Candidates 'debate' Brown

By The Associated Press

President Ford and Jimmy Carter have found one thing to agree on: The election is just to close to call now.

It was a light campaign day for both major candidates Monday, but both managed in separate ways to point to the tightness of their race for the White House.

Carter declared at a news conference that the election is "up for grabs" and made an emotional appeal in a campaign speech in Florida against voter apathy.

Ford stayed in Washington and sent word through his backers that he views the race as "a dead heat" now. Major polls also show the race is tight.

But there was disagreement between the two candidates about remarks made by the chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, Gen. George S. Brown. Brown was quoted in an interview as saying Israel is a military burden and that the United States does not have the stomach to stand up to the Soviets.

Carter said Brown's remarks are an example of what he said was Ford's failure to take strong action against errant administration officials, and he compared Ford's failure to rebuke Brown with what Carter said was Ford's inaction in the wake of the Earl Butz affair two weeks ago.

Butz resigned as Ford's secretary of agriculture after it became widely known that he had made an obscene racial slur against blacks aboard an airplane after the Republican National Convention.

A number of congressmen, senators and civil rights leaders wanted Butz fired, but Butz resigned his post three days after the furor began. And Ford expressed sadness at accepting the resignation.

Brown held a news conference Monday with Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld at his side. The Air Force general said he did not intend in the interview to imply that he disagreed with U.S. policy on Israel. He also denied saying the United States does not have the stomach to stand up to the Soviet Union.

Rumsfeld said Ford has no plans to either reprimand or fire Brown for his remarks, and White House spokesman Ron Nessen said Ford reviewed Brown's remarks and "made it clear to Secretary Rumsfeld that he does not agree with the general's poor choice of words in portions of the interview."

"The absence of a reprimand should not mean an endorsement of Gen. Brown's obviously inelegant phraseology," Rumsfeld said.

Nessen said "the President considers the matter closed."

Brown was reprimanded by Ford in 1974 after telling a university audience that Jews have an undue influence in Congress and that they are in control of banks and newspapers in the United States.

Carter, comparing Ford's attitude toward Brown's remarks with the Butz case, said, "I think President Ford should show some leadership. Mr. Butz stayed there until Mr. Ford assessed the political consequences of what he said, and finally Mr. Butz resigned."

Midland College breaks ground

Construction on the second phase of development at Midland College was begun officially this morning with groundbreaking ceremonies on the campus.

Construction is scheduled to begin immediately on three buildings, an addition to the present occupational-technical building, an academic classroom-fine arts building and a multipurpose facility to be called Chaparral Center.

Board of trustees president Robert M. Leibrock welcomed the approximately 100 people who braved the chilly weather and outlined the purposes of the three buildings.

The academic classroom-fine arts building will provide space for expansion of fine arts and music programs and the occupational-technical building will provide laboratory space for occupational programs as well as additional classroom space, Leibrock said.

Chaparral Center will provide facilities for the college "to have a first class physical education and intercollegiate athletics program," a place for Midland Independent School District functions including basketball games and a place for entertainment and programs the community could not have before because of lack of seating capacity, Leibrock said.

The center will seat slightly more than 5,000 persons.

Brief remarks praising the college and welcoming the expansion of facilities were made by Mayor Ernest

GNP growth rate falters

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's rate of economic growth faltered from July through September, a slowdown reflected in the increasing number of persons on the jobless rolls during the summer, the government reported today.

The Commerce Department said the Gross National Product, the total output of goods and services in the economy, expanded at an annual rate of 4 per cent in the third quarter.

The gross national product grew at an annual rate of 4.5 per cent in the second quarter and 9.2 per cent in the first three months of the year.

Most economists consider the growth rate during the second and third quarters adequate only to provide jobs for the expansion of the nation's labor force due to population growth. They believe it is inadequate to provide employment for persons thrown out of work because of the recession.

The Commerce report also showed that inflation, as measured in the Gross National Product, was less severe in the third quarter. Prices rose at an annual rate of 4.4 per cent, compared to 5.2 per cent from May through June.

The dollar value of the GNP in the third quarter was placed at $1,709.7 billion.

The percentage increase was the smallest since the 3.3 per cent growth rate recorded in the fourth quarter of 1975.

The growth rate was held down in part due to the slow build-up of business inventories and a slower pace of new investment in businesses and homes.

Inventories grew during the third quarter at an annual rate of $14.4 billion, compared to an annual rate of $16 billion in the previous three-month period.

Total investment expanded at an annual rate of 5 per cent during the summer months, compared to 11.5 per cent in the spring quarter, the department said.

The GNP figures represent the broadest measure of the nation's economic performance. Today's report is the last one due before the November election.

The 4 per cent growth rate was in line with economists' predictions during the past several weeks, although it was well below administration forecasts as recently as July.

In midsummer, the administration forecast the GNP growth rate would be about 7 per cent for the last six months of the year.

Oil show to be largest inland one

ODESSA — When the 1976 Bicentennial Permian Basin Oil Show opens in Odessa Wednesday it will be the largest inland oil show ever staged in the world.

Since the first oil show was staged here in 190 where 38 companies exhibited their goods and services, the Permian Basin Oil Show has grown in size and attendance and now is second only to the show held annually at Houston.

The first two days of the four-day show will be open to those persons actively engaged in the oil or related businesses in order to give the exhibitors a chance to meet the people that need their equipment and services.

The show will open to the general public at 1 p. m. Friday when the dedication and grand opening ceremonies will be held at the main gates of the oil show grounds at the Ector County Coliseum Complex.

The grand opening will follow a parade that gets under way at 10 a. m. Friday in downtown Odessa. The parade will begin at Third and Grant and procede north on Grant Street.

The parade will have 16 bands, including four from Midland, decorated floats and hundreds of pieces of oil field rolling stock.

Parade chairman L. J. Scott of Odessa said there are 125 units entered in the parade and that awards will be made through three places for the best floats.

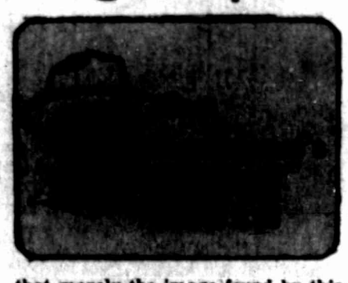

J. W. "Bill" Hall, with Loffland Brothers in Odessa, is president of the oil show. He predicted there would be more than 400,000 persons walk through the turnstiles before the exhibits close at 8 p. m. Friday.

The gates will open at 10 a. m. Wednesday and Thursday and close at 8 p. m. The viewing hours Friday will be from 1 to 8 p.m. and from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday.

The show's honoree is Robert L. Parker, chairman of the board of Parker Drilling Co. in Tulsa. This year will mark the first time the exposition has been dedicated to the drilling phase of the oil industry. Parker and the drilling industry will be honored during the grand opening ceremony at 1 p. m. Friday.

Planned Parenthood no old ladies' group

Since Maragaret Sanger took the abuse of an often hostile nation around the turn of the century for suggesting that people ought to limit the size of their families, the "birth control" interests have had an image as a gaggle of matronly busybodies with little impact on society. (Or is that merely the image found by this corner?)

But whoever holds such views these days hasn't met Jack Hood Vaughn of New York City, president of Planned Parenthood Federation of America, who spoke at Thursday night's annual Basin meeting in Midland's Hilton.

In the first place, although he looks like a buttoned-down New York effete and sports a Dean Acheson mustache rendered somewhat diffident by the pink tone of his hair, Vaughn is a tough little guy who ran away to Juarez with his last $3 as a child and made a living for years as a professional boxer. He has also been a globe-trotting foreign official hob-nobbing with the likes of Indian Prime Minister Gandhi (who told him the 75,000 new Indians a day make her feel like Custer at his last stand), Jimmy Carter's mother (whom he sent to India for the Peace Corps), and Richard Nixon (from whom Vaughn earned the distinction of being the first bureaucrat fired by the Nixon Administration).

"It's time to relinquish our defensive position," he challenged

Bicentennial swindles have been prevalent this year as two Detroit bank auditors studying the situation have learned. "The trouble," Bill Kalmar says, "is people keep trying to get something for nothing." Unfortunately, the Patrick Henry approach to a bargain has more often turned out to a Benedict Arnold fraud in disguise, as Associated Press writer Harry Atkins reports. Joe Yeninas drew the cartoon.

Bicentennial buyer needs to be aware

By HARRY ATKINS
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — P. T. Barnum said there was one born every minute, so it shouldn't come as any shock that there are a great many American fish ready to be parted from their money in this Bicentennial year.

But two Detroit bank auditors, who spent a great deal of their time studying swindlers and warning their customers, say the guile of the Bicentennial con men would astound even the great Barnum.

"The swindlers have come up with more 'patriotic' ways of ripping people off than Barnum ever dreamed of," says David Westhoff, vice president of auditing at Detroit Bank & Trust.

"The trouble is, people keep trying to get something for nothing," says his assistant, Bill Kalmar.

Unfortunately, the Patrick Henry approach to a Bicentennial bargain may turn out to be a Benedict Arnold fraud in disguise.

"Most of the schemes have obviously been used before," says Westhoff, "but with a little old-fashioned ingenuity, the con man has revolutionized the swindle to give it that 'Spirit of 76' appeal."

Working through law enforcement agencies around the nation, Westhoff and Kalmar have compiled a file of every Bicentennial swindle they could get their hands on. Here are but a few:

John Paul Jones

Travel to historic places is always popular. So one enterprising outfit began taking reservations for a Bicentennial cruise. The New York attorney general's office cracked down on the Virginia-based company, when it learned the reservations were for a cruise aboard the S.S. United States, a former luxury liner which has been in moth balls since 1969.

Whiff of the Past

What better way to commemorate our heritage than to take a breath of air from those days of yesteryear? In New York City, a con artist was selling bottles of air that he claimed had been "corked" in Philadelphia on July 4, 1776. The bottle was old and green and looked handblown and could be purchased for $30. Any alert customer should have realized that the whole situation seemed "smelly," but apparently there were enough suckers to keep him in business.

WEATHER SUMMARY

COOL TEMPERATURES are forecast for most of the nation. Florida and the Pacific coast are expected to be mild. Rain is forecast for most of the Atlantic coast, and snow is expected for the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence Valley.

"You've got a good show going here," he said, but he faulted the lack of sex education in Texas schools. "You (Texans) spent millions on sex education and it turned out to be four minutes a week — and optional at that, so many teachers won't use it for fear of offending parents. Which means today's children will get it (sex education) from the street, in the vulgar, distorted, and highly inaccurate way we got it."

"Abortion has never been the issue in the United States," the feisty enthusiast charged, alluding to the million people born every 22 days throughout the world as an example of things to come in the nation with "the world's worst sex education."

He is hopeful about the growing impact of the Planned Parenthood program, although he asked rhetorically "Why aren't we on the Walter Cronkite show?" The biggest danger is to have the government take over planned parenthood — "to lose our handle as a private organization."

And, to illuminate the power of volunteer workers such as those on hand in the Basin, he recounted a discussion with a diplomat who predicted early in the Vietnam war that the United Nations forces could never win. Why?

"Because all the volunteers are on the other side."

It was a fascinating evening with another group of Basinites who don't have any trouble finding something interesting and useful to do, and I'm indebted to new Information Directress Gloria Roden of Odessa for inviting me.

You won't get dinner at the Hilton, but you can get the same information from the clinics in any of the towns listed above or from the headquarters presided over by Executive Directress Gloria Feldt in Odessa at the American Bank Building, suite 401, or by calling 563-2530.

CRANE — A 21-year-old McCamey woman was killed shortly after midnight today about nine miles south of Crane on U.S. 385.

State troopers said Ofelia H. Morales, was killed when the car she was driving ran off the right side of the road and overturned.

A passenger in the victim's car, Arcadio Salas, 19, of Crane, was listed in good condition at Odessa Medical Center today.

Among those attending the ceremonies were state Sen. W. E. "Pete" Snelson and Rep. Tom Craddick, college trustees and representatives of contractors who will work on the project.

"These buildings will allow us to meet more of the needs of our students. We're pleased that the tax payers saw fit to support us in this," Dr. Al G. Langford, college president, said after the ceremony.

The facilities were approved by voters in February.

Also at this morning's ceremony, the new Midland College alma mater was performed for the first time. The lyrics were taken from two different entries in the recent lyric contest and the music was written by Robert LaFontaine, music instructor at the college.

The winning lyric writers will be announced at the first Midland College home basketball game.

Executive touts Basin as commercial locale

By DEBBIE PIERCE

Midland has been a good market for Sears, Roebuck and Co., the new executive vice president of the 11-state southwestern territory of Sears said Monday.

"This area is growing, and we want to continue to serve it well and to grow with the community," said William C. Lochmoeller, the new Sears executive.

