Soil Stewardship Week Observation Scheduled

Theme- 'We Begin Again' Boosts Bi-Centennial

"The directors of the Blackwater Valley Soil and Water Conservation District ask you to join them in observing Soil Stewardship Week, May 23 through 30," asked Jerry Wenmohs of the local district this week.

"At a time when pressures grow on the land, it is useful to remind ourselves of the origins and history of the Soil Stewardship observance," he continued. "They stress the allegiance of all men to God and their Dependence on His grace for all good things."

Wenmohs said the theme "We Begin Again..." is proper and fitting for the special annual observance in this Bi-Centennial Year and said materials have been distributed to all local and area churches for their use on Soil Stewardship days in their particular church.

Challenges have been issued to the people including - Are you doing everything you can to preserve our national heritage as king of the food producers? If you are not using your land and facilities to its utmost, members of the Blackwater Valley Soil and Water Conservation District are ready to help you gain the most productivity possible.

Throughout the ages, men have offered humble thanks to their Creator for the priceless gifts of air, soil, water, and sunshine which make all living things possible, said Wenmohs.

The custom of setting aside special days - Rogation Days - for this purpose began more than 1,500 years ago in the neighborhood of Vienne, France. Bad weather and earthquakes had brought crop failures and widespread hunger. The Bishop of Vienne called for prayer and penance on three days preceding Ascension Day. The people responded and implored God for help in their suffering and privation. Word of what had happened in Vienne spread throughout

Moisture Skips County; Hail Slams Parmer

Despite heavy, threatening clouds, an lightning in the distance, rain has continued to elude Bailey County, with only a few sprinkles Friday afternoon in Muleshoe.

Forecasters had predicted a good rain, and in fact, some rain, along with damaging hail, belted a path across Parmer County from about the county line late Thursday afternoon.

No crop estimates were available as to a damage assessment from the Thursday afternoon hail storm, however, it was not thought to be too great a problem and apparently only covered a small area.

Cotton producers have only two more weeks until the June 6 cut-off date to plant a cotton crop this year. Bailey County Extension Agricultural Agent Spencer Tankley said that at least two inches of moisture would be necessary before dry-land producers could plant cotton.

France -- and then to other countries. The supplication filled a need in the hearts and minds of the people, and as they years went by, Rogation Days were widely observed as an annual custom. By the end of the eighth century, the Church formally adopted the custom. Now, the world over, people on Rogation Days beg the mercy of God and ask that He spare His children the evils of soul and body -- and give good increase to the plants of the field.

In our own land it has met an evident need of the people to set aside a week each year to acknowledge before God our gratitude for His gifts of soil and all the bountiful resources associated with it. The weeks has become a special time to remind all people that these gifts warrant their best in Christian Stewardship.

In America, the soil stewardship observance has always traced its origins to the Rogation Days. Throughout parts of the south, earlier in this century, churches and their congregations began to set aside the fifth Sunday after Easter as Soil and Soul Sunday.

Subsequently, this became Soil Stewardship Sunday, when, in 1946, the publishers of Farm and Ranch magazine suggested to religion leaders in a few southern states that one Sunday be set aside each year to remind their congregations of man's duty to be a good steward of the land.

The response of clergymen and laymen was so warm and widespread that observance of Soil Stewardship Sunday spread steadily to additional states. In 1954, the publishers of the magazine suggested to the officers of the National Association of Conservation Districts that a still wider observance of Soil Stewardship Sunday could aid significantly in bringing about a national awakening and recognition of men's obligation to the Lord's earth. The publishers offered to relinquish their limited sponsorship of Soil Stewardship Sunday to the Association -- which represents 3,000 local soil and water conservation district organizations throughout America.

The Association accepted, and beginning in 1955 undertook to encourage a nationwide observance, a mission to which it has dedicated itself ever since. It is observed under guidance of a special Soil Stewardship Advisory Committee of clergymen representing many of the country's religious denominations. In 1956, recognizing possible conflicts with the observance of

Government Worker Here From Belgium

Praises Transportation; Housing; Entertainment

An employee in the administrative section of the State Department, Imogene Sloan, sister of Mrs. Clarence Copeland of Muleshoe, is presently visiting in Muleshoe. She is becoming "re-orientated" before being transferred to a new location.

