War Claimed In Red Plans, If Necessary

By MORGAN REYNOLDS
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—Undersecretary of State Robert A. Lovett was quoted as saying today that Soviet leaders would go to war whenever they deemed it necessary to attain their Communistic ends—and whenever they felt they could win.

Lovett, who has resigned effective January 20, reported on the general world situation to the Senate Foreign Relations committee. Members quoted him as stressing that Premier Stalin dominates the 14-man Politburo which determines Russian actions at home and abroad.

Further, they said Lovett expressed the belief that the Politburo will take any course necessary to retain power and perpetuate Communism, including war. He said that this contrasts with this country's policy of doing all possible to avoid a resort to arms as a means of settling international difficulties.

To Hear Witnesses

The committee had called in Lovett for an up-to-date estimate of world conditions on which to base legislative planks looking toward settlement of problems barring the way to universal peace.

Lovett is to be succeeded as undersecretary by James E. Webb in the State department shifts which will bring Dean Acheson in as replacement for ailing Secretary Marshall.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex) said the committee will open public hearings Thursday on Acheson's nomination, with Acheson scheduled as the first witness. He predicted the committee would wind up the hearings in two days and have a report ready for the Senate early next week.

Cautions Against Fight

Connally said separate hearings will be held on Webb's appointment as undersecretary. While there appears little opposition to Webb's shift from his present budget bureau post, some Republicans have been critical of the Acheson appointment.

Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich), the chief GOP foreign policy spokesman, however, is reported to have cautioned his colleagues against

Red Forces Take Big China Port

By PETER LIU
INS Staff Correspondent

NANKING, July 11.—The vital port of Tientsin was authoritatively reported today to have surrendered to Communist forces who stormed the city for more than eight hours with massed "human sea" charges.

This second victory in the Reds' new year offensive was reported as government leaders in Nanking were said to have drafted a precise new peace plan for submission to the Reds.

The fall of Tientsin, if true, assures the Reds rail transportation for supplies and reinforcements for their troops hammering at the government's last defenses short of Nanking on the central front.

Tientsin Surrenders

Tientsin is the northern terminus of the railroad running south from the Chinese capital.

The fall of Tientsin was reported to have followed negotiations with Red Gen. Lin Pi-Ao initiated by four city councilmen.

The defending government garrison was said to have surrendered to the Reds after they had gained control of the entire city. Government troops claimed to

Rodeo Clown, Survivor Of Many Broken Bones, Dies In Accident

FORT WORTH, Jan. 11. (AP)—Ralph (Jasbo) Fulkerson, nationally known rodeo clown who survived "more broken bones than he could count," was killed instantly this afternoon when his pickup truck overturned two miles east of Watauga, Texas.

The 44-year-old performer was dead when passing motorists reached the accident. He had apparently been thrown from the skidding truck as it overturned on the slick Watauga-Smithfield road.

Fulkerson was enroute from Saginaw to his farm home near Smithfield. He had been preparing for his first 1949 performance at the Houston stock show next month.

Texas Solons Begin Work

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Jan. 11. — The 51st general session of the legislature convened at noon today, named its key leaders, and got busy on a rocky mountain of work.

The House elected as speaker Rep. Durwood Manford of Smiley —31-year-old businessman, lawyer and rancher—after a last-ditch fight by Rep. Joe Kilgore of McAllen.

The senate in something of an upset named Senator Kyle Vick, Waco lawyer and veteran legislator, as its president pro tem. This also involved Senators Rogers Kelley of Edinburg, Grover Morris of Greenville and Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo.

Jester Invited To Speak

The house joined with the senate in inviting Gov. Beauford H. Jester to deliver his first message to the legislature at 11 a. m. tomorrow.

It spent all of its two-hour noon meeting in electing the speaker, recessed, then worked more than three hours completing its organization. The house adjourned at 7:15 p. m. until 10 a. m. tomorrow.

The senate got the jump on the house in starting.

Senate Opens First

It completed its preliminary organization in an action-packed 28 minutes after Lieut. Gov. Allen Shivers banged his gavel while the clock was showing 12:02 p. m.

Secretary of State Paul Brown started the house rolling at 12 noon by the house clock. The senate and house usually have a hard time agreeing on anything, and even their clocks apparently were not synchronized today—the fact is, the senate actually began its proceedings first.

It also passed the senate's first bill.

This was senate bill 1, by Jim Taylor of Kerens, serving his second term as chairman of the all-

Twenty Persons Hurt As Train Derailed

GROVELAND, Fla., Jan. 11. (AP)—At least 20 persons were hurt when the Seaboard Airline railroad's New York-to-Miami Orange Blossom special derailed tonight at the isolated community of Bay Lake about 14 miles southwest of here.

It was the second Orange Blossom special derailment in two days. Another section of the same train derailed yesterday at Milford, Va., injuring more than 20 persons.

Those hurt in tonight's wreck were taken to two hospitals in Leesburg. Officials there said they couldn't say yet how serious injuries were.

Secretary Of Defense Talks With HST

Forrestal To Stay In HST's Cabinet

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Secretary of Defense Forrestal, one of the foremost backers of the "tough" policy toward Russia, said today he expects to remain at his post in President Truman's cabinet. He did not say how long.

Forrestal's disclosure to newsmen followed a conference with Mr. Truman at the White House.

Reports have been widely current that his departure from the cabinet was imminent, but today he said he does not expect Mr. Truman to accept his "routine" resignation which he will submit before inauguration day, Jan. 20.