Lochmoeller was in Midland for a brief visit to the Midland Sears store, plus a look at the sites of two proposed regional shopping centers in the city.

"We have no announcement to make at this time regarding the shopping center sites," Lochmoeller said. "This is really a pretty routine visit — I've never seen the Midland Sears store before, but I wanted to see it and visit with our employes here."

The new executive vice president noted he planned to look at both sites proposed for the centers, "but to choose is a very major decision — one we're not yet ready to make."

Lochmoeller gave a brief interview to The Reporter-Telegram prior to his tour of the Midland Sears store and touched on self-service selling and new trends in apparel.

"We feel the trend toward self-service will continue," he said. "We've always tried to permit our customers to self-select their merchandise, and yet provide sales assistance to them also, whichever the customer preferred and whichever the line of merchandise required. You can hardly buy a suit of clothing, though, without some sales assistance."

Lochmoeller said self-service can only be successful if the visual merchandising is such that customers can find what they're looking for and if personnel are available to record the transaction.

The new executive vice president said that recent clothing trends toward leisure wear will continue for both men and women and for all age groups. He said the three-piece vested suit is "big" this year in men's wear, while dresses seem to be "making a strong comeback" for women.

"This is not to say that pantsuits have gone out of style," he hastened to add.

Lochmoeller, a 30-year veteran with Sears, also attended a luncheon in Odessa and toured the Odessa Sears store as part of his visit to this area.

In his new position, Lochmoeller directs operations of all retail stores, catalog sales units and supporting facilities in Texas, Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Wyoming, and parts of Arkansas, Iowa, Louisiana and Missouri.

Lloyd Bentsen visits Basin

U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen brought his reelection campaign to the Permian Basin today to attend the Odessa-Midland Oil Show in Odessa and a luncheon in Midland.

Bentsen spoke at a noon luncheon at Midland's Petroleum Club.

Bentsen also was scheduled to speak in Lubbock and attend receptions in Levelland and Plainview today as part of a swing through West Texas.

He will speak Wednesday at Amarillo College and at the state convention of county judges and commissioners in Amarillo.

Three city residences victims of burglaries

More than $3,300 worth of goods were reported stolen from three Midland residences Tuesday, police said.

Hardest hit was Henry Beck, of 2804 Haynes Drive, who reported the theft of a tool box and an assortment of work tools from his garage. The loss was estimated to be $2,300, police said. Entry to the building was made through an unlocked overhead door between 8 a.m. and noon.

Some $750 worth of stereo equipment was reported taken from the residence of Kyle Covington, 1608 W. Texas Ave., between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m., police said. A stereo, a stereo receiver, record changer and records were reported taken.

A portable color television, a record player and records were reported taken from the residence of John Smith, 928 N. Weatherford St., at 10 a.m. sometime Monday, police said. Entry was through the back door of the residence.

VANDALISM

An undetermined amount of coins were taken and about $100 worth of damage done to two coin operated machines in the teachers lounge at Austin Freshman Public School, 1400 E. Oak Ave., police reported today. Entry to the building was made sometime over the weekend by removing a window to the lounge.

Testimony begins today in Midland rape trial

A five-woman, seven-man jury began hearing testimony this morning in a 1972 rape case against Cecil Ray Willis.

Willis was arrested Oct. 11, 1972 in Galveston on charges stemming from an incident on Oct. 9, 1972, in which Willis allegedly entered the home of a 60-year-old Midland woman at 10:45 a.m., passing himself off as a utility serviceman.

The assailant reportedly beat and raped the woman, then threatened to kill her and tried to choke her, according to a statement by Sheriff's Deputy Bill Cornell given in support of issuance of the warrant.

She said the man then tied her with a cord and left the woman at her home. She was able to free herself enough to telephone the operator, who notified the sheriff's office, since the woman lived in the county near the Air Terminal.

Rusty Wall, assistant district attorney, is prosecuting the case. Willis is defended by H. Thomas Hirsch of Odessa and E. F. Lohmann III of Midland.

Midland man to be charged

Formal charges are expected to be filed today against a 20-year-old Midland man in connection with a break-in early today at an airport hangar at the Midland Regional Air Terminal, police said.

About $5,000 damage to the landing gear of one plane was done, early today, police said.

Wadley Avenue has panel stuck

The Midland Planning and Zoning Commission Monday plowed through almost three hours in considering a nine-item agenda before finally delaying action on two items and agreeing to recommend the rest for approval to the city council.

Commissioners postponed until their next session a request by James Crume for a zone change from single-family district to planned district in the 3200 block of Wadley Avenue.

Midland realtor John Williams made the request on behalf of Crume and co-owner Gerald Howard, who were seeking the change to construct four duplexes and an additional "bachelor unit" east of the new Jade Garden restaurant.

Williams said the structures would be one and one-half stories in height, with a cathedral-type ceiling and no windows on the second floor except those facing north. He said this should not interfere with the privacy of neighbors to the side and rear.

Williams also told the commission that all the duplexes would have rear-entry garages and circular driveways in front, be owner-occupied and be constructed of 75 per cent brick masonry.

About six residents of the 3200 block of Camarie Street appeared at the session to protest the zone change. Mrs. Joe Lynch of 3206 Camarie St., spokesman for the group, presented a petition bearing 58 signatures, she said, of residents in that particular block who also were against the request.

Mrs. Lynch cited residents' fears that the proposal would change the character of the neighborhood, increase the density, cause sanitation and noise and traffic problems and invade the neighbors' privacy.

City planners agreed to postpone action on the request, at the recommendation of assistant city attorney Deke Austin. The attorney pointed out that residents had been notified the proposed zone change was from single-family to duplex, not planned district, so by law any action the group might take could be void.

Commissioners agreed to have the planning staff check into the legal requirements and, if a second notice had to be made to residents of the area, consider the request after such notice had been made.

City planners also postponed action on a request by Greg Pulliam for a zone change from parking district to planned district on .32 acre at 2600 W. Michigan Ave.

Pulliam noted that he objected to the parking district's requirement of a 25-foot setback, which would cut deeply into the parking area of a fast-food steak house to be constructed at that site.

Commissioners agreed to consider the matter in a special session at 4 p.m. next Monday, Oct. 25, with Pulliam presenting a site plan for their further study.

In other action, city planners agreed to recommend approval to the city council to:

— A request by Wayne Matthews for a zone change from single-family district to local retail on 4.04 acres at 3100 W. Wall St., for construction of a new auto dealership;

— A preliminary plat of the area at 3100 W. Wall St.;

— A request by Phyllis Huffman and A. V. Johnson Jr. for a zone change from multiple family to planned district in the 600 block of Kent Street, for construction of a pharmacy;

— A replat of a portion of the 600 block of Kent Street;

— A zone change initiated by the commission from multiple family to local retail on a portion of the 600 block of Kent Street, to provide more consistency;

— Vacating N Street between Texas Avenue and Illinois Avenue, as requested by St. Ann's Catholic Church; and,

— Final plats of Skyline Terrace, Emerson Heights, and Scotsdale Additions.

The events are open to the public at no charge.

Southwest seeks OK on non-Texas service

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — Southwest Airlines, a successful airline now operating solely in Texas outside the scope of the Civil Aeronautics Board, plans to ask the CAB for permission to offer consumers flights between Chicago and 14 cities at about half the going fares.

M. Lamar Muse, president of the five-year-old Texas carrier, said Monday he wants to apply to the interstate market the same formula that has worked to the benefit of Southwest and consumers in Texas: low-fare, frequent, on-time, commuter-type service using airports close to the major cities being served when possible.

It is too soon to tell what chances the application might have at the CAB, Muse said Monday he realized that, based on past CAB policy, the application never would have been considered seriously by the board. "A year ago, I'd have to be crazy to spend two days filing an application," he said. "It would have been sitting at the CAB forever.

"I just don't feel that's the case today."

He cited a changed — and more receptive — climate to applications such as Southwest's, partly based on hearings over the year on the state of the airline industry and proposals to reform it, and on pledges by Senate and House aviation subcommittee chairman to push for reduced regulation in the next Congress.

Within the next month, Muse said, Southwest will apply for authority to fly between Chicago's close-in but little-used Midway Airport and 14 cities located between 200 and 500 miles away from Chicago: Buffalo, N.Y.; Detroit; Cleveland; Columbus; Dayton; Cincinnati; Pittsburgh; Louisville; Memphis; St. Louis; Kansas City; Omaha, Neb.; Des Moines, Iowa; and Minneapolis.

Southwest also will seek non-stop authority between Midway and Las Vegas at round-trip fares the carrier says are less than the current one-way coach fares between the two cities.

Muse said Southwest would institute the same kind of fare structure it uses in Texas, where one fare called Executive Class — $25 on all but one route in Texas — is charged for flights during weekdays until 6:59 p.m., and a pleasure class fare of $15 is charged in the evenings and on weekends.

Muse said Southwest would charge $25 for the Executive Class and $15 for the Pleasure Class on flights lasting under an hour — such as the Detroit and St. Louis routes — and $40 and $25 for the two classes on flights of more than an hour, such as the Buffalo and Pittsburgh routes. In contrast, he noted that the Chicago-St. Louis CAB-regulated fare is currently $40 one-way; the Chicago-Buffalo fare is now $80.

In an effort to keep Southwest's Texas operations, currently regulated by the more liberal Texas Aeronautics Commission, from CAB jurisdiction, Southwest will apply for the new authority through a subsidiary company yet to be formed, Muse said Monday.

Temperatures expected to drop into upper 30s

Midlanders will need to turn up their electric blankets tonight when temperatures are due to drop to the upper 30s.

Wednesday's high is due to be in the mid-60s, the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Air Terminal said. Winds should be from the northeast at 5 to 10 mph tonight.

The low this morning was 44 degrees and the high Monday, 80 degrees.

Andrews, Lamesa, Crane, Stanton, Rankin and Big Lake all reported cloudy or overcast weather this morning. Big Lake reported light showers Monday night. Temperatures were cool throughout the area.

Light snow and sleet fell in the Panhandle and South Plains and winds gusted to about 50 mph in the mountain passes of Southwest Texas as a cold front moved southeastward across the state.

Q. What can cause peeling and scaling of the skin between the fingers? Can having the hands in water be responsible?

A. It is possible that having hands in water so much would tend to make the skin soften and macerated. Rubber or plastic gloves might improve the condition.

AT WIT'S END

Mothers supply 'saving' genes

By ERMA BOMBECK

For years, the battle has raged on about whether a child is the product of his heredity or his environment.

To me, the division has always been clear-cut.

A child is influenced by three factors: life about him, plus dominant genes from his mother's side and dominant genes from his father's side.

Ironically, all three of our children share evenly in the distribution.

From their environment they gleaned bad language, poor judgment, hopeless dependency on the telephone, lack of motor skills to pick up a towel or replace a cap on the toothpaste, little realism concerning money, disregard for responsibility and job opportunities, the need for 18 hours of sleep, impetuous decisions that never work out, a dress code that is sub-standard, and a rash that appears when it suggested they write a thank-you note.

From their father they inherited shortness, frequent nosebleeds, poor spelling, overconfidence, no memory, toeing in, allergies to dust and mold, uncontrollable cowlicks, weak ankles, inability to conquer math, tendency to put on weight, short interest span, sulking over Monopoly, shyness, a definite weakness for losing anything of value, car sickness, poor taste in friends, the lack of wisdom to know when they've lost an argument and a hang-up about Brussels sprouts.

To many parents, it might seem very discouraging knowing that certain traits in your child are predestined.

But all the mothers I've talked with, without exception, were able to supply the saving genes that gave their children and motivation to go on living.

I know from my side of the family, our children have inherited good skin, good grades, instant comprehension, imagination, coordination, a sense of humor, good posture, straight teeth, sensitivity, appreciation of the arts, moral values, integrity, a good feeling about money, infinite patience, loyalty and are champions of the underdog.

As my husband ovserved, "Don't forget humility. That's your strongest trait."

You know, I think he's right.

ESA chapter meets in home

Mrs. Reggie Medley was hostess for the monthly business meeting of Beta Eta Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha. The rush committee served as cohostesses for the session.

President, Mrs. Clarence Grant, conducted affiliation ceremonies for Mrs. Sam Marrill. Mrs. Marrill was an ESA chapter member at Monahans prior to moving to Midland.

The October business meeting is a model meeting for rushees and special guest was Mrs. Jim Wood. It's purpose is to acquaint potential members with some of the activities on the local, district, state and international levels of ESA.

Rush chairman, Mrs. Medley, reported on rush activities of the chapter and announced that a Preferential Tea will be held Oct. 27 in the home of Mrs. Charles Campanella.

Mrs. Frank Felts reported on the success of the District VIII leadership seminar at the Ramada Inn during September. Members decided to send proceeds from the special giveaway at the seminar to the state project, which is the birth defect centers located in Dallas, San Antonio, Houston, Galveston and Lubbock.

