The SDN Column

One of the featured speakers at the annual spring meeting of the Texas City Managers Association, opening today (Sunday) in Corpus Christi, will be Jack Shelley, Snyder's first city manager.

Shelley is now city manger at Fort Smith, Ark. He went there several months ago after resigning as city manager at San Antonio, a post he held for several years. Shelley came here immediately after the present city charter was adoptd in 1952. He left Snyder to become city manager at Garland in the fall of 1955, went from there to become assistant city manager at San Antonio and later was promoted to city manager in the Hemis-Fair city.

He is one of three speakers at the Corpus Christi session who will address the group on the topic, "I want to be a city manager."

Our white buffalo replica still catches the eyes of passersby.

Mrs. Melvin Montgomery sent a slipping of Jack Maguire's column in a recent issue of the Austin American - Statesman that called attention to the fiberglass animal on the northwest corner of the Scurry County Courthouse Square.

Wrote Maguire: "Along with visits to Muleshoe's statue of a mule and Odessa's sculpture of a jackrabbit, tourists interested in unusual monuments can now include a stop in Snyder.

"On the town square is a life - sized statue of one of the few white bison ever killed by a white man. The albino buffalo was killed in Scurry County near Snyder on Oct. 27, 1876, by a hunter named J. Wright Mooar.

"The statue is 5½ feet high and eight feet long."

In the same column, Maguire also notes that it is possible to travel 903 miles in Texas without leaving U.S. Highway 83. It enters the state at the top of the Panhandle north of Perryton and continues to Brownsville on the southern border.

Another note from Austin: Bill Greif, the former Snyder youngster who signed for an athletic scholarship with the University of Texas recently, had a short career with the Longhorns. He has since inked a professional baseball document with the Houston Astros in the National League and has gone to the Covington, Va., team of the rookie Appalachian League. He gave up his amateur status for a contract rumored to call for as much as $50,000.

War Is Now US' Longest

By GERGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP) — The Vietnam war becomes the longest war in American history today with thousands of U.S. troops set up in new positions to protect South Vietnam's capital against a threatened third enemy offensive.

At midnight in Saigon—noon EDT—the war will be six years, six months and one day old, measured from the death on Dec. 22, 1961, of Spec. 4 James Thomas Davis of Livingston, Tenn., the first of more than 25,000 Americans who have been killed in Vietnam.

The longest war involving American fighting men had been the War of Independence —six years and six months, from the April 19, 1775, skirmish at Lexington, Mass., to the Oct. 19, 1781, surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown.

U.S. 25th Division infantrymen sweeping the outer edges of the rocket belt reported killing 12 enemy soldiers and capturing seven weapons nine miles northwest of the capital. No U.S. casualties were reported.

Some 535,000 American troops now are fighting in Vietnam.

The U.S. Command has pulled thousands of American infantrymen in from outlying provinces, military sources said today, in an effort to block key enemy infiltration routes and cut down enemy shellings that have terrorized Saigon's 3 million people.

A senior U.S. officer declined to say how many troops were being moved closer to the capital, but it was learned that perhaps a brigade of infantrymen —3,000 men—had been moved to the city's outer limits.

One troop move paid off Friday. U.S. headquarters said paratroopers of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division killed 35 enemy soldiers in a daylong fight northwest of Saigon after moving from northeast of the city.

The move put the paratroopers along some of the most heavily used enemy infiltration corridors between Cambodia and Saigon in Hau Nghia Province.

One American was killed and 36 were wounded in the clash, in which the paratroopers were supported by artillery, air strikes and helicopter gunships.

Informed government sources say prisoner interrogations and captured enemy documents indicate the Viet Cong plans a third offensive on Saigon in July as a followup to the lunar new year offensive last February and the "peace talks" offensive May 5.

The second wave of attacks came the day before U.S.-North Vietnamese negotiations opened in Paris. U.S. officials say the enemy is trying to influence the talks with a show of military strength.

High Plains Farms Yield Top Income

WASHINGTON (AP)— Cotton farmers in the High Plains of Texas had record net incomes last year, the Department of Agriculture reports.

The figures were made public by the department in an analysis of costs and returns of farmers in three major cotton-producing areas of the United States.

Among producers of irrigated cotton in Texas, the report showed, the average 1967 net income was $22,140, compared with $18,130 in 1966 and the 1961-65 average of $17,187.

For nonirrigated cotton in the Texas Plains area, the average net income last year was $5,885, compared with $14,107 a year earlier and the 1961-65 average of $8,962.

The Mississippi Delta area showed an average net of $37,761 last year for nonirrigated production, the second highest income on record, compared with $37,141 the year before and the 1961-65 average of $33,738.

The only other irrigated cotton area examined in the report was the San Joaquin Valley in California. The net income last year was $31,389—the third highest on record—compared with $25,243 a year earlier and the 1961-65 average of $28,968.

"Substantially higher prices for cotton lint and larger government payments per farm were the major reason net farm incomes increased despite greater outlays for production inputs and lower production per farm," the department said.

It Could Be Fishing Boat

By KAY TATEISHI
Associated Press Writer

TOKYO (AP) — North Korea proclaimed its navy patrol boats sank an enemy spy ship early today in the Yellow Sea and sent the crew "to the bottom of the sea to the last man."

Without further identifying the vessel, Pyongyang's official Korean Central News agency broadcast a declaration that the vessel was dispatched by "U.S. imperilist aggressor troops who are engrossed in incessant provocative act on the ground and sea and in the air of late" against North Korea.

American and South Korean authorities had no confirmation of any such incident. In Washington a Pentagon spokesman said that, from a hurried check, "it would appear that this initial report is erroneous."

A Seoul spokesman for the U.S. forces in Korea said: "As far as we know there is nothing to it. We have no report on it." The reaction of South Korean military spokesmen was similar.

In Tokyo, another American spokesman said he was informed by the 314th Air Division command post in Korea that a distress signal had been picked up today from a South Korean fishing boat.

This might have been the "spy ship" to which Pyongyang referred, though the report did not give the time of the SOS or the location of the boat.

The North Korean account said the vessel was sunk near Boopo; also known as Pukpo, a small fishing village off the west coast near the 38th Parellel between Haeju and Yunpyun Island.

North Korea seized the U.S. Intelligence ship Pueblo off Wonsan on the east coast last Jan. 23. Efforts to obtain release of 82 surviving American crewmen of the Pueblo have so far failed.

The Pyongyang broadcast charged that "all provocative moves of the U.S. imperialist agressor troops, which have become ever more undisguised on the ground and the sea and in the air these days, are a direct continuation of the ever-intensified new war provocation maneuvers of the U.S. imperialists in Korea and a more outright challenge to the Korean armistice."

Reports from Seoul said the area near Yunpyung Island is one of South Korea's favorite fishing grounds and many fishing vessels have been seized by Communist Koreans in these waters in the past several months.

Th Pentagon spokesman who tentatively described the North Korean broadcast as incorrect was asked if this meant the sinking involved a ship of some other nation.

Claims Gang Used Church As Arsenal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The former "warlords" of a Chicago Negro street gang remained under police guard early Saturday while the white preacher he identified as a gang counselor denied relaying murder orders or letting his church be used as an arsenal.

George Rose — known as Watusi and Mad Dog when he was a leader of the Blackstone Rangers — testified under oath Friday as a Senate Investigations subcommittee probed the granting of nearly $1 million in U. S. funds to set up job-training centers for members of two gangs.

Chairman John McClellan, D-Ark., and other senators contend the funds were a bribe paid by the Office of Economic Opportunity to secure a truce

RS&P Depot Shined

OUTSIDE WORK — Workmen are putting a new plaster wall on the outside of the depot of the Roscoe, Snyder & Pacific Railway Co.

INSIDE WORK — H. C. Landrum (foreground) and R. V. Wolf (background) are busy building new offices in the north end of the RS&P depot.

The Roscoe, Snyder and Pacific Railway Depot in Snyder is getting its first major remodeling job since the structure was erected in 1924 and for the first time the executive offices of the railroad are being established at a point actually served by the RS&P.

Two new offices are being built in the north end of the building that formerly served as a waiting room. The office of Stanford Land, agent, already has been remodeled with new wood paneling.

The remodeling work began in May and should be completed about the middle of July. Don Wooten, chairman of the board, is moving to Snyder from Abilene and will occupy one of the new offices. The chief executive officers of the railway are making their headquarters here for the first time since the RS&P began providing daily service in Snyder in 1908. President of the firm is Roger Mize, local banker.

The outer room connecting with Land's office has received a new coat of enamel, and the ceiling has been lowered. The remodeling work also includes a new roof, new outside plaster walls and refrigerated air.

"It looks a lot different from the old days," said Land, "when we had high ceilings with overhead lights and sloping rollback top desks."

Gone also are the spittoons. Land recalled that the bottom fell out of the last spittoon one time when he picked it up back in the early 50's about the time passenger service was discontinued.

All of the work is being done by local firms, including Clark Lumber, Howell Electric, Mapes Electric, Emmitt Hall and Bobo Pavalas.

Another new look is provided by comfortable chairs that replace the old, high - back, swivel chairs of earlier days.

The railway has a long, colorful history. It was granted a charter in October of 1906. In 1909 service was extended to Fluvanna. Organizers of the firm were Gen. F. W. James, an educator and financier; Edward S. Hughes, hardware man and steamship line operator; and, H. O. Wooten, wholesale grocer.

It took three years to complete the roadbed for the entire line, and the first locomotive — a steam engine — went into service Nov. 7, 1907.

The railroad had depots at Wastella, Hermleigh, Dermott and Fluvanna with separate freight and passenger stations at Snyder. The Texas and Pacific Railway Co. shared the depot at Roscoe. General offices and maintenance shops still are located at Roscoe.

Water stations maintained at Roscoe and Snyder were abandoned in 1954 when the line discontinued steam locomotives.

