Several applications and inquiries have been received by the Snyder Chamber of Commerce following announcement of the resignation of Karl Mawhorter as manager of the organization.

Mawhorter left over the weekend to begin work in the industrial property development division of a private firm at El Paso.

There appears to be more interest in the Chamber manager's post here than in some past years when the Snyder C-C was shopping for a new manager. This likely can be attributed to the "Operation Sparkle" and All America city honors.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Allen Owens, the Chamber's secretary, noted that this will be the second year in a row that the Chamber of Commerce has been without a manager during its biggest annual event, the July 4th celebration. However, the Independence Day event is expected to move along without a hitch. The planning and coordination of the celebration is handled by a committee and the people involved are thoroughly experienced in putting on such events.

The stock market has been claiming its share of attention recently and I have just received word that a Snyder delegation has been making a first-hand survey of the situation. A picture post card arrived the other day, showing a scene on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange on the picture side. On the other side was the brief message: "We are here!" It was signed by J. D. Hinton, possibly our town's most enthusiastic Aggie—that is if one Aggie can be more enthusiastic than another.

In a recent bulletin, the National Foundation for Highway Safety quotes Frederick N. Rehm, general manager of the Automobile Club of Michigan, who questioned claims that motor vehicles themselves cause many accidents. In fact, Rehm said that research by his organization indicated that vehicles caused hardly any accidents.

"The most serious traffic - fatality problems," he declared, "Are in order of importance: alcohol; unlit, badly marked, improperly posted two-lane country roads; inexperienced young drivers; basic law violations; and motorbikes and motorcycles."

He also said that three to five per cent of drivers who have shown by past records they are not fit to drive cause 15 to 30 per cent of fatalities. — WACIL McNAIR.

IN MAYORAL PRIMARY

Lindsay Loses To Marchi, Wagner To Procaccino

NEW YORK (AP) — In a mayoral primary that echoed a trend set in Los Angeles and Minneapolis, conservatives wrested the Republican nomination from Mayor John V. Lindsay and wrecked former Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner's comeback bid Tuesday.

Lindsay, who will be on the November ballot as Liberal party candidate, was narrowly defeated by a little-known state senator from Staten Island, John J. Marchi, who also has the Conservative party nomination. The final unofficial count was 111,725 to 106,358.

Wagner lost to Italian-born City Comptroller Mario A. Procaccino, who rejected the label of "law-and-order candidate" but was the most conservative in a five-man Democratic field. He won with only about a third of the vote.

Bronx Borough President Herman Badillo, who was born in Puerto Rico, ran a close third. Author Norman Mailer and Rep. James H. Scheuer trailed.

The vote was Procaccino 252,283, Wagner 221,605, Badillo 215,381, Mailer 41,136, Scheuer 38,631.

Lindsay assailed the "forces of reaction and backlash" that he said had taken "temporary" control of both parties in the city.

"There is a mood of hostility in this city and nation," Lindsay said, "but before November the mood of reason will return."

Wagner also deplored the election results, commenting: "We hope we do not have here another Los Angeles or Minneapolis."

Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles won re-election over Negro Councilman Thomas Bradley after a campaign which stressed the "law and order" issue.

In a mayoral election in Minneapolis last week, former police Detective Charles Stenvig defeated liberal Republican Dan Cohen. Stenvig had focused his campaign on the "law and order" issue.

The GOP defeat was a severe blow to the party prestige of Lindsay, who last year was considered a possible contender for the national ticket.

However, it did not knock the 47-year-old mayor out of contention for re-election to a second term in November. In a city that is 7-2 Democratic in voter registration, he will be the most liberal candidate in the three-man field.

Marchi, also 47, is the son of an Italian sculptor who came to New York to build movie sets and became a wax fruit manufacturer.

A soft-spoken man, Marchi has been in the state legislature since 1956 and has a strong civil rights record.

Riot Breaks Out In Penitentiary

LANSING, Kan. (AP) — Rioting broke out in a cellhouse at the Kansas State Penitentiary today.

Shouting could be heard in the cellhouse, which houses about 250 inmates, and windows were being smashed.

Charles McAtee, state director of penal institutions, was en route to the penitentiary from Topeka and Warden Sherman Crouse said no information would be released until McAtee arrived.

Officers of the Leavenworth County sheriff's department and the Kansas Highway Patrol gathered outside the prison, and the Leavenworth city police brought out a supply of gas masks.

The Leavenworth County Civil Defense organization also sent gas masks to the prison.

The disturbance was in "A" cellhouse at the southwest corner of the institution.

Topeka sources said a force of about 100 highway patrolmen were ordered to Lansing.

Maj. James Martin said the patrol had been advised the disturbances inside the prison included a couple of fires.

Martin said he had no other details.

"We are trying to muster 100 men to standby in Lansing," Martin said. He said at 9 a.m. there had been no orders for the men to enter the penitentiary.

ON STATE BUDGET

Martin Removes $6 Million Barrier

AUSTIN (AP) — Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin removed a $6 million barrier today to Comptroller Robert S. Calvert's certification of the one-year state budget and the $61 million teacher pay raise bill. The attorney general told Calvert to go ahead and count in his revenue estimates for the 1969-70 fiscal year all the money that ordinarily would come in from the 11-cent cigarette tax.

Calvert had feared a new bill allowing 15-day delays in payments of the tax would postpone until the following year the availability of some $6 million from the tax.

Of special interest was a provision dealing with payments made late in August, the final month of the fiscal year. Calvert was concerned that the provision would keep some payments from being counted until after Sept. 1.

But Martin said the late August payments had to be paid in full on or before Aug. 31, the last day of the fiscal year.

He said the bill "requires all revenue to be available to the state during the fiscal year when cigarette tax stamps and meters are received by the distributor."

And he carefully pointed out that funds due for cigarette stamps and meters received by the distributor during August "must be considered as revenue available to the state. . .during the fiscal year for the reason that such monies are required to be paid in full before the end of the fiscal year."

Calvert is responsible for certifying that any spending bills can be paid for with expected revenue. He already has certified the $2.8 billion one-year budget passed by the legislature but has held up his certification of the teacher pay raise bill pending a decision on the cigarette stamp tax bill and Gov. Preston Smith's action on a package of bills designed to insure there will be enough money in the general revenue fund.

An Amarillo tobacco distributor filed suit here last week to compel State Treasurer Jesse James to abide by the new delayed payment law for cigarette tax stamps. A hearing is scheduled this afternoon before Dist. Judge James Meyers.

James had asked Martin about the law's constitutionality but the attorney general could not issue an opinion once the matter was brought before the courts.

Former Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr held in 1964 that a similar law was unconstitutional since delayed tax payment was the same thing, he said, as pledging the state's credit.

Smith still may veto the one-year budget and is expected to announced his decision in a television and radio address Friday night.

Teams are assigned new Plymouth cars which have been deliberately tempered with so that all have identical malfunctions under the hood.

Grinslade is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Grinslade and Wright is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dub Wright. They were sponsored by Thomas Chrysler-Plymouth Co. here, first at one of 100 local contest held last month at Lubbock where they won the right to advance to the national contest.

EVIDENCE PILING UP

DDT Recast As A Villian

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The pesticide DDT, once hailed as the weapon which would give man dominance of his insect enemies, is being widely recast in the role of a villain. Many states are banning or sharply limiting its use.

Evidence is piling up that DDT is a foe of fish and bird life and thus poses a threat to the balance of nature.

What ultimate effect increasing doses of DDT and its related pesticides may have on the human body is unknown.

Jerry W. Fielder, state agriculture director of California, calls it "a hazard to man's natural environment."

