The commission set a May 23 hearing.

Warplanes fate hazy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's proposed warplane sale is heading for an uncertain fate in Congress.

The proposal is before the Senate Foreign Relations and the House International Relations committees.

There is strong opposition in both houses to the Egyptian and Saudi sales, but whether the opponents have majorities in the committees and then on the floor is not known.

More about Moro

ROME (AP) — Leaders of the Christian Democratic Party scheduled another meeting today to discuss a bitter blast from Aldo Moro's family because of their refusal to negotiate with the terrorist kidnapers of the party's 61-year-old president.

There was no indication Premier Giulio Andreotti and other leaders of the ruling party would be swayed by the statement from the Moro family.

Rhodes would support stronger arms effort

Democratic Congressional A.L. (Dusty) Rhodes stated this morning at an Abilene news conference that he is concerned about the apparent erosion of the United States military strength as compared to that of the Warsaw Pact countries.

Rhodes blamed the lack of leadership on Capitol Hill for the declining state of military preparedness. Said Rhodes:

"There appears to be a feeling of apathy throughout the country toward defense. In the past few months a number of major defense cuts have been made. We have scrapped the B1 Bomber, cancelled 60 new Minute Men missiles, authorized troop pullouts from South Korea, moved to recognize China and abandoned Taiwan and approved a treaty to ultimately relinquish control of the Panama Canal. Within the last week, 107 military installations were proposed to be closed.

"Closer to home we have lost two military installations, Webb AFB at Big Spring and Fort Wolters of Mineral Wells. In addition to that, we now hear that Goodfellow AFB at San Angelo may be closed and a substantial reduction in force is planned for Fort Bliss.

"We are cutting our military strength at the very point in time when we need to be expanding in that area. The arms buildup in the communist world is far more extensive than would be required for a mere defensive posture.

"The Soviet Union is working to gain a first strike position by taking advantage of the ambiguities of the SALT 1 interim agreement by developing and rapidly deploying many new

Continued Rhodes:

"I believe that this is a crucial situation. Top NATO officers and leaders of the Western World have voiced their concern. Gen. Alexander Haig, Supreme Allied Commander of NATO forces, has said we are getting to the fine edge of disaster. I believe that we can and must have a defense force second to none.

"Our best weapon is freedom, backed up with the firepower militarily to protect it from all who would take it from us. Our best attack weapon is freedom internationally and individually. We must set our national priorities straight and recognize this fact.

"Once we do, we can cut wasteful administration of our military procurement and planning and create a national will to protect our freedom from a position of strength. It is about time that someone chastized the legislators of our country for pushing aside the business of safeguarding the principles founded on freedom, individual liberty and the rule of peace.

"Someone has to be the spark to unite and carry through with results regarding our defense posture. After I am elected to the U.S. Congress from the 17th District I intend to be that spark."

A staunch advocate of a strong national defense, Rhodes served during the Korean conflict as a member of the U.S. Navy. He currently is a member of the Military Affairs Committee of the Abilene Chamber of Commerce. The Abilene Democrat is seeking to replace the retiring U.S. Representative, Omar Burlison of Anson.

ALL IN THE NAME OF POLITICS — Jim Sharp (left) of Big Spring, candidate for the office of U.S. Congressman from the 17th District, accepts shipment of 100,000 safety matches he is distributing throughout the 33-county district. It is estimated there are that many eligible voters within the district. A warehouse foreman has Sharp sign the necessary papers. Sharp said he planned to stay busy right up to election time Saturday, soliciting support in the race. He is one of seven Democrats contending for the job which will be vacated by Omar Burlison at the end of this year.

Hustle 3 Overcome a trend

By Bill Albright Executive Vice President, Big Spring Area Ch. of Commerce Industrial Growth and Development

Do you believe in America? Now that's not as dumb a question as it sounds. And the reason is — there are so many coalitions, factions and groups that are working against our time honored and proven system of economics that it's downright frightening.

I just hope it's frightening enough for a sufficient number of us to take the action necessary to overcome the trend, reverse the growing tendency toward socialism and get us back on the path of a sound economy — which would be based on the Profit Motive and the law of supply and demand. Believe it or not — all of the freedoms that we pride ourselves on and which are missing from the other economies of the world are based on an unsung, misunderstood and little appreciated freedom.

The Freedom of Enterprise. It has been that freedom which has been the simple — uncomplicated secret to the success of America for more than 200 years. It has made a very new and young country into the greatest, most powerful nation in the history of the world.

And what's frightening to me is the eroding of the prerogatives of a free people under that system. It's the excessive burden of taxation and the continued increase of deficit spending and the continual spiraling of governmental controls and regulation.

Sunday.

In other minor accidents, two hit and run accidents were reported. Billy Thompson, Coahoma, reported that a vehicle struck his parked car in a private lot at 1600 E. FM 700 around 11:30 p.m. Saturday and left the scene.

Food bills going up bit slower

Grocery bills went up again last month, but the rate of increase was lower than it has been so far this year, an Associated Press marketbasket survey shows.

The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and nonfood items, checked the price at one supermarket in each of 13 cities on March 1, 1978 and has rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month. One item, chocolate chip cookies, was dropped from the list at the end of November 1977 because the manufacturer discontinued the package size used in the survey.

The latest survey, taken at the end of April, showed that the bill for the list of items increased at the checklist store in nine cities last month, rising an average of 1.5 percent. The bill decreased at the checklist store in four cities, dropping an average of 1.5 percent. On an overall basis, the marketbasket bill at the checklist stores at the end of April was half a percent higher than it was a month earlier.

In contrast, in each of the first three months of the year, the marketbasket total increased by more than 1 percent per month, with a boost of near 2 percent in February alone.

Rising meat prices have been responsible for much of the increase and the pattern continued in April.

Absentee voting ends Tuesday Tuesday in the County Clerk's office. Vote totals to date are: 363 Democratic and eight Republican ballots cast in the office, and 57 Democratic and 24 Republican mailout ballots sent. Mail ballots which are received by the time the polls close Saturday will be counted.

Circus van mishap kills three men

HOUGHTON, Mich. (AP) — Defective brakes apparently caused a van carrying props for a Shrine Circus touring company to smash into a concrete bridge abutment, killing three men and injuring three others, police say.

Police identified the victims from Friday night's accident as Carl A. Nordin, 43, of Lubbock, Texas, who was driving the truck; Anthony Gilio, 61, Corona, N.Y.; and Wayne Lee Sater, 38, Springfield, Mo.

One of the injured was admitted to Portage View Hospital with contusions, but was released Sunday. Two others were treated for cuts and released.

Police said the three victims were riding in the cab of the truck while the three survivors had been resting in a makeshift bunk in the trailer.

The rig apparently lost its braking power as it was going down Bridge Street, a steep road leading to the junction of Michigan 26 and U.S. 41 in downtown Houghton, police said.

One of the survivors told police he heard air leaking. He told police that was the last thing he remembered until he regained consciousness as workers cut him from the wreckage.

The van careened across the northbound lanes of U.S. 41, missing other traffic, and slammed into a Soo Lines railroad bridge at the edge of an inlet linking Lake Superior to Portage Lake, police said.

