House Breaks Deadlock On Gas Tax Hike

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, May 14—A deadlock over final disposition of a bill to raise the gasoline tax from four to five cents a gallon was broken in the House tonight when it finally voted to adjourn until 10 a. m. tomorrow.

The deadlock developed when it became evident that the House had no quorum, after first voting closely to kill the bill, then giving it a chance to survive on reconsideration. There were enough proponents of the measure present to block all the numerous efforts at adjournment.

Dinner Grows Cold

Meanwhile, an $800 dinner for members grew cold at a downtown hotel. The deadlock was broken after Rep. Marshall Bell of San Antonio reminded the members they had promised to attend the dinner, and that it would be discourteous and wasteful not to attend.

The House had, by its own vote, ordered the members not to leave, and directed the sergeant at arms to go out and round up the missing legislators to obtain a quorum.

Bell told the House that plans for the dinner had been made some time ago, and they owed their host the courtesy of attending. He said that several leading proponents of the bill had agreed with this. The dinner was given by H. A. Wittliff of San Antonio, of the Champion Pecan Shelling Machine company. Bell told reporters that it was simply a courtesy dinner, with a demonstration film showing the fastest methods of pecan shelling.

Kill, Then Reconsider

The deadlock came after the House had voted 62 to 59 to kill the gasoline tax bill, which had been amended to include a one-cent boost in the tax on diesel fuel. A motion to table a motion to reconsider lost 64 to 50. This had the effect of keeping the matter alive.

Rep. Jack Love of Fort Worth then arose to make a personal privilege speech, which was interrupted by members who said he was "attempting to break a quorum." He hotly denied this. Then a point of order was sustained against the speech and a vote on adjournment indicated no quorum.

It was then that House voted

Discharge Points Void For Some

PARIS, May 14. (AP) — Some American troops are considered so essential that they are being sent direct to the Pacific regardless of the points they have accumulated for discharge, it was disclosed today.

These units were marked for duty in the war against Japan even before redeployment day May 12, said Lt. Col. W. C. Hay of the redeployment plans branch in the European theater of operations.

Hay reported that most of the men now being discharged in the United States because they have a point total of 85 were overseas veterans who had been sent home for rest.

Clears Up One Point

This cleared up one point in the vast redeployment program, since the War department is not expected to announce the final critical score necessary for discharge until June 27.

The score will be worked out after all rating cards now being tabulated have been received. The redeployment of all American enlisted men will begin one week after the score is announced.

Hay said review boards, manned by veteran officers, would be set up in each major command area to handle the screening of candidates for discharge.

Names of those retained despite their scores will be submitted to headquarters by the boards with reasons for their detention.

While all American soldiers who have been prisoners will be returned to the United States, it will be up to the War department whether they will be discharged or redeployed, Hays said.

Mailing Permits To Navy Men Tightened

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP) — Effective July 1, publishers will not be permitted to mail newspapers or other periodicals to Navy personnel overseas except to fill a written request for a subscription or renewal.

The Navy, announcing the order today, said it was issued by the postmaster general at the Navy's request to "conserve shipping space and prevent nonessential mailings."

Eisenhower Cracks Down On War Criminal Fraternizing

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, May 14.—General Eisenhower cracked down sharply on senior American officers for their reported friendly treatment of high German war prisoners today after the British press had expressed hot indignation at the "sheer impertinence" of Nazi leaders and German officers since Germany's surrender.

"We have to watch these Germans," the London Evening News warned. "Unless we are very careful, they are going to get away with it again."

General's Statement

Eisenhower said:

"My attention has been called to press reports of instances of senior United States officers treating captured Nazi and high German officials on a 'friendly enemy' basis. Any such incident has been in direct violation of my expressed and long standing orders.

"Drastic measures have been set in motion to assure termination of these errors forthwith.

"Moreover," Eisenhower continued, "any past instances of this nature are by no means indicative of the attitude of this Army, but are results of faulty judgment of individuals concerned, who will be personally acquainted with expressions of my definite disapproval.

"In the name of this great force and on my own, I regret these occurrences."

None Singled Out

While Eisenhower did not single out any officer for public censure, it was recalled that when Reichmarshal Hermann Goering surrendered to the U. S. Seventh Army last week at Kitzbuehl in Austria he was treated with considerable deference.

An Associated Press field dispatch said the former head of the luftwaffe was given a lunch of chicken and peas in a hotel parlor after "brief greetings and a handshake" and later posed for pictures with Maj. Gen. John E. Dahlquist, commander of the 36th division, and with Brig. Gen. Robert J. Stack, assistant division commander.

The Paris radio carried a report, unconfirmed at Allied headquarters, that an unidentified American officer of high rank had had dinner with Goering on at least one occasion since the latter's capture.

Agreement Near On Regional Security

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14. —Nine Latin American foreign ministers were reported to have reached general agreement with Secretary of State Stettinius today on how to fit a regional security system into a world organization.

The proposal under consideration, offered by the American delegation, would provide for collective regional action to repel armed attack if the world organization's security council failed to bring about a peaceful settlement of an international dispute.

Night Meeting Postponed

The nine Latin American diplomats left a meeting with Stettinius to confer with their colleagues representing other western hemisphere countries. The same group arranged to meet with Stettinius later in the day to give him their final answer.

Tonight, however, this meeting with Stettinius was postponed until 2:30 p. m. central war time tomorrow.

Guillermo Belt, Cuban ambassador to the United States, told reporters after a two-hour meeting of the American republics that he expected final agreement within 24 hours.

The agreement, on general principles, apparently had not yet been reduced to final language. There were said to be five or six tentative drafts, some specifically mentioning the inter - American mutual defense agreement embodied in the Act of Chapultepec.

Warmest Recent Subject

The regional-world security issue has been recently the warmest subject of the United Nations conference here.

As explained after today's session with Stettinius, the American amendment would preserve the proposed authority of the security council to order international use of force against an aggressor. But any nation which was a member of a mutual defense system could call on other members for immediate help if actually attacked by an aggressor.

The nine diplomats calling on Stettinius were from Mexico, Cuba, Chile, Brazil, Peru, Colombia, Uruguay, Venezuela and Bolivia.

For two big reasons, the question of regional security systems has assumed important proportions in the San Francisco conference:

It is a comparatively minor point

Eradicators Using Type Of Land Mine On Prairie Pest

By RANDALL ABERNATHY
Avalanche Staff Writer

THE newest thing to kill "cowoties" is a booby trap with a cyanide atomizer.

It enabled trappers in the Lubbock district of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife service to increase their catch of the prairie playboy last winter by more than one-third, according to T. L. English, field supervisor of predatory animal and rodent control.

The coyote-getter is a type of land mine. It is a cartridge of poison gas contained in a small metal cylinder, partially buried in the ground. It won't go off when you step on it, but will go off when a hungry coyote grabs the bait in its mouth and gives a pull.

The bait is attached to the trigger by a wire and the pull detonates the cartridge of cyanide gas. This explodes in the face of the animal and death is almost instantaneous.

English says this is a much neater way for the coyote to go. By the old steel trap method, the marauder is left to suffer and perhaps die of starvation—presumably slipping away in the bleary count of sheep that he has eaten.

Forty trappers bagged 2,325 coyotes in the big Lubbock district during the first three months of this year, according to English. Most of them were trapped in the counties of King, Childress, Collingsworth, Ector, Midland, Glasscock, Martin, Howard, Mitchell and Nolan.

Coyote pelts and scalps in some years provide Uncle Sam with tidy pocket change. However, the fur

Nagoya Left Fiery Inferno By B-29 Pack

By JAMES LINDSLEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

GUAM, Tuesday, May 15.—The fury of America's aerial assault on Japan mounted to a new pinnacle of violence Monday as a record pack of 500 mighty Superfortresses dumped 7,000,000 pounds of fire bombs on the great industrial city of Nagoya.

(Contrasted with the enemy's claim of shooting down eight Superfortresses, 20th Air force headquarters at Washington reported that only "two of the planes were lost to enemy action." This was a minute percentage of the number engaged in the attack.)

Carrier Planes Active

The devastating attack, directed against some of Japan's most important war industries, was officially reported by B-29 headquarters only a few hours before radio Tokyo said waves of Allied carrier planes were hammering Nippon's southern airdromes for the second day in a row.

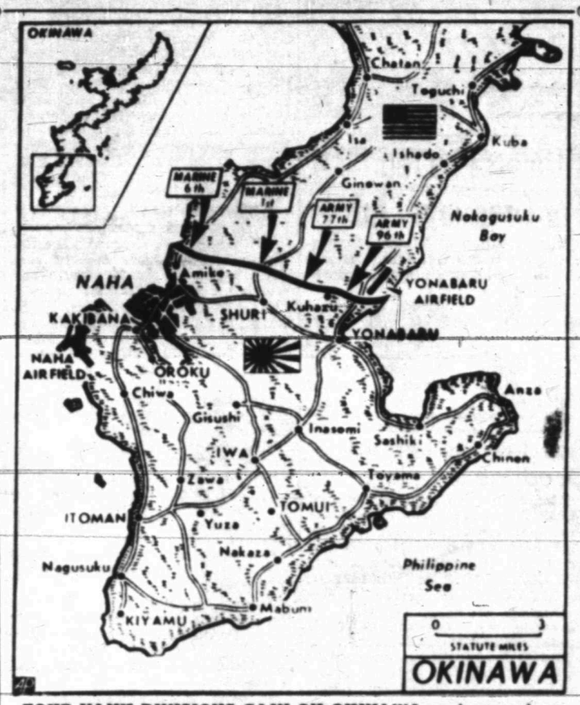

Some of the 5,500 Yank airmen who took part in the Nagoya mission, hardest aerial blow ever thrown against Japan, said on their return to Marianas bases they believed the 3,500 tons of fire bombs dropped destroyed the sections of the city not devastated in previous raids. They agreed that Japanese interceptors were not anxious to challenge and that ack-ack fire was weak and inaccurate.

Smoke columns shot up some 17,000 feet over the target areas and could be seen by returning fliers when 80 miles at sea.

Nagoya, 150 miles west by south of Tokyo on Japan's main Honshu island, is the third city of the empire. The B-29s, carrying some 1,165,000 new type six-pound jelly gasoline fire bombs, came pretty close to unloading a bomb for every one of the city's 1,500,000 inhabitants.

FOUR YANK DIVISIONS GAIN ON OKINAWA — Arrows show locations of four American divisions on tough Okinawa, fighting southward. The 96th division captured Yonabaru airdrome Monday and overran a key hill position to form a pincers on Shuri, near center of the island. Sixth Marine patrols were believed to be well within shattered ruins of Naha, island capital.

Balete Pass Taken On Northern Luzon

By FRED HAMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Tuesday, May 15—Balete Pass, an important 75-foot defile between 1,500-foot mountains in northern Luzon, fell to elements of the 25th and 37th Infantry divisions Sunday after a month-long mountain top slugfest, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported today.

