Fly-In Plans Made Activities To Fill Airways

Skies over Mitchell County will be raining spectacular entertainment July 4.

Parachutists, antique, military and newly designed aircrafts are expected to fill the airways in participation of the gala Fourth of July Fly-In.

According to Fly-In Chairman Loyd Ledbetter, crowds are anticipated at over 2,000 persons.

Celebrations will get off the ground at 7 a.m. with all "Fly-Ins" receiving a free breakfast of Texas Toast, eggs and bacon. All other individuals, wishing to eat between 7 a.m.-10 a.m., will be charged $2.75.

Parachutists from Abilene Parachute Club will entertain intermittently from 8 a.m. until noon.

Lubbock R-C will demonstrate a radio controlled aircraft from 11:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m.

Aerobatics will be performed between 1 p.m. and 2 p.m. Pilots will be Van White of Lubbock; Doug Warren and Steve Clark, both of Big Spring; Bill Wicks and Buzz Hertz, both of Odessa and others not yet listed.

Pilots will perform a full aerobatic sequence, according to Ledbetter.

White is flying a Clipped-Wing Cub; Warren, a Chipmunk and Clark, a Taylor Craft. Ledbetter noted, he did not know what the other pilots will be flying.

A Spotlanding Contest will be held at 2 p.m. Spotland means a pilot must land his aircraft with wheels resting on a designated area.

Flour bombing will be held at 3 p.m. Each contestant will fly over a designated area and drop a sack of flour, with the winner being the pilot closest to the mark.

Antique and exotic airplanes will be on display during the all day affair. Ledbetter noted he anticipates a C-130, from Dyess Air Force Base in Abilene, will also be displayed.

A full array of new Cessna, Beechcraft and Mooney planes will be open for inspection.

"We are holding contests," Ledbetter said, "with trophies awarded for the oldest and youngest pilots, the most unusual aircraft, oldest aircraft and longest distance flown to come to the Fly-In."

He noted there will be food available to purchase through the consideration of Chamber of Commerce, CB Club of Colorado City, Lion's and Kiwanis Clubs.

"Last year we had 1,500 people attend. This year we look for 2,000 people with over half of See FLY-IN Page 9

Ranchers To Meet Monday

Soil Conservation will hold its West Texas Association meeting in Colorado City on Monday, June 25, in the Civic Center. Registration will open at 9:30 a.m.

Wm. J. "Dub" Waldrup, general manager of Randerbrook-Spade ranches will be guest speaker. His recent trip, made at the request of the State Department to Russia, will be the topic of discussion.

