

Ball Games And Picnic Planned For July Fourth

Wellington May Join League; Game Planned For Independence Day

Legion Picnic

Best Baby Contest To Be Feature Of Picnic At Riverside Park

Tentative plans for a baseball game in Wellington and a Legion picnic at Riverside on the Fourth of July completed the proposed activities of this county toward the celebration of the Fourth.

Although still uncertain, Ira Morgan, manager, stated that plans were being made for a baseball game on the diamond which is located in connection with the football field and stated that Wellington might join the baseball league, which has been organized by a number of surrounding towns.

The Legion has for the past two weeks been planning a carnival and picnic to be held at Riverside, seven miles north of Wellington on the Shamrock road. One of the principal events of the picnic will be a Better Babies contest, which is being sponsored by the Child Welfare Department of the American Legion Auxiliary. Every baby in the county under two years of age is eligible to enter the contest and all babies will be weighed and measured under professional supervision and the baby whose record stands out as the most nearly perfect will be given a cash prize of $5 by the American Legion and attending physician. The baby making the second most perfect record will be given a cash prize of $1 by the Legion Auxiliary.

On the night of July 4, the Merchants will also meet the Firemen in a soft ball game on the diamond south of the high school building.

Trains are running special excursion rates to other points over the United States and a large number of persons have stated that they expect to attend the celebration in Wichita Falls on that date.

Claud Almon Has Cotton Blooms

What is believed to be one of the first 1933 cotton blooms in Collingsworth County was this week brought in by Claud Almon, who lives near the country club. The stalk contained two blooms and five squares, and measured 14 inches in height.

Although badly in need of rain the crops of this county are well advanced and are reported by farmers to have a better stand than at a similar time last year.

Urge Disabled Veterans Take Medical Exams

The following announcement was made by Bill Seaberry concerning World War veterans whose disabilities have been connected with the service presumption: "The special presidential boards which will be appointed to review the folders of the world war veterans whose disabilities have been connected with the service presumption, will very probably be required to base their decisions and findings upon the evidence as shown in the veterans' folders."

"It is, therefore, of the greatest importance to these veterans that they immediately obtain any lay or medical evidence available which would indicate that their disabilities resulted from military or naval service, especially in those cases which were presumptively connected on first showing of disability more than one or two years after discharge." Persons caring for more detail information are urged to see Mr. Seaberry.

County Agent Known To Local Farmers

John O. Stovall, recently named by the Commissioners Court as County Agent, will be primarily concerned with the taking of applications for the Cotton Acreage Retirement Plan during the first few weeks, but plans to start his extension work as soon as the plan is settled.

Mr. Stovall is a native of West Texas, having been born and reared in Hill county, where he later operated a large wheat farm following his graduation from Texas A. and M.

For the past two years he has been district manager of the Crop Production Loan division of this section and is well known to many of the farmers of this county.

Wellington Boys Work In Oklahoma Forestry Camps

Arbuckle Mountains Form Background For Village Of Tents Of C. C. C.

By JOHN HOLT
DAVIS, Okla., June 27.—Nestled here in the Davis Mountains which surround Turner Falls, most of the Wellington C. C. C. boys who signed up for reforestation work have become an integral part of this huge "village of tents."

The eleven Wellington boys in this company, C. C. C. 1806, arrived here June 18 and immediately went to work putting the camp in order. Some of the boys were engaged in cleaning up the grounds while others put up the tents. Included in our village of tents are ten huge hospital tents, which serve as barracks for the recruits, and three private tents for the regular army men who are in charge; also three supply tents and one tent which serves as barber shop and library.

Our food is distributed in the regular army style and consists of a variety of wholesome foods. At present we eat on tables under the trees, but will have a new mess hall within a few days. Electricians are now busy installing lights in the tents and before long our homes are going to be fairly modern.

The camp is located four miles south of Davis, Oklahoma, and about one mile from Turner Falls. The scenery is beautiful here in the Arbuckle Mountains and there are plenty of good swimming pools near the camps. In fact we pass

Home Brew Raids Fail To Disclose Large Beer Sales

A series of "home brew raids" enacted by local officers during the past ten days failed to disclose any large amount of beer. The largest haul of the season from any one place was 35 bottles, V. L. Williams, deputy, said and no 3.2 has been taken in this county at all. Childress, Shamrock and Memphis, however, report extensive sales of 3.2 and officers in all three towns have secured beer in various raids.

Soft Ball League Gets Started As Ninety Sign Up On Six Teams For Four Games Week

With 90 men and boys representing six teams, a soft ball league was organized here Thursday and the following officials were announced today: R. F. Curry, president; Lowell Wells, secretary; L. W. King, treasurer; S. R. Pinkston, C. B. Anderson, directors. The schedule for the first half of the season includes 15 games, all of which will be played at night on the diamond behind the high school building. The schedule reads:

Cotton Rises To Highest Peak In Past Three Years

Cotton Sells Steady For Ten Cents Pound; Wheat At Dollar A Bushel

Orders Pour In

Mills, Wall Street, Foreign Countries Pour Orders In For Cotton

Cotton and wheat led the markets on a rampage Monday, which left the two commodities at a figure higher than has been recorded in the past two years as cotton sold at 10 cents a pound and more, while wheat stood at $1 a bushel.

