Bitter Cold Heightens East's Woes

By The Associated Press

Bitter cold added woe to misery today as the eastern half of the nation continued to dig out of its worst snowstorm of the winter.

Thousands of motorists and others were stranded and more than 140 deaths were blamed on the blizzard-like onslaught.

New York City sanitation men, 8,000 strong, were bolstered by 3,000 extras hired at $2 an hour to shovel snow from streets.

Manhattan's Great White Way was just that.

HEATERS READY

In the South, Florida citrus growers readied heaters for the lowest temperatures — 23 in Jacksonville and 42 in Miami Beach — since the crop-killing freeze 13 months ago.

Temperatures also plummeted elsewhere—to 11 below zero early today in Albany, N.Y. Biting winds made it seem even colder.

In New York City, police and a doctor teamed up Monday to bring an emergency supply of blood to one-day-old Lisa Cavaluzzo in a Queens hospital. Lisa, needing a complete replacement of blood, got it in time although a police car broke down in the snow trying to deliver it.

ALSO BOGS DOWN

The doctor's car also gave up, miles from the hospital. A police car, which took him the rest of the way, bogged down in snow for 15 minutes before delivering him to make the transfusion.

Lisa was in satisfactory condition today.

Another New York City child became a victim of the snow. He was 5-year-old Scott Rubenstein. Police think he tunneled into a snow-bank, which collapsed and trapped him.

Elsewhere in the East and Midwest:

OVEREXERTION

Scores died from overexertion or exposure as they shoveled snow, tried to dig out stuck autos or trudged through deep expanses of white.

On a Raleigh, N.C., street, Michael N. Summy, 6, was killed when his sled ran under a truck.

Among thousands marooned by the storm were hundreds of motorists in Indiana, Illinois and on New York City's Belt Parkway. Buses rescued the latter group. The others began to move as conditions eased.

Youngstown, Ohio, got 16 inches in snow, heaviest in six years; Albany, N.Y., 15 inches, heaviest 24-hour fall for any January on record; Washington, D.C., 9 inches, heaviest in more than five years.

Chilly Weather Will Continue

The current chilly weather will continue through Thursday but the low forecast for Thursday morning will be higher than the chilly 16 which was reported early today. A low of 24 is anticipated Thursday morning. Partly cloudy skies and no moisture is the forecast.

The absence of moisture is highly satisfactory to the cotton growers of the county. They are hastening to wind up the harvest of the 1963 crop and it is anticipated that the last of the bales will be in the gin yard by the end of the week.

The cold weather is not a serious deterrent to the stripping operations in the fields.

Jonsson May Be New Dallas Mayor

DALLAS (AP)— Dallas civic and business leader Erik Jonsson has consented to become mayor should incumbent Earle Cabell run for Congress, the Dallas News said today.

Jonsson is board chairman of Texas Instruments, Inc.

Cabell is now in his second term as mayor. Although he has not announced his plans, he reportedly hopes to run against Republican Bruce Alger. Alger has been in Washington nine years and is ready to seek his sixth term.

Jimmy Taylor Elevated In Only Banking Change

Only one change was made in the official families of two national banks following annual stockholders meetings here Tuesday.

At First National Bank, J. P. (Jimmy) Taylor was elevated from assistant vice president to vice president. All other offices remained the same.

This was true at State National Bank where these officers were renamed: Robert W. Currie, president; Edith Hatchett, John Currie, Carlton J. Chapman, vice presidents; C. M. Havens, cashier; Ima Deason, Fred E. Haller and Travis L. Waller, assistant cashiers.

The First National slate is as follows: James Key, chairman of the board; Lester Morton, president, R. V. Middleton, senior vice president; Clyde Angel, Reba Baker, Jack Davis, R. J. (Dick) Ream, J. P. Taylor, vice presidents; Charles Dunnam, cashier; Joe P. Ackley, James M. Hatler, Louis C. Loe, Betty Rains, Faye Stratton, assistant cashiers.

Taylor is a native of Monahans and a graduate of Texas A&M University. He served from 1949-53 as county agent for Reeves and Loving counties, was in service from 1953-55 before coming here in 1955 as Howard County agent. In October of 1961, he joined the First National staff. He is a member of the ABClub and is a Baptist.

Last week at the Coahoma State Bank, Ed Carpenter was returned as chairman of the board as was Bill Read, president, Carl Bates, vice president (inactive), and Johnny Justiss, cashier.

Similarly, the Security State Bank had its meeting last week and named George W. Dabney, chairman of the board; Larson Lloyd, president; V. A. Whittington, vice president (inactive); Chester C. Cathey, vice president and cashier; Onita McDaniel, Mona Walker, Iva Nell Marr, Jerry Sebastian, assistant cashier. Thomas Rodman, Odessa, was added to the board.

Stogie Stylesetters

Well aware of the recent report on the dangers of cigarette smoking, these two ladies try out cigar smoking in hopes of finding a less harmful alternate and possibly setting a new style. Lighting up the stogies are St. Paul, Minn., office workers Lorelei Sabean (left) and Mrs. Judy Curtis. The report said cigars were less of a health hazard than cigarettes. (AP WIREPHOTO)

School Building Plans Focus On High School

Proposed expansion of facilities for the Big Spring Independent School District was brought slightly closer to realization Tuesday as trustees studied financial and building possibilities.

The firm of Rauscher, Pierce and Company, Inc., San Antonio, was accepted as financial advisers for the bond program which will accomplish the expansion. The firm was hired in 1959 originally, but has not been used because the district was stymied by litigation over the Gay Hill-Center Point annexation.

Carter Johnston, of the firm, presented a program of financing which would allow the school to sell up to $5½ million in bonds without increasing the tax rate. Present bonded indebtedness is $3,145,262. The program would call for sale of $3 million worth of bonds during the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, 1965, another $1½ million in 1967 and another $1 in 1969. Keeping the present tax rate of $1.70 on 60 per cent of each $100 valuation is contingent on the district gaining about two per cent each year in assessed valuation and collecting 95 per cent of the taxes due.

Discussion of the building program at this time centers around work at the high school, where the need is the greatest. Atmar Atkinson, of Atcheson, Atkinson and Fox, told trustees that he could have more accurate drawings of new structures and better cost figures in about three weeks.

After studying three proposals on how to enlarge the high school to house 2,500 students, trustees told Atkinson to pursue his planning on a compact arrangement which will still provide windows for most of the classrooms. It would have a two - story wing in front of and along the rear of the present building, with corridors at both levels to provide good flow of traffic, an addition to the vocational facilities and a complete new physical education building just north of the auditorium. There also would be tennis courts and two playground areas each the size of a football field in the northeast portion of the school grounds.

A proposed fieldhouse - assembly area has already been deleted on the drawing board, but some of the facilities which would have been included in it are incorporated in the physical education building.

As more accurate cost figures are derived, other portions of the expansion will probably have to be deleted to stay within the ability of the district to pay. Costs and additions can probably be projected more accurately at the next meeting Feb. 4. In the meantime administrators are continuing study of needs to prevent overbuilding in any area.

Trustees accepted the new Kentwood school on the recommendation of the architect. Final cost of the building was $86,652.07, slightly below the original estimate of $86,961. It has been in use since September, 1963.

Court Affirms Estes' Term

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals affirmed today the swindling conviction and eight-year prison sentence for Billie Sol Estes.

The three-man appeals court dealt the former West Texas farm financier defeat in the first appellate court test of his criminal convictions.

Estes has 15 days to seek a rehearing from the court.

The court is the highest which can consider appeals of criminal convictions in Texas.

The convictions stem from eight counts of felony theft in indictments handed down April 25, 1962 in Estes' former headquarters, Pecos, Tex.

The indictments came four weeks after federal officers suddenly arrested Estes, toppling his multimillion-dollar financial structure. Since then, Estes has become bankrupt. He now lives in Abilene, Tex.

The case was transferred across the state to Tyler to escape possible juror prejudice from publicity. In the 17-day trial, the state called eight witnesses, the defense none. The jury deliberated two hours and found Estes guilty Nov. 7, 1962.

Panama, U. S. Reconciliation Due Quickly

Discussions Of Issues To Follow

PANAMA (AP)—The United States and Panama agreed today to re-establish diplomatic relations "as quickly as possible" and to open discussions 30 days after resumption of relations on all issues between the two countries.

The agreement did not specifically mention the treaty giving the United States control of the Panama Canal Zone, which Panama wants revised. But its language made clear this would be among the issues to be discussed.

Panamanian President Roberto Chiari's press officer, Fabian Velarde, said his government would wait awhile, perhaps a week, "to let things cool off" before resuming relations with the United States.

THIRD PARTY

He said Panama then would ask a third government to advise Washington of the desire to restore relations, which Chiari broke off at the height of the crisis last weekend. The intermediary is expected to be Costa Rica, which was named to handle Panama's affairs in Washington during the break.

The agreement was reached by Edwin M. Martin, President Johnson's special envoy, and Panamanian Foreign Minister Galileo Solis, meeting with the peace committee of the Organization of American States. Martin, Solis and the OAS group had been negotiating since Sunday night.

DISCUSSIONS

A communique issued by the OAS committee said Panama and the United States "agreed to begin formal discussions which will be initiated 30 days after diplomatic relations are re-established by means of representatives who will have sufficient powers to discuss without limitations all existing matters of any nature which may affect the relations between the United States and Panama."

The canal treaty is the chief "existing matter."

Informants in Washington said a copy of the OAS communique received there said nothing about "formal" discussions between the two sides but that they had "agreed to begin discussions on all existing matters of any nature" affecting U.S.-Panama relations.

REVIEW TREATY

At the outset of the OAS-sponsored talks Sunday, Panama had insisted that resumption of diplomatic relations should be preceded by a strong U.S. declaration of intent to review the 1903 treaty that gives the United States perpetual sovereignty over the Canal Zone. The United States reportedly balked at making such a pledge under pressure.

Panama is not expected to call on the United States to get out of the Canal Zone, which cuts the strategic Latin-American country in half. Solis has made clear that Panama is not interested in running the canal. He stressed, however, that his government will seek to reduce the boundaries of the zone, which is 10 miles wide and extends 36 miles from the Caribbean to the Pacific.

PAY INCREASE

Panama also is expected to seek an increase in the $1.9 million the United States pays annually for the use of the canal and greater opportunities for advancement for Panamanians in the Canal Zone Company.

Quiet prevailed along the Canal Zone borders where 21 Panamanians and 3 U.S. soldiers were killed last weekend. The violence stemmed from Panamanian resentment — apparently egged on by pro-Castro Communists — to the defiance by American high school students in the Canal Zone of regulations requiring the joint display of U.S. and Panamanian flags in the zone.

British Claim Planes Buzz Borneo Field

BRUNEI, Borneo (AP) — Planes bearing U.S. insignia have been buzzing British military installations along the Malaysian-Indonesian border in Borneo, where an undeclared war is being fought, British military sources reported today.

The sources said it was assumed that Indonesian President Sukarno's regime is either using U.S. surplus planes without bothering to paint on Indonesia's insignia or is intentionally flying under the U.S. insignia to give the impression that America is backing Indonesia against Malaysia.

NO LONGER USED

American-built B24s, a World War II type no longer used by the U.S. Air Force, have buzzed British airfields in Kuching, Sarawak, and in the jungle about 95 miles southeast of Brunei, the sources said.

British troops are under strict orders not to fire on the planes.

Some B24s, which Sukarno is known to have, are painted silver with a star on the wings and rear fuselage, in American style, troops say.

MAJOR PART

The battle for the allegiance of the natives in Sarawak and Sabah, the Borneo states of the Malaysia Federation, is a major part of the border conflict. The British, defending the area under an agreement with the federation, think Washington has not given them enough support and they are afraid that Sukarno is gaining a propaganda advantage.

The undeclared war, dscribed as such by Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman of Malaysia, so far is limited to jungle ambushes.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy took off for Tokyo today on a special assignment from President Johnson to try to persuade Indonesian President Sukarno to back off from his "crush Malaysia" policy.

Kennedy and his wife, Ethel, left Andrews Air Force Base, Md., aboard a military jet plane at 10:19 a.m. EST. They were accompanied by a small staff of advisers.

Shortly before takeoff time, the Philippine Foreign Office announced that Kennedy will arrive in Manila Monday for two days of talks with President Diosdado Macapagal and other officials who have been in recent contact with Sukarno.

Downed Officer Victim Of Cold

CUMBERLAND, Md. (AP)—The body of a second flier from an Air Force jet bomber which crashed near here Monday was found on an icecapped mountain today. Only one of the five crewmen is still unaccounted for.

