PROF. LAUERY GIVES LECTURE

ADDRESS ON GOD'S MODEL OF A CITIZEN WELL RECEIVED.

Amarillo Man Gives Lecture to United Congregations of the City at the Methodist Church.

Sunday evening held in store a great treat for the people who attended the union services at the Methodist church. Prof. Lauery of Amarillo, who had lectuced at the Baptist church Sunday morning on "Civic Righteousness," stayed over to address the union meeting.

Mr. Lauery took for a subject "God's Model of a Citizen." As a scriptural basis for his remarks, he chose the Apostle Paul as the great model of a citizen. Paul was chosen because he was continuously reminding people of his city, of his race and of his citizenship. "God pity the man who don't talk his town up rather than talk it down," was the keynote sounded by the speaker. Paul always carried a definite program which he succeeded in carrying out. His first plank was, "Obedience is freedom," and there is no freedom except under the law. "The American people have run liberty into license." The speaker expressed himself as optimistic, although there was some little thread of anarchy running through the home and schools. "If we had government of a dignified and rightful authority in the home for twenty-one years, we could then turn our court houses into school houses and our jails into cold-storages."

The second plank of Paul's platform was allegiance; allegiance to law and authority. The speaker paid his respects to newspapers who are continually scoring and ridiculing those in authority on grounds of personal matters. "It is God's will that there should be those in authority." However, this does not mean that allegiance be carried to the point of neglectfulness. It is our duty to whip an official to his duty is he shirks—this is one form of allegiance.

The third and last plank of Paul's platform was public spirited citizenship. "A citizen is not a good citizen unless he is ready to aid all things that are helpful for the town,"—the sidewalks, streets, schoolhouses and teachers.

The address throughout was delivered in a forceful and masterly way. The large audience were well pleased that the speaker discussed a question so near the heart of every citizen. It is to be hoped that Mr. Lauery can be persuaded to visit Canyon again for another address.

Senatorial Convention.

Wichita Falls, Texas, August 12, 1910.—To the Democrats of the 29th Senatorial District:

Acting Democratic chairman 29th Senatorial District.

BROOM CORN IS FINE.

The Panhandle will Raise as Good a crop of Broom corn as Any State in the Union.

That broom corn will thrive in this country has been fully demonstrated on the W. A. Joy farm seven miles east of Canyon. Mr. Joy has a fine a crop as could be found anywhere. The fact that but few sections of the United States will raise broomcorn, and the fact that it sells at from $220 to $250 per ton makes this a very desirable produce for Texas to raise.

MORE HOUSES IS PROBLEM.

Canyon Wants Place for Attendants at West Texas State Normal this Coming Year.

"Boarding Houses Wanted" is an advertisement that appears in the Daily News of this issue. This sounds like a strange advertisement but it is a splendid reflection of the condition of the little city from which the ad was sent.

Boarding houses is what are wanted and at present they are wanted badly in Canyon, where the West Texas Normal School is located. These boarding houses are wanted for the accommodation of the students who have already been enrolled.

The lack of boarding houses is now one of the chief concerns of those in charge of the school. Such a large number of students have signified their intention of affiliating with the school that it makes it imperative that more accommodations be prepared for them as soon as possible.

School is scheduled to commence September twentieth and from the present indications the enrollment will be much larger than was at first anticipated.—Amarillo Daily News.

THREE BOYS IN TROUBLE.

Little Fellows Took Knives and are Brought Before Authorities.—Let Go on Promise of Reform.

Three lads were brought before the authorities Saturday on the charge of stealing knives of the Canyon Mercantile Co. and Thompson Hardware Co. The parents of the boys, the heads of the stores and the authorities gave the boys a lecture of advice and promised to file no charges against them if they would be good. The boys are at liberty under such a promise. The authorities are determined to wipe out street loafing, which has led such boys as these to the bad.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Christman left Saturday evening for Kansas City. Mrs. Christman will undergo an opperation at once in one of the city hospitals. The many friends of Mrs. Christman will wish her a speedy recovery.

R. A. Terrill has started the erection of a modern six room house on the lot immediately west of his present home.

REUNION TO BE GREAT SUCCESS

COMMITTEE IN CHARGE HAVE A GOOD PROGRAM FOR SOLDIERS.

Next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday Will Be Full of Good Things for Crowds Of Visitors.

