THOUSANDS OF SCHOOL YOUTHS FLOOD LABOR MARKET

Nation's Jobless Rate Goes Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of Americans at work climbed sharply to 80.6 million—more than usual for July—but the nation's jobless rate also went up because hundreds of thousands of school youths flooded into the labor market, the government said today.

The report, by the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics, said the unemployment rate rose from 5.6 per cent to 5.8 per cent of the work force.

Total employment rose by 1.2 million and total unemployment dipped 160,000 to 5,330,000. But on a seasonally adjusted basis and allowing for a 700,000 rise in the labor force, the bureau figured it as a 500,000 increase in jobs and 200,000 rise in unemployment.

The report appeared to put a clearer focus on the nation's employment picture since the bureau's June report, when an unusually early survey week fell with many youths still in school.

"Employment rose in July, but not enough to offset the increase in the labor force, and the unemployment rate edged up," the report said.

It added that the jobless rise was among part-time workers and that the unemployment rate for full-time workers held steady at the 5.3 per cent.

Figured on a seasonally adjusted basis, the bureau said, total unemployment was up 200,000 for the month, but down 330,000 from May.

"The July rise took place primarily among job seekers who had re-entered the labor force," the report said.

Average hourly earnings for some 45 million rank-and-file workers remained unchanged at $3.42 for the third straight month, but average weekly earnings fell 35 cents to $127.22—primarily because of a drop in the length of the work week which the bureau attributed to the nationwide telephone strike of some 500,000 workers.

The average weekly paycheck was up $5.77 or 4.8 per cent from a year earlier, but a 4.5 per cent rise in living costs over the year wiped out the gain.

Even before the latest figures were reported, a private economist predicted that the jobless rate probably would show a rise.

The prediction came Thursday from Woodrow L. Ginsburg, research director for the Center for Community Change, a social and economic action group.

Ginsburg, in testimony before the Senate-House Economic Committee, said no matter what the government's jobless percentage rate shows, analysis shows the private economy is not providing enough jobs.

"There are fewer persons employed fulltime today than there were two years ago," Ginsburg said. He said 600,000 new jobs were created in that period but none of them was in private business or industry.

"State and local governments alone account for more than a 700,000 gain in public employment in the period," he said.

In the over-all economy, Ginsburg added, there was a two-year gain of 523,000 in total employment to 78,956,000, but a decline of 508,000 fulltime workers and a rise of 377,000 Americans working part time because they can't find fulltime jobs.

He said his analysis covered through June.

The last report on unemployment issued last month, showed the sharpest drop in 10 years in the seasonally adjusted national jobless rate, from 6.2 to 5.6 per cent, but the biggest rise in 10 years in actual number of unemployed—up 1.1 million to a total of 5.5 million.

Vote Reform Bill Facing Fate In House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has approved the most comprehensive election-spending reform bill in a quarter century, sending it to an uncertain fate in the House.

Aimed chiefly at the high cost of political advertising on radio and television, the bill includes tight new restrictions on reporting campaign expenses and contributions and would clear a long standing legal obstacle to broadcast debates between presidential candidates.

"We have to bring these expenses, these astronomical expenses for a political campaign under reasonable restraint. I think we've done that," Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., floor manager of the bill, said after it was approved Thursday 88 to 2. The only dissenters were Arizona Republicans Barry M. Goldwater and Paul Fannin.

The bill was forged during three days of debate notable for a lack of partisan bickering between Republicans, who face 1972 with their treasury overflowing, and democrats, who are still deeply in debt from 1968 and would like to trim the odds.

"This argument, this was to be a Republican or Democratic bill, has disappeared in thin air," Pastore said shortly before passage.

Although numerous votes did follow party lines, Pastore compromised readily on all the major issues in hopes of avoiding another presidential veto.

Nixon last year killed a narrower bill that mainly imposed spending limits on broadcast ads and repealed section 315a of the Federal Communications Act, which has prevented debates between presidential candidates by frivolous as well as serious. The President objected because that bill did not cover all media.

Under the present bill, any candidate for federal office could spend no more for political advertisement than 10 cents for each eligible voter in his district, state or—in the case of a presidential race—the nation. Direct mail is exempt from the provision.

Of the 10 cents, no more than six could go to any one media.

This would limit major party presidential candidates to about $8.4 million for broadcasting in 1972 compared with more than $12 million Republicans spent for Nixon in 1968 and the $6 million spent by Democrats for the top of their ticket.

TYPHOON

Olive Kills At Least 63 Persons

TOKYO (AP) — Typhoon Olive weakened and moved north over the Sea of Japan today after killing at least 63 persons in western Japan and eastern Korea and driving more than 20,000 Boy Scouts from the world jamboree camp on the western slope of Mt. Fuki.

The Japanese weather agency downgraded Olive to a tropical storm with winds of about 60 miles per hour. The national police said the typhoon left 43 persons dead, 24 missing and 189 injured after it whipped 70 mile winds and heavy rain Thursday across Kyushu, the southernmost main island.

At Asgiri Heights, 90 miles west of Tokyo, the campsite of the 13th World Boy Scout Jamboree was a sea of mud, and Japanese Scout officials ordered the 23,770 Japanese and foreign Scouts and Scout leaders moved to nearby schools, temples and other public buildings. Some of the 7,800 American Scouts were among the first groups evacuated by Japanese military trucks and chartered buses. No casualties were reported.

A Japanese Scout spokesman said none of the major facilities of the jamboree would be removed, and "we expect the evacuation to be a temporary one."

The jamboree, attended by Scouts from 96 countries, is scheduled to run through Aug. 10.

Space Heroes Streaking To Splashdown

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 15's three moon explorers, streaking home for a Saturday splashdown in the Pacific Ocean, donned blindfolds today in another quest for information about puzzling cosmic lights that flashed in their eyes and brain cells.

Davis R. Scott, James B. Irwin and Alfred M. Worden later today have ringside seats at a phenomenon which can be seen only by space crews: a partial eclipse of the sun by the earth.

Only twice before have spacemen been in position to see the huge ball that is earth, slide across the face of the sun. The Apollo 12 and Gemini 12 crews were in the right place at the right time.

As the earth moves in front of the sun, it also will block the rays of the sun from reaching the moon, and the astronauts plan to photograph the moon at time of total eclipse.

The three astronauts also plan an hour-long news conference late today, answering questions from newsmen relayed by Mission Control.

The astronauts also conducted the cosmic light experiment en route to the moon and Worden did tests while orbiting the moon alone.

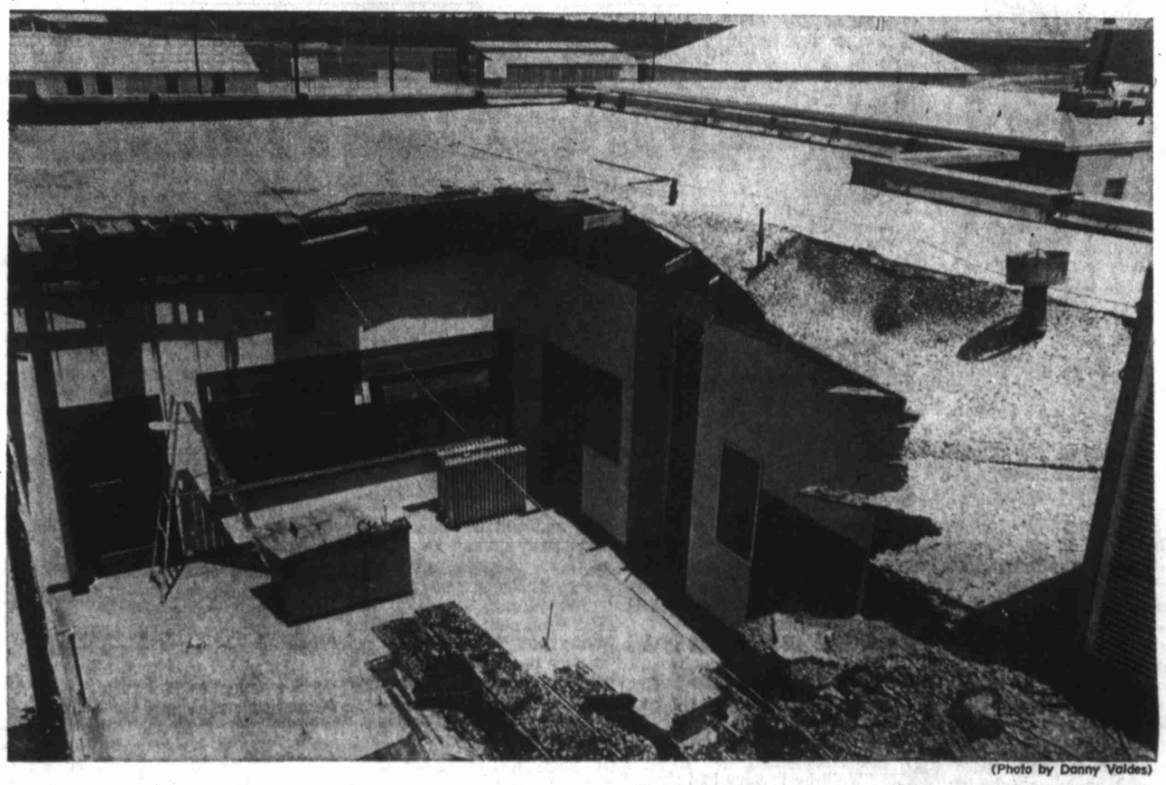

They reported numerous flashes, mostly pinpoint specks. Scott and Irwin also reported the lights while sleeping on the moon.

Space scientists want to determine the cause of the flashes of light, which have occurred mainly in darkness, because of the potentially harmful effect they might have on astronauts on long space flights.

During the hour-long news conference from deep space, the astronauts will give newsmen personal observations about their 12-day flight, which ends Saturday with splashdown at 4:46 p.m. EDT north of Hawaii.

Mission Control will relay questions to the Apollo 15 crew. The session will be televised to the Manned Spacecraft Center, but will not be carried by the television networks.

Worden will be asked about the lunar science and mapping experiments conducted from orbit; about the initial failure at undocking the lunar lander from the command ship before the landing; and about his quick 18-minute space walk.

NO SCHOOL HERE — This is a partial view of the Coahoma Junior High building, which had a roof collapse last weekend. Pupils will be shifted to the gymnasium while checks are made on the remaining portion of the building.

Rep. Pickens Will Not Seek Re-Election

ODESSA (AP) — Rep. Ace Pickens of Odessa said today he will not seek re-election to the House seat he has held for the past eight years. He said he will serve out the remainder of his present term, ending next year.

Pickens' action apparently was in response to the charge made by State Sen. Oscar Mauzy of Dallas at an Austin news conference that Pickens' dual role as a legislator and as a Washington lobbyist for some Texas railroads might constitute a conflict of interest.

Pickens told a news conference here:

"As I have previously stated, the speculation of Sen. Mauzy with reference to a conflict of interest during the past session of the Texas Legislature is utterly ridiculous and totally untrue. I have never voted on a matter before in which I had a personal interest or conflict, nor do I intend to do so while I hold public office."

Pickens added that his relationship with the railroads began July 20, which he noted was some six weeks after the legislative session ended.

Roof Collapse Launches 'Crash' Building Plan

COAHOMA — The roof of Coahoma Junior High School picked an opportune time to cave in.

Administrators might have wished it had occurred earlier, and children later, but all agreed the fortunate thing is that it was during vacation time when there is no school.

The entire super-structure, almost from wall to wall, and end to end, caved not only to the floor but caused the floor to sink also. The collapse occurred Sunday, said Supt. W. A. Wilson.

The junior high gymnasium will be partitioned immediately to provide half a dozen temporary classrooms in hopes that school can be started as scheduled on Aug. 16. Gary & Hobertz have been commissioned to recommend steps to accomplish this as soon as possible. The classroom floors will be carpeted to deaden the sound, and present black boards will be utilized.

The architects also are making a detailed analysis of the walls to determine if the shell of the building is structurally sound. There is some speculation that all of it may be condemned as unsafe.

Recent rains may have triggered the collapse of the roof, Supt. Wilson said. The building was erected originally in 1932 and had an addition in 1938. The roof was supported by wooden trusses which appeared to have deteriorated in ability to withstand the stress. One theory is that rains may have added weight to the roof, especially if a downspout clogged.

At any rate, the whole roof seems to have collapsed at once, crushing chairs and desks, destroying equipment and furnishings.

There is not yet any accurate estimate of damage.

Marathon Rains Set Off Floods

By The Associated Press

Non-stop rains sent quickie floods into some homes at Corpus Christi and Robstown on Texas' Coastal Bend and kept broad areas of the state wet and muddy during the night.

Showers and thunderstorms hung on this morning in parts of Central and East Texas and in the Texas Panhandle. Forecasts held out prospect for additional moisture in all sections of the state.

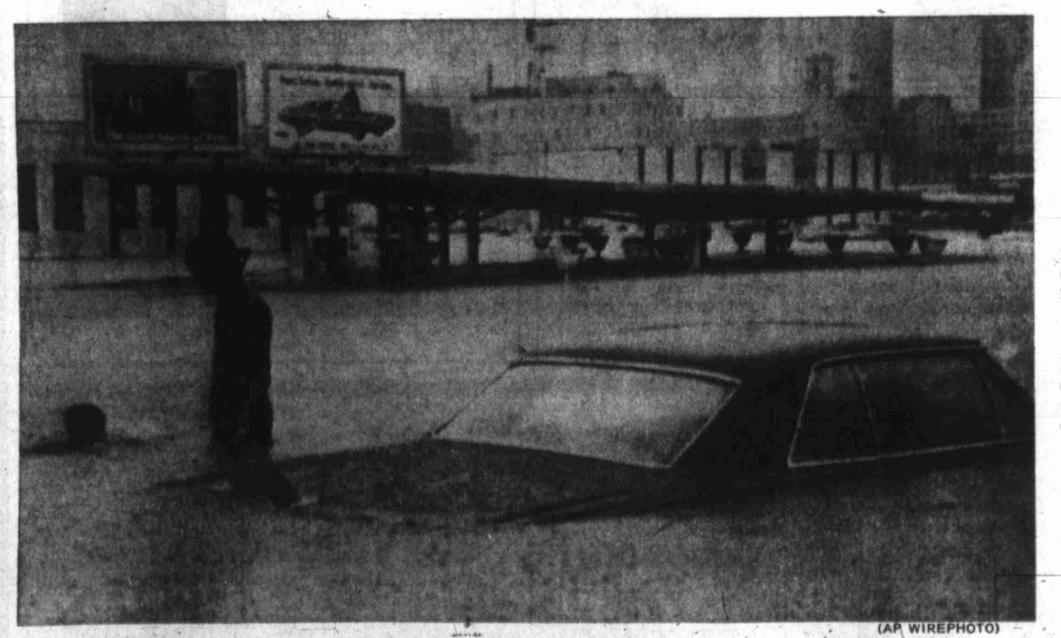

Extensive flooding occurred in the south portion of Corpus Christi and in the business district as 7.39 inches of rain fell downtown, boosting the official measurement since Aug. 1 to an even 17 inches.