OFFICE REFURNISHED — Stanford Land, freight agent for the RS&P Railway Co., relaxes in a new chair in his office. The ceiling was lowered and wood paneling was put in.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am an unmarried, middle-aged, professional man. While working in another state last summer, I became acquainted with a young woman who worked as a car hop. She had a pretty 11-year-old daughter, and was having a hard time making ends meet. Since I was going to take an extended trip thru the west, I offered to take the child with me. They were both enthused and the mother gave me the girl's birth certificate "in case I needed it."

Upon returning from the trip, the mother was nowhere to be found. I spent several days trying to locate her, but to no avail. The forwarding address she left was phony. I notified the local police; but they couldn't find the mother, nor did they try to remove the girl from my care. They took my permanent address and said they'd notify me if anything turned up.

When I commenced my present job in this town, I presented the girl "as a close relative." She is now 12, very happy, and doing well, in school. She never asks about her mother. I think I am doing an eccellent job of raising her and it would be a shame to be separated now.

Can you advise me as to the legal and social aspects of this?

NORTH CAROLINA

DEAR NORTH CAROLINA: I think you need a lawyer to help you establish a legal guardianship over the child, satisfying whatever preliminary actions that are required. However well - intentioned, you are now vulnerable to a number of unpleasant charges.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you because I don't have a mother and my dad wouldn't understand.

I am 14 and have a boy friend named Gary, who is also 14. This might be only puppy love, but I do like him a whole lot.

My problem is another girl. She likes Gary, too, and she's trying to get him away from me. She is having a party and she invited Gary but not me. I think she just made up this party as an excuse to get my boy friend.

I felt just terrible and cried in my pillow last night. I keep thinking that if Gary really liked me he wouldn't go.

GARY'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Try to be a good sport if it kills you. DON'T say a word to Gary about the party or the other girl. The surest way to lose a boy friend is to be possessive, and bossy. Give him all the freedom he wants and you won't be able to get rid of him.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Perhaps Elmer could solve his problem in some manner such as this. Inscribed on the tombstone in an eastern state are these words:

"Here lies Ephriam Wise
Between his two wives.
One was Tillie. The other was Sue.
Both were loyal, tried, and true.

I hope my friends from Adam to Willie
Will lay me out so I lean toward Tillie."

Have enjoyed your items for many years in Littleton, Colo.

7 Wildcat Wells Drilled

AUSTIN (AP) — Seven wildcat oil wells and seven wildcat gas wells were drilled during the past week, the Railroad Commission said Saturday. Most of the activity was in the San Antonio, Houston and Corpus Christi districts.

For the year, the commission said, 134 wildcat oil wells and 219 wildcat gas wells have been drilled, compared to 230 oil and 308 gas wells a year ago.

Last week, the commission said, two wildcat oil wells were drilled in the Houston and Abilene districts and one each in the Corpus Christi, Midland and Wichita Falls districts. Three wildcat gas wells were drilled in San Antonio's No. 2 district, two in the Corpus Christi district and one each in the Houston and Kilgore districts.

The commission said 108 oil and 29 gas wells were completed during the week, raising year totals to 2,388 and 1,095, compared to 3,177 and 1,306 a year ago.

The commission said 144 wells were plugged during the week, compared to 61 dry holes.

Trial Ends 10'th Week

Both sides were alloted 10 hours for closing remarks.

U. S. Dist. Judge D. W. Suttle has barred spectators from entering or leaving once court is in session.

The trial began April 8. The defendants are alleged to have set up an interstate prostitution ring to finance bank burglaries.

Students In Brazil Riot Third Day

By CLAUDE E. ERBSEN
Associated Press Writer

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Students demanding more money for Brazilian education clashed with police for the third straight day Friday and the melee of tear gas, gunfire and rock throwing killed a policeman and two students.

There was an unconfirmed report of one more student killed. More than a hundred persons were reported injured and police said more than a thousand were arrested. The student demonstrators smashed windows in the U.S. Embassy.

Authorities ordered the arrest of several student leaders in an effort to prevent further violence.

One of the demonstrators' first targets was the U.S. Embassy, where they fought with police who tried to disperse them. Three girl demonstrators were reported wounded by gunfire. Two were treated at a hospital and released.

No embassy personnel were reported hurt. Two floors of the embassy were evacuated after tear gas seeped through some of the 23 broken windows.

Nearly every student demonstration here in the past two years has had anti-American overtones.

Students contend that an agreement between the U.S. Agency for International Development and Brazil's Ministry of Higher Education to overhaul the Brazilian education system is a form of colonialism. They say the United States is trying to control education in Brazil.

From the embassy, the battle moved downtown. Police dropped tear gas canisters from speeding cars and then began firing with pistols to disperse the students.

The students improvised barricades from construction materials and threw rocks at the police. Mounted police finally managed to break up the gathering.

2 Mishaps Are Logged

The first one occurred at 9:40 a.m. on Avenue S at Thirty-seventh Street. Involved were the 1965 Model Pontiac of Diana Chandler Gary, 3101 Austin, and a barbed wire fence owned by W. D. Brecheen, 3200 Avenue S. Damage to the car was placed at $100, and damage to the fence was set at $100. Police Patrolman D. D. Tullis investigated the mishap.

The second one occurred at 8:15 p.m. on Thirtieth Street at Crockett. Involved were the 1957 Model Buick of George Wade Owens, Route 1, Overton, and the 1961 Model Ford pickup of Estavan G. Hernandez of Route 3, Snyder. Damage to the pickup was placed at $175, and damage to the car was estimated at $475. Police Patrolman Glenn Roberts investigated the collision.

Bulletin On Girl Canceled

LOS ANGELES (AP) — There never was a "girl in the polka dot dress," sought for questioning since the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, Los Angeles police said today.

An all-points police bulletin has been canceled. It was issued after a Kennedy volunteer reported such a girl rushed from the slaying scene with the cry "We've killed him!"

Inspector John Powers, assistant commander of the detective bureau, said police have established that no such person with special knowledge of the killing existed.

"It was determined that the person who originally described the female in the white polka dot dress was erroneous," Powers said.

Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, 24, was subdued at the scene of the shooting in the Ambassador Hotel and has been charged with murdering Kennedy.

Vihlen Wins Bout Against Atlantic

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Hugo Vihlen's one-man fight against the fury of 4,700 miles of Atlantic Ocean ended off the coast of Florida Friday with his tiny tub of a boat in the frustrating clutches of the Gulf Stream.

Battered by storm, thrice aground, followed by whales, Vihlen made the first 4,600-odd miles from Casablanca to Miami by himself.

Then, betrayed by westerly winds and the swift Gulf Stream current, he reluctantly accepted a 25-mile ride on a fishing boat to a hero's welcome at Fort Lauderdale.

"I'm sick that I didn't get to finnish," he said. "The west wind held me off shore and the stream pushed me north. It was the very worst thing that could have happened."

To his chagrin, the Coast Guard listed him as a "search and rescue case."

Vihlen shrugged and said, "The Coast Guard confiscated my boat. I was ready to sail on to South Carolina—or wherever the current took me."

Vihlen's ride to shore in a fishing boat detracted little from the courageous feat which started March 29 when he shoved off from the North African coast.

His six-foot vessel April Fool ended the historic journey lashed to the side of a Coast Guard cutter which escorted Vihlen to a landing at the municipal pier. Hundreds of well-wishers roarel congratulations.

"I guess I'll park it in my garage for a couple of years," Vihlen said of the sturdy craft which had brought him so far.

After the greetings by the crowd gathered on Fort Lauderdale's Pier 66, Vihlen recapped his voyage.

"It was like milking a mouse," he said.

The last few days of his 85-day trip seemed the toughest.

He said he checked his position each morning and evening and he knew Thursday he would overshoot Homestead, Fla., his home and target.

"It became painfully clear to me," he said. "I could see the whole trip go on another two or three weeks."

Vihlen—alone—was quite willing.

But his father, Edward, 74, said he had a different idea.

"I demanded that the Coast Guard pick him up," the elder Vihlen said.

"We were worried. Other people were worried about him. So I demanded it. I knew Hugo would be mad about it, but I said bring him in—whatever he says," Vihlen senior recounted.

His wife, Johnnie, and their son, Dana, 11, arrived at the site in the fishing boat Sea Wolf as Vihlen was arguing with the crew of the Coast Guard cutter.

"The commanding officer said he was sorry," Vihlen said. "He told me his orders were to confiscate my boat."

So Vihlen accepted a line from the Sea Wolf and clambered into the arms of his wife where he sobbed.

35 Products Of Dallas Firm Banned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) said it has taken legal action to stop interstate sale by the Lanpar Co. of Dallas of 35 diet drugs.

Th FDA said it asked a restraining order on the contention the drugs are mislabeled, improperly manufactured or dangerous to health.

Ten of the drugs, promoted in "Rainbow" pill weight reducing regimens, could cause "gravely dangerous afflictions" possibly leading to death, the FDA said.

Rose was guarded during the hearing by Chiiago police detectives. Senators said he has told them his life has been threatened.

Rose and other witnesses testified the money — siphoned to four gang centers through the Woodlawn Organization, a neighborhood civic group — was controlled entirely by the gangs and produced no educational or job benefits.

Rose said also that Ranger leaders had accepted firearms and hand grenades from self-groups and agreed to use them in any general nationwide Negro uprising.

He said that in a meeting in Philadelphia in April 1967, Ranger leaders were told by leaders of the Revolutionary Action Movement (RAM) that if such an uprising occurred attempts would be made to assassinate all of the nation's leading nonviolent civil rights leaders.

Rose and other witnesses told the committee the OEO funds were used to buy guns and pay bond money for jailed gang leaders.

The former warlord, who told senators he has been accepted as a member of the police force of a Midwestern city, said the First Presbyterian Church in Chicago was used as Ranger headquarters. It was the site of marijuana parties nd weapons were stored in the church loft nd in a tunnel under the building, he said.

Birth Of 4 To Require Adjustments

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Allan Irvine, whose family swelled from two to six in less than two hours, says "it's still going to take some adjustment" even though the quadruplets were expected.

Irvine's 26-year-old wife, Francis, gave birth to four boys Friday in Home Hospital here.

