More than 1,200 were buried in plain wooden coffins in a huge grave dug in a cornfield at Fognana, four miles south of wiped-out Longorano. The grave will be lined by simple crosses, most of which will bear no names. (AP Wirephoto)

Three Outposts Retaken Claim Algerian Forces

Naval Hero Alan Kirk Dies Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Adm. Alan G. Kirk, 74, a naval hero who spent 40 years in military service and then went on to high diplomatic assignments, died today in Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center. Kirk entered the hospital Sept. 1 for treatment of a heart ailment. He resigned last April as ambassador to Nationalist China because of ill health. He had held the post for almost a year. Kirk retired from the Navy in 1946 to accept appointment as ambassador to Belgium and minister to Luxembourg. He later served three years as ambassador to Russia and for a brief period as director of the country's Psychological Service Bureau.

Moroccans Rearming

ALGERS (AP)—Algerians claimed today that Algerian forces have recaptured two desert outposts taken by Moroccan troops Monday. The Algerians said Moroccan troops supported by tanks, planes and heavy artillery swept up to 600 miles over the border Monday in the area of Hassi-Beida and Tinjoub, the outposts. The Algerian government never officially admitted that the two places fell to the Moroccan invaders. But today, the radio announcer said in a triumphant voice: "Our forces have cleared the invaders from Hassi-Beida and Tinjoub." The broadcast said the Moroccan forces were bringing in heavy reinforcements. It alleged that some of the Moroccan troops were airlifted to the fighting area in planes piloted by American airmen, members of a U.S. military training detachment with the Royal Moroccan Air Force. "The declaration that American airmen were involved was denied in Rabat, Morocco, by Col. Thomas McClung of LeVaux, W.Va., chief of the U.S. Military Assistance group in Morocco. McClung said: 'We haven't moved anybody.'" Three bases of the U.S. Strategic Air Command are in western Morocco at Benquerreg, Nouasseur and Sidjilmasa — far removed from the combat zone. All three are to be turned back to Morocco by the end of 1963. U.S. combat planes have already been transferred elsewhere.

Soviet Agreement Gets Final Touches

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union put final touches today on a joint effort to bar nuclear weapons from outer space and clear the way for new disarmament negotiations. The U.N. General Assembly's main political committee scheduled a double session on disarmament as the two big powers readied two resolutions couched in the new spirit of East-West amity.

Begin Probe In Crash Of Copter

NEW YORK (AP) — Investigators probed the burning wreckage of a twin-engine helicopter today seeking to determine why it crashed, killing six aboard. The 10-ton Boeing Vertol 107 had just lifted off Monday for a seven-minute flight from Idle wild Airport to the East River heliport at the foot of Wall Street in Manhattan when it exploded about 100 feet in the air. It was the first fatal crash in the 10 years that New York Airways has been shuttling passengers between metropolitan airports. The line grounded all helicopters after the crash, pending determination of the cause. Only three passengers and three crew members, including a stewardess, were aboard the ill-fated craft. It had a passenger capacity of 25.

that the orbiting of nuclear weapons should be banned. On another matter, the General Assembly gave overwhelming approval to an African request that Britain delay transfer of full political and military power to the white-dominated government of Southern Rhodesia. The vote was 90-2 with 13 abstentions and Britain and five other countries absent. The United States abstained. A British veto defeated a similar proposal in the Security Council last September. Southern Rhodesia, a British colony, is a member of the Central African Federation with Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland. The federation is to be dissolved at the end of the year. The new African nations want the transfer of power to Southern Rhodesia delayed until elections are held giving the colony's black majority control of the government. The British say they cannot interfere in the internal affairs of the self-governing colony.

Dillon Begins Sales Spiel

By HARRY KELLY WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon began the job today of selling President Kennedy's tax cut package to what may be the toughest customer on Capitol Hill—Sen. Harry F. Byrd and his Senate Finance Committee. After waiting through 20 days of closed hearings, Dillon appeared today with a thick sheaf of facts and figures that stressed a need for urgency in approving the $11 billion reduction this year. Said Dillon: "It is essential to the well-being of the nation that every effort be made to complete action on this bill before the end of the current year... the nation has waited too long for relief from the stifling burden of excess taxes." Byrd, the Virginia Democrat called by many "the watchdog of the Treasury," opposes a tax cut without balancing cuts in spending. He prefers to hold up action on the cut until the 1964 session to put pressure on Kennedy to put the brakes on the budget. Dillon argued strongly against this. "The need for a major program," he said, "is self-evident." See DILLON, Page 2

Foreign Aid Forces Begin New Senate Counterattack

By ERNEST B. VACCARO WASHINGTON (AP) — The fight over foreign aid crackled anew today in the Senate where the administration intends to mount a counterattack to recapture some of the $1 billion cut in the House. Republican Leader Everett Dirksen thinks the tide of battle has turned against his aid program. "The bill is in deep, deep trouble this year," said the Illinois senator. "There is a new and harder attitude in the Senate and throughout the country." President Kennedy is asking Dirksen to restore at least a good chunk of the $1 billion the House chopped from the $4.5 billion he had requested. In the past the Senate usually has voted to restore much of the foreign aid program. But this time, Dirksen told reporters, the mood has changed. "The number of recipient countries is going down and there is a feeling among the people that there are countries in which the foreign aid program is not accomplishing anything worthwhile," he said. Committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., counters that "the foreign aid bill is always in trouble. I don't know that it is any more trouble this year than it always is. It is not a popular bill and it has no constituents."

The committee's previous deliberations on the measure were interrupted by its hearings on the limited nuclear test-ban treaty. More than a score of amendments aimed at tightening the program are scheduled for consideration. Even as the battle was resuming in the senate there were echoes of the fight in the House. Testimony taken in closed hearings of a House Appropriations subcommittee and just made public revealed that Indonesia ordered three jet airliners in the United States for $20 million in the same week it got an emergency $17 million stabilization loan from this country. "I do not think any country which can spend $20 million for jet airplanes if in such dire financial straits that they have to have an emergency loan from us," said Rep. George W. Andrews, D-La. Subcommittee Chairman Otis E. Passman, D-La., said, "They are familiar with the gullibility of Uncle Sam."

