Plainview Rotary Club Members Are Visitors In City

Guests In Charge Of Local Club's Luncheon Program Wednesday Noon; Sutton Principal Speaker

Lubbock Rotarians Wednesday were hosts to a party of Plainview clubmen and women when 20 arrived in this city early yesterday morning as honor guests at the regular weekly luncheon program at Hotel Lubbock. The program was in charge of the visiting clubmen while Dr. Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of Atlanta, Ga., public schools, who lectured here yesterday, was the principal speaker.

R. J. Murray welcomed the visitors following which Maury Hopkins, manager of the Plainview Board of City Development, took charge of the program. Mrs. C. C. McGlasson sang two vocal solos, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Guy Jacobs.

Woodward Talks
Labeling his address "The Spirit of Rotary," Jack Woodward, city editor of the Plainview Evening Herald, had the gathering in laughter throughout his talk and not once did he touch upon the subject he had announced.

Dr. Sutton, in his talk, stressed education for farm boys and girls and told of the Atlanta Rotary club's student loan fund of $40,000 which has in six years been responsible for educating more than 600 Georgia farm boys. He urged such an organization for Texas Tech.

School Head Talks
Lee Clark, superintendent of public schools at Plainview spoke briefly upon the subject of "Americanism."

Visitors from Plainview included Mr. and Mrs. C. C. McGlasson, Mrs. Guy Jacobs, W. H. Locks, A. H. Bryant, Lloyd Roberts, L. B. Shell, L. W. Kiker, Lee Clark, E. N. Noble.

FACULTY MEETING.
The regular meeting of the faculty will be held Monday afternoon, November 25, instead of December 1. There has been no change made in the meeting of the Faculty club. The change of dates was necessitated by the approaching holidays.

PIG ROAST
A pig, weighing 127 pounds, roasted by a local baker, was served to members of the Aggie club last night at their annual pig roast held in the stock judging pavilion. The pork was roasted free of charge.

It is the custom of the club to hold the pig roast as a send off for the stock judging team's trip to Chicago. No team has been selected for this year.
A committee headed by Percy Powers was in charge. Other members were: Bruce Parks, Elmer Hartman, Jack Hinson, T. J. Harris, Henry Kille, Albert Lockwood, Jimmie Durham, Carlton Cartwright, Jim O'Hill, Hal Yoder and Guy Blanton.

STUDENT HURT
Some students don't know what hard luck is unless they have met with a many accidents as J. Thornton, agriculture student from Slaton. Recently Thornton broke his arm and was temporarily thrown out of work. Just as his arm was mending so that he could use it, he broke two toes in a scuffle at his boarding house. Thornton is a transfer from Texas A & M. College Station.

CATALOGUE PLANNED
Over 50 per cent of the general material for the January catalogue of the college has been prepared, said Dean A. H. Leidigh yesterday. The January bulletin will be the new catalogue for the year and will contain a complete list of students enrolled in the college during the winter, spring and summer terms of 1929 as well as the fall term. Here, therefore the summer students had not been included. Additional material on the courses offered in the summer session will be included. At present over half of the material on the courses now offered in the college has been prepared for the printer.

Dean Leidigh is chairman of the committee in charge of this publication.

Virginia Nance, who works in Dean Gordon's office declared that freshmen were not the only ones who were scared to come to the office of the dean when summoned there. Requests to visit the dean's office have been sent to students who were reported as falling in two or more or unsatisfactory in three or more subjects. Yesterday she said that she had to tell those who came in that the dean was out of town. She noted that upper-classmen looked just as relieved as the freshmen.

Consideration Of Future Program Will Be Taken Up At Session; "Charity Donations" To Be Talked

Every merchant in the city of Lubbock interested in retail work is invited to a membership meeting of the Lubbock Retail Merchants Association, to be held next Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock at Hotel Lubbock, according to an announcement yesterday by T. A. White, president of the association.
"There will be no banquet," said Mr. White, "but we will merely assemble for consideration of our future program." The principal speaker of the evening will be Henry Clark, who will take as his subject "Charity Donations," giving particular attention to unworthy charities that constantly seek donations from the local merchants.

To Wage Campaign.
At a meeting of the board of directors of the organization held yesterday it was voted to wage a campaign to secure the 1931 convention of the Retail Merchants Association of Texas, which meets next year in New Braunfels. "We have asked for this convention several times," said Mr. White, "but next year we plan to send a big delegation to the gathering and make a determined bid. Two advantages will be derived from this convention, if brought to Lubbock, first it will give local merchants a chance to come in contact with prominent retailers from all over the state, and second these men will have a chance to visit Lubbock and the South Plains." J. D. Hassell, former president of the association will discuss this topic at Friday's meeting.

The directors also voted to outline a program whereby a representative from the organization should visit all surrounding communities at least once during the year and extend the friendly greetings of Lubbock merchants.

Study Decorations.
A committee is to be appointed in the near future to study plans for Christmas decorations and special events to arouse the holiday spirit in the city.

A report was received from the convention of the Texas Textile Association, recently held in Dallas, and which Lubbock has invited to gather here next year. A letter has been received from Dan H. Poole, of Sherman, secretary of the organization, in which he states that the invitation of this city is highly appreciated and that it will be given careful consideration when the directors meet in Waco in February.

of the Community Chest program of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce is to be conducted among the students of the college. Warren Huff, president of the Y. M. C. A. announced yesterday that the drive would begin the first day of December and last one week. Claude Nelson, regional secretary of the Y. M. C. A. will be on the campus during that time.

The proceeds are to be used by the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. A secretary for each organization will be employed next summer.

The drive is to be divided into two sections: A general campaign and a special gift campaign. Hal Lary is to have charge of the latter.
A meeting will be held Friday at 5 o'clock of those who have been appointed to work with Lary and Huff on the campaign.

STUDENTS WELCOME
The first of a series of round table discussions, which are open to all students will be given Friday, November 25, at the Chemistry Auditorium at 5 o'clock. Sylvia Wilson, secretary to the dean of women will be in charge. The subject for discussion will be Teas and Receptions.

Brownfield Girls Object Of Search

Father Of Missing Pair Is Soliciting Aid Of Newspaper And Officers In Hunt For Girls

While officers throughout the South Plains are conducting a widespread search, the whereabouts of Lois and Jewell Foster, 13 and 15 years old, respectively, missing from their home since November 10, remains a mystery. The father of the two girls, H. F. Foster, living eight miles north of Brownfield, was in Lubbock Wednesday to enlist the aid of officers and newspapers of this city.

Mr. Foster in explaining the affair stated that he feared the two young girls were victims of foul play. "They had never made a trip without notifying us," he said. "We have every reason to believe that they left with two boys and were last seen in Lubbock."
"I have been in touch with friends at Hollis, Okla. where we lived until one month ago, but they have not appeared in that city."
"I believe that they are victims of foul play."
A short description of the two was given by the man. Each had light complexion, golden hair and blue eyes. They were nicely dressed when they left home. One wore a light colored coat, the other a brown coat.