Cotton today was from seven to eight points down from the closing figures Tuesday and reports at noon Wednesday gave July cotton at 10.20.

Crop curtailment—artificial and natural, domestic and foreign, gave the leading commodity markets their big increase. Extensive damage to grains, the effect of prolonged hot weather on cotton and the government's plan for less acreage sent buyers in a mad scramble for contacts and purchases.

Cotton orders poured in from Wall Street, Europe, commission houses, textile mills, and the Far East as the market thought it saw Washington's proposed cut in plantings. Futures zoomed $2 to $3 a bale. Final prices represented gains to $4 a bale and over. All months are selling for 10 cents a pound as the market pushed to its highest price since July, 1931.

The Wednesday noon market showed January, 10.68; March, 10.81; May, 10.99; July, 10.20.

The dollar followed a zig-zag course in foreign exchange trading, but the markets had their own worries and ignored currency fluctuations.

Outlaws Take Game Tuesday

In the first official soft ball game of the season, the Outlaws defeated the Utilities 25 to 9 Tuesday evening in a night game played on the official diamond behind the high school building.

Logan Dryden, second baseman, was the outstanding hitter of the game and played a nice game. Lester Bengie, pitcher, also played a nice game and accounted for some scores with hard, long driving hits. The entire Outlaw lineup slugged the ball and once batted through the entire order in one inning.

The Utilities rallied in the second, third and fifth innings with Son Strong getting the only home run for that side.

Both teams made numerous errors and are expected to be among the league leaders during the entire season.

Outlaws: Kade West, Logan Dryden, Donald Curry, Lester Bengie, C. C. Small, Richard Coker, Jake Roberts, Lowell Wells, Howard Mulder, Bill Mosely.

Utilities: C. Tapley, C. Ham, J. Ham, B. Hare, B. Ritmanich, C. Lowry, S. Strong, O. Starkey, J. Harrison, C. King, G. Spann.

Dog Mothers Flock Of Baby Chicks

Jerry, a sixteen month old Airedale dog belonging to Frank Gallagher, has mothered and practically reared a hatch of nineteen incubator chickens.

From the time he first saw the chickens Jerry began liking them and since then spends most of his idle hours protecting them and playing with them. Jerry is at the height of pleasure when he can slip away to the back yard where the chickens are kept, lay down with them and let them walk across his body. He often reaches out a paw, pulls one or two of them up close and lets them walk over him.

Sometimes when the baby chicks peck him, he looks up, but he never becomes cross or threatens them.

Rev. Detherage To Be Pastor Of Christian Church

Carnegie Man Accepts Post Here; In Ministry For Twenty Years

Announcement was made today that Rev. W. S. Detherage of Carnegie, will become pastor of the First Christian Church here. Rev. Detherage preached his first sermon here Sunday, June 18, and was offered the pastorate by the church. He will arrive here with his family July 1 and will deliver his first sermon as pastor of the church on July 2.

Rev. Detherage comes to Wellington with excellent recommendations as a minister and has been preaching for the past 20 years, the last three of which have been spent at Carnegie.

Rev. Detherage expressed himself as being well pleased with the Wellington church and congregation and said that he was sure he was going to like being with the people here. The congregation praised Rev. Detherage highly and stated that they believe themselves especially fortunate in securing the services of such an outstanding pastor.

Fire Destroys Arnold Home

The five room house occupied by Wade Arnold, postmaster, 1212 West Avenue, was burned and completely destroyed here at 2 o'clock Monday morning, with an estimated total loss of more than $3,000. The furniture and personal belongings of the Arnold family were also completely destroyed by the flames and water.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold were visiting Mrs. Arnold's sister in Dallas at the time of the fire. A phone call notified them of the disaster and they returned to Wellington Monday morning.

Heat Wave Over County Causes Much Discomfort

Young Cotton And Feedstuffs Endangered By Lack Of Rain

Cooler Sunday

No Rains Recorded Here As Showers Are Reported Over West Texas

Despite several attempted showers Sunday afternoon, Collingsworth county this week was still without rain as the thermometer stood around the 100 degree mark each afternoon during the week and crops suffered severely from lack of moisture.

The intense heat, especially in the afternoons, found little activity on the streets of Wellington as most of the people sought shelter in the business houses and homes. Reports also showed that the young cotton and feedstuffs, especially in the north and western portions of the county to be suffering greatly.

Several deaths over the United States were attributed to the heat and reports showed that two persons died in Dallas due to the heat wave. No sunstrokes or deaths were reported, however, in West Texas.

Several sections of the Panhandle reported rains this week. They were at Panhandle, Lockney, Hereford, Happy, Tulia, Plainview, Lubbock and other points.