Council OKs Use Of Local Tongue

By BENNET M. BOLTON VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council voted overwhelmingly today to extend the use of local languages to the sacraments, keeping Latin only for the heart of the rites. A majority of the council voted Monday to make the same changes in the Mass, but it failed of the needed two-thirds majority. The council's liturgical commission will rework the chapter and submit again to the council. Today's vote approved the use of modern languages in the sacraments of baptism, confirmation, penance, matrimony and extreme unction. The vote was 2,138-19, a council press spokesman said. The more than 2,000 prelates meeting in St. Peter's Basilica also agreed to change the name of extreme unction—the Sacrament of Last Anointing—to "an-ointments aimed at tightening the program are scheduled for consideration. Even as the battle was resuming in the senate there were echoes of the fight in the House. Testimony taken in closed hearings of a House Appropriations subcommittee and just made public revealed that Indonesia ordered three jet airliners in the United States for $20 million in the same week it got an emergency $17 million stabilization loan from this country. 8 Veniremen Accepted In Curry Trial

PALO PINTO (AP)—Selection of a jury to try Nathan Curry, 32, on a murder charge in the 1961 slaying of a Cisco woman went on today. Eight veniremen were accepted Monday when 32 prospective jurors have been seated, each side will be allowed to strike 10. Curry is accused in the fatal beating of Mrs. Florence Hussey, 52, a divorcee and church secretary. The youth asserts he is innocent and that he was "brainwashed" into making a confession. Curry was 15 at the time. He was declared a delinquent by reason of committing burglary at her home the night Mrs. Hussey was killed.

Heart Survey Is Slated Tomorrow

First and second graders in the Snyder School System will get heart checkups tomorrow. The Scurry County Health Council, along with local physicians, have arranged for the checkups. It will be the second checkup program for elementary school youngsters here in two years. First and second graders were selected for the checkups this year since the survey two years ago included the first through the sixth grades. Local doctors will be at the various schools in the city to make the survey.

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas president of the New Homemakers of America is Patricia Powell of Lufkin. She was elected Monday at the State Fair. First vice president is Carolyn Leavell of Palestine. Mary Louella Lee of Carver High School, Amarillo, was elected fourth vice president. New Farmers of America who received awards included Lorenza Phillips, Neches; Willie Minor, Arp; Matt Dennis, Kilgore; and Donald Lyles, Neches.

Government Ordered To Pay Taxes

HOUSTON (AP) — Dist. Judge Thomas Stovall has ordered the federal government to pay the state $97,351 inheritance tax on a $1,935,028 bequest from the late Mrs. Susan Vaughan Clayton. Mrs. Clayton, who died Jan. 7, willed half the income from a trust to help retire the national debt. John Hopkins University bequeathed the other half of the trust income, will be required to pay the state $318,300 tax. Asst. U.S. Atty. William Butler told Judge Stovall the federal government had abandoned its argument that the government could not be required to pay a tax to the state. He said the bequest will be held in a Texas bank and used only for retiring government obligations to residents of the state. John Crocker Jr., lawyer for independent executors of the estate, said the order Judge Stovall signed Monday was not an agreed judgment but was acceptable.

Negro Seen On Georgia Ballots

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—Citizens of this Georgia city choose a Democratic candidate for mayor today from among three persons—the first Negro ever to run for the office and two white segregationists. All three agree that Negro integration leader Slater King has not a chance of winning the primary, but for different reasons. King, 35, a native of Albany, says he hopes the campaign has helped members of his race to think politically. "I am really interested in freeing the minds of Negroes because many of them feel that no Negro should aspire for high office," he said. King is a real estate broker. The white candidates are attorney James V. Davis and architect Edward V. Jones. Davis, a former state representative, expressed the belief there will be a runoff and that King will be in it. "But, he said, 'I don't think he has a chance of winning unless the white people sit down and don't go to the polls. People are gram of tax reduction and revision is pressing," he said. "I firmly believe that to delay its passage would incur serious economic risks."

The President says the tax cut would give families extra money to buy dishwashers or make a down payment on a new car, plants money to buy new equipment, and more free money for investment. This, he and his advisers say, will put the economy in high gear, and also bring in more taxes ultimately.

In his statement, packed with charts on what the reduction would do for taxpayers, Dillon said the bill as approved by the House will do the job with one exception—the treatment of capital gains.

"Because of the urgency of prompt action, I recommend that the committee eliminate the provisions of the bill dealing with capital gains," said Dillon.

His comments were in a prepared statement. If the bill becomes fully effective, it would remove 1.5 million low-income families from the tax rolls, and mean cuts of $100 for four-person families earning $5,000 a year, $202 for a similar family with a $10,000 a year income, $1,004 for a $20,000 a year family, and $5,278 for a $100,000 family.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Please put this in the paper quick, as I'm a bit of a nervous wreck. My husband doesn't trust anybody—not even me. Lately he's been buying his own groceries and cooking his own meals because he thinks I'm trying to poison him. He uses vile language and accuses me of the filthiest things. And after 43 years of love and faithfulness! If there is a knock on the door, he goes with his pistol to answer it. He has spells and acts like his old sweet self for a day or two, then he starts acting ugly again. I'm afraid if I ask anyone for help they will lock him up. Please tell me what to do, but don't let on where this letter came from.

FRIGHTENED WOMAN
DEAR FRIGHTENED: Get up, you have to call the sheriff or police to help you. He has the symptoms of a very sick man. It is no disgrace to be sick, but it is disgraceful to delay your husband's recovery. If he must be temporarily "locked up" to prevent his harming himself and - or others, it's a kindness to lock him up.

DEAR ABBY: I am not a child. In fact, I'm a grown woman of 50, but there is a problem. I'd like to ask you to trust anybody—not even me. Lately he's been buying their eggs, do these eggs grow any larger before they're hatched? I hope this doesn't sound like a silly question, but I must settle a discussion with my husband, who says once eggs are laid they do not grow. I say they do.

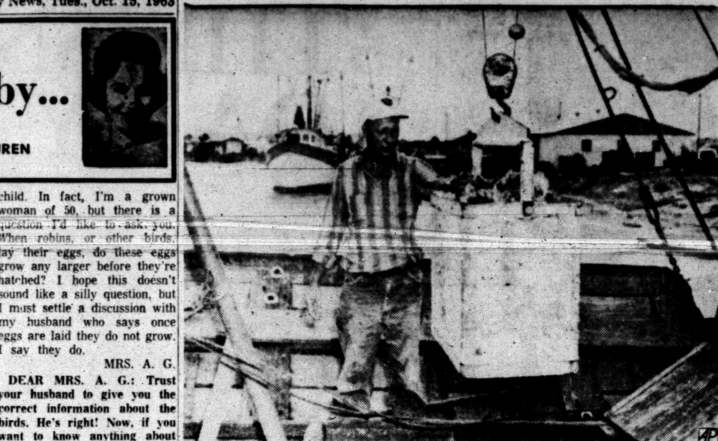

MRS. A. G.
DEAR MRS. A. G.: Trust your husband to give you the correct information about the birds. He's right! Now, if you want to know anything about the bees, you have a honey of an authority at home.