Dr. Paul A. Williams said the mother and the babies are doing well.

The Irvines live in the northwestern Indiana community of Wheatfield where they were married five years ago. Irvine, 27, commutes to East Chicago where he works at Inland Steel Co.

The quads, born in a span of 92 minutes, weighed from 2 pounds 13 ounces to 3 pounds 4 ounces.

Irvine said he and his wife were told two months ago there would be triplets but it wasn't until Wednesday night they learned that X rays showed a fourth infant.

"They're really going to fill up our five-room frame home," the father said. "And there are still a lot of things I have to get."

He said the hospital hasn't given him any hint yet how soon he might take his family home. The infants were placed in incubators and given oxygen and special diets.

Dr. Willians said the next three to four days would be the critical period.

The quads began their lives with the hospital designations of babies A, B, C and D.

Irvine didn't say whether that had any influence on the names he and his wife picked—Allan Scott, Bryon Williams, Corey James and Dale Walter.

Blames Old Law In Truck Shortage

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — An "antiquated" Texas law concerning truck permits is causing watermelons to rot in the field for lack of transport, Willis Deines of the Texas Citrus and Vegetable Growers and shippers Association said Friday.

Deines said the Texas permit law requires that a trucker file an application, pay a $25 fee, attend a public hearing by the Railroad Commission and spend "thousands of dollars" in order to obtain a permit to haul fruit and vegetables in intrastate commerce.

Deines said a recent crackdown by the Department of Public Safety has resulted in "the greatest truck shortage in history."

Fashion Is Still Big Divider

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — Fashion has always separated the rich from the masses. But never more so than now.

Indeed by fall it will be possible to tell wealthy women, not only by their furs and gems but also by the width of their skirts and the length of their sleeves. The less expensive clothes will be barer, tighter, and shorter.

This lesson in economics was taught Thursday as the New York Couture Group held its second day of fall collection previews.

Two years ago hardly more than 1 in every 1,000 women could afford to pay the prices of the high fashion houses—that is, more than $100 for a dress.

Today there may be even fewer. Union wage contract increases will result in another 7 to 10 per cent hike in prices, said Vincent Monte-Sano, president of the Monte-Sano, Pruzan Coat and Suit House.

And as modesty increases, costs go up for the couture customer. Obviously it takes more fabric to cover a female from her throat to her wrists and at least to her knees than it does a miss in a minidress with a barelythree top. Those billow bias, or pleated skirts, glamorous and graceful as they are, gobble up yardage, too. And more fabric means fancier prices.

When the low line dress manufacturers knock off the trends for the other 999 per 1,000 women, they must use cheaper fabrics. But they must also keep to a minimum the amounts they use.

a la Romano Chicken

For real Italian flavor prepare Chicken a la Romano. Split one 2½ to 3 pound broiler-fryer in half lengthwise. Tuck wing tips under backbone to expose breast meat to heat. Place in shallow pan, skin side down. Bake in moderate ovem (350 degrees F.) 20 minutes. Combine 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, dash red pepper, ¼ teaspoon oregano 1-3 cup minced parsley, and 1 clove garlic, minced. Turn chicken and sprinkle with spice mixture. Pour 1 can (1-pound) whole tomatoes over chicken. Sprinkle with ¼ cup grated Romano cheese. Pour ¼ cup olive oil over all. Continue baking 1 hour or until drumstick twists easily out of thigh joint. Makes 2 to 4 servings.

Hot Peach Ambrosia: Brush canned cling peach halves with melted utter, sprinkle with sugar and lemon juice and a few gratings of lemon rind or a dash of mace. Broil under preheated broiler until piping hot. Place in serving dish and top with a scoop of vanilla ice cream and sprinkle with coconut.

Hot Dogs Any Time

"Why don't we have something I like?" Any mother is familiar with this comment from a teenager who can eat the same thing for weeks at a time with little variation.

"Something I like" can fall into a category characterized by hot dogs, hamburgers, pizza and milk shakes. If mother gives in to this request, she can serve barbecued frankfurters built into a balanced meal, says Roya Staggs, meat authority with the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

Balance the menu with French fried potatoes, coleslaw or green salad and a milk shake. Hot dogs may be served with buns.

Wieners are a convenience food. If this barbecue sauce is prepared in advance, it needs only to be heated with the franks for ten minutes.

Barbecued Frankfurters

2 pounds frankfurters, cut diagonally in 1-inch pieces
¾ cup water
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons brown sugar
¼ cup lemon juice
1 cup catsup
3 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
¾ cup chopped onion
¼ teaspoon cayenne pepper, if desired

Combine all ingredients except frankfurters. Simmer 20 minutes. Add frankfurters and cook slowly 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. 8 servings.

Museum Receives A Big Important Gift

By MILES A. SMITH
AP Arts Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — The Sidney and Harriet Janis Collection, one of the largest and most important gifts the Museum of Modern Art has received in years, which now is on exhibition there, proves to have a double importance.

One point is that it fills in some gaps in the museum's own very large holdings.

The other is that it brings the museum more up to date on some of the recent exemplars of the advance buard.

The 103 works will be on display through March 4, after which they will go on tour internationally for more than two years.

Herbs Spark Pot-Rost Potato Dinner

Comes sunset, do you have a dinner that's well-prepared and seasoned perfectly for your family's taste?

You will have, if Sunset Pot Roast is your answer to the dinner. The seasonings are thyme and rosemary; there's lemon juice to add a bit of tartness to this richly flavored beef cut.

Many cuts may be braised to yield a pot-roast, but arm and blade cuts are among the most popular, says Reba Staggs, meat authority with the National Live Stock and Meat Board. These cuts are often labeled pot-roast in the markets where you purchased meat but they are actually the blade cut with its long, slender bone or the arm which has a single round bone in it.

Sunset Pot-Roast

3 to 4-pound beef blade or arm pot-roast
¼ cup flour
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
¼ teaspoon thyme
¼ teaspoon rosemary
½ cup water
1 cup catsup
½ teaspoon sugar
2 teaspoons lemon juice
6 medium-sized potatoes

Combine flour, salt and pepper. Dredge meat in seasoned flour. Save remaining flour. Brown meat in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season with thyme and rosemary. Add water, cover tightly and simmer 4½ hours. Add catsup, sugar, lemon juice and potatoes. Cover tightly and continue simmering 45 minutes or until meat is tender and potatoes are done. Remove meat and potatoes. Thicken liquid with remaining flour for gravy, if desired.

Winter Ham Bake Provides Convenience

When cold winds below, the hearty, heartwarming casserole is ever so popular. And for mom, ever so easy . . . especially when it's a handy "oven to table" dish that's a meal in it 'self.

Here's just such a family pleasing casserole . . . Winter Ham Bake. A savory ham steak bakes along with pecan-coated yams. Over all is a luscious sauce of the "open and pour" variety . . . a can of condensed golden mushroom soup. Chock full of mushrooms, fresh country butter, and fine wine, this good soup also provides marvelous flavor to a recipe when used as an ingredient or sauce. Simply stir a small amount of ginger ale into the soup, and add a light spicing of cinnamon. Place apples round the ham steak in the last few minutes of baking.

Broiler Chicken

For a pleasing flavor surprise — Apple Broiler Chicken. Split two 2½ to 3 pound broiler-fryers in half. Brush with ½ cup butter or margarine, melted. Sprinkle with 2 teaspoons salt. Mash 2 tablespoons apple jelly with a fork and gradually add ¼ cup apple or pineapple juice. Brush jelly mixture on both sides of chicken halves. Place on broiler grid, skin side down. Broil 6 to 9 inches or as far from flame as possible for 30 minutes. Turn skin side up and continue broiling until evenly browned and cooked through, about 20 minutes. Cut into quarters for serving. Makes 8 servings.

Round out the menu with an easy dessert, perhaps parfaits of fruit flavored gelatin and whipped topping, and milk and coffee.

WINTER HAM BAKE

1 pound ham, cut into 4 servings
4 canned yams
1-3 cup chopped pecans
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed golden mushroom soup
½ cup ginger ale
⅛ teaspoon cinnamon
4 thin apple rings, cut in half

In shallow baking dish (12x8 x2"), arrange ham. Roll yams in nuts; place on ham. Combine soup, ginger ale, and cinnamon; pour over ham. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 20 minutes. Place apple around edge of dish. Bake 10 minutes longer. Makes 4 servings.

Soviets Fear Youths Are Losing Interest In System

By HENRY S. BRADSHER
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — The young people aren't rioting or staging defiant sit-ins, but Soviet leaders are worried that Soviet youth is becoming indifferent to communism.

The self-perpetuating party machine that runs this powerful nation is concerned about a lack of enthusiasm for the ideology which oils the machine and provides its justification.

The machine works so well, it has such a highly organized system of controls on the Soviet people, that Soviet youth are unlikely to express themselves in the forms that have spread havoc from Berlin through Paris to Columbia University and beyond.

But those rebellions against the Establishment could in the long run prove less significant than apathy.

The whole Soviet system demands participation of the people in programs of the Communist party. Apathy could be a corrosive factor endangering the party's programs and therefore its rule.

Communist party bosses have purged the leadership of their youth league, the Komsomol, in an apparent attempt to inspire new enthusiasm in the next generation.

But the new Komsomol boss a man 40 years old—on the wrong side of "the generation gap" from the skeptical youths 14 to 27 years old whom he is supposed to understand and inspire. An obscure Communist party official, he had not been connected with Komsomol work for some years.

The new man, Yevgeiy M. Tyazhelnikov, replaced Sergei Pavlov, who had become Komsomol first secretary nine years ago at age 30.

Pavlov is a baby-faced but tough Communist in whom some could see a strain of Stalinism. He had tried hard to inculcate in Soviet youth those ideas which Kremlin leaders wanted. He was particularly noted for his slashing attacks on any literature or art that deviated from the conformist lines of "socialist realism."

In the first seven years of his Komsomol leadership, Pavlov could proudly report that a million young people had answered the organization's call to construction projects in the bleak, frigid parts of the Soviet Union.

