First Baptist Holds Mission

First Baptist Church will be the host for a Lay Witness Mission, beginning Friday evening, September 20, and continuing through Sunday evening September 22 -- the first such sharing of Christian experience to be held in Wellington.

Plans were announced by the Rev. Roy Collins, pastor. "More than 50 adults and young people from West Texas and New Mexico will be meeting with small groups of Wellington people, sharing their Christian experience with us -- sharing what God has been doing in their lives," Rev. Collins said.

"The key to the whole thing is these small group sessions, where people share with one another their hopes, dreams, problems and frustrations. These people who are coming to us have had the same problems and frustrations but they have found a better way through Christ," the pastor explained. "They will share the victories in their lives."

"This is a simple thing, but it is effective, and we invite all people of Wellington to share any or all of the sessions with us."

Directors of the Lay Witness Mission are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crenshaw, of Melrose, New Mexico, and the team members will come from an area extending from Midland and Lubbock to near Santa Fe, New Mexico. All are laymen in their respective churches.

Registration of the witnesses will be followed by a covered dish supper for the entire congregation of First Baptist Church. The general session starts at 7:30, and small sharing groups will then be formed, each consisting of from 8 to 10

C-C Approves Contract for 1975 Carnival

Chamber of Commerce directors Monday night, September 16, approved a new contract with Jest Amusement Company to provide the carnival for the 1975 Collingsworth County Fair.

The carnival was set for the first week in September, the first through sixth, and this automatically sets the date of the 1975 Fair as September 5 and 6, according to Mrs. Margaret Vines, secretary.

Again the directors brought up the question of securing an additional doctor for Wellington, and the question was raised: What does Wellington have to offer a doctor?

The upcoming membership drive was set tentatively for the month of November, and plans were begun for the annual banquet, which will be held after the first of the year.

Skyrocket JV Plays At Hollis Thursday

The Skyrocket Junior Varsity travels to Hollis Thursday, September 19, for the second game of their season.

The JV lost its opener to Shamrock 24-0, but this brought to light some of the mistakes the boys have been working hard to correct, Coach Robert Hicks said.

The Junior Varsity is the only one of the school's four teams that will play this week, as this is the open date for the Skyrockets, and both junior high teams have an open date.

"The boys have been working real hard and we are

City Gets $10,254 Sales Tax Check

A check for $10,254.79, representing the city sales tax for the second quarter of 1974, was received Tuesday, September 17, City manager Lyman Daniel announced. This is around $1,600 above the sales tax money received by the City of Wellington for the first quarter of this year, which totaled $8,647.51.

Mr. Daniel pointed out that the second quarter of the year is usually the slowest quarter among Wellington merchants, yet

DePauw Re-Elected Farmers Union Head

Wilbur DePauw was re-elected president of the Collingsworth County Farmers Union at the annual meeting Monday, September 16. This will be Mr. DePauw's second term in office.

Four new directors also were named in the meeting, including Donald Langley, a former president, and J.I. Morgan, Frank Coleman and Truett Holland.

The vice presidents and secretary will be named at the next meeting from the board of directors.

Holdover directors are R.R. Hightower, Dan Hendard, Jr., Doug Seal, Roy Canada, Dan Langford, Joe Knoll, Rudolph Tate, Garland Hightower, Delbert White, Barney Glenn, and J.L. Alexander. Mr. DePauw is also the delegate at large.

The membership adopted 20 resolutions, presented by Mr. Knoll on behalf of the resolutions committee. These recommendations included:

- That the Federal Reserve board take action to lower the prime interest rate to 7 per cent.

- That inflation be slowed by an excess profit tax on the petroleum industry, balancing the export-import trade, holding wages at the present levels, and spending of foreign aid monies only when necessary.

Slow Rain, Drizzle Soaks Area Inch or More During Weekend

Slow, ground soaking rain and drizzle through Sunday gave the county an inch or more of rain -- the first moisture that could be called general to fall in the late summer.

Wellington measured .91 inch in the Weather Bureau rain gauge, and this was one of the lighter measurements reported in the county. The heaviest was in the Dodson and Arlie area, where from 1.6 to 1.9 inches fell.

The rain came too late to help the cotton crop, although it should mature out some of the small bolls or some of the late-planted cotton.

Much of the later feed crop will be helped, growers say, and this is where the most benefit to this year's crop will come.

The rain also put the wheat ground in condition to plant the 1975 crop, and by mid-week drilling in the seed had started. A few growers, especially in the southeast and south part of the county, had dusted in some of their land, but most had stopped before the rain, feeling there was enough moisture in the ground at that time to sprout the grain but not enough to bring it up.