The Government cotton region bulletin gave the precipitation at the following points: Amarillo .04 of an inch, Clarendon .10, Crosbyton .38, Lamesa .10, Lubbock, Miami and Muleshoe .04. Corpus Christi and Victoria received light showers in South Texas. Cinda, Okla., suffered some damage from wind accompanied by a half inch of rain.

Relief Work Will Be Continued For Remainder Of Week

Relief work for unemployed will be continued throughout this week following the receipt of $600 federal money for the month of June, according to the announcement of Miss Katherine Boverie, in charge of the work.

Miss Boverie was uncertain as to whether the work would be continued next week or not and stated that it all depended upon the receipt of more funds. Further allotments may be forthcoming and they may be suspended with the application of the new Cotton Acreage Retirement plan.

Deupree May Be Acreage Inspector

Announcement was made Wednesday that Frank Deupree, vocational agricultural instructor in the Dodsonville Schools, has been appointed as one of the inspectors in this section for the Cotton Acreage Retirement plan.

Mr. Deupree has been connected with the Dodsonville schools since last September, and it is supposed that he will carry on the cotton inspection work along with his duties as agricultural instructor.

Just exactly what the duties of the new office will be has not, as yet, been announced, but will become effective if the cotton acreage is pledged in the cotton belt.

Small Predicts Road Letting To Salt Fork River

Expects Grading, Drainage And Bridge Letting On North Projects

Following his return from Austin Saturday, Senator Clint C. Small said that it is probable that the contracts on all grading, drainage and bridge construction on highway 4 across this county would be let between July 15 and 20.

In a meeting with the Childress county commissioners he also stated that he expected a letting on the Red River-Collingsworth county paving contract in the near future. The paving from Childress to the river is practically complete now and engineers plan to open the stretch in the next ten days.

The stretch will connect with the project from Childress to Red River on highway four, which was let with the Whitham Construction company under the R. F. C. appropriation. The paving project will extend to the Salt Fork of Red River, halfway between Wellington and Shamrock, according to Small's understanding.

That project is to be classified in the federal road building program for which an appropriation of $400,000,000 has been secured.

SINGLEY VISITS HERE

H. E. Singley visited in Wellington this week concerning the re-opening of the Singley Mill and Elevator here.

Morris Wells Is Resting Easier

Morris Wells was thought today to have passed the crisis following a series of internal hemorrhages last week, which left him in a critical condition.

He is still in the hospital although he is somewhat better, is still in a painful condition and is allowed no visitors. Physicians expect to remove him to his home this week, but report that he will be confined to his bed for a period of at least six more weeks.

Reports indicated that he had a good chance for a complete recovery.

Believe Woman With Barrows, Hurt In Wreck Here, Given Treatment

The two notorious Barrow brothers, identified as kidnappers of Sheriff George Corry and City Marshal Paul Hardy here on June 10, were sought Sunday night by officers and posses of citizens after the machine gun desperados shot down an officer at Alma, Arkansas, and spread a trail of terror over Northwest Arkansas during the past week.

A woman who was treated by a physician at a tourist camp in Fort Smith, Ark., was also thought

Committees Tell Acreage Plan In Special Sessions

Collingsworth Acreage Almost A Certainty As Farmers Apply

To Meet Here

Wellington Will Be Place For Last Meeting As Campaign Closes

As sixteen local men Tuesday completed the first stage of a county-wide tour in which they are explaining the Cotton Acreage Retirement Plan, as proposed by the federal government, they stated that if the present enthusiasm continued there would be no doubt concerning the securing of the required acreage quota for this county and that they thought the acreage pledged here would far exceed the quota of 39,786 acres set as the pro rata part for Collingsworth County.

The county control committee includes: B. G. Glenn, chairman, J. D. Wilson and John Henard. Other members of the campaign committees, which were divided into four groups each, are: J. D. Hill, L. A. Manzer, J. G. Nesbitt, J. B. Castleberry, M. F. Hunter, C. C. Bishop, H. J. Wischkaemper, Dick Wiley, W. C. Ketter, J. D. Wilson, E. L. Winn, Pink Sullivan, A. V. Jones, John O. Stovall, D. E. Manzer, Henry Halcomb.

Discussions of the plan will also be held at Houselog at 1 o'clock Thursday and in Wellington at 8 o'clock Thursday evening. Collingsworth county farmers, like those over the entire cotton belt of the south, have for the past four days been excited as to how much money will flow into Texas, and an estimate of a half million dollars actual cash for this county was made. The farmers, for the most part, have indicated that they will carry out the government's plan and take the easy money.

Texas last summer planted somewhere between 13,000,000 and 14,000,000 acres of cotton, according to the Federal Government, and harvested 4,501,800 bales off of 13,334,000 acres. It is generally conceded that there has been considerable expansion of the Texas cotton acreage this year. It is somewhat doubtful, however, that the farmer's original intentions to plant have been carried out, especially in territory in Northwest Texas where extreme drought has reduced planted acreage very considerably.

