That Reminds Me—

By FRANK A. JONES

It is with regret that we see the Rev. Fred H. Porter, pastor the local Baptist Church, leaving Eastland. According to our information he leaves sometime in August for Dallas where he has accepted the pastorate of the North Temple Church. Rev. Mr. Porter came to the Eastland church just about two years ago and his record here has been a splendid one. We have watched him in the pulpit, at the various service clubs and in his daily meeting and mingling with the members of his congregation and the general public, and judge him to be a conscientious Christian. We wish him Godspeed in his work at Dallas and where ever else he may be called.

According to Gene Baker's Gorman Progress of last Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Capers of that city have given to the City of Gorman the property owned by them and known as Bass Lake Park as a memorial to their foster son, Frank A. Gray, who was killed in action in India in 1944. The park is to hereafter be known as the Frank A. Gray Memorial Park. It may be improved but the natural flow of water now supplying the lake may not be diverted for other purposes; The Gorman Quarterback Club, according to the agreement, will erect or cause to be erected, within the park a memorial plaque on which be placed the names of the men and women of Eastland county who have lost their lives while in service of their country. The name of Frank A. Gray is to lead this list.

Not only the citizens of Gorman, but those of the entire county are indebted to Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Capers of Gorman for their gift of beautiful Bass Lake as a memorial park for the men and women of Eastland county who gave their lives for their country.

We clip the following from an unknown author: Lord, give me courage to change things that should be changed for the good of mankind, serenity to accept things that should not be changed, and sense enough to know the difference.

Casualties resulting from the power lawn mowers are beginning to be reported. We heard of the owner of a power mower, who, while mowing a steep terrace, slipped and slid into the mower feet first sustaining a badly lacerated foot. A woman to whom a mower was being demonstrated by a salesman, walked into the rapidly revolving sickle sustains badly injured ankle.

A good many thrilling, exciting and thoroughly satisfactory things can happen to a man nothing excels the completely satisfying, body building, soul restoring effect of a good night's sleep.

In 1946 nearly 34,000 persons were killed in automobile accidents and 1,300,000 injured.

The lowest temperature in the United States, 66 degrees below zero, was recorded at Yellowstone Park, Wyoming, in 1933. The highest recorded temperature in the United States, 134 degrees, was recorded in Death Valley, California in 1913.

BROTHERS SAW KILLER NEAR BODY

Driving home from work at 2 a.m., Harry Yeager, left, and his brother Charles, center, spotted a man acting suspiciously in a Marion, Ohio, churchyard. Nearby they saw a woman's form on the ground. They left to telephone Sheriff Leroy Retterer, right, and when they returned the man had disappeared, but the ravished, almost nude, body of Mrs. Zora Hess Gerbes was discovered. She had been strangled with the clothesline held by sheriff in photo above. Murder charge has been filed against Edmond D. Young, 35-year-old truck driver, sought in connection with slaying.

OKINAWA UNREBUILT TWO YEARS AFTER CAPTURE

By Miles W Vaughn
United Press Vice President for Asia

NAHA, Okinawa (UP) — Two years after the conquest of this island by the United States in one of the bloodiest campaigns of the Pacific war, much of southern Okinawa still has the appearance of a battlefield.

The city of Naha, once a thriving port of 65,000 persons with a prosperous foreign trade, is simply a mass of ruins on either side of a military highway which connects U. S. Army installations on the island.

A few Japanese soldiers are believed to be still at large in the mountainous north and Japanese land mines and booby traps still abound and occasionally kill both Americans and Okinawans who venture into old tombs, the debris of buildings and other dangerous areas.

Okinawa, indeed, is a symbol of the indecision of the United States in working out the details of its Far Eastern policy.

Organized Japanese resistance on the island ended on June 21, 1945, after 82 days of the fiercest kind of fighting in which 15,000 Americans, including such figures as Lieut. Gen. Simon Buckner, commander of the U. S. 10th Army, and Ernie Pyle, war correspondent, lost their lives and some 20,000 more were wounded.

Twenty-four months later not a single major building on the island has been rebuilt. American troops are living in temporary shelters. Hundreds of thousands of natives are living in shacks not fit for human habitation. They are being fed in part by American food which has to be imported because of a lack of fertilizer and fishing equipment. Ships are being unloaded in rudimetary fashion because of delay in rebuilding the port.

"Okinawa is one of the forgotten islands of the postwar period," a leading American here told this correspondent. "When an occasional brass hat flies through here from Washington en route to Tokyo or Shanghai he is likely to agree that Okinawa is of vital strategic importance to the United States, but, so far as we can find out, he does nothing about it".

