Local Taxes for 1978 Pegged at $5 Million

Local taxing entities mailed out statements totalling more than $5 million this past week, so taxpayers of Deaf Smith County will soon know how much their share of the tax load will be.

The taxes are actually due in January, but all three local taxing agencies offer discounts if taxes are paid early—3 percent in October, 2 percent in November, and 1 percent in December. The tax bills are for the 1978 budget year.

The approximate totals for each entity show the Hereford Independent School District with anticipated tax revenues of $2.7 million, the county with a $1.2 million total, and the city with a total of some $595,000. The county also collects taxes for the state, $94,512; the Deaf Smith County Hospital District, $206,915; the High Plains Underground Water District, $26,819; and the Walcott School District, $173,061.

The total tax take adds up to $5,019,276 which averages out to about $251 for every man, woman and child in the county. But, the average per taxpayer will figure much higher.

The school district tax revenues are down slightly this year, due to a decrease in the tax rate from $1.46 to $1.24 per $100 assessed value. All three taxing agencies have the same market value figures for purpose of the tax rolls, but the assessed valuations are different.

The school district assesses property on 60 percent of market value; the city assesses at 45 percent, and the county at 24 percent. This is sometimes confusing to taxpayers but, at least, the local agencies have been uniform on market values for a number of years.

While taxpayers can earn a discount by paying their taxes before Jan. 1, they have until the end of January to make the payment with penalty. Starting in February, a penalty is assessed for late payment.

Fred Fox, school tax assessor-collector, reported that new computerized receipts "should speed up processing of tax payments," and he added that anyone is welcome to visit the tax office and ask questions about their taxes. The office is now located in the HISD administrative building across from the high school.

The City of Hereford's anticipated tax revenues are up slightly from last year because of the re-evaluation of property which was put into effect this year. Because of the city's fiscal year, their re-evaluation figures were started later than the other taxing agencies.

"Last year's property appraisal was based on 1961 figures," said Cliff Arnold, city tax assessor-collector. "A re-evaluation was made in 1976 and those new figures were used to compute this year's city taxes."

The city tax rate is $1.10 per $100 assessed valuation, with the assessment ratio set at 45 percent. The city normally collects about 97 percent of its taxes by July of the following year. Those not paid by April 30 are put on the delinquent tax roll. The city uses tax attorneys to collect delinquent taxes.

"We sent out our tax statements on Monday of last week," said Arnold, "and residents should have received them by Tuesday. People should check with the tax office if they have not received their statements in the mail," he added.

Neil Miller, county tax assessor-collector, not only collects taxes for Deaf Smith County but also sends out statements for the State of Texas, the Deaf Smith County Hospital District, the High Plains Underground Water District and the Walcott School District.

The county tax rate is actually 95 cents, but a special road district tax of 30 cents brings the county total to $1.25 per $100 assessed value. The hospital district tax rate is 21 cents per $100; the state tax is 10 cents, and the water district is 3 cents. The combined rate, then, assessed from the county tax assessor's office is $1.59 per $100 assessed value.

"Our tax statements were sent out last Friday," said Mrs. Miller, "so taxpayers should have received them early this week." (See TAXES, Page 2)

Farmers To Send Tractors To Big Strike Rally in Amarillo

Deaf Smith County farmers are being urged to participate in a massive farm strike rally to be held at the Tri-State Fairgrounds in Amarillo Friday, Oct. 14. Arliss Edwards of the Milo Center area, a number of a three man delegation from the local area which traveled to Pueblo, Colorado to help inform Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland of the farmer strike movement last month, is recruiting support within the area.

In a telephone interview Wednesday night, Edwards reported that "Every farmer we've contacted has indicated that he will support the rally, and a number have pledged to put tractors in the parade through downtown Amarillo."

Edwards has already enlisted the support of area farmers on sojourns to Bushland, Wildorado, and the Simms and Ford communities.

He launched an effort to enlist support in the Hereford area this morning.

50 Tractors Pledged

"I would guess we have about 50 tractors lined up for a caravan into Amarillo right now," said Edwards. "I think we'll have several more pledged to go within the next few days," he added. The local strike proponent reported that the Hereford caravan will form up at "about daybreak" on Oct. 14 for the long trip to Amarillo.

"We haven't selected a staging point for the caravan yet, but we'll probably have a little better idea in just a few days," he stated.

Edwards returned from the Colorado meeting with Bergland convinced "the strike movement is the farmer's one chance, and if we blow it, the game's over."

He's become even surer of that fact since then.

"If you had asked me to strike a year ago, I would have laughed in your face and called you crazy, but as I see it today, the strike is our only way out," he replied. "I thought I was going to get whipped when I talked to several farmers, but in the end, they all said they would go along with the strike movement because they really don't have any other option. A lot of guys are jumping on the bandwagon and realizing it's time to forget about embarrassment and consider the business end of this thing," Edwards added.

15,000 Expected

As many as 15,000 farmers from 30 states may attend the Amarillo rally, which comes on the heels of a whirlwind series of area meetings on the farm strike movement.

One such meeting was held at the Umbarger community east of Hereford on Sunday, and was well-attended by area farmers and businessmen.

Mrs. Fred Vanderburg of Pampa, who is assisting her husband in organizing the huge Amarillo rally, reports that tractors will gather at the parking lot of the Farmer Strike Meeting Slated

Hereford will host an American Agriculture meeting Tuesday, Oct. 11, at 8 p.m. at the Bull Barn, according to Ralph Diller of Hereford.

Jerry Wright of the American Agriculture movement in Colorado will be the featured speaker, and will explain the farmer strike movement and how local people can get involved in it.

"We invite all local farmers, businessmen and any other interested individuals to attend this meeting, so they can find out just what this movement is, and determine if they support or oppose it," Diller commented.

Lettuce, Carrot Harvest Active

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

Vegetable harvesting in Deaf Smith County and the Magic Triangle area, the "salad bowl" of the Texas Panhandle, continues with carrots and lettuce being moved to market from local fields.

While the market for lettuce hasn't soared to the record-setting peak of 1976, it has improved considerably within the past 10 days, according to a spokesman for E.C. Reinauer & Sons of Hereford.

Bud Snyder reported that his firm has been packing lettuce for about three weeks, and although harvesting has currently slowed, crews will be harvesting more of the leafy vegetable within the next two weeks.

"The market has been real good the last 10 days, although the harvest started under weak market conditions. Cartons of lettuce are currently selling for $5.50-$6.00, after starting out at $2.50-$3.00," Snyder commented.

The lettuce is harvested and placed in 50 pound cartons for marketing.

According to Snyder, yields have been "very good," and he estimated average yields in the 750-800 carton per acre range.

"The growers are fairly happy with the upturn the market has taken. California shipments are down and that has helped us locally, although we can't figure out just why there was a downturn in California marketing," Snyder added.

Albert Maxwell of La Manita-Cullum-Collier & Co.'s Hereford office agreed with Snyder concerning the sentiments of area growers, explaining, "The price has gotten up to the point that the crop is profitable for the grower now."

Maxwell explained that vegetable growers expected the severe drought in California to create shortages of some vegetables, such as lettuce, resulting in a marked upturn in the market.

So far, those expectations have been unwarranted. As Maxwell explained, "If an area in California was going to be short another area took up the slack, in the Wilcox, Arizona area alone, lettuce acreage jumped from 500 acres last year to 5,000 acres this year."

Locally-grown lettuce is shipped to the east and southeast, in addition to the midsection of the nation.

Turning his attention to another harvest currently under way, Maxwell reported that carrot yields are below normal for this time of year.

"We have just started back on the carrot harvest and things may improve some, but we're not harvesting anything like our normal October yield of 9-10 tons per acre," Maxwell reported.

"I think we will see some yield improvement as we begin harvesting the late fall carrots, and grade and quality will probably improve too. The market is anybody's guess, we just keep hoping for a better one," he added.

Carrots are shipped to much the same areas that receive local lettuce. Virtually all of the vegetables are moved by

Bush Hopes Quick Announcement To Help Chances in House Race

George Bush, the first Republican to announce for the 19th U.S. Congressional District seat, told The Brand Wednesday that his head start in the race should overcome his no previous political experience.

Bush was in Hereford campaigning for the seat to be vacated by George Mahon, who has announced his retirement. The 34-year-old son of former CIA director George Bush Sr. is the only Republican so far to announce.

"Jumping out this early has given me plenty of time to see as many people as I can see. The main reason it will be an advantage is because, although I have a good name, politically it's important to me to show people that behind the name is a good person as a Congressman," Bush said.

Bush, who announced the House nearly three months ago, will campaign in Lubbock today, Plainview on Friday and Hale Center on Saturday.

The fact he is an oilman hopefully won't sway the farm vote, Bush said, adding that he has acquired "the ability to appreciate what it takes to stay in business."

"There really is no difference between the farmer and the oilman in that both need strong prices in order to produce their product."

Bush said he favors deregulation of natural gas.