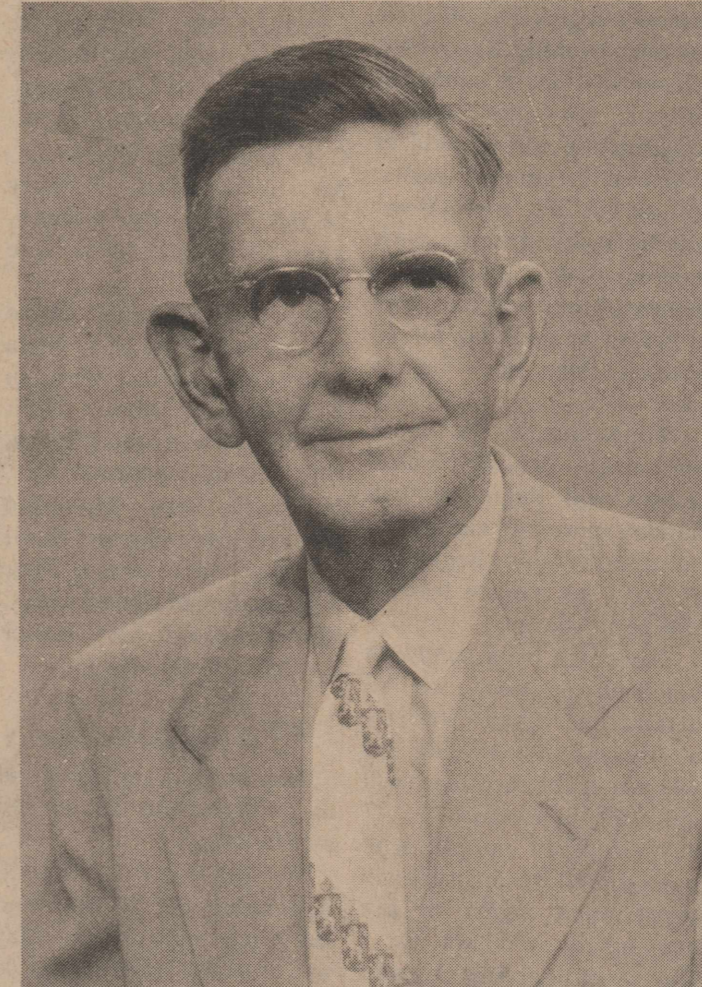

Just as this will help wheat prospects, it will also help pasture land over the county, much of it grazed down from lack of earlier moisture.

There were numerous reports from the southeast part of the county ranging from 1.3 to 1.7 inches and in the area south of Wellington, around an inch and a quarter was reported.

The Quail area reported an inch, and to the north, an inch was also reported at Lutie.

Measurements in the Samnorwood area and to the north and west also were reported at .90 to one inch.

CHESTER R. FIRES

Chester Fires, Area Rancher, Dies Thurs.

Chester R. Fires, 79, a prominent cattleman of the southeast Panhandle and life-long resident of Collingsworth and Childress Counties, died about 10:00 a.m. Thursday, September 12, in Raton, New Mexico.

He had been in ill health a number of years, and during that time he and Mrs. Fires divided their time between Wellington and New Mexico, first at Taos, and for several years at Raton.

The family home is 1109 Bowie Street.

Mr. Fires was born at Childress July 23, 1895, the son of the late Judge A.J. Fires and Margaret Warnick Fires.

Judge Fires, born in Clay County Indiana in 1860, came to Childress in 1887 and began the practice of law, concluding his long career with 8 years as judge of the 100th District. Judge Fires drew up the first papers for the creation of Collingsworth County.

As a rancher and stock farmer, Chester Fires was instrumental in the growth of Collingsworth County and Wellington, just as his father had a part in its creation.

Chester Fires was educated in the Childress Schools, then attended Austin College at Sherman and Texas Christian University, Fort Worth.

In 1917, he moved to the Fires Ranch on Elm Creek, in the northeast part of the county, which was to be the base of his cattle operations.

He was married to Miss Anne Leslie, member of another pioneer Childress

They need 25 members to re-organize the chapter. Anyone interested should get in touch with Mr. Holland or Mr. Bowen.

Seven Indicted by Grand Jury Monday

Seven indictments were returned by a 100th District Court grand jury, which remained in session all day Monday, September 16.

Aubrey Pendergraft was indicted on a charge of cattle theft. He pled guilty before District Judge Robert Montgomery later in the day and he was sentenced to five years in prison, District Attorney Charles Darter said. The case grew out of the theft of cattle from Benson Long in early July.

Two indictments for felony DWI were returned. One of these was against David Rowton, who is in jail here, but the other man is not yet in custody, according to the office of Sheriff John Rainey.

Other indictments include one on a hot check charge; two for passing forged instruments and one for theft of bales of hay. None of the persons against whom these indictments were returned have been taken in custody yet, the sheriff's office said.

A no-bill was returned against a Wellington man being held in jail on an aggravated assault charge.

Elaine Purkey New Miss Samnorwood

Elaine Purkey, a senior, was chosen Miss Samnorwood in the pageant sponsored by the Lions Club Saturday, September 14. She will be the official representative of the community at a number of events through the year.

Cindy Coleman, a junior, was the runner up.

Fourteen girls competed in the first Miss Samnorwood contest ever held in the community, participating first in the sportswear revue, then appearing in evening gowns.

The new Miss Samnorwood received her crown from Christene Jean (Christie) Paschall, who was named by classmates as Miss Samnorwood to represent the school only. Chrissie did not receive a crown at that time, and the one she passed to Elaine was hers for only an hour.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B.A. Purkey, Elaine is 17 years old, five feet five inches in height and has green eyes and dark brown hair. Her hobbies are sewing, biking, cooking and volleyball.

Tall and willowy, Cindy is five feet ten inches in height and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Coleman. She is 16 and has brown hair and eyes.

Seventh Grade Drops Opener

Wellington Junior High Seventh Grade football team played a good brand of ball at their first venture on the gridiron, but they lost the game to Shamrock seventh grade 18-0, Coach Glenn reported.

The game was played at Powell Field Thursday, September 12.

Wellington boys got off to a slow start, while Shamrock scored on the second series of plays.

"We played a real good game from then on to the fourth. We were real tough, but we couldn't get the ball in on them," the coach said.