Members also agreed to participate in Christmas activities at Big Spring State Hospital by donating items to be used by patients for gifts.

Educational director, Mrs. Dan Cotten, introduced Mrs. Medley who presented the Scope of ESA entitled "Time is ESA — Our Past, Present and Future." She reviewed the history of ESA from its beginning in 1929 at Jacksonville, through the present and projected a future that includes robots who will carry out some of the activities of the sorority. She pointed out that there are over 33,000 women joined in the sisterhood of ESA throughout the world, including chapters in Mexico, Australia and Holland.

Each member, said Mrs. Cotten, participates in activities of international, state and district levels, as well as those of her own chapter. Many hours of volunteer time are spent working with charities and large sums of money are given to many worthwhile projects that benefit communities and people throughout the world. The three-fold purpose of ESA is service, fellowship and education and chapters each set up and carry out educational programs of their choosing, to better educate women of today so they can meet and deal with the problems and challenges faced daily.

Others attending the meeting included Mrs. Don Robinson, Mrs. S. L. Davis and Mrs. Charles Campanella.

DEAR ABBY

Having doubts

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with a nice, refined woman my age (45) and we planned to be married next month. But an incident occurred last week in the shop where she works that makes me wonder if I should go through with my marriage plans.

Another woman employee and my friend got into an argument when the other woman accused my friend of stealing one of her best customers. The name-calling graduated into hair-pulling, and my friend was getting the best of this other woman when the other woman yanked her dress off her.

Well, my lady friend just wouldn't quit. Minus her dress she tore into the other woman, and before the battle was over, both women stripped each other and were fighting naked when the boss called the police.

My question: Should I marry this woman who fought naked in front of both men and women when she could have quit when just her dress had been torn off?—WONDERING IN N. Y.

DEAR WONDERING: Among other things, your lady friend exhibited a violent temper. I'd have to know more about her before answering your question, but if you place a high premium on modesty, don't rush into anything.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think it's all right for a man who is married and has four children to go out with other women as long as it doesn't interfere with his home life?

I can't receive mail at my place because nothing around here is private, but I need an answer fast.——BURLINGAME

DEAR BURLINGAME: It's NOT all right. Besides, regardless of what you may think, it HAS TO interfere with his home life.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are in disagreement over something and want you to settle it.

When someone comes to our door asking for me my husband will invite him (or her) in, and he sends them to whichever room of the house I happen to be in at the moment.

He's sent people to my bedroom when I'm lying down! He has directed them to the basement while I'm putting up pickles. He's even invited them to join me in the kitchen while I'm mopping up the floor!

Some of the people he's invited in I hardly know, such as the Avon lady.

I have asked him to please ask the caller to be seated, then come get me so I can go to THEM, but he never does. He continues to send them to me, which embarrasses me no end.

He is a perfect gentleman otherwise, but now that he's retired and home all day, this habit of his is getting me nervous. We've been married 43 years, and this morning he sent a magazine salesman into my bedroom while I was dressing!

Please help me.—FURIOUS

Water bonds are O.K.

Although they largely have been ignored in the heat of the presidential campaign, two proposed constitutional amendments having to do with water development will be before Texas voters in the Nov. 2 general election.

In fact, both now are before those persons voting absentee.

Both amendments are tremendously important to Texans and to the future progress of the Lone Star State. Future generations will be affected by the outcome of this particular balloting, and voters certainly should become familiar with the proposals.

Amendment No. 1, as proposed, would authorize the Texas Water Development Board, with the approval of two-thirds of both houses of the legislature, to issue an additional $400 million in bonds for continued development of water resources in the state.

Amendment No. 2 would authorize an increase of $100 million in state bonds which may be issued to make funds available for grants and loans to local governments in providing water treatment facilities.

The proposals would contribute greatly to the welfare of Texas. And the really noteworthy thing about the whole business is that the cost would be nil.

The $400 million sought in water development bonds largely is a self-supporting, revolving fund. It is a loan and not a grant program. It is used primarily for hardship cases where the only alternative to funding of water supply and distribution projects would be for the community involved to increase both taxes and water rates. The fund also is used to purchase water supply storage space in reservoirs before they are built so that water is available when and where needed as an area or a town experiences growth.

Gen. James M. Rose, executive director of the Texas Water Development Board, has said that increased funding is vital if the water programs of Texas, for the benefit of small and large cities, are to continue to make significant contributions to the economy and full employment of Texans.

Voter approval of the amendments is of very special importance to West Texas and its High and South Plains areas.

There is a growing need throughout West Texas for water for both agricultural irrigation uses as well as for secondary oil recovery. These two uses alone more than justify approval of the water proposals at the polls next month.

Quality enhancement would be the key phrase in the No. 2 amendment. This fund permits the state to aid local governments in qualifying for federal matching funds for waste water treatment facilities, sewer systems and disposal systems.

Both bond proposals have been endorsed by the Midland Chamber of Commerce, West Texas Chamber of Commerce, Water, Inc., and numerous other groups across West Texas and the state.

The Reporter-Telegram also endorses the proposals and recommends approval of both Amendments No. 1 and No. 2 by the voters in the Nov. 2 election.

Welcome, Senator!

United States Sen. Lloyd Bentsen is a visitor in the Tall City, and Midland and Midlanders join in extending a most cordial welcome to Texas' junior senator.

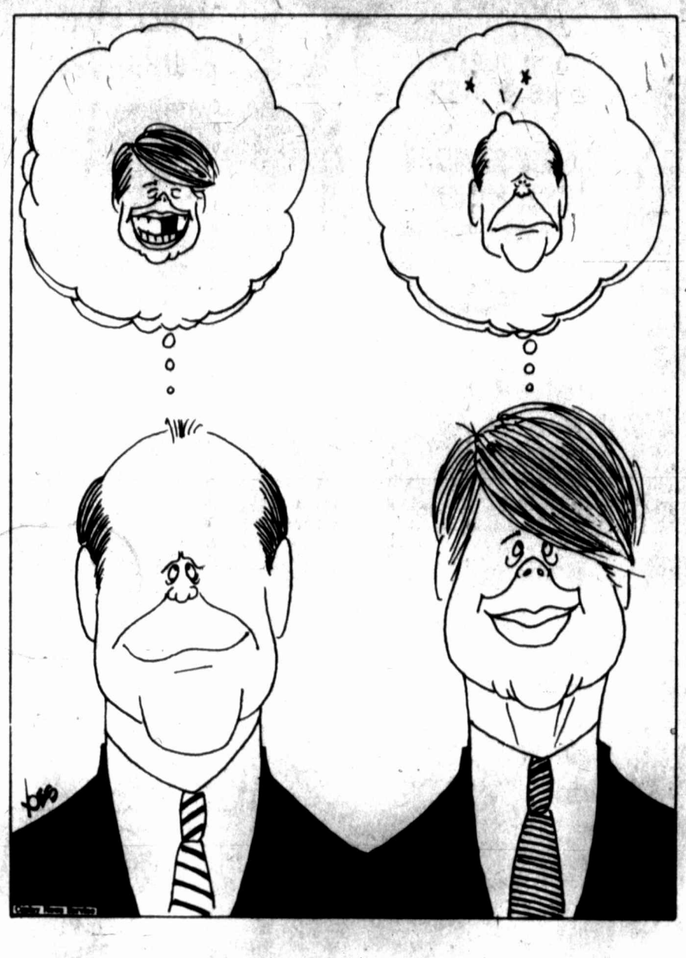

It always is a pleasure to have members of Congress in Midland, and Senator Bentsen's visit certainly is no exception.

The distinguished visitor was the special guest of a group of business and civic leaders at a luncheon held today noon, at which time he discussed energy and other issues which have been or will be considered by Congress.

It is hoped that the senator's visit will be enjoyable from every standpoint.

ART BUCHWALD

Writer learns that WASPS are restless

NEW YORK — Whenever there is a presidential election, reporters always go to an ethnic bar to see what the workingman is thinking. They wind up talking to Polish-Americans in Chicago, German-Americans in Milwaukee, Italian-Americans in Queens, N.Y., and Mexican-Americans in El Paso, Texas. But no one ever bothers to get to a white American Anglo-Saxon bar to find out how the WASPs feel about the election.

In order to correct this oversight, I went to the Biltmore Bar the other day to speak to WASPs who claim they are being ignored in the election and are getting fed up with it.

The bar was crowded with men dressed in Brooks Brothers suits. Most of them were drinking Chivas Regal scotch on the rocks and watching a discussion on Public Television between William Buckley and Norman Mailer.

At first they were very suspicious of me because I ordered a beer. Realizing my mistake, I demanded a double Beefeater Gin on the side. They relaxed a little.

"I'm from the press," I said to the man next to me.

"I'm from Westport," he replied. "We never see people like you in this bar."

"I'm very interested to find out how the WASPs are going to vote in the election."

Art Buchwald

Several of the other men in pinstripe suits overheard me and gathered around.

"It's very puzzling," one of them said. "Both contestants have ignored the WASPs in their efforts to attract the ethnic groups, and it might cost them the election."

"Our votes are of crucial importance," another man said. "After all, WASPs make up a large segment of the population, and we have as many dreams and hopes for our children as the blue-collar working class."

"I know the ethnics look down on us," an advertising executive from Greenwich said, "because we read books and go to the theater and play golf and send our children to private schools. But where would America be without WASPs? We built this country from an agrarian society to the highest industrialized nation in the world. And we did it with private capital which our great-grandfathers invested in every conceivable project from factories to railroads. One becomes very discouraged when one hears both Mr. Ford and Mr. Carter repeating that we don't pay enough taxes."

"Frederick Campbell the Third is right," a stockbroker from New Canaan said. "WASPs seem to be the butt of all the jokes these days. We're getting fed up with it. We're as good Americans as any ethnic group in this country, and we're not dumb like everyone maintains."

"Why is it," a banker from Oyster Bay asked, "there are no situation comedies about WASPs on television? And when they use a token WASP character in an ethnic show why is he always the person who doesn't seem to know the score?"

"Well," Horace Richardson Junior, an IBM sales manager, chimed in, "the WASP image seems to have deteriorated as the ethnic image has improved."

"In what way?" I asked.

"They say we have the highest divorce rate, the heaviest drinking problems, and the largest tax shelters. We're always being accused of wife swapping because we live in the suburbs.

"These are generalizations that do not take into consideration the majority of hard-working WASPs who are happily married, have only one or two cocktails before dinner and watch the John Adams Chronicles on television."

"Very well put, Waldo," an airlines vice president said. "Every time a white-collar crime is committed, people automatically assume a WASP did it. It's true that a high percentage of WASPs commit white-collar crimes, but that is only because they are in positions of responsibility where the opportunities exist."

As the first reporter ever to visit a WASP bar I came to the following conclusion: WASPs are tired of being ignored by both Ford and Carter, and if neither candidate addresses himself to their problems they may sit out the election in November.

As one TV executive put it, "The Republicans have taken us for granted for too long. Just because we're overachievers doesn't mean we don't have feelings, too."

Red tape bungles murder trial

By JACK ANDERSON with LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON — An alleged "hit man" for the underworld was set free a year ago, we have just learned, because the Internal Revenue Service held back vital information that could have led to a murder conviction.

A key witness brought the information to the IRS, which spent three months processing it. By the time all the red tape had been cleared away, the trial was over. The witness never made it to court.

When we told the prosecutor the details of what had happened, he called the IRS "bunglers" and "bumblers."

The bizarre tale began in July, 1973, in a Fort Lauderdale, Fla., night club. As a rock band drowned out the gunshots, a Cleveland man was lured to a pay phone and murdered gangland-style.

Two years later, New York City police, acting on a tip, arrested Salvatore Ripulone. He was returned to Florida and charged with the murder.

Meanwhile, an IRS intelligence agent named Steven Favis was contacted by a reliable informant. The informant disclosed that Ripulone had confided during a private conversation that he had committed the pay phone murder.

Favis immediately tried to turn this important information over to the Fort Lauderdale authorities. But IRS regulations, which have now been changed, required Favis to get prior approval from IRS headquarters in Washington.

Favis waited three months before the approval was finally granted. But it was too late. Ripulone had been acquitted, and he cannot be retried. Philip Shailer, who prosecuted the case, told us the IRS witness could have led to a conviction.

We have now retraced the bureaucratic run-around that Favis encountered. He requested permission in an Aug. 12, 1975 memo to arrange for his informant's testimony to be heard at the murder trial. Three weeks later, the request received the routine approval of Favis' superiors in Florida.

The request arrived at the national offices in Washington on September 2. No action was taken until September 22. Then a memo of approval was drafted. Although the memo contained only three short paragraphs, it took another nine days to get it typed.

Then, with the outcome of a murder trial hanging in the balance, the three paragraphs were retyped twice over the next two days.

Two weeks after the final typing, the request was approved by a national branch chief. It was now October 16. Two more IRS officials also approved the memo. Then another IRS man suggested that the memo be reworded again.