Two crew members had been found alive earlier and another had perished on the blizzard-swept slope near the scene of the wreckage.

The second body recovered was identified as Maj. Robert L. Payne, 41, of Tulsa, Okla., navigator of the B52 carrying two nuclear weapons. Both weapons, described as harmless in their present state because they were not primed, were found in the wreckage.

Payne's body was located about six miles from the plane crash, 20 miles west of Cumberland.

Found dead earlier in the wreckage was Maj. Robert L. Townley, 42, of Gadsden, Ala., the bombardier.

Still missing and the object of an intense air and ground search was T. Sgt. Melvin Wooten, 27, Tohatchi, N.M., the tail gunner.

The other crewmen, Maj. Thomas W. McCormick of Yawkey, W. Va., and Capt. Parker C. Peedin, 29, of Smithfield, N.C., survived parachute jumps in near-blizzard weather. McCormick made it to a nearby farmhouse and Peedin was found by searchers more than 36 hours after the crash.

Payne also had bailed out of the stricken, eight-engine bomber, but he failed to survive sub-zero cold and his body was recovered this morning.

A spokesman for the Strategic Air Command said there was evidence that Payne died of exposure after suffering shock and pitifully wandering around at the point of his descent.

Meandering tracks in the deep snow about the area indicated that Payne had lost his sense of direction after freeing himself from his parachute. The chute was found snarled in a tree.

He had taken with him some survival equipment, including an unneeded life raft, but had abandoned other gear, including the sleeping bag which might have helped him survive.

His body, found about three miles from where he landed, was removed by sled to a cleared area for transfer by helicopter to Cumberland Airport.

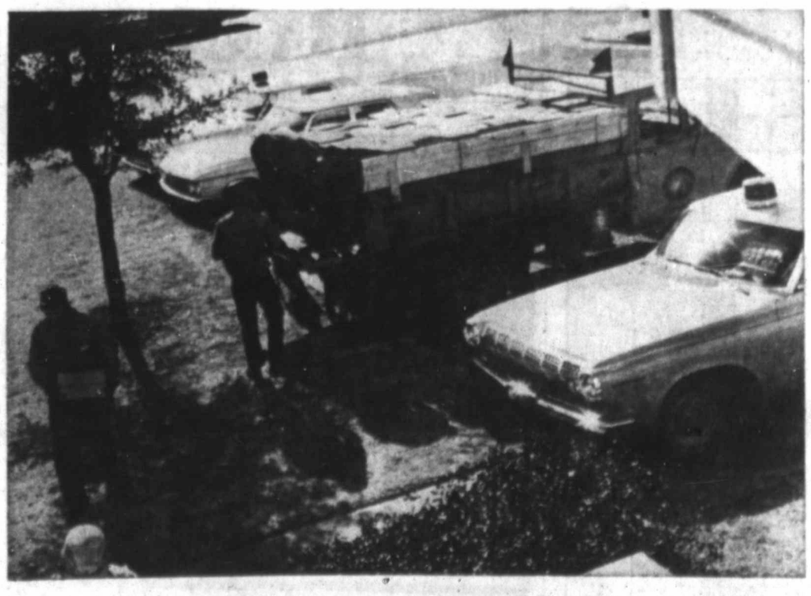

McCormick, commander of the crew, had said he believed all others had preceded him in bailing out before the plane went down during a flight from Westover Air Force Base, Mass., to Turner AFB, Georgia.

TONS OF NEW AUTOMOBILE TAGS
Big shipment of expensive scrap iron reaches courthouse

New Car Tags Arrive Tuesday

Thirty thousand pounds of sheet iron with a market value of more than $500,000 arrived at the Howard County Courthouse Tuesday afternoon—the annual supply of car plates for Howard County's 25,000 motor vehicles for the new year.

The neat cardboard boxes, each containing 25 sets of plates which were manufactured inside the gray walls of the state penitentiary at Huntsville, were delivered by trucks from the Texas State Highway Department. The shipment for the West Texas district is sent first to Abilene and then delivered from that city to the counties in the district.

The two trucks, manned by highway department workers, pulled up at the courthouse and quickly unloaded the cargo stacking the boxes in orderly sequence in the auto tax department office.

The plates go on sale Feb. 1. All motor vehicles must wear new 1964 plates by April 1 or the owners are in difficulty with the law.

The value on the plates is based on the current sale figures for the year which ends Feb. 1. Mrs. Helen Stanley, chief deputy in the automobile tax office, said that the total receipts through this past week for plates sold in 1963 had passed $517,000. Of this total, the first $175,000 collected was credited to the county. The balance has been transmitted to the state.

Mrs. Stanley said that the first plates to go on sale will be those with the prefixes DK and DJ. Sale of the DH tags will be delayed until later in the year.

The shipment includes plates for passenger cars—17,905 in all—4,090 truck plates, 1,550 trailer plates and assorted other plates for tractors, farm trucks, house trailers motorcycles and machinery.

This year's plates are black with white letters and numbers. The state alternates the color scheme each year.

Former YMCA Worker Here Is Speaker

A former director and supporter of the Big Spring YMCA has been chosen as the speaker for the annual banquet the evening of Jan. 24.

He is Dr. P. D. O'Brien, who served as pastor of the First Baptist Church in Big Spring for 20 years and who now is engaging as a free-lance speaker and evangelist.

YMCA members are this week offering tickets for the affair, and already there have been approximately 100 advance sales.

Dr. O'Brien, who now lives at Houston, was one of the early supporters of the YMCA movement in Big Spring, and at the time he terminated his record pastorate with his church here, he was serving as a member of the board of directors.

He has served on numerous committees and boards here, and in this area, having been a trustee of Hardin-Simmons University for many years. He also served numerous terms on the executive board of his denomination, and he was widely in demand as a speaker throughout the state.

Other program details are being shaped for the dinner affair which will be held in the Dora Roberts Student Union Building on the Howard County Junior College campus.

Reservations for the banquet may be had by calling the YMCA office.

Nab Snakes On Coon Hunt

Larry Marek and Bob Lawrence, both of the 3560th Organizational Maintenance Squadron at Webb AFB, went coon hunting Sunday and bagged seven rattlesnakes.

Marek, whose home town is Yoakum, said he shot the snakes with a 22 caliber pistol. He and Lawrence, of San Diego, Calif., discovered the snakes in a cave while hunting on the Morgan ranch about five miles east of town.

Bob said there were about 12 snakes in the cave. Three of the seven they killed had 11 rattles and one button each. Three others had 12 rattles and one button each. One snake was shot through the head and tail, so the young hunters were unable to say exactly how many rattles it had.

All of the snakes appeared to be over six feet in length, although no measurements were taken.

The two men said they go hunting nearly every weekend. The week before the successful snake kill, the two men bagged a coon, and the week before that they got three coons.

Marek said he hunts with a pistol. Lawrence uses a 12 gauge shotgun. Both men said they plan to enter the annual snake hunt in May.

Sands Schedules Youth Stock Show

ACKERLY — The Sands Community Livestock Show for FFA and 4-H Club boys and girls has been set for Jan. 25 at the vocational agriculture shop at Knott. Keith Bray, vocational agriculture teacher at Sands High School, said Tuesday that the final organizational meeting, to which all area adults are invited, will be held Thursday night in the Knott agriculture building.

"So far we have 105 animals assured for the show," Bray said. "There will be 15 fat steers, three heifers, 40 gilts, 32 barrows, and 15 lambs. We now have about 60 members of the association but need more and hope to get these before show time. We need all the adult help we can get to set up the organization, and get rules for the show established Thursday night."

Bray said pens for the show have already been built by the boys; that $110 worth of trophies had been ordered, and $30 worth of ribbons purchased.

"We will make awards for: champion or grand champion of each division; showmanship trophy for each division, and for the boy who sells the most memberships," he continued.

Judge for the show will be Johnny Grissom, president of Area 2, Young Farmers, who lives near Lamesa. County agents Herb Helbig, Big Spring, and Lee R. Colgan Jr., Lamesa, are helping the boys with their animals and working with the association to promote the show.

The modern method of color printing was explained and shown to Rotarians Tuesday by Doug Clemens. A film, "A Look at Photo Lithography," showed how the present full-color printing is done by use of photo-sensitive plates, on which four separation plates are made and run, "in register," to produce the final prints.

Clemens told his audience that the first lithographic plates were made on stone, etched in grease and soaked in water, and that the etching had to be done by a skilled engraver.

Modern methods use one plate for each of four colors—yellow, blue, red and black. Some presses, for high-speed printing, are set up to run all four at once, and some have to be run singly and overprinted, the speaker said.

The processes were made available, in film form, by Eastman Kodak Co., with the narrator pointing out each step, from photograph or transparency, to the final printing.

Dies From Burns

DALLAS (AP)— A 70-year-old Dallas woman, Annie Harris, died in Parkland Hospital today of burns suffered Jan. 9 in a fire that badly damaged her home.

ONE CHURCH

It is claimed by my correspondent that because God uses imperfect groups of people, we should recognize all groups as the churches of Christ. Well, in olden times the Lord used the wicked heathen nations to punish his people for their disobedience. (Deut. 28:47-51); but this does not mean that all these people were God's true nations.

The Bible recognizes only one church. The church is the body of Christ (Eph. 1:22, 23); and there is "one body" the same as there is "one God" (Eph. 4:4-6). There are many congregations, or local churches of Christ (Rom. 16:16); but they all have the same teaching (I Cor. 4:17; and 1:10).

Only one church can be the true church of Christ. We may not be it. Calling ourselves, Church of Christ, does not within itself make it so. But surely the true church of Christ, when you find it, will be one which calls itself that.

Mid - week service tonight, 7:30.

By T. H. Tarbet, preacher, church of Christ, 2900 West Highway 80, where you are always welcome. —Adv.

Nightmarish 12-Day Stay In Mexican Jail Ends For Five

BROWNSVILLE (AP)— Five Americans are free men again today after what they called a nightmarish 12-day stay in jails in the Matamoros, Mexico, vice zone.

"It's the damndest place to be in," was the way Edward Haar, a wealthy Guymon, Okla., farmer described the city-federal jail in Matamoros, just across the Rio Grande from Brownsville.

Haar was jailed Jan. 2 with Dale Kelly of Wichita, Kan.; William Dennis Riggs of Atlanta, Ga.; and Leon Roberts and Sam Andrews, both of Tampa, Fla.

SIZE OF BED

"The cell they had us in at the city jail was about as big as a bed. It didn't have anything in it but a cement floor and a cement block with a hole in it for a toilet," he said. "We slept on the concrete floor from Thursday to Monday (Jan. 6). It was just as hard as that sidewalk out there."

The five were held on a variety of charges, including counterfeiting, working in Mexico illegally, and assault. All the charges finally were dismissed.

Brownsville lawyer Joe A. Walsh said Riggs, Roberts and Andrews apparently were jailed over a business dispute with a Mexican firm. He speculated Haar and Kelly were arrested because they were with the others.

LATE MONDAY

Haar and Kelly were released late Monday. The others were freed Tuesday afternoon.

"We were cold all the time we were in jail," Kelly said. "We got cardboard to close off the cell window—we bought it—and we bought some to cover up part of the front of the cell, and finally we got some to sleep on.

"After several days, we got some blankets. They were life savers."

"We bought some little bags of charcoal to pile up in the corner and burn to keep warm," Haar said. "The first two we bought cost a quarter. The next two went up to 50 cents each, and the last two cost us $2 apiece."

IN A FIX

"If you didn't have any money on you, you would be in a hell of a fix," he said. "We had about $95 all together when we went in. I had $50 in my pocket, and when we got out, I had one nickel and a Mexican peso (8 cents U.S.)."

"The first few days they just said they had us for investigation," Haar said. "Then they said we had been passing counterfeit $20 American bills. They couldn't find a fake $20 so they said they made a mistake and we had been passing $100 Mexican bills.

"I wouldn't know a $100 dollar Mexican bill if I saw one. They just went into an old file and got one and said we had it. That's all there was to it," Haar said.

Johnson said Dec. 18 he planned to vary his news conferences and that some would be televised.

Grade-A-Year Integration Plan Attacked In Court

HOUSTON (AP) — The validity of the grade-a-year desegregation plan of the Georgetown public schools has been challenged in federal court.

A favorable ruling could set aside the gradual stairstep plan employed in many communities in lieu of more accelerated desegregation.

An attorney for 30 Negro children, who seek entrance to Georgetown schools, segregated except for the first grade, complained to the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals Tuesday the stairstep plan involved a "clearly unreasonable period of time."

The plan provides that desegregation be lifted of one grade each year, beginning with the first grade. The attorney said this plan would prevent his clients from ever attending desegregated schools in Georgetown.