May Leave Later

Traditionally, all cabinet members offer their resignations to a newly-elected president, so that he can start with a new slate, if he desires, and to spare him any embarrassment in cabinet shakeups.

Forrestal's remarks did not foreclose the possibility that he might leave the Washington scene later, possibly in the spring.

But the development did add another to the multiplying signs that Mr. Truman plans no about-face in policy toward Russia.

The President emphatically denied last week that he was engaged in a fight with Forrestal and others in his cabinet to soften the U. S. attitude toward the Soviets.

Avoids Campaign

The purported cabinet row was described in a Life magazine article by Jay Franklin, newspaper columnist. Franklin linked Forrestal and the retiring Undersecretary of State Robert A. Lovett with U. S. oil and munitions interests which he said have a "vested interest" in pursuing the cold war.

Forrestal is a former president of the big banking firm of Dillon, Read and company.

Widespread conjecture about Forrestal's political future arose during the heat of the election last fall.

At that time, it was noted that Forrestal kept strictly out of the campaign picture, and, unlike some other cabinet officers and top administration officials, made no stumping tour on behalf of Mr. Truman.

Opposition Arises

However, Forrestal's friends staunchly defended his aloofness, declaring it was in accord with Mr. Truman's own views that the secretaries of state and defense should stay out of the campaign.

As civilian defense boss, Forrestal will guide the 15-billion-dollar military spending program which President Truman submitted to Congress yesterday, including the hotly controversial matter of air defense.

Congressional opposition to Mr. Truman's proposal for junking the 70-group Air Force idea appeared to be quickening today. Some Republican and Democratic leaders, in both Senate and House, were openly critical and demanded an Air Force second to none.

Mr. Truman proposed 48 groups, saying the number and quality of planes were more important than the number of groups.

Senator McCarthy, (R-Wis) said the administration should "look

Jews Hit British In Appeal To UN

(By The Associated Press)

Israel appealed to the United Nations Tuesday from what she called Britain's "menacing attitude."

The Jewish state accused the British of fomenting "an artificial crisis" on the eve of the Rhodes discussions between Egypt and Israel to explore possibilities of restoring peace in the Holy Land.

Political developments stemming from the Palestine conflict boiled on many fronts, although the fighting areas along the Palestine-Egyptian border remained quiet under truce.

Critics To Seek Explanations

In London, critics of British policy in the Middle East prepared to demand that Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin explain how it happened that five RAF planes were shot down by the Israelis near the Palestine border.

The British government in an official statement said the Palestine situation "gravely threatened" the peace of the world, but it still gave no indication of intention to appeal to the UN. She had indicated previously her strategy would be to pour naval and military strength into areas within easy reach of Israel.

Britain's air ministry asserted

PLANNING GROUP STUDIES CHANGES

Trees, Flowers May Get Play In Naming Of City's Streets

By ROGER SOUTHALL
Avalanche Staff Writer

PRESENT Lubbock telephone and city directories may soon be as obsolete as Jack Benny's Maxwell if street name changes are adopted as suggested last night at a special meeting held in city hall for the purpose of working out a standard system of naming streets in sub-divisions as they are brought into the city limits.

For example, a wholesale impeachment of the "Presidential avenues" in southwest Lubbock was suggested and almost unanimously favored by local civic leaders attending the meeting.

These avenues, beginning with Washington, Adams, Jefferson, and extending westward in frustrating (but nevertheless correct) chronological order, will be renamed with names of trees, but with the use of the alphabet. That is, Washington avenue will be given the name of some tree beginning with the letter "A" (such as Aspen or Ash), while Adams avenue will be given the name of a tree beginning with letter "B" (probably Birch or Butternut), Jefferson will be given the name of a tree be-

Ice Spreads Destruction Over Midwest

(By The Associated Press)

SLEET and freezing rain spread danger and destruction from Ohio to New Mexico late Tuesday.

And while the Midwest and northern plains struggled to break the icy grip, the southeastern states had temperatures in the 80's.

Ice, which has snarled communications, endangered travel and threatened power supply in much of the Midwest, moved southward into Texas and New Mexico.

Ice Glaze Spreads

A glaze spread over a vast area of West Texas. Travel was dangerous or impossible. Many communities were isolated.

Communications were hard hit. The Southwestern Bell Telephone company said 465 of its West Texas circuits were out of service and 450 poles were down.

Electrical service was hampered in parts of New Mexico. At least eight small communities had curtailed power supplies.

Towns Cut Off

Meanwhile, the ice paralysis seized Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma.

Some 144 towns, mostly in Missouri and Kansas, were cut off, with no long distance communications. There were 1,500 long distance circuits out and 2,600 poles broken or downed.

Southwestern Bell estimated damage to its lines in the three states plus Texas and Arkansas was more than $500,000. Most of the destruction was concentrated in Missouri.

Power lines snapped in some areas, plunging several cities and towns into darkness. Joplin, Mo., has been without electricity since Monday night. Independence, Pittsburgh and Parsons, Kans., have had only brief period of service during that period.

Trains Are Late

At St. Louis, trains arriving from the west were four to 14 hours late. Commercial airlines were not operating into the city.

The Pacific northwest skinned through a power crisis tonight with a slim margin of electricity to spare. Plunging temperatures had frozen over the Columbia river in Oregon and clogged lesser streams. This cut the hydro-electric output.

