STORM TOLL 71 IN FOUR STATES

Judgment Is Confessed By Hoffman Company

LEAHY GIVEN 50 YEARS IN MURDER CASE

ACCUSED SHOWS NO EMOTION AS VERDICT IS READ

MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL WRITTEN IN CELL TO BE HEARD SOON

(By the Associated Press.)
AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 26.—(P)—Found guilty on an indictment charging murder, Harry J. Leahy, on trial here since November 5 for the slaying of Dr. J. A. Ramsey, aged 54, a physician, was sentenced to 50 years in the penitentiary by a jury in the thirty-sixth district court today. The jury reported at 10 o'clock after having had the case under deliberation since 1:30 Thursday evening.

Shows No Emotion
Leahy, with his bride of but a few months at his side, received the verdict without the slightest show of emotion. Nor was there any demonstration in the court room.

"It was a great victory," Leahy declared after the verdict was read. "Leahy came into court with a motion for a new trial, which he had written in his cell Thursday night before retiring."

To Hear Motion Soon
Judge Cox announced that it would be heard some time before December 15 when the special term of court in which Leahy was tried is scheduled to close.

Leahy's trial began November 5 and was climaxed Thursday by final arguments before a Thanksgiving day crowd which filled the Little Live Oak court house, to capacity.

Dr. Ramsey, for whose slaying Leahy was convicted, disappeared from his home on May 20. His body was found in August after Roberto Martinez, Leahy's chauffeur had made a statement implicating Leahy. It was Martinez who led officers to the grave of the aged physician.

Mexican Chief Witness
Martinez proved the state's star witness, testifying that Leahy had prepared the grave two days before he (Martinez) lured Dr. Ramsey away in an automobile. Leahy, Martinez testified, had struck the physician over the head and poured gasoline into his mouth, split his throat and then buried him in the shallow grave.

The defense, by the aged parents of Leahy, sought to show that the defendant was in Mathis on the night of the slaying that he had come to an entertainment and had gone to bed at his parents' home by 11:30. His brother also testified, corroborating this alibi.

LUBBOCKITES JOIN RAIL JUBILEE

Headed by the Lubbock high school band, more than 200 Lubbock citizens left this morning at 8:30 for Plainview where they will take part in the railroad celebration which is being held there today and tonight. Plans have been made for a good showing for the Lubbock delegation which includes a major part in every phase of the celebration.

A. B. Davis, manager of the chamber of commerce, will represent that organization. Every chamber of commerce on the South Plains will be represented. The caravan of cars which left this morning included a large number of business men.

A number of cars from nearby towns joined the Lubbock group also and a great exhibition of enthusiasm was given when they arrived in Plainview this morning.

Utilities To Build New Levelland Home

"Daunted by the windstorm which demolished its building at Levelland yesterday at a loss of approximately $1,000 the Texas Utilities company re-established service in the Hockley county plant last night with the dynamo running under the stars instead of a roof and began laying plans today for a new building to replace the old one.

Manager Robert L. Allen of the South Plains division of the company, spent today in Levelland making the necessary arrangements. H. E. Logan, assistant manager here, stated. Construction on the new building will be begun as soon as possible.

Woodward Rapped By Governor For Pardon Statement

(By the Associated Press.)
AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 26.—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson issued a statement Friday on the Jeff Brimberry pardon matter from Mitchell county in connection with the testimony before the investigating committee Wednesday of Senator Walter Woodward of Coleman. She says she is sorry the senator went "out of his way" to attack her pardon record and that Senator Woodward has asked for pardons "at my hands and I will let him say whether he had contracted for fees or not."

Says Pardoned By Hobby
The governor continued "If Senator Woodward in his addresses which he said he made last summer criticizing my pardon record had been fair enough to tell the people the testimony before the investigating committee Wednesday of Senator Walter Woodward of Coleman. She says she is sorry the senator went 'out of his way' to attack her pardon record and that Senator Woodward has asked for pardons 'at my hands and I will let him say whether he had contracted for fees or not.'"

"I note that Senator Woodward testified that Brimberry made a confession and pleaded guilty in Mitchell county to murder and was given a life sentence and that Governor Hobby granted Brimberry a pardon after the governor's short time," the governor said in a statement read.

"But so far as the Brimberry case is concerned I want to correct Senator Woodward from the official record. Brimberry was convicted of murder in Mitchell county on the December term, 1917.

Granted Conditional Pardon
On the 17th day of December, 1920, he was granted a conditional pardon by Governor Hobby and I am now informed that Judge E. A. Berry presented the application before Governor Hobby and if that is a crime in the mind of Senator Woodward for Judge Berry at that time to have presented a pardon application while private citizens, then I leave it to the people of Texas whether Senator Woodward should present a pardon application while he was state convict."

"On the 16th day of June, 1925, upon showing me that Brimberry had not disobeyed any of the terms of the conditional pardon granted by Governor Hobby and upon recommendation of his employers for four years since, I restored him to citizenship by giving him a full pardon. Judge Berry had no connection with the granting of the full pardon by me, directly or indirectly, and he never mentioned it to my husband, James E. Ferguson, or any one else."

LEAVE DAMAGES UP TO COURT AS RECESS CALLED

ADMIT MAINTENANCE SURFACING CONTRACTS SHOULD BE BROKEN

(By the Associated Press.)
AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 26.—The Hoffman Construction company of Eastland today asked the 23rd district court of Travis county today, admitted that the surfacing and maintenance contracts should be cancelled and left the matter of damages to be determined by the court.

Moody Won't Sign
Attorney General Dan Moody refused to sign the statement as an agreement with the defense attorneys because of one phrase that the company confessed judgment as alleged in the state's original petition.

The court recessed until 2 p. m. to hear the facts on the amount of damages to be determined. The state originally asked for $400,000 damages and recovery of excessive profits the defendant company made on surfacing and maintenance contracts awarded in 1925. The contracts could terminate, according to the statement read, as of January 15, 1926.

Second Suit Won
This is the second highway suit brought by Attorney General Dan Moody on highway contracts awarded under Governor Miriam A. Ferguson's administration to be terminated by confessed judgment. The first was against the American road company of Dallas, which confessed judgment and returned $600,000 to the state.

Admits Big Profits
AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 26.—(P)—Calvin E. Cook of Corpus Christi testified Friday before the state investigating committee he made a profit of approximately $33,000 on the maintenance of state highways in Lamar, Delta, Red River, Pannin, and Grayson counties for the year ending in the spring of 1924.

