SUNDAY EXCURSIONS BY ALL RAILROADS

KATY PLANNING TO JOIN DENVER AND VALLEY IN BRINGING VISITORS.

DURING WARM WEATHER

Valley is Already Running Excursions Regularly and Denver Starts
Soon.

With the Fort Worth and Denver, Wichita Valley, Northwestern and the Southern running Sunday excursions to this city and with the Katy now preparing to do likewise, the importance of Wichita Falls as a Sunday excursion point seems to be growing. The Wichita Valley is now making a regular Sunday rate of one fare for the round trip from all points on its line, these trips having been started on the first Sunday in this month. The patronage so far has been excellent and will probably increase when they are advertised more extensively, as the Valley extends.

One week from tomorrow the Fort Worth and Denver will run its first excursion from Fort Worth, and, in spite of the several Sunday attractions in Fort Worth, it is believed that this city will be able to draw a large number of visitors here from that city. The baseball game at the lake will be a feature.

The Katy is now making arrangements to run Sunday excursions here. R. G. Buford, one of the Dallas traveling passenger agents for that line, is in Wichita Falls today looking the field over and he was very favorably impressed with the lake attractions and the opportunities for excursions. It is probable that the Katy's first excursion will be run two weeks from tomorrow. The Northwestern and the Southern, while they do not operate Sunday excursions regularly, do so whenever occasion demands and are considering running them regularly during the summer.

Outside of the money the excursionists spend while in the city, Wichita Falls has the added benefit of getting people from out of town to go home and talk about her and bring other people here. In this connection, it is hardly necessary for the Times to suggest that the extending of simple little courtesies to these strangers and assisting and directing them about the city will go far towards giving them

ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR ENTERTAINMENT OF JOHNSON ON VISIT HERE

At a meeting of the friends and supporters of Hon. Cone Johnson, candidate for governor, held in this city this morning, arrangements were made for the entertainment of Mr. Johnson on his visit to this city, which is to be on Saturday, June 25th, at which time he is to deliver an address at the court house at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

A reception committee of fifty prominent citizens were appointed; also several other committees; and every effort will be made to make Mr. Johnson's visit to this city as cordial and enthusiastic as was that tendered Hon. O. B. Colquitt.

RECEPTION TO OKLAHOMA VISITORS ON JUNE 28 IS ARRANGED BY COMMITTEE

A meeting of the Chamber of Commerce committee on the entertainment of the visitors from Oklahoma was held yesterday afternoon and plans for the occasion were completed. Huff, Foster and Montgomery and representatives of the visitors will be given an opportunity to respond. A YEGGMEN SECURE $4,000. WORTH OF STAMPS.

Texas News Service.
Muskogee, Okla., June 18.—The safe of the postoffice at Prior Creek was cracked this morning and four thousand dollars in stamps and fifteen dollars in silver were taken by the robbers, who used nitro-glycerine and escaped.
"What's the matter?" asked M. C. Hadley, who had heard the explosion, and hearing the men riding past his residence put his head out of the window. The only answer was a shot fired, which went wide of the mark. An alarm was quickly given and the search resulted in the discovery that there were four robbers. The sheriff, with a posse is on the trail. The robbery was affected about 3 o'clock.

a more favorable impression of the town—a favorable impression which the ball park, the lake attractions and other features here will materially increase.

ANOTHER FIGHT STOPPED.

Kaufman-Langford Match is Forbidden
By Police.

By Associated Press.
San Francisco, Cal., June 18.—Chief of Police Martin told Louis Blot, promoter of the Kaufman-Langford match, today that he would not be permitted to proceed with the fight. He advised Blot to discontinue the sale of tickets. The Langford-Kaufman fight is postponed one week, or until June 25th.

The Irish Lads have scheduled games with the "All-Stars," a team made up of college boys for July 2, 3 and 4, at the lake park.

DENVER STORING ROCK TO BE USED IN MAKING IMPROVEMENTS HERE

The huge stack of rock which the Denver has been making near the river bridge was placed there for storage purposes, to be used whenever occasion requires. Since the Denver started this work there has been considerable speculation as to what its intention was, some believing that it was planned to make a fill there for more trackage. Supt. H. M. Gausewitz, who is here today, stated that the rock is placed there so as to be more conveniently located for the improvements the road contemplates here and elsewhere.

The only immediate improvements to be made here, said Mrs. Gausewitz, were the union depot and a general rearrangement of the trackage system, so as to make the handling of both freight and passengers here more expeditious. Other more extensive improvements, he intimated, were to be made later on.

ENTHUSIASTIC WELCOME IS GIVEN EX-PRESIDENT

Hundreds of Thousands in Cheering
Throngs That Extend Him Greeting
at New York Today.

Texas News Service Special.

New York, June 18.—Theodore Roosevelt was welcomed here this morning by upwards of two million people who crowded the thoroughfares and waterways when he passed along the water and land parade routes.

In his answer to the welcoming address of Mayor Gaynor of New York, he declared he desired freedom from politics and said he intended to devote a larger portion of his time to writing books.

The former president's boat arrived last night on schedule time. This morning he was transferred to the revenue cutter where he breakfasted with his family. He was later transferred to another cutter where he met the reception committee of three hundred. With an official escort of patrol boats, the water parade up the Hudson followed, ending with the landing at the Battery where brief exercises took place.

Thirty minutes later the land parade turned into Broadway. The streets were lined with cheering thousands and Roosevelt was kept busy acknowledging the huzzas of the populace. He was closely guarded by detectives under the chief in person.

The street parade was succeeded by the family party going to the residence of Mrs. Douglas Robinson, a sister of Roosevelt, where he took luncheon.

At 3:30 o'clock this afternoon Mr. Roosevelt and family will go by motor to Long Island Ferry, where they will take a special train to Oyster Bay at which place the home-coming will be celebrated by neighbors.

No untoward occurrence marked the celebration of his arrival today. The authorities say the crowd was the best handled in years and the most orderly. Hundreds of visitors who came especially for the occasion, making their first trip to New York, are leaving this afternoon for Washington to see congress at work.

ing this afternoon for Washington to see congress at work.

By Associated Press.
New York, June 18.—The Kaiserin Augusta Victoria docked at flag and passed into quarantine at eleven-thirty-eight and at once came to anchor. She was escorted in from Ambrose Channel lightship by the battleship South Carolina, with the band playing the "Star Spangled Banner" and half a dozen torpedo boat destroyers.