Working for the last three years in Brussels, Belgium, the state department employee will be transferred to The Hague when her seven weeks leave is over.

"I have worked for 15 years plus, for the State Department," said Mrs. Sloan, when questioned about her length of service with the government traveling throughout the world.

She added that State Department employees usually spend an average of three years in a European country and usually 18 months to two years in the Far East.

The native of Amarillo said she got into state department work through a friend who was with the State Department. Her first overseas assignment was in Bonn, Germany, one of five European countries where she has been stationed to date.

According to Mrs. Sloan, Belgium has a parliamentary-type government with a king and a prime minister, and conducted similarly to the type of government in England.

Many large industries have their headquarters in Belgium, she added, because that country has control of the EEC (European Economic Commission) and most large industry in Europe is very eager to get into EEC. "Distance in Europe is nothing," said Mrs. Sloan. "For instance, you can go completely across Belgium in approximately one half day."

She said the countries are small, but public transportation "is excellent". Most of the cross-country travel is by train or flying, and the passenger train system is the best in Germany, with fast, modern trains.

The government official lived in modern government housing in Brussels, and in The Hague, she will reside in what is called semi-furnished housing as there is no government housing available in that country.

Belgium is very cold and rainy, according to Mrs. Sloan, and there is very little ice and snow until you get further south into Germany.

Mrs. Sloan said Bavarian people are very outgoing, but farther north, people tend to be more reserved.

There is no shortage of food in Belgium, she related, but meat is very high, with beef commonly costing $7. to $8. per pound for a filet. Filets are the only cut of meat which is similar to American cuts of beef, she added. Vegetables are in good supply and are generously bought on open market, and are similar to the types of vegetables available in this country.

Most cooking is French, she continued, with most foods covered with some type of sauce. Partially she said, this is done as meat in Europe tends to be very lean and the sauce cover makes it more palatable. Very expensive Scottish beef, with fat edge and well-marbled is very

How New Beef Standards Will Affect Quality of Meat

AUSTIN—Now that the new beef grading standards are in effect, consumers probably are wondering how the quality of beef they buy will be affected.

"The taste, tenderness and juiciness of beef, as well as the cost, should remain the same," says Frank Brooks, meat specialist with the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Brooks pointed out that beef will continue to be graded according to tenderness and taste. In addition, grading will continue to be voluntary and inspection will continue to be mandatory.

The new standards have resulted in four changes.

First, all beef must be graded for both quality and yield. Before, beef could be graded for either or both. The quality grades will remain the same—Prime, Choice, Good, Standard, Commercial, Utility, Cutter and Canner. Yield grades, numbering from 1 to 5, indicate how much saleable meat can be taken from a carcass with the most useable meat available from the lower yield grades.

Second, the minimum amount of marbling specified will be the same for cattle between 9 and 30 months old. As a result, slightly leaner beef will qualify for U.S. Prime and Choice. Previously, increased marbling was required to compensate for increased age of cattle.

Third, the U.S. Good grade has been changed to include lean but tender beef.

Fourth, carcass shapes will no longer be a factor in determining the quality grade.

Pesticides Require Safe Use, Disposal

AUSTIN--To many people, the best thing about spring is working in their yards and gardens but unfortunately, a necessary evil accompanies gardening--pesticides.

Agriculture Commissioner John C. White cautions gardeners to remember that pesticides are toxic poisons and are dangerous if applied or disposed of carelessly.

Commissioner White offers the following suggestions for pesticide safety:

1. Before using a pesticide, be sure that a problem exists. If in doubt, contact your local county agent, a professional entomologist or pest control expert.
2. Make certain you use the correct pesticide.
3. Use exactly the amount prescribed on the label. The recommended dosage is time-tested and certified effective.
4. Apply pesticide only in areas where needed.
5. Water used to wash and rinse the application equipment is contaminated. It should be discarded only in areas where pest control is desired.

6. Empty containers or small amounts of surplus pesticide should not be discarded in sewers, in toilet bowls or down household drains.

