BEN-GURION ABSTAINS

New Premier Gains Vote of Confidence

JERUSALEM (UPI)—The Israeli parliament gave Mrs. Golda Meir an overwhelming vote of confidence today and she took the oath of office as Israel's fourth premier since the Jewish state was founded in 1948. Former Premier David Ben-Gurion refused to vote for her.

The vote on Mrs. Meir and her cabinet was 84 to 12 with one abstention, by Ben-Gurion, Israel's first premier and the man who led it through the Israeli war of independence with the massed Arab nations in 1948.

Before the vote she had said

Jordan Reports More Attacks By Israeli Jets

By United Press International

Israeli jets attacked three Jordanian border areas today with rockets, napalm and machinegun fire, military spokesmen in Amman reported.

The Jordanians said four attacking Israeli jets caused no casualties but damaged crops in the strikes near the Sea of Galilee.

There was no immediate comment from Israeli officials on the Jordanian report.

Earlier in Amman, Jordanian spokesmen said Israeli air and artillery attacks destroyed automobiles and trucks over the weekend. Arab guerrillas said they shot down eight Israeli planes over the weekend—a report not confirmed elsewhere.

In Amman, the spokesmen announcing today's action said: "At 8:10 a.m., two Israeli Ouragan fighters raided the al-Adassiyah Area, three miles southeast of the Sea of Galilee, using rockets, napalm bombs and machineguns."

"At 9:10 a.m., two other Israeli jets of the (French-built) Super Mystere type raided the areas of al-Manzhiyah, eight miles south of the sea, and northern ash-Shuna, six miles south of the sea, using rockets and machineguns."

"Our anti-aircraft engaged them and the aerial bombardment lasted intermittently until 9:30 a.m. There were no casualties in lives but some damage was caused to the crops in the target areas."

Jordan said seven persons were killed and 16 wounded in the air raids Sunday.

In Jerusalem today, Israeli security forces said they destroyed four houses whose occupants were involved in Arab guerrilla activities.

In Tel Aviv, Israeli Premier-designate Mrs. Golda Meir was ready to seek a vote of confidence for her new government today.

In Cairo, the authoritative newspaper Al-Ahram said Egyptians were seeking new air raid shelters in garages and basements.

in a speech that she will not allow the world's major powers to impose a Middle East settlement on Israel. She also pledged that Israel would not give back captured Arab territory until peace is achieved.

Mrs. Meir, the third woman premier in modern history—the other two were in Ceylon and India—presented a cabinet with no changes from that of her predecessor, the late Levi Eshkol. The scholarly looking Mrs. Meir, 70, a grandmother, has pledged to try to win peace with the Arabs—but only from a position of strength. The Arabs regard her as a "hawk."

Mrs. Meir was born in Russia, brought up in the United States and taught school once in Milwaukee, but she has been closely involved in Israel since the 1920s and once served as foreign minister.

Ben-Gurion, the "old man" of Israeli politics, is regarded as her oldest colleague and friend, but he abstained today. Before the vote was taken the Secretary of the Knesset (Parliament) went over to Ben-Gurion's chair and engaged in a spirited discussion with him for 10 minutes.

This prompted speculation in the press gallery that the Knesset secretary was trying to convince Ben-Gurion to vote (See PREMIER, Page 3)

Sirhan's Defense Still Questioning Mental Experts

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Defense attorneys for Sirhan B. Sirhan intend to spend at least three more weeks questioning psychiatric experts about the mental makeup of the man on trial for the murder of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Dr. Martin M. Schorr, a clinical psychologist, led off the parade of defense witnesses who probed the personality of the 24-year-old Arab immigrant. Schorr, who resumes testifying under cross examination today, says Sirhan is a psychotic paranoid with schizophrenic tendencies—in layman's terms, a "Jekyll and Hyde personality."

Schorr said that on the night of June 5, 1968, when Kennedy was shot to death at the Ambassador Hotel, Sirhan was incapable of rationally plotting the slaying. Sirhan has testified he was unable to remember the actual assassination.

Schorr said that in Sirhan's eyes, Kennedy became his despised father and when he pulled the trigger only inches from the Senator's head, he was killing Bishara Sirhan.

The defense contends Sirhan did not intend to kill Kennedy when he went to the Ambassador that night and should not be convicted of first degree murder which carries the possibility of death in the gas chamber.

Gov. Smith Plans Recommendation For New Taxes

AUSTIN (UPI)—Gov. Preston Smith has emptied his bag of non-tax revenue tricks and will recommend about $70 million more in new taxes this week, sources said today.

After losing two attempts to get the money from other revenue sources, Smith is said to be reconciled to the idea that the money will have to come from new taxes.

Smith is to present his new proposals to the legislature at mid-week.

A spokesman said Smith has decided what he will suggest, but declined to elaborate.

An increase in the tax on natural gas production is expected to be among Smith's new proposals, but that alone would not fill the $71.6 million deficit in Smith's budget.

That gap was created when Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin declared part of Smith's original tax plan unconstitutional.

Smith intends to stand by the rest of his original tax program, including his suggested $10 surcharge on traffic fines, the spokesman said.

The surcharge is the only significant non-tax revenue source left in Smith's revenue plan. He estimated it would raise $38.5 million. Anyone convicted of a moving traffic violation would pay $10 to the state in addition to the regular fine.

This proposal has encountered almost unanimous opposition in the legislature.

The remaining items in Smith's original tax plan are an increase in taxes on tobacco products and extension of the state sales tax to personal services, alcoholic beverages and equipment rentals.

The unpopularity of the traffic fine surcharge, plus the fact that the senate finance committee plans to recommend a budget at least $40 million higher than Smith's, creates a strong possibility that Smith's tax suggestions may prove inadequate.

Rejection of the surcharge and adoption of the senate budget proposals would require an additional $80 million in new taxes, in addition to the $149.8 million he already has proposed and the $70 million he is to propose this week.

As a result, some legislators are becoming pessimistic about the chances of the legislature solving its revenue problems by the mandatory June 2 adjournment date.

Sen. Don Kennard of Fort Worth said he fears the legislature may have to come back in special session to pass a tax bill.

REIGNING QUEEN — A quick trip to Shamrock proved to be eventful and rewarding to Pampa High School senior Jan Autry, who is queen in her own rights, this being the third honor bestowed upon her lately. Waiting to greet her and see her crown when she arrived at school this morning were Jan Wallace, left, Jan Elder, center right and Wanetta Bayless, right. Miss Autry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Autry, 1901 N. Banks, was selected Miss Irish Rose at the St. Patrick's Day celebration at Shamrock. She has been named previously as Miss Top O' Texas and as Lion's Club Queen.

Romania Refuses to Condemn Red China, Delays Summit Talk

BUDAPEST (UPI)—Romania's refusal to join Soviet condemnation of Red China for recent border incursions delayed the start of a Warsaw Pact summit meeting for six hours today.

Following reported intensive and heated discussions Sunday night and this morning on a bilateral level, the leaders assembled in the marble and gilt hall of delegations which was decorated with flags of the member nations and equipped with boxes for translators.

Soviet Communist party First Secretary Leonid had the seat of honor in the center on one side of the rectangle table with host, Hungarian party leader Janos Kadar, opposite.

Brezhnev and his delegation were flanked by leaders from the two troublesome members of the east bloc, Romania and Czechoslovakia.

No one except deputy foreign ministers showed up for the scheduled opening ceremonies at 9 a.m. by 1 p.m., no one had offered an official explanation as to the delay in beginning the summit.

PEKING MOCKS SOVIETS

Russians Protest Battle With China

MOSCOW (UPI)—Russians rallied in factories and schools across the Soviet Union today to protest the latest border battle with Communist China. The Soviets disclosed for the first time they had shelled Chinese positions in repelling the "raiders."

Peking mocked the Soviet leaders as "mad dogs" and vowed they would be destroyed.

Soviet students and workers massed to hear accounts of how a handful of "heroic" Soviet border guards held off 3,000 attacking Chinese Saturday on Damansky Island, a tiny disputed piece of land on the Ussuri River frontier east of Manchuria.

Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, announced today the Soviets had used a "powerful artillery barrage" against "numerous" Chinese gun positions, then followed up with a swift counterattack "to sweep the Raiders off Damansky Island."

It was believed the largest clash between the two Communist giants. Although no official casualties were announced, reports reaching Moscow said the Soviet toll was high. Damansky fighting March 2 left 31 Soviet troops dead and cost the Chinese untold casualties.

From Peking, China denounced the Kremlin troika as "mad dogs" who were "digging their own graves" by provoking the Chinese.

Neighborhood Turned Into Inferno by Fuel

MARACAIBO, Venezuela (UPI)—Investigators dug the flight recorder from the wreckage of a Viasa DC9 jetliner and began today the task of determining what caused aviation's worst disaster. The plane smashed through a Maracaibo suburb spewing fuel and killed at least 150 persons Sunday.

All 83 persons aboard the Miami-bound Venezuelan airliner, including 47 Americans, apparently were killed, Viasa officials said. Most passengers were still strapped into their seats when firemen reached the scene.

At least 67 persons in the suburb of La Coruba died when the airliner plunged from the sky into their neighborhood at 11:47 a.m., just two minutes after taking off from Grano de Oro Airport.

