AROUND THE COUNTY by

ARTHUR BARLEMANN, JR. COUNTY AGENT

How much of a steer is steak? How much is roast? How much is waste? These questions are answered in a new leaflet entitled "FROM STEER TO STEAK" prepared by the Extension Livestock marketing specialist. The leaflet answers some of the questions that consumers have regarding the difference in the price the producer receives for live beef and the price paid over the counter in the market.

According to the leaflet, 24% of a carcass is steak, 32% is roast, and 24% is miscellaneous cuts and 20% is waste. The percentage of the various cuts of steak is as follows: round steak, 10%; porterhouse, club and T-bone 8% for the three cuts; and sirloin 8%.

Out of each thousand pound steer, only four-hundred-seventy pounds is made into retail cuts. The remainder is lost in dressing or goes into other than retail cuts.

The leaflet also breaks down the consumers' dollars and shows where it all goes. The retailer gets 28%, the packer-wholesaler gets 8%, livestock marketing expenses take 2%, and the producer gets 62%.

Copies of the leaflet are available in the county agent's office for those who desire one.

Some livestock producers have been wondering why the screwworm eradication program officials recommend only CoRal or Korlan as a spray for the control of the screwworm fly in the program. According to Dr. R.G. Garrett, head of the Texas Animal Health Commission, these two are the only ones that will control or kill the screwworm fly. In addition, both are good control measures for other types livestock pests such as grubs. The residual is longer and the effect better over the long period. Admitting that they cost more than other sprays, Dr. Garrett told the group meeting in Abilene last Friday that it was still worth the difference in cost to get the better results.

Dr. Garrett, Marvin Bridges representing the Foundation, and the representatives of the USDA, Dr. Gartman and Dr. Burnett, said that daily adjustments are being made in the program to cope with the increased incidence of cases outside the drop areas. They stated that they and others had believed that the flies would move only about thirty miles in their life, but their thinking was changed when colored flies released on the head of Buchanan Lake were trapped ten and a half days later 180 miles up the Colorado River on the Spade Ranch. They have also found that the sterile flies live as long as the native flies; previously their experience had indicated several days less.

All said that the producer was the number one man in the program, and, that the success of the program depended on his cooperation. He must inspect his livestock, spray for flies and doctor all wounds, and report all cases by sending in samples.

Rev. and Mrs Leo Ross and James went to Austin last weekend.

Mrs. Roy Martin has a garden at her home that is beginning to come into production. Covering about 2 lots, the garden is loaded with tomatoes, beans, peas, melons, potatoes, etc. Around the home are fruit trees and pecans, all loaded with fruit and nuts. Tillie says it takes most of her time during her waking hours to water and tend the garden. It shows it, too.

DISRESPECT OF COURT

Because the stakes are high -- a person's life his good name, his liberty, or his property -- courtrooms sometimes become supercharged with drama and danger.

Despite the excitment, the judge has to be impartial and open-minded as to issues, evidence, parties, witnesses and lawyers. To fail in this may cause a case to be tried again or reversed on appeal.

This makes a judge's job a hard one. For he must first keep order so that the facts go to the jury in a way to lead to sound, unprejudiced verdicts. The judge must also instruct the jury on the law, and decide what testimony goes into evidence.

Meantime lawyers on both sides are duty bound to work with skill and vigor to protect their clients and to advance their cause.

In this tense atmosphere somepeople break over the line and do things which may be termed "foul play" or show disrespect for the court.

When this happens, the judge has "inherent" power--power that grows out of his hard job--to crack down and punish violators for "contempt of court". Within wide limits he can levy fines and give jail sentences on the spot--when the offense takes place before him. He can sometimes do the same for things that take place outside the court--like the disobedience of a court order. But such indirect contempt of court calls for hearings to prove that an offense has been committed.