U. S. military leaders are not inclined to talk for publication, but it is obvious that they hope desperately for early clarification of the status of the island and announcement of a long-range American program. The local commanders are doing what they can, but that is little because of a lack of funds and authorization.

The best kept spots on the island, so far as this correspondent could see in a hasty tour, are the five big military cemeteries in which the war dead are buried.

PARIS (UP) — The 16-nation European economic conference headed into its first tiff today with small nations demanding full equality with the big powers in directing machinery to carry out the Marshall plan.

Jurors Excused 'Till 9:30 A. M. Thursday

Those summond last week to appear this morning for service as jurors in the 91st district court were excused this morning by Judge George L. Davenport until Thursday morning at 9:30. This was made necessary because all parties connected with the cases for trial were not ready.

Committee Against Fraud Investigation

By United Press

WASHINGTON — The Senate judiciary committee today voted 7 to 6 to kill a proposed investigation of the Justice Department in connection with alleged vote frauds in President Truman's home district last year.

Sen. William Langer, R., N.D., deserted his Republican colleagues to vote with the six committee Democrats to "indefinitely postpone" action on a resolution by Sen. James P. Kem, R., Mo., calling for the investigation.

Truman, Leaders Rule Out Special Session Of Congress

ASKS DELAY IN COAL PRICE HIKE

By United Press

WASHINGTON — President Truman today asked coal and steel producers to withhold price increases until "a fair test has been mad' of the actual effects of wage increases granted under the new coal contract.

Mr. Truman said the effects of the wage settlement reached last week between the operators and John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers, AFL, had been "badly represented." He said the public still did not fully understand what the actual effect of the settlement would be.

The new coal contract grants miners a $13.05 basic daily wage a $1.20 a day raise. Some coal producers had said this would raise the cost of coal as much as $1 a ton and that steel costs also would go up as a result.

Mr. Truman notified coal and steel producers of his desire to withhold price increases through a statement issued by the White House.

Mr. Truman acknowledged the widespread fear that the new coal contract would cause a substantial hike in the price of coal which in turn would boost industrial prices, induce similar increases in commodity prices, and thus renew an inflationary spiral.

MRS. W. A. JUSTICE WINNER IN GUESSING CONTEST SATURDAY

Mrs. W. A. Justice of Eastland route one was the winner of the all-wool, moth-proof and five year guaranteed blanket given away Saturday by the local J. C. Penney Store to the person guessing the correct weight of a number of blankets on display in the Penney store windows. Mrs. Justice guess was 165 pounds which was the correct weight.

Mrs. P. A. Cox, Eastland route 1, guessd 164 1-2 pounds.

6-Foot Beauty Would Be Queen Of Tall Ones

VANCOUVER, B.C. (UP) — Leni Mazurem, 19-year-old platinum - haired beauty looks down at things but she's quite confident the judges will look up.

The sixfoot Miss Mazurem has been chosen to represent the local chapter of the "Tip-Toppers Club" at the first annual convention of the Tip-Toppers of America in Los Angeles, July 17-23.

Eleven sisters-in-height composing the local unit chose Miss Mazurem to represent them in the parade of tall beauties from which will emerge the "Queen of the Tip-Toppers." And those 11—each a lovely in her own right — know a standout when they see one.

Although Miss Mazurem barely meets the American Tip Topper requirement of six feet, she has a few other qualities her backers believe will make the contest judges stop and look.

She's shapely — very much so. Her platinum hair is natural and she is one of the best-dressed young women in the province.

The founder and president of the local Tip-Toppers is another six-footer, brown - eyed Margaret MacIntosh. She said the idea of starting a Vancouver chapter of the club came to her while on a visit to Los Angeles last year.

Since its organization last October, the local Tip-Topper Club has grow nto a membership of 45, including one married couple. Yes, the high-boys also are eligible for membership.

Miss MacIntosh said girls must be at least five feet 11 inchs and the men not less than six feet two inches to gain membership.

"The biggest problem facing tall girls is finding suitable clothes and shoes," Miss MacIntosh said.

That doesn't bother Leni Mazurem, however.

"My mother is a dressmaker and my dad's a tailor," she said.

Mules Get Best Of Caretaker

EDINBURG, Tex., (UP) — Bill Houser of Edinburg has decided that even Gene Autry might have a tough time of it if he had to work with mules.

