Fiesta Goodwill Trippers To Start Tour Saturday

HOUSE SENDS WAGE BILL TO SENATE

NEW AND OLD FEATURES TO ECLIPSE PAST

After checking with all committee heads last night, R. B. Allen, general chairman of the Top O' Texas Fiesta, stated today that plans for the big, annual celebration are in such good shape that he can make the promise that this year's Fiesta will eclipse anything of its kind ever held in the Panhandle.

Outstanding features of course will be the Fiesta Rodeo, Old Timers barbeque, Old Timers dances, addresses by distinguished visitors, special attractions, rides for children, historical exhibits, and a host of entertainment for the thousands of visitors from the Top O' Texas area who are expected to the city at Fiesta time.

Goodwill trips into surrounding cities and towns will be started Saturday morning when the first delegation is scheduled to leave from in front of the high school building at 7:30 a. m.

Two more goodwill trips to publicize the Fiesta and acquaint the people of surrounding communities with what they may expect when they come to the Fiesta will be made Tuesday and Thursday of next week. R. S. Dietz, chairman, urged as many as possible to make the trips.

Parade Plans Progress. W. B. Weathered, parade chairman, told Junior Chamber of Commerce members of their luncheon yesterday that all plans are complete for the biggest and best parade ever staged in Pampa.

In addition to the costly special features which have been obtained by the Jaycees, the street parade, to be held on both June 9 and 10, will feature floats from surrounding towns and cities with many school bands and marching units.

GASOLINE THIEVES ON LOOSE TUESDAY NIGHT

Thieves last night smashed the locks on two gasoline pumps and attempted to break the lock on a storage tank at the Bourland Supply Company, 1108 South Barnes street, city police were notified early this morning.

Only 16 gallons of gasoline were reported missing by Roy Bourland, president of the company. The gasoline was taken from one of the retail pumps, from which the lock had been removed. A lock on an electric pump was found smashed but no gasoline was taken because the power had been disconnected.

A lock on one of the large wholesale tanks was found battered, officers said.

The thieves worked under the glare of a street light. No one has been located by officers who saw persons hanging around the station during the night.

HOSPITAL BUILDING OWNERSHIP CHANGES

A real estate transaction amounting to $40,000 has just been announced by John Haggard in connection with the trading of the building now occupied by Pampa-Jarrett hospital, plus cash for two and a half sections of land in Swisher County. The Gray County Realty Company handled the transaction.

New owners of the building are George B. Cass, Mrs. Pauline McGee, and Mrs. Carrie Sharp of the Plainview and Tulla communities. W. V. Jarrett will retain his lease on the building.

The land acquired by Mr. Haggard is seven miles south and seven miles west of Tulla. Mr. Haggard purchased the hospital building nearly five years ago.

I HEARD - - -

George Christopher of Amarillo, former Pampa aviator who is visiting here today, telling about making a landing in Hartley County the other day and that little grasshoppers almost obstructed his view of the ground as his plane landed and taxied to a stop. "They left the ground in clouds," George said. "They weren't big enough to fly but they sure could jump."

You'll See Him In Fiesta Parade Here

Giant figures of the animal and reptile kingdoms will walk and crawl through Pampa downtown streets on Thursday and Friday, June 9 and 10, when they will be in the city for the Top O' Texas Fiesta. Shown here is the huge Krazy Kat who will take part in the parade. Some idea of the size of the figure can be obtained by a comparison with the clown shown in the same picture.

More than two dozen figures will march, it takes five hours to inflate each one of them and it requires 105 men to operate the figures in parade formation.

Recreation Project Sponsored By WPA Suggested by Supervisor

JUNIORS WILL GET DIPLOMAS

Their hopes for a city operated year-round recreation program checked, at least for the present, by the city commission Pampans interested in recreation as an alternative turned to a proposed Works Progress Administration project as a solution.

Houston Crump, WPA state supervisor of recreation, San Antonio, told a group of eight Pampans last night how a recreational project could be started in Pampa.

The meeting was held in the BCD committee rooms and followed a prior meeting of several of the persons interested in recreation with the city commission yesterday afternoon. Mr. Crump and Eugene Liles, southwestern representative of the National Recreation Association, attended the afternoon meeting.

Mr. Liles was also present at the meeting last night.

Only Advisory Capacity. While he stressed the fact that he was merely acting in an advisory capacity, Mr. Crump gave definite encouragement to the group. He told of a recreation project now being set up in Amarillo, with 30 workers assigned. He thought it would be possible for a similar project to be started here, either as a local project, or perhaps as an allied project. A check of the WPA rolls for Gray County by the division of employment of the district WPA office to find a list of all persons who might be assigned to a recreation project here would be requested by Mr. Crump today, he promised. The district office is located in Amarillo.

Several Alternatives. In the event 10 persons cannot be found who are qualified for assignment on the project immediately, this would not mean the end of the plan, as the required number of workers might be found at a later date.

Tow-Headed Boy of 13 Comes to His Brother's Aid in Love Slaying Case

By MARY ELIZABETH PLUMMER. NEW YORK, May 25 (AP)—A wide-eyed, tow-headed boy of 13 came to his older brother's defense today as the state rested its first degree murder charge against 16-year-old Donald Carroll, accused of killing his sweetheart, Charlotte Mathiesen, 18, last March in an uncompleted suicide pact.

The first defense witness, Douglas Carroll, marched to the stand and gravely told of coming home from school on the day of the shooting and hearing Donald crying.

"He was praying for the Lord to kill him," said Douglas.

When he entered the living room of their Jackson Heights home, the youngster said, he noticed his father's army pistol lying on the sofa.

"I didn't think that was a very safe place for it," he said, "so I took it into the kitchen and put it on a shelf."

Assistant District Attorney Joseph V. Loscalzo rested his case 25 minutes after the second day's testimony began.

The prosecutor's final witnesses were Dr. Alexander O. Gertler, chief toxicologist, and Dr. Harry Schwartz, chemist in the chief medical examiner's office.

Dr. Schwartz gave a routine analysis of his examination of the girl's clothing.

Defense counsel said he would call

MURDER CHARGES DRAWN FOR ALCATRAZ PLOTTERS

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25 (AP)—Mildred E. Galt, charged with possible execution in California's lethal gas chamber, were prepared for filing today against the two Alcatraz federal prison inmates who survived Monday's escape plot in which a guard and another convict died.

The death yesterday of R. C. Clinch, 36, senior custodial officer at the penitentiary for hardened criminals, paved the way for the murder charges, which Assistant United States Attorney A. J. Zirpoli said would be asked of the federal grand jury.

Cline died in the Marine Hospital from a terrific hammer beating he received in the fruitless escape plot of Thomas R. Limerick, 36, who was fatally wounded by a guard's rifle; Rufus Franklin, 24, who was wounded in the shoulder, and James C. Lucas, 26, who surrendered as his co-conspirators fell.

The man, whose name was given as John Bruce Thornton, was quickly remanded to jail until ordinary court Thursday. British police secrecy prevented other details becoming known before the court hearing.

It was learned Thornton was arrested last night on his arrival at the Cowley Works of the Morris Motor Company where the 60-year-old automobile magnate was working late. Police seized the man before he had a chance to enter the company's office.

A few minutes later the Viscount entered the room near his office where the factory band was practicing and said, "Well, boys, what do you think? Two men just tried to kidnap me."

Only one was arrested. Whether another escaped was not divulged.

ATTEMPT MADE AGAINST BRITAIN'S 'HENRY FORD'

OXFORD, England, May 25 (AP)—A man, trapped by police in a strange attempt against Viscount Nuffield, Britain's silver-haired little "Henry Ford" of the automobile industry, was formally charged with possession of firearms with intent to endanger life at the Oxford police station today.

The man, whose name was given as John Bruce Thornton, was quickly remanded to jail until ordinary court Thursday. British police secrecy prevented other details becoming known before the court hearing.

It was learned Thornton was arrested last night on his arrival at the Cowley Works of the Morris Motor Company where the 60-year-old automobile magnate was working late. Police seized the man before he had a chance to enter the company's office.

ALLIED ACTS TO CURB GRASSHOPPER PLAGUE

A plague of grasshoppers threatens in several Texas Panhandle counties. Governor James V. Allred said today at Austin.

In response for pleas for assistance, he has dispatched Major Gaston Howards of the Texas National Guard to attend meetings at Amarillo and Dalhart next Monday and look into the situation.

He stated he had been informed the threat extended also to some areas in New Mexico and Colorado.

"The situation appears serious," Governor Allred said. "It merits attention of both state and federal governments."

"As I understand it, the grasshoppers now are in the infant stage and if there is prompt action with poison the threatened scourge can be checked."

"If not, there may be a regular plague by July."

COUNTY WHEAT YIELD FIGURED AT 600,000 BU.

Gray county's wheat crop for 1938 was estimated at 600,000 bushels at the 25th annual convention of the Panhandle Grain and Feeder Dealers Association which closed last night in Amarillo.

County by county estimates of the dealers indicated the best crop prospects are for Ochiltree county where dealers said 4,020,000 bushels of wheat will be produced. Hansford county was second with an estimated yield of 2,400,000 bushels.

The estimated crop for the Panhandle was estimated at 3,000,000 bushels more than last year.

Estimates on five Top O' Texas counties, in addition to Gray: Hutchinson, 80,000 bushels; Roberts, 180,000; Hemphill, 450,000; Carson, 300,000; Wheeler, 300,000.

J. D. Weeks of Claude was elected president of the association. O. D. Dinwiddie of Hart was elected vice president and Joe Morris of Amarillo, secretary-treasurer. Directors are Blake Hankins, Lubbock; R. L. McClelland, Spearman; Byron Gist, Amarillo; Bob Stone, Clovis, N. M.; and Tom Connolly, Clarendon.

U. S. AID NOT ASKED IN CZECH SITUATION

PARIS, May 25 (AP)—United States Ambassador William C. Bullitt flatly denied today that France had asked the United States to join her and Great Britain in preserving peace in the Czechoslovak crisis.

Sources close to the foreign office had said Georges Bonnet, French foreign minister, sought American support of "Pacific efforts" in Central Europe.