"I'm very much in favor of the Senate bill but I'm afraid it'll be compromised out in conference committee. The problem of regulation is it is such a short-term view. It doesn't take into account the severe shortages that will occur."

Balanced Budget Goal May Not Be Achieved

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter's economic advisers are telling him that his twin goals of a balanced budget and low unemployment by 1981 probably cannot both be achieved, administration sources say.

Faced with making a choice, these sources say, Carter has decided to work for a low unemployment rate of below 5 percent, while sacrificing his oft-repeated campaign pledge to balance the budget

"I don't see any problem with deregulation. Carter people say there is a problem because of the ultimate cost to the consumer. But I think the cost will be much higher without any gas reserves."

Bush said he is trying to learn about the farmer's plight and spent time in Hereford Wednesday talking to farm-related folks.

"A favorite idea of mine, concerning the farm bill, is for the government to

by the end of his current term.

One very tentative estimate projects the 1981 budget deficit at between $20 billion to $25 billion under the low unemployment option. Inflation would be about 4.5 percent, also short of Carter's goal.

Both during his campaign and since taking office, Carter has pledged to have a balanced budget, low unemployment

Ferret Protected but Missing

WASHINGTON (AP) - Three years ago a pair of black-footed ferrets emerged from a prairie dog burrow in South Dakota. The small weasel-like predators scurried across the dry earth before suddenly disappearing down another burrow.

Since that August 1974 dawn patrol, which lasted only a moment, the government has not sighted the animal in the wild.

The black-footed ferret is one of North America's most beautiful predators, with deep bronze fur, black feet and a black mask across its eyes that gives it a Lone Ranger appearance.

Biologists fear the animal is becoming extinct.

"If there are any left, it is questionable," says the man who made the sighting, Conrad Hillman of the Federal Fish and Wildlife Service. And there are problems with the only ferrets held in captivity.

Efforts to breed two pairs of the animals at the Patuxent Wildlife Research Center in nearby Maryland have failed. One male, suffering from what is believed to be terminal cancer, is not expected to live more than nine months. And one of the females is reluctant to breed.

But biologists have not given up hope of saving the species.

"We want very much not to lose this one," says Keith Schreiner, associate thinks there are still some ferrets roaming the wild.

"I am convinced that we have a small population of black-footed ferrets, and probably over a good-sized area," he says.

Even Hillman who three years ago spotted the animal in a small dog colony tucked away in South Dakota's expanse of rolling grasslands, is "optimistic" some wild ferrets survive.

Ferrets are believed to have once ranged from southern Canada south to Texas and New Mexico. But the coming of the white man destroyed that once-vast prairie dog town where they lived in abandoned burrows.

Now the question is how many - if any - ferrets are still around. And if some survive, whether a male and female live sufficiently close together to encounter each other during the mating season.

Schreiner says the wild population may have diminished to the point of no return.

Officials are considering artificially inseminating the reluctant female in captivity. Artificial propagation, designed to provide black-footed ferrets for release into the wild, may be the last hope for saving the small predators.

Jurors Deliberate In Policemen's Trial

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) - Weary jurors, unable to reach a verdict after 16 grueling hours of deliberations in the murder trial of two former Houston policemen, tried again this morning to break the deadlock.

The jury stopped its deliberations about 10 p.m. Wednesday night.

Terry Denson, 27, and Stephen Orlando, 21, are charged with the May beating and drowning of Joe Campos Torres, a Mexican-American laborer whose body was found in the murky waters of Houston's Buffalo Bayou.

Indications were that the jury may have already reached a verdict for Denson, but were deadlocked in the Orlando case.

Dallas Police Seek 12-Year-Old's Slayer

DALLAS (AP) - Authorities say they have no leads in the apparent abduction-slaying of 12-year-old Suzie Magee, who had written an apparently prophetic essay about a kidnapping and slaying of a young girl.

The body of the Denton seventh grade honor student, who had been missing since Sept. 25, was found Tuesday floating in a water-filled gravel pit in a remote section of South Dallas.

Using dental records, officials identified the body Wednesday.

Authorities, awaiting results on further tests to determine how the girl died, declined to officially call the case a homicide. But detectives from Dallas and Denton, FBI agents and a Texas Ranger met Wednesday to exchange files and establish procedures for the case.

Beverly Bass Grilled By Defense Lawyers

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) - Lawyers for millionaire capital murder defendant Cullen Davis slashed deeper today into Beverly Bass' eyewitness account of the shooting spree last year at Davis' Fort Worth mansion.

The Fort Worth coed, 19, who named Davis as the gunman who wounded her boyfriend Gus Gavril Jr., 22, faced her second day of withering cross examination by defense attorney Richard "Racehorse" Haynes.

He rooted out two contradictions Wednesday in testimony by the prosecution's key witnesses, Miss Bass and the defendant's estranged wife Priscilla, 36.

Davis is on trial for the Aug. 2, 1976, slaying of his step-daughter Andrea Wilborn, 12. Mrs. Davis was wounded and her 30-year-old lover Stan Farr was slain in the midnight gunfire.

The Brand incorrectly reported Tuesday that Miguel Angel Barrera was the driver of a 1976 Plymouth that collided with a station wagon Monday afternoon on FM Road 2943.

Barrera was driving the station wagon. The Plymouth, driven by Jimmy Golden of Wildorado, reportedly ran into the back of the station wagon. Golden and Jeff Smith were injured in the collision.

In another erroneous report Tuesday, The Brand said that Frank Madrigal was driving a car which was hit by a truck when a wheel on his car fell off.

Delma Padilla, 15, was driving Madrigal's car, the girl's mother reported, adding that The Brand was also incorrect in saying that the occupants of the car wanted to see Atty. Gen. John Hill, who was at the Hereford Municipal Airport campaigning for governor.

Mrs. Padilla said the students are members of the band and had no choice in seeing Hill.

Court Asks For Trial On Assault

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - The Texas Supreme Court today ordered full trial of a case that raised the question of whether the operator of an all-night washateria should protect his customers from criminals.

Delilah Morris sued C.C. Barnett, the operator of We Never Close Coin-O-Mat, for $78,000 after she was assaulted at the Bowie County washateria May 6, 1976.

She claimed she suffered a broken cheek bone.

The district judge granted Barnett a summary judgment, but the woman appealed, saying Barnett was negligent in not having a watchman, alarm or some type of protection.

The Texarkana Court of Civil Appeals reversed and remanded the case for trial, and the supreme court affirmed the decision by Chief Justice T.C. Chadick, who became a supreme court justice today.

Chadick said no cases involving the operation of a washateria could be found, but there had been decisions in a variety of Texas cases on the duty and liability of businesses.

"From these respected sources," Chadick said, "it appears, by analogy, that the operation of a washateria business who, by reason of location, mode of doing business, or observation of past experiences, should reasonably anticipate criminal conduct on the part of third persons, either generally or at some particular time, has a duty to take precautions against it and to provide an effective warning or a reasonably sufficient number of servants to afford reasonable protection to invitees on the premises."

refrigerated trucks.

A spokesman for another local packing shed blamed hot dry weather for the decline in early carrot yields, and reported that the current market price for carrots is in the $50 per ton range.

"That would be a pretty good price if farmers were making their normal yields, but it's not real good for the short yields that are common right now. Cool weather aids the growth of these carrots though, and we could see some real improvement in the tonnage with a little luck," he added.

The spokesman also indicated that carrot harvesting in other areas could conclude soon, and local growers might well have an "open door" on the market for that vegetable.

Carrot harvesting in the local area should continue through late December with favorable weather.

The lettuce harvest should conclude in about two weeks, and would run a maximum of three weeks.

Farmers

Amarillo Civic Center on Oct. 14, and will proceed in a caravan to the fair grounds at approximately 2 p.m.

Rally leaders are hoping to route the caravan down Polk Street on the journey to the fair grounds.

Farmers are demanding parity prices for their products by Dec. 14, and say that they will not plant or harvest next year's crops unless this demand is met.

A loosely-organized group known as American Agriculture, headquartered in Springfield, Colo., first broached the farmer strike idea, and has continued to enlist support for the movement since announcing the plan during the meet with Bergland last month in Pueblo.

TCGA Endorses Movement
Carl King, of Dimmitt, president of the Texas Corn Growers Association reports that his organization has endorsed the farmer strike plan, but pointed out that he is "unsure whether this is going to be the complete answer. This movement should go to the Midwest."

Winston Wilson of Quanah, president of the Texas Wheat Producers Association, indicated that his group could not lawfully demand parity or back the strike movement, because the Taft-Hartley Act rigidly restrains individuals and organized groups who meet to fix prices or otherwise restrain trade.

Wilson did state that the planned meeting of farmers in Amarillo indicates that "farmers are coming together, seeking a unified action on solutions to their problems. This is encouraging, and demonstrates the disastrous state of the farm situation."

Keith Thomas of American Agriculture's Springfield, Colo. office said he expects many country bankers to back the strike, simply because "they cannot afford to loan a farmer money to plant a crop that won't even sell for enough to meet production costs."