But he could also complain in December 1965 that Soviet youth "are far from having a clear cut or accurate idea of just what Communist ideology is, of what it means to be a conscientious and consistent Communist. . . .

"Since when," Pavlov asked, "have debasement of our way of life, indiscriminate running down of the achievements of our system, acid skepticism and peevish grumbling come to be regarded as civic courage?"

The Komsomol instituted in 1965 a program to arouse patriotism as a way of tying youth closer to the regime.

"Comrades," party general secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev told the Komsomol last year, "we must raise a new generation of real patriots who are ready to perform feats of labor and arms."

The patriotism program emphasizes the sacrifices of World War II by the young peoples' parents. There was a 1965 march by three million youths to wartime battlefields.

This continuing program and others appear not to have been enough. Within the last two years, there have been many publ complaints about Soviet youth by their party elders.

Trudeau's Party Looks Like Winner

By MAX HARRELSON
Associated Press Writer

OTTAWA (AP) — It will be newcomer vs. newcomer, millionaire vs. millionaire, Harvard man vs. Harvard man, but the deciding ingredient in Canada's election Tuesday may be an epidemic called Trudeaumania.

There will be serious issues such as the Quebec problem and economic difficulties, but the election campaign has been more than anything else a battle of personalities.

It is primarily Pierre Elliott Trudeau vs. Robert Stanfield, or a swinging Quebec bachelor against a traditionalist from the Atlantic provinces.

On the basis of public opinion polls, crowd turnouts and assessments by political analysists, Prime Minister Trudeau's Liberal party appears to have a substantial edge over the Conservatives, led by Stanfield.

Many believe the margin may be enough to end the rule by minority government which has prevailed in Canada since 1962, under both Conservatives and Liberals.

This is Canada's sixth national election in 11 years. It is the first since 1957 that has not pitted John Diefenbaker and Lester B. Pearson against each other as leaders of the two main parties.

It will be the first time in years that either major party is led in a national election by a man under 60. Trudeau is a boyish-looking 48 and Stanfield is 53.

The stage for the contest was set last fall when Stanfield defeated Diefenbaker and a large field of others in a bitter struggle or the Conservative party leadership. Then Pearson announced his retirement and Trudeau defeated a dozen rivals for the Liberal party leadership. He automatically became prime minister when Pearson stepped down April 20.

Stanfield, a lean, bald, scholarly-looking heir to a fortune made in the manufacture of "long john" underwear, had never appeared on the national political scene until less than a year ago.

Trudeau, a professor and a writer on social problems, was not even a Liberal until 1965. He is the son of a wealthy Montreal oilman. In 1965 he was elected to Parliament as a Liberal and he served as minister of justice for a year before he was chosen party leader.

It was during his campaign for the Liberal leadership that Trudeaumana was born. It can best be described as the same kind of hysteria as that created by an appearance of the Beatles among teenagers a few years ago. There has never been anything like it in Canadian politics.

No one has yet figured it out, but Trudeau's attraction for youth seems to be partly due to sex appeal and partly to his reputation as an unorthodox personality. He is known for his unconventional attire—colorful sports jackets, ascots and sandals—and for his liking of sports cars. On top of this, he is an expert skier and he holds a brown belt in judo.

Indians named a 660-square-mile marsh Okefenokee, or "land of trembling earth," because its floating islands of matted vegetation swayed under their weight.

Junior Editors Quiz on POTATOES

QUESTION: How did potatoes get to America?

* * * *

ANSWER: Potatoes originally came from South America. The first we hear about them is a mention in a Spanish book that they were growing in Peru and Colombia by 1538. By 1550, Spaniards had introduced potatoes into Europe, where they were widely grown, especially in England and Ireland. They were then brought to the Virginia colonies in America, probably from England, in 1621. Our quaint illustrations at the top are from an old book showing potatoes growing in the Jamestown colony in Virginia in 1629. While on the subject of potatoes, we'd like to suggest some fun ways of cooking them outdoors this summer. Take along some aluminum foil, wrap the foods to be cooked in a double layer and put the package under hot coals. The boy at the left has cut some strips of potato, added hamburger and strips of carrot, and cooked them for 15 minutes. His foil serves as a plate. The boy at the right has dug a hole in the earth, kept a fire over it for half an hour, then scraped the fire aside and put in potatoes. He covered them with a thin layer of earth, then with more fire and cooked them for about an hour. Served with salt they're great!

Board Plans For Six New Colleges Rapped

By LEE JONES

AUSTIN (AP) — The state College Coordinating Board's tentative plan to limit existing colleges' enrollments and build six new senior institutions was attacked from several directions Friday.

A committee of the board, headed by Tom Sealy, held a three-hour hearing on a report, produced by the board's staff, that could become part of the state's higher education master plan.

The full board probably will get the committee's evaluation in September, then decide whether to adopt, reject or modify it. Approval is needed for the proposals to take effect.

Spokesmen for the University of Texas, Texas Tech and Texas A&M strongly opposed enrollment ceilings. Delegations from Laredo, Dallas and Tyler said they felt theircities' needs were overlookd.

The report recommended new four-yar colleges in San Antonio and Houston and institutions offering junior, senior and some graduate work in Midland - Odessa, Corpus Christi, Dallas - Fort Worth and Houston. As an alternative to some new institutions, the report suggested state aid to help private state's anticipated college enrollment increases.

Chairman Frank Erwin of the University of Texas board of regents said the board opposes enrollment ceilings, particularly the proposal to freeze the student body of the University's Austin campus at 35,000 in 1972.

"We feel we have an obligation to the people of Texas to take students as long as possible," Erwin said. "I'd hate to see us get to the point where we take only A students It is my personal opinion that the trouble at Berkely was too many A students and not enough C students."

Sealy read a statement from President Earl Rudder of Texas A&M saying he had "reservations" about enrollment ceilings, "as a matter of principle and as a practical matter."

Dr. S.M. Kennedy, academic vice president of Texas Tech, said bigness was not necessarily undesirable because it offers aspiring scholars a wide variety of courses and the opportunity to explore their fields in depth.

Morris Hite, president of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce, said Dallas and Fort Worth each need a senior-level institution, rather than one to serve the two cities together as recommended.

Dr. Lo Cigarroa, Laredo surgeon, school board member and Laredo Junior College Trustee, and brother of board member Dr. Joaquin Cigarroa, made an impassioned plea for a two-year senior level school in that border town.

"The answer to the problem of poverty in the Laredo area is to provide its citizens with the education to lift themselves up. We earnestly need this college and are pleading for the help of the state of Texas," he said.

Dr. J.K. Williams, commissioner of higher education, said the report's $201 million proposal for new college-level institutions is designed mainly to provide ters to meet expected enrollment for new college-level institutions is designed mainly to provide facilities in major population centers to meet expected- enrollment booms. Because of limited funds, other additional colleges "would be substandard," he said.

"Poor education is a low form of theivery," Williams said.

Erwin said the Texas board of regents wanted the proposed four-year college in San Antonio to be located next to the university's San Antonio medical scho and to be made part of the Texas system.

He expressed personal opinion against the concept of senior level institutions offering oily work above the sophomore level. He said this was inefficient, particularly where a city already has a junior college, because of duplication of such facilities as libraries.

And the proposal of state aid for private colleges "just doesn't make any sense at all. . .I'm sorry for their situation, but not sorry enough to make worse our own situation,' 'he said.

Smaller Paycheck Due Next Month

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is expected to sign within a few days the 10 per cent income tax surcharge bill and taxpayers should find paychecks smaller before the end of July.

The first federal income tax hike in 17 years, coupled with a $6-billion cut in federal spending, whipped through the Senate Friday by a surprisingly large margin, although passage had been expected.

The vote was 64-16 with some senators predicting that economic recession, not rekindling of faith in the dollar, would be the result.

Johnson is sure to sign the measure despite misgivings on the depth of mandatory spending cuts. Just when was not certain. White House press secretary George Christian said probably in a few days.

Withholding rates will be raised 10 per cent for individuals in the first pay period 15 days after the measure is signed.

Passage of the bill marked the first time Congress had agreed to boost federal income taxes since 1951 during the Korean war when —as now—U.S. forces were heavily engaged in an Asian war.

The 10 per cent surcharge is retroactive to April 1 for individuals, Jan. 1 for corporations. It expires June 30, 1969 unless extended.

A few senators warned against the bill in the final debate, but the great majority appeared to feel it was essential to demonstrate the fiscal responsibility of the government.

Henry H. Fowler, secretary of the Treasury, hailed the congressional approval as a "momentous decision."

The surtax has the effect of raising nearly every taxpayer's bill by 10 per cent. In other words, if you now pay $1,000 a year in taxes, you would pay $1,008 if it were in effect for a full year.

Another way of putting it would be if you are paid weekly and $50 per week is deducted for federal income tax, $55 will be deducted when the tax goes into effect.

The only individuals exempt from the tax will be single persons with $1,000 or less of taxable income and couples with $2,000 or less

The spending cut provisions of the bill direct that $6 billion in federal outlays be slashed for the fiscal year starting July .

The measure also directs the President report to Congress next January as to how $8 billion of prior, unused appropriations, can be rescinded.

One of the most far-reaching provisions of the bill would set a permanent ceiling on regular federal employes of 2,366,000. This is 244,000 below current levels and would be achieved by not filling one out of every four vacancies.

Other provisions of the bill:

—Put off for a year, to July 1, 1969, the freeze provision on federal matching of AID to Families with Dependent Children included in the 1967 Social Security Act. Under this provision, the federal government would have limited its aid to the same proportion of the state's children which the state had on welfare rolls in the first three months of 1968.

—Extend until 1970 the present 10 per cent and 7 per cent respective rates on telephone and auto excise taxes, then provide for phasing them out so they would end in 1973.

—Provide for a speedup in income tax payments by smaller corporations so that eventually they would be on a current basis.

—Eliminate, effective May 1 this year, the tax exemption privilege on industrial development bond issues exceeding $1 million.