The thermometer dropped as low as 33 degres below zero in inland Oregon. Logging operations were halted and lumber

Attorneys Flay Shutdown Order

AUSTIN, Jan. 11 (AP)—Three Fort Worth attorneys today termed the Railroad commission's shutdown order on the Heyser oil field as "an unreasonable exercise of delegated police power."

The attorneys, representing operators in other fields, filed a brief with the Supreme court in the appeal of the commission's Heyser order.

The court tomorrow will hear oral submission of the state's appeal of a trial court permanent injunction which prevented enforcement of the shutdown.

A decision on the case will have a far-reaching effect on the state's effort to halt wasteful gas

'Can't Happen Here,' California Residents Cry As Hail, Snow Fall

By FRANK MILL
INS Staff Correspondent

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11—Southern California, the storied land of sun glasses, orange blossoms and bare-backed blondes, writhed in the throes of a king-size shiver again tonight.

Millions of bewildered partisans were left literally numb by what the local weather bureau dubbed as the worst and most destructive snowstorm in its history.

Damage to citrus crops is expected to exceed $60,000,000.

Hail, sleet, rain and snow, —real snow!—blanketed the semi-tropical terrain to break all existing weather records and the hearts of chamber of commerce press agents.

Unbelieving residents, who spend more dough annually for suntan lotion than they do for underewear, chatteringly took up the new byword of the area:

"It can't happen here!"

But it did happen. And the weather man predicted still another night of crop-killing temperatures, traffic-stalling snow and bursting water pipes. Mercury, he said, may drop to 22 degrees in Los Angeles.

Snowfall early today ranged from three-tenths of an

PANHANDLE IS HARD HIT

Much Of Texas Crippled As Winter Tightens Icy Grip

(By The Associated Press)

A GREAT ICE STORM gripped West Texas and the Panhandle Tuesday night, isolating dozens of communities.

Communications were badly crippled, travel was dangerous or impossible. Amarillo had a terrific combination of freezing rain, sleet and fog and most highways were closed.

San Angelo and Odessa were among cities practically paralyzed by the ice storm.

At least two persons lost their lives Tuesday as a result of the weather and scores of others were injured in minor mishaps.

Rodeo Clown Killed

Ralph (Jasbo) Fulkerson, nationally-known rodeo clown, was killed instantly when his pickup truck skidded on slick pavement and overturned. The accident occurred two miles east of Watauga, Tex.

M. E. Walker, 72, died of exposure at Dallas. His body was found in the Trinity river bottoms.

Shortly after 10 p. m. Tuesday night, the state highway patrol reported that power lines were down at Big Spring and Sweetwater. The officer who announced this said it was assumed that at least parts of those cities were in darkness. Dallas repairmen were taking an 11 p.m. train for those cities, he added.

Ice Belt Spreads

At the same time the weather bureau said freezing rains were continuing to spread a perilous mantle of ice in Big Spring, Wink, Midland, Mineral Wells and Abilene. The bureau said skies were clearing somewhat in the Panhandle but temperatures continued low and the ice storm's hold on the area did not lessen.

A report from Wichita Falls late Tuesday night said a power line fell, blacking out the north and west portions of the city. Telephone wires were also down. The report added that power and telephone lines were down in neighboring communities. Wichita Falls schools will not open Wednesday and unless the ice storm breaks, city buses and taxicabs will not operate.

Travel was barely possible between Big Spring and Abilene but

Cold Weather, Icy Highways Again Hit Meets, Bus Runs

BUSES WILL NOT RUN

Buses in the Lubbock Independent School district will not run again today, A. C. Jackson, business manager of the district, announced last night. The buses did not run Tuesday because of the dangerous condition of highways.

Jackson explained that officials did not want to take any chances with the safety of school children and for that reason would not attempt to run the buses this morning. Regular school classes will continue in the city as usual, however.

MEETING IS POSTPONED

The World Order Workshop scheduled for 2 p. m. today by the West Texas area Christian churches has been postponed because of inclement weather, and no arrangements have yet been made concerning a future date, Rev. Travis White, pastor of the First Christian church, announced Tuesday night.

The program, which was to last until 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon, included leaders such as Dr. Walter W. Sikes of Indianapolis; Dr. A. L. Haddon of Australia, who is on tour of Christian churches in America; Professor Cortex Ewing of the University of Oklahoma; Dr. Edwin Elliott of Fort Worth; and Dr. John Barclay of Austin.

More Freezing Rain Seen On Plains Today

By BILL HAMS
Avalanche Staff Writer

A TWO-DAY ice storm was expected to level a final blast of freezing rain and sleet at the South plains today after blanketing the area under two to five inches of crusty ice which curtailed transportation and crippled communications in some sections.

Traffic, which had been slowed to a snail's pace Monday and Tuesday by heavy falls of sleet and snow, was further reduced beginning Tuesday when Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma Motor Coaches began to cancel schedules to connecting towns over West Texas.

The bus company had halted schedules to and from Vernon Monday, and the further curtailment came as roads became increasingly slippery and dangerous. The arrival of a bus from Amarillo at 10 p.m. marked the halt of all schedules Tuesday night.

Roads Still Hazardous

Company officials emphasized that roads were still passable at reduced speeds but the halting of operations was decided upon as a means of assuring passengers' safety and comfort. It was indicated that partial operations would be started this morning if weather conditions had improved to any extent overnight.

The Texas Highway patrol Monday warned all motorists off the highways except for emergency travel. The warning was reiterated Tuesday and Tuesday night. A spokesman for the patrol said:

"A partial thawing Wednesday is possible, but even so roads will remain dangerous and will become increasingly hazardous Wednesday night as the melted sleet and snow again freezes. We have compiled an excellent safety record during this storm and we hope to ride it out without further accidents."