Diplomatic circles considered Bonnet's reported appeal had met with a cool reception and one report said Bullitt had answered with a definite refusal in line with American policy of non-interference in

Bank Head

President DeLea Vicars, above, today looked over a span of 29 years as an official of the First National bank which is celebrating its thirtieth anniversary. Mr. Vicars joined the bank staff as a boy one year after its charter was granted. He has risen from the boy who swept out the bank before going to school to the presidency of the institution.

Today the First National Bank of Pampa looks back upon 30 years of service to Pampa and this community. It opened its doors as a national bank on May 25, 1908.

The institution was launched as a state bank in 1908 with J. R. P. Sewell as its president and "Uncle Joe" Cole as cashier. The late B. E. Finley became cashier in 1907. One year to the day after the bank received its charter, DeLea Vicars, now president of the institution, became connected with the bank.

Mr. Sewell was president of the bank with the late T. D. Hobart vice president and B. E. Finley as cashier. Original stockholders were Mr. Sewell, Mr. Hobart, Mr. Finley, J. H. Duncan, W. W. Harrah, A. A. Johnson, W. H. Fiquis, R. O. Barber, A. E. Barrett, Oscar Cousins, T. H. Lane, L. N. Henry, H. J. Lippold, and T. A. Horn.

On the first day the bank was open, deposits totaled $1,094.93. The first depositor was M. K. Brown. First loan was for $101 to the late Joe Bowers.

The bank has had only five presidents. First was Mr. Sewell who died in 1909. His interests were sold to R. H. Collier, who became president in 1910.

CITY DADS DISCUSS PAVING PLAN DETAILS

Members of the city commission conferred with engineers yesterday as they discussed technical details of constructing pavements in Pampa, under the WPA project started a fortnight ago. Curb and gutters have been laid in one of 12 blocks of the 13 for which curb gutter, and paving has been planned. The blocks affected are in the northwestern part of the city.

Meeting with the commission were Heyward P. Kay, Shamrock, WPA area engineer; A. H. Doucette and J. P. Wehrung.

The conference began about 6 o'clock after the commission had been in session for four and one-half hours. The commission adjourned about 8:30 o'clock.

While there was much discussion, mostly of technical nature, no order resulted.

An order for the purchase of a carload of cement, 528 sacks, from the Acme Lumber Company was passed. Cost of this order was $296 gross, less 10 per cent cash discount.

SOUTHERNERS' HOSTILITY MAY KILL MEASURE

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—The revamped wage-hour bill, swept through the House by a triumphant combination of northern Democrats and Republicans, encountered last-ditch opposition today from southern Senators.

Senator Barkley (D. Ky.), the administration leader, said he would seek to have a Senate-House committee appointed at once in an effort to work out a compromise between the House bill and the version passed by the Senate last July.

There were indications, however, that Senate foes of the inflexible labor standards in the House measure would try to route it back to the Senate labor committee. Senator Thomas (Utah), chairman of that group, has contended the legislation should establish variations in wages between the north and the south or between industries where conditions warrant.

Although there has been no definite threat of a Senate filibuster, opponents made no secret of their hope that imminent adjournment would prevent agreement on any wage-hour bill.

The administration scored a smashing victory in the House last night, showing the measure to final passage by a vote of 314 to 97, just about a year after the original version reached Congress.

Forty-six Republicans joined 296 Democrats, 7 Progressives, and 5 Farmer-Laborites in favoring the bill. Opposing it were 56 Democrats and 41 Republicans.

The vote was a reversal of a House decision last December, when Republicans and southern Democrats shelved a different wage-hour bill. The new measure was forced to the floor over the opposition of the rules committee.

Crowded galleries witnessed the bill's passage about 10:30 p. m., after the longest session of the year. Supporters of the measure sat way past their dinner hour to defeat almost every major attempt to amend it.

As approved, the bill would establish a graduated minimum wage for interstate industry, starting at 25 cents an hour and increasing to 40 cents after three years. Maximum hours would start at 44 a week and drop to 40 in two years.

Under the Senate bill, an independent administrative board would have power to fix minimum wages from 40 cents an hour downward and maximum work week of 40 hours or more.

Commander Urges Unit to Observe Poppy Day Saturday

Veterans of the World War were urged to pay tribute to their fallen comrades on Poppy Day, Saturday, May 28, in a message issued today by Howard Buckingham, Commander of the Kerley-Crossman Post of the American Legion.

Commander Buckingham called upon all members of the Legion and other veterans to observe the day by wearing memorial poppies in honor of the war dead. His message stated: "On Saturday, May 28, our comrades who gave their lives in defense of our country will be remembered and honored by the wearing of their memorial flower, the poppy. We who served by their sides can never forget the great patriotic sacrifice they made. All Legionnaires and other veterans will, I am sure, be among the first to wear the flower of remembrance on Poppy Day."

"The poppies will be distributed by the women of the American Legion Auxiliary, our wives, mothers, sisters and daughters. They are giving their services on that day to bring everyone in the city an opportunity to honor the war dead and help the disabled and fatherless families. The poppies have been made by disabled veterans unable to do other work. Contributions received for the flowers will be used in the welfare activities of the Legion and Auxiliary.

"Twenty years have passed since the call to war came, but we of the Legion have not forgotten. We are still devoted to the ideals for which we fought and hold high the memory of those who died in service to country. We hope that all patriotic citizens will join us in wearing the poppy on Poppy Day."

Mrs. McBee Leads Business Session For WMS Group

A regular monthly business meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the First Methodist Church was held in the basement of the church Monday with Mrs. Horace McBee, president, in charge.

In the absence of the regular secretary, Mrs. A. L. Patrick served in this capacity.

The devotional was given by Mrs. W. M. Pearce, who used as her subject the song, "Take My Life and Let It Be." This was followed by the Lord's prayer which was repeated in unison by the group.

Preceding the business session, the Young Matrons of circle six gave a play, "Modernizing Mrs. Patton." The cast included Misses Carlton Nance, Bill Crownsion, Herman Van Sickle, H. M. Martin, Leo Smith, and Campbell White.

During the business discussion the circles reported on the activities for the past month and the general officers reported on their work. Mrs. Ketter reported 20 subscriptions to the Outlook. Mrs. Pearce made suggestions for a more effective work in the Bible study.

The missionary news from the bulletin was given by Mrs. W. R. Ewing and Mrs. John Hodge presented the Spiritual Life message. Members of circle four served tea to the entire group.

Rural Party Fetes Senior Members at Central Baptist

Seniors of the Central Baptist Church were entertained with a rural party Monday evening in the basement of the church.

Guests were dressed in aprons and overalls. Games along the same theme included ring the children's neck, feeding the ducks, and doing the chores. The farm orchestra was the climax of the evening. Knives, spoons, pans, buckets, and sticks were used with the piano and accordio to play several selections.

Refreshments of apples, suckers, cookies, and punch were served to Misses Dixie Vandeburg, Wanda Snow, Edna Pennington, Katherine Walker, Rosa Lee Green, Given Darnell, Ola Lee Southard, Winnie Green, Helen Martin, Herma Beckham, Mary Helen Gilstrap, Grace Necase, Helen Moorehead, and Juanita Higgins. Misses W. H. Dempster, John O. Scott, and J. U. Williams, Messrs. Walter Haines, Jordan, Byron Hilbun, Larry Thompson, Osvald Burns, T. W. Smith, W. H. Dempster, John O. Pair From Pampa Included in Sets Of Sisters at MH-B

BELTON, May 25.—Thirteen may be an unlucky number, but when it comes to sets of sisters it leads on the Mary Hardin-Baylor campus where there are thirteen and one-half sets of sisters this year. Misses Eloise and Leah Lane, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Lane, of Pampa, make up one set of sisters. Three of the se's are twins and the "half-set" consists of a younger sister of one set of twins.

After making a survey of the sisters, it was found that seven of the sets look very much alike. Six sets have little resemblance, six sets wear each other's clothes, two sets dress alike, three sets are majoring in the same subject, and six sets quarrel frequently, which would seem to be a fair average. It seems that most of the major battles arise between the twins who dress alike and are due to decisions concerning what to wear.

Club Will Sponsor Recreation School

SKELLYTOWN, May 25.—"Unemployment Compensation" was the theme of the program, when members of the Sunshine Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. John Nichols North of Skellytown.

Roll call was answered with a "Current Event on Employment." Mrs. Arvil Williams, secretary, presided at the business meeting in the absence of the president.

Mrs. E. O. Conyers was elected vice president. It was voted to hold

CULTURE CLUB MEETS IN HOME OF MRS. LEECH

Mrs. Ewing Leech was hostess to the members of the Twentieth Century Culture Club who met in her home yesterday afternoon for a program completing the activities for the year.

Following the roll call which was answered with excerpts from the Readers Digest, Mrs. R. S. Lawrence conducted the business session in which the treasurer's report was given by Mrs. D. E. Robinson and a report from the year book committee was presented by Mrs. J. M. Collins. The club voted to end the year's work on the second Tuesday of May in 1939.

Mrs. Roy Wallbratenstein talked to the group on the summer recreation stressing the "teen" and adult age program. The club voted to donate $5 for the program, and each member is to give three hours of her time for the recreation sometime during the summer, as well as quilt scraps.

The program leader, Mrs. N. W. Gaut, introduced the speakers for the afternoon. First in this group was Mrs. Collins who spoke on

Amigo Members End Club Year

SKELLYTOWN, May 25.—Mrs. Jack Probst and Mrs. W. F. Harlan were hostesses to the Amigo Bridge club when they met at the latter's home recently for the last meeting of the year.

Mrs. Chester Strickland was voted to membership in the club. A yellow and green motif was used in decorations, table appointments and refreshments.

Special guests for the occasion were Mrs. Bob Clements and Mrs. Chester Strickland. Mrs. Clements won high award for guests, Mrs. S. C. Dickey won high score in the games for members. Mrs. Joe Miller won second high, while Mrs. Howard Patton and Mrs. Ike Hughes held the traveling awards. Mrs. J. C. Jarvis was awarded consolation.

