Mrs. Davis testifies

Former boyfriend did not choke her

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Priscilla Davis denied under cross-examination Saturday that former boyfriend W.T. Rufner once choked her, pulled a knife and cut off her brassiere and panties.

Testifying outside the presence of the jury, the blonde socialite also denied that Rufner once slit her dress from the hem to the waist and pointed a pistol at a visitor to her lavish Fort Worth mansion.

PRISCILLA DAVIS

Mrs. Davis did recall a flower pot-throwing incident and a fight involving Rufner at the mansion and said he once tore the transmission out of her car.

"But he was never physically violent with me, ever," she said.

The state's key witness thus concluded her fourth day of withering cross-examination in the capital murder trial of her estranged husband, Fort Worth millionaire Cullen Davis.

The defense rooted out several inconsistencies in her testimony, but failed to shake her story that Davis was the "man in black" who triggered a shooting spree at the $6 million Davis estate last summer.

Mrs. Davis was critically wounded and her boyfriend Stan Farr was slain in the midnight attack Aug. 2, 1976. Her daughter Andrea, 12, also was killed and it is on this charge that Davis is being tried.

Rufner, who is free on probation on a drug conviction, was the partially nude man with Mrs. Davis in a photograph the defense has unsuccessfully tried to enter as evidence.

Defense attorneys are attempting to prove that someone other that Davis did the shooting and have focused on some of Mrs. Davis' associates.

State District Court Judge George Dowlen sent the jury from the courtroom late Saturday to permit defense questioning of Mrs. Davis in an area he has not ruled admissable.

'It's a mosquito breeding mess'

'Swamp' near City Hall

Editor's note: The following is the third in a series of articles concerning the controversial proposed draining of One Mile Lake.

By JAMES WERRELL

Howard and Marijo Walker have lived and worked near the One Mile Lake since 1964; long enough to learn to hate that shallow body of water.

Walker is the manager of the Thixton Harley Davidson Shop, 908 W. 3rd, and has fought mosquitoes and flood waters off and on there for the last 13 years.

"The floods during 1966 and May of 1974 were the worst ones," said Walker, frowning.

The Walkers bought a house behind the shop in 1967, but haven't lived in it since one night in May of 1974.

"It started to rain about 11 o'clock. In just a few minutes our whole front yard filled up. I went out to get a drink of water in the kitchen, and when I got back the water was already coming in the front door," said Walker.

The couple grabbed their children, walked to the car which had water slapping over the floor boards, and moved into a motel. The house had eight inches of water inside for two weeks, according to Walker. Tadpoles and minnows swam through the living room.

"I still own that house, but I can't rent it. If the rain doesn't run off the renters, the mosquitoes do," said the bitter man. "I estimate altogether it has cost me about $12,000 to move, buy a trailer, rent space for it, and keep up payments on the house. It's a real financial loss."

The most common complaint in the area near the lake is about the mosquitoes. And the Walkers have had their share of problems with the insects.

"I got encephalitis in 1967 from the mosquitoes. I was in the hospital for three days, and I had such a high fever that I was out of my head," said Mrs. Walker. "The doctors told me I had the symptoms of polio, and that is a frightening, scary feeling. They had to take a spinal tap before they learned it was encephalitis. It was two weeks before I could get around, and the whole thing was very expensive."

According to Walker, his customers are often driven off by the mosquitoes. In addition, he has to spend between $100 and $200 a year for insecticide spray.

Mrs. Levi Pearson, 206 Galveston, also has to fight mosquitoes near her home most of the time. Her legs and arms and those of her children are a patchwork of welts from bites by the pernicious insects.

"After it rains, I can't ever let the kids out of the house. And on a bad day I can't hang clothes," said Mrs. Pearson. "We can't really keep the mosquitoes out of the house. They come in through the air conditioner and any little crack. We have to spend a lot of money on sprays."

The businessmen along West Third and other areas near the lake are boiling mad about the hold-up of the drainage project. They have begun to circulate petitions in an attempt to get the project back in gear.

According to one estimate, petitioners have already gathered more than 1,000 names.

And what do the businessmen think the problem is there?

"Mosquitoes, boy, mosquitoes!" said Wayne Burleson, owner of the Burleson Welding Shop, 1102 W. 3rd. "The city was on the right track after 25 years with that project. This flooding and mosquitoes have held this part of town down for a long time. Who wants to drive to work in water," he said.

Jerry Stephens lives near the lake at 220 Brown and has worked on a number of construction projects in the area.

"Sometimes when the wind is blowing, I can sit on my front porch, and that lake smells like a sewer. The mosquitoes are real bad. The lake doesnt' do a bit of good for anybody," he said.

(PHOTO BY DANNY VALDES)

MOSQUITO BREEDING SWAMP? — This is a view of the algae covered water which drains east from One Mile Lake adjacent to the railroad tracks. Residents and businessmen near the lake claim that this is a breeding ground for mosquitoes.

Perhaps the feelings of all the businessmen in the area are best summed up by Chuck Cawthon, owner of Chuck's Surplus, 904 W. 3rd.

"That so-called lake is basically a swamp that is 10 blocks from City Hall. It's a mosquito breeding mess," he said. "I think it's a shame when one or two people can stop a project like draining the lake. They have put the welfare of mosquitoes, birds, snakes and mice above the welfare of human beings."

Daily Venture 'scoops' of 1899

By TOMMY HART

One of the prize possessions in the Charles Read family here is a copy of the Daily Venture printed Oct. 3, 1899, in Big Spring.

The three-column four-page tabloid, which mixed ads with news on Page One, is crumbling away but Mrs. Read hopes to save the precious document through lamination.

Among other items, the Daily Venture (which sold for ten cents a week), noted that the T&P Railway was offering a round-trip ticket to the Dallas Fair (now the State Fair) for the princely sum of $8.95.

C.D. Read, grandfather of Charles Read, was prominently mentioned in the newspaper. So was the Read prize horse, Bob. The paper noted that the Read family was sorely grieved because the animal had been struck by a train and killed.

Singer sewing machines were advertized in the little publication, as was Five Drops, a home remedy.

It was duely noted that Maj. B.G. Bidwell, one of the best known lawyers in Texas, had come west from Weatherford to attend court proceedings here.

C. Holdsclaw maintained a laundry here that advertized its services. The court records got careful attention in the Daily Venture.

A rising young Colorado (City) barrister, Ben Randels, came over to attend court.

Quante, which as it turned out was a fine eating establishment in Big Spring (then called Big Springs), pointed with pride to its vittles in a full-page ad. The restaurant, the paper voted, was "still" killing fat young cattle and keeping the very best of the beef. McCamant's Drug Store was given a plug.

The newspaper, doomed to cease publication in a few years, had as its manager one E.W. Pool, who was destined to disappear into the mists of time.

The Charles Reads also treasure among their mementoes a personal card the late Mrs. W.R. Settles had printed, wherein Mrs. Settles identified herself as a "breeder of Barred Plymouth Rocks and Single Comb Rhode Island Reds." The eggs those chickens produced were also sold by Mrs. Settles.

The city's tallest building, the Settles Hotel, is named for Mr. and Mrs. Settles, who started the structure but ran out of money and had to yield their interests in the project. The Settles were also pillars in the First Presbyterian Church here and made major contributions toward the building at Sixth and Runnels Street, now used as a sanctuary.

The Reads, down through the years, have retained a statement of condition prepared by the First National Bank reported at the close of business Nov. 10, 1910, which showed the financial institution with resources of $117,456.81 and independent deposits of $74,776.16.

The statement was certified by T.S. Currie, cashier, who later was to become the president and chief stockholder of the State National Bank.

Bible Fund goal far away

Bible Fund donations totaling $367.50 were received by The Herald Saturday, bringing the aggregate to $7,598.

That means that gifts are still one fourth short of the $10,000 objective set by the sponsoring organization, the Howard County Ministerial Alliance, although substantially higher than a year ago.

The formal drive will be termined the coming week, since school will have started in practically all area schools.

The $10,000 is needed to assure the teaching of Bible in high schools at Big Spring, Forsan and Coahoma.

Checks should be made to the Bible Fund and forwarded either to The Herald or to the Rev. Kenneth Patrick, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Big Spring. Patrick coordinates the drive for the alliance.

It just won't work with Tommy Hart

The 13 years John Barleycorn lay waiting to be resurrected in the United States was an unfortunate period in America, no matter what stance you might take on libation.

From that day in 1919 when it became inconsistent with the statutes to sell intoxicants until Utah ratified the 21st amendment to the Constitution, providing Franklin Delano Roosevelt with the opportunity to issue his celebrated proclamation, eau d'vie flowed quite freely in the United States but only the flaunters of society's rules and dictates profited by it.

Rum ships plowed our waters. Beer trucks burned rubber on our roads. The skies absorbed the smoke from remote distilleries and the rivers of the big cities tried to digest their mash.

Hijackers swooped down on trucks and cars carrying illegal booze. Gang lords proposed assassinations when gentle persuasion didn't work and, in turn, were ushered into eternity by others of the hardened artery who developed more muscle. Universally, police adminstrators and the man on the beat entered into collusion with the people who hustled the booze, thereby insuring their standard of life into their twilight years.

The great experiment was noble, but it just didn't work. The public insisted on drinking, if it had to do it in gilded fortresses, in automobiles from hip flasks, in football stadia where bottles were sheathed in brown paper bags but mostly across kitchen tables, where worried helpmeets shook up the window fern with the white lightning the old man's bootlegger insisted would not blind him.

Even today, an army of people think they can legislate morals, which is the reason you see the proliferation of not-so-private clubs, where all you need to sample the delights therein is a membership card. That card invariably retails for a very modest fee.

What America ever dry? You've got to be kidding. Will it ever be? Only if the chemical processes that detonate fermentation fail to work.

Getting married will cost you more Monday

By WALT FINLEY

Putting a brand on the lady of your choice or on a herd of cattle is going to cost you more beginning Monday.

An increase in fees collected by the County Clerk Margaret Ray's office will take effect at that time. The increases were authorized by the Texas Legislature in its last session.

It means a bigger bite out of your pocketbook to get married, to become a notary public and to file papers in the deed record office, including documents relating to wills and estates.

And if you're a cattleman, the cost of filing a cattle brand rises from $2 to $5.

A marriage license which cost $5 will jump to $7.50. An informal marriage declaration also will rise from $5 to $7.50. Cost of becoming a notary rises from $4 to $8 and after Sept. 1, all new notaries will be appointed statewide instead of only at the county level. The state's portion of the fee is $4. The notary is bonded at $2,500 instead of only $1,000.

In general, there will be a fee charge of $3 for recording the first page of a document and $2 for each subsequent page. This applies to warranty deeds, releases, transfers and other documents in the deed records.

Filing of abstract judgments will cost $3. Federal tax liens will remain at $2.

Other new charges on the schedule are:

Garnishment after judgment, from $7.50 to $12.50; interpleading or cross section, remains at $10; filing paper after first anniversary, from $2 to $4; administering oaths, from $1 to $2; filing and entering claim against estate, from $1 to $2; letters of testamentary, from $1 to $2 and filing wills, from $3 to $5.

The last five items are related to probate costs in settling an estate and probate of a will.

Another new portion of the law concerns size of documents filed. People acting as their own lawyers should be familiar with this portion, which takes effect Jan. 1.

A strict set of specifications a document must meet in size and form has been established. The county clerk can charge double if the required documents fail to meet specifications.

A new voter registration law also takes effect Monday. It will purge from the rolls all whose registration cards are returned by the post office, requiring them to re-register.

Voters with kids 10 and younger can legally take them into voting booths with them, and when casting paper ballots, they no longer are required to sign the stub.

"Living will" legislation also takes effect Monday, meaning Texans can leave directions in writing to "pull the plug" if they become hopelessly ill or injured.

On a less serious note, hotels and motels can begin selling mixed drinks through room service on Monday.

Sniper kills six men

HACKETTSTOWN, N.J. (AP) — Emil P. Benoist had been in trouble before, but not the kind to make anyone suspect he would become a mass murderer and a suicide.

"All his previous contacts with police were on minor things, violations of municipal ordinances," Warren County First Asst. Prosecutor James Courter said Saturday.

But Benoist, 20, methodically ambushed and killed six men with a semi-automatic rifle along a path next to the railroad tracks near his home here Friday, then shot himself as he was about to be captured in a cornfield, police said.

Some of the victims were shot more than once with the powerful, magnum-load, Ruger .44-caliber rifle "whose slug can go through 1½ cars, front to back," Courter said.

Benoist, the son of a former councilman, would spring from bushes lining the seldom-used Conrail tracks, fire the rifle and then drag his victim from a path along the tracks, Courter said.

"The pain is inexpressible," said his father, Pierre, at his home on Saturday. He said no more and closed the door.

Authorities said David Galvin, 14, of Hackettstown; Stephen Werner, 20, of Independence Township, and Robert Visconti, 35, of Great Meadows, were killed in this northwest New Jersey town of 11,000.

Benoist, a stocky construction worker, then traveled south into neighboring Mansfield Township where, police said, he shot William Nagle, 37, of Mansfield; Jeffrey L. Gianquitti, 19, of Hackettstown and Clifford Sowers, 38, of Washington Boro.

Lenient victim blames dope

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — An elderly man who was attacked by a teen-ager wielding a butcher knife asked a judge not to sentence the youth to jail because he felt the blame for the assault should be placed on drug pushers.

Elmer R. Beeler, 80, said Saturday that the 16-year-old boy who cut his throat from ear to ear in a robbery at his apartment "was under the influence of cocaine, and that makes all the difference in the world."

"He should be allowed to get on his feet again and ignore cocaine," Beeler said, explaining why he asked Broward County Circuit Court Judge Hort A. Soper to go easy on his assailant.

Beeler said the real culprits in the attack are "the cocaine sellers."

On Friday, the judge sentenced young Albert Mitchell to two years in prison for the assault on Beeler. He said he had considered a 15-to 20-year sentence but changed his mind after reading a presentence investigation report in which Beeler urged leniency.

Beeler, who uses a walker to get around, is a graduate of Harvard Law School and used to practice law in Boston. He now works part time as an auditor at a resort hotel.

Mitchell entered Beeler's apartment last March 29 through a front door which had been left ajar for an errand boy. Mitchell slashed Beeler's throat, arm and shoulder with the butcher knife before fleeing with $25 from the apartment.

School taxes raised

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Property tax relief "is in the wind," House leaders often said this year, and a goal of the $954 million school aid bill passed this summer was to cut taxes.

But a spot check shows more districts have raised taxes or kept them the same than have reduced them.

Many school boards are still trying to decide whether to give taxpayers a break, though usually a small one, or to use their additional state money to improve programs or salaries.

In Houston and Austin, conservative groups have badgered school boards for major reductions.

Of 76 districts covered by the spot check, 26 said they would cut their maintenance tax rates, 26 said they would keep them the same, 21 said they would raise them and three were still deciding.

Few districts have reported their tax rates and property assessments to the Texas Education Agency since the school fid nance bill was signed in mid-July, so complete data is unavailable.

Of the major city districts, Dallas cut its tax rate by a penny per $1.00 valuation and increased its special homestead tax exemption for the elderly by $1,000.

Houston held its tax rate constant, despite criticism from the Tax Research Association that it was allowing $11 million to accumulate in the debt service fund instead of lowering taxes.

Supt. Billy Reagan said the financial picture would be reevaluated in a year but inflation, federal requirements and loss of funds to breakaway districts might prevent a future tax cut.

Austin ISD's budget includes a two-cent cut in the tax rate, but the conservative Austin Citizens League is pushing for a 17-cent cut.

"When these people come in here saying, 'Cut! Cut! Cut!,' it cuts my heart," says school board president Gus Garcia.

"They think that as long as money keeps coming in, they should keep spending it because education is a good thing," replies Royal Masset, a leader of the citizens league.

Rising costs and increased enrollments caused most San Antonio districts to cling to present rates and assessment ratios.

Edgewood ISD, however, lowered its rate from $2.10 to $2.00, reflecting greater state "equalization aid" provided by the bill for property-poor districts. It held its assessment ratio at the present 70 per cent of market value.

Fort Worth's school board instructed administrators to cut the budget enough to allow a two-cent reduction in the tax rate and agreed to increase the homestead exemption for the elderly from $3,000 to $7,000.

With the district's present assessment ratio, the two-cent cut would save $3.30 in taxes on a $30,000 house.

Midland school taxpayers, for example, received a 45.5-cent cut in their rate, but homeowners actually might pay higher taxes because property was revalued upward. Marshall ISD lowered its rate from $1.50 to $1, but its assessed valuations jumped from $93 million to $150 million.

Intruders steal guns

Burglars were busy recently.

A.C. Parker, Barcelona Apartments, reported Friday that intruders broke into a residence he owns at 1511 Aylford. Stolen were a .38 caliber pistol, two .22 caliber rifles, a 30-06 rifle and a .22 pistol. Value of the guns was estimated at $390.

Sandra Ryerson, 1506 A. Virginia, reported that burglars broke into the home she was in the process of moving into at 3306 W. Hwy. 80. Stolen were a motorcycle helmet, a turquoise ring and a diamond ring. The items were valued at $153.

Destructive burglars hit the scale house at the Broughton Gin, 200 N.E. 2nd, sometime Thursday night. Inside the house, cushions on a sofa, rocking chair and two bar stools were slashed, and beer bottles were smashed on the floor.

It is not yet known what was stolen. Damage was estimated at $350.

The owner of the Thrifty Lodge, 1000 W. 4th, reported that someone stole $150 in cash from his office sometime Friday night. The owner thinks that two lodge employes pulled the heist.

Vandals smashed the windshield on the 1970 Chevrolet belonging to Nora Winton, 1406 Robin, 1:25 a.m. Friday. Damage was estimated at $125.

Juan O. Gonzales and Francis Gonzales, both of 2501 Old Highway 80, were treated and released from Malone-Hogan Hospital after a two-car accident, 7:42 p.m. Friday.

The accident occurred on FM 700, just west of Malone-Hogan Hospital. The other car was driven by Jack L. McIntosh, Monahans.

Several other accidents were reported over the weekend.

Vehicles driven by Paul E. Merrell, 2306 Lynn, and Thomas G. Harrell, 620 Colgate, collided at Fourth and Johnson, 4:06 p.m. Friday.

Special marine warning issued

By the Associated Press

Soggy clouds from the Gulf of Mexico drenched the southeastern areas of Texas while most of the rest of the state roasted under a summer sun.

The Gulf rains eased into the state in the morning and began moving up the eastern third of Texas in the afternoon.

Moist air moved as far west as Del Rio and as far north as Dallas spreading clouds throughout the region.

Other areas of the state, however, had only high and middle cloudiness because of a much lower level of humidity.

FORECAST

WEST TEXAS — Mostly cloudy through Monday with widely scattered afternoon and night-time thunderstorms most sections through tonight. Cooling trend spreading south over most of area by Monday. Highs today near 80 Panhandle to near 100 Big Bend valleys. Low tonight upper 50s Panhandle and mountains near 70 south. High Monday 70s north to upper 90s Big Bend valleys.

WEATHER FORECAST — The National Weather Service predicts rain for parts of the Midwest, Oklahoma and Texas and for parts of Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas and Mississippi.

How to know if a drawer is going to last? First of all, the bottoms of the drawers should be substantial. It should be possible to rest one's weight on the inverted drawer. A good drawer bottom is a quarter of an inch thick, may be composed of 3-ply laminated construction; the surface which is exposed may be made of good quality face veneer, although solid wood is sometimes used. A tiny block of wood glued to the sides will prevent the bottom as well as the sides from getting out of position. Center or side drawer slides on the under side should be fastened to front and cross rails and glued to the bottom of the drawer.

For professional advice on all the little "fix-up" jobs around your home, visit HARRIS LUMBER & HARDWARE, E. 4th at Birdwell Lane! Our knowledgable staff is always happy to answer your questions and to advise do-it-yourselfers on any repair or remodeling job. Come in for all your building supplies and hardware needs. We carry a full line of plywood paneling, paints and painting equipment, vinyl tile, tools, ladders, and aluminum windows and doors. Call HARRIS LUMBER at 267-8206. We are open weekdays from 7:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m., and on Saturdays until 4 p.m. Delivery service is available.

HANDY HINT: Between drawers there should be a dust panel at least 3-16 of an inch thick.

In his 12 years as a radio broadcaster, Big Spring's Mike Faulkner interviewed such worthies as John Wayne and Elvis Presley but says the most likeable person he ever met over a microphone was Rex Allen, the cowboy entertainer who has ridden into a few sunsets in his time.

Faulkner recalls that Rex co-exists with an superstition: On the day he had his first big recording, Allen, by mistake, put on hose that didn't match — one was black, the other blue. Ever since then, on recording days, he's followed the same ritual.

Of course, for someone who wears boots even to the breakfast table, that wouldn't matter much.

"There's no crime in Lamesa. The law doesn't allow it."

Coincidentally, the same day, Bartlett's home town paper duely reported that not only had an unknown person shot out the front door of the police station but the rear glass of Bartlett's camper, as well.

No crime, maybe, but occasionally one element there plays a rough kind of game.

Sweden, long thought of as a showcase for socialism, is now being threatened by external economic forces which the government can no longer hold at bay.

In case you haven't noticed, the world has been experiencing somewhat of a recession and it's hit Sweden harder than most other countries.

For a full generation, Sweden has enjoyed full employment, rising living standards and cradle-to-the-grave security. All that may be changing. The government is finding it increasingly costly to continue the previous government's policy of shielding the domestic economy from the recession by subsidizing firms to keep workers employed.

The government in power there now is trying to increase private incentives in Europe's most heavily taxed nation and let market forces operate more freely. The party in power has dared do little to seriously alter the Social Democrats' policy of subsidizing private companies which keep on workers who would otherwise be on the bricks.

The state had to take over Sweden's shipbuilding industry, which was bankrupt. It now must rescue the steel industry from the same sort of quicksand. The Swedish trade unions are demanding more money, although a lot of the country's goods can't be sold. Swedish labor costs are already among the highest in the world.

International cartels are often accused of having no spirit of nationalism but unions invariably enter into conspiracies that slowly bleed a nation to death. Look at the sordid record of the English labor confederations, who have done their part to impoverish what was once a great nation.

Sweden has begun borrowing heavily abroad for the first time in its history, to help finance a big trade deficit. The showcase has become a little tarnished.

Proponents of the plan to let down most of the restrictions against immigration say we are too compassionate a people to do otherwise.

Opponents of the plan insist we are fusing a population bomb by permitting a continued high level of immigration. One publication warns that unrestricted immigration would cancel the benefits of our declining fertility and make it difficult, if not impossible, to achieve a stationary population.

Zero Population Growth, an organization alerted to the dangers of population explosion, maintains that fully half of the human growth in this country last year came as the result of immigration, legal and illegal.

We are now letting in 400,000 legal aliens annually in this country. Another 800,000 are illegally crossing the borders. Of that number, probably as many as 80,000 remain.

Jim's wife, Margaret, says that her husband has been engrossed with political adventure for many years.

"To some, Jim's interest in politics to the extent of considering running for Congress . . . may come as a revelation," Margaret said.

"To the contrary, Jim has been avidly interested and quietly active in politics for a number of years. The fact that he is considering running for this position indicates that after 20 years in the field of broadcasting, he has decided to put down his microphone and attempt to carry out his convictions. I happen to like those convictions."

Center offers hearing aid service

The Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center now offers full time hearing aid dispensary service; fitting, selling and repairing hearing aids 5 days a week.

Glenn Carrigan, Director of the Department of Audiology at the Rehab Center says that the new service will fulfill a need that Big Spring has had for a full time person involved in the hearing aid business, and the need for a dispenser of various accessories and componats.

Carrigan said there were only two hearing aid dealers in his area, and often a patient would have to wait two weeks or more to get service for his hearing aid.

Carrigan, who was in the business in 1968, and has had 3 years experience, said that the new service will not alter the non profit status of the Rehab Center, and that hearing aids will be dispensed at cost plus a service charge.

Carrigan will service all hearing aids, and sell several types including All-in-the-Ear, around the ear, and others.

Mistaken identity

He nearly 'went crazy' after booked on rape

HOUSTON (AP) — A New York college student says he was enjoying the summer working in Houston when all of a sudden it became a nightmare.

On Aug. 15 he was booked on a charge of rape.

William Belknap, 19, of Johnstown, N. Y. said he was innocent and last Monday a county grand jury cleared him, but while he was accused he said nearly "went crazy."

"What really bothered me were the guards calling me a rapist," he said. "I couldn't believe this was happening to me."

Belknap said he was at his brother's house when his brother told him two officers were outside to see him."

"They asked me to come downtown and talk about an incident they said happened a week before," he said. "They said I had been identified as a rapist."

He said he wasn't worried until a couple of hours later when when he was jailed after being booked on a charge of rape.

By the time the grand jury cleared Belknap, he was out $1,000 for his bond and at least $300 more for his attorney.

"She identified the wrong man," said Asst. Dist. Atty. Tommy Dunn of the woman who accused Belknap.

Bill Kilgarlin, Belknap's attorney, said the case "illustrates how mistaken identification can often cripple the justice system.

"And it's unfortunate that just because of a mistaken identity someone can be put through emotional and financial trauma."

Belknap said he had seen the young woman who accused him about three times before his arrest. Kilgarlin said there was evidence Belknap had been working on a house installing siding when the alleged rape occured.

Belknap left Houston for his New York home Friday and instead of returning home with summer earnings he was returning broke with a few debts to pay.

Workers' compensation seminar set

A one-day seminar focusing on the significant changes recently made by the 65th Texas Legislature in the Texas Workers' Compensation Law will be held on Sept. 9, 9 a.m.-2 p.m., in the Inn of the Golden West, 4th and N. Lincoln, Odessa.

The Workders' Compensation Seminar, sponsored by the Texas Association of Business, is designed to help company insurance managers, employe relations, managers, safety engineers, and others reduce their workers' compensation costs.

Workers' compensation experts will discuss new changes in the law, how the system operates, practical ways to save big premium dollars, how a plaintiff's attorney views the employer's plight, and available cost saving alternatives to purchasing a standard workers' compensation policy.

The fee is $20. For more information contact P. D. Linnevold, Regional Director, at 684-7881.

Six per cent pay increase

MIDLAND — Employes of Midland Memorial Hospital have been granted a 6 per cent pay increase by the hospital's board of trustees.

In addition to the pay boost, trustees approved a plan that the hospital assume all the cost of the employes' health insurance premiums.

Hospital administrator Wayne E. Eulrich said that the insurance concessions would figure out to a savings of approximately $20 per month per employe.

The board's action will cost the hospital an estimated $425,000 annually.

Local arts, crafts festival takes shape

Plans were revealed recently for the first Big Spring Arts and Crafts Festival at the August meeting of the Cultural Affairs committee of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce.

The festival will be held at the Dora Roberts Community Center on Oct. 22 and 23. It is under the direction of Mike Paul, Gamco Industries employe, and Mel Prather, of Webb Federal Credit Union.