It was redrafted. The branch chief gave his second approval on November 6. The other three IRS officials were also satisfied with it. The memo then was handed up to Lester Stein, a special assistant to the chief counsel, for a final clearance.

By the time it reached Stein's desk, the memo already had been retyped five times. Yet incredibly, Stein disapproved the language, suggested further revision and sent the memo back to the beginning of the line. Then it had to be reapproved all over again.

Stein eventually gave his blessing to the much-typed memo, and it was forwarded triumphantly to the Florida field offices on November 21. But unfortunately, Ripulone had been acquitted on October 17.

Although it's far too late to matter, here's the statement that Favis' informant would have repeated on the witness stand. He told the IRS, according to intelligence documents, that Ripulone was "a hit man for the organization. He's a sick man.

"He was always trying to impress me by relating to me the details of murders he had committed. He seemed to thrive on giving me all the details."

Footnote: Internal Revenue Commissioner Donald Alexander has now revised his own earlier orders and has authorized IRS agents to contact local police hereafter with this kind of information.

PRODIGAL PEDAGOGUES: Buried in the vast federal bureaucracy are agencies that routinely escape public attention but spend the taxpayers' millions with all the reckless abandon of the bigger bureaus.

Rep. John Moss, D.-Calif., tries to keep his eye on these unnoticed agencies. He has recently been taking a look at the little-known National Institute of Education (NIE).

Moss learned that the NIE, an agency of the mammoth Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare, is riddled with strife and is wasting much of its $70 million annual budget.

His findings are backed up by the Civil Service Commission, which also gave the NIE the once over. The report, intended for official eyes only, has been secreted away in government file cabinets for months.

NICK THIMMESCH

The tribulations of an estimable conservative cited

NEW YORK CITY — Some conservatives holler that Washington is overrun with Socialists and traitors, others wrap the red, white and blue around themselves and growl like John Wayne, and then there is the first U.S. senator elected on the Conservative Party ticket, James L. Buckley, brother of "Bill," and resident at 60 Sutton Place, South, New York City.

Nick Thimmesch

Sen. Buckley is highly intelligent, is as diligent as a British Tory in offering conservative solutions to contemporary problems and is widely respected here for his honesty and integrity. Moreover, in 1976, the mood of the electorate is conservative to center.

Yet it appears that Buckley will lose his powerful Senate seat to Daniel Patrick Moynihan, Esq., who has rambled through the ideology of four Presidents, two of them Republicans.

Why do a majority of American voters, including New Yorkers, when polled on issues, express conservative views, and then elect a generally liberal Congress? The answer, to some degree, can be found in the Buckley-Moynihan campaign.

Democrats far outnumber Republicans here, but will vote for a Republican for special reasons. Sen. Jacob Javits is liberal enough to siphon a large vote from the Democrats, particularly Jewish Democrats. Nelson Rockefeller did the same and also benefitted from his own engaging personality ("Hi, fella!") and an array of weak opponents. In the past, centrist Republicans won U.S. Senate seats by playing to suburban and upstate prejudices against wicked New York City.

Moynihan, the opponent, is flamboyant and oratorical. In vanquishing Bella Abzug, he gave traditional Democrats assurance that he wasn't a far-out lefty. In thundering against "Third World" Africans and Arabs at the United Nations, in upholding defense spending, he was cheered by Jews and Archie Bunker-Democrats alike.

Now Buckley has a solid record on defense and Israel. He went to Moscow on behalf of Soviet Jewry, is greatly admired by Jewish voters for his support. But the integrity which makes him undramatic in these efforts hurts as much as it helps in a political campaign.

It is much the same for Buckley on the celebrated New York City issue. He believes in a slow healing process for the sick city — cutting spending, inflation, and taxes to make New York State attractive to business (as it isn't now); taking able-bodied people off welfare and putting them to work; using a "youth differential" in the minimum wage law to provide jobs for unemployed teen-agers; focusing on crime and drug abuse to improve city life, and to make businesses feel more comfortable.

When Buckley's rhetoric is cutting, it is against "Harvard Professor D. Patrick Moynihan's" proclivity for "multimillion-dollar federal boondoggles" which, Buckley says, won't solve urban problems as tax-incentives will.

On the Save-New-York-City issue, Buckley says: "The worst move would have been to give City Hall a blank check, that's why I took that stand. The first bill was a bail-out for bankers. We wound up with a much better plan."

Buckley likes to tweek Moynihan on the Humphrey-Hawkins bill (a ponderous spending horror) and remind him that President Kennedy gave tax-incentives to business to stimulate employment. When Moynihan calls for national health insurance (a multibillion proposal), Buckley argues that the federal government should provide health insurance to the 20 per cent of the population which has no health coverage.

Buckley's good reputation is one of his best selling points. "Senator Buckley knows of my high personal regard for him, and of my respect for his convictions," Moynihan declared when he began the campaign.

Then there's the endorsement Buckley got from Dr. Kenneth B. Clark, the black social-scientist whose briefs heavily influenced the Supreme Court decision on school desegregation. While Clark has it in for Moynihan because of his pessimistic writings about black families and his "benign neglect" memo to President Nixon, Clark praised Buckley's "consistency, honesty and seriousness."

Still, Buckley won't benefit from a large black vote, but from the black vote which stays home. Who knows whether suburbanites and upstate New Yorkers, aware of the fiscal trouble their own communities now experience, might even sympathize with New York City and go for Moynihan's federal programs? And how many New Yorkers remember that Buckley was the first to call for President Nixon's resignation, and was a leader in stopping the Supersonic Transport, the Concorde, from landing at New York's J.F.K. airport?

While President Ford endorsed Buckley, the state GOP apparatus is out of money and steam now that Rockefeller is in Washington. Sen. Javits won't endorse Buckley because Buckley didn't endorse him in 1974. And Buckley's strong advocacy of a constitutional amendment against abortion-on-demand wins him more enemies than it does friends.

Reasonable conservatism is hard to sell, and given Buckley's own low-key personality it is understandable that he is considerably behind Moynihan in this Senate race.

Arafat, Assad agree on Lebanon peace plan

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Palestinian leader Yasir Arafat and Syrian President Hafez Assad have agreed on a new peace plan to end Lebanon's civil war and a cease-fire by midnight Wednesday. There was no reaction yet from Lebanon's Christian and Moslem warlords.

The peace plan and the cease-fire call were announced Monday in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, where Arafat and Assad met in a summit conference with Presidents Anwar Sadat of Egypt and Elias Sarkis of Lebanon, King Khaled of Saudi Arabia and Sheik Sabah al-Salem al-Sabah of Kuwait.

Missing from the meeting were the four Lebanese leaders whose private militias have not been checked by some 50 previous cease-fires: Christians Pierre Gemayel, Camille Chamoun and Suleiman Franjieh, and Moslem Socialist leader Kamal Jumblatt.

The success of the new peace agreement appeared to depend on the Syrian army's controlling the Christians and Arafat's Palestinians restraining the Moslems.

A joint communique broadcast by the Saudi state radio said it had been agreed to expand the 2,300-man Arab League peace force in Beirut to a strength of 30,000. It appeared likely that most of the reinforcements would come from the 21,000 Syrian troops Assad has sent into Lebanon since June to prevent a leftist victory and preserve a balance of power between the Christians and Moslems.

The expanded peacekeeping force is to disengage the warring parties, put into effect the 1969 Cairo pact restricting the activities of Palestinian guerrillas in Lebanon, supervise the withdrawal of militias, gunmen and heavy weapons from Lebanon's war fronts, and maintain law and order, the communique said.

The agreement also includes a guarantee of Lebanon's territorial integrity and national unity, and calls on all factions involved in the fighting to cease propaganda warfare and direct their information media to uphold the cease-fire.

A Syrian government spokesman in Damascus said the Riyadh meeting also produced a peace agreement between Assad and Sadat, who have been feuding intermittently since Sadat signed the second Sinai agreement with Israel 13 months ago. The spokesman said they agreed to stop their propaganda campaign against each other and to "resume normal ties."

Illinois Avenue to be closed

Illinois Avenue from Andrews Highway to Secor Street will be closed, beginning Wednesday, to allow for road improvements, said city public works director Fred Baker.

The project includes taking out the islands in the road and rebuilding that section of the roadway, Baker said.

South Texas Construction Co., contractor for the project, anticipates that work will be completed before Thanksgiving.

"Traffic to the downtown area should avoid this section and use Wall Street, Louisiana Avenue or Michigan Avenue," Baker said. "Motorists also may detour around this section by using Ohio Avenue. Arrows will indicate the detours."

In other street action, Baker noted the contractor has completed work on Ohio Avenue from Andrews Highway to Sunset Street. That section of roadway is now open to traffic, he said.

Good lad from Wink wanted to be Marine

WINK, Tex. (AP) — "The Marine Corps needs a few good men," said the poster, and Roger Woodrick didn't see any reason why he couldn't qualify.

Esprit de corps is a watchword of the Marines, and while Roger seems to exemplify this gung-ho attitude that the Marines are looking for, eight years old obviously is a little young for boot camp.

His mother, Mrs. Roger Woodrick, said her son was attracted to a Marine recruiting poster recently at an Odessa shopping center.

"He just filled out the card and mailed it off," she said. "It was about four days before he got a reply from the captain in Washington, D.C."

Capt. Curt Murray wrote: "We appreciate your interest in the Marine Corps. However, since you are eight, you won't be eligible to be a Marine for a while, but as our way of showing appreciation for your interest, we are enclosing a special Marine Corps poster."

Commission refuses Bell hearing delay

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The head of the Public Utility Commission told all sides Monday there will be no postponement of the Nov. 1 hearings of a Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. request for a statewide rate increase.

Chairman Garrett Morris made the comment following a request from his own staff for a five-day delay because intervenors in the case were granted an extension of time to file their case.

The extension was made after the Texas Municipal League and the attorney general's office complained that Southwestern Bell said answers to many specific questions were "not available," "burdensome to supply," or "not kept in the normal course of business."

The commission ruled that Southwestern Bell must respond to all information requests when that information is available from company records. Only questions that ask for specific reports or studies not kept by Southwestern Bell may be answered as not available.

The commission said all such information must be supplied by noon, Oct. 22.

The the municipal league and the attorney general were granted a time extension to prepare their case from Oct. 26 to Oct. 29.

Morris turned down a commission staff request that the actual hearing on Southwestern Bell's statewide rate increase be postponed for five days.

Boycott list misleading

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many American companies identified as participants in the Arab boycott of Israel are complaining that they are frequent trading partners with the nation they supposedly are boycotting.

The Commerce Department released Monday the names of American companies involved in 59 transactions with Arab nations since Oct. 7. That was the day President Ford announced his decision henceforth to reveal the names of American companies participating in the boycott.

The materials claimed that some of America's largest corporations — Citibank of New York, Bank of America of San Francisco, McGraw-Edison International, James Beam Distilling Co., Kayser-Roth Corp., White-Westinghouse and Deere and Co. — have satisfied the Arabs that they have complied with the boycott.

But as the companies listed learned of their status, many began issuing denials.

"The party who is supposed to be boycotting Israel is as Jewish as Golda Meir, and that's me. Now how could I boycott Israel?" said Joe R. Gerson, president of Gerson International of Fort Wayne, Ind.

Gerson said his export company deals with a number of countries that have restrictive trade clauses, such as an Arab requirement that goods not be shipped in vessels calling at Israeli ports. They do not affect him and he would not comply with them if they did, he said.

"All we do as an independent export management company is report these clauses to the U.S. government in accordance with U.S. government regulations. In no way do we comply."

A spokesman for Deere and Co., a tractor manufacturer which traded with Saudi Arabia, said, "We sell to both Israel and Arab countries and have for many years and intend to continue doing so. To the best of our knowledge, we are not boycotting any organization or any nation."

Another company, Kremers Urban International Corp., a drug maker, said through a spokesman: "We have never knowingly participated in the boycott of Israel or any other country. I think it is erroneous to assume that the list is that of people who have participated in the boycott."

The Commerce Department documents show that in nearly all cases the U.S. firms indicated they had complied with the boycott requests. In a few, the companies said other parties to the transaction would have to make the decision on the boycott. In no case, did a company say it refused to comply.

Part of the confusion may stem from the nature of the Arab boycott. A Congressional committee earlier this year reported that it is often loosely enforced and its terms vary from country to country. Only rarely does it require a company to avoid all business with Israel.

Opening Lead — ◇ K

Declarer took the ace of diamonds and promptly finessed with the queen of spades. When he woke up, the opponents were scoring 100 points.

West won the second trick with the king of spades and shifted to a club. East took two club tricks and led a third culb, whereupon West ruffed to defeat the contract.

South should take the ace of trumps at the second trick. This will save one trump trick at once if West has the singleton king.