Price R. Ashton of Austin asked that a lower court's decision be reversed and that Georgetown school desegregation be completed in three annual steps, of four grades at a time.

Ashton contended the district court that approved the Georgetown plan authorized a desegregation program that would not be completed until 1975. This would be 21 years after the Supreme Court's desegregation ruling, Ashton said.

The school district was not represented by an attorney at the appeals hearing but the district maintained in its written brief that the Georgetown plan was conceived after a study of other desegregation programs, and that the plan had been upheld by a number of federal courts.

Union Action Here Lauded

To The Editor:

The recent action of the workers at Cosden Oil & Chemical Company is noteworthy and most heartwarming.

Too often, many of us in other walks of life, have sometimes thought that a member of organized labor was interested in just himself and nobody else.

This unselfish action in which the membership of Local 826 voted unanimously to cut their own salaries an average of $40 per month in order to save the jobs of 35 other employes, disproves the premise that union men of long seniority think only of themselves.

It's refreshing to observe that this action was settled on the local level without outside intervention and without hullabaloo, by a very progressive and forward looking group of workers.

I join with many other citizens of this area in expressing my appreciation for this most remarkable example of democracy in action.

To the Editor:

We have passed another milestone. The year 1964 lies before us to be made the best year of our lives if possible. Let's look upon each year that dawns as the opening into a higher and better life, to our highest and best ambitions—moral, social and spiritual.

The years come and go, and we with them, leaving the impress of our lives beyond the circles of our own. All with whom we associated are more or less influenced by our lives. How careful we should be to make glad the hearts of all with whom we come in contact.

Industrial Meet Set At Midland

ABILENE — With the president of Texas Electric Service Company as keynote speaker, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will hold its 11th annual West Texas Industrial Conference in Midland Feb. 12-13.

Beeman Fisher, president and general manager of Texas Electric Service, will head a list of six speakers on the two-day Industrial Conference program.

The industrial conference is one of the WTCC's most important events each year, and more than 300 business and industrial leaders from across Texas attend. Theme of this year's conference is "Plan and Sell—1964."

Other speakers and their topics are:

Rex Jennings, executive vice president, Wichita Fallas Chamber of Commerce, "Coordination of Community Efforts"; R. M. Weible, project planner with the Austin Company of Dallas, "Know Your Product and Sell the Package"; Paul D. Marable Jr., general manager, Waco Chamber of Commerce "Planned Industrial District"; Millard Shivers, director of organization, Texas Farm Bureau, Waco, "Your Gold Mine on Main Street, Agri-Business"; and Dan Dillingham, president of the Master Corporation of Abilene, "New Markets Through Exports."

ROBERT W. PERIN

Perin Named Speaker At Council Meet

A man whom many Scouters regard as the most practical personality in the movement and one of its most dynamic speakers will address the Buffalo Trail Council meeting in Andrews Jan. 20.

He is Robert W. Perin, assistant national director of volunteer training for Boy Scouts of America. A native of Cincinnati, Ohio, he has served as a field executive and then as assistant scout executive at Santa Fe, N. M. Perin spent two years with the University of New Mexico, returned to Scouting in 1939 and joined the national staff in 1947.

For many years he has moved about the nation with scarcely more than a duffle bag of equipment to hold a quickie sessions to train scoutmasters in a program to interest and hold boys. He was one of the featured speakers at the 1963 Region IX meeting.

At the banquet, which will be held at 6:30 p.m. in the Andrews High School, five volunteers will receive the Silver Beaver, the highest award the council can confer for exceptional service to boyhood.

A meeting of the executive committee of the council has been called at 5:30 p.m. to hear a report from L. E. Patterson, council president.

'Gook' Covered Face Termed Unattractive

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — "Too many girls in their teens try to use make-up to look different, but they end up looking alike. The producer told me I won the young girl role in "My Favorite Martian" because I was natural.

"I was a child actress, so make-up had no allure for me. But even if I hadn't been a professional, I doubt that I ever would have wanted to cake it on because I think you can't see a face with 'gook' covering it.

"Another thing teen-agers need to correct is their posture. I have friends who really try not to stand up straight. I don't know what they can see that is attractive about slouching. My doctor says it's very unhealthy. You can't breathe properly and your organs are thrown out of place.

"I don't find it easy, but I am working on trying to catch myself every time I slump. I actor who was famous in silent pictures, and even though he was an old man, his back was very straight. He told me, 'It is not age that bends you over. It is your bad habits catching up with you.'

"I want to form good habits so I practice walking around the house with a golf club held inside of my elbows and across my back. Once you get the feeling of this rod holding your shoulders back, you can pretend it is there when it isn't."

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

It's always interesting to hear from JAN DICKERSON, writer for the Kansas City Star, who is a Big Spring product and the daughter of the C. W. DICKERSONS. Jan's interest in horses is certainly not a new thing, but she has taken up riding to the hounds now and her greeting card this year had a pretty color shot of her, some of the riders and the hounds preparing for the chase. Jan is astride her No. One hunter, Cruiser, in the picture but one of her mounts has been aptly named Big Spring. The rider who is the whipper - in for the Mission Valley Hunt says this all may sound very English, but it takes a lot of "cowboy" to stay on a hunter on a fast chase. Jan is the one to do it.

Weekend guests of the BILL SNEED family were her aunt, MRS. G. JERRY SQUIRE, Buffalo, N.Y., and LT. and MRS. RICHARD BIEHLER and their infant daughter, Sherry Lynn, Del Rio AFB. Mrs. Squire has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Biehler, since Christmas and plans to return to Buffalo soon. The group returned to Del Rio Sunday. They had driven into Big Spring Friday night and were impressed by the lighted city.

From MRS. R. W. CURRIE came a copy of The Longhorn, a publication for the Big Spring schools dated Nov. 27, 1925. That was a year that the Steers beat San Angelo . . . and then lost to Sweetwater. At high school there was a senior club formed with ESTELLE HUTTO (Mrs. Obie Bristow) as president, JOSEPH HAYDEN, vice president, and MAUDE EASON (Mrs. O. M. Waters), secretary-treasurer.

There is also a long list of monthly donors whose donations helped to support the athletic program . . . W. R. DAWES JR., was the editor - in - chief of The Longhorn.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Chrome Kept Clean, Beautifully Bright

Dear Heloise:

This is so simple that I hate to mention it:

Regarding chrome legs in the bathroom, kitchen, or any place . . . the maid in the hotel where I was staying told me this:

HELOISE

Remove the soap from the soiled soap tray and wipe the tray with a damp cloth or sponge and before rinsing the cloth wipe all of the chrome you see in sight. After it is all wiped, go back over it with a dry bath towel or wash rag and just watch it shine!

Nothing else does so well, believe me.

Thanks to the residue of the soap in our soap trays and the ingenuity of this maid . . . housework seems fun.

And you, Heloise, make all problems fun!—R. M. T.

• • •

Now, aren't you something? This puts a glaze on it like nobody's business, provided you shine it with a clean dry rag. Love, Heloise

• • •

Dear Heloise:

No one likes a pillow fight better than we used to, but . . . not in the middle of the night, at our age now.

If anyone has trouble keeping pillowcases on foam rubber pillows just try putting a gripper snap on the opening of the case and rest peacefully . . . The "Hunters"

• • •

Dear Heloise:

To cut a little girl's bangs evenly, put a strip of cellophane tape where you want to cut the bangs. Now just snip the bangs evenly with your scissors and it's never too short.—Reader

A Devotional For The Day

Lo, we have left all, and have followed thee. (Mark 10:28.)
PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, help us that our commitment to Thee may be without inward reservation, that our lives may result not in instability but in true maturity. In Christ's name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Time To Find Out

The need for a county engineer was underlined Monday in a meeting of the County Commissioners Court. Pointing out that he was being asked to assume more and more of the duties of an engineer, the judge asked for a $75 per month car allowance, which he didn't get and probably didn't realistically expect.

We hope, however, that he did make his point about the need to get an engineer. The county has been without one for three years. Somewhere within that time there could have been found a competent engineer to administer road matters had there been a persistent, earnest effort to obtain one.

There is a gradual lessening of the amount of permanent roads we are building, and we believe that this is linked directly with the cumulative effect of not having a capable professional engineer directing the affairs of the road department.

Moreover, we believe that those who say they believe in the unit system of county road operations but who make no effort, or even resist effort, to secure an engineer are giving nothing more than lip service to the idea. Actually, they may actually be opposed to the theory and practice of unified road operations, planning and construction.

The judge has brought up a question which is certainly germane to this year. We believe that voters ought to ask all candidates for the commissioners court exactly where they stand on the county unit system and on the matter of a competent engineer.

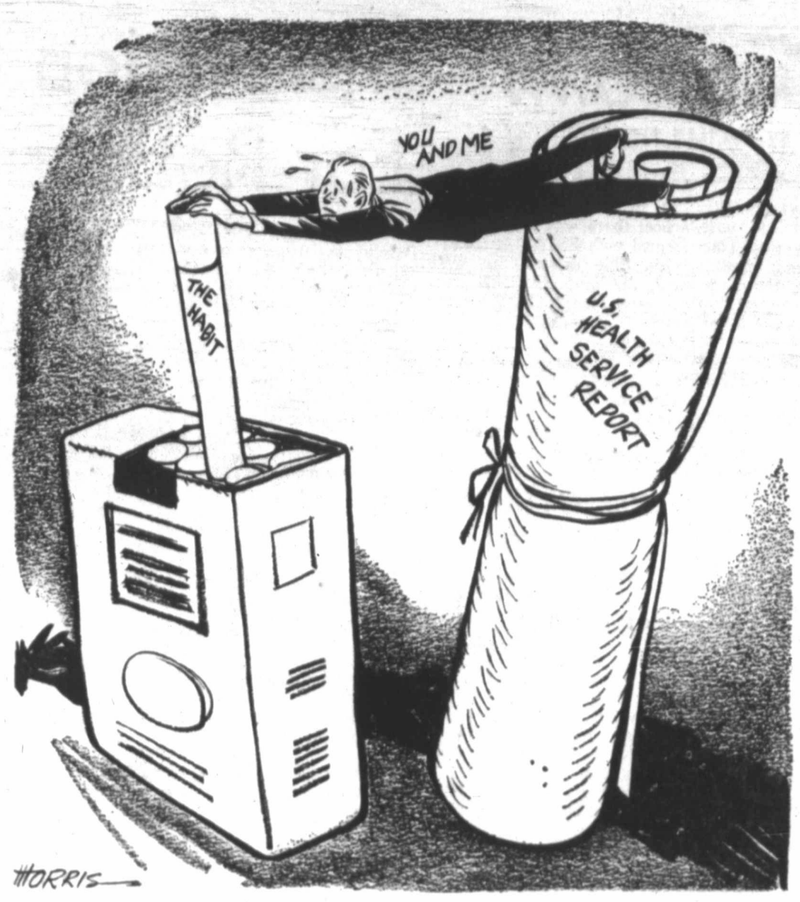

Rough Business

Weather forecasters everywhere may have shivered a bit when they got the news from Taipei, Formosa. There the chief of the weather bureau has been impeached for failure to forecast the course of a typhoon which struck Formosa last Sept. 13, leaving 239 persons dead and 89 missing.

The sympathies of most Texans will be with the weather forecaster. Over the years true Texans have acquired more tolerance toward weathermen than anyone would have believed possible in earlier days. The "norther" that didn't appear when forecast, or the one that did when it wasn't forecast, have brought sympathy and understanding.

Coastal residents, too, have acquired a philosophy toward weathermen who try to predict the course of a hurricane when weather conditions offshore are completely unknown. When a forecast is in error, residents who know the difficuluties of predictions when there are no ships or reporting stations to give clues, cultivate forgiveness.

This much is certain: Not many Americans want to be without a weatherman, even if he is wrong now and then. They may poke a little fun at him, but no one wants to impeach him.

TOUGH STRUGGLE

Negroes Need Spirit Of Progress

WASHINGTON—Sometimes a prominent man known best in his own city or state makes a speech that deserves the attention of the whole country—especially when it concerns what has been called the social "revolution" in America.

Richardson Dilworth, a former mayor of the City of Philadelphia who was the unsuccessful Democratic nominee for the governorship of Pennsylvania in the 1962 election, is unquestionably an ardent advocate of "civil rights." Yet if the same things which he has just said had been spoken by Governors Barnett of Mississippi, Wallace of Alabama or Faubus of Arkansas, there would have been a tirade of criticism leveled in their direction, and they would have been called "racists" and enemies of the Negro.