Gallons of flaming flight fuel spewed from the plane's split skeleton and turned the residential area into an inferno.

Hospitals mobilized for the disaster said 125 other persons many in critical condition with severe burns, shock and broken bones, were treated throughout the city.

The Anatomical Hospital was converted into a morgue. Relatives, friends and authorities grimly moved among the bodies attempting identification.

Rescue workers sifting the plane's wreckage and five square blocks of burned, splintered homes around it feared still more bodies would be found.

"We are living a national catastrophe," said the governor of Zulia State, Elio Suarez Romero, who rushed to the scene with other national officials. They proclaimed Maracaibo a disaster area.

The U.S. Embassy said at least 47 and probably more aboard the airliner were Americans. Two passengers were Latin American baseball players for minor-league teams in the United States. Others were returning to the Midwest from a Caracas convention of the Clark Equipment Co. of Battle Creek, Mich.

Crash investigators said the flight recorder, which keeps track of the plane's vital statistics throughout a flight, should tell them why the four-engine jet suddenly lost altitude.

Nixon's ABM proposal envisions deployment of defense missiles around offensive missile sites in the United States. The defensive missiles would guard the offensive missiles in order to guarantee the nation could strike back against any country that attacked with a wave of nuclear missiles.

Nixon's so-called "SafeGuard" system would also offer "some" protection for cities from a relatively crude type of attack that might come from Communist China.

The ABM plan is wrapped up in at least four separate bills, so Congress will get at least four chances to vote on it. It looked as though the plan would sail through the House with little difficulty, but the question was a bit tighter in the Senate.

"SafeGuard" was expected to have a better chance than its predecessor, "Sentinel," in the Senate, however.

Even before the hearings began, Deputy Defense Secretary David Packard began lofting some of the arguments for the system. In a television appearance Sunday (Issues and Answers—ABC) Packard said the ABM could not be used "without the authority of the President."

He also said the Soviet Union does not appear to be "concerned" over the ABM plan but he warned the Soviets are continuing to add "very large" missiles with very large warheads to their arsenal. He added the administration could continue to spend money defending the country and "still do... other things" in the area of domestic social programs.

"Because a person must now give the date, manufacturer, calibre, gage, quantity, name, address, date of birth, and in fact the driver's license, he is in fact registering himself, his ammunition and his firearm. I feel that in requiring such a registration procedure, the Treasury Department has gone far beyond the intention of Congress, and that Congress should repeal such provisions and regulations which have nothing to do with deterring the criminal and reducing the incidence of crime," Price said.

Panhandle Congressman Bob Price has introduced legislation to repeal what he termed the "burdensome and unnecessary" ammunition registration requirements of the Gun Control Act of 1968, according to word from Washington today.

Price said he opposed the bill last year because of this and other inequities.

"There is no evidence that even suggests that the present requirements are making any significant contribution to the fight against the criminal use of firearms," Price said. "The new law has subjected many law-abiding citizens to harassment and inconvenience, not to mention shopkeepers who stock shotgun, shells and rifle ammunition as a convenience to hunters."

"Because a person must now give the date, manufacturer, calibre, gage, quantity, name, address, date of birth, and in fact the driver's license, he is in fact registering himself, his ammunition and his firearm. I feel that in requiring such a registration procedure, the Treasury Department has gone far beyond the intention of Congress, and that Congress should repeal such provisions and regulations which have nothing to do with deterring the criminal and reducing the incidence of crime," Price said.

PRIDE GOES TO INDUSTRY

Irish Parade Just Isn't Same

By DONAL P. O'HIGGINS
DURBIN (UPI)—Tourist officials are a wee bit sour about today's St. Patrick's Day parade.

Sure, Dublin massed 19 bands, skirling pipes and buckets of shamrocks for the pageant of the island's great feast day.

But pride of place went to the new Ireland—Ireland the industrial. Most of the parade hymned the new face of the nation. Tourism took the back seat. Tourists and self-exiles home for the first time could only be bewildered.

Today did not salute Pat and Mike. Honors went to Guinness Brewery, Waterford Glass, Donegal Tweed, Bealek China and other Irish products becoming household names around the world.

The floats showed that Ireland, 50 years after winning independence, is—in the language of the world's bankers—taking off.

The float of Bord Na Mona, the peat fuel industry, reminded Dubliners that the bogs that cover one-seventh of Ireland have been harnessed to power an industrial boom. Bord scientists are on the threshold of converting waste marshes into green pastures.

Prosperity has come. The old "peak cap" economy is dead.

Many Irish workers drive to work. Some have two-car garages. Farmers' sons come back to the land with university diplomas.

Wives in Connemara cottages experiment with French recipes in kitchens equipped with blenders, electric mixers and automatic grills. But the big change is in the people.

The visitor finds a new Irishman. He finds an Irish family sitting in the parlor watching television and reading newspapers that carry very frank discussions of sex, religion and politics. So far has Ireland come out of the 19th century some visitors are a bit uneasy about just how frank these discussions are.

Ireland remains overwhelmingly Roman Catholic. But the people listened to the Vatican Council message about modernizing some facets of the church.

Catholic laymen now stand up and criticize the clergy for lack of communication or lack of guidance or lack of participation in everyday problems. Some clergymen accepted rebukes.

But others are hitting back, sparking a fine controversy. And Irishmen are not so changed that they don't appreciate that.

Boy Scouts Set Atomic Energy Merit Session

Boy Scouts and Explorers wishing to work on the Atomic Energy Merit Badge will have an opportunity to sign up for counseling at an orientation meeting to be at the Adobe Walls Council Service Center, 815 N. Sumner, at 7 p.m. today. All Scouts of First Class or higher are invited.

Joe Cassidy and Milo Steffen from the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission's Amarillo Area Office will be present to act as Merit Badge counselors.

The March 17 orientation session is part of a nine-state program, directed by David P. Wood, chief of the Reactor and Safety Branch in the Atomic Energy Commission's Albuquerque Operations Office. He has been named coordinator of an Atomic Energy Merit Badge program designed to provide expert counseling to Scouts.

Nearing its fifth anniversary, the Atomic Energy Merit Badge has had surprising popularity.

BACKACHE & TENSION KIDNEY IRRITATION

Common Kidney or Bladder Irritations make many men and women feel tense and nervous from frequent urinating or itching urination night and day. Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Filor, Bullard Smyth believes current market levels may prove to be one of the best buying opportunities of 1969. The current declines, the firm says, seems more to be a reaction to last year's trading frenzy than to fundamental facts as they are now. "Stocks now are down anywhere from 10 per cent to 60 per cent," it says, adding that "money does not seem to have moved to the sidelines because of anything investors know, but rather because it is the unknown that is scary. Huge quantities of money continue to be available for investment, and given even one good reason to buy, institutions and the public will pour that money back into the market."

Tessell, Paturick & Ostrau feels that some signs of stability have appeared throughout the market and that a base building phase may be underway. The current phase, the firm says, resembles last March somewhat "when a few weeks of erratic market action in spite of the complexity of the subject in 1964, some 1,180 Scouts qualified, and in 1967, 3,206 qualified. The grand total now exceeds 10,000 in the nation.

Window on the World:
Big Four Talks:

The big four powers are expected to get together this month in search of a Middle East settlement, but with very modest prospects of early success. The Russians and the French want a quick settlement to be imposed on the two parties, Arabs and Israelis, but basically designed to force Israel to start withdrawing from occupied territory in advance of an Arab counter-commitment. With Britain hedging, the United States may find itself in a difficult position at the conference table, outnumbered two-to-one and, on some issues, three-to-one.

U.S.-Soviet Dialogue:
When a new U.S. Ambassador Jacob Beam arrives in Moscow was necessary to rebuild the damage done during January and February. The ability of leading glamor stocks to hold at their current areas of support during the next two to three weeks of market consolidation could then lead to a reasonably good rally during April and May."

Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis says "the present down market" offers an "opportunity market" for the intermediate and long-term investor. "The recent decline in the market was probably not related to the general outlook for business but rather to a clear deterioration in the technical forces which tend to stimulate speculation," the firm adds.

on March 28 his first task will be to set up an American-Soviet dialogue on restricting offensive and defensive nuclear missiles. He is expected to bring a message from President Nixon to Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin on new approaches to be made toward improving relations between the two countries.

Change for Better?
Vietnam affairs analysts in Paris say that a subtle change for the better is beginning to take place at the negotiating sessions of the Paris peace conference. The experts have noted that while still exchanging acrimonious charges both allied and Communist negotiators are beginning to shift their emphasis onto negotiating offers. The slight change of mood—though not of substance—at the Majestic Hotel may be a harbinger of efforts to start moving slowly toward a common ground after weeks of mutual tongue-lashings, according to the analysts.

Tightrope Walking:
Gaulist France, which is trying to maintain close relations with both Moscow and Peking, is doing its best not to take sides in the worsening Sino-Soviet quarrel. Diplomatic sources say Soviet Ambassador Valerian A. Zorin received no word of encouragement for the Soviet version of the recent Siberian frontier incident when he paid an urgent call on Foreign Minister Michel Debre.