UP TO THE COTTON GROWERS

In the farm relief act, the United States government is offering the cotton farmers of the South certain and sure pay for their own cooperation in growing cotton at a profit.

This, we believe, is the first instance in which a farmer or any other worker or business man, was offered pay for trying to make money for himself.

Whether the farmer takes advantage of the government's offer is left entirely up to the farmer himself. He isn't forced to do anything, but if he wants to cooperate he will be paid for doing so.

The success of the plan, of course, depends upon the cooperation of a sufficient number of farmers and their agreement to take out of production of a sufficient number of acres of cotton.

The promptness with which the farmer agrees to this plan, too, is an essential factor in the undertaking.

The plan will be explained in details and the machinery for carrying it into operation started in meetings of farmers to be held beginning today in cotton growing counties throughout the South. These meetings will be the center of interest of all farmers who grow cotton. In them we believe the cotton growing farmers will unite and cooperate in the most effective measure for their own financial betterment that has ever been undertaken.

SURGEON'S BIDS ASKED

While there can be no reasonable objection to the custom of calling for bids on any contract involving a large amount, the habits many business and professional men have of chasing bids on small quantities of printed matters is sometimes exasperating to printers.

In many cases bids are asked on jobs amounting to only a few dollars, where securing the proposals must inevitably cost more in time and trouble than any possible saving would repay.

According to a story now being widely published, one printer got weary of bidding on trivial jobs, and when a surgeon asked for bids on a small quantity of letterheads and also request that the type form be left standing, so that he might have the benefit of cheaper rates for future orders, the printer wrote the surgeon this letter.

"Am in the market for bids on one operation for appendicitis. One, two or five inches incision—with or without ether—also with or without nurse. If appendix is found to be sound, want quotations to include putting back same and canceling order. If removed, successful bidder is expected to hold incision open for about sixty days as I expect to be in the market for an operation for gallstones at that time and want to save the extra cost of cutting."

CLASSIFYING MOTORISTS

Among the measures designed to reduce automobile accidents, a new Connecticut law will be watched with interest. It provides different insurance rates for various classes of motorists.

Those whose driving records indicate them to be especially competent and careful are granted a reduction from the regular insurance rates; the next class pay the standard insurance fee; those found to have been involved in minor accidents and slight violations of traffic rules must pay a premium of 10 per cent; those who have had serious accidents are penalized 25 per cent, while those who are shown to have been at fault in highly serious and flagrantly avoidable accidents must pay an additional premium of 50 per cent for their insurance.

The new law has not been in effect long enough to enable one to judge of its results, but it seems to be based upon sound principles and may prove to be of some measurable benefit in reducing automobile accidents.

JAPANESE GIRL'S CREED

An unusual prize-winner is Miss Fannie Yanagisawa, 13-year-old Japanese school girl of Berkeley, Calif. Her "creed on the American flag" won a silver trophy as first prize in the state competition of the American Legion.

In an interview she said: "My father and mother were born in Japan, but I am a native of this land of the Stars and Stripes, so I am glad to be an American." Here is her prize-winning creed.

"I pledge allegiance to you, Flag of my United States, in word and deed. I believe that you will help me to be a loyal citizen in peace and war. I believe that you will lead the world not only in strength but in righteousness; I believe that your stars are a shining symbol of the eternal brotherhood of man in this world. 'Old Glory,' as I stand and salute your heroic colors of red, white and blue, I promise to follow your ideals of liberty, justice and peace, not only for America, but for the world."

On its face, that appears to be unusually fine writing for a girl only 13 years old, and some may be skeptical as to its having been produced by a child of that age without some assistance. But in any event, if she believes in that creed she is a good American, whose patriotism is worthy of the honor she has won.

In the United States there are 18,000 licensed men air pilots exclusive of army and navy fliers.

Civil and government aircraft in the United States consumed 54,058,431 gallons of gasoline and 1,568 gallons of oil in 1932.

A human skull with horns was found in Oregon. Maybe Old Nick is dead at last.

It's best to begin at the bottom, unless one happens to be a well digger or a diver.

This is the season when father takes a few furtive glances at the clothing store windows and then gets his old Palm Beach suit pressed.

That even a former vice-president may come back is evidence by the fact that Mr. Curtis has been admitted to practice law before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Modern Electric Service . . . a Partner of Industry

Modern transmission line electric service has played an important and vital part in the progress and development of West Texas. With a new period of expansion awaiting this territory during the next few years—this dependable, economical and elastic power supply is destined to play an even greater role in the industrial drama to be enacted here.

Electricity has been the equalizing force that has enabled progressive small towns to compete on an industrial basis with large centers of population. Because of the adequate, inexpensive power supply furnished to this territory by the West Texas Utilities Company, it is possible for West Texas cities to go after, and secure, the valuable payrolls of industrial establishments. Much progress has been made during the past ten years—and considerably greater advances will be made during the coming decade.