Lost Million on "The Street"

She played the piano, and won fame—played the market, and lost a fortune. Internationally noted for her beauty, wealth and musical talent, 19-year-old Margaret Snowball, above, has admitted losing nearly $1,000,000—almost her entire fortune—in the recent Wall Street stock crash. She'll move from a luxurious hotel suite in New York to a small apartment, and says she must work harder than ever at her music.

One Hundred Thirty Attend Banquet Here Wednesday

Men-Of-The-Church Honor Wives With Event At Presbyterian Church; Thank-giving Is Theme Of Program Planned

Principal Address Is Made By J. M. Gordon; Girls Of Intermediate Department Serve Meal

One hundred thirty attended a turkey banquet given by Men-of-the-Church to honor their wives Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock in the basement of the First Presbyterian church.

Tables were made attractive with white filled with orchid and white chrysanthemums, and a lovely meal was served in two courses by girls from the intermediate department of the Sunday school.

An interesting Thanksgiving program was arranged by J. J. Clements, master of ceremonies. Rev. W. K. Johnston led the opening prayer, which was followed by a song, "Come, Thou Fount." Rev. Johnson then gave a discussion of the subject, "A Glance at Home Missions." The Ladies' Trio, composed of Mesdames J. M. Lewis, J. H. Howse and H. E. Blocker, favored the group with a vocal selection, "When Twilight Weaves" by Beethoven. They were accompanied at the piano by Mrs. L. J. von Tungetin.

Thanksgiving Address.

A Thanksgiving address was delivered by Dr. J. M. Gordon, dean of the school of liberal arts, who was the principal speaker of the evening.

This address was followed by expressions of gratitude by a number of the members and by a three-minute speech of the pastor, Rev. J. M. Lewis. Rev. Lewis offered the closing prayer.

How to Achieve Beauty

By MADAME RUBINSTEIN

There is a certain type of woman, better known in America than in the rest of the world, who manages to get a tremendous amount of fun out of life and at the same time keeps herself as busy as a bee. She works throughout the day, yet always looks immaculate. Sometimes she stays at business even after she is married, sometimes she doesn't marry, but at all times she's active and lovely looking.

This she manages to do because she regulates her life much as she does her work at business. Her income is budgeted and allows generously for expenditures for bettering her personal appearance. It has been recently estimated that the business woman who earns $40 or more per week, spends as much time keeping herself as busy as a bee. She works throughout the day, yet always looks immaculate. Sometimes she stays at business even after she is married, sometimes she doesn't marry, but at all times she's active and lovely looking.

For essentials such as cleansing and stimulating creams, skin-toning lotions and foundations about $50 a year are spent. She uses more preparations, and she chooses more expensive ones than her housewife sister. Added to these home ministrations she permits herself one facial treatment a month in an accredited beauty salon. Approximately $25 will cover this.

While the woman who stays at home curls her own hair, the business girl gets two permanent a year. Besides, she comes into her favorite "friseur" to have her waves set monthly—all of these hair attentions cost about $36 yearly.

Manicures, too, are professional ones, while the housewife plies the buffer herself. Eighteen dollars a year will amply cover these costs, including tips. For the young lady who wears her hair bobbed, there is the added consideration of monthly hair cuts at 75 cents apiece. This is a minimum, and brings the yearly bobbing output up to $8. You can see the beauty budget mounting!

Since the modern business girl is so much on the wing, there must be an ample supply of cosmetics, lipsticks and refills, and this adds at least $10 to our calculations. One hundred and forty-nine dollars a year goes to making her beautiful. But she finds her investment a profitable one. She finds that it is so much easier to make a good first impression when she feels confidence in her appearance. It is interesting for all of us to know that in order for a woman to have confidence in herself, she must feel assured that she is attractive—and confidence is absolutely indispensable to success.

MARRY IN PLAINVIEW

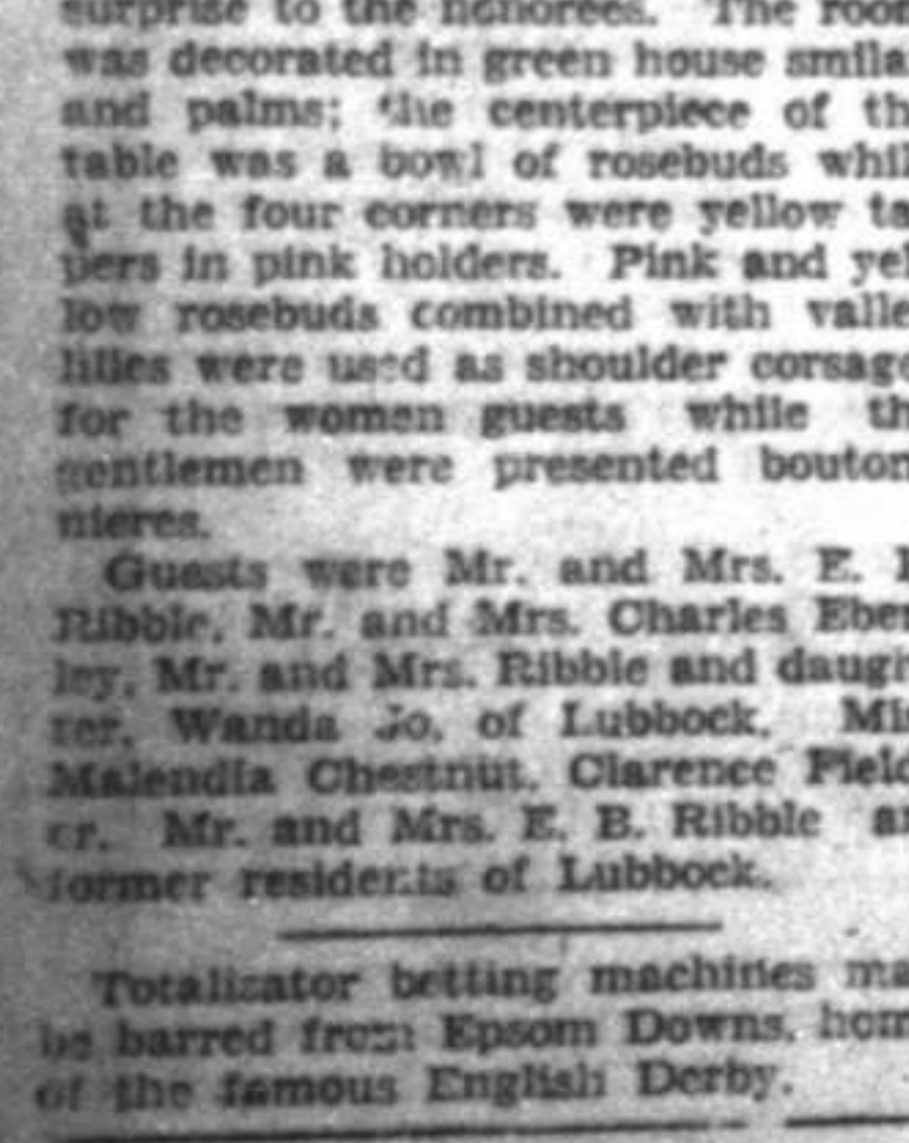

Double Ceremony Performed Last Week

A double wedding was performed in the study of the First Methodist church of Plainview last Saturday when Mr. Acker and Miss Margaret McKemie and Joe Miller and Miss Opal Perkins all of Hale Center were married.