On Mindanao island the 24th division fought an intense battle with stubborn and well-armed Japanese in a showdown fight near captured Davao city. Six banzai charges in company strength were beaten off Saturday and Sunday.

Long Stride Forward

Conquest of Balete Pass, gateway to the extensive Cagayan valley, represented a long stride toward the final cleaning out of the Japanese on northern Luzon. The pass controls the only road from the south into the Cagayan valley, hub of Japanese strength.

The doughboys had to comb the Japanese out of a formidable network of mountainside caves flanking the road. Some of these caves were large enough to accommodate an entire company.

Associated Press correspondent James Hutcheson reported from the 25th division command post that 7,000 Japanese dead had been counted in the bitter fight. Headquarters said the Japanese Tenth division had been "very badly mauled."

32nd Flanks Trail

The 32nd division aided the capture by flanking the enemy on the parallel Villa Verde trail. The two columns were within two miles of a juncture at Santa Fe, where the trail joins the main road

Yanks Seize Big Airdrome At Yonabaru

By AL DOPKING
Associated Press Staff Writer

GUAM, Tuesday, May 15.—Infantrymen of Maj. Gen. James L. Bradley's 96th division captured the Yonabaru airdrome in a 2,400-yard surge down the east coast of Okinawa yesterday and overran a key hill nearby to form the jaw of a pincers on the fortress city of Shuri.

On the west flank, Maj. Gen. Lemuel Shepherd jr.'s Sixth Marine division still was held on the north bank of the Asato river in the northern section of Naha, but patrols presumably were operating well within the shattered ruins of the Okinawa capital.

Japs Resist Bitterly

The Japanese were resisting bitterly all along the line with artillery, mortar and small-arms fire.

Japanese aircraft again pounced on the American invasion fleet off Okinawa Sunday evening, causing some damage to two light surface units. Forty-six enemy planes were shot down, eight of them by destroyers' guns.

Enemy aircraft bombed installations ashore on Okinawa on Monday but failed to cause material damage.

U. S. carrier task forces were attacked by Japanese planes on Monday, and one ship was reported damage. Twenty-one Japanese planes were shot down in this raid.

Third Big Field Taken

Yonabaru airfield was the third major 'drome on the Okinawa mainland seized by the Yanks. They took the Katena and Yontan fields shortly after the April 1 invasion. Later a large airdrome on Ie island nearby was seized.

A prime objective of the southward push is the Naha airdrome, about two miles south of Naha. This is the largest airdrome in the entire Ryukyu chain.

Nimitz reported that two rifle companies of the 96th Infantry division completed capture of Conical hill on Sunday. The hill is 2,500 yards east of Shuri. Its seizure, Nimitz said, "permitted our left flank to advance 2,400 yards southward along the east coast, bringing Yonabaru airstrip into our possession."

Heavy gunfire by ships of the Pacific fleet and bombing and strafing attacks on enemy positions by carrier and land-based planes closely supported the ground operations.

Since Okinawa was invaded the Tenth Army has captured or de-

City To Build New Electric Unit; Budget Hike Proposed

Authorization for the construction of a new City electric plant unit to cost approximately $375,000 highlighted a five-hour session of City commission Monday afternoon in City hall.

The new electric plant unit will be located on land owned by the City on the Plainview Highway northeast of Lubbock where it is eventually planned for the entire municipal electric plant to be located.

Bids for construction of the 83 by 88-foot building were ordered opened on June 6 after plans and specifications had been approved by the commission. The building will house two engines at first construction but may be enlarged to fit increasing needs of the city.

Budget Hike Proposed

The new electric plant cost marked the heaviest increase in the city's proposed budget for the 1945-46 fiscal year which City Manager Marlin R. Smith presented for consideration. Hearing on the budget, which calls for an increase of $646,895 in capital outlay and expenses, was ordered for May 31. Besides the electric plant, other notable increases included $61,468.63 for additional personnel in the police department; $13,720.64 for increased fire department personnel and expense; $6,620.02 for the health department; $10,622.15 for the parks department; and $5,129.96 for the recreation department. Increases in other departments ranged from less than $5,000 down to a few hundred dollars.

Total revenues of the city are estimated to be $1,685,870.18 during the next fiscal year under the budget, an increase of more than

Tragedy Stalks Levelland Senior Picnic, Shirley Roberts Drowns

A gay outing of Levelland High School seniors at Buffalo lakes Monday afternoon was suddenly sobered by tragedy with the drowning of Shirley Dean Roberts, 16, and the near drowning of Irvin Spitler, 17, both graduating seniors.

Roberts' body was removed from the east lake at 7:45 o'clock last night after a search of nearly five hours. Spitler's condition late last night was reported satisfactory by an attendant at West Texas hospital.

Several Adults In Party

Roberts was the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Roberts of one mile south of Levelland. Spitler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Spitler who live about a mile north of Levelland.

Fifty-eight persons were in the Levelland party, including members of the graduating class, several of their parents and Elmer Moore, superintendent of schools there. After boating, horseback riding and lunch many of them went swimming.

According to Euel Palmer, a senior, Spitler was the first to be missed. This was about 2:30 o'clock. Divers went into action and Spitler eventually was found lying on the bottom. He was pulled from the water by Bill Clark, Hockley county farmer. He quickly reacted to artificial respiration applied by Moore but later collapsed and was rushed to the hospital.

Search For Roberts

A search meantime had developed for Roberts. The Lubbock fire department was called and later several members of the Levelland department arrived, including Chief H. B. Johnson. The body was located with a drag rope and chain manipulated from a rowboat occupied by Moore, Johnson and Burl Woodrow, a classmate. It was in about eight feet

Kennedy Disaccredited And Ordered From Europe May 17

PARIS, May 14 (AP)—Supreme headquarters disaccredited Edward Kennedy of the Associated Press today on a charge of breach of confidence in breaking prematurely the story of Germany signing terms of unconditional surrender and ordered him to leave May 17 for the United States.

Morton P. Gudebrod of the Associated Press also was disaccredited for taking "an active part in the premature release of a news story" and ordered to return to the United States, but was granted an extension beyond May 17 by Brig. Gen. Frank Allen, jr., chief of public relations.

Gudebrod is ill with pneumonia and is not expected to be discharged from a hospital for two weeks.

Doolittle May Move To Pacific

LONDON, May 14. (AP) — Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle, who commanded the U. S. Eighth Air force in the crushing air assault on Germany, has relinquished that command, it was announced tonight, leading to immediate speculation that he was headed for the Pacific.

The official announcement said merely that the famous speed flier would return to headquarters of the U. S. Army in Washington "for a new assignment."

However, Doolittle's background, his organization and personal leadership of the first air attack on Tokyo by B-25 Mitchell medium bombers on April 18, 1942, made it likely that his services would be used again in the Pacific war.

Recent Prediction

Doolittle predicted three days ago that the Japanese empire soon would be rocked by 2,000-bomber attacks and that the same type of team-work that broke Germany would crush the Pacific enemy.

"So far as Japan is concerned, our basic strategy will be weakening the enemy from the air to enable occupation of the land by ground forces," he said in his final press conference of the Eighth Air force.

Maj. Gen. William E. Kepner, who succeeds Doolittle, has been commander of the Second Air division of the Eighth Air force and previously led the Eighth's fighter command. In his varied military career he has served with the

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

THERE is as much glamor and beauty in a B-17 as that possessed by any race horse that ever came speeding down the track or any bathing beauty who ever paraded in a revue. Small wonder they are called "queens," because they are as graceful as queens when in flight and they are as stream-lined as movie queens.

Monday after enjoying a meal at the WAC's mess that was topped off with a cake in celebration of their third anniversary, we observed to Capt. Francis Wilson, public relations officer, that one of our postwar dreams was to be shown through a Flying Fortress.

"That dream should not have to wait until that time," he smiled, "because there is one at the field now and I imagine we can arrange for you to see it."

THE question was put to Lt. Col. Warren A. Polking, deputy commanding officer who was close by, and he not only assented but offered to conduct the tour of inspection. And that's how it happened we spent one of the most interesting hours we've known since the base was activated.

After you see the workings of those majestic, four-engined planes your pride in the United States Army Air Forces knows no bounds. To one thoroughly unacquainted with such matters as a bomber like that one, it seems to us it could almost fight a sky battle by itself. It seemed as modern as advertisements of tomorrow's world and improvements are being added constantly, Col. Polking pointed out. And he knows from experience because he has flown them in combat. Although his favorite plane when he was in that phase of service was a B-24, he admitted that the B-17 is a powerful ship and we're sure no pilot ever explained his ship with more pride than he did that one.

Return Of Leopold To Belgium Doubted

BRUSSELS, May 14. (AP)—A statement by Belgian Premier Achille Van Acker that King Leopold would not return to Brussels for some time because of ill health stirred speculation today whether the monarch ever would resume his throne.

In answer to a question, the premier amplified his statement by saying he did not know when or whether the king, recently liberated east of Salzburg by U. S. Seventh Army troops, would return.

The king was deprived of his throne May 30, 1940, by an order approved by the Belgian cabinet in Paris. Prince Charles, the king's brother, was installed as regent last Sept. 21, by Parliament.

Neutralizing Of Formosa Adds To Jap Jitters Over Allied Campaign

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press News Analyst

The Japanese, who expect the Americans eventually to launch amphibious operations along the east China coast, have counted largely upon Formosa as an air base capable of warding off an attack of that kind.

SIMPSON

But now Formosa is to a great extent neutralized as such a bulwark by sustained American bombing from Philippines bases. Striking evidence of this is afforded by Chungking's report that the Chinese have reoccupied Foochow.

Foochow lies on the north bank of the Min Chiang estuary well up from the river mouth. It is within easy striking distance from the north end of Formosa island where heavy Nipponese air concentration once dominated the whole sweep of the Chinese coast to westward.

Would Split Japanese

The Min Chiang river offers the most promising route for an Allied landing on the east China coast aimed at a junction with Chinese troops driving eastward in Hunan. Such a move would split Japanese forces in north and south China apart. There are virtually no east-west roads in the east China coastal area itself but the Min Chiang is navigable from its mouth for 100 miles to Yen P' Ing (Nan P' Ing).

At Yen P'ing the only east-west highway in south central east China follows the west bank of the north fork of the Min Chiang, curving broadly northwestward through Kiangsi province. It leads indirectly to Heng Chow, obvious ultimate objective of the Chinese counter offensive in Hunan already threatening Paoching.

Heng Chow is the southern end of a bottleneck span of the Japanese corridor bisecting China from north to south. It lies some 350 miles crow flight west of Yen P' Ing.

Use of the Min Chiang river as a supply route would put the main potential beachhead in eastern China a full 100 miles beyond the seacoast. While Formosa's powerful air installations were intact that would not have been possible and a landing anywhere else on the east China coastal hump would have been faced with extreme transportation difficulties.