The front 15-foot section of the rig was smashed flat by the impact.

The circus troupe reportedly was on its annual spring tour of Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin. The performers had finished an evening performance at the Michigan Tech University ice arena and were heading out of town when the wreck occurred.

Circus officials said a performance at Menominee went on as scheduled Saturday with the remaining members of the troupe.

MARK SHEEDY (L) ACCEPTS MEDALLION Donor is Amoco's Paul Collier

Festival role earns local man medallion

Mark Sheedy, 21, of Big Spring, has received Amoco Oil Company's Bronze Medallion of Excellence for his participation in the national American College Festival in Washington, D.C.

The bronze award, created seven years ago as a part of Amoco's sponsorship of the American College Theatre Festival, was presented during ceremonies in the John F. Kennedy Center's Eisenhower Theater following Angelo State University's production of Sideshow, the winner of the student playwriting competition.

Sheedy, a senior at ASU, served as the master electrician for the production. The ACTF began in 1967 as a joint effort of theatre educators and professionals, government, and business to provide a national showcase for university theatre. This year more than 430 colleges and universities, and more than 15,000 students and faculty participated in productions, workshops, and seminars at a variety of state and regional events.

The American College Theatre Festival is presented annually by the John F. Kennedy Center and the Alliance for Arts Education, produced by the American Theatre Association, and sponsored by Amoco Oil Company.

Man refuses to pay state, federal taxes

TIFFON, Ga. (AP) — E.L. Fowler has refused to pay federal or state taxes ever since the U.S. Supreme Court outlawed racially segregated public schools in 1954. He calls it a "passive protest" against government waste and immorality.

Fowler also refuses to charge state sales tax or to withhold taxes from the paychecks of workers at his tombstone business.

The 68-year-old Fowler now faces up to five years in prison and a fine of up to $50,000 on charges, brought by the Internal Revenue Service, that he failed to file tax returns from 1971 to 1975. The case is scheduled to be heard in Atlanta on June 12.

Fowler also faces state charges that he failed to collect taxes on his business since 1968.

Fowler, a white-haired father of five, has a litany of complaints about the government, which he charges contributes to the "delinquency" of Georgia's young people.

"My conscience will not allow me to pay for abortions," he said. "My conscience will not allow me to buy these filthy books for our children in the schools we have now, the filthy books that are too filthy to be sent through the mail."

Fowler, who intends to act in his own defense in court, said he will ask the federal judge to disqualify himself since judges' salaries are paid by tax money.

Dr. Archibald, Tex will whoop it up

BARABOO, Wis. (AP) — Enter Archibald. The Tex has laid an egg. And that, in a way, is a tribute to the fancy dancing of Dr. George Archibald, an ornithologist.

Tex is an 11-year-old whooping crane who was raised in the living room of Fred Stark of the San Antonio, Texas, Zoo. She did not meet another crane until after her second birthday. By then she was fonder of humans than birds.

The International Crane Foundation here, which cares for and studies dozens of rare birds in an effort to prevent their extinction, received recent notoriety for Archibald's mating dance with Tex.

A State Income Tax. A Hangman's Noose For Texas.

If you think taxes are choking you now, consider the possibility of a State income tax. It would be a noose around your neck. Around the neck of every Texan. And around the future of Texas.

A vote for John Hill is a vote for:

- bigger government.
- more government spending.
- more inflation.

AND FOR A STATE INCOME TAX.

A vote for Dolph Briscoe is a vote for:

- fiscal responsibility
- less — not more — government.
- continued economic growth.

AND FOR NO NEW TAXES.

- We don't need New York-style government in Texas.
- We don't need Washington-style bureaucracy in Texas.
- And we don't need a big spending liberal activist as Governor of Texas.

LET'S KEEP DOLPH BRISCOE AS OUR GOVERNOR.

"We are already footing the bill for run-away government in Washington. As Texans we should not have to foot the bill for run-away government in Austin.

"I don't think Texas should spend itself into a state income tax. That is exactly what will happen if Mr. Hill fulfills only some of his political promises."

Message comes through loud and clear

Are politics getting so rough that many of the old pros in high office are deciding its not worth the effort?

One would think so, judging from the number of people in the U.S. House of Representatives who did not offer for re-election. Of course, advancing age caught up with a number of the public servants, but age never stopped many in the past.

There are a lot of problems confronting this nation that the electorate feels the U.S. Congress hasn't lent the proper attention to. The voters are angry. They feel their representatives are too willing to spend money when money alone won't correct the problems.

THERE'S NO DOUBT about the public servants feeling the heat. The voters are reminding them by mail, by telephone and often in person that they're not happy with the failure of the government to put a throttle on inflation, with the manner in which this country tries to be an international referee yet can't work out problems here.

Gallup released results of a recent poll, the implications of which both the White House and the Congress should heed. It offered some rough reminders that the Indians, more intently than ever before, are watching the chiefs.

Clearly, unequivocally, the survey indicates that most Americans are concerned about unsolved domestic problems — with foreign involvements running a poor fourth.

The citizenry sampled by Gallup listed, by top-heavy percentage, inflation and the high cost of living as its No. 1 worry. Three-three per cent shout "do something about our cost of living," while the No. 2 priority — energy problems — was the concern of 23 per cent.

UNEMPLOYMENT, RANKED in the No. 3 spot with 17 per cent, ran far ahead of the fourth concern — international problems and foreign policy.

From the amount of time being spent on the Panama treaty, for instance, it seems obvious that the public's perception of national priorities is more critical than that of the political establishments.

Inflation, and its inevitable bed-fellow, the high cost of living, stem primarily and almost exclusively from excessive government spending. The citizens say in no uncertain terms, that they don't like that source of inflation.

Our current federal deficit is approaching a massive $700 billion. That, of course, only adds to the inflation spiral.

New people are headed into Washington after this year. They should have no trouble picking up the signals from the constituency.

Doesn't slow down

Around the rim

Carla Waiker

At one time it was something special to turn 21. All of a sudden, you were a mature, responsible, independent thinking adult. Now, that's all old hat.

Once, 21, was the legal age for a variety of things, including voting. It was the age at which a person's parents could no longer be held legally responsible for his actions.

NOW, ALL that comes at age 18, and reaching the magical 21 is almost a letdown. Take into consideration that deadlines require that I am writing this rim two days in advance of turning 21.)

I haven't given much serious consideration to what becoming a 21-year-old means to me, other than the fact that it means my insurance will go to about one-half of what I've been paying.

An old college buddy of mine was appalled at her 21st birthday because it meant that, "In nine years, I'll be 30." I don't think I dread reaching 30 quite that much, but it is something to think about.

For me, I think college graduation was the one incident, more than a birthday, that made me feel that I was getting old. Even the experience of leaving my teen years forever on my 20th birthday couldn't compare with the helplessness I felt at graduation from college. Thinking about old friends that I would probably never see again — much less be close to — gave me a feeling that time was just moving me along and nothing I could do would slow it down.

BUT, THAT'S not all bad, because I've decided in the four months since graduation that, as fun as college was, I don't want to go back. I guess time has changed more than just the circumstances around me, but has changed me a little, too.