According to organizers, the two-day show has attracted the attention of a large number of area organizations and artists.

"In the past, artists and prospective buyers have had to travel to other cities to purchase types of items we hope to have for sale at the local festival," said Prather. "Since we knew there was an expanding market for all types of arts and crafts in Big Spring we decided it was time for artists and buyers from other cities to start coming to Big Spring to spend their money."

The booths, which will rent for $10.00, will be located on the grounds surrounding the community center. Booths selling food, items requiring electricity will be located inside the Center.

"There will be no set limit on the cost items being sold at the festival," Paul said. "We'd like to encourage artists to bring some of their best works to the festival because we feel there is a big demand for art of all price ranges here in Big Spring.

Deadline for entries will be Oct. 1,.

Special stationery is being designed for the event and the first meeting of the advisory committee will be held at the Chamber of Commerce Conference Room on Sept. 2, at 2 p.m.

Individuals who are interested in serving on the advisory committee are encouraged to attend the meeting. Local artists who would like to participate in the festival are asked to contact either Mel Prather, Mike Paul, or the Chamber office.

Horace said that "the chief pleasure in eating does not consist in costly seasoning or exquisite flavor but in yourself." For today's world, the statement might be somewhat altered to the effect that the chief pleasure in eating does not consist of costly seasoning or exquisite flavor but in yourself and a dish attractively served. Even simple dishes can attain elegance if served with a pretty place setting, cloth rather than paper napkins, in napkin holders, the food arranged nicely on the plate with perhaps a simple sprig of parsley or a slice of lemon for decoration, and a single flower in a vase.

At COKER'S RESTAURANT 309 Benton, 267-2218 you will be treated by a very friendly staff which makes it enjoyable to eat out. ..The accommodating goodness of God showed its real profile when a Norwegian freshman with his two sons went on their daily fishing run. As usual the mother went down to the shore to see her family off. By mid-afternoon the waves were rolling higher than usual. A sharp, brisk wind whipped little spits of salty spray into the faces of the rugged man and his teenaged sons. The wind increased, the waves grew higher. The storm caused the little boat to toss and pitch as the three rowed desperately to get back to shore. The fierce storm put out the light in the lighthouse on the shore, leaving the fisherman dependent upon a dark groping guesswork.

Meanwhile, in the kitchen of their rustic cottage a fire broke out. Before the wife and mother could put out the fire, it destroyed their every earthly possession except the clothes on their backs. Finally, the father and sons were able to row the boat back safely to shore. Waiting on the beach to tell them the tragic news of the fire was the wife and mother. "Karl," she tearfully said, "fire has destroyed our house and all our possessions, we have nothing now." But Karl seemed strangely unmoved by the disconcerting news. "Didn't you hear me Karl? Our home is gone." "Yes, I heard you," he replied, "but a few hours ago we were lost at sea, riding high waves and death seemed mighty close. Our only guide to the shoreline, the light in the house on the cliff, went out. For an hour I thought death would be our lot, then something happened — a dim, yellow glow appeared in the distance. Then it grew bigger and bigger. We turned our boat and rowed with all our might to get in the path of that light. When we did; we followed it safely to shore. You see, Ingrid," he explained, "that little yellow glow was the first sight of our house burning. At the peak of the blaze, we could see that shoreline as bright as day. The same heat that destroyed our house, created a light which saved our lives."

Just so with many of the doors that shut in our face for no apparent reason. At such time if we would exercise enough faith to wait and see, most times God would point His finger down life's hallway to a double door, standing wide open, through which He wants us to go.

Big Spring as the 'watering hole'

And not just any map. This one is the West Texas Chamber of Commerce's new "Wonderful West Texas Fun and Adventure Map."

The 1977 version has two pictures and some information about Big Spring under the headline, "There's room for you in Big Spring."

One photograph is of Signal Moutain, and the other is of Moss Creek Lake. The information reads:

"Mesas and buttes on three sides with the open plains to the north give flavor and variety to the landscape of the Big Spring area. Clear beautiful skies and invigorating weather make outdoor activities a year round possibility. Spectacular sunsets."

The map also identifies the "big spring," the Heritage Museum and Howard College.

IT DESCRIBES Big Spring, in a historically appropriate role in many senses, as "the watering hole of the west."

It notes that our area is a "bird-watching mecca" with free camping, a state park, lakes, fishing, hunting, tennis, golf, boating, and a town with excellent motels and restaurants.

Sounds like a great place to visit, doesn't it?

The map describes Colorado City as the "Mother City of West Texas" with a renovated 76-year-old opera house and a new civic center. It also calls attention to Colorado City's Historical Museum, which features life there in the 1870s and 1880s during the "cattleman's capital" era.

THE DESCRIPTIONS OF the towns are lively, almost caricatures, which make interesting and informative reading for tourists.

I got a prolonged chuckle out of the description of Kermit as "Gateway to Wink."

The map should serve its purpose of promoting tourism in West Texas and encouraging visitors to stop enroute and see the sights.

Big Spring comes across as a very inviting place, and travelers crossing the Great Southwest may find this an ideal spot in which to take a break from their long journey.

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — A key Carter economic policymaker has privately acknowledged a menace facing President Carter that politically could be worse than the Panama Canal, Soviet relations and the Middle East put together: the economy slowing down.

"I would day," this senior official told us, "that the economy for the rest of the year is tenuous at best."

What it may be at worst, he hinted is a declining economy — in harsh words, a recession. The reason this forecast is so chilling is that it comes from a policymaker who publicly sound only cheery optimism for the future.

HIS PRIVATE PESSIMISM comes on the heels of increasingly gloomy forecasts that would pose President Carter's most difficult decision so far. If and when the slumping economy becomes obvious, demands for massive federal spending will flood in from Congress, the labor movement and most of the Democratic party. If he yields to that demand, the President will not only make absurd his balanced beudget primises but start down the dreary trail that has led Britain to prolonged misery.

Following ambiguous but generally disappointing economic indicators all summer, the most bearish news yet came Aug. 18 with announcement by Bethlehem Steel Corp. of drastic reductions in capacity and capital spending. While some economists (especially inside the government) claim Bethlehem is a special case, its problems are widely viewed as symbolic of soggy demand which undercut posted prices for steel, aluminum, copper and other products.

This underlying softness and the prospect for trouble ahead was proclaimed months ago by New York economic consultant Eliot Janeway, early Carter-for-Presient supporter with continuing close links to the administration. Janeway's reputation for bearishness is notorious (he is known in Wall Street as "Calamity Janeway"), and his forecasts were laughed off in and out of government.

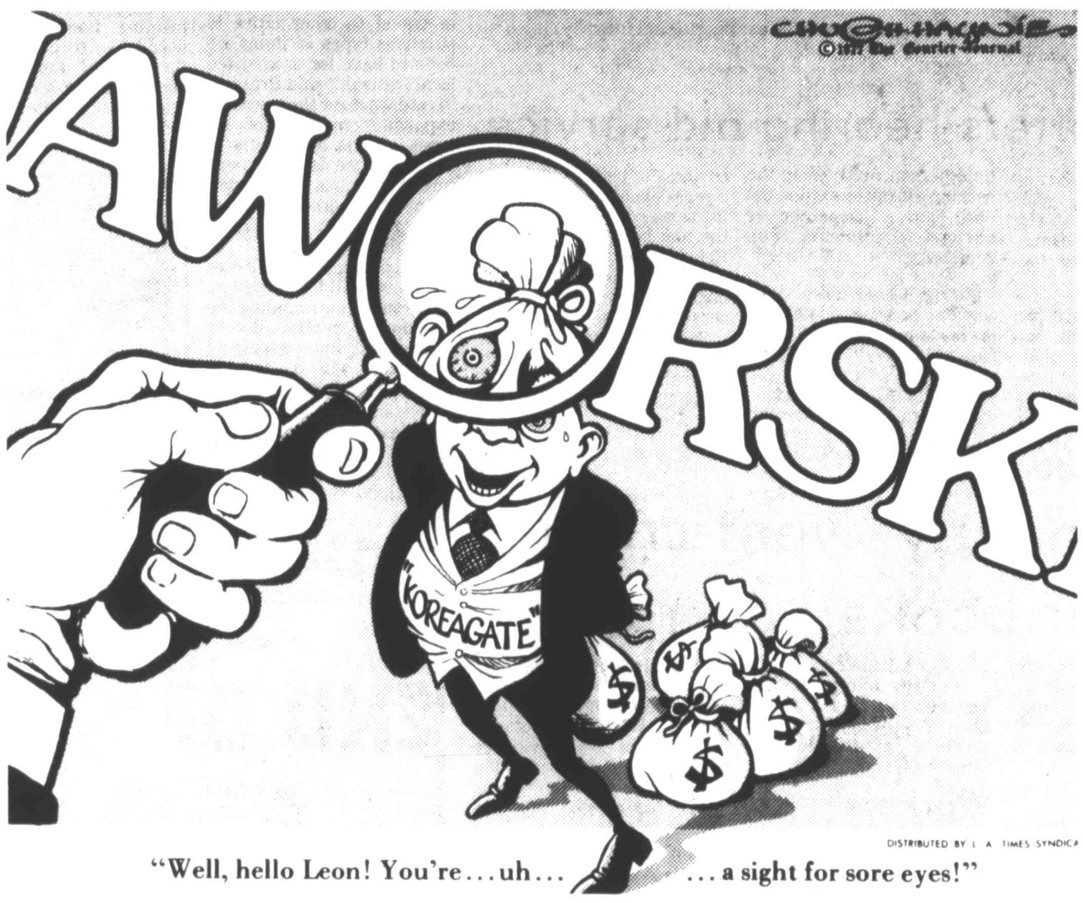

But the voice of the bear has grown stronger over this uncertain summer. The econometricians who use statistical methods insist the recovery will continue apace. But more politically attuned economists now talk about the economy leveling off for the rest of the year and, as Janeway predicts, perhaps even a downturn.

THIS GLOOMY OUTLOOK stems in considerable degree from worldwide factors beyond Mr. Carter's control, including high OPEC oil prices, resulting in a massive loss confidence. But there are also grounds for complaints about the President lacking an overall conceptual plan with economic failing to integrate his legislative programs with economic policy — specifically, three principal complaints:

Complaint No. 1: The substantial new levels of taxation contained in the energy program undermined budding business confidence in the New President. Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal, supposedly in charge of tax policy, had no real part in drafting the energy program.

Complaint No. 2: The White House never has seen the energy program as a golden opportunity to stoke up the economy by using it for government-inspired development of new energy. Nor has the defense budget been considered in this light.

COMPLAINT NO. 3: The frailty of the economy seems to be a secondary consideration as the Treasury and White House draft (for submission to Congress late in September) the most comprehensive tax reform bill in history.

"Well, hello Leon! You're...uh... ...a sight for sore eyes!"

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: This letter is to tell Mrs. A.B. about our child who never slept at night. It started when she was four months old. My husband would go to bed while I walked the floor. He would get up at 3 or 4 a.m. and walk her while I slept. Many nights I would cry because I was so tired. She was very cranky all day long. I was so upset my husband said I was cracking up. The worse I got the worse she got.

I found out I was pregnant again and told myself I had better settle down or I'd really have trouble. I calmed down, and so did she. This was when she was nine months old. She started to sleep nights and she really became a joy.

So Mrs. A.B. should be told that the calmer she becomes the better the child will be. I know it's very hard to do, but it worked for us. I just try to have more patience when it comes to her. — Mrs. M.Z.

I hope Mrs. A.B. is reading. Thanks for sharing your successful experience. I have made this same point to other harassed mothers, but nothing is better than getting it from someone who's "been there."

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Three months ago I had a hysterectomy and now I think I am having vaginitis. I have not talked to my own doctor about this yet, but I am wondering if this is a common occurrence after this surgery. How would this condition be treated? — G.D.

Vaginitis is not a common occurrence after a hysterectomy, so hasten to your doctor for a diagnosis. You may be interested in seeing my new booklet, "Vaginitis, the Hidden Ailment." For a copy send 25 cents along with a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me care of The Big Spring Herald.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Explain the thoracic outlet syndrome in words I can understand. — N.L.

It's a nerve disturbance cause by a bony projection in the neck or a tight thoracis (chest muscle near the spinal column. The projection is sometimes called a "cervical (neck) rib" since it resembles one. The thoracic outlet syndrome is what the projection leads to. It presses against a nerve's pathway. The side, arm, hand, or any structure served by the specific nerve, can be affected.

Although cervical ribs are not uncommon, they produce pain in only about 10 per cent of the cases. Many have them without ever knowing about it.

The treatment depends on whether the projection is interfering with arteries, viens, nerves, or all three. Surgery is required in about half the cases of thoracic outlet sundrome.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I chew and swallow several packs of chewing gum daily. Are there any harmful effects from this habit? My boyfriend says it is a very dangerous thing to do. — Ms. E. P. C.

I can't see any harmful effects or benefits from this. It can serve as an intestinal bulk producer because gum is not digested. But there are better ways to produce bulk than gum-swallowing, let me hasten to add. Why not do what everybody else does? — chew it and get rid of it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is diabetes insipidus? Is it just another name for regular diabetes? — Mrs. D. J.

I suppose that each time the word diabetes is used it should be classified as either diabetes mellitus or diabetes insipidus. They are separate and distinct disorders.

In insipidus (an uncommon ailment) there is no rise in blood sugar as with diabetes mellitus (the common form). Diabetes insipidus is a disorder of the pituitary gland, not of the pancreas as in diabetes mellitus.

The insipidus variety — when it occurs at all — usually affects young people. You don't hear too much about it because it is so uncommon. You can be certain that the diabetes most often referred to in this column is mellitus. If it is the other kind, it will be so called.

Never take a change on diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Big Spring Herald, for a copy of his booklet, "Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease." Enclose a long self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' Questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: What is entailed in accepting Jesus as Lord, as distinct from receiving Him as Saviour? — T.D.

DEAR T. D.: A Lord is one who rules over us. We therefore have the status of servants when confronted by our Lord. The function of a servant is primarily that of obedience. The servant never says "No" to his Lord, but always answers "Yes" to his every command.

The distinction between accepting Jesus as Saviour and owning Him as Lord is that it is possible to be saved from the penalty of our sins by Jesus, and yet for us to live in complete disobedience to His commands.

The Lordship of Christ calls us to be true disciples — and that is disciplined people who obey the teaching of our Lord.

disciplined people who obey the teaching of our Lord.

You should read Romans chapter six to hear Paul's call for all Christian people to become obedient servants to Jesus, and to stop serving the sinful desires with which Satan tempts us. Paul states in that chapter: "Henceforth we should not serve sin" (v. 6); "Being then made free from sin, ye became the servants of righteousness" (v. 18); "Yield your members servants to righteousness unto holiness" (v. 19); "Become servants to God" (v. 22).

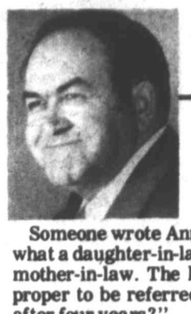

The Christian church would have much more influence in the world and would be a much stronger body of people if all its members were living disciplined, obedient lives to their Lord. It is wonderful to have Christ as our Savior, but it is very necessary to also own Him as l Lord.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor:

Enjoyed Danny Reagan's column on the Prime Energy Theory. I think it was well written and can see that he understands the subject. As a result of his obvious concern over the mysteries of life (at least this one) I'd like to take this opportunity to mention a few facts that will more than likely help in his future investigations on the subject.

It is true that the Great Pyramid has drawn a lot of attention and in fact, all pyramidal structures have drawn a good deal of attention in the last few years. There are cults popping up everywhere suddenly, each one intent on the primary purpose of proving that pyramids DO contain energy — a power beneficial to men and women — to earth.

However it should be pointed out that all experimentation with this 'power' has not necessarily been with the same results.

What I'd like to do is reproduce, in its entirety, a piece written in "Mysterious Pyramid Power" by Signet and edited by Martin Ebon (published last November). I'm not going to repeat it all for lack of time but will give you the highlights on their experiments.

First, let me say that Dr. A.R.G. Owen, professor of mathematics, Univ. of Toronto, Canada, who undertook several laboratory experiments designed to investigate claims of "Pyramid Power" has won several awards for his work on the Parapsychological. For his book "Can We Explain the Poltergeist?" he received the Treatise Award of the Parapsychology Foundation and the Duke University Laboratory Prize for distinguished work in parasychology. He is also the man in charge of the New Horizons Research Foundation out of Toronto which conducted the tests.

The group took various-shaped cardboard containers, of volume equal to the pyramid in the forms of rectangular parollelopipeds, cubes, triangular prisms, and cones for use in the experiments. This use of control groups seems to have been omitted in ALL testing done by others.

I'll agree that it would be nice if we could condense this energy by geometric shapes to perform super-powered tasks but, in reality, as it stands, the laymen will have to find another means of controlling their Prime Energy.

The foundation experimented with plants but again, as with preserving foods, found no evidence whatever to substantiate any super-growth theory by using pyramidal structures. As for razor blades;

"There is the law of natural equilibrium; the homeostatic aspect. There is a tendency in nature which, though not universal, is widespread, for things, when disturbed, to return to the previous state of equilibrium."

In Physics this is exemplified by Le Chatelier's Principle . . . and then again in biology by homeostatis.

"It has long been known that a used razor blade tends to 'feel' sharper if used after a period of rest. This can be ascribed to the motion of air molecules around and against the blade which helps to wear down its weakest parts. And also, when a blade is used, the stress upon its cells is changed, some being compressed and others stretched. During a period of disuse, the forces of compression and tension will tend to restore the internal stresses to an equilibrium state."

In closing let me bring up, briefly, a bit on the plant-growth theory. It is extremely difficult to engage in biological experimentation — factors such as reproducing identical growing conditions, moisture, air and sunlight, and also the difficulty of getting identical plants (even peas in one pod will produce different sized plants) have to be overcome to produce a properly scientific experiment.

One exponent of the razor blade theory criticized the foundation because they were dulling the blade in the 'wrong manner'. Apparently they were expected to do the dulling in a 'specific' manner in order for the pyramid's power to work. I mean, Danny, does it or doesn't it?

While I am totally in belief that some power lies waiting for definition within the confines of the Great Pyramid, we haven't quite copied it practically yet.

There are still some things we can't reproduce in cardboard.

Have you ever thought of how much the "Signal mountain" out by Moss Creek resembles a pyramidal structure (of the 'Western' variety)? Sure would be nice at this time for Big Spring to have its very own Pyramid . . . wouldn't it?

Dear Editor:

I wish you would give the stories about the drainage of One Mile Lake fair and equal reporting. I feel that James Werrell is biased in his reporting of the facts in this project, probably one of the most important projects in this area for years.

I am for the drainage of the swamp area. It is a haven for rabid skunks, rats, mice, mosquitoes and wildcats. It emits an offensive odor and adds to the drainage problem of Big Spring.

I am not against environmenalists. They have done a lot of good in this country. I do feel their efforts are misguided in this project. If they had an objection, they should have come forward at the public hearings.

Hundreds of man hours by public officials and the Corps of Engineers and thousands of dollars of the taxpayers money have already been spent on this project.

Your reporter in his Around The Rim column says that "one fool" asked him "what's a few birds, anyway?" This is a personal column and does not reflect, I hope, the opinion of the paper. I do not feel Mr. Werrell has looked into his project enough.

I ask him, what are a few birds, skunks, mosquitoes, mice, rats, and wildcats compared to the health and welfare of humans.

I have been asked about money to be used on the project. This money is funded and will be spent on a project, probably of less value than One Mile Lake.

We need to progress in Big Spring. The entire future of our community depends on projects such as this. I ask that everyone with an opinion on this project come forward and let the majority rule.

Salt overdose kills young boy

CLEVELAND (AP) — An overdose of salt has been blamed for the death of a 6-year-old boy, who "always salted his water, milk, pop, Koolaid and every other liquid," as well as his food, according to his foster parents.

Cuyahoga County Deputy Coroner Charles S. Hirsch ruled Friday that Robert W. Arnold's death on Tuesday was a homicide because he died as a result of "something that should not have been done."

Facts in the case will be presented to a county grand jury Sept. 6.

Hirsch said the salt overdose caused the heart of the 36-pound boy to stop, a rare occurrence for someone so young. The boy had a "grossly excessive amount of salt in his last meal (on Tuesday)," the deputy coroner said

The foster parents, Milano and Sharon Martenjuk, told police the boy hid salt throughout the house.

Police said that when the boy was examined at a hospital he had bruises on his face and buttocks.

Martenjuk, 29, told police he interrupted Tuesday's meal to paddle the boy because he became unruly. Martenjuk was arrested but released after it was determined the child did not die from a paddling.

The boy had been living with his foster parents for about 10 months. Police said the child's natural parents put the boy up for adoption because they could no longer handle him.

The boy became ill about an hour after the dinner on Tuesday, going into convulsions while helping his foster mother with dishes, police said.

Big Spring schools open doors Monday

Big Spring schools open their doors to students Monday morning. Students at all grade levels, K-12, will begin classes. Preliminary registration figures would indicate that over 5,000 students will be attending Big Spring schools on the first day.

Bus schedules were printed in the Herald Thursday, Aug. 18. Additional information and clarification have been given to students and parents as they registered throughout the past week.

One reminder has been given regarding half-day kindergarten bus routes. Buses 53, 60, 61, 62, and 63 will not be making their rural route schedule at noon.

Parents of kindergarten children attending the morning half-day program who ride these buses should make arrangements to pick up their children at 11:15 a.m.

School patrons are reminded that many changes have been made in attendance areas, campus reorganization, and bus transportation routes for this year.

School officials are requesting that students and parents please show patience and consideration as problem areas are dealt with. Many unknown factors may create possible unanticipated problem areas such as overloaded buses, variance of posted bus schedule time, isolated areas of large teacher-pupils ratios, etc. These problems will be dealt with as quickly, efficiently, and effectively as possible, school officials say.

Questions patrons may have should be directed to their building principal or to members of the Central Office staff in the Administration Building. The cooperation of all is needed and appreciated, says Supt. Lynn Hise.

Mayor Beame claims SEC 'hatchet job'

A. D. BEAME

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor Abraham D. Beame says the Securities and Exchange Commission did a "hatchet job" on him with its report that charges he misled the public about the city's near-bankrupt finances.

Beame, who faces six Democratic opponents in a mayoral primary Sept. 8, received the 1,000-page report from Washington Friday afternoon. At first he declined comment, but later came out of his City Hall office to read a statement and to say he would have a detailed response to the report at a news conference today.

"The Securities and Exchange Commission has produced a shameless, vicious, political document regarding the officials of this city which comes out 13 days before an election," Beame said.

"My sworn testimony before the SEC, which I have already made public, and thousands of pages of documentary evidence which the city has submitted, contradict the SEC's conclusions."

Among the conclusions in the report:

—Beame, both as mayor and during his eight years as city comptroller, took part in deceptive accounting procedures, including overestimating the city's income and understating expenses, in order to present a balanced budget, as required by law.

—The current comptroller, Harrison Goldin, also up for reelection, failed to conduct audits to expose the situation.

—Two bond-rating agencies, Moody's and Standard & Poor's, rated New York's securities as being safer investments than they actually were.

—The major New York banks, when they learned of the city's fiscal problems in 1974-1975, began to jump ship by selling their city notes and refusing to buy new ones.

In particular, the SEC said the city sold $4 billion in shortterm notes from October 1974 to April 1975 even though officials knew the city was reaching the brink of bankruptcy.

In addition, the report said the major banks and city officials collaborated on a decision to lower the denomination of New York's securities from $25,000 to $10,000. The aim was to lure unsuspecting small investors to buy the city notes that the banks knew were high risks, the report said.

Graduation and "completion of course" ceremonies for Security Assistance Program Training classes 77-09 and 77-08 at Webb AFB Tuesday will officially close the book on pilot training at Webb.

The final chapter neared its completion earlier this week when three Iranian student pilots landed their respective aircraft, marking the end here of in-flight training.

The honor of being the last guest speaker at Webb belongs to Col. Bobby R. Bagley, deputy commander for Operations at Reese AFB, Tex. The 24-year Air Force veteran will be aiming his address at the 13 graduating members of Class 77-09 and the 17 students in Class 77-08 who will receive Phase II certificates of completion. The students will be honored at 7:30 p.m. in the Chapel. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Bagley grew up in Cummings, Ga., a small town nestled among the curves of Highway 19 just 25 miles north of Atlanta. He entered the Air Force in 1953 as an air cadet and was commissioned 18 months later at Williams AFB, Ariz.

Among his many assignments have been tours of duty as chief of standardization-evaluation for the 432nd TRW in Thailand, deputy commander for Operation at Shaw AFB, S.C., and commander of TUSLOG Detachment 94 at Karamursel CDI, Turkey. He became the DCO at Reese in April this year.

Another in the long list of former "prisoners of war" that have been guest here, Bagley was shot down over North Vietnam in an unarmed RF-101 in September of 1967. He was captured and held by the North Vietnamese until March of 1973. During this time he was incracerated in five different prison camps, four of them near Hanoi.

His impressive list of decorations include the Silver Star with oak leaf cluster, the Legion of Merit with oak leaf cluster, the Bronze Star with valor device and oak leaf cluster. He is a command pilot with 3,000 flying hours. He has flown 49 combat missions in Southeast Asia.

Bagley attended Piedmont College in Georgia and received his bachelor's degree in general education from the University of Omaha. In June 1974 he was presented with an honorary doctor of humanities degree from Piedmont College. While attending the Industrial College of the Armed Forces he also managed to complete his master of arts degree in business administration through on-base classes from the University of Central Michigan.

30-day field training over

SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, Hawaii — Army Private First Class Jimmy B. Holguin, son of Mrs. Carolina B. Maldonado, 612 N. Funt, Lamesa, recently participated in a 30-day field training exercise at the Pohakuloa Training Area on the Island of Hawaii.

During the training, the unit practiced new field artillery techniques and participated in combined exercises with infantry units. The annual Army Test and Evaluation Program (ARTEP) was held during the training period. ARTEP is designed to evaluate unit efficiency under simulated combat conditions.

Pfc. Holguin, a cannoneer with the 25th Infantry Division at Schofield Barracks, Hawaii, entered the Army in June 1976.

He is a 1976 graduate of Tulare (Calif.) Western High School. His father, Jesus M. Holguin, lives in Tulare, Calif.

White Sands assignment

WHITE SANDS — Army Staff Sergeant Howard V. Morrell, son of Mrs. Ella V. Morrell, 707 W. Fifth St., Big Spring, recently was assigned as a supply sergeant with the Troop Command at White Sands Missile Range, N.M. Sgt. Morrell entered the Army in November 1961.

Lt. Ellis completes work in leadership

Second Lt. Jack F. Ellis Jr., whose parents live on Sterling City Route, Big Spring, Tex., recently received practical work in military leadership at the Army Reserve Officer' Training Corps advanced camp at Ft. Riley, Kan.