Whether the Min Chiang is actually under Allied consideration for landing operations to join up with the Chinese in Hunan remains to be seen. The intensive bombing of Formosa and resurgence of Chinese offensive activity both in the Foochow area and farther north in southern Chekiang as well as in western Hunan can leave Tokyo in little doubt, however, that such a move is possible, or will be possible very soon as American air forces in China are expanded and heavy reinforcements reach General MacArthur's command in the Philippines.

Chinese reports that the enemy is already falling back northward for a concentration north of the Yellow river in northeastern China are not convincing as yet, however, it would mean virtually abandonment of the China-Indo China corridor and leave all enemy forces in South China, Indo-China, Thailand, the Malay peninsula and the Dutch Indies to their fate, cut off by land as well as sea from the main Japanese armies in China.

May Tire Quotas Up Half Million

WASHINGTON, May 14. (U.P.)—The War Production board announced today that 500,000 more passenger car tires have been released for rationing during May.

The total number of tires available for civilian replacements in May thus was increased to 1,500,000.

This figure is 500,000 more than in April, but 100,000 fewer than in March. W. James Sears, deputy director of WPB's rubber board, said that three weeks ago passenger car tire production was scheduled at 5,200,000 tires for the second quarter, an increase in production of 2,000,000.

As this schedule is met, he said, tires will be released in increasing numbers.

He said the rubber bureau "has never believed that 1,000,000 replacement passenger type cars a month was sufficient, but greatly increased military tire requirements during the winter months forced some reduction." Recently passenger tire schedules were revised upwards.

Sears warned that there still was a very great need to conserve and care for every tire that is now in service.

Atrocities Have Americans Boiling Mad

U. S. Public Favors Punishing Nazi "Small Fry," As Well As Leaders, For War Crimes

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J.—The time is drawing near when the victorious Allied powers will have to decide how to punish the various Nazi leaders for their war crimes.

It is not merely a question of how to deal with such well-known Nazis as Hitler, Himmler or Goering, but what to do with the lesser fry—agents and petty officials of the party who claim that they committed crimes only on the order of higher-ups and should therefore not be held personally accountable.

GALLUP

The American public, as might be expected, shows little willingness to be lenient on Hitler, most people advocating death by firing squad or the hangman's noose. As for minor officials in the party, they too need not look for sympathy in the United States when they plead that they took part in war crimes only because ordered to do so. For these officials, punishment by death or imprisonment is also advocated by the majority of Americans, fewer than one-fourth of whom think the offending Nazis should even have the benefit of a trial or should be let off without punishment.

These attitudes are revealed in a coast-to-coast survey in which a true cross-section of the American civilian population was asked:

"After the war, what do you think should be done with members of the Nazi party who defend themselves by claiming that they committed crimes under orders of higher-ups in the party?"

The issue takes on added significance because of reports that have been coming from Germany in the last ten days concerning torture and atrocities committed by the Nazis against civilians and against Allied war prisoners. Most of the interviewing in the Institute's survey was completed before these reports were issued.

The vote of the public on the survey question is:

Kill them	19%
Imprison them	42
Try them, and punish only if found guilty	19
Try to re-educate them	3
Do nothing about them	2
No opinion	15

As for Hitler, the country is virtually unanimous in wanting him to pay a penalty for his actions. Only 2 per cent in the survey believe no attempt at punishment should be made in his case, while 95 per cent think there should be punishment and 3 per cent are undecided.

When questioned as to the manner of punishment, the 95 per cent divided as follows: More than half—51 per cent — advocated death. Another 19 per cent said they favor extreme physical punishment and torture. Twelve per cent said the treatment should be either imprisonment for life or exile, and 2 per cent named some other form of punishment, with 11 per cent expressing no opinion.

TO AMERICA'S FIGHTING SONS AND DAUGHTERS... ETERNAL GRATITUDE

With Victory in Europe comes a Challenge

GM GENERAL MOTORS

From those who have served their country on far-off fields of combat, we have now received the first priceless gift of Victory . . . and with this Victory a challenge!

For from these men who have sacrificed so much—and from the other millions who have backed their efforts by carrying on so effectively their appointed tasks at home—comes the demand that total victory and final peace, through triumph over Japan, shall bring them the opportunities for which they fought and worked—the opportunities to live, progress and prosper.

Here is a challenge to us all—a challenge to see to it that the road to realization of these natural human ambitions runs smooth and straight.

We of General Motors believe that what is good for our country and our countrymen is good for General Motors; and that there are time-tried and unfailing guides upon which Americans can depend.

They can be described in terms of certain simple "articles of faith":

Faith in America and in America's future—a future of expanding, useful productivity and ever higher standards of living.

Faith in the rightness and benefits of individual freedom and individual enterprise.

Faith in the principle that there can be no rights without responsibilities—no privileges to enjoy without duties to perform.

Faith in work, as the forerunner of reward—in incentive, as the kindling spark of productive energy—in opportunity to serve a need, as the first requirement to provide a job.

Faith in the American way of doing things, by which each person, each organization, each industry, each business must take its place—and be granted that place—according to ability and capacity—in one great, coordinated, inter-geared system of living, working and contributing to the national welfare.

Faith in America's progressive instinct and in the things which serve it—science, research, engineering, technical knowledge and skill.

Faith in the rights of great and small alike—and of the importance of each in a free, peaceful and productive nation.

Before us lies one immediate, definite task—more important than all others—to defeat Japan.

With the first big obstacle to final victory removed—it is not too soon, we think, to face the challenge of that peace which our fighting men will have won so dearly.

We believe the principles which we have stated are those with which the challenge must be met.

We believe that if we follow these principles—with stout hearts and willing hands—America's future will inevitably bring better things for more people.

City Plans New Electric Unit

$500,000 while expenditures for capital outlay and expense is estimated at $1,530,945 compared to $1,012,488.27 for the present fiscal year.

Pay Increase Included

The budget calls for an increase in the cost of living bonus for city employes of $8.10 a month, retroactive to May 1, should the budget be approved. This brings the total bonus for a majority of the employes to approximately $40 a month since the bonus system was enacted in lieu of salary increases after the start of the war.

Besides ordering bids for the new electric plant unit and considering the budget briefly, the commissioners also accepted the $4,081.50 bid of the Trinity Valley Iron and Steel company of Fort Worth for approximately 3,800 feet of transite pipe and fittings for a water main to the new plant location.

Commissioners also approved the changing of the zoning of the area where the new plant will be located from an "E" district to a "K" district. Previously they had approved changing of the Central Ward school and adjoining property from a G zone to an H zone and a section of industrial trackage property in the Morningside addition south of the Fort Worth and Denver Y from a J district to an L district.

Petroleum Gas Ordnance

An ordinance regulating the transportation, storage and routing of trucks of liquefied petroleum products was amended so as to allow delivery by semi-trailers during the present emergency but only until other equipment could be obtained was passed at second and final reading.

Ordinance No. 587 amending certain sections of the building code which apply to type 5 buildings so that the floor space can be increased to 50,000 square feet with proper fire walls, construction and sprinkler systems was passed at first reading. The ordinance change will allow completion of the West Texas Compress in southeast Lubbock.

The commission also passed at first reading an ordinance defining two-hour meter zones and providing for parallel parking on Thirteenth street from Ave. H to Ave. L; from Ninth to Fifteenth on Ave. J and from Tenth to Fourteenth on Ave. K. Request of Baker company for a loading zone at 1015 Fourteenth was also approved.

General Audit Bids

Accountants of the city will be requested to submit bids for an annual general audit of the city's books.

Seal coating of approximately 90 blocks of paving was also ordered by the commission for the summer at a cost estimated between $9,000 and $10,000 was ordered. Approximately 80 blocks were seal coated last summer.

City Manager Smith was instructed by resolution to cooperate with the Lubbock County Johnson Grass committee in the elimination of the grass from city property, streets and alleys.

Discussion of the selection of a new city attorney to replace Durwood H. Bradley, who has requested his replacement, was also conducted briefly at the close of the session.

Architect Contract

As a final act of the overtime meeting, the commission approved the making of a contract with Haynes and Strange, local architects, on consultant work in connection with the civic center proposal survey. Ratification of the contract is subject to commission approval. Employment of the architects was recommended by the civic center committee.

Mayor O. W. Ribble presided at the meeting before a full commission with Commissioners J. Ray Dickey, W. B. Price, Fred H. Childress, City Attorney Bradley, City Manager Smith and City Secretary Lavenia Williams attending.

Nagoya In Flames

good for the 3,300-mile daylight mission but the bombardiers turned loose their deadly cargoes visually at medium altitude. The general area hit is just west of the sprawling Mitsubishi aircraft engine works which was almost completely wrecked in earlier raids.

In Five Great Circles

The targets were within five great circles, covering a total of nine square miles in northern Nagoya. Under the Superfort bomb sights were the Chigusa factory of Nagoya arsenal, producer of heavy ordnance and ammunition components; a major electrical plant, and thousands of small home factories producing war materials. The area has a population density of from 22,000 to 75,000 persons per square mile.

An American Army spokesman said Nagoya could hardly escape heavy casualties in such thickly settled regions.

Highly industrialized Nagoya is also an important railroad, highway and sea shipping center. About 90 per cent of its houses are of wood and plaster construction.

Greater Blows Seen

It is a fairly safe bet that this most concentrated incendiary attack of the Pacific war will be followed by even greater raids in the future.

A Japanese imperial communique, broadcast by Tokyo, acknowledged that fires raged in Nagoya for five hours. It claimed streets were "indiscriminately" bombed with incendiaries and that eight B-29s were shot down and nine damaged.

Early official American reports on the mission made no mention of losses but plane commanders thought they must have been very small in view of light opposition.

Carriers Pound Kyushu

Radio Tokyo reported, without American confirmation, that carrier planes from a U. S. task force operating several hundred miles south of Japan-proper returned to the attack on Kyushu air centers for the second consecutive day. Some of the 900 carrier planes and a score of Superforts were in the Sunday raids, the Japanese said. They added that the Monday raiders, totaling 500, struck Kyushu airfields and other dromes on neighboring Shukoku and southern Honshu islands.

Tokyo pictured Japanese fliers as fiercely attacking the task force of carriers and battleships and inflicting "considerable damage."

Several Animals Die When Big Barn Burns

Possibly five or six cows, two horses, feed and valuable farm equipment were destroyed when fire leveled a large barn near Carlisle community, eight miles west of here, late Monday.

Glenn Smith, assistant fire chief, said that the barn was on the farm of Frank Clowe of the firm of Clowe and Cowan, Inc., in Lubbock.

Among equipment destroyed was a feed mill and an irrigation motor. Large quantities of baled hay and threshed grain were burned, although Smith estimated that approximately three-fourths of the grain was saved.

Smith said the barn caught fire from the exhaust of a tractor being used to power a feed mill. The fire was well under way when firemen arrived.

