One Week Of Quiet Noted Through Cairo

CAIRO, Feb. 2. (AP)—This Middle East capital completed a week of quiet today after three months of tension.

Not since the Egyptian army took over to quell the great fire riots of last Saturday has there been a major incident of violence anywhere in the city. The Suez Canal Zone likewise has been devoid of any major guerrilla clashes with the British garrison since the Wafdist government of Mustapha Nahas Pasha resigned.

The quiet reinforced reports, such as that published by the widely circulated weekly, Akbar Alyom, that the new all-independent government of Aly Maher Pasha had ordered the cessation of all activity by the so-called liberation battalions in the Canal Zone.

Maher Pasha, who took over Sunday night when King Farouk asked for Nahas Pasha's resignation because of failure to maintain order, was reported doing all possible to restore order and quiet for settling issues with the British, sovereignty over the Sudan and some form of collective security to replace Britain's lone-handed role in defense of the canal.

Britain and her Western partners have not come forward with any offer in response to Maher Pasha's promise to consider her proposals. The British previously had made it clear they were waiting for a demonstration of the new premier's ability to enforce order. The Nahas Pasha government last October rejected the proposal of Britain, the United States, France and Turkey to organize a Middle East Command with Egypt as an equal partner.

Egyptian army units, moved into Cairo a week ago, remained in firm control. During the first 24 hours after the troops moved in there was sporadic rifle fire to scare away looters. At night there still is an occasional rifle shot fired warningly. A night curfew is still in force and the sharp cry of "halt" is heard frequently from sentinels. Automobiles bearing curfew passes are frequently challenged on the streets. It is not unusual to be stopped a dozen times on a two-mile trip.

In the daytime armored cars and cavalry patrol the streets. Army detachments keep their stations at important intersections, but do not interfere with the movement of people on the streets.

No Settlement Yet In South's Truck Strike

By The Associated Press

A management representative said Saturday the strike of AFL truck drivers has left 10,000 southern communities without freight service, but a union spokesman declared there is no public inconvenience.

Highway freight movements in 11 Southern and Southwestern and one Midwestern state are tied up by the walkout of about 16,000 members of the AFL Teamsters Union.

A. E. Green, Sr., of Kingsport, Tenn., chairman of the negotiating committee for southeastern carriers, said in Memphis that "More than 10,000 small communities in the south that do not have rail service, will get no shipments until the strike ends."

However, M. W. Miller, Southern chairman for the Teamsters Union, denied there is any public inconvenience. "I don't think there will be a shortage of anything," he said.

In Birmingham, the Interstate Commerce Commission office gave truck lines not affected by the strike emergency authority to serve areas outside their licensed routes. In Washington, the ICC said regional offices have authority to meet emergencies by permitting off-line hauls.

Federal Mediation Chief Cyrus S. Ching has asked union and management officials to meet with a federal mediation panel in Memphis Sunday to attempt settlement of the walkout in Texas, Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Florida, Kentucky, Louisian, Mississippi, North and South Carolina, and Tennessee.

Federal mediators also are seeking to settle strikes by AFL Teamestrs Union members against the Ohio Over-the-Road Employers Association and by 4,000 AFL dock workers in Chicago.

Drivers in 11 other central states won a new contract, but near Evansville, Ind., Saturday, AFL teamsters stopped at least 15 trucks and told drivers their companies had not signed the new contract. The drivers parked the trucks.

The union is seeking an increase of 19 cents an hour and the operators are offering 12 cents. The present scale is $1.41 an hour in the Southeast and $1.46 in the Southwest.

There have been some defections among operators. Miller said at least 34 lines operating in the south have settled.

WEST AGREED

Britain, France To Join In Warning Reds On Violations

PARIS, Feb. 2. (AP) — France and Britain have agreed they will join the United States in warning Red China against violating any Korean armistice and — if such a violation develops — will join in asking the United Nations for punitive action, a highly placed informant said tonight.

There was no indication of the extent of the punitive action the three powers might ask — a full scale attack, an air-sea war or more limited measures. Responsible authorities in Washington said three weeks ago America's allies in Korea had substantially agreed to a United States proposal to back up any truce pact with a warning of military action directly against Communist China if the pact was broken.

The Paris informant said Britain and France also agreed to put the brakes on what they consider a "soft" American approach to West Germany as a means of bringing German divisions into the Western camp.

The parallel views were reported established by two days of talks in Paris between British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman.

Eden said tonight that he, Schuman and U. S. Secretary of State Acheson will confer in London Feb. 13-14. That meeting is expected to be mainly concerned with German problems.

The reported British - French agreement on a Korean stand came days after Prime Minister Churchill told a divided British House of Commons he had made no "definite or formal commitments" to President Truman on what action Britain would take against Communist China if a Korean truce was ruptured.

No Truce Talks Will Go On In UN Chambers

PARIS, Feb. 2. (AP)—Despite violent Russian opposition, a U. N. committee voted tonight to postpone all consideration of the Korean issue until an armistice is reached or a breakdown at Panmunjom forces the U. N. to discuss stronger action.

The General Assembly's Political, Econômic and Social Committees, acting jointly, voted 51 to 5 (Soviet Bloc) for a resolution to this effect put up by the United States, Britain and France.

The resolution provides for calling a special or emergency session of the Assembly whenever Korean developments warrant, one way or the other. The full Assembly is expected to approve early next week.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob Malik cast aside a plea from British Minister Selwyn Lloyd to end the debate on a "note of unity." Malik said:

"The full responsibility for future events in Korea and the Far East will rest completely on the government of the United States. The United States intends to prolong the Korean aggression and expand aggression in the Far East. The Third World War has in fact commenced — in Korea, Indochina, Tunis and Morocco . . No hypocritical statements will avail you anything. This is the conclusion to be drawn from the sixth session of the General Assembly."

Senator Says Should Probe Attorney Gen.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP)—Senator Nixon (R-Calif) assailed today the selection of Newbold Morris to head the search for wrongdoers in the government as "a complete phony by the White House."

Morris, New York attorney and a Republican — although an independent one politically, was named by Attorney General McGrath Friday to head up the administration's long-heralded government housecleaning drive.

"Morris took over with a statement praising Attorney General McGrath, issued before he had even started his investigation," Nixon said, "and thereby prejudiced himself in any investigation of McGrath.

"Yet he says he is going to start out investigating the Justice Department."

At Louisville, Senator Taft of Ohio, said he had no confidence in an investigation of corruption "under the aegis of the Department of Justice."

Nixon and Rep. Hillings (R-Calif) demanded also that a special House investigating committee look into a California judge's order for a grand jury probe of the San Francisco Call-Bulletin.

Nixon said the action will be widely regarded as "retaliation for the newspaper's embarrassing disclosures about the administration." Hillings termed it "peculiar."

Both called a House Judiciary Subcommittee, now being set up to inquire into McGrath and the Justice Department, to investigate the action of Judge Oliver J. Carter.

The prospect of one more investigation piled on top of another developed this way:

The Call-Bulletin has been printing articles dealing with income tax scandals in Northern California. It published Friday an article quoting Hillings as linking Federal Judge George B. Harris to a land development plan said to have been promoted by a deputy Collector of Internal Revenue.

Judge Carter handed a copy of the paper headlined "U. S. Judge Harris Named in Land Deal" to a grand jury foreman and ordered an investigation to determine whether the Call - Bulletin obstructed justice.

He referred the grand jury to a section of the law defining an obstruction of justice, but did not say how the newspaper might have violated it.

Drouth Is Driving Farmers Into Town

Still no rain was in sight this week as many farmers continued to deep - break their sandy soil to prevent its being carried away by the strong West Texas wind.

Agriculturists are hoping for slow rain between now and spring planting time to give the soil some sub - surface moisture and provide adequate planting conditions.

Most farmers, one soil conservation worker said, believe this will be another dry year, causing them to depend on other means of income to provide for their families. He added that many farmers are now working in Snyder and in the surrounding oil fields in various jobs, such as farm-to-market road work, brick laying, carpentry, roughnecking, pipe fitting, and plumbing. The county has been fortunate so far, he said, in having the need for many unskilled laborers.

None of the farmers will plant their cotton and grain sorghums until they get adequate rain, agriculturists say, adding that many cannot even prepare their land until some moisture falls.

The only precipitation that could be measured in Snyder was .12 inch in freezing rain on Jan. 1-2.

Farm workers say a good rain would be a great help to farmers now in preparing their land, then they would need more in the latter part of April or in May for planting. Then more rain would be needed in the summer months while cotton and grains are maturing.

Some say that a good rain before planting time, falling slow and soaking into the ground, would be a great help to grain sorghums, which mature faster than cotton and could grow with less moisture.

Man Dies After Being Shot In Gainesville

GAINVESVILLE, Feb. 2. (AP)—J. B. Posey, 25, died in Nocona today after he was pulled out of the wreckage of his auto, which smashed into a bridge railing near Nocona.

A Muenster filling station operator, Jimmie Lehnertz, and his companion, Joe Flusche, chased Posey after they flushed a prowler from Lehnertz' station.

Both men said they fired shots at the prowler and Flusche said he smashed the windshield of the man's car with a rifle butt.

Dr. R. A. Major of Nocona said Posey died of gunshot wounds.

Allied Troops Are Strafed

SEOUL, Korea, Sunday, Feb. 3 (AP)—Six unidentified planes bombed and strafed Allied troops on the central Korean front Saturday.

A U. S. Fifth Air Force spokesman said Saturday he didn't have "anything to say one way or another" whether the planes were communist. If they were, it was the largest number of Red aircraft to attack Allied ground troops thus far in the Korean war.

The battlefront otherwise was quiet Saturday, except for brief patrol contacts. In northwest Korea, F-86 Sabre jet pilots reported three Communist MIGS hit in a 30-minute air battle.

AP Photographer George Sweers reported three Korean supply bearers were wounded by bomb fragments during the attack by the six planes south of Kumsong.

The planes were described as three single-engine propeller driven aircraft and three twin-engine types — all blue or silver-colored. Infantrymen reported they had white markings on the wings.

The Fifth Air Force spokesman said no sorties were flown during daylight Saturday by B-26s — the only twin-engine allied combat plane in operation in Korea. However, most Allied planes are silver-colored. F-51 Mustangs and F-4U Corsairs are the Allied single-engine fighters in the war zone.

New Directory Being Issued

Approximately 4,000 telephone directories with listings for Snyder's new dial system have been placed in the post office for mail delivery here, Truman Black, office manager, said yesterday.

Most of the 152-page directories will reach their subscribers by tomorrow afternoon, Black said, and the few going to persons whose addresses have been changed should reach them by Wednesday.

The directory contains about 3,250 alphabetical listings in the white pages, and there are 127 yellow pages listing subscribers by business or profession. All listings are for the dial system only, and the directory carries none of the old numbers which will remain in use until Feb. 17.

Subscribers are asked to continue using the old directories until the change - over which will occur about midnight Feb. 16, then destroy the old directory to avoid calling wrong numbers.

EIGHT CHILDREN IN 4 1-2 YEARS

MASON, Mich., Feb. 1. (AP)—Mrs. Gerald Hastings left the Mason hospital with a brand new set of twins this week—and a record of eight children born within four and one half years.

She had triplets in 1947, twins in 1949, a single child in 1950, and twins again this week.

Incorporation Of Hermleigh Approved85-74

Hermleigh is still an incorporated town today after voters there defeated a proposal to dissolve the corporation by 85 to 74, Mrs. W. C. Fargason, reporter there for the Daily News, announced.

A total of 159 votes were cast in the election which followed more than a week of heated discussions and political solicitation.

The town was incorporated early in 1950 when voters polled a large margin for the new form of government.

The election was ordered because of a petition presented the county judge bearing 110 names purported to be signatures.

Deep Creek: Scurry Landmark Called Dangerous Flood Route

Any unsuspecting person who may not be familiar with Snyder's Deep Creep would not think of it as a boon to Scurry farmers in its drainage area, nor would he call it a dangerous flood route.

But Deep Creek, the only noticeable landmark left in the county, has been both since the first settlers came to this area more than 80 years ago.

Beginning its drain almost in the extreme northwest corner of the county five and one - half miles north of Fluvanna, Deep Creek drains all the Fluvanna flat territory. Making its way down to Snyder, it picks up several small branches on the way, and it is joined by a large ravine coming into the city from the west. Flowing on through Snyder down to within one - half mile from Dunn, it takes on another addition from the Hermleigh area before it joins the Colorado River in Mitchell county just half mile below the Scurry line.

40 MILES

Running from northwest to southeast Deep Creek is about 40 miles long as the crow flies, but the full distance down the creek bed is about 60 miles.

Its drainage width averages about nine miles, giving it a drainage area of more than 230,000 acres—close to half the acreage of the county.