Phone Service Disrupted

Southwestern Bell Telephone company officials here Tuesday night said that freezing rain and mushy sleet had ripped down several hundred poles south of Lubbock and service to Slaton, Post, Snyder, Sweetwater, Abilene, Big Spring, Midland, Odessa, Dallas and Fort Worth had been interrupted.

Service to Slaton was restored at 4:30 p.m., an official said. All available men were thrown into repair crews Tuesday to get communications lines operating again, but it was estimated that it would take at least until late today to partially restore service through the ice bound southern sleet belt.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 — The passing show:

There are three editors named Chambers in the latest edition of Who's Who, but no Whitaker. In the same book there is one Hiss and he is Alger.

An inspection also makes one appreciate why Robert Stripling, the House Un-American Activities committee's chief investigator, kept asking witnesses in the case, "can you conceive of Mr. Hiss as guilty of these charges?" Few, if any, could.

Sonja Goes On

Enduring, endearing Sonja Henie comes back to Madison Square garden on the night of January 20, and it reminds me that I'm getting old. Even if Sonja isn't. I covered her official debut as a pro at the garden just 12 years ago, and even then she had been thrice Olympic champion and ten times world champion.

Sonja still looks like what she's got in the bank . . . a million bucks. She has ploughed so much of her ice review profits back into the show this year that one ensemble alone, which she wears for a few whirling moments, cost $22,000.

Sonja is a star without an understudy. She has had remarkably few accidents during her 12 years of professional skating. Her worst came in 1942 when her partner lost his footing and dragged her to the ice with him. Her partners now are drilled to let go of her at the slightest suspicion of a pratt-fall.

Toots Gives In

New York's plushier saloons have made a practice for years of giving their favored male customers handsome silk ties discreetly advertising the establishments: an embossed stork for Mr. Billingsley's place, miniature jockeys and tiny "21's" for the Kriendlers' pub, playfully romping bulls and bears for the Waldorf's men's bar.

A blunt critic of this form of elegant sandwich-man technique has been Toots Shor, the Democratic publican. Mr. Shor has been known to take shears to the neckwear of friends who thus advertise other joints. But he, too, has succumbed. Recently he had some ties made up to propagandize his place. He wrote the subtle legend himself. On his ties are scrolled: "I eat with Toots."

Funeral Home Agrees To Conduct Reburial Rites For Mexican GI

AUSTIN, Jan. 11.—(U.P.)— The Texas Good Neighbor commission said today that a Three Rivers funeral home director will go ahead with reburial of a Mexican soldier killed overseas if his family insists.

Tom Sutherland, jr., executive secretary of the commission, said that contrary to earlier reports the funeral home director had not refused use of facilities for reinterment.

The dispute arose over return of Felix Longoria, a soldier killed in Luzon, Philippine islands, for re-burial.

Sutherland said the funeral director, T. W. Kennedy, of the Rice Funeral home, Three Rivers, had merely "discouraged" the family but said he would conduct reinterment services if they insist.

Sutherland said he had received a telegram from Dr. Hector P. Garcia, president of the American GI forum, protesting that the soldier was being denied reburial "solely on Mexican ancestry" and charged "discriminatory practices."

Mexico Proud Of Oil Gains In Decade Of Government Control

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 11. (AP)—Mexico's petroleum industry, which last year passed its tenth anniversary under government control after expropriation of private oil interests in 1938, gave itself a pat on the back today for "better and increased production."

"In ten years," Pemex said, "Mexico has done what the expropriated companies never did: explorations in 150 new wells, Mexican reserves of 1,000,000 barrels against 350,000,000 in 1938, and in ten years, reserves augmented 450,000,000 barrels and that will grow still more."

The discrepancy in the figure of 450,000,000 barrels for increased reserves was not explained.

Increased Output Seen

Pemex forecast a production for 1953 of 365,000 barrels daily to increase by 1955 to a production per day of 463,000 barrels.

The government owned company said that, in the ten years since expropriation, "directors, technicians and workers have augmented and bettered production in spite of the disloyal competition of foreign managements."

Pemex' actual prospects for 1949 are dependent on the ability of the company to develop new reserves. Despite the company's pat on its back, old reserves are rapidly being depleted, and new reserves are not keeping up with such depletion. All the fields from which the 1948 production of 60,000,000 barrels came are old fields, most of which were under exploration before 1938.

The only new deposits found since expropriation were, however, found last year in the Reynosa field near the Texas border. The field produces light gravity crude with a high gas content. It has to date produced about 300 per day.

Only about 20 per cent of last year's 60,000,000 barrel production was exported. Domestic consumption skyrocketed and is still going up.

Sore point in the body of the nationalized oil industry is the necessity for continued importation of oil products not produced in Mexico. Such imports, including lubricants, blending stocks and anti-knock fluid, reached 5,000,000 barrels in 1948. Their higher dollar unit value will probably make the net balance for the year only slightly favorable to Mexico.

DENTON, Jan. 11. —(U.P.)— A fund raised by citizens of Denton county for Sheriff W. O. Hodges, who may lose the sight of an eye when he was shot while making an arrest, went over the $500 mark today.

Hodges was struck in the face by a shot gun blast allegedly fired by a young Krum, Texas, farmer who terrorized the little community for several hours last Friday before being shot down. Program Study Set For Southwestern Journalism Congress

Program plans for the Southwestern Journalism congress to be held here April 28 and 29 will be formulated at 7 p. m. Thursday night in the Press building at Texas Technological college at a meeting of representatives of the Tech faculty, student body, and from the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, Cecil Horne, president of the congress, announced Tuesday.