Those attending were: Misses Chester Strickland, Bob Clements, S. C. Dickey, Joe Miller, Howard Patton, Miss Bernice Westbrook, county home demonstration agent of Pampa, Hugh Ellsworth, and the hostesses.

"Switzerland." She commented on the contentment of the people, the products which they make and the quality of them. Following this topic Mrs. Collins discussed "The Forgotten Men in America."

In discussing "The Forgotten Kingdom in Texas," Mrs. Gaut gave the history of the famous King ranch which is ruled over by 41-year-old Bob Kleberg, who lives in a Spanish ranch house. Three hundred cowboys, descendants of the first cowboys on the ranch, live on the ranch which is ruled similarly to the old-time feudal state. Mrs. Gaut also discussed "Melville Apparition" in the absence of Mrs. M. R. Brown.

Mrs. Leech served refreshments of ice tea, sandwiches, and salad to Misses C. W. Briscoe, Jr., J. M. Collins, N. W. Gaut, F. A. Howard, R. M. Johnson, R. S. Lawrence, Marvin Lewis, H. P. Lusby, L. L. McColm, L. N. McCullough, Garret Reeves, D. E. Robinson, C. W. Stowall, and J. P. Wehrung, members of the club. Misses Boyd Ewing and Grant Landon of Oklahoma City were club guests.

10 KILLED IN PLANE CRASH AT CLEVELAND

BULLETIN
CLEVELAND, May 25 (AP)—W. A. Patterson, president of United Air Lines, said today that the trim twin-motored airliner which dove into a suburban ravine last night, killing ten persons, suffered "simultaneous power failure of both engines" just before the crash.

CLEVELAND, May 25 (AP)—Firemen laid the bodies of nine men and a woman on the bottom of a muddy ravine today alongside the torn and charred remnants of a twin-motored airliner which plummeted inexplicably to earth only eight miles from a scheduled landing.

The plane, flying under a clear sky, swooped toward earth within sight of Cleveland airport.

It clipped off the tops of trees two feet thick and plunged into a natural grave in the wooded gully.

One of the motors was sheared off and left atop a side of the gully, 25 feet from the plane itself, which landed in a mass of wild grape vines. A wing was left 75 feet from the two trees it clipped off.

Firemen in suburban Independence village, where the crash occurred, battled the flames for several hours and dug into the smoke-topped debris for the bodies, from which the clothes had been burned almost entirely off.

Firemen and policemen worked in the light of the flames, lanterns and flashlights.

Then Department of Commerce inspectors searched the wreckage for some clue that might throw light on the cause of the crash.

United Air Lines listed the dead, besides Brostuen, as:

Test Pilot Dies
L. Arthur Doty, 42, of Watertown, Mass., en route to Chicago to attend funeral services for his brother Harold, who had died only a few hours before. The crash victim was a district credit manager for the Texaco Oil Co.

C. F. Lickel, New York business man.
R. P. Morrell, New York importing firm salesman.

J. R. Moffett, identified with the Masonite Corporation, Chicago.
E. H. Veblin, 43, of Los Angeles, chief test pilot for the Douglas Aircraft Company, and former air mail flier.

Richard C. Lewis, Ansonia, Conn., salesman.
Pilot James L. "Monty" Brandon, of Chicago, a flier 19 years.

Co-Pilot A. S. Merrifield, of Chicago.
Stewardess Mildred Maeck, of Chicago.

Andrew Zemba, 30, one of the first to reach the crash scene, said he saw the airliner streaking low near his home.

"Flames were coming out of the plane," Zemba said. "Only one motor was running. The motor shut off and a second one crashed."

"When we got there it was all afire, except in back. The flames rose 100 feet or so. I couldn't see any people in the cabin because of the flames, but could see two up front. The trees nearby were burning."

50,000 GERMANS PAY TRIBUTE TO MARTYRS

EGER, Czechoslovakia, May 25 (AP)—Fifty thousand Sudeten Germans lining the streets of this ancient town today bowed in silent tribute as coffins of two of their fellows, killed in last Saturday's border shooting, passed in solemn procession—each coffin bearing a wreath from Adolf Hitler.

All shops of Eger, called the most German city in Czechoslovakia, were closed during the funeral. Black flags fluttered from windows of centuries-old houses.

Order was preserved along the cobble-stoned streets by Sudeten German party men in uniform—black boots, riding breeches and gray shirts.

BODY OF JAMES KING TO BE RETURNED HOME

PLAINVIEW, May 25 (AP)—The body of James A. King, 52, Chicago manufacturer of native Pilot Point, Texas, who died at sea yesterday, will arrive at Plymouth, England, tomorrow, friends here were informed.

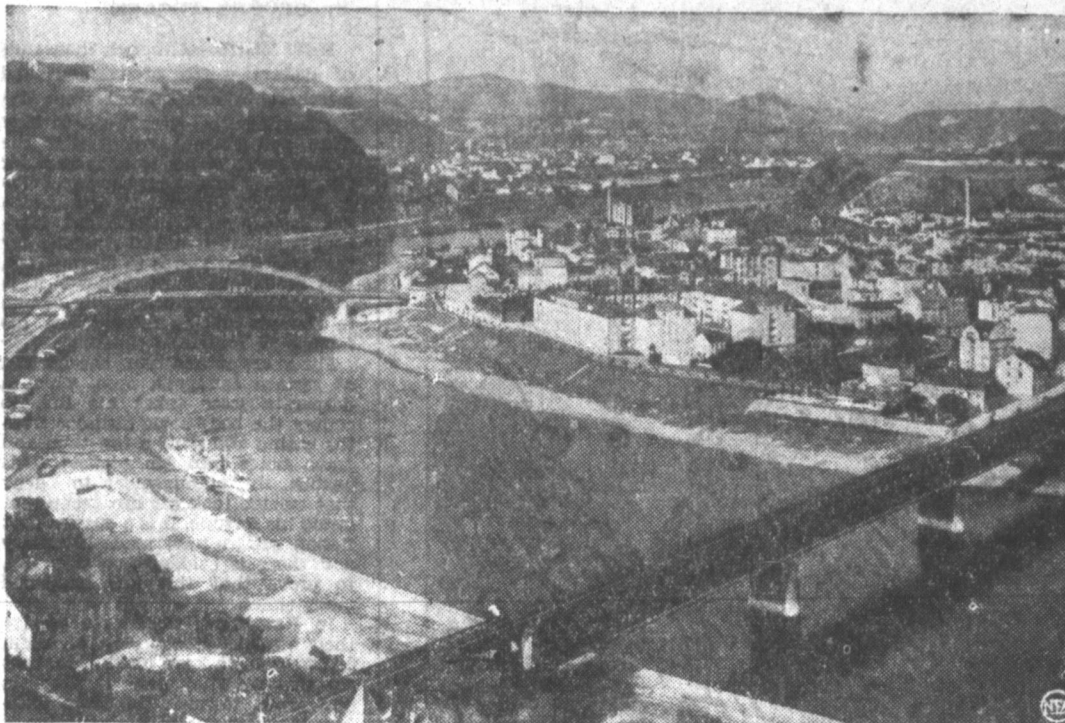

King was en route to England on a business trip when he died. His body will be returned to the United States.

A former divisional manager for Marshall Field & Company, King went to Chicago 20 years ago. He once resided in Lubbock.

He was a member of the firm of Richard, Boggs, and King, manufacturers, and also had Texas interests.

Czech Border Town in Perilous Spot

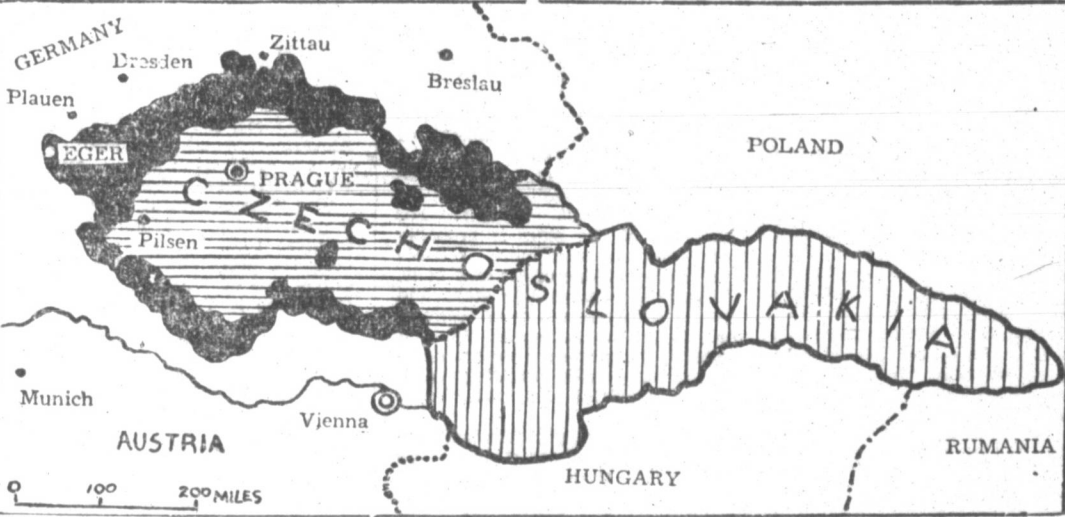

Peaceful indeed is this view of Bodenbach, nestling like a toy village where the River Elbe makes a breach in the protective mountains along the Czechoslovakian-Saxony border. But extra troops are guarding it now, for, with its exposed position on the direct railway route between Berlin and Prague, it would be one of the first to shudder under the hammer of German invasion.

Europe's Best 'Little Army' Marches

Czechoslovakia sent armored giants such as the motorized heavy artillery units pictured above into the Sudeten-German areas of her small land in a swift answer to rumors of German troop movements outside her borders and Nazi-inspired terror within.

The above map shows the perilous position of little Czechoslovakia under threat of German invasion. The Austria-augmented Reich grips her like giant pincers. Potential "teeth" in the pincers is the Sudeten-German area, home of Czechoslovakia's pro-Nazi minority, shown in black. The horizontally striped sector is inhabited by Czechs and Bohemians, while the vertically striped area is the home of Slovaks, Poles, Hungarians and Ruthenians. The killing of two Sudeten-Germans in Eger, at the extreme western tip, precipitated the war scare. Pilsen, location of the great Skoda munition works, would be the immediate target of invading armies.