DEAR ABBY: Why all this nonsense about displaying the flag? I am 53 years old and I have never owned a flag or flown one. I did send one to World War II, and another to the Korean conflict. I cast my vote and raise my voice in protest when bigots and men of ill will endanger our precious heritage. I love my fellow man, and hold his right as dear as my own, regardless of his race, color or creed. Anyone can wave a flag, but what does it prove? Live your life according to God's will, and you won't need to.

ANOTHER ABIGAIL
CONFIDENTIAL TO SUE IN PINE BLUFF: Yes, I am married, and have been to the same wonderful man for 23 years. We have a daughter 21 and a son 18, and are healthy, happy, normal, L-U-C-K-Y people living in southern California.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Dominicans Say US Interfered

By ROBERT BERRELEZ
SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The Dominican Republic's ruling junta angrily accused the United States today of interference in this country's internal affairs and demanded it stop.
The junta accused the U.S. State Department of applying pressure on it to step down in favor of the former Senate chairman who claims to be the Dominican Republic's constitutional president.

The three-man junta, which the military installed after it ousted President Juan Bosch, expressed its displeasure in a meeting with Spencer King, deputy chief of the U.S. mission.
It was learned authoritatively that King, despite the suspension of normal diplomatic relations, had approached junta member Manuel Tavarez and urged the tramviate to hand over the government to Juan Casanovas, now in hiding.

Under normal circumstances, Casanovas would have succeeded to the presidency through the absence of both the president and vice president.
Bosch, first freely elected president in the Dominican Republic in 33 years, is in exile in Puerto Rico. Leaders of the coup said he had allowed economic chaos and a growth of leftist influence.
The United States also has suspended economic aid after Bosch's ouster.

NEW YORK (AP)—A Latin American struggle for power has had repercussions in New York where two diplomats are fighting for control of the Dominican Republic consulate.
Besieged in the consulate's third-floor office, the consul-general of the deposed Dominican regime vows not to move.
Facing the ground-floor lobby Monday was the diplomat appointed by the Dominican military junta that took power in a coup Sept. 26.

"We don't know who's the legal consul-general," said a policeman assigned to the building. "All we want to do is keep the peace."

Say Mafia Very Well Organized

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate probes heard testimony today of Mafia terrorism in central Florida's gay playground—killing and racketeering too carefully managed by a national crime syndicate for any local police force to crush.

Police Chief Neil G. Brown of Tampa told the Senate Investigative Subcommittee there have been 23 "gangland slayings" in the Tampa area since 1928, only one of them solved.
Brown said the killings show "how the Mafia uses murder to discipline its membership, to revenge itself against violators of its code and to otherwise eliminate opposition to its criminal activities and goals," and how difficult it is to get witnesses to talk.
Of 145 homicides other than gang killings between 1958 and the end of 1962, he said, only four remain unsolved, and every homicide in the 1960-62 period has been solved.

Brown appealed for federal help for the police of all states and cities in the war on organized crime in which, he said, there are too many frustrations now.
He urged Congress to legalize police tapping of telephone lines, provide federal grants to help finance the training of local police specialists in gang-busting techniques, and create a "national clearing house for criminal intelligence" to help all police agencies coordinate efforts.

Macmillan's Successor Not Named

LONDON (AP)—The British Cabinet met for two hours today but announced no decision on a successor to ailing Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Informed sources said the ministers had finished their immediate business and were unlikely to meet again Thursday.

With acting Prime Minister Richard A. Butler presiding, the Cabinet met at 10 Downing Street, still divided over the issue of leadership which also has torn their ruling Conservative party.

There was no indication any decision was reached this morning.
About half the Cabinet ministers were believed to favor Butler, with the rest split between Lord Home, the foreign secretary, and Lord Hailsham, the minister of science.

OLD AIRPLANE RESTORED—A flying machine built by a Midland, Tex., blacksmith in the early 1900s has come down from the rusty rafters of Johnny Pliska's old blacksmith shop after more than half a century. A new handsome museum building to house the aircraft, which may be Texas' first airplane, is to be built. Renewed Life Seen In Bill To End Cotton's Two-Prices

WASHINGTON (AP)—A long-stalled bill to end the two-price system for cotton is showing signs of life.

One member of the House Agriculture Committee said today the bill might be acted upon by the House in about two weeks.

The measure has run into numerous obstacles.

The House Agriculture Committee approved the bill in July and the Rules Committee cleared it for House debate, but Chairman Harold Cooley, D-N.C., of the Agriculture Committee has not moved to have it called up for fear the House is hostile.

The bill would allow domestic mills to buy U.S. cotton at the world price, which is 3 1/2 cents a pound lower than the domestic supported price of 32 1/2 cents.

Spokesmen for the domestic mills contend that without some legislation they cannot compete with foreign mills and would have to turn more and more to synthetic fibers.

Some congressmen say the bill merely would piece another subsidy on the cotton program.

Chairman E. C. Gathings, D-Ark., of the cotton subcommittee, now suggests that the domestic payment be tied, percentage-wise, to the export subsidy so domestic mills could purchase U.S. cotton at the world price, plus not more than 15 per cent.

Thus, assuming the domestic price is 32 1/2 cents and the export price 24 cents (leaving an export

Deadline Set To Begin New Project

WASHINGTON (AP)—Construction of the Toledo Bend hydroelectric power project on the Sabine River must begin within two years under a license issued by the Federal Power Commission.

It granted the license Monday for the Sabine River Authorities of Texas and Louisiana to build the project in their states. The plant would be about 156 miles above the mouth of the boundary stream.

Completion of the project is required within six years of the effective date of the license, Oct. 1, 1963.

Toledo Bend dam will be of rolled earth fill construction, 8,609 feet long and 110 feet high. It will create a reservoir with capacity of 4,477,000 acre-feet. Of this, 1,584,200 acre-feet will be available for power generation and water supply.

