of what he spends for a period of two weeks or so.

Experts say an allowance should be kept on a business basis. Forget emotionalism or forget the experiment. If the allowance is designed to teach the child to handle money it should be a regular part of his life. Not a carrot dangled before his nose.

There's nothing wrong with making junior stay home from a movie because he refused to clean up his room. But disciplinary action should come after the allowance is handed over, not tied in with it through withholding.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

TUESDAY, AUGUST 14

Your birthday today: Finds you in transition from an experimental or provisional state of affairs to a firmly organized pattern of daily living. You will be busy during the coming year. Relationships depend on others keeping up with you. Today's natives have strong inclinations, often indulge in philosophy.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: See if you can quiet yourself to let processes of life work out smoothly. Some things you were worried about take care of themselves.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: If you can think of a nice way to rearrange your environment, begin doing it. Express your desires clearly.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Planned exercise is preferable to the fidgets. Friends you thought were aloof turn out otherwise.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Be an attentive listener, because all sorts of puzzles are unraveling in slips of the tongue. Extras pay off now—be diligent!

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Awkward as it is, you're almost certain to change your mind at the last minute, to the inconvenience of all.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Your word is being awaited in far places and nearby as well—catch up ongoing correspondence. Home chores should be taken care of now!

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Now is the time to take in the slack, tighten up details, check to make sure something important isn't being neglected.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: There's an undercurrent of excitement, perhaps romance, in almost anything you get into this complex day.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: People about you experience high tensions, get slight but significant results, —new directions are taken, slowly.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: There's nothing quite like getting together with those who share your interests to settle issues.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: If you can let well enough alone during the working day, you will have an opportunity to pick up the pieces later.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Decide early what you want done, persisting in important matters until you either get your way or know why not.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Oswald: "Sonny Moyse was similar to us in that when he got married he got the better of the deal. Jackie, his wife, played fairly good bridge, but Sonny wrote many articles describing some outrageous play by Jackie."

Jim: "Jackie probably would have killed him if it weren't for the fact that her outrageous plays always worked."

Oswald: "The correct play of today's slam is for South to win the heart lead, draw trumps and go after diamonds. Assuming the suit breaks 4-2, South makes all the tricks."

Jim: "Sonny's story was that he was called to the phone as the hand was being dealt and got back to find that Jackie had picked up his hand and bid to six spades. He wanted to play but the opponents insisted that since Jackie had bid it she had to play it."

Oswald: "Jackie won the heart lead and led a low heart at trick two. The best West could do was to ruff with the three-spot. Jackie overruffed with the five, drew trumps and had 12 tricks in spite of the bad diamond break. Her play only worked because East held the 9-8-6 of spades, but it worked, which is what counts when the score is added up."

The Woman's View

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Today's young women show the usual concerns about clothes, boys, and careers after college.

But they show also deep concern with Watergate and President Nixon, today's more permissive morality, our ecology, and our world involvement to name a few.

They also talk in retrospect about their lives, even though they are just getting out of their teens.

These are some of the topics that emerged from a rap session with eight college women—juniors and seniors—during their week-long visit to New York recently.

All Win Scholarships

The trip, including glamour trappings like the theater and getting hair and makeup done at a famous Fifth Avenue salon, was part of their reward in a Cover Girl contest now in its fourth year.

All also won scholarships.

The sponsor of the annual competition is Masland Duraleather of Philadelphia, producer of upholstery vinyls. Each year, the manufacturer chooses 150 college girls to represent it at major furniture markets and help establish communications between the home furnishings industry and today's youth. The eight finalists were drawn from the 150.

This year's national scholarship winner of $2,000 was Mary Anne Shirley of Macon, Ga., a senior at Agnes Scott College, Atlanta.

Regional winners of $1,000 scholarships each were:

Nixon Reactions Mixed

Chrissa Cutrona of Wilmington, Del., senior at High Point, N.C. College; Linda Dyson of Richardson, Tex., a junior at North Texas State University; Kathleen Heckler of Palo Alto, Calif., a junior at Foothill Junior College, Palo Alto; Joyce Jakobczak of Chicago, senior at the University of Illinois; Deborah Misenheimer of Rockwell, N.C., a junior at Lenoir-Rhyne College, Hickory, N.C.; Denise Muller of Massapequa, N.Y., senior at Dowling College, Oakdale, N.Y.; and Sue Williams of Long Beach, Calif., senior at Long Beach City College.

Almost all have definite career aims from teaching the mentally retarded to fashion buying to advertising.

Two of the eight are engaged, however, and a third is dating steadily. One definitely was opposed to going "steady" —"I just want to give everyone a chance;" she said with a laugh.

Their reactions were mixed on President Nixon's future actions because of the Watergate burglary.

An Individual Decision

"Though I believe the President's actions were disgraceful, to resign might throw the country into chaos...," said Miss Shirley.

"At this point, no (to resignation)," said Miss Cutrona. "I still must say President Nixon has done a lot for the U.S. in his own political way."

"Not yet (to resignation)," said Miss Dyson, "though he needs to appear and testify now..."

"Yes (to resignation)," said Miss Jakobczak. "The whole Nixon 'reign' has been a sham to the American Public..."

Of today's liberalization of moral codes including condoning of couples living together without marriage contract, the consensus was that the matter has to be an individual decision but that it takes a lot of emotional stability to go that route.

Science Today

By RAY MEANS

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — A penny arcade in science has opened in Balboa Park here with promises to entertain and educate simultaneously.

The Reuben H. Fleet Science Center provides about 30 exhibits ranging from age finders to parabolic reflectors. Most require audience participation and all illustrate basic scientific principles.

"We're trying to teach the basics of science through participation," executive director W. Michael Sullivan said. "We want to make science as fun as possible."

The parabolic reflectors are called "whisper dishes." The two 12-foot diameter dishes are placed about 80 feet apart. Visitors climb 6-foot-high stairs opposite the dishes, and the voice of one carries across the room to the other because of the shape of the reflectors and the distance.

The age finder merely involves the participant answering yes-or-no questions six times by pushing a button to determine his age.