MR. DILWORTH, however, happened to be inspired to talk plainly and bluntly on delicate issues that have rocked the peace of his city. He had prepared the other day a speech on transportation for a seminar of 300 business executives of the Chamber of Commerce of Greater Philadelphia. He suddenly asked for more time and, in an impromptu manner, supplemented his remarks. He declared that the time has come for the Negro to stop following "demagogue" leaders.

Mr. Dilworth added that he believed the furor recently over the use of "blackface" in the annual "mummers parade" in Philadelphia was unfortunate and that it "set the Negro community back ten years." He added: "It's these inconsequential things that cause the whites to be set against the blacks."

MR. DILWORTH pointed out that Negroes are being left to "swelter" in cities around which the suburbs are drawing a noose. He continued:

"I recently went on a nine-square-block tour of an area comprised of mostly low-income Negro groups that took a whole day.

"When we wanted to question them, we couldn't find a sober man or woman to talk to. They just have no hope. That's the kind of rot that is going to spread if we don't get employment and education for those people. We cannot support 20 per cent of the Negroes in the North on relief and hope to survive.

"AND THE TIME has come for the Negro to stop feeling so damned sorry for himself. Some of their leaders are demagogues . . . But they've got to learn to help themselves, and not take an attitude that just because they are a minority they can get nowhere here.

"That's just not true. Look at the Irish and Italians of years past. One of them even went on to become President of the United States. They (the Negroes) have got to get some of the same kind of spirit that these people had."

THE USE of the technique of street demonstrations has not been of as much assistance to their cause as some of the Negro leaders had hoped. Too often these demonstrations have produced a bitterness between Negroes and whites which did not prevail before. Incitement to violence has occurred. It's true that race relations have long been unsatisfactory from the Negroes' viewpoint, but it will be recalled that Negro leaders, trained in the law and anxious to assert constitutional rights, persisted for many years in their legal battle and resorted solely to methods of legal procedure.

THUS, THE BIGGEST victory won in 100 years by the Negroes was the "desegregation" decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in May 1954. There were no public demonstrations in and around Washington before that time, nor were there similar manifestations anywhere else. The court case was won solely by the arguments advanced by the lawyers, including Negro attorneys, through the lower courts and finally in the Supreme Court itself.

The moral in all this is simply that more progress can be made by the use of the voice of reason at the conference table in the local communities and by resort to legal procedures than can be achieved by demonstrations.

No Sign Of Shakiness For Fidel Castro

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fidel Castro has been boss of Cuba five years this month. How is he doing? He is still there and still a pain in the neck to the United States, and a big embarrassment.

This noisy and flamboyant man is probably a pain to the Russians, too, but an expensive pain. The help they're giving him costs a pretty penny but they hardly dare stop, no matter how much they wish they could.

They've taken Castro under their wing, he is their first foothold in the Western Hemisphere, and for them to let him flop would be an international embarrassment.

IT'S EASY to belittle him. It's done often in this country: the low living standard in Cuba, the poor Cuban sugar crop, the regimentation of the people. Cubans still flee Cuba and the exiles hate him.

But there is no evidence all the Cubans do. Whether he could retain power in a truly free election is something else, but his dictatorship prevails and shows no signs of toppling.

Without Soviet help he might not have survived. But this country's desire to ruin him by isolating him economically—shutting him off from trade with American allies or friends—is far from completely successful.

A BRITISH firm just closed a deal to sell him 400 buses for $10 million. Generalissimo Francisco Franco's Spain, where communism was destroyed in the 1930s, opened an airline service to Cuba and reportedly has been considering trading with him.

This situation has its own irony: the United States wants no one to give Castro economic help but is willing to sell wheat to the Soviet Union.

The answer is simple on that one. Castro is a close-up menace and the Soviet Union isn't; getting along with the Soviet Union is important, but getting along with Castro isn't.

THROUGH IT all Castro has been a five-year disaster for the United States in more ways than one:

1. So long as he stays, communism has a foot in America's backyard.

2. The United States has failed to abolish him, despite all its huffing and puffing. This has left the United States red-faced.

3. The American-backed invasion of Cuba, the only real try at getting rid of him, was a total bust.

4. Castro provided the setting for the greatest shock of the late President John F. Kennedy's administration, when Khrushchev almost got away with slipping his missiles into Cuba.

WHEN KENNEDY forced the Russian to withdraw the weapons it required an unforgettable showdown that was tough on everybody's nervous system.

The fact that Castro could kick the American shins, and get away with it, may have been an inspiration to the Panamanians to assert themselves.

In an earlier time—say the days of Theodore Roosevelt, which was a time of big-power imperialism—the United States might have settled Castro's hash fast with a quick and direct invasion.

BUT NOW the United States and the Soviet Union, also, insisting they have no imperialistic intentions, have to worry about world opinion, which they are trying to influence, when they deal with little nations.

Thus both of them, big as they are, have to operate with one hand tied behind their backs when they encounter troublemakers, although the Soviets used both hands to crush Hungarians when they tried to assert themselves.

This gives Castro a lot of room to maneuver and shake his fist, which he has been doing pretty well, without fear of being belted. There's nothing in sight to indicate it won't be that way for some time.

Chakiris Still Shuns Altar

NEW YORK (AP)—If all of Hollywood's eligible bachelors share the sentiments of George Chakiris, it looks like a forlorn Leap Year for America's man-seeking maidens.

"I wouldn't want to spend all my life unmarried, but right now I'm not looking for a wife—I'm not even going steady," said the handsome young actor, who has been a No. 1 matrimonial target since he won an Oscar two years ago.

"I haven't met anyone yet I want to marry," he said.

TOO SERIOUS

"Marriage is too serious a thing. It isn't something you just happen to be in the mood for. It's something you have to be sure about, and I don't want to make a mistake."

It isn't that Chakiris, who recently returned from England after completing his sixth film, hasn't given the possibility deep consideration. At 29 he has thought a great deal about marriage—and divorce.

"Let's face it—life is not a novelty. It's too precious to fool around with. You can't take it lightly," he said.

HARMONIOUSLY

"It is very difficult for two people to live a long life together harmoniously. I don't mean just being amiable to each other. I want more than amiability in marriage.

"I also feel that for a marriage to be truly successful—not just a nice arrangement—it has to be the most important thing in the life of both persons. If anything else becomes more important, even a career, the marriage will falter in meaning."

Although he has a quick sense of humor, Chakiris is a sensitive, self-questioning man who is less impressed than his fans with his relatively quick rise to stardom. He wants to succeed as a many-faceted performer—a singer, a dancer, an actor.

GREEK DESCENT

He is one of seven children, and his father—Chakiris is of Greek descent — had a hard time making a living for them by operating a restaurant, running a small produce firm, and driving a laundry truck.

Chakiris is well aware of the quicksand perils of the entertainment world, and how they can cause one to lose his values.

"Things are always changing in this business," he said. "You're dealing fundamentally with fickleness."

Success doesn't seem likely to spoil George Chakiris. He is one young actor who doesn't depend on his press clippings to tell him who he really is.

Billy Graham

Would you please interpret I Peter 3:3 where it talks about outward adorning? W.M.

The verse you refer to is: "Whose adorning let it not be that outward adorning of plaiting the hair, and of wearing gold, or of putting on of apparel; but let it be the hidden man of the heart, in that which is not corruptible, even the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit, which is in the sight of God of great price."

This actually includes the fourth verse which makes clear verse three.

Apparently the women of those days, like some of our women today, thought that "outward adorning" was what made them attractive and beautiful. The apostle Peter here is urging them not to be content with mere outward adorning, but to seek the adornment of a 'meek and quiet spirit,' which 'is in the sight of God of great price.'

Some people interpret this to mean that women are not to wear any 'outward adorning' at all. But this is pushing the point too far. If we were to take the verse literally, as some do, we would have to assume that the 'putting on of outward apparel' was wrong also, which of course we do not and cannot do.

The point here is this: spiritual adornment, the inner graces, are more adorning than those outward adornments which many rely too much upon. Don't stop here, the apostle says, but seek "the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit."

With What?

RAWLINS, Wyo. (AP) — Jerry Bergstrand, 19, of Rawlins, escaped serious injury recently when his car collided head-on with a washing machine.

Investigating officers said vandals had taken the old washing machine from a nearby signboard and placed it on the highway near Rawlins.

To Your Good Health

Hard Water Is Healthful

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Our well water has shown a lot of iron and calcium. Is this safe for drinking and cooking? Will it destroy the vitamins in food? Do certain minerals settle in the body and harden, or will they be digested? Could constant use of this water be harmful to us now or later?—MRS. C. J.

No, the water won't harm you. The minerals will not "settle in the body and harden." They will just wash away the same way they entered the body—in the water—through the kidneys and by sweating.

* * *

Dear Doctor: We recently had a water softener installed. Now our friends and neighbors have informed us that this device takes away certain minerals and vitamins which are necessary to the body. What is your opinion?—H. W. B.

My opinion is that your "helpful" friends and neighbors ought to mind their own business and learn the facts before they try to worry you with such nonsense. Chances are they are jealous.

There are no vitamins in water, whether hard or soft.

There are minerals in hard water. That's what makes the water "hard." But they are not in a form which can be used by the body.

Softening, by various processes, involves substituting sodium for the calcium and magnesium in the hard water.

The one thing to watch for, with softened water, is this: People on a low-salt (low sodium) diet should avoid softened water because of the sodium it contains. It is not, however, harmful to the rest of us.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: This may be unimportant to you but it is of grave concern to me. Please explain the term, idopathic grand mal epilepsy, in words understandable to a layman.—T. A.

If it's important to you, it is to me. Let's go at this backward. Epilepsy is a "convulsant disorder." That is, the parts of the brain which control muscular activity are affected. Involuntarily you find the muscles going into an abrupt tightening or paralysis or "convulsion."

There are two principal forms of this, the "grand mal," or severe convulsion which may last for several minutes. The patient will lose consciousness, may thrash about, bite his tongue.

The other common form is the "petit mal," which may occur very frequently in some cases, sometimes many times a day. But the attacks are mild and very brief.

Around The Rim

Do We Know What We Have?

Whether we exploit our mineral resources to their fullest is questionable. It may be that our deposits are limited as to usefulness and commercial supply, but I doubt that we have had experience or sufficient study to answer this in most cases.

ON OUR OWN we have done very little serious probing of the matter. The Bureau of Economic Geology for the University of Texas has made some surveys of Howard County and has compiled a list of about a dozen minerals (exclusive of oil and gas) which are found. These findings likely are the results of precursory examinations and reports. This is not to question their accuracy or value, but it is to suggest that they are lacking in depth of informaton which would be required to promote commercial consideration.

Here are some of the minerals listed:

BARITE, a compound from which barium salts may be extracted for use in vulcanizing of rubber, manufacture of luminous paints, etc. Some veins, one to five inches thick, have been spotted north of Otischalk.

Caliche, a form of calcium carbonate which underlies much of our area and which abounds in rich deposits near Big Spring. This is widely used as a road base material and currently is being mined at an all-time peak rate due to the volume of street and highway construction.

CLAY IS said to be found in several areas, with reports of red and green clay deposits near Morita. Most of the class reported have excessive shrinkage or contain too much sand for making good tiles. But here, I suspect, is an area in which limited experience has kissed off possibilities of some sort of ceramic production. It could be that there are too few and to limited deposits for feasibility, but who knows for sure?

Drilling clay was produced commercially for several years and was made by burning clay with a high percentage of selinite (a crystal or soft form of gyp).

DIAMTOMACEOUS earth is found in abundant deposits six miles west of town and was produced commercially as Oil Ban for a brief time. The cellular structure of this soil is skeletonized, causing it to be highly absorbent.

Gold is found in placer (flour) form in earth northeast of Big Spring. It assays from 50 cents a ton to sometimes several times that, but processes to make its recovery commercially profitable have not yet been developed.

Limestone abounds in the caprocks of the hills south of Big Spring. It is almost in pure state, lending itself to lime production, or possibly for cement manufacture. It also has possibilities for building stone, although there has been limited use of this.

OPALITE is found 10 miles north of Coahoma on the Snyder highway and changes as it nears Borden County and goes into radioactivity containing .015 uranium oxide.

Sand of a quartz type is found in outcroppings of the Trinity sand below the limestone cap and above redbeds.

Salt is found in great deposits. East of town these beds are washed out to form storage caverns for liquefied petroleum gas. Depths of the deposits are 950-1,400 feet, but under Big Spring and immediately northeast, these deposits may come as 650 feet near the surface. They are almost inexhaustible.