The committee on the program had a final meeting Wednesday evening and pronounced all in readiness for the Ex-Confederate soldiers next week. The program of the mornings will consist of speeches and entertainment for the soldiers. In the afternoon will be ball games and other attractions. The evenings will be filled with splendid entertainment for both young and old. The committee will publish no program this year, but promise all visitors a royal good time. Good music has been provided for the occasion.

The case of the medical association against R. W. Morgan of Amarillo for "practicing medicine without license" was rendered in favor of Mr. Morgan, not guilty.

WORK ON THE NORMAL.

Roof is Being Placed on the Building, and by Next Week Men will Start to Finish West Portion.

Work on the Normal College building is progressing very rapidly. The roof is being placed over the southwestern wing, and by next week it is hoped to have it in shape for the finishers to begin work. The roof over the auditorium cannot be placed for some time yet, but there is no doubt now that enough of the building will be completed by September 20th to fulfill the contract.

Canyon Boy Makes Good.

According to a short notice in the Denver Post, Pug Cavitt has been called in by the Detroit Americans from the Three-I league. Pug has been on the pitching list for the Rock Island team in this league and has made a good record as a slab artist. His first tryout with the Tigers probably will come in about the last of this week and all his Canyon friends are watching the sporting pages of the big papers to see if he makes good.

Pug is the son of H. J. Cavitt of this city and has lived here a good number of years. His career as a ball player began in Canyon and he gradually became master of all the ins and outs, as well as headwork, that baffles the best of batters, until a scout from the Detroit Americans saw him playing with a paid team in Oklahoma last year and he was immediately drafted.

We are all hoping that Pug will make good for 'twill be a great thing to have a Canyon raised boy in the major leagues.

Several of the young people went out to the Pleasantview picnic last Friday. A team of ball players representing Canyon went along and beat the Pleasantviewites 5 to 3 in a slow game. These folks had a big time for as one of the boys expressed it, they were "bogged up to our eye-brows in fried chicken and cake."

A little lubercating oil would be a mighty good thing to use on some of the windmills around town. There is a continuous screech and howl heard in some parts of the town which is absolutely unnecessary.

PANHANDLE NOW LOOKING FINE

CROPS ON ALL HANDS ARE DEVELOPING FAST AND GOOD.

The Rains of This Week Place Crops in Such a Condition as to Insure a Bumper Crop for Plains.

A ride through the country will reveal the fact that the crops in this part of the country could not be in better condition. The rains of the past two weeks have brought things out in wonderful shape. Corn and maize have grown wonderfully. Those who have watched crops in this section of the country, say they have never seen crops develop so rapidly as this year. Maize is predicted to go 70 bushels to the acre.

PLAN FOR S. S. CONVENTION.

Meeting Held Monday Night and Various Committees Appointed to Carry Out the Work.

At a meeting held at the Methodist church of the various representatives of the several churches of the town, committees were appointed to carry out the work connected with the Sunday School convention which will meet here in September.

W. J. Flesher was made general chairman, whose duty it will be to oversee the entire work connected with the convention.

G. G. Foster is chairman of the entertainment committee. He will be aided by two ladies and one man from each church.

M. S. Lusby has the reception work in charge, with the aid of three from each church.

Committee on music is composed of: Mrs. S. L. Ingham, chairman; Miss Ada Hawkins of the Methodist church; Mrs. C. E. Coss of the Christian church; Miss Willie J. Eakman of the Presbyterian church and Geo. Hutchings of the Baptist church.

W. J. Flesher has in charge the publicity work.

Dr. D. M. Stewart is chairman of the finance committee.

All meetings will be held at the Methodist church.

The families of the city will be solicited by Mr. Foster and his committee, and it is hoped the people will respond by caring for as many delegated as possible. Lodging and breakfast is all the entertainment asked.

C. Franzen of Illinois, who owns land east of the city, was in this office Saturday. He said the only matter with the Panhandle land now was lack of proper cultivation. This land will raise anything, but the trouble is, the farmers try to put in too much and do not cultivate well enough.

Mrs. V. Edna Henson left Tuesday evening for Crowell, Texas, where she will be joined by Mrs. Judge Walthall and from thence to St. Joseph, Mo., the former's old home, where they will attend the Metaphysical Institute of Christian Science.

R. W. Bruce of Ralph, was a caller at this office Saturday and renewed his relatios with the News for another year. He reported the crops as being in fine shape down that way, although they did not get as much rain as we did around Canyon.