Canadian Support
Edwards reported that the Springfield, Colo. office has received calls from Canada indicating support for the strike movement in that nation.

Colorado farmers from the Lamar, Springfield and Walsh areas are expected to drive tractors to the Amarillo rally.

Don Self, a spokesman for American Agriculture, said the movement's 30 branch offices across the nation will be urged to send representatives.

Amarillo is about 165 miles from Springfield, "about like going from here to Pueblo," Self said.

He was one of more than 50 farmers who drove tractors from Springfield to Pueblo two weeks ago to a meeting with Agriculture Secretary Robert Bergland.

Denver Caravan Planned
A similar caravan is scheduled for Denver Oct. 2 when President Carter is to stop over for several hours en route to California.

"We've gotten clearance from the Texas Highway Patrol and the City of Amarillo to do it," he said.

"We're just trying to get a big group together to show that we can get a mass movement going."

To Eliminate Skepticism
Self said the rally should eliminate

"any remaining skeptics that feel farmers and ranchers cannot unite."

A program is scheduled to begin at the Fairgrounds Coliseum at 2 p.m. on Oct. 14, Self said. He said a schedule of speakers would be released later.

Self was critical of remarks made by the president of the American Farm Bureau Wednesday in Wichita, Kan.

Allan Grant said he believes the farmers' strike proposal would have "little effect," and if demands for parity prices for farm products were met, the U.S. would "price itself out of foreign markets."

American Agriculture wants to force Congress to raise farm support prices and insure stability in foreign and domestic markets. The strike would stop all planting and selling of crops, and halt purchases of all but essential items.

While the movement's motives were sincere, Grant said, "I don't think it will be very effective."

Self said Farm Bureau officials have been asked for support, but have given very little to the movement.

secure overseas markets and actively market our products so farmers can produce to capacity.

"However, given the fact that the markets have evidently been closed due to the administration's inability plus world surplus, it's important that the government use stopgap measures to prevent farmers in this region from going bust—through target prices as well as loan situations."

"I think the idea of a layout program makes sense for wheat. I like the fact it's on a voluntary, not mandatory, program."

"And I like the fact of target prices being based on the cost of production. I want to make sure the loan stays high enough to provide a base for farm pricing but low enough that the government does not become the final market."

A farm strike won't work, Bush said, because "one segment of the country will strike and the rest of it will plant."

About limited terms in Congress, an idea being proposed throughout political circles, Bush said he was not sure if it would be a satisfactory proposal.

"I just don't know. Voters have shirked their responsibilities in not kicking people out."

range, up only slightly from the 4.4 percent annual inflation rate under a balanced budget.

Either way, Carter would miss badly the target of an inflation rate of 4 percent by the end of 1979, which he announced as his goal in his April 15 anti-inflation program. Inflation has been running the past three months at an annual rate of about 5 percent, down from earlier in the year.

The analysis said that inflation probably will be 6 percent next year, 5.7 percent in 1979 and 5.4 percent in 1980. If the administration aimed toward a balanced budget, these rates could be trimmed to 5.4 percent in 1979 and 5.2 percent in 1980.

Longshoreman Leader Reminds He's the Boss

NEW YORK (AP) - Thomas W. "Teddy" Gleason, leader of the 50,000 longshoremen striking container operations on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts, reminded mavericks in his union Wednesday that he is still at the helm.

Countering word from Anthony Scotto, vice president of the International Longshoremen's Association and leader of Brooklyn's dockworkers, that the selective walkout might become a general strike Monday, Gleason declared, "I'm the president of the union."

"Before we change anything, we'll go to the executive board, and we'll call in all our local presidents up and down the coast," Gleason assured a reporter.

He emphasized that all members were under the dictates of the ILA executive board to continue working conventional cargo ships.

However, many longshoremen in New Orleans continued to do their own thing, striking all kinds of shipping despite efforts of the ILA and their local officers to get compliance with the directive to work conventional ships. In mid-morning, port officials counted 10 ships in that port that were idle while three others were loading or discharging cargo.

Scotto, however, held to a view that the strike would have to be accelerated unless meaningful changes occurred shortly.

"I know Teddy's motive and I am in complete support," he said, "but it's my opinion that if something meaningful does not take place we will have to strike everyone sometime next week."

The divided view within the union became evident in Port Newark when picket lines were set up at berth 291 late Wednesday morning, but longshoremen already aboard the Chilean Line vessel Imperial continued loading break-bulk cargo. The ship was sailing for Chile in the evening.

Many longshoremen in New Orleans continued to do their own thing, striking all kinds of shipping despite efforts of the ILA and their local officers to get compliance with the directive to work conventional ships. In mid-morning, port officials counted 10 ships in that port that were idle and a spot check by reporters located a single-ship being worked by longshoremen.

U.S. Lines saw the third of its container ships, the American Apollo, idled by the strike. Instead of docking as scheduled here it proceeded to Newport News, Va., for maintenance work in a shipyard.

Elsewhere, the longshore paralysis spread, with the count of container ships that were strikebound climbing. The Maritime Administration said 12 ships were out of action by late Tuesday on the East Coast, including four in Puerto Rico. Four ships were idle in New York harbor Wednesday, including a Polish freighter, the Polanski, a mixed break-bulk and container ship docked in Port Newark, N.J.

Gleason described the strike that began last Saturday as "100 percent effective" in halting the movement of labor-saving containers, the van-size metal boxes that have revolutionized shipping. Containerization has been blamed by the union for destroying job opportunities and has made job security the top issue in new contract negotiations.

Efforts to settle the contract dispute were set to resume Thursday in Washington, where Wayne L. Horvitz, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, asked all shipping association executives from the East and Gulf coasts to meet with him. Gleason was to remain available here.

Carter

and low inflation, all by the end of his current term in the White House.

However, the continued sluggishness of the economy and the failure of the nation's industry to increase sharply job-creating investments are pulling the rug from under the Carter plan.

The retreat from a balanced budget may not be acknowledged outright, but will be couched in references to the need for a high or a full employment budget, a source said.

"The President bought the idea of a high employment budget," said the source, who had knowledge of a meeting Carter held in August with top economic advisers.

Former OMB Director Bert Lance was the staunchest advocate of a balanced budget in 1981, and he has resigned. However, the source said even Lance was tempering his public comments in favor of a balanced budget just before his resignation.

Source: Mr. Carter was presented at the meeting in August with a joint analysis and his advisers agreed his goals may not be achievable. The analysis was the work of the Treasury Department, the Council of Economic Advisers and the Office of Management and Budget.

The analysis said that if Carter wanted a low unemployment rate of below 5 percent by 1981, the budget probably would need to be in deficit by as much as $20 billion to $25 billion. But if he decided to push for a balanced budget at all costs, the jobless rate would still be at least 6 percent. It was 7.1 percent in August.

The analysis projects the nation's inflation rate at 4.5 percent by 1981 with a deficit in the $20 billion to $25 billion

'Old Fashioned' Morals Suit Young Homemaker

By DIANNE BANNER
Brand Staff Writer

Mrs. Roy Carlson, eight-year resident of Hereford and mother of two likes to think of herself as "old fashioned" as long as the morals of the young adults are changing into what she felt was a complete turn about when she was a teenager.

Before becoming the wife and mother that she is today, Shirley Vineyard lived in Dumas and got her teaching degree from West Texas State University. She moved to Hereford and taught fourth graders at Blue Bonnet Elementary.

"It seems that the kids now just have to be entertained all the time. During the week they go out and get a Coke and drag Main. When I was in school, I didn't even dream about going out during the week, just Friday and Saturday," she laughed.

The homemaker believes in disciplining her children because she explained, "Children will test you just to see how far they can get. They are really smart, they know what and when to do it."

Her husband Roy is a farmer and owns land north of Hereford.

The family joins together in chores as Mrs. Carlson has recently been taught to drive a tractor with a grain cart. The zesty mother commented that the experience is "Almost fun."

Her sons, two year old Michael and Jeffery who is four, take part also with farm duties. They often go with their father and "help him drive the semi-truck and tractor."

Jeffery is attending the Methodist church playschool while Michael stays at home with his mother and "helps" out around the house.

Mrs. Carlson enjoys needle-point and embroidering and sewing. She also likes to bake for her family.

The homemaker has entered homemade goods in the Tri-State Fair for the last three years and won blue ribbons on her grape and pear butter. She received a red ribbon on her cake that she baked this year.

She is an active member of the First Christian Church where she is currently serving as superintendent of the Sunday School Department and is the newly elected president of Young Homemakers of Texas.

Her husband was recently elected to serve as the area secretary for Young Farmers of Texas. The two attended the area convention in Amarillo at the Hilton Inn.

Recipes that Mrs. Carlson would like to share are Rice Caliente and her ribbon winning Chocolate Cake.