These, as well as many of the other exhibits, have been featured variously throughout the country but this is the first time such an extensive collection has found a permanent place in the United States.

"The Ontario (Canada) space center is similar and has helped us as a consultant," Sullivan said.

He said the exhibit, when it reaches the desired level, will be worth about $500,000.

Most of the attractions resemble machines in arcades with buttons and dials. They do not cost a penny, but there is a nominal charge unless one also is visiting the adjacent space theater.

Former Prison Inmate Founds Organization

AUGUSTA, Maine (UPI) — A former Maine State Prison inmate who began earning his college degree while serving a 2½-year sentence didn't forget fellow inmates when he finally obtained his freedom.

Robert Lovell has taken a handful of volunteers from an ex-offenders organization he founded, a local-rap-and-rescue center, the University of Maine, and the state Education Department and established a makeshift high school at the Augusta City Jail.

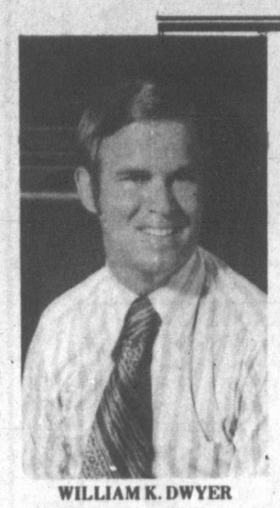

Four nights a week the volunteers go through the steel doors and conduct classes for a group of inmates ranging in age from 17 to 36 and in past educational experience from the sixth to the eighth grades.

"I firmly believe education is the tool that's going to create the means by which inmates will be accepted back in society," Lovell said.

"Up until this point, the guys at the jail have only been up to the eighth grade and the doors to employment are closed to them because of the lack of a high school diploma," he said. "Without jobs when they get out, they turn to booze or drugs and then there's a need for money and they begin committing crimes again."

After spending time in the Maine State Prison for forgery, Lovell was allowed to go to the county jail here to participate in a successful work-release program in which he began earning his college degree at the nearby branch of the University of Maine.

AMARILLO — Ten orientation sessions for all first - year Amarillo College students will be conducted Aug. 13-24, according to Fred Dodson, director of the college's counseling center. Approximately 80 students will be in each daily session beginning at 9 a.m. in the Concert Hall - Theater of the Fine Arts Complex.

Among the activities for the orientation are slide presentations, a tour of facilities, general discussion sessions with AC counselors and sophomore students and refreshments.

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Monday, Aug. 13, the 225th day of 1973 with 140 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter.

The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn.

The evening stars are Venus and Jupiter.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Leo.

American pioneer social reformer Lucy Stone was born Aug. 13, 1818.

On this day in history:

In 1923, the No. 1 song hit in the United States was "Yes, We Have No Bananas."

In 1930, Captain Frank Hawkes set a speed record by flying from Los Angeles to New York in 12 hours and 25 minutes.

A thought for the day: British novelist John Galsworthy said, "If you do not think about the future, you cannot have one."

Marker To Be Dedicated

McLean — On Sept. 29, 1872 the Battle of the Northfork of the Red River was fought. The participants were Col. Ranald Slidell Mackenzie and Chief Maw - wi of the Comanche Indians.

A marker commemerating that event will be dedicated by the Gray County Historical Survey Committee. The site of the marker is 14 miles northwest of McLean and 10 miles southeast of Lefors on Highway 273. The dedication will be made at 3 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 19.

The program will have youth participation being stressed.

A local high school band will furnish music. John Michael Haynes, a recent graduate of Texas Tech with a major in journalism, will deliver the dedicatory address, and Miss Gay Simpson, a music major at Wayland Baptist College, will accompany herself on the guitar as she sings "America the Beautiful."

A featured guest will be your youthful State Rep. Phil Cates.

John C. Haynes, president of the Alanreed - McLean Historical Society, will be master of ceremonies. Boyd Reeves will give the invocation and County Judge. Don Cain will introduce special guests, one of whom is expected to be Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

None Good As Nicklaus In PGA Golf

CLEVELAND (UPI) — It takes more than a champion to beat the very best and there were none quite that good at Canterbury Sunday when Jack Nicklaus wrote himself into golfing history by winning the PGA National championship.

When the 33-year-old Nicklaus dropped his final putt for a last - round 69 and a 72 - hole total of 277, seven under par, he won his third PGA title and his 14th major championship, one more than the legendary Bobby Jones.

Australia's Bruce Crampton, the tour's leading money winner who finished second to Nicklaus for the third time in a major event, put it perfectly when he said: "It took the best in the world to beat me. I don't say this egotistically, but you don't beat the best when he does not make a mistake."

And that was Nicklaus through four rounds of golf played in stifling heat and on a demanding course. He made only five bogeys.

Listen to Tom Weiskopf, who is no slouch himself, having won five of his last 10 tournaments, and tied for sixth here:

"You have a great champion. Jack Nicklaus is the greatest golfer who ever played the game."

Crampton in Contention

Crampton was in contention until he bogeyed the 13th to fall three shots back, lost further ground on 16 and 17, but birdied the 18th for a 70 and 281 to be alone in second place.

Lanny Wadkins, 69; J.C. Snead, 71, and Mason Rudolph, 73, finished in a three-way tie at 282.

Veteran Mason Rudolph threw the book at Nicklaus only to have it come back at him and he double-bogeyed the final hole to lose $13,791.67.

Don Iverson, within three strokes of the lead, finished bogey-double bogey-par and lost a lot of change; Crampton bogeyed three of the last six holes before he nailed down second place with a birdie on No. 18; Jim Colbert choked on the last four, while Weiskopf, who made only six pars in a strange round, finished bogey-bogey.

Iverson's fall from grace probably was the most tragic. He was playing in his first major event and has won only small change compared with the great names of the game. His name had been on the leader board for the four days and 69 holes but then the pressure got to him. Those three finishing holes probably cost him in the region of $18,000.

He Earns $7,311.67

Iverson earned $7,311.67.