On U.S. Side:
Nationalist China and South Korea can be expected to enter on the side of the United States in any dispute which may arise over Japanese demands for the early return of Okinawa to

St. Patrick

It has been said St. Patrick drove the snakes out of Ireland. How this legend arose is attributed by some authorities to the fact that the Druids had a form of serpent worship. By gradually stamping out the power of the Druids, Ireland's Patron Saint "drove the snakes" from the Emerald Isle. He founded 360 churches and baptized 12,000 persons during his lifetime.

Born in Scotland around A.D. 387, St. Patrick was kidnapped when he was 16 and sold as a slave to tend sheep in Ireland.

Escaping about six years later, he sailed to France, studied religion and became a priest.

Eventually, St. Patrick was made a bishop by Pope Celestine and sent to convert Ireland.

He failed to convert the Irish King Leoghaire, but received the monarch's permission to preach throughout the country.

The shamrock was first used by St. Patrick to explain the Holy Trinity. He converted many clan chiefs and built nearly 400 churches.

St. Patrick died March 17, at Armagh, and that date, not his birthday, is celebrated by Irishmen throughout the world.

WTSU Partner Professor To Visit in Canyon

CANYON, Tex. — A professor representing West Texas State's "sister institute of higher learning" in Japan, Takasaki College of Economics, will arrive here Wednesday for a three-day visit to "cement the sister institution relationship."

Susumu Tokuda, formerly president of Takasaki College, is interested in further promotion of the relationship which has been established since last summer, and "in making research in the relationship of the university and the community it serves," he informed WTSU President James P. Cornette in a recent letter.

Dr. Hajime Shimizu, a nationally known educator in Japan and managing director of the Japan University Graduate Society, last year proposed establishing sister institution relationships between WTSU and the Takasaki College. The bond was approved by the professors conference of Takasaki in July, and the Administrative Council of WTSU also approved the move in August.

Tokuda, then serving his two-year elective term as president of Takasaki College, informed President Cornette that he planned to visit WTSU and the Texas Panhandle this spring.

A group from Japan visited Canyon last spring marking the establishment of a "sister city" relationship between Canyon and the Japanese city of Minakami-machi. That city's mayor, Mosaku Onozato presented a set of carp streamers to the Canyon elementary school. The streamers will be flown again Thursday honoring the visit of Tokuda, Dr. Cornette said.

Professor Tokuda will arrive Wednesday at 1:48 p.m. at Amarillo Air Terminal. He will attend a program at 8:45 a.m. Thursday at Rex Reeves Elementary School in Canyon.

Dinner Honors Texaco Employees

At a safety award dinner recently Texaco employees of the Perryton area's production department were honored for 15 years' service without a disabling injury.

A 15-year gold safety award was presented to the foreman, George Hess, by L. A. Hamman, assistant general superintendent of the Midland division.

Others honored were George Hess, George Thorsen, David Morris, Hoyt Pruet, Francis Schwind, D. E. Waggoner, Jack Tabor, Perryton; Kenneth Shufeldt, Jeff Stubblefield, Walter Wooley, Spearman; Chester Maples, Stratford; Henry Bateman, Gruver; W. W. Morgan, assistant district superintendent, and M. J. Kinnemen, district superintendent, Wichita Falls; Jerry Parks, Herb Peebles, field foreman, Pampa.

Wives of employees were guests at the dinner, served at Perryton Country Club.

Haynes to Give Program Paper

Bill Haynes, Pampa High School English teacher, is presenting a paper on the PHS pilot program in humanities during the Texas Conference of English and Reading Supervisors today and Tuesday in Austin.

The pilot program in humanities is a special senior level class in literature and drama, stressing philosophy, music and art in their historical context.

The writer mentions her grandmother, who said sadly, "There won't be anyone to wake me when I go. The kids (her children were 60 then) don't care about nice wakes any more. Just want to put you in a cold funeral home alone, and get it over with."

She was right. The grandmother had a streamlined funeral with lots of relatives but no celebrating. The only harkening back to the true Irish attitude, writes Miss Curran, was when one of her ancient, crippled friends whispered, "My, but Tess knew when to go. She just had a permanent last week."

The writer adds, "I hate to see us get sophisticated about death."

DOYCE COCHRAN

SHAMROCK — Funeral services for Doyce Cochran, 49, of Shamrock, were held today in First Baptist Church here with burial in Shamrock Cemetery directed by Richardson Funeral Home.

Mr. Cochran, brother of Lester Cochran of Pampa, died Sunday in St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo of injuries he suffered in a pickup-truck train accident Wednesday in Shamrock.

A native of Marion County, Ala., he moved to Dozier Community near Shamrock in 1941 and operated a farm. A Shamrock resident since 1962, he was manager of Shamrock Co-Op Gin. He was married to the former Isabel Brown at Quail in 1939.

Survivors are his wife; a daughter, Mrs. John Carson, of Weatherford, Okla.; his mother, Mrs. Tracy Davis, Memphis; four brothers, Lester Cochran, Pampa; John Cochran, Phoenix, Ariz.; Robert Cochran, Quitaque, and Tony Cochran, Floydada; and three sisters, Mrs. Charlie Robertson, Lakeview; Mrs. Elvyn Dunn, Amarillo, and Mrs. Arvil Alexander, White Deer.

Knights of Pythias Slate Scholarship Speech Contest

"To Attain Success in Life is a College Degree Indispensable?"

This is the topic to which aspirants for the Knights of Pythias-sponsored scholarship this year will address themselves. Pampa Lodge 480 will enter a contestant this year as last, the local speaking date having been set for April 22 at Pythian Lodge Hall. Time is 7:30 p.m.

According to Knight Floyd Sackett, chairman of the Pampa Lodge Youth Committee, the contest is open to all high school students, ninth through 12th grades. Mrs. William Sargent, Pampa High School speech teacher, will assist students planning to enter. Already several students are at work on the project, Mrs. Sargent has reported.

The contest has been approved by the National Association of Secondary School Principals and has been officially placed in the approved list of national contests for the current school year.

Shootout Leaves One Man Dead

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — A western style shootout left one man dead Sunday and another in poor condition today, police said.

Investigators said William Grady, 39, of San Antonio, was killed when he and another man drew their pistols on one another outside of a lounge and started blazing away.

Police said they had no definite identification on the wounded man. They said he fired four shots with a .22 caliber pistol and Grady fired two with a .38 caliber pistol.

IF YOU THINK MUTUAL FUNDS ARE KID STUFF...

you haven't watched some of them grow up.

There are more than 300 mutual funds. It's no surprise that some are better than others. If you're a sizable investor, could be that a few should be considered for your portfolio. Maybe because you're a sizable investor. The way to decide is to match your investment objectives against objective information about how the funds have done and how they're run. Why not discuss the various features of mutual funds with one of the individualists at Kidder, Peabody. He's an individualist. He won't settle for obvious, traditional answers.

Now Possible To Shrink Painful Hemorrhoids

And Promptly Stop The Itching, Relieve Pain In Most Cases.

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science has found a medication with the ability, in most cases — to promptly stop itching, relieve pain and actually shrink hemorrhoids.

Tests by doctors proved that in case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction of the inflamed hemorrhoids took place.

The secret is Preparation H®. There's no other formula like it! Preparation H also soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

TRANSFORMING actors into characters is the art of makeup man Bob O'Bradovich. He practices new ideas on himself and here changes from his normal appearance, left, to a grumpy, old man, right. He certainly could fool a stranger, but his daughter, Donica, seems dubious.

Top winners in a recent science project at McLean Junior High School were Joe Bob Burroughs, 7th grade, first;

Jim Mac Hall, 8th grade, second; and Debbie Hill, 8th grade, third.

Honorable mention awards went to Danny Dale Dalton, Kathy Bailey, Gregory Fabian, Vicki Parr and Spence Sitter.

Boggs Supports Moon Landings

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Democratic whip Hale Boggs, D-La., has given his backing to 10 more manned landings on the moon following the pioneer lunar landing this year.

Boggs said in his weekly broadcast to the sixth district of Louisiana that it is expected the National Aeronautics and Space Administration will be asking for additional funds within the next few months.

"Unless we maintain our leadership in space exploration," Boggs said, "the United States can conceivably become a second-rate world power."

He said the U.S. has a national commitment to the exploration of space "and I intend to give my wholehearted support toward meeting that commitment."

Medical Expense Category Causes Taxpayer Errors

DALLAS, Tex. —A common error made by Northern Texas taxpayers last year involved medical expenses, especially the deduction for medical insurance premiums, Ellis Campbell, Jr., district director of Internal Revenue for Northern Texas, said today.

Campbell emphasized that on itemized returns, one-half the premium paid for medical insurance, up to a maximum of $150, may be deducted in full as a medical expense without regard to the three percent limitation.

Many persons failed to take advantage of this provision last year and had to file for refunds. The balance of the premium should be added to other costs and reduced by three percent of income. Life insurance and accident and health insurance covering the loss of earnings are not medical expenses and the premiums paid are not deductible.

Campbell pointed out that all taxpayers must reduce medical expenses by three percent of their income. Such medical expenses include the cost of drugs and medicine that exceeds one percent of income. The excess over this amount is deductible.

