

4 Teachers Hired, Summer Work OK'd

The board of trustees toured the first grade wing of the elementary building when they met for the regular monthly meeting, and Supt. Ray Schultz pointed out repair work that was needed in that part of the building.

The board officially accepted the resignation of Max Malone and heard reports from the superintendent on attendance, lunch room, student insurance and summer school.

Schultz told the board that the lunchroom closed out the year with an approximate balance of $3700 in comparison with a beginning balance of $2800. The increase was due to the state aid on free lunch program.

Attendance was 1060 at the end of the school year. The average daily attendance, however, was only 1046, which means that only 42 teachers will be employed. Schultz said there would be one less fifth grade teacher the next year, but that an additional teacher would be employed to work with the migrant program.

Reporting on the student insurance, Schultz said that he recommended that the school stay with the same insurance company as last year -- Southwestern States General Agency. The rates were lowered for the next year, he said, and "the company has been real good to pay claims."

Rates for the upcoming year will be $18 per student who wish the 24 hour protection; $7 for school hours only, and $28 for those participating in football.

Schultz said there is a total of 103 students enrolled in the summer reading program, which is offered to students of grade one through eight. Seventy-nine students are enrolled in art classes, which are offered to all age students and 28 are taking drivers education. A junior high band program has 36 enrolled and two summer homemaker classes are being offered.

"This is the largest number of students that has ever been enrolled in a summer program that has been offered since I came here," Schultz remarked. "I think this is real fine."

Summer maintenance work includes the stadium, old high school building, first grade wing of the elementary building, dining hall and kitchen, and Carl McClure's office. Painting of the stadiums is almost completed and work is being done in the high school building at the present time with work scheduled soon for the elementary building.

In other action, the board approved Olton State Bank as the depository bank for the school, voted to remain members of the Texas Association of School Boards, hired Loyd Blackwell as bus mechanic, accepted the resignation of Winston Bley, president of the board and hired four new teachers.

Loyd Blackwell, who had previously served as bus mechanic before accepting the position as Chief of Police, was hired at the same salary that he was receiving when he quit the job. He was also approved as the attendance officer, at a salary of $50 per month, making his total salary $500 per month.

Winston Bley, president of the board, handed a letter of resignation to the vice-president of the board, O. J. Neeley and expressed his appreciation for the co-operation of the board members during the eight and a half years he had served, saying, "The school is in the best shape I've ever seen it." He made his departure after that statement.

New teachers employed are Larry Manuel of Throckmorton and John Paul Jones of Bovina, who will be vocational agriculture teachers and Mrs. Ollie Oneta Gary of Halfway who will teach the third grade and Mrs. Lucy Bley who will teach the fourth grade.

Manuel is a June graduate of Texas Tech with a BS degree. Jones has been teaching in the Bovina schools and is a former resident of Olton. Mrs. Gary is a graduate of Wayland. Mrs. Wandie Hutson has been employed as junior high math teacher. Schultz said there remains only two vacancies in the school for the next year.

"I feel we have a real fine staff hired for our next year," Schultz said.

The board agreed to consider another board member to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Bley. The appointment will be made at the next board meeting.

Organizational Meet Set For Lamb County Museum

An organizational meeting of the Lamb County Museum Association has been announced for Thursday, June 26 at 2:30 p. m. in the County Courtroom in Littlefield.

Plans were made for the meeting at the regular session of the Lamb County Historical Survey Committee last Thursday in Littlefield.

Mrs. S. D. Hay of Sudan, chairman of the committee which is sponsoring the forming of the Lamb County Museum Association, states that the Association needs the backing of the county if the project is to be successful.

The primary objective in establishing a county museum is to preserve the county's historical heritage. Mrs. Hay also states that the small museum is the "museum of today" and statistics are proving this point in Texas.

In 1964 there were only 90 museums of this type open to the public; today there are 280 opened to the public and 120 additional ones in the planning stage.

Organizations in each town in the county are asked to send representatives to the organizational meeting June 26. Any persons who are interested in assisting with establishing the museum are also invited to attend the meeting.

Antique collectors, in any field, are especially urged to attend and make suggestions concerning their particular field of interest.

Special displays of articles other than those used solely by Lamb County pioneers will also be needed.

In emphasizing the importance of small county museums, Mrs. Hay points out that many parents take their children to a small museum but will not take them to a larger one where they must cope with traffic problems and other disadvantages.

The museum will serve as a visual history program for children in the county. Its site will be selected from a standpoint of parking space; room for school classes to move through freely; economy and as a possible tourist attraction.

Mrs. Roy McQuatters of Spade is chairman of the planning committee. At a recent meeting of the committee, by-laws were prepared to be presented at the organizational meeting.

Officers will be elected and a Board of Trustees named at the June 26 meeting.

Telephone Rate Hike Granted By Councilmen

A raise in telephone rates is in store for Olton customers, beginning August 7, after such a raise in rates was granted the telephone company in a called city council meeting last Thursday night.

Rates for businesses will be $13.75 for individual line service with extensions at $1.75. Residence rates will be $7.00 for individuals; $6.25 for a two-party line and extensions will be $1.25.

After a lengthy discussion with representatives of General Telephone, Charles Sullivan made a motion that the rate proposal be accepted. Motion was seconded by Jimmy Jenkins. Leon Noack, Walter Struve and Sullivan voted for while K. Y. Givens and Jenkins voted against.

A representative of "mosquito Control of the Southwest", a firm located in Plainview, told the council that it would cost approximately 35 cents per acre to spray the town, plus a $24 ferry fee to come from Plainview.

Mr. Grady said, "We put it on at Plainview and got pretty good results." But he said that if residents expected all mosquitos to be killed the minute after the spraying has been completed that they wouldn't be satisfied with aerial spraying.

It takes as many as three days to get a good kill, he told the council. It takes about three hours for the chemical to hit the ground and then every mosquito that the chemical touches is doomed.

However, Grady said that there would be a delay on the spraying even though the council had approved it. They have to write to the FAA as does the city then a public notice must be given to the citizens as to what time, day and hour that the spraying will be done.

Councilman Noack made the motion to employ the firm to spray the town, motion seconded by K. Y. Givens.

Domingo Garcia read a statement to the council that he said he had prepared protesting the treatment of the Mexican-Americans in Olton. He complained that nearly half the populations of his people had been assessed fines since Loyd Blackwell was hired as chief of police.

He further stated that he felt that if the Mexican-Americans could pay the fines levied them, that the area farmers and ranchers who were not paying the minimum wage should have to pay higher fines.

He stated that two Mexican-Americans had applied for job as the chief of police and had not been considered.

In answer to these complaints, councilmen showed the city judge's record of fines paid by the town's residents this month, which showed only two Mexican-Americans having received fines, out of a total of 14.

Mayor Myers told him that he and his people were welcome to come and sit in on the council meetings each second Tuesday night.

"The meetings are open to the public and anyone can come in here and find out what is going on," Myers said.

"As for not considering the two Mexican-Americans for the job of chief of police, neither of them were qualified for the position," Myers stated.