J. W. Roundtree of Ft. Worth is visiting this week with H. M. Harrell of the Normal Grocery. Mr. Roundtree is a bookkeeper in one of the big firms of Ft. Worth but is thinking of locating in the Panhandle.

A QUEER TOURNAMENT

By ANDREW C. EWING

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

"How is it, Mr. Martindale," said Miss Ashby, "that you men talk to each other as you do? Whenever you and your chum, Mr. Warren, are together you say all sorts of mean things to each other, but I don't see that either of you gets angry."

"Oh, we understand each other."

"I wonder if Sadie and I could do that."

"No, you couldn't without quarreling."

Miss Ashby was silent for a moment, then said, "I'm going to try."

"I'll bet you a pound of candy against a cigar that you quarrel."

"I'll take the bet."

It was agreed between us that the two girls should have a talking tournament while they played a game of tennis, Dick Warren to furnish remarks for Miss Blanchard, to be thrown in occasionally, and I to do the same for Miss Ashby. Umpires were appointed, and we all met by appointment at the court.

We permitted the girls to play for awhile without furnishing any remarks, during which time they said what they considered very trying things to each other, laughing all the while and congratulating themselves on their ability to maintain good humor. After the first set had been played Dick and I, each standing by the girl he was to talk through, began to put in an occasional word, producing the following bits of dialogue:

"You give me another ball like that," said Miss Ashby, "and I'll swipe you with my racket."

Miss Blanchard only smiled.

"Now you're showing your rhinoceros tusk," pursued Miss Ashby.

Miss Warren ceased to smile. Indeed, she looked very sober. The tooth referred to was a blemish to her beauty. Dick made her retort.

"That remark was one of your own. You weren't told to say it at all. I think it real mean of you."

"Deuce!" cried Miss Ashby at my suggestion, claiming 10 points more than she was entitled to.

"You know very well its 30-40. What do you want to grab points like that for?"

"If you knew," retorted the other, "what a mad looking thing you were when you said that you'd put your head to soak."

Miss Blanchard tried to laugh, but was too sensitive to laugh at a remark which was untrue.

"I say, Clara," she said when her opponent failed to take a ball she served, "if you'd stop looking sweet at Mr. Martindale you'd play a better game. Everybody knows what you're up to in that direction."

Dick scored one in putting that remark into Miss Blanchard's mouth. Miss Ashby threw down her racket.

"I don't care," she said. "It doesn't make any difference whether you were prompted to say that or not; you had no right to say it." Her face was fiery red, and her eyes were snapping.

Miss Blanchard had not got over the remark about her tusk and seemed to take a malicious pleasure in saying what Dick told her to say, sometimes breaking into short bits of irritating laughter.

"Sadie, if you don't stop that giggling you'll drive me crazy," I made Miss Ashby remark.

"Oh, don't be silly! You're making a poor show of yourself. You should have brought a handglass."

"You'd better have brought one yourself," retorted Miss Ashby. "If you had you'd have kept your tusk hidden."

Miss Blanchard dropped her racket and strode off the field.

"I didn't suppose," she said hotly, "that this was to be a tournament of insults."

Miss Ashby followed her, walking erect and with great hauteur. "I think you two men had better finish it," she said.

"Done!" exclaimed both Dick and I, and, picking up the rackets, we began to play and to chaff. We both have physical defects and did not refrain from delicate mention of them.

"Now I'm going to take you in the bald spot on your forehead," from Dick.

"And I'll knock one of those spindle pins from under you. Forty-thirty."

"Thirty-forty, you mean. Pity your first baby lessons were in lying."

"You know very well you've just out of jail for perjury."

"Now I'm going to put a ball between those bow legs of yours. I could throw a barrel between 'em."

"Which eye are you looking at me with—the upper or the lower?"

When we had sent these delicate compliments for awhile we threw our arms around each other and kissed, after the European fashion, on both cheeks. This we did to show our superiority in the matter of good nature to the girls. The umpires decided that I had won the bet, but sentenced me to pay it.