Dr. Leslie L. Glasgow, an assistant secretary of the interior, says there is no doubt that high DDT levels inhibit the reproduction of fish and "it is time to replace DDT with less hazardous pesticides."

Bird experts say DDT threatens the existence of such already rare species as the American eagle, the condor and the osprey.

DDT is a chlorinated hydrocarbon, a synethetic organic poison. One of the first of the insecticides, it was conceived as a moth preventative and used extensively against insects during and after World War II.

DDT and pesticides of its type are persistent—that is, they do not break down and dissipate readily.

Moreover, pesticides of the DDT family are cumulative, so that they tend to persist in bird or animal tissue in larger and larger amounts as subsequent doses are received.

As to the effect of the pesticide on man, a scientific team which made a study for the federal government reported to the Agricultural Department that "knowledge is incomplete."

However, health and wildlife authorities in a number of states feel that the risks from DDT are too dangerous to tolerate further.

Use of DDT and related pesticides will be banned in homes and gardens in California after Jan. 1. Also banned will be the agricultural use of DDT in dust form.

Rhode Island plans to ban DDT as soon as a safer substitute can be found. Alfred T. Hawkes, executive director of the state's Audubon Society, said wild bird censuses have disclosed that the usual nesting osprey population in one area declined from 200 pairs in 1940 to 61 pairs in 1961 to half a dozen this year.

"I'm absolutely sure the reduction was due to the use of DDT," Hawkes said.

In Texas, Mexican cantaloupes have been rejected and some milk dumped because of high DDT content. The state legislature has set up a special committee to study the problem and to "direct attention toward the possible contamination of

Collision At C-City Claims One

COLORADO CITY, Tex. (AP) — A farm tractor and a truck loaded with bombs collided near here today, killing one person, the Department of Public Safety reported in Austin.

Details, including the identity of the dead person, were not immediately available.

The DPS said the truck ran off the road into the Colorado River.

A DPS spokesman quoted the highway patrolman at the scene as saying he believed there was no danger of an explosion. Webb Air Force Base near Big Spring was notified and was sending ordnance experts to examine the bombs, the DPS said.

Board Of Control Director Retires

AUSTIN (AP) — William Burke said Tuesday he will retire as director of the State Board of Control Aug. 31.

Burke has held the post since 1956. He will be 65 Aug. 20.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a 50-year-old, widow who recently met a very charming and attractive 54-year-old widower. He is delightful company and we really hit it off together very well, but there is one drawback. He has two married daughters (whom I have never met) who want to run his life. They are so afraid that someone is going to "take Mother's place" they can't stand it. She died three years ago.

When this man takes me out we have to go places where his daughters will not find out about it. Also when he comes to my home he takes a taxi so no one will see his car parked in front of my house.

How can I convince him that he should live his own life and quit worrying about what his daughters think? Or do you think I should insist on meeting his daughters and try to make them like me?

IN DOUBT

DEAR IN: If you can meet his daughters and make them "like" you, it would be ideal. But a grown man who is "hiding" from his daughters in the manner you describe has a lot of growing up to do. I certainly wouldn't hide with him much longer.

DEAR ABBY: Why should the men have all the fun? They seem to enjoy PLAYBOY magazines and their PLAYBOY CLUBS so much. How about women getting the same break?

There are a lot of guys with beautiful bodies who wouldn't mind being photographed for the pleasure of women who can appreciate them.

I think a PLAYGIRL club would do a great business. After all there are more girls than men around, and why shouldn't they be able to go to a club and have good-looking, well-built men waiting on them? It's an idea, Abby. What do you think of it?

PLAYGIRL

DEAR PLAYGIRL: Not much. In the first place there are plenty of muscle men magazines around if a girl wants to get her jollies looking at paper dolls. But what man in his right mind is going to take a girl to a PLAYGIRL club so she can ogle good-looking MEN.

DEAR ABBY: Your article on marijuana was good, but I'll bet the subject of diet (or pep) pills will bring in just as much, if not more comment.

I started taking diet pills (dexadrine) when I was 18. It also helped to keep me awake, which I found helpful as I worked two jobs. Now, 10 years later, I am still taking them—only I am taking five times as much as I did when I started.

I am a married woman with three children and a good husband who knows nothing of my drug dependence—and that is exactly what it is.

I've never had a problem getting the pills. I don't get them illegally. Many of my friends take them, too, and we buy or borrow them from each other. We get them from our doctors on prescription.

I don't know where this is going to end. I smoke two to three packs of cigarets a day and drink coffee like it was going out of style. My patience is short and I don't really have the energy I once had.

Let me offer one piece of advice to anyone who is about to take his first "pep" pill. Don't. If you're overweight, DIET, but don't take pills for it. If you're tired, eat nap, but don't take a pill to pep you up. These pills make you smoke, drink, and talk too much. I never realized it, but I took more than I could handle when I took my first one. Don't use my name or city if you print this, and sign me

TIASA Officers Chart Activities

The officers are: Bobby Raborn from Snyder, president; Jerry Gibson from Lewisville, vice president; Jerry Reese from Graham, secretary; Shelby Hammons from Port Lavaca, treasurer; Robert J. Davidson from Victoria, reporter; Sam M. Day from Port Lavaca, sergeant at arms; and Twyla Toler from Bryan, sweetheart.

The purpose of the meeting was to organize and plan for the coming years activities. Among these activities is the Texas Industrial Arts Student Fair which was tentatively scheduled for May 1 and 2, 1970, at the Municipal Auditorium in Austin. This fair is held each year for the purpose of allowing industrial arts students from all over Texas to have a chance to exhibit and win recognition for their many varied projects.

The TIASA has been in operation for almost 10 years and is an organization of, by and for students enrolled in industrial arts courses in the secondary public schools of Texas. It provides for a state level organization which coordinates the activities of the 98 chartered local industrial arts clubs of secondary schools.

The principal sponsor of the TIASA is W. A. Mayfield from Austin, former Snyder High School industrial arts teacher.

Robert Shivers Has Neck Surgery

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Hospitalized for paralysis suffered in a swimming accident, the 23-year-old son of former Texas Gov. Allan Shivers underwent neck surgery at Wilford Hall Air Force Hospital Tuesday.

Robert Shivers was reported in satisfactory condition after the five-hour operation, which fused his neck to stabilize it. His parents were here to be at their son's side.

A spokesman said young Shivers was paralyzed from the neck down after he fractured his neck earlier this month while swimming at Eufaula, Ala. He was assigned to a small Coast Guard detachment nearby.

Physicians said they were not sure whether another operation would be necessary, although they hoped Tuesday's surgery will help relieve Shivers' paralysis.

Lt. Col. Robert T. Fitzgerald, assistant chief of neurosurgery service at Wilford Hall, performed the operation.

MAYO Blasts Ford Foundation

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Charging that the Ford Foundation had bowed to "insincere and insecure politicians," the activist Mexican-American Youth Organization said Tuesday it has cut itself off from the wealthy foundation's coffers.

Mario Compean, new chairman of the Texas youth group and one of its founders, said the Ford Foundation tried to persuade MAYO to drop its programs of "political involvement."

Compean said he told foundation officials in a New York meeting Monday "to keep their money."

"We of MAYO cannot let the Ford Foundation or anyone else interpret for MAYO what our goals or purposes or programs should be," he said.

MAYO had been opeating on a Ford Grant of $0,527 which it received through a local intermediary funding organization.

"Political involvement is necessary in order to continue our programs," Compean told a reporter as he returned here. The Ford Foundation is just not interested in the over-all problems of the Mexican-Americans, and their solutions."

Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Tex., who's from San Antonio, has bombarded the Ford Foundation with a stream of public statements recently, criticizing it for funding MAYO—which he charged with spreading "hate literature" and racism.

Officials in Del Rio and Kingsville, Tex., have voiced similar complaints about MAYO. Earlier this spring MAYO leaders here said they might have to eliminate "gringos"—white racists—as a last resort by killing them.

By attempting to force MAYO to channel its energies away from politics, the Ford Foundation in effect "is itself a 'gringo' institution," Compean said.

"By allowing itself to be intimidated by insincere and insecure politicians... the Ford Foundation is aiding and abating the racist and bigoted establishment.

"Insecure politicians started applying pressure for the Ford Foundation to withdraw and consequently the Ford Foundation was worried about self-preservation."

MAYO will continue to operate with funds from small donations and fund raising activities, Compean said.

DDT

the waters in the state, toxicity to humans from consumption of fruits, vegetables and other foodstuffs treated with DDT, harmful or fatal effects on the wildlife of Texas and other environmental hazards which might be attributable to DDT or similar chemical derivatives."

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is behind a recommendation by the New York State Pesticide Control Board that DDT be banned by 1971 except for emergency purposes.

Arizona has banned the use of DDT and the related compound DDD for one year, while researchers attempt to determine their environmental effects.

The Connecticut Board of Pesticide Control is discouraging the use of DDT and has banned its use in overhead spraying for mosquito control. However, a spokesman said: "There are still a few remaining uses for which no adequate substitute has yet been found."

West Virginia has had some success with a voluntary program for pesticide control, and several bills are in the works to restrict the use of DDT. However, they are not likely to gain consideration by the legislature before 1971.

Maryland has a law effective July 1 to regulate large-scale use of DDT-type pesticides on farm crops, orchards and woodlands. Commercial sprayers will be licensed and limited by the state, but the law will not apply to home exterminators or to landowners spraying on their own property.

A bill before the Pennsylvania Senate Agricultural Committee would outlaw the spraying of field crops with DDT. Violators could be sentenced to six months in jail and fined $500.

Illinois licenses persons who spray farm fields with chemicals, requiring them to pass written and oral tests. But it has no power to bar pesticides, and there are no regulations governing home use.

Agricultural experts in Illinois and four other Midwest states are compiling a report on pesticide levels in Lake Michigan fish, a survey requested last month by a governors' conference. It is due July 1.

A bill is pending in the Wisconsin Legislature to ban certain pesticides. The State Board of Natural Resources held hearings for several months, but its recommendations have not been made public.

The Florida Legislature passed and sent to the governor a bill giving the state agriculture commissioner authority to regulate pesticides which he finds to be unduly toxic.

Debbie Has 37th Surgery On Face

By MARVIN BEARD
Associated Press Writer

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Deborah Fox sat up in bed for the first time since a 13½-hour operation to rebuild her face, and she smiled.

"They keep shooting me with those needles," she said—her biggest complaint.

"But soon I'll be able to get up and walk around."

Deborah is the 13-year-old Tennessee girl, born virtually without a face, who was operated on by six surgeons at Johns Hopkins Hospital last Wednesday.

Using some techniques for the first time, they literally changed the configuration of her skull bones, moving her eyes from the sides to the center of her face, and began rebuilding her nose.

It was the 37th—and by far the most major—operation for Deborah, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fox of near Chattanooga.

"Did you read my poetry?" she asked a newsman Tuesday at the hospital.

"Yes."

"Did you like it?"

"Yes."

She referred to a poem she wrote and titled, "Spring."

One verse goes:

"The breath of spring
"Is like a bell that rings
"The crocus and tulip rare
"Spring from the ground so bare."

Deborah, who has an IQ of about 120, never has attended classes a day in her life, but will be in the 8th grade this fall. She has been taught at home.

Dr. Milton Edgerton, chief plastic surgeon on the case and one of the six who performed the operation, said later that Deborah's vision was all right, and Deborah began reading a book that was given to her Tuesday.

Deborah faces more operations, on her nose and mouth.

She hopes to resume her schooling this fall, toward her goal of eventually working with handicapped children.

But, like a typical teen-ager, she laughed with glee when told that children in Baltimore don't get out of school until the end of this week—and Deborah's school already is out for the year.

Talks Begun To Settle Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal mediators met today with company and union representatives in an effort to settle a nine-day-old strike in Dallas Tex., that halted production of helicopters for the Vietnam war.

Walter Maggiolo, disputes director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, began talks with officials of the striking United Auto Workers and the Bell Helicopter Co.

The strike has idled about 10,000 workers at Bell's facilities in Dallas.

The strike began after union members rejected a tentative agreement between company and union negotiators that would have raised pay 70 cents an hour over three years to a top scale of $5.14 per hour.

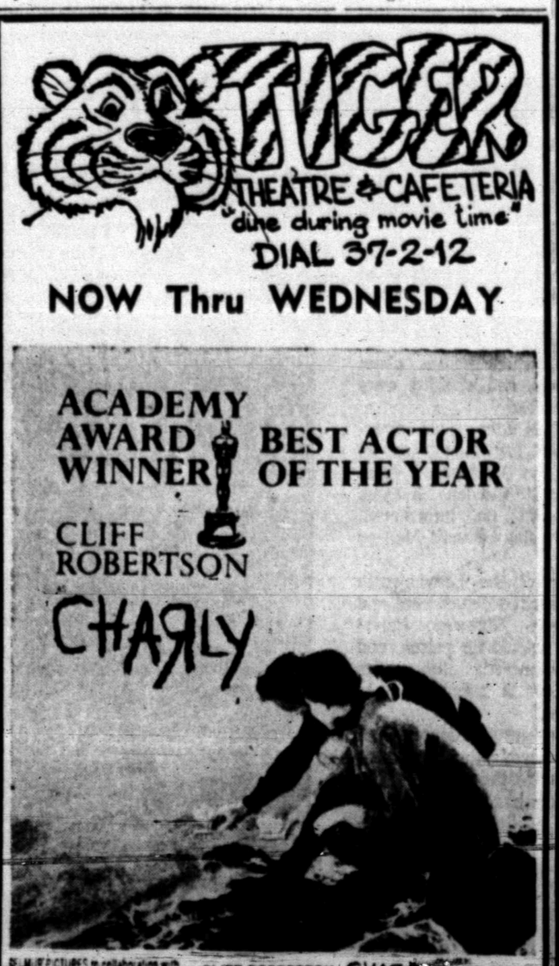

The talks were moved here from Dallas at the request of Mediation Service Director J. Curtis Counts.

Faces Worst Threat Of Tour Today

By ISAAC M. FLORES
Associated Press Writer

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — Security officials said today Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller faces the worst threat of violence on his Latin-American tour in this turbulent industrial city.

Police sources said one of the tightest security apparatuses in Brazilian history has been mounted for the New York governor's 23-hour stay in Sao Paulo. He is scheduled to arrive late today from Rio de Janeiro.

Security officials said they could control or head off any organized anti-Rockefeller demonstrations, but they were worried about political extremist groups, both on the left and the right, that are dissatisfied with President Arthur da Costa e Silva's political and economic policies.

Such groups have been blamed for three recent bombings in downtown Sao Paulo, including one at the Brazil-U.S. Cultural Center. They also are suspected of robbing more than 30 banks in the past year, stealing arms and ammunition, killing military guards and security police, and slaying a U.S. Army captain last October.

Rockefeller leaves Thursday afternoon for a short visit to Paraguey before going on to Uruguay.