But Iverson at least had the honor of finishing ahead of U.S. Open champion Johnny Miller, 69-217; Lee Trevino, a member of the millionaire club, 67-286, and defending champion Gary Player, 78-216. Arnold Palmer didn't even make the 36-hole cut.

Apart from his three PGA titles, Nicklaus has taken the U.S. Open three times; won four Masters titles, and two British Opens. He also won two U.S. amateur titles.

The $45,000 Nicklaus earned brought his 1973 winnings to $245,424, second only to Crampton, and his career figure to $1,949,129.

Crampton's second-place finish was worth $25,700, while Wadkins, J. C. Snead and Rudolph picked up $11,908.

Nicklaus' victory qualifies him to play in the World Series of Golf for the ninth time in its 12-year history. He will be joined in the field by Tommy Aaron, the Masters champion; U.S. Open champion Johnny Miller and British Open winner Tom Weiskopf.

The 36-hole competition is scheduled for Sept. 8-9 at Firestone Country Club in nearby Akron, Ohio. First place is worth $50,000; second $15,000; third $7,500 and fourth $5,000.

Cards Drop 7th Straight Sunday

By United Press International

Sparky Anderson has stopped worrying about the nation's energy crisis and has turned the power on as his "Big Red Machine" moves into high gear.

Doubles by Bobby Tolan and Pete Rose sparked a five-run second inning for Cincinnati Sunday as the Reds beat St. Louis, 7-2, for the Cardinals' seventh straight loss.

The victory was the Reds' 33rd in their last 43 games, a blistering .767 percentage, as Cincinnati stayed within 1½ games of the division-leading Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League West. The Cardinals' losing streak matches their worst of the year, in mid-April, when their record fell to 1-12.

Don Gullett recorded his fifth consecutive victory for the Reds in raising his record to 14-8.

The Reds are finally making their long-expected move after being a disappointment to both Anderson and themselves in the early going. The addition of Fred Norman from San Diego, who has won nine games since coming to Cincinnati, has kept the Reds in contention. The rapid development of hot-hitting Dan Driessen coupled with the fine play of Darryl Chaney, subbing for injured All-Star shortstop Dave Concepcion, also has contributed to the Reds' recent success.

Reds Break Game Open

The Reds broke the game open in the second when they scored five runs on four hits and three walks. Tolan led off with a double to right. St. Louis starter Tom Murphy then walked Cesar Geronimo and Ed Crosby to load the bases before striking out Gullett. Rose, the NL's leading hitter, ran his hiting streak to 14 games with a two-run double. Driessen singled across two more runs with Johnny Bench driving in the final run of the inning.

In other National League action, San Diego and Montreal split a doubleheader, the Expos winning the opener, 2-0, and the Padres taking the nightcap, 4-3, in 10 innings. Pittsburgh stopped Atlanta, 5-2, Houston edged Chicago, 3-2, San Francisco topped New York, 4-1, and Los Angeles nipped Philadelphia, 2-1.

In the American League Boston bombed California, 14-8, Detroit whipped Chicago, 6-2, Oakland outslugged New York, 13-12, Baltimore downed Kansas City, 10-6, Milwaukee scored a 10-9 10th-inning triumph over Minnesota, and Cleveland edged Texas, 7-6, in 11 innings.

Brooks-Plymouth Winning Combination

TALLADEGA, Ala. (UPI) — Californian Richard Brooks arrived for the Talladega 500 stock car race without a car.

"I needed $1,000 to complete my own car," said the 1969 NASCAR rookie of the year. So he started looking around for a car and a sponsor for the race. It wasn't easy.

But Brooks, 31, entered the race Sunday and won it, thanks to the assistance of track managers who seated him in an Eastern Airlines-sponsored Plymouth, where he qualified 24th in the 50-car field.

Brooks won $20,815 in the race that was marred by the death of 1972 NASCAR rookie of the year Larry Smith, 30, of Lenoir, N.C., in a single-car wreck on the 14th lap.

At an average speed of 145.454 m.p.h., Brooks crossed the finish line only 7.2 seconds ahead of Buddy Baker, whose tomato - red Dodge was leading with about 30 miles to go when an oil filter broke, triggering the last of seven caution flags that slowed the pace.

With most reports indicating that Brooks was a lap behind the leaders, David Pearson was in second place and appeared to have the victory in hand.

Instead he finished third behind Baker and brought his career earnings to $995,960, just shy of becoming the second million-dollar winner in NASCAR behind Petty.

When the green flag fell again with eight laps to go, Brooks trapped Pearson in slower traffic and shoved his Plymouth into the lead. Baker passed Pearson when his Mercury broke a valve.

Smith, driving a Mercury, was going into the No. 1 turn on the 14th lap when his right front tire blew, throwing his car into the retaining wall on the long banked curve.

Most track veterans agreed that the wreck did not appear serious with Smith's car sliding along the wall and then caroming into the infield after traffic cleared.

But Smith sustained massive head injuries and was pronounced dead on arrival at the infield hospital.

Betty Takes LPGA Golf

WADSWORTH, Ill. (UPI) — Betty Burfeindt, adopting the power of positive thinking, set a target score for herself and she was right.

She wanted to shoot a three-under-par 70 Sunday because she estimated that would win the $4,500 top prize in the LPGA's Child and Family Services Open. Instead she shot a 68, tying the course record, and won by three strokes with a seven-under-par 212 for 54 holes.

"After finishing second four times this year," she said, "I don't want to be considered a bridesmaid and I wanted to prove I could still win."

She made up eight strokes on front-running Debbie Austin in the final 18 holes.

Miss Burfeindt said the turning point came on the 16th green when Laura Baugh, the 18-year-old rookie playing her sixth pro tourney, dropped a 15-foot putt to come within two strokes of Miss Burfeindt.

"I knew I had to make the putt," Miss Burfeindt said, "and when I did, it just put more pressure on her."

Miss Austin, setting the pace into the final round, slumped to a 75 and had no apologies. "I played well," she said, "and all I can do is to go out and try to win the next one."