It was the fifth alarm of the day for the department. Early yesterday morning firemen went to Plains Co-Operative Oil mill, at 2901 Ave. A, where a cotton press and a large portion of the roof were destroped. Neglible damage resulted in trash fires at 706 Main, 1602 Ave. J and 1806 Texas Ave.

to confine members to the hall until the tax bill was finally disposed of, and to send the sergeant at arms out to bring in the missing members. The final action on adjournment came soon after 8 p. m., leaving the tax bill as pending business for next Friday.

Chiro Regulation

Before taking up the gasoline tax bill, the House by a vote of 66 to 54, passed a bill making the state superintendent of public instruction the executive officer of the state board for vocational education. This bill now goes to the Senate.

Likewise, the House sent to the Senate by a vote of 64 to 46 a bill licensing and regulating chiropractors.

The measure, by Rep. W. W. Roark of Temple and others, represents the second attempt in two years to give the profession statutory recognition. A somewhat similar bill passed two years ago was invalidated by the court of criminal appeals because it contained conflicting provisions.

The new bill seeks to cure the defects. It creates a board of chiropractic examiners, sets up minimum educational standards and requires that all practioners stand examination, including those who passed an examination under the invalidated act.

Protects Public

Roark asserted it would protect the public against irresponsible chiropractors. It was passed on second reading by a margin of three votes on April 27.

Also passed by the House and sent to the Senate were bills:

Requiring pre-marital blood tests for syphilis of prospective husbands and wifes with no exceptions. An amendment permitting exceptions when a district judge determined sufficient cause existed was defeated. Under present law only men are subject to a blood test.

Prohibiting the use of motorboats without a muffler within one-half mile of a residence on any body of water in the state.

Eliminating a requirement for separate acknowledgement of documents by husbands and wives.

More Secret Ballot

Passed on second reading today in the House was an amended Senate-approved bill intended to make possible a more secret ballot in Texas.

A move to suspend rules so that it could be considered on third reading and final passage was defeated.

The Senate meanwhile approved a Senate bill allowing execution of pre-existing liens on property for street paving after amending it to limit the lien to 25 per cent of the value of the property. The Senate then adjourned until tomorrow after brief and inconclusive consideration of another bill.

U. S. Trade Balance Abroad Is Lopsided

WASHINGTON, May 14. (AP) — Senator Tydings (D-Md) announced today that an incomplete tabulation shows the United States government spent $9,127,000,000 abroad in the past four and a half years while receiving $2,533,000,000 from foreign sources.

The information came from a clearing house established in the Foreign Economic administration by the late President Roosevelt, at Tydings' suggestion.

24-Mile Walk Just Routine For Man, 103

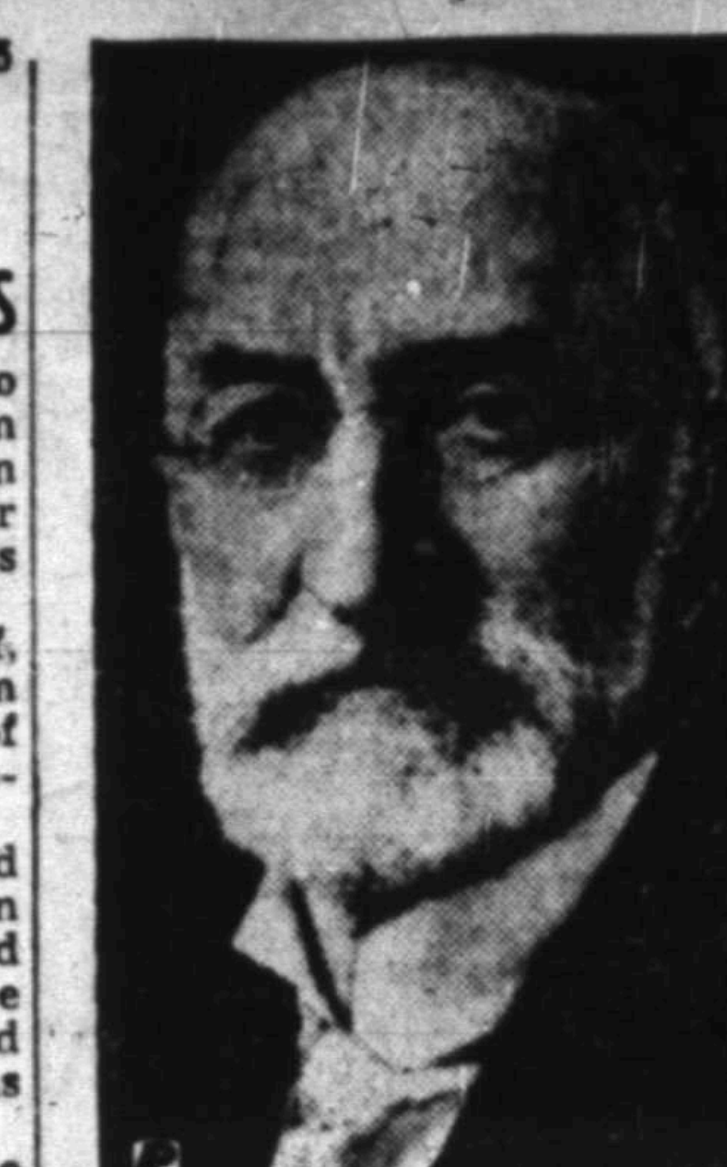

HILLSBORO, May 14. (AP)—A walk of 24 miles is commonplace for Sam Hammer of Aquilla, 103 years old.

Once a month he comes to Hillsboro and if there's no one going his way he walks the distance.

A cowboy most of his life, Hammer quit riding the range as a fulltime job in 1913. He quit riding horseback eight years ago but has decided he now needs a pony. It's not hard to walk the 24 miles; it just takes too much time.

Eisenhower Order

Eisenhower said all the information he had came from press reports.

Storm Of Indignation

The handling of Goering aroused a storm of indignation in London, where the News-Chronicle declared that "Hermann Goering is an evil, cruel murderer to whom justice must be done. Because he is fat he is not kind."

The Evening News termed "intolerable" the Flensburg radio announcement that German Field Marshal Ernst Busch had taken over command of the Schleswig-Holstein areas occupied by British troops.

The Evening Star said it was "sheer impertinence" that Busch should claim command of any area of surrendered Germany and declared that "these men should be caged up like prisoners of war. Doenitz (Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz) should be transferred immediately to a concentration camp for war criminals."

Might Be Postwar Issue

Concern was expressed openly that Nazi leaders and Prussian generals in Allied hands might create a postwar issue. So far there had been no public announcement by the Allied governments on how German leaders were to be treated, other than broad declarations that war criminals would be brought to trial.

The United Nations War Crimes commission has acted cautiously, keeping secret the names of persons they have listed for trial. All of today's heated editorials appeared before Eisenhower gave his expression of regret.

The conservative Yorkshire Post found it "disturbing to find a creature with Goering's deplorable record posing for photographs with an air of benign condescension before retiring into grandoise captivity in a castle."

Called A Bandit

The Communist Daily Worker quoted the Soviet government newspaper as declaring "it is surprising that this bandit Goering is being cared for instead of being tried and hanged immediately as a murderer and a gangster."

In view of Gen. Eisenhower's sharp statement today, London was watching with close interest the Americans' handling of Col. Gen. Heiz Guderian, tank expert and former chief of the German general staff, who was captured yesterday by the Seventh.

Coyote Campaign

market this year is not good, English says. Last year pelts brought $7 or $8 apiece but the 1945 prices are considerably less.

English observes that coyotes in the Panhandle have better furs than those in the South Plains region because of the colder weather there.

Many people are hazy about where a wolf leaves off and a coyote begins. While not as large and differing in several other respects, the coyote is actually a kind of wolf given to roaming the open spaces and shooting his mouth off.

He is noted for his reiterated yelping at night, like he's trying to get something off his chest. He raises his head toward the sky and bursts into song which increases in tempo and pitch and ends in a long, shrill ear-piercing call similar to that of an opera tenor with a difficult aria.

The coyote is about as big as a setter dog (see dog), of reddish or yellowish-gray color with longer hairs of his back tipped with black. The fur is full and soft, and tail bushy, ears upright and the muzzle slender and pointed. The wolf is characterized by a lank body, long snout in proportion to head, sloping forehead, erect ears and oblique eyes. In lean months he skulks behind trees for Walt Disney.

The wolf operates in the Rocky mountains, along the Pacific coast and at windy street corners.

Most authorities, including Dr. Chaffinch Orpington, assert that the wolf relishes Spam more than humans.

STOCK LEADERS RETREAT

NEW YORK, May 14 (AP)—Stock market leaders generally retreated fractions to a point on more today in the slowest session for more than a month although a number of peace favorites managed to keep on the recovery side.

Light selling cropped up after the opening and few recoveries were in evidence at the close. Transfers of 980,000 shares compared with 1,070,000 Friday and were the smallest for a full stretch since April 10.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was off .3 of a point at 64.2. Of 895 issues registering, 399 were down, 301 up and 195 all even.

Prominent losers were Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, General Motors, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, J. I. Case, Douglas Aircraft, Lockheed, Texas Co., Radio Corp., Du Pont, American Can, Western Union "A", Anaconda, U. S. Steel and General Electric.

Ahead were Eastern Air Lines, American Airlines, Sears Roebuck, Bethlehem, American Telephone, J. C. Penney, Philip Morris, Westinghouse, Budd Mfg. and Caterpillar Tractor.

Bonds were mixed.

at the entrance of the valley.

Stiff fighting still is in prospect, but it is downhill from there on.

On Mindanao the 24th division gained materially on the Cabaguio area north of Davao but were subjected to Japanese naval gun shelling from the northern tip of a nearby Samal island, which has been invaded by units of the 24th.

In central Mindanao the 31st division liquidated a reinforced company of bypassed Japanese between Kibawe and Maramag on the Sayre highway, while to the north the 40th division consolidated the captured Del Monte airdrome center.

Tarakan Under Control

A headquarters spokesman said the Australians and Dutch invaders of Tarakan island, off Borneo, now control all usable portions of the island—roads, the town, the oilfields and airdromes.

East of Manila the 43rd Infantry division was closing in on the surrendered Japanese garrison at the Ipo dam, source of more than one-third of the capital's water.

Fighters and bombers dropped 250 tons of explosives in support of the Luzon ground actions.

On Mindanao, guerrilla forces have seized the port of Cagayan, capital of Misamis Oriental province, and the entire north coast of the island now is in American control, MacArthur announced.

His communique reported the Japanese Mindanao garrison was being driven steadily into the hill country in the center of the island. Systematic reduction of enemy strongpoints near captured Davao city was under way.

Jap Attacks Repulsed

On Tarakan island, off Borneo, Australian and Dutch Indies troops scored local gains in desultory fighting. Minor Japanese counterattacks were repulsed in the center and eastern sectors.

Borneo's air bases and supply facilities were heavily bombed. Costal patrols sank eight cargo ships, nine barges and other small craft offshore.