He said he was paid $129,000 for the maintenance and that $1,000 of his working capital was borrowed from E. S. Heysler, vice president of the American road company, though neither Heysler nor his company had any interest in the maintenance contract.

Flashes Of Life

Spenders, Too
BERLIN—The chief reason for American's prosperity as given by Ambassador Schurman Sibly, work harder than any other people in the Orient and Hindius. He so told a Thanksgiving day audience, saying also that American tourists were paying Europe's debts.

Under Bondage
PARIS—"The right of any nation to keep any other nation under bond for two generations," is questioned by the Rev. Joseph Wilson Cochran, pastor of the American church. Saying this at a Thanksgiving service which Ambassador Herrick attended, he continued: "If I dreamed that any such tragedy could occur, I would be ashamed to sing 'America Sweet Land of Liberty,' but I believe America won't allow the stars on her flag to change to dollar marks."

Love Lingers On
NEW YORK—Rudy Valentino still loves Winifred Hudnut, she insists. She's back from abroad with a description of "astral messages" received from the husband she divorced. "There are no other women in his life now, and he is trying to become a legitimate actor of the astral plane." And she is writing a book about it.

TEN KILLED WHEN BIG DAM BREAKS

MARTINEZ, Calif., Nov. 26.—(P)—Ten men met sudden death when the Contra Costa hills last night when San Pablo creek, swollen by a heavy rain, burst a temporary dam and sent a torrent of water rushing into a tunnel in which they were working.

The workers, a shift boss and nine laborers, had not a chance for their lives. They were working in the far end of the tunnel 2,500 feet from the entrance and the flood, coming with barely an instant's warning, engulfed them.

The victims' bodies still are in the tunnel with no chance of being recovered until the flood recedes and the water can be pumped from the bore.

Three men working at the base of a shaft which extends upward from the tunnel at a point about 100 feet from the entrance escaped by jumping into an elevator and ascending as the swirling torrent roared in on them.

Drunks Swarm City Bastile Thursday

The police gathered in more than their usual quota of drunks yesterday and a number of Thanksgivings were delayed until this morning at the desk when Desk Sergeant J. T. Innon said "Thank you" for the donations to the city coffers. Outside of these and several traffic violations, Thanksgiving was rather peaceful in Lubbock.

SCORES INJURED AND PROPERTY LOSS IS HEAVY

FIRE FOLLOWS TORNADO AT HEBER SPRINGS WHERE 19 DIED

(By the Associated Press.)
LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 26.—Tornadoes that swept through scattered sections of Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Missouri late yesterday, last night and early today took a toll of at least 71 lives, injured scores and left a trail of smashed and damaged buildings.

The Arkansas known death list was 33, Louisiana 16, Mississippi 9, and Missouri 13. Heber Springs, Ark., a town in the foothills of the Ozarks, suffered most for 19 of its inhabitants were killed and 33 injured.

Fire Follows Tornado
Messengers arriving from there today to seek additional aid said that fire followed the tornado.

Property damage was heavy near Hainesville, La., where five persons are known to have been killed. Fifty oil-well derricks were also reported razed. Hainesville itself escaped the path of the trailing winds, but its oil platform was crushed, buildings razed from the oil fields.

Mer Rouge, La., reported seven known dead, four whites and three negroes, the whites including Robert Lott, a farmer and his wife, whose home was crushed by the tornado that damaged and crushed buildings miles along a path 100 miles long.

A large plate glass window of the Lubbock Drug company was broken when the wind blew signs into it.

Hockley county reported at least 5000 bales of cotton blown out, and with a great deal of the staple stored on the ground in various sections the total damage probably will never be known.

Associated Press dispatches today from Arkansas, Missouri and Louisiana, where tornadoes held sway throughout the day yesterday say that at least 46 persons are known dead, scores injured, many others are missing, and property damage running into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. Several small towns in southern Arkansas and Missouri were completely wiped out, with many of the affected places still cut off from communication with the outside world.

SLATON MAN DIES IN WIND STORM

Special To The Journal

SLATON, Nov. 26.—J. B. Hartman, aged 59, a carpenter, was almost instantly killed here yesterday when the wooden awning, upon which he was working, crashed to the sidewalk, a distance of approximately 16 feet. Hartman's skull was fractured in the fall.

The accident occurred during the high wind storm and the awning had been pulled out from the brick wall of the building housing the Texas Grocery company. When Hartman stepped upon it it fell without warning. He was dead when passers-by picked him up.

Hartman has been living in Slaton for the past two years and is survived by a widow and seven children. The Foster Funeral Home announced this morning. Four of the seven children were born to Hartman and a first wife while the other three are children of the surviving widow. No funeral arrangements have yet been made, pending the arrival of several of the children from other points in Texas but it is likely that the remains will be sent to Honey Grove, former home of the deceased, for burial.

Educator Would Have Pupils Know Questions Before An Examination
(By the Associated Press)

EL PASO, Nov. 26.—School children accustomed to facing "shotgun quizzes" probably will endorse Dean Ernest Horn of the University of Iowa as a national hero. Dean Horn is dean of the college of education.

In a speech before the state teachers convention here today he told the teachers they ought to let pupils know beforehand what questions will be asked on examinations. This he said is the simple and logical thing to do since a test is supposed to cover the most important work the student has been over.

"If a student happens not to have learned things that will be asked on examination, then he certainly ought to be given a chance to do so before the test is held. The student then will learn something, perhaps, that otherwise he would have missed," he said.

MATADORS WIN LAST GAME OF SEASON 7 TO 2

BEAT CANYON BUFFALOES IN HARD TUSSELE ON CANYON GRID

(Special to Daily Journal)
CANYON, Texas, Nov. 20.—The Texas Tech Matadors defeated the Buffalo Buffaloes of West Texas State Teachers college here yesterday afternoon 7 to 2, before 5,000 panhandle fans. It was the closing game for both grid machines and was marked as a game with occasional thrills.

The Scarlet and Black's only count came in the second quarter of the initial half when "Dopie" White recovered a Buff fumble and followed in behind a perfect wall of Matadors interference to chase 50 yards unhampered for a touchdown. Hill kicked goal to add an extra point.

Intercept Pass
Late in the third period the Buffs and the "bulldozers" backed to the Tech's own 25 yard line and Calloway passed high and bad over Woodrige's head and the Buffs swarmed him back of his own goal line for a safety.