—Give tax exempt status to organizations providing various joint services to hospitals.

—Allow states two additional years, to Jan. 1, 1970, to buy the protection of the voluntary part of the medicare program for welfare recipients.

—allow jobless fathers to get both unemployment compensation and AFDC welfare checks in the same week.

—Direct the President to submit to Congress by Dec. 31 of this year comprehensive proposals for tax reform.

Appeal Is Planned For Pearl Birch

LOS ANGELES (AP — An attorney for Pearl Choate Birch says he will appeal a 1 to 10 year sentence against the 60-year-old widow of South Pasadena millionaire Albert O. Birch.

Mrs. Birch, confined to a wheelchair because of a heart attack, was sentenced Friday by Superior Judge Kathleen Parker, following the defendent's conviction Jan. 23 of firing a shot that almost hit a Compton policeman and another man.

Mrs. Birch's probation record showed she spent 12 years in a Texas prison for a 1949 murder conviction. She also was convicted of assault with intent to commit murder in 1946.

The assault conviction was overturned on grounds the trial judge erred in his instructions to the jury.

During the California trial, the prosecution said Mrs. Birch fired a .22 caliber rifle bullet that narrowly missed Compon police man Rex Council and Rod Ferguson, brother-in-law of a tenant who lived in a duplex owned by Mrs. Birch.

The incident stemmed from a rent dispute with the tenant last July. Mrs. Birch had ordered the doors to the tenant's apartment removed for alleged nonpayment of rent.

The former nurse was wheeled into the courtroom by a bailiff to receive the sentence. She suffred a heart attack while under going tests at the Californai Institution for Women.

A motion to release Mrs. Birch on bail pending appeal was denied.

Traffic Deaths Down Slightly

AUSTIN (AP)—The Department of Public Safety said Saturday 1,407 persons have been killed in traffic accidents in Texas this year, 12 fewer than a year ago at this time.

The deaths occurred in 1,178 fatal accidents, up 16 from the comparable 1967 period.

Seek Metric System Study

By ROBERT A. HUNT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The gram and the meter, the foot and the pound—those scarred old veterans of earlier congressional wars—are about to square off again on Capitol hill.

Scheduled to reach the House floor Monday is a bill to authorize a three-year study of increasing the use of the metric system—grams and meters—in the United States.

The bill would put a $500,000 ceiling on the first year of the study by the Commerce Department.

"It's got to come. We can't go on using our present system and do business around the world," says Rep. George P. Miller, D-Calif., a chief backer of the bill.

But Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, a leading republican economizer in the House, gives an indication that the debate which started when the French adopted the metric system in 1795 is likely to continue.

"What do we need a study of the metric system for," says Gross. "I'm sure the Bureau of Standards can give us all the information we need."

Miller is chairman of the House Science and Astronautics Committee which cleared the current bill in February 1967.

A similar bill was passed by the Senate in the last Congress and was approved by this same house committee but never got past the House Rules Committee, which clears bills for House consideration.

The metric system, proponents say, is in use where 90 per cent of the world's population lives today. The United States system — or so-called English system—is based on the foot and pound, although use of the metric system is legal. A number of industries, including pharmaceuticals, have converted to its use.

Miller's bill would beam the study to determine the impact on this country of increasing worldwide use of the metric system and to appraise the desirability and practicability of increasing the use of metric weights and measures here.

Sr. Clippers, Jets Triumph

Snyder's Senior Teenage League teams knocked off their Colorado City foes in convincing fashion Friday night. The Clippers overcame a 1-0 Red lead with a 6 - run outburst in the 5th and went on to post a 9-1 vicotry in a tilt played in Towle Park. The Jets pounded the Blacks 14-4 in a road game.

A single, a stolen base and an error gave the Reds their 1-0 lead in the 3rd.

The roof fell in in the 6th as three walks, a stolen base, a single by Wesley Bishop, a double by Mickey Almond, and another single by Ronnie Potts put the Clippers in command for good. They added three tallies in the 6th on a walk, a stolen base and back-to-back singles by Randy Levens and Bishop.

Bishop provided most of the offensive fireworks, getting three singles in four trips and batting in three runs. Almond and Potts were credited with 1 rbi each. Almond went 2 for 4. Holt led off the game with a triple.

Steve Holder fired a 4-hitter for the Clippers, giving up only singles to Safford, Parham and Bracy while fanning 11.

The Clippers shelled Lujan from the mound in the 5th and he was replaced by Parker, who also was greeted rudely as Potts touched him for a single that brought in a run.

The Clippers remain undefeated in league play.

Jet fans didn't have to wait as long to find out how their team would fare. They tallied four runs in the 1st and a couple of more in the 2nd and never were behind, adding five in the 3rd and three in the 4th.

David McGinnis cracked a bases - loaded home run in the 3rd to go with an earlier single. Steve Moffett went 3 for 4 while Jodi Williamson and Merce Hernandez added singles to the fireworks.

Hernandez allowed only five hits. Only one of them was for extra bases as Hoyle slammed a double. Garcia and Manes each singled while Haggerton, the losing hurler, rapped out two safeties in three trips.

Smith, Meter Champ, Picks His Races

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Tommie Smith knew which races not to run and as a result is the 200-meter champion of the Amateur Athletic Union's track and field meet.

"Are you glad you weren't in those 100s yesterday?" Smith was asked Friday before he went out to win the 200 in 20.3 seconds, a meet record.

"I prefer to look at it," replied Smith about the 100-meter distance in which both Charlie Greene and Jim Hines broke the world record with times of 9.9 in their seimfinal heats. Ronnie Ray Smith finished second in Hines heat and was also caught in 9.9.

Tommie Smith also stays dout of the 400, which he holds the world record as he does in the 200.

"I'm not crazy. They just finished the 400," he said, pointing at the track. "And they're running the 200 now."

Athlete of the meet award went to George Young, who continued his amazing year by winning the 3,000-meter steeplechase in 8:30.5, an American record.

Young, a 30-year-old schoolteacher in Casa Grande, Ariz., has yet to lose a race this season and figures to make the Olympic team for the third time.

Meet records went to Lee Evans with a 45.0 400 meters; Wade Bell, who led a tremendously fast 800 field at 1:45.5; Art Walker, who won the triple jump at 53-9¼; Ron Whitney at 49.6 in the 400-meter hurdles; Tracy Smith at 28:47.0 in the 10,000, and Ron Denbon at 1238.0 in the 3,000-meter walk.

Other victors were Frank Covelli with a 269-6 javelin toss, John Mason at 3:43.1 in the 1,500 meters, Jay Silvester at 203-9 in the discus and Ed Hanks at 6-11 in the high jump.

Graebner Vs. Tom Okker

By GEOFFREY MILLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LONDON (AP) — Clark Graebner, United States Davis Cup star, stepped up Saturday to face Tom Okker of The Netherlands.

The two men—both recognized as amateurs, although Okker is playing for prize money—clashed in the final of the London Grass Courts championship at Queen's Club.

Between them they have downed five pros—four of them current members of the touring circuses—in reaching the final. But Okker claimed the biggest scalp Friday, defeating Australia's Rod Laver, the world's No. 1 professional money-winner, 6-4, 6-4.

Okker's other victims were Nikki Pilic of Yugoslavia and Peru's Alex Olmedo, formerly a star of the pro circus and now a coach at a Los Angeles hotel. Graebner knocked out the promoter-controlled Australians Fred Stolle and Roy Emerson. In the semis he beat Russia's Alexander Metreveli 6-4, 6-2.

Whoever wins today's final, Okker and Graebner have helped to establish one thing. Next week's first open Wimbledon will be even more open that the experts predicted.

KOOSMAN AFTER ELEVENTH VICTORY—Rookie pitcher Jerry Koosman of the New York Mets holds up two fingers to make an eleven -- the number of games he has won so far this season. His 8-2 victory over the Houston Astros in New York brought his record to 11-2 and was his sixth straight win. (AP Wirephoto)

Sir Ivor Gets Nod

DUBLIN (AP) — Sir Ivor is the odds on favorite to win the 1½ mile Irish Sweeps Derby at the Curragh on Saturday and so make many people throughout the world richer and happier.

The bookies made Sir Ivor, owned by Raymond Guest of Old Westbury, N.Y., a 4-9, betting shot to collar the first prize of $131,796.

Winning the race is the big thing as far as Sir Ivor, his owner, his jockey and trainer are concerned but only incidental to thousands throughout the world.

Irish sweepstake tickets have been sold in more than 100 countries. And it's in that fashion that the race takes on an international interest.

The Irish sweeps have several pools. On this one there could be as many as 20. Tickets have been sold from here to the United States, to Australia, to Germany.

The first prize in each pool is $120,000. Second prize is $48,000 and $24,000 for third.

Sir Ivor won the English Derby as a result of a storming finish by jockey Lester Piggott.

The bookies think there's no horse in the field to defeat him. They made Sir Ivor 4-9 and Ribero, owned by Charles Engelhard of Newark, N.J., is second choice at 10-1. That is a measure of Sir Ivor's class over the rest of the field.

Guest, the American ambassador to Ireland, has one other horse in the race, Ballygoran, a 40-1 shot.

R.S. Reynolds Jr. of Richmond, Va., owns two probable starters, Jean Lafite, 50-1, and Meadsville, 20-1.

The Amazon's 3,900-mile length is exceeded by the Nile's 4,145 miles. But the area drained by the Amazon — some 2,368,000 square miles — from the Andean highlands of Bolivia, Peru, Ecuador and Colombia to the Atlantic Ocean — is nearly twice that of any other river.

Lanky Australian Pops Par Again

TORONTO (AP) — The most amazing thing about Bruce Develin's two sub-par rounds in the Canadian Open golf championship is that the lanky Australian ever got to the tournament.

Devlin was rerouted and "I wouldn't have tried to qualify if I hadn't been exempt," he said after taking sole possession of first place Friday with a two-round total of five-under-par 135.