Although Deep Creek is not a running stream all the time, it holds back a considerable amount of water most of an average year, and it brings down all water from rains in the northwest section of Scurry. Along the banks of the creek are found many types of large trees, including pecan, oak, and cottonwood.

Stories of severe rises of Deep Creek are many, but none tell of any ravage worse than that of June 19, 1939, when heavy rains in the northeast section of the county brought down flood waters to cause close to half a million dollars of damage to Scurry crops and Snyder homes.

TOOK ONE LIFE

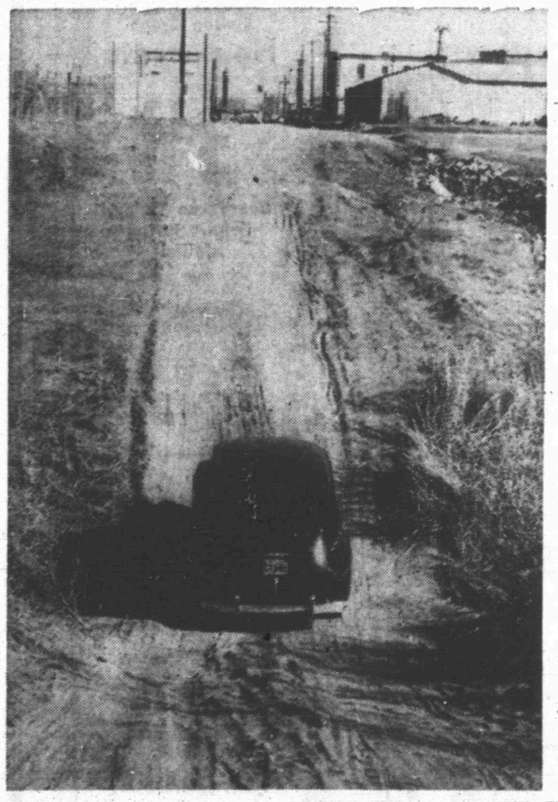
Deep Creek began its rise in the late evening to carry away several small buildings, wash out bridges, and take the life of one person.

The single casualty of the ravaging waters was O. L. Morrow, 57, who was on his way home in the southeast part of Snyder when the water swept him from a bridge on Twenty - eighth Street near the school gymnasium.

Deep Creek's rage brought with it many homeless people. It threatened spread of disease and the ruin of many Scurry crops. It washed out the large bridge on Twenty - seventh Street near the present location of the National Guard Armory and an R. S. & P. Railway bridge near the Country Club on the route from Snyder to Fluvanna.

Livestock washed down toward the Colorado River with the water, close to 250 marooned people were rescued by members of the fire department, and the river in Colorado City rose to an all - time high of 35 feet.

And a major portion of the water came from little Deep Creek, a small usually dry ditch running through Snyder which many persons refer to as hardly more than a gutter.



This car is sitting in the bottom of Deep Creek, the longest, widest and driest gully in Scurry County. The creek has not always been dry. It has been known to wash out bridges, railway tracks, and homes, and it has accounted for the death of at least one person.

Patterson Will Run For District Judge

Robert R. Patterson, Snyder attorney, announced his candidacy for judge of the newly - created 132nd judicial district court.

Patterson is the first person to announce for the post now held by Ben Thorpe. Thorpe was appointed judge of the court by Governor Shivers in March, 1951.

Robert R. Patterson

During the past year Patterson has served as special judge of the county court under a statutory procedure, which provides for election of a judge, by attorneys of court to serve in the absence or inability of the county judge.

Now 40 years old, Patterson began his practice of law here in 1939. He was inducted into the Army early in 1941 and later transferred to the Navy, serving on a destroyer in both Atlantic and Pacific oceans until the end of World War II.

Patterson was born in Rotan, the son of a pioneer West Texas family which settled there in 1907. He attended public school at Rotan and later went to Schreiner Institute and the University of Texas. He received his LLB degree from Cumberland University in Lebanon, Tenn. He is married and has no children.

The 132nd judicial district was created by the last legislature as a temporary court for Scurry and Borden Counties. In March, 1955, the court may either be discontinued, reverting to the old Thirty-second Judicial District, or may be made permanent by act of the state legislature.

Bullock Out Of Senate Race; Williams Gives Nod For Post

The race for state senator in this district took definite form yesterday when the incumbent announced he would not seek re-election, and a Snyder lawyer said he would enter the race.

Sterling Williams, state representative from Snyder, indicated yesterday, following an announcement in the Abilene Reporter News that he plans to enter the race for state senator from the twenty-fourth district, that he would make definite plans concerning that race within the next few says.

A resident of Borden, Garza, and Scurry Counties most of his life, Williams began his public service career here in 1936 when he was elected county attorney. Later, he served as county judge before entering the state legislature in 1944. He represents Scurry, Borden, Garza, Kent, Dickens, and Stonewall Counties.

Living west of Snyder, he is active as an attorney and stock farmer.

Pat Bullock, state senator from Colorado City, released the following statement to the Daily News.

"After having twice been elected to the House of Representatives from the 118th Representative district you were kind enough in 1942 to elect me to the Texas Senate and you have seen fit to elect me twice since that time. For this I am deeply grateful. I am also grateful for the opportunity to serve my state during six sessions of the Legislature where I have at all times honestly tried to represent you, the people of my district as well as all the people of my beloved state.

"I have served as your senator at a sacrifice from a financial standpoint because I earnestly desired to be of service. The pay of a Texas Senator is, as you know, only $10.00 per day for 120 days each two years and $5.00 per day for each day the legislature stays in session over 120 days each two years. There is no pay between sessions.

"I have had the honor and pleasure of serving you and also every honor the Texas Senate can bestow upon a member including the post of President Pro Tempore to which I was unanimously elected by fellow members last session. Therefore, I want to take this opportunity to thank the people of this district for the many honors bestowed upon me and to announce that I have come to the conclusion that I can no longer afford to make the financial sacrifice which the office requires. Hence I will not be a candidate for re-election."

RIVER ICE JAM THREATENS HOUSES

A four-mile ice jam on the Fox River near Ottawa, Ill., has caused flood conditions and threatens these houses. Many families have been forced to leave their homes. Officials said it appeared that only thawing weather would break the jam which has raised the river 24 feet above flood level.

Golfers Start Qualifying For El Paso Meet

EL PASO (AP) — Feb. 2. (AP)—Since an overflow field of some 200 professionals and amateurs including approximately 125 touring professionals from the winter circuit, is expected to enter the El Paso open golf tournament here next week, a qualifying round for non-exempted players has been scheduled for Tuesday.

The field for the $10,000 open, first to be held in El Paso since 1929, is limited to 150 players under PGA regulations. The list of exemptions covers a large group expected to total more than 100, with the remaining 75 to 90 entries shooting the qualifying round.

The qualifying play will be held over Valdespino Municipal Golf Course here, since El Paso Country Club, site of the open, is to be restricted to the professionals for practice rounds that day. Competitive play in the open will begin Thursday.

Many of the players already are on hand, including Lawson Little, Lew Worsham, and Jimmy Demaret. Demaret and Worsham withdrew from the Tucson Open after bad starts.

The El Paso meet has drawn a huge entry from El Paso, West Texas and New Mexico links, with visiting professionals not regularly on the tour coming from as far away as Albuquerque, Dallas and Memphis, Tenn.

Among the arrivals already on hand are Joe Turnesa, a brother of Jim, who arrived Thursday from Dallas; Bill Perry, Cherokee Golf Club of Memphis; Tommy Sanderson, pro at Casper, Wyo., Country Club, who arrived from Tucson after failing to qualify; and Demaret.

El Paso Professional Jack Harden still is in contention in the Tucson Open.

The week - long activity opens Tuesday with the qualifying round for the remaining places in the tournament. On Wednesday a pro-amateur competition is scheduled, with more than 100 amateurs from El Paso and the Southwest joining in the play.

Texas Gridders Training Again

AUSTIN, Feb. 2 (AP) — Minus nine starters from the 1951 offensive and defensive football lineups, the Texas Longhorns begin spring practice Wednesday.

Coach Ed Price's No. 1 problem appears to be the perennial search which Texas coaches have had to make for a capable quarterback since the departure of Bobby Layne after the 1947 season.

A second major job will be the replacement of five stalwarts who formed the backbone of Texas' tough defense last fall. Gone are All America Safety Bobby Dillon, Linebackers June Davis and Don Menasco, Halfback Don Cunningham, and End Paul Williams.

Color Line Will Be Broken On Team If Negroes Can Qualify

DALLAS, Feb. 2 (AP) — R. W. Burnett, owner of the Dallas club in the Texas League who announced a week ago that he would use Negroes on his team this season if any are found capable of class AA baseball, is going to find out early.

He announced today that a four-day tryout camp for Negro players would be held at the Dallas Park Feb. 12, 13, 14, 15.

First Texas League club owner to break the color line, Burnett is inviting all Negro players not signed by any club in organized baseball and are between the ages of 18 and 28 to attend the tryouts. Each player takes care of his own expenses but the tryout camp is free. Any player signed to a contract will have his expenses paid.

If enough qualified candidates attend the camp, an exhibition game will be played on the final day.

Jimmie Adair, Chicago White Sox coach; L. D. Meyer, manager of the Dallas club, and other scouts, coaches and managers will be the instructors.

Burnett, who said he was going to use Negro players because the Dallas professional football club had announced it would bar no player because of color, race or creed, expressed an interest in finding several Negro players of Texas League caliber.

He said he had been studying scout reports on a number of Negroes who might make Class AA. "We want to have a look at some of these boys ourselves, and we figure the best way is to invite those interested to attend our tryout camp," Burnett added. "We don't believe we will be able to find more than one or two players who can make the grade with the Dallas Club this season, but certainly don't want to overlook any prospects."

Several players who are members of Negro professional clubs have received permission from their club owners to attend the tryout camp.

Mexico City's lowest street is more than a mile higher than the topmost points of New York City's skyscrapers.

We heard by the grapevine that colleges have become interested in a couple of high school gridders here. Talk tells us that Texas A&M representatives have been around to see all the District 5-AA all-star first team boys, one of which is Don Keller, Tiger tackle. Texas Tech wants W. G. Birt, huge tackle who made honorable mention on the all-star list, to try out for the Red Raider squad.

• • •

Seems we have more football greats here than we knew about. We received word by phone yesterday that Dalton Marcum, outstanding guard at Oklahoma University from 1946 to 1948, is associated with the Marcum Drilling Co. here.

Marcum, chosen to the All-Big seven squad in his senior year, played with OU in the Sugar Bowl twice — against Louisiana State in 1948 and North Carolina in 1949.

After he graduated from the university in January, 1949, he went into the drilling business near his home at Davis, Okla., and moved here last September.

Marcum, his wife, and his two daughters, Denna, 3, and Claudia, 7 months, live at 1408 Twenty-eighth Street.

• • •

Head Coach Speedy Moffett announced this week that he would begin spring training with his high school gridders on April 7, but he offered no prediction as to what material will be out for the drill sessions.

Basketball fans should not give up their hopes that Snyder High School will win district championship. The way things now stand, they could fix things up by defeating Stamford, leaving the three top teams — Stamford, Colorado City, and Snyder — all tied for first place with two losses.

That would force them into a playoff for championship, giving Snyder another chance for the crown.

If they lose the Stamford game, they will drop down to third place, leaving first and second to Stamford and C-City.

Nelson And Dizzy Dean To Play Exhibition

DENTON, Feb. 2. (AP)—Byron Nelson and Dizzy Dean will take on two North Texas State College students in an exhibition four-ball golf match Wednesday.

Nelson will team with Joe Conrad, state amateur golf champion, and a student at North Texas from San Antonio.

Dean will team with Billy Maxwell, national amateur golf champion from Odessa.

The match will start about 2 p.m. on the North Texas golf course. If weather postpones it, it will be played Thursday or the next day that is fair before Feb. 12.

It has been estimated that it will take astronomers 100 years to decipher the photographic plates being made in the sky survey now underway at the Palomar Observatory in California.

Jack Blanchard, new manager at Furr Food, readies his stock for the week end sale rush. Blanchard took over last week, replacing Earl Purser, who is now in Furr's main office in Lubbock.

New Manager At Food Store

Perhaps Jack Blanchard, new manager at Furr Supermarket, is not the youngest store manager in Snyder, but at 21 years, he's one of the youngest Furr's ever had.

Blanchard came here this week from Odessa, where he was assistant manager of a Furr store, to take his first managership. He replaces Earl Purser, who has been transferred to Furr's main office in Lubbock. Purser had been manager here 11 months.

The new manager is the second Jack Blanchard in Snyder. The first, a former high school football coach, is now an employe of the Lion Oil Co.

Blanchard will move his wife and two children, Patricia Jane, 3, and Jackie, 2, here as soon as he finds a home.