Water blocked nearly every north-south thoroughfare in Corpus Christi, rising as high as car windows in places, and caused about 75 residents to be evacuated from homes. They took shelter in Memorial Coliseum.

U.S. 190 between Corpus Christi and Portland was closed for a time. Cave-ins occurred on a number of Corpus Christi streets.

At Robstown, west of Corpus Christi, Mayor B. D. Berryman said about 400 persons had left houses in low areas because water one to three inches deep covered the floors. They were quartered in a "show barn."

Police reported the rainfall in Robstown had measured 20 inches since Monday evening, when a cloudburst loosed more than half that amount in a few hours.

(AP WIREPHOTO)

WATER STREET UNDER WATER — Two boys used a stalled car on Water Street in Corpus Christi as a base to swim from late Thursday. Rains measuring more than eight inches were recorded within the space of about five hours, making a total within the last four days of more than 13 inches.

Senate Panel Defers Action On Naming Moody To FPC

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress will not act on the nomination of Rush Moody Jr. of Midland to the Federal Power Commission until after the recess.

The Senate Commerce Committee held up action on the nomination after Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., asked for another hearing following the month-long Congressional recess.

In a letter to Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., McIntyre questioned why the Midland lawyer failed to say from the first that he owned 500 shares of Lone Star Gas Co. stock.

Moody also "explicitly stated that the sale of his assets would take place in the market, presumably the open securities market," but he now indicates he sold his share in a private sale to one of his law partner's Charles L. Tighe, McIntyre said.

Mobil and Texaco are two clients of Moody's law firm and McIntyre said he approved of Moody's promise to stay out of any matters before the FPC in which the law firm might be a party.

"I suggest that Mr. Moody address himself to the contention that his effectiveness as a FPC commissioner will be vitiated because he must disqualify himself from at least one case presently and eventually several others," he said in his letter.

SEEKS ANSWERS

McIntyre is not a member of the committee but he submitted six questions at last Thursday's hearing to be asked Moody. He had not gotten answers to all of them by late Thursday.

McIntyre was the only senator objecting when Magnuson announced that if anyone had any objections to Moody's nomination going to the Senate floor for confirmation to let it be known.

The New Hampshire senator said in responses to questions Moody has "failed to adequately expound on his conception of the public interest, as defined by Congress."

Both Texas senators warmly endorsed Moody when he was nominated by President Nixon.

Police Tire (d) Of Austin 'Cutup'

AUSTIN (AP) — Tires were cut or deflated on about 20 cars Wednesday and Thursday, including some owned by Mayor Roy Butler, former Gov. Allan Shivers and the police.

Butler told police eight tires on four cars parked at his house were slashed. A tire and upholstery on a Shivers car were cut, he told police.

And I Thought He Was Your Boa

HOUSTON (AP) — Herb Isaacs Jr., 13, woke up early today and went into the kitchen for water.

Coiled tightly around a bunch of water glasses was a 5-foot-long boa constrictor.

The snake slithered beneath the ice box as Herb awakened his father.

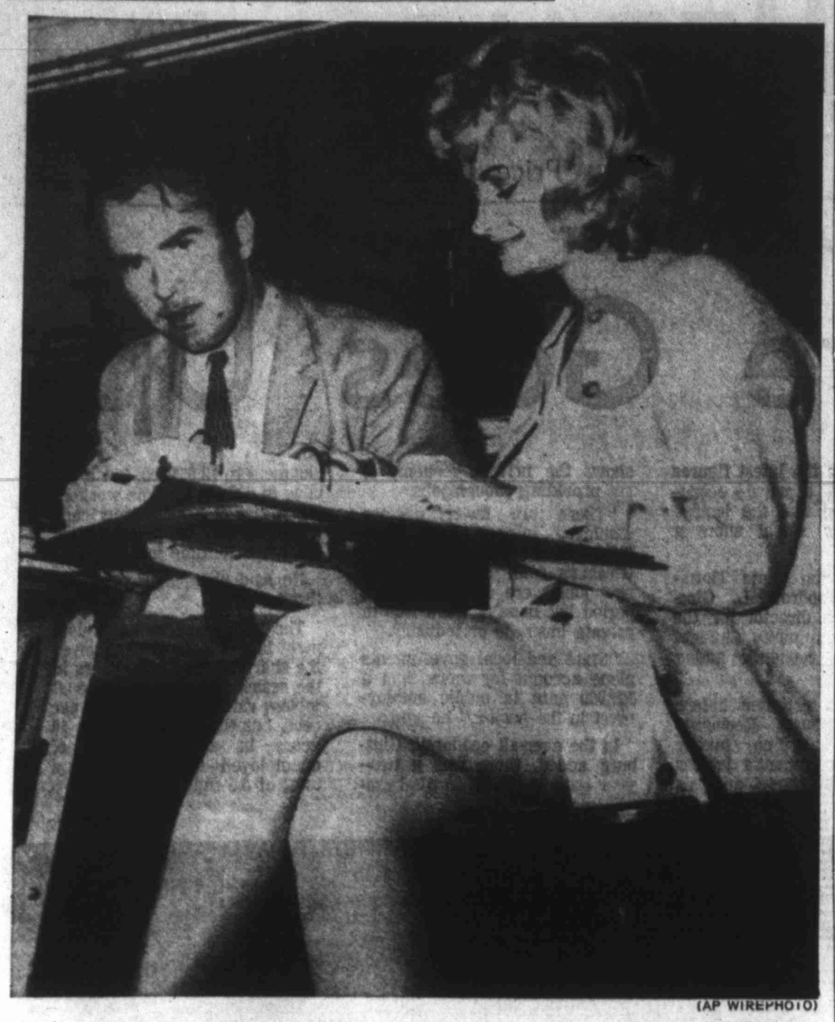

They failed to poke out the snake with a golf club.

Firemen were called. One fireman grabbed the snake's tail and pulled but he couldn't budge it.

Firemen then put down the open end of a 20-gallon garbage can by the ice box. The snake crawled out and into the can.

Firemen clamped on the lid and carried it away.

No one knew who owned the Issacs' guest.

WILL WILSON 'UP-TO-THE-NECK' IN SCANDAL?

Texas Solon Talks Impeachment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas congressman Henry B. Gonzalez says he may initiate impeachment procedures against Asst. Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, the Nixon administration's chief criminal prosecutor.

Almost daily for more than a month, the San Antonio Democrat has called in House speeches for Wilson's resignation because of what Gonzalez says is Wilson's up-to-the-neck involvement in a stock scandal that shook the highest levels of Texas government.

"I'm going to push this thing until Congress acts if it has to be a bill of impeachment against Wilson," Gonzalez said in an interview.

FALSE ENTRIES

Gonzalez has stated on the House floor that Wilson helped win immunity from further prosecution for Texas insurance and banking figure Frank Sharp after Sharp pleaded guilty to two federal allegations. Wilson denies Gonzalez' assertion.

Sharp, pleading guilty June 14 to charges of making false entries in his now-defunct Sharpstown State Bank in Houston and of selling unregistered stock, received a $5,000 fine and three years probation. After sentencing Sharp, a judge said no other charges rising from loan and stock deals could be filed against him except for perjury or contempt of court.

Wilson, former Texas attorney general and state Supreme Court justice, served on the state's banking commission when Sharp's bank was chartered in 1960.

QUICK PROFITS

Early in the stock scandal, Wilson issued a statement saying he at one time owned 7,500 shares in Sharp's National Banker's Life Insurance Co., but sold the last of them before the Securities and Exchange Commission filed a civil suit in January against 13 companies and 15 individuals, including Sharp.

The suit asked an injunction seeking to stop them from any stock fraud and manipulations. Accompanying depositions pointed to Sharp as the manipulator who allowed key politicians to borrow large sums of money from his bank to buy stocks in his life insurance company, then sell them for large, quick profits.

Wilson said the alleged stock manipulation in Sharp's various enterprises occurred after he joined the Justice Department in 1969.

NOT TRUE

Gonzalez said that's not true.

"Will Wilson advised and aided Frank Sharp when he was building his financial empire," Gonzalez said in a House speech. "Sharp later looted most of the companies in that empire. Many of his illegal and questionable acts took place while Wilson was in his employ.

"It is possible and even likely that Wilson at least was aware of these acts and perhaps took part in them," Gonzalez said.

Wilson formed the law firm of Wilson, Osborn and Ridings in early 1968 and about the same time became general counsel of Sharp's bank. His partner, Joe Ridings, was given free office space in the bank Gonzalez said, and both Wilson and Ridings got $1,000-a-month retainers.

Gonzalez said Wilson negotiated Sharp's July, 1968, acquisition of National Bankers Life Insurance Co., and the June, 1968, takeover by Sharp's son-in-law, W. D. Haden II, of Olympic Life Insurance Co.

"Wilson was by this time general counsel of Sharpstown State Bank, National Bankers Life and Sharpstown Realty, at a total compensation of $3,500 a month," Gonzalez said.

Action To Keep Fed Units In Business Until Oct. 15

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress planned to embark on a month-long summer vacation today after Senate action on a measure to keep federal agencies in business until Oct. 15.

A House-passed resolution to fund departments for which regular money bills remain unpassed was the most vital of a series of measures scheduled for action in the Senate.

The House planned only a brief session with nothing on the calendar before shutting for the recess which will run until Sept. 8, two days after Labor Day.

The Senate cleared the decks for the recess in a late session Thursday that saw passage of a landmark campaign-spending reform bill and postponement until Sept. 13 of renewed debate on the draft-extension bill and its watered-down call for U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam.

It also passed a military construction authorization measure and a bill to permit areas with high unemployment to get the same kind of relief as areas struck by floods, hurricanes or other natural disasters.

But for the second straight night, it put aside a multibillion-dollar bill to extend aid for higher education and vocational education amid a behind-the-scenes jurisdictional dispute over Indian education that could put the entire bill off until after the recess.

The education bill was put on today's schedule along with a $1-billion measure providing funds for up to 173,000 public-service jobs.

Also up for action: the compromise version of a $20.8-billion money bill for the departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare, that is $581 million above President Nixon's budget. The House passed the bill Thursday.

The House, which completed most of its work Wednesday, wound up congressional action Thursday on a measure extending the life of the Export-Import Bank and relaxing restrictions on exports to Communist countries. The vote was 219 to 140.

Although the continuing-appropriations resolution was put off until the last minute, the appropriaions situation is much better than in recent years.

In addition to the Labor-HEW measure, eight of the 14 regular money bills have been enacted. A 10th measure, with public works funds, has passed both houses and is awaiting action by conferees.

Court Rulings Clear Way For Daily Texan Hearing

AUSTIN (AP) — Two rulings by a visiting judge against publishers of The Daily Texan have cleared the way for a full hearing on whether the publishers still have a right to operate the student newspaper at the University of Texas.

University regents contend that Texas Student Publications Inc. is out of business because its charter expired at midnight July 5. Regents insist they should be given complete control of TSP's assets, estimated at $600,000.

No date has been set on the regent suit.

Thursday, Dist. Judge Perry Pickett of Midland rejected a bid by TSP to recover approximately $126,000 in expected revenue to operate the Texan for the 1971-72 school year.

'BLANKET TAX'

Pickett, helping with the Austin docket during summer vacation months, also denied a request for a quick judgment on whether TSP still exists as a nonprofit corporation.

Pickett's first ruling Thursday denied TSP a temporary injunction to force the regents to collect the portion of the student "blanket tax" previously allocated to the publishers for 1971-72.

The regents voted July 9 to rescind the $4.10 "blanket tax" that constitutes a large portion of TSP's income.

Bob Binder, student government president and chairman of the TSP board, testified Wednesday in the first day of the hearing that loss of the "blanket tax" money in 1971-72 would cost TSP $126,000.

"We'll be in very bad shape," Binder said.

Tom Donahue of the TSP board, testified that former regent Chairman Frank Erwin Jr. of Austin had said "he was going to get the Daily Texan. He said it had crucified him unmercifully for the last five years and he was going to get it back."

'RADICAL CLIQUE'

Bob Davis, a reporter for the Amarillo Globe-News who attended a speech by Erwin in Dumas, testified Erwin called the Texan a "disgraceful operation" that was run by a "radical clique."

John Peace of San Antonio, current regent chairman, stated there was "absolutely not" any move by the regents to censor The Texan. "We have not, do not, and will not either censor The Daily Texan or interfere with its complete freedom of speech," Peace said.

The regents voted to block TSP from getting "blanket tax" funds after TSP refused a new charter proposal by the regents and attempted to file its own version.

The TSP's 50-year charter as a nonprofit corporation expired at midnight July 5, but Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr. granted a seven-month extension.

Late Thursday school officials said they probably would take their appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Corpus Christi Faced With Extensive Busing

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) —The Corpus Christi school district is now faced with massive busing to desegregate after the U.S. 5th Circuit court of Appeals reversed a lower court stay order.

U. S. Dist. Judge Woodrow Seals issued an order in early July instructing the district to desegregate by busing some 15,000 children.

But U. S. Dist Judge Owen Cox stayed part of that order July 16 and it was this one that the appeals court knocked down.

Cox granted a stay until July 1972 that portion of Seal's order which applied to Mexican-American and Anglo children. Black pupils still would be bused under the Cox order.

The school district had asked for a stay on the Seals order on grounds that it could not carry it out by the start of the school term Aug. 25.

Still pending before the 5th Circuit Court is the school district's appeal of Seals' finding that the district is segregated.

West found it necessary to attack in three different directions to uncover the killing defense against an enterprising three no trump contract reached by his opponents in today's hand.

South made a routine opening bid of one no trump holding 16 high card points and a stopper in all suits. North realized that his side lacked the 26 points normally prescribed for game, inasmuch as he had only 6 himself and his partner is marked with a maximum of 18. The solid six card diamond suit could be counted on for six tricks if partner held the ace and North was willing to take a chance that his partner could scramble home with three more tricks, so he made an enterprising leap to three no trump.