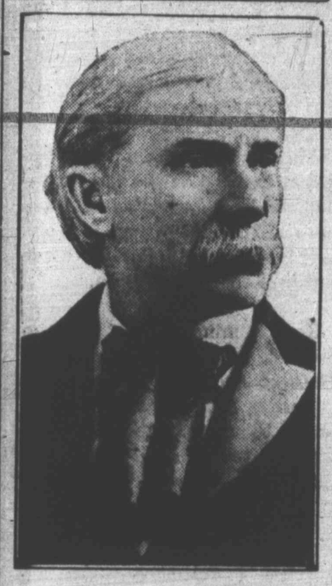

"I have no desire whatever," said Miss Ashby, tossing her head, "to excel at any such game."

"Nor have I," Miss Blanchard chimed in.

"I'll admit," I said by way of apology, "that it's far more pleasant for friends to say nice things to each other."

PEN PORTRAITS OF NOTED PEOPLE

Colonel James M. Guffey of Pennsylvania.

Colonel James M. Guffey of Pittsburg, whose recent financial difficulties caused a sensation in business circles, is one of the best known oil and coal operators in the country and a millionaire many times over. Mr. Guffey is said to be the largest holder of West Virginia coal lands, his unsold holdings in that state being 136,700 acres. This property is said to be worth at least $15,000,000, containing about 2,000,000 tons of coal.

Early in life the colonel, who began as a very poor boy, took a hand in Pennsylvania politics, and for many years has been acknowledged as the leader of Democracy in his state. His pocketbook was always open in both state and national causes of Democracy.

Seeming a natural leader he came into national prominence in 1897, when he was elected Democratic national committeeman from Pennsylvania, replacing William F. Harrity. Guffey entered the political game as a Bryan man, which made his quarrel with the Nebraskan three years ago all the more spectacular.

It was two years ago at the Denver national convention that Guffey was practically "read from the Democratic party" by Bryan, who had James Kerr made national committeeman in Guffey's place. Kerr died soon after his election, and Colonel Guffey was again made a member of the national committee by his Democratic constituency in Pennsylvania, a position which he yet holds.

A Missouri Statesman.

Congressman Champ Clark of Missouri, who has been floor leader of the minority in the house of representatives since John Sharp Williams retired, hopes to succeed Uncle Joe Cannon in the speaker's chair in the Sixty-second congress. Mr. Clark is certain that the Democrats will control the next house, and believes that his long and faithful service on the floor entitles him to the support of his party for the coveted honor.

The man from Missouri has been one of the most picturesque figures in congress for many years. A splendid debater, always ready for an argument with the opposition and one of the best parliamentarians in congress he has been a power on his side of the chamber. Few of the enemy have crossed swords with him and escaped unscathed. Many a warm battle has he waged against such seasoned warriors as Payne and Dalzell and even in former days against Uncle Joe Cannon himself. Withal he remains popular with his Republican colleagues.

A native of Kentucky, he has lived in Missouri since 1875. He has worked as a farm hand, clerked in a country store, edited a country newspaper and practiced law. In 1904 he was permanent chairman of the national Democratic convention that nominated Judge Parker. Mr. Clark is sixty years old and is serving his eighth term in congress.

BE A BOOSTER.

"God pity the man who doesn't talk his town up," was the significent keynote of an address given by Prof. Lauery in Canyon Sunday evening. A truer statement could no have been made, nor one that should come closer home to every resident of Canyon. Canyon is in a position now to be boosted and put on a higher plane. The Normal College is about to open and with the intellectual opportunity should come a desire for a larger and more beautiful city. We will have a larger number, and more prominent visitors this coming year than ever before in the history of the town. Let every person who may come to Canyon, feel that he is in a town of enterprise and of municipal pride. If you have any kick coming, use the surplus energy in beautifying your residence rather than pouring it out in the form of vengence upon the town and its authorities. In other words, keep boosting for Canyon. You will fell better by having said a good word.

A real estate transfer at Canyon this week carries with it a significent meaning. A man who had sold several sections of land at $5 an acre some years ago was in the market to buy 160 acres at $30 per acre. His faith in Texas land had rightfully returned, but the price had somewhat sweetened during those days of mistrust.

The Lubbock exchange says: Come to Lubbock to live. We would like to offer the same suggestion as to Canyon, but come prepared to build yourself a new house, or bring one with you as a Hereford man is talking of doing. Canyon's house famine is worse than the sugar famine last week.

Some of our exchanges are still trying to make their readers believe that Judge J. C. Hunt is not elected. Well, now that is a pretty hard thing to do in view of the fact that he has been in the legislature for over a week.