Miss Austin wound up tied with Miss Baugh, each earning $2,995, with a four-under-par 215 for 54 holes while Jan Ferraris came up with a 72 for 217 and fourth place to earn $2,140.

Janet LePera and Gloria Ehret tied for fifth for $1,640 and Jackie Evans, Sandra Spuzich, Renee Powell and Miss Kazmierski got $1,105 for a tie at 220, one over par.

Jarrier Drives March To Title In F-2 Division

KARLSKOGA, Sweden (UPI) — Jean-Pierre Jarrier of France, driving a March, won the Swedish Formula-Two Grand Prix by less than a second Sunday and captured the overall European Championship title in the class.

Jarrier covered the 48 laps, a distance of 89.4 miles, in 59 minutes, 14.4 seconds, averaging 96.3 miles per hour. The win boosted Jarrier's point total in the European Championships to an unbeatable 63 points.

Jochen Mass of West Germany and Patrick Depailler of France, who are second and third respectively in the standings, did not take part.

Giants Nip Pats, 13-7

FOXBORO, Mass. (UPI) — For the New York Giants, it was an exhibition game in which everyone played.

For the New England Patriots, it was a series of mental lapses.

But for the fans and history, it was a dull 13-7 win by the Giants in a National Football League Sunday night pre - season contest.

Giants Coach Alex Webster said his primary concern was to look over his young players. "I think the big thing this week was that we shuttled a lot of people around. When our first team was in, we did a good job controlling the ball. But we experimented a lot in the first part of the game and we were a little unorganized."

New England Coach Chuck Fairbanks did not see what he was looking for.

"It was a very disappointing game because we played an undisciplined game. We had a lot of effort but it was all physical. We were stopped on a lot of our drives by our own mental lapses."

Giants Pay Attention

The Giants paid attention for three periods, building a 13-0 lead on field goals of 12 and 35 yards by Pete Gogolak and a nine-yard Norm Snead-to-Gary Ballman pass.

Randy Johnson played the first half, leading the Giants to their two field goals. Johnson, who completed 15 for 15 last weekend against the San Diego Chargers, connected on his first six tosses against New England before Joe Orduna dropped a pass.

Snead opened the second half and drove the Giants 80 yards in 11 plays, running on his bad legs for six yards to keep the march alive. University of Connecticut rookie Vin Clements, who ran 64 yards in 10 carries and collected 30 yards on three catches, spearheaded the drive.

New England's only score came at 0:03 of the final quarter on a Paul Gipson oneyard plunge against the flow to cap a 48-yard, six-play journey downfield.

Herron Sets Up TD

Newly acquired 5-foot-5 back Mack Herron set up the TD with a 50-yard punt return. Quarterback Brian Dowling, subbing for ineffective Jim Plunkett, was aided by a Giant offsides that offset a missed field goal and a 31-yard pass interference call that brought the ball to the two.

New England's bid to win the game late in the final period was snuffed out by a penalty. Plunkett had scrambled 17 yards to the Giants 20 but the play was called back because of holding.

The Kansas City Chiefs play host to the Detroit Lions tonight to wind up the second big weekend of NFL pre - season activity.

In Saturday night's action, Miami edged New Orleans, 14-13, Cincinnati bombed Philadelphia, 45-21, Atlanta topped Baltimore, 34-20, Minnesota topped Pittsburgh, 10-6, Chicago whipped Houston, 34-7, Green Bay outlasted Buffalo, 10-3, Oakland edged Dallas, 27-26, St. Louis topped San Diego, 17-13, the New York Jets whipped San Francisco, 34-14, and Cleveland tied Los Angeles, 10-10.

Texas Sells Rico To Chicago Cubs

ARLINGTON, Tex. (UPI) — The Texas Rangers sold outfielder Rico Carty to the Chicago Cubs Sunday for an undisclosed amount of money.

Carty, 35, has been put on the disabled list recently with a broken bone in his right foot. He was hitting .232 with three home runs and 33 runs batted in in 86 games for the Rangers.

Lee Would Make NBA

CHICAGO (UPI) — If Houston first baseman Lee May was performing in the National Basketball Association, it's a cinch he'd be a star.

The accolade was made Sunday by Chicago Cub's shortstop Don Kessinger, a one time school basketball All American.

Kessinger called the "pick" made by May in the seventh inning one of the best screens he had ever seen. May, who had singled off Cub starter Bill Bonham, had advanced to second on a single by John Edwards. There were two outs at the time and Houston trailed 2-0.

But Cub rookie second baseman Dave Rosello had gone into short right field to take the cut off throw from Jose Cardenal.

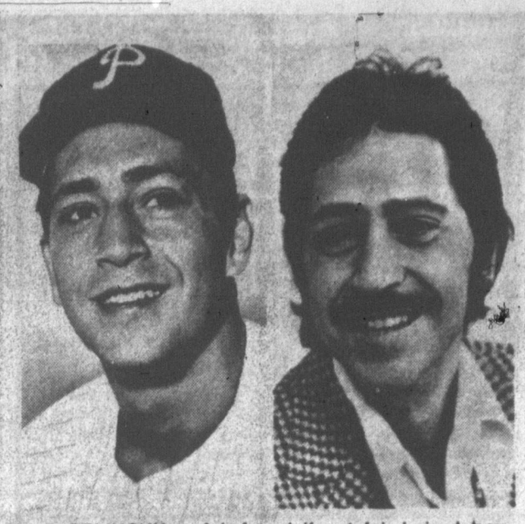

"Nobody expected Rosello to throw the ball to anybody since the runners were not advancing," Kessinger explained. "All of the sudden, Rosello threw the ball and in order for me to catch it I would have had to go around May.

"May was blocking me and I couldn't move. If we had been playing basketball it would have been a great 'pick,'" said Kessinger.

The ball eventually wound up in short left field allowing May and Edwards to advance to second and third. Tommy Helms singled both runners home to tie the score and Houston added a run in the eighth inning to seal the Cubs' eighth straight loss.

Asked if there was any ray of hope in the Cub's fortunes in the wake f their 19th loss in their last 24 games, Lockman answered, "The Cardinals have now lost seven in a row and thes could have been at leas 0 games up on us."