"It will be decided at this meeting to whom invitations to speak will be sent, and what particular professions will be represented by speakers," Mrs. Margaret Allen, publicity assistant, said.

Faculty members attending the meeting will be Horne, head of journalism; Clark Schooley, assistant professor of journalism; Miss Jane Watson, journalism instructor; Mrs. Louise Allen, assistant professor of journalism; and R. A. Mills, professor of English.

From the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce will be Chas. A. Guy, editor and publisher of The Avalanche-Journal, and A. B. Davis, manager of the chamber. Student representatives will be Clint Formby of McAdoo, president of Student Council; C. E. Wendt of Lubbock, president of the Press club; Joe France of Sulphur Springs, president of Kappa Alpha Mu, photography fraternity; Oscar Allen, president of Tech Chamber of Commerce; and Ray Cook of Childress, student president of the Congress.

Navy Shipyard At Orange To Be Placed On Market By WAA

DALLAS, Jan. 11. —(AP)— The Navy shipyard at Orange, operated by Consolidated Steel during the war, will be placed on the market for public bidding Jan. 21, W. K. Dunlap, war assets administration information officer, said today. Bids are to be opened at 2 p. m., Feb. 10, at the regional office, he said.

The offering includes both the ground and buildings, Dunlap added. War assets owns the buildings and Consolidated Steel owns the land.

Consolidated Steel has been negotiating with the government to acquire title to the complete property, Dunlap said, but these negotiations failed to reach the sale stage.

If Stomach Gas or Sour Food Taste Robs You of Sleep

Here's How You May Help, Whether You Eat 500 Pounds or 2000 Pounds of Food In a Year

You can't feel cheerful, be happy and sleep well, if your stomach is always upset. As age advances the "old stomach" needs more help. The reason is this:

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains very special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other alkalizers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

BORDERLINE ANEMIA*
CAN BE A BAR TO BEAUTY!

When good looks fade and vitality falters—when you feel spent and look pale and drawn—it may be because your red blood cells are too faded and weak. You may have a Borderline Anemia, due to a ferro-nutritional blood deficiency. Medical studies say up to 68% of women—many men and children—are the weary, dreary victims of this Borderline Anemia.

If you have this Borderline Anemia, you need Ironized Yeast Tablets! They are specially formulated to help build up faded, puny red blood cells to healthy redness and size, and thus permit your color and vitality to come surging back. Of course, continuing tiredness and pallor may come from other causes—see your doctor regularly. But in this Borderline Anemia, take Ironized Yeast Tablets. Take them to reclaim your lost energy, your healthy color, your enjoyment of life!

*Due to a ferro-nutritional blood deficiency, a condition for which Ironized Yeast is specially formulated.

Jester Likely To Follow Demo Platform With Two Exceptions

By O. B. LOYD, Jr.
United Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Jan. 11.—Except for two planks, Gov. Beauford Jester is expected to go down the line with the 1948 platform of the Democratic party of Texas when he addresses the joint session of the 51st legislature.

Historically, the governor will address both members of the House and Senate at 11 a. m. on Wednesday, the second day of the new session. However, the time and date are set by the legislature.

The unofficial word today was that this year's talk will be shorter than the last one. The governor's address to the joint session in 1947 lasted one hour and 56 minutes.

In General Terms

His address this year, it was believed, will be in general terms, with special discussion of most of the proposals being saved for special messages later on.

He was expected to ride the middle road of the party platform except for two proposals—a severance tax on natural gas and repeal of the nine so-called "anti-labor laws" passed by the last legislature.

So far, the governor has declined to express himself on either proposal. In no instance has he hinted at an endorsement.

Likewise, the governor is expected to tip-toe over any discussion of taxes, saving that topic for his later budget message.

It was considered probable that the governor would stress five fields of prospective legislation.

Fields Are Listed

These embraced the Texas prison system and endorsement of a $4,200,000 appropriation to carry out the Ellis plan; highway construction and the need for a $20,000,000 appropriation to finance continuing rural road construction; public schools, and the need for a $9,000,000 emergency appropriation for equalization aid; public welfare and an expected renewal of the governor's recommendation that the people be allowed to vote on removal of the present $35,000,000 ceiling on expenditures for old age assistance, aid to the needy blind and aid to dependent children; and eleemosonary institutions, probably carrying with it a broad endorsement of a $21,000,000 building program proposed by the state board of control.

It was also considered probable the governor would single out for specific mention several topics in which he has shown great personal interest.

Committee Tops List

Topping this list is his recently-appointed committee to study proposed revision of the state's election laws.

Although earlier the governor has championed a "states' rights-civil rights" program, he was expected to devote little if any mention to this field in his coming address.

Veterans, waiting for a good word from the governor on the question of a bonus, were expected to be left still listening.

A year ago the governor made his now-famous offhand remark Texan." The governor met the texan." The governor met the furor that followed with a continuing silence.

No change in policy was anticipated.

Man Is Sentenced After Posting Fraudulent Note On Odessa Bank

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 11.—(AP) Arthur S. Clements, 26 was sentenced to three years in prison in federal district court here yesterday after pleading guilty to a charge of posting a fraudulent bank draft for $25,000.

U. S. Attorney Ben Cooper said the draft was drawn on an Odessa, Texas, bank. The attorney said Clements then set an automobile agency here last October.