Judges may fine or give jail sentences to protect the due administration of justice: A juror or a lawyer for being tardy, f or impugning the judge's honesty, for a witness to refuse to testify, for improper attempts to influence the jury or the court, for deceiving or taking advantage of the court, making personal attacks on the character and motives of the other side or its lawyer, for appealing to prejudices, and for referring to facts in court not admissable in evidence.

(This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform--not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an atorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Outlook for mohair continues to be favorable. There has been a sharp rise in both export and domestic sales, with more mohair being used in bulky type fabrics.

After the price drop in 1962, mohair bounced back with demands picking up steadily after September of 1962. In addition to foreign demand, the U.S. knit trade became interested, and large quantities of mohair was purchased for that use.

Fashion often determines mohair demand, and the growers are reaping benefits from that fact at this time. A trend toward bulky, shaggy type fabrics in women's clothing has stirred demand for mohair in brushed and looped-yarn type fabrics. Indications are this trend will gain momentum during the year.

A recent survey indicated that mohair and wool-mohair blend sweaters were leading in fall buying preferences among retailers throughout the country. Mohair is also in demand for tropical and summer suits, both in the U.S. and abroad. There has been a steady increase in summer weight suits that use mohair.

Mohair production in Texas is keeping pace with the increased demand; production in 1962 was more than double than what it was ten years ago. Last year it amounted to 26.4 mllion pounds compared to 11.7 million pounds in 1952.

All in all, a survey of the demand picture in the mohair world is reason for encouragements among the mohair producers of Texas.

Among recent visitors have beenn: Mrs. Phillip Jacoby and her sons Scott and Mark, of Sonora; Susan A. Girard of Kerrville; Mrs. Ed Armstrong and her childrenn, Susan and Mike, formerly of San Angelo and Alla May Schafer and Pat McAlexander of San Angelo.

Game Commission Moving Offices

The Game and Fish Commission is on the move. On July 2 at 8 a.m. moving vans began loading equipment and materials for transfer to the new John H. Reagan Building off Congress between 14th and 15th streets. The moving will continue through Saturday, July 6. By Monday, July 8, the Game and Fish Department should be completely moved into their new home, acording to W.J. Cutbirth, assistant evecutive secretary for the Commission.

"The agency will occupy portions of the first, second and ground floors of the new building, with individual listings to be posted in the directory in the main lobby," said Cutbirth. "By Wednesday morning, all personnel now located in the Bolm Building and the Mutual Savings Building should be operating out of the Reagan Building. This will include most of the coordinators and their staffs, including Inland Fisheries, Wildlife, Law Enforcement, Coastal Fisheries, Engineers and Information and Education."

Beginning Wednesday, July 3, movers will load and move materials, supplies and equipment from the Walton Building. By Saturday, the Walton State Building, home of the Game and Fish Commission since 1932, will be nearly vacant, never to hear again the sounds of wildlife conservation at work.

All correspondence to the Texas Game and Fish Commission after July 8 should be addressed to the Reagan State Office Building, Austin, Texas.

Veterans Administration QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—A veteran has asked me as his personal physician to get a report of the VA x-ray and laboratory studies made at a recent examination. How can I get this information from the VA?

A—You may secure Form 3288 from the Veterans Administration which will authorize the release of information from the veteran's records. Or the veteran concerned may send to the VA a written statement granting permission to release the information to the doctor.

Q—Are members of my immediate family eligible for VA hospitalization?

A—Veterans only are eligible to receive care in a VA hospital. First priority goes to veterans with service-connected disabilities; after that service men without service-connected disabilities who are unable to pay for hospital care.

Q—Can I make a reservation for burial plot in a national cemetery?

A—Burial plots are assigned at the time of the funeral. No advance reservations are made. Once the plot has been assigned it is understood that the wife (or veteran if the wife is already buried there) will be buried there when the later death takes place In certain cases a child may also be budied there

PHYSICIANS SEEK TO UNIFY MEDICINE, RELIGION

Seeking to heal the "whole man," Texas physicians are being guided by the President of the Texas Medical Association into a serious program of unifying medicine and religion.