Trying to round up two mules, Houser snared them and himself in the rope at the same time.

As a result, a bandage now decorates his left arm. The mules were unhurt and, to Houser's disgust, unruffled.

LARGE CROWD AT SINGING CONVENTION

A crowd estimated at between 600 and 700 was present Saturday day night and Sunday for the Eastland County Singing Convention and old settlers reunion at Kokomo.

More than 100 singers from all over Texas were present and those attending reported a very happy occasion.

E. P. Robinson of Ranger, president of the organization, today expressed his thanks to the people of the Kokomo community for their part in making the event such a success.

Dr. A. K. Wier of Ranger, extended an invitation from the Chamber of Commerce, the city commission and the Ministerial Alliance of Ranger to hold the next convention in Ranger. The invitation was accepted and the convention will be held here the second Saturday and Sunday in October.

Truman Accepts Resignation of Ass't. Secretary

By United Press

WASHINGTON — President Truman today accepted the resignation of Assistant Secretary of War Howard C. Peterson effective July 31.

Petersen, who has been in the War Department more than six and a half years, the last year and a half as assistant secretary, said he felt he must return to private life. He is an attorney.

Petersen has been in charge of military government in occupied areas. He gave no details of his future plans.

Quick Ad Results

AUSTIN, Texas (UP) — The Austin American - Statesman's classified advertising department didn't make money on the deal but had two satisfied customers.

R. J. Powell telephoned the paper to put in an ad for his missing collie. The classified section informed him another call had just come in to advertise a collie that had been found.

The lost dog and his master soon were reunited.

Tests Rent Laws

Cloyd W. Miller, above, Cleveland O., landlord, deliberately precipitated the first test case of the new rent law when he publicly announced 40 to 60 per cent rent increases in the apartment building he owns. The Office of the House Expediter has asked federal courts to enjoin him against the increases, and the hearing on the injunction will be held July 21. (NEA Telephoto).

Kaiser Ordered To Hospital For Observation

By United Press

WASHINGTON William L. Kaiser, discharged former capitol policeman who fired two ineffective shots at Sen. John W. Bricker, R., O., Saturday ,today was ordered to a hospital for mental observation and examination.

The order was issued by municipal Judge Ellen K. Ready when Kaiser was arraigned on charges of assault with intent to kill and carrying a deadly weapon.

He continued the case for 30 days pending Kaiser's examination.

Taft Denies He Blocked Action On Legislation

By United Press

WASHINGTON — Sen. Robert A. Taft, R., O., today denied former Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts' charge that he has "obstructed" Senate consideration of universal military training legislation.

Taft told a reporter he " still regards" enactment of a UMT program as "unnecessary," despite Roberts' statement that continued delay "might result in a national calamity."

Sullivan Fined For Recklessness

Rev. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Big Spring and Mrs. O'Brien will sail from New York next Thursday for Copenhagen, to attend the Baptist World Alliance meeting and will tour England and Scotland before returning to the United States.

Rev. O'Brien is an uncle of Eastland City Manager Harl O'Brien, and is well known in Eastland and surrounding towns.

PRESIDENT TO SPEED TAX VETO MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

By United Press

WASHINGTON — President Truman and congressional leaders agreed today that a special session of Congress will not be necessary this fall. Mr. Truman also promised to help speed the adjournment schedule by sending his veto message on the new tax reduction bill to Congress promptly.

He announced he will veto the bill, which the Senate expects to pass today. The house passed it last Tuesday.

Senate President Arthur H. Vandenberg said he and his colleagues took up with the president the possibility of an extra session this fall. They agreed that such a session was contemplated. But the Michigan republican noted that Mr. Truman reserves the right to change his mind in event of an emergency.

Vandenberg said it was quite possible that the Senate foreign relations committee might be called back after adjournment to get certain legislation ready for Congress when it reconvenes in January.

The Marshall plan for European recovery did not figure in the White House discussion except when references were made to it in connection with the need for an extra session, it was said.

The President invited the legislative leaders to the White House primarily to urge legislation to permit entry of some 400,000 European refugees to this country.

Vandenberg said, however, that extreme tightness in the congressional schedule would make it all but impossible to complete action on this legislation before adjournment, scheduled for July 26.

Speaker Joseph W. Martin, Jr., had said earlier he saw no need for a special fall session.

Charges Bridges Embarrassed Marine Union

NEW YORK — Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime Union, CIO, charged today that Harry Bridges, west coast CIO longshoresmens' leader, "embarrassed" the NMU by meeting secretly in New York with William Z. Foster and other Communist party officials.