Yellow Onions Good Vegetable Buy Now

COLLEGE STAION — Economical grocery-buying this week is a search for scattered bargains—in eggs and poultry, in beef and pork, and in yellow onions, reports Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

At poultry counters, large, medium and small size eggs are available in some markets. Generally, if there is less than a seven-cent spread between a dozen of one size and the next smaller size in the same grade, the larger size is more economical.

Fryer chicken prices are slightly higher, but specials are available at some markets. Forecasts predict higher turkey prices on the way, so consumers might want to buy turkey now and freeze for holiday needs.

Scattered beef specials emphasize chuck cuts and ground beef. In pork, some markets carry specials on Boston butt roasts, quarter loins cut into chops, rib-end roasts and liver.

YHT Banquet Slated

Plans for an awards banquet scheduled Nov. 12 at K-Bob's Steak House, were discussed by local Young Homemakers of Texas, who held their monthly meeting Tuesday night at La Plata Junior High School.

Other business also considered by the Young Homemakers was the chapter's annual fund-raising project, Pictures with Santa.

La Plata art instructor, Mrs. Oscar Wertenberger gave a program on the creation of silk flowers.

Guests included Mrs. Joe Bradley, homemaking teacher at Stanton Junior High, and Mrs. Don Sanders, CVAE teacher at Stanton.

Members attending were Kathy Abbott, Deana Beames, Gail Blain, Brenda Campbell, Shirley Carlson, Marilyn Culpepper, Cara Dearing, Linda Goss, Noel Hagar, Brenda Hardisty, Janis Kelly, Dawn Lyons, Pam Robinson, Anna Solomon and Barbara Weatherford.

Also present were Viola Padilla, chapter Little Sister, and chapter advisor Mrs. M.T. Burelsmith.

Big Red Band

Hereford High School Band marches circles with 189 members at Frank Kimbrough Stadium, with the Hereford High School Drill Team watching on.

Hereford Band Stepping High

The HHS Big Red Band plays a most important role in building school spirit. They are the largest organization in our school and involve themselves in many other activities. Without the band at our Pep Rallies, the cheerleaders would have a more difficult task of building spirit," commented Jerry Don George, HHS principal.

He further stated, "In my opinion, the Hereford High School band is the number one band in the state. If anyone doubts this, they should just watch them perform. I tip my hat to Mr. Vaughn, Mr. Huff, and the Big Red Band. You are the best."

The Hereford High School band performs during all of the football games. They have recently been asked to perform at the November 26 football game between W.T.S.U. and Drake. The band will be going to a U.I.L. marching contest October 25 and a U.I.L. concert and sightreading contest in Amarillo April 20th. They are planning to travel to Corpus Christi on April 21st for the Buccaneer Music Festival.

The band consists of 96 sophomores, 65 juniors, and 41 seniors. They practice 50 minutes each day and have two extra rehearsals on Tuesday and Thursday nights for two hours. In the future they hope to be playing songs like Star Wars, Sir Duke, and the Happy Days Theme.

Randy Vaughn, head band director, commented about Hereford's band. "This years edition of the Big Red Band is one of the hardest working groups I've ever had the pleasure of working with. Their attitude is always outstanding even at the end of a two hour rehearsal."

Hereford High Twirlers Twirl into New Year

"I enjoy working with the twirlers very much. They are a fine group of hard working and dedicated young ladies," commented Mrs. Terie Beth Rush. This is Mrs. Rush's first year to sponsor the twirlers.

The 1977 twirlers are: Sheri Whitaker, Sandra Ward, Jana Green, Lynn Mitts, Kim Oswalt, and Teresa Lambert. They were picked last May by a panel of judges consisting of Mr. Randy Vaughn, the band director and several college twirlers. Most of the new twirlers have been twirling for eight years.

The twirlers perform at football and basketball games, pep rallies, parades, and will be entering various twirling contests in such events as basic strutting, solo ensemble, and duet twirling. Every other week, the twirlers are featured to various popular songs such as, "Gonna Fly Now," the theme from "Rocky," the theme from "Barney Miller," "Down Pat," and "Rubberband Man."

The girls all play different instruments in concert band: Sandra Ward, the clarinet; Sheri Whitaker, oboe; Jana Green, alto saxophone; Lynn Mitts, clarinet; Kim Oswalt, flute; and Teresa Lambert, the baritone saxophone.

This year the girls are doing some complicated routines with their twirling. They twirled fire in one pep-rally, and will be doing some more fire baton routines. They will also be doing two-baton and duet twirling throughout the year.

The girls had several dances, sold stationary and held a car wash and a garage sale for money making projects. The twirlers practice Monday and Wednesday after school and at Tuesday and Thursday night band practice.

Hereford Flag Corps Performs

The Hereford High School Flag Corps is made up of members of the Big Red Band. The Corps obtained its training at Wayland-Baptist College in Plainview during the past summer.

To be a member of the Corps, you have to be in a band class. The Corps is chosen by Mr. Randy Vaughn, Hereford High School Band Director.

Sponsor for the group is Lynn Sciombato. The Corps is made up of ten girls: Donna Smith a senior, and juniors Mohota Manning-captain, Cindy Stokesberry, Barbara Schlabs, Deborah Fielder, Imelda Barrera, Georgia Arnett, Sandra Manning, Vanessa Bishop and Ronda Henderson.

Practice is held on Tuesday and Thursday evenings and during the regular band period.

Key Club Begins Monthly Meetings

Key Club officers held their first meeting at the Pizza Hut on Monday, Sept. 19.

This years officers are: President, Ricky Matchett; Vice-President, Kent Ellis; Secretary, Ronald Plummer; and Treasurer, David Arney.

At this meeting Texas-Oklahoma District Secretary Mitchell George presented Matchett with a gavel for the upcoming year in honor of Gene Brock.

Discussed at the meeting was the fall training conference which was held at Clarendon. The purpose of the conference was to train the new officers and members about the upcoming year and bring out the theme and its meaning in projects throughout the year. The theme is "Caring: Our Way of Life."

Approximately 17 members of the Hereford Key Club attended the conference which lasted two hours. Ricky Matchett commented "This was the best conference I've ever been to and I've been to a lot of training conferences."

After the discussion the upcoming year was brought into focus and several projects were explained by Matchett.

The club's scrapbook, going to the W.T. Activity Center, Slave Day, Flag services and working at Kings Manor are to be projects for the club. Another project the Key Club is considering is solving the trash problems at Hereford Schools.

Following this, the state convention was brought into the discussion. It is scheduled to be in Dallas during the first week of May.

Nominations were made for sophomore board members.

They are as follows: Robbie Fish, Jessie Martinez, Steve Veigel, Chris Hickery, Jeff Cassels and Tim Hamlett.

Nominations for the club's Sweetheart were also made.

Key Club meets on every first and 3rd Mondays of the month and every second and fourth Tuesday of the month.

1977-78 Drill Team Adds Life to Shows

Hereford's Drill Team has 23 performing members. They are selected in the spring by a panel of judges. To be eligible for a try-out, each girl must meet the following qualifications: 1) they must be a member of Pep Squad or Band for one year during high school, 2) must have a C average, with no F's or U's, 3) must have a good disciplinary record and good attendance, 4) must have a majority of favorable recommendations from past and current teachers.

The girls are taught a routine in three days, practice on the fourth day, and try-outs are held the fifth day.

Uniforms for drill team members cost approximately $200. Each girl buys her own uniform. Drill Team pays for pom-poms and flash gloves. Officers are: Lori Steinkruger and Kyla Poteet, Co-Captains.

Donna Paetzold, Lieutenant; and Denise Cotten, Corporal. The captains are responsible for making up and teaching all routines. The drill team manager is Olivia Gonzales. Faculty sponsor for the 77-78 school year is Mrs. Sue Powell.

Cheerleaders Strive for Spirit

Hereford High School Cheerleaders for the 1977-78 school year are Tonya Black, Sonja Hacker, Staci Payne, Elizabeth Andrews, Judy Griego and Rhonda Hall.

The Scat Mascot is Stephanie Stringer. The girls attended a cheerleading camp at Eastern New Mexico University at Portales, during the week of July 3-7. At the camp, they earned two superior and two excellent ratings as well as three spirit sticks, which are the camp's highest awards.

This year the girls are trying to create an atmosphere of student involvement in the pep rallies. Each pep rally has been given a theme. The cheers, signs and skits for that week serve to reinforce this theme. Pep Squad members help add enthusiasm to the pep rallies. Members of the student council and members of the Junior class have participated in past skits, however, plans are to involve representatives from all of the classes as well as some of the organizations.

"I feel that this is a unique year and the Whiteface team is very special. They deserve full student backing, and the students could accomplish this by cooperating with the cheerleaders," said Mrs. Pam Perrin, sponsor.

DE Officers

Installed in a special meeting September 12th were: Parliamentarian, Roger Galtin; Reporter, Alice Aguilar; Treasurer, Sonya Dayke; Secretary, Debbie Cornett; Vice-President, Larry Watts; President Gail Bridwell.

The installation of officers took place on September 12th in the R.E.C. Medallion Room. The local D.E.C.A. Chapter elected the students who wanted to run for office.