Garcia left the meeting after thanking the councilmen for their consideration of his people's problems and for letting him talk to them.

In other action, the council approved the amount of $750 for three firemen to attend school at Texas A&M during July, heard a report on the Ave. A paving project, hired a new nightwatchman and appointed a new city judge and reviewed applications for the chief of police job.

City attorney, Andy Stroebel, made a report on the paving project, saying that most easements had been secured and that the remaining few would be in hand in the very near future.

Applications for nightwatchman were looked over by councilmen and after due consideration Walter Struve made a motion to hire Glenn "Burr" Combest as the nightwatchman at a salary of $400 per month. Other applicant was Melvin Cox of Abernathy. Noack seconded and the vote was unanimous.

Applying for the city judge's position were Eldon Franks, Bill Smith, David Maxey and Harold Lloyd. Jenkins made a motion to hire Eldon Franks, seconded by Struve. Voting for were Struve, Jenkins, K. Y. Givens, and Noack. Charles Sullivan abstained.

The chief of police position, vacated by the resignation of Loyd Blackwell, was not filled. Applications have been received from Hubert Hubbard of Littlefield, who appeared before the council; Jerry Smith, formerly of Olton, now of Lubbock; Larry Hensley of Littlefield and Kenneth Gene Cooper of Olton.

The council will meet Monday morning at 8 o'clock to make the decision of hiring the new police chief.

Barry Cowart Is Attending American Legion Boys State

Barry Cowart, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Cowart, is one of 750 high school boys from across Texas attending the twenty-ninth annual American Legion Boys State sponsored by the Department of Texas and held this week on the campus of the University of Texas.

Following registration Wednesday, the youth will be assigned to one of two political parties -- the Nationalist or Federalist. Each citizen will then function as a member of his party; attend its precinct, county and state conventions and vote in its primary.

In Boys State, The American Legion provides the type of program where the young citizen has the opportunity to learn for himself that his government is just what he makes it. The boy "learns to do by doing."

Highlight of Boys State will be a trip to the Capitol Friday morning where each elected Boys State Official will be given an opportunity to serve in his respective office for a day, followed by the Governor's Ball Friday evening.

A senior, Cowart has been active in athletics and was named "Best Student Athlete" for the 1968-69 school year. He will serve as a tri-captain his senior year.

He is a member of the Mustang Band, OHS Choir and the O Boys, boys quartet, and Musical Frays.

He was a member of the Learn and Live team and is a member of the National Honor Society.

Former Resident Hurt In Mishap

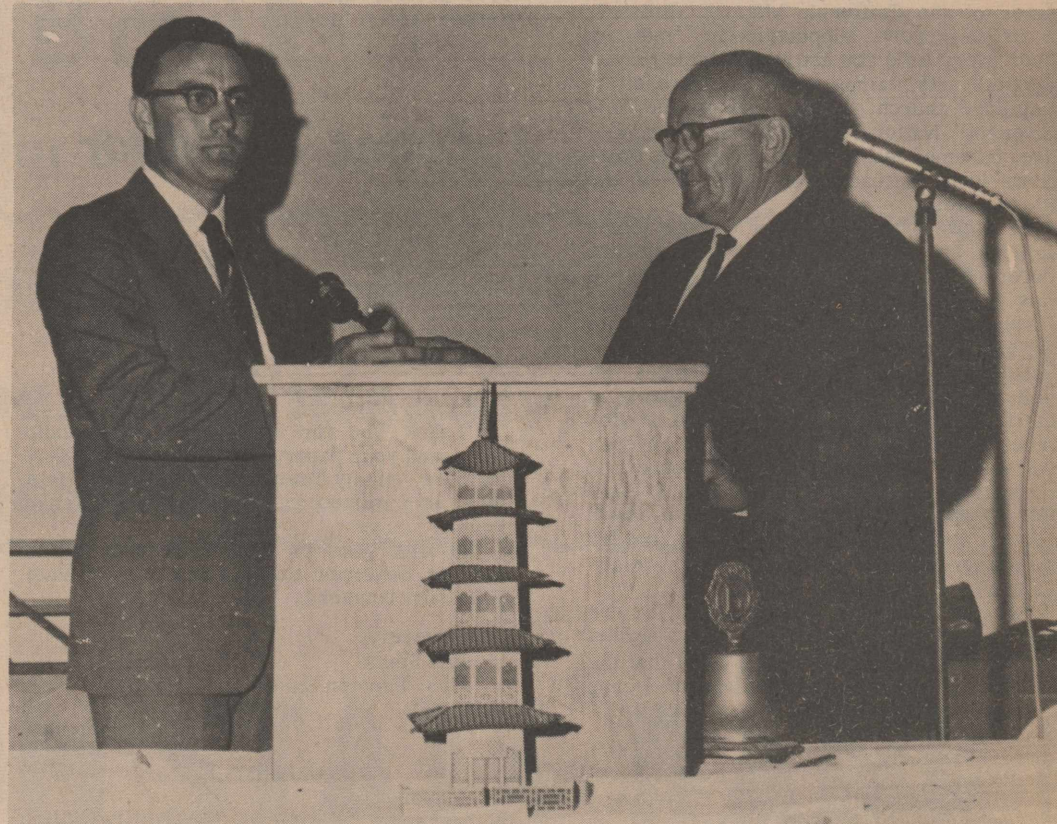

Douglas Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lacy Armstrong of Dalhart, was injured Friday night when he was gored by an animal in a Lubbock auction ring.

A student at Tech, Armstrong is employed for the summer at the auction ring. He was taken to Highland Hospital in Lubbock.

In a report to the Enterprise Wednesday morning, the youth was making satisfactory improvements.

"LION OF THE YEAR" honors were bestowed upon Russell Strain at the Ladies Night Installation Dinner held Monday evening in the school cafeteria.

What Is A Farmer ?

A farmer is a paradox--he is an over-all executive with his home his office; a scientist using fertilizer attachments; a purchasing agent in an old straw hat; a personnel director with grease under his fingernails; a dietitian with a passion for alfalfa, amino and antibiotics; a production expert with a surplus, and a manager battling a price-cost squeeze.

He manages more capital than most of the businessmen in town. He likes sunshine, good food, State Fairs, dinner at noon, auctions, his neighbors, his shirt collar unbuttoned and above all, a good soaking rain in August.

He is not much for drouths, ditches, throughways, experts, weeds, the eight-hour day, grasshoppers or helping with housework.

Farmers are found in fields--plowing up, seeding down, rotating from, planting to, fertilizing with, spraying for and harvesting. Wives help them, little boys follow them, the Agriculture department confuses them, city relatives visit them, salesmen detain them and wait for them, weather can delay them, but only "Heaven" can stop them.

A farmer is both Faith and Fatalist-- he must have Faith to continually meet the challenges of this capacities amid an ever present possibility that an act of God (a late spring, an early frost, tornado, flood, drouth) can bring his business to a stand still. You can reduce his acreage but can't restrain his ambition.

Might as well put up with him-- he is your friend, your competitor, your customer, your source of food, fiber, and self-reliant young citizens to help replenish your cities. He is your country-man, a denim dressed, business-wise fast growing statesman in stature. And when he comes in at noon, having spent the energy of his hopes and dreams, he can be recharged anew with these magic words: "The market's up!"