25 YEARS AGO

(Taken from the files of THE SCURRY COUNTY TIMES for Feb. 3, 1927.)

Oil scouts and "lease hounds" have been giving Scurry County a thorough look - over during the past ten days, and as a result there has been considerable acreage leased and large acreage is being blocked in different parts of the county.

Some of the largest oil companies in the U. S. have had their representatives here, and from the large number of acres that has been leased to them they must have ample reasons for believing that there is oil in paying quantities under Scurry County...

One of the most distinctive social affairs of the season was given Tuesday evening when members of the Sine Cura Club with their husbands were complimented at a party of attractive appointments by Mesdames B. W. Lee and Austin Erwin at the spacious home of Mrs. Erwin.

The entertaining rooms were made beautiful with an artistic arrangement of hearts and mingled with a profusion of lively sweet pears. Games of bridge progressed at tables appropriately laid in crepe paper, exquisitely designed in Valentine colors, and adorned with centers of the chosen flowers.

High score prizes, which were most attractive angel food cakes, went to Mrs. A. J. Towle and R. R. Curnutte, while consolations were to Mrs. Fritz R. Smith and W. W. Wilsford.

At tea time a most attractive two - course luncheon, carrying out the chosen motif and colors, was served to Mmes. and Messrs. E. J. Anderson, R. H. Curnutte, Charles Cooper, Jack Harris, O. P. Thraine, Bob Warren, I. C. Bagwell, A. J. Towle, Fritz Smith, P. M. Chambers, W. W. Wilsford and W. R. Johnson and Miss Ruth Smith and Mmes. Dixie Smith and Gertie Smith and Mr. G F. Chamber Manager Assumes Duties; Moves Family Here

Leon M. Huff, Jr., 29, began work last week as the new manager of the Chamber of Commerce after moving here from Abilene.

The new manager moved Friday with his family into the Waymar Apartments.

Huff, who was formerly assistant to Joe Cooley, manager of the Abilene Chamber of Commerce, came here to replace Harold Bennett, who resigned Jan. 1 to go into private business.

Also newly employed at the Chamber of Commerce is Mrs. R. D. Harrison, 2404 Twenty-eighth Street, who recently became office secretary.

FROM ALABAMA

Huff was born in Birmingham, Ala., and graduated from high school there. He attended the University of Alabama and later joined the Army Air Corps. He was sent to Lubbock by the Army, where he met Viralyn Patrick, now his wife, "and I haven't left West Texas since that time," he said.

After being discharged from the Air Corps at Lubbock in December, 1945, Huff attended Texas Tech and received a bachelor of business administration degree in management. He also attended the University of Denver and University of Texas.

MANAGER AT SPUR

He became manager of the Chamber of Commerce at Spur and remained there two years before becoming assistant manager at Abilene.

"I appreciate the confidence the people here have placed in me through this appointment," Huff said, adding "I intend to do my best to carry out the programs sponsored by the Chamber, and I want to cooperate with the people of Snyder and Scurry County in building a better city and county."

Huff is a member of the Baptist Church, Kiwanis Club, Knights of Pythias, and the Texas Chamber of Commerce Managers' Association.

He has two children, Pat, 6, and Kathlene, 1.

Miss McGlaun Is Graduate

Miss Joy McGlaun, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. McGlaun, 2402 Avenue M, will be graduated this week end from Texas State College for Women in Denton.

She is to receive a bachelor's degree in occupational therapy and will leave March 1 for New York to receive advanced instruction as an occupational therapist.

Miss McGlaun was president of the Occupational Therapy Club last year, and a member of the Daughters of Ex - Students Association, Campus League of Women Voters, Biology Club and Outing Club. She was also active in campus athletics.

Going to Denton for the graduation exercises are her parents; her brother, Lloyd McGlaun; another brother, Douglas McGlaun, Mrs. McGlaun and daughter, Mrs. R. Clyde Miller, of Fluvanna, Marjorie McClinton and Larry Williamson will also attend. They will be joined in Denton by Miss McGlaun's twin brother, Jack McGlaun and Mrs. McGlaun of Port Arthur.

One Terminal Still Down In Driver Strike

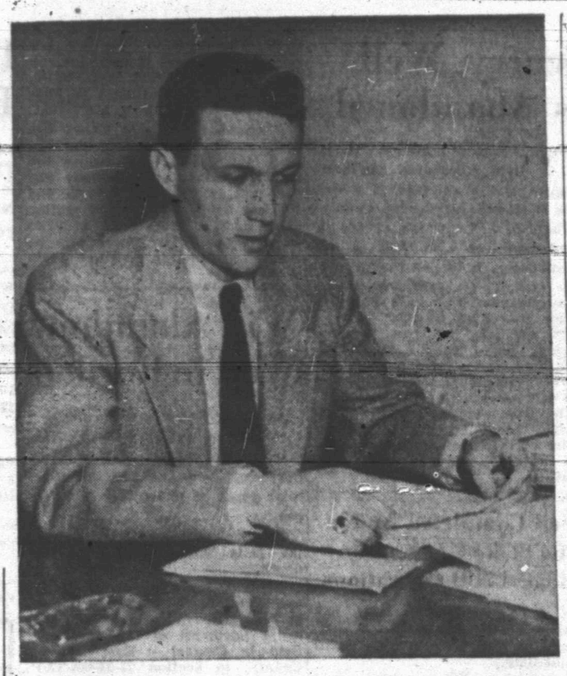
Operations at Sunset Motor Lines were still at a standstill yesterday as the American Federation of Labor truck drivers remained on strike.

L. Z. Bridgeman, manager of the Sunset office here, said no road freight has come into Snyder by Sunset lines since Thursday. He added that no lines originate from here and that all striking drivers were held at their home stations so thay would not be caught on the road at the time the strike was to have begun, at midnight last Thursday.

Most of the freight ordinarily brought here by Sunset is for oil field companies, Bridgeman said, and he has received several calls from those who were expecting equipment from Houston and Odessa.

D. V. Merritt, Jr., manager at the Santa Fe Trail Transportation Co., said that drivers for Santa Fe are members of the AFL but that they had previously signed a contract and have not been called out on strike. He added that the strike is not affecting Santa Fe business, unless it is causing the firm to handle freight usually carried by another company.

James True, assistant manager of Merchants Fast Motor Lines, said the strike is not directly affecting the firm. He added that Merchants drivers are members of an independent Texas union and have not been called on strike. True said the office here has noticed some additional freight taken by Merchants because other companies could not handle it.



Leon M. Huff, Jr., took over Friday as manager of the Chamber of Commerce here. He replaced Harold Bennett, who entered private business. Huff is former assistant manager of the Abilene Chamber of Commerce.

Government Encouraging Oil Production Closer To Home

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP) — The Government's proposed program for stepping up oil production and exploration in the 18 months starting July 1 puts the emphasis on Western Hemisphere reserves, counts less on the Middle East.

The Petroleum Administration for Defense (PAD), which came out with the program this week, takes the position that in event of a world emergency the United States would be better off to have as much oil as possible at or nearer home.

The program, including recommended activites in foreign oil producing countries friendly to the U. S., was submitted by the PAD to the Defense Production Administration (DPA). It sets forth what the PAD says the oil industry would undertake with its own funds in the 18-month period if DPA makes available the steel and other strategic materials needed.

Under the program, three-fourths of the foreign wells drilled would be in the Western Hemisphere — Canada, South and Central America and Mexico. It does not consider any Iranian production.

PAD officials feel DPA approval of the program would put them in a better position to seek additional steel for the industry.

Bruce Brown, PAD administrator, said there is little reserve capacity now and even if materials were obtained for all of the expansion proposed, there would not be as much oil reserve capacity as when the Korean conflict began.

"The figures," one PAD official told this reporter, "reflect in our judgment what the industry wants to do if it can."

The program would call for drilling of 80,000 wells by the domestic industry in the 18-month period, 55,000 of them in 1953. About 44,000 wells were drilled in the U. S. in 1951. Of the 80,000, some 60,000 would be developments wells and 20,000 exploratory or other. One goal would be an increase of 642,000 barrels daily in domestic capacity to produce crude.

The program would call for 10,128 new foreign wells, of which 4,020 would be in Canada, with increased productive capacity of 867,000 barrels daily.

The domestic refining capacity would be jumped from the previously proposed increase of 330,000 barrels a day to 475,000; capacity of foreign refineries would be increased by 384,600 barrels daily.

The program would provide for 19,700 more miles of oil pipeline in this country and 3,800 miles of pipeline in other countries.

It calls also for 153,000,000 barrels of additional storage facilities in the U. S. and an additional 35,000,000 barrels of strage in foreign countries.

PAD said the domestic program would require 46 per cent more steel in each of the six quarters than the quarterly average for the year ending July 1, 1952; the Canadian program, 42 per cent more, and the foreign expansion, 36.3 more steel.

Snyder Man To Head Texas Production Here

G. R. Brown, a native of Scurry County, has been named division petroleum engineer for the West Texas Division of the Texaco producing Co. The appointment became effective Friday.

Brown replaced D. L. Harlan, who has been promoted to assistant chief pertoleum engineer of the producing department and transferred to Houston. Brown began work for the Texas Co. as a roustabout in 1940 after being graduated from California Institute of Technology. He became petroleum engineer at Midland in 1946. He was advanced to assistant division engineer and transferred to Fort Worth in August last year.

Alexander Melville Bell—the inventor's father—was a noted master of elocution in England and Scotland.

Scurry Well Is Abandoned

Boyce - Smiser - Runion Oil Co. No. 1 Alvin Koonsman has been plugged and abandoned as a dry hole in Northeast Scurry County.

The No. 1 Koonsman drilled to total depth of 7,681 feet in the Ellenburger. It topped that formation at 7,575 feet and topped the Pennsylvanian lime at 7,070. Elevation was 2,282 feet.

On the last drillstem test reported, taken from 7,396 - 7,426 feet, tool was open one hour. Recovery was 40 feet of slightly gas cut salt water with no shows of oil.

Drillsite was in section 225-2-H&TC, about nine and one-half miles northeast of Snyder and seven miles northwest of Camp Springs.

Well Completed And One Staked At Sharon Ridge 1700 Operations

S. R. Roberts of Abilene has staked location for the No. 6 A. E. Clary in the Sharon Ridge 1700 immediately.

Location is 825 feet from west and 745 feet from south lines of lot 3, Kirkland & Fields survey 32 and 33. That is about three and one - half miles southeast of Ira. Contract depth is 1,800 feet with cable tools to be used.

E. J. Gray of Baytown, Tex., has reported completion of the No. 4 E. House in the same field. It pumped 24 hours for a potential of 90.24 barrels of 28 gravity oil with no water.

Pay was topped at 1,663 feet and five and one-half inch casing cemented there. Total depth is 1,686 feet.

Drillsite is in block 1, C. A. O'Keefe subdivision, J. P. Smith survey.

To Begin Drilling On Two New Field Wells

Two Scurry County field projects are slated to begin operations as quickly as possible.

In the Diamond M-Canyon field, Humble Oil & Refining Co. No. 5 R. P. Ainsworth will be dug. Location is 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 99-25-H&TC, about 17 miles southwest of Snyder. Contract depth is 6,900 feet.

Standard Oil Co. of Texas has filed application to drill the No. 7-1-S Mrs. Jessie W. Brown in the Brown - Cisco field. Drillsite has been set 660 feet from north and 467 feet from east lines of section 439-97-H&TC. That is on a 323.65 acre lease. Rotary tools will be used in drilling to contract depth of 6,900 feet.

Will Abandon Well in Borden

Amerada Petroleum Corp. No. 1 C. C. Canon, extreme West - Central Borden wildcat, has been ordered plugged and abandoned on total depth of 10,364 feet in Ellenburger.

The project was said to be showing salty sulphur water at that depth.

Drillsite was about eight and one half miles north of the Good field in West Borden County and five miles northeast of the Spraberry field in Central - East Dawson County, in section 27-33-t5n-T&P.

Magnolia No. 6 W. Ed Murphy, Borden Clear Fork prospector, is continuing to test. It swabbed and flowed 192 barrels of new oil after swabbing 17 barrels of load oil and 48 barrels of load oil.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt vetoed more bills than any other U. S. President in history, a total of 631. This was 156 more vetoes than the second highest total amassed by President Cleveland.

Recovery From Howard Retest

Stanolind Oil & Gas Co. No. 1-D TXL, Howard County prospector, is bottomed at total depth of 7,289 feet in lime and trying to regain lost circulation.

The project recovered more free oil on a six - hour retest of the Wolfcamp from 7,230 - 7,288 feet. Gas surfaced in one and one-half hours. Recovery was 223 feet of 34 gravity oil and 220 feet of heavily oil and gas cut mud. Operator recovered 345 feet of free oil and 180 feet of slightly mud - cut oil on the first test of the zone.