West opened the king of clubs and East unblocked with the ten, as South followed suit with the seven — allowing his opponent to hold the trick. It was not difficult for West to work out that South had both the ace and jack of clubs, inasmuch as East would probably have overtaken the king, if he held the ace and he would surely have played the jack in preference to the ten if he had that card.

A shift appeared to be in order and West chose to lead the king of hearts at trick two. East signalled mildly with the five and South played the three. West continued with the queen on which East followed with the four and South with the six. The latter was most eager to have West play another heart into the ace-ten for that would give declarer his ninth trick—six diamonds, one club and two hearts.

West paused to reflect before making his next play. It appeared likely that South had the ace of hearts—otherwise he would not have been apt to duck the opening club lead. If the latter also had the ten of hearts, then a continuation of that suit would present the declarer with an extra trick. East's original mild come-on—the five—tended to confirm the apparent risk in playing another heart.

West decided to shift his attack once more. Out came the three of spades. East put up the ace and returned the ten. South covered with the jack and West scored the setting trick with the king—record a well earned prize on the deal.

Men In The 100s Still Uncertain

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nearly two million men turning 19 this year have their draft lottery numbers today, but the suspense isn't over for all of them.

Assuming Congress re-establishes the government's authority to press young men into military service, callups will proceed next year according to a table established Thursday when all 1952 birthdays were assigned priority numbers by lot.

But nobody at this point knows what number will be the cutoff date and draft officials won't make a public guess.

Draft Director Curtis W. Tarr did say that draft calls this year are significantly below last year, when 195 was the cutoff and next year, he said, "We expect that draft calls will be even lower."

Men with numbers up to 100 probably will be called unless exempted or deferred. But barring an emergency, men in the 200s and 300s can assume they won't be called. That leaves men in the 100s still in uncertainty.

The lottery, streamlined this year, took two hours, beating the 3½ hours it took last year.

Capsules containing birthdays were drawn from a plastic drum, and were matched up with priority numbers in capsules drawn from another drum.

Number one was matched on the 360th draw with Dec. 4. The highest, the therefore safest, number, 366, was matched with Nov. 1 on the 339th draw.

Five of the six "youth advisers" who took turns picking capsules are interns working in Selective Service headquarters. Last year there were more than 100 from several states.

This is the third lottery and does not affect men older than those who turn 19 this year. The men who received numbers last year and the year before keep them as long as they're subject to the draft, normally until age 26.

Liza Minelli's Father Divorced

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Film director Vincente Minnelli and his third wife, Denise Minnelli, had their marriage dissolved at a Superior Court hearing. They were married 10 years.

The judge set Oct. 11 for another hearing to divide the community property.

The dissolution hearing took 10 seconds. Mrs. Minnelli, 40, the former Denise Radosauljevic, claimed on irreconcilable differences when she filed her petition in San Francisco 18 months ago. The hearing was transferred here at Minnelli's request.

Minnelli, 58, was formerly married to Georgette Magnani and to the late Judy Garland. He is the father of Miss Garland's actress-daughter, Liza Minnelli.

How About An Inventory?

Subsidies have become an old game in America's government-business relations. Only the new subsidies attract very much attention anymore. There is chagrin over monstrous farm subsidies to individuals when the list is published but the $30 billion or so in annual subsidy payments hardly raises a ripple of congressional concern.

The payments are presumed to be in the public interest. The subsidy structure is so well scattered that there is no accurate accounting of the payments. The Associated Press ran a survey and concluded that nobody really knows the total.

Few persons argue with FHA, the interest-subsidy and loan guarantee arrangement that launched a housing boom. Objections have become audible in recent years to the "deep subsidies" of newer housing arrangements, including FHA-235, which will subsidize all but one per cent of a mortgage.

Subsidies — public finanical support for something — began early in American history to insure American shipping. They have multiplied and abuses have crept in occasionally.

Subsidy benefits become complex as they appear in tax exemptions and special arrangement loans. The tax laws seek, in some cases, to stimulate business expansion by granting certain concessions and there is sharp dispute about what these concessions mean in terms of cash income to the U.S. Treasury. Subsidized plans generate their own momentum and ship builders can become as passionately concerned with their tax props as a Mississippi plantation operator is over his payments for not planting full acreage of cotton.

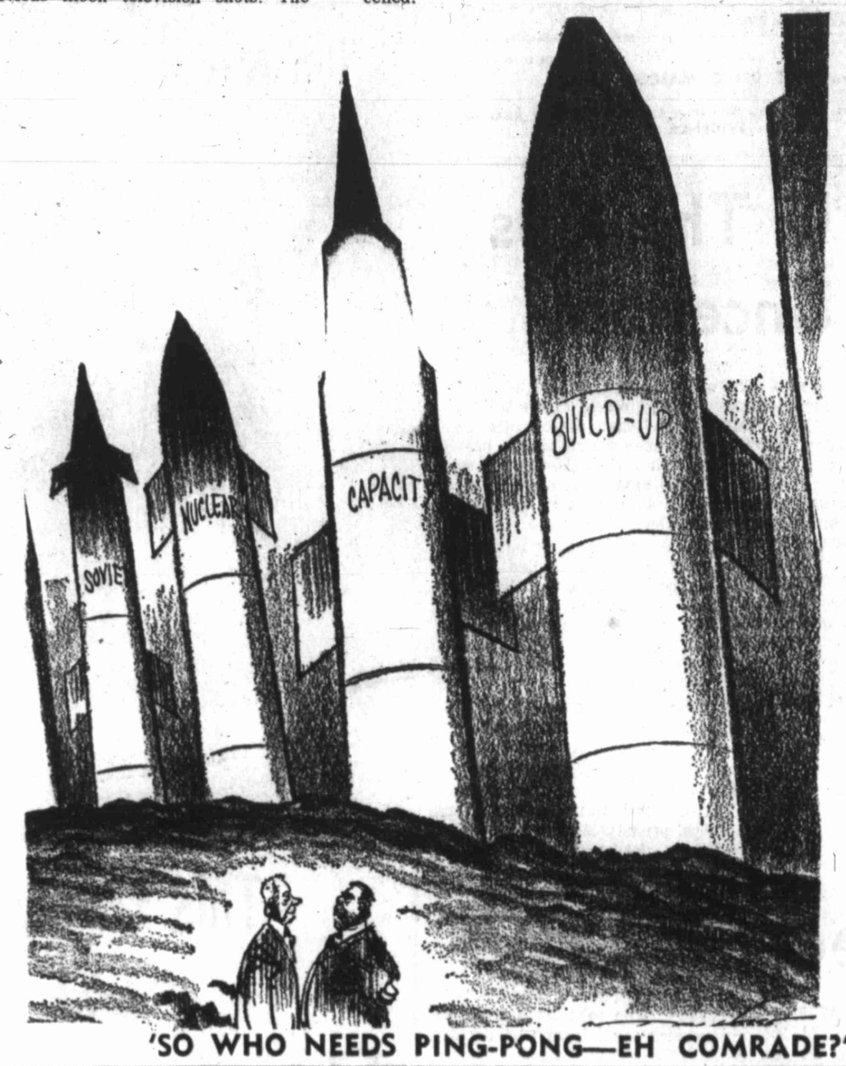

Congress could perform one very useful service if it would simply take an inventory of subsidies. This would furnish an enlightening platform from which the Congress and the public could engage in debate, and see if a good case can be made for those on the list.

Picture Success

Apollo 15 is streaking back to earth with an admitted bonanza of samples and other scientific data from the moon. Assuming a safe landing and recovery of the capsule and its precious cargo of men and materials, the expedition is an unqualified scientific success.

But a success of equal proportions has been the transmitting of pictures back to earth. These were sharp and clear, eliminating the ghostly quality of previous moon television shots. The camera, operated remotely from Houston, followed the astronauts as they moved about. These pictures entertained and entranced the lay viewers, and they allowed scientists to see what was going on and relay suggestions.

So this coverage may greatly influence future shots. Already the space agency is planning an Apollo 17, which was on the verge of being cancelled.

'SO WHO NEEDS PING-PONG—EH COMRADE?'

Business Troubles

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Passage by Congress of the bill pledging $250 million to guarantee bank loans for Lockheed Aircraft Corporation seems to the average observer as just financial assistance to a company with a large number of employes. But a sigh of relief, when the action was taken, could be heard from people throughout the nation. For, looking back to the 1930's, it was precisely this type of weakness in the status of borrowers which caused several banks to stop lending money and the country to witness a long period of discouragement over the economic outlook.

SOME PERSONS think that the government made a mistake by not acting promptly enough when the Penn Central Railroad got into financial trouble last year and that episodes of this type have contributed to a lack of confidence on the part of the public and fear of a diminishing prospect for economic recovery. Unemployment figures rose and consumer buying was lessened when the government hesitated.

DESPITE THE painful strikes that have just been witnessed, there is a feeling that the administration now is willing to put government funds behind proposals for the creation of new jobs. The work stoppages on the railroads undoubtedly cost billions of dollars in lost goods and earnings, and shipping has been tied up by striking longshoremen.

SETTLEMENT of some of the strikes doesn't mean, of course, that the losses will be recovered. While the damage has been limited and the administration has done its utmost to prevent strikes from breaking out or continuing, the fact remains that the government's power to keep interruptions in important industries from hurting the public interest needs to be strengthened by legislation in Congress.

Just as in the 1930's, moreover, gold speculation affects the international mood, and the dollar is under heavy attack as the price of gold fluctuates in world markets.

ALSO, A NEW factor has arisen in America's domestic problems. As wage rates go higher and higher, prices are inevitably increased, and American producers are in competition with similar products at lower prices made in countries where labor is cheaper.

It is not easy to impose tariffs on articles imported into this country without arousing resentment in the exporting nations. A compromise concept has recently been discussed — namely, a quota system, whereby the United States would declare itself satisfied with a certain quota limitation on imports of each product.

THIS SUBJECT has by no means been thoroughly explored. While it has been discussed now for some time, the American quota idea has not yet been accepted abroad. Nearly three dozen senators have introduced a bill to set mandatory quotas on steel imports because voluntary restraints in effect for three years have failed. Sooner or later American industry will have to insist that imports be limited in order that jobs in America will be safeguarded.

Pollution Surprise

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Those who believe that pollution control must be paid for out of lower corporate profits and higher consumer prices may find their thinking changed a bit by results of a study that is still continuing.

The preliminary conclusion, a decided surprise even to its authors, is that companies ranked high in concern for the environment need not be less profitable and may in fact be financially stronger because of their concern.

"It was a conclusion I hadn't expected," said John Marlin, an assistant professor of finance and economics at Baruch College here and a self-described believer in the free, competitive marketplace. "Im excited," he said.

Marlin's studies show that the most successful companies in the pulp and paper industry are the very ones ranked highest in protecting the air and water environment in which they operate.

That ranking was made in a highly detailed report released several months ago by the Council on Economic Priorities, a Washington-based, nonprofit group that studies corporate behavior in areas of social concern.

Joseph H. Bragdon Jr., an account executive with H. C. Wainwright & Co., a Boston securities firm, read the report and noted the correlation of profitability and high environmental ranking.

He related his tentative findings to Marlin, a friend, who is now in the midst of completing the report, to be presented Oct. 8 before the annual meeting of the Financial Management Association in Denver.

"Pending further research," said Marlin, "the case appears conclusive. "We may modify and qualify the findings," he said. "'but it is unlikely that we'll change the basic conclusions."

One result, he believes, is that the outlook for pollution control may not be as bleak as once thought. From the corporate point of view, he says, the emphasis has been on costs rather than benefits.

And what are the benefits?

The most likely fallout of a good environmental record may be in lower operating costs in areas such as labor, health insurance, maintenance, local taxes, legal fees, fines.

Another possibility is that "clean" companies may have lower costs in raising capital because a favorable corporate image may command slightly higher stock prices and lower borrowing costs.

And not to be overlooked is the possibility that buyers may direct their purchases to those companies with the best record in pollution control. Marlin feels that this benefit may assume larger proportions in the future.

No Fun In Fun City

Andrew Tully

NEW YORK — Mayor John Lindsay has to be running for President. He's turned square, with a purse-lipped, Cotton Mather-like campaign to drive sin out of Fun City that suggests he may be thinking of a Lindsay-Billy Graham ticket in 1972.

Lindsay's latest law enforcement program, which some cynics claim is also his first, contemplates throwing several law books at prostitutes, pimps, smut peddlers and other assorted entrepreneurs whose naughty wares have proved a contribution above and beyond Handsome John's goal of putting some fun into the city's life style. If it works out, these characters will be arrested and hauled off to fairly vile durance for everything from littering to income tax evasion to blocking traffic.

THIS IS all to the good because in recent years the city has managed to acquire the ambience of what might be called an inelegant Gomorrah. Gomorrah's streets were clean, and there were regular garbage collections, whereas sin in Fun City tends to be of the dirty-neck variety, and sinners are wont to complain of turned ankles suffered in ventures into the debris-filled gutters.

HOWEVER, Lindsay scores points for suddenly discovering law enforcement tactics that are only a few hundred years old. Prostitutes not only will be arrested; John will try to put them in jail. For Fun City, this is a daring and unprecedented departure, because until recently only about five per cent of the easy-virtue crowd wound up in cells. And Lindsay's decision to seek succor from the Internal Revenue Service puts a shiny new coat of paint on methods successfully employed to jail the country's Capones a mere 40 years ago.

ONE A bounder would ask why John Lindsay waited so long to go after the creeps — so, all right, call me a bounder. John is now in his second term as mayor and a citizen of this city might be forgiven for marvelling at the mayor's good-natured patience. Of course, it takes some politicians a little longer to get used to a job.

At any rate, prostitution has gone up, up, up since John moved into City Hall and decreed that henceforth this troubled hamlet would be known as Fun City. I'm sure Lindsay did not intend that his proclamation be taken as a signal that the lid was off, but somehow the word got around that life would be more relaxed for those individuals who crawl out from under their rocks of a pleasant evening.

INDEED, one of New York's biggest traffic problems has been the mob-like gatherings of prostitutes, pimps and smut merchants in midtown every night. As a cop moving moodily up 43rd Street put it, "It's so crowded with creeps, there's no room for customers."

Presumably, however, lust is now on the run in Fun City, with stylish, puritanical John Lindsy leading the forces of righteousness against the transgressors. Now that his on-the-job training had paid off, how about John Lindsay for boss of the FBI?

NEW YORK (AP) — Some things we'd like to see:

A politician who never promised anything he couldn't deliver.

An author who thought his publisher had spent enough money to advertise his book.

A surgeon who left a sponge inside a patient and then had the savoir faire to add the cost of the lost sponge to his bill.