The five-week ROTC advanced camp provided an opportunity for cadets to develop and demonstrate leadership capabilities in a field training environment.

Lt. Ellis is enrolled in ROTC at West Texas State University, Canyon. He attended Howard College. He and his wife, Cheryl, live in Canyon.

Lt. Ellis was rated fourth in overall evaluation during training at Ft. Riley. He also received marksmanship medals for rifle and pistol. He was presented the platoon leadership award in recognition of outstanding performance.

At completion of training, Ellis was commissioned as second lieutenant in the U.S. Army. He will report for duty Nov. 14 at Ft. Bliss near El Paso for officers basic course in air defense.

Draws Corpus Christi duty

Navy Lt. Candace Curlee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T.R. Curlee of 979 E. 17th, Colorado City, has reported for duty at the Naval Regional Medical Center, Corpus Christi.

A 1968 graduate of Colorado High School, and a 1972 graduate of the University of Texas, San Antonio, with a bachelor of science degree, she joined the Navy in May 1972.

Jack L. Jewett joins service

Jack L. Jewett, grandson of Mrs. Pearl F. Jewett of 1601 Cardinal, Big Spring entered the United States Air Force Delayed Enlistment Program on Aug. 11.

Airman Jewett selected the mechanical area for job training and will attend a six-week Basic Military Training Course at Lackland AFB, San Antonio, Tex., beginning on Nov. 3.

Ten women are about to become jet jockeys

WILLIAMS AIR FORCE BASE, Ariz. (AP) — Ten pioneering women cadets are about to become jet jockeys. And more women prospects are waiting in the wings.

Although they won't be at the controls of fighting aircraft, the 10, who volunteered a year ago when the jet training first opened up, are expected to get military assignments in transport and weather on Sept. 2.

The other prospects, nine in class and nine about to enter class, are at Williams Air Force Base. Their performance will be evaluated before the Air Force decides whether to permanently accept women for flight training, according to Col. Larry Cooper, wing commander.

"My dad had a small plane when I was growing up and I had a private pilot's license when I joined," said 1st Lt. Mary M. Livingston, of Manistique, Mich., who will be assigned to fly a T37 jet at Columbus AFB, Miss.

(AP WIREPHOTO)

Longtime state employes leaving public payroll

By JIM DAVIS
Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — This month has to set some sort of record for longtime state employes leaving the public payroll. The persons number in the hundreds and the years of employment in the thousands.

This rush to retirement undoubtedly is spurred by a 1975 legislative provision allowing outgoing employes to collect payment for accurued unused sick leave.

For some longtime employes the extra sick leave payments will total more than $20,000. The total cost may be in the millions.

Everyone's in a hurry because the 1977 legislature decided to rescind the sick leave provision. The last day of effect is Aug. 31.

There are other factors involved in the exodus.

The Department of Public Welfare is making cutbacks mandated by a legislative appropriation squeeze. Consolidation of the three state water agencies into one department included a 10 per cent staff cut and sent two of the three agency heads to private employment.

The departure of old timers, of course, opens the way for numerous promotions. That should make a lot of state employes happy.

Another element of the sick leave provision is the possibility of an employe retiring in August and then coming back to work in September.

Sen. Peyton McKnight of Tyler has expressed concerns about such actions. He promises to come down hard on any administrator who allows this to happen.

The special TTY telephone hookup for the deaf installed in House Speaker Billy Clayton's office was sufficiently successful during the session to be continued.

Kathy Spain, Clayton's health and welfare specialist, said the line took in an average of 34 calls a month while the legislature was meeting. Calls dropped off quite a bit this summer but the line will remain active to see what kind of use it gets between sessions.

Deaf persons wishing to communicate with th eoffice on some state matter can call Area Code 512, 475-3498. The TTY units allow both parties to communicate by typing messages over the telephone wires.

Speaker Clayton was invited to join a delegation of legislators from various states on a three-week tour of the People's Republic of China in Septmeber. He considered it for a while and decided he didn't want to take the time away from his office.

And speaking of being away from the office: The Good Neighbor Commission was told by its staff last week attempts to get a budget action okay by Gov. Dolph Briscoe and an attorney general's opinion from John Hill had faced slow going. The reason was that both Briscoe and Hill have been traveling around the state quite a bit recently.

Next year is an election year, you will recall.

Reports from the Pennsylvania Legislature in Harrisburg make the 1977 Texas session sound even tamer than it seemed.

A big budget dispute up there has led to demonstrators camping in the capitol's rotunda and one fistfight incident on the House floor.

Robert Schnieder, executive director of the soon-to-be-abolished Texas Water Rights Commission, still has his fingers crossed on that "water czar" position with the new consolidated water department.

The Water Development Boacd decided to put in an interim administration in hopes of later finding some "from the outside" to take over.

The other two agency heads have bailed out for private jobs, but Schneider apparently will stay around in some sort of advisory capacity for at least a while.

Energy crisis helped Texas

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The 1973-74 energy crisis boosted the price of gasoline for Texans as well as everybody else, but Texas and "a few other oil-producing areas in the United States" benefitted overall, the Texas Business Review reports.

"... oil price increases set by OPEC have directly resulted in higher employment levels and higher tax revenues and have indirectly stimulated economic activity through exports and inflows of capital," according to Professor Hossein Askari and graduate student James Creasey.

"For most of the world, the higher prices set by OPEC aggravated inflationary conditions in all oil-importing nations, deteriorated significantly their balance of payments positions and reduced the level of disposable incomes at a time when worldwide recession was already in progress," they said.

Texas unemployment was 2.9 per cent lower than the national average during the depth of the recession in 1975.

While Texas oil was not permitted to reach the world market price, it still rose from an average of $3.28 a barrel in 1970 to $8.02 a barrel in 1976. The world price today is $12.38 a barrel.

"Energy tax revenues rose from $553 million in 1970 to $1.224 billion by 1976, amounting to 25.4 per cent of the state's entire 1976 revenue. Royalty payments from oil and gas production also increased from $672 million in 1970 to $1.867 billion in 1976, or an increase of $1.2 billion," they said.

Texas also got indirect benefits such as increased spending on imports by the OPEC countries. "Exports through the Houston Customs Region increased 206 per cent between 1970 and 1976, against 166 per cent for the United States overall," they said.

Chief of AP in Texas lands Frankfurt job

NEW YORK (AP) — James W. Mangan, chief of Associated Press operations in Texas since 1969, has been appointed to a key executive position in Europe, Keith Fuller, president and general manager, announced Friday.

Mangan, 49, becomes chief of bureau at Frankfurt, in charge of AP operations in Germany, Switzerland, Austria and six Eastern European countries. He succeeds Henry Hartzenbusch, who transfers to Hong Kong as a regional AP executive for Southeast Asia.

Mangan's appointment is effective Sept. 15. He is succeeded in Dallas Aug. 28 by Dorman Cordell, 45, chief of bureau at New Orleans for Louisiana and Mississippi since 1975.

A native of Honesdale, Pa., Mangan joined The AP at San Francisco in 1952. He transferred to New York in 1954 where for nine years he worked as a newsman and editor for AP World Services.

In 1963 Mangan was appointed assistant chief of bureau at Dallas. He was named chief of bureau at New Orleans in 1965, returning to Dallas as chief of bureau in 1969.

Mangan recently obtained an exclusive interview with a former Texas election judge who said he certified enough fictitious votes to steal the 1948 primary runoff election that started Lyndon B. Johnson on the path to the presidency. That story on July 31 made headlines around the world.

Wizard files suit against FBI

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Robert Shelton, the imperial wizard of the United Klans of America, has filed a $50 million federal suit against the FBI, saying the agency used illegal tactics against the Klan.

Shelton said in the suit filed Friday the FBI's domestic counter-intelligence program, called COINTELPRO, used tactics such as forgery, burglary, wiretapping and rumor-mongering against the Klan from 1964 to 1972.

Landlord's plan backfires

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit landlord who deeded an inner city house to President and Mrs. Carter to publicize the plight of urban apartment owners says he may be out $2,000 because his plans backfired.

Charles Costa, said this week that he has a buyer for the house but can't sell it because the deed is under a legal cloud.

A month after signing the deed to the Carters, Costa got a letter from the government saying Carter wouldn't accept the run-down, two-family house.

Costa, who bought the house in 1974 for $2,400, says he has lost $5,000 on the building because nine tenants moved in and out without paying rent or utilities.

Now, Costa says, he has been offered $2,000 for the house, but he can't sell it unless the Carters deed it back. Several attorneys suggested, however, that the house could not be deeded to the President unless there is some acknowledgement of acceptance, such as a token $1 fee.

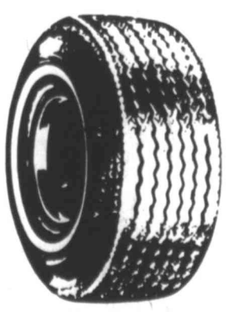

A White House spokesman said the matter would be turned over to Carter's legal staff.

New federal rule requires hearing aid 'prescription'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government has moved to make sure that the millions of people who buy hearing aids actually need them and will benefit from them.

A Food and Drug Administration regulation, which went into effect Thursday, requires a doctor's examination before a hearing aid can be purchased. Previously hearing aids could be bought freely over the counter.

The FDA estimated that only about one-third of the 15 million Americans who suffer from hearing impairments have had medical examinations. The administration says about three million persons use one of the more than 1,200 types and models of hearing aids available.

"This regulation is designed to protect consumers from being sold hearing aids that won't help them and to assure that people see a doctor if there is a medical reason for their hearing loss," said Sherwin Gardner, deputy FDA administrator.

Gardner said hearing loss can result from a number of conditions where a hearing aid will not help. Among them are too much ear wax, dirty auditory canals and allergies.

The new regulation allows adults to voluntarily waive the doctor's examination, but it prohibits hearing aid sellers from encouraging people from forgoing the examinations. Records, including a copy of the medical examination, must be kept by the seller for three years.

Although there is no criminal penalty for violators of the regulation, the Federal Trade Commission could take civil action, including a fine of up of $1,000 per violation, against dealers.

The effective date of the rule had been delayed by 10 days because of a court action prompted by the American Speech and Hearing Association. The group, representing audiologists trained to fit hearing aides, had objected to audiologists not being allowed to administer the examinations. The court rejected the association's protest.

HHH gaining strength daily

Canadian cowboy hits hot streak

DENVER, Colo. — Dale Trottier, a 33-year-old Canadian cowboy, hit a $2,392 hot streak in the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association as seven major rodeos ended over the weekend. Trottier won first in bareback riding at the Caldwell, Ida., and Kalispel, Mont., contests and split first and second place in the event at the Moses Lake, Wash., rodeo.

Trottier's placings, which vaulted him into ninth place in current standings, were highlighted by an 81-point ride on Creamo of the Reg Desler string at Kalispel. A former bareback champion of the Canadian association, Trottier joined the PRCA in 1966. In 1972, the one-event had finished 12th for the PRCA bareback riding championship.

A two-year member of the association, Nicky Wheeler of Tyler, Tex., also enjoyed a winning weekend in bull riding. Wheeler split first and second in the event at Louisville, Ky., took second place at Coffeyville, Kan., and third at Atlanta, Ga., for $2,364.

Another big money winner was Paul Mayo, who topped the bareback average and placed in the saddle bronc average to lead Louisville winners with $1,556. Mayo, of Farmers Branch, Tex., picked up another $425 in bareback riding at the Coffeyville contest.

Brian Claypool captured the all around cowboy award at Kalispel. The Saskatoon, Sask. cowboy placed in saddle bronc and bull ruding to pocket $1,174.

At the Caldwell rodeo, it was Clarkston, Wash., cowboy Tim Fuller who took the all around award. Fuller picked up money in steer wrestling and team roping for a total of $651.

Vern Smith, of Burkburnett, Tex., placed in bareback and bull riding at Coffeyville to win $543 and the all around there. Bill Barthle, of San Antonio, Fla, was the big winner at the Atlanta rodeo with $862 in steer wrestling, while the Moses Lake all around award went to Sam Kayser, of Ellensburg, Wash., with $662 in the same event.

Inmates at mercy of gangs

'Big house blues'

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — Burly "Big George" Sumner, warden of San Quentin Prison, glared across the shiny conference table and spit out the words like they were tough meat: "We will be in control!"

Despite all the authority the 6-foot-3, 250-pound prison boss put into the statement, it remains more hope than fact. For San Quentin, in the 125th anniversary of its tempestuous existence on a sunny hook of land jutting into San Francisco Bay, is a prison in crisis.

In July, gang-inspired racial battles left three convicts dead. Now, nearly a third of the cons are "locked down" in the east block — 600 men penned in their cells all day under maximum security.

Another 100, hardened gang leaders and members, are isolated under the gun in the north block with little likelihood of ever returning to the main population. The rest go about their business within the walls in an uneasy peace Sumner prays will stick. Officers scan this last group for "underground" gang members who face the north block if found.

"I don't have any reason to believe the same thing would not happen again," Sumner admitted ruefully of the day of violence.

His main complaint is one shared in varying degrees by most of the men who have held the warden's post at one of the world's most notorious penitentiaries.

In short, trouble brews when hard cases are mixed with peaceful inmates who are unable to defend themselves against hate-filled crazies whose solution to disputes is sudden death at the end of a filed-down spoon.

"I think the great, great majority of inmates want to have a peaceful, tranquil place," he said in an interview. "But we've been at the mercy of gangs for some time. We were controlled.

"If they decided they wanted to kill somebody, we weren't in a position to do a heck of a lot about it."

On July 12, the decision came. Summer said it was little consolation that the bloody explosions were the result of a "mistake" that pitted the normally peaceful Black Muslims against the Nazi-type whites of the American National Socialists and Satan's Few motorcyclists.

As Sumner told it, the whites mistakenly killed a Muslim in the morning, thinking he was a member of the Black Guerrilla Family. The Muslims, who profess to be law-abiding and aloof from the troublemakers, backed up a standing threat to retaliate when one of their members is hurt.

Nine hours later, the warring factions clashed with clubs and knives, turning prison corridors into a bloody battlefield. When it was over another two inmates, whites, were dead, including a man who was hurled from a third-story tier.

Within a few percentage points, the racial mix at 2,200-inmate San Quentin is fairly representative of the statewide prison population: White, 41.9 per cent; black, 39.7; Mexican-American, 16.7; other, 1.7. The average age at Q is about 30.

Sumner says there are signs peace may return to the old bastille now that the gangs are isolated from the mainline. The warden guesses the "really hopeless bad guys" make up no more than 2 or 3 per cent of all inmates, and "the guys that belong to the gangs and have to do what the gangs decide at between 15 and 20 per cent at most."

Their segregation, says Sumner, has brought hope to the peaceful inmates who could not stand up to the killers.

"Now that most of the gang guys are out of the population, the peaceful prisoners are expressing opinions that it's a good thing," he said. "It's my intention to keep the gang guys completely separate from the rest of the prison."

In the same vein, Sumner plans to create a number of small "prisons within a prison," in the face of the legislature's rejection this year of an administration proposal for $92 million to build at least two new flexible-security prisons in California.

'I'm trying to divide San Quentin up into small sections . . . It's impossible to work with masses of people," Sumner said.

Even in the hard-bitten north block, swarming with hostility, Sumner entertains hopes of spiritual reconstruction.

"I think some of the gangs can be dissolved, if we can work with these people as individuals and (have them) make individual decisions." Then Sumner sets his jaw again:

"As far as the gangs go, we have to be in control — and I'm going to do so. And they know it."

He admits to much anxiety about the crowded east block, calling it a "large, unmanageable situation," and the inmates there "600 question marks." He adds wistfully:

"It's hard to really know inmates. ... It's difficult to determine when to let them out. I don't have any reason to believe the same thing (repeat violence) would not happen."

Sumner is unhappy with the lockdown because "it's unfair. When lockdowns occur, many who aren't guilty of anything are locked up with the bad ones."

He noted with profound disappointment that feeling guided his release of a lockdown prior to the July killings.

He said he had met with gang leaders "and impressed on them my intention of having a peaceful prison here. They assured me they would work together in harmony. They made truces with each other ... then they went out and broke them."

The gang members, he said in a voice that almost trailed to a whisper, "trusted each other, but it didn't come about. ... They were inundated by their own hatred for each other."

Savings bonds sales posted

July sales of Series E and H United States Savings Bonds in Howard County were reported Saturday by County Bond Chairman Jimmy Taylor. Sales for the seventh-month period totaled $370,082 for 51 per cent of the 1977 sales goal of $725,000.

Texas sales during the month amounted to $22,544,475, while sales for the first seven months of 1977 totaled $163,463,640 with 59 per cent of the yearly sales goal of 276.9 million achieved.

Sex education 'at no profit'

REDFIELD, Iowa (AP) — The Dexfield Community School District is trying to unload 25 college-level sex education books at cost.

School Superintendent Paul Jones said the district ordered 25 copies of James McCary's "Human Sexuality" for the district's junior high school sex education classes. McCary also wrote a college-level book with the same name, but a different subtitle.

"When the secretaries were stamping the 'Dexfield Schools' label in the books, one of them noticed that on one page, there were pictures of couples in different coital positions," said Jones.

The junior high level books have been ordered, and Jones said the district will sell the college-level books to "anybody in the community who wants to buy them — at no profit."

ROCKPILE — The old prison rockpile isn't what it used to be in Nevada. Here state prison inmates, all volunteers, earn $10 a month breaking rocks. Once the chore was a form of discipline, but that has changed.

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — The old prison rockpile ain't what it used to be. The arduous chore of making little rocks out of big ones, once a form of inmate punishment, is being done by paid volunteers at the state prison here.

"I had to ask them for a month before they would let me go out there," says Aleck Raby, one of 18 inmates assigned to the job of chipping away at sandstone in an old quarry used in years past for disciplining convicts.

"It's something to do instead of sitting around all the time," he says. "There just aren't that many jobs around here. It's only four hours a day or so, and it keeps you in shape."

Raby says he's dropped 20 pounds of excess weight and hopes to take off another 10 pounds or so.

Charles Wolff Jr., the prison's warden, says the rockpile was once "the least desirable work available," a form of punishment which had disappeared from prisons for years.

"But we revived it as an organized activity which gets inmates out of their cells and maybe will even give them a sense of accomplishment. It beats doing nothing," he says.

The problem at the aging Maximum Security Prison here is that it was set up for about 300 inmates and now has 470. The legislature has provided $8 million to improve the prison system, but work on new facilities is still in progress.

Many of the inmates on the rock crew had been kept idle in lockup after a prison disturbance last year. There weren't enough jobs available to keep them busy.

"Max" Supt. Boyd Marsing says the inmates were asked about six months ago whether they wanted to work in the old quarry, to chip rock for a decorative wall around a proposed visitor's park.

About 30 inmates volunteered, but gradually the crew was thinned down to 18, including a half-dozen who pound rocks daily, another six who do the work often, and others who "work when they feel like it," Raby says.

The pay is $10 a month for the full-time crew, below the average of $15 monthly for other prison jobs.

The men work bars into cracks and fissures in a rock cliff to break loose sandstone blocks, and then split the rocks with single jacks and sledge hammers — the standard method for old-time hardrock miners. Sledges and chisels are then used to roughly square the blocks. No dynamite is allowed.

"It's not as hard as you might think," says Raby. "We work at our own pace. I'm used to working hard anyway, so there's nothing to it for me."

"It beats laying around in a cell house or sitting around in the yard with nothing to do," he adds.

Show time in St. Augustine

with Marj Carpenter

St. Augustine, Florida is the oldest town in the United States, but it isn't the biggest. The population is around 14,000.

Their chief industry is tourism and they have made their money off people coming to see the Fountain of Youth and the oldest town in the United States.

They have preserved it admirably and have the oldest school house in the United States and the oldest drugstore. They also have developed an early colonial town that features such dying trades as silversmithing, blacksmithing, leatherwork, and other arts and crafts.

Those citizens all work in the tourism industry in the summer and some wear early colonial clothing and actually make items of their trade while the public watches.

Students all get tourism jobs in the summer and run little trains around town to show visitors one of the biggest museums in the United States and big churches, and former hotels built by the late Henry Flagler, the empire builder who developed Palm Springs and Miami.

I never saw such a little town with so many big buildings. The early hotel has been turned into Flagler College. Flagler's Hotel in St. Augustine, the first he built in Florida, had steam baths and unheard of luxuries and rented for $100 a night in the early 1900s when that was considerable money.

They said Will Rogers looked over the facilities and for the first time in his life was speechless and simply shook his head.

If you are wondering why I am going at a travelogue on St. Augustine for Big Spring citizens, I'm getting to the point.

At night, across on the island near the beach, college students act out "The Cross and the Sword" each night in the amphitheater.

Tickets to visiting tourists sell for $5, $4, and $3, according to the seats. They have a chorus, a ballet team, and actors and they act out the early history of Florida.

It's beautiful. They have the Spanish court scenes, the landing in Florida, the Indians coming, the battles with the Indians, the battles between the French and the Indians and the early hurricanes.

They have excellent lighting on high posts and an excellent sound system. They also had an apparent excellent author and choreographer. Just the ballet of the early settlers planting the corn is worth going to see if you miss the rest of the show.

It's something that could be possible in Big Spring's amphitheatre. I'm talking about the early West Texas pageant.

There would have to be better lighting and better sound and better dressing facilites. There would have to be a well-written script. It would need to be done by an expert historian and writer. It may be an utter impossibility. After all, Big Spring only has 30,000 people. And St. Augustine has 14,000.

The difference is that tourism is their livelihood. They know the advantages of it. If you want nightclubs and crowds on the beach and noise, go to Miami. If you want pretty beaches, good seafood and lots of history, you might stop at St. Augustine.

Or if we really ever got excited about it, we might make Big Spring a place to stop — out where I ride fence.

ACSW Director
Howard County Family Service Center

Years ago, in the dark of night, in a residential street in Virginia, a leading Southern Senator went down, seriously beaten and robbed. There was nothing political about the incident. Just grimly realistic. A drug addict needed money to satisfy his habit. An extremely costly act.

This is an event removed from us in our community by time and space. But are we insulated from like possibilities? I have news for you. It came in the mail a few days ago. The answer is No. A FRIGHTENING NO. The informing piece of mail is official from the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission. It is entitled "Regional Plan for Drug Abuse Control." The plan lists four priorities to be used in the approach to our drug problem: 1) treatment and rehabilitation, 2) prevention, intervention and education, 3) training (of staff), 4) planning and co-ordination.

You might ask: is this just another political boondoggle? The answer again is No. The document carefully describes the incidence of drug abuse in the Permian Basin as it is currently known to us. During calendar year, 1976 there were 1,180 drug arrests in the 17— county area of the Permian Basin Region. The third highest number of arrests occurred in Howard County with 11.3 per cent of all the drug arrests in the region.

Ninety-one per cent of those arrested were 29 years of age or younger. A more detailed breakdown shows that 20.3 per cent of all arrested were under eighteen years of age.

Drug arrests for opium or cocaine or their derivatives comprise 11.6 per cent of all drug arrests in the Permian Basin.

It is important to remember that drug arrests account only partially for the incidence of drug abuse.

The serious aspects of drug abuse occurring in our commu ity are startling. It's happening among our young. Hard drugs are here. Hard drugs are expensive. Being at the "Crossroads" of two major highways, traffic "in" of drugs from metropolitan areas and from Mexico is as easy as that of all the good things that come here.

As we go about reconstituting our community it is important to protect our persons and property by such projects as Operation Identification and Neighborhood Watch. I submit that it is also important to save persons who threaten not only other person's property, but who also threaten themselves by abusing harmful substances, and so threaten our very being. I ask you: What are we going to do to serve better the children and youth of Big Spring and Howard County? And when do we start?

IN RACE — State Rep. Joe. A. Hubanek (above), who represents Fort Bend County and part of Brazoria County in the Texas House of Represenatives, has formally announced his candidacy foe Commisssioner of Agriculture. Hubanek says Texas has serious problems in the farming and ranching industries that he feels he can help correct. He says he views with alarm the fact that the state lost more than 2,000 farms and ranches in 1976 alone.

Food stamps cheating

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite new controls and a drop in the number of participants, a government audit shows that $112 million in food stamps went to ineligible families during six months of last year.

The Agriculture Department report said that during the last six month of 1976 about 253,000 households — 4.4 per cent of the total number in the program — received food stamps, although they were not entitled to them.

The report said another 1.17 million families eligible for food stamps during the period received more than they should have, costing the government another $31.2 million a month. They accounted for 21.7 per cent of the families using food stamps.

Extended to a yearly basis, the losses in both cases would be $596 million during 1976, the auditors said. That figure is about the same as losses attributed to previous years.

More than five million families participate in the food stamp program at an annual cost to the government of about $5.4 billion, including administrative costs.

REGISTRATION DAY AT COLLEGE — Students line up to register for fall classes Friday in the library at Howard College. College administrators are expecting a slight dip in enrollment this year, due to the closure of Webb AFB.

Baby's father will never know child

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — When San Antonio policeman Eloy F. Gonzales was shot and killed at a disturbance at a lounge Aug. 15, he didn't know his wife Rachael was carrying their child.

She had been scheduled to go to the doctor the same day for a pregnancy test.

Her 28-year-old husband's death delayed confirmation of the pregnancy, but Mrs. Gonzales, 27, now knows the baby she and her husband tried for more than a year to conceive is on its way.

The baby's father will never know the child. "All the men in blue will be your baby's father," Dale Jacobs, Gonzales' shift supervisor, told the young widow.

"My husband and I starting suspecting (pregnancy) last month but it was not definite because we did not want to build up our hopes," Mrs. Gonzales said. "We were waiting for the 15th when I had a doctor's appointment to confirm it, but that was the day my husband passed away."

At the funeral, Mrs. Gonzales prayed not only for husband's soul but also that she would be pregnant. "Eloy and I had talked about adopting a baby, but we had never given up," she said.

"I know that my husband would be very happy now."

And if the baby is a boy, he will carry his dead father's name. "My sorrow is mixed with happiness," Mrs. Gonzales said, "but I guess God knows His will. I hope it is a boy, but then again I'll be happy with whatever God wants."

Colorado City maps $1,134,910 budget

The budget which will go into effect Jan. 1, retains the same tax ratio and rate being 25 per cent of market value at $1.25 per $100, based on county valuation of $46 million.

County Auditor Dwayne Feaster said that estimated expenditures in the porposed budget will run over estimated revenues by $188,645. Total revenues are expected to reach $946,265.

He said that differences between the expenditures and total revenues will come from balances left over from previous years.

Feaster explained $40,000 was made by the county last year through investment in treasury bills, with money which comes into the county from October to December, after county taxes are paid.

Revenues from 1976 to 1977 were $570,213 from ad valorem taxes, $140,304 from auto registration, and $180 from fees and fines.

More students are needed

More students are needed to complete courses being offered by the University of Texas of the Permian Basin in Big Spring.