Location is about four and one-half miles southeast of Big Spring and five miles southwest of the Hutto - Wolfcamp field.

Also in Howard County, Stanolind No. 1 Barbour is drilling in lime below 9,704 feet.

Alda Oil Corp. No. 1 Anderson was drilling below 6,234 feet in lime and shale.

Residents Here Hard Drinkers Of Coffee, Big Boon To Cafes

Maybe they have an awful lot of coffee in Brazil, but a man in Rio couldn't drink much more of it than does the average Snyder resident.

Coffee, which at one time was used to draw trade to the cafe, has now become one of the chief items on the menu. The time when a man could have his coffee warmed as long as he sat in the cafe and ate food is almost a thing of the past, and the same man must now pay a good price for every cup.

SURVEY HERE

A survey of eight of the largest coffee - selling establishments in Snyder indicates that it is one of the largest selling drinks on the market. Those eight cafes and drug stores report a combined average in sales of 6,655 cups a day. Individual businesses sell from 450 to 1,200 cups a day, striking an average of 832 a day.

Estimates from several show that they have varied ideas on how many cups can be made from a pound of coffee — all the way from 32 to 75, but together they report they use 111 pounds a day and make about 328 gallons of coffee.

Coffee drinking has become more than a pastime or a few minutes of relaxation or thrist - quenching. Today, many business deals are discussed and closed over one or two cups of coffee. Lawyers interview their clients, realtors sell their houses, and politicians solicit votes.

NO INSOMNIA

The coffee in Snyder couldn't be keeping many people awake. If that were the case, very few residents here would sleep through the night.

Of course, the different cafes stay open various lengths of time, but combined they average selling 365 cups an hour, or more than 45 each.

Many cities have seen that coffee sales are high, as indicated by their asking cafes and drug stores to contribute money taken in from coffee sales to major charity drives, such as the March of Dimes. And in most cities where that project was used, hundreds of dollars rolled into funds — just from gross profit on coffee.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

(Letters from the readers of the Daily News are always welcome, provided they are signed by the writer and give his correct address. They will be printed subject to the publisher's discretion, based on whether the material contained is libelous or the language offensive. Letters should not exceed 300 words.)

To the Daily News:

I presume that the gentleman who wrote Thursday's article doesn't like oil people.

I don't know if being a "character" is an oddity or not. I understand I had a mother and father, although after reading the article I feel that perhaps I'd crawled from under a rock.

I believe the Good Book says, "Man is born of sin," and I can't find where it says "with the exception of the oldtimers' of Snyder."

Maybe it will soothe the gentleman's feelings to know that a lot of we "characters" didn't come here by choice—especially after hearing of the exhorbitant rent we would have to pay the "oldtimers." After all, we only work for a living and go where we are sent. Certainly we aren't on the receiving end (oil) of our labor or we might not hold the distinction of being "characters."

I can easily understand that the county didn't collect over $1,000 in fines until we "characters" came in and started bringing money out of the ground for the "oldtimers."

I hardly think Snyder would have had a boom if some "oldtimer" hadn't first given some "character" permission to drill.

Concerning some thinking they are angels, if I ever am blessed with such a distinction, I won't need to worry about Snyder or anything else.

Isn't there a line about "every trouble or worry being a blessing in disguise"? Perhaps if the gentleman waits a while the blessing is yet to come.

A character,
Mrs. Harry Moomey,
Route No. 3.

To the Daily News:

Thank you for printing my letter on Wednesday, and I was glad to see the pictures and article of what candidates have been shown so far. I hope for more of them.

I would like to apologize to Mr. Deavers and any others who got the wrong impression from my letter. I certainly didn't intend to leave the impression that the oldtimers are responsible for Snyder's condition! I know several oldtimers, and from their description of the pre - boom Snyder, it used to be far different from Snyder now—the typical small town of freindly people, the sort of town we were raised in. We never heard of a "boom town" until we happened to come to Snyder, found a job, liked the town and decided to stay. People don't have to be "oldtimers" to want to see a town cleaned up, do they? Years from now, we may be telling people we are oldtimers here. We hope to be.

Being from Missouri, I don't know much about Texas laws, it's true; but do the laws have to stay in their present form? Can't the voters vote for a change, or for men who will change them to better the conditions? If we all knew that a year in the pen for every bottle sold would stop bootlegging, wouldn't we want the laws changed to do so? I can't see where my letter gave the impression the oldtimers are responsible at all. I surely didn't mean to—far from it! None of us are angels, and, too, all of us are not the kind of "characters" that make up a boom town. As I said before, I never heard of a boomtown before coming here. That's why we stayed here when the boom moved on. We liked the Snyder that was here before the boom (liked what we heard about it) and we like the present Snyder and what it could be today, with everyone's help.

5,000 See New Car Displayed

More than 5,000 persons visited the showroom of the Wade Pipkin Motor Co. Friday to inspect the new Fords for 1952, Wade Pipkin, owner, said.

Two of those persons, R. B. Green, and Mrs. Irene White, won free door prizes when the winners names were drawn from the registration coupon boxes this morning. Mrs. White is a resident of Hermleigh, and Green lives in Snyder.

Prizes were a Remington pump .22 caliber rifle, and a Hamilton Beach mixer.

Pipkin said the most common comment of the throng was about dash suspension of the clutch and brake pedals, and the newly introduced valve - over - head six cylinder engine.

In anticipating a big turnout for the first showing of the new cars Pipkin said he ordered 4,000 registration blanks, but they were all used before the middle of the afternoon Friday.

McLaughlin, buying for the Diamond M Foundation, paid $3,500 for the steer, a 1,045-pound Angus. Amon Carter of Fort Worth, bidding for the Amon G. Carter Foundation, bought the steer from the March of Dimes for $2,500 He then presented it to the Lena Pope Home.

Wildcat Flows From Strawn In Mitchell

Union Sulphur & Oil Co. has reported flowing production from the Strawn reef at its No. 1 E. E. Erwin, extreme Northwest Mitchell County wildcat.

On a drillstem test taken from 7,530-7,565 feet, oil started flowing out steadily at the top in 15 minutes. It was flowed to pits for one hour and five minutes at the estimated rate of 10 to 15 barrels per hour. Gravity of the oil was 43 degrees. Gas surfaced in three minutes and a light spray of oil began within five minutes after the test tool was opened. The test lasted one hour and 20 minutes.

Top of the Strawn reef is at 7,530 feet on a minus datum of 5,228 feet. It is 75 feet high on the Strawn reef to Standard No. 1 Dunn, a Pennsylvanian lime discovery which has been abandoned.

The No. 1 Erwin is about 17 miles northwest of Colorado City in the north half of section 1-25-H&TC. It was originally scheduled to go to 8,000 feet but will be completed at the lesser depth.

Columnist Kills Self

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 2. (AP)—Police said today Miss Margaret Morton McKay, 41, died after taking some 40 sleeping pills. Her body was found Friday in her apartment.

Reading Improvement Program Is Planned In Schools Here

A reading improvement program designed especially for junior high and secondary school teachers will open here tomorrow and continue through Wednesday.

Miss Mary Evans of Dallas, a reading consultant for a major publishing company, will act as consultant during the program. The program was planned as the result of requests from a large number of teachers for consultation in this field, Frank Wilson, coordinator of cirruculum, said.

A similar program is planned for elementary school teachers during the first week of April. Miss Mary Swain of Dallas will serve as consultant for that program.

A primary objective of the reading clinic will be the improvement of reading as an aid to students in other work. Students who do not read well often have unnecessary difficulty in other subjects, Wilson pointed out. To help remedy this situation, Miss Evans will discuss and give demonstrations in the improvement of word recognition, improvement of understanding, and ways in which children may be taught to enjoy reading.

Miss Evans will also discuss ways by which teachers may cope with individual differences in teaching their classes. For example, students who learn more rapidly than others lose interest if they are held back for slower students. By the same token, slower students lose interest in trying to learn if they are rushed from one project to another without gaining the proper background.

Both oral and silent reading will be discussed.

The opening session of the clinic will be at 7 o'clock Monday night in the junior high school building. Miss Evans will give the first demonstration of teaching on the following morning, with discussion and demonstration continuing throughout the day.

Miss Evans is to confer with school principals on Wednesday morning and will meet with teachers later in the day.

Nazism Is Becoming Threat To Democratic German Once More

FRANKFURT, Feb. 2. (AP)—The monstrous thing called Nazism is not dead.

On the lunatic fringe of German politics, would-be fuehrers are crying shrilly for attention. In the disbanded ranks of the Wehrmacht, die-hard militarists are trying to gild their reputations and get back their places in the sun.

Among former Hitler youth, eastern refugees and the economically depressed — their numbers are in millions — grievances and doubts expose many as possible dupes for false prophets.

This is a sorry background. But in 1952, the third year of the West German Republic, a democracy bred in defeat and reared under foreign dictate appears far stronger than its enemies.

It depends entirely for its future on a people who followed Adolf Hitler to catastrophe just seven years ago with an obedience that was a ghastly phenomenon in world history.

Have they learned their dreadful lesson?

The West German republic has 48,000,000 citizens. Thirty million of them were affiliated in some way with Nazi organizations which stretched into every corner of German life.

Four million of them belonged to the National Socialist Party. Nearly 2,000,000 stood trial after the war.

Former Nazis are everywhere. Your doctor, lawyer, and neighborhood school teacher. The cop on the corner. Some of the diplomats at the foreign office.

Most voters are former Nazis. Most of the German military force to be raised for the common defense of Europe has a Nazi past.

The tag, ex-Nazi, can be pinned on almost any German. For the Allies once held that all who took part in the political, economic and social system of the Third Reich were Nazis.

The Allies did not exempt from their definition the comparative handful of Germans who broke with Hitler after long adherence and were thrown into Nazi concentration camps. Some spent two years in Allied captivity after the war. But western statesmen are now counting, on Germany to become in equal partner in their community of nations. So they draw the line between former Nazis — the mass of the people who are actively or passively loyal to the new republic — and the unrepentant, incorrigible fanatics who go by the name of neo-Nazis and plot to bring Nazism back to power.

Former Nazis outnumber neo-Nazis 100 to 1.

The brazen mouthpiece of unregenerate Nazism is a movement entitled Socialist Reich Party (SRP). It has 50,000 regular members.

Its deadliest foe is the West German Trade Union Federation with a membership of 6,000,000.

The federation, whose far-sighted social policies and sense of public responsibility are acknowledged internationally, has voluntarily renounced the general strike as a weapon in wage disputes.

But it holds the general strike ever in readiness to fight Neo-Nazis.

Besides the Socialist Reich party, the hard core of Nazism has adopted such cover names as the German Reich Party, the German Rightist Party, the Fatherland Union and the National Rightists.

In them, the blind lead the blind. They distort history, casually shrug off Hitler's gas chambers and claim Nazism failed only because of "a stab in the back."

This hard core appears impossible to reform. In West German elections, with one exception, it has never gained more than five per cent of the vote.

Last year in lower Saxony, a state hit hard by the final Allied dismantling of German industry, the Socialist Reich party attracted 367,000 voters — 11 per cent of the total.

The Allied high commission did not lift a finger against the SRP. But responsible Germans were immediately alarmed.

The federal government, which includes many former Nazis, asked the west German constitutional court to outlaw the SRP as "contrary to free democratic order." In Lower Saxony, the imitation brown shirts in the SRP's Reichsfront were banned and dissolved. The party's leading spellbounder, Otto Ernst Remer, was jailed for four months for political slander.

Mister Roberts To Be Shown In San Angelo

"Mister Roberts," Leland Hayward's production of a wartime story of the Navy, is making its farewell tour.

After three years on Broadway, "Mister Roberts" has gone on the road before closing down for good. Ninety performances have been scheduled on this last tour of the nation, two of them in San Angelo on Feb. 23.

Henry Fonda was the first star of "Mister Roberts." He was later replaced by Tod Andrews, who is starring with the road company. Thirty - five other persons are included in the cast of the show.

Tickets for the San Angelo performances are now on sale at the Times Printing Co., 1907 Twenty-fifth Street. Prices range from $3.60 to $2.40 for first floor seats, with balcony tickets from $3.00 to $1.20. All prices include taxes. Tickets may be secured either for the matinee, scheduled for 2:30, or for the evening performance starting at 8:15.

"Mister Roberts" was originally written as short stories by Thomas Heggen while he was serving in the Navy. Joshua Logan, and Heggen re - wrote the story for dramatization, and Joshua Logan was named director. Production is under the direction of Leland Hayward, Ltd., producers of such other Broadway shows as "Call Me Madam," "South Pacific," and "State of the Union."

All the scenes of "Mister Roberts" are laid aboard a cargo ship. The sets are combined into one massive whole and set on a revolving turntable.