The powerhouse will have a capacity of 86,400 kilowatts.

Commissioner Charles Ross will set forth his individual views in an order granting another license application, to be issued shortly, the FPC said. Officials gave no information about this order.

Ross' views will be applicable to the Toledo Bend case but were not included at this time in order to permit issuance at once of the license, it was explained.

The FPC issued the license subject to customary terms and also attached these special conditions:

Cooperation with the Forestry Service in fixing the project boundary on a natural forest lands; construction, maintenance and operation of facilities for conservation and development of fish and wildlife resources; cooperation in a program for the survey and salvage of historical and archeological data including relics and specimens in the project area; cooperation in providing public access to involved lands and waters for navigation and recreational purposes; in providing recreational facilities, and in operating the reservoir to accommodate the recreation use of the reservoir as far as compatible with the primary purpose of the project and requirements of downstream releases; and cooperation in regard to navigation facilities.

Parents Of '5 Of A Kind' Galena Park Rated No. 1 In Class 4A

By DAN PERKES
ABERDEEN, S.D. (AP)—It was wet and gray in Quint City, U.S.A., but the people turned out in droves to say "Happy Birthday" to the Fischer quintuplets.

An estimated 20,000 to 25,000 lined Aberdeen's main street Monday for a mile-long, hour and a half parade honoring Andy Fischer, his wife, Mary Ann, and their newborn — four girls and a boy.

Six trucks from the noise and excitement of the biggest celebration ever staged in this farming community, the month-old quintuplets squirmed and kicked in their leotards at St. Luke's Hospital.

They had another weigh-in session and got measured for the first time.

Mary Ann, the smallest, weighed 3 pounds, 12 ounces and measured 16 1/2 inches. Mary Magdalene weighed 4-10 and measured 19. Mary Catherine was 4-13 and 18 1/2; Mary Margaret was 5-1 and 18 1/2; and James Andrew 6-1 and 19 inches.

On main street, Andy and Mary Ann Fischer were the life of the party, along with their other five children — also four girls and a boy.

The Fischers followed a 300-pound birthday cake down the street. Trailing them was a stream of floats, bands and dignitaries.

During a ceremony at the Civic Arena, J. Howard Kramer president of Northern State Teachers College, told the crowd, "Here today we must pledge ourselves to the wellbeing of the Fischers. To the question of what chance the quintuplets have for normal lives — if you mean security, happiness, childish fun — the answer is 'excellent.'"

It was evident, however, that the Fischer family would be leading far from ordinary lives. Crowds of children flocked around to get autographs.

Earlier, the Fischers were guests of honor at a reception and luncheon.

Among gifts they received were five gold medals sent by Pope Paul VI along with personal blessings.

Asked to make a speech, Fischer, who was an $80-a-week clerk before becoming famous, quipped, "This is the greatest task I've had to undergo in the past 20 days. I'm not very good at speech-making."

The Fischers said "the help offered and given by so many persons came when our problems were almost overwhelming and greatly relieved our heavy burdens."

Mrs. Fischer told newsmen she longed for some quiet days.

Her husband commented "So do I. I think we'll have them after a while."

Dream Realized On First Night

By HENRIETTA LEITH
NEW YORK (AP)—Thousands of dreamers attending the night at the opera, and the dream came true for many Monday night.

It came true for Birgit Nilsson whose soprano voice has been heard many times at the Metropolitan, but never on opening night.

It came true for scores who had waited in line a night and a day to get standing room for Miss Nilsson's triumph as the Egyptian slave girl in Giuseppe Verdi's "Aida."

And it came true for Attilio Vitalli, who works for a bank in Rome. When he appeared on a television program called "Fair of Dreams," it was told that if he won the prize he could realize his fondest dream.

He won, and his fondest dream was to attend opening night at the Metropolitan Opera.

So Monday night, Vitalli, his wife and son were in the audience, along with U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, U.N. Undersecretary Ralph Bunche, President Kennedy's sister, Mrs. Stephen Smith, and much of New York society.

"Very different" from "Aida" in Rome," Vitalli said, "but magnificent facilities, and in operating the reservoir to accommodate the recreation use of the reservoir as far as compatible with the primary purpose of the project and requirements of downstream releases; and cooperation in regard to navigation facilities."

Miles A. Smith, Associated Press arts editor, found Miss Nilsson's "tremendous voice carried a richer coloration and warmth than it sometimes has in the past," and described the production of "Aida" as overwhelming.

It was the result of a first in Met history—a corporation gift which paid almost all the $150,000 production cost. The American Export and Isbrandtsen Lines put up the money.

At intermission, in the exclusive Metropolitan Opera Club on the grand tier, the Met's general manager, Rudolf Bing, and his wife chatted with their box guests—Stevenson, Dr. and Mrs. Bunche and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller Jr.

At a nearby table Mrs. Smith and her husband sipped champagne with actress Julie Harris, her husband, Manning Gurian, and their hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Roger L. Stevens.

The performance brought bravos to the cast of almost 300, and especially to Carlo Bergonzi, Irene Dalis, and Mario Sereni.

It put more than $100,000 into the box office till, an opening night record.

Girls Scouts Get Set For Big Year

Plans for the largest number of Girl Scouts troops ever to be active in Snyder were formulated Monday by local scout leaders and Girl Scout representatives from Midland.

Nine troops will be active this coming year.

Stanfield School will have two divisions of second and third grade students. Mrs. George Burrell, assisted by Mrs. James Shields, will lead one troop. This troop will meet starting this week, on Wednesdays from 4 until 5:15 p.m.

The other second and third grade troop at Stanfield will be led by Mrs. Franklin Pruitt. She will be assisted by Mrs. Louise Boarden. They will meet on Fridays from 4 until 5:15.

The fourth and fifth grade troop at Stanfield will be led by Mrs. Bill Byers. Her assistants will be Mrs. James Adams and Mrs. Leonard Keller. That troop meeting time has been tentatively set for Thursdays from 4 until 5:15 p.m.

West Elementary School will also have two divisions of the second and third grade age group. One will be led by Mrs. Marvin Dozier assisted by Mrs. Tommy Ivson and Mrs. John Book. Their meeting time has not yet been set.

The other second and third grade division will be led by Mrs. Roy Rogers assisted by Mrs. Fred Beard and Mrs. Hardy Garrison. This troop will meet on Thursdays from 4 until 5:15.