"Each day the clergyman and the doctor must meet problems that concern life and death. Certainly, only benebit to the total health of our patients can come from better cooperation and understanding between the two professions," writes Dr. Robert Mayo Tenery, President of the Association, in the June issue of Texas State Journal of Medicine.

He has appointed a special committee to study the implementation of a program in Texas which has been developed by the Department of Medicine and Religion of the American Medical Association. Pilot programs were undertaken in Abilene, Pampa, and Dallas, Texas, and in other cities across the nation in 1961 and 1962.

Members of the Committee include Dr. Edwin Goodall, Breckenridge, the chairman and a Presbyterian; Dr. H. Frank Carman, Dallas, a Southern Baptist; Dr. Howard O. Smith, Marlin, an Episcopalian; Dr. Travis Smith, Abilene, a Prebyterian; Dr. M.O. Rouse, Dallas, a Southern Baptist, Dr. John P. McGraw, Houston, a Catholic, and Dr. Frank Cohen. Fort Worth, a Jew.

Dr. Tenery, a Waxahachie surgeon, has himself long been interested in the interrelation of medicine and religion. He is an active Presbyterian and has served as a ruling elder and a member of the board of trustees of the Central Presbyterian Church of Waxahachie. Each summer he teaches a Sunday School class for college students. With Mrs. Tenery, he has served as advisor for the Youth Fellowship since 1954, and he is a member of the Christian Education Committee of the Brazos Presbytery.

Speaking before his fellow physicians at the recent Annual Session of the Texas Medical Association in Dallas, Dr. Tenery expressed his belief that this Committee on Medicine and Religion might provide an answer to the criticism that medicine has changed from "an art with a little science to a science with a little art."

"We need to consider the whole man. . .We can put bones together but we cannot heal. God does the healing Better understanding between the ministry and the physicians is something that can accomplish a great deal in the years ahead,," he said.

In his June column in the Journal, he expresses his feeling that giving patients effective treatment often requires cooperation and understanding between the doctor, the clergyman, the patient, and the family.

Again he emphasizes that healing is not accomplished by man but by God. "Every doctor has known the frustration of losing the battle or a life after given everything that medical science has to offer."

" We have all seen many patients who needed more spiritual support than we were able to give," he said.

The clergyman many times may carry to a patient the help his physician cannot provide.

Social Security

If you are a social security beneficiary who earned over $1200 from employment or self-employment in 1962, and you were under the age of 72 in any part of the year, you must file a report of your earnings with the Social Security Administration by April 15, 1963. Failure to report may result in a loss of benefits

This was announced today by Floyd B. Ellington, Manager of the San Angelo Social Security District Office. Mr. Ellington further explained that an estimate of your 1963 earnings will also be required.

This report will enable the Social Security Administration to determine:

(1) Whether you received all benefits payable for 1962. If not, you will receive the additional benefits due for last year.

(2) If you were paid more benefits in 1962 than were due. If so, you will be required to refund the amount of the overpayment.

(3) Whether any of your benefit checks for 1963 should be withheld. This will be determined on the basis of your estimate earnings for the year.

Mr. Ellington noted that beneficiaries who received no benefits in 1962 are not required to file the report. However, they are encouraged to do so as they may be entitled to receive some benefits for the year even though their total yearly earnings greatly exceeded the $1200. Benefits can be paid to a beneficiary for any month in which he did not earn over $100 as an employee and did not render substantial services in self-employment.

* * *

A new concept in social security was described today as "partial retirement payments" by Floyd B. Ellington, Social Security Administration district manager at San Angelo. Mr. Ellington stated that a large number of persons in the district are getting some retirement benefits even though they are working and earning more than $1200 per year. He also estimated that 600 more persons in the district could be receiving from one to eleven months' benefits per year by filing an application.