The only other reaction to the "magic 21" expressed by people around me was noted by my older brother, who insists that 21 is the age at which an "eligible, single girl" becomes an "old maid." (He is also the one who informed me that "old maid of honor" is the more proper designation for single, female bridal attendants in a wedding.)

Oh well, if what he says is true, then old maid-dom, here I come.

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — In two mid-April meetings conducted here under strictest secrecy, key officials in the National Security bureaucracy agreed with British counterparts not to insist on previous stringent conditions for a total nuclear test ban treaty with the Soviet Union.

The extreme secrecy may have been designed to keep news of the meetings not so much from the Russians as from the Pentagon. The new U.S. negotiating posture amounts to accepting Soviet terms for verification of a comprehensive ban of all underground nuclear tests (atmospheric tests were outlawed 15 years ago). That is wholly unacceptable to the Joint Chiefs of Staff and some senior Defense Department officials who had no part in the decision, thus posing direct confrontation between President Carter and the Pentagon.

THE PRESIDENT has talked repeatedly of a treaty "to prohibit any testing of nuclear weapons at all." But the Pentagon believes Moscow could easily violate such a treaty by testing small weapons in the 3 to 10 kiloton range, which cannot be identified as a nuclear blast. Since the U.S. would obey the treaty, this could in time give Moscow significantly higher confidence in the reliability of Soviet weapons and conceivably create self-doubt about the U.S. deterrent.

Ironically, the drive for a comprehensive test ban treaty has been viewed by some arms control advocates as an easy first step before taking the threatened SALT (strategic arms limitation talks) agreement to the Senate. Fitting President Carter's dream of a world free from nuclear weapons, the test ban was thought to offer a quick win in the Senate.

Consequently, a major push has been under way for several weeks in Geneva for a test ban treaty. But Soviet negotiator Igor Morokhov rejected the U.S. proposal that compliance be verified inside the Soviet Union by about 20 new internal seismic stations using sophisticated U.S. equipment guaranteed against Soviet tampering. Simultaneously, the British cabinet secretly agreed to soften its negotiating position.

That was the situation April 17 when British officials came to Washington for a hush-hush conference with two critically important U.S. officials: Alan Neidle of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency (ACDA) and Leslie Gelb of the State Department. The Defense Department was not invited to send representatives.

NEIDLE DECLARED the U.S. and Great Britain must have a strategy which "finesses" Morokhov's concerns. Abandoning previous U.S. demands, Neidle, proposed accepting no more than 12 seismic stations in the Soviet Union at locations of Moscow's choice. These stations would be located at existing Soviet facilities, possibly improved by U.S. earthquake monitoring equipment not specifically designed for test ban verification.

"The ACDA position," said one inside critic, "seems to be more concerned with obviating Soviet worries than obtaining an adequate verification network." Neidle even suggested that verification details not be worked out in advance but be left to a "joint consultative commission" after the treaty's ratification. The British agreed.

Finally, Neidle told the British the U.S. no longer insists on permitting some relatively low-level testing, called essential by U.S. weapons experts to maintain the nuclear arsenal. Rather, he said, the U.S. delegation will return to Geneva without any position on permitted testing. Neidle's new position was confirmed to the British two days later, April 19, in another secret meeting by John Markham of the National Security Council (NSC) staff.

Garlic cure' a time-honored myth

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My mother-in-law has a book about garlic that says it is a wonderful cure and that you should rub it onto a sore or eat a clove a day to kill germs. She also says it purifies the blood and can draw the poison out of an earache. Can you comment on the medicinal uses of garlic? — S.S.

Garlic has stubbornly held its ranking in folkore medicine for centuries. It is as hard to suppress the many claims made for it as it is to suppress its odor.

One reference I have on the subject lists no less than 33 conditions (from asthma to worms) for which garlic is supposed to be helpful. A new one, which seems to be enjoying a renaissance of late, is high blood pressure. Curiously, my list of ailments for which garlic is supposed to help includes low blood pressure. The folklorists cannot have it both ways. I was not taught in medical school that the blood could be "purified." There are ways to remove some poisons from the blood, as in heavy metal poisoning, but garlic is not one of them.

Garlic has no medicinal value. Of course, as a flavoring, it does have its rightful place in cooking.

Most of the false claims for foods and other substances are based on coincidence and the fact that many ailments do tend to subside periodically, or run their course and disappear. Thus, you will find many staunch champions of this or that food or substance who will swear that it "cured" them.

Martin Gardner in his book, "Fads and Fallacies," cites the example of the old witch doctor and the eclipse of the sun. The sun darkens, the savages cringe in fear, and the witch doctor is called in. He waves a wand at the skies and, sure enough, before long the sun pops out again. He has cured the sun of whatever it was that ailed it. Most of the folkore cures fall into this category.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 65 years old and am becoming crippled with arthritis. My husband insists it is because of the blood pressure pills I take. He says a friend of his takes the same pills and his doctor insists he eat a banana and drink a glass of orange juice a day. His doctor says it will put back what the pills take away.

If that's the case how are the pills doing any good? Can you tell me what's going on? I had a pressure of 212 and it is now down to 160. If I keep taking these pills, should I also take the bananas and juice? — Mrs. C. C.

Your blood pressure pills are not a factor in your arthritis. They work by releasing sodium and water from the system. The idea is to reduce your body's liquid volume and thereby reduce the blood pressure.

One effect of these diuretics can be a loss of potassium, one of the vital body minerals. Bananas and orange juice are rich in potassium and tend to offset the loss.

Obviously the medicine is doing some good. You might want to add the banana and orange to your diet if your doctor feels it is necessary. I might add that loss of potassium may cause muscular symptoms that can be confused with arthritis. Report this to your doctor.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have learned quite a bit from your column over the years, so here I am finally with a question. I have a 12-year-old son who is getting spots on his face. They are little brown blotches. They are not raised, but are level with the skin. Is he in need of certain vitamins? What causes these? — Mrs. H. K.

Spots, blotches, and pimples must be seen first hand, of course. There is a possibility these could be freckles. They tend to appear at this time of year when he is getting outdoors more. Freckles are easily "diagnosed." So have the doctor look at them.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: If a person has had surgery for an anal fistula, should he expect it to return? — H.F.

The chances are the old fistula would not return. However, a new one might form in the area.

Arthritis sufferers can be helped. Dr. Thosteson's booklet discusses many types of arthritis and related joint diseases as well as effective treatments and medications. For a copy of "How You Can Control Arthritis," write to him in care of The Big Spring Herald. Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Dear Editor:

I was quite surprised to see that my opponent would agree to have an open debate as suggested by Ms. Sandra Sawyer in regards to our race for District Judge when the code of Judicial Conduct as amended as of February 18, 1977 and promulgated by the Supreme Court of Texas requires that candidates for Judicial Offices that is filled by public election are required to:

"a. should maintain the dignity appropriate to judicial office, and should encourage members of his family to adhere to the same standards of political conduct that apply to him;"

"b. should prohibit others subject to his direction or control from doing for him what is prohibited from doing under this Canon;"

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Does a real friend offer advice to someone, even at the risk of losing their friendship? — P. B.