It seems strange to many Canyon people that Mr. Davidson received such poor support from this city when it was greatly through his efforts that the College was located here.

The Northwest Texas Press Association will meet at Wichita Falls August 19 and 20. A great program is being prepared to entertain the editors of this section of the state.

Keep the boy off the street, but see that he has something profitable to do at home. Petty thefts as those of last Saturday soon lead to greater ones.

Mr. Poindexter spent $15,111-.71 and Mr. Colquitt has $11,778. less than he did before the campaign. How would you like to run for governor?

THE PARAGRAPHER.

Another good rain Tuesday night.

Are you planning for the reunion?

The merchants of Canyon are everyone boosters.

A good downpour beats a street sprinkler any day.

Saturday was a good day for the merchants.

The rain of Sunday night makes things look fine.

Senator Bailey says he will be a candidate for re-election in 1912.

Great big juicy water melons are in evidence. Texas raises the best.

The College building is getting up in the air some. It is mighty fine looking.

Cut all the weeds on your place, and for shame your neighbor will follow suit.

There are 975,000 school childred in Texas according to figures of State Supt. Bralley.

Look at the date on your paper. If the time has expired we should like to have you renew at once.

The neighboring towns are a little surprised to see President Cousins advertise for twenty-five new houses for Canyon. Well, to tell the truth, we could use fifty new ones. Now neighbor, what do you think of enterprising Canyon?

Gov. Campbell is nearly on a basis with Theodore Roosevelt when it comes to writing messages.

Superintendent Redus and Principal Price of the public school are planning on a great year.

We ought to be having some baseball games. Why not get the team together and show our neighboring towns how the national game is played?

Amarillo will have a hotly contested election on the 20th to decide the local option issue. Both sides are confident, but it looks as if the prohibitionists have the better of their opponents.

Keep in mind the fact that the re-union commences here next Tuesday and will continue until Thursday. It is a duty of every citizen to see that this re-union is a greater success than ever before.

TEXAS BEST OF ALL.

Since I returned from my eastern trip, I thought I would drive around the country to compare our crops, lands and country with those I had seen in Illinois, Iowa, Missouri and the states through which had passed

Well I am more and more convinced that our Panhandle land will in a few years go to the front and make the best agricultural section in the United States. What is needed here is a farmer on every 160 acres, as they have too much acreage and put in more crops than they can handle. I observed on my drives around Umbarger that every piece of land well plowed and cultivated had fine crops. So many of our farmers think that because it doesn't rain for a week or more, it is not necessary to work in the fields. My observation is that all the farmers who keep stirring the land thus keep the moisture in by this working and mulching, and when the rains come the crops grow wonderfully. I am convinced that this country will harvest a greater crop this fall than ever before.

Our prairies are in better condition than I have ever seen at this time of the year. Cattle are as fat as they can be and we will have plenty of winter pasture. Our settlers around Umbarger all feel happy and very much encouraged. During the past week we had several good rains and the soil is in the very best condition for fall plowing and getting ready for sowing wheat.

A WONDERFUL WOMAN.

[From Pittsburg (Pa.) Leader.]

There was nothing to startle the world in the brief item of news that came out of Brookline, Mass., yesterday announcing that Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, Founder and Leader of the Christian Science denomination, was quietly observing the eighty-ninth anniversary of her birth, surrounded by a few friends at her modest home.

The item itself was characteristic of the subject. Probably Mrs. Eddy herself would have preferred that nothing at all be said about it.

But there is a great deal in the plain fact that this remarkable woman is now rounding out her ninetieth year, of which the people everywhere may well take note.

Seldom do we have presented a subject more replete with valuable suggestion, ennobling inspiration, or general uplift.

Mrs. Eddy stands among the foremost women of her time and generation. Whether or not we subscribe to the doctrines which she has founded and maintained, we cannot take from the credit which rightfully accrues through her position as one of the world's workers, as one who has been devoted to the welfare of others, who has all but given her life to the cause of humanity.

Mrs. Eddy's life has been one of constant effort for her fellow beings. She has had no selfish aims to accomplish, no unworthy aims to attain, no ulterior motives to shield with the cloak of religion.

Mrs. Eddy is a stanch advocate of prayer. She believes in the efficacy of prayer, and upon this belief the religion she has founded leans more strongly than anything else.

From a handful of original supporters Mrs. Eddy increased the number until the Christian Scientists are now a power in the religious world.