The brides were both members of the Hale Center high school senior class. Mr. Acker is in business in Kress while Mr. Miller is engaged in the wheat business at Olton.

Following a brief honeymoon in New Mexico the couples will be at home in those towns.

In fact, the hats talked so much louder than the talkie, that though I have forgotten the picture, the hats are still working on my conscious and sub-conscious mind.

Every woman that commanded my attention was showing every inch of her forehead, which after years of concealment, looks shockingly expansive, almost nude, in fact, and does give an impression of premature baldness.

And the hat not only has changed itself, leaving the forehead unprotected while it bovers over the nape of the neck, but it has completely revamped the feminine ideal.

Holton Testifies To Suspicions Of Southern Tariff

Mississippi Commissioner Of Agriculture Tells Of Receiving Expenses From Southern Association

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20. (AP)—J. C. Holton, Mississippi Commissioner of Agriculture, said today before the senate lobby committee he became "suspect" of the Southern Tariff association last July after Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, had written a letter to the Greenwood, Miss., chamber of commerce.

"I'm suspicious yet," he asserted, adding he did not want to be connected with anything "questionable," and he wanted to know where the association got its money.

Given Expenses. Holton testified he had received $344 from the association to attend a Washington meeting of commissioners of agriculture last June, $37 to attend a Montgomery meeting, $26 to go to Memphis last June and $62 to go to Austin, Texas.

Holton was asked by Chairman Caraway why he took money from the tariff association to attend the meeting.

"What do you think of dragging the dignity of a commonwealth around like that?" Caraway asked. Holton replied he did the same thing as the agriculture commissioners of Arkansas, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, Tennessee, and Texas.

The witness said J. M. Aldrich, Edgar Wilson, Horace L. Stansel and P. H. Sanders also had been designated as Mississippi delegates to the Washington meeting and their expenses had been paid.

Organization of Co-Operative Is Seen by Farmers
Thirty farmers of Lubbock county met in a business session Tuesday night at the Lowmore gin on North Avenue H, for the purpose of discussing the organization of the Lubbock County Farm Co-operative society.

Due to the small size of the gathering the organization was postponed until Monday night. Between 100 and 150 farmers are expected to attend the next meeting which will be held at the courthouse at 7 o'clock.

The construction of a cooperative gin is planned by the organization as one of its first objectives, according to T. H. Sneed.

SAYS BABSON UNRELIABLE
WASHINGTON, Nov. 20. (AP)—Roger W. Babson, business statistician, who charged in newspaper article today that the senate debate on the tariff was partly to blame for the stock market crash, was assailed as "unreliable" in the senate by Senator Borah, republican, Idaho.

An addition to grain elevators, at Fort Arthur, Canada, will hold 1,000,000 bushels.

It Took Him Eleyen Years to Deliver His Message—But He Finally Did It

By NEA Service.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Nov. 20.—More than 11 years ago as a thin line of American doughboys advanced over a shell-scarred battlefield in France, a runner was dispatched with a field message—and now, he has just delivered it.

Private James D. O'Neil of Mapleview, R. I., has located Lieutenant Colonel James G. Rivers of this city to whom he was sent with the message while the 104th Infantry Regiment was attacking near Belleau Wood. They met at a reunion in Northampton.

The message contained the terse command, "Move to the left 300 yards." It was signed by Capt. E. H. Phillips, battalion commander, who was killed a few minutes later.

O'Neil's outfit was attacking on July 20, 1918, when Captain Phillips discovered that machine gun fire had wiped out a section of his command. Hurriedly he jotted down the message and gave it to O'Neil.

Breaking into a run, O'Neil headed for his destination over the soldier-strewn woodland. But in the excitement he never found his man. He was told that the lieutenant had been killed.

After the battle O'Neil was transferred to another sector. When surviving members of the 104th Regiment held a reunion recently, O'Neil attended. He was introduced to a Lieutenant Colonel Rivers, now of the Massachusetts National Guard.

"Surely you remember Lieutenant Colonel Rivers, O'Neil," said a mutual friend. "He commanded B Company in France."

O'Neil stared at the man in amazement. On being assured, however, that Lieutenant Rivers had not been killed and that he now stood before him in the flesh, O'Neil told the field message he still had in his possession. "That's 11 years ago now," recalled O'Neil. "But I still will be fulfilling that last mission on which Captain Phillips sent me if I mail that message to you when I return home."

Above, Lieutenant Colonel Rivers holding the field message that was delivered to him after 11 years by Private O'Neil, below.

And that is how Lieutenant Colonel Rivers received this field message: "Move to the left 300 yards." (Signed) "E. H. Phillips."

Still More Millions TREAT COLDS DIRECT

EACH year more and more people give up the old, indirect way of treating colds by "dosing" and turn to Vicks VapoRub.

Just rubbed on, Vicks medicated vapors are inhaled direct to the air-passages, and, at the same time, it acts direct through the skip like a plaster.

This better way of treating colds originated with Vicks generation ago.

Today, the whole trend of medical practice is away from needless "dosing," and there are "Over 26 Million Jars Used Yearly."

Westerners Off On Final Road Trip Of 1929 Season

Twenty-Two High School Gridsters On Vernon Jaunt

Lubbock Coaches Expect Hard Battle From Lions In Friday Skirmish; Ride Special Pullman

A loyal band of Westerners followed by a hand at the Denver train last night as the Lubbock High school squad, together with coaches Henry Frnka and Del Morgan and Business Manager E. J. Lowery, embarked on their last road jaunt of the season, bound for Vernon, where Friday afternoon the Golden-Jersey crew will tackle the shorts of Hattie Weir in an important District One skirmish.

Comfortably fixed in their Pullman berths, the twenty-two squad members were given a rousing send-off by the high school rosters, led by the girls' pep squad. The ringing cheers lasted until the train had disappeared in the distance.

Workout Today
The Westerners arrived in Vernon at 2 o'clock this morning and remained in their Pullman berths until morning came. Headquarters for the club will be established at the Wilberger Hotel.

A final tuning-up exercise will be held on the Lions' gridiron this afternoon before coaches Frnka and Morgan send their charges off to bed tonight.

Despite the fact that all dope favors Lubbock in tomorrow's encounter, the Westerners' members have not let up in their preparation for the scrap with the Westerners and will show the squad's full strength against the Lions Friday afternoon.

Friday's game at Vernon will likely be a battle between two stubborn lines, with the Vernon forward wall holding a decided weight advantage. Three Lion regulars tip the scales around 200 pounds and the remainder of Vernon forwards can be classed with the light-heavy division.