DEAR P. B.: All literature abounds in concrete examples of friendship. Notable among these are instances in the Old Testament. Abraham, because of the intimacy of his relationship, was called the "friend" of God. "But thou, Israel, art my servant, Jacob whom I have chosen, the seed of Abraham my friend" (Isaiah 41:8). Exodus 33:11 tells us that "The Lord spake unto Moses face to face, as a man speaketh unto his friend."

But now, regarding how candid you should be with your friend, I would suggest you be absolutely truthful, within the bounds of kindness and friendly concern. Truth is no less truth because it may be delayed in its communication. Sometimes an immediate sharing of the truth might cause harm or misunderstanding.

Friendship thrives on an open relationship, free of hypocrisy and ulterior motives. Proverbs 27:17 puts it well in saying, "Iron sharpeneth iron; so a man sharpeneth the countenance of his friend," or "Wounds from a friend are better than kisses from an enemy!" (Proverbs 27:6, The Living Bible).

Bible scholars have always identified the Proverbs statements in 18:24 with Jesus Christ ("there is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother"). If through faith you have that friendship, He'll help you with every other one.

Park flunks tests

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Korean payoff man Tongsun flunked some of the Justice Department's lie detector tests. This is the report of sources who have had access to the confidential results.

A Justice Department spokesman put it more cautiously. He acknowledged that Park had shown "some sensitivity to certain questions." But the polygraph machine merely registered Park's nervous reactions; it would be stretching "to conclude that he lied," the spokesman said.

The Justice Department questioned Park for 17 days in Seoul. For 12 of those days he was strapped to a polygraph machine. He was questioned about 23 topics while the machine monitored his veracity.

Later, he was questioned for another week in Washington. Again he submitted to lie detector tests during most of the questioning.

THE NEEDLES ON the machine jumped when he denied any link with the Korean Central Intelligence Agency. This showed he was nervous about his answer. Our sources say he simply flunked this question.

In testimony before the House Park denied that he had ever been on the KCIA payroll. "I was (a) private person and doing (a) private thing anything to do with the Korean government."

This appears to conflict with the polygraph results. It could subject Park to perjury charges. The Justice Department spokesman emphasized that Park's immunity was "conditional" and that the charges against him have not been dismissed. These charges could be pressed, with new perjury charges added, if it can be proved he lied under oath.

But this would put the Justice Department in an awkward position. It is relying heavily on Park's testimony to make a case against congressmen who were on the take. It would be difficult for the Justice Department to take these cases to court if it impeached the key witness by indicating him for perjury.

Our sources admit that Park has made many conflicting statements out of court, that he exaggerated his influence on Capitol Hill and that he probably misled his own government. But the Justice Department has solid evidence contradicting his claim that he was merely a businessman acting on his own.

DETENTE DETERIORATES: President Carter's national security adviser, Zbigniew Brzezinski, has reported secretly to the Cabinet that a "pattern of deterioration" is undermining Soviet-American relations. The president said he "shares Dr. Brzezinski's sense that the U.S.-U.S.S.R. relationship is not as good as it should be."

The biggest obstacle to detente is the Cuban-Soviet intervention in the African Horn. Energy Secretary James Schlesinger warned the Cabinet that the Soviets are threatening U.S. oil routes by shipping Cuban troops and billions worth of weaponry into this strategic corner of Africa.

Yet the Kremlin has ignored U.S. warnings to tread carefully in the African Horn. Soviet diplomats have refused to acknowledge the slightest misgivings over actions in Africa.

CARTER HAS TRIED to save a nuclear arms pact, meanwhile, by delicately separating the SALT talks from the African issue. "The Administration is not linking the SALT negotiations to the Soviet presence in the African Horn," he informed the Cabinet.

He believes it will take a summit conference to settle the differences over SALT. "Ultimately," he told the closed-door session, he would have to sit down with Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev "to resolve the last three or four issues" still holding up the arms pact.

The Soviets are equally adamant over human rights, which is also jeopardizing detente. According to confidential Cabinet minutes, Brzezinski reported on Soviet antagonism at the Belgrade conference on European cooperation. At one point, Soviet delegate Yuliy Vorontsov threatened "terrible consequences" if the United States continues to press the human rights issue.

But this did not deter American delegate Arthur Goldberg who had instructions from Washington "vigorously to pursue the cause of human rights."

Brzezinski also cited the Soviets' "sustained campaign against the neutron bomb" and "their efforts to expand naval bases in the Mediterranean" as deterrents to better relations.

"But, rest assured, I'll fight on... as soon as I find m'sword!"

Energy Solar power long way off

There is a lot of solar research being done these days, but it will probably be a long time before solar power is generating much electricity, according to TESCO Manager Jack Redding.

"Texas Electric is helping support solar research, but everyone agrees that electricity from sun power is still a long way off," Redding said.

Most uses of solar energy today involve using the heat from the sun directly to heat homes or provide hot water.

"The technology to generate large amounts of electricity with solar power just doesn't exist yet," Redding said.

"And electricity from the small experimental generating systems has been extremely expensive — about 30 times more expensive than our customers pay today," he said.

Texas Electric's interest in solar research falls into two areas, Redding said. "We need to know how solar heating and cooling systems might affect the demand for electricity in the future, and we want to know if the sun can someday provide an economical way of generating electricity."

"Beef prices certainly are going up and we don't make any excuses for that fact," he told a news conference Friday.

Will be restored Janis Joplin fans save her home

PORT ARTHUR, Texas (AP) — A builder and a handful of die-hard Janis Joplin fans are credited with saving the blues superstar's first home from demolition by city crews.

City officials said the house Miss Joplin lived in until she was about 4 years old had deteriorated below city standards and was a health hazard.

The vacant, vandalized structure was only weeks away from being leveled when the city began receiving calls from concerned fans.

Finally, builder Howard Riggs of nearby Groves agreed to buy the home for $3,500.

"I plan to put it back in the original condition without any changes," Riggs said Thursday. His 28-year-old daughter, Jane, will live in the house when it's restored.

And, said Riggs, she plans to collect Joplin mementoes to decorate the home where visitors may someday be allowed.

"Of course, we'll be willing to allow a shrine or some type of marker because this is part of the city's history. But we're not thinking along those lines yet," Riggs said, although he said traffic has started picking up around the house and many sightseers have stopped.

The blues-rock star lived in Port Arthur and attended schools here before she began her career.

She died of a drug overdose in 1970 at age 27. She had visited Port Arthur two months before her death for a class reunion.

Joseph and Blanche Mims bought the house from the Joplins around 1947.

"Janis was a darling little girl I remember," Mrs. Mims said. "I can remember her playing with my two young girls, who were just a little younger."

"I'm going to have to go out and buy one of her records, you know. I've never heard her voice before — I'm sure she had a nice voice though," Mrs. Mims said.

The Mimses moved out of the house in late 1974 and it was tagged as vacant in 1975 when it went on the market.

Mrs. Mims said they never used the sales approach that the house had been lived by a famous person.

"It never occurred to me. I did think once though of just donating it to one man who was such a fan. But he sounded young and I knew it would take a lot of money to fix the place up."

She said the house sold cheaply because it will take a lot of money to repair it. The house has two bedrooms, a large living room, fireplace, dining room and porch.