The sixth grade troop at West will be led by Mrs. Homer Hurst. She will be assisted by Mrs. Barber Martin, and the troop will meet on Mondays at 5:15 o'clock.

The Girl Scout troop at East Elementary School will be led by Mrs. B. J. Bartels, assisted by Mrs. Samuel Block. The troop will meet from 4 until 5:15 o'clock.

All troop meetings will be held at the Girl Scout hut with the exception of the seventh grade troop which meets on Wednesdays at the home of Mrs. Harry Redwine.

Mrs. Charles McCaleb was appointed at Monday's meeting to be Neighborhood Chairman, or general coordinator of Girl Scout activities in Snyder.

Mrs. Louise Thompson was appointed as city chairman for the Girl Scout cookie sales. Mrs. Ike Dolan was appointed as decorations chairman.

The Girl Scout hut will be improved with the addition of furniture and drapes, and a fire in the fireplace is planned for all meetings when weather permits.

Anyone interested in helping with donations of furniture, drapes, or financial aid to the hut is asked to contact either Mrs. Dolan or Mrs. McCaleb.

Border War Won't Deter Mrs. JFK

MARRAKECH, Morocco (AP)—Mrs. John F. Kennedy plans to continue her vacation visit to Morocco despite Algerian-Moroccan border fighting 300 miles away.

The first lady is aware of the conflict on the other side of the Atlas Mountains but is not alarmed, U.S. Ambassador John H. Ferguson said.

He said there is no plan to cut short Mrs. Kennedy's stay in King Hassan II's summer capital. He indicated she would leave Wednesday or Thursday for Washington, ending her Mediterranean holiday.

Mrs. Kennedy and her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill, strolled through the Marrakech bazaar at dusk Monday night, then attended a dinner party in the cash given by a cousin of the king, Ferguson said. Mrs. Kennedy did not discuss the border dispute at the dinner.

The ambassador said a special telephone line had been set up between Marrakech and the White House, but that he did not think the first lady had contacted President Kennedy.

Mrs. Kennedy spent her first 24 hours in this North African country relaxing in the palace apartment King Hassan has placed at her disposal. The king called on her Sunday night shortly after she arrived from Athens, but he has been occupied with political affairs and the dispute with Algeria.

JFK Boosts 'Hat Week'

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is National Hat Week, and hat lovers are throwing their soft felts, their sombreros and their high silks joyfully into the air.

For the National Hat Council reported today that Allan Webb a hat salesman and a close friend of John F. Kennedy since their wartime PT-boat days, has gotten this presidential endorsement, "A man is not well dressed without a hat."

This may sound like a dubious victory, since President Kennedy rarely is seen wearing a hat, although keen observers occasionally spot him carrying one.

But a man from the council said reassuringly: "Kennedy wears a hat more than you might imagine."

And here he produced a picture of Kennedy, well hatted and well dressed. Unfortunately, the caption showed that the picture was taken while Kennedy was President-elect, which is quite a way back for celebrating National Hat Week 1963. But you can't have everything.

If he council is on uncertain ground with Kennedy, it is better off with his predecessors.

Pictures show Dwight D. Eisenhower beaming broadly from underneath a broadbrimmed hat. . . Harry S. Truman with a light colored semi-Western hat. . . Herbert Hoover wearing a hat almost jauntily. . . Franklin D. Roosevelt waving his hat gaily.

Indeed a hat was almost an FDR trademark, and the one he wore in his first campaign, sweat-stained and battered, was later sold for $3,200 at a Hollywood benefit.

One thing seems clear from the old photographs: When campaigning, hats are great for waving purposes.

The poet, Carl Sandburg, has some excellent advice on hats. "Politicians should always have three hats handy at all times," Sandburg said. "One for throwing into the ring, another for talking through, and a third for pulling rabbits out of it if elected."

Required Driver Training Opposed By Education Assn.

By J. W. DAVIS
WASHINGTON (AP)—Over the weekend the National Education Association came out against the practice of state legislatures requiring high schools to provide driver training.

At first glance, this looked something like opposing good manners, good sportsmanship or good health.

It wasn't at all. The NEA, an organization of 1.5 million school administrators, has no objection to boys and girls learning how to drive safely.

What happened was this: An NEA-sponsored report said the role of the legislatures is to set forth general goals and provide financial support. It said decisions on what to teach should be left as much as possible to local school faculties.

An NEA spokesman said the recommendation was adopted because some state laws require courses on such things as communism and state history and several states require high schools to provide driver training.

The American Automobile Association, which has pioneered in the work, reports that youngsters who have had driver training have fewer accidents and traffic law violations than those who haven't had it.

The Automotive Safety Foundation said it has no objection to "High school driver education offers a tested opportunity to improve the bad accident record of the teen-ager. The program is on a plateau and needs aggressive support so that more youngsters in more schools can have the benefit of training."

"The under-20 group has about 6,400 accidents a day at an estimated cost of about $1 billion a year."

"They account for only 7.1 per cent of the licensed drivers but 6,600 of them were involved in 12.2 per cent of the fatal accidents in 1962."

Last year about 3.1 million young people reached driving age. Of these, 1.31 million, or 42 per cent, were enrolled in driver education courses. The percentage has been about the same since 1955.

As the nation's population increases so will the number of drivers. However, the number of young drivers will increase more rapidly than those in other age groups.

It's a sobering thought to anyone who witnesses wild driving by young people, or has to pay the extra-high insurance rates that such driving demands.

Diet Must Go Out Window On Excursion To Denmark

BY INEZ ROBB
COPENHAGEN, Denmark—My conscience ought to hurt me, and it isn't even nagging. When a columnist is in a foreign country he should, if he wants to keep his franchise, race around to all the ministers, call on the American ambassador and extract nuggets of wisdom from the U.S.I.S. on what's what with reference to the international situation. He — the columnist — should come home loaded with all the answers. Well, I'm going to come home loaded, all right. Denmark is the one country in the world where it is a waste of valuable time to do anything but eat.

Long experience has taught me that the only proper course of action on reaching Denmark is to toss away the two-way stretch and eat as if there were no tomorrow or bathroom scales. There will be a day of reckoning, all right, but I'll think about that tomorrow. Even His Honorable, the American Ambassador, William M. Blair Jr., and Mrs. Blair have compounded the felony. When they took me home for lunch, one, they stuffed me with delicious food, not relevant facts. The cold soup was the richest and most delectable I have ever eaten, and I had to hang onto my manners with might and main not to ask for the recipe. La, now I wish I had let the leash slip — on what's what with reference to the international situation. He — the columnist — should come home loaded with all the answers. Well, I'm going to come home loaded, all right. Denmark is the one country in the world where it is a waste of valuable time to do anything but eat.