Main's Threat
Main's 190-pound bruising fullback, carries the brunt of the Lions' plunging attack, while the fast-stepping Lawrence, Gilhausen and Christian are called upon to sidestep the enemy backs and brush the tackles. Crawford, versatile Lion field general, does most of the passing and kicking for the Westerners.

Anticipating a hard test for his forwards, Coach Frnka included 15 linemen in the squad he is taking to Vernon. This includes five ends—Price, Rich, Hardberger, Watson and Blagg; three tackles—Prizzelli, Bralley and Williams; guards—McGehee, James, Griggs, Welch and McCallin; centers—Leaverton and Crawford.

Backs who made the trip are: Green, Tral, Smith, Lawson, Martin and Watkins.

District 2 Grid Race In Middle

Rumors Circulate Of Protest On Spur Player By Post Authorities; Reports Conflicting

Threatening rumors and counter-claims threw the football bugs of District Two Class B into a turmoil Wednesday when the communication reached here of a protest on a member of the Spur High school eleven by Post authorities.

Although V. Z. Rogers, chairman of the district executive committee was unable to confirm any part of the report it became evident late yesterday that Post officials are making an effort to force Spur to forfeit the Nov. 11 game between the Bulldogs and Antelope which was won by the former 21 to 19.

Conflicting statements flow thick and fast yesterday as futile attempts were made to clarify reports. Following on the heels of the communication from Post that Spur authorities had already forfeited the Nov. 11 game with Post came a statement from Coach Gene Taylor of Spur that the player in question was ineligible and that the forfeit would not be made until the protest was carried through and proven. Officials from both schools refused to divulge the name of the player but it was learned that scholastic difficulties are being used as evidence.

No Formal Protest Made
Superintendent V. Z. Rogers of Lamesa chairman of the executive committee of District Two said this morning that no formal protest had been filed in his office but that rumors were floating around at large. A communication from Post, leads the information that a message has been received from Roy Henderson at Austin stating that the player is ineligible but the report has not been verified.

In the event that the Spur player is ruled ineligible and the Nov. 11 game is forfeited to Post, the latter will be reinstated in the race for first honors with its record clean for the season to date. This would leave Lamesa, Ralls, Lockney and Post in the running and all with perfect records.

Post to Make Fight
Encouraged by the prospect of getting back into the race, Post authorities announced this morning that the protest would be fought to the last ditch. Friday the Antelope meet the Slaton Tigers in what promises to be the outstanding Class B battle of the season. Ralls and Lockney meet on the same day on the Longhorns gridiron. A special train will carry a large delegation of Slaton fans to Post to witness the skirmish between the Bengals and Antelopes.

HOG PRICES INCREASE
OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 20. (AP)—Competition among local packers today brought about an 80 cent increase in hog prices on the Oklahoma City markets. The top at 1:30 o'clock was 9.70. Only 900 hogs were received. The inflation was regarded as temporary.

Americans pay an average of $2,500,000 daily for automobile accidents, says a statistician. How is it, then, that you never can collect?

Texas Longhorns Hold All-Time Edge Over Aggie Crew

Turkey Day Tilt Is Thirty-Sixth Between Schools

Steers Shown With 22 Victories While Aggies Have Won Ten; Three Games Tied Up

(Special To The Avalanche)
COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 20.—Though the Longhorns still hold a considerable all-time edge on them, the Texas Aggies since 1909 have been gradually cutting down the wide margin of victories established in the early years of this colorful football feud, a review of the 35 games in which Longhorn and Texas Aggie teams have met since the opening of hostilities in 1894 shows. The Longhorns are shown with 22 games to their credit while the Aggies have won 10. The other three games were marked by tied scores. The thirty-sixth conflict Thanksgiving day on the gridiron of the new concrete stadium at Kyle Field, promises to add as interesting a bit of football history as is to be found in that long and colorful record.

Steers Have Edge

Fourteen of the Longhorns' first 22 victories came in the first 17 games, after which the Aggies entered upon their longest string of consecutive wins over the Longhorns, with one victory in 1909 and two in 1910, when the teams met twice. Prior to that the Aggies had won only once from their hereditary rivals, that victory being in the second game played in 1902. The only other occasion that marked a perfect record for the Longhorns in the first 17 games were two scoreless ties, one in the first game in 1902 and one in the first game in 1907. The first of these came after a string of seven Longhorn victories and the second followed four straight wins for Texas.

Aggies Come Back

Since 1909, however, the records show that the Longhorns have not found the going so easy. In 18 games, beginning in 1909, the Aggies have won nine and lost eight, the other being the only tie in the past 20 years. This year the Longhorns have an opportunity to even up the score for recent years while the Aggies with a victory could again claim the two game margin of recent history held on their arch gridiron enemies until the defeat last season. Under Coach Clyde Littlefield the Longhorns have an even break with the Aggies, a win and a loss in two games, the championship ship A. & M. team having taken the measure of the Littlefield crew, 28 to 7 in 1927 while last year the championship Texas team downed the Aggies 19 to 0 at Austin. This year the Longhorns will meet the Aggies under Matt Bell for the first time though the new Aggie mentor might well have a grudge against the Steers for during his entire regime at T. C. U. the Horns labored under a Longhorn "jinx."

Three Tie Games

It is interesting to note that only three games between the two teams have resulted in ties, each of which was scoreless. The Longhorns hold the record for the largest score in any of the games, 45 to 0 in 1899, but until their 19 to 0 victory in Austin last year, Steers in recent years had not been able to score more than a two-touchdown victory. The Aggies in 1925 won 23 to 0 and in 1927 28 to 7 to hang up their most decisive score.

Spring Schedule For Buffs Given

HOUSTON, Nov. 20. (AP)—Houston Buff fans this spring will have opportunity of seeing their pets in action against out-of-state opposition, the schedule announced today by President Fred Ankenman revealed. The schedule follows: Ballisnore Orioles of the International League vs. Houston, March 14, 15 and 16; New York Giants vs. Chicago White Sox, March 8 and 9; New York Yankees vs. Buffs, March 29 and 30; Pittsburgh Pirates vs. Buffs, April 5, 6 and 7. President Ankenman reiterated that the Buff pilot for 1930 would not be appointed until early in December at the National Baseball association convention in Chattanooga.

Aggies Point to Longhorn Battle

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 20. (AP)—The Turkey Day game with the Texas Longhorns as their goal, the Texas Aggies have settled down to an intensive period of training that will continue until the eve of the game before the game. Coach Matt Bell is directing the Aggies behind closed gates and will continue this practice from now until the game, he said.

Porker Reserves Down Freshmen

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 20. (AP)—Taking advantage of a freak punt, the Arkansas reserve gridder won, 6 to 0, in their annual classic with the Porker freshmen today. Holt, six foot end, scooped up a punt and ran for a touchdown after Ledbetter, his own fullback, had punted weakly and the ball bounced off a Yearline's head.