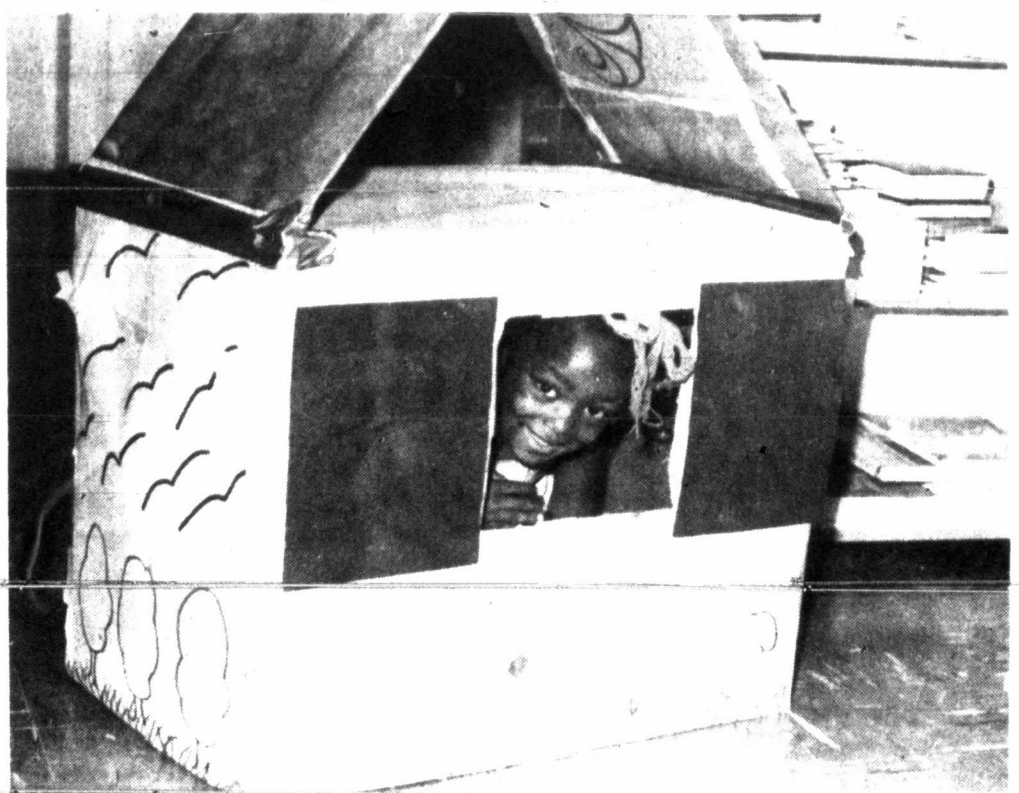

The purpose of Waldrup's trip was to participate in a Beef Symposium.

Following the morning session, the group will tour the Berman and Stubblefield ranch where a new type of grazing system has been put into operation.

The system is patterned after one used extensively in South Africa. It is based on short duration grazing.

About 50 persons from a 20 county area are expected to attend this meeting.

THE WALLACE CENTER SUMMER PROGRAM is a time for fun as well as learning as evidenced by the smile on this young lady's face as she posed for this photo in the kindergarten-first grade class Tuesday morning. The summer program began Monday and will run through July 17. The sessions are from 8:30-Noon Monday through Friday.

Summer Session Has 52 Enrolled

The 1979 Wallace Center Summer Program got underway Monday with 52 youngsters enrolled for the six week session in which will end on July 27.

The schedule each day, Monday through Friday, begins at 8:30 a.m. and lasts until noon for the kindergarten through sixth graders.

During this time, the youngsters participate in arts and crafts activities, take part in reading and spelling exercises and see films as well as having a recess period.

Each class has a specific program planned. One group is completing an "All About Me" book, another is doing a "Maze" book.

Glue and paste-up will be used by the children in a number of ways. "Dried Seed Pictured", "Yarn Drawings" and "Flower Boxes", made with egg cartons and sticks, are some of the work to be done.

A "Scavenger Hunt", using items thought of as trash on the Center's grounds is also planned for the children.

The children will also take several trips outside the center including a trip to the Mitchell County Library today (Thursday).

The entire summer program is geared to encouraging the youngsters to work together through fun and enrichment activities. It is tuition free.

Juanita Arispe and Julie Barrera are in charge of the fourth through sixth grade group at the center. Sylvia Martinez and Charla Galey are leading the second and third graders and Gloria Lee and Gerri Randle take care of the kindergarten and first grade children.

Golf Tourney Set Saturday

The Colorado Country Club's annual 25er Partnership Golf Tournament is set to begin at 8:30 a.m. Saturday, with 70 teams on hand.

The course is in great shape according to tournament Director Ken Godsey. It will be a two man partnership tournament covering 36 holes over Saturday and Sunday and will include four flights of players.

Godsey added that the new addition to the clubhouse and the new sprinkler system on the course have also been completed in time for the event.

Candidates To Meet Public

The nine area girls pictured at left will, with the aid of their sponsoring club or organization, be seeking your support in the coming weeks in their attempts to become queen of the 1979 American Junior Rodeo Association rodeo set for July 4-7 here in Colorado City.

The queen contest which is set for the last night of the rodeo, July 7, is being jointly sponsored by the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce and the Colorado City Business and Professional Women's Club.

A prize of $100 is being offered to the winner of the queen contest with the runner-up receiving $50. The criteria for winning the event is 50 percent ticket sales, 20 percent personality, 20 percent showmanship and 10 percent appearance.

All of the girls are between the ages of 12 and 18. They will all ride a horse in the rodeo's grand entry each night and they will be in the parade also set for July 7.

The girls, along with their sponsoring organization are as follows: Tracy Beights, Colorado City Optimist Club; Rane Grisham, Root Memorial Hospital Pink Ladies Auxiliary; Sandy Harris, Colorado City Kiwanis Club; Sareesa Mitchell, Colorado City Noon Lions Club; Amy Moore, Colorado City Business and Professional Women's Club; Ginger Preston, Lorraine Lions Club; Sidney Stewart, Colorado City Garden Club; Vikki Uselton, Beta Sigma Phi and Kathi Wilson, Westbrook Golden Age Club.

The price of the tickets for each night of the rodeo is $2 for adults and $1 for children if they are bought from the girls in advance.

If they are purchased at the gate, the price is $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for children.