Son's Taste Is Educated At College

By JOY STILLEY
NEW YORK (AP) — We sent our son off to college to educate his mind. But what seems to have gotten educated is his palate.

For the first 17 years of his life, Brenn's taste in food was simple—and definite. A firm believer in togetherness, he wanted everything cooked separately, served separately and eaten separately.

He liked meat, he liked potatoes and he liked vegetables. But put them all together in a casserole and he turned forks down. Peas, lima, carrots — great, peas and carrots — no thanks.

In fact, he used to erect invisible barriers on his plate between the various foods. He'd finish one item before starting the next and would even surreptitiously wipe his fork on his napkin in between if he thought it wasn't looking.

It was with misgivings that we placed his dietary fate in the hands of dormitory cooks 1,600 miles away.

Instead of the expected "save our son" messages and urgent requests for CARE packages, we received glowing reports on the quality and quantity of the food.

The cafeteria was operated under a point system, with each resident entitled to 20 units per day. Breakfast was to use four units, lunch 7½ and dinner the remaining 8½. Every dish had a unit value.

By the time Brenn got through figuring out how to get the choice of foods and points per meal within hailing distance of each other he must have worked up quite an appetite.

Gradually references to food crept into his letters: He and some other fellows had chicken for pizza; the tuna fish salad was tasty; he liked the goken out.

Even so, I wasn't quite prepared for his homecoming. We had meatballs and spaghetti for lunch, and as usual I had cooked his separately, spaghetti uncontaminated by sauce.

"Mother," said Brenn in disgust, "Why don't you mix this stuff all up like they do at school and put a whole lot of sauce on it. Must you cook everything so plain?"

To mark the locations where sensing electrodes are plastered on the astronaut's bodies, tattoo dots have been applied to their skin to assist doctors in placing the important measuring devices.

I never come to this beautiful city and this pleasant country that I do not remember that Denmark, occupied by the Germans from the beginning of World War II, was the only country under the Hitlerian yoke that managed through ruse and great fortitude to save its Jewish citizens.

Ah, well, I have been carrying on a love affair with Denmark for years! It is all right for good Americans to go to Paris when they die, but I intend to insist on at least equal time for Copenhagen.

Junior Editors Quiz on FIRE

QUESTION: Why does water quench fire, since its parts, oxygen and hydrogen, make fire?

ANSWER: It's true that water is one part oxygen and two parts hydrogen, also true that fire is the oxygen gas in the air combining with the carbon or other organic substance in the fuel being burned. But the oxygen in the air is a gas or very light state of matter, while the oxygen in water has combined with hydrogen to make water, which is a different state of matter, a liquid.

For fire, there must be, first, some fuel which will burn. Second, this fuel must be heated to what is called its "kindling point." Third, there must be plenty of free gaseous oxygen to unite with the fuel. In the diagram, you will see that paper must be heated to 363 degrees F. before it will burn and the kindling point of wood is still higher. But notice that the hottest water can get, under ordinary pressure, is 212 degrees. This means that the boy in our picture is throwing water with a low temperature on fire with a very much higher one. The water instantly lowers the fuel below the temperature at which it burns and the fire goes out.

FOR YOU TO DO: Follow the example of Jack in our picture if you're about to leave a camp fire. He's lowering the fuel's temperature below its kindling point so there's no chance of any more fire.

(Charlotte Robinson of Augusta, Ga., wins today's grand prize of a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, and you may win a set too! 10-15)

Believe Fuel Oil Engines Dollar-Foolish Investment

FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Affairs Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy believes U.S. atomic know-how is moving ahead so rapidly that before long it will be dollar-foolish to build surface warships with fuel oil engines rather than nuclear power plants.

It is supported by the Atomic Energy Commission, which in effect touched off the current dispute between the Defense Department and the Navy.

Navy months ago, it was announced, AEC Chairman Glenn Seaborg suggested to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara that nuclear power costs were coming down and that the Pentagon should give thought to wider application of atomic power to surface vessels.

The Navy may have lost the fight, but with powerful backing on Capitol Hill it may yet win the war.

Secretary of the Navy Fred Kohr's abrupt resignation, announced Monday, appears the sign that McNamara probably will deny the Navy permission to build a new aircraft carrier for which Congress last year voted $280 million.

The Navy is not talking about the studies it made to support its bid for the new carrier, and beyond that, for all future warships heavier than 8,000 tons.

But certain members of Congress are aware of the Navy findings, and the matter may come out on the public record if hearings are held.

Cost is a pivotal factor both on the issue of the carriers' future as a weapon either conventionally or atomic-powered, and the longer range matter of building warships of various kinds with nuclear power plants.

The United States some years ago made a start on a nuclear surface fleet but the Pentagon changed direction when costs began getting out of hand. The 85,000-ton Enterprise, world's first and only nuclear carrier, ran up a bill of $475 million.

But Seaborg reported to McNamara that technological progress had been so marked that four nuclear engines installed in the new carrier could furnish about as much power as the eight reactors that propel the Enterprise.

He also said that the new type engines could use atomic fuel with more than double the life expectancy of those used in the Enterprise's engines.

Navy studies that followed showed that the costs of installing atomic power plants were dropping and are expected to drop even more. The nuclear engines also are expected to improve in output of power and in simplicity.

The prospects are so hopeful that atomic experts in the AEC and the Navy are giving serious thought to the practicality of mounting nuclear engines in fighting ships as small as 4,500-ton guided missile destroyers.

McNamara's experts reportedly have estimated it would cost another $180 million to build the next carrier with atomic power. The Navy's calculations arrived at a figure nearly $60 million lower.

The Navy is believed to want enough atomic vessels to make up several carrier task groups. These would include, in addition to a carrier, a guided missile frigate and perhaps three guided missile destroyers.

Eventually, the Navy likely would want to use nuclear warships to escort the Giant Forrestal class supercarriers which are oil-powered and now make up the backbone of the Navy's air striking punch.

Bound up in the whole question is the future size of the Navy's powerful carrier forces. There have been strong hints that key defense officials are inclined to cut the Navy attack carrier fleet from 15 vessels to perhaps 13.