SALT DEPOSITS have been reported near the Martin County line, too. Analysis of the salt lake west of Big Spring (recently publicized as perhaps the saltiest in the country) not only shows tremendous chloride content, but also sodium potassium, and magnesium. There also were minor amounts of bromide, iodine and boron.

There ought to be some way we could get more information on the extent and potential value of our mineral deposits.

Tax On Dollar Drain Has Worked

Sometimes the test of a policy, which seems simply awful in theory, is how it works.

On that basis, opponents of the U. S. Treasury's tax on the sale of foreign securities in this country (even though it hasn't become law) have been put on the defensive.

Outcries and warnings of commercial bankers, investment bankers, economists and commentators that this was the beginning of the end of the U. S. dollar as an international currency have been just that—outcries and warnings.

THE DIMINISHED outflow of gold and the steady rise in dollar balances here indicate that the dollar is still very much an accepted and sought-after international currency. The tax hasn't jeopardized its status. Perhaps to the contrary.

Why the tax? Europe has recovered from the war. Industry booms. Currencies are convertible—yet restrictions are still placed on the sale of foreign securities. Technically, citizens of France or Britain or West Germany can use their francs, pounds or marks to travel where they want or import what they want. Yet this freedom does not apply to investing in foreign securities.

COMMITTEES PASS on the sale of foreign stocks and bonds. And usually reasons (excuses) are found for saying no. Thus, though the currencies are convertible they are blocked when it comes to investing.

The exchange equalization tax is the American answer. Some Americans argue that a foreign capital issues committee is the better device. It permits discretion — between "good issues" and "bad issues."

YET, THIS very argument can be used to justify the tax. A tax is nondiscriminatory because it discriminates equally against all. Foreigners willing to pay a sufficiently high interest or dividend to compensate American investors for the tax can still market securities here.

When the tax was first announced, I was in Europe and recoiled from it. I reasoned: Foreign central bankers would lose faith in the dollar. But apparently it has had the opposite effect—it has strengthened the dollar. And even though the law has yet to be passed, the mere threat of it has been effective.

THE EXCHANGE equalization tax is a "do." It ought to be supplemented by subjecting earnings of American corporations abroad to regular corporate taxes. This would bring dollars of American firms back home.

Meanwhile, the tax reassures foreign central bankers. It makes clear that the government means to protect the dollar. In theory, the tax is bad; in practice, it has worked.

Cops To Fight Communism

WASHINGTON — When Perez Jimenez was the anti-Communist dictator of Venezuela, he asked the Eisenhower administration to send him assistance for training his police to keep public order.

The request was refused because Jimenez, although an anti-Red, was a brutal and bloody-handed suppressionist. It was a decision which, repeated in Cuba when the Eisenhower State Department ceased to support Batista, led to disaster in the arrival of Fidel Castro. But our side was luckier in Venezuela. There, the rightist dictator was replaced by an ex-Communist, Romulo Betancourt. He knew all the dirty tricks of his former Comrades and used them to advantage.

IN 1962, when Betancourt asked for police assistance under foreign aid, President Kennedy not only responded but, urged by the Attorney General, upgraded AID police assistance to the Office of Public Safety. Thus was established what amounted to a new function of foreign aid policy—the modernization of civilian police forces in underdeveloped countries as a tactic of the Cold War.

The Venezuelan cops, trained by American policemen and supported by the Venezuelan Army, killed and jailed enough Communist terrorists in Caracas to win the crucial battle, as reported here in a previous column. By that time the Inter-American Police Academy, for training Latino middle echelon policemen, had been established in Panama. By December 1, 1963, the International Police Academy, for training all Free World policemen, was doing business in Washington.

TODAY, IN a 200-year-old converted streetcar barn, 33 upper echelon students from 17 countries in Latin America, Africa and Asia are enrolled in the first course. These men are generals, colonels and chiefs who represent a strength of 436,000 policemen in their home countries.

The typical police administrator, Free World style, is a linguist, probably with military or para-military training, and almost certainly with academic background. There are close to 60 American universities today which give B.S. degrees in police administration. Several give masters' degrees, and the University of California at Berkeley gives a doctorate degree.

IN SHORT, police work is becoming something of a political science in which careerists succeed by an almost classical combination of physical and intellectual attitudes, the keen mind and technical dexterity mated with brains and mental industriousness.

Communism and crime, I am told by those in charge of the International Police Academy, are not identical, but they have a common base in emotional maladjustment. The police task is to apprehend the troublemaker as early as possible, to frustrate his schemes, to remove him by imprisonment or death and, above all, to protect the community from his machinations and violence.

WHILE NEARLY every community will object to political and military suppression in the name of freedom, virtually all communities will accept and welcome police protection which supports the chosen government.

It is on this fundamental verity that we are basing the new strategy of teaching the local cops how to fight communism back home.

Plans Being Completed For US 87 Rebuilding

LAMESA (SC) — Local plans are being completed for a major highway construction project in Dawson County and it is hoped that necessary funds can be obtained from the State Highway Department so a contract can be let later this year.

The project will be for reconstruction and widening of US 87 south of the city limits to the Howard County line, thereby linking similar construction completed only a few months ago.

Although the program will involve over 20 miles of new roadway and is expected to cost over $1.5 million, the big item in it is an underpass interchange at the "Y" intersection south of Lamesa where five persons have been killed in traffic mishaps — almost in the same spot.

Basic plans for the interchange, which will eliminate the deadly US 87 - US 180 crossing, have been approved. Plans call for the excavation of the Big Spring highway to a maximum depth of 18 feet. A bridge, to be built slightly above ground level, will span the gap and will almost directly connect FM 2052 with US 180 east.

The underpass will contain a 4-lane divided highway so north-south traffic on US 87 can continue uninterrupted. Southbound traffic from Lamesa can hit US 180 east by taking a single lane angling onto the 2-lane bridge, which will have 2-way traffic.

Length of the excavation will be about 1,200 feet. Clearance beneath it is pegged at 15½ feet. The span itself will be about 240 feet long and 40 feet wide. No attempt will be made to rework the existing crossing and it will be abandoned.

The interchange will be included in the US 87 project and the state has given it "high priority" because of the high fatality rate.

Thirty - three right - of - way tracts have been secured and Dawson County commissioners are planning to file condemnation suits against the five remaining landowners. Two of the suits are described as "friendly" and a panel of three disinterested persons will be named to resolve the settlement dispute.

Except for a small, county-financed project near Sand, it is the only construction currently planned for 1964.

Dawson County had two big projects approved last year. North Twenty-second Street in Lamesa was widened, curb and gutter work finished and medians placed at both ends. In addition, the state paved eight miles of roadway south of Welch. Total cost was $196,826. In connection with the North Twenty-second Street project, the county extended the street to a by-pass route to US 180 west.

Work is expected to get under way in the near future on two more big projects, reconstruction of SH 137 from the north city limits to the Terry County line and for a five-block widening program on North Dallas.

Kerr Construction Co., Lubbock, was low recently with a bid of $319,508.

Nadine Honeycutt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Honeycutt, Coahoma, and Bobby Pherigo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Pherigo, Coahoma, are sophomore contestants for the Mr. and Miss CHS competition at Coahoma School. The program will be held Jan. 25.

Zone Recommendations Given Approval Tuesday

City Commissioners Tuesday approved two planning and zoning board recommendations for zone changes and passed three ordinances for other zone changes on third reading.

The zoning board recommendations, approved on first reading, concerned requests by W. A. Moore, and Ike Robb.

Moore, agent for three property owners (S. A. Wilson, L. D. Rockwell and G. F. Smith) in the William B. Currie Subdivision, had requested a zone change from GR (general residence) to NS (neighborhood service) for the three tracts, comprising .72 acres, for use as a service station. The affected property is south of IS 20, east of North Nolan, west of North Goliad and north of Northeast Eleventh.

Robb, agent for South Mountain Land Co., is planning a shopping center on a 32.57 acre tract north and east of the Ponderosa Motor-Inn off US 87. His request was for a zone change from 1F-2 (single family residential) to R(retail).

The three ordinances passed on third reading were requested by Mrs. Johnnie Winham, Rendal and Laney Hamby, and Marshall Fields.

Mrs. Winham asked for a change from 2F (two-family residential) to R (retail) for her property on the west side of Nolan between Ninth and Tenth.

The Hambys asked for an NS (neighborhood service) zone at the southeast corner of Nolan and Seventh where an office building is to be erected. They amended their original request, asking for neighborhood service rather than a retail zone. Affected property previously was zoned for 2F (two family residential).

The third ordinance approved was for a 1.23 acre tract in the 2000 block of Birdwell Lane for Marshall Fields. The affected property was changed from 1F-2 (single family residential) to R (retail).

Commissioners also passed a resolution, expressing condolences to the family of the late Brig. Gen. Howard J. Withycombe.

Rites Set For Sgt. Butler

Funeral rites for M. Sgt. Harold E. Butler, 42, noncommissioned officer in charge of the material control section of the 3560th Pilot Training Wing will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. in Webb AFB Chapel.

Astronomer Dies

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP) — Dr. Oliver J. Lee, 82, at one time one of the nation's leading astronomers, died Monday.

Criminal Court Gets Started

County Criminal Court got off to a belated start Wednesday morning but was under way at noon trying Robert L. Pearson, charged with DWI.

Pearson was late reaching court and the jury panel called for duty in the trial of the case cooled its collective heels until after 10 a.m.

This is the first case to go to trial. A case set for hearing Monday terminated abruptly when the defendant pleaded guilty. Other cases are planned for trial Thursday and Friday.

A jury was selected and initial evidence was being heard in the Pearson case at noon.

Delinquent Tax Problem Discussed By School Board

Delinquent taxes, and what to do about them, took up more than an hour of discussion Tuesday at a regular meeting of trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District. In the end, they appointed a committee to make concrete proposals for action at the next regular session in February.

There are currently more than $180,000 in delinquent taxes, with $152,733.07 of it owned for 1960 and prior years. In the past the district has seldom pressed the issue to conclusion —filing suit and taking title to property involved—but this may be the route instituted shortly. John Burgess, tax attorney, has been in charge of collection of these accounts, but his contract calls for payment for taxes due only prior to 1958, and most of the accounts for those years have already been settled. Remaining are the more difficult cases where payment may never be received because of legal or other complications.

The committee will propose a firm board policy for handling all delinquent accounts, and either will recommend a new arrangement with Burgess or hiring someone else to do the work.

The proposed retirement policy for the school was amended on second reading and approved as amended after Morris Molpus, president of the Classroom Teachers Association of Big Spring, requested that the retirement age be hiked to 65. As it was passed, retirement becomes mandatory at 65, with further employment only after a request for waiver of the age limit is presented to and approved by the board of trustees.

The school system currently has 19 employes of age 65 or more. Five are 70 or older and one is 75.

The CTA delegation also requested that the salary schedule of Big Spring be raised to make the district more competitive with the schools to the north and west, which generally pay about $300 more. No amount was suggested.

Resignations were accepted from Mrs. Barbara Hall, first grade teacher at Marcy; Robert N. Staton, history teacher at Runnels; and Mrs. Lora Warren, Marcy first grade teacher. Accepted for employment were Mrs. Lila Brewster, high school; Melva Jo Cox and Mrs. Carol Orand, first grade teachers at Marcy; and Mrs. Nedelene Speegle, second grade teacher at Cedar Crest. Also employed for temporary employment were Mrs. Lucy Bonner and Mrs. Jeanne McLaughlin.

Roger Brown headed a group from the Jaycees to request that as much as possible of the building program now under study be accomplished with local firms. They were assured that the policy of the past, to accept the local bid when it is competitive and other factors are equal, would be continued.

Trustees approved payment of $1,959.57 to the Forsan County Line Independent School District. The local district acquired 2.53 per cent of the Forsan area in the annexation and assumed that percentage of the indebtedness, which will total $5,386.53 when it is paid in 1973.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Mitchell and Family wishes to express to their many friends their heartfelt thanks for the tokens of sympathy tendered them during their recent bereavement.

Course Okayed For Schools

A new elective course in comparative government was approved for the high school by trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District at their regular meeting Tuesday.

Consent on the course, which trods on controversial ground, was not unanimous, however. Approval was by a vote of six to one, with Joe A. Moss voting against.

The course will be for high school seniors only and is an advanced government course. Prerequisites to taking it are one year of World History, one year of American History and one semester of U. S. Government.

The new offering will include a study of the structures and functions of government used by four major foreign nations—Great Britain, France, Germany and the Soviet Union. Content includes current history and philosophies of these nations as well as a study of the foreign policy of the United States as it applies to or affects the nations of the world. The course will be taught by Mrs. Jane Smith.