Ellington went on to explain that earnings of $1200 per year is no longer an absolute level beyond which all social security benefits are cut off. Instead, $1200 is the point at which all social security benefits begin to be adjusted due to excess earnings. "The actual point of earnings at which all benefits are cut off varies with the total yearly benefits due the family,.. Ellington said. He urged that all workers past retirement age check with the social security office at San Angelo for an individual analysis of their status.

"Don't delay - check today," Ellington emphasized. Benefits are retroactive for only 12 months before the month of filing an application, and ap plications filed now will allow us to consider paying back benefits for a whole year."

GENERAL TELEPHONE TOWNS ON THE MOVE

How Community Spirit Built Perryton

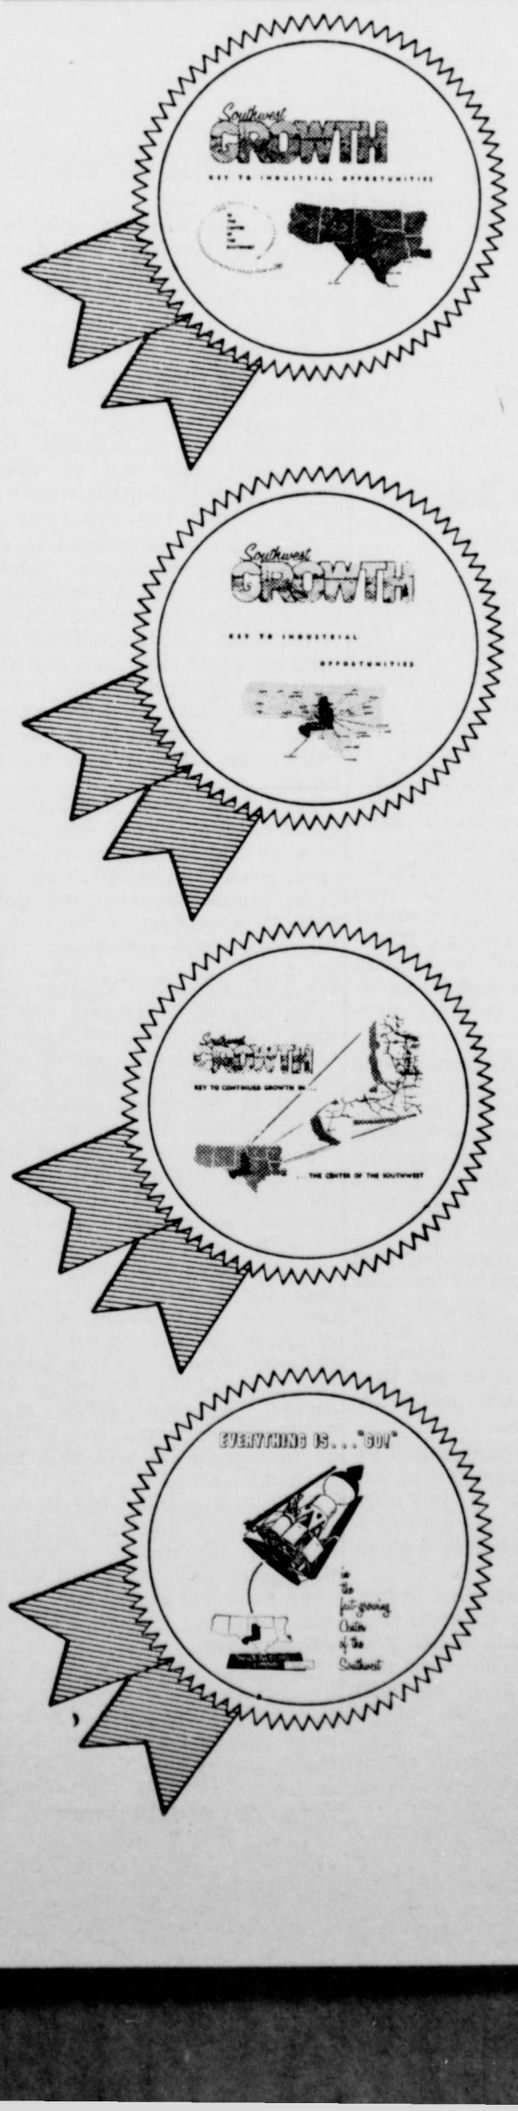

Population figures more than double . . . 30 new industries added . . . all since 1950! That is the miraculous record of Perryton in the Texas Panhandle wheat growing area.