The official welcome to Roosevelt began at eight-thirty. He then boarded the tug Manhattan. At that instant the whistles of the assembled craft were blown long and loud in unison. The salute was taken up by every vessel within a mile or more and continued for two minutes.

Shortly afterward he was transferred to the revenue cutter Androscoogin, which led the water parade that took him as far as Fifty-Ninth street on North River and down to the Battery where he was officially welcomed by Mayor Gaynor at 11 o'clock. When the steamer Kaiserin Augusta Victoria entered the harbor she was greeted by the battleship South Carolina with the national salute of twenty-one guns.

The water pageant in honor of Mr. Roosevelt was divided into twelve divisions, commanded by as many vice-commodores and a fleet of nearly two hundred strong. As the parade reached the lower end of Manhattan every craft afloat and every factory ashore let loose their whistles.

The water parade turned at Fifty-Ninth street on the North river at ten-forty and keeping in the same formation, started on the return trip to the Battery.

The Androscoogin was saluted the entire distance by blasts from steam whistles on vessels and factories.

Roosevelt set foot on American soil at ten-fifty-five. He stepped from the Androscoogin at the Battery and walked to the speakers' stand, accompanied by Mayor Gaynor. It is estimated that one hundred thousand people were massed in Battery Park when Roosevelt arrived. After the welcoming address by Mayor Gaynor and the reply by Roosevelt, the land parade started up Broadway at 11:12 o'clock.

The march up Broadway was through a densely massed throng and extended for five miles along the main thoroughfares of the city. Everywhere Roosevelt met the same whirlwind demonstrative greetings. Roosevelt stood erect in the carriage most of the time, his silk hat in his hand, waving responsive greetings to the echoing cheers. By noon the popular welcome was practically concluded and Roosevelt joined his relatives for lunch, preparatory to returning to Oyster Bay later in the day.

CONSTRUCTION COMPANY BEGINS WORK OF TAKING SAND FROM THE RIVER

The McCully Construction Company has completed the installing of its machinery on the Wichita River and is today busily engaged in scooping up sand from the bed and banks of that stream. This company intends to sell this sand locally and wherever a market can be found and it is equipped for handling large quantities of it. The sand is taken up with a clam shell scoop suspended from a long swinging beam and operated by a steam engine. This scoop takes up a yard of sand at a time and about two hundred yards a day is the company's capacity. The machinery and equipment here represent an investment of about seven thousand dollars.

If arrangements can be made with property owners here, this company will fill up the sites of the old lakes here. This work will be done by pumping the sand from the bed of the river through pipes to where it is needed.

In the opinion of F. L. Aymond, who is in charge of the work here, the Wichita river sand is the best to be found, not being excelled even by that of the Mississippi river material. It is clean and sharp and serves well for building material of all kinds.

NO ACTION YET.

Texas Rate Cases Still Pending in Interstate Commission.

Texas News Service Special.
Washington, D. C., June 18.—According to the statement of the clerk of the interstate commerce commission to the correspondent of the Texas News Service, this afternoon, there has been no decision in the Texas rate cases. It is not indicated whether the matter will be taken up in the near future, as much business is on hand on the commission docket.

Recently Senator Bailey received a letter from Allison Mayfield of the Texas Railroad Commission, asking his influence in the effort to get the interstate commerce commission to act on the cases. It is expected that Senator Bailey will urge this necessity on President Taft in a personal interview.

Britishers Coming to Big Fight.
London, June 18.—Attracted by the low rate of $25 for the round trip, a large party of British sportsmen sailed today on the Lusitania enroute to San Francisco to witness the Johnson-Jeffries fight there next month.

WILL NOT TRY TO GET CHARTER NOW

TIME IS TOO SHORT TO PREPARE
ONE TO MEET ALL CON-DITIONS.

WILL APPLY NEXT YEAR

Believed Would Require at Least Sixty Days to Get the Charter Written.

No application will be made to Governor Campbell to incorporate a provision for a special charter for Wichita Falls in his call to the legislature, unless present plans change. When it was first learned that the special session would be called it was thought that an effort would be made to have the special charter bill passed at this time, but on account of the limited time, this idea has been abandoned.

Mayor Noble stated this morning that in his opinion it would require at least sixty days to get up the charter and that as the legislature was called to meet on July 19, only thirty days distant, it would not be expedient to endeavor to get the work done in that time. The matter is to be taken up before the next regular session of the legislature so that all necessary time and attention may be given it. It is intended to prepare a tentative charter to be discussed by the voters through the press and in mass meetings so that all mistakes may be corrected and all conditions anticipated.

The principal object of the new charter will be to enable the city to put its tax collection on an equitable basis and also to make better provisions for street paving. In addition the limitations which now hamper the administration in many ways will be removed.

College Men With Rifle.

Washington, D. C., June 18.—What promises to be the most notable intercollegiate shooting tournament ever held in this country began this morning on the National Guard range here under the auspices of the National Rifle Association of America. The match is open to teams of six men representing any college or university in the United States.

A carload of Flinders "20" automobiles were received yesterday afternoon. They are the property of Vic Stampfl, D. M. Perkins and Ira Wills.

ECHO OF OLD TIMES WHEN YOUNG MAN USES PISTOL FREELY-GIVEN $100 FINE

An echo of old times, when "shooting up the town" by cowboys was more or less a nightly occurrence, was heard last night when a young man ran through an Ohio avenue pool hall with a sixshooter, firing into the ceiling as he ran. He ran out on Ohio avenue and down that street to 8th, turning toward the Northwestern depot. R. C. McIver was arrested shortly afterward by the police and plead guilty this morning, though he states he does not remember anything about the affair. His case came up in the city court and a fine of one hundred dollars was assessed by Judge Rye. McIver states that he does not remember any of the occurrences of the evening. He had a knife wound in his left breast which the officers say was inflicted by a woman in a rooming house fight.

MAKE THREE STRAIGHT OVER ALTUS TEAM-LADS BACK FOR SERIES HERE

The Irish Lads returned today from Altus, Oklahoma, where they succeeded in winning three straight games from the team in that city, by scores of 3 to 1, 6 to 4 and 5 to 0. The score yesterday was 5 to 0 and the Lads are the first team that has been able to win three straight from the Altus nine this season.

The Altus team came down with the Lads and another three-game series will be played at the Lake park today, tomorrow and Monday. Three interesting games are expected.