A bus driver who could smile while you went through the ceremony of paying for the ride by dropping pennies one by one into the fare box, counting them aloud while you did so and the other passengers joined in the chant.

The Indians sued for fraud on the grounds they misrepresented the value of Manhattan Island when the sold it to Dutch settlers for $24 and a keg of whisky.

A rich dog who left all his money to the family cat—and never bothered at all to mention his master in his will.

Two bald men a half mile apart on a crowded beach exchange messages by light reflections sent in Morse code from their sunlit pates.

The Statue of Liberty wearing a miniskirt on a breezy day.

A motor car with its exhaust pipe sticking out the radiator—so the driver would have the privilege of smelling its fumes first.

A pair of sox, a razor blade and a light bulb that would wear, shave and burn throughout the buyer's lifetime.

A 50-cent cup of restaurant coffee that tasted better than two cups of yesteryear's nickel coffee.

Silent television become an art form equal to silent movies in their heyday.

A national political platform for 1972 that all parties could stand on together.

A telephone that would blab on anyone who tried to bug it.

A revision of the English language so that its words would unmistakably mean what they say and say unmistakably what they mean.

A law that would forbid dentists to tell Milton Berle's old jokes while drilling on chairbound patients.

Calories that would self-destruct and become weightless after being eaten.

A 10-minute conversation between two hippies during which neither addressed the other as "man" nor employed the phrase "you know."

An automatic vending machine that at least said "thank you" when it retained your coin but refused to yield you its product.

Sex become a personal pleasure rather than a public nuisance.

Dear Know-It-All

Around The Rim

Walt Finley

Many things have been given credit for helping to keep our country together.

There is our system of government, which makes laws. There is our banking system, which makes money. There is the judicial network. There are the foreign cars, which make sense.

BUT WHAT really keeps us going is "Dear Know-It-All," who gives advice.

There are few people with enough courage to go to work in the morning or to bed in the evening without reading an advice column.

The authors of these articles have solved many millions of personal, general and turn-him-over-and-he'll-quit-snoring problems.

Since most everybody has advice to give, it would seem that one of these columns would be easy to write. When a person asks you if a mother-in-law should be allowed to speak without raising her hand, there can be only one answer.

SO I tried to answer a few questions. You know, solving somebody else's problem isn't as simple as you would have imagined.

DEAR KNOW-IT-ALL — I am a mature woman. I am in love with a man who wants to marry me. We have been engaged for three years, and we fully understand the responsibilities of the real world that will face us as we set out upon the road of life.

We have accumulated substantial savings to get us started.

I will be in seventh grade next year. Butch has $7.42, and I have $4.95. My parents think we should wait. Should we get married?

A — Well . . . perhaps you might . . . how about if you . . . Look at it this way. If you get married who will help you with your homework?

* * * *

DEAR KNOW-IT-ALL — I am five-foot two, eyes of blue, and I weigh 227. I am very much interested in the latest fashions, but I have also begun a new budget so I can save some money.

Should I wear hot pants?

A — Of course, and in the winter you can cut them up and make some blankets.

DEAR KNOW-IT-ALL — My husband is a penny pincher. I have never asked for much, just enough to keep us going. Because of his narrow mindedness, our marriage is becoming intolerable.

Should we buy a new car to keep up with the Johnsons, or a new boat to keep up with the Smiths?

A — Both, and a new notebook to keep up iwth the payments.

* * * *

DEAR KNOW-IT-ALL — My husband snores. I haven't slept in two and a half months. Our walls are cracking, and I expect the roof to cave in any day.

I have tried everything from ear plugs to a baseball bat. What should I do?

A — Ignore him. The more he snores, the more he loves you.

BUT IF HE contines to bother you, there is one method that might work. Place your hand over your husband's mouth, and if he does not begin to breathe through his nose, summon a doctor.

WASHINGTON — Comments in this column are never intended to be that we all read in our newspapers. Rather an effort is made to go behind the scenes as much as possible for what is hoped to be the unusual.

About every columnist and certainly all news media have carried the bombshell announcement of President Nixon's plan to visit Red China. It can be assumed that the President had been thinking on this possibility for a considerable period of time but, as far as is known now, some of his closest advisors were not aware of the suddenness of the announcement.

OBVIOUSLY, the President could not contact every category of opinion on the advisability of his making a visit to Peking. If he had asked those of us who have opposed the Communist regime for many years should he make the trip, the answer would have been "no." In this same category are those of us who oppose the recognition of Red China as a member of the United Nations. The regime on mainland China has never demonstrated characteristics of a nationhood entitled to such recognition.

HAVING SAID this, it is an accomplished fact that President Nixon is going to visit the leaders of Red China. The nation can only hope that good may come of it. There is no need to carp and condemn the action from now until the trip is made. It is his judgment and the hope must be held that the exercise of that judgment will in somewise be productive for eventually relieving tensions in that part of the world.

Some writers and commentators are already comparing the President's trip to that of Prime Minister Chamberlain's visit to Hitler in Munich prior to World War II. Some have characterized the trip as simply the President sitting down with Chairman Chou En-lai to eat Peking duck. Maybe even this is worth something.

IT IS HARD to imagine that peace in that part of the world can be eased as long as the Communists continue their aggressive aims against the smaller and weaker nations in Southeast Asia. It could — and this is the big hope — possibly lead to some better understanding between Communist China and our own government regarding the intents of both in Asia.

The war in Vietnam has been sustained and prolonged primarily by the aid and assistance given by Moscow and Peking. If — just if — something may be said or done to help wind down the whole thing then, of course, the trip would be a victory.

FROM ALL indications the President is well aware that the chances of solid accomplishments are slim, but even operating on the theory of "what can you lose," it may be worthwhile.

The "what can you lose" is, in fact, the key to the whole thing. The matter of our relationship with the Nationalist Chinese on Formosa, South Korea Japan and others, certainly must not be impaired and this seems to be the assurance of the President.

ON THE other hand, since the announcement, Premier Chou En-lai has continued to condemn and berate the United States as an aggressor in both Korea and Vietnam. This should not be entirely unexpected although not happily received. If the Red Chinese leaders insist, which again they have done since the announcement, that we abandon the Chiang Kai-shek regime on Formosa; that we get out of Korea and out of South Vietnam; that we not assist Japan in maintaining a defensive strength and, in fact, completely withdraw from the Pacific Theater, then a good duck dinner would be all that could come from the trip.

My Answer

Billy Graham

It seems to me that teenagers should be allowed to make their own decisions. My parents don't go along with this and insist on making all decisions for me. B.F.

Decisions on such subjects as spending, dates, vocation, etc. involve responsibility. Irresponsible persons have no right to make all decisions. When a parent says "no," they are not trying to rob youth of all its joy. They are making a judgment based on experience and in the best interest of one that they love dearly. When the Bible says, "Honor they father and mother," it is not making a blind, arbitrary statement. It is saying, "Respect those with greater knowledge, greater experience, and greater love".

Look at the delinquent, and a delinquent is one who makes all his decisions (for nobody loves him enough to guide him). Is he happy? No, he is the most miserable kid in the world. Thank God for parents who love you enough to guide you in your early decisions. The future holds enough independence for you, and making your own decisions isn't as much fun as you imagine.

A Devotion For Today . . .

"God treats all men alike." (Acts 10:34, TEV)

PRAYER: Lord, in repentant spirit I ask for release from all that hinders my being the person You would have me be. Remove intolerance and indifference that I may better appreciate, understand, and accept the whole of Your creation and become the person You have created me to be. Amen.

South Inflicts Worst Defeat On North Team

FORT WORTH (AP) — The lights flicked back on at 8:19 of the first period but the favored North never came out of the dark in a humiliating 65-0 loss to the South. It was the most one-sided show in the history of the Texas High School Coaches Association All-Star football game.

A transformer blew out before the kickoff and the North held its own until enough candlepower was restored for South quarterback Bob Armstrong of Houston Sam Houston to see his receivers.

The cool South leader, who is Baylor-bound this fall, rifled a record four touchdown passes as 17,040 fans gaped in amazement at Amon Carter Stadium.

The 5-foot-11, 190-pound Armstrong connected on 13 of 29 passes for 224 yards before he retired in favor of Kent Ballard of Friendswood, who proceeded to throw two touchdown passes and run eight yards for another score.

Armstrong threw touchdown strikes of 40 and 6 yards to Bryan Willingham of Pasadena, who also caught a 15-yard scoring pass from Ballard. Willingham snared 11 passes for 166 yards and was named the most valuable lineman of the game.

Armstrong was named the most valuable back.

The other Armstrong scoring bombs were 84 yards to Wenford Wilborn of White Oak and 7 yards to Byron Shaw of Refugio. Shaw also caught a 16-yard touchdown pass from Ballard.

The South piled up a 23-0 halftime lead as Mickey Macaluso of Austin Stephen F. Austin kicked a 37-yard field goal and ran a pass interception back 74 yards for another score.

Russel Charles Jr. of Houston Kashmere galloped 50 yards to wrap up the Southern touchdown parade.

The heralded North running attack was crushed by the fired-up South defenders, who forced seven fumbles from a rusty Wishbone-T offense plotted by North coach Donnell Crosslin of Wichita Falls.

The South now has won three consecutive games and clearly established itself as the most productive schoolboy football area in the state.

The North holds a 21-13-3 all-time series lead.

The South threw a whopping 46 passes and completed 20 in the massacre on a rain-sliced turf. A thundershower before the game held the crowd below the 25,000 fans who had been expected.

It was a sweet victory for South coach John Garison of Spring Woods, who played quarterback for the North in the first All-Star game in 1935. The north lost 3-0 in that one, ironically the lowest scoring game of the series.

(AP WIREPHOTO)

FUMBLE — Mike Presely of the North Squad is hit hard in the second period by the South's Pat Felux and fumbled. The ball was recovered by Mac Johanson of the South on the North's 25-yard line.

TOMMY HART

Hart Given Writer Award

FORT WORTH (AP) — Six men were enshrined in the Texas High School Coaches Association Hall of Honor near the close of the annual coaching school Thursday.

One was Weldon Phillips, athletic director of Pasadena schools, and he told the 700 persons at the 12th annual Balfour Hall of Honor luncheon, "I think you know how I feel."

Phillips was inducted along with the late Owen Goodnight of San Marcos, T. G. Hull of Amarillo, Watty Myers of Texarkana, M. H. Hopson of Jacksonville and Joe Coleman of Odessa.

In addition to the Hall of Honor inductions, several other awards were presented by the retiring president of the THSCA, Morris Southall of Brownwood.

Tommy Hart, veteran sports editor of The Big Spring Herald and president of the Texas Sports Writers Association, received the THSCA's "sports writer of the year" award and also presented TSWA "coach of the year" certificates to Gene Mayfield of Odessa Permian (now West Texas State University) in football, Ronnie Truitt of Cypress-Fairbanks in basketball, Leroy Oepold of Port Arthur Lincoln in track and field, and Ray Knoblauch of Houston Bellaire in baseball.

All except Mayfield coached Class AAAA state championship teams during the 1970-71 school year, and Mayfield's Permian team finished second.

U.S. Swimmers May Open Gap

CALI, Colombia (AP) — Swimming flashes Frank Heckle and Susie Atwood begin splashing toward a possible 12 gold medals today after USA track aces rode away from the Pan American Games on a golden tide.

Americans bagged 20 of 24 men's track golds and an 11th-hour grandstand rumble appeared to spur a thaw in heretofore frigid U.S.-Cuba relations.

Several Cuban athletes erupted Thursday night when Maoist leaflets saying "Cuba Si, Russia No" were circulated at half-filled Pascual Guerrero Stadium.

A photographer from the Bogota sports daily, El Espectador, suffered cuts and bruises in the ruckus. A spokesman for the paper said Cuban sprinter Pablo Montes hit the newsman and that two cameras were smashed.

Fans, seeing the red-and-blue uniforms of Cuba amid the scuffle, began hissing athletes from Castro's island as they accepted medals for feats of strength, spring and speed.

Mike Hill And Jerry Heard Lead On Dead-Eye Putting

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Putting was the name of the game Thursday for Mike Hill and Jerry Heard, first-round leaders in the $150,000 American Golf Classic.

Each needed only 31 putts on Firestone South's velvet greens for their three-under-par 67 and a one-stroke lead over Gay Brewer and Fred Marti.

Ironically, it was Brewer's tip that corrected Hill's year-long putting flaws over the 7,180-yard course while Heard continued to handle the greens well.

"Gay said I was hitting it too quickly, that I was putting too much with my hands," said Hill, 32. The Jackson, Mich., pro used the tip to drill in six birdie putts.

Heard, 24-year-old from Visalia, Calif., played steadier. He had no bogies and birdied three holes with short putts.

He saved par with putts of 20 and 15 feet on the 12th and 13th holes.

Brewer and Marti are two more nonwinners on the 1971 tour although Marti did win the Ontario, Calif., satellite event during the winter.

Firestone, playing long because of recent rains, was tough on some of game's big names.

Arnold Palmer, the Latrobe, Pa., golfing millionaire who had led eight consecutive rounds in the last two weeks, was among six players tied at 70.

Jack Nicklaus, current PGA champion who paired with Palmer last week to win the National Team Championship, ran into putting woes and settled in a log jam of 16 players at 73.

Also at 73 was defending champion Frank Beard, who won last year with a four-under-par 276.

Charles Coody, the 1971 Master's king, was nestled with 10 others at 74.

Singer's Zinger Subdues Astros

By The Associated Press

It has been six weeks between victories for Juan Marichal but if San Francisco's high-kicking right-hander is getting impatient, he shouldn't be. After all, Bill Singer waited eight weeks to win a game.

Marichal, winless since June 23, dropped a 3-2 decision to St. Louis last night as San Francisco lost its fourth straight game. And Los Angeles took advantage of the setback to chop a game off the Giants West Division lead by blanking Houston 3-0 for Singer's first victory since June 12.

Elsewhere in the National League Thursday, Pittsburgh ripped Montreal 7-2, Chicago blanked San Diego 3-0 and Atlanta nipped New York 2-1 in 17 innings.

In the American League, Boston edged Detroit 5-4, New York shut out Baltimore 5-0, Cleveland downed Washington 7-1, Kansas City whipped Minnesota 7-4, Oakland nipped Milwaukee 2-1 and Chicago edged California 1-0.

STILL NO WIN

Matty Alou drove in two Cardinal runs and rookie Jose Cruz crashed a home run as Reggie Cleveland bested Marichal, now 10-8. Since June 23, Marichal has made eight starts, losing four and being involved in four no-decisions.