Investigators said Clements proposed to deliver new cars immediately for $1,850 with his salesmen taking $300 deposits from prospective customers.

City police and the Federal Bureau of Investigation investigated the case. Cooper said Clements, who gave a Washington, D. C., address, collected $5,000 from car buyers in Odessa before coming here.

Escaped Convicts Are Returned To Prison

HOUSTON, Jan. 11. (AP)—Three convicts slipped out of fog-bound Central prison farm near Sugar Land yesterday morning, but all they got for their trouble was a little exercise.

The three, first felons to escape from the Texas prison system this year, were back in their farm tanks trying to catch their breath after a short-lived four hours of "freedom." They were chased down and captured about 2 p. m. within ten miles of the farm.

Assistant General Manager Mace Thompson led a group of guards following eight bloodhounds which were put on the trail of the escapees.

The two were J. R. Turner, 28, serving a 20-year sentence from Floyd county for burglary and Glenn Dalache Phillips, 29, serving seven years from Potter county for robbery.

Another convict, Timothy A. Sherrouse, 20, serving two years from Montgomery county for burglary, had escaped about the same time as Turner and Phillips, but set out in another direction. He was caught by the bloodhounds and guards about a half mile from the prison farm.

But two negro convicts who escaped from Ramsey farm fared a little better. They escaped about 2 p. m. yesterday and were still at large today. They are L. C. Smith, 33, serving a life sentence from Brazoria and Harris counties for burglary and an habitual criminal, and Robert Fennell, 46, also a lifer from Hale county sentenced on the same charge.

Agency Says Russia Is Buying Maps Of U.S. And Possessions

NEW YORK, Jan. 11. (U.P.)—An official of a registered Soviet propaganda agency said today that Russia has been buying large quantities of strategic maps of the United States and its possessions. He said they were ordered for the public library in Moscow.

Allan Markoff, of the four continent book corp., which is registered with the Justice department as a Russian propaganda agency, said the maps are purchased at from 25 to 75 cents each through the Coast and Geodetic survey of the Department of Commerce.

They include nautical, aeronautical and topographical charts that could be extremely valuable from a military standpoint. Bought over the last year and a half, the maps give details of such strategic American defense outposts as Alaska, the Aleutians and the Philippines.

Orders filled for the Soviet union from July, 1947 to July, 1948 totalled 319 charts and maps, including:

Topographical maps of the Philippines; nautical charts of the Atlantic and Gulf coasts, the Aleutian islands, the Pacific and Alaskan coasts, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, the Virgin islands and aeronautical charts giving a complete coverage of airfields in the United States and Canada.

Good Crowds Are Attending Revival Services In City

Capacity crowds are attending the revival services at Bethel Tabernacle, Sixth street and Ave. L, where Rev. Robert Swanson of St. Louis is preaching each night, it was reported yesterday.

The evangelist has been preaching since childhood, and as a youth, preached in nearly every state in the union, Canada, Mexico and several other countries, the annoucement said.

Services start each night at 7:30 o'clock. Sermon topic tonight was announced as "What A Man," and Thursday night's topic is to be "Divine Healing Today." Friday night the evangelist is to present an illustrated sermon on "The House on the Rock," and Saturday night speaks on "A Hot Time in the Old Town," in addition to composing a song suggested by some one in the audience. An invitation is extended to the public.

Mr. America Wants To Smell Sweet Also

New Study Makes Life Of Man Similar To Goldfish

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 — It's a goldfish life today for the average man.

He doesn't have any secrets anymore. He's afraid to open his mouth for fear it'll be taken as a confession.

What does the American male think about the birds and the bees? Just read Mr. Kinsey. If his scientific poll of the masculine libido hasn't made sex more respectable, it at least hasn't diminished its popularity.

And now along comes Archibald Crossley, the business researcher, with a study of Mr. America's dreams, wants and habits in commercial matters. It turns out that the common man is quite a market, and spends a considerable share of the family budget.

He's Some Guy

Yes, sir, he's some guy — this schizophrenic fellow, Mr. America.

The Crossley poll, made for Argosy magazine, shows, for example that papa wants to smell sweet, just like mama does. At least most papas do. Some 57 per cent use mouthwashes, regularly or occasionally. More than 59 per cent smear or pour something on their scalp to ornament or annoint the shrubbery thereon.

And 42.5 per cent now use deodorants, usually the same kind the lady of the family likes.

He still prefers a white shirt and a blue suit, this mythical cross-section male.

Most men still wear pajamas, top and bottom, in the winter, but only 35.4 per cent don both pieces in summer. Only 6.7 per cent sleep raw the year round.

Now take booze. Well, only 68 per cent do, and beer is the top drink.

Majority Like Tobacco

But 79 per cent of the men like tobacco. But only 4.8 out of 100 chew it anymore, and as for snuffing it—only seven men out of 1,000 do that.

The stout 39.3 per cent said they went fishing, and 29.7 per cent went hunting, at least six times a year.

They're neater than you might suspect, these males. It's true that 73 per cent still don't wear garters, but 40 per cent shave at least once a day and another 30 per cent scrape 'em off three times a week or more. And 44 per cent wear a tie clip—or own one.

About 93 per cent pack a wallet or billfold.

One thing is omitted from this Kinsey-of-commerce's probe into the average male's material yearnings—how a man can get the dough to buy more of what he wants.

This is the survey Mr. America is really awaiting.