IN SOCIETY'S REALM

The Milliner.
How doth the little milliner
Concoct each costly hat,
And gather shekels all the day,
Until your purse is flat.
How nobly she charges you
For ribbons by the mile,
To decorate confections
In the best Parisian style.
Who ever knew her miss a chance
A gorgeous plume to fit,
In just the proper spot to shove
The total up a bit.
And then with what sublime aplomb
She pens her little bill,
That starts you on the pathway to
The poorhouse on the hill.
No doubt but old King Solomon Thought of her when he spoke About the marked rapidity
With which the fool goes broke.
So aptly does the milliner
The Scripture justify.
By parting in her wondrous way
The dollar from the guy.

His Love.
He met a very wealthy girl,
In two months they were wed;
He didn't really love her, still
He wed for love, 'twas said.
Now how this could e'er be the case,
To you, perhaps, seems funny,
'Twas just like this: He wed for love,
But it was love for money.

The association is anxious that all who are members attend the call meeting to be held at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Carrigan, 1100 Austin.

Leach-Hotchkiss.

One of the most beautiful home weddings ever witnessed in Wichita Falls was that of Miss Susan Anna Leach of this city to Mr. Murray Merion Hotchkiss of Denison, which occurred at the home of the bride's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Kelly, 1004 Burnett avenue, on Wednesday evening, June 15th, at 9 o'clock.

The house was beautifully decorated throughout, the color scheme in the reception hall being red and green, in the parlors white and green and in the dining room, pink and white, which was further carried out and emphasized in the delicious refreshments of frozen fruits, angel food, cream and mints, which were served. In the parlors an improvised altar was arranged by the use of pedestals and the backing of ferns and palms. Above this was suspended the wedding bell of cape jasmmines; from the top came ropes of smilax, which were gracefully tied around the lower pedestals.

As a pre-nuptial solo, Mrs. J. T. Roberts sang most effectively Shelley's setting of "O Perfect Love." Then to the strains of the bridal chorus from Lohengrin came Miss Louise Kelly, niece of the bride, who was the only attendant, dressed in a dainty white lingerie frock and carrying an arm bouquet of pink carnations. Then came the bride and groom. The bride was attired in a lovely creation of chiffon and lace over taffeta and wore a veil caught with a spray of lilies of the valley and carried an arm bouquet of bridal roses. The groom was in conventional black.

It seemed very fitting that the ceremony should be said by the bride's father, Rev. Finis E. Leach of Leonard, Texas. Rev. Leach has been a prominent pastor in the Presbyterian church in Texas for twenty-five years. The young couple left immediately for Niagara Falls and points in the east. They expect to spend some time on the lakes, after which they will be at home in Denison, Texas, where the groom is connected with the M. K. & T. railway.

The bride's going-away gown was a mode cloth with hat and gloves to match. Mrs. Hotchkiss is a most charming young lady, who counts as her friends all who are so fortunate as to know her.

Many beautiful presents attested the popularity of both bride and groom.

Following were the out-of-town guests:

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hotchkiss and Mr. C. M. Hotchkiss, Denison; Mrs. C. H. Pember, Fort Worth; Mrs. Tom Clayton and baby, Thomas, Quanah; Rev. F. E. Leach, Misses Maude, Ruth and Helen Leach of Leonard and Miss Kelly of Abilene.

Mrs. A. H. Carrigan very pleasantly entertained this afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock with a thimble party in honor of her guests, Mrs. Cora E. Barwise of Kansas City, and Mrs. Kathrine Scribner of Pueblo, Colo.

One of the pleasant events of the week which will long linger in the hearts and minds of the Baptist people of this city, was the pleasure afforded them by attending the Wichita County Baptist Workers' meeting held at Iowa Park Tuesday afternoon and night. The party drove in private conveyances.

This is said to have been one of the very best meetings held by this organization, both in point of attendance and interest manifested, and the splendid program prepared for the occasion was enjoyed by all present.

Those of this city who took a part were Rev. J. P. Boone, Prof. T. L. Toland; Mesdames S. J. Classy, W. L. Robertson, B. T. Burgess, W. H. Davis, R. B. Stayton, and Miss Kate Burgess.

One of the features of the evening session was the music rendered by the Junior Union of Iowa Park and a Bible drill, under the leadership of Miss Denny, followed by a splendid address upon the Baltimore convention and the World's Sunday School congress at Washington, D. C., by Rev. J. P. Boone.

The hospitality of Iowa Park people is well known at home and abroad and it is needless to say they were untiring in making their guests feel welcome.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Filgo and little Miss Wilma; Mesdames R. C. Smith and Garrett; Misses Nellie Trevathan, Jane Steigel and Myrtle Hurley. The next meeting will be held at Byers, the first Tuesday in May.

Mrs. Taylor of Fort Worth, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Taylor on Lamar avenue.

Miss Cowley of Galveston, is visiting Miss Ruth Bullock this week.

Fads and Fashions.

New York, June 18.—The season is now so far advanced that the cheaper shops are beginning to display comparatively inexpensive copies of many of the earlier and very high priced models from the establishments of famous designers. Women who are compelled to economize in their expenditures for clothes, but who are skillful with the needle, are in a more fortunate position this season than in many years, as they can find any number of handsome models easily copied by the amateur.

Elaborate embroideries and trimmings are prohibitive so far as the average woman is concerned and intricate draperies are beyond the skill of the average dressmaker; but a large percentage of the prettiest frocks this season are of studied simplicity and obtain their effects by methods not beyond the possibilities of a seamstress clever enough to follow a good pattern.

There is the Russian blouse, for example, which solves the coat and skirt problem for many a woman who would not dare attack the making of a tailored coat. Good patterns for the blouse coat are numerous and the making is a simple matter, while the smartest of the trimming details are not complicated. Then there are such delightful results obtained in the forming of two materials, the contrasting stuffs furnished the trimming motif and but little other ornamentation entering into the scheme.