Miller said repairs will tack another $15,000-$20,000 to the price of the house.

"But when it's finished it will be worth $60-$70,000. It's on a full city block."

TwEEN 12 and 20 Look for some greener pastures

Dr. Wallace:
My girlfriend is 16 and I'm 17 and have been dating for about a year. We are very close and often talk about marriage and children.

I like this, but I also have times when I would like to date other girls. Should I?

Earl, Michigan City, Ind.

Earl:
Talk to your girlfriend and tell her how you feel. Encourage her to date other boys while you date other girls.

If you don't, you will always wonder if the "grass was greener." When you find out it isn't, go back to your girlfriend; that is if she hasn't found greener pastures!

Bride-to-be honored

A bridal shower honoring Cathy Rudd, bride-elect of Lonnie Gary, was held April 27 at the Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room.

The honoree was attired in a peach cowl neck sleeveless dress with white and gold accessories.

Miss Rudd was presented a corsage, as were her mother, Mrs. Neil Rudd, and her fiance's mother, Mrs. Johnny Gary.

The table was draped with a lace tablecloth. Silver candlesticks flanked an arrangement of peach carnations, white pom poms daisies and baby's breath.

Cindy Rudd and Mrs. Darrell Horn, sisters of the bride elect, assisted her with gifts.

Hostesses were Mrs. A. N. Standard, Audrey Standard Ware and Cynthia Standard Weeks.

The couple plans to marry May 20 in the First Baptist Church.

Shower fetes Karen Herm

The home of Mrs. Noel Hull, 2611 E. 25th Street, was the site of a bridal shower April 27 for Karen Herm, bride-elect of Jim Law.

The 7:30 to 9 p.m. shower was hosted by Mrs. Cliff Balzar, Mrs. H. C. Blackshear, Mrs. Bill Blalack, Mrs. R. W. Blasingame, Mrs. Orville Bryant, Mrs. Orsa Buckner, Mrs. Charles Cain, Mrs. Bob Carlile, Mrs. Wayman Clark, Mrs. Bill Draper, Mrs. Joe Fortson, Mrs. Harold Hicks, Mrs. Pete Hull, Mrs. Morris Molpus, Mrs. Collin Reese, Jane Upton, Shirley Walker, Mrs. Ernest Welch and Dee Worthan.

A white orchid, was presented to the honoree by the hostesses. White carnation corsages were presented to the couple's mothers, Mrs. James A. Herm and Mrs. Jimmy Law. The grandmothers, Mrs. D. L. Jackson and Mrs. J. T. Law, were presented white daisy corsages.

The refreshment table featured a beige cutwork tablecloth and a centerpiece made of blue carnations, white daisies and baby's breath. Silver and crystal appointments were used.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Herm, Mrs. Jackson, Frances White, Mrs. Jerry Howell and Janet and James Howell from Colorado City and Mrs. J. T. Law and Laverne O'Neil from Sweetwater.

Miss Herm and Law will be married June 10 at Calvary Baptist Church in Colorado City with Dr. Jimmy Law performing the ceremony.

Dear Abby Baby's Coming Puzzles Child

DEAR ABBY: I am 9 and my sister is 15 and we live on a farm with our parents. My sister is going to have a baby and she isn't married.

I never knew you could get this kind of service without a husband.

SURPRISED IN IOWA

DEAR SURPRISED: Well, you can. And that's why it's just as important for girls your age to learn how NOT to multiply as it is to learn how to add.

DEAR ABBY: I once felt that being a good samaritan was a nice way to be. However, after reading that you discourage kindnesses such as helping to carry a stranger's luggage at airports, it opened my eyes. So I have written a few don'ts to follow:

1. Don't assist anyone having problems with their car. You are competing with tow truck drivers, AAA and mechanics. They could be put out of work.
2. Don't drive the elderly, sick or handicapped to hospitals or senior citizen clubs. You are competing with public transportation and cab companies.
3. Don't do hospital volunteer work. You are competing with paid hospital personnel.
4. Don't offer to care for children of friends, family or neighbors. You are competing with public and private nursery schools.
5. Don't offer advice to anyone, regardless of how desperate they may be. You are competing with Dear Abby!

Sign me...
NO MORE NICE GUY IN L.A.

DEAR NO MORE: Aw, c'mon, you know I don't discourage good samaritans or volunteers from doing their thing. I merely pointed out that people who make a practice of hanging around airports looking for folks to help may run into trouble with the professionals.

DEAR ABBY: You sure missed the boat with your response to the problem of the nery couple who always dropped in at mealtime.

I would have suggested that they meet them at the door with their coats on and say, "Oh, Jim is just taking me out to dinner. If Tom wants to treat you, we'd be glad to have you join us!"

Their decision will tell you a lot about your "friends!" Be tactful but firm, and beat them at their own game.

ANOTHER COUPLE

DEAR COUPLE: A couple who would consistently drop in around dinner time in hopes of getting a free meal would not be the kind of people I would want to join me—even if they paid their own way.

DEAR ABBY: When I was in high school, I fell in love with Bill, and we were married right after graduation. Bill died shortly before our graduation from college. I was heartbroken and never really got over him, but life goes on.

Five years later I married Bob and we had two children, now 13 and 15. About six months ago, while looking through some old photographs, the kids found several pictures of Bill and me together. When they asked who he was, I told them he was my first husband.

Bob exploded. He said it was bad for the kids to know that he was my "second choice." He insists that I should have told them that Bill was just an old friend or, at most, a high school sweetheart.

I think our children should not be lied to, and they are old enough to know the truth. Who is right?

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: You are.

No new taxes. What does it mean to you?

Dolph Briscoe understands that the surest way for a government to strangle its economy is to overburden its taxpayers. In contrast, his most active opponent in this year's Democratic Primary does not. That opponent — by nature and by his own admission — is an activist intent on becoming an activist governor. That means only one thing. It means government regulating our lives with bureaucratic red tape. And it means a governor whose reckless spending promises, if kept, would result in the imposition of a State income tax on you in 1979.

Governor Briscoe has pursued — and throughout his tenure as Governor will continue to pursue — a firm policy of no new taxes. This policy has served the people of Texas well. It has produced the strongest economy in the United States today. And in the process it has enabled the extension of more and better state services to our citizens than ever before in our history — without new or additional taxes.

When Dolph Briscoe became Governor, he set a course of making state government better without new taxes.

In 1972, the experts — as well as Dolph Briscoe's opponents in this year's Governor's race — said it couldn't be done.

Dolph Briscoe proved that it could. He proved that saying "no" to new taxes is saying "yes" to economic prosperity.

Since Governor Briscoe has been in office:

- 1,200 new industries, representing an annual economic impact of more than $11 billion, have moved to Texas.
- More than 850,000 new jobs have been created.
- Texas has been universally acclaimed as having the best political climate in the world for economic investment and growth.

To keep Texas on this course of prosperity without a State income tax, let's keep the candidate with a proven record. Let's keep Dolph Briscoe as our Governor.