City Is Due Tax Rebate

Colorado City will receive $20,143.27 city sales tax rebate from May 1979 sales, according to State Comptroller Bob Bullock.

This brings the annual figure down 24 percent from last year. This can be attributed in part to the fact that these are estimated sales figures.

In May of 1978, Colorado City received a rebate of $22,011.23. Payments to date for 1979 total $51,148.57. May 1978 figures were at $67,440.05.

The city of Lorraine will receive $1,336.16 in city sales tax rebate for May 1979.

This brings the annual figure down 8 percent from last year. In May 1978, Lorraine received $1,402.52. Payments to date for 1979 total $2,389.40.

In the same period last year figures were at $2,614.71.

Snyder will receive $90,551.34 city sales tax rebate for May 1979.

This allows the annual figure of percentage to remain the same as last year's.

In May 1978 Snyder received $88,473.69. Totals to date for 1979 are $248,620.89.

Actor Visits City Friend Of John Wayne

Hollywood has come to Colorado City in the person of a 6 foot, hazel eyed, young man, named Clay O'Brien, who is visiting Bob Bowers.

Remember the kid who was the youngest cowboy in the movie "The Cowboys" with John Wayne, the little blond fellow who was so brave and cried the hardest when Wayne was killed?

Or, perhaps you recall the little boy who starred in "One Little Indian" for Walt Disney Productions.

If you don't remember these, try T. J. in Roy Rogers last movie "MacIntosh and T. J."

If you watch television or go to the movies you will most likely have watched this young man perform.

Clay began acting at age nine. He has just turned 18. Among his credits he lists six Walt Disney Feature movies, Movies of the Week, Gunsmoke, including a two part season's opening, Marcus Welby and many more.

He has starred with such well known actors and actresses as John Wayne, James Garner, Fess Parker, Roy Rogers, Vera Miles and Jaclyn Smith.

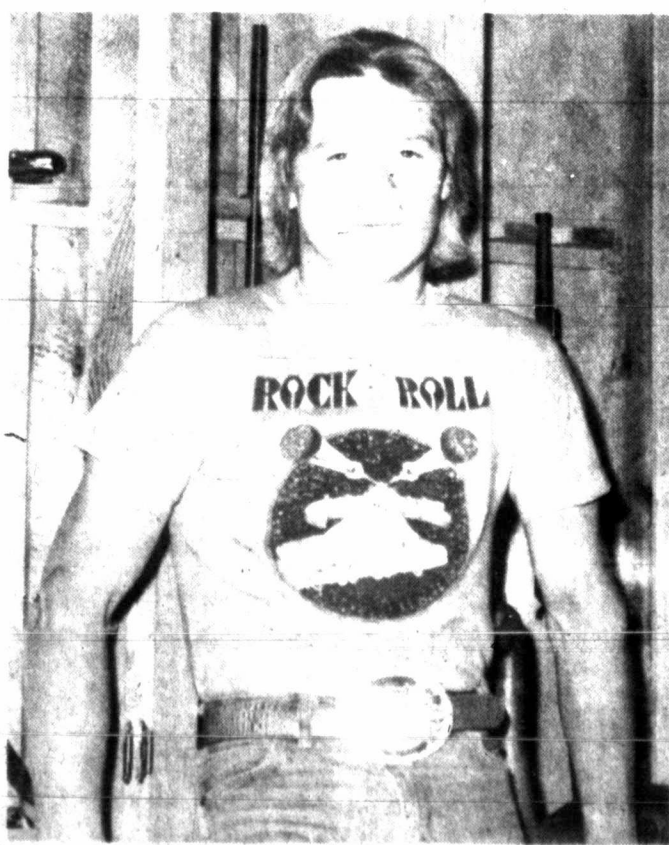

"The one person, I'd just as soon forget acting with, was a little spoiled girl named Kim Richards. For the longest time, everytime they would call me to do a picture, she would be chosen as my little sister," Clay commented.

"The greatest person and the one who really got me started in the business was John Wayne," Clay commented.

"I don't know why he took a liking to me in particular. He was nice to all the kids, but we became good friends right off. He called me Clay and I called him Mr. Wayne," Clay said.

"After that first picture, he took me off to the side and told me to See ACTOR Page 9

Lone Star Gas Files For Service Rate Increase

Lone Star Gas Company has filed an application with the city for a gas service rate increase.

The increase will affect both residential and commercial customers.

According to Lone Star Gas Company Manager B. L. Swank, he will appear before the City Council in the near future to request the increase.