Heavy bombers sweeping the Asiatic coast pounded rail lines and highways along the French Indo-China coast, wrecking at least nine bridges and quantities of rolling stock, including locomotives.

Three freighters were set afire off Hainan island.

Australian troops have penetrated three miles inland from captured Wewak on New Guinea and were attacking enemy positions near the Sauri villages.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, May 14 (AP)—Cotton futures declined today on a department of agriculture proposal involving a return to competitive market prices for cotton in the south. Closing levels were 10 cents a bale higher to 65 lower.

Heavy commission house liquidation and selling carried values down as much as $1.05 a bale although the market recovered partially on short covering and perristent mill buying.

The upturn was influenced by the belief that the new plan to be submitted at cotton meetings in Washington this week would meet stiff opposition in Congress and that it would not be operative until 1947.

World Conference

of difference between the United States and Britain.

Major Latin Issue

It is the issue above all others on which the 20 Latin-American nations are determined to obtain satisfaction — and they have almost a majority of votes in the conference.

In the Monroe Doctrine, the Pan-American union and the Act of Chapultepec signed last March at Mexico City, the Latins and the United States have worked out what they regard as a highly efficient method of guaranteeing peace in the western hemisphere. They do not want to see it scrapped.

That has raised the fundamental problem of whether world security is to be preserved through a series of regional systems or through a world organization.

U. S. Compromise

The United States has brought forward a compromise. It would:

Permit any country or group of countries to offer immediate resistance to armed attack without waiting on a world organization, and its security council which would be the peace enforcing agency, to act.

Retain for the security council authority to supervise negotiations for peaceful settlement of disputes up to the time of attack, and the right to decide whether to use the full power of the world organization against the aggressor.

announced the decision, Kennedy issued this statement:

"My conscience is clear in this matter. I did what I considered to be my duty and informed SHAEF public relations in advance that I intended to do it. I am fully responsible for the action of Morton Gudebrod in this matter, as he acted under my instructions.

"The decision to send the news that Germany had surrendered was made wholly by myself without consultation with the New York office of the Associated Press. I sent the fact of the surrender to the Associated Press without explanation of the conditions under which I was sending it."

Kennedy and Gudebrod were the seventh and eighth war correspondents to have their credentials taken up by SHAEF, unofficial records showed.

Supreme headquarters records were not immediately available but an officer in charge of the SHAEF newsroom said that to the best of his knowledge the other disaccredited correspondents were Cyril Ray of the British Broadcasting corporation; James McGlincy of the United Press; John Groth of Parade and the American Legion magazine; Seymour Freidin of the New York Herald Tribune; Virginia Irwin of the St. Louis Post Dispatch and Andrew Tully of the Boston Traveler.

The Japanese Domei news agency said today in an English-language broadcast that authorities had decided to relax a stringent ban on amusements ordered last year. It claimed many motion picture houses and theaters already have reopened.

In addition, the great national pastime of public baths is due for a revival for morale purposes. The broadcast announced "the subsidy of bath houses for the installation of electric heater facilities to enable them to keep open regularly."

The broadcast was recorded by the Federal Communications system.

Discharge Given By Point System

Lubbock's first veteran to be given an honorable discharge from the Army under the point system is Cpl. Chester C. Hinsley, 32, who arrived home Sunday night after being mustered out of the Army at San Antonio Friday.

Back in civilian clothes Monday and wearing the gold distinctive eagle medallion of the discharged veteran, Hinsley, who spent 28 months in the Mediterranean theater had 99 points in his favor when the announcement was made at Fort Sam Houston that many of the veterans there were eligible for discharges. He said he was very much surprised when he found that the papers were all ready for him to sign, because he had reported to the post to rejoin his unit, which is still overseas.

Hinsley had 28 points for his months in the Mediterranean, 41 points for his months in the Army and 30 points for his battle participation stars. He has the European-African-Middle Eastern campaign medal with six battle stars, the Unit Citation badge with two Oak Leaf clusters and the Good Conduct medal. He participated in the Tunisian, Sicilian, Naples-Foggia, Rome, Arno and Southern France campaigns.

While overseas Hinsley was cook in a P-38 fighter group which got its unit citations for a strafing raid on Foggia airdrome in August of 1943, for escorting 75 medium bombers over 360 miles of water to the important Cancello marshalling yards near Naples and for a raid on the Ploesti oil fields in Romania.

A brother, Sgt. Jesse Hinsley, aircraft mechanic, is still in Italy, but will probably be discharged as soon as he gets back to the States. Both men went into the Air corps at the same time in January, 1942, and took their basic training together at Sheppard field before being sent to California to be assigned to their combat units. While Jesse was on one side of Los Angeles, Chester was on the other, a distance of about 60 miles, the greatest distance apart they have ever been stationed. While overseas they were only a block apart most of the time.

Another brother, Sherman Hinsley who lives at College and Thirty-fourth, was overseas with the AEF during World War I. They are sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hinsley, 1902 Ave. E.

Underground Berlin Mystery Unsolved

LONDON, May 14. (U.P.) — A Soviet war correspondent said today that "it is not even certain that all the mysteries of Hitler's underground city" in Berlin's chancellery have been explored.

"It is thought that there may still be Nazis down there, desperate cornered rats," said Mikhail Dolgopolov in the Russian embassy publication Soviet War news.

"Fires are still raging in some underground rooms. Soviet troops have sealed them off but smoke seeps through."

Dolgopolov said the Russians found a secret room in which were members of Hitler's personal bodyguard.

"They were full of fight but their information was sadly out of date," he said.

Hitler, according to the Germans, died at his post in this building and the Russians have searched for his body since the capture of Berlin.

Dolgopolov said three underground floors had been examined by Russian search parties so far, including the palatial apartments of Hitler, Propaganda Minister Paul Goebbels and Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop.

He said Hitler's servants and aides all told varying stories but were careful how they spoke of the Nazis, including Hitler, "to cover up all traces of the criminals."

Goatsbeard Is Lawn And Garden Threat

Going to seed at the present time and posing a threat to farmers and lawn-growers in this section are goatsbeard vegetables, escaped from cultivation, a member of the salify, or vegetable oyster, family, according to Dr. W. W. Yocum, professor in plant industry at Texas Tech college.

These pesty weeds, said Yocum, are identified by their puff-ball dandelion-like head. The root of the plant is used for soups and has a definite oyster taste.

The plant expert stated that the plant was virtually unknown here eight years ago but with improper care and lax supervision by vegetable raisers the goatsbeard now poses a very definite threat to the lawns and gardens of the area.

Inquiries Received On Sweet Potatoes

Lubbock county's reputation as a sweet potato center is spreading, according to a Monday report from Jason Gordon, county agent.

Letters have been coming at regular intervals requesting information as to where potato plants can be located in this area, and Gordon stated that the county was becoming "quite a sweet potato center in reputation."

Three letters were received late last week, and three more were in the mail Monday, with one request journeying by mail from as far away as Princeton, Ky., Gordon stated.

The county agent urged all farmers in this section growing sweet potatoes and interested in selling plants to contact his office immediately to clear out the correspondence stacking up there.

Navy Wants Post-War Fleet Cut One-Third

WASHINGTON, May 14. (AP)—Tentative Navy plans call for cutting the nation's mighty battle fleet "at least 30 per cent" after Japan's collapse, Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King has informed the Senate Appropriations committee.

King told the committee that the Navy desired to keep only those ships "that will have real combat value," adding the Navy was concerned that it be called upon to maintain "too many ships for the post-war Navy."

Navy Secretary James Forrestal indicated that the ships to be scrapped probably would include many which were worn out in operations.

Forrestal said the Navy has three principal tasks in the Pacific:

1. Deliver the men and supplies required for present and future operations.

2. In advance of an attack, seal off the area where that attack is to be imposed.

3. Opening up, supporting, and supplying the beachhead.

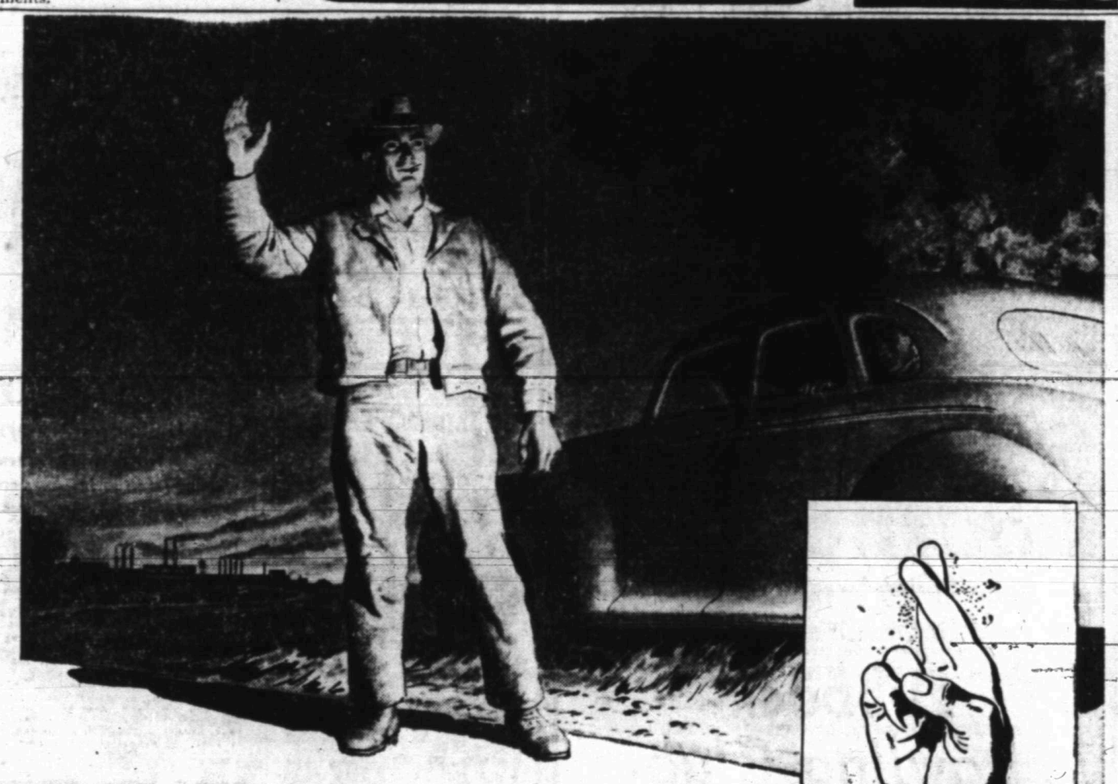

Forrestal said he would "guess" the Japanese have 4,000 effective planes, while King asserted the Japanese have about 20 large destroyers left and not all of those were operating.

Giants Edge Out Chicago Cubs 6-5

NEW YORK, May 14. (AP) — Phil Weintraub's single to center in the tenth inning today scored pinch runner Leon Treadway with the big run of a 6-5 New York Giants victory over Chicago today in a game marked by four home runs.