May Day

with Marj Carpenter

Here it is May Day. The day that has had more different meanings than any holiday on the calendar. When you and I were children—all of you that are over 45, May Day was a simple holiday. For years it was a time for gladness and general festivities. It denoted the outbreak of new life and beauty. Little children fixed May baskets and filled them with flowers and left them on the doorknobs of people they loved. The Romans had a fete called Floralia, or Floral Games. In England, as we learn from Chaucer and other writers, it was customary during the Middle Ages, for all, both high and low—even the court itself—to go on the early hour to fetch the flowers fresh. Hawthorn branches were also gathered. Some places had a May queen. Then they started putting up May Poles everywhere in every village as a symbol of happiness. The Puritans in early America went around and tore them down. They were revived later, but it was only confined to school children instead of the entire community dancing around the pole. Now we are down to where I remember. When I was in the first grade in the Depression year of 1932, our teacher—Mrs. Lillah Lyle, who now lives in Bonham and I still hear from her at Christmas (can you believe that?) decided to have a May Pole.

She selected 12 of us to dance around the May Pole. Each of the six little girls was to wear a different color organdy dress. I don't know where our mothers came up with organdy dresses in those Depression Days but I recall I was to wear my yellow organdy which was new on Easter. We practiced with old rags tied to a Maypole until we learned to wind it correctly. Then they put the beautiful paper strips in colors. We were to perform at the high school assembly—a big event for first graders. I got to step forward and say, "Now we will dance around the Maypole." At the rehearsal in the high school auditorium, I stepped forward and said my line. The teacher said she couldn't hear me. I thought I was yelling. But horror of horrors, she took my one line away and gave it to my mortal enemy—Ann Schmalzried in a pink dress. I hated her with all the emotion of a first grader who had just lost her one line. I have been speaking loudly ever since, courtesy of Mrs. Lyle. But May Days have changed since then. In 1889, May Day was adopted as the International Labor holiday in Europe, designating it as a day of the people. But this went far afield after communism became strong in Europe and it changed to a day when the communists showed their strength by demonstrations and marching armies around Europe. In retribution to this, the Veterans of Foreign Wars began to hold special programs on May Day and soon got it designated as a Patriotic Holiday called Loyalty Day. All of this was a far cry from the happy May Baskets and May Poles. I really kind of liked it the old way. Now we will dance around the May Pole. I now know how to say that loud and clear. Spivey named Aide-de-Camp KANSAS CITY, MO. — M.H. Spivey of 4014 Parkway Rd., Big Spring, has been appointed by V.F.W. National Commander-in-Chief Doctor John Wasylik of Sandusky, Ohio, to serve as a National Aide-de-Camp for 1977-78. Mr. Spivey is a member of V.F.W. Post 2013. Wasylik, head of the 1.8 million member organization of overseas veterans commented, "It is because of the tireless efforts of civic minded citizens like Spivey that the veterans and communities the VFW serves have been affected in a positive manner. "Our programs touch every citizen in the community, they help the young, the old, the Vietnam veteran, the World War I veteran. I am pleased to make this appointment because I know Mr. Spivey will do an outstanding job for the VFW. Our theme for this year is 'You Can Make It Happen,' and that means the veteran, his community, and his country."

Mile-long funeral procession

Four brothers buried in graves side-by-side

WILLOW ISLAND, W.Va. (AP)—Four sons of Lee and Mollie Steele lie in the Willow Island Baptist Cemetery today. Their graves are side-by-side, just the way they died. The brothers—Ernest, Miles, Larry and Ronald Steele—were among 51 construction workers killed Thursday when a cooling tower scaffolding collapsed at the nearby Monongahela Power Co. generating plant. The mile-long funeral procession Sunday rolled slowly past the power plant on its way to the cemetery, which is located less than a quarter mile from the site of the tragedy. Mourners at graveside could plainly see the partially completed cooling tower and the federal investigators on top of it, even on Sunday trying to find a clue to why the scaffolding fell. The brothers and their 61-year-old uncle, Emmett Steele, also killed in the scaffolding accident, were buried after a joint funeral at the Belmont Middle School, a service attended by about 2,000 friends and family members. "We're not here because we have no hope," the Rev. Amos McVey said. "We're here with the knowledge that while we now are broken and sorrowful, some day we will be reunited and made whole." The minister, pastor at the Belmont United Methodist Church where the Steeles worshipped, made no mention of the tragedy. Instead, he recalled his friendships with the victims and related the "warm welcome the Steeles had accorded him when he came to the community five years earlier. "They took me in and

Smashing party chances good

MOUNT PLEASANT, Mich. (AP)—They'll have a pot party at Central Michigan University this month, and the pots are sure to get smashed. The school is sponsoring an art fair entitled "Everything You Know About Art is Wrong," and as one of the exhibits, participants will be given clay pots to smash as they please. Artist Steven Crawley, who will provide the pots during the May 1-5 show, says he will try to expose people to art as an activity.

South Texas labor leaders free on bail

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)—South Texas labor leaders Don and Clarence Gray are free on $10,000 bond each today. They surrendered to the sheriff's office Friday, following their indictment for allegedly conspiring to steal more than $10,000 in state job-training funds. The Grays were accompanied by two lawyers, and one, Buddy Wright, said he expects federal indictments against the two brothers in early May. The Grays also were indicted in Brownsville in January on multiple charges involving alleged abuses of job-training funds. The Thursday indictment here indicates that between April 1 and Dec. 1, 1977, more than 37,498 in checks were made out by the Texas Department of Community Affairs to the United Association of Journeymen and Apprentices of Plumbing and Pipefitting Industry (Local 823). Steve Brittain, head of the task force which conducted the local manpower probe, said the payments did not go to the Harlingen-based union, but went instead into private accounts of the Gray brothers. Don Gray is the business manager and financial secretary of the South Texas union, and Clarence Gray headed South Texas Building Trades Education Services, Inc. ELECT Terry Hanson County Commissioner Precinct 4 Pd. pol. adv. by Terry Hanson 1605 Vines

Player's streak ends

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Just as he'd predicted, the string ran out for Gary Player.

"With everybody and his grandmother asking Gary if he thought he could win four in a row, it put tremendous pressure on him. I don't know how he played as well as he did," said Lon Hinkle, who parlayed power and precision into a final round 66 to win the New Orleans

Open Golf Tournament Sunday and snap Player's victory string at three.

"You can't go on winning every single week," Player said. "Winning three in a row, in this day and age and against this competition, it's something I'll remember all my life."

"I've won six of my last 10 tournaments (three in South Africa). You can't be too greedy."

The little man whose spectacular comebacks had netted him the titles in the Masters, Tournament of Champions and Houston Opens, could muster only a scrambling round of par 72 Sunday. He failed in his drive to become only the third man in history and the first in 26 years to win four PGA Tour titles in a row. Player finished tied for fifth, six shots off the pace.

"It's not the first time this sort of thing has happened to me," he said. "I won 11 (international) titles in 1974. I enjoyed trying to win four in a row. And if I'd won four, I'd have enjoyed trying to win five."

But it was not to be. He dropped out of a five-way tie for the lead with a three-putt bogey on the first hole, missed a six-foot birdie putt on the fifth and bogeyed the ninth, his second shot hitting a cypress tree.