"I guess you would have o say i is an encouraging sign," Lockman said. "But when you lose, you lose, and I can't see anything good about that. I refuse to blame anybody for our losing streak or try to figure out what we are doing wrng. We ave been in every ball game."

Donohue Paces Field In Mid-Ohio Can-Am Race

LEXINGTON, Ohio (UPI) — Brakes made the difference Sunday for Mark Donohue and George Follmer.

The brakes on Donohue's Porsche 917-30 were working exceptionally well and he won the $75,000 Can-Am race at the Mid-Ohio Sports Car Course.

But the brakes on Follmer's Porsche 917-10 had fading problems and George finished second in the 200-mile race over the 2.4-mile course.

"We got into a little traffic and with the brake problem, he (Donohue) was able to get by," said Follmer, of Arcadia, Calif. "My brakes were fading somewhat and Mark was able to brake later."

Donohue, of Newtown Square, Pa., shadowed Follmer for 36 laps of the second heat in the race before making his move in the 79th lap, passing Follmer on the end of the back straight and holding the lead until the checkered flag.

Donohue earned $15,000 for his victory, the first for him at Mid-Ohio in five years. He set a record for the course, averaging 101.480 miles per hour for the first 42-lap heat, and 101.339 miles per hour for the second heat.

Donohue started his Porsche on the pole position for both heats, but in each case was passed by Follmer on the first lap.

"My plugs were a little fouled at the start of the second heat," and I couldn't get a good jump," Donohue said. "But in the first heat, I just flat got blown off."

Donohue earned 20 Canadian-American Challenge Cup series points for the win, his second straight. His total of 59 points give him the commanding lead in the series with four of the eight races completed.

Follmer got $11,000 and 15 series points for his second place finish. The event boosted his series total to 35 points.

Porsche recorded a 1-2-3 finish in the race as Hurley Haywood, Jacksonville, Fla., placed third in another Porsche 917. Derek Bell of Chicester, England and Bobby Brown, of Syosset, N.Y., both driving a McLaren M8F, took fourth and fifth.

Of the 24 cars which started the first heat, only 15 were running at the conclusion of the 84 laps.

Among the casualties were No. 2 qualifier Jody Scheckter of South Africa in his Porsche 917, and the fourth fastest qualifier, David Hobbs of England in a McLaren.

Both experienced mechanical failures and were forced to retire.

Tragedy Mars Talladega Race

TALLADEGA, Ala. (UPI) — The festive atmosphere that surrounds the annual Talladega 500-mile stock car race was marred Sunday by the death of Larry Smith, NASCAR's 1972 rookie of the year.

Smith, 30, of Lenoir, N.C., died when his 1971 Mercury crashed into a restraining wall on turn No. 1 at the Alabama International Motor Speedway only 14 laps after the race began.

He was declared dead on arrival at the infield hospital. Doctors said Smith received massive head injuries in the crash.

No other vehicles in the 50-car field were involved in the wreck.

Smith was the first NASCAR driver to be killed in a race since Friday Hassler died at Daytona Beach in February of 1972.

Officials said an examination of Smith's car indicated the right front tire blew, slinging him into the wall on the high-banked turn.

Smith, a Navy veteran, began small track racing in 1962 and joined the NASCAR circuit in March, 1972. He finished in the top 10 in six races that year to capture the rookie of the year honors.

He was 24th in Grand National point standings with his best finishes being sixth place at the World 600 in Charlotte, N.C., and at the Motor State 400 at Michigan International Speedway.

Secretariat Sick, Won't Attend Race

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (UPI) — Secretariat, the first horse in 25 years to win the Triple Crown, has been declared out of this Saturday's $100,000-added Traver Stakes for 3-year-olds here because of a cold.

The Meadow Stable colt, already syndicated for a record $6.08 million when he retires to stud next year, was found ailing over the weekend. The illness forced trainer Lucien Laurin to call off Tuesday's scheduled workout for "Super Red," and cancellation of the workout, Laurin said, would make it impossible to get Secretariat ready for the 1¼-mile Travers.

Secretariat, with over $900,000 in career winnings, was upset Aug. 4 by Onion in the Whitney Stakes. The next day, Laurin said, it was noticed that the horse's nose was running.

Laurin had two veterinarians examine Secretariat and it was discovered the colt was also running a fever. The findings of the vets, Laurin said, prompted him not to enter Secretariat in the Travers.

After the Travers, Secretariat was next scheduled to run in a $250,000 match race Sept. 15 against stablemate Riva Ridge at Belmont Park.

PROSPECTUS —

Six years of futility and frustration are not about to end. With projected ownership change, the J.D. Roberts coaching regime almost amounts to lame duck administration. There's really no hope for dramatic improvement and there aren't enough class kids around to claim they're building for future. Best they look forward to is domed stadium in '75.

OFFENSE

PASSING — At this stage it's hard to define Archie Manning's progress as pro quarterback. Best asset so far has been his ability to run for his life. With Edd Hargett gone, he has job all to himself. Good

RECEIVING — Defection of Dave Parks at tight end further depleted corps that didn't scare anybody to start with. Dan Abramowicz, steady for seven years, isn't getting any faster. Bob Newland even usurped his role as lead receiver. Tight end is problematical. Fair

RUNNING — Just a bunch of names. None of them gained even 400 yards for full season. Bob Gresham is recognizable holdover. They'll be scanning waiver lists. Perfect setup for draftee Pete Van Valkenburg, a strong runner, to step in and launch career as starter. Poor

LINE — The tipoff is that 10-year vet Jake Kupp is the class of the front wall, if he stays in one piece. He and fellow guard Del Williams are the anchor men but Williams probably will lose job to Royce Smith, top draftee of year ago who was hurt. Tackle Don Morrison is the only other anchored starter. Poor

DEFENSE

LINE — Made some motions to boost a woeful pass rush by getting Billy Newsome from Baltimore for No. 1 draft choice and then plucking Derland Moore (Oklahoma) and Steve Baumgartner (Purdue) in second round. Both might wind up playing. Also traded for big Ron Billingsley, Lone remaining incumbent is tackle Bob Pollard. Fair