ALASKAN FISHERMEN READY TO FIGHT JAPS

SEATTLE, May 25 (AP)—Angry Alaskan fishermen were ready to arm today to fight encroaching Japanese boats in one of the world's richest fishing areas.

The Pacific Coast Codfish Company announced it would dispatch 24 high-powered rifles and "plenty" of ammunition to its crews aboard two American ships in the Bristol Bay area of the Bering sea in response to wireless appeals for arms.

Threat of open warfare between American and Japanese fishermen spread quickly on the Seattle waterfront. The Alaskan Fishermen's union announced it would send immediate reinforcements aboard the ships Mr. McKinley and La Merced today for southwestern Alaska.

"We will not fool around any longer with this Japanese situation," William Hicker, secretary of the union said.

"The fishermen are angry and will take action to drive the Japanese out. Our men going north will be ready for action."

He said he had been advised there were 15 Japanese boats within eight miles of the American shore and that they were making trips to shore "when no one is looking."

Other recent advices from Alaska said Japanese cannery vessels had their nets and gear stretched out for miles in Bristol Bay.

Japan recently promised the U. S. not to fish for salmon in the

TERRELL OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN SATURDAY

Several Pampa friends of C. V. Terrell, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, will go to Corsicana Saturday to hear him make his opening speech in seeking reelection as a member of the commission.

Commissioner Terrell will speak at 7:30 o'clock and from 8:15 to 8:30 p. m. he will be on the air over stations of the Texas Quality Network.

The commissioner selected Corsicana, where Texas oil history really began, to make his opening address.

STORE COLLABORATING IN SALES COMPETITION

Emphasizing the demand for up-to-date household refrigeration existing not only in this community but throughout the nation, Bert A. Howell, sales manager of Thomson Hardware Company, announced today that the company is collaborating in a nation-wide competition in which 300 modern refrigerators will be awarded to the same number of winners. The period of the contest is from May 20 to July 1.

The current increased interest among the people in this community in up-to-date refrigeration will be heightened through this competition and our company therefore takes pleasure in announcing its cooperation in the contest," Mr. Howell stated. "For this reason we are inviting all interested persons to call at our salesrooms where free entry blanks will be available and where complete information regarding the contest can be obtained. Details of the contest can be learned at the Thomson Hardware Company."

ICKES' BRIDE WORKED FOR HER HUSBAND

LONDON, May 25 (AP)—Secretary of Interior Ickes and his smiling red-haired bride who is 39 years his junior were expected in England today on a whirlwind honeymoon.

The secretary's plans were not disclosed after the surprise, secrecy-surrounded wedding in Dublin yesterday, but it was believed the pressure of his duties would force a return to Washington after a hasty trip to London and Paris.

The bride's uncle, John Cudahy, United States minister to Ireland, did not attend the ceremony in a small Presbyterian church in Dublin. Immediately afterward the 64-year-old Ickes motored to South Ireland to catch a boat for England, and did not see Cudahy at all. Ickes arrived in Ireland just before the wedding.

So well had the romantic secret been kept that even the minister knew Ickes only as an American "civil servant and lawyer"—the blunt-spoken cabinet member's own description of himself when he signed the marriage register.

Mrs. Ickes, the sister of Mrs. Wilmarth Ickes, widow of the secretary's step-son, was a former employee in two of her husband's departments.

As Miss Jane Hahlman, the 25-year-old Smith College graduate spent four months in the National Park Service gathering data on historic buildings and sites in 1935. Later she transferred to the Reclamation Bureau.

In Washington she will be the youngest cabinet wife.

Described by former associates there as "gay and charming" but with a serious-minded interest in research and a belief in her husband's social theories, she had assisted the secretary in the last year in remodeling his Maryland farm home, Headwaters, where she will live.

COURT APPROVES JURY INQUIRY OF ELECTION

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 25 (AP)—Pennsylvania's Supreme Court ruled today that the Dauphin County (Harrisburg) grand jury would be allowed to investigate charges of bribery and political coercion hurled in the recent primary if particular crimes were specified.

In a 6 to 1 decision, the court allowed 20 days to amend the petition for the investigation. The request for the probe, one of the most spectacular moves of the bitter campaign preceding last Tuesday's primary, first came from Charles J. Margiotti, who polled 175,000 votes but ran third for the Democratic nomination for governor.

POUND KEEPER GIVES DOG WRONG KIND OF SHOTS

LAFAYETTE, Ind., May 25 (AP)—A stranger brought in a spitz dog and told Poundkeeper Ray Hernes: "I want to give this dog a shot. I can't bear to see him suffer."

Hernes led the dog out. Two pistol shots were heard.

"What did you do?" the stranger yelled.

Hernes said he'd shot the dog. "My wife will be plenty mad," the man said. "I wanted the dog vaccinated."

HULL'S PLAYERS WILL BE HERE TOMORROW

Jimmie Hull's Players are coming Pampa tomorrow for a one-night show at their tent theater which will be located one block east of the postoffice.

Jimmie Hull has combined his three units, dramatic, musical and vaudeville, into one evening's entertainment. There are 30 people in the company.

The cast is headed by "Skinny" Kimling, ace of blackface comedians, an ace late feature with Lassie, white minstrels and Tiny Hull, "The Personality Girl" supported by a large cast offering the three-act laughing hit, "My Dream Girl."

Also in the company is a swing band and orchestra. The management guarantees the show to be clean and wholesome.

U. S. EXPORTS IN APRIL GREATER THAN IMPORTS

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—The United States sold $114,575,000 more goods abroad than it bought in April, the Commerce Department reported today.

The April figures piled up an export surplus for the first four months of the year of $435,312,000, compared with an excess of imports over exports in the similar months last year of $131,163,000, even though prices of goods were substantially higher last year.

AN OLD WORD

One of the interesting little by-products of the La Follette party in Wisconsin is an apparent revival of the word, "progressive."

Twenty years ago, or more, that word occupied much the same position that the word "liberal" has occupied in the past decade. It had no exact definition, but in general it implied a willingness to go forward, to experiment, to take chances, coupled with a desire to make the uncertain future better than the imperfect present.

But no word ever seems to stay put very long. As the first Senator La Follette used the term, a progressive was a man who stood for a fairly well-defined program of political action; then Col. Theodore Roosevelt took the word and used it to christen a new political party in which the La Follette program was rather substantially modified.

And then, at last, the Roosevelt party went out of existence, and the war came along, and the reforms that had been fought for so hard in the early part of the century began to look either unattainable or illusory; presently we began to hear about "tired progressives," and the former leaders in the movement began to write books about their disillusionment.

So we stopped hearing about progressives, in the 1920's, and the social-political outlook which once had been called progressive became known as liberal; but that word, too, suffered many changes.

You could find hardly anyone who would admit that he was not a liberal. It got so, finally, that any man who had ceased to believe in the divine right of kings could call himself a liberal; and as the world got diluted and watered down the men who had originally used the label got tired just as the progressives had done before them, and the liberalism of the early 'twenties died out as the progressivism of the preceding generations had done.

So now we are back with the progressives once more, or will be if the La Follette movement re-popularizes the catchword. And the whole business inspires a melancholy wonder about these liberal-progressive swings that take hold every second decade or so.

Why do they seem to follow that unwritten law of diffusion and slow death? What is there about them that sends them all down the path of disillusion, in the end?

Tired progressives, tired liberals; why do they get tired? We don't hear of tired reactionaries, or tired revolutionaries either. The extremist always seems to keep his faith and his vigor. It is the middle-of-the-road man, the slightly-left-of-center person, who wears out. Why?

Maybe the trouble is that the liberal, or progressive, tries to make the best of both worlds: the future and the past. It is a hard job, perhaps an impossible one. And yet it seems to be the way America progresses.

WORD TO THE UNIVERSE

"Fool" is a tough word. But it's a good one for describing a reckless driver. Employed dramatically, it won $1000 for Keith Shaw of New York in competition with 3026 "Drive Safely" posters entered in a national contest.

Take a look at the winning poster. It shows the skeleton hand of death holding over the rear licence plate of a "FOOL." Gets the idea across, doesn't it?

The old arguments against wild and senseless driving have been pounded and pounded against the cold wall of human apathy—and with little success, if one is to judge by statistics on traffic fatalities.

The poster might do more. Try to remember it the next time you feel like a bit of speed or think you can drive just as well with a couple of drinks in you.

No doubt you are one who likes that ear-tingling and lovely waltz, "The Beautiful Blue Danube." . . . Most everyone does. . . . It may interest you to know that the water of the Danube river are anything but beautiful and blue. . . . In fact, they are a dirty, muddy gray at all times.

Behind the Scenes In Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Pampa Daily News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 25—Radio commentators are likely to be an early target of Roosevelt and the New Dealers, who lately have been taking the warpath again on various fronts.

White House resentment against certain newspaper columnists, accused in very high places of misrepresentation, has been extended to include persons who appear on hired radio time to attack the administration and its policies.

belongs to the people and that the interests has been growing steadily and more than one federal agency is now engaged in studying the "problem" on the theory that the ether belongs to the people and that the interests of the people, as represented by government, should not be attacked except through regular political channels.

No specific plan of censorship appears to have been evolved. But threats are being made that "paid propaganda" on sponsored programs "has got to stop."

What, Already?

A recurrent Washington rumor insists that the Government Printing Office has been secretly printing conscription questionnaire blanks for a draft army to fight the next war. This may possibly be true, but in the opinion of many who have tried to confirm the yarn, it isn't.