From that point on, it was a fight between the long-hitting Hinkle, Gibby Gilbert and Fuzzy Zoeller. Hinkle finally nailed down the first title of his six-year tour career with a magnificent wedge shot that set up the decisive birdie on the 72nd hole.

"The sound from the crowd, it sent chills up my back and down my legs and through my arms and up my neck," bubbled the 28-year-old Hinkle. And it set up the putt that allowed him to break a tie with Zoeller and Gilbert and finish with a 271 total, a whopping 17 shots under par on the 7,000-yard Lakewood Country Club course.

STEALS DRIBBLE — Sixers' Lloyd Free, foreground, reaches out and steals dribble from Washington Bullets' Kevin Grevey Sunday at NBA Eastern Division championship series game at Philadelphia. Washington beat Philadelphia, 122-117, in an overtime period.

Bullets have muscle

By the Associated Press
Elvin Hayes predicted that if push came to shove, his Washington Bullets would more than hold their own against the highly favored Philadelphia 76ers.

"They're not the physical team that some have made them out to be," Hayes said of the 76ers. "We have the muscle to rebound with Philly."

The Bullets, led by Hayes' 28 points, 18 rebounds and 6 blocked shots, matched the Sixers pound for pound under the boards and beat Philadelphia 122-117 in overtime Sunday to grab a 1-0 lead in their Eastern Conference playoff finals.

In the Western Conference semifinals, Milwaukee and Portland remained alive with victories Sunday.

The Bucks beat the Denver Nuggets 119-91 to even their series at 3-3 and the defending National Basketball Association champion Trail Blazers defeated the Seattle SuperSonics 113-89 to cut their deficit to 3-2 in the best-of-seven series.

Seattle will try to oust Portland tonight at Seattle, while Milwaukee and Denver meet in their deciding game Wednesday night in Denver.

Kevin Grevey added 26 points and Bobby Dandridge

22 for the Bullets, who handed the Sixers their fifth loss at home in 44 games this year.

Washington led 109-105 with nine seconds left in regulation, but Darryl Dawkins hit a follow-up shot, George McGinnis tied up the Bullets' Tom Henderson and won the ensuing jump ball and Doug Collins connected from 20 feet at the buzzer to force the overtime.

Dandridge put the Bullets ahead with the first basket of overtime and they were never caught.

Bucks 119, Nuggets 91
Reserve forward Alex English scored 21 points and grabbed 10 rebounds as Milwaukee's benchmen outscored Denver's reserves 53-24. All five Bucks starters also scored in double figures in the rout.

The Bucks outscored the Nuggets 27-4 to build a 19-point lead less than 3 minutes into the second period and Denver never recovered, despite 28 points by David Thompson. Dan Issel could manage just 7 points for Denver, shooting 1-for-11.

The Bucks outrebounded the Nuggets 63-45, rookie forward Marques-Johnson leading with 17.

Blazers 113, Sonics 89
Portland scored 14 in a row to take a 2-0 lead after 9½ minutes and led by between 10 and 25 points the rest of the way. Tom Owens, Portland's center, in the absence of injured all-star Bill Walton, scored 23 of his 31 points in the first half.

Seattle center Marvin Webster said there was "a lot of pushing and grabbing and holding underneath the basket," but he did not blame the officiating for the loss.

Four want first

By the Associated Press

Texas A&M, Arkansas, Baylor and Houston will be vying for top honors when the Southwest Conference postseason tournament opens May 12. For the Aggies, however, a tournament crown would be icing on the cake because they are assured of a berth in the NCAA baseball playoffs.

Texas, a participant in the SWC tourney for the past 12 years, lost a bid for another try, finishing fifth in the loop for the season.

Texas A&M captured the regular season crown Saturday. The Razorbacks took the last game of a three-game Friday-Saturday series, 6-5, but the damage was already done. The Aggies won the first two outings, 6-1 Friday and 5-0 Saturday.

A&M meets fourth-place Houston in the first game of the tournament, while the Razorbacks take on Baylor in the second game. A third game between the winners of the first two games will decide the SWC champ.

The Aggies finished the season with a 19-5 record, a game ahead of the Razorbacks. Baylor was 15-9.

Runnels shines

The Runnels Junior High School Tennis Team crowded the ranks in finals play at a weekend tourney in Andrews.

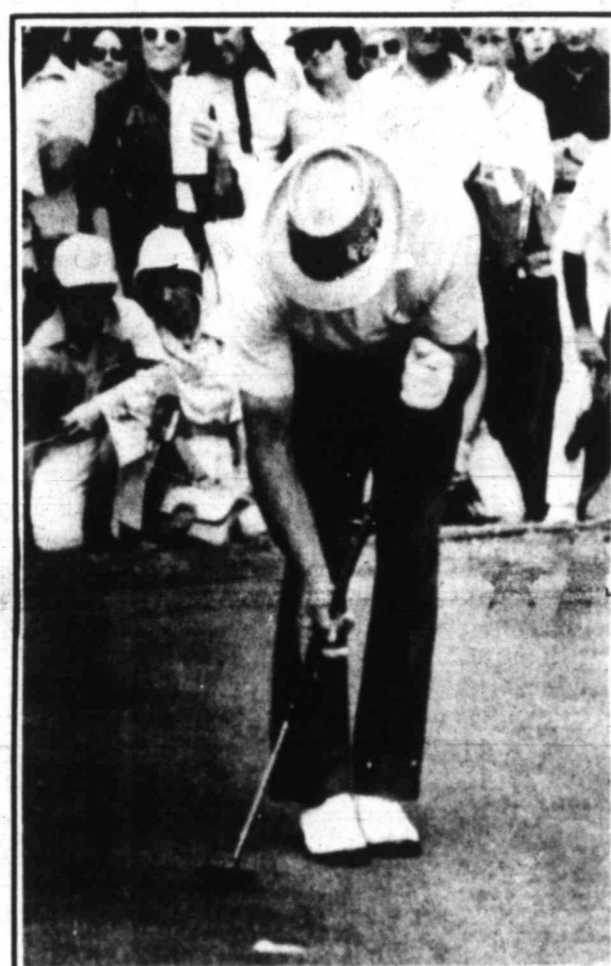

The doubles team of Aubrey Weaver and Kip McLaughlin took first in the tournament, while Weaver took second place honors on his own in the singles finals.

Kevin McMahon won the singles consolation event, while the girls doubles team of Dawn Estes and Julie Ann Rains took a first in their consolation match.

The team will next travel to Wichita Falls for a tournament there on June 4.

Houston, 14-10. The rest of the conference standings show the Longhorns with an even 12-12; Texas Tech and SMU with identical 9-15 marks; TCU, 7-17; and Rice, 6-18.

Texas and Tech finished their seasons Saturday when the Longhorns split a pair with the Raiders. Friday, the Horns beat Tech 14-4. The Friday win kept the Longhorns in the running for a conference tourney berth but Baylor changed all that with two wins over TCU, 13-1 and 13-8. In the only other Saturday action, SMU beat Rice, 3-2 and 11-10 in a twinbill.

SNEAD'S WINNING PUTT

Putt of the future?

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — "Get the USGA on the phone quick," yelled out Tommy Bolt. "We gotta get that putting stroke declared illegal."