In the last minute of play, Shamrock intercepted two Wellington passes and ran both back for touchdowns, giving them the 18-0 final score.

The Seventh Grade team does not play again until October 3, when the boys will travel to Memphis. Game time is 4:30 p.m.

"We made some mistakes, but we have made some changes and feel like we will get a better team. We have a good bunch of boys," Coach Glenn said.

Money derived from the sales tax goes into the City's general fund, and is not designated to cover any specific expense.

the B team this year," Hicks said.

Twenty two men are out for Junior Varsity this year. Wellington coaches watched one Hollis B team scrimmage, and it appeared the Oklahomans have an average size B team that gets its effectiveness from running directly at the opponent.

However, the Tiger Cubs thumped Mangum 28-12 in the season opener at Mangum. Besides this, the Cubs had two touchdowns called back and other opportunities stymied by the red flag. Still, the Cubs were impressive.

Tailback Bill Whitman scored three of the Hollis touchdowns and Raymon Herrera scored the fourth.

Whitman had another TD called back and halfback Mario Herrera had a cross-country touchdown gallop wiped out by a penalty.

The Cub defense was tough throughout the game, giving up only 12 points.

The Cubs also have a Tuesday night game slated with Tipton.

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Saied, Jr., and Becky, were in Lubbock recently to help celebrate Mary Saied's 20th birthday.

Opportunities Await Volunteers Working in Texas Four-H Program

COLLEGE STATION -- If volunteer programs are your "thing," then the Texas 4-H and youth program offers unlimited opportunities to help young people learn and develop.

"4-H is the youth development program of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and focuses on the needs, interests and concerns of boys and girls between 9 and 19 years of age," points out Yvonne Garcia, Extension 4-H and youth specialist. "Its aim is to help young people develop through practical learning experiences like preparing a nutritious meal, building bookshelves or growing a vegetable garden."

Since young people do not develop their skills and attitudes overnight, they need and seek guidance from the 4-H volunteer who helps them probe the "why" behind the "how to do it."

"Helping youth develop, however, requires different kinds of leadership," notes the Texas A&M University System specialist.

For those who prefer to work primarily with youth, 4-H offers leadership roles related to the organization, project or activity aspects of a 4-H group. While the organization leader guides the overall operation of a 4-H group, the project and activity leaders help boys and girls learn by involving them in a specific project -- clothing, auto repair, bicycle safety -- and related activities, such as safety clinics, exhibits and local tours. These leaders may, in turn, be assisted by junior and teen leaders who work closely with an adult or teen advisor.

Volunteers who prefer to work primarily with adults also have a wide range of choices. A 4-H project or activity chairman helps other leaders with a specific activity or project. A 4-H recruiter seeks out youth and adults interested in becoming 4-H members or leaders, then allows the 4-H organizer to help the new group get started. Volunteers are also assisted by the 4-H trainer who helps train other leaders in the area and by the 4-H resource person who secures special materials or people from the community.

"If you are interested in young people, want to share your talents and hobbies, and enjoy meeting other adults with your same interests, consider being a 4-H volunteer," says Miss Garcia. "Contact your local county Extension agent for personal assistance to help you find a volunteer role that's right for you."

Ticklers for a Good Day's Start

Breakfast doesn't have to be the same boring meal every day, according to one foods and nutrition specialist.

"Breakfast is still important to restore energy for the day ahead, but a 'good' breakfast doesn't have to be the traditional bacon, eggs, biscuits, juice and milk," Sally Springer, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System, said this week.

"Breakfast should supply some protein food and a vitamin C-rich fruit.

"Sources of protein that are often overlooked for breakfast are peanut-butter toast, toasted cheese or some other favorite sandwich, or hard-cooked eggs," she said.

You can eat these "portable foods" at the bus stop or even while riding to school or work.

Happy Homemaking

By BARBARA BAKER

If you have an especially tough window to raise and lower and it constantly sticks or jams, rub a little petroleum jelly up and down the window's tracks and rope pulleys.

Just about any inexpensive furniture polish or scratch remover can be used to cover up a scuffed or scratched hardwood floor. Dab a cotton-tipped swab into the polish and rub over the area but be sure to wipe the excess away with a tissue. Dark hardwood floors can be covered up with iodine applied the same way.

If you are a crocheting buff and are constantly misplacing crochet hooks, try storing them in plastic cigar containers -- they're just the right size and they're free!

Homeowners who place their trash outside for removal in plastic bags may be plagued by stray dogs or cats always tearing the bags open and strewing trash all over. To remedy this, pour a small quantity of household ammonia over the top of the bag just before closing it. Dogs and cats will never disturb trash again after one good whiff.

Retired Teachers Attend Workshop

Officers of Collingsworth County Retired Teachers Association attended a workshop in Amarillo Wednesday, September 11, at the Holiday Inn East.

Theme of the meeting was "Setting the Sails for 1974 Leadership." The keynote address was given by G.E. Dawson, Assistant State Director for District 7 of the Retired Teachers Association.

Mrs. Bill Hill gave the report on the Collingsworth chapter's achievements for the past year, which included meetings on health, insurance, genealogy, a public safety, along with a musical program, book review and Christmas party. She was commended when she told of the chapter's float in the fair parade.

Representing the National Association, RTA, Grace Carter Keeling spoke on things to do as a leader: "What's my job, how can I do it and where can I get help."

Representing the state organization, Ruth Wink discussed planning, setting goals, and advanced the slogan, "Today is the best Day of My Life to do What Must Be Done."

The afternoon was given over to buzz sessions covering community affairs, programs, legislation, retirement, education, membership, and information and protective services.