Detailed outlines of the course are available from school administrators.

Local Entries Planning For Abilene Show

Howard County 4-H Club members will take seven steers and 30 lambs to the Abilene Fat Stock Show which opens Sunday.

Mary Thornton, whose steer won the grand championship at this show in 1963, will be back again with another steer and hopeful she can repeat.

Herb Helbig, county farm agent, said that all of the youngsters who are to compete in the show must have their animals at the county fair barns Friday. The exhibitors and their stock will leave early Sunday for Abilene. The club van will be put in use again for the second time this season.

Lamb judging is set for 8 a.m. Monday and steers for 2 p.m. Tuesday.

Steers to be shown are being entered by Mark Barr, Mary Thornton, Dolores Lankford, Sharon Harrison, Johnny Middleton and Robert Haney.

Merchants Vote On Holiday Policy

Big Spring merchants at a meeting of the retail committee of the chamber of commerce Tuesday voted to observe Memorial Day (May 30), July 4 and Labor Day (Sept. 7) as holidays during 1964.

The committee also discussed providing free parking in the downtown area on regular dollar days, but no action was taken to accomplish it.

Twelve members of the committee were present for the first meeting of that group this year. Joe Blum and John R. Taylor, co-chairmen, presided.

Fire Prevention Code Approved

City Commissioners Tuesday adopted a fire prevention code on third reading. The code was written by the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

City Manager Larry Crow said adoption of the code had been recommended by the State Insurance Commission, and adoption should result in lower fire insurance rates for individuals.

Fire Chief H. V. Crocker and Fire Marshal A. D. Meador both spoke in favor of the ordinance. The two fire department officials have assured the commission "discretion will be used" in implementing the code.

Crocker said, "this gives us something to work with." Without the code, the city would lack authority for requiring compliance with certain fire and safety regulations, he said.

Former City Resident Dies

Services are pending in Galveston for H. W. Porch, 66, former Big Spring resident, and brother of several local residents. Mr. Porch died at 10 a.m. Wednesday in a Galveston hospital after a three years illness. He left here several years ago but while in Howard County was a farmer.

Survivors, in addition to his wife, include one son, Forest Porch, Austin, one brother, Alva Porch, Big Spring, and two sisters, Mrs. Edna Malone and Mrs. Willie Stringfellow, both of Big Spring.

The brother and the two sisters are to leave Thursday for Galveston. It is expected the services will be Friday.

Appeals Court Affirms Ruling

James Morris Barber, charged with DWI, who was sentenced to pay a fine of $500 when he pleaded nolo contendre to a charge of DWI second offense last March, will have to pay the fine.

The Criminal Court of Appeals today rejected Barber's motion for a rehearing on his original appeal. The court had confirmed the conviction in an earlier decision and Barber had filed a motion for rehearing.

Bruce Wright Files For Commission

Bruce Wright, owner and operator of Wright's Prescription Center, 419 Main, has filed for a place on the ballot as a candidate for city commissioner. Wright has been a resident of Big Spring for more than a decade.

In offering for the post, Wright said he did so out of a conviction that citizens should make themselves available for places of public service.

"I would like to take a more active part in my city's affairs," he said. "So far as I know it is being well run, and my attitude in offering for this position of honor and responsibility is that of wanting to see if I can contribute something to make ours a still better city. As a businessman, I want to see us continue to get our money's worth in good city government, and at the same time I want us to set a pace of progress and not lag.

"My candidacy is an entirely independent affair, and I would expect to represent everyone. Most of the commission's business is conducted in the evenings, and I would be available to meet these and other obligations of the office."

Wright, 36, is a native of Oklahoma and was an honor graduate in the Oklahoma University school of pharmacy in 1950.

BRUCE WRIGHT

After practicing in Oklahoma, he came to Big Spring in 1952 as a pharmacist for Leonard's Pharmacy. In 1960, he moved to Lubbock, but at the start of 1962 he returned to Big Spring to open his own business.

He and his wife, Mary Ben, reside in their own home at 1423 Tucson, and they have two children, David, 7, and Mary June, 4. They are active in the First Baptist Church and he is a member of the Gideon Camp, of the Rho Chi, national honorary pharmaceutical fraternity.

Brothers Arrested

Police arrested two brothers at different locations within a 20-minute period early Wednesday.

One—a 29-year-old—was taken into custody at the Ponderosa Motel. Police said he was wanted in Big Spring and Midland in connection with writing worthless checks.

His 19-year-old brother was apprehended minutes later in the 400 block of Birdwell Lane by State Highway Patrolmen. Police said he is being questioned in connection with a burglary. Charges will be filed against both men, officers indicated.

In other activity, police talked to parents of a local youth, who allegedly shot another boy with a B-B gun. The parents told police the youth would not shoot his air rifle anymore.

Officers escorted a young service station attendant home Tuesday night after his mother complained that her son was going to be taken for a last ride when he got off work.

One Accident

Police investigated only one traffic accident Tuesday. It occurred at 5:28 p.m. 75 feet west of FM 700 on US 80 west, police said. Reported involved were Virtis Gibson, Lamesa, and the parked car of Robert Hutcheson, Box 26, Old Highway 80 west.

Garbage Truck Has Hot Load

Firemen were called at 2:35 p.m. Tuesday when a city garbage truck dumped a "hot load," according to Fire Chief H. V. Crocker. He said the truck crew apparently picked up some garbage that had a hidden flame. The crew dumped the load in the alley behind the 2600 block of Crestline after it caught fire, he said.

OIL REPORT

Three Extensions Reported In Area

The Triple M field in Sterling County and the Spraberry Trend Area in Martin gained extensions on three projects reported completed today.

The Sterling well is American Petrofina No. 1 Nellie P. Sellars, which spots C NW SW, section 62-17, SPRR survey. It was finaled as a three-eighths mile northeast extension to the lower Wolfcamp and the third well in that pay of the field.

On 24-hour potential it flowed 227 barrels of 37.7-gravity oil through a 14-64-inch choke with gas-oil ratio of 5,200-1 from perforations between 6,820-36 feet. The horizon had been washed with 500 gallons of mud acid and was acidized with 5,000 gallons. Location is about 20 miles northwest of Sterling City.

John L. Cox completed the two Spraberry Trend wells. No. 3-C Keaton is an outpost to the northeast extension of the Trend Area in Martin County. It pumped 216 barrels of 38-gravity oil, with five per cent water and gas-oil ratio of 730-1, on initial 24-hour potential. Hole is bottomed at 7,590 feet. Location is 1,325 feet from the north and 1,335 feet from the west lines of section 24-35-1n, T&P survey.

No. 1-B White, a half-mile south outpost to that portion of the Trend, pumped 219 barrels of 38-gravity oil and five per cent water. It had a gas-oil ratio of 810-1. Bottom is 7,560 feet. This well spots C NW NW, section 8-34-1n, T&P survey.

Pick Up Four Sites

Four new field locations have been spotted in the area, all in Dawson County.

Ard Drilling Co. filed No. 2 Ray Adams as a 9,400-foot Ackerly (Dean) site about two miles northeast of Ackerly. It is on a 160-acre lease and spots 660 feet from the south and 1,440 feet from the west lines of the northwest quarter of section 1-34-3n, T&P survey.

Two other sites are in the Welch (San Andres) pool. Kawanee Oil Co. No. 2-A Dunn is 1,895 feet from the north and 467 feet from the west lines of the south half of section 18-C-39, PSL survey, on a 160-acre lease about two miles north of Welch. No. 3-B Dunn, by the same operator, is 3,130 feet from the north and 1,587 feet from the west lines of the same half-section. Both are projected to 5,000 feet.

In the Welch, Southeast (Spraberry) pool, BTA Oil Producers, Midland, have spotted No. 3 Middleton 1,650 feet from the north and 850 feet from the east lines of section 2-4, D. L. Cunningham survey, on a 320-acre lease about 10 miles north of Lamesa. It is to bottom at 8,000 feet.

JOHNSONS BRAVE 19-DEGREE WEATHER AT WHITE HOUSE
Italian President, Mrs. Antonio Segni welcomed on north portico

Wallace Pleased With West Jaunt

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Everywhere he went on his five-state invasion of the West to preach the gospel of states' rights, the intense governor found overflow crowds. They left him flushed with a feeling of success.

George Corley Wallace Jr., 44, a farm boy who became governor of Alabama and an evangel of the South, spoke at six university campuses. ("We had about 50 invitations but these were all we could accept.")

The crowds, mostly students, listened courteously and with interest, though with obvious occasional disagreement. There were some boos.

DEMONSTRATIONS

Civil rights groups picketed wherever Wallace appeared. The demonstrations were orderly and peaceful. The governor called his Western reception "courteous and friendly."

Wallace made it plain he'll continue to battle what he calls the dangerous Goliath of a federal government grasping for totalitarian power.

The majority of the people apparently disagree, but that makes no difference to him. He thinks the world has gone ahead too fast and it, not the South, is out of touch with reality.

NOT NEW

Fighting is not new to him. Nearly 30 years ago he was amateur bantamweight boxing champion of his state. In World War II he was a B29 bomber flight engineer. Last year he resisted integration of the University of Alabama to a point just short of violence.

Wallace carried his crusade into the West in a state-owned plane, justifying its use by trying to lure new industry to Alabama.

"We've already lined up two branch plants for our state out of six industrial conferences," he said.

But the main purpose of his eight-day swing was "to bring the message."

TWO THEMES

He kept hammering away at two main themes:

—The civil rights bill pending in Congress is a "federal power grab" which will usurp state and local government, and personal property rights.

—The world has been given a distorted picture of the South and its racial problems.

He indicated he may enter the primaries in Oregon, California, Ohio, Illinois, Maryland and New Hampshire "so we can talk about some of the real issues involved."

"I know I can't win," he said, "but it will give me a chance to let the people know what's going on—let them know the dangers they face from the encroachments of their own government."

Wallace said he will support unpledged presidential electors and the South, "tired of being kicked around" by both major political parties, will support the one that "promises the least kicking."

Texas Republicans Eye May Presidential Poll

DALLAS (AP) — Republican State executive committeemen may decide Saturday whether to let Texas GOP voters ballot on aspirants for the party's presidential nomination.

State Chairman Peter O'Donnell Jr. said here, "It is entirely possible" the executive committee will decide this weekend whether to hold a presidential preferential poll as part of the party's May 2 primary.

O'Donnell said he believes most executive committee members favor such a poll.

The Republican leaders will meet Saturday in Houston.

Some observers for the poll would draw many independent conservatives to the Republican primary instead of the Democratic primary, held the same day.

O'Donnell is just back from a Washington meeting of the Republican national committee and state chairmen. He said those at the gathering concluded:

1. Lyndon Johnson will "be an easier candidate to beat" than President Kennedy.

2. Sen. Barry Goldwater remains the front runner for the GOP nomination.

3. Even though President Johnson is a Texan, the Republican presidential candidate has a good chance of carrying the state next November.

O'Donnell, who served as national chairman of the "Draft Goldwater" committee, said he will concentrate on strengthening the party's Texas organization in the months ahead.

"We feel our committee accomplished its purpose when Goldwater agreed to seek the nomination," O'Donnell said. "I will still be available for consultations with his staff, but will devote much of my time to strengthening the party in Texas."

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♡	1 NT	2 ♡	Pass

Opening lead: King of ◇

The ace of trumps can usually be counted on as a distinct asset to its holder. In today's hand, however, West converted it into a liability when he failed to recognize that the time had come for him to part with his jewel.

West's overcall of one no trump is sound strategy inasmuch as he held a semi-solid suit. His holding figures to win as many tricks at no trump as it does at diamonds and, if partner happens to have a few high cards, a potential game may be uncovered by West's strategy.

It was North's desire to compete with four card trump support for South. Observe that his bid of two hearts does not show a good hand, for he would have doubled one no trump if he had as many as 10 points. South proceeded directly to game in hearts.

West opened the king of diamonds and continued with the queen. He shifted to the ten of clubs and declarer won in his hand with the king. It appeared that the contract must go down to defeat for, in addition to the two diamond tricks, South still had to lose to the ace of hearts and the king of spades—both of which cards were marked with West by virtue of his one no trump bid.

There was only one slim hope which required some very favorable distribution and a bit of coöperation from the enemy. At trick four, declarer casually led a small heart from his hand. West should have hastened to go in with the ace in order to disengage himself from the lead while he could still do so safely. Instead, he played low, and dummy's nine of hearts won the trick.

The ace and queen of clubs were played next and, when both opponents followed suit, South was well on his way. A trump lead threw West in with the ace of hearts and, in order to avoid giving his opponent a ruff and discard, he was obliged to exit with a spade. Declarer put up the dummy's queen which held the trick to cinch the contract.