The Uruguayan government issued an order Tuesday night banning demonstrations in downtown Montevideo and closing all public and private schools until June 30. The school closure was attributed to an "epidemic of flu," but informants said it was because of the visit.

Miss Wool Candidates At Love Field

DALLAS (AP) — She is about 20 years old, weighs around 123 pounds, probably has brown hair, might have either brown or blue eyes, and measures about 5-feet, 8-inches tall in her stocking feet.

Twenty such girls were to drop in at Dallas Love Field on their way to San Angelo Wednesday. They are the candidates for the Miss Wool of America Pageant, held this year in the heart of Texas' great sheep-producing country.

The girls represent 20 regional councils of the American Sheep Producers Council which, together with the Wool Bureau, will produce the pageant finals on nationally syndicated television June 26.

The girls represent 20 schools in as many states. A survey showed nine of them hope eventually to become teachers, and four hope to enter the field of fashion or merchandising. Next come modeling and advertising-public relations. Other career goals include missionary nursing, work with disabled children, business and home economics.

Sunday Dinner

AIRY SPONGE CAKE

6 large eggs, separated
1½ cups sugar
½ cup cold water
1 teaspoon vanilla
1½ cups sifted cake flour
¼ teaspoon salt

In a large bowl of electric mixer beat egg yolks until thickened and lemon color; gradually beat in sugar until thick and ivory color; gradually beat in water and vanilla to blend. Gradually fold in flour and salt. In medium bowl, with clean beater, beat egg whites and cream of tartar until they hold stiff straight peaks when beater is slowly withdrawn; add to yolk mixture and fold in. Turn into 10-inch ungreased angel-cake-pan; with a knife, cut through batter to help eliminate air bubbles. Bake in preheated 350-degree oven until surface springs back when lightly touched with finger tip — 1 hour. If cake browns too much toward end of baking, lay a sheet of foil over top. Invert pan and cool completely — 1 hour; with a small sharp knife, loosen around sides and tube; ease out of pan with fingers.

Mansions Without A Chair To Sit In

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

It should be more important to drive like a human being than to have a status home address, but many homes in posh neighborhoods are mere luxury shells says the president of the National Society of Interior Designers.

James Hewlett goes on:

"It may seem idiotic, but there are actually people living in $75,000 homes who have no furniture in their living rooms. This is true in many areas of the United States, and it isn't limited to expensive homes — but there doesn't seem to be any excuse for affluent people to live that way."

They are living in kitchens and dining rooms and, in some instances, they don't have either living or dining room furniture.

"Why don't they buy $50,000 homes and spend $25,000 for furniture?" asks Hewett, who is also director of Interior Design Studios of Halle Brother of Cleveland. "They could arrange payment terms the way they do mortgates. It would seem that a less expensive house tastefully furnished in a less desirable neighborhood should certainly enhance stature more than an unfurnished one in a posh neighborhood."

Hewlett doesn't see anything wrong in waiting a year to furnish a home, but he thinks five years is an absurdity.

Money is the drawback to furnishing homes promptly in most instances. But other factors are involved.

Some people are wishy-washy about buying furnishings because they don't have good taste and it is difficult to tell them they haven't, he says. Most people are not trained to observe the visual art of our time, but they try to make judgments about antiques and fine art when in fact these judgments already have been made for them. Chippendale should be accepted, even though there might be a preference for other styles.

Many people cannot afford antiques, and it is difficult for them to evaluate objects of our own culture and apply the hard production to the mechanics of living.

"That's why so many people are buying badly for their homes. They are buying very expensive junk because they don't have the ability to make quality judgment about design."

Many people postpone furnishing a house because they are buying with a greater permanency than furnishings should be entitled to, he says. They would do well to realize that furnishings are not permanent fixtures. Things and people change. People may go from house to apartment or apartment to house and as they grow intellectually they make new evaluations, new judgments. In many instances, interior designers must give an interpretation of what is right for the moment and sroudl not give assurances that it will be right for a subsequent moment, he says.

The trend to transient living should put us in the mood for more temporary furnishings, but young people have latched on to this permanency idea, he says.

Many newlyweds will say that they want a good sofa, meaning an expensive sofa, for an apartment, so that they can take it to the house they plan to buy when they have children. Silly. When one has children, one changes one's life and a sofa suited to one's life before no longer may be proper and suitable. Young people are involved in a great deal of change due to expositions of cultural statements in their own society, and they should try to comprehend how it affects them, says Hewlett.

No one should ever buy anything that is expensive in terms of their financial condition, he advises. They should buy something they can afford that fits into the environment. Many people think they have wasted money by buying starter furniture, he says, but it is just as good an investment as a starter house.

For Business Gains Firms Push One World Trend

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — For the practical purpose of doing business, a growing list of corporations has decided that already this is one world—politics color and customs notwithstanding. They could be right; they may be wrong.

As the trend continues to multinational or international or transnational—the words have subtly different meanings—restless grumblings are heard from some nations. Others, such as Peru, have acted directly and seized assets.

Nothing to date, however, is likely to stop the trend which, by general agreement, usually proffers economic benefits to the nations but which also tends to clash with its customs and feelings.

Americans generally are blamed or praised for spreading the concept, but every industrialized nation has probed the markets of other nations. The difference, though, is that the multinational company sets up business within a country rather than exports to that country.

Within recent months Americans have received an idea of the power of foreign-based international firms.

British Petroleum Corp., Ltd., reported rich oil findings on the North Slope of Alaska. This greatly enlarged its supply of raw materials for conversion to retail products. But it needeed retail outlets.

It first acquired for $400 million the marketing, refining and pipeline facilities of the former Sinclair Oil Corp., which meant the end of that popular American retail symbol of the dinosaur.

Not long afterward, it agreed to purchase 25 per cent of Standard Oil Co. (Ohio), a daring move that shocked some oil executives. Under the agreement, the British company might eventually gain control of the Ohio unit.

The United States, with a Gross National Product of more than $900 billion a year, can absorb with relative calmness such foreign invasion. But for smaller nations the experience can be traumatic.

It is entirely possible that some of these smaller nations might have total output of less than the foreign company they host. General Motors, for example, sold $22.7 billion of goods last year, much more than the total output of Argentina or Denmark or Austria.

The output of all U.S. production abroad estimated to be as much as $130 billion a year, makes American enterprise Abroad—foreign operations only—as powerful economically as Japan or Germany.

For this reason America is in the forefront of controversy as nations argue the merits of multinational corporations.

The plus factors, so far as smaller nations are concerned, are the jobs wages and taxes created. The drawback essentially is the absence of control over the behemoth to which it is host.

This is not an idle fear, for the allegiance of some multinational firms can be sorely tested. American companies, for instance, are encouraged to remit to the United States their foreign earnings. But the nations in which the profits are made naturally like to see them remain at home.

No easy solution to the conflicts is anticipated, especially as nationalism seems to be growing in many areas of the world. Seizure of assets always is a threat,and lesser problems are almost constant.

A Junior Editors Quiz About BLUE SKY

QUESTION: Why is the sky blue?

ANSWER: The sky is light because the earth is covered with a dense layer of atmosphere in which are countless specks of dust and other tiny particles. The sunlight glancing off from these specks makes the sky look light. The sky may appear green; it often does when the warm sunset hues change its color. It is blue at other times on sunny days because the blue rays are flashing off from the dust particles, not being changed by the sunset colors. The white light from the sun holds within it all the rainbow colors. The particles in the air bend or refract this light and so scatter the rainbow colors. Blue is the color which, because of its short wave length, is more widely scattered than the other colors. This is why the sky looks blue on a sunny day. This is also the reason why Phyllis notices that the distant mountains look so blue. She is looking through layers of bluish air. This air has changed the color of the distant leaves on the mountain from bright green to a light, distant blue green. The farther away the mountains are, the bluer they look.