Huge Turnout Is Expected For Tech-Simmons Turkey Day Clash

Homecoming to Be Celebrated at Abilene

(Special To The Avalanche)

ABILENE, Nov. 20.—Plans are going forward to accommodate the largest crowd of the season here when the Simmons Cowboys entertain the Texas Tech Matadors at Garman Field Thanksgiving day, November 22. It will be homecoming day for Simmons alumni and ex-students and those in charge of the reunion expect a crowd of 10,000.

In spite of the late reverses of the Cowboys in getting out of the from Trinity and losing from Austin college, the renewal of the feud between Simmons and Tech promises to draw thousands from all over West Texas. At least 1,000 are expected here from Lubbock.

Teams About Equal

Present indications show the teams to be of about equal strength. The Cowboys started the season with good prospects, playing first class football in the first three engagements when they beat Texas second team, 3-0, held the slashing Horned Frogs of T. C. U. to a 20-0 score, and won from Daniel Baker, 15-0. From that point on, however, they have played either mediocre or poor football.

They barely noised out Canyon, 14-12, beat Southeastern, 19-7, tied Trinity, 0-0, and lost to Austin, 6-0. If they do not come out of their slump, they will probably fall victims to the Matadors Thanksgiving. Local sport critics have been unable to solve the peculiar slump of the Cowboys.

A review of Coach Frank Bridges' material shows a well balanced team this year with only one weakness on paper—the lack of speed.

There is weight for the line averages 190 pounds and the whole team nearly 180. Plenty of experience for every man is a second year performer, save one. The last few games have shown a lack of coordination, however, and punch necessary to furnish scores.

"Uncle Joe" Smith and Jim Jennings have borne the brunt of end duty this fall. They have been given a little relief by Vernon Bradford. The play good defensive football, but not the finished game of experienced wings.

Hardy Peerce, John Culppeper and Babe Ribble man the tackle position. Peerce is being used in Peerce, who was all-conference last year and is playing football, but is not showing the flash that fans expected of him. Both he and Culppeper were boxed in on the off tackle three times in the game.

The guards still remain as the chief mainstay of the Cowboy defense. Claude Daniel, three-year man, at right guard, and Curtis Stump Hamilton, at left guard, are leading the team in this line play of all opponents. With practically no relief they have played consistently in every game.

"Bob" Fitzgerald and Lester Goughly can be counted on, however, to give good reserve support for these positions.

George Goughly, playing regularly in spite of a very bad knee, has distinguished himself this year at center, especially in intercepting short passes. If George goes out on account of injury he will be replaced by "Pinto" Allen, who played the pivot position most of last year.

In the backfield Bridges has Captain Rufus Hyde, John D. Harvey and "Lefty" Hamilton as quarters, Sanders, Clark, Kuhn, Houghton and Powell as halves, and Marshall and Weiman as fullbacks. Hyde, Sanders, Clark and Marshall generally get the starting assignment, although Kuhn and Weiman have been seeing plenty of duty.

When playing in their best form the Cowboys of this season have showed a rugged defense and power on the offensive. Strangely enough their defense has been its worst, however, against the weakest teams on the schedule, and of late their attack has lacked punch when near the goal line. All in all the air attack of the Cowboys is not as good this year as last. They are missing the throwing arm as well as the receiving ability of "Mose" Sims, who was Bill Sanders, made a good passing combination last season.