Nap Reyes poked two into the stands, his first in the second frame off Bob Chipman for a commanding early lead, and his second in the last of the ninth off Hy Vandenberg. Reyes also added two singles.

Rookie Bill Emmerich, making his first appearance in big league park, appeared on his way to a victorious debut going into the ninth with 4-2 edge but after he walked Peanuts Lowrey, let Don Johnson single. Mel Ott lifted him for Bill Voiselle.

Voiselle Gets Victory

Voiselle won his sixth straight victory, tops in the majors, but he had to sweat to do it as Williams, the first man to face him, banged one into the upper right field stands for a 5-4 edge. Stan Hack accounted for the fourth homer in the eighth.

Reyes' second round tipper of the day tied it up in the home ninth. After Voiselle returned the Cubs in order in the tenth, Ott started the winning rally with a single. Joe Medwick, starting his first game of the year in left field, sacrificed the skipper to second and Weintraub followed with his decisive safety.

Ray Prim, who relieved Vandenberg in the ninth, was charged with the defeat.

Famed 'Wrong Down' Grid Official Dies

MINNEAPOLIS, May 14. (AP)—Some fans called him "Wrong Down" and the Dave (Long Count) Barry of football but here in his home town sports followers knew John S. Getchell as "Honest John."

Getchell, whose death today at the age of 44 was due to heart disease, was widely known as a Big Ten football and basketball official but it was the Carnegie Tech-Notre Dame game of 1938 which resulted in his being voted the doubtful honor of contributing sports' outstanding oddity of the year.

The game was in the last quarter, a scoreless tie. Carnegie had the ball near midfield. Quarterback Paul Friedlander asked what down it was and Referee Getchell answered "third." Friedlander called a running play. It failed to make first down.

Then it was discovered it actually had been fourth down. Notre Dame was given the ball and scored in three plays to win 7-0 and dash Carnegie's hopes of an undefeated season.

Couhty Contracts For Expansion Of Toilet Facilities

Contracts to enlarge toilet facilities in the basement of the county courthouse were awarded Monday afternoon by the county commissioners court.

The general contract went to C. B. Harris for $4,063, plus $437.10 to install blowers (air conditioning). Work is to be completed in 130 working days.

The plumbing bid accepted was for $3,030, plus $737.10 conditioned on possible necessity of removing and replacing a water line to mains in the street.

About Double Facilities

Both bids were low in their class; there having been four plumbing, three general contract bids.

Facilities of toilet rooms will be approximately doubled.

All work will be done under direction of the firm of Walker, Atcheson and Oldham, architects and engineers.

The court authorized County Judge Walter Davies to let a contract for improving toilet facilities of the old folks home on a cost-plus basis, since it is believed there will be additional work to be done there.

In addition, commissioners awarded a contract to J. R. Fanning for $29,434.05, to construct 12.75 miles of road in county precinct 2, specifying a caliche base, triple asphalt surface and asphalt seal coats. The work is to commence in five days and be completed in 75 working days.

Salaries Increased

The court ordered that salaries of clerks and assistants in county offices, as provided by law, be increased 25 per cent as a maximum, based on 1944 salary bases, to become effective June 1.

Judge Davies set June 2 for an election to determine whether a "New Deal Independent School district" should be created, and for election of seven trustees of such an election. The action was in response to a petition of taxpayers of that district.

At the morning session, commissioners:

Transferred $2,000 from the general fund to the City-County Welfare group, which will be supplemented by $1,000 from the city of Lubbock.

Voted to pay the R. B. George company $983.57 for parts, to be paid for out of road and bridge fund in county precinct 2; also $217.97 for parts to be paid for out of road and bridge fund of precinct 3.

Authorized payment of $396 to J. R. Fanning, for work in patching roads in precinct 2, and $472.80 to John Steppens for caliche used in that work.

Pickup Truck Bought

Accepted bid of Dickinson Motor company for a new 1945 Dodge pickup truck, at a price of $1,217.50. Another bid was made, but no promise of immediate delivery could be made, commissioners said.

Approved annual report of County Auditor Joe Y. Boyd.

Organized itself as a board of equalization; functioned in that capacity briefly when it approved the 1945 rendition of rolling stock of SP&SF railroad at $8,060; then recessed until May 28, when it will establish dates for appearance of resident and non-resident property owners to show cause why assessments of property for tax purposes should be changed.

Service Officer Approved

The commissioners approved appointment of Forrest L. Rankin as service officer here, subject to his qualifying in accordance with the Veterans administration. A. C. Lampe, former service officer, had resigned, the court was informed. All members of the court: Commissioners Barrett Penney, Ben Mansker, T. L. Holt and Vol J. Farris, attended, and County Judge Walter Davies presided. Louie F. Moore, county clerk, was secretary to the board, and County Attorney Syrian E. Marbut attended as official counsel.

Return Of American, British POW Talked

REIMS, SHAEF ADVANCE HEADQUARTERS, May 14. (AP)—The task of removing approximately 138,400 American and British war prisoners from the Russian zone of occupation in Germany could be accomplished by air transport in from two to four weeks, it was declared today.

Supreme headquarters has requested a meeting with the Russians to arrange for the return of the prisoners, but no reply has been received. Soviet approval would be necessary before air evacuation could be employed.

Best available estimates at this advance SHAEF headquarters declared there were approximately 200,000 British and 76,800 American war prisoners in Germany. Nearly half are believed to be in the Russia nzone, presumably still waiting in camps.

Swift return of prisoners is high on SHAEF's priority. What planes can do is testified by one day's work in Gen. Eisenhower's sector when 35,000 men were evacuated.

Truman Told Texans Are His Supporters

WASHINGTON, May 14. (AP)—President Truman heard today that Texas democrats may fight among themselves but they're unanimous in their support for him.

This was the good word conveyed to him by the state's democratic national committeeman, Myron Blalock of Marshall, when he called at the White House.

"I simply called to say hello and tell him that the Texas folks are proud of him," Blalock told reporters later.

"I told him that democracy down there is getting together mighty fast. There's a great unanimity of support for him."

Blalock plans to see national Democratic chairman Robert Hannegan tomorrow about Texas politics. The Texan said he felt that "practically all" of the recalcitrant democrats in the state who organized during the 1944 presidential campaign as anti-fourth term "regular democrats" would come back in the fold.

We Need Price Control

But OPA Needs Check Its Men

LUBBOCK and South Plains citizens who have stopped, even briefly, to consider the situation will agree, we believe, that price control will be more essential to the welfare of the nation in the months to come than it has been while our men were fighting on both sides of a global war.

Everyone knows that price control has been absolutely essential during the years of the war thus far. Had it not been for price control we undoubtedly would have fallen into the throes of run-away inflation a long time ago. But now that recoversion from war to peace production soon will be under way to an appreciable extent, Americans must be kept from bidding against each other for various articles and thus running prices sky high.

Because price control is necessary now and will continue so for at least many months, it is necessary, too, that those who direct the control be both intelligent and reasonable men. They also must be men with the good of the nation uppermost in mind—not those primarily interested in hanging onto the government payroll. This means that the top men in the Office of Price Administration must keep their subordinates under a magnifying glass inspection; be careful of their future appointments and rectify all the bad ones of the past.

We in this area are particularly interested in the men who direct OPA from the six-state regional office in Dallas. Recently, much talk has gone the rounds that top men in the Dallas office are more interested in applied bureaucracy than in service to the public and common-sense administration of their jobs. Whether these charges are true, in whole or in part, or whether they are entirely false, we are not now prepared to say. But we do advise that since there has been so much talk the Dallas office should be carefully surveyed by the OPA's Washington high command simply as a matter of insurance against future trouble.

Public opinion in two of the three largest cities of the 71-county OPA district—Lubbock and El Paso—has become highly questionable of practices in the Dallas office and condoned, if not actually promoted, by the Dallas officials. Success of price control here, and elsewhere, depends upon a sympathic public opinion and that is not present in a good part of the West Texas OPA district now.

We hope and trust Congressman George Mahon will take note of this situation.

Why Cancel Our Insurance?

WITH the approaching liberation of Malaya and the Dutch East Indies, the question of what is to be done with the nation's new synthetic rubber industry after victory over the Japs seems less academic than it did a few months ago. The scarcity of rubber will be supplanted by a surplus and the problem it will present will be no less acute.

This is not a problem which will arise the day after the Japanese are deprived of their conquests. It will probably be many months before production is resorted and enough ships are available to bring natural rubber back on the market in prewar quantities. But it is a problem which is already being called to the attention of the country by men in the industry, including P. W. Litchfield, chairman of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company.

Mr. Litchfield urges the preservation, at least in part, of the synthetic rubber industry built up during the war. This is the only sound policy. It seems no less clear that it would be wise to encourage the nations of tropical America to develop their own sources of the natural product.

In order to do this, some agreement must previously be reached with the British and Dutch, who controlled the chief sources of rubber production before the war. This will not be particularly easy to arrange since these two nations will be eager to regain dominant position. But the fact that the United States, which is the largest consumer of rubber, is now able to supply the bulk of its own needs with the synthetic product will place this nation in a strong bargaining position when the negotiations are begun.

There are some in the U. S. government who favor junking the synthetic rubber industry after the war is won. They, apparently, are more interested in the resultant economic problems as they shall apply to Malayans, than in the same economic problems as they will apply to use here in the U. S. A. We suppose those whose hearts bleed first for others and later for our own people have a right to feel that way if they choose, but we can't join them.

We remember how the British-Dutch rubber combine forced Americans for many years to "pay through the nose" for their products by methods very similar to those employed by hijackers. We also remember that when our supply of raw rubber was cut short by the Jap aggression in 1941-42, our whole American economy was treatened because we had no synthetic rubber industry to breach the need.

If given time, we perhaps could think of something sillier than junking our synthetic rubber industry as soon as raw rubber from the East is again made available. But right off the bat, we can't think of anything in a class with the idea for sheer foolishness.

Death's Bright Diamonds

By Lionel Mosher

(Copyright, 1945, NEA Service, Inc.)

THE STORY: Nick Trent tells Inspector Marks everything he knows about the Calavestri case and turns over the amulet to him. Marks later learns that Booker has left town, that the amulet diamond is probably the key-stone of the $5,000,000 Ostermann collection which disappeared when the Nazis invaded Poland. A plane which Nick and Charley take up has been tampered with and they crash-land.

SPECULATION

VIII

Back at the hangar we couldn't find the mechanic. But we found Joubert. He was in the tool locker and the back of his head was a dreadful sight. He had been slugged with a Stillson and he was quite dead. Meanwhile in the distributor head of the plane they found graphite which had fouled the points, killing the motor but giving me nothing more than a few added gray hairs.

We went up into Cuddy Naylor's office where the Venetian blinds made prison bars on the floor. Charley sat in a big leather chair smoking with intense preoccupation as if he felt that he was lucky to have the cigaret.

"Look, Nick," he said, "there's getting to be something unpleasantly fatal about you."