LINEBACKING — The bodies have been coming and going so fast in recent years it's hard to keep up with them. Willie Hall's been flop so far on outside. Rookie Jim Merlo gets a strong look. Chief solace comes from development of Joe Federspiel as "mike" man. Poor

SECONDARY — There's nobody who remotely resembles all-pro candidate, but the kids such as Ernie Jackson, Tom Myers are getting chance to learn under fire. Neither's a physical giant. Bivian Lee is only a year ahead of them. They'd all look better with improved pass rush. Fair

KICKING — Lethargy of team enveloped Julian Fagan, who dropped abruptly in punting ranks. And they never did find a reliable field goal kicker. Might be Austrian sidewinder Toni Linhart. The kick return effectiveness was equally limited. Poor

PREDICTION

No relief in sight for team which won only two games in '72 and probably won't exceed that total in '73 — last in the west.

Driving Dollars Away

One of the factors that keeps American dollars overseas is that they receive more generous tax treatment there.

This is a way of saying that U.S. tax laws are driving American investors abroad and in this manner are contributing to the so - called balance - of - payments deficit. A third way of putting the same idea is to say that U.S. tax laws are driving up retail prices in this country by cheapening U.S. dollars abroad.

In their eagerness to divest themselves of dollars, Japanese businessmen buy lumber and land. Arab businessmen buy gold, and European businessmen buy farm products. These purchases compete with American purchases with the result that prices rise.

One solution to an untenable situation such as this would be for the U.S. government to ease off tax pressure on domestic American dollars so that American - held dollars abroad would be attracted to come back home.

A second solution would be for the U.S. government to stiffen tax laws on U.S. dollars abroad so that the advantage of keeping them abroad would diminish.

The first course would be more advantageous for the American working man and the American investor. To reduce taxes at home would allow each of us to keep more of the dollars we earn. A corresponding opportunity to keep more of the dollars we earn. A corresponding opportunuty to keep more earnings would induce American firms with foreign subsidiaries to repatriate profits in order to plow them into domestic investment.

But the drawback to this potential solution is political. For to realize any improvement from it, Congress would have to take an additional step. Because a reduction in taxes temporarily would reduce tax revenues, the lawmakers would have to reduce spending.

Because of the drawback, Congress now is pursuing Route No. 2, and the Nixon administration is following suit. The target is to revise U.S. laws that tax earnings of foreign subsidiaries only when the income is repatriated and that exact no tax at all if such earnings are reinvested abroad. One proposal is to wipe out the exemption entirely; a second proposal is to wipe half of it out; yet a third is to make exceptions to it. The idea that Congress sacrifice its spending power give the American domestic taxpayer a break — Solution No. 1 — is not even under consideration. Faced with a choice between their own prerogatives and the taxpayer's interest, your Senators and Congressmen can be relied on to decide in their own favor. That lets you know where you stand, in their value system. If you don't get the message, that is not their fault.

Meddlers Are Innocent

The federal government imposed an embargo on the importation of foreign crude oil. But this didn't bring on gasoline shortages and high prices for same.

The federal government, backed and egged on by the environmentalists, stopped the construction of the Alaskan pipeline cold. But this didn't have anything to do with current gasoline shortages and high prices.

The federal and state governments, with the blessings of the environmentalists, put obstacles in the way of building additional oil refineries. But this didn't contribute to the gasoline shortage and price crisis now rearing its ugly head.

The federal and state governments, cheered on by the environmentalists, interfered with and curtailed off - shore drilling operations. But this had no bearing on gasoline supply and pricing.

The federal government's FPC imposed well - head quotas and price limitations. But this in no way had anything to do with closed filling stations and motorists running out of gas in recent weeks.

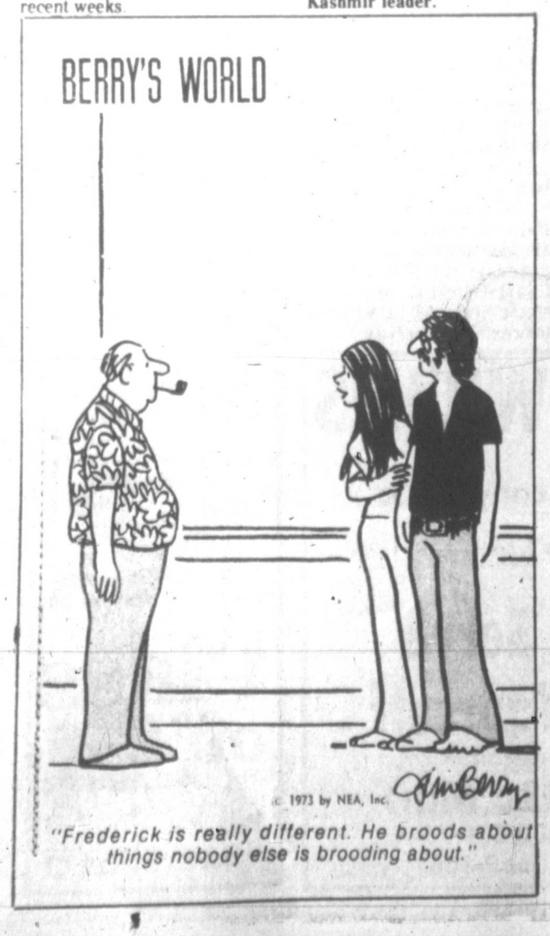

The federal government, encouraged by the cries of the "get the big oil companies" clique, did away with oil depletion tax credit allowances. But this had nothing to do with the current gasoline shortages and high prices we are currently experiencing.

And, finally, federal and state governments, again egged - on by the environmentalists, required auto manufacturers to install gas - guzzling "anti - pollution" devices on cars and trucks. And this, too, had nothing to do with the current crisis besetting the oil industry.

No, none of these government meddlings with the law of supply and demand had anything to do with the problem — for, to admit that they did would be to point the finger of guilt at the true culprits and reveal to the world the visciousness of the government's latest intervention in the marketplace.