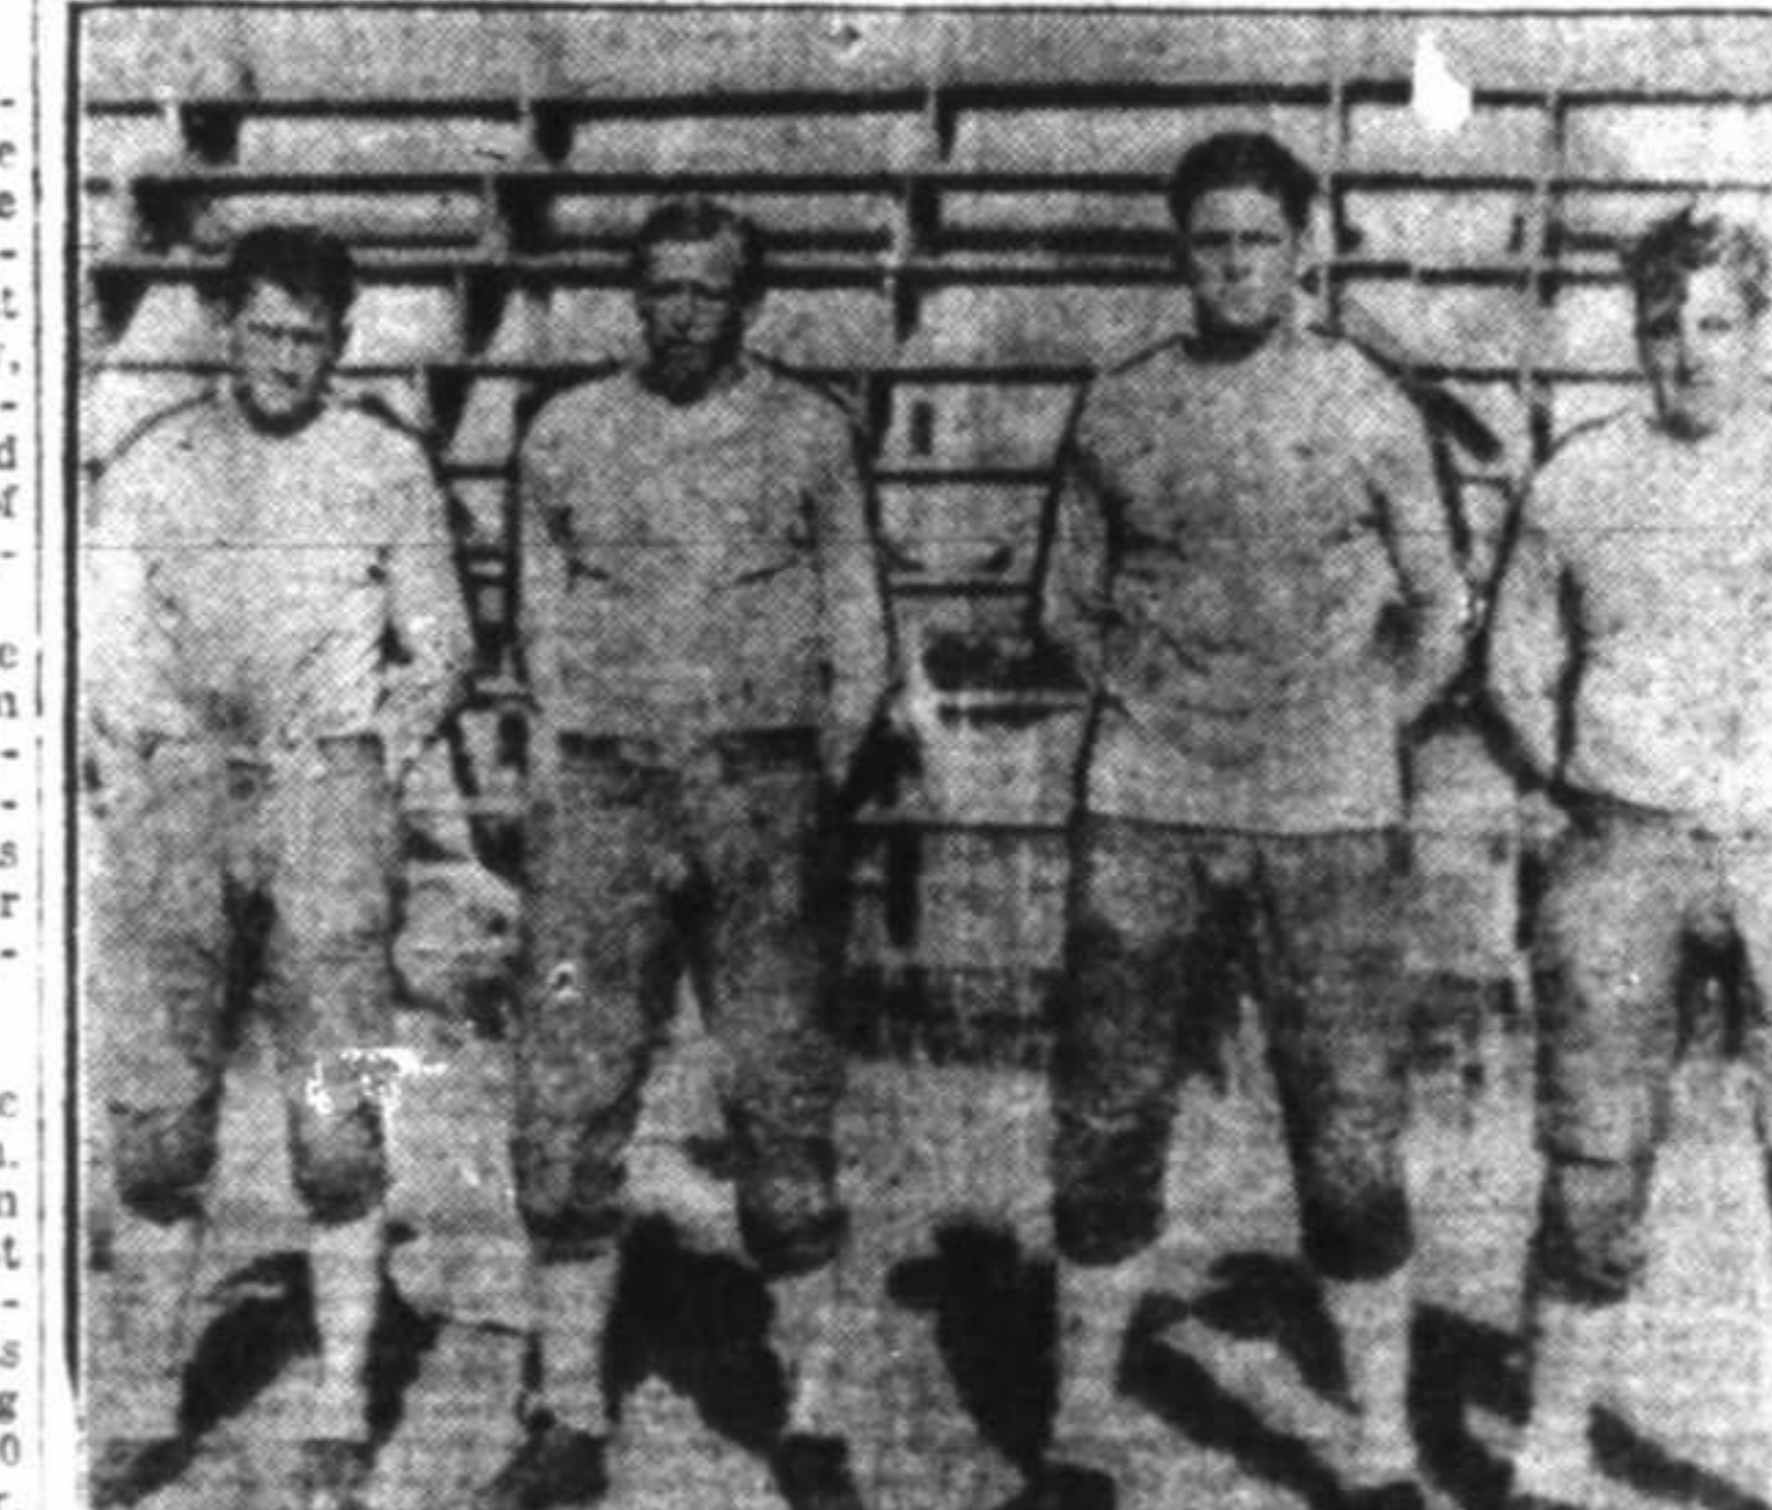

The main attack of the Cowboys this year centers around the plunging of Marshall, Clark and Sanders. The latter is still kicking them high and far as usual, but not as well as last season. He shares the kicking with Marshall and Kuhn.

One Day Affair Is Trip to Abilene

The "On to Abilene" special train will likely carry at least 500 Matador fans to the Cowboy stronghold for the Thanksgiving day battle with the Simmons university eleven. It was intimated last night by Marvin T. Warlick, manager of Tech athletics.

Plans for the special have been completed and tickets will go on sale at the college business office next Tuesday. The train will leave here at 8 o'clock Thursday morning and arrive in Abilene at 12:15, in time for the game which starts at 2:30 in the afternoon. Beginning their return trip at 7:30 Thursday night, the Tech rooters will be back here by 12 that night, making the round trip within one day.

Tech Facing These Cowboys

Four District Champions Virtually Settled In Race

Bi-District Play Will Start In Two Weeks

DALLAS, Nov. 20. (AP)—With four district winners virtually decided and the other four scheduled for settlement by Thanksgiving, bi-district play in the Texas interscholastic league will be under way in another two weeks.

One bi-district battle which already is assured is that between Amarillo, champion of district 1 and Breckenridge, district 2 titlist. Both teams still have one district game to play, but it would take a radical upset to deprive either of a district crown.

Battle Promised
The Amarillo Bandits, have won nine games in all this season, scoring 285 points to their opponents' 16. Breckenridge's Buckaroos, coached by P. C. Shotwell, have eased through eight games in the powerful Oil Belt without a defeat. Their battle promises to be a thriller.

Indications are that Waco and Sunset of Dallas will clash for the championship of districts 3 and 4. Waco's Tigers practically have secured the district 4 crown with four straight victories. Their only obstacle now is Temple, whom they play Thanksgiving. Sunset is leading the third district with five victories and one defeat. The title, in all probability, will be decided Saturday, when the Bisons meet Oak Cliff, which has won four lost one and tied one. Central of Fort Worth has the same record as Oak Cliff.