Singer, 6-13, fired a six-hitter and struck out 10 Astros as the Dodgers trimmed San Francisco's division lead to six games. It ended a four-game losing streak for Singer.

The Dodgers scored twice in the fourth inning with Jim Lefebvre's single and Steve Garvey's sacrifice fly driving the runs home. LA added a final run on pinch hitter Wes Parker's single.

Pittsburgh maintained its eight-game lead in the East Division, using a barrage of three homers by Willie Stargell, Jose Pagan and Al Oliver to wallop Montreal.

Stargell's 39th homer got the Pirates started and Gene Alley added a pair of triples to Pittsburgh's attack. Pagan suffered a broken left arm when he was struck by a pitch in the fifth inning after homering in the third.

Retread Juan Pizarro allowed just one hit, hurling the Cubs past San Diego. Pizarro, recalled recently from the minors, surrendered only a fifth inning single to Ollie Brown after he had mowed down the first 13 San Diego batters.

Pizarro and Clay Kirby were locked in a scoreless duel until the eighth when Billy Williams, stroked a two-run, two-out single to give the Cubs the victory.

The Braves pushed across the deciding run against the Mets in the 17th inning on Darrell Evans' single. Sonny Jackson had singled and moved up on Felix Millan's sacrifice.

The Mets collected 15 hits and eight walks but hit into six double plays and left 18 men on base in the 4 hour, 23 minute marathon. It was the longest game in the National League this season.

Cowboys Exhibition Season Opens Against Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lance Rentzel has something to prove tonight when his new club, Los Angeles, faces his old teammates, the Dallas Cowboys, in Memorial Coliseum.

"This game means a little something extra to me," says the veteran wide receiver. "I want to show my ex-teammates that I can still play football. I feel quicker than I have ever been in my career."

Whereas Rnetzel will play in the preseason National Football League games, Billy Truax won't.

Truax is the tight end the Rams gave up in the winter deal with the Cowboys to get Rentzel, but Billy has been hampered by a hamstring muscle.

Coach Tommy Prothro is making his home debut as head mentor the Rams.

Roman Gabriel opens at quarterback for the Rams with the No. 2 signal caller of 1970, Karl Sweetan, taking over.

The Cowboys start with Craig Morton and then will give former Heisman Trophy winner Roger Staubach a chance in his bid to take over the starting job.

The Rams have their Olsen brother combination going on the defensive front four. Veteran Merlin, who missed the Houston game with a muscle pull, teams with younger brother Phil, Coy Bacon and Deacon Jones.

Dallas presents three faces different from those on the Super Bowl starting line-up—Lance Alworth at wide receiver, Mike Ditka at tight end and Calvin Hill at running back.

A crowd of about 80,000 is expected for the 8:05 p.m. ,PDT, kickoff to see what Prothro, the former UCLA coach, has devised after taking over the Rams coaching job.

Prothro has emphasized offense this summer, a marked departure from the defensive strategy of his predecessor, George Allen who heads the Washington Redskins' staff.

Jim French, Pass Catcher Tangle Again Saturday

By The Associated Press

The first meeting between Pass Catcher and Jim French since they finished 1-2 in the Belmont Stakes highlights the weekend program in thoroughbred racing.

The two leading sophomore's are in the $100,000 Monmouth Handicap at Monmouth Park Saturday, an invitational 1⅛ mile test for 3-year-olds.

Elsewhere there are the $50,000 Whitney Stakes at Saratoga, the $50,000 Signature Stakes at Liberty Bell, the $30,000 Springfield Handicap at Arlington, the $25,000 Ramona Handicap at Del Mar and the $10,000 Manchester Handicap at Rockingham.

Pass Catcher, owned by Peter Kissel, was the surprise long shot winner of the Belmont Stakes in thwarting the bid of Canonero II to sweep the Triple Crown.

Jim French closed fast along the rail in the Belmont and missed catching Pass Catcher by half a length. There has been much speculation that Jim French would turn the tables in a rematch.

Jim French, winner of the Dwyer Handicap since the Belmont, is the topweight at 126 pounds in the Monmouth. Pass Catcher, beaten by older horses in his two starts since the Belmont, has been assigned 124. In the Belmont each toted 126.

Mr. Pow Pow, an invader from the Midwest and Canada's Kennedy Road, winner of the Queen's Plate, also are expected to be among the Monmouth starters.

Shuvee, a mare who beat the colts in the Jockey Club Gold Cup last year, is expected to go in the Whitney with Never Bow, winner of the recent Brooklyn Handicap, another probable.

Brenda Beauty, winner of the Rich Sorority Stakes, looms as the likely choice in the inaugural running of the Signature for 2-year-old fillies.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Big Springer Charley Johnson, at peace with the world since earning his doctorate in science, told Houston newshawks this may be his best year ever in football.

There's nothing to keep him from concentrating on improving his attitude and his image, Charley explained, now that the military, his schooling and his physical miseries are behind him.

A healthy Johnson could make big trouble in the NFL, as foes of the Houston Oilers are likely to find out. With two good legs and the moon to shoot at, Johnson figures to keep enemy defenses in a swivet.

* * * *

Jack Buck, my idea of one of the three best play-by-play announcers in the NFL, will be back on the CBS broadcasting team this year after a year's hiatus.

Buck was kept on the griddle by the Dallas writers several years ago, mainly because he insisted on living in St. Louis and flying to his assignments involving the Cowboys. But Buck can keep a game 'alive' long after the principals on the field have died.

Stick this note in your bonnet for future reference: Billy Martin, the caustic manager of the Detroit Tigers, says that Oakland's Vida Blue won't win 20 games in 1972. That may be wishful thinking, or perhaps Billy belongs to the International fellowship of Merlins.

Leonard Koppett, a New York columnist, suggests that baseball can be improved by:

(1) Cutting gloves down to bear necessities, providing just enough leather to protect the hand from injury;

(2) Making the three outfielders stand within a 'position circle' (in short, allowing no defensive shifts);

(3) Two-platooning, by putting nine stipulated batters in the proper order but letting anyone play the fielding position.

Advocates of 15-13 games might rally behind Koppett's plan but not Johnny Sain, the wily pitching coach who once formed a tandem with the old Boston Braves that caused writers of the period to wax lyrical . . . "Spahn and Sain, and two days of rain . . ."

Sain reasons the best pitching rotation would limit each pitcher to three innings per outing. That way, he says, they could throw harder and return with fewer days' rest.

The Hitting Fraternity may yet spell John's name with a small S and add it to the language as an expletive.

Ben Neel recently completed perhaps the finest summer basketball program ever conducted here. Participation was better, for one thing. For another, some of the better returning schoolboys got to play together, and that always helps.

Neel says that incoming sophomore Randy Marshall, one of the most talented boys ever to come up here, may have overcome his major weakness while in the league — that of not being aggressive enough.

Neel also says 6-6 Robert Wallace showed much improvement and came to realize he has to get inside and use his strength, if he is to succeed. Wallace always could hit the 15-foot jumper from the to pof the keyhole.

Mike Randle, another BSHS returnee (6-5), is slim but he learned to use his body as a shield while shooting inside. David Carter, another Steer who'll be back, suffers only from a lack of stamina and he seems to be getting stronger.

The future of Big Spring High School hasn't looked better for a long, long time.

It's a fair exchange: Austin Reagan benefits from the University of Texas playbook and, in turn, sends the Longhorns most of their best talent.

The UT formations keeps Reagan in clover and being a winner naturally makes the players more attractive to the college scouts.

ABA Chief Says Draft Necessary

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) — American Basketball Association Commissioner Jack Dolph says ABA teams must use an "orderly process' in signing players, namely the draft system.

"We are growing up and things can't be done the way they have been in the past," Dolph told a news conference as ABA general managers opened their annual meeting here Thursday.

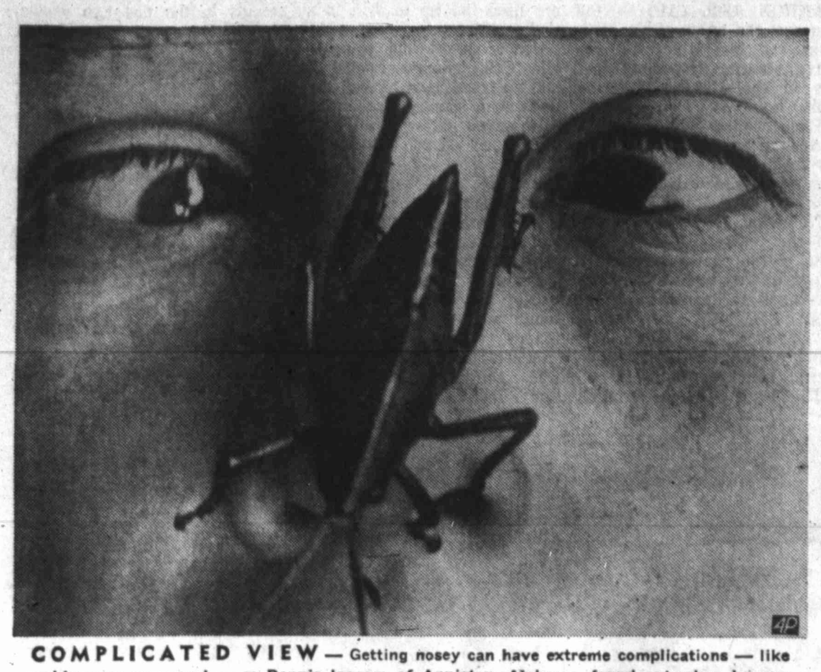

Dolph also said the passage of legislation permitting merger of the ABA and the National Basketball Association will depend on "the antitrust climate in Congress" at the time the legislation comes up.

MALARIA FIGHTER — Dr. Paul H. Silverman, head of the U. of Illinois zoology department, heads research aimed at finding means of immunizing against malaria.

THE SIGN OF A SANCTUARY — Framed in a wrought iron Brent goose adorning his gate is Derrick Lord, who runs a 120-acre sanctuary for wildfowl at Thorpe, England. His collection includes about 20 varities of birds. He also cares for wounded birds.

Mangled Body Of Young Fem Is Identified

BELTON, Tex. (AP) — A San Antonio woman died of injuries in an auto accident less than a day after the mangled body of her daughter was found near here on Interstate 35.

The crash on U.S. 90A in Gonzales claimed the life of Mary E. Winn, 40, as she returned home after coming to Belton because the daughter, Sheila Holloway, 19, of Killeen, had been killed.

Authorities said the battered body of Mrs. Holloway looked as if it had been struck by automobiles several times.

Mrs. Winn was flown to San Antonio after the Gonzales accident and died in surgery about 12:45 a.m. today.

Her husband, Joe L. Winn Sr., 44, and the couple's son, 10, suffered minor injuries.

The body of Mrs. Holloway was identified by her husband, Ft. Hood soldier Tom Holloway, from wedding rings and a tattoo mark on her upper right arm.

Mrs. Holloway, whose battered body looked as though it had been hit several times by automobiles on Interstate 35, had not been seen since early Thursday morning.

Her husband, Tom Holloway, Ft. Hood soldier, identified the remains through her wedding rings and a tattoo on her upper right arm later Thursday.

Queen-Talent Contests Of Farm Bureau Saturday

Eight girls are entrants in the Farm Bureau queen and talent-find contest set for 8 p.m. Saturday in the Howard County Junior College Auditorium.

The queen's division has seven contestants and the talent division has three.

The girls are all from Farm Bureau families, between the ages of 16-22 and never married.

The winners will take part in the district contest in August. District winners will have expenses paid to the state meeting in Amarillo in November, and the state winner gets $500 toward expenses of attending the national FB convention in December. All contestants at the state level will receive engraved watches.

Those entered in the queen contest, according to Derwood Blagrave, chapter president, are: Debra Buchanan and Darla Buchanan, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Buchanan, Gail Route; Janette Nichols, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nichols, Route 1, Knott; Julie Choate, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Choate, Route 1; Diana Procter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Procter, Coahoma; Mary Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. (Rich) Anderson, Gail Route; and Judy Cave, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Cave, Route 1, Ackerly.

Those in the talent contest are Janette Nichols and Julie Choate, along with Jackie Cave, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Cave.

Road Department Report Received By County Dads

Paving on County Road 58 (Soash road) was completed Thursday afternoon, and crews were to begin seal coating near Gay Hill school today, county commissioners were told Thursday.

In a progress report to the court, Hollis Randell, road and bridge administrator, said that repairs will be affected to a county road from the Gay Hill School south one mile, and that 3¾ miles of CR-35 will be seal coated north to CR-37.

Two new mowers, purchased at $17,000, were delivered Monday, and Randell told the court that the machines were in use one day, developed troubles and had to be brought in for repairs. The repairs have been completed, and the machines will be in full operation by Monday, according to Randell.

Randell's recommendations were:

—That the county hire a maintenance man to do minor repairs at the Howard County Airport. Randell said that he had to send road employes to the airport once or twice each week to repair lighting fixtures, minor leaks and runway lights, work that he felt could be done more easily with a maintenance man without interrupting his crew operations.

—That less new roads be constructed next year because the crews will be needed to repair 70 to 100 miles of current roadway.

Commissioners discussed purchase of some type of mobile structure to be used as a polling place for Box 17 in commissioners precinct 1. Residents in the area, according to the commissioners, are reluctant to use their homes for voting places. No action was taken.

VANDALISM

Prowlers were reported to be in the neighborhood of the 2400 block of E. 25th Thursday night. Police officers advised that the windows of the E. O. McNeese residence, 2409 E. 25th, had been shot out.

OIL

Howard Gains And Loses One

Howard County gained a completion in the Howard-Glasscock field but saw a wildcat go glimmering.

Mobil No. 1-B Douthit, a middle Clearfork test, rated 73 barrels of oil. Roden No. 1 Finley had no reported shows on a drillstem test before plugging at 7,811.

Dawson County gained six completions in the Mungerville and Welch areas.

Military Aids In Transport Of Patient

An example of cooperation between Webb AFB and the community of Big Spring was emphasized late Thursday when a local doctor asked assistance from the base with a young unidentified patient.

The doctor contacted the base hospital late in the afternoon and asked for aid after the patient had become critically ill, because area hospitals were not equipped to handle the particular emergency.

Base hospital officials contacted the Air Force surgeon general and asked permission to transport the patient to the John Sealy Hospital in Galveston, according to information office personnel.

Permission was granted and an Air Force medical evacuation air craft was diverted to the local base to transport the patient.

According to information office reports, the patient's doctor said that the quick action on the part of base personnel might have saved the life of his patient.

