To date, a sum of $5,917 has been reached through local contributions. This leaves a balance of $2,833 still needed to complete the total project.

"It is urgent that we do this work immediately." a project spokesman said. The building committee of the Center plans to start construction immediately after July 1.

Wool Incentive Pay 30%; Mohair Gets First Pay

Producers To Receive Checks July 2 At A-SC Office Or Mail

Announcement of the percentage scale at which producers of wool and mohair will be paid under the incentive pay program was made by the U. S. Department of Agriculture yesterday through local ASCS offices.

Wool producers will receive incentive payment at the rate of 30 percent of dollar sale value and mohair producers, for the first time in the history of the incentive program, will receive payment on the basis of mohair marketed during the marketing year. The rate of payment on mohair was announced as 3.6 percent.

Unshorn lambs sold by a producer will bring payment at the rate of 57 cents per hundredweight of live lambs, covering payment for wool at the incentive rate.

The marketing period covered is from April 1, 1962, to March 31, 1963. The 1963 marketing year will be an abbreviated one, covering the period from April 1 through December 31. After that date, the wool and mohair incentive program will be on a calendar year basis.

Checks for Crockett county wool producers will be available at the local ASCS office on Tuesday, July 2, Claude Russell, office manager, announced yesterday following receipt of announcement of the payment rate.

Checks for wool payments will be made out and ready to hand to producers who call at the office from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. Tuesday, July 2. Checks which have not been picked up by 4 p. m. will be mailed, Russell said.

Full records of producer sales of wool, mohair and lambs are in the ASCS offices and applications for payment have been signed by producers. All that remains to be done in the office is to calculate, on the basis of the payment rate, the amount due and write the check.

Ozona Oilers On Way To Title As Opposition Fades

Little League First Half Winners Still Dominate Show

By Ernie Boyd

The Ozona Oilers moved to within a step of the season's title Monday night when they cuffed the challenging Mason Motors 13 to 8 in spite of two home runs by the Motor team's Terry Lindsey.

The Oilers bounced in front 1 to 0 in the second and then chased in seven runs in the third to decide the issue, even though Mason continued to snip at the Oiler lead.

Kirk Boyd worked five innings for the winners and aside from Lindsey's two homers much of his trouble came from his failure to field his own position very well. However, the young left hander, who has not seen much action on the mound this season, was really never in any trouble and manager Taylor Deaton safety played his youngsters in the outfield, behind the plate and at first for the last three frames.

Lefty O'Rear started for the Motor team and did well until the third when he was rocked for seven runs and was relieved by Sipes who finished the game, although touched for five runs.

Larry Don Webb pitched the final inning for Ozona Oil but also had rocky going, giving up two runs, one on Lindsey's second home run for the night.

Last Friday night the Oilers built up a good lead in the first three innings and coasted to a win over B&B despite a fine final three frames by Fleet Coates.

The Oilers emptied the bench of Bosworth's 'Ozona Story' Out In Feb.

Allan R. Bosworth

Harper and Row, New York publishers, announce the scheduled publication in February, 1964, of "The Ozona Story" by Allan R. Bosworth, an "old Ozona boy" whose entertaining and altogether delightful "New Country", a story of the Bosworth family in the early west setting, much of it centering in and around Ozona.

Bosworth spent several weeks here and in other parts of Texas doing research for his "Ozona Story" and the announced publication, exclusive this week with The Ozona Stockman, heralds another triumph for Ozona and for Allie Bosworth, whose whimsical and captivating style of writing has brought fame to himself and widespread publicity to his home town.

Allan Bosworth, U. S. Navy Captain, of Roanoke, Va., retired, writes an entertaining column of folksy chit-chat which is used by several Virginia daily newspapers. The same column, not wirtten every week, has been appearing in The Stockman since Bosworth's visit here last summer.

Harper and Row prepared the following "brief description" of THE OZONA STORY, to be released in February, and The Stockman proudly presents this first announcement of the book's publication. The announcement is mostly a rewrite of Bosworth's foreword to the book, but it gives an appetite-whetting peep into the entertaining reading in store for puchasers of the book when it is released.

"At the point where U. S. Highway 290 and Texas State Highway 163 intersect near the monument to David Crockett, a sign reads: "Ozona — Biggest Little Town in the World."