Denton on Top
Denton appears likely to represent district 5 against either Marshall or Tyler of district 6 in the quarter-finals. Denton has three straight victories, while Sulphur Springs, its closest district rival, has won four and tied one. Denton plays Denton Friday at Denton. It will take a game between Tyler and Marshall to decide the title in their East Texas district. Neither has been defeated.

There no longer is any doubt what eleven will represent district 8, that vast section extending from the Rio Grande down along the Gulf and up to Austin. The Brownsville Eagles have cleaned out seven of their opponents and now have only to dispose of the Austin Maroons to make it unanimous. They will meet Saturday at Austin.

John Reagan Favored
There still is some doubt as to what team the Eagles will encounter in their first bi-district melee. John Reagan of Houston is leading district 7 with four straight victories. Port Arthur has won four and tied one and Beaumont has won four and lost one. The Reagan eleven is favored to progress to the quarter-finals.

Tyler Eliminated In District Six
TEXARKANA, Nov. 20. (AP)—Defeat of Tyler High school's football eleven this afternoon by the Texas team, 13 to 6, left Marshall the only undefeated team in district 6 tonight. Tyler made nineteen first downs to Texas' eight, but was unable to score.

DATE EXTENDED
AUSTIN, Nov. 20. (AP)—The railroad commission today extended the expiration date on a large number of special petroleum rates from December 30 to June, 1930. The rates had been reduced to meet pipe line and other forms of competition.

Morrison Laying Stress On Title Scrap With T. C. U. Horned Frogs; Rice Owls Meet Mustangs Saturday

Frogs Drive For Clash With Bears

No Letting Up In T. C. U. Camp Despite Victory Over Longhorns; Schmidt Fears Bruins

(Special To The Avalanche)

FORT WORTH, Nov. 20.—Coach Francis Schmidt's Horned Frogs of Texas Christian University are not letting up on the practice sessions this week just because of a well-earned victory over the Texas Longhorns.

In spite of Baylor's rather one-sided defeat at the hands of S. M. U. Coach Schmidt is far from expecting an easy victory Saturday. The Frogs respect the ability of the Bears rather highly and they are working as hard on preparation for the game as they did a week ago for the Longhorns.

Bears Dangerous

At times this season Morley Jennings men have looked like champions and at times they have looked like second-raters. Last Saturday was an off day for them so Coach Schmidt figures they will be "right" again next Saturday against the Bears. For this reason Schmidt is giving his men at top speed, for if the Bears are right there is no telling what may happen.

Dusty Walker, who came out of the Texas fray with a broken nose, may not start against the Bears Saturday. He will be able to play if needed, but McCullough may fill his place at end in the starting line-up. In this case, "Grassy" Hinton will probably do the punting for the Frogs. Walker's punts were a feature of the Longhorn game, being for good distances and most carefully placed, the ball rolling out inside the 10-yard line on several occasions. Hinton is not the punter that Walker is, and this department of the game may suffer with the latter on the bench Saturday.

Walker Injured
Walker is the only man on the Frogs hospital list, although "Red" Moore is still not at his best. Moore went on the hospital list when Baylor handed T. C. U. Fort Worth last year to trace of "retro" and will undoubtedly be among the starters against the Bears.

Outdoors are saying that because the Frogs can lose to Baylor and still win the championship the Bears will have a "psychological" edge over the Frogs. That may be true, but Frogs rooters have merely to remind the squad of the 7 to 6 defeat which Baylor handed T. C. U. Fort Worth last year to trace of "retro" and will undoubtedly be among the starters against the Bears.

Pony Stars May Be Held Out Of Fray With Feathered Crew; Sanders To Play Last Home Game

DALLAS, Nov. 20. (AP)—While the Southern Methodist squad primarily is getting in shape for Saturday's fray here with the Rice Owls, it is obvious to observers at the Mustang camp that Coach Ray Morrison is laying more stress on the conflict with Texas Christian University next week-end.

The Pony regulars are expected to get in the Rice game only long enough to pile up a safe lead, after which they will see no more action until November 30. Powell, regular center, and Mason, star halfback, might not enter the Rice game at all unless the Owls display unexpected strength. Both have recovered from injuries incurred in recent games, but the Mustang mentor will take no chances on getting them hurt again.

Saturday's game will be the last at Owenby Stadium for Choc Sanders, captain and all-conference guard of the Red and Blue. For that reason it is said he will be allowed to play the entire distance.

Three-thousand bleacher seats at the local field have been knocked down and transported to Ft. Worth to increase the capacity of Clark Field, site of the championship game next week.

Moore Added to T.C.U. Injuries

FORT WORTH, Nov. 20. (AP)—Another name was added to the Texas Christian University football casualty list Wednesday when Kenneth Moore went on the hospital list. Two other performers, Buck Barr and Leo Buckley, are ailing and the entire squad is surrounded by an antiseptic atmosphere.

Final Tribute Is Paid James Good By Entire Nation

Officials Of American And Foreign Governments At Funeral Services For Secretary Of War

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20. (AP)—Flags at half staff throughout the land today signaled the cessation of governmental affairs as President Hoover and other officials of both the American and foreign governments assembled in the historic east room of the White House and paid final tribute at the funeral of James W. Good, late Secretary of War.

The services of the Presbyterian church were conducted with simple dignity. Around the room, in which many epochal events of American history have taken place were floral tributes from personal friends, foreign governments and many organizations.

Soldiers At Attention
Two soldiers at either end of the casket stood at rigid attention. Elsewhere in the room, the gold braid on the uniforms of high officers of the army and the bright decorations on the uniforms of diplomats and military attaches of foreign powers appeared in sharp contrast to the somber clothes of governmental officials.

Before the services started and anyone had arrived, Mr. and Mrs. Hoover entered the room and remained for a while in personal tribute. The president for sometime stood by the casket and gazed into the face of his late friend and official adviser. Mrs. Hoover remained a few feet distant.

Family Sits Apart.
Mrs. Good her two young sons and other members of the immediate family sat apart in the green room and heard the services from there. The president and Mrs. Hoover, Vice President Curtis and his sister, Mrs. Dolley Curtis Gann, Chief Justice and Mrs. Taft, Speaker Longworth and Good's fellow cabinet members sat immediately in front of the casket.

The services opened with a prayer by the Rev. Joseph R. Sizoo, pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian church.

Promise to Obey Father Ends Case

TEXARKANA, Ark., Nov. 20. (AP)—Reconciliation with her father and a promise to follow his orders in the future today had saved Mrs. Clyde Little, 19-year-old runaway bride, from trial on charges of bootlegging. Charges against her in Federal court here were nolle prossed yesterday, clearing the court's docket of the so-called "women bootlegger" cases. The only pending cases are women who have pleaded guilty and are to be sentenced December 30, and two against whom charges have been indefinitely continued.

More than a dozen women, half of them negroes, were arrested in a campaign last July to stop women bootlegging which prohibition officers said was a major part of illicit liquor traffic in this section.