7. Homeowners should dispose of empty containers by wrapping them in several thick layers of newspaper, then crushing or breaking the empty containers and placing them in a garbage can for pick-up.

8. Where there is no garbage collection, the containers should be wrapped and crushed, then buried between 18 and 24 inches deep in clay or loam soil. Caution should be exercised to keep the containers at least 500 feet from livestock or water sources.

Additional information about the safe handling of pesticides is available in the pamphlet "The Safe Use and Disposal of Pesticides and Their Containers." For a free copy, write Commissioner John C. White, Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

Bill Loyd, President Muleshoe State Bank

Inflation, simply stated, means it takes more to buy less, and while the experience may be new to some, anyone over 60, or even 45, has been through it before. The one thing the over 45 generation knows is that nothing lasts forever. That holds true for inflation, recession and unemployment.

Since the turn of the century, we have had two major price inflation periods, not counting the present one. 1914-20 and 1939-48, during and after two World Wars. Prices doubled, but so did our money supply. The nation also has experienced one fairly long continued peacetime rise in prices, 1897-1914, when everything went up 40-50%.

The economist-historians say we also have had four periods of economic stability, 1882-92, 1903-1913, 1923-29 and 1948-1960, and, since economic growth depends upon stable money, this nation experienced unprecedented industrial growth during each period.

As a nation, we have overcome and taken advantage of our setbacks, and we will continue to do so. One strength of our economy is its banking system, which is among the strongest in the world. Your bank provides the loans that generate the income that pays the salaries that pay the bills that keep industry moving.

"The more you know about our business, the more we can help you!"

Texas Broiler Production Down

AUSTIN--Although placements of commercial broilers in Texas declined three per cent in 1975, gross income increased to $167,424,000 from only $140,502,000 in 1974, according to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

The number of broilers produced declined to 162,769,000 from 173,888,000 the previous year. Texas again ranked seventh in the nation in production of broilers, White noted.

Average price received by Texas producers was 27.8 cents per pound liveweight compared with only 21.3 cents per pound for 1974. This price was slightly above the nationwide average price of 26.2 cents per pound.

Average weight per broiler was 3.7 pounds, down slightly from 1974.

United States broiler production declined by two per cent during 1975. At the same time, a record high in gross income of $2,803,000 was set.

Flexitime Popular Gains Momentum

Flexitime is the idea of letting employees set their own working hours. There are many variations to the system which permits workers to vary starting and quitting times. All workers must be at the job during "core hours". The minimum number of hours all workers must put in is still 40 hours a week or 80 hours bi-weekly.

Where did the idea come from? The big push for flexitime came from women's organizations trying to get away from the rigid, no-give, five-day, 8-to-5 work schedule, which made it virtually impossible for many working mothers to hold down a job. Being able to start work at 9 instead of 8 would enable a mother to feed her youngster and have him off to school. A recent study concludes that flexibility in work schedules is a key factor in equal opportunity for women.

The first company to use flexitime was a West German manufacturer in 1967. Since then it has spread in popularity. Over 100 U.S. corporations are using it or testing it including General Motors, Montgomery Ward, National Cash Register, American Airlines and Pacific Gas and Electric. Companies using flexitime usually like the concept. Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., experimented with 400 clerical and staff personnel on flexitime and found that productivity increased while absenteeism and tardiness decreased. Smith Kline Corp. tried the experiment with 175 employees and noted a drop in turnover and tardiness. Absenteeism dropped by one-third and overtime dropped sharply.

The federal government has tried flexitime. The Army tank depot at Warren, Michigan started flexitime with 400 employees and now has 4000 workers on the system. An Air Force base in Alabama started the program with 200 workers and now has 1,100 on flexitime with plans to expand the program to 6,000 and maybe 8,000 employees. The Social Security Administration facility in Baltimore was one of the first federal agencies to use flexitime. It has 2,000 employees on the program and has authorized other offices to begin the plan. One flexitime expert has commented that, "No shop in the government has tried it and dropped it."