"Ozona, Texas, with a population of 3361 (1960 Census as given in the Texas Almanac' is the only town in Crockett County, which is twice the size of Rhode Island. No railroad touches the county, but people get around, many of them in spanking new Cadillacs which they can well afford, and there is good evidence to prove that the women are the best dressed of any city in the United States — maybe Europe.

"Millionaire's Town, it is called — this astonishing community sprung up in cowboy and sheepherder country only two generations from the wild, rocky and thorny frontier. It's an American phenomenon, at once special and typical, for it is fashioned of things that went into the making of a hundred less colorful communities in the southern and western reaches of the United States.

"Allan Bosworth, who wrote the delightful NEW COUNTRY, is an "old Ozona boy" who remembers the old days and the hard ways when West Texas was young and still a little wild. With exuberance and affection he has portrayed a people and a way of life fast escaping memory in a wide-ranging story that encompasses the Basketmakers who first left records of habitation in the caves of the Pecos Canyon; the pioneers who started coming with their herds in the early 1880's; the later settlers who moved in with windmills and barbed wire and oil drills to tame the high,dry land; the ranchers, merchants, oil men, churhcgoing folk an badmen who contributed to the civilizing process and helped stamp the place as unique. Interlaced with sound social history are his own memories of West Texas in a younger, wilder time and wonderful anecdotes, tall tales as well as true ones which document an old Texas saying that "The cowards never started, and the weak died on the way."

"Recommended for young adults. With 16 pages of photographs."

Cong. Foreman Is Pushing Probe Of Radar Site Closing

Sub-Committee Hearing Testimony On Effect of Action

A House Armed Services investigating sub-committee, appointed by Chairman Carl Vinson, (D) S. D., is currently investigating the reasons behind and the probable effects of the closing of 17 radar stations and 6 SAGE units, segments in the southern air defense system of the United States, closed by order of the Defense Department on May 1.

Freshman Congressman Ed Foreman, Republican from this 16th Texas district, initiated the inquiry following the closing of the Ozona and Pyote stations, among others in the southern segment of the defense radar screen, and it was at his behest that Chairman Vinson appointed the investigating sub-committee.

So far, the sub-committee has held executive sessions and has heard some of the top brass from the Defense Department, including Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense Charles Hitch, John Klott, deputy assistant director of Strategic Weapons, Assistant Secretary of the Air Force Joseph Imiril, General Robert M. Lee, commander of ADC Headquarters, Colorado Springs, Colo., and others.

Hearings are to be resumed July 8, and among the first to be heard will be General Maxwell Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, General Gerhardt, NORAD commander, General Curtis LeMay, Air Force Chief of Staff, and others.

Although the hearings have not been made public, a colleague of the West Texas Congressman, remarking on the singularity of a new member of Congress stirring up an investigation to the point of the appointment of a probing sub-committee, concluded that Congressman Foreman had uncov-

REPUBLICANS CALL FOR DONOVAN PROBE

Many of the secret deals made with Castro before and since the Kennedy Administration sanctioned payment of tribute to the bearded dictator to buy release of prisoners taken in the abortive Bay of Pigs invasion will be bared if House Republicans are granted their request for an investigation of Attorney James Donovan.

All 13 GOP members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee made the request in a letter to Rep. Thomas E. Morgan (D. of Pa.) committee chairman. They charged that conflicting press stories and official statements of the Kennedy Administration have beclouded the "series of negotiations" and "two bargains" with Castro and said said Donovan, who negotiated payment of the ransom to Castro and obtained release of the prisoners, "may or may not have been an agent of the U. S. Government."

Rep. Frances P. Bolton of Ohio, ranking GOP menmber of the committee, said there are "implications that Mr. Donovan's mission may not have been limited to the release of prisoners but instead may be a continuing one dealing with broader aspects of our Cuban polices and relations."

ROAD TO OBLIVION

General Eisenhower, like thoughtful Americans in all walks of life, fears that there has been a". . . . widespread deterioration in our moral strength' 'and that we "seem to be losing our capacity to bear our own responsibilities unflinchingly."

A "gimmie" attitude appears to be infecting the moral climate. For instance, in the endless debate over taxation, the former President said: "We are . . . critical of high taxes; but we don't like to see taxes revised in such a fashion as to relieve others one cent more than it does us of part of the tax burden. The vast majority believes that governmental expenditures are too high; but we insist upon excluding from any program of reduction all those that seem to profit us individually."