The West Texas Utilities Company, serving 161 progressive cities, towns and communities in this "Land of Opportunity," will continue to work for the development of West Texas. With three major generating stations, nineteen auxiliary plants, more than 2,600 miles of transmission lines and scores of office buildings and warehouses throughout the 250,000 square miles it serves—this company's future and yours are inseparably linked. Working together we will accomplish marvels of progress during the next few years.

Ritz Announces Week's Pictures

"Cavalcade," Road Show
Coming This Month;
Other Attractions

Summer time is considered poor business months, and the usual routine is expected to be presentations of cheaper quality, but the Ritz management has reversed the practice, and, according to announcements, July will be one of the year's outstanding months in theatre entertainment. This week opens with exceptional entertainment value. This statement is measured by public acclaim, for the star of Thursday and Friday's picture is none other than Lee Tracy. The title is "Clear All Wires," and it is said to be the best newspaper story he ever appeared in.

Amateur Boxing Tournament Big Feature for Thursday Night

Along with the special feature, "Clear All Wires," Lee Tracy's latest newspaper story, on Thursday night after the second show, at approximately 10:30 the second elimination contest for the local boxing tournament will take place. Several hundred local people witnessed the opening elimination bouts last week, and, according to information from fans, it alone was worth more than the price of admission for the big double program. The management guarantees that this second fight of eliminations will be much better than the first, and that some added features for exhibition purposes will give you the thrill of regular professionals. There is a special entry, barred from the amateur tournament because of their professional participation in the past, that is guaranteed to please the most ardent fight fan.

Janet Gaynor's Latest Special Feature

The latest release of dainty Janet Gaynor who scored such a tremendous hit in "State Fair" with Will Rogers and several others, shown a week ago at the Ritz, is "Adorable." In this new picture Janet is said to gain the title of America's screen sweetheart. It is one of those sweet roles, appealing to every member of the family. It is replete with gorgeous settings and costumes, and is said to be 100 per cent clean, wholesome entertainment. The picture opens with Saturday night's preview on July 1, through Sunday and Monday.

Special July 4 Eve. Preview Joe E. Brown's Latest Sensation

All America celebrates on July 4. The Ritz takes the lead in this National celebration, and announces a Special Preview on July 4. In other words, next Monday night at 10:30, the box office opens for a special preview of Joe E. Brown in "Elmer the Great." It is said to be the most thrilling and comical baseball story that the famous big mouthed Joe ever appeared in. He starts out as a rookie, then is sold to the Chicago Cubs, and when he wins the National series you'll be pulling the hair on the customer in front of you, or choking the lady sitting next to you—or some other frantic stunt that you yourself weren't conscious of. The picture will be shown for the special preview on Monday night, and throughout Tuesday and Wednesday.

"Cavalcade" Coming Next Week Magnificent Road Show Picture

One of the awaited attractions of the talking screen is "Cavalcade," noted achievement of talking pictures. It is the Fox Road Show Special, which has been shown to thousands in extended runs in key city De Luxe theatres at two to five dollar admissions. "Cavalcade" is said to have that melting tenderness of maternal love and the epic drama of a world in turmoil—stirring you to innermost depths—inspiring you to new courage. It sweeps before our eyes three seething decades of relentless changes.

Many Other Outstanding Attractions During July

Listed among the most outstanding releases of the year, which are to be shown during July, at the Ritz, will be seen "The Barbarian" with Ramon Navarro and Myrna Loy, "Lilly Turner" with Ruth Chatterton, "Diplomatics" with Wheeler and Woolsey, "Made On Broadway" with Robert Montgomery, Sally Eilers, Madge Evans, "The Little Giant" with Edward G. Robinson, his first release since "Silver Dollar." Probably the two most eminent attractions during the month is "Gabriel Over the White House," and "Hell Below." Both of the attractions rank among the most important releases of this year, and Wellington patrons will be privileged to see them during July. We quote John Bonner, manager of the Ritz, saying, "We are carrying on, endeavoring to inspire the faith of the community for better times."

Indian Bitten By Rattlesnake Relates Romantic Tale Hunt Forty Jack Loads Of Gold Bullion Of Fabulous Buried Treasures In Bell County, Texas

Hundreds Of Tales Have Come Relating Of Buried Treasure

(By Allen Parker)
Forty jack loads of gold bullion, buried by the Indians long ago in a cave that was later sealed and hidden, are being sought by a small group of Central Texans working in western Bell county.

The most romantic and intriguing story imaginable is back of this treasure hunt which has caught the interest of several prominent citizens who are now working on plans to recover the fabulous treasure.

The scene of the treasure hunt is about 18 miles west of Prairie Dell near the Pope ranch.

The story began last fall when a Mexican on the Pope ranch was bitten by a rattlesnake. He was rushed to a Georgetown hospital and an Indian interpreter who understood Spanish was employed to talk with him. The Mexican said he was bitten by a snake near Big Blue Spring.