Attending from the Collingsworth chapter were Mrs. Hill, information and protection services chairman; Miss Maudie Coffee, treasurer; Mrs. Jack Lowry, president; Mrs. Velma Hiatt of Vinson, vice president; and Mrs. Edna Bradley of Sam- norwood membership committee.

LVNs See Heart Care Program

Wellington members of the Licensed Vocational Nurses Association, Division 83, were hostesses for the meeting Tuesday, September 3, at Collingsworth General Hospital.

Mrs. J. K. Porter, president, of Shamrock directed the business meeting.

The program was presented by Mrs. L. A. Gilmore, on "In-Hospital Nursing Care of Congestive Heart Failure." She used a tape which was presented recently at a workshop in Odessa.

Attending were Mrs. Porter, Becky Morgan and Billie Welty of Shamrock, Mrs. Gilmore, Mrs. Milburn Gibbs and Mrs. Garner Altom.

The specialist stressed the importance of protein at breakfast, because "without it energy sags around 10 a.m." Turning to fruit, she suggested adding sliced peaches, oranges, pineapple chunks or melon balls to your favorite fruit juice.

Save trees and paper -- have your name placed on the "drop-out list" for junk mail. Write the Direct Mail Advertising Association, 230 Park Ave., New York, N.Y. 10805. Or, return mail to sender. If marked "return requested", he must pay the postage, points out Lynn Bourland, home management specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Felts, Mrs. Hugh Painter, Mrs. Black and Leslie, Mrs. Crowover, Mrs. Reynolds and her grandson, Bruce Jones, and the hostess, Mrs. Hunt.

Fix-It Tip

Most people think of flagstone when they think of a garden path. Flagstone is expensive. Cut costs by using them as steppingstones instead of making a solid path.

Stones that are placed on top of the ground should be thick and heavy for stability. Better, neater, safer and not requiring as much thickness is a walk that is set into the ground so that the top is flush with ground level.

Dig out enough earth to allow for the thickness of the material plus two inches for a bed of sand. The sand will take care of irregularities in thickness. Make a wood form for the sides of the walk before you pour the sand.

Doubleknit "corduroy" which is designed to look like the traditional woven cord material, has all the advantages of a knit fabric,

Northern Pike Grow Largest At Greenbelt

AUSTIN - Few freshwater fish have inspired more controversy than the northern pike.

Opinions of their value range from considering them useless to valuable predators in lakes and rivers.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists placed 150,000 northern pike in Greenbelt Lake in 1967.

Greenbelt Lake in Donley County is typical of smaller Panhandle impoundments with populations of stunted white crappie and black bullheads.

The idea behind this stocking is an attempt at a "biological control" of overpopulations of less desirable game fish such as stunted crappie and rough fish like gizzard shad. An added trophy fish for Texas anglers might be developed also.

In the comparatively warmer climes of the Texas Panhandle, the pike grew rapidly during the five years of the department study.

When compared with similarly aged fish from northern U.S. waters, the Texas pike far outgrew their northern cousins during the first few years of life.

After one year of growth in Greenbelt, a sample of fish was analysed by department biologists Bill Rutledge and John Prentice. One of the larger fish taken after one year was some 21 inches long.

In the colder waters of Fort Randall, South Dakota, and Clear Lake, Iowa, fish of about the same age were only 12 inches long.

Up at Lake of the Woods, Minnesota, a pike after one year of growth was only eight inches in length.

Much the same comparison continued for the five years of sampling: a five-year-old Greenbelt fish averaged almost 35 inches in length; a Fort Randall fish, 32 inches; a Clear Lake pike, 28 inches; and a Minnesota fish, 22 inches.

WHS Library to Hold Book Sale September 19-20

The Wellington High School library is conducting a sale of old books, and getting rid of old magazines.

Some of these books have copyright dates before 1900, others are rather recent but are not needed in the school library, said Mrs. Ben Ratliff, librarian.

Some are duplicate titles that we do not have room for. The public is invited to come and look them over on Thursday or Friday, September 19 and 20, and to visit the library at any time.

"Many volumes have been added to the library collection in recent years; some have been purchased through the local budget, some with Federal funds and some have been donated as memorial gifts or simply as gifts," explained Mrs. Ratliff. "One of the largest gift collections was about one hundred fifty volumes of science fiction and mystery books which were given by Dr. Charlie Jones and Rosemary Langford. These books were presented near the end of the spring semester."

Visitors are always welcomed at the W.H.S. Library, she added.

Mr. and Mrs. Addie Bynum of Livingston, Calif., visited recently with her sister, Mrs. Bura Handley.

Rockets Take 28-0 Win Over Paducah

By Charles Waugh

The Wellington Skyrockets in their second football game of 1974 impressed the home folk with a 28 to 0 victory over the Paducah Dragons Friday night at Powell Field. The win evened the Rockets season record at one win against one set-back. The entire team certainly gained much confidence and picked up momentum for their next game against Childress one week from this Friday night.

For the second game in a row the Skyrockets won the toss of the coin and elected to receive the kick-off. Acting as co-captains for Wellington were Ricky Ford, Terry Anderson, and Kelly Cook.

Wellington put the ball in play at their own 31 yard line to begin the game. On two quick running plays Jim Bob Nall and Jessie Davis picked up the first of 13 first downs in the game for Wellington. However, in the second series of downs Jim Bob Nall fumbled the ball at mid-field and Cullin Priour recovered for Paducah at the Wellington 49 yard line.