The last period was a stirring battle of both clubs to gain possession of the ball so that they may attempt passes in hopes for long gains, and another counter. The Buffs completed several long passes to march to the Matadors own 20 yard line from the Buffs own 5 yard line. One pass, Holder to Hazel wood, netted the red and white crew 40 yards. The aerial attack made by the Buffs was stopped Woodrige intercepted a long pass from Holder and raced back to midfield where the game ended.

Jumpers, fleetly quarter for the Buffs, was the only Eckhardtman that was able to pierce the Matador defense for any degree of success. He ran off tackle several times for consistent yardage and made a great percentage of the total gains made by the Techers.

Walker Injured
Walker, the Matador offense flash, was taken from the game in the first half due to an injured arm. He was a marked man and his gains were not effective. Hamilton and Hill, both run up good offense attacks but the defense machine put up yesterday was not the offense the Matadors have shown in previous games; this may be accounted for however, with the fact that the Buff defense was a mighty wall and well cared for.

Texas Tech followers were here strong and a special train was run from the Hub City carrying some 700 fans.

Yards gained on scrimmage plays—includes return on kicks and intercepted passes—Buff 112; Tech 230. First downs—Buff 12; Tech 10, and 2 were completed for 55 yards; Tech attempted 11 and 3 were completed for 30 yards. Punt—Buff kicked 2 times for 232 yards, averaging 28 2/3 yards; Tech, six times for 193 yards, averaging 32 1/3 yards. First downs—Buff 12; Tech 10. Penalties—Buff 1 for 15 yards; Tech 4 for 41 yards. Touchdowns—Buff none; Tech one (White). Safeties—Buff one. Goals kicked—Hill (Tech) 1.

A Purple Moon

RALPH "MOON" BAKER

Here's a moon that never sets—Ralph "Moon" Baker, captain and star player on the Northwestern University football eleven. Baker has been one of the big reasons for the great success of the Purple this fall. He will wind up his college grid career against Iowa this Saturday.

The Westerners are spending today enroute to Wichita Falls where they will meet the Coyotes for the district championship. The Westerner Coachers plan to stop at a nearby town to take a light signal drill.

Tomorrow the Westerners will push on the Wichita grid in their bright new blankets which were presented to the high school football performers by the Lubbock merchants.

The Slaton Tigers lost the class B championship to the Floydada Whirlwinds yesterday by a score of 19 to 3.

Simmons Cowboys won the Texas conference by defeating the Yellow Jackets in Brownwood by a score of 13 to 6.

Daniel Baker won over A. C. C. to win the T. I. A. A. conference.

TIS A TOUGH CAMPAIGN FOR GOLDEN BEARS
BERKELEY, Calif., Nov. 24.—University of California, for five straight seasons rated one of the outstanding eleven in the country, is experiencing a most disastrous campaign this fall.

The Golden Bears, after winning their first two frays, did a complete dilly-dew, dropping the next five in a row. Even little St. Mary's, which had been wallowed annually for years, succeeded in whipping the Price aggregation.

California's big game is with Stanford here Nov. 29. A victory over Warner's proteges would help to atone for the other defeats. A Stanford demise is quite remote, however.

Again "Dopie" White scores—"Dopie" scored the last two touchdowns for the Matadors in 1925. Yesterday he took advantage of the Buffs fumble and grabbed it up to run 50 yards behind a perfect wall of interference for the Tech's only count.

For the first time in two years the Horned Frogs failed to kick goal for extra points—lost them the game with the Pointes of S. M. U. 14 to 12. The victory scored over Matty Bell's crew gave the Pointes a clean season conference dealing and won the southwestern conference by going through the season undefeated.

Doc Stewart's orange and white warriors flocked the Biblemen with a dazzling aerial attack to win the turkey-day classic by a count of 14 to 5.

Tech holds out Southwestern conference honor—the Matadors have scored more points on the Horned Frogs than any other club the Biblemen have met within two years. The Texas Tech's record is outstanding this season and her standing among the state leaders is high.

LUBBOCK HIGH WARRIORS OFF FOR FINAL GO

MEET WICHITA FALLS IN CHAMPIONSHIP TILT SATURDAY

The Westerners of Lubbock high school left this morning via buses for the Red River city, Wichita Falls, to battle with the Coyotes of that city for the championship of District 1 of the Texas Inter-school League.

Twenty-two of the wearers of the Black and Gold hoped the League's entourage for Wichita Falls this morning. Going with the same spirit that they had when they left for Amarillo last week, that "never die" fight the aggressed themselves as better than underdogs but with a dogged determination to battle with a much favored crew.

Coaches Von Tungen and Frank stated that the Lubbock club would not doubt be out weighed by the Coyotes, but not out fought. "We have got one of the finest and a great fighting crew in our club; and a fight will never be beaten by a bad score. We only hope the lads will feel toward the Wichita bunch as they did to Amarillo for if they do, the Coyotes had better watch out," Paul Frank stated before leaving. All through the week stress has been laid on passes and an altogether aerial attack. The Westerners plan to meet with a stiff defense in clashing with the Coyotes.

Those who made the trip are: Adkisson, Allen, Barton, Bryan, Beard, Brothers, Cummings, Dollabaugh, Freedland, Hardberger, Hill, Leland, Magee, Lowell, Parkinson, Reynolds, Rutledge, M. Smith, Teal, Whitesides and Wolfarth.

The probable line-up for the Westerners will be: Teal and Hardberger, ends; Cummings and Barton, tackles; Dickinson and Wolfarth, guards; Allen, center; Powell, quarter; Dollabaugh, fullback.

hite and Reynolds, half, and Smith, full.

BATTLE LINES ARE DRAWN IN SERVICE CLASH

CHICAGO IS HOST TO A MOST COLORFUL CROWD FOR CONTEST

(By the Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Chicago, far from the sea coast, where invaders might be expected to appear first, nevertheless today prepared for war. The city, however, will furnish only a battle ground for the combatants—the Army and Navy—who have moved onto the battle area prepared for the annual service conflict on Soldiers' field tomorrow.

Battle Lines Drawn
"Commodore" Bill Ingram of the Navy, formally entrenched his sea-going football army at a hotel and then posted the Navy football guns, big and small, on the battle field.

"General" Bill Jones, guiding genius of his mobile forces into position, captured the South Shore country club and established headquarters there.

And Chicago, engulfed by a tidal wave of Cadets, Midshipmen, men of state and thrill seekers from throughout the nation, found itself the happy host to one of the most colorful throngs in its history.

Flung ajar the gates of its hospitality, the city began two days of festivities attendant upon the first service football game ever played outside the Atlantic seaboard.

In the wake of the two football squads, the student bodies of the two academies poured into Chicago today on thirteen special trains.