Writing in his unions paper, the Pilot, Curran confirmed that Bridges met secretly with Communist leaders during the recent NMU shipping tie-up.

Bridges and Foster denied at the time that they had met.

EASTLAND WOMAN RETURNS FROM VISIT IN CALIFORNIA

Mrs. Alma Murray returned Saturday from a visit with her son William and family at Long Beach, California. While there Mrs. Murray's cousin John Martin of Los Angeles, joined her in the visit one evening, and Mrs. Murray returned home with him for a visit. She also visited another relative, Mrs. Nettie Pershing at Whittier, California, and enjoyed going through her large orange orchard.

Mrs. Murray said she attended the open house at the ship yards at the Harbor at Long Beach, went through a submarine and a large battleship and made a trip in a passenger ship during the day at the Harbor.

Mrs. Murray plans to leave the first of August to visit another son, Royce L. Murray at Birmingham, Ala.

EUROPE SPLITS OVER AID CONFERENCE

U.S. TO TRY OUT MACHINE DESIGNED FOR MANY ILLS

WASHINGTON (UP)— The government shortly will test a German machine whose inventors claim it could cure a variety of ailments including asthma and migraine headaches—with ionized air.

Migraine heretofore has resisted nearly all attempts to alleviate it, and United States officials are skeptial of the German claims.

The machine, in a state of d's-repair, was brought here from the University of Frankfurt medical school after the war. It is caled a "unipolar ionized air apparatus."

Its heart is a tube of magnesium which, when heated to incandescence, gives off electrically charged particles which are picked up by an air stream shot past the tube. The patient inhales the ionized air through a special mask.

A German professor named H. Lampert said the machine relieved high blood pressure, migraine, asthma, hay fever, sinus trouble, vasomotoris angina pectoris, vasomotoris disturbances during the climacterium, weather sensitiveness in persons suffering from muscular rheumatism, scar pains and climate allergy.

All of those maladies have been hard to ameliorate with other treatments.

The machine was brought here by the Commerce Department's Office of Technical Services. Charles E. Reed, chief of the OTS medical and pharmaceutical unit, said that after repairs are made, the device will be tested at one of the universities here.

Reed was dubious about the machine's value and said OTS would not publicize it until after the tests.

"No confirmatory data has been obtained," he said of the German claims. "As it stands, the ionized air treatment is to the best of our nowledge an unsupported claim without scientific validation and possibly on the same level as advertised cancer cures."

Plant Rushes Season And City Shivers

WTUKESHA, Wis. (UP) — Among the Waukeshans who was too impatient for summer to come was L. V. Schibursky, manager of the Wisconsin Gas and Electric Co. plant.

Schibursky halted central heat, furnished by the utility for most of the downtown stores and office continued when the temperature biuldings. He ordered the heat dis-climbed to 86 degrees.

The next day, the mercury dropped to 45. Because boilers are dismantled when the heat is turned off, Schibursky said it would be impossible to take care of the city during the temporary cold spell.

The heat, he said, would not be turned on again until next Sept ember.

the rambler
by Jack E. Brady

Saturday's appearance of Eastland reminded one of the bygone days, when a constant "hustle-and-bustle" of people was a common thing with our County Seat town . . . The opening of the Eastland Trades-Day and Free Farmers Market, was a huge success. The crowd of people was far beyond all expectations; every section of Eastland County was represented. A late evening check-up on the business firms, reflected that all merchants were enjoying a nice business, as a result of the throng that assembled for the Eastland Trades-Day opening.

Entirely too few farmers participated in the free market that was made available to them; those who did bring their various commodities to Eastland's Free Farmers Market, report that they "sold out in a hurry." The farmers market will become just as large as the farmers of Eastland County want it to be; it is entirely up to the farmers; too, it is up to the citizens of Eastland, to indicate their cooperation, and desire for a Farmers Market in Eastland, by patronizing the farmer. As heretofore stated, OUR ACCOMPLISHMENTS ARE UNLIMITED IF WE HAVE THE PROPER UNITY . . . Do we want a bigger and better Eastland? If so, let's prove that we do, by getting things done, through united effort . . .