The council, at that time, will have the choice of granting or denying the increase. They may deny the full increase and set their own amount.

Swank stated, if the latter was the council's choice, the amount would be submitted to headquarters. They in turn could accept the lower increase or appeal the request to the Railroad Commission.

The Railroad Commission will hear the appeal and decide the increase offered is enough or that the original request should be granted.

The cost of the appeal, Swank noted, will eventually return to the customer as a legal added charge on the gas bill.

Currently, residential customers are paying $3 for the first 1,000 cubic feet of gas used. Every 1,000 after that, costs $2.065. An additional charge is tacked on (GCA). This charge is the difference between the amount of current consumption, for the entire area, from consumption figures for the previous month.

The requested increase will total more than eight percent. The gas company justifies the increase based on cost of operation and to earn an adequate return on company's rate base in Colorado City.

For twelve months ending September 30, 1978, based on adjusted revenues and expenses, Lone Star earned a 2.8 percent rate of return on its fair value rate base," Swank said.

He cited the cost of purchased natural gas increasing from an average 18c per cubic foot in 1971 to today's $1.75.

"Though the customer may not realize it, rates adequate to provide Lone Star an equitable return help assure the customer adequate service for his needs, whether in the home, the office, the hospital, school or factory," Swank concluded.

In the same period last year, figures were at $249,769.59.

Stamford will receive $22,682.56 rebate for May 1979. This shows an increase of 7 percent from last year.

In May 1978 Stamford received $19,650.07. Totals to date for 1979 are $60,606.70.

In the same period last year, figures were at $56,552.56.

Ballinger will receive $20,474.14 in rebate for May 1979. This brings the annual figure up 12 percent from last year's.

In May 1978 Ballinger received $31,113.11. Totals to date for 1979 are $88,981.23.

In the same period last year, figures were at $79,358.88.

Assault Charges Filed

A Colorado City man was charged with assault Thursday afternoon after members of the Colorado City Police Department investigated an incident at the Whiteway Motel.

According to Assistant Police Chief Jerry Cowin, the department received the call at 1:26 p.m. and upon entering room 18 of the motel, found Lawrence Junior Carreon, 28, allegedly choking his wife, Lisa Louise, 17.

Carreon was subdued, arrested and taken to the police station where he was charged and bond set at $200 by Judge Henry Doss. The woman was unhurt.

There will also be a 1979 Chevrolet given away to anyone making a hole-in-one on the 18th hole on Saturday. The automobile is being given compliments of Godsey and Joe Weaver, president of Jay Adams Chevrolet.

Following the day's round on Saturday, a bar-b-que will be held at 8 p.m. for the tourney entrants and this will be followed by a dance.

In addition to Godsey, those who have spearheaded plans for the event include Vicki Weaver, Bobbie Steakly, Don Stewart and Lovess Curlee.

Southside Residence Burns

Fire roared through a home located on the south side of the city early Tuesday morning.

According to reports from Fire Marshall Mike Mickle, the department received a call at 8:28 a.m. a house at 850 LaBelle was ablaze.

He stated the house would be a total loss in all probability. The inside were completely gutted and the west wall destroyed.

The fire was finally put out at 10 a.m.

Cause of the fire is thought to be a gas operated dryer.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Texas Governor Bill Clements is building up steam in his efforts to get a handle on the state's energy problems and he may have steam-burned some members of the Texas congressional delegation with his direct manner.

In Washington D. C. last Monday, Clements told the 24-member Texas delegation that Texas state officials will take the initiative to launch a national energy campaign. Clements said he will bring a two-part plan to the nation which will deregulate oil and gas prices and will back proposals to rely more on coal as a fuel. He plans to meet with other governors and state officials across the nation "to take this message on the road."

He irked some members of the delegation by saying Texas congressmen have been "dragging their feet" on the energy issue. U. S. Rep. Ray Roberts, D-McKinney, responded later to reporters, "I guess we got our lecture today. I hear he (Clements) is running for vice president anyway." Roberts credited U. S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen with "taking the ball away from Clements before he even realized it" and smoothing over an otherwise chilled situation. Bentsen took the floor, called Texas "the Saudi Arabia of the world when it comes to coal resources," and agreed Texas resources need to be developed. Both parties were reported to have engaged in some verbal sniping before Rep. Abraham Kazen, D-Laredo, took the floor once to tell Clements and his party, "Your so-called Texas position is not new to us in Washington. We've been pushing it for several years now."