"I'm like Typhoid Mary," I answered. "I carry the disease and other people die of it."

"What were you doing for those 16 months in London, Nick, or is it any of my business?"

I sighed.

"I don't blame you, Charley. I think even Pat imagines that I spent most of my time at The Claridge with sloe-eyed Mata Haris. I don't know what it's all about."

"As a matter of fact today's little incident, it seems to me, is pretty obvious."

"How?"

"Somebody must think you still have Calavestri's diamond."

"Even so," I said. "Why kill me?"

"Imagine the Ostermann diamonds in some vault in, let us say, Warsaw." Charley locked his hands behind his head and stared at the ceiling. "Word comes that the Germans are breaking through and on the verge of taking the capital—and, of course, the Ostermann collection. That's five million dollars. They go out of Warsaw in a car or a motorcycle or on a hayrack that someone has stolen or murdered for. By now that five million dollars is anybody's who has the courage to take it. But they're still just amazingly hard and shiny pieces of stone that you can't eat. So someone puts them in a velvet sack or in a belt around his waist and takes a boat from Liverpool. Maybe he has to give two or three stones away as a bribe. He gets to America and in order to give the whole deal the odor of sanctity he engages the services of an internationally known person who might very plausibly have come into possession of the stones legally."

"Calavestri," I said.

"Very likely," replied Charley. "And she knows the gems are stolen and is not above stealing them for herself. In the collection is this talisman with the ironic word PAX scratched on the back. That's the key to the whole shooting match. She lifts it, or may be they let her take it as a sample, and she has it in her bag when she meets a credulous gentleman from the New World."

"All right," I said. "Credulous or not, I take the amulet and give it to the police and Calavestri gets her throat cut. Go on from there."

Charlie took his hands from behind his head.

"I can't. Unless—" He frowned as he stared at his knuckles — "unless Calavestri might have thought you were privy to the whole thing. She might have been trying to make a deal with you leaving Booker out in the cold."

But that's as far as we got.

Pat and I had dinner in sight of a marsh that sometimes heard, in the early morning, the echoing sound of a hunter's gun. And I held my tongue until on the way home we struck the Sunday traffic near the refineries and a couple of planes from the airport drifted over the storage tanks.

"Pat," I said, "I'd better tell you about this morning now before somebody else does."

She faced me questioningly.

"Charley's plane was tampered with," I said. "We landed in the marsh."

Her eyes widened. I continued grimly.

"Somebody slugged Joubert, the mechanic who had serviced Charley's plane, put him in the tool locker, and then put graphite in the distributor head. Joubert died."

Now Pat closed her eyes and shook her head.

"But Nick, why?"

"I don't know. Maybe they've got me mixed up with somebody else. Maybe they think I know something that I ought not to know. Or maybe someone just thinks that I killed Calavestri and is looking for revenge. At any rate, I've got to do something about it."

"What can you do?"

"Perhaps if I slipped off quietly for a few days—alone—"

"Alone!" Pat broke in and shook her head. "No, Nick!"

"A little solitude might work wonders."

"A little solitude might kill you. Unless—"

Then out of Pat's pretty head came an enchanting idea. I fell in love with it and later learned how faithless the objects of first love can sometimes be.

"Unless," she said, "you went to The Ledges."

"The Ledges," I said and I grinned with pleasure. "Pat, you've got something."

MORE U-BOATS GIVE UP

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland, May 14. (AP)—Sir Max Horton, commander-in-chief of Britain's western approaches, said today between 30 and 35 U-boats had surrendered to the British. He estimated that the total German submarines afloat was between 50 and 70.

Policy Is Outlined For Vet Preference

N. F. Nelson, district manager of the Office of Defense transportation, announced today a policy outlining extent of preference to be granted veterans of World War II applying for certificates of war necessity for operating commercial motor vehicles.

Taxicabs were frozen in the community in September, 1942, but a veteran who operated a cab before he entered service, regardless of whether he sold it, is eligible for a new certificate to operate one.

In the operation of a truck the veteran will not be required to show, as is the case of non-veterans, that the operation will be necessary to the war effort or contribute to civilian economy.

Nelson cautioned that veterans should check with the office before buying a truck, to learn whether a certificate of war necessity may be issued for the type of operation. Formal approval is not required for the purchase itself.

Veterans must qualify, at state, county, municipal or federal offices, for a license of operation before approval will be given. Nelson warned that a veteran wishing to sell a cab could not transfer the right of operation, unless the new operator was also a veteran.

Application for certificates of war necessity are obtainable at the local ODT office, Nelson stated.

"Buy A War Bond TODAY."

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

AS I have told you before, I feel very small at times when I see the screaming eight-column headlines in the newspapers announcing world-shaking events. Here I go, day after day, writing about things which seem so very insignificant when taken one by one.

And yet, are they really as unimportant as they seem?

BRANDEIS

As I look out of the window, I see Mrs. Brush, one of our neighbors, hanging out her Monday wash.

Across the road, Louis Pettit is cultivating a row of peonies. The Blankenburgs on the corner are plowing. Paul Kominack is just taking his cows to pasture.

This evening there is going to be a dance at our Consolidated school and all of the kids in the neighborhood are getting ready for it.

I was over to our combination store and postoffice this noon and there was Mrs. Goodfellow buying some soap flakes and Mrs. Ashmore tried her best to get a rib roast out of Gil Davenport, the storekeeper.

Miss MeLeod, our postmistress, was sorting out some magazines —I recognized a woman's journal and a farm paper and a few story magazines.

Right now my wife is over in Danbury buying some thread and some binding for an old rug she is going to fix over and Mr. Benson is painting my back porch, which needs it badly.

And just like it is in our little village here, it's the same in thousands of other towns and cities and hamlets all over the country—life goes on with all its little details and all its little everyday chores and duties and pleasures and sorrows.

Ask any returning soldier or sailor or flier or marine how much he is interested in all the heroics about which we read so much these days.

He wants to forget the whole dirty business as quickly as possible.

He wants to get back to the little things that made life normal and simple before the war. He wants to get back to his farm or his store or his job or his cows or to painting his back porch.

Won't you please help him?

WILL you leave him alone when he comes back and not try to make a hero out of him? Will you just let him be the old Jim or Jack or Tommy again?

Don't ask him a lot of questions. Don't make him talk about things he'll hate to remember.

That boy of yours isn't living for Purple Hearts or Congressional Medals.

He wants to live for work and peace—and you!

Shades Of Henderson!

He Is Blamed For Food Muddle

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

TODAY'S beef, pork and sugar shortages have their origin in blunders made by the Office of Price Administration, when headed by the pugnacious and ebullient Leon Henderson, two and three years ago. The production cycle for these three commodities ranges from two to three years, and, therefore, the effects of ancient mistakes are felt only now.

Take sugar, for instance. When Puerto Rican producers had to pay more for labor, machinery and other supplies in 1942, they asked for an increased price for the raw product. The requested boost would have meant upping the cost per pound to the ultimate consumer by only half a cent. But Washington denied the petition.

TUCKER

As a result, annual production has fallen from seven to 4,000,000 tons. And American tables, not to mention candy and soft drink establishments, will run short of sweets.

Meat producers warned OPA that its ceiling prices would eventually create a famine. An unnecessarily large amount of corn was diverted for manufacture of alcohol, and Middle Western feeders quit the business of fattening cattle and hogs. The animals went on the market straight from the range—200 to 500 pounds lighter than if they had been corn fed.

The packers lost from $15 to $30 for every critter they slaughtered, by reason of extremely low ceiling prices on what they sold to the trade. Many houses closed their doors. To have given them the financial incentive to keep them in operation would have raised the nation-wide price of meat by only two or three cents a pound. But the stiff-necked bureaucrats in Washington refused to admit that they had fumbled.

Now, largely because of these Hendersonian errors, it will be at least a twelvemonth, possibly more, before we will eat normally again.

BOYCOTT: The meat packers and distributors may deny this story, but the writer has proof that they have deliberately starved Washington in order to force favorable action from Congress and administrative agencies charged with handling the food problem.

The American capital has not had a decent supply of meat for more than a month. Not even simple cold cuts can be obtained from long-established markets which were always able to serve old customers in the past. Even restaurants, hotels and night clubs cannot take care of the trade, and they have had access to food even when householders could not buy.

Reason for the boycott is that the industry thought it might get action by staging a sit-down strike against the seat of government. Visitors from other sections of the country are amazed to find conditions here much worse than in their home communities.

And the blockade has produced results. The Anderson committee's adverse report has jolted OPA, Agriculture and War Food administration. They will soon revise the whole system of ceiling prices and regulations in an attempt to better the situation.

But, in view of the two-year cycle applicable to the production of major foods, it is not likely that belated reforms will improve or increase the American diet for at least another year.

DRAFT: Germany's surrender will mean no letup or decrease in the draft quotas for the United States Army. But it may result in the enrollment of an entirely different type of soldier and in some relief for the teen-agers.

Selective Service has been taking about 120,000 men a month, and it will continue to commandeer that many until the end of the conflict with Japan. Approximately 30,000 enlist every 30 days. These two sources give a replacement force of about 1,800,000 annually. Men who will be sent overseas to relieve three- and four-year veterans will come from this pool.

Another batch of prospective fighting men will be available now that the end of the European war permits release of factory workers. It is probable that at least 2,000,000 will be let out within the next six months, pending even partial reconversion of plants to the manufacture of peacetime goods.

WORKERS: Their industrial deferment did not afford exemption from military service save in the period that they were needed behind machines instead of behind guns. They have been making good money while many of their buddies were being paid an average of $50 a month and were fighting and dying. Now it is their turn to help Uncle Sam in uniform, not in overalls or jumpers.

In so far as it is possible, Selective Service will pick discharged employes for combat with Japan or for guard duty in Europe and elsewhere. It is hoped that boys back from overseas will get their jobs after the short lag which will occur between cancellation of war contracts and resumption of normal production processes.

Youngsters of 17 and 18 have comprised about 40,000 of the monthly total of draftees and enlistees. It is consdiered that this figure can be reduced to about ten thousand, and, with the need for immediate replacements reduced by the Nazis' surrender, that the recruits can be given at least six months' training before shipment to the Jap front.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

"OUR merchant fleet which achieved a miracle in building up for D-day, will have a task of still greater proportions in the redeployment of men and materials to the Pacific," reclares Frank J. Taylor, president of the American Merchant Marine Institute in New York.

Shipping was the first great industry to mobilize and it will probably be the last to get back into commercial business. It is the only private transportation enterprise engaged one hundred per cent in war activities.

Despite several sharp shipyard cutbacks, a great many new vessels will be launched, including the largest ocean-going cargo craft made during the war. These will be put to use against Japan and will be fast, modern boats suitable for prompt diversion to private trade.

Among them are colliers, which took severe punishment from Admiral Doenitz's U-boats.

Prior to the war these were extremely important to New England; cheap freight charges on sea borne coal gave this section its industrial supremacy.