When Devlin arrived here early this week, his failure to file a formal entry was discovered and he was only allowed to play after a meeting between the Royal Canadian Golf Association and the Professional Golfers Association.

Devlin scored a three-under-par 67 in the opening roind Thursday to share the lead with Ken Still and shot a 68 Friday to take a three-stroke lead over his nearest pursuers.

His second round was played through a steady drizzle that hit the 6,792-yard St. George's Golf Club course.

Three strokes behind Devlin were Still and Bob Charles of New Zealand. Still carded a 72 Friday while Charles came in with a 68.

Billy Casper, the defneding champion, was the only member of golfdom's Big Three to finish at par. Starting the day at one-under 69, Casper carded a 71 and tied with seven other U.S. professionals at 140. The others were Ferd Marti, R. H. Sikes, Lou Graham, Rives McBee, Jack Ewing, Bob Smith and Tom Weiskopf.

Jack Nicklaus scored 68 Friday and was one over at 141. Arnold Palmer, who also missed the cut in the $200,000 world Cahmpionship here last year, finished with 149 and headed for home.

IN LITTLE LEAGUE

Braves A's Rip Cards, White Sox

That was something else those Braves pulled in their Little League tussle with the Cards Friday night. Trailing 4-0 going into the 6th, they unleashed a 6-run rally to win the game by a 6-5 count.

Also on Friday night, the Athletics edged the White Sox 9-7 in a thrilling see-saw battle.

There were plenty of extra base hits in that Brave - Card affair. The Cards took a 3-0 lead in the 1st with Randy Potts doubling in three runs. Larry Beard hit a home run in the 3rd to boost the count to 4-0. Then, in the 6th, the Cards added another tally on Jeff Richardson's roundtripper.

John Boren, however, gave the Cards a sample of what was in store for them by knocking one over the fence to lead off the 6th for the Braves. Then five successive singles by Ralph Lewis, the winning pitcher, Dennis Young, Tim Jones, Randy Riggs and Bryan Hargrove followed by resounding doubles by Steve Talbot and Greg Godair gave the Braves five more runs and the victory.

The A's got two more hist and two more runs than the White Sox. They scored in every inning, but the Sox were held scoreless in the 2nd, and that accounted for the difference.

Sidney Montgomery cracked a double and Aaron Hartsfield stroked two singles to pace the A's. Robert Brazjel had two doubles and V. T. Robinson boomed a triple for the Sox.

Racing Owners Are Enthusiastic

OCEANPORT, N.J. (AP) — Ponce de Leon failed in Florida but four women race horse owners believe they have found a fountain of youth in New Jersey.

"We heard that if you breed horses, you never get old," explained Mrs. Philip Iselin, a member of the quartet that operates under the stable name of Elkwood Farm.

"As long as you have yearlings, you have something to look forward to."

This philosophy did not originate from the feminine mystique, however. It was the byword of Samuel D. Riddle, owner of the great Man o' War, and he died at the age of 89 in 1951.

Elkwood Farm is a recent venture and actually still is in a pre-yearling stage, since their first mare was bred this year. However, the women have experienced the racing thrills already.

The four women are Mrs. Iselin, Mrs. Leon Hess and Mrs. H.A. "Jimmy" Jones —wives of Monmouth Park officers — and Mrs. Maurice Gross, whose husband is a Boston insurance executive.

They organized Elkwood Farm on the spur of the moment.

"Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Gross and I were at the Saratoga sales when a filly came up for auction late one evening," recalled Mrs. Iselin, wife of Monmouth Park's president.

"Jimmy thought she was going at a low price and he bought her for himself as a broodmare prospect. We gals thought it would be fun to start a stable, so we took her away from him."

Jimmy is H.A. Jones, former trainer of Calumet Farm who is now Monmouth Park's director of racing. The women refer to him as their adviser.

The filly was La Chunga, who won five of 19 races in 1966 and 1967.

"We were never in the red with her," added Mrs. Jones. "She paid her own way. We retired her when our adviser thought she wasn't good enough to win stakes, and she's now in Florida to be bred. So, she ended up where Jimmy wanted her in the first place."

Now, awaiting La Chunga's offspring, the ladies center their attention and affection on a 2-year-old colt named Cold. By Swoon's Son, out of Bear North, the colt was acquired by private transaction. Mrs. Hess, whose husband is a Monmouth Park director, joined the venture at this point.

"I felt that Cold looked like some of the great ones that Calumet had raced," said Mrs. Jones, whose husband and father-in-law, the late Ben A. Jones, trained Citation, Coaltown, Whirlaway and others. "I think that breeding is the most interesting thing, but it's fun to race horses when you have a good one."

Cold won his first start at Hialeah, his third at Garden State and was second in the Rancocs Stakes next time out while the winner set a track record, also at Garden State.

A's, Braves Triumph In Farm Loop

The Athletics sunk the White Sox 8-5 with a big last inning while the Braves got in their licks early to decision the Cardinals 9-2 in two Farm League tussles held Friday night in Towle Park.

Trailing 2-3, the A's erupted for six runs in the 4th on singles by Jimmy Gutierrez, Phil Banks and Benjamin Griggs to take command in their affray with the White Sox. The lead held up, although the Sox countered twice in the 5th.

Guiterrez also had a double to go with his single and Anthony Lewis was credited with an earlier single for the A's. Four Sox singled — D. James, Paul Villaneuva, Robert Riggins and George Willis.

The Braves tallied once in the 1st, then six times in the 2nd to take charge early. Doyle Browning hit two singles and Jeffery Brown socked a double to pace the Brave attack. Also credited with singles were Neely Landrum, Ricky Jackson and Mac Wellborn.

For the Cards, Mike Dickenson and Richard Cornett each slammed two singles while Nelson Eckert bagged a double. Singles and Darrel Dryden, Jal Dennis and Darrel Rhodes.

Golf Jinx Hits Mickey

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

SUTTON Mass. (AP) — Maybe Lightining doesn't strike twice in the same spot, but don't try to convince Mickey Wright, golf's all-time top money-winner on the Ladies PGA tour.

Seven years ago, in the second round of the Lady Carling Open at Pleasant Valley Country Club here, Mickey's chances were wrecked when she hit her tee shot into water on the sixth hole.

Pleasant Valley later remodeled and renumbered the holes. Now the old sixth is the 17th, but numbers don't make much difference to Mickey. It's still a jinx.

Trailing by six strokes after an opening-round 78, Miss Wright made a bid to pick up ground Friday in the $20,000 LPGA Championship.

She had an even par round after sinking a 40-foot birdie putt on the 16th green. Then came the 17th.

A few minutes later, she holed out with a fat nine, five over par on the 391-yard hole. Unnerved, she was two over with a seven on the 18th—a total of 16 strokes in two holes—for an 80 and a 36-hole total of 158, 11 strokes off the pace.

Sandra Post, 20 of Oakville, Ont., held a one-stroke lead entering the third round in the 72-hole tournament. Miss Post carded a two-over-par 75 Friday for a halfway score of 147.

One stroke back were defending champion Kathy Whitworth and Germany's Gerda Whalen. Tied at 149 were Sandra Haynie, Sandra Spuzich, Murle Lindstrom and Sue Maxwell Berning.

CHECKING HEARTBEAT — Coach John Cheffers hangs out of a car window to take the heartbeat of Rhodesian marathon runner John Shava. Shava, hoping to enter the Olympics in high altitude Mexico City, continues his training despite a United Nations ban on persons traveling on Rhodesian passports. (AP Wirephoto)

ChiSox Boo Singers, Batter Stephenson

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jerry Stephenson was much more entertaining to Chicago White Sox fans than the bands and singers. But the Boston pitcher must have thought he had the lead in a Greek tragedy.

After watching the White Sox lose 6-3 to Boston in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader Friday, the fans were to be entertained between games by bands and singers.

The bands and singers appeared with long hair, wearing beads and hippie clothing. Before the program was two songs old they were booed off the field.

Enter Stephenson, making his first start since May 9. More than two hours later he made his exit, after the White Sox had battered him for 13 hits and all their runs in a 10-4 victory.

In other AL games, Washington topped Oakland 7-3, Baltimore edged California 4-2, Cleveland nipped Detroit 4-3 in 13 innings and the New York Yankees blasted Minnesota 11-6.

The White Sox jumped to a 4-2 lead early in the second game and then wrapped it up by scoring six runs, three of them unearned, in the fifth inning to produce their biggest run output of the season.

Boston got its six runs in the first game in the second inning. Ken Harrelson drove in two with a bases-loaded single and Reggie Smith tripled home two more. Harrelson also drove in a run in the nightcap and had three hits in each game.

It was a brave performance," Manger Dick Williams said of Stephenson's complete game battering. "He was throwing good at the end. I was going to take him out, but he knew the situation — three injured pitchers — and said he'd stay in. It took a lot of guts. He saved me two relievers by going all the way."

Frank Howard and Bernie Allen provided the power as Washington beat Oakland and ended an eight-game losing streak. Howard hit his 24th homer with two men on. It was his sixth against Oakland in nine games. Allen also hit a three-run homer.

Boog Powell hit a two-run homer, Don Buford singled in a run and Dave Johnson doubled home another in Baltimore's victory. Dave McNally had a three-hitter through eight innings but needed relief help from Moe Drabowsky and Pete Richert in the ninth when California scored its second run.

League-leading Detroit took a 3-2 lead in the top of the 13th when Jim Northrup doubled home Mickey Stanley, but Cleveland came back to win on a two-run, two-out homer by Tony Horton.

Detroit starter Mickey Lolich had retired 20 straight batters until Jose Cardenal opened the ninth with a single. He came home to tie the game on Tommy Harper's two-out double.

The Yankees snapped Minnesota's six-game winning string behind the hitting of Bobby Cox and Joe Pepitone. Cox drove in four runs with a two-run homer, triple and single and Pepitone hit a three-run homer.

Tony Oliva hit a 460-foot homer for the Twins, which drove Mel Stottlemyre, Yankee starter and winner, from the mound with a four-run rally in the ninth.