Jumping To Conclusions With Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping conclusions:

When the world is too much with you, the best way to get away from it all is to take a nap. People who take regular afternoon naps worry less and live longer than those who waste their energies brooding over problems about which they can do nothing.

Nothing is impossible to a man who can eat raw clams—and enjoy them.

There has been a lot of criticism lately of America's "industrial - military complex." What most of us want to know, however, is how we can become members of it and get our fair share of the profits from defensive patriotism.

The longer a novelist writes, the lazier he usually is. He expects the reader to weed the prose he should weed himself. It is far easier to write a bad novel of 800 pages than a good one of 350 pages.

Apples now cost up to 20 cents or more each in Manhattan supermarkets. If their prices go much higher, it may become cheaper to see your doctor than to eat an apple a day to keep him away.

Nature tries to hide her mistakes; half the girls who wear miniskirts frustrate her by revealing them.

We fret about how we will ever be able to afford to send our children to college, but parenthood is a tough ordeal for birds, too. Take a mother robin, for example. She must provide each of her clamorous brood of nestlings with 14 feet of worms every 24 hours. It is a wonder that the orange feathers on her breast don't turn gray.

About the only exercise some people get today is pointing the finger of scorn.

If you want to invest your money safely, lend it to a man wh. still wears spats. He is too old-fashioned to be dishonest.

A man with a new set of false teeth usually brags that he can eat anything. But if you lunch with him at a restaurant, you will notice he orders chicken a la king or corned beef hash more often than he does steak.

It's a funny thing about the business world—the harder the decisions an executive has to make, the softer is the cushion in his swivel chair throne.

It is true that every dog has his day; it is also true that every day something happens to the average guy to make him feel like a dog.

Woman Has Twins On Way To Hospital

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Laurie Schimmoeller, 23, and expecting her second child, was being taken to a hospital by her husband in the midst of morning workbound traffic. As Mrs. Schimmoeller sat in the bucket seat of the car about a half-mile from the hospital, a baby girl was born.

Within the next two blocks, another baby girl was born. The doctor had not predicted twins.

They finally got to the hospital and mother and daughters were fine.

Dodgers Rip Oilers 11-3

The Junior Teenage League Dodgers smashed the Oilers 11-3 here Tuesday night behind the 4-hit pitching of Butch Buchanan.

The talented young twirler allowed only singles. Ivory Greer singled in a run for the Oilers in the 2nd. Charles Anderson singled in one in the 4th, and Jerry Webb singled in the final run for the losers in the 5th. The only other hit was a single by Hubert Crayton.

Dodgers hitters had a field day, shelling Jim Waters and Bryan Baize for eight hits. They took a 3-0 lead in the 1st, then took command with three more runs in the 2nd. Two tallies were added in the 4th and three in the 6th for good measure.

Daryl Stokes led Dodger batters with two hits in four trips to the plate, and he drove in three runs. Albert Hernandez and Scotty Sullivan each collected two hits, and each also drove in a run. Buchanan and Charles Cain also singled for the victors.

Thursday, the Buffs meet the Dodgers and the Bullets tangle with the Sports.

Colonial Plans Tennis Stadium

FORT WORTH (AP) — Colonial Country Club is building a permanent tennis stadium which it said will be ready for the National Invitation Tournament Aug. 13-17.

Tournament Chairman Dick Osburn said the 1,562 box seat facility is "the only one of its type in the world constructed especially for tennis."

The stadium will consist entirely of boxes, elevated on grass terraces surrounding the championship court.

"With some standing room," Osburn said, "more than 2,000 spectators can see the tournament, and we expect this size crowd each night."

Osburn officially announced the tournament field and said the event will offer a $22,500 purse, up $7,500 from a year ago.

White Sox Take Over PeeWee Lead

The White Sox went into first place by defeating the Athletics 10-6 Tuesday night. This was a hard-fought game by both teams. The winning pitcher was Calvin Reese, losing pitcher was Zane Sterling.

This loss to the White Sox put the Athletics in second place and the Yankees in third, with the Indians in fourth place.

The second half of the season will begin Thursday afternoon with the White Sox VS. the Indians. This should be a good game even though the Indians are in last place. The Indians have given the other three teams a hard contest.

Reds Shell Jets In C. City 9-4

COLORADO CITY — The powerful Colorado City Reds shelled the Snyder Jets 9-4 in a Senior Teenage League baseball battle here Tuesday night behind the 5-hit pitching of Randy Parker.

The Reds collected 11 hits off Robert Phariss and five of them were of the extra base variety.

The Jets took a 2-0 lead in the 1st when Ronnie Lewis reached first on an error. Richie Thompson singled, and Larry Wall doubled to bring in both runs.

The Reds took charge with a 4-run tally in the 2nd sparked by Lynch's 3-run homer. Self doubled and scored on a single by Rochia. The Reds boosted the count to 5-2 in the 3rd when Garcia tripled and scored on a double by Parker.

Snyder came within two runs again in the 4th when Jodi Williamson walked, advanced on a passed ball and a sacrifice and scored on a fly to left by Stewart Sims. However, the Reds put things out of reach in the 5th with three more runs. Back-to-back singles by Hill and Lynch and a fielder's choice by Self loaded the sacks. Hill scored on another fielder's choice while Self and Rochia both tagged up and tallied after long flies.

Stewart Sims doubled in the Jets' last run in the 6th, scoring Thompson who had singled ahead of him.

Benny Ward got the other hit for the Jets — a single in the 3th. Roxy Small, who had walked ahead of him, made it to third as the Jets threatened to get a late rally going, but Parker cut down the next two batters on strikes to get out of the jam.

Friday, the Snyder Clippers will host Colorado City.

Sponsor Eyes Alamo City

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A major tire manufacturer is negotiating to sponsor the Texas Open—the state's oldest golf tournament—with a purse of $250,000.

The San Antonio Evening News said Tuesday Uniroyal has been meeting with the San Antonio Golf Association and has made a preliminary offer that includes the quarter of million dollar purse.

"A working agreement with Uniroyal, as planned, would make the meet here one of the largest and richest in the world," the News said.

The paper quoted Charles Little of New York, Uniroyal sales and promotion manager, as saying, "I'm personally delighted with the idea but it's a co-porate promotion and these kind of deals take time to finalize, so we won't really have a positive announcement for another 10 days."

The tournament has been held in April and May in recent years but would be moved to mid-February, the News said, adding:

"Members of the San Antonio Golf Association will have to meet and agree on the arrangement but this seems to be a formality since the Texas Open, in recent years, has been having financial problems in promoting a $100,000 tournament here."

Sox Slip By A's 2-1 In Little Loop Tilt

The White Sox slipped by the Athletics 2-1 in an exciting Little League tilt in Towle Park last night.

Strong pitching by both teams kept the hitting and scoring low. Freddie Everton fired a three-hitter for the Athletics while White Sox pitcher Raul Villanueva gave up only four hits.

The three White Sox hits came in the first when Oscar Rameriz singled; in the fifth when Dennis Buchanan stroked a single and in the sixth when Jimmy Gutierrez rapped a single.

Scott Walton singled in the third for the Athletics followed in the fifth with singles by Bryan Walton and Freddie Everton and a double by Charles Cobb.

The Braves and the Cards battled it out to an 8-8 tie for a second Little League thriller last night.