The tidal wave that is N.F.O. is still rolling. Certainly there are answers other than N.F.O.; but we doubt if any of them will be exercised. The biggest story of this decade of farm trouble is N.F.O., because NFO will either win or lose. If NFO wins its battle for contracts that can pay a farmer for as much wealth as he produces, then no one will doubt its importance. If NFO fails then the millions in rural America will have to seek their destiny elsewhere, and NFO will still have been the biggest story of the century if only because it furnished the last HURRAH as private enterprise and democracy went down the drain. (Farm Tempo Magazine)

DID YOU KNOW?

That an average of 2500 farmers per week are selling out due to low prices.

That the average age of American farmers today is 57 years old.

That the farmers made only 3% on their investment in 1968 and got nothing for their labor.

That the average farmer works 70 hours per week.

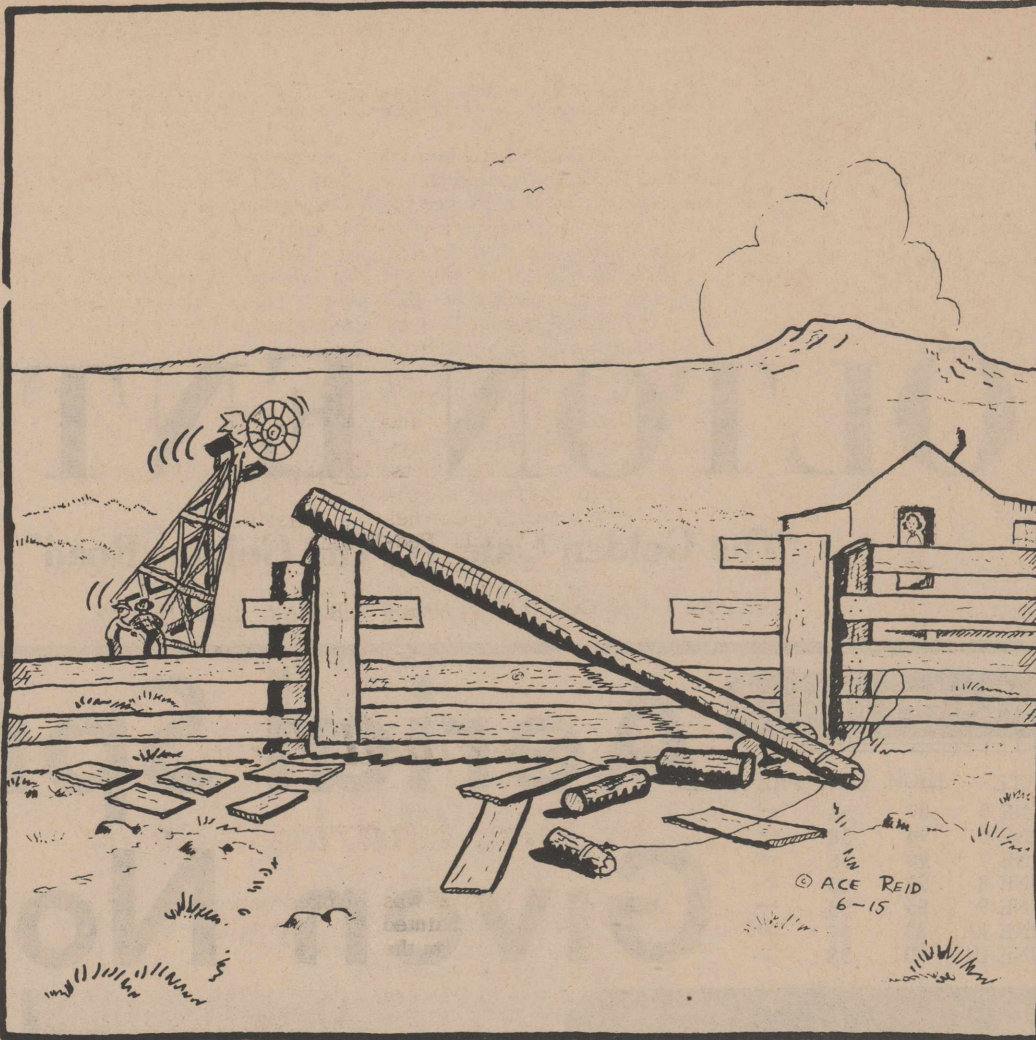

We are witnessing a transition in American agriculture. We will either jointogether in a strong unified group with power to set prices, or we will gradually be phased out of agriculture and corporation will take over. Those in power say 350,000 farmers is all the nation needs. Are you ready to step aside for a program such as this?

It is generally agreed that there are three standard ways of losing money, of which racing is the quickest, women the most agreeable, and farming the most certain.

Some men see a problem and say "why?" I dream of things that never were and say "why not?" --- Robert Kennedy.

DPS Seeking Applicants For July Training School

A call was issued today by the Texas Department of Public Safety for applicants to fill a recruit training school to begin in July.

Applicants must be between the ages of 20 and 35, a height of at least 68 inches, a weight of not less than two pounds or more than three and one-half pounds per inch of height, and be in sound physical condition. They must have completed high school or submit a certificate approved by the Texas Education Agency showing an equivalent educational background. They must be a citizen of the United States, and be of good moral character.

Those selected will take their basic training at the Texas DPS Law Enforcement Academy in Austin. This training period is approximately four months in length. Upon graduation, the patrolmen will be assigned to one of the four uniformed field services -- Highway Patrol, License and Weight, Motor Vehicle Inspection and Drivers License.

Because of the short time remaining to test applicants, immediate inquiry is urged for young men to contact the nearest DPS office or patrolman.

THE "IT" COULD never happen to me" attitude often leads to a sad conclusion, says Liberty Mutual Insurance Companies. If you are going off on a summer trip think "it could happen to me" -- then make the proper precautions to see that a burglar doesn't gain entry while you are away.

MAKES ONE EXTRA preparation when getting ready to leave for your summer retreat, suggests Liberty Mutual Insurance Companies. Be sure to have good secure locks on your doors to prevent a home burglary while you are away. The small price of a good lock must may save some of your most prized possessions.

THE HOME IS a lucrative target for the burglar, according to Liberty Mutual Insurance Companies, which states that stolen property value in each home burglary averages $263, compared to $227 taken in the average commercial theft.

Tax Man

Sam Sez:

KEEPING GOOD RECORDS

Internal Revenue employees will tell you that it is a very common occurrence to have taxpayers say "I can't itemize my deductions--I have to take the standard deduction because I haven't got time to fool with keeping books and records." A well-known trade secret is the fact that most major oil companies spend a great deal of time and money training service station operators to replace those operators who did a fine job of running the station, but didn't follow the company's system on keeping books and records. You had better believe that the highly publicized million dollar a year income folks who don't pay any taxes kept their books and records. You might do well to consider doing a little better job on those books and records yourself. You probably won't get out of paying all of your taxes, but every dollar helps.