They reason that the advent of long range missiles and Polaris missile-carrying submarines has reduced the carrier as a strategic weapon and that the cost of maintaining the carrier strike forces at their present levels is not justified by the contribution they can make to fighting limited war.

The Navy challenges this view, contending that for the foreseeable future there is no readily available, powerful enough force comparable to the carrier task group to apply U.S. might in overcoming brush fire crises in far flung areas of the globe.

McNamara is reported to have proposed keeping the attack carrier force at 15 ships into 1978, then dropping one carrier a year for two years and leveling off at 13.

The Navy was said to have balked at going below 14 carriers until the shape of things to come is clearer.

There was some evidence that the Navy might be willing to space out its carrier program as a means of staying within the Pentagon's cost limits.

Instead of getting approval and money for a new conventional carrier every two years, as has been the pattern, the Navy might agree to a new nuclear carrier every three years.

The Navy now maintains three carriers in the Far East and two in the Mediterranean. There is a possibility that the Mediterranean carrier force may be cut in half because Polaris submarines now are operating there.

As the Navy sees it, the admittedly heavy initial cost of constructing a nuclear-powered fleet of various types would be compensated for over the long life—perhaps 25 years—anticipated for atomic ships.

The Navy thinks there is no comparison between the fighting advantages of a nuclear warship and an oil-driven craft.

Besides the Enterprise, the United States has two other nuclear powered surface ships—the cruiser Los Angeles and the frigate Bainbridge. A fourth, the frigate Truxtun, is being built. It was authorized several years ago.

CHICAGO (AP)—A carpenter was fined $4,665 Monday for failing to pay for 235 parking tickets he received in 1960 and 1961.

Frank Saraceno, 32, told Judge Casimir V. Cwiklinski in Traffic Court that he didn't know the tickets had been issued against him until he was brought to court. He was unable to explain how this happened.

Saraceno said he would make a down payment of $200 on the fine, and would devote 50 percent of his income every month to paying off the remainder. His income was not disclosed.

His attorney told the court Saraceno had sold his automobile and "at this point it doesn't seem economical to own a car."

Adenauer's Adieu Is Solemn Hour

By CARL HARTMAN
Associated Press Staff Writer
BONN, Germany (AP)—Konrad Adenauer bade farewell to the West German Parliament as chancellor today, saying his dream of a reunited Germany is possible only with the help of friends abroad.

It was a solemn hour for the man who had been West Germany's only chancellor in the 14 years of rebuilding from the ruins of World War II. In dark coat and striped trousers, he listened soberly to praise from Eugen Gerstenmaier, president of the Bundestag.

"Today," Gerstenmaier concluded, "the German Bundestag rises to you, Mr. Federal Chancellor, to announce thankfully to the German people:

"Konrad Adenauer has earned the gratitude of the Fatherland."

The Bundestag president read a short letter from President Heinrich Lübke, accepting the resignation of the 67-year-old chancellor.

Then Adenauer spoke of the dream that never was realized, the reunion of West Germany with Communist-ruled East

Germany. "A solution is not possible between ourselves and our opponents alone," he said, "but only with the help of our friends, and thank God, we have friends in the world again."

By opponents, he meant the Russians, who still occupy East Germany and have set up a Communist regime for its 17 million inhabitants.

Adenauer said that reunification could be seen on the horizon if Germans are watchful, cautious and patient.

"I am convinced that it will come," Adenauer said, "because unity cannot be denied to people like the Germans when they want to create it in peace."

Adenauer has one more day in office. He will remain as acting chancellor until the Bundestag elects Ludwig Erhard, the vice chancellor.

In a talk with reporters Monday, Adenauer had disclosed the goal of reuniting Germany had been set back by warming relations between the United States and the Soviet Union.

But in his speech to the Bundestag, Adenauer emphasized that it is only friendship with the United States and other countries that gives Germans the right to expect that their country will one day be reunited.

Please, No Gifts; Unless It's Brandy

SPRUCE PINE, N.C. (AP)—A hint for those coming to help Uncle Bill Keller celebrate his birthday today: He says it wouldn't hurt if you bring a little peach brandy.

Uncle Bill will be 100. That, according to the Social Security Administration, makes him the oldest resident of North Carolina.

Widowed twice, he lives alone in a small mountain house. He says he walks barefooted in snow, "to keep from having colds and flu."

NEW YORK (AP)—Meade ALCORN, former Republican National Chairman, is reported to have rejected an invitation to be national manager of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's campaign for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination.

ALCORN, who practices law in Hartford, Conn., would not comment on the report. Rockefeller has not announced himself a candidate.

New Industry To Assist Prospective Non-Smokers

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A new industry has emerged with the aim of helping smokers quit smoking.

With some medical authorities linking smoking with cancer and other diseases, the urge to quit smoking has grown. But paradoxically, the sale of cigarettes has increased, too.

The smoker who wants to give up the habit can find an increasing number of aids in book and drug stores, where sales of anti-smoking products have grown into a big business.

Book stores stock such volumes as "The Painless Way to Stop Smoking," "The Consumers Union Report on Smoking and the Public Interest" and "Smoking and Health."

Tobacco manufacturers report that sales of cigars and pipe tobacco are increasing. Some medical courses hold that smoking cigars and pipes is not as harmful as cigarettes.

The vending machine industry is acting to make its wares less available to minors. The machines are being moved from locations easily accessible to youngsters.

Cigarette advertising is being specifically aimed at adults. Tobacco ads have been withdrawn from college publications.

In Buffalo, N.Y., one of the nation's leading cancer research centers, Roswell Park Memorial Institute, is experimenting with a tobaccoless cigarette.

Part of this research will delve into the role, if any, of nicotine in the smoking habit.

The institute recently started an experimental clinic for people who want to quit smoking. The smokers will be given drugs over several months.

Papers Stay Secret

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—The private papers collected by Chief Justice Earl Warren during his three terms as governor of California are going to remain under lock and key.

Jordan said he received a request from Warren asking that the records be kept under seal until further notice.

When Warren resigned 10 years ago to accept appointment to the Supreme Court by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, he asked that the papers be sealed for 10 years or until his death.