The Cards hit Brave pitchers Bryan Hargrove and Dennis Young eight times. In the first inning David Watlington, Cliford Kay and Phill Robinson each singled; in the third Mike Freeman singled; in the fourth Watlington, Bernie Weems and Ronnie Halford each rapped singles and in the sixth Phill Robinson singled.

The Braves nearly matched the Cardinal attempt with seven hits, all singles. Randy Riggs and Bryan Hargrove in the first; Dennis Young in the second; Brad Francis, Bryan Hargrove and Dennis Young in the fourth; and Brad Francis in the fifth.

COACHING AGAIN — "It feels great to be back" is smiling Vince Lombardi's reaction as he watches his Redskins practice in Washington. The session marked his return to coaching after leaving the Green Bay Packers in 1967. (AP Wirephoto)

STLYISH JOE — Former New York Jets' quarterback Joe Namath took time out from his business for a game of softball below News York's Queensborough Bridge at 59th Street and York Ave. Resplendent in a beret, T-shirt and his famed white football cleats, Namath called the signals that led to a victory for his team. (AP Wirephoto)

Joe To Meet Pete

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Namath, the controversial New York Jets quarterback, has agreed to meet with pro football Commissioner Pete Rozelle but whether there'll be a meeting of the minds remains to be seen.

The meeting will probably be next week. Rozelle is fishing off the coast of lower California and Namath will be out of town until next week, too.

Namath and Jets President PhilIselin had their first face-to-face meeting Tuesday since June 6 when Namath tearfully announced he was quitting football rather than follow Rozelle's orders to give up his half-interest in a Manhattan restaurant allegedly frequented by undesirable charcters.

News of an imminent Rozelle-Namath confrontation was the only item to emerge from the one-hour meeting between Namath and Iselin. There was no word on who's calling the plays.

In another development, Namath said on television, "I'm going to try and play football again."

The swinging quarterback, who led the Jets to an upset victory over Baltimore in the Super Bowl, commented on the pre-taped Mike Douglas show originating in Philadelphia.

Rozelle has said Namath must sit down with him before he will be allowed to play again even if he sells his interest in the restaurant, Bachelors III.

Cards Clobber Farm Loop Braves

The Cardinals clobbered the Braves 12-2 and the White Sox defeated the Athletics 13-5 in two Farm League tilts in Towle Park last night.

In the first game the Cardinals managed six hits off Brave pitcher Allen Gleghorn. The Cards didn't start hitting until the fourth inning when they stroked four to spark a rally that brought in five runs.

In the fourth Mark Duke and Steve Nall singled while Mike Dickenson and Doug Nall both rapped doubles. In the fifth inning Mark Duke got his second hit, a single followed by Steve Dickenson with a single.

Cardinal pitcher Mark Duke pitched an excellent game twirling a four hitter. Brave hits came in the third when James Crow slugged a double and Doyle Browning and Allen Gleghorn singled and in the fourth when Clay Peterson singled.

In the American League clash strong pitching by Larkin West played an important part of the White Sox victory. He fired a three-hitter for the Sox while Athletic pitchers Robert Stoneman and Bob Waller gave up eight hits to the White Sox.

For the White Sox Larkin West doubled in the first; West, David Thompson and George Willis each stroked singles in the third; and Jeff Reed, Darrel Lester, Richard Willis and Kip Riley each singled in the fourth.

Mario Herreoa singled in the first for the Athletics. Robert Stoneman rapped a single in the third and Alvin Olison singled in the fourth.

Leaders Lose Texas Ground

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The second place teams in the two Texas League divisions apparently tried harder Tuesday night. Both gained ground on the leaders.

Amarillo's Giants took 11 innings to do it, but they finally defeated El Paso 5-3. This moved them within two games of western division leader Dallas-Fort Worth, a 5-4 loser to Albuquerrue.

Memphis capitalized on a throwing error to defeat Arkansas 5-3 and pull within 1½ games of eastern division leader Shreveport.

TULSA BLANKS NEW YORK UNIVERSITY 2-0

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Dour Gene Shell, not one given to overestimating his position, admits he's got the rest of the field in the 23rd NCAA baseball College World Series right where he wants it.

Shell's University of Tulsa Hurricane slipped past New York University 2-0 Tuesday night to become the tourney's only unbeaten team.

Even more importantly, Shell said, Tulsa got to its envied position without having to extend its front-line pitching in the fourth round.

"We're in good shape now," said Shell after Reg Rowe and Jay Weinheimer had combined to blank the Violets on six hits to notch Tulsa's third straight tourney victory and run its season record to 39-3.

"We've got no sweat now," he added, making reference to his pitching situation. "We're fat. If they beat us now, they have to beat our best."

He also has sophomore left-hander Pat Carleton, 5-1, in reserve.

Arizona State, which eased past Massachusetts 4-2 Tuesday to remain alive in the loser's bracket, will send Lerrin LaGrow, 13-1, to the mound to try to stop Tulsa's dash toward the national title.

LaGrow pitched ASU to a 2-1 first-round victory over UCLA.

Tonight's other game pits Texas, a 14-1 victor of Mississippi, against NYU at 5:30 p.m. Tulsa and ASU will follow.

The Longhorns, who put on the biggest power display of the tournament Tuesday to eliminate Ole Miss, will pitch Larry Hardy, 5-3, against NYU's Carl Marino, 3-3.

Texas pounded out three doubles, two triples and home runs by Pat Brown and David Hall to crush Mississippi.

Pirates Sweep Cubs

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Four outfielders didn't keep Richie Allen from going for the home run and three outfielders certainly weren't going to stop Hank Aaron from doing the same. So how could the Chicago Cubs expect to keep Richie Hebner from hitting singles

The Cubs tried the commonplace defense of four infielders and three outfielders against Hebner and failed miserably—twice—when the Pittsburgh rookie singled in the winning runs in both games Tuesday as the Pirates swept the Cubs 1-0 and 4-3 in a twi-night twinbill.

The New York Mets were most imaginative with four outfielders against Allen in the ninth inning of their opener against Philadelphia. And while the strategy had little effect on Allen, he did strike out going for a tying homer and the Mets won 1-0, and then dropped the nightcap 6-3.

Houston probably wishes it had tried the unusual defense against Aaron. It couldn't have done any harm because Aaron hammered a homer in the ninth inning to give Atlanta a 6-5 victory over the Astros.

In other National League games, nothing could stop Los Angeles as the Dodgers swept San Diego 7-3 and 11-0, Juan Marichal pitched San Francisco by Cincinnati 4-0 and St. Louis tripped Montreal 2-0 behind Steve Carlton and Joe Hoerner.

In the American League, Detroit won two from the New York Yankees 8-0 and 6-3, Baltimore beat Washington 5-1, Cleveland trimmed Boston 4-2 and California crushed Minnesota 13-1. Seattle and the Chicago White Sox were rained out of a twi-nighteran d rain washed out Oakland's game at Kansas City.

Hebner, one of the surprises of the league with a .319 average, has only three home runs among his 67 hits, but singles were enough to drop the West Division leading Cubs twice.

After Matty Alou, the league's leading hitter, doubled in the seventh inning of the opener against loser Ferguson Jenkins, 8-4, Hebner decided the contest with a run-scoring single.

Bob Veale, 4-7, relieved by Bruce Dal Canton in the eighth, got the victory.

Then, in the ninth inning of the nightcap, Hebner rubbed salt in the Chicago wound when the Cubs walked Alou intentionally.

His other hit, another single, came when the Pirates tied the game with two runs in the eighth inning, undoing the damage caused by Chicago homers by Don Kessinger, Willie Smith and Billy Williams in the third inning for a 3-1 lead.