Paducah quickly picked up a first down against a very tough Wellington defense. But their drive was soon to end with the first of five fumbles that really hurt the Dragons. Tony Martinez recovered this first fumble for the Skyrockets.

Both teams exchanged the ball via the fumble or pass interception the rest of the first quarter with the quarter ending in a scoreless dual. Much credit is due to a stingy front defensive line of Wellington in holding the Dragons and their talented running back Danny Garrett. Steve Emmert had a real fine defensive effort, along with Allen Sanders, David Null, Don Allred, Danny Morris, and Jackie Black.

In the second quarter Paducah threatened once deep in Wellington territory but were held on downs by a good defense and two outstanding tackles by defensive back Edward Thomas.

The Skyrockets were not to be denied in the second quarter of action. Quarterback George Brewer lead an offense that was to move at will against Paducah. A spread-formation put in by Wellington allowed for a variety of pass or run plays. Brewer had the option to run or pass in this formation that seemed to catch Paducah out of position. The passing to Edward Thomas, Jessie Davis, Sammy Gonzales, Shane Tarver, Neal Cochran, and Tony Martinez was mixed well with running plays. With 3:17 to go in the second quarter Jim Bob Nall went over from 13 yards out for the Skyrockets first score of the night. The point after was blocked leaving the score at 6 to 0 in favor of Wellington.

Immediately following the Wellington kick-off Paducah quarterback Ray Tobias fumbled a pitch-out and the alert Edward Thomas recovered for the Rockets at the Dragon 28 yard line.

Richard Sims picked up eight yards in this series as time was running out and also what appeared to be the second touchdown but was called back because of a motion penalty against the Rockets. On fourth down for Wellington from the Paducah 7 yard line quarterback Brewer carried over from the left side of his line for the second touchdown of the night with 26 seconds to go in the half. The pass attempt for two points on the conversion failed leaving Wellington with a 12 to 0 lead going into their dressing rooms at halftime.

Edward Thomas kicked-off for Wellington to begin the Paducah had good field position at their own 45 yard line. But they just couldn't get it together against the Skyrockets.

Wellington made one threat at scoring in the third quarter following a bad snap from the Paducah center Mike Holley on a fourth down punting situation. The Skyrockets took over at the Dragon 14 yard line but were held from scoring, a 15 yard holding penalty hurt the Rockets chances on this particular series.

Early in the fourth and final quarter Wellington's Edward Thomas picked off a Ray Tobias pass at the Rockets 37 yard line and returned it all the way to the Dragon 3 yard line. On his second attempt at the goal line Jim Bob Nall carried the ball over for his second touchdown of the night. Richard Sims carried the ball over on the conversion try making the score Wellington 20 Paducah 0.

In the next few series of play outstanding defense came from Wellington's Joe Baumgardner, Jim Bob Nall, and Jessie Davis.

The final score of the game came with 4:04 left in the game. Shane Tarver received a 37 yard pass from quarterback George Brewer and marched into the end zone for the touchdown. Brewer carried the ball over on the conversion attempt making the final score Wellington 28 and Paducah 0.

We, Too, Have a Part in Mexico's Independence Day

This week the county's Mexican-American people share with others throughout the Southwest and Mexico the celebration of that country's freedom from Spain in 1810, an event south of the border comparable to the Anglo celebration of U.S. Independence in England.

We in the Southwest can well join Mexico's celebration, for this also was part of the Spanish empire.

Less than 50 years after Columbus reached the new world, Spanish were to pass through the Panhandle and claim the whole vast area for their King. It was 80 more years before the Pilgrims settled at Plymouth Rock.

All of us are part of a group, citizens of Collingsworth, but on this particular occasion, we might recognize the contribution of our Mexican-Americans to our life. There are the number of their children who add to the school rolls. There is their contribution to the economy of the county, through the wages they draw and the purchases they make. There is their role in our farming economy.

The liberation celebrated this week is one of the key events in the 450 year history of the southwestern United States and our neighbors, Mexico.

A Small but Important Step

A small step toward restoration of faith in public officials was taken when the Southern Governors Conference met in Austin and their host, Texas Governor Dolph Briscoe, decreed that no large gifts were to be made visiting officials.

In the past governors who attended the meetings usually returned home with substantial gifts such as home freezers etc., presented by friendly businessmen. Even though the gifts could hardly constitute bribes, it's difficult to visualize gifts of such magnitude with absolutely no strings, either expressed or implied, being attached.

Governors leaving Austin when the meeting ends will take with them only tokens of their visit, in the form of specially designed paperweights.

Texas' Governor Dolph Briscoe is due commendation for his efforts at ending a policy that the very least in this post-Watergate period could cause embarrassment.

— Wichita Falls Record-News

The Final Period

Melancholy decay awaits the old saddle tree discarded among the mesquites. A few pieces of hard, curled leather clings to the bleached wood and rusty metal horn, like a dead falcon's claws, and pieces of brittle leather strings hold a battered concho. Flows have turned the soil of a thousand trails where cowboys rode and dreamed their conquests of destinies; the rain and sleet and freezing winds - the loneliness men know. The clattering hoofs are silenced and the scent of sweat is gone. Horses and cowboys, the rainswept camps and bellowing herds have returned to the earth; to peace. The old saddle is the final period in the history.

AUSTIN — Gloomy predictions of increasing natural gas shortages during winter months were made to southern governors at their conference here last week.

Federal Power Commissioner Don S. Smith reported major pipeline operators expect natural gas supplies to fall 9.6 per cent below demand.