YARD BOY TAX

Back in the old days, most Texans lived in a rural area. A lot of us had maids and were probably liable for maid tax under the social security law. However, more than 3/4 of us live in metropolitan areas now. There are still some few that have a maid, but a more common tax problem is the yard boy problem. If the affluent society we end up paying a substantial wage to an enterprising young man from our neighborhood to do our yard work, and to keep the St. Augustine and the shrubs properly manicured. If you pay this young man more than $50 a calendar quarter, you are due to get an employer's number and to withhold and pay social security on the wages he earns for the quarter. Keeping a few records and paying taxes may be an easier job than mowing that grass after all. Think it over.

CARELESSNESS by the homeowner and the growing number of portable valuables in the home are two reasons given by Liberty Mutual Insurance Companies for the rising number of home burglaries reported in this country.

THE LAST THINGS to do before heading off for your summer vacation should be to check your home, advises Liberty Mutual Insurance Companies. Be sure that light switches and water taps are off and be extra sure that all doors and windows are firmly secured.

BURGULARS USUALLY "case" a home before attempting their theft, points out Liberty Mutual Insurance Companies. When you go on vacation this summer, be sure not to leave any tell-tale signs that you are away.

Sue's Views

Father's Day

BY SUE CANNON

It being Father's Day Sunday, I was real pleased when Margaret Burrus came up with a little poem pertaining to fathers. It's real thought provoking and you sure could substitute mother and get the same reaction to it, guess that's why I liked it so well.

"A Little Fellow Follows Me"

A careful man I want to be,
A little fellow follows me;
I do not dare to go astray,
For fear he'll go the self-same way.

I cannot once escape his eyes,
Whatever he sees me do, he tries;
Like me he says he's going to be
The little chap who follows me.

He thinks that I am good and fine,
Believes in every word of mine:
The base in me he must not see,
That little chap who follows me.

I must remember as I go,
Through summer's sun and winter's snow;
I am building for the years to be
That little chap who follows me.

Speaking of fathers -- I guess everyone will try to be with their fathers Sunday and I am no exception. We have more than Father's Day to celebrate this year, since the date happens to fall on my birthday and also last year on the fifteenth, my sister was married. So we can have a three way celebration.

Since my birthday is coming up Sunday, the girls at the office decided to surprise me last night with a little extra special "coffee break". I was sitting at the typewriter getting some stories pecked out and looked up and here they ALL came toward me.

I thought now what in the world -- maybe a strike? or a vote for going home? -- but before I had too long to worry, they began wishing me happy birthday and presented me with a beautiful package, which contained a very lovely piece of white material for a dress and also a headscarf.

Then we enjoyed some refreshments before settling back and working for a few more hours.

It's great to work with such a great bunch of gals. Not just because they remember my birthday am I saying that, but I think we have a real fine staff here and they are doing a real fine job.

Which reminds me ...we got word this week that the paper had been named a winner in the Texas Press Association contests, but we haven't the slightest idea what!

But we really don't care, just tickled that we won again.

Happy Father's Day!

Your Social Security

Residents of this area who are receiving monthly social security checks are reminded by John G. Hutton, social security manager in Lubbock, to report directly to the Lubbock office any change of address or other events affecting continued receipt of their checks. Reports may be made by mail (the back of the check envelope may be used for this), phone, or in person. Appropriate report forms are available at the Lubbock office.

Hutton said this reporting method enables the district office to take advantage of the increased capacity of its high speed communications circuits to transmit information to record centers. Until recently, social security beneficiaries were encouraged to notify the Social Security Administration about the occurrence of these events by mailing pre-addressed postcard forms to a record center.

Events that affect receipt of monthly social security checks, in addition to address changes, are starting or stopping work (employment), marriage, or remarriage in some instances, divorce, and death.

SENSING THE NEWS

By Thurman Sensing

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Southern States Industrial Council

The danger of union violence being carried to the supermarkets and grocery stores of the nation is far greater than most people realize. Legislation now before the Congress may determine whether this violence is to be prevented and whether consumer rights are to be protected in future.

Farm union organizers are working overtime to get a tight grip on agricultural production and veto powers over what farm products are offered for sale at retail outlets. Farm unionists in California grape-growing areas have demonstrated what lies ahead for consumers if unionists have their way. They have sought to organize a national boycott of California grapes.

In New York city, grocery stores selling California grapes have been the target of fire-bomb attacks. In Detroit, efforts to enforce the grape boycott have included acts of violence and harassment of store owners and employees.

Clearly, the public has cause for concern about this situation. Among those who already are deeply concerned -- to the point of doing something about the situation -- is State Senator Lorraine Beebe of Michigan. Senator Beebe, who is chairman of the Consumer's Rights Committee, recently said it is "only a matter of time before supermarkets and stores are faced with demands to remove any number of thousands of items carried on grocery shelves: cherries from Michigan, oranges from Florida, dairy products from Wisconsin, and brand name products of all kinds."

The roughstuff that lies ahead, unless something is done, was revealed in candid remarks by the Rev. Wayne Hartmire, director of the California Migrant Ministry. He urged boycott supporters to "make a scene every time you are served table grapes in restaurants, camps, church dinners, etc." Misguided church groups, such as the controversial National Council of Churches, have become deeply involved in the California grape situation on the side of the union bosses.

In view of the danger of outright union violence and intimidation of grocery store operators, it is imperative that Congress pass protective legislation. Senator George Murphy, (R-Calif.) has introduced a bill to that end.

Senator Murphy's bill would meet the public need by forbidding all picketing at retail food establishments, outlawing violence as a means of implementing a boycott, and banning secondary boycotts. Sound and necessary as are these provisions of Senator Murphy's legislative proposal, even greater strengthening of the bill is needed to fully protect the consumer's right of access to farm products.

Senator Murphy's bill allows a farmer to get a temporary restraining order against strikes if he can convince the court that the strike threatens loss or spoilage of a crop in commercial quantities. It would be much more to the public interest, however, if the Murphy bill were amended to forbid all strikes at harvest time or at other critical periods. Without a clear statement along this line, union bosses may be able to wipe out a farmer's investment in a crop. Farmers could be caught in a maze of legal maneuvering. It is reasonable to suppose that the individual farmer would find himself in court, faced by an array of high-priced union legal specialists. By the time he defended his rights, his crop could be ruined.

The Farm Bureau is on record as favoring the strike ban, and consumers have good cause for joining with the Bureau in requesting legislation with this provision. The overall farm union drive is not in the interest of 200 million U. S. consumers. Aside from the danger of union violence at supermarkets, there is the virtual certainty that unionization of farms will boost prices for American housewives who do the grocery shopping. Everyone's budget will feel the pinch of the farm union drive.

Farmers, faced with the threat of union interference or domination, will turn to increased mechanization in the fields -- more machines and fewer hands.

The Congressional "liberals" who profess to be deeply concerned about hungry Americans would be well advised to take a look at the farm unionization effort. Unionization leads to higher product prices, and this, in turn, will worsen the lot of poor families in the nation.

Housewives in all parts of the country already are concerned about rises in food costs. If they want the line to be held in food prices, they had better become concerned about the farm unionization effort.