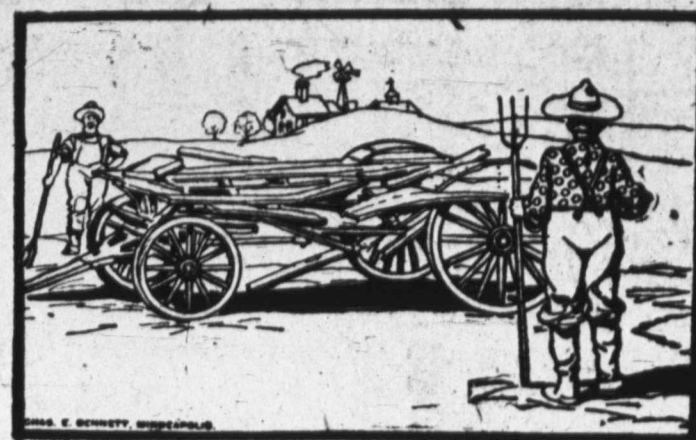

The veiling fad implies a certain added expense in that a silk lining of other attractive foundation is necessary under the chiffon, net, lace or gauze; but here again there are coloring effects that many be compassed even by the amateur. The fancy for veiling and for combining materials make possible the satisfactory renovating of old frocks and last year's foulards and other silks may be made to masquerade successfully as this season's children through the aid of chiffon or etamine. It is not only these silks and woollens that enter into combinations. Linen consorts cheerfully with handkerchief linen of lightweight cottons; embroidered swiss is made up with striped zephyr cloth. Plain gingham and figured gingham go well together.

There is a certain monotony in the smartest afternoon models, due chiefly to the enormous vogue of the bodice or yoke cut in one with the sleeve, but this shoulder and sleeve line is eminently adapted to the chic simplicity which is the keynote of the modish late season frock.

There are several lustrous surface cottons printed in foulard designs which look very much like the silk service, though they have not the lovely softness of the silk foulard and are at their best in the dark tones and in black and white.

How Are You Fixed For Racks?

Stacking time will soon be upon you, so we thought we'd just call your attention to the question of racks. We realize how prone most men are to put off attending to these things until the last moment; then it's too late. The old things are patched up in hopes that they will do for a while. The result is no end of time and trouble wasted tinkering to keep them together.

Better look up the rack question and get into shape before you actually need them. We have a good stock of clear, dry materials—just the thing for racks.

Everything on Sale in the Jewish Market in the Pardoll District of Kief

Within the "Pale" of Jewish Russia

by D. T. Marshall

Typical Russian Jews

The Cossack, the Soldier who is a Terror to the Jew in Russia

A Row of Jewish Shops in Kief

In the Jewish Quarter of Kief

THE Land of the Bear has had another Anti-Semitic horror. The excuse in the proclamation was "that numbers of Jews had settled in Kief without permission." This forms a part of what is known as the "Jewish Pale," where this race is allowed to reside, and since the great massacre of 1881 the Jews have been allowed to live in comparative peace in Kief. They now control the best shops, factories, theatres, etc., and the Russian merchant has very likely complained to the government that the obnoxious Jew is "ruining business and will soon own the land if he is not made to feel the lash."

The persecution of the Jews in Russia has always been for commercial rather than religious reason. His attitude for making money is the real cause of his persecution, although the degenerate, illiterate Russian, whose religion is only a superstition, is taught to believe that the Jews steal Christian children and use them for sacrifice at the Passover, that they stone religious processions and insult sacred icons of the Russian Church. This talk, with a few bottles of vodka, the vile drink which has besotted Russian peasants, will lead to a Jewish massacre at any time.

Only those who have visited Russia can fully understand the conditions there. The average Russian looks upon a Jew as unworthy of the consideration of a human being, and believes that strenuous measures should be taken to keep him under control. To be sure, there are few Russians who have protested against the horrible atrocities which have been practiced in Russia, and some of these are today paying for their protests by languishing in Russian prisons branded as enemies of the Holy Czar and revolutionists against the government. The Jew is the merchant and money-lender of the country. Russia has seen her thousands of peasants pauperized by officials and then brought on the verge of starvation by the Jewish money lender, who encourages the peasant to borrow even on his unplanted crops. These crops are a failure, frequently through the peasants' own laziness. Somebody must answer for these conditions, so it falls on the Jew, and a "pogrom" as the massacres are termed, follows. The horrible atrocities of the massacres are too well known to need repetition here. The Cossack, that splendid specimen of mankind who comes from the Caucasus away over in the Ural Mountains to serve the Czar, is generally on hand and does the main part of the terrible work. To him the Jew is the same as a mad dog, and is treated with less consideration than a dangerous animal. Russia keeps a regiment of these men in Warsaw and sends the Polish soldiers to some other quarters of the empire.

The more one studies the surroundings of the Russian Jews, their few liberties and their ostracism the more one is impressed with the remarkable character of this race, which has preserved its wonderful individuality in the face of all the disasters they have passed through during the last nineteen hundred years—a nation without a country, scattered over the four quarters of the globe, yet preserving the distinctive qualities of a nation which has produced some of the greatest men in all the walks of life. There is no better place to study Jewish life than in the Pardoll district of Kief or the Warsaw. In both these places one may study the thriftiness of the Jewish trader, how he sells at large profits if he can, at small ones if he must, but sell he will. His dickering with customers and his cajoling methods are far more in evidence there than they are in this country. "Barking" is the fashion, and the visitor who stays into the market at Pardoll will have to make a purchase or fight his way out. The Jewish market in Warsaw is remarkable, too, for it is always crowded and is a veritable beehive of activity. It was here during December, 1881, that the "pogrom" began, and today the Russian will tell you that it is a favorite place for "Jew sticking," as the murder of a Jew is called in the Russian Empire. Somehow, the year 1881 seems to have been a black one for the Jews there, although it was the first year of the "gentle system" inaugurated by M. Pobledonostseff. No fewer than 167 towns and villages witnessed scenes of savagery which would seem impossible in the nineteenth century. Scores of Jewish women dishonored, hundreds of men, women and children were slaughtered and thousands made homeless. Yet the Jew continues to live and, in many instances, get rich in this awful country.

In Odessa, where the business is practically in the hands of Jews, a Russian was questioned about the race there. "They are a dangerous people," he said, with a mysterious air. "You may beat a Jew, you may burn his house, you may kill his family, yet he will get on. To be sure, he will whine and wail for awhile; then he will look out for business. Why, during the riots in Odessa one who kept a cigar store, was literally cleaned out, his family was killed and his shop and home burned, and he himself was badly wounded, but somehow he managed to save a few packages of cigarettes, and when the riot was over he appeared on the ruins of his home offering the cigarettes for sale, and soon he had a little stand, and in a month he had a small shop. Today he is the proprietor of one of the largest cigar stores in Odessa. This simply illustrates their energy, and if Russia does not once in a while let them feel her power they would practically own the land. You Americans, I know, condemn our actions, but you do not understand the situation, but you will if our Jews keep on going to America."