Challengers Cut Into Texas Lead

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Just when Arkansas and Albuquerque appear ready to open a big lead in the Texas League race, their closest pursuers quickly close the gap.

The Eastern and Western Division leaders currently are engaged in long series with their principal challengers, Memphis and El Paso.

Memphis took a 3-1 edge over Arkansas in their six-game series by beating the Travelers 7-5 Friday night. The triumph cut Arkansas' lead to two games.

In the Western Division, El Paso, after two straight losses to Albuquerque, defeated the Dodgers 7-5. They have two more games to play in the current series. The loss left Albuquerque only one game in front.

Amarillo and San Antonio, battling each other for the bottom two places in the Western Division, split a doubleheader Friday night.

Larry Tolliver tossed a four-hitter as Amarillo won the opener 8-2. Archie Reynolds gave up only two singles, both to Bobby Taylor, as last-place San Antonio took the nightcap 4-0. It was Reynolds' ninth pitching triumph in 11 decisions.

Last-place Dallas-Fort Worth, struggling to catch Shreveport in the Eastern Division, defeated the Braves 3-2 when Danny Walton sigled home Gene Etter, who had doubled, in the eighth inning.

Ji DeNeff's two-run homer in the seventh inning broke a 5-5 tie and reliever Bill Boehlert retired the last nine Albuquerque batters in order as El Paso won.

Denny Musgraves stopped a three-run Arkansas rally in the ninth frame to preserve starter Ron Paul's victory for Memphis.

43,002 See Soccer Game

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The largest crowd ever for a soccer game in the United States, 43,002, turned out at New York Yankee Stadium Friday night and watched Santo of Brazil defeat Napili of Italy in an exhibition 4-2.

The appearance of Pele, regarded as the greatest player in the world, helped attract the huge crowd. The previous record turnout for a soccer game in the U.S. was 41,598 when Santos played Inter of Milan in New York two years ago.

The attendance was much lower at the two regularly scheduled games in the North American Soccer League. The Chicago Mustangs beat the Boston Beacons 6-5 before 5,751 at Fenway Park. In Washington, a turnout of 5,266 watched the Whips defeat Toronto 3-2.

Metros Travel With Charley, Astros Win

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Elderly Ed Charles is poet laureate and den father for the exuberant New York Mets. He doesn't do badly with a bat either.

Charles, at 35 a relic among the youthful Mets, joined in the fun with a single and double Friday night, driving in three runs in New York's 5-1 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The two hits boosted his average to .303, ninth best in the National League. It might have been enough to inspire a poem.

Poetry is Ed Charles' hobby.

poetry and the Mets. I've never had so much fun playing baseball," laughs Charles, who seems to have been rejuvenated by his fuzzy-faced teammates.

Elsewhere in the National League Friday night, Chicago tied a 62-year-old record for scoreless innings and then defeated Cincinnati 3-2, Houston edged Philadelphia 2-1, San Francisco shut out Pittsburgh 3-0 and St. Louis edged Atlanta 4-3 in 13 innings.

Charles was a ballplayer without a team during the winter when the Mets needed roster room to protect younger men and released him. But he was invited to spring training and made the club with some lusty Florida hitting.

He's been New York's hottest hitter over the last month and has spurred a Met drive of 12 victories in the last 18 games and a jump into sixth place, a half-game out of the first division and one game under .500.

Charles, who has hit in nine straight games, doubled home two runs in the third inning and then singled another run across as the Mets wrapped it up with three in the eighth. Dick Selma won his seventh with late-inning help from Al Jackson, who struck out four of the five batters he retired.

The Cubs tied the record for team futility with two scoreless innings, running their string to 48, then busted out of it with three straight walks and a sacrifice fly by Billy Willians in the third inning against the Reds.

The record was set by the Philadelphia Athletics in 1906.

Their share of immortality assured, the Cubs pushed two more runs across to beat the Reds. Singles by Adolfo Phillips and Williams drove them across. Johnny Bench homered for Cincinnati.

Rusty Staub drove in both Houston runs and Mike Cuellar bested rookie Jeff James with a six-hitter to beat the Phillies.

Staub doubled one run across in the first and singled the tie-breaker home in the fifth. Cuellar struck out 12 for his fourth victory.

Mike Shannon's 13th inning double scored Bobby Tolan, who had singled, as the Cardinals nipped Atlanta. It was the sixth straight victory for first-place St. Louis.

Hank Aaron' 494th career homer had tied it for the Braves in the eighth. The homer put him ahead of Lou Gehrig in eighth place on the all-time home run list.

Bob Bolin hurled a four-hitter and Willie Mays had a hand in two Giant runs, helping San Francisco drop Pittsburgh.

Mays singled Ty Cline to third base in the fourth inning and Willie McCovey's fly ball brought the run home. Three innings later, Mays singled, raced to third on McCovey's double and scored on a wild pitch.

Rebs Sock Braves 9-4 In Jr. Loop

The Rebels overcame a 3-0 deficit with four runs in the 4th, one in the 5th, three in the 6th and another one in the 7th to score a 9-4 triumph over the Braves in a Junior Teenage League affray Friday night in Towle Park.

Amazingly enough, the Braves outhit the Rebs, 9-5, but they left 16 men stranded on base while the Rebs made the most of seven Annie Oakleys.

All of the Reb hits were singles. Kenny Patrick got two of them while the remainder were divided among Jessie Speer, James Hood and Gary Harless.

The Braves couldn't punch out anything but singles either. Neal Starnes, Jackie Murray and Gary Smith each slammed two while Scott Morgan, Max Rainwater and Paul Watkins each rapped one.

Neal Starnes and Bill Branson shared mound duties for the Braves while Speer was credited with the win.

Rumor Wilt Will Move

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain, the towering, high-scoring basketball star of the Philadelphia 76ers, will be traded to the Los Angeles Lakers, a San Francisco sports announcer said Friday.

"I know it's going to take place. The only thing I'm not sure about is who will hold the press conference," Lon Simmons, a baseball announcer for the San Francisco Giants, told The Associated Press.

Simmons, who is in Pittsburgh with the Giants, said the deal will be made with the Lakers for Jerry Chambers, Dar Imhoff, possibly Archie Clark, and an undetermined amount of cash.

Pressed on his scources, Simmons would not reveal them, but he did say, "I just didn't come up with this out of thin air."

Chamberlain, 7-foot-1 is one of the highest paid athletes in the history of sports. His salary is estimated at $250,000.

A trade for the super-star has been reported for some time. But as late as Thursday night the 76ers said there is "no deal cooking."

CAREER CORNER

By F. J. LAIN

NURSING OFFERS MANY CHOICES

The Phoenix (Ariz.) Gazette and Miss Lain awarded a new Mercury portable courtesy of the Royal Typewriter Co., to Lyn Brannon, Phoenix, for her question.

"I'm very interested in NURSING; some information, please?"

A — You've picked a career offering unusual advantages. As a nurse, you'll be respected as a highly trained member of a dedicated profession. In addition, your nursing skills will be invaluable in raising your children and running your home, if you trade your white cap for a wedding ring. And if you return to nursing, even after a long absence, refresher courses can put you right back on the job — at an age where returning secretaries and models, for instance, could find the going very rough.

WOULD YOU BE A GOOD NURSE? Nursing's basic goal is service to people; unless you can bring sympathy, understanding, tolerance, adaptability AND a durable sense of humor to this work, you'd best choose another field. That goes for cream - puffs and dropouts, too. Good health is another prerequisite; so are the willingness and the ability to learn.

HOW MUCH TRAINING WILL YOU NEED: You must be a graduate of a professional school of nursing approved by a state board of nursing, and you must pass a state board examination to practice as a nurse. Nursing schools offer three different programs — associate degree (approximately two years), diploma (usually three years), and baccalaureate degree (four or five years) — which prepare you to become a Registered Nurse. These schools require entrants to be high school graduates, and often specify grades in the top third of their class, possibly with demonstrated competence in science and mathematics. (Frequently a year in a public vocational school, hospital, or junior or senior college can qualify you to become a Licensed Practical Nurse; entrance requirements are not as strict, nor are career opportunities as varied. Look for a school accredited by the National League for Nursing.)

AS AN R. N., WHAT ARE YOUR CHOICES? Want to be a hospital nurse? Still in the majority, they plan a nd give bedside care, administer prescribed medications, supervise nursing auxiliaries — or, with added preparation, specialize in operating room, geriatrics or pediatrics, in psychiatric nursing, or administrative supervision. How about private duty, concentrating on one patient's care? Or working with governmental health departments or voluntary agencies to promote a community's health, as a public health nurse? Schools . . . industry . . . the military . . . and many more are beckoning. With all these posts to fill, you may choose to teach others. Add a master's degree — and, if possible, a doctorate — to your baccalaureate degree, and be a nurse educator!

WHAT WILL YOU EARN? Salaries vary with training, experience, employer, and even locale (generally highest in the West, lowest in the South). For example, in 1967 the Veterans Administration was starting inexperienced nurses with associate degrees at $5,807, while other federal agencies were offering associate degree holders $5,331, and requiring a year of experience or additional nursing education as well. One safe diagnosis: With the ever-increasing demand for qualified nurses in every field of medicine, salaries are on the rise.

Burns Didn't Plan This Crazy Role

NEW YORK (AP) — As David Burns puts it, "I've been doing crazy, eccentric things all my life, but this I didn't plan."

One of the theater's most steadily employed actors since he first carried a spear onstage in 1921, the waggish, gravelly-voice Burns managed to add a couple of weird footnotes to thespic history when he got back to Broadway the other night, exactly 10 weeks after he was supposed to.

By so doing, he became the first star of record to replace a standby. And for the first time, a player got a pay raise for not being there.

"My contract said the salary would go up after the production cost was paid off, and that happened while I was away," he notes. "It didn't say anything about me being on hand to perform."

A thing like that can make a man wonder about the virtue of being prompt.

'I've always been a nut about punctuality," he sighs. "But there's a saying—punctuality is a waste of time."