This "Let George do it" or "George pay for it" attitude can destroy a nation . The "What's in it for me?" point of view is becoming a suicidal blight. Chin deep in material benefits, we're still after all we can get for ourselves, and let the devil take the hindmost. This course, long enough followed, is a sure road to national dishonor — and oblivion.

NUCLEAR POWER LEADERSHIP

When it was learned that it was scientifically feasible to produce electric energy from nuclear sources, for peaceful purposes, it is no secret that some of the socialized power advocates rubbed their hands in glee. For, at that time, the government had total monopoly control over all nuclear materials and uses, due to the rigid wartime restrictions. So, it was reasoned, all that was necessary was for the government just to to hang on to its monopoly and build atomic plants for the eager public.

Fortunately, it didn't work out that way. The business-managed utilities proved vitally interested in this new phenomena. They had the funds, the experience, and the know-how to back up that interest. The laws were liberalized, and the utilities went ahead working with the Atomic Energy Commission and other interested government agencies.

Some people visualized a land in which atomic power would be too cheap to meter.

The industry knew better. Profound problems, scientific and economic, had to be solved. Reactors of many different types had to be examined, analyzed, and tested in the search for those which would best serve varying needs.

The result, to now? Nuclear plants, planned, built and operated by private enterprise across the nation. And as scientists everywhere know, we lead the world by a huge margin in this new and dramatic area of human progress and betterment.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS From State Capitol

Austin, Texas — Former Railroad Commissioner Bill Murray has been exonerated by the Travis County grand jury of any criminal wrong-doing in his personal business relations with the oil industry while a member of the Commission.

It was the feeling of the grand jury that his personal investments in the oil business had in no way influenced his decisions as commissioner.

Death Knell For Bracero Program — Congress killed the Bracero program and set a burial date of December 31, when it refused to extend the agreement to import Mexican farm laborers for two more years.

It may help agriculture workers in other states, but Henry LeBlanc, Director of the Texas Employment Commission's farm labor division, says it won't help Texas' farm workers.

It might evenhurt local workers, LeBlanc allowed, "because the Bracero program has kept the pay rate up."

Absence of the Bracero competition, LeBlanc explained, could result in lower wages for this state's workers.

Pleasure City — State School Land Board accepted the only bid it received for to contract to lease state submerged land to build a 10,000-foot long channel from Corpus Christi to a proposed multi-million dollar pleasure city on Mustang Island.

Bid-Winner was Mustang Beach Development Corporation. It is the same organization (owned by Piper Aircraft Corporation) that intends to develop 900 acres of Mustang Island into a Marina City, complete with homes, personal boat slips, industry and recreation facilities.

Channel is expected to cost $100,000 and will be available, free, for public use.

Attorney Generel Ruling — Attorney general has ruled that a recently-passed bill by Rep. Forrest Harding of San Angelo gave the State Highway Commission authority to alter maximum speed limits. Commission could set them as high as 70 miles per hour.

Also it could set minimum speed limits on controlled access highways, whether within or without a city's limits, regardless of any speed limit set by city ordinance.

Escheat Progress Slow — It took the 1961 Legislature two special sessions to pass escheat-reporting laws to insure the state's right to dormant personal property and bank accounts, unclaimed for more tha nseven years by owners whose whereabouts are unknown.

To date more than $1,600,000 has been collected by the state.

Most came from the "bank escheat" law, which became effective on May 3, 1962. Law requires banks, savings and loan associations and credit unions to publicize dormant accounts in an attempt to uncover lost owners. Unclaimed deposits then are turned over to the state.

So far, this has totaled $1,340,-493.15. A provision in the law allows a person claiming interest in escheated properties to recover his money. This has caused $1,686.68 to be refunded.

Originally, utility companies, county treasurers, insurance firms court officers and others affected by the first escheat-reporting law reported more than $3,300,000 worth of unclaimed holdings.

However, by the time public notice was given, the amount dwindled to $2,260,691.88. Newspaper publicity relative to the new act resulted in numerous inquiries and claims.

reserves in the third inning after a 9 run first inning had sewed up the game. The Grocers pecked away at David Huff and Kirk Boyd but never could get close enough to make the issue in doubt.