Again and again the antagonism toward the Jew's business ability crops out.

There is a class of Jews in Russia who to further their business interests have joined the Russian Church. These people are ostracized by Russian as well as Jew, and their money brings them little pleasure.

Russia is a Jew country, for of the 11,000,000 of Jews who inhabit the world over half are in the Czar's domain, not from choice, but because the annexation of Poland made them subjects of the "Little Father." During the Middle Ages Poland was the land of refuge of the Hebrew race. According to the laws of the land, the Jewish subjects must live within the

"Pale," which comprises Poland and fifteen of the adjoining provinces. A limited number, however, are permitted to live outside the "Pale"—merchants who belong to the guild and who pay about $450 for that privilege. This would not be an exorbitant tax were it not for the fact that the Jewish business man is continually blackmailed by Russian officials, for bleeding a Jew is always legitimate in Russia. With all these drawbacks some of the finest shops, both in Moscow and St. Petersburg, are kept by Jews and their beautiful homes are ornaments to both cities. Those who have for twenty-five years served as soldiers may live outside the "Pale." Students of high educational institutions, apothecaries, dentists, surgeons and midwives, as well as skilled artisans are allowed to live in certain sections. These walks of life include but a small number of persons, for it is exceedingly difficult for a Jew to meet the requirements and qualifications of these classes to the satisfaction of the Russian government. A thousand and one obstacles are placed in the way of the applicant. For instance, only 10 per cent of the students of a university are allowed to be of the Jewish race and these are admitted only after a most rigid examination—something not exacted of the Russian students. In some of the best schools the number allowed is from 3 to 5 per cent. It may be added that the Jewish students are sure to carry off the honors if given any sort of opportunity to compete with the Russian. Despite all these stringent regulations to keep them in ignorance, the Jewish people on the whole receive far better education than the Russian peasant. When the boys of the Jewish families are between the age of five and six years they are sent to the Chedar, a sort of private Jewish school. Here the child studies until he is of age, which in the case of the Russian Jew is 13 years. If his family is very poor the boy must sometimes leave before that age and become apprenticed to a trade. Many of the wealthiest Jews send their sons to England and Germany to be educated and learn the languages, for the study of foreign languages in the Chedar has recently been forbidden by the Czar. The girls are not so fortunate unless they are of rich parentage, in which case they are educated at home. Even the poorest class are industrious, and at the age of 14 are good housewives, besides earning a few pennies by sewing or making gloves, etc., for factories. They marry early in life, often at 15. There are few old maids among the Jews in Russia and a mother is greatly distressed when she finds herself with an unmarried daughter who is over 25 years of age. The Satchem (the professional match-maker) is found all over Jewish Russia. His business is to bring together young couples who are suitable for marriage. The father of the bride must give her a dowry commensurate with the money the bridegroom is able to furnish. For instance, a clerk will sometimes require a dowry of two hundred roubles, while a watch-maker and jeweler would receive six hundred roubles (about $200). It is remarkable how happily the marriages turn out, for divorces are few and the wife is a help to her husband in whatever walk of life they may live. She is somewhat of a gossip, but she makes a devoted mother, and her family is usually a large one. In the smaller towns she assists her husband in the shop and makes an excellent saleswoman.

The Jew, as I said before, is the merchant and manufacturer of Russia. The greater part of woolen stuffs used in Russia are from Jewish factories. Cotton and linen stuff, glass, iron, leather—in fact, the handling of any line of goods for which there is a market comes under the Jew's line of work. He is the money lender, too, of the land, and makes his money by doing business with the poorer classes. The Russian aristocracy need not apply to him unless they are willing to leave valuable jewelry and plate as security. Nicholas the Second is liberal with his ukases, and he is likely at any time to order the members of the aristocracy to repudiate all debts to Jews that bear interest higher than 2 1/2 cents. So the Jew money lender does not care for aristocratic clientele.

Military service is irksome to the Jew, but serve he must or pay continual "hush money." However, 15,000 of this race died in the defense of Russia, while that country was at war with Japan, and as many more were wounded. A soldier's pay is too small to attract a Jew and Russia has done little to foster the patriotic spirit within him. If he goes into the army, however, you will find him a private secretary to some officer or drawing plans and making maps. He is more useful to Russia here than the Russian, because he is better educated. Here, too, he is ill-treated because he will be required to do extra work for the officers whose petty meanness crops out when he offers the Jewish soldier a piece of pork in payment for the work, when he knows full well that the Jew will not accept. The Jewish soldier really has no army food and usually manages to get his meals at the home of a Jew.

The homes of the poorer classes of Jews in Russia are not always attractive, as they are generally filthy and emit the most nauseating odors. This people are clannish, and huddle together as if expecting persecution. The sanitary conditions all over Russia are bad, and it is only the six months of intensely cold weather which keeps out a pestilence. The Jews are now allowed to bathe in the rivers or lakes and fashionable watering places will not receive them. They are compelled to live in certain quarters of the cities, no matter in what condition their health may be, and if they wish to consult a physician in a distant town they may only do so by permission of the Czar. No government positions are open to him, and every effort is made to smother Jewish enterprise, yet he thrives and seems ever ready to help his own people. He gives without ostentation, and the name of the donor is kept secret, the charitable work being managed by the rabbis.

As to religion the Jews keep strictly to the letter, and all Jewish factories and stores are closed on their Sabbath day. Many of them make pilgrimages to Jerusalem. The Jew has great difficulty in obtaining a passport, and usually pays several times the regular price, especially if he is found to be a little prosperous. He is not a drinker, and a drunken Jew in Russia is a rare sight. He is not quarrelsome, and his disputes with his neighbors are generally settled quietly by his rabbi, in whom he has implicit faith.

When spoken to in reference to the desire of the Jew to emigrate to the United States, a Russian declared that they could do as they pleased there and were not under restraint. Then he added: "They really prefer Russia to America, and only leave because their lives are not safe here. If they were sure of protection you could not drag them away. They know that the ignorant Russian is an easier prey for their money-lending games than anybody in educated America." Conditions have proved that his statement is correct in some respects, for during the year of 1907, when there were several anti-Semitic riots in Russia, 258,493 immigrants came to America from the Czar's domain, the majority of whom were Jews. The year 1908 was comparatively quiet in Russia and fewer Jews than usual were executed. Emigration from there at once decreased—only 156,711 arriving at our ports during the year 1908—a falling off of over 102,000.