Life is struggle and the struggle must go on.

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I purchased Dr. Robert C. Atkins' book, "Diet Revolution" and am about to start on his prescribed diet. I now recall a Dr. Taller who, a few years ago, was known for his high-fat diet. He had trouble with the American Medical Assn., or else he was arrested. I am vague as to what happened, but I know his diet was proven dangerous. If you are familiar with Dr. Taller's diet, I would appreciate your telling me the similarity between his and Dr. Atkins' diet.

Dear Reader — Yes, I am familiar with both diets, and have read both books. They are both low carbohydrate diets. Dr. Atkins' diet differs in that he recommends eliminating all carbohydrates to a point that a chemical imbalance called ketosis persists.

Dr. Taller in his book, "Calories Don't Count," recommended limiting the carbohydrates severely, but not complete elimination at the beginning of the diet. Also, Dr. Taller recommended large amounts of safflower oil. I believe you are correct that he ran into some legal difficulties, apart from the American Medical Assn.'s opinion of his diet.

You can lose weight on these diets because you usually end up eating far fewer calories. The appetite disappears because of the chemical imbalance. In fact, some people feel slightly nauseated because of the type of food they must eat, and the sharp limitation of carbohydrates in the diet. Losing weight alone isn't necessarily an outstanding goal. It's desirable to lose weight, but it should not be lost at the expense of the body's general health. You can lose weight from tuberculosis and cancer too, but that is not necessarily a very good way to go about it.

The ketosis you develop on the Atkins diet is the same chemical imbalance an untreated severe diabetic develops. As it progresses in the diabetic it can produce diabetic coma.

I nötice some very distinct similarities between Dr. Taller's book and Dr. Atkins' book. Both follow the premise that man was originally a hunter and lived on meats and animal food, without any appreciable quantities of carbohydrates. This does not square with known historical facts of man's origins. Even prehistoric man had grinding-type teeth characteristic of vegetarians, as opposed to carnivores who had overriding canine teeth. Related animals or primates, such as the apes are especially vegetarians.

Early man had available to him nuts, fruits, even honey from wild bees, and an infinite variety of different kinds of vegetables. Well-known naturalists consider that early man, particularly those from warm and jungle-type climates, received a major portion of his food from carbohydrate sources. Early cave drawings of the most primitive type demonstrate acquiring honey from wild bees, and the northern European primitive men mixed honey with fruit juices into a form of mead. Both books then erroneously begin with the theme that man is not naturally a carbohydrate eater and, indeed, contain many similarities. I cannot recommend either diet to the general public.

The essential problem the Watergate affair dramatizes is not inadequate laws but the breaking of laws and the conspiratorial thinking behind the lawbreaking.

BRUCE BIOSSAT
Watergate fairly smothers capital

By Bruce Biossat

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A kind of numbing bewilderment is settling over this city on Watergate.

For awhile the developments in the case, especially as they unfolded day by day in the Ervin Senate committee hearings, seemed to be producing a logical ebb and flow which anyone could grasp. Now some of the town's busiest observers are offering diametrically opposed themes from week to week, and the confusion is almost smothering.

Not too long ago, many analysts argued, persuasively and quite understandably, that the scandals meant that President Nixon either would resign, or ought to.

Among the most perceptive was Garry Wills, a writer of lean, brilliant prose who is both under - read and insufficiently appreciated in Washington.

His thesis, which a lot of us came to second or third hand, was that Mr. Nixon — accustomed to crises which he could deal with by self - devised formula — had in Watergate an open - ended mess which was essentially beyond his control. From this it was easy to move to the presumption that the President would be forever on the defensive, would be unable to govern, and would (or should) soon recognize this.

In Phase Two, it was widely written that Mr. Nixon would Ride It Out. If the White House chandeliers tinkled noisily in the shaky days while former Nixon counsel John Dean was "documenting" the mess, they quieted as the President's more prestigious aides moved to center stage.

National polls showed him plunging to new lows in popularity, but a "plebiscite" taken by the National Observer suggested that most people — obviously including a substantial proportion of the many Americans who think he was "involved" in Watergate one way or another — thought Mr. Nixon should stay. Sentiment in Congress for impeachement could be measured with an eyedropper.

The President's hard - core supporters, and nobody seems quite sure of their numbers or their proportion of the electorate, touched off a chorus of angry rebuttals, claiming the Ervin committee and others were gunning for him as hunters sometimes pursue a wounded animal.

Again understandably, some observers could not forget the day in April when the car of touted lawyer John Wilson, counsel to both of the President's resigned top aides, John Ehrlichman and H.R. (Bob) Haldeman, was parked on the White House driveway. It was believable that the group that day weighed favorably Mr. Nixon's chances of survival, if not new popularity, against the testimony of lesser aides.

Former Attorney General John Mitchell, a ramrod turned willowy reed, staggered but did not fall. Ehrlichman and Haldeman, with clean - cut assurance, contradicted the "smallies."

But then the prestigious Wilson shouted like a damage - suit lawyer and laid a racial slur on Sen. Daniel Inouye, a Japanese - American. And former CIA Director Richard Helms, looking straight and clean, often challenged Ehrlichman and Haldeman.

As this chapter ended, Mr. Nixon was off again to Camp David to draft more of his promised answer to charges of "involvement." One wonders what he can say that will not sound like ghost - writing for one of convicted Watergate conspirator Howard Hunt's many wild and quite unsalable spy novels.

H.L. Hunt Writes:

NAVAL SUPREMACY

One of the traditionally great weapons of the United States has been its Navy. The fighting fleet has stood as a bulwark against foreign aggression. This was especially true during World War II and in the immediate post - war period.

As the power of the British Navy was depleted, ours grew in power and filled in the vacuum in the waters off the continent of Europe. The striking power of the U.S. Navy has gone far in restraining the aggressive intentions of the Soviet Union.

The Russians weren't content to play second fiddle on the high seas, however. They began a vast program of building missile cruisers and destroyers and atomic - strike submarines. A big merchant fleet, necessary to Navy logistics, was also built.