Showers Fall On Narrow Strip

A narrow strip of showers breezed across the county Thursday night, dropping .75 inch in the Fairview area. The strip was about four miles wide and traveled east to west across the county.

Luther reported only a trace of moisture, but reports to the south and east of Luther recorded from .6 to .8 inch of rain. Vincent, in the northeast corner of the county, reported only a trace of rainfall, but an isolated pocket of moisture dropped .3 inch to the north. Both pump stations at Lake Thomas received this amount. Lake E. V. Spence had about levelled off at elevation 1837.88, up only slightly from Thursday.

Plant Set Up Here To Join Pipe For Repressuring Job

A temporary pipe assembly plant has been in operation for a little more than a week on the site of the old T&P Railroad roundhouse, according to Albert Lott, welding inspector from Eagleton Engineering, Houston.

The operation, which is assembling lengths of pipe for a pipeline from the Fort Stockton area to Snyder for the Canyon Reef Carrier Oil Corp., began July 28 and should continue three and a half to four more weeks, said Lott.

The pipeline is scheduled to transport Carbon dioxide gas from the Pecos-Val Verde County areas for use in a massive repressuring project for the SACROC unit in southwest Scurry County.

More than 1,600 lengths of 16-inch pipe 40 feet long have been welded so far for the projected 200 miles of pipeline.

The pipes are being welded in what is called a double-jointed method, said Lott. The pipe is welded on the outside and then, by means of a camera hook-up, a submerged arc — or automatic welder — welds the inside of the joint.

Approximately 1,725 pipes have been completed in the week since the project started. Only about 125 of them had faulty joints.

"The submerged arc method of welding pipe is still in its early stages, really," said Lott. "We use an X-ray procedure to check the joints in the pipe.

"If a defect shows up on the outside weld, then we usually can correct it by stick welding it," Lott said, "but if the effect shows up on the inside, then we have to break the weld."

The X-ray work has been contracted by the Monroe X-Ray Company out of Monroe, La. All the X-ray negatives are developed on the assembly site. They are ready within minutes.

"The pipe assembly operation has been contracted by McVain and Barlow," said Lott. "This is the first time they have worked with 16-inch pipe, but we have a pretty effective operation here."

Lott explained that the pipe is also X-rayed after it has been welded to the actual pipeline to make sure all seams are without flaw.

"After we've finished with the 16-inch pipe, there is still about 40 miles of 12-inch pipe that needs to be laid in the Fort Stockton area," said Lott.

Dr. Box Making Good Progress

Reports from Methodist Hospital in Houston today were that Dr. Dean Box, head of the business education department at Howard County Junior College, was doing splendidly following a kidney transplant. She was making such good progress that her husband, Dr. Marshall Box, vocational-technical dean may get to come home during the weekend for a few days. Since the new kidney has taken over, her blood condition has shown dramatic improvement.

THEFTS

Clarence Daves, Daves Welding, 504 N. Benton, reported a theft of a battery from the shop Thursday. No value of the battery was reported.

A theft of a pick-up from the parking lot of the Texas Electric Service Co., 324 Runnels, was reported Thursday morning. The service pickup was taken from the parking lot sometime Wednesday night.

A burglary at Jeanie's Tavern, 300 N. Benton, was reported Thursday. Taken were nine cases of beer, two cases of cokes, a rack of potato chips and $2 worth of pennies from the cash register. Total value of items taken was $97.

Della Walker, 1110 Austin, reported that her purse and hearing aid had been stolen by two boys. Police officers recovered the items, valued at $250 and no charges were filed.

CORRECTION

No charges have been filed in an incident which occurred Wednesday night and resulted in the loss of a set of keys from Vivian Burke, 1608 Kentucky Way. The original report erroneously referred to Mrs. Harriett Tessier, 804 Main, who only telephoned police at the request of Mrs. Burke, who had given a lift to a man to a service station at IS 20 and State 350. Officers picked up a man after the incident.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I had a problem that I thought was insurmountable.

An hour or two before our big dinner of the year, I discovered that floral pieces were not ordered for the two tables adjoining the head table.

I was horrified and couldn't understand how the florist could have misconstrued my detailed instructions. And it was too late for them to help me.

Something had to be done.

I searched my home for something to use. At last I found about 100 artificial poppies, with three-inch stems, tucked away in a closet. At least I had "color" but how was I going to make an attractive centerpiece with these short-stemmed posies?

Still rummaging around in my mind and in the house for a suitable idea, I spied a large Irish baking potato in the kitchen. An idea literally bloomed!

I halved the potato lengthwise and covered it with foil. I started sticking poppies in the foil-covered potato. It was colorful, but not large enough for the table so I made a wreath and set the mound of color in it. My day (and reputation) was saved.

The tables looked beautiful. A lovely centerpiece of flowers graced the speakers table and the adjoining tables each had two brilliant red artificial poppy mounds encased in a wreath. . . . Mrs. Courtenay Olney

* * *

What a nimble mind you have! I hope you were awarded the head table centerpiece for your efforts.

Did you know that you can arrange fresh short-stemmed flowers in a potato? Just punch holes in the potato with an ice pick. The water content of a potato is so great, it will keep the flowers fresh. . . . Heloise

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

My old dog feels his age entitles him to more than plain dog food. So when I do not have scraps to give him, I put catsup on the dog food and he loves it. . . . The Teacher

P.S.: Please don't print my name. Everyone knows I spoil my old dog rotten, but if they knew about that catsup, I'd never live it down.

* * *

Dear Heloise:

I have a good solution for anyone who has the same bad habit I have. I bite my fingernails.

My nails are growing longer and longer now and here is my tip. Use plastic gloves. Put them on when you are watching TV or reading the papers.

It's really a great way to remind yourself what you are doing and helps to break the habit. . . . Dee See

* * *

Dear Heloise:

When you have small fry in and out of the house who never walk, just run, the inevitable always happens. A bloody nose or knee, or a skinned elbow.

Mother's first words of comfort and a hug or two will heal the hurt, but then Mom has to get the blood stains off the clothing.

I have found a quick and simple way to remove these stains. Wet the stained part in cold water thoroughly and then sprinkle a small amount of unseaoned meat tenderizer over the stain. Work this paste into the stain with your fingers and after a minute or two launder the garment.

Be sure you use only unseasoned meat tenderizer, and, of course, that the garment is washable. . . . Debbie Husmann

Gift Party Honoree

Miss Kathy Rigdon, bride-elect of Randy Rister was the honoree Tuesday evening at a pre-nuptial shower in the home of Mrs. J. W. Lipscombe, 2404 Allendale, with Miss Elizabeth Lipscombe as cohostess.

Members of the house party were Miss Mary Dirks, Miss Cathy Macklin, Miss Debra Rigdon and Miss Marianne Lipscombe.

Miss Rigdon was attired in a dark purple dress slightly gathered at the waist and accented with a wide embroidered belt. She was presented a corsage of white and lavender silk roses trimmed with linked gold rings and miniature doves. A similar corsage was presented to her mother, Mrs. D. C. Rigdon.

A crystal punch service and silver tea service were used on a table covered with a lavender cloth and overlaid with lace. The centerpiece was a silver bowl arranged with white and lavender silk roses interspersed with net.

The couple will be married this evening in St. Mary's Catholic Church.

Reception Scheduled On Sunday

A reception will be held Sunday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock in the First Federal Community Room honoring A&M University Extension Service personnel who are leaving the city. The public is invited to attend.

The three being honored are Mrs. Delaine Crawford, Paul Gross and Jim Allison. Mrs. Crawford, who has served as Howard County home demonstration agent for a number of years, has been named agent for District 2 and will be assigned to the South Plains extension research center at Lubbock. Gross, who has been Howard County agent, will become agent for Lubbock County, and Allison, assistant county agent here, will be returning to school at Texas Tech.

The reception is being hosted by the 4-H Adult Leaders Association and the seven 4-H clubs in Howard County. The 4-H members will assist in the house party.

Holy Land Slides Viewed Tuesday

The Grace Baptist Church Women's Auxiliary had its second meeting Tuesday evening in the fellowship hall of the church located at 2000 FM 700.

Mrs. C. B. Underwood began a series of slide presentations relating to her recent trip to the Holy Land. She presented each member with a Bible marker which she bought during her trip.

Mrs. Roy Honea led prayer, and scripture readings were by Miss Brenda Daves and Miss Cathy Mays. A report on the Pot Of Gold youth camp July 26-30 was given by Mrs. Blaine Larson who said the events and workshops were "very beneficial."

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Walter Brumley, Mrs. Harold Woods, Mrs. Clarence Daves and Mrs. Kenneth Taylor.

WESTBROOK (SC) — "In Looking at Negro History — From These Roots" was the topic discussed Monday by the Women's Society of Christian Service at the Methodist Church. Mrs. L. E. Gressett led the program, assisted by Mrs. J. F. Wigner and Mrs. A. L. Young

Fall Styles Are Sexy, Not Crazy

Diane Von Furstenberg, introducing her fall and winter collection, said women are sick of the "crazy look." "We want simple styles but lovely material, classic looks but yet sexy," she said.

The collection included very soft, floaty dresses that moved with the body and featherweight silk jerseys.

IT'S FUN TO BE A NUN — Sister Martin Denise, a Roman Catholic nun, gives it the old college try twirling a hoop as she was urged on by fellow college students during a break in her summer studies at Shippensburg State College in Shippensburg, Pa. Sister Denise teaches first grade students at St. Matthews Catholic School in Conshohocken, Pa., and is working toward her master of education degree.

Stock Market Overhaul Plea

NEW YORK (AP) — William McChesney Martin Jr. reorganized the New York Stock Exchange in 1938 as its first paid president. Now he proposes an overhaul of the entire securities industry.

Martin, who in the meantime put in 19 years as chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, released Thursday his report of a five-month study of Wall Street operations and practices.

The scrutiny was made at the request of the NYSE board of governors.

Martin's major proposals would involve creation of a single, national stock market and reorganization of the NYSE.

While the recommendations are not binding, they are expected to significantly influence the future of the securities industry. They also were considered likely to generate considerable controversy.

Under Martin's plan for a national securities market, the NYSE, the American Stock Exchange and the regional exchanges would be integrated.

He suggested that the Securities and Exchange Commission appoint a committee, including representatives of the major exchanges, to plan and design a national exchange.

Martin's proposal did not extend to the over-the-counter market which is supervised by the National Association of Securities dealers, and which recently initiated an automatic quotation system known as NASDAQ.

'For Sale' Signs Blooming After Desegregation Order

DALLAS (AP) — Inquiries from residents in Dallas' Oak Cliff district about selling their homes or buying elsewhere have nearly doubled in the wake of a court order on desegregating schools, real estate dealers said Thursday.

People living in that area, on the city's south side, have protested to school and other officials that their property values will drop because the integration plan calls for extensive busing of pupils.

Jessie Mendoza, chairman of a group which met to review the situation, said, "Everyone is wanting to put their house on the market. I will list two houses myself."

POLL BARED

She said a poll covering about 200 real estate dealers in Oak Cliff indicated that 2,000 to 4,000 residents of that section have made the inquiries about housing deals—an increase of about 90 per cent.

Mrs. Mendoza said the poll was taken at the request of city councilman Jesse Price, who said the information was asked by a member of a court-appointed tri-ethnic committee on school problems, Dick Stroman.

Spirited protests were made by Oak Cliff spokesmen earlier to the Dallas school board, which decided to appeal an order by U.S. Dist. Judge William M. Taylor Jr. last Monday for reshuffling pupils to achieve a broader racial mix.

The largest concentration of Negroes is in South Dallas and several schools in that part of the city are predominantly black.

REFUSED TO TALK

Taylor himself found it necessary to assign a special deputy to answer telephone calls. He refused to talk to anyone himself.

Many protests were voiced also by persons calling a hotline emergency information service set up by the school board, which has been receiving 7,500 calls a day.

Classroom Teachers of Dallas filed appeals Thursday for seven of the 2,000 teachers who have been reassigned under the desegregation order, which requires that each faculty be 75 per cent white and 25 per cent Negro. School officials said abot 500 teachers have complained, and a flood of appeals was expected.

Dr. Nolan Estes, superintendent of schools, said most of the $13 million required to carry out the desegregation order will be drawn from proceeds of a $65 million bond issue voted in 1967.

Part of the bond revenue was designated for new construction and buying school sites and equipment. This will be diverted to purchase school buses, portable buildings and television cables.

Judge Taylor already has approved the spending of $1.5 million for 35 four-room portable classroom buildings to relieve overcrowding in North Dallas schools.

It has been estimated that $10 million in television equipment will be needed to carry out part of the program for integrating classes in elementary grades.

220 BUSES

The school board has voted to ask court approval for spending about $2 million for 220 buses. Estes said he doubted that buses will be available for transporting about 15,000 junior high and high school pupils by Sept. 7, when the new term is due to start.

"If we can't get the buses," Estes said, "we will have to use what we can and assign students to them on a priority basis or ask the district court to stay implementation of that part of the plan."

To avoid busing of elementary pupils, the court's decision provides for face-to-face audiovisual contacts via television for black and white pupils. Estes said the television contact, for one hour a day, will occur during social studies classes.

NEW DRUG REGULATIONS ZIP INTO EFFECT TODAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Druggists will not be allowed to refill prescriptions for amphetamines and methamphetamines beginning today.

The stricter regulations for the stimulants are in an order reclassifying the drugs because of what Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell called their "potential for abuse."

The drugs are prescribed mainly to halt obesity or hyperactivity in children, but they are known as "uppers" and "speed" by illicit users.

Red Cross First Aid Course Due

LAMESA (SC) — A standard Red Cross first aid course will be held Monday at the Health and Welfare building at 309 N. Houston beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Local Red Cross officials noted that immediate first aid care might have saved many of the 28,500 Americans who lost their lives in home ahcidents in 1970.

The meeting will be the first in a series on the free 10-hour course which is open to interested persons 15 years of age and older.

Model Cities Money Target

HOUSTON (AP) — The city council has approved projects to keep Houston from losing $1.8 million in federal model cities funds.

The money was left over funds from the city's $13 million program which ends Aug. 31. Several agencies were unable to use all the funds budgeted for them.

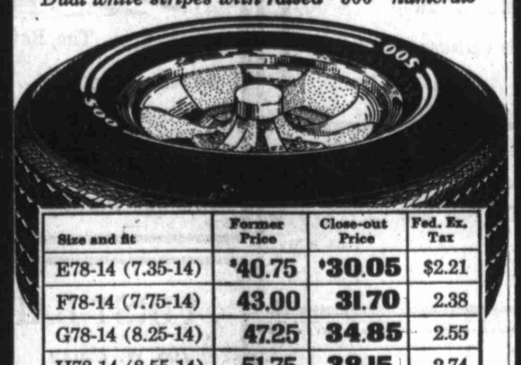

The largest project was $406,423 for a leased lot modular homes project of Houston Housing Development Corp.