Kendall-Antrobus Vows Said Wednesday In Clarendon

Miss Sarah Ann Antrobus of Odessa and Sam A. Kendall Jr. of Plainview pledged wedding vows Wednesday evening in the First United Methodist Church of Clarendon.

The Rev. Carl Nunn, pastor, officiated the double ring ceremony before an altar set with an arched candelabra with white votive candles. Single candelabra with votive candles stood on either side and sprays of white carnations marked the front pews where James Matthew Semrad of Lubbock cut a white ribbon rope to herald entry of the bridal party.

Parents of the couple are B. C. Antrobus of Clarendon and the late Mrs. Antrobus and Mrs. Sam A. Kendall Sr. and the late Mr. Kendall.

Robert Leathers of Clarendon, organist, presented nuptial selections.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride chose a formal length gown of white peau de soie, fashioned with an Empire bodice, gored skirt and long bell shaped sleeves of lace. Her cathedral length train was attached at the waist and her veil of imported silk illusion, held by a double tiara of seed pearls and crystals, extended full length of her train.

She carried a bouquet of white roses and gardenias atop a white New Testament, a gift of her maternal grandmother. She wore a single strand of pearls, gift of the groom.

Mrs. C. E. DeBord of Pantex was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Bill Gray of Amarillo, Mrs. James V. Semrad of Lubbock, Miss Norma Self of Canyon and Miss Freddie Bourland of Whiteface. Little Miss Melissa Semrad of Lubbock was flower girl.

They wore formal length gowns of lime green moire styled with sleeveless Empire bodices. Bows of matching fabric held their blush veils which extended to the waistline in back. Balls of white miniature mums interspersed with lime green net, were carried over their arms by green velvet ribbon.

Leon Kendall of Lubbock, brother of the groom, was best man. Gary Shawn, brother-in-law of the groom, was groomsman. Ushers were Robert Hayes of Amarillo, Newton Hilliard of Plainview, David Gray of Clarendon, and Bob Edwards of Lubbock.

Seated in a place of honor for the ceremony were Mrs. Eleanor Griffin, director of High Plains Children's Training Center in Plainview, Mrs. Ora Nunnally of Hereford and Mrs. Jolly Johnson of Beaumont, the bride's first grade teacher.

A reception was held in the back yard of the bride's father's home. Trees, flowers and shrubs formed the background garden setting. White bows marked the lamp posts and gates leading to the area.

The bride's table was laid with a white lace cloth centered with double brandy snifter candle arrangement. The traditional three-tiered wedding cake was frosted in all-white. Appointments were crystal.

The groom's table was centered with a white wrought iron candelabra holding hurricane lamps. Coffee and chocolate cake were served from silver appointments.

Assisting with the reception were Mrs. Gary Shawn, sister of the groom, Mrs. Leon Kendall of Lubbock, sister-in-law of the groom and Mmes. Earnie Johnston of Amarillo, Dwight Joiner of Dimmitt, Keith Scholtenbarger, Bob Cole and David Bray, all of Clarendon.

For a wedding trip to Aspen, Colo., the bride chose an A-line dress of mint green linen fashioned with long bell shaped sleeves with orange embroidered accents at the sleeve edge and hemline. She added a gardenia corsage from the bridal bouquet and orange accessories.

MRS. LOYD BLACKWELL

Cook Of The Week

This week's recipes are shared by a housewife who cooks instinctively - "by feel and looks". Mrs. Loyd Blackwell, our cook of the week, confesses that most of her cooking is not done with recipes.

She adds that it has been a bit difficult to explain to her daughters and friends how she has prepared a cake or pie or some other dish.

She enjoys cooking and is one of those rare women who does not mind doing dishes. As a result, at gatherings, she is usually the person who gets "dishpan hands."

Addie and Loyd Blackwell have lived at Olton almost 20 years, moving here from Borger. He just recently resigned as Chief of Police to return to work as mechanic for the school buses, a job he held prior to accepting the law enforcement position.

During school months, Addie keeps pre-schoolers whose mothers work. Last year she cared for three children regularly and others on a part-time basis.

In addition to the pre-schoolers, she has four children of her own, two daughters Mrs. Larry Cunningham of Canyon and Lynda, a student at Midwestern University in Wichita Falls and two sons, Bruce Woods, serving with the U. S. Navy in Hawaii, and Carrol Blackwell, a junior at Olton High School.

Everything But

The Kitchen Sink

BY MOZELLE TROTTER

Who is your hero? Who is great, according to you?

The big sports stars of today and yesterday - are they really outstanding? What made them great, do you think?

And are they truly great -- or did they merely excel at their game?

Two big name sports stars made the news this week. Each of them have many admirers.

One of them is doing something to prove himself a hero. The other offers nothing except his ability to excel in football.

I have never had the slightest appreciation for boxing or wrestling - I could never see any reason for man to clobber man with his fists or try to bend some part of his body in the opposite way it should go.

And yet it is a boxer that's won my respect and the star of that glorious game of football has my scorn.

Sugar Ray Robinson, who became the world's middle-weight and welterweight boxing champion, is seeking to organize a nationwide athletic program for youngsters, boys and girls, in an effort to pull them off street corners to play baseball or basketball instead of shooting craps as he did when he was a teen.

"My heart cries when I read of the problems we are having with narcotics and dope pushers in our schools," Robinson said. "It's human nature that a man loves to pass along his wisdom to young people. I think guys like Johnny Unitas, Roy Campanella, Wilt Chamberlain, for instance, would love to do something like this."

That other sports star made much bigger headlines and even had the opportunity to shed his tears before the eyes of millions.

And thus it was that Joe Namath announced to the world how the mean old Commissioner was forcing him to give up his beloved profession.

The powers that be maintain that a pro-footballer must be constantly aware of the image they cast and, if sacrifices must be made to uphold their reputations, then sacrifices must be made.

And so, two big names made the papers. To me, one is a big name on a bigger man. The other - just a big name.

One I think will be remembered for the contributions he made to his fellowman. And one he recalled as the pro-footballer who was paid $10,000 to shave off a beard.

Olton Named 'My Home Town' Contest Winner

(Editor's note: Mrs. Ronnie Parsons, the former Judy Miller, was second place winner for the week in the "My Home Town" contest sponsored by the Amarillo Daily Times. Her letter is a fine tribute and we reprint it with our congratulations for praises said. May we also say "thank you" for the compliment extended our way.)

There are many things that make a small town special to those who call it home. On the great South Plains of Texas, there is a small, quiet community called Olton. You could not call it beautiful in terms of scenery and color but only in terms of love and warmth. For there is really only one thing that makes a group of houses and buildings a town—the people who live there.

A small town is centered around its school and, if that school is a good one, then the town thrives upon it. Olton has that school, and she supports her school to the utmost.

Olton loves her children and everyone knows that the effort put forth is really all that matters. This support doesn't stop with football. It is always present right on through each of the sports and activities.

This same effort is put out by the churches of my town. They truly represent God and all His love. The enthusiasm shown by each individual is only surmounted by the great accomplishments the churches themselves achieve. They work for God and His glory.