TEXAS WATER QUALITY BOARD
AUSTIN, TEXAS 78711

GUADALUPE MTS.-ALIVE WITH SPRINGS

"Cool, clear water . . ." as the song goes, is valued property, not only for the cowboy singing the tune, but for everyone who cares about the waters of the state.

And in Texas we're lucky. Out of the 80,000 miles of rivers and streams in the state, 83 percent of those with set standards meet those standards and almost all are suitable for swimming and fishing.

But, in West Texas, the mountains are the big recreational calling card. Southwest of Carlsbad, New Mexico, just on this side of the Texas border, Guadalupe Mountain National Park might be just the area you're looking for to get away from the phone, cars and everything but nature in its raw state.

Although the land is semi-arid, a vast network of underground springs surface at various points in the park and provide watering holes for the park's animals.

Don't be surprised if you fact, the water from all six meets the Public Drinking Water Standards with only minute traces of heavy metals appearing in the lab report.

These springs, first mentioned in recorded history 400 years ago, played a vital part in the lives of Texans in the Indian and Spanish eras of the state. And you still can enjoy them today, but watch out for that "occasional black bear."

Each was found to be distinctive in its flora and fauna. Manzanita Spring, chief watering hole for animals in the park, is the most improved of the six, with a 100-foot-wide man-made pond into which Manzanita flows as does Smith Spring, which is piped from its origin to the pond. With the highest dissolved oxygen level of the springs studied, the presence of Green Sunfish, Yellow Belly Sunfish and Blue Gill, along with frogs and tadpoles is not surprising, even though the tank is spring fed.

After lab analysis was completed on samplings from three different dates (June, July and October of 1975), the six springs all were declared to be free from contamination of any kind. In

OR MORE ON YOUR HEATING & COOLING ...

It has been known for some time that methods existed to insure the building of ENERGY EFFICIENT HOMES. But inexpensive energy in the past made it logical to ignore the extra investment such a home would require. Now with energy costs rising, it becomes more and more important to use effectively every bit of energy we consume. The TOTAL ELECTRIC ENERGY EFFICIENT HOME has construction features which result in savings of 40% or more on heating and cooling costs when compared to previously accepted standards for total electric construction.

Good Peach Crop Anticipated Despite Mid-March Freeze

AUSTIN—As late spring approaches, most Texans begin to eagerly anticipate the beginning of the state's peach season.

Preliminary indications are that the 1976 Texas peach crop should exceed last year's short harvest of 313,000 bushels, despite damage to the crop in some areas, according to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

"Gillespie County growers report a good to excellent set this year. The crop there is expected to be an outstanding one," White said.

In East, Central and South Texas, good fruit crops are expected in most areas, while in the Cross Timbers, a few peaches were hurt by a light freeze.

The worst damage occurred in Gaines County and the Northern Low Plains, where a late freeze destroyed most of the crop, White noted.

In 1975, a late freeze that hit much of the state in March severely damaged the peach crop.

Childhood PLEASURES

"Even a child is known by his doings, whether his work be pure, and whether it be right."

A mother only has to glance at her child to know if his play is pure, or if it is leading to mischief. Our Father in heaven can as easily look on our hearts and judge our ways. "A good man out of the good treasure of the heart bringeth forth good things; and an evil man out of the evil treasure bringeth forth evil things."

Seek the Lord in his house, so that your heart will be right with God.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny, the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Veterans Administrations Operate Loan Programs

Editor's note: Following are representative questions answered daily by VA counselors.
Full information is available at any VA office.

Q -- My father, a World War II veteran, is 65. Is he eligible for a VA pension?

A -- VA pensions, based on need, may be granted if at age 65, a veteran's income does not exceed $3,300, if he is single, or $4,500 if he has dependents.

Q -- Are VA benefits subject to taxation?

A -- With two exceptions, no.
Interest paid on accrued GI insurance dividends left on deposit is subject to income tax.
Death settlement proceeds of such policies are subject to federal estate taxation.

Q -- Will the VA guarantee a loan for a mobile home?

A -- Yes, assuming you meet the normal eligibility requirements for a GI loan.

Q -- How much time after separation from military service do I have to apply for compensation for a service-connected disability?