WEATHER FORECAST.

For Wichita Falls and vicinity.
Tonight and Sunday, generally fair.

Wichita Falls tried to get the Farmer's convention and failed; she tried to get the Odd Fellows convention and failed; she tried to get the undertakers convention and failed. At first blush, it looks like a lot of wasted effort and money, but it isn't. The only way to land these meetings is to keep pegging and the Times hopes that the same efforts will be renewed next year and if we fail again, just try again for these and other conventions until we land them. Wichita Falls can offer more for the entertainment of visitors than any other city of her size and we must bring these meetings here if it takes a decade.

The recent speech delivered by Senator Dolliver of Iowa in the United States Senate will prove about the best campaign document the democrats can put out, provided that Taft is given a re-nomination by the republicans, and it looks like this will be done in the event that ex-President Roosevelt cannot be prevailed upon to take it.

If the Texas senate was composed of men like Senator Senter of Dallas, then the people of Texas could well afford to elect H. Bascom Thomas as its presiding officer, and it begins to look very much like the people, or at least a great majority of the democrats have the situation sized up about that way. Only a few days ago some of the leading papers were bold to say editorially that Thomas was not sincere in his challenge to meet in joint debate any one of the present members of the Texas senate and more especially Senator Senter of Dallas, as Senter has the reputation of being somewhat of a debater himself, but the only condition Thomas insisted upon was that the joint debate should take place in Senator Senter's home town, and that he (Thomas) should have the opening and closing of the discussion.
That joint discussion took place the other night, and from the reports given of it both by the Dallas News and the Fort Worth Record, it was rather a one-sided affair from beginning to end, and Thomas was not the one who suffered. It has been this way at every place where any one of our present state senators have met Thomas in joint debate.

In spite of the fact that one of our eccentric Mergenthalmers made one of Wichita County's farms produce twenty-six hundred bushels of wheat to the acre, we cannot find it in our hearts to censure it.

Having the cheapest insurance rate in the state, with but two or three exceptions, Wichita Falls can watch the solving of the muddle at Houston with indifference.

Of course happiness comes natural to Wichita Falls people, but it oughtn't to affect to the extent that it did the gentleman on Ohio Avenue last night.

A music publisher asserts that ragtime songs and music was waning in popularity and there are several of us who receive the news without tears.

It probably didn't dim Teddy's joy very much when he arrived in New York to find that there wasn't a single king in the whole crowd.

The arrests made by the officers yesterday morning show that there is more than one way of cleaning up a town.

Oyster bay? it seems as if we had heard of that place somewhere.

Made it Clear.
A senator speaking of the advantages of clearness of statement, told a story about a restaurant to illustrate his meaning. He said:

"This restaurant advertised a dinner, but not in the loose way many other restaurants advertise dinner as between certain hours, whether there would be enough dinner to last between those hours or not. No. The man who runs that restaurant has a proper knowledge of his responsibilities and of the exact use of the language. He advertised, 'Chicken pie, 25 cents; from 12:30 until gone.'—Saturday Evening Post.

A Cynical Statesman.
The saying that "all men have their price" is ascribed to Sir Robert Walpole. While speaking of a faction in parliament which bitterly opposed some of his measures he said, "You see with what zeal and vehemence these gentlemen oppose me, and yet I know the price of every man in this house except three."

Of some who called themselves patriots he said: "Patriots! I could raise fifty of them within four and twenty hours. I have raised many in due night. 'Tis but to refuse an unreasonable demand and upspring a patriot."

A Dilemma.
Mr. Crimmonbeak—A hunter in Newfoundland who has lost his bearings and finds himself in a fog has no difficulty in finding the way, as, owing to the constant west winds, the tops of all the trees point east. Mrs. Crimmonbeak—But suppose he doesn't want to go east?—Yonkers Statesman.

Married For Money.
"Do you mean to say that you married for money?"
"In a way I did. I got married because I couldn't afford to stay engaged any longer."—Cleveland Leader.

Nothing can be produced out of nothing.—Diogenes.

"O What Shall I Get For Supper?"

Pork and Beans

"Yours Truly"

A mighty popular and very easy answer to that daily kitchen puzzle. Now Don't make the mistake of thinking you can get any kind of baked beans and answer the question just as easily.

"Yours Truly" Beans are very different—no its not an accident or a special kind of bean, but its a special process of preparing and baking them that gives them a quality and flavor that is just irresistible 10c per Can. $1.10 per dozen Cans.

Baseball Notes.

The Boston Americans have sold Catcher Pat Donahue to the Philadelphia Athletics.

It begins to look as if the Pirates need a few youngsters to mingle with the veterans.

The automobile to be given to champion batter of 1910 looks better every day to "Nap" Lajoie.

First Baseman George Stovall has been appointed captain of the Cleveland team recently.

"Red" Kelley, former captain of the Notre Dame team, has joined the Chicago White Sox.

Catcher Gibson of the Pirates wears the smallest mitt of any backstop in the major league.

Four scouts are now touring the country looking over minor league talent for the Washington club.

It is denied in Philadelphia that Joe O'Brien will succeed Horace Fogle as president of the Phillies.

The first six teams in the Southern League race have been traveling along with 500 per cent or better.

Jack Taylor, the old Chicago pitcher, has sued the Kansas City club for $190, which he claims is due him from last season.

It took the strong Tigers to put a crimp in Russell Ford's pitching record, but the Highlander is one swell pitcher at that.

Milwaukee and Louisville, both strong team last year, are having a hard time trying to find their way in the American Association race this season.

Pittsburg and Cincinnati are both after Pitcher Russell of Baltimore.
One story has it that Fred Clark has offered $15,000 for the youngster.

Cincinnati recently sold Spade to the St. Louis Americans for the first verse of "The Old Oaken Bucket." And only last season the Chicago Internationals offered Ed Reulbach for $5,000 for the ex-Red.

Manager McGraw of the Giants has closed the deal with the Dallas Club for third Baseman Gowdy and Pitcher Shontz. The boys will report to New York at the close of the Texas League season.

THAT CORONATION OATH.