Another rookie, Gary Gentry, 6-5, of the Mets, proved more effective than Manager Gil Hodges' strategy as he stopped the Phillies' five-game winning streak with a two-hitter. When Hodges chose to move second baseman Al Weis into the outfield with two out and none on in the ninth and the slugging Allen at bat, Gentry responded by striking out Allen on three pitches.

Ken Boswell's single, a balk and J.C. Martin's single in the seventh inning beat rookie Billy Champion, 1-2, who gave only four hits in eight innings.

Hodges, following the same strategy Cincinnati tried against San Francisco's Willie McCovey Monday, explained that he wanted to keep Allen from getting an extra base hit. And Allen called it "a darn smart move," but admitted he still was up there going for it (a erun)." mhoo home run)."

Cully, Allen homered his first time up in the second game and rookie Larry Hisle hit two behind Grant Jackson's six-hitter as the Phillies salvaged a split.

Houston, in contrast, stuck with the outfielders and Aaron led off the ninth of a 5-5 game with his 18th homer for the Braves' fourth consecutive victory.

venth inning rnyA-unepedasevd

Andy Kosco capped a seven-run seventh inning for Los Angeles in the opener with a two-run homer and the Dodgers erupted for six runs, three on Willie Crawford's homer, in the fourth inni.g of the nightcap. Kosco also drove in three runs in the second game as Alan Foster, 2-4, scattered seven hits and extended his scoreless string to 21 innings.

Marichal, 8-2, who has beaten Cincinnati nine straight times since Sept. 22, 1965, stopped the Reds on five hits for his third shutout.

Carlton, 7-4, yielded only four with one out in the eighth and preserved his shutout and the Cardinals' triumph. Curt Flood doubled in both runs in the seventh inning.

IN MEMORIAM OF JOHNNEY GUTIERREZ

In loving memory of our dear son and brother who was taken from us so suddenly on June 18, 1967
We are sad within our memory
Lonely are our hearts today.
We think of him in silence
No eye may see us weep
But many silent tears are shed
When others are asleep
No one knows how much we miss you
No one knows the bitter pain we have suffered since we lost you
Life has never been the same.
He is not dead
He is just away.
Sadly missed by his mother and father, brothers and sisters.

Oilmen Told Of Need For Discovery, Development

By MAX SKELTON
AP Oil Writer

CASPER, Wyo. (AP)—A top spokesman for independent oil operators said today the nation's self-sufficiency in oil supplies has deteriorated rapidly.

Minor S. Jameson Jr., of Washington, D.C., said spare producing capacity has declined so steadily there is doubt among many the nation could meet the petroleum requirements of another crisis such as the 1967 Arab-Israeli War.

The Independent Petroleum Association of America executive vice president placed a report on changing domestic trends before the final session of the midyear meeting of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission.

Oil and gas conservationists from 33 states also were to consider resolutions on taxes, oil imports, and federal control of natural gas wellhead prices.

Jameson said rising imports, unrealistic gas price regulations and proposals to reduce the effectiveness of the industry's 27.5 per cent depletion tax allowance have tempered any optimism as to future trends.

Without such uncertainties, he said, there is strong evidence the normal operation of economic forces are working toward restoring incentives needed for the discovery and development of adequate supplies for the future.

He said the annual growth rate for consumption of petroleum products has increased substantially since 1965, that unused productive capacity has declined sharply, and that more recently, upward adjustments have been made to make crude oil prices more attractive.

Jameson said record production and a prolonged slump in explorations combined last year to cause the nation's total crude oil producing capacity to decline for the first time.

During Tuesday's general session, Govs., Robert B. Docking, D-Kan., Dewey F. Bartlett, R-Okla. and Stanley K. Hathaway, R-Wyo., warned against reduction of the depletion allowance or relaxing import controls. Gov. William L. Guy, D-N.D., called for stronger campaigns to combat air and water pollution.

Bartlett said employment opportunities, state tax revenues, and the nations economy in general would be adversely affected should current incentives for petroleum explorations be eliminated.

Hathaway said future requirements dwarf current demands in that the nation in the year 2000 will need all the energy it can derive from all sources.

Docking said national security requires a major increase in domestic petroleum reserves. He expressed hope White House and congressional studies now under way will place emphasis on the incentives needed for adequate exploration and development programs.

Oil Slick Causes Wildlife Concern

ALMA, Wis. (AP) — An ugly film of oil spread for 25 miles along the scenic upper Mississippi River from a wrecked barge today as Minnesota and Wisconsin conservationists wrung their hands over its impact on wildlife.

"It's like living in a refinery," said James Everson, a Wisconsin conservation warden. "A lot of peopple are pretty unhappy. All of a sudden we get a big slug of petroleum right in the middle of some of the clearest water on the Mississippi."

The diesel oil slick began floating downstream between tree-clad bluffs Monday from a barge which struck a current-diverting wing dam about a mile above Alma.

The barge carried 567,000 gallons of oil. Its captain, Chester Forkum, said about 400,000 gallons escaped into the river.

The river current quickly thinned the film in the main channel. But winds pushed the slick into bayous and left it stranded in still water containing plant and insect life needed by fish, waterfowl and other wildlife.

"There is no way to determine in just a few days what the loss of food sources will do to the life cycles of fish and ducks that need that food," Everson said. "We already have one biologist talking about the impact two years from now."

The film glistened brownish red, green and yellow as it glided through the locks of the Alma dam and spread down stream. When it encountered an obstruction, such as a dam wall or a riverside weed, it wrinkled into a sludge-like layer up to four inches thick.

Everson estimated the film covered 75 per cent of the river's surface, "a matter of thousands of acres."

"It's not thick enough in most places to harm an adult bird. In fact, we haven't yet found a dead duck," he said.

"But a young duck would be doomed if coated. Even a thin film could suffocate fish, and the loss of insect and other food sources could be tremendous."

Houghland Towing Co. of Paducah, Ky., operator of the barge, was charged by Everson with violating state pollution statutes. The pilot, George Stroube, of Godfrey, Ill., was charged with careless operation of a tow.

Boaters Prepare For Final Run

SEADRIFT, Tex. (AP) — Thirteen survivors in the rugged Texas Water Safari were camped at the Seadrift bayfront today, repairing equipment, treating minor wounds and waiting for the final leg of the 465-mile marathon to begin Thursday.

Defending champions Robert Sanders and Norman Morgan of Seadrift are the leaders as the participants prepare for the final run across about 50 miles of coastal bays to the finish line at Port Lavaca.

Sanders and Morgan navigated 419 miles down the treacherous and winding San Marcos and Guadalupe rivers in 42 hours and 15 minutes, more than an hour off the record pace they set last year.

Sanders and Morgan have a three hours and 8 minutes lead over the second place team of Charles Hall and Lee Van Sickle of Port Lavaca. The Houston team of John Bludworth and James Patton, second place finishers last year, are in third place.

The boaters will race over the coastal portion in three segments. They will race to Port O'Connor Thursday, to Magnolia Beach Friday and to the finisn Saturday.

Commissioners Sleep On Paper Sheets

CHICAGO (AP) — Cook county commissioners are sleeping on the job.

The commissioners tested disposable paper sheets the past two weeks and approved their use for county institutions. Commissioners said the sheets, which cost about 40 cents apiece in bulk orders, will be cheaper than cloth sheets.

Committee OK's Nixon's Surtax Extension Package

By EDMOND LeBRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has scored a substantial gain in his drive for a full year's extension of the income surtax but opponents are continuing their effort to cut it back, if not in the House, then in the Senate.