Texas Business For 1952 Called Stable At Very High Level

AUSTIN, Feb. 2. (AP)—A business research authority today characterized Texas business for 1951 as "surprisingly stable at a very high level."

Dr. John R. Stockton, director of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research, reported that averages for the year for practically all important barometers were substantially above 1950 averages, with the overall index registering a 5 per cent rise.

Individual activities making up the index, however, showed wide variations, with two losses and five gains.

The losses were retail sales, down 6 per cent, and urban building permits, down 26 per cent.

FACES SNYDER CONGREGATIONS

Bill Mills, ex-convict, is shown here dressed as he will be when he delivers two addresses here today on the subject of juvenile delinquency. He says he has spent 25 years in prison.

Juvenile Delinquency Talks At Two Snyder Churches Today

Congregations of two Snyder churches today will find a man dressed in the striped clothes of a prison inmate facing them from the pulpit.

The man in this unusual garb is Bill Mills, 58, who says he has spent 25 years of his life in prison. He is now traveling through the country lecturing on juvenile delinquency.

Mills is to talk on that subject at 10:30 this morning in the Church of the Nazarene and tonight in the Church of God on the Clairemont road.

FIRST IN PRISON

A Baptist layman, Mills said he was first sent to prison at the age of 17. For the next 25 years he was incarcerated in the state prison at Huntsville except for 2 years he spent in federal prison for counterfeiting while in prison, he said.

To emphasize his speech, the ex-convict takes with him a real electric chair. Mills said that when he was here before during the last war he only had a model electric chair. He gave a talk on the courthouse square at that time.

During the talks Mills will give accounts of many of his experiences during the time he claims he was in jail. Among these will be his eyewitness account of Clyde Barrow killing his first man. Barrow was later notorious for his escapades with the cigar-smoking Bonnie Barker.

Mills says he will also demonstrate various forms of whipping used in the state schools which are still being exposed.

Services For Infant

Funeral services were to have been held in Rotan yesterday after, noon for Constance Hicks, one-day-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman L. Hicks of Snyder, who died Friday afternoon in the Snyder Hospital.

Burial was to be in the Rotan Cemetery, and funeral arrangements were by McCombs Funeral Home there.

Saudi Arabia plans to extend its new railroad across the entire Arabian peninsula, connecting the Persian Gulf coast with the Red Sea.

GALLUP POLL

Stassen Ahead Of Truman In Latest 'Trial Heat' Survey

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N.J., Feb. 2 — Harold E. Stassen, who threw his hat into the presidential ring a month ago, leads Harry S. Truman by a substantial margin in the latest presidential "trial heat" conducted by the Institute.

The question and the results follow:

"Suppose Truman were running for President on the Democratic ticket against Stassen on the Republican ticket, how do you think you would vote—for Truman or Stassen?"

Stassen	49
Truman	31
Undecided	20
	100

In the group of persons who say they are undecided, a high proportion voted for the Democratic ticket in 1948.

Past experience would indicate that many of these would return to the same party if the election were being held at this time. This would narrow the gap between the two candidates.

In a similar "trail heat" conducted in April of last year, Stassen had almost the same advantage over Truman.

STASSEN VS. VINSON

Mr. Stassen, former governor of Minnesota and currently on leave as president of the University of Pennsylvania, was also matched against Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson who has been mentioned as a likely Democrat candidate if Truman does not run.

The test also shows Stassen running well ahead of Vinson, as follows:

"Suppose Vinson were running for President on the Democratic ticket against Stassen on the Republican ticket; how do you think you would vote—for Vinson or Stassen?"

Stassen	41
Vinson	29
Undecided	30
	100

Again it should be pointed out that a large proportion of the undecided vote of 30 per cent is made up of persons who have voted the Democratic ticket in other years and presumably would be won back to the Democratic fold.

Independent Voters

One of the reasons for Stassen's lead over Truman is his strength among Independent voters who today hold the balance of power between the two major parties.

In today's trial heat, Independent voters express a substantial preference for Stassen over Truman, as follows:

INDEPENDENT VOTERS

Stassen	47
Truman	25
Undecided	28
	100

On the other hand, Independent voters are more evenly divided in their preference for Stassen and Vinson, as follows:

INDEPENDENT VOTERS

Stassen	34
Vinson	28
Undecided	38
	100

In any political campaign two factors are important — (1) candidate popularity and (2) basic party strength.

Trial heats are a way of testing candidate popularity. The unknown element is whether, in the last analysis, people will change party affiliations to vote for a candidate they like, or whether the habit of voting for a particular party will in the end prevail.

The Democratic party is still the majority party — substantially more people consider themselves Democrats than Republicans.

And substantially more people say the Democratic party is better for persons in their line of work than the Republican party.

Regardless of the personal popularity of the Republican candidate in 1952, the G.O.P. will have to battle against the strong popular appeal of the Democratic party.

Series of Tests

Today's study is one of a continuing series of Institute tests matching various opposing candidates.

In November Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was run on the Republican ticket against Truman on the Democratic ticket with the following result:

Eisenhower	64
Truman	28
No opinion	8
	100

And here are the results of recent trial heats matching Sen. Robert A. Taft and Gov. Earl Warren against Truman:

TAFT vs. TRUMAN

Taft	45
Truman	42
No opinion	13
	100

WARREN vs. TRUMAN

Warren	5
Truman	33
No opinion	12
	100

South Plains Republicans In Fight Over Ike-Taft Support

By DAVE CHEAVENS

LUBBOCK (AP)—Bitter Republican feuding has broken out on the broad South Plains of Texas.

Eisenhower supporters announced plans for a precinct by precinct fight for control in a 25-county region. Taft backers snapped they would slug it out with them and win.

The shooting started yesterday at a strategy meeting of the South Plains Eisenhower-for-President club, where a frank bid was made for the support of unhappy independent Democrats of the region. The meeting was shunned by most old-line Republicans here.

"The Eisenhower people have promised everything from the moon on down in the way of patronage," said M. D. Temple, Republican state committeeman from this district.

"We're going to fight back in the precinct meetings. We're going to win."

Only one of the leaders of the South Plains Eisenhower organization has been identified with Republican politics in the past. They called themselves a "bunch of amateurs," but pledged themselves to work every precinct in the area in an effort to control the May 3 conventions.

These select delegates to the county conventions, which name state convention delegates. The actual make-up of the county convention is decided in the precinct meetings. In effect they are presidential preference conventions.

"There's just one way to beat the Truman gang," said G. R. Kennedy, who presided at the Eisenhower rally. "That's enlist the independent Democrats and elect a Republican president."

Other speakers said the man who could win for the Republicans was Eisenhower. Murrell E. Tripp, an insurance adjuster and another wheel in the Eisenhower movement here, agreed. T. A. Rogers presided.

They all said that while they were amateurs in handling precinct conventions, they were ready to learn, they have literature giving the A-B-C of convention procedure to distribute to Eisenhower friends, and headquarters has been opened here on a full-time basis.

A. E. Quest of Lubbock is chairman of the Texas Eisenhower Club's 19th district organization. He has been a Republican since 1912. Quest and Gordon Treadway, an attorney, were the only self-avowed Republicans who attended the meeting here yesterday.

"We're not politicians, just Americans," Tripp said. "It's time to put aside our prejudices and put our country first."

TWINS TRY U. S. LOLLYPOPS

Krumpholz is a farmer and will take his family to Denver where they will live with the Rt. Rev. Elmer Kolka there.

Road Building and Maintenance Big Business In Scurry County

As you drive over a smooth state highway, or across a river bridge, do you ever stop to think how much planning and work went into the construction of that road before it could be changed from a wagon trail to a smooth highway.

Texas roads may not be the best in the nation, but they are among the best, and improvements are constantly being made.

Scurry County is jumping ahead of most other areas of the state by building 157 miles of new farm to market road at its own expense.

Every foot of that distance must be accurately measured, the topography must be surveyed, property lines must be established, drainage problems must be figured, and plans must be made for the road even before contracts can be let for the construction.

DESIGNATE WEEK

Last week was designated by Governor Allan Shivers as State Highway Department Week to give recognition to the more than 9,000 persons needed now to plan, build, and maintain the state highway. Thirty - nine of those men are employed in Scurry County in the engineering and maintenance departments of the highway system here, 22 men in the maintenance, and 17 in engineering departments.

Road building and maintenance is big business here — at least since the boom hit.

J. M. Middleton, maintenance foreman for this district, said that from 200 to 400 tons of pre-mixed asphalt and gravel are used here annually to patch holes and worn places in pavement. His department has three maintainers, six trucks, one track loader, one wheel loader, two asphalt heaters, two pickups, and one car as equipment.

MAINTENANCE JOB

The big job is keeping the road shoulders and traffic signs up to par, but about every three or four years the department puts a seal coat of asphalt and gravel on the roads as was done to Highway 180 west of Snyder to the county line last year.

In engineering for a new road project Homer Ray, resident engineer for the Scurry - Borden district, said four complete surveys are made before any plans are drawn, and that plans must be completed even to an estimated cost before the contracts are let.

When the plans are completed by the resident engineering department they are sent to the Abilene district office for review and correction, then to the state Highway Department in Austin for review.

Contracts are let by the Austin office.

From the time contracts are let until the job is completed the engineering department must have an inspector on each job all the time, or the contractor may not be paid for the work—or may have to re - do the work or portions of it.

After the plans are completed on each unit the cost of constructing that unit is estimated and the money is set aside for that purpose. And the unit must be completed without exceeding that cost.

WITHIN BUDGET

In the case of the 80.2 miles of farm to market roads being built by the state highway department as part of Scurry County's 157 miles of farm to market roads for which bonds were voted last year, the cost has been estimated $1,461,400. "And all the 80.2 miles will be built for that amount of money," Ray said. "We won't come back after a few months and say that the roads are partly complete, but all the money has been used, we will finish the roads for the estimated cost or less."

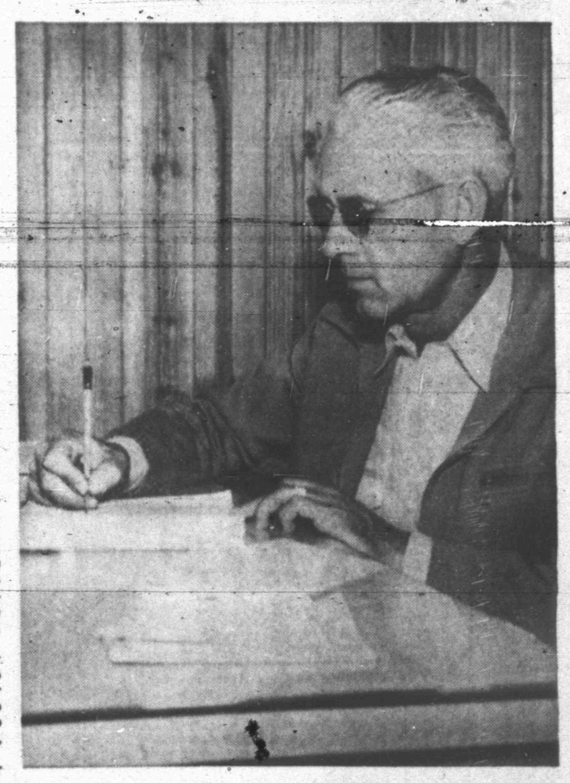
Ray said that field work and surveying on the farm to market roads the state is building is 100 per cent complete, and that planning is more than 50 per cent complete. Contracts are let by the state after the planning has been completed.

The state's part of the county road project has been divided into 13 units, but some of the smaller units will probably be combined to make the jobs more attractive to bidders before contracts are let, Ray said.

Ray has been resident engineer here since April 1, 1951. He began his career with the highway department in 1938 in the same office his department now occupies.

M. A. Calloway, who has had 19 years experience with the highway department, is chief inspector, and heads the 10 - man inspection department.

Homer Ray, standing, resident engineer for the state highway department's Scurry-Borden County residency, and M. A. Callaway, chief inspector with the office are shown in the office on the top floor of the courthouse going over plans for the 80 miles of farm to market roads being built in Scurry County under supervision of the state, with bond money voted last year.—(Lee Watson photographs.)



J. M. Middleton, above, is maintainence foreman for this district which covers a total 176.7 miles of state maintained highways in the two counties. He heads a maintainence department of 22 men which uses about 400 tons of pre-mix asphalt and gravel each year just to patch holes and worn places in highways of the two counties.