The handling of medical expenses is explained in the Form 1040 instructions as well as the IRS Publication 17, "Your Federal Income Tax," which may be purchased for 60 cents a copy from IRS offices or from the Superintendent of documents, U.S. Government: Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

The custom of egg-rolling was practiced on the European continent centuries ago.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — A couple of trouper, Carol Channing and Pearl Bailey, brought a very special one-hour program to ABC TV Sunday night.

Miss Channing, the original star of "Hello, Dolly," and Miss Bailey, who currently is headlining an all-back version on Broadway, gave televiewers a night to remember in a two woman show.

Miss Bailey noted that the chief advantage of a two-woman show is that they get to keep all the money. But there were several other advantages as well.

One was that it was a genuinely rare event when, after their personal cavorting through the show, they teamed up for a finale rendition of "Hello Dolly" itself.

The chief advantage, however, was that Miss Channing, whose voice and broad manner are curiously difficult to take for a solid hour on television, had Miss Bailey on hand as an ideal balance.

Miss Bailey's understated way with either a song or a line is ideally suited to the home screen, where performers may register with a wholly different impact than in another medium — say, the stage.

Having Miss Bailey to play off made Miss Channing much more attractive than she has been in the past on television. The fact that Miss Channing also seemed to bring more of herself and her better material to televiewers—that is, more than in the past—worked strongly in her favor.

Under the guidance of the producing-writing team of Saul Zinner and Ernest Chambers, and director Clark Jones, the hour had more than its share of showstopping numbers, and built cleverly to the "Hello, Dolly" climax.

The high comedy point, without question, was Miss Channing's famous, devastating and hilarious burlesque of Marlene Dietrich doing a performance. Another Channing takeoff, on the late Carmen Miranda, was moderately amusing. Better was her comedy bit on a silent screen star who can't make it in talking movies because of a speech problem.

The black-tie audience had a treat when Miss Bailey, during a splendid solo sequence, came down off the stage and worked an attractive young couple into her act while singing a droll version of "Wives and Lovers"—mixed with her special throwaway lines.

In this solo sequence, Miss

Bailey also delivered a genuinely beautiful rendition of "Little Green Apples," reminding viewers again of what a fine blues singer and actress she is in addition to being a noted humorist.

Miss Channing and Miss Bailey worked hard through the hour, and yet another top moment was their joint high-kick dancing finale to their version of "There is Nothing Like a Dame." It was a pretty glorious moment. They were also in fine comic fettle in offering the tune "Elegance."

The most emotional moment of the show, I thought, came not after "Hello, Dolly," but, rather, after Miss Bailey's solo sequence. The audience simply exploded into a cheer, and rightly so.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—It is high time, I think, that someone arose to the defense of euphemisms.

If there are no other volunteers around, then let it be me.

Euphemistic speech, which is the substitution of delicate expressions for those that are indelicate, is under heavy attack these days in books, theaters, campus demonstrations and other public forums.

It also is rapidly fading out of private conversation. Just about everybody I know, of all ages, sexes and social conditions, uses four-letter words.

Not Offended

Now let me make it clear I am neither embarrassed nor offended by vulgarities. If a sweet little old lady chooses to communicate in the verbal equivalent of swamp gas, I'll not rap her across the mouth.

What I resent are the attempts to make euphemisms a dirty word.

Novelists, playwrights and student activists would have us believe that people who speak euphemistically have psychological hangups stemming from subconscious guilt feelings and suppressed desires.

Actually, as I shall show, the people who make these insinuations have a hangup of their own.

Apart from sex, certain parts and functions of the body, and indoor plumbing, the three most fertile fields for euphemisms have been intoxication, insanity and mortality.

Not So

But using those three forms of euphemisms doesn't necessarily mean you are secretly longing to run naked in the moonlight.

It only means that most people are reluctant to admit they are drunk, crazy or dead.

Which strikes me as an eminently sensible attitude. Granted that many euphemisms are trite, coy, arch, maudlin or obtuse. Granted that euphemisms are often used as evasions or obfuscations.

It nevertheless remains that many other euphemisms are imaginative, witty, colorful, poetic and expressive. And the

EXTENDING POLICY

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department is extending for six months its policy of stamping U.S. passports invalid for travel to mainland China, Cuba, North Korea and North Vietnam. Officials said the fact that the restriction was renewed for only six months instead of one year was indication the policy is under review. The department already grants exemptions in some cases, such as those of newsmen, scientists and persons traveling on humanitarian mission.

How much fun would be left in fashion if all style were standardized? This system would cut down on shopping time. But it would also cut down on your individuality.

In turn, standardization would cut down on advertising, there'd be a cutback in production. And if we worked hard to do so, we might wreck the economy.

Wouldn't we be better off to leave things the way they are? Today's advertising is already policed by the world's smartest detective... the American consumer.

The Pampa Daily News

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a husband who says there is nothing wrong with being overly friendly with his sister-in-law? He says the Eskimos do this. Is this true or should I tell him that he is crazy? I answer all his needs every time he asks me. Thank you very much.

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Tell your husband that the Eskimos stopped that practice a long time ago, and that if you ever catch him so much as rubbing noses with another woman he'll get a freezing out like no Eskimo ever had.

DEAR ABBY: I am 25 years old and I'm engaged to a man I'll call "Frank," who is 28. We have known each other a long time, but we have been engaged only two months. Before the engagement we didn't discuss having a family, which was a mistake.

Now Frank tells me that he would like to have four or five children. Maybe I'm selfish, but I don't want any.

Abby, I have absolutely no patience with children, and knowing myself as I do, I wouldn't make a very good mother.

Frank and I love each other, but this has become a big issue. Please don't tell me that I should have one, because I will feel different about my own child. I really don't want the work and responsibility of children. Maybe I'm peculiar, but I don't think they're worth it. So what is your advice?

TROUBLED

DEAR TROUBLED: Tell Frank that unless he sees it your way, he'd better find another girl. I agree, you'd probably make a poor mother, but I admire your honesty.

DEAR ABBY: Tell "Wants Marriage" that a common law marriage is as legal as one in which a minister has mumbled a few words over the couple. And a man is all wet if he thinks he can escape the responsibility of marriage by not going through ceremony. He has a legal duty to support the woman, and any children they may have. And the children will be considered legitimate too.

If a man wants to get rid of a common law wife, he must divorce her in the courts, as there is no such thing as a "common law divorce." And if a man tries to give a woman the old-line about a "trial" period of living together, it won't work because when a man and woman present themselves to the world as man and wife—they are! At least that's the way it is in Texas.

LAWYER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Thank you! And if your husband ever finds out who you are, you'll catch it for "practicing" law without a license.

DEAR ABBY: This is for "FURIOUS IN PRESCOTT, ARIZ." who suggested that housewives do their marketing early in the day so as not to crowd the "working wives":

I have to wait until my husband comes home from work before I do my marketing because we are a one-car family. So if I get in your way, please provide me with a second car and I will be glad to do my marketing in the morning just to accommodate you.

The knit sport shirt has eclipsed the woven broadcloth in popularity with men in recent years, partly because of the stretch comfort of knits, partly to their easy washability, partly because of the great turtle-neck craze. Most knits have been solid in color, some with piped edges, others in stripes and checks. The newest look in knits, reports "Gentlemen's Quarterly," is the printed knit shirt. NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM THIS EASTER

Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim and yet completely comfortable. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, or your waistline is larger than 32 inches, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A feather-stitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem.

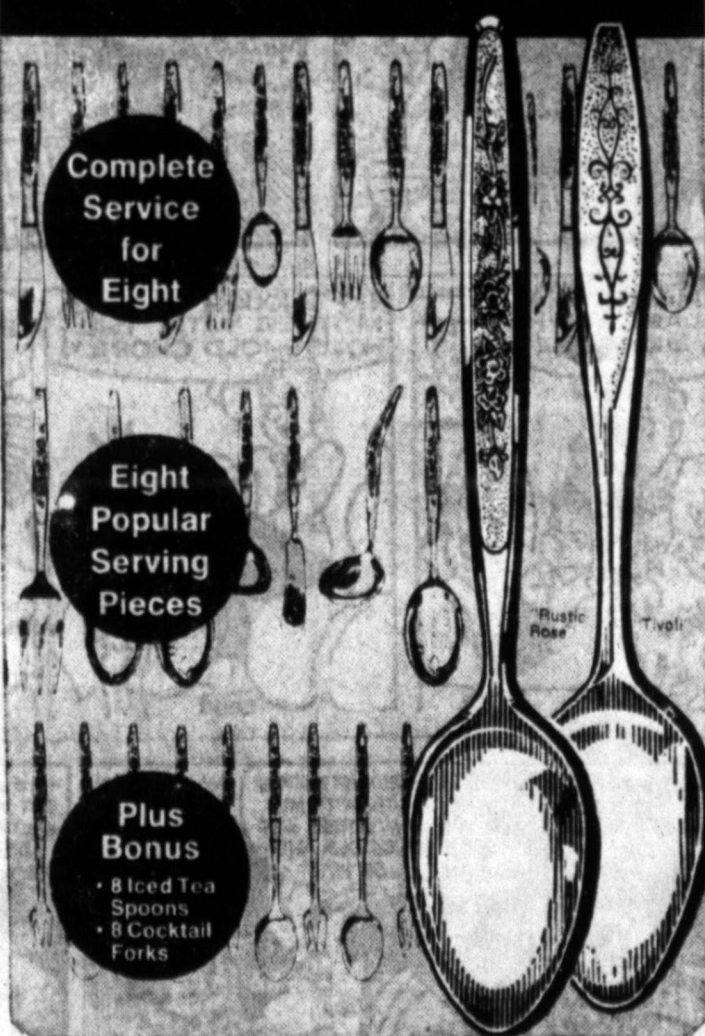

The girdle itself is of a "wonder" Lycra spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It is so comfortable, but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim," in both girdle and panty versions, is the peak achievement of the California designer-genius, Olga. They are available at

Your Horoscope

JEANE DIXON

TUESDAY, MARCH 18 YOUR BIRTHDAY Tuesday.