American Airline Ground Crews In New York Vote Wage Strike

NEW YORK, Jan. 11. (U.P.) — American airlines said today that its 1,221 ground crew workers in New York have voted to strike to back up increased wage demands.

The workers, members of local 501, Transport Workers union (CIO), set no date for the strike.

The officials said they understood strike votes also have been taken or are scheduled by American locals of TWU in Los Angeles, Tulsa, Chicago, Boston, Fort Worth, Dallas and El Paso.

College Association Elects TCU President To Board Of Directors

NEW YORK, Jan. 11. (AP) — Father Vincent J. Flynn, president of the college of St. Thomas, St. Paul, Minn., today was elected president of the Association of American colleges.

Elected to the board of directors was Dr. M. E. Sadler, president of Texas Christian university, Fort Worth.

HONOR ROLLS

HOW widespread is the postwar trend toward forgetfulness of war sacrifices?

Honor rolls carrying the names of men and women who entered military service in World War II are slowly disappearing from the American scene a spot check by the Disabled American Veterans indicates.

Chapters in every section of the nation were asked by DAV national headquarters to report on whether or not honor rolls were still standing in their communities, and if so, to report on condition.

Reports indicated that in many towns and cities honor rolls had been taken down or, if left standing, were in "good," "fair," or shameful condition.

We think the honor roll at the edge of the court house in Tahoka is the best looking one in this part of the country. Whether or not it has been re-painted since the war, we wouldn't know, but it is an attractive sight to see.

"WHEN you list Lubbock's needs, why don't you mention an apartment hotel?" a friend asked the other day.

"For my part," she continued, "I would be glad to lease or sell my home, long since too large for my needs, and move to such a place. I am sure if the building could be centrally located and handsome in appointments, the owner would have no difficulty in finding tenants.

Others hearing the conversation endorsed the suggestion and one other woman said she would like nothing better than to escape the expense and loneliness of living in a large home by moving to a snug apartment hotel.

Club At Election

Mrs. Russell Denison was elected president of Athenaeum club at a Tuesday afternoon meeting held in the home of Mrs. Jesse Seale at 2413 Twenty-first. Other new officers are Mrs. C.C. Coffee, vice president; Mrs. C. W. Denison, recording secretary; Mrs. C. A. Bickley, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Milton Smith, treasurer; and Mrs. D. M. Davis, auditor. At present, Mrs. Denison is serving as president of the club to replace Mrs. A. W. Young who resigned recently.

The officers are to be installed in May and will assume duties in September.

S. M. Kennedy, jr., of the Tech government department, presented a program on "Texas Legislation" for the club following the officer election.

"During the first 60 days of the 120 day session of this legislature, bills will be introduced and during the remaining 60 days, the bills will be pigeon holed, passed or voted down," stated Mr. Kennedy. Bills on election laws, education, public welfare, anti-communism, prison reforms and flood control are among those which are expected to be introduced, according to the speaker. Mr. Kennedy explained, also, that the legislature will probably discuss the writing of a state constitution to replace the outmoded one which at present has 101 amendments.

The guest spoke on state redistricting which will "probably not be accomplished until 1950."

Clubs Re-Schedule Meetings Planned For This Week

Several clubs are re-scheduling events which are being postponed this week because of sickness and hazardous traveling conditions.

Lubbock Woman's Forum cancelled its Tuesday meeting and will not meet until Feb. 8.

Sorosis club's two January programs will be combined on Jan. 25 at the home of Mrs. C. R. Hurmence.

Twentieth Century club will omit its program planned for Tuesday afternoon and will not meet again until Jan. 25.

First Baptist Elizabeth class and 1934 Needle club will hold their meeting planned for this Tuesday on Jan. 18. The class is to have a luncheon at 1 p. m. at the church Activities center. Mrs. G. G. Hall, 602 Ave W, will be hostess to the Needle club at 2 p. m.

Tuesday meetings for Junior Twentieth Century club, Lubbock - Crosby County Medical auxiliary and First Methodist Sorosis class are cancelled.

Stephen W. Wilkinson chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy has called off a meeting scheduled for this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Dan A. Blair.

First Baptist has cancelled a weekly lesson Homemakers class calendared for Wednesday morning.

Because of illness in the home of a member, a party planned by Mesdames E. R. Allen and Rosella Rushing for the Merry Bidders club Thursday afternoon, has been postponed indefinitely.

Presbyterian Women Meet In Circles

Meetings were held Monday afternoon by four circles of First Presbyterian Women of the Church.

Circle 3 met with Mrs. Jack Dudley with eight members and one guest present for a Bible lesson taught by Mrs. J. B. Jackson and a Survey study by Mrs. Charles C. Watson.

Circle 4, with Mrs. C. W. York as hostess, heard a Bible study taught by Mrs. C. C. Schmidt and survey by Mrs. Embry Rose. Ten attended.

Circle 5 met with Mrs. Amelia Bayer with nine members and one guest attending. Mrs. J. J. Clements taught a lesson and Mrs. Lewis Mills the Survey.

A business session was held by four members of Circle 6 when they met with Mrs. Victor Smith.

Units Of Council Attend Meetings

First Christian Women's council circles met Monday afternoon as follows:

Circle 1 met in the morning with Mrs. D. N. Leaverton, jr., as hostess. Mrs. Homer L. Pharr gave the devotion and Mrs. L. O. Armstrong taught the lesson. The hostess presided for a business hour. Ten attended.