When oil was discovered in the early 50's, an aggressive, long-range program was launched by the Chamber of Commerce. An 84-acre industrial tract was secured and plotted; its streets were paved and a railroad spur was built.

So successful was this community development that today a second industrial tract has been acquired and plotted. Perryton, former population 4417, is now known as The Oil Center of the Anardarko Basin, with 9400 citizens. It is another reason we say big things are happening in General Telephone towns.

These towns are on the move. Community improvements are under way, local resources are being developed, new businesses, new industries are coming in. If your town seeks additional information about expansion perhaps we can help. Just write our Community Development Department, Box 1001, San Angelo, Texas.

Over fifty million people have worked long enough under social security to qualify for cash disability benefits if they become disabled. This means that they have social security credits for five years (20 quarters) out of the past ten years, Floyd B. Ellington, district manager of the San Angelo Social Secuirty office said. In the case of a severe disability, the worker and his dependents may be eligible for monthly cash social security disability benefits if he meets this work requirement.

It is not necessary to be completely helpless to qualfy for social security disability benefits. These benefits are payable to those who suffer from a crippling disease or a severe impairment which makes them unable to do any substantial work.

Disabled adult sons and daughters of retired, deceased, or disabled workers may also receive childhood disability benefits if they become disabled before they reached age 18.

You May Be Due Social Security

Many people age 65 or over who are still working don't realize that under the law they are "partially retired" and can receive some social security payments. It is possible to receive social security retirement benefits even if earnings go over $1200 a year. according to Floyd B. Ellington, social security district manager in San Angelo.

Mr Ellington gave an example of a 65-year-old man and his wife eligible for a monthly social securty payment. If the man earns $2,500 in a year, he and his wife could receive $1,110 in social security payments.

More than a million people over 65 have not yet applied for social security benefits. Many could receive benefits even though they are working. Some of these million people are probably living right here in the San Angelo area.

Mr Ellington suggested that employed persons 65 or over visit, phone, or write the San Angelo Social Security office at 204 Continental Building to find out whether or not they can receive some social security payments.

Floyd B. Ellington, social security district manager in San Angelo, offered a few tips today on how to get your first social security check when it is due.

If you are nearing retirement, Ellington suggests that you get in touch with your social security office, and take some proof of your age with you. Have a member of his staff examine whatever proof you may have to see if it will be acceptable when you do retire.

HEALTH & SAFETY TIPS FROM THE AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

The advent of warm weather and the approach of summer brings most of us out of doors to soak up some sunshine and get out in the fields and woods on a week end. At this same time of year the snakes also are getting out for the spring sunshine.

Fear of poisonous snakes is common. Snake bite can kill, although it seldom does. Snake bite deaths each year in this country are perhaps 10 to 20. Possibly as many as 3,000 people are bitten. Every bite is a medical emergency.

There are 35 species or subspecies of poisonous snakes in the United States. Most of these are pit vipers, which include the different types of rattlers, the copperhead and the cottonmouth moccasin. The coral snake, found in the South, is related to the cobra.

When a snake strikes, it uses its fangs as hypodermic needles to puncture the skin and inject venom. Immediately, there is intense, burning pain. The flesh around the bit swells and becomes discolored. The victim is pale, weak and nauseated. He must have help immediaetely.

First: kill the snake. Next: have the victim lie down and remain quiet to slow circulation and retard absorption of the poison. Tie a tourniquet above the fang marks to dam the poison from the rest of the body. Be careful that the tourniquet does not cut off circulation of blood, and be sure to remember to loosen it for one minute at 10 to 15-minute intervals.