Formerly a fleet operated between Hampton Roads and New England ports, moving annually about 16,000,000 tons of black diamonds from the Virginia and West Virginia mines.

This is one of the oldest routes, dating from the days of sailing ships. Powerful tugs in 1900 commenced to tow strings of barges. In 1907 the first steamers with large hatches appeared.

Colliers continue to cart the fuel for factories and electric power plants in the northeastern states, but many are now diverted to bring bauxite for aluminum from South America; their loading equipment makes them ideal for this purpose.

Although many coal carriers were sunk by the Germans, none is unaccounted for, like the ill-fated Cyclops which vanished mysteriously in the last war. For years her disappearance was the theme of sensational writers who advanced theories that she was the prey of subs or was blown up by enemy saboteurs secretly planted in her crew. One weird tale was that a giant octopus had tipped her over.

ORE: We are building huge ore carriers. Each ship is 580 feet long with a deadweight capacity of 18,000 tons.

They will be the fastest of their kind in the South American service. A Liberty is 441 feet long and 10,500 tons deadweight.

Until Japan is defeated they will take limestone and coal when southbound and return with high grade iron ore. Afterward they will be used to open new fields in Venezuela.

Monroe Doctrine, Yalta Trades Injurious

Commitments Stymie Conference

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO. — One difficulty that rises constantly to plague this United Nations conference here, holding it back from the bold course expected, is a number of previous commitments, already frozen, which the leaders here have hesitated to unfreeze.

They were ghosts, some of them not so old, that paraded into the conference at the outset and still sit around the table.

STOKES

It is discovered that the United States has a particularly tenacious one that rises up below its borders in that array of Latin-Americans to the south, our Allies in the Western Hemisphere whom we have cultivated so carefully in the last few years—by diplomatic blandishments and cold cash.

They intruded themselves forcibly again through the ancient Monroe Doctrine, which we proclaimed well over a century ago for our own protection as an infant republic, through a series of commitments since, and most recently through the recent Act of Chapultepec which we signed jointly with them for mutual protection at Mexico City.

Central Control Attacked

The Latin-Americans held us to the mutual non-aggression pact embodied in Chapultepec. They insisted that this regional compact be exempted from the Dumbarton Oaks requirement that action against aggression must first be approved by the proposed security council. For this they found strong support in the United States delegation.

This was an attack on the strength of the central governing body of the proposed security organization which would be weakened by compromises that undermine its power by permitting too much isolated, independent action by regional blocs all around the world. That would raise again the spectacle of spheres of influence, rather than a strong union of nations to govern all for the best interests of all, and therefore presumably for the best interests of each.

THERE was another prior debt, also from Chapultepec, which we paid off earlier in the conference. This was the admission of Argentina to the conference. That created somewhat of a sour reaction, just as the conference was getting undreway, because of all that the late President Roosevelt and former Secretary of State Hull had said about Argentine Fascism and supoort for the Axis. This victory of the Latin-Americans emboldened them to press forward.

But there are still more commitments, involving others, which hampered the work of this conference.

The Yalta conference of the Big Three—President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin—left its legacies which obstruct deliberations here.

Yalta "Deal" Hurt

One was the concession to Russia in the veto power granted to any one of the Big Five permanent members of the security council—Great Britain, Russia, China, France, and the United States —when the question comes up of action against an aggressor. This became a formidable and confusing issue, tying in with the regional bloc issue. For veto by one of the Big Five could hold up approval of action by regional groups.

President Roosevelt apparently was forced into this bargain, which admittedly weakens the organization, in order to get Russia into this conference.

ANOTHER legacy was the Yalta concession to Great Britain on the matter of trusteeships. This virtually bars use of a joint United Nations trusteeship to help colonies and dependencies of any United Nation to become independent, self-governing nations. Such trusteeships require voluntary action by the controlling nation.

Other legacies to this conference are the treaties Russia has made with European nations which set up, in effect, a regional bloc there. These do not aim toward a United States of Europe, which might be a very wholesome development. They only create a new sphere of influence, which undoubtedly will be set off against other spheres of influence there.

Film On Juvenile Delinquency Shown

Junior Chamber of Commerce members saw the film "As a Twig is Bent," a picture dealing with juvenile delinquency, at their Monday noon luncheon in the Hilton hotel with Eldon Rawlings as program chairman.

Jack Thomas led a motion to donate $10 toward buying prizes for winners and runner-ups in the finals of the Lubbock Boy's Club boxing matches on Friday night. Thomas also announced the Jaycee softball team's game tonight at 7 o'clock with the Tech athletic club on the diamond just north of the Men's dormitory at the college.

Nominations by a committee were presented to members for the offices during the next year. Elections are scheduled for the first meeting in June. J. D. Corcorran was nominated as president; Joe Stanley, 1st vice-pres.; Jeff Steele, 2 nd vice-pres.; Curtis Cheaney, secretary; George N. Atkinson, treasurer; Jack Thomas, sergeant-at-arms.

Nominated for members of the board of directors were Gordon Sanders, Ralph Wyatt, Cliff Cummings, Virgil Rowland, W. L. Jones, A. C. Hamilton, Frank Bando, Eldon Rawlings, Walter Switzer and Ray Blackwell. Glenn Woody was nominated to become an automatic member of the board.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Buses are overburdened as never before. A crisis is near. With more men, tires and gas going to war, present service can barely be maintained. Each day brings greater loads. When you must travel locally, let this be your creed:

1. Do Not Ride in Rush Hours, except to and from your job.
2. Have Exact Fare Ready, saves time and fuss.
3. Move Back When Driver Asks, speeds your ride.

This simple creed will work wonders.

THANKS FARMERS
IN BEHALF of our boys in the armed forces, we wish to thank you for the way you responded to our plea for large clean grade A eggs. Because of your patriotic cooperation, we have been able to get their eggs to them much faster than could have been possible otherwise. We still have many more war department orders to fill, and the government is looking to you to help us meet our increased quotas.
If you haven't heard of the way that you can make more money, and still be helping our soldier boys, ask your neighbor, or we will give you the information. Your large clean grade A eggs are still desperately needed. Thanks again.

IRRIGATION FARM FOR SALE
CLOSE IN AND A BARGAIN
150 acres of fine land, located about 7½ miles out of Lubbock on pavement. A very fine irrigation well, fair improvements. This is a real investment. All mineral rights go. 68 acres produced 92 bales of cotton in 1944, and the feed crop was equally as good. The owner received over $3,000.00 in rents. Considering the distance from town, the possibilities of oil and the fine land, this is a bargain at $140.00 per acre. Mr. Investor, this is your chance to own a close-in farm.

Johnson Grass Program Aired

Headed by James Bray, state highway engineer, the county Johnson Grass Control committee met Monday afternoon in the Agricultural building at Fourteenth and Ave. Q to discuss last year's program and lay plans for the future in killing one of the South Plain's No. 1 weed pests.

Bray discussed last year's program by his department and disclosed that experiments and work on the highway south of Lubbock toward Tahoka had been successful. Spot checks from five to six inches in depth showed that the grass was killed by fuel oil applications.

Three Sprayings

He said the grass was sprayed three times. The first covering was light to kill the top grass. The second and third applications were very heavy reaching into the roots of the weed. Bray opined that "very heavy spraying" would be needed by farmers before a "kill" could be certain.

H. P. Read, assistant to the county agent, is contacting farmers as to back sloping and fencing on all roads in the county with the aim of ploughing all ditches and bar-ditches to eliminate the johnson grass. The number of miles which will need fence-removals and other work will be computed in the agent's office.

Joe Nislar, committee chairman, said that Ft. Worth and Denver railroad officials, Santa Fe heads and the local city commission had been contacted and that all agreed to cooperate to the fullest in campaigning against the johnson grass on all property under their jurisdiction.

Tech Experiments

Texas Tech college is at present carrying on experiments in killing the pest with different types of materials. The report is to be released by college officials soon.

Consensus of the meeting was that there was no definite cure for the pestilence at present, other than methods already known to all farmers. The committee regarded work being carried out at present by farmers and other interested parties, using various methods and materials, as sufficient until a very definite "kill" could be reported by the group.

Read, in making his survey, named a large community of farms in this area completely rid of johnson grass, along with several scattered tracts which showed intensive work by owners.

Jason O. Gordon, county agent, said a master map was being made and would be kept in his office by the committee. Special colorings will be placed on tracts rid of the grass to show where the best work was being done.

Gordon also said an honor roll will be made bearing the names of all farmers in the county no longer bothered by the grass through work and experiments of their own doing.

Committeemen present, other than Nislar, were George Kuykendall, H. T. Swanner, C. E. Lilly, W. O. Fortenberry, Douglas Pounds, John Toler, L. A. Howard and Paul Crosnoe. Others at the meeting were Bray, Read and Gordon.

RECONVERSION AIDE—Robert R. Nathan, above, 36-year-old consultant on national income to former War Production Chief Donald M. Nelson, has been named deputy to mobilization director Fred M. Vinson to aid on reconversion plans. Nathan, who resigned his WPB post to enter the Army subsequently received a medical discharge.

Scenery Wonderful But Flier Satisfied

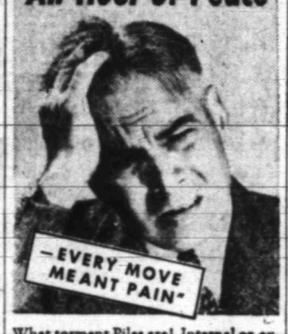

HOUSTON, May 14. (U.P.)—Lt. John L. Dickson, 21-year-old B-25 pilot, thinks the scenery in and around historic Brenner pass in north Italy is wonderful, but he wants no more of it.

Dickson almost caught his "death of pneumonia" during four weeks of dodging Nazi patrols in north Italy after being shot down February 6 on a bombing raid.

Hiding in caves along the way, Dickson reached the American lines after a long hike through the snow-clogged pass and was immediately hospitalized for pneumonia.

The young flier returned home wearing the Air Medal with one Oak Leaf cluster, the Purple Heart and European campaign ribbon.

Several Noted Fliers Are Among Liberated

LONDON, May 14. (AP)—Several famous U. S. aces, including Lt. Col. Francis S. Gabreski who destroyed 28 enemy planes in the air and three on the ground, were among 9,200 prisoners of war liberated from a German camp near Barth whose return to England was completed today.

Along with the Oil City, Pa., Thunderbolt pilot were Col. Hubert Zemke, Missoula, Mont., Mustang group commander who destroyed 19½ planes in the air and 11 on the ground, and Lt. John C. Morgan, Amarillo, Tex., bomber pilot who holds the Congressional Medal of Honor. Morgan's parents now live in New York City.

The movement of 7,700 American and 1,500 British out of the camp north of Berlin, known as Stalag Luft No. 1, began Saturday with 54 U. S. Eighth Air force bombers landing and taking off on a field the prisoners themselves had prepared.