Youngsters Enjoy Camping Through Area Baptists' Aid

Through the cooperative effort of six area Baptist associations, underprivileged and troubled youngsters from the Permian Basin, have been able to enjoy wholesome camp activities and receive religious counseling this summer.

The Permian Basin Baptist Encampment at Stanton has been opened to these youngsters for the laat two weeks. Last week 160 boys enjoyed the facilities under the drection of Bob Burkett, Midland.

Mrs. L. L. Parsons is directing this week's "Hope Camp" for 210 girls. She is assisted by 40 women who have volunteered to act as counselors.

Hope Camp is a project of the Big Spring Baptist Association, G. A. Y. (Gaines-Andrews-Yoakum) Association, Lamesa Baptist Association, Midland Baptist Association, Mitchell-Scurry Counties Baptist Association and Odessa Baptist Association.

The camp project is designed to give youngsters who might otherwise have no opportunity to attend a camp a chance, to let them know that someone cares if they have a good time or not, and to vent their energies in a wholesome direction rather than leaving the youngsters on their own to get into trouble.

"Hope is a good four letter word," said Dr. John Rankin, administrator of the encampment, of the camp's name, "and we're trying to offer these youngsters, any of whom are impoverished or in trouble, hope for a better life. We're offering hope to youngsters who could end up in despair."

Howard County Juvenile Officer Keith Jones has in the past in Herald interviews pointed out that youngsters tend to get into trouble more in the summer because they are bored and have nothing to do. Many of the youngsters attending Hope Camp might not be allowed to attend other camps, and they would not have the money to attend in any case.

According to Dr. Rankin, the project is carried out by an advisory or resource committee formed from the associations which work closely with Permian Women's Missionary Unions and juvenile officers to determine which youngsters could be benefitted by a camping experience.

"We have swimming, volleyball and basketball activities for them," said Dr. Rankin, "and we have a minister who offers religious counsel. We also have persons who speak to them on things they need to know."

On Wednesday, we had someone speak to them on drugs. The response has been good. The kids seem satisfied and they have good times. They really enjoy the swimming," added Dr. Rankin.

Building Designs Consider Twister

LUBBOCK — A week-long short course on design of structures to resist tornadoes and hurricane winds will be held at Texas Tech University Aug. 16-20.

Civil engineering Prof. James R. McDonald, director of the short course, said the increasing incidence of wide spread destruction caused by tornadoes and hurricanes each year has led engineers to seek ways of designing structures to be more resistant to extreme winds.

Purpose of the short course is to present a comprehensive study of the nature of tornadoes and hurricanes and to relate their behavior to the structural response of various types of building systems.

MUSICAL MISSIONAIRS

Trio Presents Song Ministry

Revival and evangelistic effort is now in progress at the Church of God, West Fourth and Galveston. The special services began last Sunday and will continue through Sunday. Service begins each night at 7:30 p.m. Prayer meetings are being conducted each morning at 10:00 a.m.

Visiting singers and ministers for these services are The Musical Missionairs. The trio is made up of the Rev. and Mrs. Emory Thompson and Connie Gains. Their ministry in song and sermon is a great blessing and everyone is given a cordial invitation to attend these services.

Tech Speaker

LUBBOCK — Dr. Jack Kenny Williams, president of Texas A&M University, will deliver the principal address at the Aug. 21 summer commencement at 7:30 p.m. at Texas Tech University. Dr. Williams is the 17th president of Texas A&M University and the fourth president of the Texas A&M University System, having been inaugurated April 19 of this year.

Evangel Temple Slates J. Rollins For Revival

Evangelist Jerry Rollins of Arlington, Tex., will be the guest evangelist for revival services at Evangel Temple Assembly of God, 2205 Goliad, Big Spring, beginning Wednesday through August 18.

Active in evangelistic work for more than 14 years, Evangelist Rollins is sought after by all denominations as a revival speaker. One personal aspect of his ministry is prayer for those attending each night. He will also present his musical ministry on guitar.

The Rev. Rollins is known for his intensive, personal dedication to Christ. He is considered by other evangelists of the Assemblies of God to be one of the greatest "prayer warriors" in the evangelistic ministry today.

Services will begin each evening at 7:30 with prayer services each evening at 7. Special music will be presented in each service. If transportation is desired, please call the Rev. Calvin at 263-6871 or 263-1136.

Rev. Calvin invites all denominations to attend these revival services. A hearty "welcome" is extended to the public by Evangel Temple Assembly of God.

Church Plans Family VBS

A special family Vacation Bible School will be held at the Carl Street Church of Christ Monday-Friday.

The theme of the school will be "Family in Crisis," according to Ron Sellers, minister of the church.

"The school will be a family type affair, with classes from 7-9:15 p.m. each night so that the entire family may attend," he said.

A staff of 25 teachers and coordinators will teach classes. Classes will be set up by age groups, starting with age two. An assembly program will be held each night under the direction of Kenneth Roach.

An awards program will be held the final night of the school and the boy and girl who bring in the most visitors will be awarded a Bible. Each class will also present a project or program about what they learned in the class. The last night will also be an open house for anyone who wants to come.

Transportation to the school will be furnished to anyone who needs it by calling 267-7529 or 263-3073.

Gary Goodwin's Family Expresses Gratitude

Friends and other concerned people contributed $2,657.47 to the Gary Goodwin Cystic Fibrosis Fund to aid the late Gary Goodwin during his treatment for the disease which claimed his live.

"There is no way that we can show how much we appreciate the wonderful manner in which everybody rallied to our aid at a time when everything seemed so black," said Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Goodwin. "Nothing can bring back our precious boy, but your kindness and sympathy and practical help is stimulating and helped us to bear the burden."

They also had thanks to the Herald, to KHEM for a benefit program, and the First National Bank for serving as depository. The fund was sponsored by West Side Baptist Church, the Rev. Jack Clynkscales, pastor.

Baptist Men Plan Meet

The Big Spring Baptist Association will meet Monday evening at the Midway Baptist Church. The executive board and the Woman's Missionary Union meetings will be at 6 p.m. with the program to follow at 7:15 p.m. The theme of the meeting is "People to People."

Special music will be presented by Wally Shamburger and a choir of Royal Ambassadors. Don Bradley will also present special music during the meeting.

The message of the evening will be presented by Robert E. Dixon, executive secretary of Texas Baptist Men. Dixon was formerly the Royal Ambassador director for Texas Baptists. The meeting is open to all. Sam Robertson is the associational director of the Baptist Men's organization.

Request Prayer

Women of the St. Thomas Catholic Church are requesting prayers on behalf of Robert Gonzales, son of Mrs. Lupe Gonzales, 909 Runnels. Robert has been hospitalized for a kidney and bladder ailment, but friends are concerned about his welfare.

Mrs. Gonzales has been a faithful worker in the church.

Select The Church Of Your Choice And Be Faithful

In Your Attendance

You'd probably love to have a car like this to fool around with. But suppose you had to drive it day in and day out?

We Americans are used to having the latest, and we don't like to live with what seems out-of-date to us. For that reason, a good many of us don't go to church. We tell ourselves that church was great for Grandma and Grandpa, or maybe even for Mom and Dad, but it has no place for us in this jet age.

If we believe this . . . then it is we who are out-of-date! The Church today is a modern institution in touch with the world around it. It helps us cope with the problems of modern life, teaching us to change with a changing world. Let's catch up with the times. Let's attend church.

Get Restyled

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What does a single, normal, 24-year-old girl do when she looks masculine? I am 5 feet, 11 inches tall, but I am on the slim side—probably because I'm very athletic. I've always worn my hair short because I haven't the patience to handle a fussy hairdo, and short hair is more convenient for swimming, sailing and tennis. I wear practically no makeup and prefer tailored clothes.

I am friendly and have always been popular with boys and girls. I'm fairly intelligent (college graduate), I love fun, but I am seldom asked for a date, so I do what other dateless girls do — spend my time with the girls. I've been told no men ask me out because they think I am "for girls." Nothing could be further from the truth, but a girl can't wear a sign to that effect. So, tell me, Dear Abby, how do I solve my problem?

TALL, DARK AND LONESOME

DEAR TALL: Change your image. Get some expert advice on restyling your hair, how to apply makeup artistically, and go in for more feminine attire. Come up with some tickets or an invitation somewhere and invite a man to be your escort. It won't solve your problem overnight, but it's a good beginning. Good luck!

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I just read that letter from "VITO IN NAPOLI" who reads your column in the Rome Daily American. Vito says he is of Italian royal blood and would like to meet an American lady who owns a late model automobile. Then he requests all interested ladies send a photograph of the automobile! Love that neapolitan sense of humor.

It just so happens I, too, have Italian royalty in my background. (Province of Roma.) I am 5 feet 5 inches tall and am a well-proportioned 130 pounds, have long, golden brown hair, light skin and dark Italian eyes.

Any eligible Italian bachelor or widower with honorable intentions who would like to meet a Binghamton (N.Y.) lady may send me his photograph together with his letter of introduction — written in Italian if he so wishes. I capeesh!

CARA CLARA

DEAR ABBY: Four months ago I double-dated with a very good friend of mine. I'll call her "Joan." She had been going steady with this fellow for over a year so I wasn't surprised when she told me he had proposed to her that night. She said she was sort of expecting it but she didn't know when and naturally she was thrilled and excited and she said something about wanting me to be one of her bridesmaids.

Nothing more was said about it. The next thing I knew, two of my friends said they were going downtown to help Joan pick out the patterns for the bridesmaids' dresses. Now it turns out Joan is having six bridesmaids and I am not one of them.

Do you suppose she forgot she asked me? Should I remind her?

LEFT OUT

DEAR LEFT: No. She was probably carried away in the excitement of the moment, and when she came off Cloud Nine she either forgot she had asked you, or she changed her mind.

Means To Return As Police Chief

PASADENA, Tex. (AP) — Ellis Means has resigned his position with the state narcotics bureau in Austin and will return as police chief here Monday.

Means, 42, who resigned as chief here in 1968, succeeds Douglas Wilson, who resigned for "personal and health reasons." Wilson, 54, will return to his former job as an inspector.

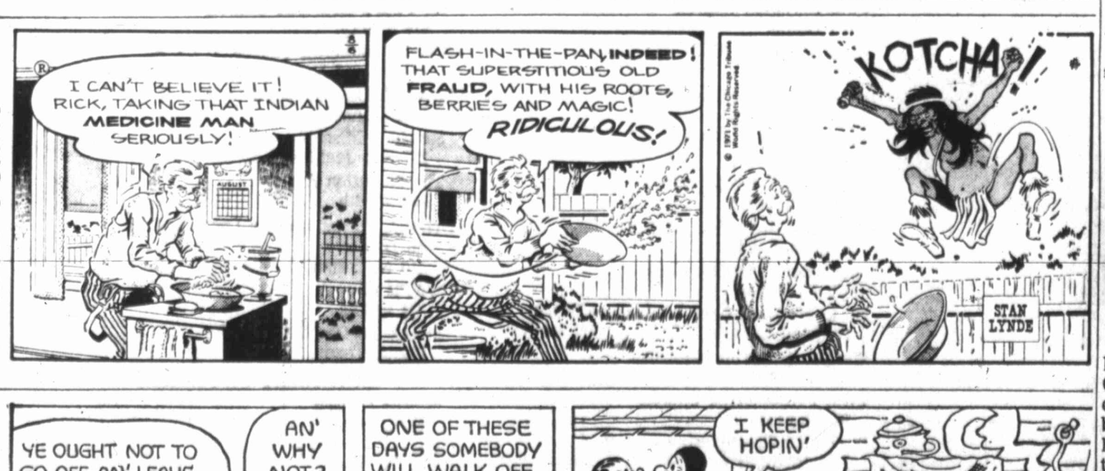

'Necessary'?

Your Good Health

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like to know when a D. and C. is absolutely necessary. My doctor wants me to have one because now and then I have had more bleeding than at other times.

This doctor believes in preventive medicine, but I feel like if it is not that necessary, why do it, especially all that scar tissue?—K.M.

Depends on what you mean by "absolutely necessary." You don't have to go to the doctor at all. There might be some unfortunate consequences if you didn't, but it's still your choice.

A D. and C. (dilation and curettage, or scraping of the uterus) is an important diagnostic procedure. Done by a competent surgeon, there is no harm, and no scar tissue — I don't know where you got the idea of "all that scar tissue." The scraping is done with a smooth, rather than a cutting, instrument.

Excessive bleeding is one of the prime reasons for doing a D. and C., to learn whether the bleeding is from an excessively thick uterus lining, a polyp, cancer, or an incomplete abortion.

Until your doctor does the test, he has no way of knowing whether your bleeding signifies some minor disturbance or something potentially very serious.

I think you are being unfair both to him and to yourself by objecting to the procedure which he recommends. Unfair mainly to yourself.

* * *

Dear Dr. Thosteson Please send another copy of your booklet, "Help for Hypoglycemia (Low Blood Sugar)" and I enclose 25 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope for it.

I keep giving my copies to friends who have the condition. I hope someday to be able to keep one for myself, as I have low blood sugar and find your booklet one of the most sensible written on the condition. It is surprising how little most doctors know regarding proper diet for it.—Mrs. H.J.L.

I'd have to question whether that's true of "most" doctors. But I do admit that, unless you've studied it a bit, it's easy to jump to the conclusion that eating sugar is the way to treat it. Actually, that's the wrong way — as you know — but it's an odd little physiological trap.