F. H. A. Title 6, Loans

Sometime ago, "the rambler" publicized a building campaign that was in progress at other towns in Eastland county . . . We are indeed happy to report that "Bob" Collins of the Collins Insurance Agency, has announced that his company is now in a position to negotiate home building in Eastland, as provided by the Federal Housing Administration's Title 6, whereby an ex-GI may actually obtain a 100 per cent loan, for home building, under the F. H. A. Title 6, set-up, at an interest rate of 4 1-2 per cent, with terms up to twenty-five years. A non-Veteran may also build a home under the F. H. A. Title 6, plan . . . however, the provision is for 90 per cent of the total cost . . . For full details, contact Bob Collins of the Collins Insurance Agency, at once. The city of Eastland is very fortunate to have a "live-wire," progressive business establishment, such as the Collins Insurance Agency, that has made a home building campaign for Eastland possible, by making the F.H.A. Title 6, guaranteed loan plan, available to everyone who wants a home . . . See Bob Collins, at once, let's get a building program underway at once.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce will have a called meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow evening . . . Tuesday, July 15, at the Connellee Hotel roof; be sure to attend. No organization can be more alive than its members are.

The Judge says that with everything continuing favorable, there is a prospect of 200,000 bales of cotton, this year.

"the rambler" interviewed many of the "people-on-the-street" Saturday, asking, "What Do You Think of Eastland's Trades-Day" . . . The comment was as follows:

"I attended the livestock sales" . . . J. B. Caudle, Rt. 1 Eastland,
"The town looks mighty good to me, today"—M. H. Byrd, Rt. 1, Eastland,
"Trades-Day is a boost for the town, they should never have stopped them in Eastland"—Mrs. Jack Smith, Eastland, STILLWATER, Okla. (UP) — The beraks came out even for Carl Petty, a laundry truck driver.

He was booked at the police station for making an improper turn and was told to return to municipal court one hour later. A few minutes after leaving the station he found a $1 bill on the street. When he returned to court, he was fined $1 on the traffic charge.

300 Women Scientists Taking Part In U. S. Pursuit Of Atomic Energy

WASHINGTON (UP)—More than 300 women scientists and technicians are working on the national atomic energy program, the Atomic Energy Commission reports.

Their jobs range from operation of an atomic pile to analysis of invisible substances.

The commission, and official said, intends to utilize fully the scientific brainpower of the country, whether it belongs to man or woman. Or, as he puts it, "Sex is not an attribute if the mind."

An outstanding woman scientist works at the Argonne Laboratory in Chicago, which employs more than 100 women in this field. She is Maria G. Mayer, theoretical nuclear mysterious world of mesetrons, quantum mechanics and relativity.

Fourteen men work on AEC contracts with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Some do micro-analysis of minerals. Since the field of atomic study is so new, in many instances no standard procedure exists for such analysis. These women must develop new techniques.

Edith Goldfarb, a physicist, operates an atomic pile at Argonne. She runs the complex instrument by remote control, shielded by thick walls from the pile's dangerous radioactivity.

Enrico Fermi, famous physicist who helped discover the bomb, is assisted by youthfull Leona Woods Marshall, herself a physicist, at Argonne. Mrs. Marshall was the only woman to witness the first chain reaction in history in Chicago in December, 1942.

"Expert in petrology, petrography and minerology" is the way AEC describes one of the women geologists working for it.

Women are engaged in drafting blueprints for instruments never made before and in measuring radiation in atomic laboratories. Since radiation is potentially dangerous a careful check must be made 24 hours a day an the amount present in the air.

Women scientists are employed at Oak Ridge and Hansford, Wash., where plutonium is handled, and assembled. Operations at Los Alamos are so secret that officials there refuse to describe the type of work the women do.

DEATH

RIDES WITH THE RECKLESS

One-fourth of all fatal accidents on the highways of our country and in the streets of our cities and towns are caused by speed. Reckless drivers—disregarding all the laws of traffic safety and common sense, urging onward automobiles catapulted by the power of a hundred horses—these were the prime killers in 1946.

Last year 33,500 persons—drivers, riders and pedestrians—died in automobile accidents. That's about one death every fifteen minutes. More than a million were injured, many of them maimed or crippled for life. This year the toll will be even greater, approaching an all-time high of 40,000 deaths—unless you, Mr. and Mrs. Driver, call off this daily rendezvous with Death.

You can do your part to help stop this highway slaughter by personally striving for an accident-free record. Drive carefully at all times. Be considerate of other drivers and pedestrians. Gauge your speed to highway conditions and traffic requirements.

Don't let Death hang over your shoulder and point the way to the morgue. Drive safely—and live!

This advertisement is presented in the public interest by the President's Highway Safety Conference and the daily and weekly newspapers of the nation through their Press and Publisher Associations