Smith forecast gas pipeline curtailments this winter will be 81 per cent greater than last year.

To sustain present levels of gas consumption would require discovery of "a new Alaska every year," the federal agency official told the governors.

FPC, according to Smith, has taken these steps to relieve impact of the shortage:

- Entered an order to allow 2,400 of the 3,900 smaller gas producing companies to sell interstate gas at 63 cents per thousand cubic feet, instead of the 42 cent wellhead rate permitted major producers.

- Reinstated emergency provisions to allow utilities to buy gas through pipelines for 60-day periods at market rates rather than lower, regulated interstate rates.

Texas' Gov. Dolph Briscoe said the action would have little effect in Texas, where demands will keep prices far above the 63 cent rate.

INFORMATION SOUGHT—A Cleveland firm hired to survey tax values in 35 school districts sought tax appraisal and computer contracts with all 1,100 districts in the state.

Legislative Property Tax Committee Chairman Sen. H. J. Blanchard of Lubbock said the solicitation seemed "inappropriate" to him.

LPTC staff members expressed some concern that the firm would be reporting to the state on data paid for by the district. The firm is being paid $382,000 by the state for its data on market value of district properties.

Some LPTC members also complained about slowness in getting a reclassification of property tax laws as a guide to legislative improvements.

CRIME FIGHT MAPPED—Atty. Gen. John Hill has called for establishment of a statewide grand jury and a central information bank as weapons in the fight on organized crime.

At a law enforcement conference, Hill said state and local law officers must cooperate to combat the increased threat of major crime.

Governor Briscoe, meanwhile, said he plans to propose to the legislature again in 1975 a law to permit wiretapping where ordered by a court to gather evidence of organized crime.

DEPARTMENT SHAKEN—Texas Department of Labor and Standards got its third assistant commissioner in a week's time.

Commissioner Jackie W. St. Clair named Kirby Suggs of the Houston regional office after (1) firing Tommy W. Smith and (2) temporarily elevating Bob Hubbard, son of AFL-CIO State President Harry Hubbard, to the post. Hubbard resumed his position as administrative assistant.

A total of 10 of the department's 40 employees were discharged at the same time by St. Clair, who pronounced their job performances "unsatisfactory."

AG OPINIONS—The secretary of state may use statistical samplings or other reasonable means of determining adequacy of political party petitions for places on the ballot, Attorney General Hill held.

In other recent opinions, the attorney general concluded:

- Laboratory reports on retail dairy products and ground beef are subject to disclosure.

- An unlicensed person can perform professional nursing acts under direct control or supervision of a physician.

- Child abuse case records revealing the identity of the complainant are excepted from disclosure requirements.

- A Senate sub-committee (consumer affairs) rule permitting executive sessions to get testimony or evidence or confer with counsel conflicts with the open meetings law.

- County commissioners may sell land belonging to the permanent school fund and distribute money to county school districts, but the districts may not pay back to the county funds to create a vocational school.

- Counties may contract for minor children's custodial care.

- City councils must call, within 60 days of a valid petition, an election under the firemen's and policemen's civil service act. Actual holding of the election must take place within a reasonable time.

TEXAS AHEAD — Texas leads the nation in the percentage increase of new business incorporations.

Secretary of State Mark White Jr. reported the number of business incorporations increased dramatically from 1,569 in May, 1973, to 2,513 in May, 1974. This is a 62 per cent increase for Texas, compared with a five per cent increase for the nation as a whole.

Coupled with the increase, however, is a rise in bankruptcies and business failures. There were 680 bankruptcy petitions filed during 1973 in the U.S. District Courts for the Western District of Texas — and 768 so far this year. May recorded an all-time peak of business failures—925—nationally.

APPOINTMENTS—Speaker Price Daniel Jr. named Rep. Herman Lauhoff of Houston to House committees on revenue and taxation, natural resources and elections.

Daniel also named Rep. Chris Semos of Dallas to the House committee on appropriations, Rep. Phil Cates of Pampa to the committee on calendars and Rep. Jon Newton of Beeville to the committee on rules.

Susan Longley of Austin will manage Attorney General John Hill's campaign office.

Hill was reappointed chairman of the National Association of Attorneys General Consumer Protection Committee.

CROPS IMPROVE LITTLE—September crop predictions improved slightly over August, Agriculture Commissioner John White reported.

Texas cotton production is estimated at 3,180,000 bales, off almost 1.5 million from 1973. The August predictions were 3,050,000 bales. Sorghum production (off 122 million bushels) and soybeans (off two million bushels) remain little changed. Corn production also remained largely unchanged at 69,760,000 bushels (a nine million bushel decrease). The rice crop looks good, with producers expected to harvest 24,772,000 hundred-weight bags, a five per cent increase. Sugarbeets and sugarcane will also improve.

Going to Market

SHORT SNORTS

The Texas National Guard has been requested to take additional steps to increase security of federal arms and ammunition.

Rep. Dan Kubiak of Rockdale reaffirmed his request for investigation into cost of each step in cattle raising. All voters in the November 5 general election must be registered by October 5. Registrations are valid for three years.

Secretary of State White refused to place the Socialist Workers Party candidates on the November ballot, holding its petition inadequate.

The State Supreme Court, via appeal, will have a chance to rule on whether the Texas Railroad Commission has authority to order natural gas taken away from utilities in North Texas and South Texas. A district judge here has ruled the commission has that authority, and the Austin Court of Civil Appeals agreed.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where government of us people by our own elected representatives is now a condition of the past.