The Indian immediately became interested. He said for years he and his tribe had been in Oklahoma had sought Big Blue Spring as a marker of hidden treasure.

He said that the Indians who lived in western Bell county about 1800, so the story goes, hid much gold in a cave and later sealed it up with water and dirt. As the years passed the Indians were exterminated and the treasure they had gathered remained a secret.

His grandfather had told him the story many times. He said that by going to Big Blue Spring he could follow directions and find a large walnut tree, 10 feet underneath which would be found the secret entrance to a large cave. The cave would be full of water. About 200 feet the right leading to the treasure back a corridor would turn to trove. He said that there was another entrance to the cave about two miles away.

(The following interesting story concerning a feverish hunt for golden treasure buried by Indians is told by Allen Baker, in the Temple Telegram. Such stories make interesting reading, and we can no more refrain from publishing such exciting legends than those who seek these treasures can refrain from hunting them. In so far as the story relative to the Mexican and Indian is concerned, it is true. The Mexican was brought to Georgetown and was suffering greatly from snakebite. He treated at a clinic and later placed in the care of an Indian world war hero who was temporarily sojourning here, for what purpose no one knew. He cared for the old Mexican until he had recovered and it is presumed they left together.

The Indian, a disabled world war veteran, told of one unmistakable sign. Two deep troughs cut in the rock in the bed of Salado creek.

With his help the troughs were found. Distances were stepped off, and a walnut tree was found at the exact spot. It was a young walnut—not 100 years old—but old residents said formerly a big walnut tree had grown there and had been washed away in the 1921 flood.

Workmen dug down into the earth after chopping down the tree. At a depth of 10 feet dock was found and a large opening bearing marks of having been cut out with tools was disclosed. Dirt

The old Mexican told surgeons at the Thomas & Whigham clinic that he was cutting posts when the snake bit him, that it made him mad, that he took out his knife, caught the snake and cut its throat, then slit the bite with the knife. The Indian also was a remarkable character, in that if he was the last representative of his race, the race came very near losing its representative in the world war. He was almost totally made up of false parts. He had a silver plate in his head, had a pig's eye, and, believe it or not, the man declared he could see as well out of it as out of his own which played opposite it. He had a false throat and a false larynx, a grafted forearm, and a metal hip. Outside of that the man was fairly normal.—Editor Georgetown Sun.)

was removed and a big cave filled with water was disclosed.

Water was pumped out several times and exploring parties found a corridor leading to the right about 225 feet.

A fire was built in the cave and another entrance was found about two miles away by watchers who noted the smoke emitting from holes in the earth.

Those interested have obtained a lease for mineral and treasure trove, have stationed guards about the place, have sold stock for expenses and are excitedly awaiting developments.

"I have read treasure stories equally as exciting in books, and this may be just another hunt, but we are getting a bit of kick out of it," one of those interested said.

The gold rush of '33 has hit this section in many ways, including feverish hunts for hidden treasures of gold.

dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Lee Shumate, Sunday.

George Gentry, Ada Lancaster, Bill Jones, Edith Cummings, Buck Lancaster and Elmer Sweatt had supper with Mr. and Mrs. Carol

Indian With Pig's Eye Was Last Man To Survive Tribe

In many shop windows are signs advertising to buy old jewelry and anything that has gold in it.

A Salado gold mining interest has been revived by A. R. Watson and Ballard Guest, who have a shaft about 10 feet down in a mine three miles west of Salado. They have conferred with essayists about the gold content.

Minerals of many sorts are found in Burnett county, west of Salado, and it is an apparently authentic story that Indians before the white men mined for gold and found some along Salado creek and other streams.

The Spaniards mined for gold in west Bell county. Cumbersome old machinery that pre-dates any present day knowledge is found on the Warrick ranch west from Prairie Dell. Whether much gold was found there has never been established.

For scores of years treasure hunters have dug and searched all along the streams in Central Texas in search of hidden treasure.

Once, many years ago, a band of Indians that spent the night near the town of Salado left before daylight, leaving a large overturned rock under which was the imprint of a large pot. Settlers have always believed that the Indians found a treasure.

Citizens once sank a deep shaft in search of hidden treasure near Bee Rock on the Leon; an excited treasure hunt once enlisted many persons near Midway, and in the passing years literally hundreds of treasure stories have been followed up with excavations along Bell county streams.

Federal Money Is Sent To Panhandle

Acting quickly to give relief to hard pressed farmers in the upper Panhandle section, the Texas Rehabilitation and Relief Commission Monday sent a supplemental $27,250 to be distributed at once in the seven counties most seriously affected by the drouth.

Authorization of additional funds followed an emergency investigation of conditions by a special group of field men under the direction of C. B. Braun. Reports were that conditions rapidly are growing worse and that the need of relief was multiplied by lack of sufficient moisture to produce feed for livestock and poultry. Lawrence Westbrook, director of the commission, said such additional funds as are allotted counties will be distributed through the usual channels, but that the amounts permitted each family will be increased sufficiently to include feed for animals and poultry.