It is An Antiquated Expression of Prejudice.What a funny old coronation oath it is! Of course, it should be modified so as to be less abusive of the Roman Catholics and more in accordance with the urbane catholicity of our day.
Yet, the proposed modifications are very slight—no more, it appears, than to substitute "contrary to my belief" for "superstitious and idolatrous" in allusion to adoration of saints and the mass and to omit an injurious allusion to the pope. The declaration of dissent from transubstantiation and other beliefs and practices understood to be Roman Catholic is as definite and precise as ever. Yet, there are violent objections to any change, the action of various Protestant societies being so energetic as to remind the Sun's correspondent that "giant pope" is still to many members of these societies what he was to Bunyan. It is to smile at these vehement ebulli-tions. If the human race has progressed in religious toleration and yet see what a lot of heat there still is in the embers of old fires!It is argued that the Queen of Spain, an English princess, born a Protestant, had to curse out the Protestants in her coronation oath much harder than her cousin will curse out the Catholics in his. It is also declared that King George has already taken the Scottish coronation oath to maintain the Presbyterian confession of faith in Scotland, which is much stiffer in its anti-Catholic affirmations than the English one. It is hard to take these disclosures seriously, but there still are serious political potentialities in these discussions.—Harper's Weekly.W. F. Turner. M. L. Britton

WIRELESS TELEPHONE.

Company Plans to Establish Lines in This State.

Very soon now Dr. Lee de Forest, inventor of the wireless telephone, and the world's foremost wireless expert, will visit Texas to select sites for a chain of stations to be erected throughout the state. Dr. De Forest is also the inventor of the sparkless system of the wireless telegraph. The noted inventor is now in the Pacific Northwest equipping a series of towers and will tour Oregon and California en route to Texas.

When the North American Wireless Corporation was recently organized in New York more than a dozen of the more important wireless companies in the United States were included in the amalgamation. The corporation already has stations in the East including the one in the tower of the Metropolitan building in New York. Towers are to be erected in every important city in the United States.

Dr. De Forest as chief engineer of the North American Company, has just completed a tour of western Canada and sites have been secured for a chain of stations from Winnipeg West to Victoria and Vancouver in British Columbia.

At Seattle, Washington, has just been completed the most high powered wireless telephone and telegraph tower in the world. A trans-Pacific service is soon to be inaugurated. With the new sparkless system of the wireless telegraph the company announces that it will be possible to give a rate of twenty-five cents to any part of the American continent where the company has stations.

The wireless towers to be erected throughout Texas will be of steel construction resting on concrete foundations and will stand more than 265 feet above ground. Laboratories will be equipped for the manufacture of wireless instruments for use in this state.

Throughout Texas Dr. De Forest will give demonstrations with the long distance wireless telephone and deliver free lectures on the "Wireless Age" when he will explain the principles of the transmission of intelligence without the use of wires.

Whenever You See a Woman With Lustrous Auburn Hair You Can Wager That She Uses Parisian Sage.

The girl with the auburn hair is on every bottle and every carton of Parisian Sage.

But that isn't why all the lovely girls with the brilliant and fascinating profusion of auburn hair always recommend Parisian Sage.

They know as do thousands of their dark haired sisters that there is no preparation for the hair that can compare with Parisian Sage. The sales throughout America last year were nothing less than phenomenal.

It will stop dandruff in any man's or woman's hair in two weeks or money back; it stops falling hair and itching scalp almost magically.

Has wonderful ability to turn harsh, dull, faded hair that many women possess into luxuriant radiant and fascinating hair in a few weeks.

It is a delicately perfumed tonic that is not sticky or greasy, that gives a refreshing and invigorating feeling to the head the minute it is applied. Rub it in, it will make your hair grow.

Fifty cents for a large bottle at drugists everywhere and at The Weeks Drug Co. After using one bottle of Parisian Sage, the ordinary tonics will never please you again. Mail orders filled, charges prepaid, by American makers, Gfroux Mfg. Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

A NAVAL NOVELTY.

Russia and Italy Try Three Guns in Battleship Turret.

A remarkable innovation in battleship design is about to be made by Russia and Italy. Both of these countries have hitherto followed the practice of putting only two guns in a turret, thus adhering to the usage of the other naval powers for 40 years or more. It is now proposed to try three guns in a turret, Russia making a more extensive application of the principle than Italy. The former will adopt the plan for the entire main battery of twelve guns with which each of her new dreadnaughts is to be armed. The latter will resort to compromise. Three out of the five turrets on the Italian ship will each mount three guns, while the others will have only two, this arrangement making it possible to carry thirteen guns in all. As both Russia and Italy will place the turrets (or barbettes) on the central line running fore and aft, the whole battery can be employed for broadside fire, as is the case with American dreadnaughts.

If the triple system of mounting should work satisfactorily, it would facilitate the concentration of fire. A four-turret Russian dreadnaught will carry as powerful a battery as the six-turret Wyoming, and yet have a displacement 3000 tons smaller. Italy's new ships will each displace 284,000 tons. A slight increase in size would apparently have made it feasible to put three guns in every turret and to secure a fighting power one-quarter greater than the Wyoming will possess. There may, however, be corresponding disadvantages. One well directed shot from the enemy would presumably do more harm if it penetrated a turret with three guns and their crews than if it penetrated a turret like one of the Wyoming's or the North Dakota's. Russia's and Italy's example will probably not be followed by other naval powers without a vigorous discussion of the merits of the innovation.—New York Tribune.

"THE CLOTHIERS"

Roosevelt Welcomed Home

New York, June 12.—New York, with its more than four million inhabitants, augmented by probably another million of visitors, unconditionally surrendered to Theodore Roosevelt when once more he touched American soil, after an absence of one year and a few months, today. It was a glorious and enthusiastic welcome which was extended to him and New York took no pains to disguise the fact that it is proud of its famous son, the nation's "foremost private citizen." Of course it was unavoidable to have some formal and official features to the welcome, but they were few and of short duration and in no way interfered with the spontaneous manifestations of popular enthusiasm which remained at high tide throughout the day.

The liner Kaiserin Augusta Victoria, on which Mr. Roosevelt and his party crossed the Atlantic was due to arrive at Quarantine at 9 a. m., but several hours before the appointed hour navigable craft of every description began to assemble outside of the narrows. By the time the big liner reached Quarantine Island there were many hundreds of steamers, yachts, tugs, launches and other craft dotting the water, making it somewhat difficult for the four revenue cutters detailed to carry out the official part of the program, to make their way to the Kaiserin Augusta Victoria without causing an accident.