"That's not putting — that's bowling," added Mike Souchak, more in jest than in anger.

"Give me my blade," said Jack Burke, Jr. "I'm going out and practice. I'm changing right now."

Golfers the world over may be forsaking century-old orthodox and adopting Sam Snead's bizarre, awkward-looking "side saddle" technique after watching the old Virginia hillbilly putt himself and partner Gardner Dickinson to the $100,000 first prize in the first Legends of Golf Championship.

Slambang Sam proved the legend of the legends — not with his sledgehammer power but with watching on television.

This was the man who was supposed to be afflicted with the "yips" — an expression for putting nerves which he coined himself with his droll mountainer humor. Snead is also the man who blew a half-dozen U.S. Opens without winning one, although he took 140 other tournament titles. Using the weird, semi-croquet stance, which seems more befitting a washerwoman than an experienced tournament pro, Snead personally knocked in 14 birdies in the three-day stretch of 54 holes to nail down a one-stroke triumph over a pair of almost errorless Australians, Peter Thomson and Kel Nagle.

He finished dramatically, rolling in a nine-foot knee-knocker on top of Thomson's 12-foot birdie at the 52nd hole, adding an eight-footer at the 53rd to tie the score and a three-footer after a fine wedge to clinch it on the 54th.

"I thought we had it after I got my long putt on the 16th (the 52nd hole of the event)," said Thomson, five-time British Open winner. "It took a lot of nerve for Sam to throw that one right after me."

Snead, 66, renowned as one of the most natural and powerful swingers of the club in the history of the game, joined a host of croquet-style putting converts when his touch deserted him about 10 years ago.

Boyer arrives, goodbye trouble

By the Associated Press

The mood in the St. Louis Cardinal clubhouse has changed from resentment to contentment, thanks to the arrival of Ken Boyer as manager.

"We used to have a crisis every week with Vern Rapp," says third baseman Ken Reitz. "With Boyer, we aren't going to have a crisis."

In stark contrast to Rapp's rigidity, Boyer has introduced a relaxed style to the Cardinals. And while two straight victories over the Los Angeles Dodgers under their new manager cannot be construed as a trend, it is certainly a marked improvement over the way their season had been going.

"I told them to just relax and go out and play baseball," said Boyer after Sunday's 4-0 victory over the Dodgers. "I told them that I was not going to be harassing them. The only two things I wanted was to make them happy — and make sure that they play ball."

Tryouts held

Tryouts for the Big Spring Teenage Baseball League will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Those interested in playing should report to the Roy Anderson Park from 5 to 7 p.m. Thursday and Friday, and from 2 to 4 p.m. Saturday. Officials wish to remind that even those who played for a team last year must report for tryouts this year.

Registration fee is $15, with a special rate if more than one family member registers. New players are required to attend two of the three workouts.

In other National League action, the Philadelphia Phillies routed the San Diego Padres 11-4, the New York Mets trimmed the Cincinnati Reds 6-4, the San Francisco Giants defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-3, the Montreal Expos edged the Houston Astros 2-1 and the Chicago Cubs beat the Atlanta Braves 7-5.

The Cardinals' two straight shutouts over Los Angeles was a unique accomplishment, since the Dodgers have been among the major leagues' best-hitting teams this year. Before Saturday their team batting average was .304.

Phillies 11, Padres 4
Dave Johnson's pinch-hit, grand-slam homer in the fifth inning led Philadelphia over San Diego. Johnson's homer, the fourth grand slam of his 11-year major league career, came off Padre reliever Bob Shirley and snapped a 4-4 tie.

Mets 6, Reds 4
George Foster's error in left field on Doug Flynn's fourth-inning single allowed the winning run to score as New York ended a six-game losing streak by beating Cincinnati. Pat Zachry won in his first start against his former teammates, pitching six innings and allowing all four Red runs but only five hits. Tom Hume took the loss.

Giants 7, Pirates 3
Willie McCovey and Marc Hill drove in two runs each to back the seven-hit pitching of Bob Knepper and lead San Francisco over Pittsburgh. McCovey's two-run double gave the Giants a 2-0 lead in the first inning off losing pitcher Bert Blyleven and Hill later rapped a two-run homer in the sixth.

Expos 2, Astros 1
Rudy May and Stan Bahnsen combined on a five-hitter and Andre Dawson blasted a homer to lead Montreal over Houston. May gave up all the Astros' hits, including Cesar Cedeno's ninth-inning home run, and walked but one batter before getting relief help from Bahnsen in the last inning.

Cubs 7, Braves 5
A two-run triple by Manny Trillo broke a tie in the eighth, leading Chicago over Atlanta. Trillo connected against Adrian Devine to send home Bobby Murcer and Steve Ontiveros, both aboard with singles.

County domino champs to enter Nationals

The Howard County champion domino team, Odell Roman and A.A. Cooper, have expressed plans to enter the National "Texas-Style" Domino Tournament, scheduled July 27-29 at the old officer's club at Webb Air Base. The team won the title in competition at the Howard County Fair last September, having played together for over five years. "We had played in four or five tournaments before the one at the fair, and both of us have played dominoes just about all our lives," said Cooper. The only possible hitch in plans to enter the tournament is that Roman, who works at Cosden, may have a shift schedule which conflicts with the tournament. "We are planning to enter, though," says Cooper, who is a native of Coleman County and came to Big Spring some 32 years ago. "Our dads were big domino players - Odell grew up in Knott - and we intend to go out there to win." It is a well-known fact that domino players, like checker players, are big teasers and big talkers, but Cooper and Roman had enough skill to beat out local players, many who are quite versed in the game, and they'd like to have a national trophy to set alongside the County trophy.

Drummer enters innocent plea

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) - Drummer Dennis Wilson of the Beach Boys rock group entered a plea of innocent and was released on $1,000 bond after he was arrested for investigation of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Wilson, 32, was arrested in his room at the Plaza International Hotel about 4 a.m. Monday after police said they found a 16-year-old girl with him. The unidentified girl was taken to the Pima County Juvenile Court Center for investigation of violating curfew.

Judge's raise due discussion

STANTON - The Stanton city council will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. over a routine agenda. Two items of interest are a meeting with members of the Martin County Volunteer Fire Department to discuss fires started by passing trains, and consideration of a raise in salary for the municipal court judge. Other items on the agenda include a resolution adopting the Permian Basin Regional Planning Committee's regional development guide and housing plan, approval of a jail contract between Martin County and Stanton, and appointing members to the Board of Directors of the Stanton Housing Authority.

Policeman reinstated

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Austin patrolman Robert Gross was reinstated Sunday night to regular duty status following the Saturday night shooting death of Clarence Davis, 31, Austin. Police Chief Frank Dyson said Gross was placed on an off-duty status temporarily. He said the shooting would be investigated further today. Investigators reported that Gross fired the single shot that killed Davis after he and Davis struggled over a gun. Gross and another officer went to a filling station to investigate a report there was a man holding a woman at gunpoint in the back of a van. Gross climbed in the back of the van. There was a shot fired from Davis' gun. Gross drew his revolver and ordered Davis to drop his gun. Investigators said Gross fired one shot when Davis pointed the gun at the officer.