If the king of trumps doesn't fall, South cashes the ace of hearts, ruffs a diamond in dummy and cashes a top heart to get rid of a diamond. Then declarer can lead another trump from dummy.

VARIOUS POSSIBILITIES

If the trumps are 2-2, South can lose only one trump and two clubs. If East started with three trumps, north must lose two trump tricks no matter how he plays the suit.

South is willing to lose one trump and two clubs, but he cannot afford to lose two tricks in each black suit. He can avoid this by refusing the trump finesse.

American abroad faces noose

NASSAU, The Bahamas (AP) — Prison officials say American Michiah Shobek appeared calm as they led him to a small, whitewashed stone cell to spend the final hours before his hanging.

"He doesn't appear outwardly to be worried or upset about the hanging," a guard at Her Majesty's Fox Hill Prison said late Monday night.

Shobek, 22, a Milwaukee handyman and would-be songwriter who has been imprisoned for 2½ years, was to be hanged at about 8 a.m. EDT.

A group opposed to capital punishment, the Bain Town Freedom and Justice Committee, appealed to the island's churchmen Monday to protest the hanging.

Officials gave the following scenario for the execution:

After being offered a breakfast of orange juice, bread and butter, grits, sausage and coffee, the condemned man — tranquilized, if necessary — is draped with a black cotton hood and led into the gallows room onto a six-by-four-foot trap door, surrounded by a rail.

Over his head dangles a half-inch nylon rope, a hangman's noose at its end.

The hangman is a civilian who goes to the prison with a blanket over his head to conceal his identity.

He stands by a red lever, hidden from the view of others witnessing the hanging: a chaplin reading Scripture, the prison superintendent and deputy, the Bahamian provost marshal, a doctor and two guards.

The guards quickly truss the prisoner, binding him arm and foot. Provost Marshal Salathiel Thompson loops the noose over the prisoner's head, positioning the knot behind an ear lobe.

The word is passed. The red lever is hit. The body drops out of sight through the trap door. The rope snaps taut.

The group waits 20 minutes, the chaplin still reading Scripture. They then go to the lower chamber, where two guards take the body from the noose and put it on a table. The doctor pronounces the man dead.

Shobek, who came to these tropical islands as a tourist, was sentenced to death in the January 1974 knifing murder of Irwin Bornstein, 44, a New York accountant.

He also confessed to the murders of two other fellow tourists. He was not tried for those slayings.

He said he was told by "My father, God," to kill them because "they were angels of Lucifer."

Shobek's mother, Juanita Spencer, said her son was deranged by a childhood viral infection. She stayed in Milwaukee rather than be here for her son's execution.

"There's nothing I can do to save him now," she said.

If the condemned man's body is unclaimed by relatives, it is taken to the nearby Old Trail Cemetery and buried in a plain pine box.

Mrs. Spencer, a cleaning woman at a high school, made no claim.

Bolles suspect takes precautions in court

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Amid reports of security problems, the man charged with killing investigative reporter Don Bolles appeared at the opening of his trial wearing a bulletproof vest.

During a hectic opening day in the trial of John Harvey Adamson, Superior Court Judge Frederick Heineman ordered press and public barred from the seventh floor of the courthouse here until 12 jurors and eight alternates are selected and sequestered.

The selection process was to continue today in the trial, which is expected to raise issues involving organized crime and corruption.

Bolles, a reporter for the Arizona Republic, was mortally injured June 2 when a bomb ripped through his car.

Witnesses have said that before Bolles died 11 days later, he said, "Find John Adamson."

On Monday, without saying why, Heineman dismissed the first set of 100 prospective jurors and moved the trial to a smaller courtroom.

"Ladies and gentlemen, we've had a misunderstanding," he told them. Later, outside court, he would not say what had prompted his unusual move.

However, Maricopa County Atty. Donald Harris said he understood that "the judge had been informed that security was not good at the courtroom and the sheriff's department was concerned."

There was speculation that Adamson, 32, had been threatened. He wore the bulletproof vest and was surrounded by armed deputies as he was brought from the jail to the courthouse.

A second group of potential jurors was summoned, and at the end of a closed session, the judge told The Associated Press that he had excused five persons from among 87 prospects for hardship or other causes.

Some authorities have said that Bolles' death may have been the result of a conspiracy, with Adamson hired for the killing. Those suggestions prompted fears that others might want to do away with the lone defendant.

Adamson's court-appointed lawyers had sought to move the trial to another city, predicting that it would be difficult to find a jury unaffected by the extensive publicity surrounding the case.

Bolles, 47, specialized in exposing white-collar crime. His death inspired the formation of a team of investigative reporters from around the country to finish the story Bolles was working on when he died.

Sparky says Series will go seven games

NEW YORK (AP) — Cincinnati Reds manager Sparky Anderson isn't about to write off the New York Yankees and Yankee manager Billy Martin thinks he's wise not to do so.

"I said before the World Series began that I thought it would go seven games," Anderson said before the Series resumed tonight with Game Three. "I think I'll stick with that.

"The Yanks are an excellent club. They have to be to be here in the Series. They've won three or four in a row before and they can always do it again," Anderson said.

THE YANKS will have to do just that to get back into this Series. They lost the first two games in Cincinnati, 5-1 and 4- 3. Only six times in 73 previous World Series has a team been down 2-0 and come back to win the championship. And two of those teams were Yankee teams, in 1956 against the Brooklyn Dodgers and two years later against the Milwaukee Braves.

"I think Sparky's right," Martin said of Anderson's conservative stance. "I think we have the edge at home because we're more used to the natural grass. And we're very easily capable of turning this thing around in a hurry.

"I'm not all that impressed with their pitching," Martin continued. "But I am impressed with the rest of their club. Still, I can't call them awesome the way some people have. The Yankee clubs that I played on, when we won five World Series in a row, that's awesome."

MARTIN SENDS 31-year-old right-hander Dock Ellis to the mound tonight in hopes of turning things around. Ellis turned himself around this year after coming to New York as a virtual throw-in in a trade with the Pittsburgh Pirates. After several stormy and ineffective seasons, he posted a 17-8 record this year.

"I hate cold weather. I don't like pitching in it. I don't think anyone likes playing in it, Ellis said, viewing the possiblity of playing in sub-freezing temperatures in Yankee Stadium.

"Maybe, eventually, baseball's going to do something about this. Maybe they'll get tired of playing this late. I dont' think NBC and the others have enough money..."

ELLIS SAID he was in no way nervous about being the man on the spot. "It's just anouther game to me," he said. "You've got to take each game as it comes. You can't get all worked up over one game, no matter how important it may seem. You can only do what you are capable of doing. It's the same way all over, starting with Little League."

Going against Ellis will be rookie Pat Zachry, a 24-year old right-hander who was 14-7 this year.

ZACHRY FINDS himself in an unusual position, playing in a ball park he always wanted to play in—but in the wrong uniform.

"The Yanks were always my favorite team from the time I was growing up," he said. "When I was a kid, I'd go in the back yard with a plastic ball and bat and make believe I was playing for the Yankees. And we won every game 15-0."

One point of controversy and concern has been the current fans. When the Yankees won the American League pennant last Thursday night by beating Kansas City 7-6 on Chris Chambliss' ninth-inning home run, the fans stormed the field, ripping up the turf and bases and battering Chambliss as he attempted to reach home plate. And earlier, they had thrown numerous objects, including beer bottles, onto the playing field.

THE REDS have also had their taste of the New York fan. In the 1973 National League Playoffs against the New York Mets, a fight between Cincinnati's Pete Rose and Bud Harrelson of the Mets triggered a bench-clearing brawl. And that sparked a wave of object throwing by the Mets fans.

Rose, asked if he was concerned about returning to New York merely shrugged.

"We're playing the Yankees now, not the Mets," he said. "In 1973, those fans were angry. They Yankee fans the other night were happy. That was jubilatinon, not anger. They've got nothing to be mad at me for."

Four new teams crack Top 20

By The Associated Press

Michigan, Pitt, Nebraska and UCLA held onto the first four spots in The Associated Press college football poll today while two-time defending champion Oklahoma moved into fifth place and four schools cracked the ratings for the first time this season.

THE FOUR newcomers were No. 16 Iowa State, No. 19 South Carolina, and East Carolina and Mississippi State, tied for 20th.

Michigan remained atop the ratings for the sixth week in a row. The Wolverines trounced Northwestern 38-7 for their sixth consecutive triumph and received 58 first-place votes and 1,232 of a possible 1,240 points from a nationwide panel of 62 sports writers and broadcasters.

The other four first-place votes went to Pitt, which beat Miami, Fla. 36-19 without its top two quarterbacks. The Panthers received 1,088 points in holding onto second place for the fourth straight week. Last week, Michigan led Pitt 1,194- 1,057 with 60 voters participating.

NEBRASKA REMAINED third with 930 points after walloping Kansas State 51-0, while UCLA clobbered Washington State 62-3 and held fourth place with 896 points.

Oklahoma moved up from sixth to fifth with 718 points after defeating Kansas 28-10, dropping the Jayhawks from 15th place out of the rankings for the first time this season.

Meanwhile, Maryland slipped from fifth to sixth with 554 points after a hard-fought 17-15 victory over Wake Forest.

ROUNDING OUT the Top Ten were Southern California, Texas Tech, Ohio State and Georgia.

Southern Cal, idle last weekend, climbed from eighth to seventh while Texas Tech jumped from 10th to eighth by battering Rice 37-13. Ohio State, a 30-20 winner over Wisconsin, remained in ninth place while Georgia moved up from 11th to 10th with a 45-0 rout of Vanderbilt.

Missouri fell from seventh to 17th after a 21-17 loss to Iowa State, which also moved the Cyclones into the Top Twenty for the first time in several years.

THE SECOND TEN consisted of Florida, Notre Dame, Texas, Houston, Arkansas, Iowa State, Missouri, Alabama and South Carolina, with East Carolina and Mississippi State sharing the 20th position.

Last week's Second Ten was Texas Tech, Georgia, Florida, Texas, Notre Dame, Kansas, Louisiana State and Mississippi tied for 16th, followed by Arkansas, Houston and Alabama.

LSU lost to Kentucky 21-7 and Ole Miss was beaten by South Carolina 10-7. East Carolina, 6- 0, cracked the Top Twenty with a 17-3 triumph over VMI while Mississippi State, 5-1, outlasted Memphis State 42-33.

Scrambler routs stumbling Jets

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — Steve Grogan, the New England Patriots' sophomore quarterback, isn't yet comparable to such National Football League scramblers as Fran Tarkenton and Roger Staubach, but he loves to run as much as pass.

The 23-year-old former Kansas State star has done both in making New England fans forget about traded Jim Plunkett while leading the Patriots to a surprising 4-2 record.

GROGAN ENJOYS running so much that he even scores touchdowns on broken plays. He did that twice Monday night, sparking the Patriots to a 41-7 romp over the New York Jets before a national television audience.

Grogan, who received a telegram signed by about 500 hometown friends from Ottawa, Kan., celebrated his debut on national TV with a spectacular performance that stole the thunder from veteran quarterback Joe Namath of the Jets.

He completed 14 of 23 passes for 145 yards and one touchdown. He also carried seven times for 103 yards, including a 41-yard scoring sprint.

AND HE scooped up a fumble by teammate Don Calhoun at the New York six and ran for a touchdown.

"Grogan had an excellent game, a super game," Jets Coach Lou Holtz said. "The tale of the game was the offensive line.

"They protected Grogan and opened holes in play action. When we blitzed inside, he stepped outside. When we blitzed outside, he stepped inside. He sure has some horses in front of him and behind him."

GROGAN'S PICKUP of Calhoun's fumble for New England's second touchdown in the second period was the broken play. However, his run for the fourth touchdown in the third quarter was electrifying.

"A couple of his runs were planned, a couple weren't," New England Coach Chuck Fairbanks said. "The long one for the touchdown was not designed for him to carry the ball."

"Most plays are designed for me to run, but I took off about four times on my own tonight," Grogan said. "They were giving it (quarterback runs) to us."

HOWEVER, THE Jets didn't give Grogan the run when he took off for his sixth touchdown of the season. There was a mix-up in signals in the New England backfield, so Grogan kept the ball himself, found a hole on his left side, picked up blocks from tackle Leon Gray and guard John Hannah and raced for the score.

NAMATH, 33, and in his 11th NFL campaign, completed 16 of 27 passes for 135 yards and one touchdown this season, before retiring to rest a pulled hamstring in the third periods.

The Jets now are 0-8 in the long-standing weekly television series and 1-5 over-all for this season.

Malone may head for Buffalo Braves

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Harry Glickman, executive vice president of the Portland Trail Blazers, had no comment Monday night on a New York Times report that the National Basketball Association team had traded forward Moses Malone to the Buffalo Braves.

Malone, 22, who bypassed college in 1974 to sign a $3 million contract with the American Basketball Association, was the fourth player selected this year in the NBA's dispersal draft of players from defunct ABA teams.