The coming year is one of innovation. Fresh, fascinating ideas transmute even the oldest problems into unexpectedly resolvable challenges. You must make decisions on short notice. Little time or space for hobbies or romantic interests for quite a while. Ambition is aroused. Tuesday's natives usually possess political talents.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): It's so easy today to declare yourself with a few vivid words in a moment of temper. In all other matters your intuition will arise and guide you flawlessly if you will let it.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Changes in your work situation will go better if you will go along with them from the start. Leave your money in savings accounts or use it for your own purposes exclusively.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Now you are up and rolling, as the saying goes, with everything working with you. Gather friends, celebrate the activity and prosperity of this time in your life.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): This should be a time of fundamental change in your way of life, a new residence in a distant place, or perhaps habits. There are many details yet to change.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Check all accounts, budgets, purchasing arrangements, insurance coverage and the like. An impetuous move tends to spoil the success of romantic interests.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): There is a temptation to petty differences about money. Let your intuition guide you. Remember that there will be another time for explaining expenses.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Not yet a time for full debate on working conditions. Other people have not had time to come to the same conclusions. Let them learn a while longer.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Your pet projects and speculative ventures tend to be more profitable during the coming fortnight. Begin exploration of an additional line of income.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Your affairs and life situation turn toward better things Tuesday. Ambition stirs and is encouraged to lead further. Make use of the propitious phase while it occurs with a full day of definite application.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Speak out for what you have and what you believe in. Your chances of being heard are much improved. Press settlement of all transactions as promptly as the situation warrants.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Audit your standing and your assets; see where either might be improved with a basic change. The results are certain to outweigh all the inconveniences involved.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): An active month lies ahead for you. Find some protective approach which will help safeguard your assets. Expect your associates and relatives to create minor confusion.

Favored 'Horns Open Baseball Action in SWC

By United Press International
The Southwest Conference baseball race, which got off to a muddy, sluggish start last week will try to get up a full head of steam this Friday with defending champion Texas opening its quest for a 44th conference crown.

The Longhorns, who have won or shared the championship for the past four years and who have lost only one game in eight starts this season, open their SWC campaign against Texas Christian with a double-header Friday and a single game Saturday in Austin.

Texas A&M, the last team other than Texas to win an undisputed conference crown, entertains SMU in a similar three-game series and Rice hosts Baylor for three contests. Texas Tech does not open its conference season until March 28.

Rice goes into this week as the conference leader by virtue of its 4-1 decision over SMU in the opening league game last Friday. The other two games in the Mustang-Owl series in Dallas were rained out, as were eight other non-conference games around the state. None will be rescheduled.

A&M and TCU are the only undefeated teams left in the SWC this season, although the Aggies have played just three games and the Horned Frogs have gone into action but once. TCU will host Abilene Christian College Tuesday before plunging into conference action against the Longhorns Friday. Texas will also play during the week, hosting Minnesota this afternoon and on Tuesday.

The only other non-conference games on the slate this week find Southern Methodist entertaining Murray (Ky.) State today and Tuesday, and Texas Tech playing host to New Mexico Highlands in a three-game series at week's end.

The Texas-TCU encounters at Clark Field will be of particular importance since they bring together the two teams which fought it out for the title last year.

Texas Christian wound up only a game behind Texas in last year's race.

Success Has Not Spoiled Pete Rose

By MILTON RICHMAN
TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—They talk and write about democracy at work, but it's about time they came up with some place you can see it.

This is the place. The Cincinnati Reds' training camp. They really show you democracy at work here.

The lowest guy on the totem pole drives a much fancier and more expensive car than the top banana. The boy drawing down the most bread here, better than $85,000 worth, gets around in something you can't even find in junkyards anymore.

You've heard of how home run hitters always wind up driving Cadillacs, haven't you?

Meet Pete Rose. He hits singles. He drives a no-longer factory guaranteed 1934 Ford. That's right, a 1934 Ford. But don't go feeling sorry for him. This isn't one of those ordinary, garden variety 1934 Fords. This one has two or three little extras. Like stereophonic sound and a brand new rose plated interior. Like nine separate coats of lacquer and magnesium wheels.

"You oughta see it," says Rose. "It's something every kid wants when he's 18 or 19."

Pete Rose is 26, no matter what Tommy Helms says, but he's a kid at heart although also the major league batting champ, highest salaried player in Cincinnati history and best all-around performer in baseball today.

Rose once said he wanted to be the first $100,000 singles hitter and he'll undoubtedly make it soon. He doesn't flaunt his salary but isn't as secretive or sensitive about it as most ballplayers.

"Why should I be?" he says, eyes flashing. "They say you should never mention your salary. I'm not ashamed of mine. I worked my wheelbase off to get what I did so why shouldn't I be proud of it? I am. Damn proud."

This is Pete's seventh season with the Reds and simply to make him feel right at home, they're asking him to play another position for them. Center field. Being asked to switch is nothing new for him. He broke in at second base with the Reds and then was moved to third base, left field and right field where all he did last year was rack up 20 assists while waiting for a chance to grab a bat.

He was a menace to society every time he had one in his hands. His .333 batting average during a year when guys were congratulating themselves for hitting .250 was one thing. Something else was the fact he smashed out five hits in a game twice, four hits seven times and three hits 13 times.

When it was all over, Rose finished second in the MVP balloting to Bob Gibson, the Cardinals' flamethrower. That didn't distress him but what did was a newspaper headline which said he felt he should've gotten the award, not Gibson.

Rose still gets upset when he talks about it.

"I said as far as I was concerned I couldn't think of a better fellow to finish second to than Gibson. I meant it then and I mean it now. Some ball players feel a pitcher shouldn't be eligible for the MVP award because they have the Cy Young award. I disagree. I think if a pitcher is good enough, and Gibson and (Denny) McClain both were, he should win it."

Rose attended a couple of winter banquets at which Gibson also was present but didn't mention the newspaper story which disturbed him or try to apologize for it.

"I feel funny," he says. "Anyway, I'm pretty sure Gibson knows I never said anything like that. It didn't even sound like me. I've never knocked another player in my life."

Now this year's MVP award is something altogether different.

"I'd love to win it," Pete Rose says. Any ballplayer would because he knows it stamps him as the best in his chosen profession for that particular year."

Rose winning it would make some picture at that. Imagine the National League's MVP for 1969 driving around in a 1934 Ford?

Greenish gold yet.

Clendenon Vows He's Quit Game for Good

By United Press International
The international baseball tug of war between Houston and Montreal today found two of the interested parties—Rusty Staub and Donn Clendenon—sick and tired of the whole thing.

Staub, traded by the Houston Astros to the Montreal Expos for Clendenon and Jesus Alou, declared at St. Petersburg, Fla. that he is "not in a Montreal uniform when all this is finally settled, the chances of my continuing in baseball are slim."

Clendenon once again insisted he has retired unequivocally, as he explained in a letter to Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, and that he "came into baseball gracefully and would like to go out gracefully." The storm of publicity, Clendenon added, has gripped him.

Kuhn, clinging to his interpretation of the rule book, has declared the trade a valid one, despite Clendenon's announced retirement. The commissioner, on a technicality, says that Donn does not become a "bona fide" retired player until 30 days after the season starts. Kuhn's ruling did not sit well with the Astros, and they are pressing Kuhn to reverse himself, declare the trade off, and return Staub to them.

Montreal, on the other hand, based a major part of their pre-season promotion and planning on Staub, one of the National League's leading hitters a year ago and twice an All Star. The Expos insist they want—and need—Staub.

Staub stated yesterday that he has "no desire to go back to Houston." He has made arrangements to move to Canada but, more significant, is his animosity to the Astro management and pique at the length of time being taken to settle the matter.

"I can exist without baseball," Staub said. "I love the game and I know it might kill me to quit, but there's nothing that says I have to keep taking all this."

While the muddled Houston-Montreal debate went on, the New York Mets were huddling with Atlanta on a possible swap that would bring Joe Torre to New York. Met general manager Johnny Murphy flew from St. Petersburg to West Palm Beach at the request of Atlanta GM Paul Richards. Braves' president Bill Bartholomay was also on hand.

There was some action on the ball fields Sunday, too, although Florida rains disrupted the exhibition schedule.