The stadium dedicatory ceremony (which will be the climax of the first day's events), Vice President Charles G. Dawes will make the principal address.

Whirlwinds Defeat Slaton In Title Scrap 19-8

FLOYDADA, Texas, Nov. 24.—The Floydada Whirlwinds won the Class B championship of the South Plains conference from the Slaton Tigers here yesterday afternoon by a score of 19 to 8 before a record breaking attendance. It was the first time since 1922 that the Tigers have failed to win a Class B conference in the Lubbock district.

The first score was made in the initial period when a Tiger pounced on a Floydada back behind the Floydada goal for a safety. Marshall, the sturdy full back, blood first for the Whirlwinds when he raced around end for 60 yards to score a touchdown.

Two more touchdowns were made by the wearers of the Green and White on straight football. The Tigers scored a touchdown in the third period with an end round play which Slaton carried for twenty yards.

WHERE COLLEGE MEN GO

What becomes of the man when he goes out into the fields of life after his college days are over? How many succeed? How many drift down and lose the aims their youth cherished?

Some interesting facts have been gathered on the class that was graduated in 1917 from the Sheffield Scientific school of Yale University. This class has a membership of about 325 men who are about 10 years of age now, after having lived in the workaday world for eight years.

More than 75 per cent of them have been married since graduation. Most of them wedded at about 25 and their wives averaged 23.

The most susceptible period for marrying was three years after graduation. The romantic spirit mellowed away slowly after that time. From the standpoint of heirs they have done well the average being slightly more than one child per family.

The "grade" average $4,000 a year in earnings, with an additional average income from investments bringing the total up to $7,800 per man per year. Ninety-six per cent of the class however, had an average earned income of only $4,200 and total income of $6,000.

The men that an individual has earned is $115,000 a year. Average assets per man are $46,500, and maximum assets reported by any individual $1,000,000.

The general prosperity of the men was indicated further by the fact that more than 70 per cent of them own automobiles. More than 30 per cent own their own homes. The average amount of insurance carried is $22,500 per man.

CRANBERRIES

Ten thousand men are laboring long hours these days in the bogs of Cape Cod and eastern Massachusetts. They are helping to make your Thanksgiving dinner.

A MILLION BARRELS A DAY

You cannot imagine, of course, the appalling crash that would result if a match were dropped into a tank containing 1,000,000 barrels of gasoline.

NEW YORK SEE-SAWING and DOWN BROADWAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—While dogs and cats continue to be the most popular pets, celebrities of New York could fill a Noah's Ark with the collection of boats and birds to which they have become attached.

Thus A. F. Albee, vaudeville impresario, has two baby elephants, Jessamine, the lovely stage star, has a parrot which—if rumor be correct—can say something stronger than "darn it." Billy Burke has a baby leopard.

And so it goes. The East Side is tremendously proud of those persons who leap its boundaries to win fame and fame in the American world. The older ones look with not a little fear upon the younger generations in whom they see a breaking down of old customs, tastes and ways.

But let those youngsters go forth and win and the whole Ghetto turns out to cheer. And they do go home. There are "booming" strutters on the East Side, as elsewhere. Scores more use their new positions to cement old ties to new ones. They try to keep alive much that is fine in the old and convert the oldsters to much that is fine in the new.

The other night I wandered over to watch the opening of a new Yiddish theater, through which two men have risen to success hope to win back the youngsters to the old drama. To do this they had to house the fine old works in a place that would parallel the Broadway lures of the young folk.

And I met two men—Louis N. Jaffe, who built the play, and Maurice Schwartz, who puts on the dramas. If there are two men typical of my point here they are.

Schwartz came from Russia at the age of 12. He worked in a rag shop through the day light hours and studied by night. One day he saw J. Kressler, great Yiddish tragedian, and in due time became an actor.

Jaffe also came as a penniless immigrant. He had studied to be a rabbi, gave it up and left Russia. He came to America and sold newspapers until he was sufficiently skilled to be a cigar maker. But he studied at night.

That is the real point of both these stories—the boys studied at night. GILBERT SWAN. (Copyright, 1926, NEA Service, Inc.)

Nature can always do things better if you give her a chance. Health authorities say that the best way for girls to rouge their cheeks is by eating carrots and drinking milk.

An example of prompt and efficient service is related by a Georgia newspaper. Just as an insurance agent was in the act of handing a farmer an insurance policy, lightning struck the insured house.

Entomologists say that bees have no sense of hearing. This does not accord very well with the idea farmers have that they can treat a runaway swarm of bees by beating on the pines.

As an example of the prodigality of Nature it may be stated that more than 450,000 species of insects have been found and classified by entomologists.

WASHINGTON LETTER

FRAZIER'S PEACE PRICE NOW WARM ISSUE IN REPUBLICAN SENATE RANKS

By NEA Service WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Whatever that shall ask of me, I will give it to thee, unto the half of my kingdom," said Herod to Salome when she danced before him and his guests.

A political outcast for two years, Frazier's power has become such that both Republican and Democratic parties are now casting anxious glances in his direction. Each side wants him to dance with it.

Frazier was read out of the Republican party after the La Follette presidential campaign and now, when he is the only one of those so treated still in the senate, his vote becomes of paramount importance to the G. O. P.

The question is, what will Frazier demand? The Republicans can hardly organize the next congress without him unless they have some Democratic help.

Someone has suggested giving him the chairmanship of the Indian affairs committee, but presumably that will not be savory bait.

His principal interest, of course is farm relief. It seems very likely that he will demand support for some one of the constructive relief measures which will be up before the seventy-ninth congress, as a price for whatever semblance of party regularity he agrees upon.

"I look for something important in farm relief in December, 1927," he told NEA Service. "I think sentiment is increasing among the farmers themselves and all classes of business men to that end. The manufacturers at last are realizing that they must have a healthy market among the farmers."

His latest refusal to chime in with the administration is to be seen in his strong opposition to President Coolidge's tax rebate plan. "It's no good to the small taxpayer" he insisted. "The millionaires will be the only beneficiaries. The average citizen will receive a dollar or two while the millionaires will get hundreds of thousands. There's no reason why the big fellows who profited in the war shouldn't help pay some of the war's costs."

Some of Frazier's radical friends doubtless are recalling how Herod outwitted when Salome fixed her price—and how Herod couldn't help himself. At any rate they don't expect him to be satisfied with a mere evangelist's goal.