The Times story said the trade was completed Monday and was to be announced today.

Glickman said no news conference was scheduled for today, but "that doesn't mean there might not be."

In Buffalo, co-owner John Y. Brown and general manager Bob MacKinnon both declined to comment on the report.

The story said Portland would receive Buffalo's first pick in the 1978 college draft and the Braves would pay the Trail Blazers the $350,000 Malone cost in the dispersal draft.

The 6-foot-11 Malone, who can play either forward or center, was signed by the Utah Stars of the ABA two years ago. He averaged 18.8 points per game in his rookie season, but fell to a 14.3 average last season, when he suffered several injuries.

Malone wound up with the Spirits of St. Louis after the Stars folded, then St. Louis also went out of business along with the ABA.

The Blazers, who also picked up ABA forward Maurice Lucas for $300,000 in the dispersal draft, reportedly had been trying to deal Malone throughout the exhibition season.

Portland Coach Jack Ramsay, who coached Buffalo last season, had questioned whether Malone could fit into his team's running, team-oriented style of play.

Malone had his best game of the exhibition season Saturday, scoring 24 points and collecting 12 rebounds in Portland's 129114 victory over Seattle.

Cunningham loses battle

CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — Billy Cunningham of the Philadelphia 76ers, whose gritty determination and competitive spirit helped make him a pro basketball star, has lost a comeback battle to a knee injury.

The 11-year veteran of the National and American Basketball Associations announced his retirement from the game at a news conference Monday.

"I don't want people feeling sorry for me," the 6-foot-7, 215-pounder said. "It's not the end of the world. There are other things to do."

The 33-year-old veteran missed two-thirds of last season and had played very little during this exhibition season after ripping up his knee last December in a game against the New York Knicks.

Despite an exhaustive rehabilitation program, he could not regain the form that made him a four-time NBA all-star and the Most Valuable Player in the ABA in the 1972-73 season.

"His knee is surgically irreparable," said Philadelphia General Manager Pat Williams, who announced that Cunningham's uniform No. 32 would also be retired.

Cunningham had said before he would not hang on if he could not play up to his standards. "If I can contribute as a player, I'm not going to deprive another guy of a living," he said last week.

Cunningham's inability to come back is Philadelphia's loss.

"He played with abandon," Williams said. "That fighting instinct is why he rose above the pack. His vintage years were irreplaceable. You have to put him with the greatest forwards of all time—Elgin Baylor, Bob Pettit and John Havlicek."

The 76ers offered Cunningham a position with the organization, but Cunningham said his future plans were uncertain.

A native of Brooklyn, N.Y., Cunningham was Philadelphia's first-round draft choice from the University of North Carolina in 1965. During his NBA career, he averaged nearly 21 points and 10 rebounds per game, and wound up with a career field goal percentage of .445.

Booster clubs meet tonight

The Robert E. Lee and Midland High Booster Clubs meet at 7:30 p.m. today in their respective schools to view the films of the Cooper and Abilene gamed games last week.

Scouting reports will be given on San Angelo, Midland's opponent Friday and Big Spring which Lee tries in Big Spring.

Wogs nip Picadores

FORT WORTH (AP) — Freshman quarterback Don Harris threw scoring passes of 48 yards to Brad Bowen and 43 yards to Carlton Kile Monday night as the Texas Christian University Wogs defeated the Texas Tech JV, 18-14.

Harris scored the deciding touchdown on a one-yard keeper after tossing a 57-yard pass to Michael Milton to set up the score.

Tech fullback Terry Hill, who gained 133 yards on 27 carries, opened the scoring with a five-yard run in the first quarter. The other Tech score came when Picadore quarterback Johnny Johnson connected with Ed Newsom for a 17-yard touchdown pass.

The Wogs now have a 2-1-1 season record and Tech finished its season with an 0-3 record.

Stove faces Australian

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Australian Wendy Turnbull, fresh from a 6-2, 6-0 victory over Brazil's Maria Bueno, faces second-seeded Betty Stove of The Netherlands tonight in a $200,000 the women's singles semifinals of an international tennis tournament.

Grid rule may violate laws

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A National Collegiate Athletic Association rule limiting the number of football coaches a member school can employ may violate Oklahoma anti-trust laws, an attorney told the Oklahoma Supreme Court Monday.

Ben Burdick, attorney for the University of Oklahoma Board of Regents and two assistant Sooner coaches, said that is one of several novel questions posed in a court suit seeking to prohibit the NCAA from enforcing the rule at Oklahoma.

In a petition filed Monday, Burdick asked the State Supreme Court to hear oral arguments in an appeal of a lower court order barring the NCAA from forcing the University of Oklahoma to reduce its football coaching staff.

The state appellate court refused last week an NCAA request to lift the temporary district court order, pending the outcome of an appeal.

Burdick said one of the questions raised by the suit is whether Oklahoma antitrust laws bar an agreement among competitorss — NCAA member schools — to reduce the number of persons employed by each in order to reduce the cost of doing business.

The NCAA rule would limit Oklahoma to one head coach, eight assistants and two parttime assistants. It would require the school to dismiss two assistants, Don Jimerson and Bill Shimek.

Grid races draw battle lines

By TERRY WILLIAMSON

It took seven weeks, but the grid battle lines in the area's six districts are finally beginning to form.

The Lamesa Golden Tornadoes, maybe the surprise of the year, ran their District 3-AAA record to 3-0 Friday with a 21-0 white-washing of previously undefeated Lubbock Dunbar. Anthony Manuel rushed for 118 yards in 22 carries and scored a touchdown in the state's AAA upset of the week to earn The Reporter-Telegram's Player-of-the-Week honors. Johnny Hernandez intercepted two passes to aid the cause.

The Lamesa victory set up a showdown this week with San Angelo Lake View, who ran their unbeaten streak to seven games with a 27-0 win over fading Snyder.

DISTRICT 2-AAA also set up a major showdown this week when undefeated Andrews escaped Seminole, 6-0, and Pecos, just a one time loser, escaped Odessa Ector, 13-7. Both teams may have been looking ahead to this week when the two meet in Andrews in what could be the 2-AAA title game. Andrews' Booger Brooks capped a 63-yard Mustang drive with a two-yard plunge for the victory with 10:44 left in the game against Seminole.

Reagan County and Mason may have narrowed the District 9-A chase to a two team affair Friday. Reagan County's Owls scored 35 points in the first half behind the leadership of quarterback Jennings Teel to defeat Menard, 43-8. The Owls are now 2-0 in district action. Mason won their third district game without a defeat with a 12-0 win over preseason loop favorite Wall. Reagan County and Mason will not meet until the last game of the year, Nov. 12, in Big Lake.

THE DISTRICT 6-A chase, which is figured to go down to the final gun anyway, received more fuel for a tight race Friday.

Iraan gained a foothold back into the 6-A race with a 30-0 surprise over Van Horn in the shocker of the week. Marfa and Rankin kept their unbeaten district marks intact with impressive wins. Rankin, now 6-0 on the year and 2-0 in loop play, destroyed Clint, 28-8, while Marfa ran over Wink, 34-6. Iraan will face Rankin in the key game this week.

District 5-A opened loop play Friday only to establish what was already feared. Plains and Seagraves, both highly ranked in the state, won impressively. Plains zipped O'Donnell, 69-0, while Seagraves rolled over Shallowater, 44-0. Stanton was open. Stanton will open district play in Seagraves Friday.

DISTRICT 7-AA ended non-conference play Friday with Ozona coming away the big winner in predistrict play. Ozona ran over Junction, 36-0, for their 7-0 record. Crane gained momentum for a repeat championship with a 51-14 win over Lubbock Christian, and Kermit won 21-12 over Fabens. All the teams will be open this week as Sonora faces Alpine in the final non-conference game of the year.

Andrews, Lake View, Ozona, Plains and Rankin are the only undefeated teams left in the area. Lubbock Dunbar and Fort Stockton fell from that list Friday.

The McCamey Badgers, who drew the open date Friday, is the only team in the area that has failed to win at least one game this year. They may have a good shot at that first victory Friday when they travel to Clint this week.

Friday's area results and season records. District records listed first.

Two sides praise court ruling

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A federal appeals court opinion Monday which upheld an earlier court ruling against the National Football League's Rozelle Rule drew optimistic praise from the two chief protaganists in the case—the league and the NFL Players Association.

A three-judge panel of the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals upheld the Minnesota District Court's ruling that the Rozelle Rule is unlawful and in violation of federal antitrust laws. However, the court also found that "some reasonable restrictions relating to player transfers are necessary for the successful operation of the NFL" and suggested that such restrictions should be negotiated.

The appeals court ordered the case remanded to the district court, where the players' demand for damages still is to be settled.

Ed Garvey, executive director of the Players Association, which funded the original suit by 15 present and former players, said his group was extremely pleased and "hopefully, with this decision, the NFL owners and the commissioner will decide to come to the bargaining table in good faith to achieve a compromise agreement."

Meanwhile, a spokesman for the league said, "This judicial clarification should pave the way for a resolution of these matters at the bargaining table, as has been done in baseball, hockey and basketball."

The spokesman said the league understood that the appeals court "has confirmed the league's position that the Rozelle Rule is a subject to be resolved in collective bargaining" and that the court also "recognized the need for reasonable restrictions on player transfers in the NFL."

Longhorn driver gets release from hospital

ELWOOD, Ind. (AP) — Race driver Jan Opperman is recovering at the home of a fellow race driver after being released from an Indianapolis hospital.

"I can walk pretty good and run just a little bit," Opperman said Monday. "But I still get a little flighty and dizzy when I do.

"I'll be racing again, brother, you can count on it."

"He says he wants to race again this winter, but doctors say it will be more like this spring," Queenie Leavell, wife of driver Rich Leavell said Monday.

Opperman was critically injured during a pileup at the Hoosier 100 sprint car race at Terre Haute Sept. 11 while driving for the Midland based Longhorn Racing Team. He was in critical condition and unconcious for six days.

Opperman was released from Community Hospital last Friday and now "just has to get his mind working again," Mrs. Leavell said. She said he still needs lots of rest and will have to learn to drive all over again—even a passenger car.

Dr. Robert Silbert said Opperman suffered a closed head injury. "The part of the brain that was damaged was the part that keeps him awake," he said.

"That's why he kept lapsing in and out of consciousness."

Mary Lou Opperman said her husband's recovery was a miracle.

And miracles are something not far removed from the Oppermans' lives.

Opperman, 37, and a Los Angeles-born, self-described converted hippie, is known as the racing minister from Noxon, Mont. He is building a church and home there for youths who need friends and guidance.

"I was a squirrely kid," Opperman told The Associated Press just before this year's Indianapolis 500 in which he finished 15th, "We let our hair grow long. I went the route, mainly with the oral stuff— acid, LSD, cocaine.

"It wasn't until 1969 I moved my wife and children to Montana—away out in the boondocks—that my life changed. This neighbor came up to our house and said, 'Our place is always open. Anything you need, you can come and get it.'

"He showed me what true Christianity is. Pretty soon we started holding services at out houses. It started small and got big. We organized a group which we call USCRY—Us Converted Racers for Youth."

Franklin is no seige gun with size eight right foot

By The Associated Press

As weapons go, Texas A&M's Tony Franklin doesn't impress you as a seige gun kicking specialist standing on the sidelines.

Quite candidly, young Franklin looks a little country with one shoe on and the other off.

And his size eight right foot hardly stands out as a propellant for record-book field goals.

But the 5-foot-10, 170-pound sophomore has a leg with the action of a buggy whip. It's strictly cross-country when he gets a ball in the air with the wind.

FRANKLIN EARNED The Associated Press Southwest Conference Offensive Player of the Week laurels for his 64 and 65 yard field goals Saturday in a 24-0 victory over Baylor that put the Big Spring, Tex. native No. 1 and No. 2 in the NCAA record book.

Franklin says he kicks the ball barefoot because he can make better contact with the ball. He tries to connect with the top of his instep and the result is a towering kick with unusual accuracy for a soccerstyle placekicker.

"My goal is to kick one 70 yards," says Franklin. "That third one Saturday (he also kicked a shorter field goal) would have been good from 70 yards."

WHICH WOULD have put him one yard ahead of Ove Johannson of Abilene Christian who holds the NAIA record of 69 yards.

Franklin is a good bet to beat senior Johannson's collegiate record. The Aggie has kicked a 59 yarder and has 19 career field goals. He holds the Texas schoolboy record of 58 yards which was established when Franklin attended Fort Worth Arlington Heights High School.

The 19-year-old learned his sidewinder soccer-style from watching kickers on television. He never played a minute of soccer in his life.

FRANKLIN OBVIOUSLY has a low pain threshold or he couldn't stand whacking his foot into a football when the temperature is in the low 50s.