Burns doesn't let the thought really disturb him, however. As someone once remarked: "He has the soul of a butterfly chaser." He also has a 40-acre farm thronged with poison ivy and groundhogs. He studies Chinese. And he is the one actor ever known to have invaded the office of Broadway producer David Merrick clad only in his underwear.

"I've gotten a lot of jobs doing things like that," he says of that latter caprice.

The story behind his belated appearance in the current hit, Arthur Miller's "The Price," might have ended grimly. You'd never know it in conversation with the 66-year-old veteran of 20 musicals, a dozen dramas, films and TV performances.

Four days before the Miller play opened at the Morosco, Burns was stricken with a serious abdominal ailment complicated by peritonitis.

His illness was the last in a series of dire mishaps which befell preparation of the drama, making the eventual critical and public acclaim all the sweeter. His portrayal of an old philosopher, redolent with ethnic accents, dominated reviews of the drama during the tryout in Philadelphia.

"I didn't want to come back and take the part from Harold Gary who had taken over," says Burns, "but everyone wanted me to. Miller kissed me when I showed up for a run-through (a single rehearsal was all he got before returning).

"But I didn't want Gary to feel bad—life's too short for that. I could always get a job someplace." Gary has stayed on, in his old standby assignment.

Burns has a particularly soft spot for the show's producer, Robert Whitehead. "He comes on looking like a villain in that mustache, but he's a softie." While in the hospital, the visiting impresario dropped a check for $1,000 on the bed.

'I said, 'Everything's paid for. I don't need it.' And he said, 'Get yourself some halvah or a ham sandwich.' I don't care if I ever work for him again, he's Angel No. 7."

When "The Price" stint eventually ends—'I signed for a year but I'm not sure now when that is"—Burns can pick among three or four bids that are pending.

"Roles always scare me," he says. "What I like best is visiting service centers and telling jokes with the boys. When I don't get paid I'm relaxed. It's crazy, but when you get paid all that money for a movie, it makes you somehow tighten up."

Always, of course, there's that farm at East Stroudsburg, Pa., 'the only farm anywhere without topsoil. Just rocks, poison ivy, sumac, groundhogs and snakes.

SCIENTISTS ARE EXCITED

Mystery Signals In Space

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

GREEN BANK, W. Va. (AP) —Across trillions of miles from the outer distances of space, mysterious signals are reaching man on earth.

What are they? Evidences of an advanced civilization somewhere "out there?" Or only still unidentified natural phenomena?

Whatever they are, the signals, discovered by astronomers of England's Cambridge University late last year, have excited scientists throughout the world.

Astronomers are betting heavily that the pulsars—the signal-senders— eventually will be identified as natural celestial objects, perhaps stars whose internal fires have largely burned out, the so-called "white dwarfs." Or, perhaps they'll provide evidence to support a theory held by scientists that explosions of supernoval have littered the universe with neutron stars.

But the same sky-gazers are hedging their best by conceding the possibility—but only the possibility—that the signals are from an inhabited planet far beyond earth's solar system.

"The civilization concept has not yet been ruled out, and remains a possibility," said Dr. Kenneth Kellermann of the National Science Foundation's Radio Astronomy Observatory at Green Bank.

There is no conclusive evidence one way or the other, Kellermann said.

Dr. Frank Drake, director of the U.S. observatory at Arecibo, Puerto Rico, agreed, but added, "It is our opinion that intelligent origin is very unlikely."

Drake said there are two strong arguments against the possibility of the signals originating from an advanced civilization: The vast energy required to transmit them, and great number of radio frequencies waste incompatible with intelligent beings.

Scientists have long been intrigued by the idea that life, as it is known on earth, exists elsewhere in the universe, although most of them do not believe it exists on the other planets of earth's solar system.

"Present indications are that there is a very high degree of probability that life forms may have emerged elsewhere in the universe," Sir Bernard Lovell, director of Great Britain's satellite-tracking observator at Jodrell Bank, has said. "Man must give up the idea that he is unique—or at least the idea that the solar systemis unique."

Here Lovell makes the primary argument for the theory of a plurality of worlds—a possibility first advanced by theologians in the 14th century. The argument goes like this: Man's galaxy is only one among literally billions, and among these galaxies there must be millions of other stars, similar to man's sun, that possess planets capable of supporting life.

Among scientists striving to determine if the mysterious pulsars are messages from another world, or purely natural phenomena, are the astronomers who man the Green Bank observatory high in the Allegheny Mountains of West Virginia.

Here is secluded Deer Creek Valley one recent night, two of the men gathered around an electronic instrument in a little shack at the base of one of the world's largest radio telescopes —a huge silvery dish of steel and aluminum, as tall as a 22-story building.

The 300-foot diameter dish of the radio telescope picks up radiowaves emitted by celestial objects, permitting the instrument in the shack to monitor their progress across the void. Two needles traced parallel lines on moving graphpaper.

Above the shack, the antenna was poised to try and pick up radio signals from one of four recently-discovered mysterious, pulsating radio sources or pulsars.

This night's target was reckoned to be the closest of the four to the earth-45 light-years or 270 trillion miles away.

If the antenna picked up the pulsars, the signals would be recorded on the graphpaper inside the shack. Earlier in the even ing a hunt for one of the other pulsars had failed.

So the men had their fingers crossed as they watched the squiggly lines—one colored red, the other green—trace a monotonously regular pattern that meant no signals had been received.

Suddenly, at 7:59:30, both needles swerved slightly. For several seconds, distinct spikes erupted from among the squiggles.

One of the astronomers, Dr. Heinz Wendker, 29, sucked in his breath sharply as the spokes appeared, then said, cautiously, "It could be the pulsar, but it also could be a big truck on Route 28!

"I'm not sticking my neck out to say definitely it was the pulsar. But something that looks like a few pulses showed up at just the right time."

For Wendker, a visiting astronomer from the University of Illinois, it was his first experience in monitoring the mysterious signals regularly spaced at slightly more than a second apart for three of them, and a quarter of a second apart for this particular target.

Whatever the nature of the pulsars, one of them—called CP-0950—had been expected to come within range of the Green Bank telescope for exactly 120 seconds this night, with peak intensity at 7:59:30 p.m. and precisely that time, action started on the graph paper.

Dr. Michael Davis of the observatory's staff said after analyzing the readings that there was "a fairish possibility" that the signals came from the pulsar.

If the spokes on the graph paper did represent some coded signal from a mysterious planet, the radio operator had sent them earthward on a May night in 1923. It would have taken 45 years for the signals to get to earth from the presumed distance of Pulsar CP-0950. He also was sending blind.

If the signals—whether natural or artificial—had indeed come from the pulsar, it was a notable score for the Green Bank telescope, for these reasons, according to Dr. Davis:

1. Signals from the four pulsars are as regular as a perfectly ticking clock when they do appear, but they are random signals. That is, their intensity varies, and weeks pass when the signals are too weak to be detected by any radio telescope on earth.

2. Green Bank's 300-footer is a "transit telescope" that has only one axis of rotation. It must always be pointed due north or south as regards the celestial sphere, and can catch its targets only as they cross the meridian.

In the case of each of the pulsars, this transit time is 120 seconds once every sideral day—the "star-day" that is about four minutes shorter than the earth's 24-hour day.

In contrast, the huge American "scope at Arecibo, Puerto Rico—featuring a 1,000-foot diameter, chicken-wire-like antenna set in a natural bowl among mountain peaks—can track pulsars for hours. And, at least two British instruments cantrack them for appreciable periods.

3. On this particular night, the Green Bank instrument was pulsar-tracking only as a sideline to its main mission of rechecking the status of several more conventional celestial radio sources discovered by astronomers of the University of Illinois.

And, for this main job, the instrument was geared to receive only on radio frequencies that are far from being the best bets for picking up the pulsars.

Service Held For Kincheloe Infant

Mr. and Mrs. John Kincheloe, Jerry and Billy, returned Friday from Ripon, Calif., where they attended funeral service for Mr. and Mrs. Kincheloe's infant grandson, Leroy.

Also surviving are a brother, Dewain; three sisters, Cammie, Suzanne and Rita; and the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Dyer of Stockton, Calif. Others from Snyder attending the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Kincheloe and Mr. and Mrs. Otis Kincheloe.

Says Tissue Differece Death Cause

HOUSTON (AP) — A source at St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital says an autopsy indicates that a man who received a sheep's heart last week failed to survive because of tissue differences.

The hart of a 125-pound ram which was transferred June 12 to Sam Willoughby was rejected immediately, the source said Friday.

Willoughby, 47, an insurance salesman from Waterloo, Iowa, died when electric shocks failed to stimulate the ram's heart after the transplant.

The sheep heart was used because a suitadle donor was unavailable. Doctors hoped the heart of a human being later could be substituted.

It was first thought that Willoughby died because he was too ill to support a transplanted heart.

The rejection was compared to a transfusion of incompatible blood, which can produce shock and death.

After laboratory studies reveal how immediate rejection can be controlled, a similar operation may be performed, the source said.

Another kind of rejection generally occurs about a week after the operation, the source said. The body fights the heart by creating white blood cells and antibodies, which often can be controlled with drugs.

Pins Are Awarded Five By Standard

Five members of Standard Oil Co. of Texas' SACROC District were honored at a pin dinner, held Friday night at the Snyder Country Club.

Honored for completing 15 years of service with the company were Robert H. Melton, Walter M. Suttle, Troy A. Greenlee, Lyle M. Alexander and Owen Dickey.

Other attending the dinner were Joseph C. Solari, Robert Mitchell, Troy Langford, Robert H. Stewart, Dr. Carl Dillaha, Kenneth Cole, Norman H. Phillips, J. A. Thompson and M. L. Broman.

Broman, SACROC district superintendent, gave a brief review of each honoree's career with the Standard Oil Co. of Texas as he was presented his service pin. On behalf of the company, appreciation was expressed to each employe for his 15 years of loyal, efficient service.

Following a steak dinner, Melton was "surprised" with a birthday cake. He said Friday was his "thirty - ninth birthday."