Counties affected and amounts allotted to each were: Dallam, $7,500; Deaf Smith, $3,000; Hartley, $2,000; Hansford, $5,000; Moore, $2,500; Ochiltree, $1,750; and Oldham, $2,500.

Texas Scenic Beauties Sketched On Travelax Route

Take the word of a widely known Texas artist, Guy F. Cahoon, the highways of the Lone Star-State afford a variety of scenic beauties not excelled by any other section of these United States. Mr. Cahoon has made travel sketches illustrating many parts of the world, but finds sufficient subjects at home to make him especially enthusiastic regarding the natural beauties of his own state.

"In Western Texas the motoring vacationist and his family can revel in the inspiring grandeur of rugged mountains," says Mr. Cahoon. "In Northern Texas they find long stretches of straight, smooth highway to intrigue them onward, mile after mile, over level, picturesque plains. In East Texas the traveler thrills to the peace and beauty of the wooded country as he motors through stately pines. To the south he enjoys a wealth of luxuriant, subtropical plant life as he travels through the palm-bordered roads of South Texas and the Gulf Coast country. Truly, a variety of scenery as wide as the range of sports and interests to which they lead."

The above illustrations were sketched by Mr. Cahoon for the Portland Cement Association and show typical scenes along the Travelax Route. Maps showing concrete highways in Texas (The Travelax Route) are now being distributed by the Association and may be obtained by writing their offices at Dallas.

What Makes a Safe Tire?

...I KNOW!

ARE you willing to risk your life on advertising statements claiming blowout-proof and unblowable tires? One manufacturer gives as the reason for claiming blowout-proof tires—the use of one ply of another color—another, a patented “no breaker” construction—a mail order house, high stretch “elastic” cords, etc., etc. Actually the fundamental cause of a tire blowout is the flexing of the tire which causes friction of the fibers in the cord, resulting in heat and causing the rubber to soften and the cords to deteriorate.

There is a reason why Firestone Tires have won the 500-mile Indianapolis race for 14 consecutive years, the most gruelling tire test. The reason is the Firestone patented extra process of Gum-Dipping which saturates every fiber and insulates every cord with pure rubber—which gives strength to the cords and prevents friction and heat in the fibers. This year 42 drivers in this race equipped their cars with Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires and not a single driver had any tire trouble.

Race drivers know why Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires are safer and not subject to blowout and will not risk their lives on ordinary tires. Your life and the lives of your family are often in danger at the high road speeds of today and you should not take greater risks than the race drivers who make sure that they have the best and safest tires they can buy—Firestone.

See Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires made in the Firestone Factory and Exhibition Building at “A Century of Progress,” Chicago.

HE PAYS HIS INTEREST WITH PINCH OF COTTON

MUSKOGEE, Okla.—The problem of computing interest on a seven-cent loan due the Federal Seed loan office, baffled L. P. Roberts, a farmer.

A banker advised him that 5 per cent interest on the seven cents since 1931 was four and one-third mills. His cotton dealer suggested payment be made in kind and revealed that one ounce of cotton was worth four and one-third mills.

So Roberts wrapped the seven cents in an ounce of cotton and mailed it to his creditor.

RUBBER MACE USED

FOR POLICE STICKS

INDIANAPOLIS.—The policeman's "billy club" has been replaced by the rubber mace here because it costs considerably less and a blow from it does not mar the features.

The mace, according to Michael F. Morrissey, chief of police, is a flat piece of rubber, rectangular in shape and containing a slot through which the fingers of the hand may be slipped to obtain a grip.

It delivers a stunning slap, but if more force is needed, its edge may be used with as much effectiveness as the old-time club, now in universal use.

The mace costs only 65 cents as compared with $4.80 for the regulation "copper's stick," Morrissey said.

Davis Mountain Tract Selected For Observatory

FORT DAVIS, Texas.—The location of the McDonald Observatory of the University of Texas has been definitely settled by the action of the University regents recently in accepting the 200-acre tract on Mount Locke in the Davis Mountains near Fort Davis for the observatory site.

In addition to the regents' action, the Legislature authorized the State Highway Commission to build a mile and a half of road from the recently constructed Davis Mountains State Park highway to the summit of Mount Locke, and to black top the road from Fort Davis to the summit, a distance of about sixteen and a half miles. Parenthetically, the Davis Mountains State Park highway has not been completed its full length, but it goes beyond Mount Locke.

The observatory will be the gift of the University of Texas through the will of William J. McDonald of Paris, who died in 1926. Its location terminated a year of search by astronomers for the locality in Texas which would afford the maximum degree of night sky visibility with the least twinkling. The twinkle, twinkle little star fancy doesn't appeal to astronomers because the twinkling interferes with steady images in the telescope. Air rising from sun-heated rocks or the ground causes twinkling and dust in the air interferes with visibility. Accordingly, it was desired to get a height reasonably above the dust strata and a site covered with trees or brush to keep down dust in the immediate vicinity and prevent excessive radiation. Thus, after a year of testing various possible locations, Mount Locke was chosen because it met requirements and was fairly accessible.