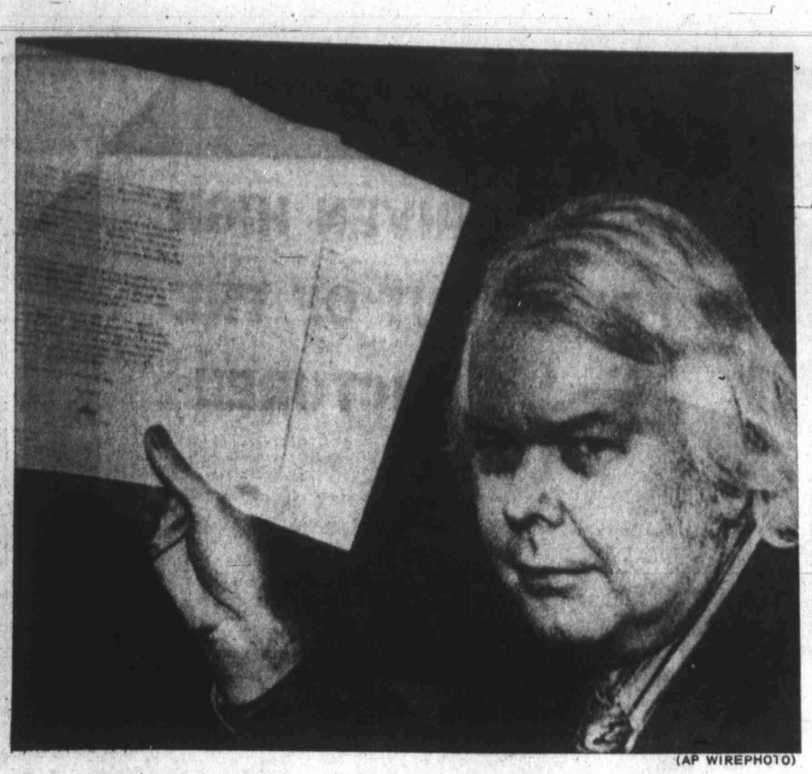

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it better to take ascorbic acid tablets rather than drinking fruit juice for vitamin C, as I have a duodenal ulcer?—Mrs. R.D.

The citric acid content of citrus or other juices does not increase stomach acid, so either fruit juice or ascorbic acid tablets (vitamin C is ascorbic acid) are perfectly acceptable. And, by the way, it's important to get a good supply of vitamin C one way or the other, as some ulcer diets are deficient in it.

* * *

Shingles can be a painful disease! To receive a copy of Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "The Facts About Shingles," write to him in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 15 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

FOR BEST RESULTS, USE THE HERALD'S WANT ADS!

NIXON LETTER AUCTIONED — Autograph collector and dealer Charles Hamilton holds the first presidential letter signed by President Nixon ever offered for sale. The letter, originally sent to Dr. Joseph Kaplan of Los Angeles, brought $300 in an auction at New York Waldorf-Astoria Thursday. Hamilton also holds two unpublished letters by Edgar Allen Poe which sold for $3,700 and $3,500.

School Funds Bid Balloons

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Dr. J. Don Boney, chief instructional officer of the Houston School District, says the district will ask for at least $9.3 million in federal funds to ease the hardships of school integration for the 1971-72 school year.

Boney said Thursday that the proposal would be submitted after it is reviewed by a newly created multi-racial advisory committee. He said the committee was composed of five Mexican - Americans, five Negroes and five anglos.

Boney said the proposal would have district wide involvement, but the main thrust is for the development of a quality education program in 22 elementary schools affected by the federal pairing plan.

Boney said the proposal would be the largest single request for federal funds ever made by the school district. The district received $2 million under the same program in 1970-71.

IF MARRIAGE IS DEAD, WHY BEAT A DEAD HORSE?

DALLAS (AP) — The founder-director of the Midwest Christian Counseling Center, Kansas City, Kan., said here recently that if a marriage is dead, "why beat a dead horse?"

Dr. R. Lofton Hudson said that the work of a good many lawyers and counselors is to find out if a marriage is dead or alive.

"The counselor or the attorney who has fixed ideas about what constitutes a good marriage or who tries to save every marriage can do a great deal of harm," he said.

A Baptist minister for 25 years, he said that flexibility "whether it's about money, cleanliness, eating habits or how you squeeze the toothpaste tube" is important.

"I solved the last one by buying tooth powder," he quipped.

Dr. Hudson says marriage is like buying a phonograph record: "You buy it for what's on one side and then have to take what's on the other."

"Ideally, divorce ought to be unheard of for a dead marriage," he said.

Okie Fortune Just A Hoax?

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — An Oklahoma City forklift operator's inheritance seemed to pull a disappearing act Thursday and what was thought to have been a fortune may have turned into a hoax.

James M. Weichering had told the Daily Oklahoman, a morning newspaper, Wednesday that he had just inherited $575,000, three oil wells, stocks, bonds, a ranch and 220 head of cattle from his late grandfather, John C. Sperry, of Longview, Tex.

His mother, Mrs. Anna Weichering of Shawnee, Okla., told the newspaper Thursday that Sperry, who was her father, died in Shawnee in 1947, and was as "poor as Job's turkey."

Longview records show no will bearing the name of John Sperry.

Charges Filed On Lamesa Man

Walter Mac McCarty. 302 N. 19th, Lamesa, was arrested Wednesday and charged in Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter's court with theft by bailee in connection with the loss of a vehicle from Hopper Toyota House.

Bond has been set at $5,000 by Slaughter and McCarty was transfered to county jail Thursday.

"McCarty is wanted on a charge of violation of federal probation and also another charge of circulating worthless checks," said Detective Lt. Sherrill Farmer.

Two other persons, a man and a woman, were arrested along with McCarty. The woman has been released and the man was transferred to the Lamesa police who were holding a warrant for his arrest, said Farmer.

Colgan To Head Fair Swine Unit

LAMESA (SC) — Lee Roy Colgan, Dawson County agricultural agent, will again this year return to the Panhandle South Plains Fair as superintendent of the swine show.

Dr. Leland F. Tribble of the animal husbandry department of the Texas Tech agriculture school will judge the swine entries in the 54th edition of the South Plains fair scheduled for Lubbock Sept. 27 through Oct. 2.

LEGAL NOTICE

THE STATE OF TEXAS
To: OPAL FAYE McCARTY, Defendant, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to appear by filing a written answer to the Plaintiff's Petition at or before ten o'clock A.M. of the first Monday after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being Monday the 6th day of September, 1971, at or before ten o'clock A.M. before the Honorable District Court of Howard County, Texas, at the Court House of said County in Big Spring, Texas.

Said Plaintiff's Petition was filed in said court, on the 3rd day of May, A.D. 1971, in this cause numbered 19,477 on the docket of said court, and styled, S. F. McCARTY, Plaintiff, vs. OPAL FAYE McCARTY, Defendant.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to-wit:

Plaintiff alleges legal marriage and residence in Howard County six (6) months and State of Texas twelve (12) months next preceding the filing thereof. Plaintiff alleges cruel and discord or conflict of personalities; that there are no children under eighteen (18) years of age born to or adopted by this marriage and none are expected; that there is no property to be adjudicated, and Plaintiff prays for divorce, as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's Petition on file in this suit.

If this citation is not served within ninety days after the date of its issuance, it shall be returned unserved.

The officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law, and make due return as the law directs.

Issued and given under my hand and the Seal of said Court, at office in Big Spring, Texas, this the 21st day of July, A.D. 1971.

Attest: [illegible]
District Court,
Howard County, Texas.
By GLENDA BRASEL, Deputy.

NIXON'S ACTIONS IN AUSTIN SCHOOL CASE UNFURLS:

Desegregation-Busing Confusion

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seventeen years after the Supreme Court proclaimed school desegregation to be the law of the land, there is deep disagreement throughout the country over exactly what the law requires.

Since its original ruling in 1954, the Supreme Court and a number of lower federal courts have decreed methods of achieving desegregation. Each of these decisions, in turn, has become the focal point of a new argument.

Today the central issue is busing, a word that has come to mean transporting black and white children to schools outside their neighborhoods until there are no more schools either all-black or all-white.

'LAW OF THE LAND'

That disagreement, if not confusion, exists at the highest levels of government was demonstrated this week when President Nixon publicly repudiated a school desegregation plan drawn up by his own Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The President's position underscores the historical fact that despite what any court decrees, the "law of the land" on desegregation or any other subject is the interpretation adopted by those responsible for enforcing it.

Until Nixon's intervention, the shapers of the basic law laid down by the Supreme Court had been the judges of the federal district and appellate courts, particularly those in the South.

It was these courts that fashioned the doctrine of de jure and de facto segregation and narrowed the application of the law to de jure segregation, which meant the South, where separate school systems for blacks and whites had been established by law.

BETTER RECORD

More than any other aspect this has been the cause of resentment and bitterness in the South, particularly since it has been shown that Southern schools now have a better record of desegregation than those of big Northern cities.

Until just recently, the prevailing view in the courts has been that Northern segregation was de facto, resulting from voluntarily establishing housing patterns, and thus was immune from the law.

That, however, has begun to change, and a scattering of court cases in the North have made busing a national, not a regional issue. Seven Northern cities and the federal government now are involved in suits requiring extensive busing to effect desegregation.

Of these, Pontiac, Mich., likely will be the first to test the issue in the Supreme Court. The city lost in the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, and officials are considering an appeal to the Supreme Court.

TULSA TARGETED

Desegregation plans involving busing also have been ordered in San Francisco and Pasadena, Calif. Action is pending in cases involving South Holland, Ill., Tulsa, Okla., Waterbury, Conn., and Indianapolis.

It was a lower federal court, in 1955, that laid the basis for one of the first methods widely adopted as a means of complying with the original desegregation system. This court decided that the Supreme Court had not taken away the right of people to choose the school their children attend. The result was the "freedom-of-choice" plans put into effect in most Southern school districts over the next decade.

But in 1968 the Supreme Court ruled that any freedom-of-choice plan that did not result in effective desegregation was unconstitutional. It is because of that ruling that many school districts are still trying to achieve satisfactory plans.

POWER TO CUT AID

Next to the courts, the chief influence in determining desegregation law has been the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Armed with the power to cut off federal aid to school districts that fail to comply with the law, they have induced hundreds to accept and implement desegregation plans.

In fact, of the 4,400 school districts in the 17 Southern and border states, all but 70 are regarded as in full compliance now.

Those where problems still exist, however, include some of the largest cities in the South. Considerable busing will be required to do away with all-black or all-white schools in these districts, and that is why they are the focal point in the current controversy.

An amendment to the 1964 civil rights act specifically prohibits the federal government or the courts from requiring busing to overcome racial imbalance in the schools, and such language is added each year to education appropriations bills.

But both the courts and HEW have declared that any busing involved in their desegregation plans is to improve the quality of education, not to overcome racial imbalance, and so the intent of Congress has been evaded.

RACIAL BALANCE

Nixon also has consistently opposed busing to achieve racial balance. He has said so publicly on many occasions and the administration asked the Supreme Court to rule against the court-ordered desegregation plan for Charlotte, N.C., which required extensive busing.

The court's unanimous decision last April in favor of the plan, and of busing generally as a means of achieving desegregation, was a blow to the President's policy.

Because his opposition was so well known, it came as a surprise to many last May when HEW filed a desegregation plan that would require substantial busing.

The plan, which was the administration's first response to the Charlotte decision, had been cleared with the White House and the Justice Department before it was filed and was widely interpreted at that time as a signal that opposition to busing had been dropped.

Whatever the reason for Nixon's denunciation of it this week, the result has been to compound the confusion that already surrounds the desegregation problem.

Horoscope Forecast

TOMORROW

—CARROL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is an adverse day and evening and one during which you would be wise to do nothing to stir up anger or resentment in any way. Those in high office or with power over you in any way are apt to be demanding and unpleasant, but it's only one day, so you have to use control and self-effacement to keep out of trouble.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) A day when friends could take advantage of you and cause you to spend a good deal of money on them, so zip your purse and show you are sane, sensible. Make your house more attractive. Drive with utmost care.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) If you don't get rid of that stubborn streak you can have trouble both at home and in the business world now. Smile more and stop arguing about money. See how you can add to present income and all is fine.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Keep your mind on what you are doing when driving and avoid accidents — do your lovemaking at home. Being snide with others is only a matter of a disturbed conscience. Increase success by being adroit.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't learn to value money by suffering from extravagance first — show that you are sensible now. Make repairs to car or property before things fall apart, not after. Wake up and live!

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You are apt to be forceful just to gain your aims and this would run your chance of success, so tone down and be practical, sensible. Seek correct methods for getting rid of any blemish you may have. Don't envy others — you were endowed with plenty.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Many things annoy you today and you want to rid yourself of them, but it is only because you are peeved. Take it easy, and think of sidestepping only the real drawbacks. Don't go off on tangents; keep promises to the letter and be efficient in work.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have certain superficial friends you would like to tell off, but be patient, since they do amuse you a good deal. Do not attend some affair that for some reason could cause an argument. Take a rain check on it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Demonstrating with bigwigs in civic affairs whose ideas you do not understand could get you into a good deal of trouble. Study all matters well. Then take a stand on the right side of the fence, as it were.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Not a good day to start on a trip or begin some new course for which you are not well enough equipped as yet. You could really get taken. Do some studying tonight instead of going out.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You planned to get work done today that is difficult for you on busy weekdays, so don't take off on some tangent instead. Make out those checks that are important. Being courteous with mate works better than being flippant.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Get busy at own affairs and don't try to waste time of your associates who have other plans for today. Some unkind word could really start an avalanche of verbal daggers, so think before you speak. Make sure you dial telephone numbers correctly.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Instead of arguing with others, get busy clearing up all those little odds and ends that have been accumulating. Move carefully so that you do not ruin clothing, break things. If you smoke too much, just forget to light the cigarette.

Commissioners Reiterate Full Authority To Bogard

Guidelines and policies governing the functioning of the local police department were drawn in a special session of the city commission Thursday afternoon, and three new policemen were approved by the commission.

The men approved to fill recently vacated positions in the department are C. P. Ward Jr., a reserve policeman, James E. Nettles, Midland, and Jimmy Wallace, Roscoe.

The line of command, routes to be followed in working complaints against police officers, and the current situation involving a number of resignations were the main topics of discussion between Stanley Bogard, acting police chief, and the commission.

Bogard told the commission that work toward securing the services of other men is under way and assured the commission that the city would be secure with the help of those officers staying with the force and the help of the police reserves.

Eight police officers have tendered their resignations to Bogard, a few other officers and office personnel are expected to resign.

A policy of non-interference on the part of a single commissioner in the functioning of the department was agreed upon by the commission. Eddie Acri, commissioner, said that it was clear there would be no intervention on the part of individual commissioners and that policies would have to be set by the whole commission.

Also the commission gave Bogard complete authority to direct the department.

"I want the commission to know that the men staying in the department are confident in my leadership and that the whole department and myself will give 110 per cent of our efforts toward cooperating with the commission," said Bogard in the meeting.

"I am talking for myself, but I am sure the whole commission will agree that we are 110 per cent behind you and the department and will do everything possible to work toward better law enforcement in the town," Jack Watkins, commissioner, told the acting chief. The commission agreed that the feeling was mutual.

Roy Anderson, acting city manager, commended those staying with the department saying, "we have a job to do and with the help and cooperation of all we will be able to pull the city back together."