The Baltimore Orioles won their sixth straight, downing the Cincinnati Reds, 3-2. The Reds' tallies were the first allowed by Baltimore left-hander Mike Cuellar in 16 innings. The Detroit Tigers lost to the New York Yankees, 5-3, all of New York's runs coming in the fifth inning off John Hiller. The Dodgers won 3-1 over the Chicago White Sox in Nassau, Bahamas, and used a native Bahaman, Henry Williams, to pitch the ninth. Ted Williams' Washington Senators slipped back to the losing side, bowing 4-3 to Atlanta. Ed Kirkpatrick's two run triple in the eighth gave the Kansas City Royals a 2-1 edge over the Pittsburgh Pirates. Juan Marichal, who signed for $115,000 Saturday, began working for it by hurling four perfect innings as the San Francisco Giants drubbed the Chicago Cubs, 9-2. There were two "football" scores too. The Oakland Athletics whipped the Seattle Pilots 13-6 and the Cleveland Indians outlasted the California Angels 14-10.

Russell Lashes Team, Self For Poor Play

The proud Boston Celtics heard the boos of their fans and some choice words from their coach after being humiliated by the Los Angeles Lakers in front of the whole country.

In a nationally televised game from Boston Sunday, the Celtics were whipped 108-73 in a contest during which the Laker lead at one time reached 46 points.

Bill Russell, player-coach, lashed into his squad behind locked doors for 20 minutes after the game, and spared no one—not even Bill Russell.

Citing his team's lack of "hustle and teamwork," Russell said the players' "attitude is something you've got to ex-

Owens, Dromo Critical Of Officials and Rules

NEW YORK (UPI)—Louisville coach John Dromo was a winner and Kansas coach Ted Owens was a loser Sunday in the National Invitation Tournament but they had one thing in common. Both were unhappy.

Louisville barely managed to nip upset-minded Fordham 73-70 in the second game after Kansas was blasted by Boston College 78-62 in the opener of the final first round, double-header in the NIT.

Even though Louisville won the game with six consecutive free throws by Butch Beard in the final 72 seconds, Dromo was severe in his criticism of the officials.

Only 17 fouls were called on Louisville compared to 24 on Fordham but Dromo said, "The officials think the people pay to see them. I blame them for letting the game get out of control."

Dromo, called for a technical for complaining with two minutes left, claimed, "I'm protesting now only because we won. I wouldn't have said anything if we had lost."

Dromo added, "The NIT's not going to get many more good teams if they don't get better officiating than that. Our team deserved to be treated better."

Owens, who lost his third straight game for the first time in his five years at Kansas, was unhappy that Boston College slowed the ball down for the last 15 minutes after the Eagles' center, Terry Driscoll, fouled out.

Owens said he wasn't criticizing Boston College coach Bob Cousy but was unhappy the rules permitted a slowdown and advocated a 30-second clock.

"That was a disgrace to basketball," Owens said. "I'm very much opposed to the present rules."

Cousy defended his move even though there was a long stretch in the second half, from 14:24 to 8:34, during which neither team scored. BC led 58-44 during the stretch.

"A coach has to do what's necessary to win," he said. "If we would have kept running once we lost Driscoll, we would have blown the game. I don't like what I had to do and I don't like to play that way but we had no alternative."

Cousy said he left Driscoll in with four fouls because, "I don't like a negative approach. I'd rather leave the guy in and try to build a bigger lead. I've done it before."

Gal Jockey Moving to Pimlico Track

By United Press International
Barbara Jo Rubin, who made such a hit at Aqueduct, now takes her act to Pimlico.

The 19-year-old jockey from Miami, Fla., will ride Miss Dee in the sixth race at Pimlico today and hopes to continue at the Maryland track on a regular basis for the rest of the meeting.

By far the most successful of the female jockeys, Miss Rubin won at Aqueduct Saturday for the second day in a row when she booted home May Berry ($7.20) in the first race.

Students Striking Back

What is the old saying—every action has a reaction? Today, in proof, we received a communication from Stop NSA. Material presented by Congressman Donald E. "Buz" Lukers of Ohio offers convincing pleas for opposition to the new 3 Rs—Raving, Raving and Rioting, on college campuses. He and Congressmen James B. Utt and Del Clawson, and Sen. Murphy of California, are among national advisers of the group. Stop NSA is an ad hoc committee of National Young Americans for Freedom, students who oppose participation in the National Student Association.

Stoppers claim that NSA only masquerades as a "student government" organization and is not representative of American student opinion. They quoted the NSA statement of its own position: "If you don't give what we want, we'll have half the people here on the streets in 24 hours. We'll demonstrate, we'll throw up picket lines, we'll block all deliveries. We'll bring this place (the campus) to a grinding halt." Such threats, Stop NSA considers "a smear against American students."

Reportedly, NSA policies adopted over the last several years by the National Student Congress of NSA included: Black power, calling for the liberation of all black people in America "by any means necessary"; condemnation of the "aggression of the U.S. Government against the people of Vietnam"; urging that the House Committee on Un-American Activities (now Committee on Internal Security) be abolished; urging admission of Red China to the U. N. and withdrawal of assistance from and regulation of school papers and scheduling of sports and social events are other targets of protest.

Dissatisfaction with school programs, including teacher quality and assignment, students' freedom to choose their teachers, curriculum content, homework, grades and exams, is also "rampant."

You name it and somebody is protesting it. About the only encouraging discovery made by the survey is that difficulties between blacks and whites or other minorities are cited by a mere 10 per cent of the principals.

Many principals believe that the real target of all the protesting is "society in general" or "the system." And not only the kids, but their parents, their teachers and various community groups are getting in on it.

In what must be the understatement of the decade, one school head observed:

"To be a principal in times like these is not for the faint-hearted."

Most Heinous Crime?

Apparently the worst crime of all is not to pay one's income tax, from one of the latest rulings by Earl Warren's U.S. Supreme Court.

While police officers must inform murderers, robbers and other assorted law breakers that they are being investigated on criminal charges, that they need not testify against themselves, and are entitled to have a lawyer's advice—even at the expense of the tax payers—the same rules do not apply to the agents of the Internal Revenue Service and to taxpayers under investigation.

The Supreme Court rejected the claim of attorneys for Robert M. Muse of Kirkwood, Mo., who contended the IRS agents should be required to warn individuals before questioning them about their returns that the inquiry could lead to criminal prosecutions.

Wit and Whimsy

One Kentucky father, asked for the secret of success in training both horses and children, spoke perhaps with rare wisdom when he replied: Mr. Lee—Love them a lot. Let them know you love them a lot. But don't let them get away with anything.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: —Is a publication that is constantly losing money a real newspaper or is it an organ controlled and operated solely to promote the interests of those who are paying the loss?

ANSWER: A newspaper that the subscribers and advertisers are not willing to patronize enough to make it self-supporting cannot be an independent watchful newspaper.

Its hands are tied. It is obliged to promote the interests of those who are paying the loss.

The public doesn't want newspapers owned by big manufacturing interests or by any political party. They want a newspaper the advertisers voluntarily support and the readers voluntarily pay for.

As an example, Timkin bought a second paper in Canton, Ohio, and tried to run it but found that the public didn't want a newspaper which was operated as a sideline of a manufacturing plant. It was the same way with Markus Hanna in Cleveland. Hanna attempted to operate a third paper there and was paying the loss until the circulation was taken over by one of the other Cleveland papers.

A newspaper cannot be independent unless it is supported voluntarily by the advertisers and the readers. If it is not, it, of course, has to support the organization that is paying the loss to keep it going whether it is the Republican or Democratic party or a merchant or a manufacturer or a labor union or a chamber of commerce or a church.

A newspaper must make money in order to be really a newspaper and be of use to the readers.

Quick US Aid Is Urged To Help Biafra

By DAVID POLING

The United States is still unable to extend a meaningful response to the tragedy in Biafra. That is the first-hand report of Sen. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., after his fact-finding tour of this African conflict.

And of all the horrors involved in this civil war slaughter, with its starvation of children and destruction of thousands of innocent families surely the saddest story of all is the inability of Washington to fulfill the yearnings of the American public. For this country is aroused, and should be angry over the handling of this call for compassion and aid from this tormented territory.

Goodell told this writer that he had secured immediate support from the White House, the secretary of state and the secretary of defense that government jets could and would be available for the airlift of relief supplies paid for by private agencies concerned about Biafra. Their interest was genuine and immediate.

And yet what has happened? Nothing. Right, nothing. Zero Goodell and others in the capital believe it is the direct result of negative attitudes within the State Department. Many of these career diplomats are 100 per cent for Nigeria and the breakaway state of Biafra can stew in its own juice. It seems unbelievable that such callousness and hard-heartedness could exist in the face of such incredible suffering and starvation as we see on the television every night.