The judge class - mostly political appointees we have little to do with choosing - is now ordering our chosen executives, school boards, etc., to do what the judiciary command them to do.

The old doctrine of separation of powers to keep executive, legislative and judicial authority equal has gone down the drain as political judges rule that they are more equal.

Seventy-three judges from Region X participated in the seminar conducted Sept. 3-6. Among these was Mrs. Beatrice McKinney, justice of the peace for Precinct 1, Collingsworth County.

BY MRS. ARLA FELTS CO. EXTENSION AGENT

The Family Living Subcommittee of Collingsworth County Extension has planned a special interest program for October 16, that is less than three weeks away.

This Short Course is one I know will help many persons in our county. The subject will be special diets with particular emphasis on the diabetic, low sodium, low fat, and low cholesterol diets. We have taken suggestions received at Sew Fair in May and have developed a workable schedule for the day.

Mrs. Mary Sweeten, Food and Nutrition Specialist of Texas Agricultural Extension Service will be our guest instructor.

Mrs. Sweeten attended

Austin College and graduated from the University of Texas. She completed dietetic internship at Indiana University Medical Center. She received her Master of Science from Oklahoma State University in 1969.

The days activities will begin at 11:00 a.m. with a dinner program at the RSVP Birthday luncheon.

At 2:00 p.m. the Short Course at the Community Building will begin. The Short Course will last approximately two hours and will have a short break at the mid point. Time will be given for questions and answers.

Let's plan now to attend this special event. Mark your calendar for Wednesday, October 16.

Prairie Chicken Have Good Hatch

Texas' small population of Attwater's prairie chickens had the best hatch in years this spring.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists said the chickens, which once numbered more than a million along the Gulf coast plains, averaged 1.3 chicks per adult over their limited range near Houston.

In some areas the average was 1.9 chicks per adult.

This year's production was much better than last year's which resulted in a low population of adults this year.

Attwater's prairie chickens declined rapidly in the past 100 years, and in 1936

Turkish Language Beautiful to Ear

By Karen McClendon
IFYE Delegate to Turkey

Merhaba! "Hello" from Turkey in Turkish. The Turkish people have a very beautiful, and to this outsider, a difficult language. Most of the letters in Turkish are like English with the exclusion of q, w, and x, and variations of vowels. The language employs vowel harmony which lends a musical quality to the sound. There is a great deal of borrowing from Arabic and signs of French are evident. "Merci" is acceptable as "thank you" although the true Turkish "tesekkür, ederim" is most often heard. English and Turkish also have similarities. The Turkish "radyo," "kanal," and "taksi" are comparable to English's "radio," "canal," and "taxi," although pronunciation varies slightly. Pronunciation is regular, however and an "u" will always sound the same - a great help to the language learner.

Difficulty is presented in suffixes and the lack of prepositions. "May I come?" is "gelebilir miyim?" in Turkish. Pointing and gestures communicate many times when the necessary words are just not present.

Part of the beauty of Turkish is the literal meanings. A cook's response to a compliment to the food is "afiyet olsun" - "to your health." The greatest beauty, however, is the attitude of the people to the clumsy attempts of this person to use Turkish. Everyone seems willing to take time to figure out from my bits-and-pieces the meaning being expressed. Numerous times we have heard "iyi," "bravo," "çok güzel" and other terms essentially an expression of "you are doing fine." Their hospitality, friendliness, and courtesy are particularly appreciated at this point.

Humor is a central focus regarding the language. Similarity of very diverse words resulted in my labeling myself a donkey on three occasions, describing an ancient ruin as a cow, and a herd of cows as flies. (My companion has even spread the misconception that it is very cold and snowy in Iowa in the summer.) The laughter that follows such mistakes melts distinctions and brings us together as persons the way words never could.

Greater Growth Predicted for Cattle Feeding

COLLEGE STATION -- "The Texas Cattle feeding industry is projected to reach at least 7.3 million head level by 1980. That would be 70 per cent greater than the 4.3 million head output recorded in 1972," predicts Dr. Ed Uvacek, livestock marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Uvacek says, "Demands for beef is forecasted to continue to rise steadily through 1980. This will be brought about by a larger population and a substantial increase in the per capita disposable income level, plus added demand factors such as the food stamp program." In 1973 Texas fed cattle marketings represented 17 per cent of the national total. If Texas attains the projected 7.3 million head level by 1980 and the rest of the nation grows to the expected 38.5 million head level, the Texas share of the national output will increase to 19 per cent.

"My guess would be that Texas cattle feeding could easily reach that 7.3 million level and maybe even as much as 7.7 million head," contends Uvacek.

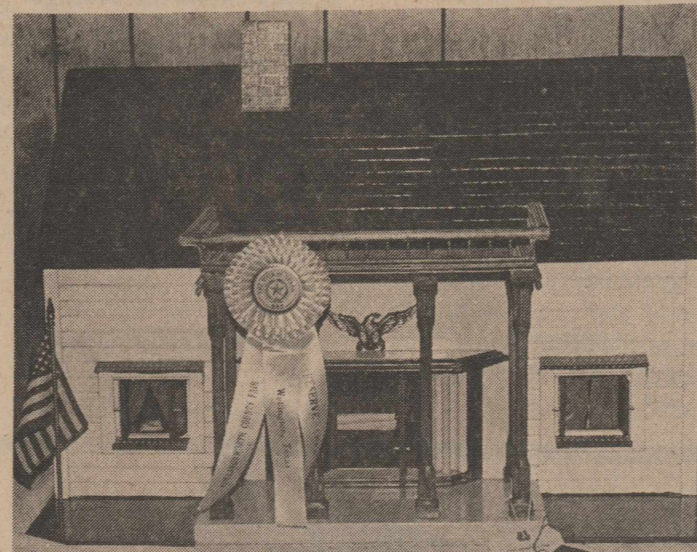

The trend toward larger feedlots also seems certain. With bigger lots being utilized more efficiently, fewer such facilities will be needed. The upper-end of the Texas Panhandle has recorded the major growth in feedlots, in slaughtering plants and related beef industry firms. This area is in the sorghum belt, the principal cattle-feed supply region.