Only one more example of the wonderful hospitality of this town is its hospital. It is not the biggest or the finest in the state, but the doctors are good and the nurses are the best. They both represent the medical profession in the greatest degree, because they possess one characteristic many do not. They care. They truly care about the feelings and well-being of those they tend. There are no off-duty hours for those who care. The heart works 24 hours a day.

Our newspaper, the Olton Enterprise, reports the news, both good and bad with understanding and sensitivity. The staff is unique in that it is made up of a fine group of ladies who really work at their jobs and love every minute of it. Yes, a town is just a few boards, some cement and brick without her people. Olton is my hometown and for this I thank God.

Mrs. Ronnie Parsons

'Cheaper By The Dozen' To Be Presented June 28

Rehearsals are progressing for the production of the three-act comedy, "Cheaper by the Dozen." The play, which is sponsored by the Baseball Association and presented by the Olton Little Theatre, will be given Saturday, June 28, in the high school auditorium.

The adult male roles are the only parts in the play which are played by "veterans" of Olton stage productions.

Lynn Campbell, who plays the demanding role of Mr. Gilbreth, gained experience as the father in "Seventeenth Summer." He was again the father in "The Rainmaker." Other credits include the role of The Gentleman in "Three Pills in a Bottle" and the Stage Manager in "The Happy Journey."

The role of Frank, the oldest son, is played by Bobby Strait, Bobby was last seen as the policeman in the Little Theatre production of "Arsenic and Old Lace."

Joe Dale Chitwood plays the part of Larry, the oldest daughter's boyfriend. Joe Dale gained honors in the spring as Jim in a cutting of "The Rainmaker." He was also seen in "Antic Spring."

The cheerleader, Joe Scales, is played by Steve Andrew. He has done duet acting as Douglas in "Douglas."

He was also seen as the Deputy Sheriff in "The Cleanest Town in the West" and as Juniper Jenks in "Demon in the Dark."

Basil Sherman has been seen previously as Mr. Gibbs in "Our Town." He is currently playing the part of Doctor Burton.

The other male roles are played by Olton Junior High School students. Allan Allford plays Bill, the little brother who is forced to chaperone his older sister on dates. Fred, the brother who has trouble with "that dumb dog," is played by Mark Hodges.

Dale Parsons plays Jackie, the Gilbreth son with a knack for having mathematical sums close at hand. Chris McClure is cast as Dan, the son who has brilliant ideas only to have them vetoed by Dad.

All female roles are played by newcomers to Olton Little Theatre.

The mother of the 12 Gilbreth children is played by Carol Strait, a local teacher and graduate English student at West Texas State.

Anne, the oldest daughter, is Sunya Sorley. Anne provides one of the main conflicts of the play since she has decided to challenge her father's seemingly unbearable "old-fashioned," strict ideas.

Glenda Holladay is cast as Ernestine, the second oldest daughter. The character of "Ernie" requires Glenda to play a dual role. In several scenes she portrays the character as a mature woman, while in other scenes she is the teenaged daughter.

The role of Martha, the thirteen-year-old who is constantly longing to do the things her older sisters do, is played by Susan Cannon.

Lillian, the youngest girl in the family, is played by Jenny Lynn Gunter. Lillian is somewhat awed by her older sister's endeavors, but she remains subdued by her respect for her father.

Sue Cannon is cast as Mrs. Fitzgerald, the housekeeper for the 14 Gilbreths. She feels that she is overworked to the point that she cannot get a moment's rest.

The resentful, overbearing schoolteacher is played by Doris Witten. This character, Miss Brill, comes to the Gilbreth home to give examinations to the children and leaves believing that all of them have cheated.

Tickets for the production may be obtained from members and players of the Baseball Association. Adult tickets are $1.00, and children's are $.50.

Sorghum Growers Warned Against Greenbug Attack

Sorghum growers should be on the alert again this year for the pesky and destructive greenbug. This tiny pest which sucks the juices from the sorghum plant and did such widespread damage in the Sorghum Belt last summer is back at it in many areas.

If there are greenbugs in your fields be prepared to spray -- but do so only after you have positively identified them. Unless you're certain you have the greenbug you might be destroying beneficial insects by spraying. There are several other insects -- primarily the corn leaf aphid -- which resemble the greenbug.

Some key identifying characteristics of the greenbug are: a length of about 1/16 inches, a general light green color with a dark green stripe down the back, green legs with black tips, and black cornicle tips (the cornicles are two small tubes at the rear of the body). There are both winged and wingless greenbugs.

The greenbug feeds under leaves and near the ground. In contrast, the corn leaf aphid which is similar in appearance to the greenbug, but lacks the dark green stripe down its back, usually feeds in the whorl on new growth.

If you do identify a greenbug infestation, how do you decide whether its severe enough to spray?

Texas A & M, Oklahoma State, Kansas State and the University of Nebraska all offer these general tips:

1. If plants are up to six inches high, spray when there is visible damage with colonies of greenbugs on lower leaf surfaces.
2. Beyond six inches and up to pre-boot, spray before any entire leaves are killed.
3. From pre-boot on, spray when greenbug numbers are sufficient to cause death of more than the two lower, normal-sized leaves.

For spray materials, Wayne Fowler, agronomic education director for DeKalb AgResearch, Inc. reports that the most frequently recommended chemicals are Diazinon, Malathion, Ethyl Parathion, Phosdrin and Systox.

Fowler says the Diazinon and Malathion can be applied as a ground spray but he advises that the other three are highly toxic and should be sprayed from the air. He warns against using the methyl form of Parathion because of potential damage to the plants.

After a first spraying farmers should keep a close watch on their plants and be alert to reinfestation says Fowler. It may be necessary to spray again. If another application is required, be certain the interval can be used a second time in a season. Some materials are labeled for one spraying only.

Be certain to check with your local extension personnel or your seed dealer on any questions regarding greenbug infestation and spraying.

Such natural enemies of the greenbug as lady beetles, lacewings and certain wasp species, normally keep greenbug populations under control. But with cool, wet weather conditions, greenbugs are able to reproduce faster than these natural enemies can eliminate them. When these weather conditions prevail sorghum growers must be especially watchful.

Fighting City Hall

To the elderly Baldwins came distressing news: after 27 years, the city was going to change their house number. The explanation, that it was because of a street widening, did not mollify them at all. Finally they took the matter to court.

"It's not just a question of sentiment," they contended. "Such a change would also be a serious inconvenience, an invasion of our property rights. If they must take away our number, let them at least pay us compensation--just as if they were taking away part of our frontage."

But the court decided it could do nothing for the Baldwins. Even if the change was irksome, said the court, it was still within the proper scope of a city's discretion.

Fighting city hall through court action is not easy. Generally speaking, because of the doctrine of separation of powers, courts do not have a right to "second guess" city officials in the way they run the community.

Accordingly the city, if acting within its lawfully granted authority, may deprive you of advantages even more valuable than your house number. For example: In another case, a home owner insisted that he had a right to park on the street in front of his own driveway. He said this was none of the city's business, since, by blocking the driveway, he would be blocking only himself.