Those of us who have been reading James A. Joyce's book, "End of an Illusion" (Bobbs-Merrill, $8.95), are quite familiar with the paramilitary mind that governs too much the politics, education and overseas adventures of America. Joyce has been tracking the beast for a long time and documents most carefully and powerfully the influence of men and women who never have to report to the citizens who pay the bills. As Joyce has observed:

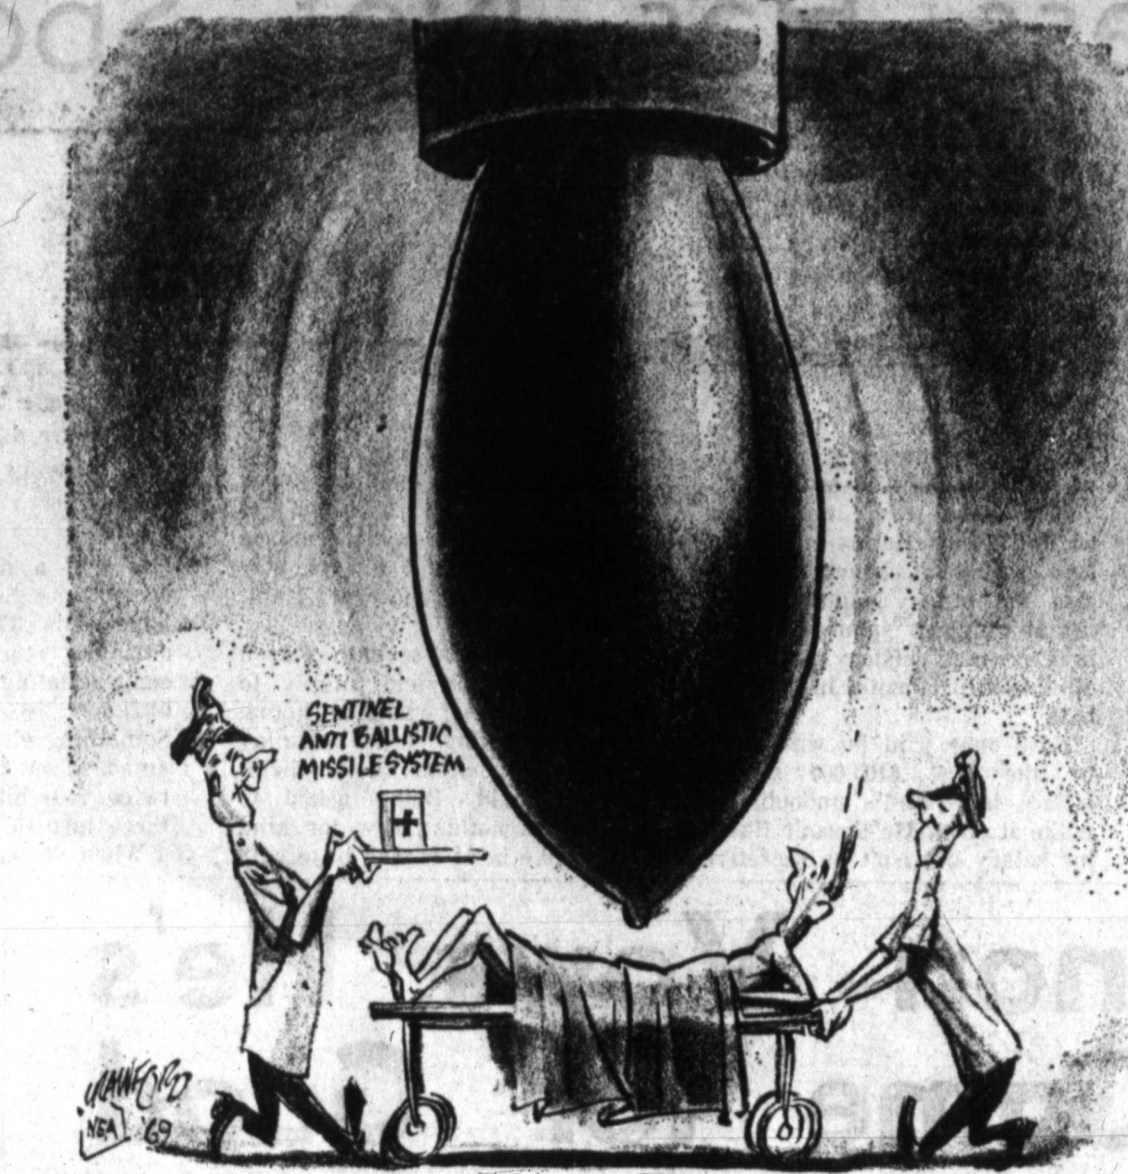

"The real struggle for peace, freedom and justice is a race between the military compulsionists of the last century and the world builders of the 21st century."

Goodell states flatly that the Biafran bungling will only be solved by massive public pressure. This means thousands of cards and letters to the Nigerian desk at the State Department.

It also means telegrams and phone calls to the people in charge there to find the ways and means of putting this relief program on the road. I believe it is the particular responsibility of the church people of this country to be heard and heeded. And it is already too late for so many.

Silence of Negro Leaders On Crimes Against Own People Triggers Warning

ROBERT ALLEN

JOHN GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — The widespread failure of Negro leaders to denounce the soaring crime, violence, campus and other disorders by their race could have serious adverse effect on Congress' attitude toward the multi-billion dollar anti-poverty and federal aid to education programs.

That is the blunt warning of Rep. William Scherle, R-Iowa, influential member of the House Education and Labor Committee, which has jurisdiction over this far-reaching legislation.

Making no bones of his stern indignation at the almost universal silence of Negro leaders in the national struggle against criminal and extremist elements among their people, Scherle declared they will have only themselves to blame for possible unfavorable consequences.

He pointed out that this perplexing failure to speak out is particularly shocking and discreditable as Negroes are the worst victims of Negro crime.

"There is ample evidence, as reported by a recent leading poll," said Scherle, "that both Negroes and whites, by a considerable margin, strongly favor a tougher line against crime. The attitude of most Negroes is graphically summed up by a statement by one black American to a pollster, 'It is not police brutality that I worry about, so much as criminal brutality.'"

"Yet despite the irrefutable evidence of the urgent need and overwhelming desire of their people for law and order, where are the Negro leaders? Why aren't they in the forefront of the fight to suppress the vicious and the irresponsible? Privately, they shake their heads and speak sorrowfully about the grievous crime problem. But publicly they lack the guts and forthrightness to denounce the criminals who are victimizing their own race."

DISGRACEFUL PICTURE — Cautiously underscoring his biting denunciation of the ignominious mute Negro leaders, Rep. Scherle cited a number of striking instances of the brutal victimization of Negroes by Negro criminals and extremists.

A particularly graphic illustration noted by Scherle is the nation's capital.

With a Negro population of 66 per cent, it ranked first in robberies last year and third in all major crimes. An official study for the fiscal year that ended June 30, 1968, reported

Nigerian desk at the State Department.

It also means telegrams and phone calls to the people in charge there to find the ways and means of putting this relief program on the road. I believe it is the particular responsibility of the church people of this country to be heard and heeded. And it is already too late for so many.

that 85 per cent of murder victims, 79 per cent of rape victims and 84 per cent of aggravated assault victims "were non-white."

"Even the relatively new concept of black capitalism," said the outspoken Iowa lawmaker, "has fallen victim to the rising Negro crime rate. A shopping center taken over by Harry Young, a Negro school teacher, was the first project of that kind owned and managed by a Negro in the state of Delaware. Yet it had to be closed because of vandalism by Negro hoodlums, most of them under 18."

"These punks terrorized Young's customers, robbed parked cars, smashed the windows and stole his goods. When he was sorrowfully compelled to quit business, he had lost $33,000 in hard-earned savings. But I have yet to hear of a Negro leader who came to his support who spoke out in denunciation of these Negro marauders and delinquents."

Howard University, foremost Negro educational institution in the country, was singled out by Scherle as another glaring example of the failure of Negro leaders to take a forthright stand against extremists of their race.

The federal government provides some 56 per cent of the university's budget. Since 1954, it has been given around $140 million.

"Yet, despite this huge assistance from the taxpayers of the country," declared Scherle, "the students at Howard are involved in mindless and irresponsible disorders and disruptions. Last week they forced the closing of the law school, and this week they seized the president's office and shut down the liberal arts school. Not long ago, General Lewis Hershey, director of Selective Service, who had been invited by the university to speak, was so outrageously heckled and harassed that he was unable to finish his talk."

"Yet throughout all this contemptible and disgraceful conduct, no responsible Negro leader said a word in protest. What would be wrong for black Americans speaking out and telling these rampaging young people that progress is made by obtaining an education and not disrupting their own as well as that of students who want to be educated."

"But there wasn't one Negro leader who has the decency and fortitude to speak out. I say that's shocking and outrageous. It's a grave disservice to their people and their rights."

STILL LIVING IT UP — Thanks to Speaker John McCormack, D-Mass., Rep. Adam Clayton Powell is now handsomely encoined in one of the plush offices of the huge $100 million Rayburn House office Building — despite his being re-admitted to Congress only on condition he paid a $25,000 fine for alleged misuse of public funds.

In the last Congress, the flamboyant Harlemite was barred completely and stripped of his chairmanship of the prestigious Educational and Labor Committee. While seating him this year, the new Congress cancelled his 22 years of seniority and he now ranks as a rookie.

Notwithstanding, he has one of the choicest offices on Capitol Hill — although he rarely uses it, as he has been in the capital only a few times since the session began early in January.

The ornate office mysteriously assigned to Powell is on the floor above and similar to the one he occupied in his bombastic heyday as chairman of the Education and Labor Committee. For this backstage benefice he is indebted to Speaker McCormack with an assist from Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., dean of the House and head of the powerful Judiciary Committee.