Liquor Row on Illinois University Campus Followed by Drastic Action

URBANA, Ill., Nov. 20. (AP)—Disciplinary action assumed drastic proportions on the University of Illinois campus today.

The aftermath to the liquor raid on the Gamma Eta Gamma house brought expulsion to eight members of the fraternity and to another student involved. The fraternity itself was ordered to show cause why it should not be disbanded.

W. J. Sherman of Crown Point, Ind., who was fined $500 and cost after pleading guilty to possession of the 12 gallons of liquor confiscated in the raid Sunday, was one of those expelled. Other fraternity members to meet the same fate from the student council of administration were A. J. Withers, Hibbing, Minn.; E. E. Langbonds, Marion, Ill.; A. Butwell, Cicero, Ill.; R. R. Hughes, Burlington, Iowa; J. P. McMillan, Carthage, Ill.; Charles Binkert, Quincy, Ill. and Robert J. Hartley, Toulon, Ill.

Infractions of other university rules brought the days total of 21 students either expelled or suspended.

Fire Chief Among Victims In California Fire

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20. (AP)—Five men, including Fire Chief Charles J. Brennan, were slightly injured in a fire which destroyed the plants of the American Engraving and Colorplate company and the Gray and company in the industrial district here last night. Twelve men were known to have been in the building housing the plants, and all were believed to have escaped. A search of the ruins was ordered, however, when firemen told of seeing two men trapped on the top floor. Chief Brennan reported the loss at $350,000.

Unwritten Law Vindicates "Murder for Mercy"; Verdict Of Jury Frees Man Who Killed Mother to Relieve Pains

Parricide Is Still Considered Most Serious Crime

BY MINOTT SAUNDERS
NEA Service Writer.

DRAGUIGNAN, France, Nov. 20.—"I delivered my mother from horrible misery. I loved her, and I gave her peace."

Like a requiem, that dramatic plea, which won freedom for a confessed parricide, has swept over France. But while finding favor in public opinion, it has greatly disturbed judicial circles.

For a presumably immutable law denying the right to kill in the name of mercy—again has been challenged and beaten. Richard Corbett, Jr., 25-year-old Anglo-Frenchman who shot and killed his mother to release her from the torture of an incurable disease, emotionally sought to justify his act and was vindicated by a jury.

Others Freed in Similar Cases in France.

There have been three precedents in recent years, and every person who so boldly has pleaded that an individual may assume the power of life and death has gone free.

"Do you understand the gravity of your act?" the tribunal asked Corbett as he stood pale but defiant on the witness stand. "The act of parricide is the most serious of offenses a man may commit under French law. You have infringed dangerously on the religious and social principles of society."

"You, a philosopher of some condition, should understand what havoc can be caused by allowing such crimes to be committed. No man is master of himself. Perhaps your mother might have recovered from her illness. Her life might have been prolonged. Does not that trouble your conscience?"

Holds to Religious Belief.

"That is a matter of religious belief," responded young Corbett, after reflection. "I delivered my mother from a horrible misery. I loved her, and I gave her peace."

Corbett's father was an Englishman, member of a well-known family, who later became British Consul at Hyeres, France. His mother formerly was a maid in the service of the Corbett family in England. Corbett's father then a young man became infatuated with the beautiful French girl and married her. He died in 1909.

Richard, throughout his youth, was torn between his love for his mother and the pressure of English relatives who tried to recover him. He was partially educated in England, but when he was 21 he declared himself a French citizen and saw honorable service during the Moroccan campaign.

When he learned of his mother's serious illness last year, young Corbett hurried to her side at Hyeres and nursed her for months. She suffered from cancer and although all possible specialists were called in, they agreed that she had no chance of recovery. She was given drugs daily to soften her pain.

Mother Desired Death.

The torture of the mother became the torture of the son—faithful and untiring in his care and devotion for her. She begged that she might be allowed to die. She tried to bribe a servant to smuggle a revolver to her.

One evening Richard gave his mother a strong narcotic to relieve her pain. During the night he sat by her bedside, watching her.

"What could I do?" he asked during examination. "Her only prospect was agony. I saw the sweat of intolerable pain on her forehead. It was too much for any son to bear."

At 1 o'clock in the morning he shot her through the temple. Death was instantaneous. Throughout the night he was stricken with grief and when the police found him he was stretched across the body of his mother, unconscious. He had shot himself in the region of the heart in an attempt to commit suicide. His condition was critical, but after an operation and weeks in a hospital, he recovered and was taken to prison for murder.

Believed Act Justified.

Corbett never relented in his attempt to justify his act.

"The torment my mother endured was utterly unnecessary," he wrote from his cell. "The doctors had condemned her, and her martyrdom was incurable. It is the duty of an enlightened State to put doomed sufferers out of their misery, and as the State refuses I was forced to take this responsibility." Corbett himself raised the question of the right to kill. When his counsel, Maitre Brun, able and eloquent lawyer of Toulon, urged that his conception was too new and strange to appeal to the solid bourgeoisie of the district and urged an appeal to the pity of the jury, Corbett defied him and declared that if the facts of the case were not clearly stated he would interrupt.

Calls It Public Problem.

"I raise before you the corpse of my mother—killed by my hand—and hold it as an immense interrogation mark to all France," the son declared. "May public opinion thus be brought to consider my problem."

Corbett's attitude before the court indicated that his conscience was clear. Tall, neatly dressed and rather good looking, there was nothing of the criminal type about him. He was greatly moved during the dramatic proceedings, which lasted only a day, but he never relented in his position. He was given a legal loophole by the president of the court when it was suggested that he was mentally unhinged when he shot his mother, but he refused to accept it.

"I have nothing to say beyond this," he continued, turning to the jury. "Science tried all it could do to deliver my mother from her pain and failed. Therefore I delivered her."

Branded A Criminal.

The public prosecutor asked for conviction on the ground that the theory that a man could take the life of a loved one to save her from pain was impossible to any civilized state.

"Corbett," he said dramatically, "is a criminal and must face the fate of a criminal, and you of the jury will take no account of this unnatural, illegal appeal to your sympathy."

"He killed for mercy and, in turn, should receive mercy," said the defense attorney. "Who among us can blame him because he brought that sudden death only a little nearer? You cannot I cannot. I ask you to show by your verdict that he did the only thing a loving son could do."

Called Devoted Son.

Witnesses testified that Corbett had been a most devoted son. The family gardener, the maid, the laundry-woman, his god-father and his aunt, all swore that he had loved his mother dearly.

The jury deliberated for less than an hour, and the verdict of not guilty, caused a joyful demonstration, led by many women.

The right to kill in cases of incurable disease has previously been successfully pleaded in France. In February, 1925, Stanislas Umlinsko, a young Polish actress, shot her sweetheart, who was dying of cancer, and she was acquitted. Later in the same year Mile. Anna Lavassor, a Paris dressmaker, shot her consumptive sister to save her from pain, and was freed. Mme. Damichel, who killed her husband by suffocation when he was growing insane, also was absolved.