That same afternoon, Clements announced that mandatory gasoline conservation orders will be issued if Texans don't reduce their consumption voluntarily.

"We will start out on the basis of 'pretty please with sugar on it,' and hope that everyone will help," Clements said of his plans to conserve gasoline. "If that doesn't work, we're going to go to some odd-even day rationing and other things that will be mandatory in nature."

Asked to elaborate, Clements said he might include a prohibition of gasoline for cars with tanks more than half full. He said he will release his reallocation plan in detail later this week.

Juneteenth Bill Signed
As members of the Black Caucus and some 250 spectators looked on Wednesday, the Governor signed into law a bill designating June 19 as the first legal state holiday honoring black emancipation. Those in attendance later sat under shade trees on the Capitol grounds, ate watermelon and watched members of the Black Caucus take potshots at one another over the new holiday.

Objections to the bill came from Dallas Rep. Clay Smothers who earlier had called a press conference to label it "a fraudulent holiday." "Most of us were taught by elderly blacks that we were freed Jan. 1, 1865, but that the information of freedom was deliberately withheld until June 19 so that the harvest of cotton crops was completed," Smothers told reporters.

The bill's sponsor, Houston Rep. Al Edwards, explained that June 19 was the day in 1865 when Union Maj. Gen. Gordon Granger landed in Galveston and issued Lincoln's general emancipation order.

Dallas Rep. Paul Ragsdale, a leader of the Black Caucus, told reporters that Smothers did not fit in the caucus and "like a cancer, he should be cut out of the Black Caucus and out of the Legislature."

The holiday is still not on the same level as other state holidays. Passage of the bill came too late in the session to be worked into the general appropriations bill, so Juneteenth is an optional holiday for state agencies and banks. Edwards said the holiday will be included in the appropriations bill in 1981.

Roloff Given Deadline
June 19 is also the date a state district judge has given Texas evangelist Lester Roloff as a deadline for obtaining a state license for his controversial children's homes. Judge Charles Mathews fined Roloff's Evangelistic Enterprises $22,850 for violation of the state's child-care licensing statutes and gave him six days to apply for licenses or shut down the homes.

Roloff now is on a confrontation course between the law and his oft-repeated vow never to submit to licensing of his homes by the state. In the past he has unsuccessfully relied on the doctrine of separation of church and state, contending that since his homes are part of his religious enterprise, they should not be licensed by the state. The courts have disagreed and Texas Attorney General Mark White filed suit May 16 charging Roloff has operated his child-care facilities at Corpus Christi and Zapata in violation of a 1976 court order.

Courts Bill Vetted
An omnibus courts bill that would have established 20 new state district courts was vetoed last week by Gov. Clements who indicated the bill deprived him of several judicial appointments.

The bill outlined 11 courts to be filled by appointment, nine by elections in 1980. Under Texas law, district court judges are usually elected, but when new courts are created, the judgeship is usually appointed by the governor.

Clements blamed the Legislature for the removal of appointive powers, and said "legislators departed from historic pattern they have used in the past." He guessed that more than 95 percent of the courts created in the past decade were filled by appointments.

Reacting strongly to Clements' veto, Sen. Oscar Mauzy of Dallas, a member of the conference committee which drew up the bill, said the bill's failure is "tragic for the people of Texas who want to see the law enforced and criminals apprehended and tried quickly." A longtime proponent of elected judges, Mauzy said he was shocked that the governor doesn't believe in electing judges. "I guess what he wants to do is go to the federal system and appoint them for life."

Bar Bill Signed
Despite earlier threats to veto a bill re-creating the state bar, Clements signed the measure anyway after Texas Supreme Court Chief Justice Joe R. Greenhill convinced him the veto would cause more problems than it was worth. A veto would have meant a special session this summer would be necessary to regulate the state's more than 30,000 lawyers. Asked if he might push a bill next session which would require the bar to deposit funds in the state treasury, Clements replied, "That's not a bad idea."

Dear Editor:

I have been wondering how many pre-World War II residents of Mitchell County have fond memories of the renowned and highly popular "Amateur Hour" attraction which was staged at Ruddick Park each Friday evening during summer months. New Orleans has its Mardi Gras, San Antonio its famous Fiesta Days, and Pasadena its perennial and ever-popular Tournament of Roses. None of these could possibly mean more to the participants than did our own stellar attraction which was widely known and acclaimed as Colorado City's version of the Amateur Hour.