A number of Republican rookies are up in arms over this extraordinary favoritism.

They indignantly contend Powell lost his seniority when expelled by the House and is entitled to no more consideration than other newcomers. Rep. William Brock III, R-Tenn., in an irate letter to McCormack, declared he was "shocked" to learn Powell is occupying a "lavish suite" and demanded he be ousted.

The chances of that are dim. Rep. Lawrence Hogan, R-Md., another newcomer, has written Att. Gen. John Mitchell urging that Powell's case be reopened before a new grand jury. Declared Hogan, "Elected officials should not be immune from prosecution."

Unlike all other congressional offices, there is no name plate on Powell's. It's the only anonymous office on Capitol Hill. A staff employee explained this was to avoid being "deluged by visitors and tourists so that we couldn't do any work."

Adorning one of the walls of the elaborate suite, with wall-to-wall carpeting, is a huge blue marlin — reputedly caught by Powell.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The narrow 148-mile-long Housatonic River, rising in the Berkshires and flowing through Connecticut into Long Island Sound, is the site of little trade or transportation. The World Almanac says. Yet the river is of inestimable value. Removed but not remote from New York and Boston, it is the refuge of many, especially artists and writers, who draw from the Housatonic not only recreation but re-creation.

Eat Right: Live Longer

By PAUL HARVEY

Have you wondered if health care is worth it? Consensus of most modern medical men is that you should exercise, keep your weight down, avoid smoking cigarettes.

An increasing number of physicians are recommending against alcohol, high-cholesterol meats and white-flour bread.

These recommendations are based on "the latest medical knowledge" though I can show you the same prescription for health in a book a hundred years old.

Ellen White authored that book. To this day Seventh-Day Adventists accept her criteria. Since she has been proved right about so many things, perhaps we should examine what else she said.

The benefits of Ellen White's teachings are now measurable. There are 57,000 Adventists living in California. Recently the "dead ones" were "interviewed."

The state of California, the U.S. Public Health Service and the Adventist Church Pacific Union Conference analyzed available death certificates of all Adventists who had died over a five-year period.

Of all such certificates, 98.8 per cent were traceable. Judging from these records, Seventh-Day Adventists have a life expectancy five to six years greater than other Californians.

Seventy per cent fewer Adventists die from all types of cancer, 68 percent fewer from respiratory diseases, 88 percent fewer from TB and 85 per cent fewer from pulmonary emphysema.

Among all Adventists there had been only nine cases of lung cancer and... further research revealed, each of these had at some time been a smoker.

Adventists have 46 per cent less strokes, 60 percent less heart disease.

About 50 percent of Adventists are vegetarians. A new study has been launched by Drs. Richard Walden and Raymond West of Loma Linda University to compile comparative health figures for meat-eaters and non-meat-eaters.

Perhaps as a by-product of abstinence from alcohol, Adventists have only about one-third (35 percent) as many accidents.

It has tended to reaffirm the faith of the faithful to discover that the most advanced scientific findings support what was written and taught by this amazing little lady, Ellen White, more than a century ago.

If future scientific findings continue to support hers, let's see what tomorrow's doctors will be prescribing:

Ellen White advised against overeating, also against crash dieting. ("I advocate no extremes.")

Whole-wheat bread, not white. Minimal sweets. ("Sugar is not good for the stomach.")

She recommends grains, vegetables, fruits—especially apples. ("Apples are superior to any fruit.")

She recommends against meat, coffee and tea. And, sorry, "no hot biscuits."

If some of her recommendations sound extreme, imagine how they all must have sounded in 1863. Yet modern science continues more and more to say, "She was right!"

The Doctor Says

By DR. W. G. BRANSTADT

Events Were Too Swift For Any Possible Cure

A heartbroken mother writes that her 2-year-old son awoke one morning without any previous sign of illness and refused to swallow because it hurt him. His temperature was elevated and by nightfall he was dead. The doctors who saw him said he died of edema and that it was common in preschool children.

What this child had was an overwhelming fulminating infection — not really very common — that caused a sudden edema (waterlogging) of his lungs or epiglottis (entrance to the windpipe) or both. The causative organism is usually the influenza bacillus (not the flu virus that is going around), the diphtheria bacillus, a staphylococcus or a streptococcus. A contributing cause is often an absence of gamma globulin (agammaglobulinemia) in the child's blood. When events occur with such swiftness, there is never time to put effective curative measures into use.

Q — Our son, 7½, has had diabetes insipidus for 18 months. The doctor is giving him injections of Pitressin which helps him. Will this hurt him in any way? The trouble started after he took griseofulvin for a fungus infection. Could this drug have caused the diabetes?

A — Diabetes insipidus (unquenchable thirst and the passage of large quantities of urine without any sugar in it) is caused by an abnormality of the pituitary. Vasopressin (Pitressin), an extract of that gland, will not hurt your son. It must be given by injection but a newer synthetic product, 8-lysine vasopressin, can be given as a nasal spray. The fungicide your son took had nothing to do with his diabetes. In some, but not all, cases this disease is outgrown.

Q — Our daughter, 13, has Bell's palsy. Her face was partially paralyzed for awhile but now the only residual effect is that her right eye rolls upward when she blinks. We were told that only time can help her. Is this true? What causes this disease?

A — Bell's palsy affects only one side of the face. It is caused by exposure to cold, a tumor pressing on the facial nerve or a virus infection in that nerve. Most victims recover spontaneously and the fact that your daughter has shown some improvement already is an indication that she will recover completely. Full recovery often takes two or three months. There is no other cure.

Clearing House

Articles for this column are preferred to be 200 words or less in length. However, longer articles may be printed. All letters must be signed with name and address.

It is not often that I am moved to write a letter to the editor but I have been impressed by a group of your citizenry to the point that I feel they should be recognized.

As Innkeepers in a resort area we often look with some misgivings on the arrival of large groups of teenagers who do not always show the proper regard for the rights and property of others.

Recently we were privileged to be the weekend hosts to a group of Pampa Presbyterian church teenagers who were led by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Felt and several other couples from your city.

This group conducted themselves in a manner that reaffirms your faith in the youth of America and much credit must go not only to their sponsors but to their parents and to the community which provides the atmosphere for this kind of youth development.

Mrs. Joseph A. Cooper
Red River, N.M.

Another one of Elbee Jay's sneaky worms has just crawled out of the woodwork. Service station operators, Chambers of Commerce, accounting firms and others are in line for investigations on something they didn't know anything about. And they face large assessments retroactive clear back to Oct. 17, 1967.

Howcome? Well, the labor department, under direction of Willard Wirtz, published a notice, then kept quiet about it, which reduces from $500,000 to $250,000 the annual volume of retail business exempt from federal wage and hour laws.

Service stations, doing even less than $250,000 gross, but selling fuel to truckers, are not exempt. The labor dept. says they are engaged in interstate business. Even if they sell mostly to local trucks, selling to an occasional truck in interstate is presumed.

Small merchants should ask their congressmen for a copy of Part 779 (29 CFR) as published in the federal register Oct. 17, 1967. The Labor Department has very studiously attempted to keep businessmen in ignorance of this part of the fair labor standards act until the bureau's auditors can get around to them and spring their trap.

When bureaucrats can catch businessmen off guard like this it makes them very happy. It proves they can be just as sneaky as Elbee Jay.

Sen. Russell Supports Nixon's Missile Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., regarded by many as the Senate's most influential member, endorsed President Nixon's proposed "safeguard" defensive missile system Saturday.

The chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee said an antiballistic missile system designed primarily to protect the nation's ability to strike back if attacked made "good sense." He said he would support the system "vigorously and fully."

Russell's endorsement nearly completed the list of key committee chairmen and congressional leaders whose acquiescence will be needed to steer the ABM through a gathering storm of rank-and-file congressional opposition.

Appropriations chairman from both the House and Senate, whose committees will control money for the program, have now endorsed it, as well as the chairmen of both Armed Services Committees which control the authorizing legislation.

In addition, every congressional floor leader except two—Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield and Democratic whip Edward M. Kennedy—were expected to support it.

Mansfield said Saturday much of the Senate opposition to the ABM had been defused by Nixon's modifications but he predicted a "determined effort"

An Important message for every merchant

Very soon, you can expect an important visit from your BankAmericard® man. He'll be bringing you the details of our new BankAmericard service available to every credit-worthy family in our area.

Your customers will soon be using BankAmericard to charge purchases with you...and at thousands of other member stores. In fact, over 16,500,000 BankAmericard cardholders are making credit purchases at more than 400,000 fine establishments like yours from coast to coast.

You deposit your charge slips just like cash and the proceeds are immediately posted to your account. Your customers get the benefit of unquestioned credit...you get the benefit of cash.

You take no credit risks...the Bank assumes full credit responsibility.

And best of all your customers like BankAmericard, the nation's fastest growing credit card system, because unlike other credit cards, it costs nothing to join...has no annual dues. It's easy and convenient for them to use because it is both local and national. Your customers get one monthly itemized statement...write one check. And extended payment privileges are available at nominal cost.

If you can't wait, call us now for immediate information about BankAmericard. You'll like what you hear.