Helpful Health Hints

E CAREFUL IN USE OF LAXATIVE GUMS

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine. It is safe to say that more proprietary medicines of a laxative character are sold in this country than in any other.

The virtue of chewing gum is also particularly an American institution. It is not surprising therefore that a manufacturer has begun the sale and distribution of chewing gum into which is incorporated a quantity of a well known laxative drug.

While chewing gums thus medicated may be safe as laxatives, there are excellent reasons why this drug should not be sold indiscriminately. Samples were distributed in the streets of some cities until boards of health prevented such distribution because the samples fell into the hands of children and there were serious results.

SEARCH THE POCKETS

The next time Mrs. M. Hill, of Dayton, Ky., washes her husband's overalls, she is going to look in the pockets. She boiled the overalls in a strong soda solution and found she boiled all the ink from a piece of paper that must have been money. She did not know whether it was a $1, a $5 or a $10 bill. At Washington the money experts in the treasury department ascertained that it was $5 and sent a note to Mrs. Hill.

bottom of a pond awaiting the coming of their prey. The best known is the water tiger, a long, slender, ferocious creature with curved, sharp-pointed, hollow jaws with which it pierces its victim and sucks the blood or juices into the mouth.

It is the younger stage of the water beetle, an oval-shaped, smooth insect whose long hind legs are fringed with stiff hairs and used like oars. Both adult and young of this group are fierce and voracious, consuming great quantities of aquatic forms of life. The largest and perhaps the most destructive fish-killing insects are the giant water bugs; there are true huckling bugs attaining a length of nearly three inches.

The powerful hind legs are flattened and oar-like for swimming, the front ones curved and fitted for seizing and holding their prey. One of these bugs will attack a fish three or four times its own size, grasping the fish with its curved forelegs, then plunging its large and powerful beak into the body to securely suck the blood of its victim, and at the same time secrete a poison that enters the wound.

Water scorpions search for and suck out the contents of fish eggs and often attack the young fish. Their two front legs are for seizure while the other four are adapted for walking.

With Our Contemporaries

OUR FEATHERED FRIENDS The destruction of bird life in America continues, notwithstanding the campaign for its protection against which we are going on for years. The bird is the natural enemy of insects. Bird life steadily is decreasing while insect life steadily is increasing. Insect species is greater by far than that of the species of all other living creatures combined. Almost 12,000,000 plant lice have been found on one tree. A single pair of Colorado potato beetles, if allowed to increase without killing, would in one season increase to 60 million. The unrestricted increase of the family of one pair of gray moths would in eight years be able to devour all the foliage in the United States. Many caterpillars daily eat twice their weight in leaves. There is a flesh feeding larva that consumes in 24 hours 200 times its original weight. Every year insects cause a loss of more than $1,000,000,000 to the farmers, stock raisers and fruit growers of the United States. These are not fancy sketches; they are hard-boiled facts. One scientist has predicted that insects in time will become a serious obstacle to the existence of the human race. Protect the birds. They are our friends.—Johnsville Register.

Besides, some persons are especially sensitive, and react with severe inflammation of the skin when they take even a small dose of this remedy.

The second use to which chewing gum has been put has been to incorporate drugs alleged to have special properties for reducing obesity.

Antiflat chewing gums contain thyroid extract, which is dangerous; drugs that irritate the stomach and disturb the appetite, which are also dangerous; and drugs which have no power whatever, which is foolish.

The United States government has recently issued food and drug regulations which require that all chewing gums of this character should be sold in this country than in any other.

The person who uses the gum is told that in addition to taking the remedy she should walk five miles a day, go through certain exercises, and cut down the diet. These practices will bring about a reduction in weight just as well without the chewing gum.

CANADIAN'S GROWTH

Much has been said recently about the newcomers to Canadian. Some have estimated the population of the city at 2,000 while others say it is closer to 2,500. Last Sunday, a local church launched a census of Canadian. It was not to learn how many people there are in town, but to ascertain to what churches the various nationalities belong and how many belong to each. Every man, woman and child will be listed. When this survey is completed it will likely be a good criterion on the number of persons residing here. Such a census is a splendid thing for the community and should be undertaken by the churches at least once each year.—Canadian Record.

WATER SUPPLY

A most informative and interesting article in last week's issue of the Saturday Evening Post concerned the effort the city of New York is making to avert a threatened water famine.

It seems that the bigger they grow the graver becomes the water problem. Some of us had supposed that only in west Texas, where the rainfall is supposed to be light and the streams few and far between—we had supposed we were alone in our glory in the matter of a water problem.

Tut-tut! Ours is merely a minor complaint, after all. Ask New York city. It is spending $300,000,000 on a new project—and if we understand the Saturday Evening Post item, the project is smaller than Wichita Falls' huge Lake Kemp.—Abilene News.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

JUDITH MARTIN, red-haired rebel among faculty members of Pendleton University, is hated by DEAN TIMOTHY BROWN, of the discipline committee. ERIC WATERS, senior, and DR. PETER DORN, of the astronomy department, are rivals for Judith's favor. MYRA ALDRICH, Eric's boyhood sweetheart, is jealous of Judith.

Judith stumbles on a secret love affair of Dean Brown's wife, and befriends her. When "KITTY" SHEA, town-blogger, tries to blackmail Mrs. Brown, Judith appeals to Eric for protection.

When Shea's body is found under his car in a creek, and a letter addressed to Eric is discovered in his pocket, Eric is arrested as a material witness. Professor Dorn offers his consolation to Judith, but they quarrel over her friendship for Eric.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXVII

"Christ versus Apollyon," said the large red letters of the placard tacked to the bulletin board in the sunken ground floor administration hall.

They were below, a picture of a very earnest man in a window, with blacked dark eyes in a round, smooth-shaven face. Reverend Forrest Poole, champion of the right, a thinking Christian, will address the great mass meeting of the university student body on the night of February first, in the main auditorium. The attendance of every university student is expected.

In the lower right hand corner was the signature "Timothy M. Brown, dean of the college of liberal arts."

Around this placard, there was a changing group. Shortly after breakfast, on the day after the Shee inquest, Judith saw it surrounded with blue-eyed freshmen. Returning from a class at noon, she found its admirers mostly rosy-cheeked, sneering more or less openly at the Reverend Forrest Poole.

The university co-operative store had a more resplendent placard. A rainbow in natural tints spread across the top of the card, and beneath it, there was the legend:

"From the mist of doubt and the tempests of confusion, there shall arise the rainbow of faith. Hear Dr. Forrest Poole's scathing denunciation of pseudo-intellectual agnosticism, and his clarion call to the standard of true religion. At the auditorium, 8:30 p. m. February 1."