The four revenue cutters started from their dock at the Battery shortly after eight o'clock. First came the Androscoggin with the reception committee on board; then the Mohawk with a delegation of congressmen and other distinguished persons; next the Manhattan bearing a large number of personal friends and relatives of Mr. Roosevelt and finally the swift Seneca, with the newspaper and photographers. The small flotilla steamed down the bay, carefully threading its way among the hundreds of vessels bound in the same direction.

It was shortly after nine o'clock when the cutter of the reception committee arrived at the Kaiserin Augusta Victoria and a few minutes later the tug Dalzelline, the flagship of Commodore Fred B. Dalzell in command of the welcoming fleet and naval parade, gave three long blasts as a signal that Mr. Roosevelt had boarded the Androscoggin. In a moment a perfect bedlam of motion vibrated through the narrows, announcing to the hundreds of thousands packed in the lower part of Manhattan that "Teddy" was on his way to the inner harbor. The whistles and sirens of the craft around Quarantine started the turmoil and every single ship in the harbor and along the river fronts took it up until one continuous roar went up, scaring the seabirds in the harbor into hysterics. For two minutes or more the noisy demonstration continued and it might have lasted longer had not the vessels needed their steam for their long trip up the river and back.

The naval parade, headed by the Dalzelline and several other tugs, doing patrol duty and several police tugs presented an interesting spectacle. The Androscoggin came first, a short distance after the patrol boats, then followed the other craft in double column, fifty feet apart and a hundred feet astern of one another. At a speed of ten miles an hour the procession majestically moved up the bay to the inner harbor and up the North River, closely hugging the Jersey shore. Every ship in the harbor and along the river fronts was dressed with gay bunting and the flags of all nations, with the Stars and Stripes in evidence everywhere.

After the head of the procession had reached the flagboat anchored off Fifty-ninth street, it swung around the boat and started on its way back toward the Battery. The people on shore and on the hundreds of vessels cheered and yelled themselves hoarse when the Androscoggin with Mr. Roosevelt on board passed them. Mr. Roosevelt remained upon the deck throughout the journey, viewing the scenes along the route with evident interest.

Battery Park and the streets leading to it were literally packed with spectators, when the Androscoggin reached Pier A, where Mr. Roosevelt once more stepped upon American soil. His appearance at the head of the few steps at the foot of which Mayor Gaynor awaited his arrival, was the signal for an outburst of enthusiasm the like of which New York has never before witnessed. Together Mr. Roosevelt and Mayor Gaynor ascended the steps of the small platform, where the Mayor delivered his welcoming speech and Mr. Roosevelt briefly responded. Owing to the general turmoil only the few persons on the platform and in its immediate vicinity could understand what was said.

The greeting by Mayor Gaynor was cordial and brief and while the enormous crowd was still cheering Mr. Roosevelt and the members of the reception committee their places in the carriage lined up near the platform and a few moments later the procession of carriages started upon its way up Broadway toward Central Park. A fine body of one thousand policemen headed the procession of carriages and about three hundred Rough Riders, including among them John R. Abernathy of wolf-strangling fame and his two sons, one only six, the other nine years old, who had come on horseback from Oklahoma to welcome Mr. Roosevelt.

All along Broadway from the Battery to Fourth street, to Fifth Avenue and up that aristocratic thoroughfare to the Plaza there was a dense mass of people, occupying every inch of the space excepting enough of the roadway to allow the procession to pass. Every building was decorated and the enthusiasm of the crowds on the streets, in the windows of the buildings and even on the roofs was unlimited. There was no end of the cheering so long as Mr. Roosevelt's carriage was in sight. The procession was disbanded at Fifty-ninth street and Mr. Roosevelt drove rapidly away to join Mrs. Roosevelt, who had been entertained by the Daughters of the American Revolution at a luncheon at Sherry's, where she could see the parade passing on Fifth Avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt and the other members of their family later took a train for their summer home at Oyster Bay.

Get wise to that fussy pill plant on 8th street; those temperance toddy tossers were mixing summer joy juice way back when Methuselah was too young to vote, and say, don't try to stand them up by asking for any fancy foam, unless you want it, for they have all the information that goes with the job—none of that refined Hungarian fuss coming, but music by the cash register from six-thirty a. m., till street lights get peevish from working overtime. The usual services will be held at the Christian Church tomorrow. Dr. Hamlin will speak especially to young men at the evening service on "Twentieth Century Problems."

The case of Crutcher vs. Martin is still on trial in the county court today and will probably go to the jury this afternoon. Arguments have consumed most of the day.

A marriage license was issued today to W. P. Parris of Mankins, Tex., and Miss Louise Morrison of Holliday.

There will be an entire change of program of Martin's Fireworks tonight.

Mr. J. E. McCall presented the Times force this morning with a basket of nice fine flavored peaches of the Alexander variety. They were picked from a tree in his orchard four miles east of the city, and he has about one hundred trees. His trees are about six years old, and this is the fourth season they have produced fruit.

Last Night Tonight.

The Hollingsworth Twins Company of players closes their three weeks engagement tonight and they have selected the play that made the big hit last Thursday night "Posie," as their closing bill.

"Posie" is a play on the "Sis Hopkins" order and was written especially for Miss Myrtle Hollingsworth. "Posie" is clean, pure and refined, with enough exciting moments to make it interesting throughout. "Posie" had its premier production last Thursday night and it is repeated tonight because it "made good."

"Posie" the best on the last night, at the Franklin, 10th and Ohio.

"Option Girl" Married.

St. Louis, Mo., June 18.—Miss Edith Isabella Gibney, known as "The Option Girl," since Klaus J. Steiner, a millionaire Pittsburg, testified in resistance to her breach of promise suit that he had a six months option upon her hand, was married today to John Cumming Russell, a salesman of this city.

HALF OF THE CURE IS THE QUALITY.

Don't criticize your doctor because a medicine prescribed by him fails to have the desired effect. Unless the drugs are of perfect quality, fresh, potent, and pure the medicine is not going to produce the results expected.

Let us fill your Prescriptions, and satisfaction is assured you as we use only tested drugs and exercise every available care in dispensing.

WE HANDLE WELSCH'S GRAPE JUICE OF COURSE

It's undoubtedly the best of the Concord variety--But if you want something just as nice but entirely different in flavor, try "ANGELUS," It's the pure juice of the Muscatell, put up in California--the flavor is very delicate.