In other action during the week Moore Oil gained a split by winning a 17 to 3 decision over B&B after taking a 15 to 2 beating at the hands of Mason last Friday night.

A summary of the week's play would seem to point out several interesting things. First, Mason Motor is one of the most improved ball clubs in the league and has some top performers but does not have the pitching or the depth of power to win over Ozona Oil. The Oilers on the other hand can win with out a maximum effort and have not improved very much due to the lack of playing time the regulars get in. The Oiler manager gets a fine opportunity to play his little boys and still win as witness his record of only one loss this season.

There are some fine young ball players coming up but little Gene Conn is one of the best looking young ball players the league has had in several years. Arturo Torres of the Moore Oil team swings a wicked bat but his fielding is not too sharp and Mason Motors has found a plug for a hole in their infield by putting Jim Montgomery into the lineup on a regular basis.

Finally, contrary to reports last week, it was Donald Huff who hit the home run for Ozona Oil rather than twin brother David. However, as one player once told a reporter when questioned about a touchdown Rice made in the twenties, "I don't know, Mister, but any of them could have done it."

But what a delight when hesitation ends and Jeannie finds her happy beachhead down where the waves wane, and the tide seeks its rest.

And if you've ever taken a child to Sunday School, you know what that first glimpse of strange surroundings can mean.

Anything as vital as religious education deserves an early and earnest beginning.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Spring and summer months always bring a rash of boating accidents.

Tragedy accompanies many of them. Others are just plain fun. Some are downright stupid!

Accidents happen to large and small boats alike. Size doesn't seem to matter. For instance on a Central Texas lake very recently a party of four were in a fast boat, having a wonderful time. The boat had lots of power in its outboard and the driver was "showing off" how he could take a short turn.

He made the turn all right. But it was "over". As he whipped the boat around, the vack end went down too far. He picked up so much water the boat was swamped before he knew what had happened. Fortunately another boat was nearby and rescued the four passengers. But they lost a lot of equipment.

One night I was loading my boat on the trailer. I had set the brakes on the car, but the ramp was wet and slick. When I started winching the boat onto the trailer the whole outfit — car, trailer and boat — stated sliding back in the water. And it didn't stop! Boat, automobile and everything went into the water. The boat floated away but later was recovered. The trailer hitch broke loose and the car settled down atop the trailer.

It was a wierd looking sight, with twin beams from the burning headlights shining from the water. it was costly and it taught me a lesson. Now when I am loading a boat I always scotch the wheels of the automobile.

Up on Lake-o'-Pines in East Texas recently three fishermen loaded their gear into a brand new 14-foot cartop boat which they had hauled 300 miles. The boat weighed 90 pounds. But 500 pounds of manpower got into the boat. When the motor started up, the front end scooped up water so fast it almost swamped the boat.

The man up front got in the middle seat and that helped some. But the boat generally was so unsteady they didn't enjoy their fishing too much. They learned this lesson; a cartop boat is fine, but don't sacrince safety for convenience and weight. Two men can handle a 125 or 150 pound cartop boat almost as easily as a 90 pound boat. And the larger boat offers more comfort and more safety.

It also is a good idea to "keep your head" in a boat.

Another fellow I know was standing up while fishing out of a boat that was absolutely safe. The wind blew it against a tree with a resulting bump.

For some reason he jumped straight up . . . and into water well over his head. He held onto his rod and reel and climbed back into the boat without ever stopping movement, giving his two fishing buddies the biggest laugh of the day. But it taught all three a good lesson.

Another real danger in boating is going too fast in water where there might be some obstruction beneath the surface.

In some of the larger lakes, like Buchanan, there are huge rocks, some of them just under the water line. If you hit one of these rocks or an odl log gonig too fast, you are certain to have trouble.

Despite all warnings, however, most of us still will be careless. Before the summer season is over there will be too many names in the obituary columns as the result of boating accidents.

So let me repeat: Be sure of your boat you go onto the water; take strange waters easily and be sure you have approved life preservers. Preferably they should be worn, but at least they should be handy enough for every person to grab one in the event of an accident. Don't stand up in a boat unless you absolutely have to.

And above all — don't ride in any boat that is overpowered or overloaded. Both are dangerous!