The House Ways and Means Committee Tuesday gave its approval to the Nixon anti-inflation package, practically intact.

It includes continuation of the surtax at its present 10 per cent rate through Dec. 30, with the rate halved for the first six months of fiscal 1970, tax relief for low income taxpayers, repeal of the investment credit and postponement of scheduled reductions in automobile and telephone excise taxes.

The House will vote next week.

Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., acting chairman of the committee, pledged support and cited endorsement of leaders of both parties in the House. But he predicted a tough fight and would not claim victory in advance.

The committee was unofficially reported to have voted 15-10 against an amendment to cut back the surtax extension to Oct. 31.

Five Democrats out of the 15 on the committee joined all 10 Republicans in defeating the shorter period, sources said. Thus the measure goes to the Democratic-controlled House with its key provision endorsed by only one-third of the committee Democrats.

Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, a committee member who is pushing for a shorter extension promised to continue the fight in the Rules Committee and the House. He and his associates fear leverage for early tax reform will be lost if the surtax is extended for a long period.

One of the group conceded to a reporter chances are not bright in the House. But he added, "We will keep the issue hot and build up a record for the Senate." Senate rules make it easier to offer amendments there.

The provision benefiting low-income persons—a "sweetener" that did not satisfy many liberal Democrats—was calculated to relieve about 2 million poverty-level families of all tax and in all benefit about 13 million persons.

Under present law, a family of four with $3,500 income is liable for $74 income tax. It would pay none, under the proposal, which would take effect Jan. 1.

The administration won another victory when the committee approved repeal of the investment tax credit, which allowed businesses to recover up to 7 per cent of investment in equipment.

The Treasury calculated that the package means a net gain of about $9.1 billion in revenue during the year beginning July 1, foreshadowing a surplus of some $6 billion.

The administration has insisted that the surplus is needed to curb inflation.

Labor Would Have To Be Imported

YAP (AP) — The tourist commission feels this tiny Micronesian island will be ready for tourists in another decade.

But the commission, after a year of study, also told the district legislature it found little interest among residents in the menial hotel jobs a tourist boom would require.

"The labor would have to be imported," the commission said.

THE DAM — Workers place rock riprap on the Robert Lee Dam at E. V. Spence Reservoir while the level of water slowly rises. Note the flood gates in the left background. Built by the Colorado River Municipal Water District, the dam and lake were formally dedicated last Saturday.

ASSURES FUTURE PROGRESS — Spectators at the new lake on the Colorado River near Robert Lee watch the water spread over a wide area. When full, E. V. Spence Reservoir will have 135 miles of shore line and provide water for Snyder, Big Spring, Midland, Odessa and several smaller cities. It was named after the late general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, who foresaw the need for additional water supplies for this part of West Texas. Members will begin receiving water from the lake at a time when it is most needed.

Air Force Expert Testifies On Defense Spending

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Air Force efficiency expert who says he was demoted to cost overseer of a GI bowling alley after pointing out a $2 billion overrun on the C5A transport plane claims the military subjects cost-control experts to "isolation, neutralization or removal from the acquisition business."

Ernest Fitzgerald told a joint congressional economic subcommittee Tuesday he landed in the Pentagon dog house last year when he alerted Congress to the projected cost increase for the giant plane.

He said he was removed from his cost control duties on major weapons contracts and told to "review minor construction problems in Thailand that included cost increases for a 20-lane bowling alley."

Fitzgerald also told the congressmen of another civilian Air Force employe who he said uncovered a $229 million, willful underestimation of a major weapons system.

"He was isolated, effectively removed from supervision of this activity and given minor responsibilities," Fitzgerald said of the unnamed official in the Air Force Systems Command.

The cost analyst landed "in deep trouble" after he went outside normal channels to tell top Pentagon officials they had been sold a bill of goods on the Mark II electronics and navigation system for the F111 fighter-bomber, Fitzgerald said.

Air Force officers said the program would cost $712 million when they knew the correct figure was $941 million, he said.

"The program was approved on the basis of an estimate that was knowingly reduced," Fitzgerald said. "The Air Force was forced to admit its mistake but the program was approved and spending was under way already."

Fitzgerald said after his own demotion Air Force officers then wrested the entire contract review and cost-control program from civilian hands.

"I think the over-all climate and the level of opposition to cost-reducing measures, reinforced by occasional examples of personal disaster visited on economy proponents, it is not surprising that most working level government acquisition managers shy away from tough cost control actions," Fitzgerald said.

CAREER CORNER

By F. J. LAIN

Miss Lain awards a Mercury portable, courtesy of the Royal Typewriter Co., to Mrs. Pauline Flieg, Denison, Texas.

"You would be doing a wonderful service to mankind by mentioning a career for wheelchair teenagers (those paralyzed from the waist down) who are studying in hopes that they will be able to make a future living."

A — It is Dick Thornburg, editor of the Cincinnati Post and Times-Star, who has done the service. He suggests that handicapped youth consider a career as a newspaper copy reader. While most copy readers are not disabled, it is an occupation that does offer a good and useful life to the physically impaired. Here are Mr. Thornburg's comments — why not do a service yourself and pass them on to a handicapped friend?

DICK THORNBURG: "There has been a dearth of copy readers for the nation's 1750 daily newspapers (and probably magazines,too) for more than 10 years. The shortage is getting progressively worse.

Obviously a blind person could not handle the job, but a person whose legs or possibly an arm were crippled would still be eligible for copy editing. There is tension in the job, and a person with heart trouble might be disqualified.

CHAPTER & VERSE. A copy reader works at a desk. He corrects spelling, deletes unnecessary words, challenges copy that seems incorrect or libelous, and then writes headlines on the article.

There is little or no locomotion involved in the job, and copy editing is by no means a dead-end position. A person who shows special talents in newspapering could readily become a city editor or a managing editor, even though handicapped.

STARTING LINE. An interested young person should go to his local newspaper and tell the editor of his intentions of studying to be a copy reader. A college education is important, and the editor can provide curriculum guidance (English, history, political science and economics are a few key subjects). If the student would inform the editor at the end of each school year what his grades were, he would keep a line of communication open and keep the newspaper interested in him.

Most papers hire "summer interns" and a college student could very likely work as an apprentice copy reader during vacations. The work can be learned by any intelligent, ambitious person, and the excitement of fast-moving events keeps it interesting.

PAY CHECK. A recent study of newspapers shows that many copy readers, after from two to six years' experience, receive $150-200 a week. It varies across the country, smaller papers pay less, and in larger mefropolitan papers, the minimum is as high as $250 per week.

QUALITIES WANTED. The ideal candidate should be a person:

Who is resourceful and has initiative.

Who is intellectually honest, has a challenging mind.

Who is courageous. One who is not afraid to be a minority of one.

Who is fair. One who knows there are two sides to all controversy questions and who will listen to both sides with empathy.

Who has an overdeveloped sense of justice. One who is aroused by injustice and who reacts instinctively against special privilege, but one who believes the majority has rights just as the minority does.

Who has a sense of humor and an innate cheerfulness.

Who is willing to assume responsibility.

I've left the main quality for the last. It is judgment. Some call it common sense. There is nothing more valuable. Probably it is a natural derivative of some of the qualities listed above. Some are born with it, some acquire it, but no one has it thrust upon him."

SPELL IT "HEART." Mr. Thornburg also said that one type of applicant newspapers are NOT interested in hiring is the malcontent with a chip on his shoulder because he's handicapped: "We look for a man with positive attitudes. It's unimportant whether he can walk or run or crawl or hobble — or however he gets around. What counts is how the spirit moves him."