One interesting facet of this feeding expansion in the High Plains of Texas is the fact that within less than a 100 mile radius from Amarillo are four other cattle feeding areas in other states. These other areas are still within easy reach of the same sorghum supplies, the same packers and the same other related industries. What then will keep cattle feeding in Texas? Probably even more important than that -- Uvacek asks, "What factors will cause cattle feeding to shift out of Texas?"

He lists several important items -- a state corporate tax, state income tax, more stringent pollution laws, imbalance in intra- versus inter-state transportation rates, attitude of Texas toward the cattle feeding business, and other state of federal regulations affecting the industry.

"Certainly these and numerous other economic and political influences will dictate whether or not Texas can retain its leadership role in cattle feeding. They may even be more important than competitive advantages.

"All Texans must not only realize that Texas makes beef, but also that beef contributes greatly to the economic well-being of everyone in the state. The cattle feeding industry deserves and must receive everyone's support," emphasizes Uvacek. "It is the underlying industry that supports thousands of other related industries."

MEN'S HOBBIES WINNERS

The Grand Champion of the men's division, Collingsworth County Fair Hobby Show, went to the hand-tooled leather picture at top, entered by Darrell Colson. Intricately tooled and left in the natural brown, it has a western theme, with a cow boy in the foreground, and a background that includes trees, mountains, and deer. The reserve champion was this built-to-scale doll house entered by Johnny Green. Pillars support the front porch and there is an American eagle over the front door. The flag flies at left.

Food Demands Will Mean Full Farm Production

An increasing world population, prosperity and devaluation of the dollar have all combined to increase the demand for American food, says a marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"World population is now about 3.7 billion and projected to increase to about seven billion within the next 25 years," says Charles Baker.

Increased wages have spurred the demand for top quality food. People want to eat more and higher quality protein, particularly meat, milk and eggs. And more farming resources are required to produce animal protein. It takes three pounds of grain to produce a pound of broiler, five pounds to produce a pound of pork and seven pounds to produce a pound of beef.

In response, government restrictions have been lifted and eight million more acres were planted in 1974--800,000 more in Texas. Still, there are some limits on farmers: that consumers should be aware of, points out the Texas A&M University System specialist.

"Although millions of acres are being added to our total cropland, there is a physical limitation on our best land. It takes time to bring marginal acres to higher standards.

"Also, expansion requires investments in farm buildings, new livestock production systems, equipment, animals, feed, fertilizer and seed. These and other inputs, including gas and diesel fuel, may not be readily available in the quantities needed for full production."

Water is a major limiting factor, says Baker. Land can't be developed if it lacks a water supply. Irrigation is often a practical alternative, but an irrigation system requires a sizable capital expenditure and time for installation.

A shortage of machinery, fuel, fertilizers, pesticides, herbicides and other farm inputs and service can limit agricultural production. Environmental constraints may also cut production.

"A continuous and vigorous research program is essential to help farmers produce at a high level and compete in world markets," contends Baker. "It inevitably translates to consumer benefits in terms of food variety, improved quality and lower cost."

"With good weather, enough essential farm inputs and freedom to operate, farmers can work to reach full food production for everyone's benefit."

Mr. and Mrs. D.R. McKinney and Harold were in Amarillo Monday to attend the Tri-State Fair and the Mel Tillis and Tanya Tucker Show.

NO TAX CUT NOW

Tax cuts are always welcome and tax increases are political dynamite. One of the basic reasons for our current inflation rate was President Johnson's reluctance to propose a tax increase in the midst of the Vietnam conflict. It imposed a huge war effort on top of a booming economy and prices went through the roof.

Now a rising chorus of "let's have a tax cut" is coming from the liberal wing of politicians and economists. The Ford Administration is holding a policy of more restraint, not less. The tax cut advocates say that high interest rates and tight money will do little to curb inflation, but will do plenty to cut production and cause unemployment. If that happened, then the reaction of the monetary authorities would be to begin massive deficit spending, in order to get the economy moving upward. The result would then be a repeat of the 1971 inflation splurge.

Most of the tax cut proposals are in the social security tax, both the employee's and the employer's contributions. This would increase take-home pay and might soften labor's demand for higher wages. It would also lower company costs, hopefully, and break the wage-price spiral. Opponents of a tax cut now point out that increasing take-home pay will do nothing more than increase prices because stimulating demand for new cars, for example, will just put a greater strain on the steel and aluminum industries, already operating at maximum capacity. They say that increasing demand only increases inflation.

The critical point today is whether the budget cuts combined with continued high interest rates and tight money could very well trigger the recession everyone is trying to avoid. This would be "over-kill."

If the economy continues to slide and excess productive capacity begins to develop in the major materials industries, then a tax cut proposal would become a good thing.

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Bob McAlister over the week-end was their daughter, Patti, from Canyon.