STRONG MEDICINE FOR DRY WEATHER

Now is the time to practically eliminate worms from your flocks with

THIBENZOLE®

Now, while the dry spell sends the Indian into his rain dance, the parasite loads in your sheep and goats are not too heavy. A dose of THIBENZOLE now will practically eliminate the bankrupt worm and the barber pole worm as well as six other economically important roundworms.

This highly effective wormer not only gets rid of more than 90% of these parasites, it reduces the chances of reinfestation by knocking out many immature forms as well. That is why it is important to worm your animals even during dry weather. THIBENZOLE will help break the life cycle of the worms because it is the only wormer that is effective against many of the immature worms.

By treating your animals at this time, you will eliminate the strain of even a moderate parasite load. This will give kids and lambs a better chance to make maximum growth and weight gains.

You'll find THIBENZOLE extremely easy to administer as a drench with any standard dose syringe. Better drench your flock now!

NOTE: Not for use in goats producing milk since this will result in contamination of the milk, Meat from animals slaughtered within 30 days after the latest treatment must not be used for food.

Miss Marilyn Taylor, Reid Holmsley Wed In Ceremony At Cotulla

From Cotulla Record —

Miss Marilyn Modeen Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Taylor of Cotulla and Rowden Reid Homsley son of Mr. and Mrs. Peery Holmsley of Ozona, were united in marriage Saturday evening, June 8, 1963 at 8 o'clock in the Cotulla Church of Christ.

C. T. Huddleston, local minister of the Church of Christ, performed the impressive double ring ceremony in a candlelight service before large baskets of white gladiolas and cathedral candelabra with white tapers.

Miss Mary West sang "Because" accompanied by Mrs. L. R. DuBose, who played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a gown designed of white silk organzine veiled over white silk mist and combined with reembroidered Alencon with reappliques scalloped the scoop neckline, vined over the shoulders, flowered the bodice, defined the slim waist and criss-crossed the contoured skirt. Her lace sleeves were long and artfully tapered. Inverted pleats, asymetrically slanted, gracefully belled the skirt. A cascade of the beautiful lace bedecked envelope pleats at the back and sent her generously gathered train aisleward in a full Chapel sweep.

A dainty carlot of pearled lace held her full French illusion veil. The bridal bouquet was white carnations topped with a white orchid with white satin streamers.

Mrs. Martha Ingle of San Benito was matron of honor. Brides maids were Mrs. Darlene Meyer of Cotulla, sister of the bride, and Freida Kay Noelke of Ozona. The attendant's dresses were fashioned of orchid nylon chiffon over orhcid taffeta with scalloped necklines. They wore orchid satin slippers. The attractive headpieces were composed of an orchid chiffon flower with tulle veils. Each carried a single yellow rose.

Miss Jacqueline Meyer, niece of the bride, was flower girl and her dress was an exact reproduction of the attendants. Her brother Christopher Meyer, carried the rings on a heart-shaped satin pillow.

Herbie Noelke of Ozona was best man. Groomsmen were Cecil Taylor, brother of the bride and Wayne Daughtrey of Cotulla. Ushers were Carl Huddleston and David Gode.

The bride's mother was very attractive in a beige lace sheath with beige accessories and a pink carnation corsage. The groom's mother was equally attractive in a beige embroidered linen dress with beige shoes, gloves and bag and multicolored flowered hat. She also wore a pink carnation corsage.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held on the lawn of the R. K. Gode home which was beautifully decorated with hurricane lamps and colored lights. Miss Nora Mae Tyler was in charge of registering the guests.

Miss Nancy Taylor of Carrizo Springs served the beautiful three tiered wedding cake, decorated with white orchids, swans and wedding bells and topped with a miniature bride and groom. Mrs. Doris Park of Charlotte served the punch.

For her wedding trip, the bride chose a blue silk suit with white accessories adorned with the white orchid from her bouquet.

After a wedding trip to the Big Bend National Park in west Texas, the couple will be at home in Ozona.

Out of town guests were Mr. Sammne Ingle, San Benito; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Huffman, Ellis and Kim of Fort Worth; Mrs. Armon Hooever, Mrs. Mary Moore, and Mrs. Freida Noelke of Ozona; Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Fessler and Bobby, Mrs. S. A. Ohlhausen and Mrs. Ira J. Moore of San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. Billy Crawford of Corpus Christi; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel I. ered "a real bucket of worms."