Student Council Has Leadership

HHS Student Council President for the '77-78 school year is Steve Fortenberry.

As Student Council President he is in charge of all the meetings and organizes projects and activities with other officers.

"I like my job a lot because it is fun and at the same time it gives me valuable leadership experience," said Fortenberry.

This year the Student Council has planned various dress-up days such as Kiddie day, Western day, and 50's day. Two games are scheduled between the Student Council and faculty: basketball and volleyball. Other activities include a student and teachers talent day.

The council also has much to do with organizing of Twirl Week and Homecoming. Money making projects include selling paper chain links during Homecoming week.

The next council project is the Gospel Singing Concert October 8th with which they hope, to make a good profit. Fortenberry stated that "the Student Council is an organization with six major purposes." The purposes include: 1) promoting better relations between the student body, faculty, school administration and community, 2) promoting school spirit, 3) promoting the welfare of and providing an organization to be of service to the school and the student body, 4) encouraging high standards of conduct, scholarship and citizenship, 5) arousing the interest of the entire student body in the activities of the school and 6) establishing loyalty and pride in school, state and country. The other officers of Student Council are Vice President - Janna Greene and Secretary-Lesly Metz.

Demons Favored By One

The Dumas Demons have been installed as a narrow one-point favorite to defeat the Hereford Whitefaces in their Friday night battle according to the latest Harris Rating System Poll. Dumas is ranked 65th among Class 3A teams this week with a 129.4 power rating, while the Herd is currently 185th on the 4A roll with a 128.2 rating.

The Demons will be looking to revenge a 52-12 loss to the Whitefaces in Dumas last year. Hereford also has something to play for after suffering three straight defeats after opening the year with two successive wins.

In other games listed in this week's Brand Football Contest Coronado is a 14-point nod over El Paso Parkland, Monterey is a whopping 33-point favorite over Pampa, Caprock is a four-point pick over Lubbock. Palo Duro is rated four-points better than Canyon, Tascosa is a slim two-point choice over 3A power Borger. Levelland is a one-point underdog to Floydada, and Dimmitt is a two-point favorite over Lockney.

The Monterey Plainsmen continue to head area 4A teams this week, and are 14th on the list with 154.8 power points. Amarillo High is three notches lower with a 153.8 rating.

The Borger-Tascosa clash pits two strong Panhandle teams.

Watson Doesn't Mind Tough 'Burma Road'

By GEOFFREY MILLER
AP Sports Writer

VIRGINIA WATER, England (AP) - "I don't mind playing 36 holes of golf a day," said Tom Watson as he prepared to trudge around Wentworth's rain-soaked "Burma Road" course for the second time today in pursuit of the World Match Play golf title.

"It's not a difficult course to walk," he added. "I just hope I can start playing a bit better." Sixteen of the world's top golfers, at the end of a long and tiring season, struggled to find their form in Wednesday's first round of the year's most gruelling event. The eventual winner faces a maximum of 144 holes in four days before earning the first prize of $52,500.

Watson, this year's Masters and British Open champion, was one of the eight winners in the first round, played in damp and chilling conditions. He beat Hsieh Min-Nan of Taiwan 2 and 1.

"We both played poorly," Watson said. "I didn't drive the ball very well. I didn't do anything very well."

Watson faced Severiano Ballesteros of Spain in today's second round.

Other matches today included: Hale Irwin, two-time winner of the title, vs. Hugh Baiocchi, South Africa; Graham Marsh, Australia, vs. Manuel Pinero, Spain, and Lanny Wadkins vs. Ray Floyd.

Irwin, trying to win this little for the third time in four years, edged Peter Oosterhuis of Britain, thanks to an eagle three at the 33rd hole.

This was another match which failed to live up to the reputations of the players. For 10 holes of the afternoon, neither player broke par - a spell of indifferent golf which ended with Irwin's eagle.

"It was a classic case of one guy hitting a bad shot and the other guy following him into trouble," Irwin said.

Yet the day produced some of the unpredictable thrills of match play.

Floyd led Ernes to Acosta of Mexico by four holes after 20, played four bad holes and lost the lead, but fought back to win in a playoff at the 37th.

Gary Player of South Africa, who has won the title five times, was five holes up on Pinero after seven holes. But the Spaniard won 13 of the next 20 holes and ended with a 6 and 5 victory.

Hubert Green, U.S. Open champion, suffered from bad putting in losing 5 and 4 to Marsh.

Baiocchi, a late replacement for Ben Crenshaw, ousted defending champion David Graham of Australia 2 and 1.

In 1976, while sweeping three pennant playoff games and four World Series contests, the Cincinnati Reds did not score less than four runs a game nor more than seven.

340, offered in 1975 for the first time, has developed into a hybrid with great yield potential. Bred into it are the characteristics that contribute to high yields and good field performance.

Checking Their Times

Cross country coach Martha Emerson clocks some of her team as the squad prepares for their first meet at Pampa Saturday. From left are sophomores Phylecia Rowland and Kelly Cherry, junior Velma Arroyos, and seniors Rita Soliz, Judy Birdwell, and Joyce Betzen. Also on the team will be sophomores Kerry Hacker and Beverly Nixon. The girls will run in the Hereford Invitational October 15 as part of a four-meet schedule before the District 4-4A meet in Lubbock November 19.

Cross Country Season To Open In Pampa Saturday

By BOB NICH
Brand Sports Editor

The Hereford High School girls' cross country season gets underway in Pampa Saturday, and coach Martha Emerson is looking forward to a banner season with some experienced runners back from last year's District 4-4A runner-up squad, and some promising youngsters on the team.

"We have some good girls back," Emerson said. "And, we've got some sophomores who'll come through and fill in the gaps from last year."

Seniors Joyce Betzen, Judy Birdwell, and Rita Soliz will head this year's team, while junior Velma Arroyos, a Regional qualifier in the 880 last spring, will provide added depth.

All four of the above ran on the successful team last year under coach Roy Shipp. Emerson has taken the reins of the team this season to let Shipp concentrate more on basketball.

Add to the four girls already named four sophomores; newcomers Kelly Cherry, Kerry Hacker, Beverly Nixon, and Phylecia Rowland. Rowland owns the La Plata Junior High girls' 880 record, while Hacker came on to run strong in the mile, an event the girls ran for the first time last year.

Nixon is one of the most promising young athletes to come out of La Plata but is presently hampered by a stress fracture on her left ankle, an injury which will keep her out of action for a couple of weeks.

"We hope to have her back soon," Emerson said. "She is very experienced in both long and short distance running, and can do either very well."

The HHS girls have four meets to attend before the District 4-4A meet November 19 in Lubbock. "Don't build us up too much, but I think these girls have an excellent chance to win the district championship," Emerson concluded.

Contest Conflict Noted

Due to an oversight, the Colorado State-Utah game from last week was left in this week's Brand Football Contest. Occupying the same square is the Pitt-Florida game, which is the correct contest for this week.

"We will count any choice in that square as correct on this week's contest," Dan Welty, Brand advertising manager, and coordinator of the contests, said.

Contest entries for this and every week are due at the Brand office by 5 p.m. Friday.

Hanging Curve Put Dodgers Back Even

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
AP Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The Los Angeles Dodgers and Philadelphia Phillies are tied at one game each in the National League championship series today because of a pitch that was described as three feet too high, a foot and a half too far inside and hit 390 feet too far.

The picturesque description was made by losing pitcher Jim Lonborg, who threw the pitch to the Dodgers' Dusty Baker with the bases loaded in the fourth inning and the score tied 1-1.

Baker hit a grand slam home run to put Los Angeles ahead 5-1, a lead rightlander Don Sutton protected as the Dodgers went on to a 7-1 victory that squared the best-of-five series at a game apiece.

So the series shifts to Philadelphia, where Burt Hooton and his knuckle curve will go for Los Angeles against power pitcher Larry Christenson for the Phillies on Friday afternoon.

The second game simply narrowed down to that fourth inning after Bill Russell and Reggie Smith had singled and Ron Cey sacrificed. Then Phillies' Manager Danny Ozard took a slow walk out to talk to Lonborg.

"I had made up my mind to intentionally walk Steve Garvey," Ozard was to say later. "I just wanted to talk about how we would pitch to Baker."

Ozard said he reminded Lonborg to keep the ball down, so the infield could get a ground ball and bail out of the one-out jam."

"It was sound logic," said the crestfallen Lonborg, who threw a sidearm curve on a 1-2 count to Baker that the Dodger slugger hammered into the left field seats, the second grand slam in two games for Los Angeles.

"Danny didn't know I was going to hang a curve ball," said Lonborg. "I knew when the pitch was 10 to 15 feet toward the plate that I had made a mistake."

Baker said he wasn't insulted when the Phillies elected to walk the clutch hitting Garvey to get to the former Atlanta Brave who hit 30 homers during the regular season, one of four Dodgers to do that.