Among the classes where vacancies exist are PED 325 — Teaching Science and Math in Elementary, Thursday; PED 325 — Teaching Reading in Elementary, Monday; PED 647 — Human Growth and Development, Thursday; PED 668, Principalship, Monday; and PED 671 — Group Technique for Counselors, Tuesday.

Classes begin Wednesday night. Those interested can contact Virginia Smith, 267-8360, for enrollment or additional information.

Newspaper requeim set

Friends will hold requeim for a newspaper, more properly a coffee, at the Big Spring Printing Company at 10 a.m., Thursday, when the last Prairie Pilot will be printed.

The Pirate Pilot is a weekly publication which features news occurring on Webb AFB. The paper is ceasing publication because Webb is closing later this year.

Bone named Cisco chief

CISCO — Jerry Bone, 25, has been named Cisco chief of police. Bone has been serving as an Eastland County deputy sheriff and formerly was on the police force here.

Bone attended law enforcement school at Cisco College. He succeeds Raymond Wingington, who had served as police chief for three years.

Two other patrolmen have been named. They are Ricky Chamness, 22, Eastland; and James McCaniel, 28, Cisco.

Fire protection courses offered

Course offerings by Midland College have been announced for extension centers in Big Spring, Big Lake, Fort Stockton and San Angelo. Fall registration is set for next week at the four locations, according to Dr. Don Hunt, vice president for acasemic affairs.

Four fire protection courses are planned for the Webb AFB Center in Big Spring. The organizational meetings are set for Tuesday, Aug. 30, from 2:30-4 p.m. and 6:30-8 p.m.

Tenative course offerings for the Webb AFB Center include: Industrial Fire Protection II, offered from 7-10 p.m. on either Wednesday or Thursday; and Fire Investigation, offered from 7-10 p.m. Monday or Tuesday.

Steers outhit, outscore, outdo Mustangs

By DANNY REAGAN
Sports Editor

It was a good beginning for 1977. Almost a 1,000 Steer faithful who were on hand Friday night in Memorial Stadium will attest to that.

The Big Spring Steers used an impressive ground game and a sticky defense to hamstring the herd of visiting Sweetwater Mustangs 4-3 in a controlled scrimmage, and brightened considerably the hopes of the hometown following for a resurgence of Steer figures in the win column this season.

The Longhorns strapped on their offensive guns early in the ballgame. On the 10th play of the scrimmage, Steer all-district caliber split end Kenneth Coffey did an about turn towards the left side of the field, took the handoff on a perfectly executed end reverse and side-stepped Mustangs for the first 15 yards and made like Seattle Slew for the remaining 48 markers and headed for the endzone — a 63-yard scamper.

The remainder of the regular scrimmage was basically a standoff. Sweetwater capitalized on quarterback Matt Patterson's golden arm and a few breakdowns in the Steer secondary to rack up considerable passing yardage and one score, but a tough Steer front wall, led by Tony Mann, Lance Perry, Dee Nanny and Robert Wrinkle snuffed further hopes for double-stripe crossing.

Penalties stopped the Steers more than a Mustang defense, as the local offensive front line was blasting the much, much bigger visitors off the mark. The savage, long-in-coming-but-finally-here hitting by the Steer defense forced Sweetwater to give up the pigskin four times on fumbles.

During the goal line drills, the locals outscored the Mustangs 3-2, twice on eight-yard fleetfeetings by quarterback Mike Abreo, and once on a mid-air fumble that Del Poss plucked out of the air in the end zone.

Senior fullback Mike Blalack, a defensive secondary man last season, showed outside speed and bowling tactics to rack up almost 60 yards on seven carries. He and running backs Robbie Wegner and Ricky Cluck time and time again lowered their heads and pounded their way through the defense for hard shouldn't-have-been-there yardage.

Helping out the foursome of Nanny, Mann, Perry and Wrinkle were Del Poss, who showed exceptional willingness to hit people in crucial situations, Sammy Ortega, his usual bruising self, and Wade Cobb, 165 pounds of hit-'n-stick.

COFFEY PERKS — Big Spring Steer splitend Kenneth Coffey (in qhite) rambles for additional yardage after catching a pass during Friday night's Steer scrimmage with Sweetwater. Coffey galloped for a 63-yard touchdown on a reverse and helped his crew take a 4-3 decision over the visitors.

The statistics on the scrimmage are at first deceiving, and then at second, downright surprising. The determined efforts of the Bovine ground attack racked up an amazing 190 yards, compared to the 95 that the home defense allowed the visitors.

The Mustangs tallied all but 11 of their 164 yards of air traffic on three bombs that caught the defense napping. The first downs (not counting goal line and penalty situations) were even — seven apiece.

The Steers amassed 119 yards of penalties to only 19 for the less error-prone Mustangs, but the surprising stat is again the rushing. "There's no doubt we're a stronger running team than we were last year," said Head Coach Don Robbins.

Quarterbacks Mike Abreo and Ricky Myers displayed promising actions during the contest as well. Abreo completed three of 10 passes, had three picked off and ran the ball six times for 23 yards. Myers, who was showcased only briefly because of a bruised left shoulder he sustained early, completed one out of two for nine yards and performed a picture book 25-yard run on the quarterback option, the play on which he was hurt.

Myers will definitely be ready for action next week, but the only other Steer to suffer injury, Joey Vasquez (wrenched knee) will have to be evaluated Monday. The lack of injuries, despite the fact that all the Steers will be going both ways this season, and the fact that they hit people hard, indicated that the locals were in good physical condition for the drills.

"We showed some fine points Friday," said Robbins, "and we saw places where we need work, but we're hitting more than we did last year, and getting to the ball better.

"We had a few mistakes offensively, such as the penalties, but these are things we hope to get ironed out. We'll show the film to the kids Monday, and they can see what they did right and wrong. Seeing is believing," Robbins offered.

The Junior Varsity Shorthorns also did a number on Sweetwater, outscoring them 5-0. But for dropped passes and missed opportunities, that number could have doubled. Jimmy Marquez and Jimmy Brown performed admirably at quarterback, and Dennis Morrison, "fast, good balance," Terry Conway, "good strong JV back," Ronnie Walker, "good fullback," and Mike Domino and Joe Willie Jones, "good speed and hands," drew quotes from their coaches.

Steve Painter, Jack Odom and David Manley headed up a defense that only allowed one first down for the visitors. "It was a very good effort on the JV's part," Robbins commented. "They outclassed Sweetwater."

In a concluding comment about the varisty performance, Robbins stated: "There are a lot of bugs we have to iron out before next week, but we're very pleased with the effort and attitude these kids showed. If we can correct some mistakes, I think we'll have an excellent opportunity to beat Andrews.

Royals' streak comes to halt

BALTIMORE (AP) — Andres Mora and Rich Dauer drove in two runs apiece, rallying the Baltimore Orioles to a 4-2 victory over Kansas City Saturday night, ending the Royals' 10-game winning streak.

The Orioles, who had lost five of their last six games, took a 2-1 lead in the sixth inning when Lee May singled with two outs, Doug DeCinces doubled and both came home on a single by Mora.

Dauer's two-run double in the seventh finished Jim Colborn, 14-13. The hit scored Dave Skaggs, who opened the inning with a single and moved to third on a double by Al Bumbry.

Mike Flanagan, who needed relief help in the ninth, evened his record at 10-10 while scattering 10 hits.

Kansas City scored in the fifth on singles by Fred Patek and George Brett and a double by Hal McRae. Following an intentional walk to Amos Otis, Al Cowens grounded into an inniing-ending double play to halt the threat.

Pokes sneak by Colts

DALLAS (AP) — Efren Herrera, who had missed the first extra point in his procareer earlier in the game, drilled a 33-yard field goal as time ran out Saturday night to present the Dallas Cowboys with a 23-21 National Football League preseason victory over the Baltimore Colts.

Baltimore, now 2-2 in the exhibition season, went for the first down on fourth and inches at the Dallas 41-yard line with four minutes left to play. However, Colt running back Don McCauley was stopped cold and the Cowboys launched their successfull counterattack.

Rookie Tony Dorsett, who gained 99 yards in 18 attempts for the night, exploded for 17 yards and Dallas methodically worked the ball to the Colt 15-yard-line before calling time out with two seconds to play.

Herrera had missed his first extra point of his career in the first quarter after a nine-yard end around touchdown sprint by tight end Jay Saldi.

Veteran Batlimore quarterback Bert Jones rifled touchdown passes of 18 yards to Freddie Scott and 38 yards to tight end Raymond Chester as the Colts built a 14-6 halftime lead.

But backup quarterback Bill Troup immediately got the Colts in hot water in the third period when Cowboy linebacker D.D. Lewis intercepted an under-thrown pass and returned it 22 yards to the Colt 18.

After a loss, Dallas backup quarterback Danny White nailed Drew Pearson with a 20-yard touchdown pass to narrow the count to 14-13.

Scott, who has played in the shadow of holdout Roger Carr for three years, made an incredible acrobatic catch of a 22-yard touchdown pass to give Baltimore a 21-13 lead in the third period.

Preston Pearson plunged one yard for a touchdown to narrow the count to 21-20 before the Colts gambled and failed.

(AP WIREPHOTO)

SCRAMBLE FOR FUMBLE — Baltimore Colts' linebacker Tom MacLeod (52) reaches for the loose ball under his arm as Dallas Cowboys' running backs Tony Dorsett (33) and Robert Newhouse (44) and Colts' defensive end Fred Cook (72) join in the scramble. MacLeod recovered Newhouse's first quarter fumble in Saturday's exhibition game at Texas Stadium.

Sooners tabbed as '1'

By the Associated Press

The Oklahoma Sooners have been tabbed as the preseason choice in The Associated Press college football poll to capture their third national championship in four years.

In nationwide balloting by a panel of 62 sports writers and sportscasters, Oklahoma received 23 first-place votes and 1,068 of a possible 1,224 points as the choice to succeed Pitt-sburgh as the No. 1 team in the nation.

The Sooners, who won the national championship in 1974 and 1975, finished fifth a year ago with a 9-2-1 record in their unsuccessful bid to become the first team ever to win three crowns in a row. They easily outdistanced Michigan in the preseason balloting.

The Wolverines, 10-2 last year, received 19 first-place votes and 1,020 points. Michigan and Oklahoma were the only teams named on every ballot.

Notre Dame was third, followed by Southern California, Ohio State, Alabama, Pitt, Texas Tech, Texas A&M and Maryland.

Notre Dame received 10 firstplace votes and 948 points as the top nine teams in the balloting all received at least one first-place vote.

Last season's final Top Ten consisted of Pitt, Southern Cal, Michigan, Houston, Oklahoma, Ohio State, Texas A&M, Maryland, Nebraska and Georgia.

The 1977 preseason Second Ten includes UCLA, Colorado, Penn State, Houston, Nebraska, Mississippi State, Arizona State and Florida tied for 17th, followed by Georgia and Oklahoma State.

The final 1976 Second Ten was Alabama, Notre Dame, Texas Tech, Oklahoma State, UCLA, Colorado, Rutgers, Kentucky, Iowa State and Mississippi State.

Arizona State, which slipped to a 4-7 record after finishing second to Oklahoma in the final 1975 AP poll, was the only team coming off a losing season to crack the presason Top Twenty.

The Top Twenty teams in The Associated Press preseason college football poll, with first-place votes in parentheses, 1976 records and total points. Points based on 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7 etc.:

1. Oklahoma	(23)	9-2-1	1,068
2. Michigan	(19)	10-2-0	1,020
3. N Dame	(10)	9-3-0	948
4. So Cal	(3)	11-1-0	766
5. Ohio St	(2)	9-2-1	673
6. Alabama	(1)	9-3-0	541
7. Pitt	(2)	12-0-0	408
8. Tex Tech	(1)	10-2-0	388
9. Tex A&M	(1)	10-2-0	376
10. Maryland		11-1-0	361
11. UCLA		9-2-1	324
12. Colorado		8-4-0	313
13. Penn St		7-5-0	238
14. Houston		10-2-0	219
15. Nebraska		9-3-1	190
16. Miss St		9-2-0	124
17. Ariz St		4-7-0	69
(tie) Florida		8-4-0	69
19. Georgia		10-2-0	40
20. Okla St		9-3-0	37

Other receiving votes, listed alphabetically: Arizona, Arkansas, Baylor, Boston College, Brigham Young, Colorado State, Florida State, Illinois, Kentucky, Memphis State, Missouri, North Carolina, Rutgers, San Diego State, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Wyoming.

HALE IRWIN
Leader by five strokes

Irwin leads Hall of Fame

PINEHURST, N. C. (AP) — Hale Irwin, apparently headed for a rout, slashed and chopped his way to a double bogey six on the final hole but, with a two-under-par 69, still retained an imposing five-shot lead Saturday in the third round of the $250,000 Hall of Fame Golf Classic.

Despite his troubles on the 18th — which took place moments after the national television cameras had ended their coverage for the day — Irwin still posted a 54-hole total of 196, a distant 17 strokes below par on the pine-studded, 7,007-yard No. 2 course at the Pinehurst Country Club.

His three-round total, built on scores of 65, 62 and 69, matches the lowest of the season on the tour and put him in a commanding lead in the tournament he must win to gain a spot in next week's important World Series of Golf.

Irwin had his drive in the fairway on the 18th, but missed the green, stubbed his chip and was still short of the putting surface, in deep rough, in three. He got it on in four and two-putted for the double bogey.

Lon Hinkle, a nonwinner alone in second, had a scrambly 69 in the hot, humid, hazy weather and a 201 total.

Leonard Thompson was two shots further back at 203 after Lou Graham is next at 204 after a 66, followed by Charles Coody and Jeff Mitchell at 205. Coody shot a 70 and the rookie Mitchell closed up with a 65 that included 10 birdies, a double bogey and two bogeys

Masters and British Open champ Tom Watson shot a 65 that put him at 207, a distant 11 strokes off the pace.

Whisox lose to Brew

CHICAGO (AP) — Chet Lemon belted a three-run homer in the eighth inning Saturday night to lead the Chicago White Sox to a 7-6 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

Lemon's homer, his 18th of the season, came off loser Ed Rodriguez, 3-6, and wiped out a 6-4 advantage the Brewers had gained in the seventh inning.

Lerrin LaGrow, 7-2, got the victory in relief of starter Francisco Barrios, who left the game with the bases loaded and nobody out in the seventh. LaGrow yielded a sarcifice fly to Cecil Cooper, which snapped a 4-4 tie, and a run-scoring single to Don Money.

Connors out of Open

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — A recurrence of back problems forced top-seeded Jimmy Connors to bow out of the $125,000 U.S. Pro Tennis Championship Saturday night.

It was a good day for Rangers

By the Associated Press

It was a good day for the long-ball hitters Saturday.

The Texas Rangers slammed five home runs, including two by Bump Wills, to support Bert Blyleven's six-hitter and defeat the New York Yankees 8-2 Saturday.

Two of Texas' round-trippers were consecutive inside-the-park shots. Toby Harrah lifted a fly ball to deep right field with two men on in the seventh. Yankees right fielder Lou Piniella crashed into the wall attempting to catch the ball, which bounced halfway back to the infield. Harrah circled the bases before the ball was retrieved.

Wills, who slammed a Mike Torrez delivery into the upper deck in the fourth, then belted a drive to deep center field which bounced off Mickey Rivers' glove and rolled all the way to the fence. Wills scored easily for his ninth homer of the year.

Mike Hargrove led off the game with his 13th homer and ninth in his last 17 games for Texas and Bert Campaneris swatted one leading off the fifth. Graig Nettles hit his 31st homer of the year for New York, tieing him with George Scott and Bobby Bonds for the American League lead.

The loss snapped Torrez' seven-game winning streak and was Blyleven's 12th win in 23 decisions.

Boston crept within two games of first-place New York in the AL East with a 7-5 triumph over Minnesota. Home runs by Scott, Tommy Helms, Butch Hobson and Bob Montgomery provided much of Boston's offense.

The Red Sox tied the major league record for back-to-back homers during a season with 15 as Helms and Hobson hit consecutive home runs in the third inning.

Detroit edged California 7-6 as Milt May hit a pair of home runs, his second blast providing the winning run in the eighth inning. Jason Thompson also homered for Detroit and Tony Solaita hit one out for California.

The Oakland A's defeated Toronto 9-8 as Billy North led an 18-hit, six-stolen-base assault with three hits and two steals. The A's, who collected a hit in every inning, won their fourth game in a row.

In National League day games, Cincinnati edged Philadelphia 6-5 on two-out ninth-inning home runs by Dan Driessen, an inside-the-park job, and Johnny Bench. Morgan had his 20th home run for Cincinnati while Mike Schmidt hit his 32nd and Barry Foote his third for Philadelphia.

Bob Knepper pitched a threehitter and Jack Clark drove in three runs as San Francisco defeated Chicago 7-1.

In night action, Seattle was at Cleveland, Kansas City visited Baltimore and Milwaukee opposed Chicago in the American League and New York was at Atlanta and Montreal played Houston in the National League.

SOCCER BOOM LIKE NFL'S

Soccer explosion in New York certain to boom season subscriptions. Cosmos has season's list of 3,400 this year. It will balloon to 25 or 30 thousand for next year, according to expectations of Steve Ross, prez of Warner Communications, the parent company. Recent sellouts and near-sellouts in 76,000-seat Giants Stadium have soccer fans fearful of being shut out if they wait on game-to-game basis. Same thing happened in NFL boom decade back.

Oscar Gamble, returning to Yankee Stadium with White Sox, took pre-game practice bareheaded, no doubt to flaunt flourishing afro he was made to moderate when member of Yanks . . . Gene Hermanski, suiting up for Oldtimers game: "You can imagine what I do in the field at these things. When I was playing, I used to pray they'd hit the ball to somebody else!" Rex Barney reminding Roy Campanella of time Rex was working on no-hitter against Cubs. With Phil Cavarretta up in eighth, Campy called for curveball. Barney shook him off, fired gastball, and Cavaretta lined it to right for only hit. Walking off field, Rex recalls, Campy said to him: "Don't you ever shake me off again. You know I'm smarter than you are!"

Itchy-footed NBA Nets, just one month after jump from Long Island, have moved offices from Hackensack to Rutherford, N.J. . . . Far be it from me to suggest Billy Jean King submitted affidavit in favor of Renee Richards because Renee belongs to Cleveland Nets of WTT, a league in which Ms. King and her husband have more than passing interest. And I wonder if Judge Ascione was aware of this in placing so much weight on Billy Jean's testimony that transsexual Renee has no physical advantage over genetic women? . . . For "I Love My Wife Day," which permits man to take spouse to Mets game for 50 cents added, two men showed up at advance window claiming to be married to each other. Ticket manager Bob Mandt, rather than risk confrontation with gay libbers, made the sale.

WAVES TO FANS — St. Louis Cardinals superstar Lou Brock waves to fans during batting practice prior to Friday night's game against the Los Angeles Dodgers in Los Angeles. Brock, who is within one of tying Ty Cobb's all-time record of 892 stolen bases, isn't making any predictions on when he will break Cobb's record. Brock said he is "looking ahead to the time people will ask who stole the most bases and they mention me and not Cobb, who was a great man."

Forsan Buffaloes tie up Motley Co.

FORSAN — The Forsan Buffaloes got their second taste of football action for the 1977 season Friday night, and they seemed to enjoy it even more than last week's tea party at Klondike.

"Improvement" is the key word for Head Coach George White in describing Friday night's action.

"Our execution of the plays was a lot better, we were getting off the football a lot better, the backs hit the hole a lot quicker and we just corrected a few things that helped the offense out," White said.

Defensively, the herd showed good pursuit, according to their coach, and looked extremely effective of the pass rush. Tom Posey, all-district tackle on defense again proved himself at that spot, and White indicated that the other tackle position, starter still undertermined, showed improvement as well.

Gary Martin and Angel Miranda were the outstanding rushers for the Buffs. Between them and the other Frosan footmen, 140 steps were picked up for a good night's work. Alan Hollandsworth was also picked out of the crowd for gutsy play.

Coach White was very pleased with the Forsan passing game, but was disappointed in the Buff's tendency to fumble in crucial situations. On four penetrations beyond Motley County's 20-yard line, the ball was coughed up three times. "We need to work on our consistency there," he said.

Forsan and Motley County played to a scoreless tie, but the Buffs held the edge in all statistical categories, outfirstdowning their foe 10-7, outrushing them 140-120, outpassing them 58-0 and outintercepting them 3-0. The Buffs completed 3 of 4 passes, compared to 0 of 8 for their opponents.

Forsan begins its regular season of play next Friday night at home against Bronte at 8 p.m.

BULLDOGS MERGE — The entire center of the Coahoma Bulldog offensive line converges upon a Stanton Buffalo running back Friday night during a scrimmage in Coahoma. The Coahoma defensive proved itself extremely tough against a powerful Stanton offensive punch. Both teams scored four times.

Stanton, Coahoma play to standoff

By DANNY REAGAN
Sports Editor

COAHOMA — The Stanton Buffaloes have a potent rushing attack, you'll find a number of people who'll say that. Stanton Head Coach David Thompson will freely admit. So will Coahoma Coach Roy Winters. And the Buffs proved it Friday night in a scrimmage between those two area teams.

But the big surprise in Friday night's 4-4 standoff between the two squads was a stout defense put up by the Coahomans that held that Buff tank crew to 210 yards on the ground. In the meantime, the quickly improving Bulldogs racked up 208 markers of dirt themselves.

And in the not-surprising-at-all category, Stanton's all-state bluechipper Marvin "Lemon Juice" Jones carried the pigskin for 111 yards on 13 tries and scored two touchdowns. "He looked tremendous," said Thompson.

Coahoma's Roy White had tremendous words for his team as well. "We feel like we've improved quite a bit. Sure, we made a lot of mistakes, but we're young and will just have to work them out. We have a lot further to go but we're starting to go but we're starting to improve and I'm tickled to death." White commented.

Offensively, White and his coaching staff were impressed by the play of divebacks Dusty Douglass and Ronald Sundy, in addition to fullback Tracy Frazier. Defensively, praise went out to everyone. In fact, Winters was pleased with his entire team.

"It's hard to single out any one player," he said, "because we are such a team-oriented ballclub. Our defense was a team defense, and everyone just took care of his assignment. We knew that Stanton was a tough team and was capable of blowing us off the field." Team play by the 'Dogs prevented that.

Thompson was also very agreeable with the way his squad performed. "We put together a couple of sustained drives that looked pretty good. What I was really pleased with was the fact that we only fumbled the ball once and didn't have any interceptions. I think we're making progress," he said.

Tommy Morrow went all the way that night at quarterback for the Buffs, as regular Todd Smith jammed a knuckle on the first defensive series. "Smith will be ready for next Friday," Thompson quickly added, "but Morrow did an excellent job last night."

Thompson also pinpointed fullback Bob Jones for his performance: "Bob probably had his best night ever running and blocking." Jones also scored two TD's. The passing game was also praised — five of 12, with two long ones dropped.

"We had a few busted assignments Friday," Thompson explained, "and we need to work on our goal line defense." Coahoma scored all its points on the goal line segment of the scrimmage.

"We looked at the films this morning (Saturday)," said Thompson, "and we can see that there has been a lot of improvement in every phase of the game from last week." Kendel Blocker was also extended praise for his defensive work, as was Collerson Huffman for his pass-catching ability.

"We're making progress and will be ready to play next Friday," Thompson concluded.

Stanton opens its regular season of play on the road next week against Tahoka, while Coahoma will stay at home against the Wall Wildcats.

If the Buffs and 'Dogs continue to play the brand of hardnose football they exhibited Friday night, then Wall and Tahoka will no doubt wish they had stood in bed, Fred.

BSGA tourney today

Members of the Big Spring Golf Association are reminded that today marks the next-to-the-last time that they can qualify for September's Grand Tournament.

Association members must play in at least four BSGA-sanctioned tournaments in the season to qualify for the Grand. This Sunday's tourney is an individual flighted handicap event. Committee members are Brown, Clinton, Mills and Perez.

All entries must be in by noon and fees must be paid by 12:30. Tee-off time is 1:30 p.m.

The only other BSGA tournament of the season remaining before the Grand is a selective drive tourney on Sept. 18.

Men's Slow Pitch has 3 weeks left

Three weeks into the second half mf play of the Big Spring Men's Slowpitch Softball Association schedule, the American League Alberto's teams remains the only unbeaten squad.

Results Thursday night follow: Small Tool 12, RBC 6; Coahoma 18, Permian Pipe 5; Kentucky Fried 13, Downtown Merchants 12; Alberto's 43, Blood, Sweat and Beer (formerly Sweathogs) 2; Cardinals 41, Wooden Nickel 3; Los Chicanos 14, Big Spring Merchants 8.

There are seven games left in the regular season before playoffs, and players are asked to consider forming an industrial basketball league after the softball season is over.

Those who are interested in forming basketball teams should contact Troy Frazier at 394-4289 or 267-5963. An organizational meeting will be called in approximately three weeks.

Standings in the current softball races follow:

No Gong here!

The Steers were impressive Friday night against Sweetwater. They sent visions of sugar footballs dancing in my head, hinting perhaps toward a realization of the five-win season I so foolhardily predicted earlier this week.

Like I say, all the Steers looked good. But if I had to give the Chuck Barris Gong Show "Back With More Stuff" Award to one of them, it would have to go to 176-pound senior fullback Mike Blalack.

Blalack, who played behind Billy Hayes in the defensive secondary last season, showed some stuff alright against the Sweetwater Mustangs. The Steers, unfortunately, are not blessed with a whole lot of speed this year. Blalack, not your fastest back in the world sure, showed an uncanny ability to gain the outside corner.

Praise the Lord and pass the ammunition! With the veer option the Horns will be shoving at the enemy this year, Blalack is a sight for sore eyes. And his willingness, shoot, his delight in running into would-be tacklers, is a sight for sore eyes. More than once Friday he lowered his head when cheap yardage was gone and went BOOM and picked up that very expensive kind.

"Jumpin' Jerry" Foresyth was more than his usual jumpin' self after Friday night's fine exhibition of hometown football, the scrimmage victory notwithstanding.

Ol' Jer, co-captain with Mike Henry of the Big Spring Quarterback Club, had some more good news pass his way. With the abnormally high attendance for a scrimmage game (almost 30 times that of the San Angelo regular season game last year), the local Quarterbackers raked in between $500 and $600.

"It was quite a success!" stated the hero of last season's Red Head game. Foresyth was justifiably ecstatic. The QBC was $180 in the hole from last year's spring banquet. But thanks to the donations of Steer fans Friday, the season is already jumping for the local organization.