West should have been aware that the ace of trumps was a potential liability to him if he held on to the card too long, and he should have released it as soon as possible. After winning the first two tricks, it would have been good strategy to cash the ace of hearts and then get out—waiting for the setting trick with the king of spades.

Hootenanny Joins Opera At VIP Show

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson served Italian opera and American hootenanny at his first official White House state dinner for Italian President Antonio Segni.

As his VIP guests left the snowy driveways of the White House toward midnight, the President returned to his office with some of his advisers, saying he had to "go back to the coal mine." Problems involving the crisis in Panama still faced him.

Mrs. Johnson whispered in the President's ear just before he left. She told him not to make it another late night, Johnson revealed to reporters with a smile.

FIRST DINNER

The Johnsons had invited 138 guests, including many prominent Italian-Americans, to their first formal state dinner. It featured filet of beef and a mocha mousse dessert, served on Truman china at 11 small tables in the big state dining room.

Among the guests were composer Gian-Carlo Menotti and labor leaders George Meany and David Dubinsky.

In honor of Segni, the Johnsons gave their party a blend of Italian and American music.

Baritone Robert Merrill of the Metropolitan Opera was applauded warmly as he sang selections from the operas of Verdi and Rossini.

FOLKSINGERS

Then, nine lively young folksingers—the New Christy Minstrels—took over the East Room stage, with a guitar and a banjo and virtually rocked the room with "Cotton Picker" and "Last Farewell," and "Saints Train."

COP MIXED WITH MAMAS

BEAUMONT (AP) — Sam Fuller, 35, sheriff's deputy, had some explaining to do today after he was placed in the hospital maternity ward with severe abdominal pains.

Fuller collapsed earlier in the dispatch room, doubled up with pains.

Doctors put him in the only available ward — with women recovering from childbirth. They diagnosed his illness as pleurisy.

Fuller is a former member of the Big Spring police force who served as dogcatcher there.

Y Week Planned

Programs featuring National YMCA Week will be given at several civic clubs in Big Spring next week, Curt Mullins, executive secretary of the Big Spring Y, said this week. The National Week starts Sunday, Mullins said.

The Tri-Hi-Y Club will meet with the Evening Lions Club, to present a program showing the bill introduced at Austin recently during "Youth in Government," at the Monday night meeting.

Jim Gilbert, physical director of the YMCA, will talk to Rotarians Tuesday on "Physical Fitness."

The Optimist Club members will see a group of youngsters exhibiting tumbling and gymnastic skills Wednesday at the breakfast meeting. The same program will be presented at the Downtown Lions Club meeting Wednesday at noon.

A program, to be arranged, will be carried to the Kiwanis Club Jan. 30th.

Asking Help With Census

Three school superintendents in the Howard County area have asked for help in taking scholastic census for the coming year. All children, becoming six years of age before Sept. 1, 1964, must be enumerated, and parents are requested to contact the offices of superintendent at Coahoma, Forsan, and Sands (Ackerly).

Supt. M. B. Maxwell at Ackerly summed up the request in saying: "All parents of children, not in school this year but who will become six years of age before Sept. 1, are requested to contact this office in the next few days. The final census report for scholastics must be completed by Jan. 31, and we do not want to miss anyone. Families transferring into the district, with children not enumerated, should also contact us."

The End Off The Line

Tim Tucker (11) of the Amarillo Badgers was thinking about driving down the baseline and underneath the basket in a Tuesday night fracas with the Howard County Jayhawks, but he quickly changed his mind when he found 215-pound co-captain Jim Oldham blocking the way. He wisely decided to bring the ball back to the outside, as a resulting collision might have been disastrous for the smaller Tucker. HCJC won the game, 63-57, to keep its first place standing in the Western Junior College Conference. (Photo by Keith McMillan)

Hawks Are Leading Junior College Loop

By PAT WASHBURN

The Howard County Jayhawks came of age here Tuesday night and proved to a cozy cliche of hard - nosed unbelievers that they're going to be one of the top clubs in the Western Junior College Conference as they rudely shocked a favored Amarillo Badger crew with a mild 63-57 upset.

The victory left the Jayhawks tied for first place in the conference with the San Angelo College Rams, each club having a 4-0 mark.

After a nip - and - tuck first half that saw the teams retire to the dressing room with a 28-28 deadlock, the Hawks returned to the court in the second half to completely dominate play as they raced away to a hot seven - point lead before finally settling for the six - point spread as the end result.

Little 6'1" playmaker Terry Williams, who remained in the contest for the entire 40 minutes, led the Hawks in scoring as he pumped home 13 points in the second half for a 20 point effort on the night. He was followed by Eddy Nelson with 16, Thomas Carter with 10 and Jim Oldham with 10. Keith Bond got the final seven points as only five Hawks hit the scoring column.

Mike Wesbrooke led the invading Badgers with 14 points while teammates Tim Tucker and Bruce Francis had 10 apiece. Tobie Hall, who had scored 35 points in two games Dec. 30 and 31 in the Hawks' gym against Lon Morris and Jacksonville, was held to a mere five for the night.

The Jayhawks jumped off to a quick 3-0 lead before Amarillo finally got on the scoreboard with 18:18 left on a 20-foot jump shot by Wesbrooke. The Badgers then charged ahead briefly, 5-3, but with 14:08 showing on the clock they found themselves down 16-8 as a combination of torrid Hawk shooting and fine HCJC defensing held them in check.

Amarillo then began creeping back into the game, taking as much as a one-point lead before seeing the final whistle blow at the end of the first half with the score tied.

When the Jayhawks began the second half, they seemed almost like a remade club. Their defense was sharper, their passes better, their shots more accurate, and they had a renewed hustle.

Three times HCJC took a four point lead, only to see it disappear in the midst of Amarillo heroics. But it was only a matter of time as it became increasingly evident that the Hawks were the best quintet on the floor as they roared finally to a 46-41 lead with 10:37 left in the game. They never lost that lead.

PAT WASHBURN'S
The Roundtable

Bowlers, get ready! The annual city bowling tournament is right around the corner.

This year's tourney is set for Feb. 1-2 and 8-9 at the Bowl-A-Rama Lanes east of town. There will be the regular slate of events — singles, doubles, and five-man teams with anyone entering all three eligible for the all-events crown. An entry fee of $4 will be charged per event with anyone going for the all-events title having to put out an extra $1. Each bowler will be able to enter any event only one time.

Trophies, furnished by the city bowling association, will go to the first and second place finishers in each event with all entry fees, exclusive of bowling fees, being returned as prize money. Anyone rolling a 200 or over scratch game or a 600 scratch series will get 50 cents. The same amount will be paid for the high series in each shift of play.

The beauty of the tourney is that everyone has a chance, whether he be a beginner or an old hand. In fact, an old pro has almost less a chance than someone with not as high an average. To figure your handicap, take your 1962-63 average, subtract it from 200, and take three-fourths of the difference. That'll be your handicap. For those who have no overage for 1962-63, the average will be figured on 21 or more games rolled through Dec. 31, 1963. If a bowler has no average available, he will take an automatic 175.

Entry deadline is midnight, Jan. 27. Entry blanks are available at the Bowl-A-Rama and Webb Bowling Center.

A men's rag-time doubles tournament will go on in conjunction with the city tourney, with the same average being used. But it will not be considered a part of the annual affair.

If you're interested in trying to win a trophy, there's still plenty of time to improve. Why not give this year's tournament a try?

Grady recently took both the boys' and girls' titles at the annual Pee-Wee Basketball Tournament at HCJC. One of the coaches present, after watching Grady romp easily past an opponent, was heard to remark:

"If Big Spring had an organized basketball program for their kids like Grady does, and started them around the fourth grade, the Steers would win the District 2-AAAA crown every year hands down. They'd just walk away with the title. It's a shame they don't start them young here in Big Spring—it's really a missed opportunity."

Maybe the Jaycees could get this started. It might behoove the YMCA to take a closer look, also . . .

One Big Spring hunter was talking last week about the way he spends many an enjoyable night:

"I like to go coon hunting — and believe me, that's a lost art. I guess there's only two or three bona fide coon hunters left in this entire town. The other night we went over by Westbrook and got five. All we use are a bunch of hounds, there's no need for a gun. After you find one, the dogs tree him and then you shake him down and the dogs kill him. It's quite a sport."

Sounds rather gruesome but then I can't say that I've ever had the experience. One Big Springer, who hails from Arkansas, recently claimed that barbecued coon was really a delicacy — if someone cooked it who knew what they were doing. It could be rather tasty, I guess . . .

Unpredictable Golf Slated In Crosby

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Anything can happen at Bing Crosby's golf tournament and you can only guess what will happen when the $60,000 production swings into action Thursday.

Two years ago snow caused postponement of the final day's play. Never before had it snowed during this tournament but rain and winds aren't at all unusual.

A year ago pro Dave Douglass of Lakewood, Colo., carded a 19 on the 10th hole of the Pebble Beach course. That set no record since Hans Merrill of Mogadore, Ohio, had taken 19 strokes on the over-the-ocean 16th hole at Cypress Point a couple years before.

Arnold Palmer's money-winning was stopped at 47 consecutive tournaments when in the 1963 Crosby he was disqualified for improperly playing a provisional ball.

Billy Casper won a year ago with a 72-hole score of 285 but he had to watch on television 286 just a stroke off the pace.

Both Player and Nicklaus missed putts on the 18th that would have sent the tournament into a playoff.

Odessa Permian Wins Over Steers, 44-35

ODESSA — Big Spring played splendid defense but had trouble hitting from the court and dropped a 44-35 District 2-AAAA basketball decision to Odessa Permian here Tuesday night.

Permian is still undefeated in conference play, having won four straight games. Big Spring is 2-2 and catches red-hot Midland High School in Big Spring Friday night.

Gregg Slape led Permian in scoring with 15 points, all of which he garnered in the last half. No one else on the Panther club hit as many as ten points and averages on both teams went into decline.

Albert Fierro paced Big Spring with 12 points and grabbed off a dozen rebounds.

Permian built up a 7-4 advantage at the end of the first period and led by four points, at 19-15, when the half time buzzer sounded.

Tempers flared in the first half but no one was ejected from the game.

Jack Mercer, one of Permian's scoring aces, was limited to nine points while Roy Berry had eight and Jay Collins seven.

Charley West banged in eight points and Mike Peters seven for the Steers.

Big Spring made 15 of 40 shots from the court for 37.5 per cent. Permian made good on 16 of 41 attempts from the field.

In B team competition, Permian also won, 62-48. Big Spring was playing without the services of Joe Jaure, scoring ace, who was home studying. Rickey Earle collected 15 points and Larry Foster 13 for the Big Springers.

Permian meets Abilene Cooper Friday night in a headline attraction.

LUCIOUS JACKSON

Pan American's Jackson Sought After By Pros

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP)—Pan American College's 6-9 jumping giant from San Marcos, Tex., is a cinch to make a top player in professional basketball, his coaches believe.

The big boy whom the talent scouts have been watching with envy in their eyes is Lucious Brown Jackson, 22-year-old Negro who can do almost anything with a basketball — including making points.

"He will definitely be in the first-round draft of National Basketball Association club owners in March or April," said William (Red) Holzman of the New York Knickerbockers.

Holzman, former pro cager with the old Rochester, N.Y., Royals, would not say, however, that the Knicks would draft Jackson, only that "somebody will."

"Jackson has great potential as a big league basketball player," he said.

At the end of the 1962-63 season Jackson gained honorable mention when the Associated Press picked its all-American Squad. In addition, he was placed on five other all-Star selections.

This season, as in last season, Jackson is averaging about 24 points per game. He netted 36 points against the strong Bartlesville, Okla., Oilers in a December 1963 game.

He has also latched on to almost all the college basketball records at Pan American. As a senior this season, he will score almost 800 points to bring his total at Pan American near the 2,000 mark in two and one-half years.

Eagles Slip By Rebels

ABILENE — The Abilene Eagles roared back from the jaws of defeat Tuesday night and slipped past the Midland Lee Rebels, 67 - 66, in a District 2-AAAA thriller.

The win left the Eagles with a 2-2 mark in district while Midland Lee is still seeking a victory in four starts.

Buzzie Myatt and Bill Marvin paced the win with 17 and 16 points respectively while Mike Frizzell had 20 and Bob Weber 18 for the Rebels.

Tech Slates Biology Classes During Summer

LUBBOCK — The 1964 Texas Tech Summer Biology Institute for High School Teachers will be held on the Tech campus from June 5 until Aug. 6, according to Dr. Earl D. Camp, professor and head of the biology department.