Here the varied-colored rainbow had crowded the Reverend Poole out of the picture, blind eyes, window the end all.

Miss Reasey the elder came out of the book store as Judith was reading the sign. She was carrying a new Oxford note book and a roll of blotting paper.

"Oh, Miss Martin," she called. Judith saw no escape. "Hello," she said listlessly.

Miss Reasey hurried up to her. "What have you heard about the Shea case?"

Judith frowned. "Nothing at all," she said, preparing to leave.

"Oh, don't rush away," exclaimed Miss Reasey. "The young journalist was telling me just now that everything closed up last night, tight as a bandbox. No information on any angle of it, even for the newspapers. What do you make of that?"

"I make nothing. I'm not an authority on the Shea case," said Judith, somewhat caustically, and walked away from her.

The Prairie Schooner also bore its banner: "Help put Pendleton University on the map. Show the world what shea mater can do for the cause of right thinking and right living."

"Fifty with the rest of your school against the powers of darkness that are creeping into university life. Make Pendleton clean."

Eve Gerhart was just coming out of the Schooner. She was wearing a gray suit of black and white flannel and a little white hat that struck a brave note against the wintry dulness of the landscape.

"Judith," she called, "come for a stroll with me, won't you?"

With obvious reluctance, Judith complied. Eve laughed. "Oh, don't be afraid. I'm not going to say, 'I told you so.' I just want to chat."

They fell into step. "The old lion is on the loose again, I see," remarked Eve, glancing at another of the dean's posters.

"Hot lines coming, or my mistake?"

"Yes," said Judith. "He's tasted blood."

"What have you heard of Eric?" asked Eve quietly. Judith shrugged. "Nothing. I never felt so helpless in my life."

Eve pursed her reddened lips in thought. "Queer. That tragic little woman, Prudence Brown, ran up to me in the Tavern today and almost begged me to tell her something to do for him. Haven't the slightest idea why she came to me."

"Oh," said Judith, gently. "I have. Eric is known as one of your tame cats."

Eve's laugh was unperurbed. "That's fine. He's a pretty nice kind of pet to be credited with."

"I'm afraid people won't think so, from now on," said Judith, gloomily.

Eve studied an evergreen tree ahead of them. "Well, I don't know. The public forgets very quickly. If he pulls through this, I should say he wasn't irreparably damaged."

Judith did not answer.

A familiar pair of riding boots on the path ahead of them drew Eve's attention, and she gave a little bird-note whistle that Judith had never heard before.

Will Wetherel turned around and came toward them. He stepped between the two women, taking an arm of each. "Things are looking up, Eric-worshippers," he said.

Judith lifted her head eagerly. "Ask me quickly," teased Will. "I shall burst."

Eve was grave. "What is it, Will? Don't clown just now."

"We've got the other side fightin'. A rift in the lute. The dean called on the chief of police this morning, and demanded a statement about the inquest. The chief told him it was none of his damn business."

"He says that Timothy that he could run his little college and the chief would run the police department. Practically accused Timothy of grand-standing in this Shea murder—trying to get the credit for pushing it, and so forth. Told the dean to stay out from now on, and when he wanted him, he'd call him."

Eve laughed gaily. "Marvelous! That's what Timothy's been needing. Put on the chief stick to it!"

"Well," said Will, "the police chief hasn't any reason to go down to Timothy Brown. He is free to let his conscience be his guide."

Judith looked at still another Forrest Poole poster on a tree. "That means all the more venom for this great clean-up," she said. "Poofed of one victim, Dean Brown will go after others."

"I hope he won't go after you the very first one," said Eve. "Because of course he'll get you in the end. If you want to be a Bolshevik, you've chosen the wrong profession."

Wetherel turned to Judith. "I've learned something more that will interest you," he said, smugly.

"Well?" Judith's eyes implored him.

"Your other admirer has been put in charge of the Sunday school revival."

Eve looked up, laughing. "Dr. Dorn?"

Wetherel nodded. "Dean Brown gave him all the direct administrative work to do, while the dean fits around with the legislators."

Eve clapped her hands. "What fun! You'll be the center of a tug-of-war, Judith."

Wetherel went on, between puffs at his pipe. "I hear Brown told Dorn he'd make him head of the physical science department, if the thing goes over. The rest of that will be the reaction of the legislature. Pendleton needs a big re-organization."

"If they impress the boys that come over from the state capital to witness the meeting, now!—up goes the appropriation, and up goes Dean Brown's stock, with the president and the curators."

"And on the coast tails of Dean Brown, up goes Dr. Peter Dorn," said Judith bitterly.

"You said it," remarked Will. "They say the deans has ordered his wife to head the legions of the W. C. T. U."

NEW ORLEANS TRADING

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 26 (AP)—Cotton opened easy with Liverpool about as high and first trades showed losses of 1 1/2 points. The market eased off further after the start to 12.56 for December, 12.56 for January, and 12.75 for March or 14 points down on all months compared with Wednesday close. Later prices improved on trade buying, advancing 4 to 7 points from the lows, showing unchanged to 3 points up from the previous close. The market improved in the second hour of the stoppage of notices of 600 additional bales for December delivery issued here and December traded up to 12.75 and January 12.65 or seven to 11 points above the early lows. Later December eased off to 12.54, January 12.54 and March to 12.55, or 9 to 13 points down from the highs. The market then fell a few points on comparatively favorable weekly statistics.

LIVERPOOL SPOTS

NEW YORK TRADING

NEW YORK, Nov. 26 (AP)—Cotton opened a generally steady tone in today's early trading. Cables were slightly lower than due, and there was some accumulation of southern selling orders here over the holiday. The opening was four points lower to 7 points higher, but early selling was absorbed and the market steadied up after the opening on continued buying of December in spot interests or covering. December sold up to 12.85 or 15 points net higher, while January advanced to 12.54 later on futures ruling about net unchanged to 5 points lower at the end of the first hour. The volume of business tapered off after the first half hour and the market was quiet later in the morning. December was freely sold at a premium of 8 or 10 points over January, but after dropping back a few points the price again steadied upon advice from the south referring to the firm basis on better grades. At mid-day, December was selling around 12.59 or 9 points net higher, and later months were within a point of two of Wednesday's closing quotations, with January selling around 12.55.

opening of today's market. With no new developments over the Thanksgiving day holiday to influence the price movement, operators for the rise resumed their campaign by bidding up special stocks. Initial gains of a point or so were recorded by Commercial Solvents B. United Drug and American International corporation, while General Motors, Allied Chemical and other industrial favorites improved fractionally. While there was some speculative disappointment over failure to decrease the New York Federal Reserve discount rate, no fears were entertained over the credit situation which continues relatively easy. Buying, however, was again of a selective character, centering largely in issues in which special developments are believed to be pending. Mack Trucks, U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, Marine Preferred and Montana Power were quick to bid up 2 points or more. Texas Land Trust, which is traded in frequently in odd lots, jumped 4 points. Worthington Pump preferred A broke five points to a new low at 44 in reflection of the recent omission of the dividend. Warner Pictures A dropped 2 1/2 points and Savage Arms, 3. Foreign exchanges opened firm with a jump of over 10 points in French francs to around 3.62 cents as the feature. The rise in French currency reflected the sharp decrease in the note circulation of the Bank of France.