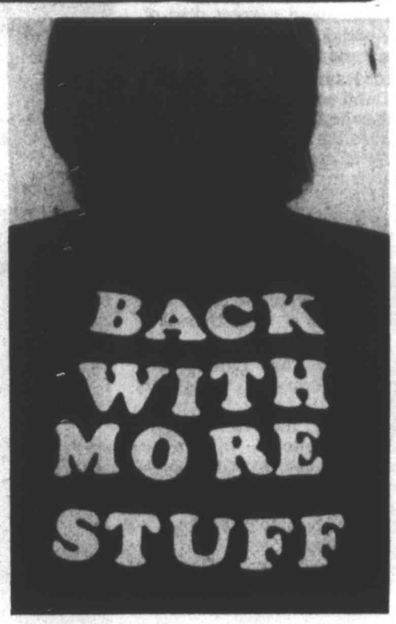

The only thing that would make "Jumpin' " jump higher would be for more parents and local Steer boosters to join the club. The first meeting of the QBC will be this Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the high school cafeteria. Membership drive plans will be discussed then, and a scouting report will be given on the Horns next opponent — the powerful Andrews Mustangs.

Membership fee to the worthwhile organization is $5 for family or individual. Join today. Okay, wait until Tuesday.

***

If you were there Friday night where you should have been, you saw the Sweetwater Mustangs complete a couple of long passes against the Steers — tosses of 50, 69 and 29 to be exact.

Here's why. First of all, Matt Patterson is a very good passer. Secondly, the Steer coaches and players were taken completely by surprise when the Mustangs came out in the Straight T formation.

"We had some confusion defensively," said Head Coach Don Robbins. "It's hard to declare a defense. You hardly see that formation anymore. We weren't keying the eligible receivers because we were surprised and not as ready as we could have been. We should have prepared them more. But at the same time it was good for us, because we learned from it."

Robbins admitted he was very pleased with the Steer ground attack, but added "We still have to work on our passing game. We'd like to have 50 per cent pass and run to keep the other teams honest."

Robbins indicated that breakdowns on passing defense could have also been affected by the lights. "This is the first time we've worked out under the lights, and I think some of the kids had trouble seeing the ball. That was good experience for us." Robbins suggested that the Steers might practice under the lights one time next week to work on their punt returns, in preparation for the Andrews Mustangs.

The Andrews Mustangs! Whew! There's a bunch of meat on the hoof. That crew has people weighing 260, 250, 238 pounds and the like. They are much bigger than the Steers. "Sweetwater was much bigger than us too," said Robbins. "So will everyone else this year."

Robbins applauded the efforts of defensive end Dean Barriball. "The position he plays is a very important one and will be very well tested next week by Booger Brooks (Andrews' quarterback) and the option play.

Well, the Steers passed their first test in 1977. Next week's will be a real "ripper." But they're studying hard for it.

U.S. Open to show variety of tennis

NEW YORK (AP) — The men have scheduled a battle royal for dominance in their game and Chris Evert, the always serene and steady empress of tennis, might totter a bit on her throne. Virginia Wade, the Wimbledon queen, will meet controversial Renee Richards.

The U.S. Open tennis championships, set at the venerable West Side Tennis Club in Forest Hills, begin Wednesday.

Bjorn Borg, the Wimbledon king of the past two years, is top-seeded even though he lost here to Jimmy Connors last year. Borg snatched the No.1 spot in men's tennis ranks last week—wresting it from Connors, who'd held it for 3½ years.

They could meet in the finals at the Open two weeks hence, if the play follows the seedings.

Miss Evert, the 22-year-old from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., bids for her third consecutive U.S. Open title. She seemed indomitable after her triumph last year over Evonne Goolagong, but has not had such a remarkable year after all.

At Wimbledon's semifinals she lost 2-6, 6-4, 1-6 to Ms. Wade, the Briton over whom Britain had nearly despaired after 16 Wimbledon tries. Miss Evert, as well as most of the other top women, have been engaged in World Team Tennis since then, and major tournaments have gone to little-known players.

The razzle-dazzle during the first round at the Open undoubtedly will fall on Ms. Wade, seeded third, when she meets Dr. Richards, the 43-year-old transsexual admitted to the tournament by court order.

Dr. Richards had been banned from all major tournaments this year and hasn't amassed much of a record. She took the U.S. Tennis Association and Women's Tennis Association to court after being required to take chromosome tests. A judge said the test was unfair and that she should be permitted to play at the Open. The USTA complied without requiring her to enter qualifying rounds.

Miss Evert will meet Sharon Walsh of Mill Valley, Calif., and second-seeded Martina Navratilova, the expatriate Czech, will play Mary Hamm of San Antonio, Tex., in the opening round.

Billlie Jean King, still on the rebound from knee surgery last year, is seeded seventh and has a bye in the first round. If all goes accrding to the seeding, Miss Evert and Ms. King would meet in the quarter-finals.

Miss Goolagong, the runnerup the last four years at the Open, returned to tennis two weeks ago after a year-long absence, during which she gave birth to her first child. The Australian, living at Hilton Head, S.C., said she would not play here, however, because motherly duty called.

Borg falls into the same quarter of the draw with eighth-seeded Vitas Gerulaitis of Kings Point, N.Y., who gave him a mighty battle in the Wimbledon semifinals. If both progress according to seeding, Borg would have to meet fourth-seeded Guillermo Vilas of Argentina before gaining the final.

Connors, with a still-healing sprained thumb, is in the same quarter with fifth seed Manuel Orantes of Spain, who upset him here in a dramatic final in 1975. His quarter also includes ninth-seeded Eddie Dibbs and hard-hitting Roscoe Tanner, No.11.

Connors must get past No.3 seed Brian Gottfried and seventh-seeded Ilie Nastase to make it to the finals.

Connors occupies the same quarter with his Wimbledon semifinal foe, upstart John McEnroe, the 18-year-old from Douglaston, N.Y., who made a startling ascension at the British championships. If McEnroe beats Eliot Teltscher in the first round, he would still have to go through Orantes and Dibbs in his part of the quarter before getting another crack at Connors.

Meanwhile, Arthur Ashe, former U.S. Open and Wimbledon champion, said Saturday he has withdrawn from the Open.

America's leading black player, the 34-year-old star said, "I think I tried to do too much too soon. "My left heel acted up again and now I will have to postpone my tennis comeback until 1978."

He had an operation on his heel which had bothered him for years.

U.S. team beats Reds

SOFIA, Bulgaria (AP) — The U.S. basketball team defeated the Soviet Union 87-68 to win the gold medal in the World University Games Saturday night, and American swimmers won four of the last five swimming events on the last day of competition.

Th Soviet Union ended the games at the top of the medals list with 30 golds, 33 silvers and 28 bronzes, while the United States was second with 19-11-13. Hungary was third with 14-10-2.

The U.S. basketball squad scored its eighth victory in eight games as Sid Moncrief of Arkansas led the scoring with 16 points.

Freeman Williams of Portland State and Larry Byrd of Indiana State scored 14 each and Calvin Natt of Northeast Louisiana scored 10.

The U.S. women's basketball team won a silver medal. The strong Soviet squad beat the Americans 107-90 in the final.

The top performers in the U.S. swimming triumph were John Ebuna and Sue Hinderaker, who each won two gold medals on the final night.

Ebuna of the University of Tennessee won the men's 100-meter freestyle in 52.05 seconds and swam third in the quartet that edged the Russians in the men's 800-meter freestyle relay.

Miss Hinderaker of the University of California won her golds in two consecutive races. She held on to win the women's 100-meter butterfly event in 1:03.63, despite a late challenge by West Germany's Gudrun Backmann, and then anchored the U.S. women's 400-meter medley relay team to victory with a powerful last leg.

Taiwan wins series title

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Pitcher Chaing Chen-jung, whose .833 batting average set a new tournament record, drove in two runs with three singles and fired a four-hitter Saturday to lead Li-Teh Little League of Taiwan to a 7-2 victory over Western Little League of El Cajon, Calif., in the championship game of the 31st annual Little League World Series.

The title was the ninth in the last 11 years for a Far East representative to the tournament.

The 5-foot-5, 143-pound Chenjung, who batted 10-for-12 with 10 RBI in three games in the tourney, hit a two-run single in the first inning after a pair of walks and a wild pitch.

The Taiwan teams added another run on an error to take a 3-0 first-inning lead they never relinquished.

Chen-jung's hitting broke the mark of .733 set in 1973 by Chen Pai-sheng, also of Taiwan.

The U.S. West champions got a run in the third. A double by Bryan Dean, a walk and a single by Devin Lunsford loaded the bases. A walk forced in the run.

Bears run out of quarterbacks

WACO, Tex. (AP) — A scheduled full-scale scrimmage at Baylor University was cut short Saturday when the Bears ran out of quarterbacks.

Head Coach Grant Teaff planned a 150-play scrimmage, but ended it after about 75 when his top three quarterbacks were sidelined with injuries.

"This is the first practice that I have ever had to call because of lack of personnel," Teaff said. "We just ran out of quarterbacks."

Lefthander Sammy Bickham was the first to leave the field when he received a blow to his right shoulder that trainer Skip Cox said caused a "moderately separated shoulder." Bickham will miss about a week of practice.

Greg Wood was the next to fall. He sprained an ankle and will miss three to four days of workouts.

Carroll gets hole-in-one

Bruce Carroll, Big Spring High School golfing whizz, popped in a hole-in-one Saturday on the par 3, 160-yard, number seven hole at the Big Spring Country Club. He used a seven iron.

The second career hole-in-one by Carroll was witnessed by Novis Womack, Ed Wilkerson and Ed Springer.

Saban's wife takes life

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. (AP) — Lorraine Saban, wife of former Buffalo Bills coach and now University of Miami Coach Lou Saban, committed suicide late Friday night by hanging herself, police said.

Mrs. Saban, 55, was found by a neighbor hanging in the basement of her suburban Buffalo home.

Police said Mrs. Saban's son, who lives in Cleveland, had called the neighbor to check on his mother, after failing for several hours to reach her by telephone.

Saban flew here Saturday from Miami, where he was preparing to start the 1977-78 season at the helm of the University of Miami.

Police said Mrs. Saban had been packing household goods in preparation for joining her husband in Florida before she committed suicide.

They said a note was left but they refused to reveal its contents.

Mrs. Saban was transporation chairperson of the Erie County League of Women Voters for eight years. Her advice on transit issues was sought by various government officials. Police said she had minor health problems recently, but they would not elaborate.

The Saban family recently bought a house near the University of Miami where Saban was in his first season as head coach. The Sabans also have three daughters.

Saban, who recently underwent open heart surgery and recuperated at his Buffalo home, came to Miami in December from the National Football League team in Buffalo.

Saban also coached the Denver Broncos from 1967 to 1971.

Gottfried upset

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Sixteenth-seeded Jaime Fillol of Chile held service only once in the second set Saturday but eliminated No.2 Brian Gottfried in the $125,000 U.S. Pro Tennis Championships, 7-5, 6-3.

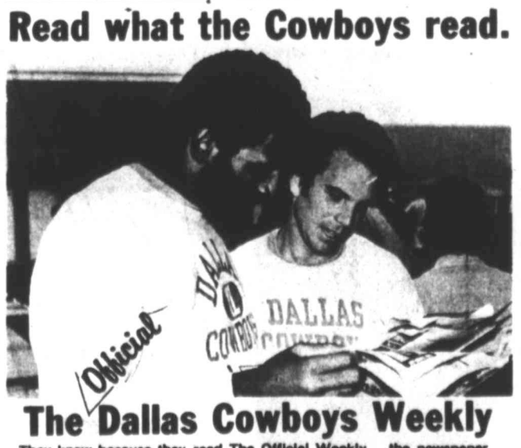

Gottfried became the sixth ranked player in the clay court tournament at Longwood Cricket Club to be eliminated.

Fillol's victory moved him into Sunday's quarter-finals against fellow Chilean Patricio Cornejo, who upset sixth-seeded Roscoe Tanner 5-7, 6-1, 6-4 Friday.

Fifth-seeded Dick Stockton narrowly escaped disaster Saturday, beating unseeded Billy Martin 7-6, 3-6, 6-4.

In another afternoon match, Poland's Wojtek Fibak, the tournament's eighth seed, moved into the quarter-finals by beating Francois Jauffret of France 6-2, 4-6, 6-2.

Drew Pearson is hard to believe sometimes

When you see him glide downfield today, snaring pass after pass, making big play upon big play for the Dallas Cowboys, it's hard to imagine that All-Pro wide receiver Drew Pearson was at one time an unknown free agent rookie from Tulsa.

If there is an overriding pride in the Cowboys' personnel department, it is for the number of free agents who have not only made the club, but have gone on to achieve All-Pro or Pro Bowl status.

"You can't judge a guy's heart on a computer," says Cowboys VP and Player Personnel Director Gil Brandt, architect of the numerous Cowboys "discoveries" with the term FA listed alongside their height, weight, position, etc.

He led the NFC in receptions in 1976 with 58 — for 806 yards and six touchdowns. Drew has nabbed 188 passes in just four seasons with the cowboys, forcing Dallas fans to pinch themselves sometimes to believe he's for real. He is.

"Drew has probably made more big catches in big ball games for the Cowboys than any receiver we've ever had," says Dallas Offensive Coordinator Dan Reeves.

Lauds fellow All-Pro Roger Wherli of the St. Louis Cardinals, a cornerback who has drawn Pearson one-on-one many times, "Drew simply has great hands and he really has deceiving speed. He always has something extra, acceleration, or a little something. And anything he touches, he catches."

"Sweet," is the way Rams Coach Chuck Knox describes Pearson, and another coach says Drew runs "like and Indian through the forest at night."

"People may not think I'm especially fast," Pearson reports, "but I'm quick and that makes a big difference. Also, our quarterbakcs go to me in the clutch and that's the reason I've been able to make key catches. They have confidence in me in crucial situations. I appreciate that."

After coming to Dallas from Tulsa where he was a quarterback his first two years labored in obscurity as a flanker the final two in a run-oriented offense, Pearson became a Dallas starter near mid-season of '73 when first Otto Stowe and then Mike Montgomery went out with injuries.

DALLAS COWBOYS

The first of a string of clutch catches that have become his trademark came in the 1973 playoffs against Los Angeles when he caught a Roger Staubach pass near mid-field between two defenders and scooted 83 yards to turn what looked like sure defeat into victory.

Drew was back at it in the final seconds of the Washington game in 1974, another contest that looked like apparent defeat, until Pearson snagged a 50-yard Clint Longley pass to finish off the Redskins, 24-23.

And of course Pearson's most famous key catch was the 50-yard "Hail Mary" reception from Staubach against the Vikings with 24 seconds left in a 1975 playoff game that turned still another apparent loss into victory. It was the boost the Cowboys needed to go on to Super Bowl X.

"I like to think I don't just make the big plays to win games but also the crucial third down plays," Drew said. "The confidence everyone here has in me makes my adrenalin flow even more. I just have a great deal of confidence I'll end up with the ball. I know I want the ball more than anybody, more than those defensive backs."

Often likened to former Colt Raymond Berry with his precise patterns, fluid moves and soft hands, Drew says his explosion off the break, when he turns inside or out, or streaks downfield, is what makes the difference: "I think I have two assets. First, I try to explode off the line of scrimmage. Secondly, I burst off my break and I'll leave the guy two steps behind.

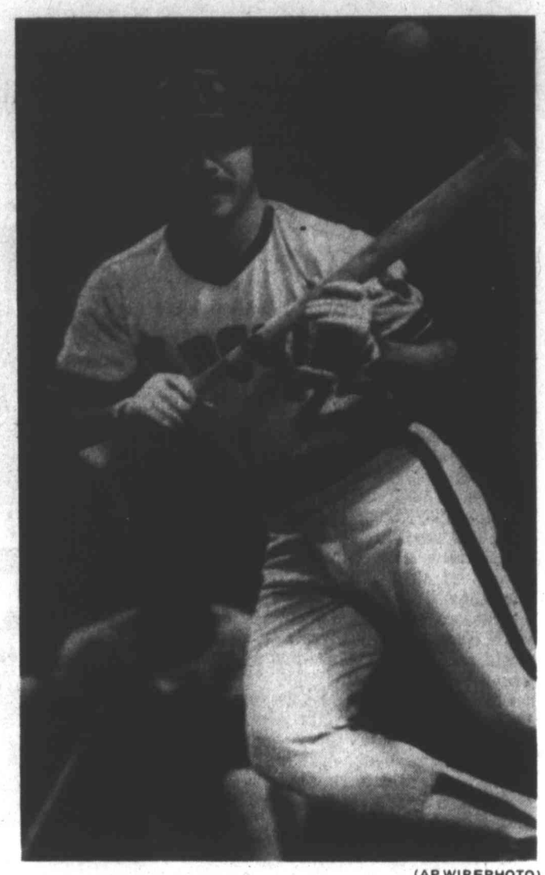

"And I honestly don't believe any receiver in the league is more knowledgeable than I am. I know a lot about those defensive backs watching me. I study each of them thoroughly. I know his traits, his characteristics, his reaction time, the steps he'll take, each phase of the way he covers. I know more about some of them than they know about themselves."

"Drew is just excellent," says Tom Landry, the Cowboys head coach. "He has performed so well for us and won so many big games for us."

"He is simply the finest receiver in pro football," concludes Staubach. "There is none better."

Pearson has caught passes in 31 consecutive regular season games for the Cowboys, five games shy of the club record held by Lance Rentzel, who caught passes in 36 straight games from late 1967 through early 1970.

There was a time when this dazzling receiver from New Jersey via Tulsa University was an unknown. But it seems a long time ago.

LOOKS GOOD — California Angels' Jerry Reny (2) watches his bunt in the third inning of Friday night's game with the Detroit Tigers in Tiger Stadium. Reny returned to hit a home run in the fifth inning; but California had to go 11 innings to defeat Detroit 7-4.

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (AP) — Texas A&I is a slight favorite to win its fourth straight Lone Star Conference football title.

Abilene Christian, East Texas State and Southwest Texas State are expected to press the Javelinas when play gets underway Sept 3.

Fred Jonas, longtime defensive aide to Steinke, takes over the Javelina reins and the task of protecting a 39-game win streak. One other new coach, Dewitt Jones of Abilene Christian, makes his debut this year. Jones replaces Wally Bullington who stepped down after leading the Wildcats to a second place finish last fall.

ABILENE CHRISTIAN UNIVERSITY —New coach Jones will rely on a veteran defense early as the Wildcats try to replace such offensive stars as runningback Wilbert Montgomery, quarterback Jim Reese, wide receiver Johnny Perkins and world record setting placekicker Ove Johansoon. Ray Nunez, an all-star candidate at linebacker, leads 10 starters on the defensive unit which also boasts quality defensive backs in Chuck Sutton and Harold Nutall.

Twenty-six lettermen, including 10 defensive and five offensive starters, return from last season's 9-2-0 team.

ANGELO STATE UNIVERSITY —Jim Hess will admit to a rebuilding job at Angelo State, and he hopes for a little better luck than he had last year when injuries decimated a potentially outstanding football team. The Rams return just two starters on both units from a 5-5-1 team and that team included 21 seniors.

EAST TEXAS STATE—Ernest Hawkins faces the tought task of rebuilding his defense after losing five starters. But defensive coach Bobby Fox feels the nucleus is there to begin the uphill battle. Fox has also junked the Lions' "27" pro defense for the old 5-2.

HOWARD PAYNE—If a quarterback search proves fruitful, Dean Salyton can plan on improving last year's 1-8-1 record. The Yellow Jackets return 15 starters—eight on offense and seven on defense.

SAM HOUTSON STATE—The Bearkat should be solid as Gibralter with every starter back, including all-LSC linebacker Stanley Blinka and equally impressive line-backer Charles Stanley on the other side. Offense is another story for Billy Tidwell's team which will be trying to improve on a 3-5-1 mark.

SOUTHWEST TEXAS STATE—A year of maturity at quarterback and outstanding runningbacks should make SWT's chances better after a 5-5-0 finish last season. Luis Reyes will be back at quarterback after his sophomore baptismal season which saw him pass for 1-289 yards—and 13 interceptions.

STEPHEN F. AUSTIN—The Lumberjacks will be strong this season, according to secondyear coach Charlie Simmons, and he credits much of the improvement to some top junior college transfers, particulary in the offensive backfield. Simmons also likes the fact that he has a chance for a full recruiting season and spring training after getting a late start enroute to last fall's 1-9-1 season. Back from last year are 16 lettermen, including six offensive and four defensive starters. All of the offensive regulars are in the line, headed by center Larry Scholtz and tight end Andy Wilkins, both three-year lettermen.

TEXAS A&I—The favored Javelinas look set on defense for new coach Fred Jonas with eight starters back and experienced men to fill the three vacancies.

JUICE ON THE LOOSE — Stanton's all-state prospect this year, Marvin "Lemon Juice" Jones, fancy steps his way into the endzone Friday night in a scrimmage between the Coahoma Bulldogs and the Stanton Buffaloes. The two teams fought to a 4-4 tie (four scores each).

Yanks beat Britons 8-3

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. (AP) — Scott Simpson is itching to join the Professional Golfers Association, but the winner of the NCAA championsip the past two years is happy he waited in order to compete in the Walker Cup.

So are his teammates on the United States squad that soared to an 8-3 advantage over Great Britain Friday as the two-day international classic got under way at the par-70, 6,470-yard Shinnecock Hills Golf Club.

Simpson, a product of Southern California, participated in the two most lopsided victories of the day. Friday afternoon he defeated Gordon Murray, twotime winner of the Scottish Amateur title, 7 and 6. That morning he teamed with Lindy Miller, Big Eight Conference king in 1976, for a 4 and 3 triumph in scotch foursomes over John Davies, playing in his third Walker Cup competition, and Michael Kelley, two-time Yorkshire Open titlist.

Asked about the ease with which he won, especially against Murray, the 22-year-old Simpson refused to gloat. "I caught him on a real bad day," he said. "I chipped and putted real good and I'm sure Gordon is a lot better than he showed out there today."

For the record, the San Diego resident was even par after the first nine and he had a pair of birdies and only one bogey for his 45 when the match ended after the 12th hole.

Brains over easy?

By the Associated Press

Sometimes it pays to risk the chance of getting your brains scrambled. At least that's Kansas City Coach Paul Wiggin's philosophy.

"We are playing championship caliber teams in the preseason and I really believe that quality is going to pay off for us when the regular season starts," he said as he put the Chiefs through their final workout for Saturday night's game against Joe Namath and the Los Angeles Rams.

Not that the Chiefs have been getting clobbered, mind you. They've met two other championship caliber teams in exhibitions this year and each time Kansas City has come out more than respectable. First the Chiefs edged the Pittsburgh Steelers 23-21, then they were nosed out by the Washington Redskins 13-7. Their only other game was a 17-0 loss to Detroit.

Also Saturday night it's Cincinnati at St. Louis, the New York Jets at New Orleans, Tampa Bay vs. Atlanta at Orlando, Fla., San Diego at Oakland, Detroit at Seattle, Washington vs. Green Bay at Milwaukee and Baltimore at Dallas. Sunday's games are Pittsburgh at New England and Denver at Philadelphia and, on Monday night it's Buffalo at the New York Giants and San Francisco at Houston.

On Thursday night Cleveland defeated Chicago 14-7 and on Friday night, Minnesota overpowered Miami 33-7.

Gale's tumor benign

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — Former Chicago football great Gale Sayers, famous for his friendship with cancer victim Brian Piccolo as well as his prowess as a Bears' running back, says a benign tumor was removed from his chest several weeks ago.

Sayers, 34, who recently was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame, said Friday that he underwent chest surgery at Resurrection Hospital in Chicago.

The growth was "a recurring problem, but it's over with and there's nothing more I can say. I feel fine," said Sayers, now athletic director at Southern Illinois University.

He said he did not know how large the tumor was, but it was "large enough that it had to be taken out."

In a recent interview, Sayers said his mother died of cancer.

Sayers retired six years ago from the Bears because of knee injuries. He worked as a fundraiser for athletics at his alma mater, the University of Kansas, before becoming athletic director at Southern Illinois a year ago.

Last season, the Salukis posted a 7-4 record—in sharp contrast to the lone victory of the previous season.

Person makes BB history

SOFIA, Bulgaria (AP) — Darlene May of Los Angeles made basketball history Friday as the first woman to referee a men's international basketball game.

American men's and women's basketball teams shoot for their own spot in basketball's record books today, the final day of competition at the World University Games.

Although U.S. men's basketball teams have long dominated world tournaments, American women have never won a major international title. Victories by both would be a rare gold medal double.

The U.S. men rolled over Czechoslovakia 85-69 and the U.S. women upset Bulgaria 87-84 Friday to reach the finals against teams from the Soviet Union.

The Soviet men edged Canada 73-68 to set up a rematch with the U.S. team that beat them in the semifinal round of the 31-nation tournament. The Soviet women stayed undefeated by routing Cuba 93-45. They beat the U.S. women earlier this week.

Although Miss May's officiating of the men's consolation round basketball match between Italy and France didn't earn her a medal, it was perhaps the most remarkable female performance of the day.

Last week, the brunette ended an all-male monopoly on refereeing at major amateur basketball competitions by calling the fouls in a women's game. Some doubted that she could contend with male players, but on Friday she dispelled all skepticism.

Sharing officiating with a Danish man, Miss May immediately established her authority over both male teams. The 5-foot-7 woman started the game by tossing up the ball at the opening jump, and less than a minute later she whistled down a Italian player for fouling a Frenchman under his own basket.

Miss May was the first American woman to be sanctioned by the International Basketball Federation to officiate at the international level.

DALLAS (AP) — You used to have a 50-50 chance picking the Southwest Conference football winner.

At least that's the way it was in the 1960s and early 1970s.

Just check either Texas or Arkansas — most of the times it was Texas — and fearlessly barge into print with the prediction. Since 1960, the Razorbacks and Longhorns won or shared the title 13 times.

No more.

Scholarship limitations and a new bully on the block, the University of Houston, have made prognostication a risky business, indeed, akin to trying to make your fortune at a race track.

At least SIX teams have a chance to capture the 1977 SWC title, starting with defending co-champions Houston and Texas Tech. Texas A&M, Baylor, Arkansas and Texas are also in the parade.

Rice, Southern Methodist and Texas Christian are too thin to be anything but spoilers.

But down to cases.

Texas Tech Coach Steve Sloan calls Allison "a Houdini."

To my knowledge, Houdini never played football but it would have been a treat to see him match some of Allison's escapes. Allison's big third down run against Texas last year left Longhorns sprawled cross-legged all over the field and was a catalyst to the Red Raiders' big year.

His option work was dazzling in the Red Raiders' season. Once he found himself trapped by a defensive end and pitched the ball BETWEEN the defenders upraised arms and just over his helmet.

"I've never seen anything quite like that," remarked Sloan, who was a pretty fair quarterback himself and once was a backup to Joe Namath at Alabama.

Allison can throw the ball and Tech has people who can catch it. Running back Billy Taylor will keep you honest.

The biggest challenge to the Red Raiders should come from Houston and Texas A&M, both teams loaded with talent.

Cotton Bowl champion Houston will, repeat, will have another devastating offense. There's some question about the defense which shocked the SWC last year. Also, there's no surprise element anymore with everyone pointing to the Cougars.

The Aggies return their entire starting offense including 260-pound fullback George Woodard and fleet halfback Curtis Dickey. The Aggie defense is semi-suspect with numerous veterans on the graduation roles.