WHALES IN "MASS SUICIDE"—This aerial view shows some of the 39 whales on the beach at Wreck Bay, Australia, after beaching themselves on the sand. Great efforts were made to get the whales back to sea but they made back to the beach again. A University of Sydney official said this so-called "mass suicide" of the blackfin whales has puzzled experts throughout the world. They seem to do it every two or three years and there is no scientific explanation for the act. (AP Wirephoto)

Appointment May Activate Congress' Chain Reaction

By JACK BELL, AP Political Writer
 WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's appointment of a new Navy secretary may set off a chain reaction leading to congressional explosion over a tentative Pentagon decision to deny the Navy any more nuclear carriers.

When Paul H. Nitze, named Monday to succeed Fred Korth, comes before the Senate for confirmation, it seems certain he will be asked for his views on the continuing controversy over whether carriers should be phased out in favor of missiles and missile-firing submarines.

Korth, who said he was resigning to "attend to my pressing private affairs," probably will be asked to explain if his decision had any connection with his apparently futile efforts to get a new nuclear carrier built.

TFX—tactical fighter, experimental—cheaper. Korth supported the award to General Dynamics.
 McClellan declined comment on the resignation. But Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., said he thought it was precipitated by testimony on the plane contract.

"I predict there will probably be other resignations," he said. He gave no names.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Kirkson said he thinks there will be no serious opposition to confirmation of Nitze, who now is assistant secretary of defense for international affairs. He was named to the post by Kennedy in 1961.

Pvt. Welch Takes Part In Maneuvers

Marine Private First Class Mike L. Welch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy L. Welch of 1408 Nineteenth Street, Snyder, serving with the First Motor Transport Battalion, First Marine Division participated in extensive amphibious operations conducted Sept. 16 through 27 off the coast of Southern California.

Dubbed "Exercise Merit Badge," the maneuvers were designed to provide training in amphibious landings, replenishment at sea exercises, shore bombardment, reconnaissance and Marine maneuvers ashore. Twenty-two Pacific Fleet ships and more than 13,000 Marines took part in the land-amp exercise.

The nomination of Nitze, 55, will go to the Senate Armed Services Committee.

In announcing the Navy switch the White House disclosed that Korth wrote his resignation last Friday—the same day he persuaded McNamara to reconsider a tentative decision against permitting the Navy to install nuclear power rather than conventional engines in its new supercarrier.

Kennedy praised Korth in a "Dear Fred" letter accepting the resignation. Nothing was said about the carrier question. But informed sources made it clear that Korth had slight hope McNamara will reverse himself.

Nitze, a former partner in the Wall Street investment firm of Dillon, Read & Co., entered government service in 1940. He joined the State Department in 1946 and served as director of its policy planning staff from 1950 to 1953.

Pvt. Buchanan To Complete Course

FORT POLK, La. — Army Pvt. J. B. Buchanan, son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Buchanan, 1811 Nineteenth Street, Snyder, is scheduled to complete an eight-week personnel administration course at Fort Polk, La., Nov. 8.

He entered the Army last July and completed basic training at the fort.
 The 20-year-old soldier attended Snyder High School.

Billie Sol Gets New Court Date

AUSTIN (AP)—Billie Sol, a Texas farm finance, will have another day in court Oct. 30. The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals set the date Monday for Estes' appeal of a conviction carrying an eight-year prison term, assessed by a Tyler jury last Nov. 7.

Several weeks monthly, after the court hears oral arguments before a decision is announced. Once it rules on an appeal, there are often two or three motions for a rehearing.

Estes, 38, former Pecos promoter, now living at Abilene, was convicted in district court at Tyler on a swindling charge. The jury deliberated slightly more than two hours at the end of a 17-day trial.

It was not until June 27 that four big boxes containing the record of the trial reached the court of Criminal Appeals. The court went into summer recess shortly thereafter. Sessions were resumed Oct. 9.

The Tyler conviction was the first for Estes, whose financial dealings in fertilizer tanks, mortgages, cotton allotments, transfers and grain storage contracts collapsed in the spring of 1962.

Last spring he was convicted on mail fraud charges at El Paso, again after a 17-day trial. A federal judge sentenced him to 15 years in prison April 15. The specific charge at the that Estes induced Pecos farmer T. J. Wilson to sign a $94,500 chattel mortgage on non-existent fertilizer tanks.

Prosecutors claimed that Estes raised cash by discounting mortgages like that Wilson signed to big finance houses after leasing the purported tanks from farmers burning them on credit. Estes agreed to pay farmers 7 per cent in matching the monthly mortgage payments.

Lawyers for Estes contended the defendant was merely paying the farmers a bonus for lending him their credit.

Estes is free under appeal bonds totaling about $150,000.

Survivors Begin New Life Plan

BELLUNO, Italy (AP)—The Survivors of the Vajont Dam disaster and the Italian government acted together today to bring life back to the desolate region.

Despite fears of another disaster, the death toll and the appalling destruction, there were signs the flood-stricken area might indeed live again.

With the death toll estimated between 2,300 and 3,000, hundreds of persons still were missing. But army commanders said it appeared pointless to keep up full-scale digging operations in the hardened mud much longer.

In Rome, Premier Giovanni Leone's Cabinet voted a series of crash measures to start the disaster area toward recovery. All taxation of communities in the area was suspended until further notice. Local budgets will be supplemented as needed. Special funds were voted to speed new construction.

The government ordered state road, railroad and communications agencies to undertake an emergency program to get services back to normal as soon as possible.

In Longarone, hardest hit community, the seven surviving members of the 15-man Municipal Council voted to start rebuilding if the government would help.

Airman's Family Visits Mrs. Nhu

NEW YORK (AP)—The parents and sister of an American lieutenant killed in South Vietnam called today on Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, the controversial First Lady of that land.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cramer and their daughter, Nancy, 19, of Wantagh on Long Island, visited Mrs. Nhu in her hotel suite at her invitation. They spent about a half hour together.

"It was mainly Mrs. Nhu expressing her sympathy to us over the loss of our son," said Cramer, an employee of the Federal Aviation Agency.

Addressing a Harvard audience Monday, Mrs. Nhu, sister-in-law of South Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem said that Diem's request for the United States to reduce its personnel in Saigon brought instead 3,000 more Americans there. Diem sought only to cut the expense of the war against Communist guerrillas, she said, and she was amazed when it was interpreted by some Americans as a "kind of America-home campaign."

"Americans bring their houses on their backs. They do not live like us, austere as we are. They live at great expense," she said.

These remarks prompted hissing from the audience, but this was mild compared with the racket made by 150 chanting, booing, door-banging pickets outside. Mrs. Nhu ignored the hecklers.