The Institute is conducted annually by Tech under an $86,400 grant from the National Science Foundation. Participants will be selected solely on the basis of their ability to benefit from the program and their capacity to develop as teachers of science, Dr. Camp said.

Two extensive week-long field trips highlight this year's session. The first is to the timberline near Taos, N. M. The second is a visit to the cloud forests near Xilitla, Mex., north of Mexico City. Other shorter trips are planned. Dr. Camp will screen all applicants. Approximately 60 participants will be chosen from those applying. Last year more than 500 applied.

DEAR ABBY

Shopping Problems

DEAR ABBY: I am a man past the age of love problems, but here is another problem. Each time I go downtown to shop for underwear I find it very embarrassing to be confronted with females in the men's underwear department. I cannot figure out why department stores put female clerks in that department. I am sure no lady would care to have a man wait on HER in the ladies' underwear department. I have walked out of more department stores without buying anything for that reason. Please answer this if you can. NO SALE

DEAR NO: The reason women clerks are placed in the men's underwear department is because approximately 90 per cent (it's a guess, but I'll bet it's a good one) of all the men's underwear sold in department stores is sold TO women for men. Most men couldn't tell you the size of their shorts, socks or pajamas. If I'm wrong, send me your size and I'll shop for you.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I need an answer as soon as possible. My husband is a truck driver and he does most of his work out of town. His mother called and told me he had a girl friend. She said someone had told her, but she couldn't tell me who. She also made me promise that if I told my husband about it I would keep her name out of it. If I ask my husband, should I tell him who told me? He has always been so good to me and I never had reason to doubt his loyalty. I am so upset I can't treat him as I should. What should I do?

UPSET

DEAR UPSET: Tell your mother - in - law that as far as you are concerned, your husband is lily white, and unless she can come up with names, dates and pictures you aren't interested in second - hand reports. Then forget it.

Get it off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. Enclose a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Beserk Pilot Crashes Into College Hall

SHAWNEE, Okla. (AP) — A former mental patient ignored police rifle fire and the pleas of the man who taught him to fly and crashed his private plane into a classroom building at Oklahoma Baptist University Tuesday.

The pilot, Robert Lawson, 43, Inola, Okla., was killed when the rented single-engine plane ripped a gaping hole in the side of Shawnee Hall and burst into flames.

Lawson had warned authorities he would crash into the administration building. But he left the campus more than 20 years ago and administrative offices were moved eight years ago from Shawnee Hall to Thurmond Hall. He apparently was unaware of the move.

Officers evacuated Thurmond Hall, but scores of students were taking final examinations in Shawnee Hall. No one else was injured.

Lawson's son, Mike, 21, is a student at the college. His former wife, Vashti, is a junior high school teacher here.

Police fired high-powered rifles at the plane as it winged low over the Student Union and angled past a flag pole on its fatal run. An autopsy later showed no bullet wounds in Lawson's body.

Fred Reese, Shawnee airport manager who taught Lawson to fly when Lawson was a student here 24 years ago, said he tried to talk Lawson out of making his suicide flight.

"He felt this entire world was against him," Reese said.

Elbow Concert Set Jan. 29

ELBOW — Mrs. Eleanor Mason, director, will present the Elbow Junior High School band in a short concert at 2:30 p.m. Jan. 29. Parents and the public are invited to attend the concert in the auditorium.

"Mrs. Mason has a 53-piece band this year," Darrel Flynt, principal, said. "This is over one-third of the students enrolled at the junior high school, and they are doing a good job. She will take the group to the Forsan High School at 1 p.m. the same day for a short concert there."

Teachers Meet

The Howard County Unit of Texas State Teachers Association will meet in the high school auditorium in Coahoma Jan. 20, at 7:30 p.m. Merritt Romans, president of the unit, said teachers from Forsan, Ackerly, and Coahoma, would attend the meeting.

Pritchett Retires C-City Bank Post

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Charley Thompson, president and chairman of the board of directors of the City National Bank, announced Tuesday, the retirement of veteran Colorado City banker, J. C. Pritchett, as executive vice president.

Pritchett, born in Alabama, came to Mitchell County in 1896 and went to work for the City National Bank in 1916. He served several terms as mayor and a member of the Colorado City Council.

He will still remain on the bank's board and will advise the bank's loan committee. He also hopes to get in more golf time and to devote more time to his farming operations.

Gus D. Chesney, banker, stockman and farmer, will replace Pritchett. Chesney has been in banking 35 years. He is active in community affairs and will be installed as president of the Chamber of Commerce this month. Chesney is married and has one daughter.

Wayne Shawn will become senior vice president. He has been with the local bank 13 years.

Vice presidents Trevlyn Kelley and George Womack were appointed members of the loan committee and Womack was assigned to full time duties as loan officer.

Other bank officials re-elected by the board include Mrs. Gwan Strange and Mrs. Jesse L. Jones, cashiers.

Bank directors include R. P. Ainsworth, Chesney, Pritchett, R. S. Brennand Jr., Shawn, Thompson, E. T. Strain and George Witten.

Shrinking Band Fighting To Kick Smoking Habit

NEW YORK (AP)—Scattered throughout this city today is a band of 900 fidgety "ex"-smokers, pampering themselves and shunning unpleasant decisions.

They have been told that if they can make it through the day without a cigarette they'll kick the habit.

Last Sunday, the day after the U.S. surgeon general's special report on the health hazards of smoking, 1,200 smokers gathered at Hunter College for a "five-day plan to stop smoking." They were put on a fruit diet, given pep talks and told to take long walks.

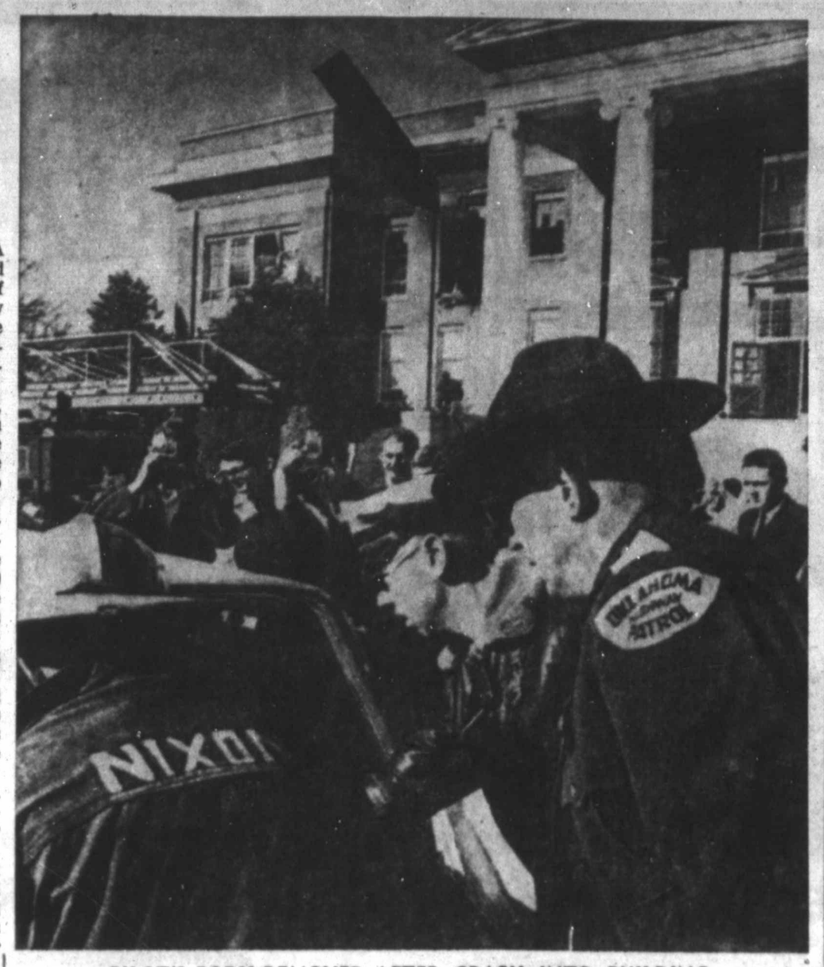

The third clinic was held Tuesday night and, by all reports, the going has been rough. A sheepish minority of the depleted band admitted they had smoked one or more cigarettes, but said they were still in there trying.

The Rev. Elman Folkenberg, Seventh-day Adventist minister who is running the clinic, advised the audience to "sidestep every unpleasant decision tomorrow; be real nice to yourself."

The worst thing they could do, he said, would be to cause themselves tension. A smoker under tension—smokes.

The clinic is endorsed by the New York City Department of Health and the American Cancer Society. The National Health Foundation and Research Institute of the Seventh-day Adventist Church has given the clinics in several cities.

The fundamentalist church started the clinics several years ago as an aid to new members. The church forbids smoking.

Tax Overpayment Refunded, License Revocation Upheld

James F. Reidy, 2111 Johnson, is $205.03 richer as a result of Tuesday's City Commission meeting. Commissioners voted to pay him that sum as a refund for an overpayment of taxes on his property in the McDowell Heights Addition.

Reidy's land value was set at $8,250 rather than $825 due to a computational error, city officials said. He paid a total tax of $248.79 for the years 1958 through 1961. The adjusted tax charged him with only $43.76. According to city officials, the school district made a refund to Reidy on a similar basis.

In other action, commissioners upheld the police department in revoking the dance hall permit of Mrs. Julia Wilson for Tommy's Cafe, US 80 west.

City Manager Larry Crow said the Liquor Control Board recently suspended a beer license for the business. Mrs. Wilson, who had requested the public hearing, did not appear.

Commissioners also authorized the city to proceed with condemnation for right of way for the Beal's Branch trunk sewer line and for the city's paving program. Property needed for the paving program is located on Mischler Street, and the owner is Mrs. Jean Lawrence Graham, city officials said, adding that she is the only property owner on the street who does not want it paved.

Ernest Lillard, director of public works, said Mrs. Graham had refused an offer of $330 for a .161 acre tract. According to city officials, a conflict in surveys made it necessary to obtain Mrs. Graham's land for right-of-way.

City attorney John Burgess said offers had been rejected by two property owners who hold land along the route of the proposed sewer line. Further negotiation would be fruitless, according to Crow.

Owners affected by the authorization for condemnation of easements for the sewer right of way are College Park Estate and Moss Petroleum Corp.

A resolution releasing a drainage easement to Cecil McDonald also was approved. Crow said the affected property is on East Third and East Fourth. Lillard said the city no longer needs the easement.

Sewage Plant Is Complete

Forrest and Cotton, consulting engineers for the new sewage disposal plant, advised the city that work on the plant is substantially complete, according to City Manager Larry Crow.

Crow said the firm recommended $5,000 of the contract price be retained by the city until a few minor jobs are finished. Forrest and Cotton also recommended $10,750 in liquidated damages be deducted from the contract payments, Crow said.

The $10,750 figure is for 215 days the contract ran over its original completion date. Under the terms of the contract, the city may withhold $50 for each day work progresses past the original completion date after giving one 30 - day extension, Crow said.

Representatives of Shiflet Brothers, the co tractor, Forrest and Cotton, the consulting engineers, and the city inspected the plant last week.

Crow said the consulting engineering firm recommended three work orders totaling $60,495.98 be paid off. It is estimated the remainder of the work can be paid for with the $5,000 that is retained, the city manager said.

By-Laws Drawn

A committee, appointed by the trustees of the Berea Baptist kindergarten and nursery school, met at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Morris Mankin to draw up by-laws for the school. Others on the committee are Howard States, Floyd Pike, Lewis Overton and Mrs. Bill Stovall. The kindergarten and nursery school opened Jan. 6.

Escaped Convict Ends 27 Years Of Freedom

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Clyde Swanson, 50, turned himself in Tuesday to Sheriff Lester Plackmeyer of St. Charles County, because his seven children "don't have my name."

It was 27 years ago that George Hutchinson fled from an Illinois State Penitentiary farm at Pontiac and started a new life as Clyde Swanson. He had served six years of a one-year-to-life sentence for robbing passengers on a Rockford, Ill., streetcar.

As Clyde Swanson he spent four years in the Army in the South Pacific. He was awarded a purple heart for his wounds suffered in action and was honorably discharged.

Then, Clyde Swanson married and moved with his bride to Bridgeton, a St. Louis suburb.

"You know," he told Plackmeyer, "in those 27 years I never even got a traffic ticket. But last week I watched the children getting ready for school and thought: 'These are my children, but they don't have my name.' "

After talking it over with his wife, who was unaware of his record, they decided to "clear things up."