"I knew it was a good percentage play," Baker said. "I just tried to remain calm, not to get too excited. I wasn't trying to hit the ball out of the stadium. I just wanted to hit it hard and not into a double play."

Ozard and Lonborg knew that Baker was 0-7 against Lonborg this year, including a fly out in the second inning.

Baker, of course, was elated after the game.

"When I was a kid playing in the backyard in Riverside, Calif., I used to pretend I was the hero in a big game," said the Dodgers' left fielder. "I guess all kids play pretend games like that. But I never dreamed it would come true."

After Baker's big hit, the Dodgers turned the job over to Sutton, the right-hander who posted a 14-8 record in Los Angeles' drive to the West Division championship.

"I'd give myself a seven or an eight on a scale of 10 for my performance," said Sutton, who gave up nine hits, including a third-inning home run to Baker.

The Dodgers tied the game in the third on Rick Monday's double and a two-out single by Davey Lopes.

Lonborg left after four innings and was followed by Ron Reed and Warren Brusstar.

Fowler Stars In League

Joy Fowler rolled to 122 pins over her average to earn star of the week honors in the Majorettes, a beginners' bowling league. Fowler succeeds Hope Lopez and Betty Word as the star of the week. Lopez earned the honors the first week with a 127 average, while Word won it last week with 73 pins over her average.

Fowler posted the high series last week with a 449. She also had the second high game with a 168 behind Lopez' 171. Bobbie Roberson had the runnerup series with a 402.

Cheryl Henderson picked up the only splits of the day, knocking down the 3-10 twice.

Team standings after three weeks have Fowler Pump in front with a 7-5 mark. Skeets Diagnostic Clinic, Warren Steel, and the Hereford Clinic all have 6-6 records, while Mar-Lo Chemical and Blakely's Exxon stand at 5-4-6-5.

Against Sooners

Akers Promises Team Will Be Better Versed

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Coach Fred Akers didn't predict his Texas team would beat Oklahoma, but he promised the Longhorn Club one thing — the Sooners will know their plays.

Akers surprisingly had little to say Wednesday about Oklahoma at the club's last meeting before the two unbeaten teams meet in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas on Saturday.

The club observed a moment of silence for Texas A&M and watched film on the 72-15 "laugh" against Rice but couldn't get Akers to hazard a prediction on the outcome of the Texas-OU contest.

Texas hasn't beaten the Sooners since 1970 and are underdogs this year.

"How much are we going to beat 'em?" someone yelled to Akers.

There were a couple of seconds of silence, and Akers went on to another question.

He noted on two occasions in the victory over Rice "half our team was running one play and half was running another. Believe me, when we're sitting here next week I won't have to report that."

Akers acknowledged that running back Earl Campbell and offensive guard Rick Ingram were "having trouble" holding still until the ball is snapped.

He noted that Campbell was flagged five times in the Oklahoma game last year for moving too soon. It was later learned that OU coaches had asked officials to watch for that particular infraction.

Akers, then at Wyoming, said he didn't think Campbell was in error each time, but he added that the "bad thing about doing it is that people get to looking for it when they don't see it."

Club president Wally Scott asked club members to observe a moment of silence for the "calamity" that happened "when our dear friends went north" — an obvious reference to A&M's 41-3 loss to No. 3 Michigan.

"That's enough," Scott said quickly, "now let's get down to serious business. Coach, go get 'em."

Akers described the Rice game as "another laugh" that we've gotten used to the last two or three weeks.

Texas has rolled over three week opponents — Boston College, Virginia and Rice — by a cumulative score of 184-15.

The Sooners' explosive backs, however, have run for an average of 391.6 yards a game in victories over Vanderbilt, Ohio State and Kansas. The Texas defense has allowed only 38.3 yards a game rushing.

Akers said he knows Oklahoma can throw the football, "but we're going to set out to stop their running game."

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The annual Texas-Oklahoma battle hasn't made much of an impression on Mark McBath, who'll quarterback No. 5 Texas against the No. 2 Sooners on Saturday.

McBath, a sophomore, said his fondest memories of the game was watching it on television. "It was always one of those traditions of the Christmas holidays."

The Texas-Oklahoma classic has been an October game for years.

The San Francisco Giants made 186 errors in 1976, the most in the National League.

Confident Royals Gain Edge In AL Playoffs

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The Kansas City Royals, those Missouri riverboat gamblers, are playing a confidence game that they think will make them the first American League expansion team to float into the World Series.

The Royals, rolling an unbelievable string of winners since mid-June, continued the fun Wednesday with an easy 7-2 victory over the New York Yankees, those big-money sharpshooters from the East Coast, to take a 1-0 edge in the best-of-five AL playoffs.

The Yankees' also lost starter Don Gullett because of an injured shoulder and New York Manager Billy Martin said he doesn't expect his ace left-hander to pitch again this year.

The Royals, who raced to a 6-0 lead in the third inning, got a big left when leadoff batter Freddie Patek walked to open the game and Hal McRae followed with a home run over the left field wall.

"It helped to get off in front when McRae hit it out," said the speedy little Patek. "We realized we could score off Gullett. The adrenaline was flowing and our confidence was flowing."

The confidence has been building for the Royals since June 17, when they began an amazing streak of 68 victories in 92 games, a winning clip of .786. Along the way, they had stretches of 21 victories in 22 games and 32 in 36.

Last year, the Royals were an uncertain club when they met the Yankees in October and lost the AL playoffs in five games. They had lost seven of their last eight regular-season games and 22 of their last 35.

"The difference was like night and day," said McRae. "Last year we were terrible in the second half. This year we had a terrific streak in the second half. It's better to win. It builds your confidence and gives you lots of momentum."

Wednesday, they played with the assurance of a card shark holding four aces, adding power to their game of speed, timely hitting and effective — if not spectacular — pitching.

They profited from three homers, two-run shots by McRae in the first, John Mayberry in the third off reliever Dick Tidrow and a solo blast by Al Cowens in the eighth. Patek's two-run double down the third base line in the second knocked in the only runs not scored on homers. Thurman Munson's two-run homer for the Yanks was all the AL East champions could manage before a home crowd of 54,930.

"We hit with authority," said Kansas City Manager Whitey Herzog. "But we're still a running ball club."

The man most responsible for the Royals' increased home run production is Al Cowens, who has gotten Herzog's vote for the AL's Most Valuable Player.

"He's the best defensive rightfielder in the league," said Herzog. "He batted a steady .300, had 23 homers and more than 100 RBIs 112."

Cowens, in just his second full season in the major leagues, said he wasn't going to worry about the MVP award. He also said he wasn't concerned that, coming from the Midwest, he and his teammates were underpublicized, despite having the best record in baseball.

"The lack of publicity won't keep me from playing hard every day," Cowens said. "But by winning, we'll make things change."

Cowens did some changing himself this year. Moving into the cleanup spot, he clubbed 23 homers in 606 at-bats. Last season, in 581 at-bats, he had just three homers.

Cowens, who pulled his homer to left field, also beat out an infield single before Mayberry's third-inning homer and singled in the first. He made three fine plays in right field, including one in which he reached over the wall to rob Mickey Rivers of a homer.

Another confidence man in the Royals' lineup Wednesday was starting and winning pitcher Paul Splittorff, who was 16-6 this year, including a 15-2 mark from May 20 to the end of the season. He scattered eight hits, giving way to Doug Bird after one batter in the ninth.

"Starting the opening game gave me a special feeling," said Splittorff. "My biggest battle has been staying aggressive and maintaining my confidence. I used to be shy and timid and scared in certain situations, but no more."

Two of the Yankees' scariest batters, home run threats Reggie Jackson and Graig Nettles, surrendered meekly to Splittorff.

Nettles, with 37 homers this year, never pulled the ball in hitting out to the shortstop three times and the left fielder once. Jackson, with 32 homers, struck out and popped to the shortstop, second baseman and the left fielder.

"Andy's pitched very well here. He hasn't been lucky," said Herzog.

Guidry said he's looking forward to trying the series tonight.

"Last year, in the championship series, all I got to do was pinch run," he said. "Now I think I can make more of a contribution."

Then, stealing a page from the Royals' book on positive thinking, the lean left-hander said: "Gullett's hurting. I'm not."

Texas Sports Briefs

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer says injuries in the Sooners' offensive backfield may cause problems Saturday against Texas.

"We are in the worst depth situation at halfback that we have ever been in," Switzer said Wednesday.

Halfback Billy Sims, still bothered by a sore achilles tendon, did not practice Wednesday. Backup fullback Jimmie Rogers did practice, but was still hampered by his ankle injury.

Starting fullback Kenny King was also working out with the team Wednesday, apparently recovering from a bruised shoulder.

Sophomore halfback Freddie Nixon is "in the infirmary with a fever," Switzer said.

CROSBY, Tex. (AP) — Judy Rankin, who has won more than $100,000 this season and is first on the money list, heads the list of entries in the $50,000 Ladies Professional Golfers Association championship tournament which gets under way Friday.