But again, a court said the city had a right to forbid all such parking without making exceptions--in order to give equal treatment to all members of the motoring public.

Still, you are entitled to a court's help against the city if the city takes what the law calls "arbitrary" action. Consider this case:

A city ordinance banned all back yard fences more than three-and-one-half feet high. This time a disgruntled home owner, determined to have a higher fence, won a court fight to knock out the ordinance.

Unable to find any rhyme or reason in such a drastic limitation, the court ruled that the city's ban was simply too arbitrary to pass the test of constitutionality.

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

Water sports are attracting more and more Texans to lakes, streams, seashore and man-made pools, and the deaths from drownings are increasing proportionately.

The state's waters provide some of the most pleasurable recreation available for individuals and families, but any outdoor recreation should be undertaken only with planning and caution, advises the Texas State Department of Health.

Last year in Texas 489 persons drowned. Ninety-six of the victims were 10 years old or younger, and 52 of them drowned in their home area in such things as swimming pools, farm ponds and while wading. The 11 to 20 year-old bracket had 54 deaths, the 21 to 30 age group 70 deaths and people over 50 years old had 48 drownings.

Nationwide, 60 per cent of those who drowned did so because they fell into the water accidentally. Had all been able to swim, the toll would have been much lower.

Everyone who goes on or around water should know how to swim or wear Coast Guard approved lifejackets. Even with safety devices worn, however, some persons drown in stormy or cold weather.

Almost anyone has access to swimming instruction, either through the Red Cross or from private teachers in their hometowns. Last year the State Health Department conducted 24 swimming pool management schools. More than 1,000 pool operators attended.

Always swim with a companion -- never alone. On a long distance swim, arrange for someone in a boat to accompany you.

Swim in a safe place. The presence of lifeguards usually indicates the area is safe for swimming. Stay away from the area immediately in front of the diving board and do not swim near piers or pilings.

Before diving, make sure the water is deep enough and there are no hidden objects such as submerged rocks. In pools look for depth markings before entering.

If you have not been swimming since last summer, take it easy at first. Know your limitations, and stay within them.

Wait at least an hour after eating before swimming, and don't swim when overtired or overheated.

Make certain that reaching poles, buoys, and similar rescue equipment are readily available at your swimming area.

Don't depend on an inflated innertube or toy to hold you up. They may slip away from you.

Whenever a storm approaches, get out of the water -- it is a conductor of lightning.

Shake Up A Frosty Party

Make a party for the sandbox set in just a shake... with a frosted shake. Serve "as is" or fancy up in various shapes.

For the beverages, put out icy-cold cans of the frothy, vitamin-rich shakes. The quintet of flavors -- vanilla, strawberry, chocolate, chocolate fudge and coffee -- comes in pull-tab cans. Just pop and pour.

If the mother of the house has just a bit more time, she might adventure with these two simple suggestions from the Borden Kitchen for freezing and shaping the shakes. One's an idea for a snowman or other favorite cookie shapes; the second is a tri-color pop from a cup. Here's the how-to-do:

SHAKY THE FROSTY SNOWMAN: Pour three cans of frosted shake (any flavor) into a jelly roll pan lined with waxed paper. Freeze until very firm; then turn onto a chilled cookie sheet. With a cookie cutter quickly cut out shapes; then decorate with chocolate chips or shot, coconut or raisins to make gingerbread men or snowmen. Return to freezer. To serve, transfer from cookie sheet to plate with a pancake turner.

TRICOLOR POP (makes six): You'll need three different flavored cans of frosted shake -- chocolate, vanilla and strawberry are the most colorful -- six wooden skewers and six 5-ounce paper cups.

Fill one-third of each cup with a layer of chocolate. Freeze just firm enough to hold a skewer. Insert skewers into this first layer, pour in vanilla shake to fill another third of the cup. Freeze until firm and pour in a layer of strawberry. Freeze until very firm. To serve, simply peel off the paper cup.

FLOYDADA VISITORS

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Curry had in their home Sunday afternoon Curry's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith of Floydada.

IF YOU TAKE a summer trip, be sure to have a friend or neighbor keep an eye on your home, suggests Liberty Mutual Insurance Companies. Burglars are bold when the home is left unattended states a loss prevention specialist with the firm who cites the case of two men loading furniture and household goods onto a moving van and driving away in broad daylight while neighbors barely took notice.

Research Foundation Given Approval For Water Study

Final approval of a project which will aid the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation in determining the feasibility of importing water to the High Plains was given this week to the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway.

The project will determine the yield and production response of sugar beets and corn to various combinations of fertilizer and irrigation. The study at the Foundation is a part of the five and a half year research study assigned to Iowa State University by the Bureau in 1967.

The Foundation is one of several institutions cooperating with the University throughout western United States in compiling detailed information for the Bureau's study.

Purpose of the study is to develop better correlation between physical soil characteristics and crop yields under given conditions of irrigation in a wide range of geographic locations.

According to the arrangement approved this week, the Foundation will conduct 20 varying irrigation and fertilizer test plots each on sugarbeet and corn.

Attending the meeting at the Foundation Tuesday to approve the study were Alan Kleinman, economist, Iowa State University, and Bureau representatives, H. A. Schweers, Austin; George Loomis, Amarillo; Robert Vadar, Denver and Robert Struthers, Denver.

The total University study is expected to develop better correlation between physical soil characteristics and crop yields under given conditions of irrigation for improved methods of evaluating the productive capacity of irrigated farmlands in the western United States.

Commissioner of Reclamation Floyd E. Dominy said, "We are confident that this study will yield new concepts and methods that will improve Reclamation's procedures in land classification and economic analysis of irrigation projects." Director of the Foundation, Dr. Tom Longnecker, stated, "We are pleased that the Bureau and Iowa State have decided to place this research project here at the Foundation since it permits us to expand our irrigation fertilizer research to include sugarbeets and corn as well as cotton, grain sorghum, wheat and soybeans. More efficient use of water is the objective of these studies."

This is the purpose of the study. Past annual reports in cotton, grain sorghum and cotton also will be considered in completing the University study.

This shows the depth of the Reclamation economic and feasibility study into providing supplemental irrigation water to the High Plains. The University study is to be completed in February of 1973.

NEWSPAPERS or milk bottles that pile up on your porch or front steps serve almost as an engraved invitation to the home burglar. Liberty Mutual Insurance Companies advises that you cancel all deliveries while away on summer vacation.

"INCONVENIENCE" is the key to preventing home burglaries, says Liberty Mutual Insurance Companies. "It simply must be inconvenient and even difficult for the burglar to enter and leave the home undetected."

June Is Dairy Month

June has been designed as National Dairy Month. To help promote the use of milk in the diet, a Coffee Can Bread recipe is submitted by Lady Clare Phillips, County Home Demonstration Agent.

One may eat part of the milk as well as drink it. The minimum requirement is two cups a day for an adult.

To make the best use of time, a yeast bread can be made in less time than the ordinary bread by not having to knead the dough.

This bread is not as light as the ordinary yeast bread for it requires only one rising, but it is a tasty bread and easy to make.