SAINT AND SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN COPYRIGHT 1926 NEA

"All right, Pete. Make it snappy!" Bob prodded Pete Gonzalez with his automatic.

A spasm of fear, not only of the automatic, but of the man he was about to betray, twitched the ill-sorted, crossey features of Pete's face.

"How do you expect a guy to think with a gun liable to go off in his stomach any minute?"

Bob took his finger off the trigger and removed it a careful inch from contact with the trigger old red sweater. "Now, spill it. You've wanted time enough. Expecting your boss to arrive any minute to help you out of a tight fix, eh?"

"Now, growled Pete. 'He ain't showin' his mug around this dump. Get too much sense, might get cocky-burns in his self position,' he grumbled evilly, casting a hinking glance around the desolate, weed-grown vacant lots that edged the ground. 'Alex Cluny gimme this job, and Lola's working for him, too. Now half that off! He's your cousin ain't he?'

"Alexander Cluny? God, Hattaway calculated the gun almost dropping from his suddenly relaxed hand. 'Pete, if you're lying I'll string you up to that oak tree there by your top.'

Cherry took open the door of the car, and sprang to Bob's side. 'It's the truth, Bob! I've suspected it all along. Say, Pete, how did Lola get in on this party?' she demanded flippantly.

"She was sore on you, see?" he said to Cherry. "Jealous. She was Chris Wiley's sweetie before he took up with you and give her the air, and then you horned in with old man Cluny, who'd fired her because he seen his son, Alex Cluny, kissing her. She was just 'sneakin' up a prett' little side craft with Alex, but you come along and copped off a sparkle from the old guy. Can't expect her to be crazy over you, can you?"

Cherry tossed up her head and laughed. Bob frowned at her, and Faith clenched her hands in helpless embarrassment and anger.

"N, then, after you got the old boy copped in, you lotted in with Chris Wiley again, just as him an' Lola was whoopin' it up again, lovin' as you please. Chris didn't give her the rate, like you made him promise he would, but he kep' an' ressin' her on the sly, and when he'd get drunk enough he'd tell her the low-down on him an' you see?"

"I see," Cherry eyes blazed like molten balls of gold. "Sweet sister, you've got Pete. But clever, I'll tell the palpatating world. Now, you did the make this tie-up with Alexander Cluny?"

Oldly enough, Pete Gonzalez did not seem to resent Cherry's angry gassing up of his precarious sister. Bob Hattaway sat and understood that upstaging of evil desire and tarred, almost roughly to Cherry. "Get back in the car. I'll do the talking."

Cherry whisked away, to coddle-down in the seat beside Faith, who was innocently bewildered by Bob's and Cherry's behavior.

"Now, Pete," Bob began sharply. "Tell me how you happened to go to work for Alexander Cluny?"

"Him an' Lola was sevin' each other boy and again-he was sure sweet an' her-an' she told him some of the dirt. 'Chris had been spillin' about Cherry.'"

"Miss Lane?" Bob corrected sharply, his blue eyes snapping dangerously.

"About Miss Lane," Pete amended suddenly. "He let it out to Lola how sore him an' the rest of the Clunys was about the old guy's gettin' engaged to Ch-Miss Lane. He had the bunch to put a detective on

Miss Lane's trail, so he could pick up a lot of dirt to pop under the old boss' nose.

"But Lola, she was wise! She told him it was a bum steer, an' that he'd better give up the job, cause a real detective might squeal later an' make it hot for him, soon as how he's messin' around in politics. An' then she copped out on her own scheme to write them poison pen letters, as you call 'em, to Miss Lane, an' scare the liver outa her."

"I guess Alex Cluny ain't none too crazy about you, Mr. Hattaway, cause it was his life to have her write them letters in your office, on your paper, so's they could be traced to you in case Miss Lane was smart enough to trace 'em it all. Lola quit to swear you dictated you to her, an' she had to write 'em or lose her job."

"I see," Bob spoke through clenched teeth.

"The old snake in the grass!" Cherry hissed like a character in a melodrama.

"Alex Cluny shame twenty bucks a day for my work, an' Lola pull down a grand for writin' them letters, lessen she's 'bin' to me, an' it was more. Dirt cheap for a thousand. I cherry take open the door of the car, and sprang to Bob's side. 'It's the truth, Bob! I've suspected it all along. Say, Pete, how did Lola get in on this party?' she demanded flippantly.

"No, sir, not me! I ain't ready to commit suicide!" Pete Gonzalez chuckled as though to give away.

"Come back here, Pete, or I'll show your feet off! Cherry you'll have to drive. Faith, I'm sorry but you'll have to sit in the little seat that pulls out in the rear. And Pete, you will sit between Miss Lane and me, and if you make a false move, I'll shoot."

Campus Rebels

Continued From Page Five and they will stand at every entrance the night of the mass meeting, ready to pin the white ribbon of purity on the blue serge or gray flannel lapel of each faithful soul that enters the hall.

Eve laughed delightedly. "I shall be there, with my white ribbon," she said. "That'll give the dean o'plexity." "Did Mrs. Brown agree to all this?" asked Judith thoughtfully.

Whether raised his eyebrows. "My dear young woman, that is one of the things I didn't hear." Judith turned down College road. She fluttered a green handkerchief after her.

It was almost noon, and Judith overtook many boys and girls on their way home to lunch.

Walking with her head down, she did not realize that there was someone sitting on the step until she turned into the Stedway walk.

"Eric!" she cried.

He was whistling. "Look," he said, holding up the object. "This is going to be a very, fine whistle, and I'm going to use it to whistle the devil up."

(To Be Continued)

Eric is out of jail, but there is a lot to be explained. The next chapter tells of a mysterious deliverer.