Anyway, Tech, Houston, and Texas A&M should be the Big Three.

Baylor has everything going for it but a tested quarterback. Ironically, Houston proved last year you can win without a veteran quarterback as sophomore Danny Davis sparkled.

Texas and Arkansas are operating with new head coaches, not the best of all possible worlds.

Freddie Akers can count on some fireworks from tailback Earl Campbell and wide receiver Johnny (Goldmedal) Jones while Lou Holtz has such fine runners such as Ben Cowins and Michael Forrest at Arkansas.

MANN PURSUES! — Big Spring Steer all-district candidate Tony Mann (64) draws a bead on a Sweetwater Mustang running back Friday night in Memorial Stadium. Mann was involved in many individual as well as gang-tackles. Steve Brenner (66) comes in from the other side of the line to help. The Steers outscored the Mustangs 4-3 in the scrimmage.

Last year's near misses still favored

Sherman in Class 4A, Mount Pleasant in 3A, Yoakum in 2A, Poth in A and Wheeler in B— all stopped short of the championship circle a year ago—are the early choices to go all the way this year in The Associated Press Schoolboy Pre-Season Football Poll.

After earning the No. 1 positions on paper, they'll have to prove themselves on the field this weekend when the massive Texas schoolboy football schedule gets under way.

Sherman has 22 lettermen and seven starters returning this season from a 10-0-2 record in hopes of completing a journey to the finals that ended in the regionals in 1976 in a 26-26 deadlock with eventual finalist Temple.

Temple scored twice in the waning minutes to tie the game and advance on penetrations.

Challenging the Bearcats for the top position are the Bryan Vikings of Coach Merrill Green. With Curtis Dickey playing across town at Texas A&M last year, the Vikings dropped off to a 7-3 record and only a share of the district title. They should be back in form this season.

Austin Reagan, regaining its strength after the school district was split three years ago, gets the pre-season nod for third place followed by Midland Lee and state semifinalist Port Neches-Groves.

Mount Pleasant, with 20 returning lettermen from a 9-2 1976 team, and Gregory-Portland, who lost in the semifinals last year to eventual champion Beaumont Hebert, are expected to battle for the Class 3A crown. Andrews, Cuero and Humble round out the top five.

A mere two points separates first place Yoakum, runnerup Bellville, and No. 3 Jacksboro in the early Class 2A race. Kermit, 6-4 last year and Spearman, 9-2, complete the top five.

Poth, which lost out in the quarterfinals to eventual state champion Barber's Hill last year, took solid command of Class A getting nine of 16 first place votes. DeLeon, which lost in the championship finals last year, is second by a 138-105 margin.

Wheeler got five first place votes to earn the No. 1 spot in Class B while defending state champion Gorman finished second with three first place picks.

Cedeno, Astros pulling now

HOUSTON (AP) — Cesar Cedeno believes he and the Astros are finally pulling themselves together.

Cedeno scored from third base on Art Howe's fielders choice grounder in the bottom of the 10th inning Friday night to lift Houston to a 6-5 victory over the Montreal Expos.

The triumph snapped the Expos' five game winning streak and extended Houston's longest winning streak of the season to three games.

"You can't afford to get down on yourself," Cedeno said. "It's a great feeling to be back in the groove."

The Expos took a 3-0 lead off Houston starter Mark Lemongello. A second inning RBI single by Dave Cash and Warren Cromartie's run-scoring grounder accounted for a pair of second innning runs before Tony Perez blasted a solo homer to lead off the third and give Montreal a three run advantage.

Houston tallied a fourth inning run on a double by Enos Cabell, Cedeno's flyout and Jose Cruz' sacrifice fly.

The Astros came back with three runs in the bottom half of the inning on a two run single by pinchhitter Wilbur Howard and Cabell's run scoring single to right.

A single by pinchhitter Ken Boswell and Ed Herrmann's pinch hit double in the bottom of the ninth sent the game into extra innings before Howe drove home Cedeno with the game winning run.

Houston reliefer Bo McLaughlin, 4-6, hurled the 10th inning to pick up the victory. Expo reliefer Dan Stanhouse, 9-10, suffered the loss.

"We've been getting a lot of mileage from our bench." said Astro Manager Bill Virdon, whose club has hit safely in its last five pinchhit attempts. "But I don't like to have to get behind early and fight back to win."

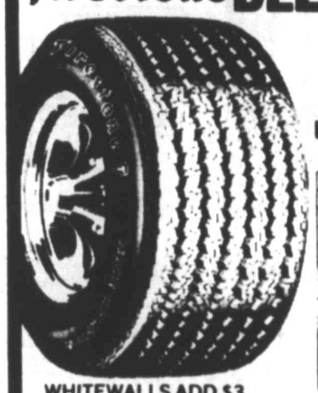

AIMING AT BIG MONEY — Tinky Decketta looks like one of the main outsiders in Sunday's grand finale of the $760,000 All-American Quarter Horse Derby at Ruidoso Downs. In last week's trials, the filly zipped to a 2¾-length win and set the third best qualifying time. She's the property of Sue and Dr. Joe Neff of Big Spring, Texas. A win on Sunday would enrich the filly by a tremendous $253,080.

FORECAST FOR SUNDAY, AUGUST 28, 1977

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The Full Moon brings considerable activity in getting into the various details of everyday living, work on problems and solve them quickly so that you are no longer obsessed with them. You also can improve health and physical well-being generally by paying some special attention to it.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Rid yourself of whatever has been bothersome and boring and then you can get into something very constructive. Solve problems with fellow worker, also. Relax.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Ideal time for getting into some kind of light entertainment that relieves tensions and makes you feel better. First, get appearance improved.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Be practical in the handling of some business or career matters of importance. Add to present security you now enjoy. Stop procrastinating and work efficiently, intelligently.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have fine ideas for advancement and should put them in operation quickly, since you can gain many benefits. Make new friends who can be helpful to you in the future.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get into practical activities and make big progress now, add much to present abundance. Talk over monetary position with an expert and get good advice you need.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can get much accomplished now because of the Full Moon, so get busy early and work consistently. Being with admirers is good, since they can be of great help to you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Tune in on the highest consciousness of which you are capable and plan to live your life accordingly in the future. Visit with persons who inspire you. Show mate depth of affection.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Do those things that please your mate early and then get together with good friends for entertainment. Do not spend unwisely.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Being with good friends and showing affection is good way to spend the time now. Study new activities and find your rightful place in them. Take no chances in driving now.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Go after those new goals that can bring you greater success and happiness in the future. Live according to your highest precepts.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Take time to do something thoughtful for those who have been good to you and keep them as fine supporters. You have to be bold in handling problems if you are to solve them wisely.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Join with associates and find better ways and means of progressing in the future. Situations arise that can bring you fine opportunities. Avoid one who is jealous of you and could do you harm.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY, . . he or she will get many opportunities at unexpected times, so be sure to give the right kind of education that will teach just how to take the best advantage of them.

FORECAST FOR MONDAY, AUGUST 29, 1977

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You could be anxious to make some changes today because of negative reasons but the aspects are not right for doing so. A most valuable ally now is precious time, so don't waste it.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Complete those tasks that are not pleasant but have to be done just the same. Control an inclination to berate your mate.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Engage in responsible duties and forget going off on some silly tangent. Doing something thoughtful for mate is wise.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Try to please those who live with you and don't lose your temper, no matter what the provocation may be. Sidestep a troublemaker.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Use particular care in motion today and avoid a possible costly accident. Try to save more money for the future.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Know exactly what your responsibilities are before making plans for the future. Don't neglect to pay pressing bills or you will regret it.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) A good time to have an important talk with an associate, provided you use tact and are objective. Don't be too critical of others today.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Attend to important work first instead of thinking of pleasure and get fine benefits. Express happiness with family members.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Take time late in the day to engage in recreations that are not expensive and show friends how much you appreciate them.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) There are many conditions at home that require more thought and understanding to improve. Guard your reputation.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You are likely to feel tense today so don't take on any more obligations than you can handle. Don't break any promises.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't commit yourself monetarily beyond your ability to handle or you could get in trouble. Build up your assets instead.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You may have personal annoyances that are best not confided in others. Take time to improve your health and appearance.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY, . . he or she should be taught to be more objective, otherwise the life could be most unhappy and little would be accomplished. Direct the education along troubleshooting professions for best results. Sports are good here to teach fair play.

Yank heroes doom Rangers

NEW YORK (AP) — And the beat goes on for the New York Yankees, who are showing signs of shattering what once was an awfully nice pennant race in the American League East.

Down 5-1 against Texas Friday night, the Yankees bounced from behind with some late-inning lightning for a 6-5 victory, their 17th in 19 games. Combined with losses by Boston and Baltimore, the triumph opened a three-game lead for New York over the Red Sox and four over the Orioles in the American League East.

"It's nice to be in first place on August 26," said Lou Piniella, who drilled three hits including a home run. "But when it counts is October 2. There are still 30 games or so to play and we know it."

But the soap opera silliness that pervaded the dressing room for so long this season appears finished. Instead of being concerned with beards and other intramural adventures, the Yankees seem interested once more in baseball. They've picked the right time for it.

"There's very good morale on this club," said Piniella, who played a key role in Friday night's comeback. "There's not much emotion right now because we're veteran ballplayers. But if this was the last game of the season, you'd see some emotion. I'll guarantee that."

If the Yankees weren't emotional, their fans were. The crowd of 29,000 roared at the scoreboard reports of the Red Sox' and Orioles' losses and seemed convinced even when New York trailed 5-1 that the Yankees couldn't lose. "I hope they're right," said Piniella.

Toby Harrah had driven in four runs with a triple and a homer and Mike Hargrove also homered as Texas built a 5-1 lead. But it didn't last and Harrah thought he knew why.

"The umpires gave them the edge," he said. "I don't mean they favored the Yankees but I've seen this happen before with (Ron) Luciano's crew. It's easier to go with the momentum, especially if the home team has it."

Harrah said he thought Rivers' leadoff single in the seventh, which started a two-run Yankee rally, was foul. He questioned a half-swing third strike on pinch-hitter Kurt Bevacqua in the ninth and an out call at second base on an attempted steal by Juan Beniquez, also in the ninth.

"Those guys shouldn't allow themselves to be intimidated," said Harrah. "They take the easy way out and tonight it hurt us."

The Yankees started their comeback in the sixth when a walk to Reggie Jackson and singles by Piniella and Willie Randolph, who also had three hits, produced one run. An error by Bump Wills sandwiched around hits by Mickey Rivers and Jackson, a force out and Piniella's sacrifice fly gave New York two unearned runs in the seventh.

Then Randolph doubled in the eighth and scored the tying run on Rivers' two-out single. Graig Nettles' triple drove in Rivers with the winning run.

When Beniquez opened the ninth with a walk, the Rangers seemed back in business. But he was quickly erased on an aborted steal, a play Yankees Manager Billy Martin thought involved a missed sign.

Where's Tony gone?

DALLAS (AP)—Where has Tony Dorsett gone?

To be exact, 45 yards in 10 carries.

There has been great anticipation in the National Football League just when the Dallas Cowboys will turn loose the Heisman Trophy winner from Pittsburgh.

The Cowboys have only briefly showcased collegiate football's all-time ground-gainer because of a knee bruise he suffered in camp. Also, Dallas doesn't want him beat up going into the regular season.

Dorsett was scheduled to see more than a quarter of duty tonight against the Baltimore Colts in a nationally televised preseason game.

"Tony has the team made," said Cowboy Coach Tom Landry. "We've seen enough to know what he can do. We've got some other rookie running backs we have to look at because the big cut is coming up."

Dorsett has flashed the brilliance he showed in his All-America career at Pittsburgh in his brief sorties and twice has caught short screen passes and turned them into long gains.

"We just hope Tony can show the same durability that Lydell Mitchell has with Baltimore," said Cowboy Assistant Coach Ermal Allen. "Mitchell is the only little back in pro football who hasn't missed a game."

Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach was to be sidelined with a hamstring pull for the Colt game, giving second-year NFL player Danny White a chance to start. White played two years in the World Football League.

Bert Jones will start at quarterback for the Colts and was expected to play at least three quarters.

Some 50,000 to 55,000 fans were expected in Texas Stadium for the 8 p.m. CDT kickoff.

Landry said he is apprehensive about Dallas' losing ways.

"Winning is important because losing can become a habit if you're not careful," said Landry.

College football back!

By the Associated Press

Tony Dorsett is gone. Darrell Royal is gone. Frank Broyles is gone.

College football is back.

With eight more teams newly classified as major football schools by the National Collegiate Athletic Association, bringing the total to 144, the 1977 season gets under way next weekend with a modest slate of 19 games, only two of which feature any sort of pretender to the national championship.

Penn State, long the dominant team in the East until unseated by Pitt last year, and upstart Rutgers, whose 18-game winning streak is the longest in the major college ranks, kick things off Friday night at Giants Stadium in East Rutherford, N.J.

On Saturday, Mississippi State, another highly rated club, entertains North Texas State.

Of the 144 major schools, no fewer than 25—including defending national champion Pitt—have new head coaches. Johnny Majors, the miracle worker who led Pitt to glory, albeit with some assistance from Tony Dorsett & Co., has moved on and will try to restore Tennessee, his alma mater, to some of its past prestige.

Other prominent coaching changes find Fred Akers, who led Wyoming to a share of the Western Athletic Conference crown and a berth in the Fiesta Bowl, replacing the ultra-successful Royal at Texas. Lou Holtz, who discovered pro life with the New York Jets wasn't to his liking, returns to the college ranks at Arkansas. Both Royal and Broyles remain on at their respective institutions as athletic directors.

In addition, Bob Blackman, who couldn't crack the Big Ten domination of Ohio State and Michigan in six years at Illinois after a celebrated career at Dartmouth, returns to the Ivy League with Cornell. His successor at Illinois is Gary Moeller, a former member of the Michigan staff.

Besides the moves made by Majors and Sherrill, the game of musical coaching chairs finds Tony Mason going from Cincinnati to Arizona, Jim Young from Arizona to Purdue, Wayne Howard from Long Beach State to Utah and F.A. Dry from Tulsa to Texas Christian.

Other new head coaches are Denny Stolz at Bowling Green, Ralph Staub at Cincinnati, Charley Pell at Clemson, Chuck Shelton at Drake, Dick Tomey at Hawaii, Charlie Cowdrey at Illinois State, Dave Currey at Long Beach State, Rich Brooks at Oregon, Bill Michael at Texas-El Paso, Chuck Stobart at Toledo, John Cooper at Tulsa, Warren Powers at Washington State, Bill Yung at West Texas State and Bill Lewis at Wyoming.

The eight new major college teams are Alcorn State, Grambling State, Jackson State, Southern University, Tennessee-Chattanooga, Tennessee State, Texas Southern and Western Carolina. UT-Chattanooga and Western Carolina are new members of the Southern Conference, along with Marshall, while the others belong to the predominantly black Southwestern Athletic Conference.

The rest of next Saturday's schedule includes Wofford at The Citadel, Alabama State at Jackson State, Western Carolina at Jacksonville State, Memphis State vs. Mississippi at Jackson, Miss., East Carolina at North Carolina State, Texas-Arlington at Northwestern Louisiana and Appalachian State at South Carolina.

Also, Tulsa at Southwestern Louisiana, Middle Tennessee at Tennessee State, Southern Mississippi vs. Troy State at Montgomery, Ala., Norfolk State at William & Mary, Alcorn State at Central Michigan, Eastern Illinois at Illinois State, Dayton at Miami of Ohio, Eastern Michigan at Northern Illinois, West Texas State at Wichita State and Southern Illinois at New Mexico State.

Striper week at Spence

The past week might be described as "striper week" at Lake E.V. Spence. With one minor exception, every report of fishermen reflected catches of striped bass. Included were these:

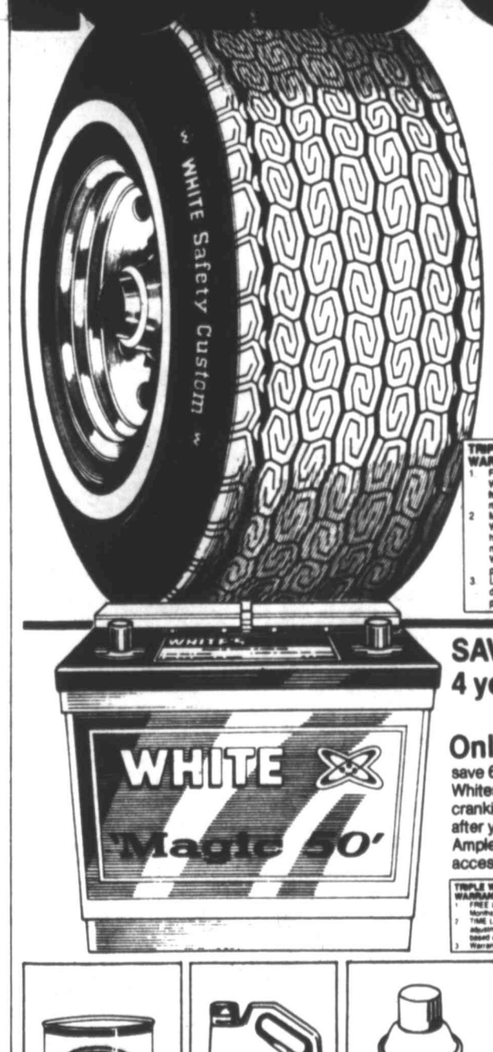

Y.J.'s Marina — Douglas Parker, Frosan, two stripers 7¼ and 5½ lbs.; Frosty Walker, Lubbock, 6¼-lb. striper; Wanema Howard, Odessa, 7¼-lb. striper; Gary and Lynn Speir, Lubbock, six stripers to 6 lbs.; Andy Crenshaw, Lubbock, three stripers to 4 lbs.; Charlie Travis, Robert Lee, 5-lb. striper; Jess Ritter, Lubbock, 4¾-lb. striper; Tony and Pat Blias, Lubbock, four stripers to 4 lbs.; Mike and Robbie Harwell, Lubbock, four stripers to 4 lbs.; Dean Carlisle, Lubbock, 2½-lb. black bass.

First coast-to-coast flight thrilling

WASHINGTON (AP) — "There they sat, 8,000 feet in the air, clutching a mail bag in one hand and a sack lunch in the other, with the wind tugging at their parachute straps."

That's how one journal described the first passengers to fly coast-to-coast in the United States 50 years ago this week, on Sept. 1, 1927.

Each flight was an adventure, as small single-engine planes carried one or two passengers, squeezed among the mail sacks, from New York to San Francisco. Along the way there were 15 stops and the passage took 32½ hours.

That's a far cry from today's jet planes, which cover the same route nonstop in five hours, with the big jumbos hauling as many as 342 passengers.

Transcontinental service began in 1927 when two airlines linked their East and West services in Chicago. National Air Transport (NAT) ferried between New York and Chicago, and Boeing Air Transport (BAT) flew from Chicago to San Francisco.

They later merged and joined with two other small airlines to form United Airlines, today the largest air carrier in the western world.

NAT's M4 aircraft had room for one passenger, who paid $200 for the 724-mile New York-Chicago leg. But mail was the main cargo, and tickets were sold with the understanding that if the plane became overloaded with mail, the passenger had to wait for the next flight.

If the passenger got aboard, he rode in the same compartment with the mail sacks.

Boeing could fit two passengers, separate from the mail, in its Boeing 40A aircraft, and if they purchased tickets they were assured of a seat. They paid $204 for the 2,000-mile trip from Chicago to the West Coast. Total price for someone making the full trip was $404.

NAT introduced "luxury service" in 1928 by permitting the passenger to sit on top of the mail in the forward compartment of a modified version of the M4.

The traveler had to bring his own meal, or do without, although the airline provided a vacuum bottle of cold water on hot summer days.

There were three stops on the eastern leg: Bellefonte, Pa., and Bryan and Cleveland, Ohio. On the western leg, the plane stopped in Iowa City and Des Moines, Iowa; Omaha and North Platte, Neb.; Cheyenne and Rock Springs, Wyo.; Salt Lake City; Elko and Reno, Nev.; and Sacramento and Oakland, Calif.

By 1929, the passenger compartments were enclosed, and one of the carriers provided this description:

"The enclosed cabin with its wicker chairs and sliding windows for proper ventilation is very comfortable. The fact that the cabin is enclosed makes conversation possible in an ordinary tone of voice."

In the mid-1930s, with the introduction of the durable Douglas DC3 aircraft, the transcontinental trip could be made in 15 hours, with a minimum of three stops. The plane had a kitchen, and this became known as the "fried chicken era" because precooked chicken was easy to heat and maintained its moisture at high altitudes.

The DC3 carried 21 passengers, and provided overnight sleepers for some. The introduction of the Douglas DC6 in the 1940s increased the passenger roster to 56 and cut the coast-to-coast transit time to 9½ hours, with one stop.

Nonstop service began in 1954 with the DC7, which made the trip in under eight hours. That also was the year when the airlines began serving complimentary liquor.

The trip was cut to five hours in the 1960s with the advent of the Boeing 707 and Douglas DC8, each of which could handle more than 120 passengers.

The 1970s introduced the jumbo and wide-body jets, the Boeing 747, the Lockheed L1011 and McDonnell Douglas DC10. They carry 242 to 342 passengers in walk-around comfort at 550 miles an hour.

Throughout the 50 years, the prices of the aircrafts have risen dramatically. The Douglas M4 of 1927 cost $12,900. The pricetag on a Boeing 747 is more than $23 million.

But it costs less today to fly coast-to-coast. The original passengers paid $404 for a one-way ticket. A New York-San Francisco coach ticket today costs $206, with night coach fares as low as $165.

In that first year, 168 passengers donned flying suits, helmets, goggles and parachutes to fly on the New York-Chicago leg, while 445 flew between Chicago and San Francisco. Today, the number is measures in the millions.

Why is Castro anxious to woo Congress?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Cuba plan to open diplomatic "interest sections" in each other's capital on Sept. 1. It will be the first formal contact between them since diplomatic relations were severed in 1961.

In Cuba, Americans are working on the U.S. Chancery and the ambassador's residence. Career diplomat Lyle F. Lane will head a 10-member U.S. diplomatic mission in Havana. The Americans will live in apartments that already have been leased in the Cubanacan section, considered the best location in Havana.

The following, based on State Department sources, attempts to answer some questions about the current state of U.S.-Cuban relations.

Q. — What is the purpose of the interest sections?

A. — They are an effort to improve communications between the two countries. It's much easier to address Cuban-American problems by direct contact than through third parties.

The interest sections will devote themselves largely to such matters as cultural and sports exchanges. They will not be capable of dealing with the substantive issues which divide the two countries.

Q. — How far away are full dipomatic relations?

A. — With the opening of the interest sections, relations probably have reached a plateau which may remain unchanged for quite a while. This excludes the unlikely possibility of a sudden Cuban retreat on issues of concern to the United States, such as Cuba's military role in Africa and its demands for independence for Puerto Rico. If there is progress on these issues and confrontation is avoided in other areas, the normalization process could move forward quickly.

Q. — What is the administration policy on the lifting of the U.S. trade embargo, the issue of primary concern to the Cubans?

A. — The policy is to continue the embargo until normalization has proceeded further. This is not a rigid policy, but generally the administration favors its retention until Cuba adopts a less interventionist policy toward Africa and until there is progress in other areas.

Q. — Why has Fidel Castro changed his mind about direct diplomatic contacts with the United States after 16 years without them?

A. — Castro apparently wants more leeway in his international dealings. He is now totally dependent on the Soviet Union, which could wreck the Cuban economy in no time by withholding oil and credits and refusing to buy sugar. Cuba is more dependent on Russia now than it was on the United States in 1958, the year before the revolution.

Q. — Given the Soviet Union's stake in Cuba, how does it view Cuban-American detente?

A. — The best speculation is that Russia sees better relations between the United States and Cuba as a constructive development, consistent with East-West detente. But Soviets can't help but be nervous about what will happen to their close ties with Cuba 5 or 10 years from now.

Economically, Moscow may hope that closer Cuban-American links could reduce the burden that Cuba represents. Cuba is costing the Soviets more than $1 billion a year. They are purchasing Cuban sugar at three to four times the world market price and they sell oil to Cuba at half the market price.

But the Soviets don't have the same degree of political control over Cuba as they have over Warsaw Pact countries. If Cuba decided to embark on an independent course, there is not much the Soviets could do about it.

Q. — When Castro recently decided to let the Cuban families of 80 American citizens living in Cuba emigrate to the United States, why did he deal with Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, rather than wait a few weeks and use the interest section channel?

A. — The pattern has been for Castro to make gestures through members of Congress, thinking that would have greater impact than if he dealt with the executive branch. It's hard to assess how this strategy has worked.

Congressional attitudes toward Cuba, concerning such issues as the trade embargo, are still fuzzy because there has been no full-scale debate in Congress on Cuba policy.

Q. Why is Castro so anxious to woo Congress?

It's the administration which will decide on the future course of relations.

A. — It is true that the trade embargo may be lifted by executive order. But an administration usually acts in accordance with the mood of Congress at any given time.

ESTHERVILLE, Iowa (AP) — The youngsters of Estherville have been waiting for the carnival for four days.

"We don't know where it is," said Dan Bubb, a member of the Estherville Chamber of Commerce. "We know it left Marshall, Minn., Sunday but we haven't been able to locate it since then."

Bubb, chairman of a three-day Harvest of Value Days chamber promotion that began Thursday, said he made arrangements for the project.

Bubb said he called the carnival's home base in Alma, Kan., but the telephone company has no listing for it there.

Health foods: a fast rising business

By SUSAN HAMPTON

(Editor's note: The following article is Part I of a two part series concerning the health food "craze" which has reached epic proportions in the United States lately. The first part will deal with attitudes of the persons who produce and sell the foods and vitamins locally and across the country. Part 2 will deal with the physicians' and pharmacists' point of view concerning the subject.)

Preventive medicine through a happier, healthier life with vitamins and health foods is the health food follower's call. A fast rising, pupular habit with many Americans, the retailer in the business is experiencing a boom across the country.

Eva Nall, owner and operator of the only health food store locally, said she has seen a great deal more business in the last five years than in the seven other years she has owned the store.

The health food business is a virtually new operation in the middle west states, Nall said. In California and New York, more populated places, the health food business has been around for about 30 years, she said.

Lubbock and Abilene have had stores for about 25 years each, but owners there say they have only become popular in the last five-to-ten years.

In her store, Nall sells virtually every kind of vitamin and minteral known to man. Health food specialists have said these vitamins, if taken regularly, can help prevent the common cold, flu viruses. Garlic and parsley is one kind of vitamin available. Nall said garlic and parsley have been known for some time as to their nutritional value, however many people do not enjoy the taste of garlic itself. So, vitamin manufacturers have put garlic along with parsley in chewable tablet form, she said.