"He's got bruises all over that foot," says Texas A&M's assistant sports publicity director Jim Butler, shaking his head. "I don't see how he does it. He's worn a sock a time or two when it has really been cold."

Midland College SPE chapter to get charter

The Midland College chapter of SPE-AIME (Society of Petroleum Engineers-American Institute of Metallurgical Engineers) has been accepted as the first junior college chapter of the organization in the world.

"Since there are less that 30 college chapters worldwide, and none others from the junior college level we feel very honored," noted chapter advisor Ed Poulter, who is instructor in the college's petroleum technology program.

The Midland College chapter officers and members are to be honored during the regular monthly meeting of SPE-AIME Tuesday evening at the Ranchland Hill Country Club.

Midland College established its student chapter during the 1975-76 school year, soon after the petroleum technology program was begun. However, official recognition was not bestowed until last month.

OIL & GAS

Regular monthly meetings of the student chapter are set on the first Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m. Programs will include guest speakers, discussions of industry activities, energy conservation, and some technical programs appropriate to the junior college level.

Student officers include: Steve Bush, chairman; Steve Rister, vice president and program chairman; Ann Crichton, secretary and publicity chairman; and Tim Prude, treasurer. Ed Poulter is faculty advisor and John E. Smith is serving as industry representative.

Serving with Rister on the program committee area: Cindy Blair, Robert Kennedy, and Sissy Caveny. Members of the publicity committee with Miss Crichton are Bob Manning and John Brooks. Comprising the membership committee are chairman Artie Smith, Inez Herring and John Brooks.

With the assistance and encouragement of local petroleum firms, Midland College began its petroleum technology program in 1975 to provide trained entry-level personnel above the usual untrained skill level and below degreed personnel, such as engineers and geologists. Their training is designed to provide them with the necessary background in production, exploration, transportation and marketing in two years of training.

More than 75 students were enrolled during the first year and this has increased to about 100 students this year. Classroom instruction is supplemented with field trips and practical training on actual equipment. Industry representatives frequently are used as guest speakers to provide up-to-date information on petroleum-related activities, developments and problems.

J-Tex Corp. investigated

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — About 22 Bellevue, Neb., residents apparently have lost a total of $120,000 they invested in prospective oil and gas wells in Texas, a Nebraska Department of Banking and Finance official said Monday.

Barry Lake, assistant director and general counsel, said a drilling company, J-Tex Corp., of Abilene, Tex., sold the investors, mostly personnel at Offut Air Force Base, shares in the prospective wells last December and January.

The majority invested $5,000 each. J-Tex representatives came to Bellevue from Texas to sell the stock, he said.

Lake said an investigation of the company began after one investor complained to the department that he hadn't been receiving information from JTex on the status of the wells.

Lake contacted the company and was told the drilling was unsuccessful and that the local investors would not receive any return on their investment.

The banking and finance department has forbidden J-Tex from seeking further investors in Nebraska because it is not registed with the State Bureau of Securities.

Lake said that since January, the company has tried to enlist local salesmen to attract investors in prospective wells.

Caddo line redesigned

DALLAS — A 30-mile extension and redesign of the Caddo Lateral, originally announced as a 57-mile addition to Texas Oil & Gas Corp.'s East Texas gas gathering system has been announced by the company.

The estimated incremental cost to extend the lateral and to increase the capacity of the original 57-mile addition is $4,000,000, bringing the total project cost to about $7,550,000.

The Caddo Lateral, which is located in Harrison, Marion and Cas Counties, will be extended southward into Panola County to connect reserves of eight completed gas wells which have been dedicated to Delhi Gas Pipeline Corp., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Texas Oil & Gas Corp.

Initial deliveries through the Caddo Lateral are expected to begin in January at a rate of about 20 million cubic feet per day.

The gas will be sold on a long-term contract basis to United Texas Transmission Co., a principal supplier of natural gas to the Houston area.

Unemployment rate for offshore rigs near record proportions

TULSA, Okla. — World offshore drilling activity is at an all-time high, but the "unemployment" rate among mobile drilling rigs also is reaching record proportions.

The Oil & Gas Journal's Oct. 11 issue says the surplus is unique, because it is solely the result of overbuilding and not caused by a general decline in drilling.

During the last six months, offshore drilling has increased modestly in all areas except Southeast Asia, the Journal says. It notes 303 mobile rigs were either drilling or moving to new locations early in October.

The worldwide mobile-rig count, including 64 units under construction, totals 421. Of the 35 per cent available now, 54 are idle. Some of the idle rigs have pending contracts, but their number is offset by working units whose contracts will soon expire.

It appears the offshore industry is locked into a major rig surplus for the next tow years, the Journal says. Another 50 rigs will leave their shipyards over the next seven months and may swell the number of out of work to 100 this winter.

The outlook for 1977 and early 1978 is different because fewer new rigs will be dumped on the market. The industry will find and hold a level of abour 410 mobile rigs in service, the Journal predicts.

Meanwhile, a backlog of drilling plans is among economic, political and industrial considerations cited by the Journal which should in time improve the situation. The backlog makes any sharp decrease in drilling activity unlikely and probably will mean modest and continued growth.

Back-to-back years showing a 15 per cent offshore exploration increase would return the industry in two years to a rig shortage rather than a surplus. Such increases at this point appear unlikely. But a supply-demand balance seems probable in 24 to 36 months, the Journal says.

Beyond 1970, the market may change again. New rig construction requires about a three-year lag time between boardroom approval and commissioning of a new unit.

Only a handful of rigs is on the drawing boards now, the Journal says. Unless commitments to new construction are made soon (and this appears unlikely), the achievement of balance in rig availability will also mark the beginning of another shortage.

Better educated not always smarter about foods

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government survey indicates that 63 per cent of American home kitchens are "high risk" zones for the 2 million to 10 million estimated cases of food poisoning each year.

The risks are higher if the cook is under 50 years old, better educated and part of a family with $15,000 or more income a year, according to the report by Judith L. Jones and Jon P. Weimer of the Agriculture Department's Economic Research Service.

The nationwide survey, using a scientifically selected sample of 2,503 representative households, was conducted in 1974. The analysis of the findings is being published this month.

The focus of the study is the "high risk" homemaker. The researchers applied that designation to 63 per cent of the sampled households, those with an unnecessarily high potential of sickness due to possible contamination of food.

Too much faith on the part of the cook is a major part of the problem, the report says.

"Homemakers may place undue reliance upon government inspection functions for prevention of bacterial contamination of raw meat and poultry products," it concluded. "Many homemakers are unaware of the existence in the environment and human body of the intrinsic sources of food-poisoning types of bacteria."

For example, Agriculture Department meat inspectors do not check or try to regulate the amount of salmonellae, the most common source of food poisoning, in slaughtered meat or processed products. The bacteria are present in the environment generally and it would be impractical to market sterile meat, the department said.

But 63 per cent of those surveyed thought it unlikely that government-inspected meat would carry such bacteria. The survey also found that 30 per cent would taste a suspected product to see if it were safe to eat, a potentially fatal act, the report said.

About two-thirds of the respondents thought cooked foods should be left out to cool before refrigerating the leftovers, rather than served soon or refrigerated promptly, the report said.

A homemaker earned a "high risk" designation for one or more of these "undesirable practices."

Eating hamburger rare, leaving roasts or other meats at room temperature for more than two hours after cooking, leaving tuna or chicken or other salad-type sandwiches — including brown-bagged lunches — at room temperature for more than two hours, stuffing a turkey a day or more in advance, storing stuffing in the leftover turkey or cooking the turkey partially in one place and finishing it later.

Of the 63 per cent getting the label, about half committed only one of the errors, the researchers said, while 47 per cent hit on two to four.

The Jones-Weimer analysis commented that one reason for the apparently "safer" kitchens among the older, less-educated and lower-income families is they are less apt to be buying vulnerable whole turkeys or beef or pork roasts. The survey indicated that 50 to 73 per cent of the sampled households had prepared one of the three during the year.

Even some of those who prepared the food safely were undone by their refrigerators, the survey found. About a third of the appliances checked were operating at temperatures higher than 45 degrees, the minimum needed to check bacterial growth.

But then again, the survey also found that 20 per cent of the homemakers erroneously thought refrigeration completely stopped the growth and that freezing killed the germs.

'Gay' tags not popular

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Officials are receiving complaints after mailing out some 1,000 Hinds County license tags with the prefix "GAY" ahead of the numbers.

County Tax Collector Jake Richardson said that the complaints indicated that "not everybody wants a car labeled GAY."

Box top conflict rages

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — Two consumer advocacy groups are seeking a ban on a ceral promotion they believe is diverting "education resources and classroom time" to "profit motives of private entertprise."

The nationwide promotion by the Post Cereals division of General Foods offers gym equipment to schools in exchange for box tops from Post cereals — 16,000 box tops buys a four-seat swing set; 300 tops will buy a tennis racket.

The two groups, Consumers Union and the California-based Committee on Children's Television, are asking the California board of education to ban the program there. A lawyer for the groups noted that "they hope a ban in California will encourage other states to follow suit."

The consumer groups say the program, for elementary schools only, "makes the teacher into sales managers and young, impreessionable children into sales people, seeking 'commission' in teacher and peer approval."

A spolesman for General Foods, which manufactures Post cereals, called the charges "irrational, reckless and irresponsible."

He said there are "absolutely no grounds for the charge that the Fun 'n' Fitness program involved the use of school time and public funds" and that "in many schools the PTAs are running (it)." Of the 92,000 schools contacted, he said, 18,864 have signed up.

According to the September issue of "Nutrition Action," published by the Center for Science in the Public Interest, General Foods sought an endorsement of the program from the American Alliance of Health, Physical Education and Recreation. The organization refused because it had "some reservations about some of the cereals the box tops would be coming from."

An Alliance spokesman told the magazine, "It is frankly hard for us to endorse some of the sugary cereals they put on the market."

The Alliance said it would support the plan "if a system of graduated values for the different cereal box tops could be established on such health variables as sugar and fiber content of the products." But, the organization said, General Foods refused.

The company manufactures cereals ranging from Post's 40 per cent Bran Flakes which a dental researcher said contains about 16 per sent sugar, to Fruity Pebbles which are about 55 per cent sugar, the researcher said.

Market retreats, reverses

NEW YORK (AP) —The stock market retreated today, reversing the direction of te last two sessions.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was own 3.24 at 943.32 at noon. The market gained more than 10 points Friday and Monday after a steep three-week decline.

Declines took a moderate lead over advances among NYSE-listed issues.

Brokers said the stubborn pause in the nation's economic growth continues to be a source of concern for the investing community.

More evidence of the pause surfaces today when the Commerce Department reported that the third-quarter Gross National Product grew at a 4 per cent annual rate, down sharply from the 4.5 per cent growth rate of the second quarter and the 9.2 per cent first quarter GNP gain.

Brokers said investors also are closely watching for Federal Rserve action in certain short-term interest rates market, but there apparently had been none by noon.

The Fed's Open Market Committee, which sets rate targets, was due to meet during the day. Many investors hope the Fed will lower interest rates by increasing the money supply in order to stimulate economic growth.

Polaroid Corp. headed the active list for a second day, extending Monday's point-drop another 1⅜ to 37⅛.

Schlumberger Ltd., Getty Oil Co., Merck Co., Johnson & Johnson, and Union Carbide also lost a point or more.

NYSE turnover at noon amounted to 7.11 million shares against Monday's 6.29 million shares.

The NYSE composite index at noon was off .27 at 53.94 and the American Stock Exchange market value index was down .08 to 98.38.

California pigs jogging in test

The Los Angeles Times

SAN DIEGO — Pigs are jogging five miles a day at the University of California here.

No, not on the school track.

The black, hairless porkers are running on treadmills as part of an experiment to determine the value to the heart of prolonged exercise.

"The pig may not be the most glorious animal but its heart structure is similar to a human's," explained Dr. Max Sanders, an exercise physiologist at the university.

In order to assess changes, half of the pigs jog while the others "just stand around all day, like most people do," Sanders said.

The joggers are divided into two groups: one healthy and the other with heart damage induced.

Sanders worked with dogs previously but found they are less useful because their capacity for exercise is far superior to that of humans.

"You take the average dog on the street, put him on a treadmill and he can run for two straight hours at a reasonable rate," Sanders said. "That's far longer than any sedentary human — or pig — could do. When we started working with the pigs they could only run for a few minutes at a time."

The results of the study won't be known until next spring or summer, but the researchers have noticed that a well-conditioned pig can run a mile in less than eight minutes.

Tax rebate payment mailed to Midland

AUSTIN — State Comptroller Bob Bullock has mailed out checks totaling $9.1 million to 478 Texas cities and towns as their October rebate of the one-cent city sales tax.