A -- You have the rest of your life to apply, but compensation is effective from your date of separation only if you apply within one year after separation.
Otherwise, payments would start effective with the date of your application.

Q -- I served on active duty for two months. Am I eligible for admission to a VA hospital?

A -- A veteran who has served at least one day of active duty other than for training purposes and discharged under conditions other than dishonorable is eligible for VA hospital care.

Q -- I have been advised that if I change the optional settlement of my GI life insurance policy from option four to option one, my wife, who is my principal beneficiary will gain flexibility of payment that she does not have now. Is that true?

A -- Yes. Option one enables the beneficiary to elect that option for settlement or any other option that pays over a longer period.

Q -- May a veteran attend two schools concurrently?

A -- Yes, under certain conditions this can be approved. For example, where courses are not available or where they are not available in a timely sequential manner. Local VA offices have full details.

Q -- I am a World War II veteran and have never used my education benefits. Am I still eligible?

A -- GI Bill educational assistance benefits for World War II veterans ended in 1956.

Contrary to some of our friends' opinions, the weight of the world isn't balanced on their shoulders.

Bula News
By Mrs. J. Blackman

WMU met Tuesday at 2:30 for their weekly study. The lesson was taken from their new mission study book entitled "tomorrow begins Today". They took up the first chapter of the book. Since Mrs. Blacke, their mission study leader was absent, the group studied together. Mrs. Richardson, prayer chairman, read the prayer calendar and Mrs. Pierce gave the prayer for the missionaries.

Those attending were Mrs. Rowena Richardson, Mrs. P.R. Pierce, Miss Vina Tugman, Mrs. J.R. Teaff and Mrs. E.O. Battles.

Mrs. Juanell Young of El Paso, is here visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C.A. Williams and son, Donnie Young, of Enochs.

Mr. and Mrs. P.R. Pierce and brother, Eddie Riley attended a workers' conference Monday night, at the First Baptist Church in Farwell.

Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Withrow are spending much time this week at the bedside of his mother, Mrs. J.W. Withrow, of Sudan, who is a patient in the Amherst Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bogard left Monday returning Wednesday, having a visit with their son and family Mr. and Mrs. Jake Bogard and children Brad and Shell, at Charlie.

Mr. and Mrs. V.C. Weaver had with them Sunday, several of their family, a daughter, Mrs. Bob Suggs, of Odessa; granddaughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Wachamurka, and children, Lena, Amy and Timothy, from Lubbock; also Mr. and Mrs. Rickey Arend and daughters Shamie, Sharie and Shannon, and Valeria Shannon of Pep, N.M.

week with her mother, Mrs. Ben Pierce and brother, Jack.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Walden of Lubbock, came out Sunday to eat lunch with his mother, Mrs. Pearl Walden. She returned home with them Sunday afternoon, and stayed until Tuesday. While there, she visited another son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Walden and a daughter, Mrs. Goldie Nixon.

They spoke at both morning and evening services, due to the absence of the regular minister, Ed Scott. Scott and wife are visiting with her people in Nebraska.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Cash of Portales, N.M., spent Sunday afternoon with her parents, the John Blackman's.

Disease Control In Home Gardens

Diseases of peaches and plums are common in this country, and control programs are a yearlong effort because fruits are subject to different diseases which occur throughout the season.

Spray applied at only specific periods control only certain diseases and allow the rest to develop and destroy the fruit, points out the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

In 1975 above average rainfall during the fruit development period caused increased losses due to brown rot. Homeowners must start early and follow a continued program if such diseases are to be controlled.

Fungicides such as captan, sulfur or Benlate are effective for controlling disease on fruit trees. These should be used on a two-week program starting at bloom and ending with an application on day prior to harvest. The fungicides can be mixed with insecticides, thus reducing the total number of spray applications required during the year.

Sanitation is important in disease control. Remove diseased fruit from trees and the soil surface below trees. Also thin the fruit load on trees so that fruit does not touch each other. Fruit should be spaced on the limb about four to six inches apart.

Fruit can be an important part in any home garden, but a disease control program is necessary to produce a healthy crop.