Another "vitamin" she sells in her store are the cell salts. Cell salts or "tissue salts" are not considered vitamins but vital cell foods prepared in an extremely finely sub-divided form which supposedly ensures their ready assimilation and leads to a "speedy" restoration of a balance and harmony in the body system. There are 12 of these cell salts, some of which claim to help cure or prevent acne, colds, and insomnia.

Nall said though she advises her customers, she never prescribes anything. "That would be wrong, because we are not doctors." A sign in her store announces that policy.

"We consider vitamins only a supplement to a healthful life, with exercise being very important," she added.

The Natural Food Association organization, located in Atlanta, Texas, believes the greatest single cause of metabolic diseases such as heart diseases, cancer, diabetes, poor circulation, hypoglycemia, arthritis, anemia, dental caries and other afflications is the "deplorable" quality of the American diet, according to its literature.

Rather than natural food-stuffs, such as unrefined sugars and unrefined flour, Americans are now being fed on an increasing array of artificial, devitalized and overprocessed foods produced by a food technology which has supposedly lost touch with nature and the well-being of the American people, their followers say.

Nall's store, as do many health food stores, sells the latest books on nutrition and dieting. Some of Nall's favorites are the "Treasury of Secrets" by Dr. Gayelord Houser, a nutritionist in his 80's.

"The Last Chance Diet," a new diet book by Dr. Robert Linn, advises those who want to lose weight to go on a strictly liquid protein diet supplemented with vitamins. Nall said a person should read the book first, then go to the doctor to be advised on this.

Doctors are more and more turning to the vitamin theory for prevention of such illnesses. Monday we will look at what a few doctors in the area have to say about the subject.

THE HUNDREDS of vitamins stocked on the shelves of the local health food store range from the single multiple vitamin to something known as the cell salts, which claim to reach every cell in the body to enable various ailments such as colds and acne to get better. Each vitamin known to man can be purchased in single form at the store.

MRS. VIRGINIA PARKHILL, clerk at the Big Spring Health Food Center, rings up a purchase. The vitamins and foods in the store are somewhat expensive because of the lack of availability and the lack of preservatives in the foods. Vitamin C chewable tablets, for instance, can range from about $2 for a small bottle to more than $7 for a larger bottle.

Factors weigh heavy in school district's future

By SUSAN HAMPTON

A shuffling of grades, some closings of school buildings and an expected drop in enrollment from the shutting down of Webb Air Force Base. With these new factors in mind, Big Spring Independent School District Monday will open its doors to a new school year.

The problems which have faced the district recently are more than many districts could anticipate in a decade. Yet school district officials are optimistic about the future.

"Students in the local schools this year will see some changes for the better in the curriculum program," according to Lynn Hise, interim superintendent for the district.

For instance, for the sixth graders, a more departmentalized program will be administered because of the placing of the entire sixth grade level in one school this year. Sixth graders will be housed in one of the two junior high buildings along with the seventh graders.

The student on the sixth grade level will be able to choose choir, band or art as an elective, with all other courses being the same for everyone, Hise said.

A change in the distribution of physical education teachers will be seen. According to Hise, last year and in years before, physical education teachers fluctuated between between two and three campuses each day.

"Now there will be one or more teachers to every school," he said.

Hise said he could only give an estimated guess as to the drop in enrollment until pre-registering has been completed. Before the redistricting, officials could fairly easily tell the number of students to enroll because they would normally be shifted automatically to the next level in their neighborhood schools.

Now, Hise commented, each student must pre-register himself to be enrolled. "There has been a lot of movement from one neighborhood to the next," Hise said. "We have taken an overt attempt to pre-register, but we can only anticipate the expected drop in enrollment until final tallies are in.

Before the decision to close Webb was thought of, a facilities study committee in 1974 recommended to the district that by the school year 1977-78 some of the campuses would have to be closed because of the steady decline in students and the cost to operate a half-empty building.

Other factors contributing to the closing of the buildings are a decrease in birth rate and smaller families moving to Big Spring, according to the committee report.

One set back the district must endure from this is the decrease in state funding. As enrollment decreases, funding declines, Hise said.

The closing of Webb has directly affected a few changes in the district, namely the change in the junior high school program, Hise said. The eight graders will be placed in one junior high and the sixth and seventh graders in another.

"We have separated the grades this way so we can keep the athletic competition alive," Hise said.

The five elementary school buildings to be closed to students will be put to some use, he said. In Boydstun Elementary, for instance, the special education counselor, the speech therapist and the textbook custodian will be placed there, along with a central materials center.

The Head Start program, once housed in one of the now closed elementary buildings, will be moved to Lakeview where it will continue, Hise said.

In the future, students going to the Big Spring schools, especially in the secondary program, will have more elective courses open to them, Hise said. "We now have more elective options than most other districts have," he said.

More vocational courses are now available to the high school student than ever, such as vocational agriculture, vocational home economics, small appliance repair and some building trades, he said.

"We are one of the few districts in the area to offer five full years of math and science education."

In the future the district will unfortunately be controled in local matters by the state and federal governments, Hise said.

"We hope to give the students a more actively career-oriented program in the future. If approved, at the secondary level students may one day work and get credit for doing so, while attending school.

This idea would be good for some students, especially those who do not wish to continue their education after high school. However, Hise said, the highly motivated students in the academic world would want to study and go to school rather than work. If so, we would offer science, math and any other subject he would require.

WITH SCHOOL beginning Monday, students from all over the city have been registering to attend again. What will be different for them this year? Here, Donald Bolivar, Kevin Lewis, and Allan York sign up at Runnels Junior High School, with the cooperation of Mrs. Judy Bynum.

Changes in American diet necessary

By JANET SARGENT
Howard County Home Demonstration Agent

Nutritionists are calling for changes in the American diet — and a U.S. Senate committee purposes that the changes become national dietary goals.

Some eating habits in the United States are a grave threat to health, according to nutritionists testifying before the U.S. Senate Select Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs. In answer to that, the committee proposes that national goals be toward diets lower in fat, sugar and salt, and higher in fruits, vegetables and cereals.

1) Increase carbohydrate consumption to 55 to 60 per cent of the total energy intake.

2) Reduce fat consumption from 40 to 30 per cent of the energy intake.

3) In reducing fat consumption down to 30 per cent of the total energy intake, keep the following balance: 10 per cent of saturated, polyunsaturated and monounsaturated fats.

4) Reduce the cholesterol consumption from about 600-800 milligrams down to about 300 milligrams a day.

5) Reduce sugar consumption about 40 per cent to account for about 15 per cent of the total energy intake.

6) Reduce salt consumption by 50 to 85 per cent, down to about three grams a day. The average American consumes from 8 to 10 grams of salt daily.

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Doubling your reading speed can increase your comprehension by about eight per cent, says a Purdue University professor of developmental reading. "Increased reading speed sharpens your mind generally," notes Professor Merrill May. "You often become mentally more efficient."

According to May, almost anyone can be trained to read better, doubling and sometimes even tripling reading speed. Poor readers, he says, are that way because they haven't read enough. They usually lack vocabulary and have bad habits. Some unconsciously resist change because they think the slow reader gets more out of reading.

The best readers, says May, tend to be those with a broad vocabulary, familiarity with sentence patterns and a variety of life experiences.

Kerrville Catholic church site of August wedding

The Notre Dame Catholic Church in Kerrville was the setting for the Aug. 18 wedding of Mary Kathryn Mullen to Gordon R. Spencer. Monsignor Bahty Janecek presided at the 7 p.m. ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Air Force Maj. (Ret.) and Mrs. Thomas R. Mullen, Big Spring, and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Spencer of Kerrville are the parents of the groom.

The bride chose a candlelight gown of organza fashioned with an empire waist accented by a wide band of lace. The gown featured a scalloped Queen Anne neckline. The bodice was trimmed in lace and pearls, and the long full lace sleeves were cuffed with lace and satin. The A-line skirt ended in a deep flounce which was trimmed with lace.

The reception was held at the Inn of the Hills in Kerrville. The bride's table held a tiered wedding cake topped with a daisy arrangement. Crystal and silver appointments were used.

A rehearsal dinner was given at the Holiday Inn in Kerrville by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer. The couple's grandmothers, Mrs. T.H. Mullen, Big Spring, Mrs. W.B. Fletcher, Calif. and Mrs. Pearl Barnett, Kerrville, who celebrated her one-hundredth birthday, were present.

MRS. GORDON R. SPENCER

The bride graduated from Big Spring High School and Howard College and is a December candidate for graduation from Our Lady of the Lake University, San Antonio with a BA in Social Work.

The groom is also attending Our Lady of the Lake University and is a December candidate for graduation with a BA in Business Administration and Management.

The couple will make their home in San Antonio.

Anyone under emotional stress can say the wrong thing at the wrong time without meaning it, a Chiago psychologist explains. Under pressure, a person may also speak disordered sentences and not make as much sense as usual, explains Dr. Marrin Harrow, director of psychology, Michael Reese Hospital and Medical Center, Chicago.

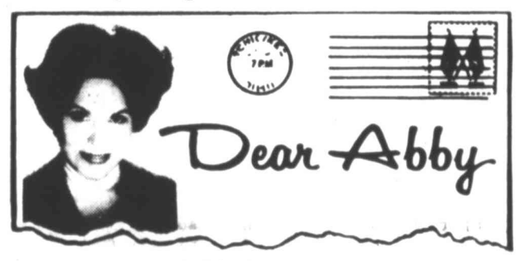

Under the influence of certain drugs or alcohol — or when very tired — words or thoughts may be blurted out that ordinarily would not be.

According to Dr. Harrow, in a way "a heated marital argument is a bit of madness that produces a few of the same symptoms as are found in mental illness." The essential difference is that the argument is momentary.

Refuse to Discipline Visiting Grandson

DEAR ABBY: When my husband and I and our 3-year-old son, Tommy, visit my husband's parents, Tommy goes on a rampage. He races through the kitchen while my mother-in-law is cooking, opens cabinets and drawers, and begs for food.

We try to discipline the boy, but his grandparents say, "Leave him alone, quit picking on him!" They claim that since it's their house, they should have the say about how Tommy should act there.

My husband and I feel that as Tommy's parents, it's our job to keep him under control, no matter where he is. Who is right?

TOM'S PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: You are. Although he's only 3, Tommy is hep to his grandparents' leniency and is playing it for all it's worth. To throw discipline to the winds while visiting grandparents can breed discipline problems elsewhere. Explain this to the grandparents and ask them to cooperate.

DEAR ABBY: Please print this for all fat wives:

Do all you wives who have gained a lot of weight really believe it when your husband says, "It's okay, Honey, there's just that much more of you to love"?

Don't let yourself go! I did, and I nearly lost my husband, but thank heavens I woke up just in time.

FORMERLY FAT

DEAR FORMERLY: Why limit the suggestion to women only? Plenty of fat men have gone under for the third time while their wives are eyeing the lifeguard.

DEAR ABBY: Your letter asking for consideration of the deaf prompts this letter. Please do as much for the blind.

Blind people are frequently treated as though they were invisible! Some people will greet their guide, and not even say hello to the blind person. This is very rude, and makes the blind person feel that he isn't even present. The blind feel, hear and have very acute perception.

Ignorance is no excuse for rudeness. Please ask your readers to speak to a blind person when he enters a room. Remember—he is exactly like a sighted person, only he can't SEE.

ARLENE

DEAR ARLENE: Consider it done.

DEAR ABBY: You showed a lot of sympathy to mothers of bedwetters. If those mothers think they have it so bad, they should know what MY mother went through for 12 years.

Her mother had a series of strokes, and my mother cared for her in our home. Granny wet the bed (and everything else) all those years. She weighed 180 pounds, and had to be lifted and rolled over every time my mother changed the bed, which was countless times a day. We didn't have a clothes dryer in those days, either, and living in the rainy Northwest, we had to hang our laundry in the basement to dry.

Help was out of the question, since this all happened during the Depression. Five of us lived on $50 a month, which my grandfather borrowed on his life-insurance policy.

I hope that makes some of your readers with bedwetter problems realize that things could be worse.

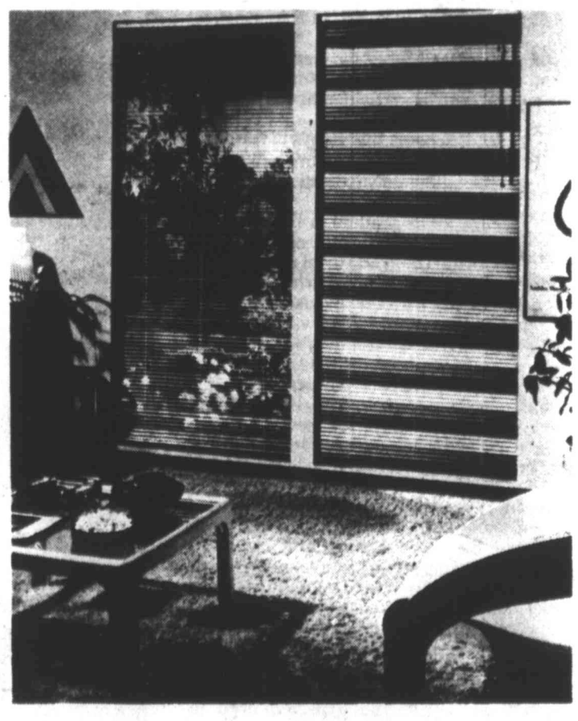

I REMEMBER WELL

DEAR REMEMBER: Which reminds me of that oft-quoted bit of philosophy about the man who said he felt sorry for himself because he had no shoes until he met a man who had no feet. Yes, things can always be worse.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box, No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Wife of potential candidate enthusiastic

By DUSTY RICHARD

"It's no surprise to me; I've seen it coming for years," says Mrs. Margaret Baum, wife of Jim Baum, who has been thinking about running for congressman.

Mrs. Baum said that although she has not tried to influence her husband about running, she has promised him 100 per cent support should he decide to go for it.

Baum, a native of Abilene, says he is contemplating running for the office of U.S. Congressman, 17th District. He is presently manager of station KBYG in Big Spring.

When Baum first mentioned to his wife that he was giving politics serious consideration, she said she told him "to go after it" because she knew he had been wanting to do this for years, and thought it was great for him to try.

She said that if he did throw his hat in the ring, the whole family will be behind him. "All six of us!" The Baums have four children: Jim, 15; Bill, 13; Laura, 12; and Douglas, 9½.

Mrs. Baum said she would vote for her husband, as she thinks he would be a good congressman. When asked if the family would mov tto Washington, D.C., in the event that he won, she said, yes, because "We would nver split up our family." She added that they would

She said his experience as a newsman has kept him up with current issues and events. She explained that because he has had to do a lot of public speaking, he is quite conversant on many subjects and has kept his name in the public light.

Mrs. Baum says her political philosophy is basically the same as her husband's, in that they both feel that many middle-class American families are inadequately represented in Washington.

It's fine to worry about the Panama Canal but we need to worry about middle-income families too."

Mrs. Baum has indicated that she is prepared to help her husband's campaign in any way. She will give speeches or appear at political functions that Baum is unable to attend.

She says that she is not worried about the stereotype of the neglected politician's wife. Mr. and Mrs. Baum plan on traveling together when possible, and taking their children along when it does not interfere with school activities. She added that she believed that such a campaign would bring her family even closer.

Mrs. Baum was the president of her junior class and a president of the student body while attending Texas Woman's University, from which she was graduated with a Bachelor's degree in Piano, with a double minor in English and Speech. She has taught piano since she was 15, and made Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. After graduating, she worked in Midland as Continuinty Director at radio station KCRS, and worked on the Women's News desk at the Midland Reporter-Telegram. Since she moved to Big Spring, she has served as choir director at St. Paul Presbyterian Church and was interim choir director at Goliad Junior High School, prior to assuming the position of Coordinator of Volunteer Services at Big Spring State Hospital in 1974. In addition to this she maintains a class of advanced piano students.

Warhol painting hung

WASHINGTON (AP) — A portrait of Andy Warhol, executed by Jamie Wyeth as part of a 1975 project in which the two artists rendered portraits of each other, has been hung in the National Portrait Gallery, Marvin Sadik, director, has announced.

DATE SET — Mr. and Mrs. Ray McEachern, Hobbs, N.M., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Deborah, to Arnold Braden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Braden, St. Lawrence. The couple will be married Oct. 1 at 3 p.m. in the St. Lawrence Catholic Church.

WEDDING PLANNED — Mrs. Dolores Wickline announces the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Teresa Gail, to John Harry Myers, Dallas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Myers of Fort Worth. The couple will be married at the First Christian Church on Sept. 24, with the Rev. Bill Smith of Dallas officiating. The bride-elect is the daughter of the late Phillip Wickline.

MR. AND MRS. FELIX C. RUBIO, SR.

Couple notes wedding anniversary Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. Felix C. Rubio, Sr. celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Saturday with a reception hosted by their children. The event was held at the Sacred Heart Youth Center. Friends and relatives attended.

The couple was married Aug. 27, 1927 at Alpine, Texas. They have resided in Big Spring for the last 30 years.

Grace Baptist Church site of Saturday rite

Miss Wanda Mae Churchwell became the bride of James Gerald Rudinger in a ceremony held Saturday evening at 7 p.m. in the Grace Baptist Church with the Rev. Roy Honea officiating.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Virgil C. Churchwell, 2310 Marcy Dr., and Mr. and Mrs. James Rudinger, Uvalde, are the groom's parents.

Maid of honor was Miss Cindy Bruton of Odessa, Miss Mary Brackeen, Big Spring, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids included Miss Tina Teague, Big Spring, and Miss Beth Hebron, Brownwood.

Serving as best man was Billy Rudinger, Big Spring, brother of the groom, and groomsmen were Bruce Rudinger, Rodger Davis and Lynn Kizer.

A reception following the ceremony was held at Lee's Chinese Garden. The cake was made by Elsie Harvell, and Wanda Owen made the punch. Serving refreshments were Miss Kay Porter, Miss Alice Sayers, Miss Faye Sayer and Miss Cindy Avant.

The bride is a 1974 graduate of Big Spring High School, and attended Howard College and Angelo State University.

The groom attended Angelo State University and is presently employed at Pier I imports.

The couple will make their home in San Angelo.

The Jiffy Knitting Club met last Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Mabel Richmond, to watch a demonstration by Mrs. Marie Affleck with her new Genie Coron a Knitting Machine.

Mrs. Bernice Galloway showed to the eight members present some of her work, which included two baby sweaters and one small boy's sweater, all knitted of orlon yarn.

The next meeting will be in September at 7:30 p.m. in thehome of Mrs. Rudy McElrath.

Mrs. Idella Alexander, a former resident of Forsan who now resides in Andrews, and her niece June Hansen, Chicago Heights, Ill., who is visiting with her, drove to Forsan last Tuesday to visit with friends. While there they visited with Mrs. Vera Harris and Mr. and Mrs. J.M. Craig.

Mr. and Mrs. A.J. McCall had a surprise visit last Tuesday from their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Steward, Abilene and the couple's two sons, James and William. They helped celebrate McCall's birthday. The Stewards also celebrated their wedding anniversary while there.

Mrs. Vera Harris has just returned from a visit with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Craig and their daughter, Jamie. Before returning home they took Jamie to Megargel where she is to teach school there.

Hammocks popular trend

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 10,000 hammocks will be sold in the United States in 1977, according to a National Geographic Society survey of the $5-million-a-year industry.

The society says Christopher Columbus and his men were the first Europeans to see a hammock, which was used by the Arawak Indians. They called it a "hamaca." They soon found that the highly portable sleeping device was ideal for island living as well as sea travel.

Miss Henson, Gallagher unite in marriage

Miss Glee Ann Henson and Donald W. Gallagher were united in marriage Aug. 6 at 3:30 p.m. in the First Baptist Church, Stanton.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Chuck James of Stanton, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Henson and Mr. and Mrs. C.E. Gallagher of Midland.

The bride, wore a gown of white organza with an A-line skirt that extended to a chapel-length train, trimmed in lace and pearls. She carried a cascade of white carnations and red roses. She was given in marriage by her father.

Mis Rea Beth Polk of San Antonio, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Janice Simpson of Hereford, cousin of the bride, Miss Tracy Williams and Miss Patsy Rich both of Stanton. They wore gowns of blue organza and carried long-stemmed red roses.

Flower girl was Heather Madison. She wore an ice-blue floral gown and carried a basket of blue daisies and white carnations. Ring bearer was Gary Gallagher, Jr., nephew of the groom. He wore an ice blue tuxedo.

Kenneth Cunningham of Midland was best man. Attendants were Gary Gallagher, brother of the groom, Steve Kelly, brother-in-law of the groom, and Harol Ray, all of Midland.

Mrs. Gary Gallagher, sister-in-law of the groom, sang "I Love How You Love Me". Ronnie Henson, brother of the bride, was pianist and Rena Koonce was organist.

MRS. DONALD W. GALLAGHER

Ushers were Bobby Busby and Mike Voughn.

Wedding cake and punch were served from a table covered with white net with blue ribbon trim. Serving were Miss Vickie Rich and Miss Lana McKenzie. Sitting at the register table was Miss Jeanene Spinks.

They have 11, want more

Couple happy as parents

By HUBBARD KEAVY

PERRIS, Calif. (AP) — Darlene and Alfred Hartman are exceptional people who, after having six children of their own, adopted another five. And they want seven more.

"When we were married 22 years ago, we said we wanted as many children as God would give us," Darlene said. "After our sixth arrived, and we found we could have no more, we took the adoption route. It is obviously God's wish that we have a lot of children."

Darlene, of Italian descent, is attractive, vivacious, and laughs easily. Alfred, of German extraction, is urbane and reassuring, affable, and has dry wit. Both are members of Mensa, an international organization whose only qualification for members is an IQ higher than 98 per cent of the world's population.

Their two latest adoptees, both crippled, are from India. Amalia, who is 15 months old, lay listlessly in a Calcutta orphanage for months because she has no leg femurs. She moves herself by crawling on wrists and elbows. Doctors say they may have to amputate her feet to fit prosthetic devices. She has dark, curly hair, mischievous brown eyes and knows two words, "howdy" and "please."

The Hartmans flew Amalia to Mexico City to the shrine of Guadalupe, hoping for a miracle that would prevent amputation of the baby's feet.

Their prayers were not answered, but neither parent expressed disappointment. "God didn't perform a miracle for us," Darlene said, "so he must have something else in mind. We are in His hands."

Six-year-old Sam, left at the same orphanage in Calcutta, has a post-polio condition that affects his arms, legs and spine. He scoots along the floor on fanny or hands and knees, but, being highly motivated, is learning to stand. With the aid of braces, he should be able to walk within a few months. Sam's English is passable, especially his newly acquired American slang.

Darlene, who has a gift for mimicry, describes one of Sam's desires with his accent: "Wanna drive car. Easy dribe car. Honk horn, yell whassa matter, you screwball!"

"We had to have those two," Darlene says. "In India there is no hope for a cripple. They cannot be educated and they become beggars — or worse."

Living with the Hartmans on a student visa is WonKi, 15, a Korean who was so dreadfully burned when an infant that his left foot and half of his right foot were amputated. The Eighth Army brought him to the Shrine Hospital in San Francisco where he was under treatment for 14 months.

The other adoptees include Peter, now 7, who became a Hartman as a baby. He helps Sam to bathe. The older children help feed, clothe and teach the younger ones.

Annie, 9, joined the family 18 months ago after living in indifferently run foster homes. "She had no direction," Darlene says. Annie's happiness is apparent.

Katie, 11, who arrived eight years ago, once told her mother, "It'd be nicer if there weren't so many kids around here." She's changed her mind.

The Hartmans have experienced difficulties dealing with the often tedious adoption process. They visited an orphanage in Mexico with the hope of adopting five children. But the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service cited the law: Only two foreign children may be adopted in this hemisphere. Then when Darlene and Alfred heard about blind, black twins nobody wanted, they offered to take them.

"No way. You're not equipped to handle them," they were told. When they tried to get two Vietnamese orphans last year, an official told them, "You already have too many children. No one can love more than eight."

The Hartman's own children appear to be as gifted as their parents. Mark, 21, is a pre-med student and a self-taught computer expert. Kip, 20, is aiming toward a career as a history teacher. Theresa, 18, will study physical therpay to help handicapped children. Eliza, 17, Gretchen, 16, and Hans, 14, are bright and cheerful in the Hartman mold.

When the Hartman's roomy home became too small, they settled on 30 acres in this farm community near Riverside. Calif., they will "get by" in two 60-foot trailers.

There will be a boy wing and a girl wing, each with five bedrooms; a master bedroom; a suite for Darlene's mother, and a chapel. Priests often say Mass in the Hartman home, and Alfred's brother, Father John Hartman, comes from his New York City parish when there are one or more baptisms or first communions.

Next to the master bedroom will be offices, one for Darlene, who somehow finds time to write two science fiction novels and five Star Trek scripts, and one for Alfred, who owns a prosperous actuarial consulting firm.

Matters affecting all the Hartmans are disposed of by vote at a family council. "Anyone may say anything at a meeting," Darlene said.

The children are guided by a simple code: "Do anything you want to do, but do not offend God. Do what you are told — right now. Remember, we love you."

RITE SLATED — Mr. and Mrs. Harold S. Jackson, 706 S. Calvin St., Monahans, announce the engagement of their daughter, J'Nevelyn Sue, to Robert Judson Lloyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Judson H. Lloyd, 1007 E. 15th St. The wedding will be Nov. 26 at 2 p.m. in the First Baptist Church, Monahans.

Welcoming coffee slated

First Baptist Church site of Friday ceremony

MRS. JOHNIE RAY WRIGHT

The First Baptist Church in Big Spring was the setting for the Friday evening wedding of Miss Patricia Raye Cherry to Johnie Ray Wright. Dr. Kenneth Patrick officiated the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Ed F. Cherry and Mrs. D.L. Dorland, Big Spring and Mr. and Mrs. Johnie D. Wright, Coahoma.

The church altar was a background of seven Woodwardia trees and emerald ferns with a foreground of seven-branch candelabrums flanked with arrangements of white gladiolus, mums, carnations and baby's breath. Dwarf Woodwardias offsetting fifteen-branch candelabrums added the effect of a backdrop for the choir loft. The choir rail was draped with green garlands and atop two marble columns were huge arrangements of white gladiolus, mums and baby's breath. Each third aisle of the sanctuary was decorated with a candelabrum of votive cups and greenery.

Given in marriage by her father, Ed F. Cherry, the bride wore a gown fashioned of white chiffon veiled over peau de soie, featuring angel sleeves of sunburst pleating, a high-beaded neck and a pyramid skirt. Unpressed pleats swept to a wide chapel train. The chapel-length mantilla was edged with re-embroidered Alencon lace. She carried a nosegay of white carnations with pink rosebuds in scattered baby's breath arranged on a small white Bible which belonged to her late sister.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Perry Gamble of Big Spring and maid of honor was Miss Kim Dorland, niece of the bride. Other attendants were Miss Hoylene Nix and Miss Robin Nix, stepsisters of the bride; Miss Denette Wright, sister of the groom; Mrs. R.D. Barron of Amarillo, cousin of the bride and Miss Candy Middleton of Big Spring.