The beautiful stand of large and green elm trees which lined the banks of Lone Wolf Creek made a natural scenic backdrop behind the bandstand and its concrete stage where youthful performers entertained the large crowds with songs and instrumental music which led the popularity parade in pre-war days. I remember such popular songs as the "Little fishes that swam and swam right over the dam." Another very popular number was, "Marzy Doats and Doney Doats and Little Lambsy Divey."

This weekly event to see and hear the youthful performers provide free entertainment brought long rounds of applause until the happy winners were announced to conclude the evenings to see and hear the ings program.
Old timers can attest the fact that attending crowds were so large that late-comers were sometimes forced to walk long distances after parking in the nearest available space which might have been five or six blocks up 7th or 8th streets. Parking space near the amphitheater was usually pre-empted even before sundown.

These delightful happenings came to an abrupt halt when a screaming egomaniac named Hitler set out to conquer the world, and was soon joined by Japan's diabolical Togo and his trigger-happy raiders who blasted Pearl Harbor and brought our nation to a rude awakening with something that couldn't happen but did. Some of the fine young men who had entertained the crowds at Ruddick Park with song and music, laid down their guitars and saxophones to take up Uncle Sam's instruments of war for some acting which was far from amateurish.

Time marches on and the wheels of progress keep the pace. In spite of this irrefutable fact, most of us have hidden within us a subtle desire to turn the calendar back for one more walk through memory's golden days. For at least a few of us, some of those days ended with a happy occasion known as Amateur Hour at Ruddick Park.
The days and years shall come and pass. And mortal flesh was olden; Most things will tarnish like mouldy brass, But memories are golden.

Jackson Installs Garden Club Officers Wednesday

The Colorado City Garden Club held their installation of officers Wednesday afternoon at 3 p.m. in the C. C. Thompson Room of the City National Bank Annex.

Mrs. Katie Jackson was installing officer. She compared each office to a flower. President Naomi Elliot was compared to a cosmos for it speaks of aspiration: aspiration for a better club. Vice President Helen Chambers was compared to a camellia which always yearns for perfection. Second Vice President Clara Shoemaker was like a pansy for they are for thoughts and happy faces. Secretary Nadine Gordon is like a daisy which answers a very important question "Does he love me or love me not", so does the records reveal accurate answers.

Treasurer Bernice Hilliard is like a carnation which means courage presenting ways of raising money. Reporter Frances Myers was also compared to a carnation for courage in reporting "What, Where, When, Who, Why and How".

Each member was compared to nasturtium, a completely individual flower which does not copy any other flower in hue and fragrance. As each contributes her individual talent, Colorado City Garden Club will be an outstanding club.

Net School Set For Monday

Mitchell County youngsters ages 14 and under will have the chance to take tennis lessons next week at the Lone Wolf Tennis School which will be held from June 25-29.

The net school will be at the Colorado Middle School tennis courts and the sessions will last from 8:30 a.m. to 10 a.m.

The cost will be $30 and the instructors will be Dave Redwine and Kitten Arthur.

Those interested may call Redwine at 728-3080 or Mrs. Arthur at 728-5013 or simply show at the tennis courts at 8:30 a.m. Monday.

His step-father is a wrangler for a motion picture studio. He heard through the grapevine the studio was going to do a picture in which they needed young boys who could ride and rope.

"He sent me down and I rode a horse and roped a cow. They talked to us a little and we roped some more. They called the next day to say I was in."

The picture turned out to be "The Cowboys" and Clay's career was in never go to acting school. He said I had natural ability and never to change it, just to keep on being myself," Clay remembered. "And that's what I've tried to do."

Wayne had contracted to do a movie called "Cahill, U. S. Marshall." It was to be shot on location in Mexico.

Clay remembers receiving a call early one morning from Wayne, asking him to play his son in a movie.

He accepted the part and the next thing he knew, he was being fitted for clothes and shipped off to Mexico.

"One year, it was on my birthday, Mr. Wayne had three huge cakes made for me. One said happy, one said birthday and the other Clay. He gave me a party right there on the set," he said.

Sound like all fun and games? Well according to Clay it wasn't.

His day started at 6 a.m. He was on the set by 7 a.m. and shooting started at 7:30 a.m.

break time for the rest of the cast and crew meant coffee and cigarettes but for child actors it meant school.

Children were required by law to attend school at the studio at least three hours a day until age 18.

While under contract to Walt Disney Studios for three years, Clay couldn't attend public school. He explained that a work day lasted eight hours.