Police, Hotels Get Ready For Invasion

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Chamber of Commerce and the police have sort of mixed feelings about the annual invasion of visitors from Oklahoma — they are happy to see them come but they are even happier to see them go.

It is all part of the Southwest madness known as Oklahoma-Texas football weekend which also highlights the Texas State Fair and turns downtown Dallas on Friday night into what a Chamber of Commerce official charitably described as "absolute chaos."

The game itself pits two top teams in the country. Oklahoma is ranked NO. 2 and Texas is NO. 5.

Of course, when it comes to their annual battle, Texans and Oklahomans look upon it as THE GAME of the year. If you are the Texas-Oklahoma football champion, what else is there?

Thousands of visitors from across the Red River are expected to roll into Dallas like a red wave Thursday and Friday in preparation for the Friday night giant pep rally in the downtown area.

Hundreds of them are arrested every year for expressing their enthusiasm in unorthodox ways, such as throwing television sets out of hotel windows.

Sympathetic police, however, release most of them in time to attend the Saturday afternoon game at the Cotton Bowl.

Dallas Hilton Hotel officials announced earlier this week their strategy for handling guests during the weekend.

Only one roll of toilet paper per day will be provided in each room during the weekend, hotel doormen will be wearing steel helmets and all lobby furniture will be stored in a safe place.

Rotary Club Presents Checks

Rotary Club president Jim Conkwright presents Marjorie Lassiter, president of the advisory board for the Hereford Satellite Working-Training Center, and Jim Arney, United Way campaign chairman, $100 checks in the club's noon meeting earlier this week. The check to the Satellite center paid off a note on two industrial sewing machines and the check to Arney went into this year's United Way Fund. Also at the meeting, Jack Wilcox received an award for selling the most tickets to the Antique Car Show. (Brand photos)

Paul Harvey News

Credit Cards Costly Convenience

Twice in recent weeks acquaintances have announced, "I've canceled all my credit cards."

Two people hardly constitute a consensus, but this is the way trends begin.

Now I see there's a national organization—sort of a "Creditors Anonymous"—seeking to help people who cannot control their compulsion to "charge it."

A National Foundation for Consumer Credit—with 209 member agencies around the country—provides counseling and discipline and repayment plans for individuals involved in runaway spending.

Recently the Harveys canceled some of their credit cards.

Those particular cards were used so seldom that they were an annoyance to carry around and the monthly assessment was an unproductive extravagance.

Also, credit cards have become such an encouragement to extravagance that some economists are convinced that their abolition would lead to a catastrophic recession.

At Consumer Credit Counseling Service, greater New York, the average debtor has been spending $397 a month more than he earns!

The Wall Street Journal finds many doctors, lawyers, even accountants—people who are affluent and otherwise function sensibly—cannot control their credit card spending.

American individuals are encouraged by credit cards to buy now and pay later to where 4 percent of American families are presently in "financial difficulty" and that percentage is rising rapidly.

Family counselors find that other problems usually accompany the debt crisis—gambling, alcoholism, marital discord.

Robert Klausner, a 28-year-old sales engineer, is fairly typical. He says, "I had to have everything I wanted and I always wanted the best. I had to have a $25 shirt, not a $10 shirt. At one time I was holding 27 credit cards—every department store card I was able to get—and I was making only a minimum monthly payment on all of them."

On the unpaid balance he was paying 18 percent "legal usury."

The national foundation says the average credit-holic earns $15,000 a year but has piled up a credit debt, exclusive of mortgages, of $8,200!

Professional counselors sometimes find it altogether as difficult to wean a spendthrift away from his habit as to wean a drinker or a smoker away from his.

But many who overextend themselves are not chronic spenders—they are young people who've heard it is "wise to establish a credit rating" and begin to purchase necessities and then luxuries, forgetting that they are spending real money.

Orchestra Leader Dies at 82

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Jan Garber, an orchestra leader from the big band era, died at a hospital here Wednesday. He was 82.

Garber concentrated on smooth, danceable music, rather like the Guy Lombardo style. The day of the big band passed in the '50s but Garber didn't retire until 1971.

When big bands were no longer profitable, Garber still raised pick-up bands to play dates here and there, such as the Houston horse show.

Born in Indianapolis, Ind., he moved to Shreveport, his wife's home town, in 1952.

Survivors include the widow, the former Dorothy Comegys; a daughter, Janis, of Los Vegas, a singer; and two brothers, Myron Garber of Memphis and David S. Garber of Los Angeles.

Funeral services will be held Friday.

So just when you were hearing predictions of a "cashless society," perhaps you are hearing today of the beginning of a weaning process—Americans reverting to the use of cash as a measure of self-discipline.

Showing Off New Model

Raymond White, center, of White Implement Co. visits with a local farmer during the tractor seminar sponsored by Hereford's John Deere dealership Tuesday morning. In the background, farmers look over a ripper mounted on the new John Deere 4840, a 180 horsepower row crop tractor. Farmers heard about changes in the engines, transmissions, cooling and hydraulic systems of the new model John Deeres and were given an opportunity to test drive the 4840, in addition to the 4640 and 4440 tractors. All models feature turbocharged six cylinder diesel engines, delivering power ranging from 130-180 horsepower. (Brand Photo By Jim Stelert)

Bergland Gives Details On Sugar Subsidy Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) - Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland on Wednesday announced final details of a temporary federal subsidy plan to help domestic growers of 1977-crop sugarbeets and sugar cane.

Bergland told a news conference, however, that the payment plan is only "a temporary remedy" and that the Agriculture Department is proceeding to design a sugar price support program called for in farm legislation signed by President Carter last week.

Since the temporary payments will come from the U.S. Treasury they are not expected to affect consumer sugar prices.

No estimate of the program's cost was available.

The temporary sugar payment plan was announced on Sept. 15 and was effective with 1977-crop sugar marketed since then. Wednesday's announcement was a further elaboration on the program.

Under it, USDA will make payments to sugar processors, who then will be required to pay growers specified minimum prices for their crops.

Basically, the payments will enable processors to pay growers as if the price of a raw sugar is a minimum of 13.5 cents a pound, considered a break-even price for many producers. Prices now are about 10 cents a pound.

Officials said that the support plan, aimed at the 13.5 cents objective, translates to a price to sugarbeet growers of $22.84 a ton.

The department said sugar cane producers in Florida will get a support price of $18.37 a ton for cane of average quality and that the Louisiana cane support will be $15.90 a ton.

In Texas, the support involves a formula of 8.1 cents a pound multiplied by "the average pounds of cane sugar, raw value, recovered per ton from sugar cane delivered to the processor by all producers" to reflect the quality of the extracted juice.

The Hawaii support has a formula price of 8.91 cents a pound multiplied by the total pounds of raw cane sugar recovered from each ton of cane delivered by individual producers.

The department said "the processor must certify that producers will be paid no less than the applicable support price" in order to qualify for the payments.

Farm Bill Labeled Compromise By FB

WACO — The president of the Texas Farm Bureau said that farmers should not expect the farm bill signed Sept. 29 by President Carter to solve all of their farm problems.

Carroll Chaloupka, grain and cattle producer from Dalhart, said Farm Bureau was satisfied with some of the basic recommendations of the Food and Agriculture Act of 1977.

"We wanted income protection, and to some extent, this is included in the final bill," Chaloupka said. "However, the bill as a whole is a political compromise and may not be the answer in the long run."

The president of the state's largest farm organization said the loan support levels may hurt farm exports.

"We have got to be competitive in world markets because cotton and grain producers are absolutely dependent upon foreign customers to take a large portion of their production," he said.

Chaloupka said it would also be disastrous if the government becomes a major market for farm commodities.

"Surpluses will only serve to depress our prices," he said. "In the long run the consumer will suffer, too, because an unhealthy agriculture cannot provide the American people with adequate food at reasonable prices," he said.

The farm leader said disaster provisions in the new law are improvements over past legislation because they are "flexible and realistic." He said provisions for increased research will help both farmers and consumers.

"We don't like some of the food stamp changes, such as handing out free food stamps," Chaloupka said. "Also, we think only domestic food should be available for purchase with food stamps, and that proper nutrition should be emphasized."

Delay Urged On Soybean Loans

WASHINGTON (AP) - Farm and industry representatives have urged the Agriculture Department to delay as long as possible making a final decision on 1978 soybean loan rates.

After meeting with USDA officials most agreed that a tentative decision should be announced about Dec. 15, the deadline for announcing basic provisions of next year's cotton program. The deadline for the 1978 feed grains program is Nov. 15, and both will have a bearing on next year's soybean production.

Although department officials did not announce a decision, they indicated that the Dec. 15 date for the 1978 soybean decision would be appropriate since it would provide farmers time to work on next year's crop plans.

Also, Deputy Secretary John White said there seemed to be a consensus that if a tentative decision on 1978 soybeans is made by Dec. 15 the loan rate should be announced at a "minimum level" with an understanding that it could be raised later if the situation warrants.