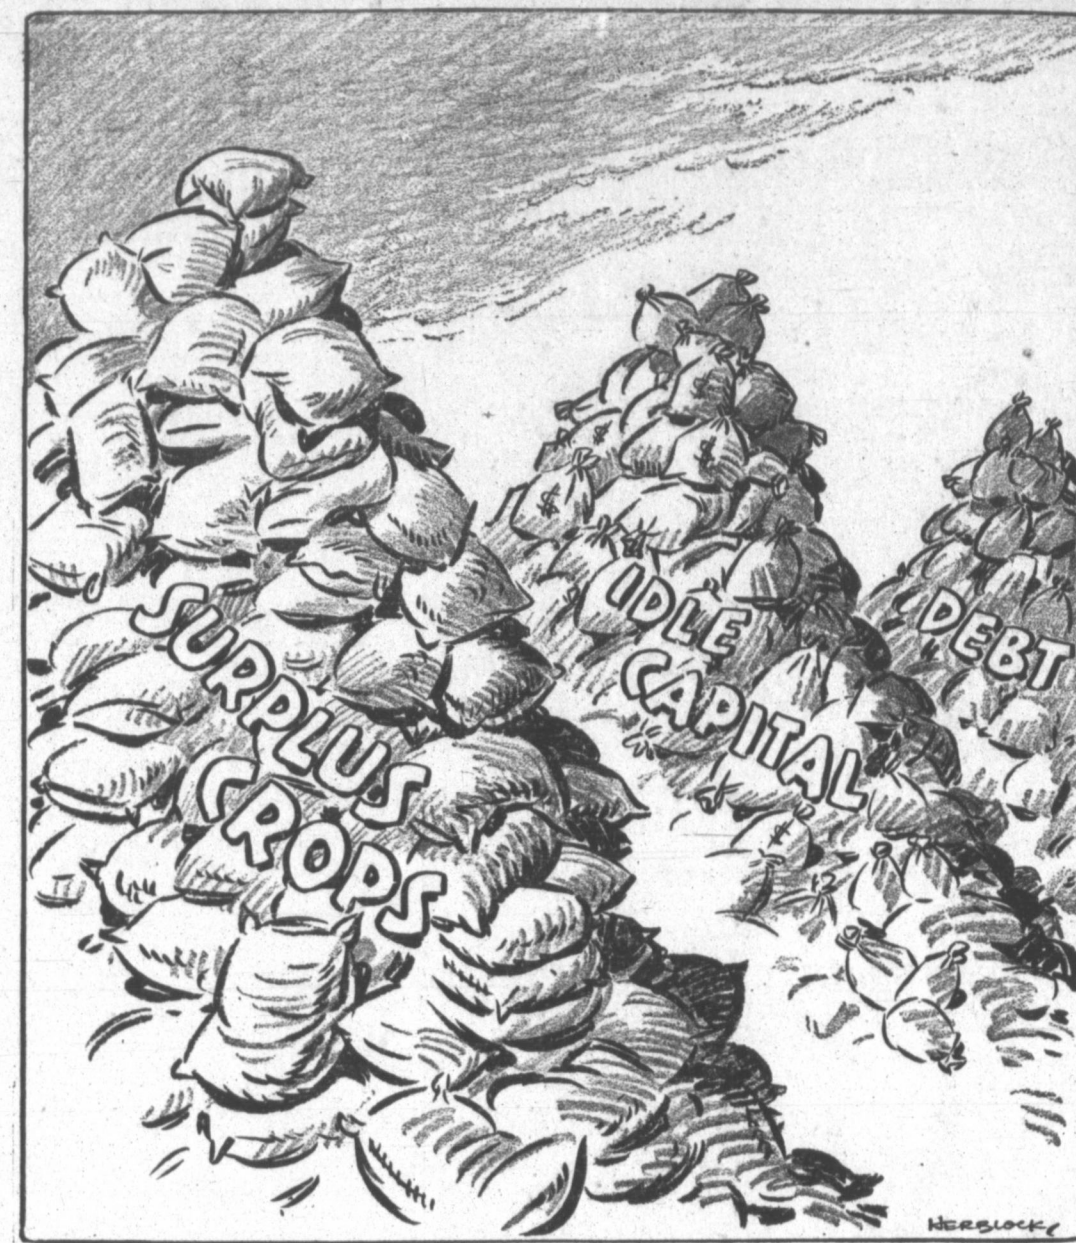

Those who circulate the rumor cite the fact that such blanks certainly would be printed ahead of time without legal authorization or declaration of war—as they were before the United States entered the World War.

Meanwhile, England, although her newspapers are silent about it, is being distributed by even weirder rumors. One of them says "German agents preparing for a bacteriological war" have been experimenting around and infecting British cattle with hoof and mouth disease. Investigation of the story thus far has proved nothing beyond the fact that England is in a much higher state of tension than America.

Mountain Range

Around Hollywood

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Scarcely cheerful reports from the Hollywood economic front lately would seem to indicate a general state of doldrums and a sorry outlook for the year's screenings, but here and there is brightening, bigness, and even a nostalgic touch of the colossal.

"Marie Antoinette"—about $2,000,000 worth—is completed but can scarcely be counted as this was ready to go before the monetary scare set in. But "Metro" is sinking approximately a million in "The Great Waltz," elaborately costumed and staged version of the musical play based on the life of Johann Strauss. Fernand Gravet is playing that role, with Louise Rainer opposite, and Miliza Korjus and George Houston for the singing. Miss Korjus, here two years preparing for her screen debut, looks like a different person. Dieting and exercise have removed approximately 45 pounds of excess baggage, and now—they might call her Gorgeous. If sound track I heard of her voice can be trusted, Miliza may give Jeanette MacDonald, the lot's present queen of song, some bad moments.

Another High Flier

In "Too Hot to Handle" the studio is out to out-thrill "Test Pilot." This is Clark Gable with Myrna Loy again. Walter Pidgeon and Leo Carrillo assisting. It is newswear cameraman stuff, concocted by Laurence Stallings and a young new-reeler named Leonard Hammond. The two thought it up while waiting for things to happen in Ethiopia a couple of years back. By fictionalizing freely a number of things that did—like the Moro Castel disaster—they have produced a big, quick-action script which will run into real money.

Costume epics, which might have been made even if "Robin Hood" hadn't been, are in the cards here and there. Paramount's entries include "The Texans," now completed, and the newly inaugurated "If I Were King," with Ronald Colman as the poet Villon, Frank Lloyd producing and directing. An enormous Paris street set covers 75,000 square feet of the back lot, which doesn't sound like skimping. For later this lot plans "King of the Kings," but let's count only the epic chicks already hatching. "Men With Wings," of course, is Paramount's super-super, costing more than a million already, but worth it if advance reports of the sky stuff in color mean anything.

Music And Color

"Alexander's Ragtime Band" is the hottest number at 20th Century-Fox. That's finished, and the big thing currently is "Suez," elaborately conceived and sure to be at least slightly colossal. The former golf course near the studio is nicely covered with desert in preparation. truckloads of sand having been hauled from nearby beaches to ruin the erstwhile fairways. For size "The Valley of the Giants" tops everything at Warner Bros. now—the redwoods and color alone make it an "epic"—but this company's recently announced program included several supers. And a sequel to "Robin Hood" would have to be colossal in more than a small way.

These are typical "big time" productions. If the movie "epic"—Hollywood is, as a friend remarked, that it's trying "to make $16 shoes for an $8 market," those pictures are here to show Hollywood hasn't quit trying.

And one of these days—but don't hold your breath—will of us will be flooded by seeing that epic of epics go to work "Gone With the Wind." Remember?

People You Know

By ARCHER FILLINGIM.

One of the most interesting characters in Canadian is "Shorty" Arrington who is some three feet tall. He works at a filling station on the main drag, and if there ever was anyone cut out for a job, "Shorty" seems cut out for his. He can stand up straight in a car as he wields a duster. He does not have to bend over to screw the cap off the gas tank. Any minute you expect to see him walking under the car. The other day when Charley Lockhart came to town, "Shorty" escorted him around. He is not as tall as Lockhart. He also escorted Robert Wadlow, the tall boy around, and had his picture made with him, as did J. A. Chambers, pioneer cowboy. Mr. Chambers said this about being tall or short, "Well, a little man can go lots of places a tall man can't go—and a tall man can go lots of places a short man can't go." Arrington, no relative of the pioneer family of that name in Canadian, had quite a career before he came to Canadian. He played in several movies in Hollywood, and traveled with several shows.

Annual Wage Utopia.

One of the modern Utopias presented by those who would solve all our economic problems by law, is an annual wage.

With modern transportation, there is certainly less need now for an annual wage than there was years ago. Why should any employer be obliged to pay a man for a whole year, if his work only required a part of the year? Is it not much better to permit the worker to work for whatever employer can pay him the highest wage in season and move to another employer who can pay him more in another season? It would certainly be foolish to have an employer agree to pay a man by the year when part of the year he could not use him to create any new wealth.

Besides, the annual wage has its difficulties in whether both employer and employee are honest and reasonable, while a weekly or daily wage carries much less likelihood of difference of opinion for one to the advantage of the other.

Years ago, when farmers used to hire men by the year, an irresponsible farmer would let the man go when the hard work was done, or compel him to do such disagreeable work and treat him so shamefully that he would be obliged to quit. On the other hand, the worker would stay while there was little work and take a better job when the season opened up. To alleviate this it was natural to pay different wages for different seasons of the year when the demand was more or less.

The annual wage certainly is not as workable as those dreamers who have never employed any help of any consequence seem to think it is.

What is needed is a willingness on the part of both the employer and the employee to rapidly adjust wages up or down to the supply so that all can have work who must have it or who would prefer to work than to be idle.

Man's Biological Nature

"The average layman, observing the most scientific aspects of the practice of medicine and reading almost daily accounts of new scientific discoveries, is perhaps tempted to conclude that man knows nearly everything there is to know about the constitution and behavior of the human organism," writes Raymond B. Fosdick, president of Rockefeller Foundation.

As a matter of fact, of all the things that man really knows, he knows least about himself. His knowledge of the stars is probably more complete and more reliable than his knowledge of his own body.

"Inanimate things like stars and rocks lend themselves more easily to analysis and measurement. When it comes to living matter we are dealing not only with infinitely more complex material but with more elusive material.

"For example, a physiological process seems to lose something of its full natural character when it is isolated from the complete animal for purposes of experimental study. We are by no means sure, therefore, that a living organism is the sum of its parts.

"Our notion of 'wholeness' or individuality, while vague and perhaps indefinable, appears to have some basis in biological fact. Even if every bodily activity could be explained in terms of physical and chemical formulas, apparently we would still be confronted with unanswered questions.