U.S. intelligence has indicated for some time that the Russians were catching up with us in naval power.

Now Jane's, the unofficial but respected British publication dealing with the navies in the world, says Russia is surpassing the United States at sea. This is a perilous situation, not only for our country but for all the freedom - loving peoples of the world.

We, as proud citizens of Republic USA, must urge that our leaders get busy now to correct this imbalance. The evidence that Jane's supplies dovetails with that of the President's Blue Ribbon Panel which made a study of our defense posture and its relations to other powers.

It is of paramount importance that the U.S. Navy dominate the seas, not with aggressive intentions, but for the purpose of preserving the peace.

Cruelty is a tyrant that is always attended with fear.
Thomas Fuller

"I would like to hear just one presidential candidate make an honest statement, maybe something like this: "This is what I'll try to do if I am elected, if congress goes along with it, the Supreme Court will allow it, my party endorses it, and the polls show it is what most of the people want.'"
White River Leader

Question Box

QUESTION: The object of stealing is to get a dollar. The object of business is to make a dollar. So what is the difference between business and stealing?

ANSWER: The difference between business and stealing is not financial gain, which is the objective in both, but rather in the method by which financial gain is achieved. The ends are identical, the means differ.

In business, the method is to trade something that you want less for something that you want more.

Or to look at the matter from the other person's point of view, he wants what you have more and he wants what he has less.

So a transaction takes place, each party receiving what he deems to suit his needs. But the question is, which realized the gain? The answer is that both did, because each received more from his own point of view and each parted with less from his own view.

Now suppose the other man had stolen from you. He would have had a gain, but you would have had a loss. Not every gain - loss transaction is theft because sometimes a human miscalculation takes place in business. But every theft is a material loss to the victim and at least the expectation of a material gain to the thief.

The gain that a thief derives obviously should have a different name from the gain that comes from an honest transaction. Frederick Bastiat, 19th century French economist, applied the word "plunder" to the proceeds of theft. He used the word "profit" to describe the results of a fair exchange in business.

My Last Request

When I quit this mortal shore,
And mosey round this earth no more,
Don't weep, don't sigh, don't grieve, don't sob—
I may have struck a better job.

Don't go and buy a large bouquet,
For which you'll find it hard to pay;
Don't hang around looking blue,
I may be better off than you.
Don't tell folks I was a saint,
Or anything you know I ain't.
If you have stuff like that to spread,
Please hand it out before I'm dead.

If you have roses, bless your soul,
Just pin one in my buttonhole.
But do it while I'm at my desk,
Instead of when I'm safe at rest.

Crossroads Report

Dear Editor:

I see where our current U.S. Attorney General is planning to Ramsey-Clark the job and deal mostly with social problems of fair play for criminals, plus all-out enforcement of anti-pollution and pro-consumer laws.

Criminals such as murderers and robbers will mostly be protected slobbered over and rehabilitated.

Which is about the same as cracking down on coyote-poisoning cattlemen, and starting an expensive program to teach the coyotes that it is a little naughty to eat calves which belong to somebody else.

* * *

Some people speak very highly of the human conscience as a guide to proper conduct. These are usually the folks with profit-conscious consciences.

Like Mr. Ellsberg, whose conscience told him to steal the Pentagon papers and sell them to potential enemies and proved anti-establishment newspapers for a fat price and kudos from the intellectuality.

But a conscience which tells a man to stretch a no-no or two to save the country from radicalism is a non-profit conscience. All it gets him is trouble.

* * *

Some peoplemasters say us commoners should ride bicycles more and drive cars less, to conserve gasoline for use in government limousines transporting senators, senior buggers, etc., hither and yon.

Bicycling is good exercise and lousy transportation, but tests your composure as you find out which loose dogs on the streets have rabies.

It also may be helpful toward cleaner environment, although there could could be some question whether the odor of sweat is less pollutive than gas fumes.

* * *

With reckless government spending and taxing, minimum wage laws, meddlesome hiring rules, etc., the politicos have bloated the prices of nearly everything we buy.

And now they are hard at work trying to control inflation by freezing prices and productive workers' wages, while raising their own wages by semi-stealth.

Sort of like cootie-infested people going around ordering other folks to quit scratching, or like firebugs getting laws passed against anybody else carrying matches.

* * *

I see where the postal pooh-bahs' excuse for higher postage rates and lousier service is that they are trying to make the post office self-supporting.

Which is a shift away from the old theory that offering better service at lower prices via intelligent management is the route to successful operation.

But if the P.O. program works, we might expect other public service facilities like electric power, gas, water, telephone, etc., to raise their prices and operate only when management can't think up any new excuses or holidays.

It Pays To Be Poor

Recently a worker cornered his boss and said: "Mr. Goodie, may I speak to you a minute?"

"What is it, Sugarcliff? I'm busy."

"It's about my salary, sir. I wonder if you could give me a decrease?"

"You had a decrease less than a year ago," the boss reminded him.

"I know, sir. I wouldn't ask if it wasn't important, but I sure could use less money."

"We're on a tight budget and it would throw our pay schedule out of line. How much are you asking?"

"I had a $25 cut in mind. That will make us eligible for an apartment in the city's new redevelopment project-that one downtown with a pool, sauna, Bar-B-Q and tennis courts. Besides my son would qualify for a government scholarship - that EOP thing - and my wife could get her teeth fixed. We could qualify for food stamps too! Mr. Goodie".

"It's going to be hard on us, but I'll do it on one condition: if your works slows down you'll have to take a $20 raise."

"Bless you, Mr. Goodie!"

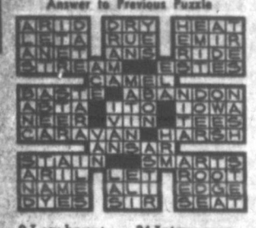

"When you get into your new apartment, Sugarcliff, will you please invite me over for tennis and a swim some night?"

"Sure thing, sir. Please bring some soap since we can't buy soap on food stamps. I believe the poor should share with the less fortunate."