All attendants were attired in formal-length dresses of flame-red chiffon, featuring halter necks with red rope and sheer flame-red capes draping from the shoulders to the waist.

Best man was Doug Eppler of Hobbs, N.M. and groomsmen were Joe Wright and Jim Wright, brothers of the groom; Terry Shafer, Tony Shafer, Rickey Evans, all of Coahoma and Joe Matthews of Big Spring. Ushers were Jay Moore and David Moore, cousins of the bride from Fort Worth; Mackey Vaughn of Big Spring and Ricky Don Logsdon of Coahoma. Candlelighters were Wynn Moore and Pamela Moore, cousins of the bride from Lubbock.

The bride's table was draped in white satin with a four-tier fountain cake adorned with fresh red and pink sweetheart roses. Other appointments were of crystal and silver with a large arrangement of white gladiolus, mums and baby's breath in a silver compote centering a buffet table.

The groom's table was placed in the garden room of the home and brass appointments were used. The table was draped with a burlap floor-length cloth which displayed an interlocking ring cake.

Guests were entertained on the outside terrace by organist Van Johnson. Campagne fountains, hors d'oeuvres and small finger sandwiches were served in a setting overlooking a swimming pool filled with floating candles. The terrace grounds were decorated with hanging baskets and a large white wrought iron bird cage encased white gladiolus, leather leaf and baby's breath. Other arrangements of fresh flowers and flaming torches were placed throughout the gardens, together with a fresh floral and driftwood arrangement atop a rock waterfall.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and attended Tarleton State University. She currently is attending classes at Howard College.

The groom is a graduate of Coahoma High School, attended Howard College and is presently employed by Sonny Tucker.

Following a wedding trip to Las Vegas, Nev., the newlyweds will reside at their home on Gail Route, Big Spring.

Out-of-town guests included the groom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R.C. Morton, Marble Falls, Texas.

A rehearsal dinner honoring Patricia Cherry and Johnie Ray Wright was held at Big Spring Country Club Thursday night. Red and pink carnations decorated the tables. There were 45 guests in attendance.

OCTOBER WEDDING — Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Tucker, Vealmoor, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Deidre Shon, to Monte Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Smith, Gail. The couple will be married Oct. 8 by the Rev. Harold Carroll at Luther Bethal Baptist Church.

Freeze fish for future

Freeze fish and shellfish now — serve anytime. Generally seafoods cost less during harvest season because of abundant supplies, yet their popularity is year round, says Mary K. Sweeton, foods and nutrition specialist, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

To clean, remove fins, tail and scales; then head and entrails. Wash. Cut large fish into small pieces, but freeze small fish whole. Dip fish in 1-1-1 solution: 1 cup salt per 1 gallon water for 1 minute.

The addition of salts, fats and proteins allows more rapid freezing — the key to success in preserving fish and shellfish quality.

Quick freezing creates many small crystals; this is the best system, because tissue cells are not ruptured, and quick freezing also reduces the time bacteria enzymes have to act upon the product, says Mrs. Sweeten.

Freezing takes longer if packages are bulky and poorly spaced for air circulation in the freezer.

To freeze fish: Pre-set control on COLDEST and return to NORMAL once the food is frozen. Wrap the fish tightly in moisture-vapor-proof wrapper and freeze immediately, says the specialist.

Couple solemnize vows in garden ceremony

Parents of the couple are Mrs. John Frederick Cobean of Big Spring and the late Dr. George Waller Dawson, Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Durand of El Paso.

The Rev. William Spong of All Saints Episcopal Church and the Rev. Douglas Pollack, both of Austin, performed the ceremony before a white raised altar and kneeling bench in a setting of greenery.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Rendal Hamby, the bride wore her sister's gown of white peau de soie. The dress had a fitted bodice of imported French Alencon lace covered with pearls and a train. Her jeweled lace cap held a waist-length veil of silk illusion.

The bridal bouquet was of gardenias, blue carnations, daisies and baby's breath. She carried a white ivory covered prayer book which had been carried by the bride's sister, mother and grandmother at their weddings.

The bride also carried a lace handkerchief which was made by George Washington's mother's sister, who was one of the bride's ancestoral grandmothers. She wore a necklace of amethyst hearts given to her by her mother who received it from her mother. It was purchased at the St. Louis Exposition in 1904 by her grandfather.

Following the ceremony, a reception was given in the Solarium Room of Green Pastures. The bridal table had a tall bouquet in the bridal colors. The three-tiered cake was decorated with fresh flowers, and a silver wedding bell held the bride and groom figurines.

Silver appointments were used for punch, sandwiches, coffee.

Mrs. John Richard Sparks, Big Spring, served coffee.

Dedra Hamby, niece of the bride, served punch and Jodi Hamby, also niece of the bride, registered guests. Both are from Guthrie, Okla.

MRS. EUGENE WILLIAM DURAND

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Alexis Belknap, Detroit; Mrs. Kathleen Maxwell, Titusville, Fla.; Henry Durand, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Robbie Robinson, Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Denham, Midland; Mrs. Lorin S. McDowell, Jr. and Mrs. John Richard Sparks, both of Big Spring and Mr. and Mrs. Rendal Hamby, with children, Dedra and Jodi, all of Guthrie, Okla.

After a wedding trip to Louisiana, the couple will reside in Austin where she is a registered nurse and the groom attends the University of Texas.

The bride attended Howard College, University of Texas and Breckenridge Hospital Nursing School. The groom has attended University of Texas at El Paso.

Mr and Mrs. Walls honored at shower

Mr. and Mrs. Randy Walls were honored with a wedding shower Tuesday evening in the fellowship hall of the Forsan Baptist Church.

The refreshment table was covered with a white tablecloth with lace center and edges and accented with a centerpiece of white daisies. The cake, bearing the names of the couple, was decorated in the bride's colors of peach and mint.

Hostesses for the shower were Mrs. Bob Cowley, Mrs. Oscar Boeker, Mrs. Jerry Garrett, Mrs. Eugene Strickland, Mrs. Raymond Holguin, Mrs. Elbert Strickland, Mrs. Don Stevens, Mrs. Lanell Evans, Mrs. Ann Fairchild, and Mrs. Travis Fryar.

Special guests were the mothers of the couple, Mrs. Thomas Guess and Mrs. T.J. Wells. The bride's sister, Ms. Ralda Guess, was also in attendance.

The couple was married Aug. 11 in the Forsan Baptist Church. They are residing in San Angelo, where both are attending Angelo State University.

College costs highest in East

Copley News Service

Dear Doctor Wallace,

I will be a senior in high school in September and I am planning to attend college after graduation. I would like to go to an Eastern college if possible but I know they are expensive. Could you please give me a rough estimate on how much it would cost for a year?

Peter, Washington, D.C.

Dear Peter,

Eastern colleges and universities are the most expensive in the United States. The projected 1977-78 costs for out-of-state students at Massachusetts Institute of Technology are $7,950 per year. Harvard, Brown, Columbia and Princeton are all above $7,500.

The College Scholarship Service reports that the average cost to attend a private four-year institution will be $4,905. Publicly supported four-year schools will cost $3,005.

The least expensive college in the United States appears to be San Diego Mesa College, a two-year public California school with tuition of only $4 a year for state residents.

Dear Doctor,

I am a high school dropout. I have a full-time job washing dishes at a local restaurant. I have above average intelligence and my parents are pressuring me to return to school to get my diploma.

I told them that it isn't necessary to have a diploma to make out in society. Can you please tell me a few prominent Americans who "made" it so I can show my parents?

Steve, Baltimore, MD

Dear Steve,

There are many prominent Americans who made it without the benefit of a high school diploma including Andrew Carnegie, Thomas Edison, John Philip Sousa and Mark Twain. Still ... the list of those with a high school diploma would be overwhelmingly greater.

My advice would be to go after that diploma. Check with your high school. Chances are great that you could continue to work part-time and finish your high school work at the same time.

Dear Doctor,

I have talent in singing but I'd never try it outside my home for fear of ridicule. I can sing in front of adults even though I get nervous ... but not in front of kids as they would really "give you a bad time" if you goofed.

Dad says they do this because they could be envious or jealous or just to put you down ... but I say Dad's old-fashioned. Kids can really be mean.

What would your advice be for someone who feels like I do?

Colleen, Michigan City, IN

Dear Colleen,

It's true teens can be cruel but they also can be fair and honest and appreciative. Since you have talent in singing, get involved in your church choir. During practices you will feel more comfortable as time goes on, singing in front of your peers.

High schools have excellent vocal music programs. Your instructor will assist you in overcoming your fear of singing to teens. Don't allow this hang-up to hinder your advancement.

Questions may be sent to Dr. Robert Wallace, Copley News Service, in care of this newspaper.

COLLEGE STATION — Home freezer "shut down" does not always mean total loss, says Mrs. Gwendoyne Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist.

"In general, if a food is safe to eat, it is safe to refreeze," she points out.

Mrs. Clyatt is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Rule of thumb: Partially or completely thawed foods are safe to refreeze if they still contain ice crystals or if they are still cold — about 40 degrees F. — and have been held no longer than one or two days at refrigerator temperature after thawing.

Quality note: Even when partial thawing and refreezing is safe, it does reduce the eating quality of foods — particularly fruits, vegetables and prepared foods. The eating quality of red meats is reduced less than that of other foods.

Care guidelines: Foods that have been frozen and thawed require the same care as non-frozen foods.

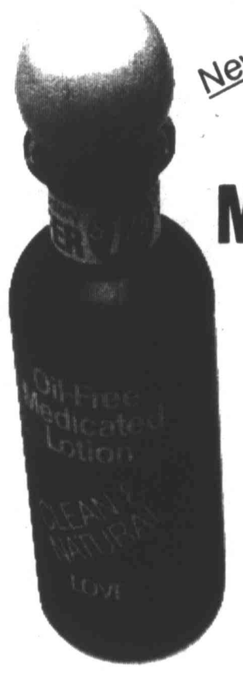

Also, use refrozen foods as soon as possible to save existing eating quality.

Doctor develops Home Treatment to

Rinse Away Blackheads

See Blackheads "Wipe Off" After A Single Queen Helene Skin Treatment

A leading New York dermatologist has developed a simple medicated home treatment that rinses away blackheads & whiteheads in a matter of minutes.

The treatment starts with a thorough skin cleansing. A special laboratory-developed whipped cleansing cream is used that takes off not only surface dirt, but also softens and loosens pore-caked grime with its emollient action. It liquefies as soon as it is applied and literally floats the dirt right off your face.

After this is tissued off, a delightful mint-scented cream is applied. Within 2 or 3 minutes an absorbing agent called Argilla dries and turns this specially medicated cream into a plastic-like masque. As it firms and hardens, its suction action draws on waste matter in the pores. . . . In 8 or 10 minutes you simply rinse the masque away with luke-warm water which dissolves it immediately. When you wipe your face, you can see blackheads and other pore "filler" actually come off on your tissue. And your skin feels clean — really clean — and refreshed and smooth, like velvet!

The third step in the treatment is an exhilarating application of a unique antiseptic astringent — a facial "mint julep" that sponges and tightens emptied pores and tones up your complexion.

Nothing Else Like It

Even after a single treatment, women who have been troubled by blackheads for years see a marked improvement. Many find it hard to believe their eyes. Some blackheads and whiteheads just rinse away. Others are softened and made ready to be drawn out by future treatments. Enlarged pores appear to be smaller. The skin looks smoother and firmer — feels fresher and more alive!

Anyone Can Use It

In short, after a single treatment taking only 15 minutes, you can expect to see results that normally you would not dare hope for even after many weeks . . . but don't expect everything at once. Damage done by years of neglect can't be undone in a day. Yet with 3 or 4 treatments a week, you may confidently look forward to startling complexion improvements within 30 days. Then one treatment a week—or every second week—will probably be all your skin will need to keep it clear, lovely and healthy looking.

Look! See them come off on your cleansing tissue — and without squeezing or digging!

The medically developed products used in this treatment are manufactured and quality-controlled by QUEEN HELENE. They are Queen Helene Whipped Cleansing Cream, Queen Helene Medicated Masque and Queen Helene Penetrating Astringent. The three items are sold as a complete skin and beauty kit for 5.00. Quite a bargain when you think of what it will do for a person's good looks — and self-esteem!

Books: Past and Future

By JOHN W. DEATS
County Librarian

Most people believe in progress but will still find Stephen Rosen's book, "Future Facts," somewhat incredible. Having worked as a research scientist for IBM, the author is better qualified than most to filter out some of the most probable areas for breakthroughs in ongoing research which may likely occur prior to the year 2000. A sampling includes a transcontinental subway system which could shuttle passengers from New York to Los Angeles in 21 minutes, power from garbage, synthetic blood, obesity control, and production of food from refined oil. The skeptical should recall the xerox Copying, instant coffee, heart pacemakers, and nuclear energy for electricity have all "arrived" since 1950.

Turning to a present concern, "Religions of America," edited by Leo Rosten, offers many surprising facts. Between 1958 and 1973, typical church and synagogue attendance in a given week dropped from 49 per cent to 40 per cent of America's adult population. However, the decline was primarily occuring among the nation's Catholics, from 71 per cent to 55 per cent between the same years. These and other revealing statistics and comments are gathered covering attitudes and trends in the major religious groups of modern America. Perhaps most enlightening are nineteen articles written by authorities on their separate creeds. Included are the "unchurched" American, the agnostic, the Quaker, and the scientist, along with spokesmen for most of the more prevalent denominations. Of related interest in Irving Zaretsky scholarly work, "The Religious Movements of Contemporary America."

Good poetry is timeless, but two new books attempt to tap the past, Louis Untermeyer's "Lives of the Poets" examines 133 major poets who represent the best in English and American literature since the time of Geoffrey Chaucer. Untermeyer includes many lesser known poets along with recognized giants, and the chief strong point of his book is the way he relates these leaders to their times, their individual genius, and to their fellow artists. "How Does a Poem Mean" is John Ciardi's new edition of a landmark work, emphasizing the techniques of both contemporary and past poets.

BING IS BACK — Singer Bing Crosby returned to the stage last night for the first time since he took a 25-foot tumble off a Pasadena stage last March and hurt his back. The 73-year-old Crosby performed in the Concord Pavilion with his son Harry, 19, and his daughter Mary Frances, 17, as a trial run for a proposed European concert tour.

RFE talks human rights

MUNICH, West Germany (AP) — Radio Free Europe and Radio Liberty have long been thorns in the side of Communist leaders in Moscow and other Soviet block capitals. The sting appears sharper now with the East-West dispute over human rights.

The two stations, housed in a rambling two-story building framed by trees in a downtown Munich park, report the human rights issue comprehensively.

The U.S. government-financed stations beam programs that include 10-minute newscasts in 22 languages, replacing government controlled information from the East with uncensored news from the West.

"It's the only source for full information about what happens in Poland," a Warsaw dissident who requested anonymity told a Western reporter recently. "This round-about way is necessary because there is no press freedom in our country."

Much of the news this year has been about President Carter's support for East Bloc dissidents and their petitions to Communist leaders to live up to human rights sections of the Helsinki accord of 1975.

Signed by the Soviet Union, the United States and 33 other countries, the accord recognizes post-World War II European borders and pledges the signers not to interfere with the internal affairs of other countries.

But the East Bloc dissidents — and the stations — have focused on the free movement of people and ideas.

Chinese ceramics at Kimbell Art

"Chinese Ceramics from Japanese Collections" opens Sept. 8 at Fort Worth's Kimbell Art Museum where it will remain on view through Oct. 15. The exhibition of more than 90 objects represents the great achievements of China's ceramic art between the T'ang and Ming dynasties (618-1644).

"Chinese Ceramics" follows the popular "Tokugawa Collection: No Robes and Masks" which will remain on view through Sept. 4.

The exhibition was assembled from 35 distinguished public and private collections in Japan by Henry Trubner, associate director of the Seattle Art Museum, in cooperation with the Agency for Cultural Affairs (Bunka-cho) of the Japanese government.

Focusing on excavated pieces and heirlooms (densei-hin) that were transported to Japan between the eighth and seventeenth centuries, the exhibition explores the development of Japanese taste in ceramics and suggests how the Chinese wares influenced the Japanese ceramic tradition. Many of these objects were produced on special order for Japanese customers and have no counterparts in Western collections.

Among the loans are two exceptionally fine pieces from the Sung dynasty (960-1279) which have been designated National Treasures by the Japanese government. One is a tea bowl with the coloring and mottled markings known as "tortoise shell" (temmoku). The other is a Kuan (imperial) celadon vase whose light blue-green glaze has the luster of polished jade.

Other pieces of particular interest are those which have been associated with major figures in Japanese history. A small tea caddy (cha-ire) with a subdued purplish-brown glaze once belonged to Toyotomi Hideyoshi, the warlord who reunified Japan in the late sixteenth century. Hideyoshi presented the caddy to his personal adviser, Seno-Rikyu, perhaps the most famous of all Japanese tea masters. An "oil spot" temmoku tea bowl was one time the revered possession of another prominent tea master and arbiter of taste, Furuta Oribe (1544-1615).

The exhibition opened at the Asia House Gallery in New York and was seen at the Seattle Art Museum before coming to the Kimbell. Final stop on the tour will be the Asian Art Museum, San Francisco.

CRACKER JACK — M&M's

We are seeking qualified people in your and surrounding cities to become a part of a new NATIONAL DISTRIBUTOR NETWORK. This exciting program features CRACKER JACK and M&M's, America's favorites for many years. This is a ground floor opportunity since this is the FIRST TIME OFFERED in venders. Television and Radio do the selling; all you have to do is restock and collect money from the latest in automatic vending equipment. All EXCLUSIVE ACCOUNTS are furnished and set up by us. You have NO COMPETITION. Makes a fine family business since you can START PART TIME, no need to stop your present work. Work three to ten hours of your choice each week. EXPAND TO FULL TIME when ready through our COMPANY PARTICIPATING EXPANSION PROGRAM.

NO OVERHEAD - NO SELLING - NO EXPERIENCE

If you are a $400 to $1,000 per week caliber person, or know you can become one, you may be the person we seek. This is not employment but a highly profitable business you can call your own. All you need is a burning desire to be successfully independent plus $1,195, $2,250, or $5,660 in immediately available funds to INVEST IN YOUR FUTURE NOW! You must be of good character, have references and a serviceable car.

INVESTMENT SECURED BY EQUIPMENT & INVENTORY

For personal interview, WRITE ME TODAY; be sure to include your phone number and when you can be reached. I'll see that you get the facts. THE PRESIDENT

CARD OF THANKS

Perhaps you sang a lovely song,
Or sat quietly in a chair;
Perhaps you sent beautiful flowers,
If so, we saw them there.
Perhaps you sent or spoke kind words,
As any friend could say;
Perhaps you prepared some tasty food,
Or maybe you furnished a car;
Perhaps you rendered a service unseen,
Near at hand or from afar;
Whatever you did to console the heart
We thank you so much,
Whatever the part.

Cotton maturing rapidly in West Texas

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Most of the cotton and grain has been harvested in South Texas, and grain harvesting is nearing completion in Central and North Central Texas, says Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Cotton harvesting is in full swing in South Central and Southeast Texas and is gaining momentum in Central Texas Blacklands, he said in a weekly report. Some cotton harvesting has also started in North Central Texas.

Recent rains in the Panhandle should boost crop conditions, especially those on dryland, noted Pfannstiel. Sorghum harvesting continues active in the Rolling Plains and some older cotton is opening.

The first rice cutting is nearing completion along the Coastal Bend and Upper Coast and yields have been good to excellent, with some averaging 5,000 pounds per acre.

Peanuts, soybeans and hay crops are still suffering from lack of moisture, said Pfannstiel, except in eastern sections that received good rains the past week. Pastures and ranges also remain short over most of the state, and stock water is low. Culling of cow herds and increased marketing of calves is evident in many areas.

PANHANDLE: Rains are helping late crops, ranges and the sowing of fall wheat. Most crops look good, with corn maturing. Potato harvesting continues in Deaf Smith County. Some stocker cattle continue to move into the area in anticipation of early fall grazing on wheat.

SOUTH PLAINS: A general rain is still needed for dryland crops. Some vegetable harvesting continues. Irrigated cotton, corn and sorghum are making good progress. Pastures and ranges are short and providing limited grazing.

ROLLING PLAINS: Harvesting of early sorghum continues, with yields generally good. Older cotton is beginning to open. Alfalfa producers are harvesting their crop for seed. Mung beans and soybeans could use some rain along with ranges. Land is being prepared for fall wheat planting. Cattle prices have been strong.

NORTH CENTRAL: Corn and sorghum harvesting is about complete, with fair to good yields. Cotton is opening rapidly, with some early varieites being harvested. Peanuts and pastures need rain. Planting of fall vegetables is active. The pecan crop continues to look good. Some cattle are receiving supplemental feed, and marketing is increasing.

Farm markets

FORT WORTH (AP) — Cattle and calves: estimated receipts 4000 this week compared with 3000 last week and 5900 same period a year ago.

Compared with last week, slaughter cows 50-1.00 lower, mostly 1.00 lower. Slaughter bulls and calves steady. All feeder cattle and calves steady. Demand moderate, trading fairly active. Run includes around 18-20 percent slaughter classes. Balance mostly feeder calves 300-550 lbs.

Slaughter cows: utility 1-3 21.00-24.50; cutter 19.00-25.00; few canner 18.00-20.00. Slaughter bulls: yield grade 1-2 800-1600 lbs. 27.50-32.00. Slaughter calves: good and choice 300-550 lbs. 31.00-34.00.

Feeder steers: choice 250-400 lbs. 46.00-49.75; 400-500 Lbs. 42.00-48.50; 500-600 lbs. 38.50-42.00; 600-700 lbs. 37.00-39.00; Good 200-400 lbs. 38.00-42.50; 400-600 lbs. 36.50-40.50; 600-700 lbs. 35.50-38.25 Standard all weights 35.00-38.50; good and choice feeder bulls 400-600 lbs. 36.00-39.00.

Feeder heifers: choice 250-400 lbs. 35.00-40.25; 400-500 Lbs. 33.00-35.50; Small lot 415 lbs. 38.00; 500-650 Lbs. 32.00-34.00; Good 300-600 lbs. 31.00-33.50; Standard 27.00-31.25.

Hogs estimated receipts 1050 this week compared with 1400 last week and 1100 last year. Compared with last week, barrows and gilts 1.00-1.50 higher.

County agenda big mystery

The Howard County Commissioner's Court will sit down to a mysterious agenda Monday. County Judge Bill Tune refused to say whether the item on the agenda marked "inspect county properties" related to anything specific.

"You'll just have to come up here Monday and find out," said the judge enigmatically.

When asked whether the inspection might include some of the county airport properties, Commissioner Bill Crooker said, "It's possible, but I don't think it's likely."

The item usually refers to an inspection of the county courthouse, and may relate to the county jail.

Other items on the agenda are more clearly laid out, including a conference with Sheriff Standard, a conference with Joe Pickle concerning the roof of the Heritage Museum, and the consideration of a resolution on the Howard County Airport.

SOUTH CENTRAL: Harvesting of corn and cotton is active, with yields fair to good. Most peanuts are in dire need of rain. The pecan crop is also suffering from lack of moisture, with heavy shedding of nuts. Some fall gardening is under way although the hot, dry weather is a deterrent. Many cattle are being marketed due to the lack of grazing. Supplemental feeding is active.

NORTHEAST: Good rains over the area should boost fall grazing conditions and allow additional hay cuttings. Sorghum is producing average to below average yields. Some cotton is opening. Pecan trees are heavily shedding nuts. Preparations are active for fall vegetable gardens. Livestock marketing is active.

FAR WEST: Cotton and sorghum are maturing rapidly under hot, dry conditions. Both crops could still benefit from rains. Some alfalfa harvesting continues. Ranges are extremely dry and some grass fires have started from lightening. Grazing is poor but cattle are still in good condition.

WEST CENTRAL: A general rain is still needed. Sorghum harvesting continues and cotton is maturing rapidly. Peanuts continue to suffer from lack of moisture. Pecan trees are shedding some nuts due to the dry weather. The apple crop continues to look good in Gillespie County. Hornflies and stomach worms are heavy in some cattle herds.

CENTRAL: Most of the area remains hot and dry. Cotton harvesting is in full swing in Bell County and is becoming active in Hill and McLennan counties. Peanuts need rain and are also being plagued by cornstalk borers in some counties. Pecans continue to shed due to the dry weather. Grazing and stock water are short.

EAST: Good rains over much of the area should boost fall grazing, fall vegetable planting and additional hay cuttings. Corn and sorghum harvesting has been active and cotton is opening. Livestock are in fair to good shape, with marketing heavy. Armyworms are infesting some pastures.

SOUTHEAST AND UPPER GULF COAST: Most of the grain crops are in and yields have generally been good. Early yields of cotton and soybeans have also been good to excellent. Fall gardening activity has been limited due to lack of rain. Some pecans continue to shed due to scab, shuckworm and drouth damage.

SOUTHWEST: Corn and sorghum harvesting is about complete, with below normal yields due to the dry weather. Cotton harvesting is active. Planting of fall and winter vegetables continues, with cabbage up. Ranges are dry and presenting a fire hazard. Marketing of cull cows and calves is increasing.

COASTAL BEND: Cotton harvesting continues; gin yards are filled to the brim. Soybeans, peanuts, pastures and ranges continue to suffer from lack of moisture. Rice yields have been excellent, up to 5,000 pounds per acre. The pecan crop continues to look good. Ticks and hornflies are heavy in cattle.

SOUTH: About 75 per cent of the cotton crop is in. Some 300,000 bales have been ginned in the Rio Grande Valley and another 50,000 are in modules awaiting ginning. Land preparation and planting of fall vegetables continues. Stock tanks are low and ranges are providing little grazing. Livestock conditions are declining.

Dip in holiday toll forecast

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Fewer people will be killed by traffic accidents over the Labor Day weekend than last year, predicts the director of the department of public safety.

Col. Wilson E. Speir said drivers seem to be displaying more cooperation and alertness during major holidays.

Traffic deaths are running five to six percent higher this year than last year, but "holiday drivers seem to be exercising more restraint, and we hope this trend will continue."

Montgomery Ward warrants each of its passenger car tires for a specified number of miles when used on passenger cars or station wagons (except taxis). If your tire does not give you this mileage because of (1) failure due to defects in materials or workmanship, or (2) premature tread wearout (2/32 inches or less remaining), unless due to misalignment, Montgomery Ward will:

After the expiration of the 25% of the warranted mileage, replace the tire charging only a prorated amount based on the mileage used to the total mileage warranted and the selling price in effect at the time of return at the branch to which returned, plus total federal excise tax on the replacement tire.

Passenger tires used on taxis or vehicles other than passenger cars or station wagons are warranted on the same basis against defects in materials and workmanship only.