They met with many rebuffs. Critics were not sparing of the tender-hearted woman's feelings and who can tell the pain she must have felt when the sharp thrusts of the public lance often reached their mark?

But she was resolute and undaunted. She was firmly founded in her belief, and she heeded not what her detractors said of her or of her ideas.

Mrs. Eddy will not be classed as "great" in the same manner as other women of her time. She has not filled the public mind with those things that are of earth earthly.

Her's is a greatness of love, of heart, of mind, of faith, of all the higher elements that are too often crushed beneath the overpowering weight of mundane things.

Resolutions of Sympathy.

Whereas, our Heavenly Father in his infinite wisdom, has taken from our Ladies Prayer Circle No. 1, one of our most conrecrated and instructive members, Mrs. D. M. Hawthorne.

Resolved, that we extend to Bro. Hawthorne our deepest symsathy and tenderest love in this sad hour of bereavement, and point him to Jesus, who is burden bearer and comforter in time of need.

Be it further resolved that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved home and that a copy be placed on the minutes of the circle.

SHADOW LEGENDS

Zulus Believe the Bodily Shade Is the Future Spirit.

TAKING AWAY ONE'S SHADOW.

Why Some Races Are Forbidden to Look Into a Dark Pool of Water. The Way Donald McKay Managed to Escape the Clutches of the Devil.

That mysterious counterpart of a human being which lengthens with the day and disappears with the sun, to reappear more faintly with the rising of the moon, which we call a shadow, has always struck the imagination of man. It has played a prominent part in primitive superstition and in later folklore. Shadows or shades was the classical name or figure for the spirits of the departed which still remains in use.

This idea is not confined to civilised races. Among the Zulus the spirit is the shade. Bishop Callaway, whose knowledge of Zulu beliefs and modes of thought was unrivaled, says that the Zulus connect the bodily shade with the future disembodied spirit. They believe that the shadow cast by the body will ultimately become the "itongo," or spirit, when the body dies, and they say that the long shadow shortens "as a man approaches his end and contracts into a very little thing. When they see the shadow of a man thus contracting, they know he will die. The long shadow goes away when a man is dead, and it is that which is meant when it is said, 'The shadow has departed.'" There is, however, a short shadow which remains with the body and is buried with it. The long shadow becomes an ancestral spirit.

Identification of the shadow in any mysterious or spiritual way with the person whose body casts it, naturally leads to respect for the strange second self. To tread on the shadow of a chief is an insult to the chief himself. In the Institutes of Manu, the ancient Hindu law giver, the law runs:

"Let him not intentionally pass over the shadow of sacred images, of a natural or spiritual father, of a king, of a Brahmin who keeps house, or of any reverend personage, nor of one who has just performed a sacrifice."

There are traces of the survival of these primitive ways of regarding a man's shadow in the English country feeling that it is unlucky to cross the path of a newly married man as he leaves the altar; and in another rural belief that it is unlucky to cross the path of horses ploughing when the sun is shining behind them.

Association between shadows and mirrored representations of the human form is obviously natural, so it is not surprising to find superstitions about the shadow mingled with widely scattered versions of the Narcissus legend. The story of the beautiful youth who became enamored of his own image, as he saw it represented in the water, and languished thereafter till he died, has its origin in the belief that trouble follows from beholding the watery image.

"Let him not look at his own image in water; that is a settled rule," commands Manu, the Hindu law giver.

The reason for the prohibition is to be found in the beliefs of man in a primitive state of civilization. The Melanesians of the Pacific, says a learned observer, say: "There is a stream in Saddle island, or, rather, a pool in a stream, into which if any one looks he dies; the malignant spirit takes hold upon his life by means of his reflection in the water." Some such idea as this was probably the root of the Narcissus legend.

The Zulus explain why it is ill to look into the water of a pool by a story of a great beast in the water which can seize the shadow of a man and when his shadow is gone a man no longer wishes to turn back, but desires to enter the pool. He goes in, dies, and is eaten by the great beast which inhabits it. So, says Bishop Callaway, "men are forbidden to lean over and look into a dark pool, it being feared that their shadow should be taken away."

There are other ways in which a man may lose his shadow. There was a temple of Jupiter in Arcadia which, if entered by those who were forbidden to do so, robbed them of their shadows.