If they were on location at least 500 miles from the studio, the cast worked six days a week. If they were shooting a film in the studio they worked only five.

Between films, he went to the studio school the full eight hours. They kept a log of the time. Anything over three hours a day was held over and applied to days when they were filming.

The studio used this extra logged school time to shoot retakes. So the children worked straight through some days.

When not under contract to a studio, Clay was jerked in and out of public school. He would start public school, then contract to do a film and go to the studio school during filming. When the film was completed, he would return to public school, only to move again after signing another contract.

"I didn't want to work all the time. I was pressured by my parents to do every film that was offered. I had a good agent and she called all the time," Clay stated.

"After you've gotten a few pictures, people begin to call, to ask you to be in their picture," Clay said, "I'd hear someone interesting was doing a picture and think, that would be fun and I'd do it. I stayed busy all the time."

"There was never any vacation time, not for sports or anything," he commented.

Clay has always roped and ridden horses. That's what actually got him into motion pictures.

His step-father is a wrangler for a motion picture studio. He heard through the grapevine the studio was going to do a picture in which they needed young boys who could ride and rope.

"He sent me down and I rode a horse and roped a cow. They talked to us a little and we roped some more. They called the next day to say I was in."

The picture turned out to be "The Cowboys" and Clay's career was in full swing. He recalls, he made $450 a week and the picture took about four months on location in Pagosa Springs, Colorado and Santa Fe, New Mexico.

Later, Clay was cast as a son to Fess Parker in "Climbing Angry Mountain", which was a "Movie of the Week."

His only comments about Parker were, "He's a nice man."

During his three years with Disney Studios, Clay made "One Little Indian" with Vera Mills and James Garner.

"James Garner was the most fun on a set. We were always fooling around. We worked so close together for so long a time, it would have been hard if we hadn't laughed a lot."

He recalled the last scene on one picture. The whole crew was so glad the shooting was over they became giddy.

They tried about twenty times to shoot that one scene and everytime the camera rolled so did the young man on the stage, doubled over with giggles.

Shooting ended most days at four. Clay stated, he would go home and read scripts for the next day. He said memorizing came pretty easy for him, it got to be a habit.

Clay's last picture was "MacIntosh and T. J." in which he starred with Roy Rogers. Clay stated, he earned the highest salary he had ever made on this picture, $2,000 a week, guaranteed eight weeks.

Two years ago, Clay's mother left his step-father and she and Clay moved to Arizona. She moved back to California and Clay stayed in Arizona.

"I've only had one ambition in life and that was to make enough money, while I was a child, to do what I wanted when I was older. Well, that's what I am doing now."

"I rope and rodeo. Last year I made about $40,000 on the rodeo circuit," Clay stated.

"Oh, I have dreams. I may go back. I think I would enjoy it much more now that I don't have to go to school. I'd like to make it big, like John Wayne. Of course nobody will ever be able to fill his shoes, he was the greatest."

"Hollywood is a phony deal for the most part. Ninety percent of the actors don't fit their images. I was lucky. I worked with some of the greatest, nicest ones," he commented.