The mount, which has an elevation of 6,791 feet, is on the famous old U Up and Down Ranch. G. S. Locke, a New Hampshire man, founder and owner of the ranch was a pioneer of this community. He died a half dozen years ago at Concord, N. H. The ranch is still in his estate, and his granddaughter, Mrs. Violet Locke McIvor, of Concord, N. H., executed the deed last month which gave the 200-acre tract on Mount Locke for observatory purposes. Mount Locke was recently named in honor of G. S. Locke. Previously it bore no name, there being so many peaks in the Davis Mountains it was easy to forget to name this one.

The University of Texas and the University of Chicago, owner of the Yerkes Observatory at Williams Bay, Wisconsin, entered a cooperative agreement whereby the Texas school is to build McDonald Observatory using less than half of the $40,000 McDonald bequest for the structure and the telescope and Yerkes to maintain a staff at McDonald defraying most of the expenses. The agreement is to continue for thirty years. It is the announced expectation of Dr. H. Y. Benedict, president of the Texas University, and the regents, that the fund at the end of thirty years will produce an endowment income sufficient to maintain McDonald Observatory.

Work on the observatory will be started this summer, it has been indicated by Dr. Otto Struve of Yerkes staff, who has been the contact man between Chicago and Texas universities, as well as Dr. Benedict. It is understood that a steel re-enforced foundation for the building and the telescope will be the first work of the builders. It is desired that this cure and settle for months. A two-story building surmounted by a dome will be the basic structure. From ground to top of dome will be a little more than 100 feet and the dome will be about sixty-two feet in diameter inside. This dome will be coated with aluminum paint and be visible for many miles—in fact, from Mount Locke summit one can look into Mexico nearly a hundred miles away, into New Mexico and perhaps fifteen Texas counties.

High blood pressure, so common among people in the United States, is virtually unknown in China. Many theories for this have been advanced by scientists, but no satisfactory conclusion has been reached.

who was alone at her home, was badly cut and bruised but continued to struggle with the men until they fled.

Photographs of the brothers, Clyde and Melvin Barrow of Dallas, were "positively" identified by half dozen of their victims. It was learned they and another man stayed at a tourist camp in Fort Smith for a week before two of them went to Fayetteville, robbed a store, and shot and seriously wounded Marshal H. D. Humphrey of Alma when he attempted to intercept them. They fired at motorists along the road with a sub-machine gun, stole several cars and attempted to kidnap a couple in their flight.

siderably. In that area further destruction by hot winds and sandstorms is going on daily in certain areas.

The ten-year Texas average cotton yield per acre is about 134 pounds. There are sections of Texas where the per acre yield is above 250 pounds per acre as in the irrigated valleys around El Paso and the lower Rio Grande country, also a yield of around 200 pounds an acre or more along the Texas Gulf Coast. Since Government cash payment to farmers producing from 225 to 275 pounds per acre amounts to $14 and only $9 for those averaging from 125 to 149 (coming into the 134-pound class) it may be seen that it will make much difference to whole sections of Texas as to the likely Federal rental money from cotton land plowed.

This article does not concern itself with the economics of Secretary Wallace's plan, its soundness or workability. It is merely an attempt to get at what this sudden distribution of money to Texas cotton farmers means.

Since no exact figures as to this season's cotton planting are available it will be well enough for purposes of deduction to take 15,500,000 acres as an even figure. If the reduction is to be 30 per cent, as called for, then some 4,500,000 acres of Texas cotton land would be plowed up and paid for either in cash or partly in Government options on some 2,500,000 bales which Federal agencies now hold and which are expected to rise in value from the 6c a pound at which they will be offered.

If the Texas average yield for all cotton land remains at the 125-150 pound figure then at $9 an acre Texas farmers would receive approximately $40,500,000. There are about 200 Texas cotton raising counties. There are some 395,106 farmers who raise cotton annually in this State. Distribution of Federal cash rentals would average a little better than $100 per cotton farm family, in itself a handsome sum these days. Under the option plus cash plan this sum would be doubled or more.

Reports have been received that in the eagerness to make as much money as possible under the Government's payment plan some farmers are asking county committee chairmen whether they can get pay for plowing up cotton land which was planted after they harvested a wheat crop a few days ago. It appears that there has been some planting of wheat stubble land to cotton in the expectation of getting Federal money for destroying these stands.

Cost of plowing up cotton land with a middle buster or cutting it off fat the ground with a sweep is estimated at about 50 cents an acre. A team will plow up about four or five acres a day; a tractor from fifteen to twenty-five acres, depending upon power and speed and width of cutting blades. A farmer plowing up thirty acres would be out about $15 but would receive an average of perhaps $9 an acre or $270, leaving a profit of some $255 on the reduction operation.