Sterlize a knife tip or razor blade with a match flame and make a cut lengthwise of the limb through each fang mark. Press the wound to encourage free bleeding.

If you have a snake bite kit, use the suction cup to draw out poison. If you have no kit, suck it out with your mouth and spit it out. You will be in no danger, unless there is a cut or sore inside your mouth. Continue the suction treatment for half an hour.

Keep the injured person warm. Use blankets, and give hot tea or coffee. Do not use whisky. It can be harmful.

After first aid. it is highly important to get the injured person to a doctor or hospital for antivenin. Do this with as little movement on the part of the patient as possible. If he must walk out of the woods, have him walk slowly. Use a stretcher if you can.

As soon as you can get to a phone, call the doctor and let him know you are coming. He may have to get the antivenin from a distance. He will need to know the size of the snake to know how much to order. The bite of a big diamond-back rattler in a small child may take six or eight tubes.

Most important: don't panic; Remember that few persons in the United States die of snake bite. Keep the patient quiet, give first aid, and get him to a doctor.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Many people are not aware they don't have to retire completely to receive social security benefits according to Floyd B. Ellington, social security district manager.

Ellington stated that special provisions in the social security law make it possible to receive some social security benefits even though a person may have fairly high earnings. He explained that a person can earn $1200 during the year and receive all of his benefits. And just $1 in benefits is withheld for every $2 earned between $1200 and $1700. For earnings over $1700, $1 in benefits is withheld for each $1 earned .

Ellington pointed out that a full month's benefits is payable for any month in which the beneficiary does not earn over $100 in wages and does not actively engage in self-employment.

Ellington urged all workers to visit the social security office when they near retirement age to learn more about their benefit rights. The office is located at 204 Continental Bldg., San Angelo, Texas.

Homes Abound with Potential Poisons, AMA Official Warns

Children, supposedly "safe at home," are poisoning themselves at the rate of nearly 1,500 a day.

"When you consider that more than a quarter million home-used products on the market contain toxins, it is not difficult to understand why more than 500 children die each year from self-administered poisons," said F. J. L. Blasingame, M.D., executive vice-president of the American Medical Association.

Children are naturally curious, especially the very young ones. They are prone to stick into their mouths anything they can get in their hands. It doesn't even have to taste good or look pretty."

Most accidental poisonings occur in children under five. Two-year-olds are the most poison prone, with one-year-olds close behind. At this stage in life their curiosity is at its height and their sense of fear not yet developed, Dr. Blasingame explained.

Medicine, especially aspirin, heads the list of items children seem to like to sample, accounting for nearly half of all accidental poisonings. In fact, too much of virtually any medicine can produce serious consequences.

Among the supposed nonedibles that frequently find their way into children's stomachs are cleaning and polishing agents, detergents, shoe polish, cosmetics, waxes, insecticides, paint, turpentine, chalk, bleaches, plant foods, plaster, perfume and decorations.

Medicines account for nearly half of all accidental poisoning in United States each year. Discard unused medicine and keep rest out of children's reach.

A primary cause of such accidents, says Dr. Blasingame, is storing poisonous substances in food containers or soft drink bottles. A toddler just naturally assumes that a soft drink bottle contains a treat. He'll drink whatever he finds in it.

"The facts are clear," he warned. "Between 65 and 70 per cent of all poisonings take place because an item was accessible to a child.

"If we're going to live in modern homes with modern conveniences and modern medicines, we have to develop some up-to-date standards that will make home safe for our children."

Among suggestions for lessening the poisoning hazards in the home, Dr. Blasingame suggested:

- Keep potential poisons out of reach and tightly sealed.
- Never transfer toxic materials into household utensils.
- Don't leave your child alone in a room in which you're working with poisons.
- Give medicines only in a lighted room.

If your child might have taken a poisonous substance, call your doctor for instructions at once. Don't wait to see what happens.