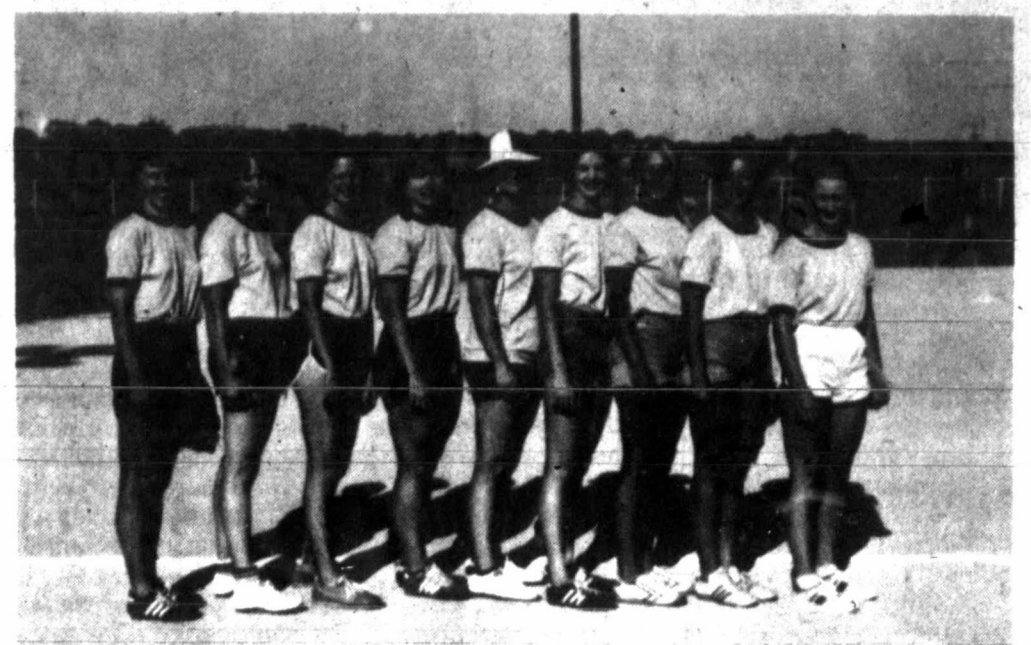

Clay is visiting Bob Bowers of Bower's Western Wear.

Sheriff Halts Swindle

Mitchell County Sheriff Bill McGuire and his department, June 14 recovered some $1,000 which had been swindled from 16 local merchants.

McGuire stated that three men, who gave Mississippi addresses, had been going around to the merchants stating that they were soliciting money for the benefit of the Sterling County Sheriff's Department. The merchants donated money in amounts of from $20 to $100 before the local law officials caught up with the men.

McGuire stated that the money was returned to the businessmen and that no charges were filed against the men. They were released and told to stay clear of Colorado City in the future.

'Dolls' Net Meet Due July 6-8

The ladies of Mitchell County will have a tennis tournament all to themselves on July 6-8 when they take to the courts in the annual "Valley of the Dolls," net meet at the Colorado Middle School tennis courts.

There will be both singles and doubles events in beginner and intermediate divisions according to Colorado High School Tennis Coach Dave Redwine.

Each division must have a minimum of eight players. The cost to enter the meet is $4.50 plus an unopened can of tennis balls which will be used in the event.

According to Redwine, the reason for having the meet is, "For everyone to get out and have a good time and have some good competition in tennis."

He added that all ages are to enter the tournament.

Trophies will be awarded to the first, second and consolation winners in the singles and doubles events in each division.

The deadline to enter is July 6 and those interested should call either Redwine at 728-3080 or Kitten Arthur at 728-5013.

Mrs. Fincher added that other attractions, which have been lined up, include riding clubs from Garza, Scurry, Howard and Nolan Counties and a six horse contingent from Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene.

Brenda Tarter Tax Assessor-Collector

In the matter of the marriage of Eleanor Elizabeth Sanford Lucas and Joe A. Lucas
In the District Court of Mitchell County, Texas 32nd Judicial District

ORIGINAL PETITION FOR DIVORCE
Now comes Petitioner, ELEANOR ELIZABETH SANFORD LUCAS, age 37, who resides at Rt. 1 Box 70, Loraine, Texas. Respondent is Joe A. Lucas, whose whereabouts are unknown, and who abandoned Petitioner on or about March 30, 1978. Petitioner does not know, nor can she ascertain his present whereabouts.

I.
Petitioner has been a domiciliary of Texas for the preceding six months and a resident of this County for the preceding 90 days.

II.
The residence of Respondent is unknown, and, after efforts to locate him, his whereabouts are still unknown and she believes he is out of State.

III.
The parties were ceremonially married on or about January 24, 1978. On or about March 30, 1978, they separated and ceased to live together as husband and wife. Petitioner alleges that Respondent left her with the intention of abandonment in March 1978, and has remained away from her since such time, nor have there been any efforts on his part to indicate otherwise.

IV.
No children were born to or adopted by this marriage, and none is expected.

V.
Petitioner requests a change of name Eleanor Elizabeth Sanford.

VI.
Petitioner requests the Court to divide the estate of the parties by awarding their property to the party having possession. Petitioner has, by her own effort, acquired some property, which she has in her possession, which she has acquired, out of her personal earnings, being household goods, furniture, personal belongings, and a 1963 GTO automobile, which stands in her name.

That Respondent, at the time of the separation, left and took certain personal property with him, and has enjoyed his own earnings and income, and she verily believes that an informal division of their respective rights as far as is known has been effected.

WHEREFORE, Petitioner prays this Court, and officers thereof, to cause the issuance of all citations, first for attempted personal service and very likely subsequently for citation by publication, and upon final hearing hereof for a termination of the ceremonial marriage relation, for an adjudication of their property rights, and for such other and further relief as to the Court may be proper under the pleadings and evidence adduced whether prayed for herein specifically or not.