"And these questions, together with other problems perhaps of more immediate accessibility, relate ultimately not only to what life is, but to very practical issues of human betterment and social control.

"As a very distinguished biologist at Johns Hopkins university recently wrote: 'Every thoughtful person will admit that there is a kind of moral necessity to go forward in the attempt to get a better and more comprehensive understanding of the whole nature of man. The material, mechanical civilization he has evolved may easily become a monster to destroy him unless he learns better to comprehend, develop and control his biological nature.'

"As Julian Huxley says: 'Man must at least consent to think scientifically about himself and the intimate facts of his life, instead of surrounding every vital problem with taboo or prejudice.'

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Although thousands of dollars worth of trinkets and merchandise are stolen from department stores every week in New York, you seldom read of it in the newspapers. There is a reason for this, and it hinges on the psychological hunch fostered by the gambling casinos on the Continent. Merchants believe it is bad publicity for thefts in their stores to be reported, just as Monte Carlo believes it is bad publicity for one of its clients to commit suicide after losing his fortune at roulette.

For years it has been the custom at certain European spas, when a desperate loser takes his life, to convey the body some distance from the casino and stuff a few thousand franc notes into his pockets. This enables the management to deny that suicide took his life because of losing his fortune. It is a custom that fiction writers have made legendary and there is evidence, so they say, to prove that this has happened many times.

In New York the stores employ their own detectives, most of whom are women, to keep on the lookout for thieves. They pose as shoppers and prow through the store looking at merchandise and keeping a close eye on suspicious characters. They said that the arrests are made daily, but they are usually settled out of court. The stores, except in extreme cases, do not like to involve the police and thereby let themselves in for newspaper comment. Such publicity has been indisputably proved bad as many people will avoid a store that figures sensationally in the news.

The gambling casino angle, incidentally, brings to mind one of Alexander Woolcott's classic stories. It is that of the tall, young man who lost heavily at the gaming boards and then wandered out into the night. Suddenly there came a revolver shot. The attendants rushed out to find the body in the moonlight, a red blur spreading over his shirt-front.

Naturally, they were annoyed. But they followed the routine set aside for such situations. They hurriedly thrust 10,000 francs into his pockets and telephoned the police. But when the police arrived there was no body. Half an hour later the "body" surfaced casually into the casino. He began to play with the ten thousand francs, which a benevolent providence had dropped into his pockets, and he recouped all his losses. The red blur on his shirt-front, it developed, was red ink.

Of course there wasn't a thing the manager could do but give him a few icy stares. But to these the young man was oblivious. People remarked they had seldom seen a young man in such good humor, despite his prodigious losses of the last few days.

I recall the story, the last that Alexander Woolcott heard of him he was still winning. . . . and still very much alive.

LEWIS URGES LABOR TO SUPPORT BARKLEY

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP) — C. I. O. Chieftain John L. Lewis urged organized labor today to support Senator Arthur W. Barker of Kentucky, the administration leader, in his renomination battle against Gov. A. B. Chandler.

An endorsement by Lewis in his capacity as chairman of Labor's Non-Partisan League was made public at Lexington, Ky., shortly after he conferred here yesterday with associates in his unsuccessful campaign to select the Democratic ticket in Pennsylvania.

Informed persons indicated the Lewis faction wanted recognition of its strength and a promise of no reprisals before giving its active support to the Pennsylvania nominees.

EDUARD BENES PAID TRIBUTE BY CHILDREN

PRAHA, May 25 (AP)—The German minister, Dr. Ernst Eisenlohr, has called the attention of Foreign Minister Kamil Krofta to what he termed recent violations of the German frontier by Czechoslovak military planes.

A foreign office spokesman said today that Eisenlohr, in a visit to the foreign office last night, emphasized that he was not making a formal protest but was merely calling Krofta's attention to the situation.

Krofta assured Eisenlohr that measures already had been taken to prevent recurrence of such incidents.

Nazi funeral honors were bestowed in the ancient and historic town of Eger on two sudeten Germans, whose deaths in a frontier shooting last Saturday provoked a grave national crisis.

The nation was tense, and among Czech patriots there was evidence of resentment that the German Fuehrer Hitler sent wreaths for the two coffins, and that two German officers were picked to place them.

The Czechs fear Hitler one day may march his army into their nation to try to bring the 3,500,000 German minority into his greater Germany.

That the focus of Czech concern for today was on Eger turned back the history pages 300 years to something of a parallel.

For there on Feb. 25, 1634, was slain the famous General Wallenstein, who dreamed and planned for a great Germanic empire of which he would be the ruling power.

Wallenstein was slain by officers loyal to the Archduke Ferdinand, when it became apparent he was preparing to desert the emperor.

The two Germans honored today were Georg Hoffman and Nikolaus Biehm. They were shot when they sped past a police barracks near the German frontier, after police said, they ignored shouts to halt.

A ceremony of quite another character took place in the courtyard of Praha's historic Hradcany—medieval castle of the Bohemian kings.

In clear piping tones of the language of the Czechs, the young German had eulogized Benes as one of the builders of the republic and concluded:

"Herr President, you are famous throughout the world, you are just, you did not want war and we hope you will succeed in preserving peace."

Madame Benes, the president's wife, stood beside him and received bouquets of wild flowers brought by the children.

BARBERS. SUPPLY BOYS, GULF, PHILLIPS WIN LOOP SOFTBALL GAMES

THREE GAMES TO BE PLAYED THIS EVENING

Three scheduled softball games and a postponed affair were played yesterday, three in the city league and one in the industrial league. City league results were:

Supply Boys 16, Christians 11, Gulf-Cooper of Skellytown 13, Pampa News 7.

Industrial league game played was: Phillips 7, Skelly 4.

The Diamond Shop won a 13-to-2 game from Gray County Creamery in a league game Monday evening which saw Rhode have things under control all the way. Robbins was behind the plate. Dawson and Reagan was the battery for the creamerymen.

Next game for the Diamond Shop will be at 8:15 Friday night when they meet the Supply Boys. An error in the original schedule was reported Sunday.

The Mack & Paul Barbers, composed of youngsters, many of them in school, worked nicely behind Brock, former Jaycee hurler, who combined with McWright to hold the Jaycees in check with Irwin and Harvey on the mound and Halle receiving.

Moon and Whitten worked for the Supply Boys with G. Helskel and Hays the battery for the Christians in a slugfest. Turner bagged a home run and Humphrey repeated to help the oil supply men.

Gulf-Cooper was too much for the newshawks in a game played under the lights at the Skelly-Schafer plant west of Pampa. Stansel worked for the winners with Kennedy receiving. Corley hit for the circuit. Walker, Johnson and Barnett tolled for the newsmen with Hamilton receiving. H. Wampler and Jack Allison hit for the circuit.

The Dewey brothers, J. and R., combined to hold Skelly's new pitcher and teammates under control for a 7 to 4 win.

The scheduled for tonight follows: 6 p. m.—Danciger vs. Cities Service.

8:15 p. m.—Gulf-Cooper vs. Gray County Creamery.

Second game—Phillips vs. Stanokind.

Night games will be played at Recreation Park with a free gate. The twilight game will be played at Cities Service.

Biscuit's Owner Calls off Race With Admiral

NEW YORK, May 25 (AP)—Now that his match race with Seabiscuit has been cancelled, War Admiral will resume the schedule originally mapped out and hook up with Pompoon, his three-year-old rival of 1937, in the classic suburban handicaps at Belmont Park Saturday.

The $20,000 suburban may not have the public appeal of the $100,000 War Admiral-Seabiscuit duel, which was called off yesterday after Charles S. Howard, California owner of the Biscuit, reported his colt in no condition to run Monday, but it's likely to be just as good a horse race.

Several other top notch handicappers performed well in the race but the interest will be in the Admiral and Pompoon—the pair that finished one, two, respectively, in the Kentucky Derby and Preakness last year. Pompoon, owned by J. H. Louchheim of Philadelphia, drew the line fine in the Preakness, in fact as close as it has been drawn against the son of Man O'War from Samuel D. Riddle's stable since he started on his unbeaten parade last year.

Missions Still In First Place

(By The Associated Press)

Shreveport's Bill Finnucane did Bob Munciel out of the first no-hit, no-run game of the Texas League season last night when he singled in the second game of a double header here.

Even so, Munciel won the game 9-0, after the Missions took the first 14-7. The double victory left San Antonio high and dry in first place.

Tulsa stayed in second place with a 13-9 win over Dallas. Beaumont and Oklahoma City held on to third and fourth. The Exporters defeated Houston 2-1 and the Indians defeated Fort Worth 4-0.

Cleveland Climbs Back Into Lead In American

By HUGH S. FULLERTON Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer.

The Cleveland Indians, who haven't won the American league pennant since 1920 although they often have threatened to take the flag, may turn out to be a very tough team to beat this season in spite of everything.

In this case, "everything" includes the fact that Oscar Vitt, their new manager, hardly expects to turn a fourth-place club into a pennant-winner in one season; that they have had the habit for years of falling apart in mid-season; that they're a notoriously weak road club, and that those murderous Yankees still are hanging around.

The Indians, however, have accomplished a couple of notable feats on their current home stand. They climbed back to the lead after dropping to third place in the East. They won six out of seven games from Eastern rivals, and they turned back the Yankees twice in two days.

The pitching of Johnny Allen, a former Yankee, and the clouting of Earl Averil enabled the Tribe to win 9-5 yesterday and drop New York into third place. The Boston Red Sox, who took over second with a 5-4 triumph over the Detroit Tigers, invade Cleveland today for a two-game series.

The only other game which altered the standings was the Boston Bees' 10-9 triumph over Cincinnati, which sent them back into third place, a half game up on the Reds.

New York's league-leading Giants belted over the St. Louis Cardinals, 9-4 as Slick Castleman, who hadn't started a game since last August, came back and proved his back is no longer ailing by pitching an eight-hitter. Chicago's Cubs kept pace, 2½ games behind, by trimming Brooklyn 10-4. They belted Brook Mungo out in the fourth when Augie Galan hit a homer with the bases full and Ripper Collins followed with another circuit blow.