MARKER, Miss., Nov. 26 (AP)—Nine persons, all negroes, were killed here early today in cyclonic winds which swept through three plantations.

Induced and some of those are expected to die. Plantations struck by the tornado were those of C. D. Smith, the Green River Lumber company, the P. M. H. Bell plantation.

School Teacher Dies

MARKER, Mo., Nov. 26 (AP)—Clyde Miller, a high school teacher was killed and about thirty persons were injured, some seriously, by a tornado which struck Big Piney, a small town about twenty miles southeast of here, last night.

Seven Dead at Mer Rouge

MONROE, La., Nov. 26 (AP)—Seven persons dead, four white and three negroes, was the toll of a tornado which struck a mile and a half southwest of Mer Rouge, La., just before midnight last night.

persons dead, four white and three negroes, was the toll of a tornado which struck a mile and a half southwest of Mer Rouge, La., just before midnight last night.

Eight Dead in Missouri SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 26 (AP)—Leaving in its wake eight known dead and more than thirty seriously injured a tornado swept a path of destruction through southern Missouri late yesterday.

Striking at Brandeville about 4 o'clock the storm took three lives and injured several seriously. John Johnson, a Thayer business man, was killed in Brandeville. Another known dead in that city was Mrs. Lula Harris.

Averil Lile, 10, daughter of Fred Lile, was seriously injured that she died. Mr. Lile and his wife and other members of the family were seriously hurt when the storm demolished their home. Property damage was enormous in Brandeville.

The storm then swept a narrow path north and chuffed out four lives. At Competition, Guy Pittsworth, 50, rural mail carrier, is known dead and his wife critically injured and not expected to live. Three residences were blown away at Competition and other damage done. Claude White, 30, a farmer, and one child were reported killed at Competition.

One man was reported dead south of Lebanon. Wires are down to all the towns struck. Five Dead in Missouri ST. LOUIS, Nov. 26 (AP)—Six persons are known to have been killed and an undetermined number injured by a tornado which swept over the southern part of Missouri late yesterday and last night.

Four dead and 20 injured was the known toll of the storm at Brandeville, about 10 miles north of the Arkansas line. Practically every business building in the town was destroyed, including the community hall and a church.

Two Dead at Competition Competition, northwest of Brandeville, and about 80 miles from the Arkansas line, listed two dead and an undetermined number injured. Many of the homes and business houses there were destroyed and others badly damaged.

Fragmentary information from Rolla told of heavy wreckage by the tornado at Knobview, near there, although it was believed no lives were lost. The storm was believed to be an offshoot of the tornado which struck Arkansas late in the day.

Wires Are Down Telephone and telegraph wires were down over the section and reports of the storm reached Springfield, largely by messenger. Late reports there were that a number of towns between Brandeville and Rolla were in the path of the storm, but it was impossible to establish communications with them.

The storm found most of the victims at their evening meal. John Johnson, a Thayer business man, one of the victims at Brandeville, was killed when the storm wrecked his automobile which he was driving home.

Five Dead At Haynesville HAYNESVILLE, La., Nov. 26 (AP)—At least five persons are dead and fifteen injured as the result of a tornado that struck near here last night. The sanitarium here reported the injured continued to be brought in this morning.

SLATON MAN

ing on which he was working crashed to the ground in the wind, and he fell 16 feet to his death.

A 50 mile gale blew for 10 hours in west and north west Texas, raising great clouds of sand which darkened the sky and sprinkled houses, inside and out, with dust.

The result was felt in Dallas and vicinity in a suffocating, dust laden atmosphere, and a strangely colored sky. Sprinkling weather preceded the wind.

Property Damage Heavy Considerable damage to bell electric light and telephone company lines from Lubbock there were reports of houses being unroofed and some moved from their foundations. It was estimated that 5,000 bales of unpicked cotton were blown away and destroyed in Hockley county alone.

Automobile tops were demolished, machines were blown from their parking places and signs were blown down. Western Oklahoma also felt the storm.

Thanksgiving dinners in some sections were generously interspersed with sand and grit. It was reported. The wind subsided last night, and Friday broke clear and cooler.

Three Fire Calls Answered Yesterday

Three runs were made by the fire department yesterday in the wind storm. The first run was made about 11:30 to 1812 avenue G, where an oil stove was afire, no damage resulted. The second run was made at 12:15 by all of the trucks to the Farmers Club where the bare incinerator was throwing flames out and had caught cotton afire. Only a few bales of cotton were stined as the boys soon put out the blaze. The third run was made to a barn at 1914 7th street. The building was destroyed and the department prevented the spreading of the flames. A burning trash pile ignited the barn.

Mexican Wanted In Officers' Death Is Held In Matamoros

(By the Associated Press) BROWNSVILLE, Nov. 26.—Inocencio Hinojosa, wanted by Cameron county officers on a charge of murder in connection with the killing of Constable Jess Billings at La Feria October 11 last, has been arrested by military authorities in Matamoros, Mexico, opposite here, according to advices to American peace officers.

Efforts are now being made to establish the fact of Hinojosa's American citizenship, in which event he may be either extradited through usual processes, or the Mexico authorities may deport him to the United States. Guadalupe Garcia, held in jail without bail, charged with Billings' murder, testified at his preliminary hearing Wednesday that Hinojosa employed him to kill Billings, for which he received $200 and a pistol. He said Hinojosa's motive was revenge because Billings' death Hinojosa was released after paying a fine for vagrancy. He was originally arrested on a prohibition charge. Billings' head was shot off with a shot gun when he left his home early in the evening to attend a moving picture.

Fire Destroys 22 Box Cars At Denison

DENISON, Nov. 26 (AP)—Twenty-two box and coal cars stored in railway yards west of Denison were destroyed by fire today. Loss was estimated at $11,000. As the blaze broke out of widely separated part of the yard almost simultaneously, it was believed incendiary.

Negro Electrocuted For Ohio Murder

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 26 (AP)—Emmanuel Ross, 18 year old negro slayer of leaders Steek, Cleveland confederator, was electrocuted at Ohio state penitentiary today after a last minute appeal to the governor by his attorneys failed to bring a reprieve. On five previous occasions, executive reprieves and court stays had intervened to save the youth's life while his case was carried to the appellate and state supreme court by his atorneys. Steek was finally shot down for a hold up a year ago. TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 26 (AP)—A light snow, not exceeding one-fourth of an inch, fell this morning in North Central and Northwestern Kansas. The weather bureau reported only flurries in central and western counties.