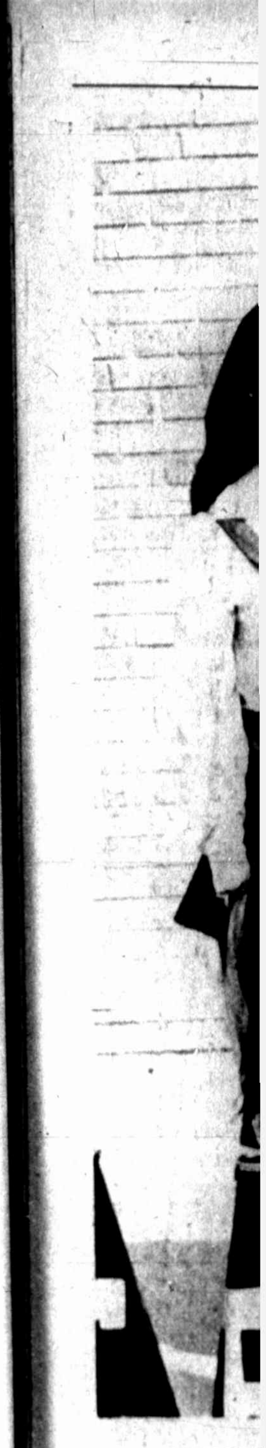

The City of Midland's rebate is $88,401.46.

Bullock said city sales tax rebates have totaled $239.1 million to date this year, compared to $209.2 million for 1975 at this date.

Other area cities and their rebates for October include Andrews, $5,190.98; Big Lake, $1,078.28; Big Spring, $21,108.75; Lamesa, $7,175.36; and Odessa, $118,862.05.

Celebration slated

Compromise agreement to ease student loan program cutbacks

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — A compromise agreement with the U.S. Office of Education over punitive measures in the Hinson-Hazlewood Student Loan program has been approved by the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System.

The compromise will considerably ease the federally proposed cutback of loan money to institutions where the students default rate is over 10 per cent.

The Hinson-Hazlewood Student Loan program has been in jepordy since June, when the Office of Education first proposed cutting back the federal insurance on the program. The federal agency was unhappy with the program's 15.56 per cent student default rate.

The coordinating board refused to sign the first proposal which called for substantive cutbacks in loan funds to schools with default rates over 10 per cent. It balked again on a second proposal to cut the program back about 29 per cent.

The compromise will make available $20,200,000 for the 1976-77 school year, slightly more than last year.

In return, loan limits will be imposed on schools where the default rate is over 10 per cent, but not as strict as the first proposal. The limits will also be modified by adjustments for students from low-income families.

Under the agreeement, Midland College will receive 66.48 per cent of the loan funds received last year. No loans were made by the school last year.

The compromise formula will not apply to the first 10 per cent of the total default rate at the schools. The default rate at Midland College is 49.82 per cent.

Other schools affected will include Odessa Junior college, which will receive only 92.74 per cent funding. last year's limit of $5,050 will be reduced to $4,683. Under the first proposal, the school's 21.56 per cent default rate would have cut the limit to $3,961.

University of Texas Permian Basin funds will remain at 100 per cent funding of $10,915.

Howard Payne University will receive 99.72 per cent of last year's $61,203 in loan funds. This year the school will have $61,032 in loan funds.

Guidelines for the program also call for several modifications of the Hinson-Hazlewood loan making policies.

High risk students are to be awarded Basic Opportunity Grants prior to consideration for loans, Counseling for the students will be upgraded prior to loan issuance. Loans will be provided only to students in good academic standing. Colleges and universities are required to exercise more judgment regarding students' ability to repay loans. Loan payments will be made to student in multiple disbursements.

Lamesa area names 'Mr. Cotton'

LAMESA — Lee Roy Colgan was named "Mr. Cotton" by the Lamesa Cotton Growers, Inc. for his years of service as farm agent, and an increased funding referendum for Cotton, Inc. was adopted Oct. 14.

A demonstration of flame retardant treated cotton was given at the meeting by Frank Jones and Jerry Harris. Cotton soaked in flame retardant and then dipped in starting fluid burned only until the fire retardant was gone.

The future importance of water to Texas was discussed by Donald Johnson. He called the passage of a proposed constitutional amendement to provide more funds for water development vital for the state.

Johnson also touched on provisions of a water importation plan which had been temporarily scraped. The plan was not economically feasible now, he said, and money is more urgently needed to help an estimated 500 Texas cities meet federal and state water requirements, he said.

Burt Reynolds out of hospital

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Burt Reynolds, 40, who was hospitalized over the weekend with chest pains, has returned home.

A spokesman for Cedars-Sinai Hospital said Monday that doctors in the cardiac care unit were unable to determine the cause of the pain and that Reynolds was sent home late Sunday night.

AUSTIN — Thaddeus Edgar Paup of 912 Bedford St. received a master of business administration degree from The University of Texas at Austin Graduate School of Business. He was one of 72 master's degree recipients honored at the end of the summer session.

Briscoe urges passage of water bond proposals

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN—Gov. Dolph Briscoe again has reiterated that he knews of "no commitment more important" than the passage of a constitutional amendment authorizing the sale of an additional $400 million in water development bonds by the state.

The issue is one of two proposed constitutional amendments appearing on the Nov. 2 general election ballot.

At the same time, Briscoe pledged his complete support for the passage of the second proposed amendment — $100 million in additional water quality improvement bonds.

Briscoe said most of his attention has been focused on Preposition One, the water development bonds, because opposition to the issue has been actively inititated by Citizens Against Water Taxes. Briscoe acknowledged no organized opposition has surfaced against Amendment Two.

Briscoe told reporters it would be "impossible" to develop a master plan for use of the bonds at this time. Rather, he argued the additional bonding authority will allow the Water Development Board to continue with its long-range proposals.

Opponents argue the money will be used to import water into parched areas of Texas, at extreme cost to the taxpayers of the state. Briscoe claims there are more-than-adequate legislative safeguards on how the Water Development Board can use the bonds.

Earlier this week, Rep. Tom Massey of San Angelo, who initiated the proposed amendments during the last legislative session, endorsed Amendment One, saying increased bonds would insure an adequate water supply for the small towns of Texas.

Midland dogs win top spots at field trials

John Zay Kimberlin's setter Butch took second place in the puppy class, and Ralph Lea's Popcorn placed third in the derby.

Seven setters from Midland were entered in a field of 38 dogs. Bill Mathis of Midland was an official for the contest.

Tuesday, a program about children's learning disabilities, "The Puzzle Children," will be broadcast at 7 p.m. on public television. A National follow-up by a panel of experts will follow at 8 p.m. The two programs will be repeated on PBS Saturday at 8:30 and 9:30 p.m.

Bonds set in copper wire theft

Bonds of $5,000 each were set Monday afternoon on three Midland men on charges of theft over $200 in connection with the theft of copper wire from Midwest Electric Co.

Justice of the Peace John Biggs set bonds for the men, Richard Earl Hemphill of 1906 Hudson Ave., James Earl Edwards of 200 N. Tilden St. and Claude Harris of 906 E. Kentucky Ave.

Midland police Friday investigated the report of the theft of a vehicle and copper wire from the business, 2011 W. Industrial Ave.

The three men had been arrested on Sept. 21, along with another man, when they were found in possession of an amount of copper greater than the law allows during a license check. They had been released when no one reported the theft of the wire.

Ford's pooch to miss bash

PROVO, Utah (AP) — John Lewis, 19, a Brigham Young University freshman, is planning a birthday party Saturday for his "mostly terrier mutt" and 25 other dogs.

Unfortunately, President Ford's dog, Liberty, cannot attend.

Lewis sent an invitation to Liberty, but it was declined by the President's daughter, Susan. The note said Liberty "should be by her master's side" for the time being.

The dogs are to come in Halloween costumes. Highlight of the party, Lewis said, will be when four or five cats wearing bikinis jump out of a mock birthday cake.

Colson says scandal could happen again

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Former White House aide Charles Colson, who says he has experienced a "spiritual rebirth," says another Watergate "could happen tomorrow unless we find a way to change human nature."

Colson, who served seven months in prison after leaving his post under former President Richard Nixon, said the nation must put its faith in God, not in government.

"We've all been flawed from the beginning," he said in reference to the Christian concept of original sin.

Government is an institution of men "who are corruptible" and will never be perfect, he said.

Colson told a news conference here that Washington, D.C., is "a spiritual battleground" where "Satan has gained his strongest foothold."

He said he served seven months in prison beginning in July 1974 for "disseminating derogatory information about Daniel Ellsberg," the man who leaked the controversial Pentagon papaers.

Colson said he expects no official pardon for his acts and will not ask for one. "I have the most complete pardon I could ever want," he said of his religious conversion.

Colson also said the nation's prisons are turning inmates into "wild animals" and that most prisoners should not be in jail.

He said more than half of the crimes for which prisoners are held are committed under the influence of alcohol. Other people are jailed on drug violations. These people need treatment, not confinement, he said.

"It's mad, unless a man is dangerous in a violent way, to lock a man up," he said.

Colson, who was in San Antonio to address a group of Baptist men, said he was protected in prison by God.

He said he has no preference in the current presidential campaign but is "praying hard for both men." Colson, a convicted felon, cannot vote.

'Radical' DPS group defends self

AUSTIN (AP) — An organization of Texas Department of Public Safety officers — dubbed "radicals" by some DPS administrators — only wants "to make the department a better place to work in," its president says.

The Dallas Times Herald Monday quoted an anonymous spokesman for the 800-member DPS Officers Association as saying the department is plagued by low morale, internal dissension and unprofessional working conditions.

"We're of the opinion that the DPS is falling apart and going downhill," said the anonymous spokesman for the officers association.

But DPS Director Wilson Speir said the department is one of the best state police agencies in the country and scoffed at the charges, attributing the complaints of low morale to "a few gripers."

The three-member state Public Safety Commission which oversees the DPS declines official recognition of the officers association. Some administrators say the organization is dominated by "radicals" and is a first step toward police unionism in Texas.

"That's not our purpose," association President Lee Johnson said of the unionism claim. "We're just trying to make the department a little better place to work in."

The state troopers' association was formed in May 1974 and has used the courts, legislative lobbying and a sometimes hard-hitting monthly tabloid to improve working conditions and air grievances against the DPS administration. The association represents about one-third of the 2,400-employe crime fighting agency.

The Times Herald said organization leaders accuse the department of low pay, unfair disciplinary measures, favoritism in promotions and recruiting of poorly qualified candidates.

"Morale is low, we're not adequately paid and we don't have anybody who will pay attention to our gripes," complained one veteran officer.

"Our commissioners have refused to cooperate with us," said Johnson, a 38-year-old Houston patrolman and 16-year DPS veteran. "I think at first there was a feeling that we're radical or trying to govern department policy.

"That's not our notion. We're not going to strike. The only thing we're trying to do is make our opinions known."

Horse winners named

"Miss Rocky," owned by Sally Green of Houston, was named grand champion mare in the Paint halter class and "Sports Page," owned by Brenda Massey of Mesquite, was named grand champion gelding in the Paint halter class.

"Dial Beau," owned by Earl and Margaret Andrews of Bartlesville, Okla., won first place in the Palamino performance, stock horse in the Junior Western Pleasure class.

Visibility

The presence of a clearly-marked patrol car, driven by a man in uniform, is a recognized deterrent to the would-be criminal.

I believe patrol cars should be clearly marked and that patrol officers should be uniformed . . . this makes the potential criminal aware of the presence of the police. When law enforcement is plainly visible, the criminal is reluctant to carry out his planned criminal act.

Steelman questions Gulf Oil investigation

AUSTIN (AP) — Rep. Alan Steelman, R-Tex, says the U.S. Senate Ethics Committee decided recently "to bury" an investigation of questionable Gulf Oil contributions to about two dozen senators, including a reported $2,500 donation to Sen. Lloyd Bentsen.

Steelman, who is running against Bentsen for his senate seat, told a news conference in Austin Monday that he has released his financial statement for the years he served in Congress and challenged Bentsen to do the same.

Bentsen replied that Steelman's allegation was "a deliberate distortion."

"The fact is that I have never knowingly accepted any illegal campaign contributions. The fact is that, in 1970, a legal campaign contribution from Gulf Good Government Fund in the amount of $2,500 was made to a dinner committee on behalf of my candidcay and this contribution was reported in newspapers across Texas long ago.

"My opponent should get his facts straight before he makes any further unfounded charges in his campaign of desperation," Bentsen said in a statement.

Echeverria might seek post

UNITED NATIONS, Y.N. (AP) — Mexican President Luis Echeverria made it known Monday that he is available for election as U.N. secretary-general for a five-year term starting Jan. 1.

Kurt Waldheim, the current secretary-general, is seeking re-election. He is an Austrian.

The Mexican ambassador to the United Nations, Roberto de Rosenzweig Diaz, said the retiring Mexican president "would be a candidate if there is a current of opinion favoring a candidate of the Third World."