In the north of Scotland there are some quaint legends of folk who lost this usual attendant. In Sutherland they tell more than one story of a wizard named Donald-Duival McKay. Donald went to a school in Italy where the black art was taught by the devil, who sat in the professor's chair, and at the end of each term claimed as his own the last scholar to depart. Breaking up at this academy was naturally a scramble, none wishing to be last.

On one occasion Donald was really the last, but just as the devil was about to seize him, the resourceful Donald pointed to his own shadow, which fell behind him, saying, "Take thou the hindmost!" Accordingly, his shadow was seized, while he himself escapes, and after his return to Scotland was never seen to have a shadow!

A companion illustration of "de'il tak the hin'most," from Aberdeenshire, is a story of a witch helped laird watching his reapers, whose shadow was seised by Satan, and who was ever after shadowless. In literature Chamisso's famous tale of "Peter Schlemihl" is a well known example of the stories of the shadowless.—New York American.

Ralph Items.

Fine rains of late puts everything in fine shape and insures a good row crop.

The farmers are most through threshing wheat and oats. The yield was from nine to twelve bushels of wheat per acre, while oats made from twenty to twenty five per acre.

Willie Roles and wife expect to leave for Kansas City this week where they will make their future home. They have many friends in and around Ralph who regret to see them leave.

The Baptist people started a protracted meeting at Ralph last Sunday and will be run through tho coming week. The services will be bonducted by Rev. Tillery. Everybody invited to unite in these services.

The people of this community were treated to a pleasant surprise this week when it was announced that two of its popular young people had hied themselves away to Canyon last Thursday evening and invoked the services of County Judge A. N. Henson in joining them in holy wedlock. The contracting parties were Mr. Amos Upfold, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Upfold of Canyon, and Miss Bertha Douglas, the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Douglas of this community. On account of the fact that both these young people were well known and universally liked and that, while people had expected this wedding at some future time, but no announcement had been made of the nuptials, the citizens of our community were not at all backward in extending to the happy couple those words of feliciation which came from their hearts, wishing them all the joys of a long and prosperous voyage on life's seas. They will make their home in this community. For some reason or other the usual old fashioned chivarari was not accorded them but Amos came forth with the box of cigars anyhow. Here's hoping.

GUESS WHO.

Pleasantview Items.

Rain, more rain! In all it is just fine and we are thankful for it. While threshing is not yet done, the wheat is all in the stack and in good shape.

The second annual picnic of the New settlers of Pleasantview and surrounding country was pulled off Friday with fine weather and a very good crowd and all enjoyed the time of their lives. The ball game between Happy and Canyon was exceeding interesting with the score 3 to 5 in favor of Canyon. Speaking came after the sumptious dinner and ball game, by Prof. Crowley, Hill, Cousins and Henson, the latter three of Canyon and Prof. Crowley of this place.

Just play like you were a Missourian who had to be shown and come to the great Panhandle and see the fat and sleek cattle and the prospect for a bumper crop of the Plains.

We are very sorry to loose our old and pleasant editor, L. B. Christman, but we have one in his stead whom we hope to enjoy as we did him.

Bro. Younger was out and preached at this place again Sunday and will hold a protracted meeting here in the near futrre. Watch for the date.

The Panhandle
Invites Inspection.

She leads the great Southwest in the richness of her productions. That she has created a stir in the agricultural sections of the north and middle west, is evidenced by the gathering together of the banking interests of the older states, to combat the tide of immigration which is steadily coming this way. A visit to Canyon City and surrounding territory will convince you that the loudly proclaimed stories of drought are without foundation. Our hundreds of acres of Milo Maize and Kaffir Corn, just now entering the maturing stage, are a complete refutation of the drought stories. The market quotations of Indian corn compared with the quotations on Kaffir and Maize show that the last two named command the greater price.

There is no country that is better equipped naturally for the production of broom corn, than in the Panhandle. Professor Shaw, of the Wisconsin Agricultural College, makes the unqualified statement that any land which will successfully produce broom corn is worth two hundred dollays per acre.

As a stock raising and feeding country the Panhandle is not surpassed; the cool, pleasant summer, free from the tormenting fly, and the mild winters, full of sunshine, make it an ideal location for both the raising and finishing of all kinds of stock.

The production of all fruits peculiar to the temperate zone is bountiful and the quality is of the best. All kinds of vegetables are most successfully grown here, and melons attain prodigious size and are of the most delicious flavor.

Come and Investigate Our Statements.