The current loan rate for 1977 soybeans is $3.50 a bushel. Most at the meeting favored leaving this year's loans at that level.

Certification Workshop Scheduled In Amarillo

A commercial/noncommercial pesticide applicator certification workshop is scheduled for October 17-21 at the Texas Tech Regional Health Center, 1400 Wallace Blvd., Amarillo.

Training will be presented during the week in the following categories: Agricultural Pest Control (field crop pest control, fruit and vegetable pest control, weed and brush control, predatory animal control, farm storage pest control, and fumigation); Ornamental and Turf Pest Control (plant pest control, greenhouse pest control, and weed control); Seed Treatment, Right-of-Way Pest Control; Animal Pest Control (tick, louse, and mite control, and fly control); Aquatic Pest Control (aquatic plant control and aquatic animal control); Regulatory Pest Control; Demonstration and Research Pest Control.

Examinations will be administered by the Texas Department of Agriculture, Texas Animal Health Commission, and Texas Water Quality Board at the same location. Persons planning to attend must preregister by contacting Dr. Carl D. Patrick, Texas Agriculture Extension Service, 6500 Amarillo Blvd. West, Amarillo, 79106 (806-359-5401).

Persons preregistering will receive appropriate category study manuals and a program schedule.

USDA Less Optimistic About Cattle Recovery

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Agriculture Department is less optimistic than it was two months about the cattle business coming out of its financial tailspin next year.

The department's Outlook Board said Tuesday that sales of feedlot cattle have provided somewhat more beef than earlier expected. Thus, cattle prices will not recover quite as rapidly as the first half of 1978 as some experts had thought.

Prices of choice-grade steers in the third quarter of this year averaged $40.25 per 100 pounds on the low range of a forecast made in early August of $42. Fourth quarter prices are now projected at $40 to $42 per hundred pounds compared with the earlier forecast of $41 to $43.

In the first quarter of 1978, prices are expected to hold to the $40 to $42 range, compared with the previous outlook for a $42 to $44 cattle market. Although prices may strengthen to $42 to $44 per hundred pounds next spring, officials said the supply of grain fed cattle may be up 3 to 4 percent from the first half of 1977.

Consequently, the report said, "the suggested increase in fed beef supplies, argues against significant price improvements in fed cattle through much of 1978.

Civil Court Rules For Alien Kids

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Texas should not punish illegal alien children for "the sins of their parents" by excluding them from school if they can't pay tuition, the 3rd Court of Civil Appeals was told today.

It was told, on the other hand, by lawyers for the state and the Houston school district that any other course of action would encourage even more illegal aliens to enter Texas.

The court heard an appeal on behalf of 10 illegal alien children, all from Mexico, who were barred from entering Houston schools - unless they paid tuition - by a 1975 state law.

Peter D. Williamson, their lawyer, urged the court to declare the law unconstitutional.

Thus far, the State Board of Education and State District Court Judge James Meyers of Austin have upheld the law and ruled that the children cannot attend school without paying for it.

In a similar case from Tyler, however, U.S. District Court Judge William Wayne Justice ruled that illegal aliens must be admitted to school. Williamson told the appeals court that the state law violates the equal protection and due process clauses of the U.S. Constitution. "It doesn't keep out children of wealthy illegal aliens. It only keeps out poor folks," Williamson said. Children, even those who are in this country illegally, "have the right not to be discriminated against, have the right not to have the sins of their parents visited upon them and have the right not to be subjected to an irrational classification," he said. Kelly Frels, lawyer for the Houston Independent School District, said the added expense to that one district if illegals must be given a free education would range from $5.3 million to $10 million. He said striking down the law requiring tuition of illegal alien pupils "would encourage illegal aliens to come to the state of Texas" and would especially burden metropolitan areas, "where the illegal alien seeks refuge." The children in the case range from seven to 14 years old, he said, and all would be in the first grade. "They would bring their size to the first grade, their insecurity and frustration and would create discipline problems," he said.

Ann Landers
Innocent Encounters

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What does it mean when a guy smiles and winks at you? Last week I was sitting on the curb watching a parade and a member of the Michigan band (great-looking guy) looked straight at me, gave me a big smile and winked. He was not more than a foot away from me at the time. I will be 16 next month and this dude looked like he was about 17. I will probably never see him again but I would still like to know what a smile and a wink means. It might happen again and I want to be informed. — My Heart Missed A Beat

DEAR BEAT: Generally speaking a wink means "I dig you" — or "I like what I see." But not always. Nelson Rockefeller had a bit of a nervous tic and he winked and smiled a lot. Many women were very much flattered by this and I'm sure a few misunderstood. So — don't assume anything, dear, unless the dude follows up the smile and the wink with some meaningful conversation — it just might be a tic. DEAR ANN: This is a suicide note — and if your reaction to suicide is the same as most people's you have probably already stopped reading. In case you haven't, I would like to tell you what is bugging me. I am a 25-year-old male who desperately wants to be married. My problem is that I have never had a date in my life. I have tried every possible tactic but apparently women find me dull and unattractive. I have received polite refusals, nasty turn-downs, been laughed at, insulted and ridiculed. I've watched my friends get married, others are out having fun — and I must accept the fact that something must be radically wrong with me and I will have to continue a life alone. I know you will suggest counseling but I don't see how it can help. The problem is that I am ugly, awkward, out-of-step, self-conscious and uncomfortable with myself and everyone is uncomfortable with me. I would rather die than live my whole life alone forever. This is my last message to a world that views me as a creep. — No name, No City, But I've Got Counterparts All Over

DEAR FRIEND: Your letter was a cry for help — as most suicide notes (and attempts) are. I feel sure you are still around and hopefully you will see this reply. The problem is not that you are ugly, awkward, out-of-step, etc. It's that you see yourself that way. Your poor self-image has kept you down all your life — and it's time you put a stop to it. Just scan the society pages and look at the people who are getting married every day. Are the men all handsome? Are the girls all beautiful? You must get some counseling and find out why you have such a rock-bottom opinion of yourself. Once you start to like yourself better you will find that others will like you, too. I urge you to get into therapy. It will be the best investment of both time and money you have ever made in your life. And please drop a line to let me know you saw my reply and that you're going to give it a try. —

At Wits End
BY ERMA BOMBECK

As a rule my horoscope isn't enough to get choked up about. Oh, I've had a few mad moments. Once I was told a tall stranger would walk into my life bringing me untold joy, and sure enough, my washer repairman made it on Tuesday like he said he would. But usually, I can count on my stars petering out early, my work hampered, financial affairs unstable, and my bird will die around the 18th of the month. You can imagine my amazement when I picked up my horoscope the other day to discover that "a strong physical desire surprises you. Daily routine can be neglected for an exciting pursuit." For me an exciting pursuit is catching up with the Good Humor man in front of my house. "I can't remember when I last had a strong physical desire," I said aloud. "It was when you threw up at the fair," said my husband. "Not THAT kind of a physical desire." "What kind of physical desire are YOU talking about?" "The kind that occurs when you go to a Tupperware party and the only ones who show up are you and Robert Redford." My husband left for work and I reread the prediction again. No sense neglecting my daily routine for my exciting pursuit. I'd get everything out of the way and be ready for it. My neighbor, Helen, came over. "What's the house so cleaned up for at 10 in the morning?" "I'm clearing the decks for a strong physical desire that is going to surprise me." "It'll surprise ALL of us. Got any milk for the coffee?" "No, and I'm not going to the store after it and take a chance on missing whatever is going to happen." All day I sat in my color-coordinated separates in my lemon-scented house waiting for my exciting pursuit. I know I had only dozed for a few minutes when Helen knocked on the door. "Did you see him?" "See who?" "Clint Eastwood. He's making a movie in town and I was standing not this far from him. What's the matter?" Suddenly half of my prediction came true. I had the strongest physical desire to wring Helen's neck. No one was surprised.

Roloff Must Get Licenses

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Evangelist Lester Roloff must get state licenses for his three South Texas children's' homes, even though he claims it would violate his religious beliefs, the 3rd Court of Civil Appeals ruled Wednesday.

The court said there was "no question as to the sincerity" of Roloff's religious beliefs, "but the statute specifically prohibits intrusion of a state agency into matters of religion in its regulation of children's' homes. The law says, 'Nothing in this act shall give any governmental agency jurisdiction or authority to regulate, control, supervise or in any way be involved in the form, manner or content of any religious instruction or the curriculum of a school sponsored by a church or religious organization.'"

The court noted Roloff's assertion in the trial court affidavit "conflicts that I cannot conscientiously go by and go by my Bible at the same time," but said, "...we hold that the testimony is nothing more than a bald conclusion entirely unsupported by any factual evidence from which a jury could draw a differing conclusion."

The case was argued before the court on June 30. Roloff told reporters afterward he would appeal an adverse decision to the highest court. "There must be justice somewhere," he said.

Today's ruling "was a 'per curiam for the court' opinion, which means it contains no new law and is not signed by a particular judge. Judges on courts of civil appeals are elected."