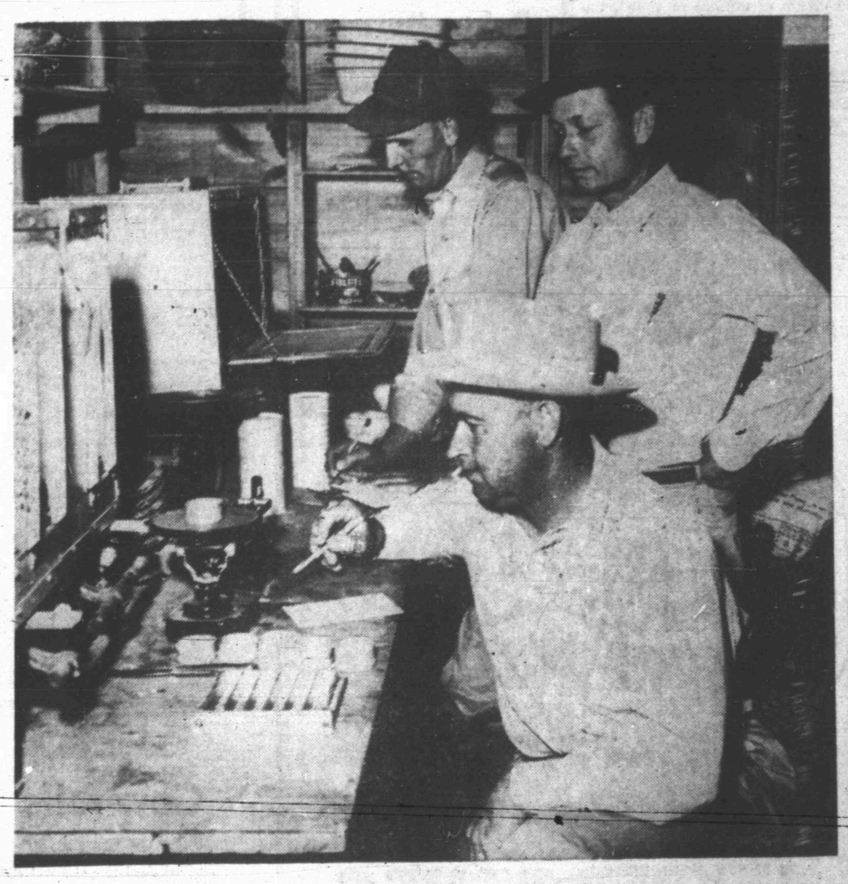
Two of the 22 men in the maintenance department are shown at work clearing out a drainage ditch above. J. B. Baker is driving the track-loader which is dumping a load of dirt in the truck driven by A. J. Williams. Last week was designated as State Highway Department Week by Governor Allan Shivers.

Miss Sue McKaughan above is permit clerk with offices in the maintenance building on the East Highway. She says she averages issuing about 65 permits for oversize or overweight loads per week. Permits cost $5 for a single trip, or $10 for a 30-day time permit.

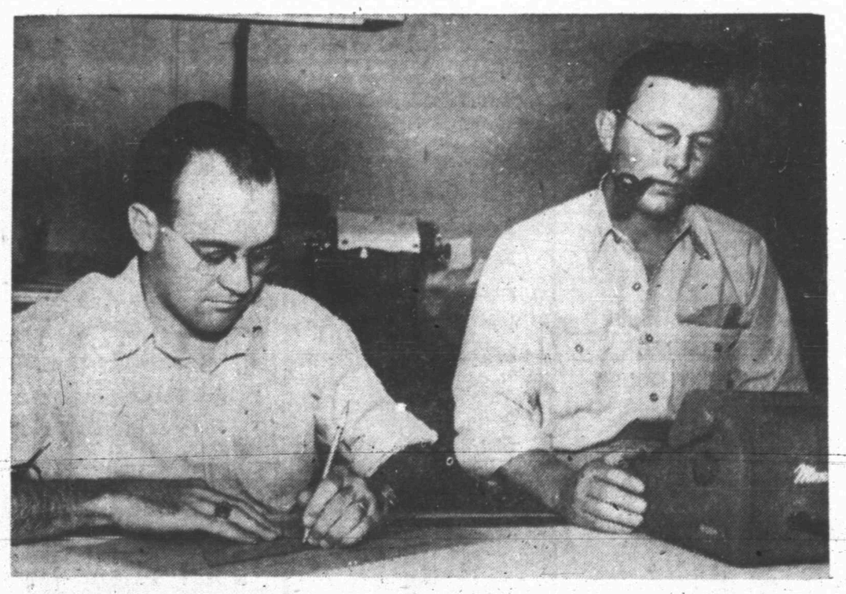
J. E. (Arckie) Pierce, above, is office draftsman and timekeeper for the engineering crew of 17 men. He is shown lettering one of the hundreds of sheets of plans necessary before bids can be called on any state road project such as the one now underway here. Besides the resident engineer, there are a chief inspector, one office man, two senior inspectors, six rodmen, and seven junior inspectors on the staff.

Three surveying operations go into planning for every road improvement project. Above from left the surveying crew of the engineering department are: J. L. Minor and M. W. White, rodmen, and L. K. Mathews. and Billy J. Price, junior inspectors. From their field notes, books are compiled, and from the books the plans are drawn. $1,461,400 appropriated by the county from its bond issue will be spent by the state on the 80.2 miles of farm to market roads being built.

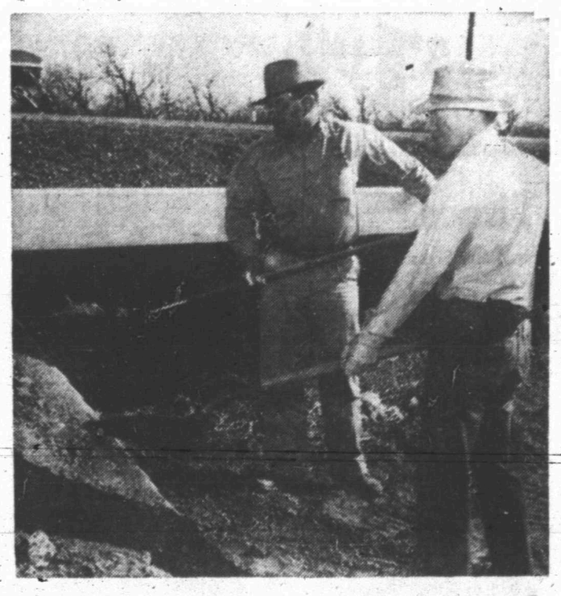
The three men above are shown measuring a stretch of road that is to be paved in the county's farm to market program. Each 100 feet of the road is measured, so that the exact length in feet is known before the plans are drawn or contract is let. From left John R. Covey, Jr., Charles E. Stephens, and N. L. SoRelle are shown.



Testing of soil over which road improvements are to be made is an important and time consuming part of the job. Shown in the engineering department's laboratory above from left are: J. B. Fowler, C. C. Redden, and T. O. Brannon. Brannon is a junior inspector and lab technician for the department. He carefully weighs, bakes,and analyzes samples of soil from regular intervals along all roads being improved.



N. A. Billingsley, left, above, and C. B. Morrow, both senior instrument men with the engineering department spent much time in the office as well as in the field. Their job includes surveying roads for improvement projects, compiling data in the office, and drawing plans for the projects.



A. R. Vandiver, left, and Lester Merritt, are shown shoveling dirt from a streambed so that if it does rain here drainage will not be obstructed.

VERA MAXWELL

1083

Fit for a Princess: Vera Maxwell, long noted for her marvelously comfortable clothes, comes forth again with a two-pieces designed especially for the queen you are. This particular two-piece dress is outstanding because of its lines. Note the small mandarin-like collar, the smart softness of the Dolman sleeve, the sheath-like straightness of the plain, simple skirt. These are just a few of the points that make a Maxwell designed dress something to be remembered. Pattern No. 1083 looks especially good made up in taffeta, faille, shantung, or any of the fine wools. It would be most effective made up in any one of the beige or blonde wools that are so good this year. If you are planning your Spring into Summer wardrobe right about now, you might be more interested in shantung. Size 12 requires 3 yards of 54-inch fabric, and patterns are available in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. AUTHOR WARNS

Hard-Bitten Career Woman Headed for Spinsterhood

By DOROTHY ROE

The woman who concentrates all her efforts on getting ahead in a career is likely to wind up at middle age lonely, dissatisfied, unhappy—and something of a phony.

So says Ernestine Gilbreth Carey, co-author of the two best-sellers, "Cheaper by the Dozen" and "Belles on Their Toes," who has just written her first novel, "Jumping Jupiter." Says she:

"Sometimes I look out my kitchen window in Manhasset, Long Island, and see a smartly groomed career gal leap into her shiny roadster and zoom off to work. As I go back to my dish washing, I'm inclined to sigh 'Ah, that's the life!'

"But then I stop and reassure myself thus: 'When she does get to her office she's going to be in a rat race all day, and one day she's going to wake up and find that she's not as well-stacked as she used to be, and that marriage has passed her by. While the gal who's a housewife is still going to have a big strong man to look after her and tell her she's beautiful, whether she is or not.'"

Mrs. Carey, daughter of the fabulous Lillian Gilbreth who managed to run a successful career as an efficiency engineer and raise 12 children at the same time, has played both the role of career girl and housewife, singly and together.

A department store buyer for 15 years, Mrs. Carey retired from her job after publication of the first book about the incredible Gilbreth family—but writing and lecturing keep her about as busy as before. Her new novel tells a sometimes hilarious story of the hectic life of a department store toy buyer and of "Jumping Jupiter," the galloping goat on which she rode to success. But she says:

"The politics of big business, the jockeying for position, the jealousies and the cut throat competition among executives are not conducive to warm, human traits. Unless a woman has a strong character, built up from childhood, she's likely to become ruthless, insincere and something of a phony under such pressures."

Mrs. Carey is not one of those, however, who preach the inflexible doctrine that 'woman's place is in the home.' Says she:

"A married woman with a family is in no danger of being engulfed by any job. She has so many other things to think about that the job never gets too important. It's the unmarried girl who passes up every chance of normal happiness to get ahead in her career who stirs my sympathy.

"I think the most successful career women are those with a normal family life—and I hold no truck with those who claim that a smart woman can't hold down a job and run a household at the same time without slighting either."

Mrs. Carey has two children, Jill, 13, and Charles, 9. Both are normal, happy, well-adjusted youngsters who do not feel neglected because mom held down a full-time job for most of their lives, and now has a full-fledged career as a writer.

She has a rule of life taught by her mother:

It is the duty of every woman to use every talent and ability she has.

WHY STARVE TO TAKE OFF FAT?

Here is an inexpensive home recipe to take off ungainly weight and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Just get from any druggist, four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour into pint bottle and add grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonsful twice a day. Wonderful results may be obtained quickly. Now you may slim down your figure and lose pounds of ugly fat without back-breaking exercise or starvation diet. It's easy to make and easy to take. Contains nothing harmful. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky weight and help regain slender, more graceful curves, return the empty bottle for your money back.

LOST 20 POUNDS

"I want to say I think Barcentrate is wonderful," writes Mrs. R. H. Payne, 1221—9th, Lubbock. "I had tried several other methods of reducing before I tried Barcentrate, but none worked. I have lost 20 pounds with Barcentrate and feel a lot better."

32 POUNDS LOST

"After taking seven bottles of Barcentrate, I have lost 32 pounds."—Mrs. K. C. Weland, 3702 S. Flores Street, San Antonio.

ATE ANYTHING

"I want to tell you how wonderful I think your Barcentrate is. I weighed 219 pounds before I used it. At the end of two weeks I was under 200. It's the most amazing thing I ever knew to take off surplus fat and I can eat anything I want."—Mrs. Geanett Windsome, 1838 Mentor Ave., Dallas, Texas.

LOST 17 POUNDS

"I weighed 198 before taking Barcentrate. I now weigh 181—a loss of 17 pounds."—Mrs. Ruby L. Melton, 7002 Greenville Ave., Houston.

ASK MILDRED

Send your questions to Mrs. Mildred Sparks, county home demonstration agent, the court house, or to the Daily News.

I like to use parsley for garnishing food, but I can't always find it, even in meat markets. Do you know where I could buy it? Mrs. L. M. Jr.

I am not sure where you can buy parsley, but here is a suggestion for growing your own simply and inexpensively: Dampen a large sponge, sprinkle it with a spoonful of parsley and watch it grow. Keep the sponge damp all the time, and when bare places appear, add more seed.

• • •

It seems a pity to throw away the bones of baked chicken when there is still some meat on them, but I don't quite know how to make use of this form of leftover. Have you any suggestions? Mrs. K.

You can make a very flavorful casserole out of the bones in this manner: Boil the bones in a small amount of water until the last of the meat falls off. Remove bones and add sea - shell macaroni to broth. If there is not enough meat, add tuna when macaroni is done. Mix in leftover gravy (or undiluted cream of mushroom soup), top with buttered crumbs and heat.

To eliminate writing a list just before your laundry is sent out, attach a pad and pencil to the laundry hamper. Fix a laundry bag inside the clothes hamper, also, and keep a record of the items you place in it.