Queried by long distance telephone Wednesday, Congresman Foreman had no opinion as to the final results of the investigation but did indicate that officials had assured him that there is presently no intention in the defense department to abandon or dismantle the Ozona radar installation, and that it will be placed on standby or caretaker basis about August 1, with perhaps a half dozen civilian caretakers in charge. Congressman Foreman recently paid a visit to the base and inspected the elaborate installation.

The investigating sub-committee is attempting to delve into the why of the closing of the southern segment of the radar system and the posibility that such action has left a "gap" in the nation's defense screen.

TYPOGRAPHIC ERROR IN GRANITE DELAYS INSTALLATION MONUMENT LOCATING SITE OF FT. LANCASTER

Ozona almost had an attractive historical marker located in its city park Tuesday afternoon before it was discovered that the inscription on the marker located Ft. Lancaster on U. S. 90 instead of U. S. 290 where it actually is.

The marker, is one of a series being located by the state on spots where history was made during the Civil War. Ft. Lancaster having been an important outpost and way station during the Confederates States campaign against the Union in New Mexico in 1861 and 62, is among those chosen.

Ozona became the site of the location of the marker since it is the county seat and since the original site no longer is a practical place for a marker.

The attractive marker made of the same stone as the David Crockett monument in the Park was to have been located near the Southwest corner of the park where it would be seen by travelers on both U. S. 290 and State 163 but also close enough to the Crockett Monument to be seen by the hundreds of tourists who stop each year to view that marker.

Ft. Lancaster was founded by the Federal Government prior to the Civil War and was taken over by Confederate troops after the state withdrew from the Union in 1861.

Late in 1861 Confederate troops pushed out of Texas with the intent of clearing the Federal troops out of New Mexico, a project which they succeeded for a time in doing. During this period Ft. Lancaster was an important way station even though little activity ever occured around it.

The inscription on the monument reads: "Fort Lancaster" C. S. A.; Site 33 miles west on U. S. 90 (290). Upon surrender Texas Forts start of Civil War, made part of Confederate far Western Frontier line. Occupied by 2nd Texas Cavalry on supply line to and from Arizona-New Mexico campaign 1861-62. Intended to make Confederacy an Ocean to Ocean nation. When regular patrols to guard supply trains and check Indian activities grew dull, life spiced by camp newspaper and nightly sport of shooting pesky coyotes."

Following the Civil War the Fort was once again occupied for a short period of time by Federal troops but was soon abandoned. Now very little remains of the original structures with only a lonesome chimney visible north of the highway 33 miles west of Ozona.

TURNPIKE TRAVEL INSURANCE

Take to the turnpikes on your vacation this summer — they're three times safer than ordinary highways, according to National Safety Council. One reason for this "travel insurance" is steel median guard rail which eliminates deadly head-on crashes by preventing cars from crossing over into opposite lanes. New Jersey Turnpike, nation's busiest highway, has not had a single cross-over fatality since it installed guard rail down the center of most of its 118-mile length. Pennsylvania Turnpike is another bustling highway being modernized by installation of this steel lifesaver.

New Ad Series For Support Of Churches Starts In Stockman

A group of Ozona business firms whose names are listed at the bottom, are sponsoring a series of "support the church" advertising features beginning in this issue of The Stockman.

The ad series is a nationally known syndicated series which is a seven-times national award winner, the last such honor being the George Washington Honor Medal bestowed by the National Awards Jury of the Freedoms Foundation, Valley Forge, Pa. for "an outstanding achievement in helping to bring about a better understanding of the American Way of Life."

The series boasts exceptionally fine art and fine message in behalf of a better Christian community. Comments from readers on the series will be welcome.

Teachers May Deduct Certain Expenses For Educational Courses

It's time for summer school again and many teachers will be thinking about educational expenses as a Federal income tax reduction.

Expenses for education, Ellis Campbell, Jr., of Internal Revenue said today, are deductible if the course or courses improve the skills required by the person in his job, or meet requirements set by his employer.

Expenses are not deductible if the education or training is undertaken to obtain a new position, or to attain general educational improvement.

If you travel as a form of education, your expenditures will generally be considered as primarily personal in nature and not deductible. This includes travel as a form of education while on sabbatical leave.