Chicago's injury-ridden White Sox got some good news when Monte Stratton, laid up since March with a lame arm, came back to pitch them to a 10-3 decision over Washington. They celebrated by giving him 16 blows, including Gee Walker's homer.

Lynn Nelson's five-hitter and a well-timed attack enabled the Athletics to whip the St. Louis Browns 6-1. Pittsburgh's game at Philadelphia was rained out.

Haas Picked as Best Golfer by British Champ

TROON, Scotland, May 25. (AP)—Henry Cotton, British open champion, today picked Freddie Haas of New Orleans as the finest swinger on the United States Walker Cup team, as the Louisiana youngster became fourth-favorite to win the British amateur golf title.

"He certainly is the most orthodox swinger of the lot," Henry said, "and down in that lower bracket he may go far."

Evidently Cotton was not the only one thinking thus far Haas moved up back of Omaha Johnny Goodman, the American amateur champion; C. Ross (Candy) Somerville of Canada and Charley Yates of Atlanta in the list of favorites when the field of 98 survivors started out this morning to finish the second round and play all of the third.

Goodman, who started as favorite at 8 to 1, now is quoted at 15 to 2 despite a slack performance in downing Ray Billows, 4 and 2 yesterday.

Haas is a subject of much discussion because of the huge Louisiana State variety "L" which adorns his sweater. That letter, in this country, is given to people learning to drive automobiles, but judging from his game Haas is no learner. The Scots can't figure it out.

CANDIDATE ASKS FOR STAND ON TAX POLICY

HILLSBORO, May 25. (AP)—P. Pierce Brooks of Dallas, candidate for lieutenant-governor, said in a speech here today candidates for the office should state definitely whether they would recommend increased taxes or economy in government to produce needed funds.

Brooks said he would propose a slashing reduction in governmental cost to raise "eight million dollars," he said would be necessary for funds for the blind, crippled, and the teachers' retirement fund.

GRID TRAINING CAMP TO OPEN ABOUT AUG. 20

With school just out for the summer vacation period, Coaches Odus Mitchell and J. C. Prejan are already thinking about the fall training camp for their Harvesters. They have tentatively set the time of opening camp at August 20 with the place Monument Lake near Trinidad, Colo., where the Harvesters of 1937 trained.

The playing season will open this year on September 9 which will necessitate a more strenuous and advanced training period at fall camp. The Clovis Wildcats will come here for the first game.

Coaches plan to take about 35 boys to camp, which will last two weeks.

A new system of selecting the Harvester squad will be introduced this fall, Coach Mitchell revealed today. In the past all seniors out for football were carried on the squad. This year the seniors will have to show enough promise and "get up" to warrant their being kept as Harvesters; otherwise youngsters will be kept and the seniors sent to the Guerrillas.

"We are going to have a full squad of potential starters this fall with no dead timber," Coach Mitchell declared. "In the past some of the seniors have been unable to make the team and others did considerable loafing. This year every boy is going to be a possible starter."

Palestine Beats League Leaders

(By The Associated Press)

All the East Texas League leaders took it on the chin last night from the second division upstarts. Last place Palestine poured it on first-place Texarkana 7-4. Skipper Neil Andrews clouting a homer in the sixth to stow the victory away while Larry Susee did a good job of relief pitching.

Second place Longview fell before Jacksonville 8-4, the Jax putting three errors with three hits for a six-run spurge in the seventh.

Marshall and Tyler, tied for third place, lost to Kilgore and Henderson respectively. Ernie Oliver homered in the eleventh to give Kilgore a 4-3 win, and George Lipold beat his former Tyler mates with seven-hit hurling.

TEXAN BEATEN IN GOLF MEET IN SCOTLAND

TROON, Scotland, May 25. (AP)—Charley Yates of Atlanta defeated English amateur champion Frank Pennink, 3 and 2, today to reach the third round of the British Amateur Gold Championship as Reynolds Smith, American Walker cupper from Dallas, and Robert Sweeny, Anglo-American defending champion, went down to defeat.

Smith was beaten, 2 up, by young Jocelyn Walker, former Cambridge University captain. Sweeny, a resident of London who was born in the United States, was well off his game and went out before William Robb, Perthshire doctor, by a score of 5 and 4.

Fred Haas, Jr., former intercollegiate champion from New Orleans, joined Yates in the third round with his second straight one-sided triumph. The lean Southerner topped Dr. J. D. MacCormack of Great Britain, 7 and 5.

Putting superbly, Yates, who yesterday eliminated the U. S. Walker cup mate Johnny Fischer, matched Pennink's bid on the last nine. Three up at the turn, he sank putts of 18, 30 and 12 feet at the tenth, fifteenth and sixteenth to close out the English title-holder before a gallery of 1,000.

This afternoon Yates meets Stan Morrison, from near-by Turnberry, in the third-round.

Watching the Georgian play sixteen holes in two under 4's, Henry Cotton remarked, "Now that boy's good. I like his irons and he puts very boldly."

Pennink, experimenting with a new driver, couldn't keep the ball in the fairway off the tee.

The triumphs by Yates and Haas, and the defeat of Smith, put five of the original nine American Walker cuppers into this afternoon's third round, which was to cut the field to 32 survivors.

In addition to the two Southerners, they were U. S. champion Johnny Goodman of Omaha, team captain Francis Quimet of Boston, and Charles (Chick) Kocsis, former intercollegiate champion from Detroit.

In other second-round matches this morning, Hector Thomson, champion in 1936, and Leonard Crawley, English titleholder in 1931, and both members of the 1938 British Walker cup team, also advanced. Thomson beat G. E. Grant Govan of Britain, 1 up, while Crawley routed Johnstone Godfrey, another Briton, 8 and 6.

Veteran Cyril Tolley, one of Britain's greatest internationalists and champion in 1920 and 1929, defeated Frank J. Bird, 4 and 3; Thomson beat G. Morton Eyles, member of the 1936 team, 2 and 1, and Rex Hartley, another ex-walker cupper, won from Raymond Oppenheimer of Britain on the 21st hole.

TEXAN BEATEN IN GOLF MEET IN SCOTLAND

TROON, Scotland, May 25. (AP)—Charley Yates of Atlanta defeated English amateur champion Frank Pennink, 3 and 2, today to reach the third round of the British Amateur Gold Championship as Reynolds Smith, American Walker cupper from Dallas, and Robert Sweeny, Anglo-American defending champion, went down to defeat.

Smith was beaten, 2 up, by young Jocelyn Walker, former Cambridge University captain. Sweeny, a resident of London who was born in the United States, was well off his game and went out before William Robb, Perthshire doctor, by a score of 5 and 4.

Fred Haas, Jr., former intercollegiate champion from New Orleans, joined Yates in the third round with his second straight one-sided triumph. The lean Southerner topped Dr. J. D. MacCormack of Great Britain, 7 and 5.

Putting superbly, Yates, who yesterday eliminated the U. S. Walker cup mate Johnny Fischer, matched Pennink's bid on the last nine. Three up at the turn, he sank putts of 18, 30 and 12 feet at the tenth, fifteenth and sixteenth to close out the English title-holder before a gallery of 1,000.

This afternoon Yates meets Stan Morrison, from near-by Turnberry, in the third-round.

Watching the Georgian play sixteen holes in two under 4's, Henry Cotton remarked, "Now that boy's good. I like his irons and he puts very boldly."

Pennink, experimenting with a new driver, couldn't keep the ball in the fairway off the tee.

Ross and Armstrong to Fight Tomorrow Night

By GAYLE TALBOT.

NEW YORK, May 25. (AP)—Trained like fighting cocks, to quote their respective managers, Barney Ross and Henry Armstrong did little more than flex their muscles and get a couple of hair-cuts today in final preparation for their 15-round battle for the welterweight championship tomorrow night.

Both completed training without mishap, and unless one of them trips over the scales at the official weighing-in tomorrow noon, they will enter the ring at the big Madison Square Garden Bowl in shape for the scrap of their careers.

Ross, the Jewish lad with the flaming spirit, remained a steadfast favorite at 7-to-5 to defend his welterweight crown successfully against the negro featherweight ruler, whose fearsome record of knockouts in the last two years is unparalleled in modern ring history.

The odds might be considered a tribute to Ross's record of never having done other than fight a man to the limit of his skill and endurance since he became a big-timer in 1932. That, more than the weight advantage, will keep him the favorite until he gets licked.

The record books show that Barney, at 28, will be giving away some four years to his ever-rushing, powerful opponent. But those who have watched the clean-cut boy from Chicago fight over the long span know he still can whip Armstrong or anyone else around his weight.

At 142, or thereabouts, Ross will square off at his very best fighting weight. He always was a light welterweight. On the other hand, has been forced to build himself up to 136 for the weigh-in, and some cagey fighting men think he might feel those extra pounds after he has toted them around for a while.

The tactics planned by the two are pretty well defined. Armstrong intends to dig into his older rival's mid-section from the start, and in time to bring Barney's guard down to where he can be walloped soundly on the jaw.

Ross is certain he isn't going to retreat like Armstrong's other victims. He is smart and clever enough, he thinks, to stay in close and outbox Armstrong. He thinks, also, that he can punch harder than Henry when it comes to a showdown.

"All those fellows Armstrong knocked out tried to stay away from him," says Ross. "None of them, except maybe Baby Arizmendi, was smart enough to keep inside his swings and keep him off balance. Anyway, he hasn't any killing punch. He hit most of those guys a lot of times before they went down."

Armstrong's quiet and studious as ever, is making no fiery predictions, though his manager, Eddie Mead, says Henry will win by a knockout.

U. S. SOLDIER TO MEET NAZI GOOSE-STEPPER MONDAY NITE

Farrell Paces Shamrock Meet

SHAMROCK, May 25. (AP)—Roy Farrell of Vernon, setting a sizzling pace through the first two rounds, today met Frank Mitcham, Jr., of Shamrock in the feature match of the thirteenth annual Green Belt Golf tournament.

Farrell, defending champion, yesterday took L. S. Walker of Quanah, three times winner of the tournament out in the first round, 2 up, then downed Flake George of Shamrock, 7 and 6, in the second round.