• • •

How do you keep brown sugar from hardening once it is opened in this dry climate? Mrs. J. L.

The best thing to do is to put the sugar in a jar with a tight-fitting lid. Or you could put a piece of apple into the sugar to provide a little moisture.

Should Snyder organize a little theatre group, Miss Jane Hardin, above, would be one of its most likely potential actresses. She is a teacher in the North Ward School and an enthusiastic follower of stage productions.—(Lee Watson photograph.)

TALK OF THE TOWN

By SUE HOLMES

Ad libbing in iambic pentameter is just one of the trials an actress must encounter says one young woman in Snyder who has five years of teaching college dramatics behind her.

Highly enthusiastic about any phase of dramatic arts, JANE HARDIN says the theatre is her vocation and avocation. And she likes every phase of it—acting, directing and production. Before coming to Snyder last fall to teach at North Ward School, Jane was a drama instructor at Iowa Wesleyan College, where, among other duties, she directed six major productions a year. Any person who works in the theatre will tell you that's a large number for any dramatic group to undertake.

As a preface to teaching, Jane attended Texas Wesleyan College in Fort Worth, then earned a master of arts degree at the University of Denver where she worked in productions at the famed Red Rocks Theatre, an open air arena.

Summer vacations have been spent in New York where the young thespian "bought stacks and stacks of tickets" and saw the current stage plays.

Playing Kate in Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew" Jane remembers as her favorite role and her most trying. It was during this comedy that Jane had a moment of tragedy. She was alone on the stage waiting for Grumio, the page in the play, to appear. Somehow the actor missed his cue, and she was left on stage for two minutes (an eternity to an actress trying to cover for the missing actor).

"Since the play alternates between poetry and prose, I had to ad lib in iambic pentameter, and it wasn't easy," she laughs.

Classic Greek or the latest play to open, Jane likes them all and can't single out any one favorite. One thing she is sure of, though, and that is she'd prefer the legitimate stage any day to the movies, radio or television. About the latter she says, "It certainly is suffering growing pains." She believes even the so - called "best" TV shows bank too much on name performers and too little on rehearsal, which leaves a shaggy impression on perfectionists of the stage.

Summer plans include a trip to California, where it's pretty certain she'll see what the West Coast has to offer in the way of drama.

Hard work but fun, Jane says about dramatics. She not only likes speaking parts but also can sing. During the Christmas season she provided the vocal part in an arrangement of "The Other Wise Man" which was presented to numerous clubs.

Jane, whose heart - shaped face is framed by dark hair in a poodle cut, came here last summer to visit Mrs. Jack Bowden, with whom she had attended school in Childress, and decided to move here.

Mrs. C. D. McIVER of the Von Roeder addition has been house-hunting in Abilene, since her husband has been transferred there. He was manager of Mid - Continent Supply. Co. here, and the family — including daughters Nina and Charlene — came two and a half years ago from Eunice, N.M. "We really feel like Snyderites now and hate to leave," Mrs. McIver says.

Muddled Policies Of U.S. And Britain Preventing Agreement

By WALTER LIPPMAN

Here and abroad people are asking how much agreement there now is between Britain and America in the Far East and in the Middle East. The question would not be so hard to answer if agreement were a matter of Britain accepting our views, or vice versa. But the great fact is that on the deep and difficult problems of the Far East and the Middle East neither of the two governments has views that are clear enough to be brought into agreement.

These deep and difficult problems are not those which are posed by direct, overt, naked, organized military intervention, as in Korea. There has been no great difficulty in reaching agreement to resist that obvious kind of thing. If there is a truce in Korea, if then the Chinese take part in an invasion of South Korea, there will, of course, be prompt and severe retaliation. Likewise, if Chinese armies march across the frontier of Indo - China and attack the French and the Viet-Namese, then Britain and America will, of course, retaliate promptly and severely.

• • •

But while it is necessary and important to know what we would do if there is an overt aggression, and important to know what we would do if there is an overt aggression, the perplexing problems of the Far East and of the Middle East are those in which there is no overt aggression. Korea is the exceptional and not the typical case. There is no overt aggression—nothing that has yet happened which calls for collective action by the U. N. — in Indo - China, Malaya, Burma, Iran, Egypt and Tunisia. Yet the problems of the Western powers in those countries are enormously difficult and dangerous.

It is important to know what we would do if there were overt Chinese or Russian intervention in any of them. But what we need to know now, from day to day, is what to do if there is no intervention but the troubles mount. The real issues which the French, the British and we ourselves have to face in these regions cannot be dealt with alone by military declarations as to what we shall do if something, which has not taken place, should take place. We need the military declarations. But we must not then deceive ourselves into thinking that these declarations and pledges solve the main problem.

If the roof of the house is falling in, it will not solve the problem of how to go on living in that house to put another lock on the front door. It may be, of course, that the Chinese and the Russians intend to repeat the Korean affair all around the periphery of the Communist orbit. But it is at least as likely that they have learned the lessons of that experiment, and that they will not do the things for which we are now best prepared, which would now most surely mobilize the whole non - Communist world against them.

• • •

What we are least prepared for is the kind of thing we are seeing in Iran, in Egypt, in Tunisia—in another form in Burma, Indochina and Malaya. Were there an armistice in Korea, we should be seeing it there. It is the breakdown of the existing authority which then precipitates a confused and probably a long struggle in each country, and by rival outside powers, to determine the succession.

• • •

Almost certainly there can be no such thing as a "solution" for what is in fact an immense historical process. To expect to have a "solution" for all these countries is rather like it would have been five centuries ago to ask whether the Pope or the Emperor had the better solution for the passage of Europe from the Middle Ages into the Modern Age.

• • •

That does not mean that we can do nothing. It does mean that if we see the problem in that way, we shall understand that the very essence of all policy must be the understanding that we no longer dominate and that we cannot command the course of events. Our military power, which is indispensible for dealing with the military power of the Soviet Union, is altogether a secondary instrument in our actions in these countries. We must not expect to accomplish much by military power. That would be like expecting the strategic air force to deal effectively with reckless driving and child delinquency in our cities. Nor as a matter of fact can the course of events be governed by subsidies given to those who most convincingly proclaim their preference for us as against the Communists.

• • •

There was a time when this country had much greater prestige and influence among all these peoples than it has today. That was when we were asking nothing of them but that which they wanted for themselves. I know well that great powers cannot expect to be loved everywhere and that they are bound to be distrusted and widely disliked. Yet despite all that, and though our position and theirs have changed greatly, the old American attitude is still the true, and for the long run the only effective foundation of a policy.

The essence of it is not to treat these peoples as the instrument of an American policy, as pawns in the strategic policy of military containment. That will not work. That is what is not working now. That is the main cause of the immense Asian feeling against us. The people there believe — and those who can read or listen to what is so commonly said in Congress and elsewhere find much to support them—that we think of them as a means to our ends — noble ends, no doubt, but still our ends.

Only the other day a leading newspaper tried to help Mr. Churchill by explaining to its readers the quantitative advantages to America of the British Isles. That would once have been recognized as a most un-American way to talk about other peoples, and Americans would have regarded it as an immoral way to think about them. We shall do well to examine ourselves. For in dealing with the peoples of Asia and Africa who are just achieving independence, the first thing to realize is that by independence they understand primarily not merely universal suffrage or even a better standard of life but above all a new personal self-respect. If we forget that, the policies we make for those regions are sure to be disastrously ineffective. For the one thing that will not work in that turbulent world is a policy which regards the people as an instrument.

Canes And Mad Dogs Enliven Man's Hours Waiting For Bus

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Cross-section of a man's mind waiting for a bus:

Look at all the people on the street tonight. . . Boy, I bet if a mad dog ran up right now you'd see them scatter. . . . I'd scatter too. . . But if I had a cane I wouldn't. . . With a cane a fellow is pretty safe against attacks by mad dogs. . .

Why did men ever let themselves be jeered out of the habit of carrying canes anyway? . . I'd carry one if everybody else did — a thorn cane with a big knobby end. . . Canes feel good. . . A man never knows what to do with his hands when he's walking. . . With a cane in your hand you're two inches taller. . .

What if a mad dog jumped me right this minute?. . . Why, I'd be helpless. . . You think the cops would help you?. . . Not them. . . They're too busy writing out traffic tickets. . . They'd probably arrest you for obstructing the dog's path. . .

Varicose veins. . . That's what I'm getting waiting for this darned bus. . . I'll bet all the buses are parked at the end of the line and the drivers are playing pennyante poker. . . You never catch a bus driver with varicose veins. . . Kidney trouble? Yes. . . "We get it from jouncing over holes in the street the mayor is too busy to fix," a driver told me once. . . He said they took a kidney stone out of him as big as a hen egg. . . . When I didn't believe him, he took it out of his pocket and showed me. . . It was only about as big as a pigeon egg . . . Never trust a bus driver. . .

I guess it's barbers that get the most varicose veins. . . From standing on their feet so long, they say. . . I asked one why didn't they invent a revolving chair so they could circle around a customer while sitting down in comfort. . . Didn't impress him at all. . That's a barber for you — rather talk about his troubles than think out a way to cure them. . . Lot of people that way. . . Where's that bus?

The weather affects people in lots of ways. . . Cops say married people and barroom drunks always fight more often during a full moon. . . The weather gets animals too. . . I know a fellow who said his dog always cried when it thundered. . . But cats are braver. . . . I never heard of a cat that was afraid even of lightning. . . People used to say thunderstorms turned milk sour. . . Well, that's a cheap way to make yogurt. . .

Oh, oh! . . . Look at that mousy guy with the umbrella. . . Who's he think he's fooling?. . . Every time I see a guy with a married look who carries an umbrella I figure him for a two-time wolf. . . He thinks the umbrella makes him look harmless. . . S'funny, I don't remember ever seeing an old bachelor carrying an umbrella. . . I guess the bachelors that carry umbrellas die young of galloping caution. . .

Why don't men go back to carrying canes again and. . . Oh, here comes that darned bus. . .

"Well, driver, where you been—abroad?"

"Okay, wise guy. Save those funny remarks for your wife. You pay her to listen. All you pay me for is to drive you home."

Cornish People Are Both For, Against Socialism In Britain

By RONNIE DUGGER

ST IVES, Atlantic coast of England, Jan. 31. — The Cornish people in Southwest England are very much like Texans in Southwest U. S. A. — proud, clannish, and independent. When they leave their Cornwall County they go "up to England." There is even a character in a nearby village who is starting a separatist movement for the independence of Cornwall from "that country."

They have their own language, derived from the Celtic, and their own "national heroes," mostly ghosts and goblins, but also including a fisherman who brought a mermaid home one night. She is immortalized in a church at Zennor, just down the coast.

This is an ancient little village built up on the sides of a small promontory sticking out into the Atlantic. The artists' colony is almost as important as the fishing. Artists live here all year round, painting the skiffs at anchor, the moon over Carbis Bay, the grizzled, salt - beaten faces of the tough Cornish fishermen, and the auctioneers matching merchants' bids for the day's catch.

BRITAIN KEEPS WARMTH

As I type this, we look down to the darkened sea through a large picture window from our host's home on a hill rising out of the bay. A warning light blinks oceanward through the twilight from a white tower far from the coast. Beneath us stretches a sandy, deserted beach where the broken foam of the Atlantic's waves spend its final energy.

This is the end of a two-week visit to Southwest England—to English homes, Rotary Clubs, cathedrals, and red - dirt farms. We have learned a lot of Britain. We know that she will never lose her warmth, though all her coal be gone. If each British family get only one egg a year on the ration, I feel sure they would save it until some guests dropped in for dinner.

SICK OF SOCIALIZATION

We have learned, too, that the middle class folks of this part of England are sick of their socialized bureaucracy, but firmly loyal to the welfare state. They are impatient to be rid of the yoke of officialdom but equally determined that Britain's care of its young, its old, and its sick will not diminish.

We arrived in Bristol early one Sunday morning. It was strange, but that very morning we saw this once - splendid church tower standing alone in a field of rubble. We climbed over a fence and found that te wartime bomb which had destroyed the entire block had exposed a winding staircase at the foot of the Tower, which somehow survived as a high four - sided shell.

HAS U. S. FORGOTTEN?

I proceeded up the staircase almost on hands and knees, here and there finding a part of the wall surrounding the steep steps blown out. From the top, beside the parapets, I could look down inside the shell to the ground, where, but for a bomb, a church choir would have been singing at that moment. England—all of Europe—lives with these ruins. Sometimes I think America has forgotten they are still here.

We stayed with the Barrands at their fine home, fortress - like in front and built about 1790. Mrs. Barrand has a good collection of Georgian glass, and two high-cabinet grandfather clocks stand in the living room and hallway.