COFFEE CAN BREAD

Put 1 package dry yeast, 1 tablespoon sugar and 1/4 cup warm water in a bowl. Cover and let stand until bubbles (takes about 15 minutes). Add yeast mixture to one tall can evaporated milk, 2 tablespoons cooking oil and 3 tablespoons sugar, teaspoon salt and 4 1/2 cups flour. Mix well. Divide in two parts and drop in two well greased coffee cans, (1-lb. cans) Punch down with spoon to remove all air. Place plastic lid on cans, (the ones that come with coffee cans). Press tight all around. Let stand at room temperature until lid pops off (takes about an hour). Remove lid and bread is ready to bake. Bake in moderate oven (350 to 375 degrees) about 45 minutes until crust is brown on top.

RETURN HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Welch returned last week from Blair, Okla. where they had visited Mrs. Welch's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Shirley.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Banister had in their home Sunday Mrs. Banister's sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Harmon, their daughter and granddaughter, Mrs. Joyce Pinkerton and Tracy of Halfway and their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Harman of Plainview. Other guests were Mrs. Banister's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dwain Walker, Wanelle, Lester and Michael.

LEWIS LLEWELLYN

Evil-Doers Hate The Light

The public image of the Supreme Court has been gravely damaged by recent revelations. The court itself has been damaged by the acts committed by its members.

And the country has been damaged by the official acts of men who have now been proved to have been unworthy of the trust that was placed in them.

Most of us, while disagreeing strongly with some of the decisions of the high court, still believed until recently in the personal integrity of the justices.

But now... with Fortas forced off the bench by the revelation of his financial dealings with a convicted lawbreaker, and with Douglas under fire for his acceptance of payment from the hands of a man convicted by the Supreme Court of violating the law against obscenity... the court's hands do not seem so clean.

Inevitably, the question is raised--if two members of the nine-man court have been guilty, what about the others? Warren is leaving the court. We hope that the other six are men of integrity, but...

Wrong Resignation
When Justice Douglas resigned from his position with the Parvin Foundation, a resignation was in order--but he resigned from the wrong position.

Surely it must be obvious that no one can have confidence again in the Supreme Court while he sits on the bench. The implication of such flagrant violations as those which have now been uncovered is that, through repeated transgressions over a long period of time, these men have grown careless about such misdeeds.

Is it true that they have strayed so long from the paths of righteousness that they are no longer aware that these practices are not acceptable?

Maybe this is not the case, but the Bible tells us about people who "loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil."

The Scripture continues, "For every one that doeth evil hateth the light, neither cometh to the light, lest his deeds should be reproved."

Is this the real reason why these men have been so biased against the Bible?

Do they really hate the word of God?

Is this why they have ruled against having it read in our public schools?

Serious Question
Another very serious question also arises.

Has the deterioration in our society progressed to the point that we must expect the members of our highest court to violate the ethical standards to which they should firmly adhere?

The excuses which some nationally known commentators have proposed for both Fortas and Douglas seem to indicate this.

Some have suggested that the Supreme Court is merely mirroring the changing standards of our society.

If this is true, then it is high time for all of us to return to the only safe standard of conduct--the Bible.

Olton Youth Speak Out

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Buddy Brock, History teacher at Olton High School, recently asked his students to write two paragraphs - one beginning with the words "I support" and one beginning "I protest".)

The following is the third in a series of comments written by the students.)

I protest long hair. I feel that long hair shows how you feel toward life. One that has long hair most of the time is only trying to attract attention of other people. It doesn't help get along with the world anyhow. If anything it causes trouble. People look down on you if one has it. They think that a person doesn't care very much about anything if they have long hair.

I support my principal. I think that my principal should know what is best for our school. After all he is a little older than us. He should have more experience at the things that come up. I think it is no problem to get along with him if you treat him nice. If you do right he will do you right. What ever he says goes and I will be behind him all the way.

I protest student unrest. There is a better way to settle differences. In colleges across the nation young leftists are closing down the schools to everyone - even to the young people who want to learn. If I ever took part in a demonstration, it would be a demonstration for decency. The adults of the nation are beginning to think that all youth are like this. For this reason I must take my stand against student unrest.

I support demonstrations for the good of mankind. Some youths have organized marches of mercy, which collect money to give relief to Biafra and other trouble spots. These demonstrations deprive no one of any rights and give help where help is so desperately needed.

I protest the Viet Nam war. Not in the sense that I don't think we should fight the communist but the manner in which we are doing it. I think it is foolish to let so many lives be taken. We should send all our troops and end the war. Yes, this may take more lives that day or week but think how many more will be taken over a period of many years.

I support the idea of capital punishment. In the Bible it says, "He that sheddeth the blood of another man, so shall his be shed by man." Because of this I feel it is very right. If a man kills someone else, why should he have the right to go on living?

I protest the fact that the communist are gradually taking over the world through propaganda and many other things. I protest that they have started the youth of America to think about overthrowing, revolting and rioting.

I protest that the government can't do anything to stop the illegal sale of drugs and narcotics.

I protest that the government is not doing one thing to stop the youth from overthrowing the colleges and schools of our great country.

I protest that the youth of America are destroying her instead of helping her build or expand for the better. I protest that more and more people have less and less to do because of automation and because they are not using the spare time to help the needy, hungry, and lost people of our country.

I support the youth of America and all of the youth of other countries that strive to help the needy, sick and hungry people of the world. I think the greatest satisfaction is to know that you are doing something that will help others to help themselves. I support the youth that protested the way their school or college was and tried to make it better.

I protest working and married boys with a family being drafted. I think the boys that protest and cause trouble should be drafted, the hippies just go to college to keep from being drafted, and these poor boys have to work at stations etc. to make a living for their hungry family are drafted faster than they can turn around. I just think they should do something about the marching, protesting etc.

I support the police that arrested the hippies and protestors that cause trouble.

I protest not being able to vote at the age of 18. At the age of 18 a person is eligible for the draft. Boys are given rifles and shipped to Viet Nam, because they say that they're old enough to fight for their country and for what's right. But when it comes to voting, boy oh boy, you never saw so many immature 18 year olds in all your life. They can't vote because an 18 year old isn't quite old enough to know who is best to run the government of his country.

I support all the college and high school students who are trying to do something about the thing that says that an eighteen year old is not old enough to vote but he is old enough to get killed for his country.

I protest the war in Vietnam or should I say as it is called the Vietnam conflict. I believe that if we are going to send a few of our boys to get killed for our country, then we should all be in the war. I believe that if the government or Washington would learn to keep their mouths shut we would be a lot better off. If we had fought World War II the way we are fighting the war in Vietnam today we would still be fighting, if we had not lost the war. I say that we should let the officers fight the war the way they want to, and get the war over as fast as we can.

I support the idea of putting a prison term or large, very large, fine on the protestors at the colleges. If we could stop maybe just one of the protest marches that one might save a lot of trouble and a lot of the taxpayers' money. We can not go on letting the students and teachers have their way, and robbing the kids that want an education and the change. Something is going to have to be done, and I believe that the prison term and very large fine is the answer.