Walter S. Pendleton, Jr., of Shamrock, who was medalist with a 67, three under par, also made the first two rounds, downing L. V. Anderson of Paducah 3 and 1 and beating C. M. Day of Childress 3 and 2. Pendleton plays Grover Austin of Shamrock in the third round today.

Two second round matches were not finished, being stopped because of darkness. Frank Foxhall of Memphis and James Dixon of Vernon were all square at 16 holes. James Douglas, Shamrock, was two down to B. Clancy of Altus, Okla., at the end of 11 holes.

FORD REPORTS BIG SURPLUS.
BOSTON, May 25. (AP)—The Ford Motor Company today reported a surplus at the end of 1937 of $508,685,935 compared with $502,666,672 at the end of 1936, an increase of $5,969,263.

He even calls the punch: A right to the jaw. He is very angry because the Ross retinue has suggested that Armstrong is a low-puncher when he becomes excited.

Light up with sight-saving bulbs

A sure way to get all the light you pay for is to get rid of all burned-out or blackened bulbs in your home. Replace them with bright new bulbs that bear the trade-mark of a reputable manufacturer. Remember . . . eyesight is priceless, light is cheap. When you get new lamp bulbs, be sure to include some of the larger sight-saving sizes . . . especially the 75 and 100-watt sizes. Then, when you light up, see how much brighter and more cheerful your home is—how much pleasanter and more enjoyable it is to read and do other close-seeing tasks.

HAVE YOU SEEN THE NEW "Seeing is believing" DEMONSTRATION?

Come into our showrooms and see for yourself that I. E. S. Better Sight Lamps give more light than ordinary lamps. We have arranged an interesting demonstration built around the new Light Meter that proves this.

Your Money's Worth At Your Hotel

Hilton Hotel guests usually pay less than guests of other first-class hotels. You are never charged extra merely because the hotel is first class.

When you pay two dollars for a Hilton room, for instance, or 50 cents for a meal—you know you are not paying for anything you will not get.

The sense of well-being that goes with staying at the Hiltons—that costs you nothing.

This thing of minimum cost for maximum quality and service is a fairly new idea—introduced to Texas by the Hilton Hotels.

Trial Flight

BY ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES COPYRIGHT, 1938, BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
JACKIE DUNN—heroine; she wanted to fly.
ROGER HUCKNER—hero; he wanted to test the stratosphere.
BERYL MELORE—wealthy widow; she wanted Roger.
EVELYN LA FARGE—Jackie's mother; she wanted a son-in-law.

Yesterday the farewell comes and Jackie runs down the hall, fearful that should she stop she might turn back to Roger and tell him that this is the end of everything for her!

CHAPTER XXI

WELL, that was it, Jackie thought grimly, as she waited impatiently in the little station for the noon train. That was the end of that ridiculous trial engagement. An end in which the last laugh was bitter-sweet, indeed. For Jackie supposed that the last laugh was on her. She had thought she could laugh at love, refuse to have any part of it—and now it was laughing at her.

Only this laughter was terribly close to tears. It was aching misery, filling her whole being, an ache that would turn to dull emptiness, no doubt, in time. For this farewell was the end of everything for her. It would be as Evelyn had said: Jackie knew she never again would love anyone as she loved Roger. First love was the sweetest; the saddest, too.

She opened the palm of her hand and there, cradled in its grasp, was Roger's pin. In her flight from the hospital she forgot that she had still clutched it in her hand. She had tried to give it back to Roger. But he had refused to accept it. He had said he would like her to keep it. As though she would need anything for remembrance! She started to pin it to her lapel again, over her heart, as Roger had. But no, she could not bear to do that. She opened her purse and put the pin out of sight.

THE little station took on an air of importance, a flurry of excitement. Within a few minutes now the noon train would come thundering in. The platform quivered, the building shook; people would press forward, porters would scurry by, the stationmaster would sing out his rhythmic chant, "All aboard! All aboard! Eastbound train, stopping at Bellefonte, Lewisburg, Harrisburg... All aboard..."

It could not come too soon for Jackie. She still felt impelled to flee; she still wanted to run away, and keep on running, if only it were possible, as far as she could.

She wanted to hide her head, her injury from the world; she wanted to give in to this aching misery, to let it sweep over her, carry her away. She wanted to cry in her mother's arms.

Yes, she could tell Evelyn everything now, knowing that she would understand, knowing that she would give comfort and forgiveness as well. Her mother, who was wise and kind and dear... The rumbling of the approaching train, first a distant, faint murmur, grew louder and louder, swelling in volume. The platform quivered; the building shook. Jackie picked up her bag and pressed forward with the others, as the train came to a stop. She was about to put her foot on the first step when suddenly someone caught her arm, swung her around swiftly.

"Jackie... wait! Oh, I did catch you... stop you in time..." It was Beryl Melrose, clutching Jackie's arm, holding her back. A strange Beryl indeed, flushed, hatless, hair wind-blown, dark eyes bright.

"Why did you want to stop me?" Jackie asked. Had something happened to Roger? Had he taken a turn for the worse? But no, she had left him only a short while ago. "You can't stop me, Beryl. Please!" Jackie tried to pull away. People were pushing past, getting on the train; in a minute or two it would pull out again.

"I had to stop you," Beryl said. She still spoke with difficulty, her breath coming in short gasps. "You can't go, Jackie. Not until you listen to me."

"All aboard! All aboard!" THAT was the last call. All of the passengers had boarded the train. If Jackie were to get on it she could not wait another second. She tried once more to pull away. Beryl only clung to her more firmly. "No, no, Jackie... you must listen to me... to what I've got to say. Then if you still want to go..."

But it would be too late then. It was too late now. The train was beginning to puff and steam, the big wheels to turn, slowly, laboriously. The platform quivered beneath their feet; a roaring filled their ears. The train was gone.

"You shouldn't have stopped me," Jackie said. Why hadn't Beryl let her run away? Why must she make it this much harder...

"We must go somewhere so that we can talk," Beryl said. Her old poise had come back to her. She linked an arm through Jackie's, picked up her bag in the other hand, led the way back inside the station. The waiting room was deserted now. Beryl sat down on a bench, nodded for Jackie to sit down, too.

"I can't see what there is to talk about," Jackie said. She sat down reluctantly. She did not think that talking could change anything. She resented the fact that Beryl had prevented her from taking the train. "I told you last night I was leaving today," Jackie reminded. "You even said, Beryl, that you thought it would be best. And Roger, when I told him this morning—when I said goodbye—Roger said the same thing."

That should prove to Beryl that talking was in vain; that Jackie should have taken the train. Roger had wanted her to go. Roger had not tried to stop her.

"Yes, I know," Beryl inclined her dark head. "He told me. Roger told me everything you said to him, Jackie. That's why I had to come after you, stop you."

"But you shouldn't have! You should have let me go!"

"No, I think not. I did say—last night—that it might be best. I didn't want you to have to know the truth, Jackie. Not until you had to."

THE truth... what was Beryl talking about? Why didn't she say what she meant, what it was—right out? The truth was that Roger loved Beryl, and that Beryl loved him. Talking could not change that—or make it any different.

Perhaps Jackie still would have to put on an act—make believe. "I'm afraid you don't understand, Beryl," Jackie said. "I suppose Roger told you I broke our engagement. But what you don't know is that it never was a real engagement. It was only a sort of trial flight."

Beryl said, almost impatiently, "Yes, I know. Roger told me about that, too."

"He seems to have told you everything," Jackie said. "I still don't see what you mean by the truth. I still don't see why you stopped me, what there is to talk about."

"I think that you should know everything," Beryl said. "Before you break your engagement. The truth, that I spoke of—from which I hoped to spare you, Jackie—is that Roger may never walk again."

GERMANS CLAIM CZECH POLICE PLANES SEEN

BERLIN May 25 (AP)—Deutsches Nachrichtenbüro (DNB), official German news agency, reported in a dispatch from Dresden today that Czech military or police planes were sighted over German territory at three points.

One plane was sighted at Klingenthal at the western end of the Erz mountains which form the northwestern border of Czechoslovakia, another at Gross Schochau at the eastern end of the chain, and another at Hermsdorf near the Elbe river. The latter two points are about 25 miles apart and the two reports may have been of the same plane.

The planes withdrew after reconnoitering, DNB reported. The Berlin government ordered the German minister at Praha to protest strongly against such border violations by Czechoslovakian aircraft.

It was pointed out that there could be no question of pilot's error, as the frontier line is plainly and visibly demarcated.

Another Czechoslovak plane was sighted over the border of Czechoslovakia, flying at an altitude of about 300 feet.

It was stated authoritatively that no German garrisons or troops were in that neighborhood but that the Czechoslovak side was heavily fortified and Czech detachments were often seen a few yards from the border, causing alarm to frontier dwellers.

GAIN FORECAST FOR PLAINS WHEAT CROP

AMARILLO, May 25 (AP)—Despite a total wheat crop failure predicted for six Panhandle counties, the Panhandle Grain and Feed Dealers Association here today forecast a grain yield of 20,000,000 bushels for the area—3,000,000 bushels above the estimate at the same time last year. Damage by wind and grasshoppers explain the total loss of crop in Dalham, Moore, Hartley, Farmer,

Bailey and Lamb counties, the dealers said in closing their two-day annual convention.

J. D. Weeks of Claude was elected president. Other officers included: Vice President, O. D. Dinwiddie of Hart; secretary-treasurer, Joe Morris of Amarillo; directors, Blake Hankins of Lubbock, R. L. McClellan of Spearman, Byron Gist of Amarillo, Bob Stone of Clovis, N. M., and Tom Connolly of Clarendon.

Homer J. Henney, supervisor of the southwestern district of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, discussed the crop insurance program. Victor Schoffelmeyer, farm editor of the Dallas Morning News, spoke on "Agrol," the new agricultural alcohol fuel.

MALODOROUS CASE. CMAHA, Neb.—Discovery of a dead skunk under the hood of his automobile didn't appeal to Police Captain Fred Palmag's sense of humor—but it did to his detective instinct.