Mrs. Barrand, whose husband is president of the Bristol Rotary Club, told us enthusiastically of England's campaign to help underprivileged children. Every child of whatever background is guaranteed a hot meal at school, which his parents pay for if they can and don't if they can't. By law, every school child must have a glass of milk every morning during a class recess.

AGED ARE HELPED

Of Bristol's 480,000 people, 20,000 are "old and alone," Mrs. Barrand told us. The Bristol club distributes parcels to them and tries to see that they get one inexpensive hot meal a day via movable carts. Many a community could use that kind of spirit!

From Bristol we went on to Bath, where John Hatton, for 40 years director of the Roman baths there, gave us a fascinating tour. White -haired, good - natured, and a bit gruff as Englishmen go, Mr. Hatton told us that the use of the 120 - degree springs by the Romans as baths dates from 54 B.C. He pointed out a long worn groove in the rock floor around the central bath. The groove led to a flat, rectangular stone resting in the corner of the bath.

"Here," said he, lightly stepping out onto the stone, "is where they used to dive off. Like this"

BRITISH DIGNITY

Something slipped and in he went! For the first time in his 40 years with the baths, the director fell in. We were concerned, as he's an elderly gentleman, but he insisted on showing us more of the Roman relics for another half hour, soaking clothes and all. I don't remember his saying another word of the incident after his initial, "My heavens! The first time!" British dignity, at its stiffest test, passed.

Once we got him home, he relaxed and joined in Mrs. Hatton's merriment over the incident. We learned that Mrs. Hatton works for nothing in an infant welfare clinic under the National Health Service, which she thinks a good thing. The Hattons also think that socialism and full employment have removed workers' incentive and made them lazy.

WHAT SOCIALISM DOES

At Plymouth, local businessman Cyril Penrose told us that tea is wrecking the building industry. Workers, he says, take time out for tea at 9, 10, 11, 2, and 4 o'clock, 20 minutes each time. "The incentive is gone," he said. "Socialism is breeding a dreadful lack of adventure. A lad of 15 came in the other day and asked for a job—but first he wanted to know if there would be an old age pension!"

Penrose is also fed up with government business. He calls London officials "thousands of petty Hitlers," and not efficient Hitlers, at that. He got an order from the Ministry of Works to provide electricity for a school within three months. He wrote to another division of the same Ministry for priority on an appliance and was told he couldn't have it for a year. The Ministry, evidently, had different views.

This same Penrose thinks socialized medicine doesn't go far enough. Giving people a choice of going to a private doctor, he says, keeps the charity stigma on free medicine. "Everybody has a right to be healthy," he said.

From Plymouth, we went on to Torquay, Truro, Penzance, Falmouth, Lands End, and back to St. Ives. The neat farmlands, the villages, a little twist in the road with a thatched church called "Come to Good," the precipitious coast—all these were memorable.

Tomorrow we will go back to Oxford for the second term.

High Schoolers Handling Own Traffic Court

Chicago (AP)—The kids are cooling off their own hot rods at Maine Township High School near suburban Park Ridge.

They're doing it through a high school traffic court, presided over by a chief judge and eight associate judges whose average age is slightly over 16.

The court has its own prosecuting attorney, clerk and bailiff, its own traffic code and traffic tickets, and a schedule of fines ranging from a quarter to $1.50.

It was established this year as a means of solving problems of hot-rodding, show-off driving and other bad practices frequently attributed to teen-agers.

The court has full support of the school administration and faculty, but the youngsters themselves handle all court procedures.

The traffic violation tickets are distributed to 80 "special monitors" who keep on the lookout for infractions of the code.

The court's jurisdiction is limited to the 70 acres of school grounds and the immediate surrounding surrounding area. Students who are not "special monitors" may file complaints and appear as witnesses. Violators who plead guilty may pay their fines without attending court, but those who wish to contest the charge may argue their own cases or bring student "defense attorneys" to represent them.

Violations range from failure to have a school sticker to hot-rodding.

"By hot-rodding," Prosecutor Student Lee Howard explains, "we mean kids who actually burn rubber when they drive. They try to start out so fast that they are able to leave black marks from their tires on the street. They're even happier if they can do it again when they shift into second."

The school, with a student body of 2,050, has 618 registered autos.

All insurance companies charge higher auto insurance premiums if a person under 25 is permitted to drive the insured car. An insurance executive estimated these extra premiums amount to more than 25 million dollars a year.

It's to help change all that the court was established.

POLE SNAPPED BY ICE

Firemen had to work their way around an ice covered utility pole that snapped after water played on a warehouse fire gathered and froze on it. It was Portland, Maine's first major fire in over four years and struck in zero weather. Damage to the warehouse was estimated at $100,000.

Farm Machines Problem To Plant Breeders

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mechanization of agriculture is putting new demands on the nation's plant breeders.

Men who build new machinery to cultivate and harvest crops constantly run into problems they cannot solve. Often it is not possible, because of the peculiarity of the plant involved, to devise efficient machinery.

At this point the plant breeder steps in. He changes the plant to make it fit the machine.

Only recently, for example, breeders have developed an "easy pull" sugar beet by combining the globe shape of red garden beets with the desirable characteristics of sugar beets.

Sorghums from the dry tropics have been transformed into types that can be harvested with the combines of the great plains area of this country. Soybeans have been developed that bear pods higher on the plant, making them less subject to shattering by mechanical harvesting.

In a somewhat different class are two new canning-type peaches, the Coronado and Vivian. They were developed to fill out the clingstone peach season, thus enabling canning plants to operate more continuously and more efficiently.

Agriculture Department scientists are breeding a snap bean for mechanical harvesting. Most of the older varieties of beans are unsuitable for mechanical picking and must be harvested by hand.

Much of the success of plant breeders in adapting crops to specific soil, climatic and other growing conditions, as well as to mechanized methods of production and harvesting, can be credited to foreign germ plasm.

The Agriculture Department is constantly gathering new plant materials from all parts of the globe for its plant breeding programs. Nearly 200,000 foreign plants have been brought in during the past 50 years for experimental use.

French Reds Staying Same

PARIS (AP) — French Communist bosses say the party picked up 50,000 new members in France last year but failed to show an overall increase in strength because many old members dropped out.

In 1952, conditions are "most favorable for a great year of massive recruiting," said the party's organization secretary Auguste Lecoeur in a letter to party officials published in L'Humanite, the party organ in Paris.

The key party official apparently wrote from Moscow, where he has been conferring with Kremlin leaders.

Calling for a new recruiting effort this year, Lecoeur urged Reds to concentrate first on wooing members from other political parties. Then, he said, they should reason at home with members who don't attend cell meetings.

The Red Party—with membership estimated at 650,000—is the largest single faction in France, but is kept out of power by a coalition of middle-road parties. Communist membership has dropped from a peak here of about one million at the end of World War II.

History's first mention of a settlement on the site of Madrid in Spain is found in the Arab records which refer to a 10th century Moorish fort called Madjrit, source of the Spanish name.

Pogue-Brownfield Vows Are Repeated in Home Rites

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Brownfield are making their home in Lubbock following their wedding Thursday evening in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Pogue, of the Plainview community.

Mrs. Brownfield is the former Miss Mary Dovie Pogue and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Brownfield.

Boyd Fanning, minister of the Church of Christ, read the ceremony. Tall blue baskets of white gladioli flanked the wedding scene.

Mrs. M. M. O'Rear, pianist, played traditional wedding music.

The bride wore a pale blue suit with black accessories. She carried a white Bible topped with white gardenias from which showers of gardenia petals and streamers of ribbon fell.

Miss Patsy Pogue was her sister's maid of honor. She wore an apple green dress and carried a nosegay of pink roses.

Bruce Cox served as best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Pogue home. The dining table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with the three - tiered wedding cake. White and blue carnations, blue daisies and talisman roses were used in arrangements.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Brownfield are graduates of Snyder High School. The bride is a graduate of Abilene Christian College and formerly taught in the Snyder public schools. The bridegroom will receive his degree from Texas Technological College in May.

Mrs. Brownfield was honored with a gift tea Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Clarence Moore, east of town. Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Walter Surry Gillum were hostesses.

Mrs. J. N. Eicke gave a reading and assisted the hostesses in presiding at the refreshment table which was covered with a silver cloth and centered with an arrangement of carnations in blue and white, the bride's chosen colors.

Twenty - eight guests were present.

A gift tea is planned for 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock Saturday at the home of Mrs. Alfred McGlaun in honor of Mrs. Brownfield.

THE WOMAN'S FORUM

Universal Military Training Presents Perplexing Query

Universal Military Training — one of the hottest issues in Washington — gets both the nod and the frown from local woman, some of whom have sons who would enter training should Congress put the program into effect.

A Gallup poll says: "If public opinion throughout the country has its way a six - month's UMT program would be put into effect this year, with the young men getting into the reserves after their training period." The national poll shows 61 out of every 100 persons favoring the plan.

Mrs. Herbert Ingram, 2701 Thirty-eighth Street, said: "I think the program is a good idea. Too many of the boys were unprepared last time. I have two boys, and if they have to go I'd rather they'd have some advance training."

* * *

"I think we should have UMT if we're going to protect our homeland," said Mrs. A. M. Ewing, 2905 Avenue W. "It seems to be a last resort, but war is a last resort too. Sometimes I fear that the training could be the beginning of militaristic government."

* * *

"I really think it is a good thing," Mrs. W. D. Harral, 2900 Avenue U, said. "I'd rather our boys would have training rather than shove them into action without preparation."

Mrs. O. J. Weber, 3790 Dalton Drive, said: "I don't believe I could say I'm for UMT. Ministerial alliances have pointed out the bad influences such training could have on young boys."

* * *

"We're going to have to advance into it," said Mrs. H. P. Brown, Sr., 2812 Avenue U. "I believe the better prepared we are, the safer we'll stay."

* * *

"I'm a little undecided," said Mrs. Harold Bennett, 3790 Highland Drive. "I suppose we need it, but one day I'm for it and the next I'm not."

* * *

"It looks as if we do need something like UMT," Mrs. A. M. Roberts, Sr., of the Von Roeder addition, said.

Policeman Injured As Automobile Hits Post

Clyde Thomas, city policeman, was slightly injured early yesterday morning when his 1949 Chevrolet sedan struck a telephone pole in front of Furr Food on Twenty-sixth Street.

Police said Thomas was on his way to his home at 611 Twenty-seventh Street after completing the night tour of duty and was looking away from the road to check the front of a firm when his car hit the post.

He was taken to the Snyder Hospital for treatment of injuries to his face, chest, and hand, and hospital attendants said he was in good condition yesterday.

OUTDOOR COOKING FOR GIRL SCOUTS

Mrs. Ben Pennington, left, is shown demonstrating to girls in her intermediate troop how to build an outdoor fire. From left the girls are: Betty Jane Pratt, Robbie Jo Yates, Betty Lou McKinney, and Lois Doonan. The outing was part of the Youth For Freedom program being sponsored here by the Alpha Study Club. The club is also spearheading a drive to build a girl scout lodge in the south part of town.—(Lee Watson photograph.)

BUFFALO TRACKS

Fluvanna schools regret losing the versatile Mrs. H. M. Grace. She not only taught English, geometry and civics, but directed dramatics and sponsored the press club.

Mrs. Grace has been replaced by J. W. Cleghorn. Mr. Cleghorn, a native of Snyder, graduated from Texas Tech last semester with a major in English and psychology. We welcome him as a member of the faculty.

This change has necessitated several other changes. Mr. Turner has again taken over his English classes in high school, and Mr. Chorn is now teaching geometry.

The juniors and seniors are searching for a suitable play. The shortage of girls in these two classes makes this somewhat difficult, but several sample plays have been ordered so that practice can get underway within the next few weeks.

* * *

The junior high basketball teams went to Graham Tuesday evening. The girls won their first victory of the year but the boys were not so fortunate. Several of these young players, under the direction of Mr. Chorn, are developing rapidly. Mr. Chorn believes that junior teams are essential in developing players capable of meeting high school competition.

School was dismissed at 2 o'clock Friday so that the rooms and halls would be clear for painting. This painting was done by school patrons. The paint was purchased by the P-TA. This painting, following the improvements made during the summer, will almost completely remodel the building. We students surely appreciate this expenditure of time and money in our behalf and we will do our part in maintaining the fresh appearance of our building.

The juniors and seniors are contemplating a joint trip at the close of school. They feel that the larger group would greatly enhance the possibilities for fullest enjoyment of this memorable occasion. With this in mind, they are selling magazine subscriptions on a commission basis. Long - suffering parents, relatives, and friends have been very generous, since well over $100 has been added to the kitty.

Several students from Fluvanna and Snyder were entertained Saturday evening in the home of Mrs. Burl at a farewell party for Billie Anne and Jack Weston. Hostesses were Nelva Herring and Patsy Holder, classmates of Billie Anne.