Mrs. Brady Lowe was hostess to Circle 2 with twelve members and one guest, Mrs. Myron Vann, present. Mrs. Joe Christian led a devotion, Mrs. Frank Haden gave the lesson and Mrs. Floyd Read, jr., presided.

FEEDING PIGEONS IN PARK—Two early morning strollers toss food to pigeons flocked around them in snow-blanketed Bryant Park in New York City.

Today's Town Talk

MR. and Mrs. Trent C. Root and daughter, who came to Lubbock from their home in Dallas to attend the World Premiere of "Futures Unlimited," all-student technicolor and sound movie production of life at Texas Tech, will remain in the city until highway travel is less hazardous.

Another out of town spectator of the movie and guest at the opening night supper given at the Lubbock hotel afterwards was Charles W. Wooldridge of Dallas, member of the Texas Tech Board of Directors. Another member of the board attending was O. B. Ratliff, accompanied by Mrs. Ratliff. Also at their table were Mr. and Mrs. Hurley Carpenter. He is the new president of the Texas Tech Alumni association.

The ham, eggs, toast and coffee of a traditional opening night supper were also served to Messrs. and Mesdames Haskell Taylor, John E. Speer, D. M. McElroy, Elmer Tarbox, Roy Furr, Frank Junnell, James G. Allen, J. William Davis, Trent C. Root, Mrs. Margarette Wible Walker, Miss June Hanson and Dr. E. N. Jones.

Third grader, Bill Trotter, is looking forward to hunting quail, etc., near his new home in Harlingen. His father has already gone there to familiarize himself with his business and to locate a place for his family to stay until they build a home to meet their own specifications.

Well-known in Lubbock club circles, Mrs. Trotter says she hates to leave her many friends, but is looking forward to visiting here often. She and her son will move from 3103 Twenty-first to Harlingen on Saturday, Jan. 22.

A bridge luncheon to be given Friday in the Dell Morgan home, 2101 Twenty-sixth, will initiate a series of winter entertainments to be staged by Mrs. Morgan and Mrs. R. S. Williams as co-hostesses.

Edwin Mark Cooley of Amarillo is a guest in the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Bell, of 1912 Ave. R. The child's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cooley.

Gen. Eaker Warns Of Possible Red Attack

BRYAN, Jan. 11. (AP)—A wartime general, now retired, predicted here last night that Russia's cold war could warm into a full-fledged attack on the United States "within three to five years."

Gen. Ira Eaker, former commander of the Eighth Air Force and now an executive for the Hughes Tool Co., said Russian tentacles had already gripped China, and that an expansion westward and a blow at the United States could be expected.

He spoke to the Bryan Rotary club.

"Russia might go farther west into Europe; Russia already is going eastward into China, and Russia will be ready to attack the U. S. in from three to five years," Eaker said.

Gen. Eaker, who has previously voiced concern over future relations between this country and Russia, suggested a triumvirate of military strength, industrial strength and patriotism to ward off such an attack.

"If we follow those three steps, we shall be the last bulward of freedom to be overrun. Failing that, we shall spend our last days in slavery," he predicted.

Soldier And Girl Friend Are Held On Dyer Act Violation

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., Jan. 11 (AP)—A young Weathersfield soldier and his teen-age girl companion, charged with committing a federal offense, have been turned over by police here to a United States deputy marshal.

The pair, Pvt. Anthony J. Vasquenza, 20, and Georgia M. Turner, 17, of Los Angeles, Calif., is charged with violating the Dyer act, which counts it a federal offense to take a stolen automobile across state lines.

Vasquenza is also being sought by the Army and a charge of being AWOL from Fort Bliss, Texas.

Texas' Only Woman Senator Gets Orchid At Opening Session

AUSTIN, Jan. 11 (AP) — Texas' only woman state senator strolled to her seat in the Senate this morning amid orchids and roses and flashbulbs popping.

Several senators met Mrs. Neveille H. Colson of Navasota, their feminine colleague, with old south gallantry.

"She's the only one I'll call sweetheart," said one. And—"she's the best-looking member of the Senate," said another.

Mrs. Colson, a good-looking brunette, came in wearing a dark gray suit and small black straw hat. A purple scarf at her neck matched the orchid on her shoulder. On her desk was another orchid and a dozen red roses.

Legislators Get Gifts

A motor coach company had placed gift ties on all the legislators' desks but Mrs. Colson and Mrs. Rae Files Still of the House of Representatives got orchids. Mrs. Still is from Waxahachie.

Old friends greeted Mrs. Still in the House, too. She's another attractive brunette. She bustled in wearing a navy blue suit and hat with a pink rose that clashed with her red rose lapel. The red rose meant she was for Durwood Manford for speaker.

"First time I've got an orchid since I was married," Mrs. Still remarked.

"I'm gonna be sitting back in the amen corner and you just yell if you need an extra special loud amen," one representative said.

"I'm already bowing under the burden of getting the Gilmer-Aikin report through," Mrs. Still said. "I'm the only House member left here who served on that committee, and that's all I'm going to work on."

'Happy' In Senate

"I'm happy to be here, of course," said Mrs. Colson who has served 10 years in the House but is starting her first term in the Senate.

"I intend to introduce as soon as possible my third road bill—one to appropriate money from the surplus fund for farm to market roads. That was one of the planks of my platform."

Senator Ottis Lock of Zavalla remarked that Mrs. Colson had sponsored one of the best pieces of road legislation in the Texas legislature—the good roads constitutional amendment.

"She's held in high regard by all her colleagues," said Lock. "She asks no special favors because she's a woman and she probably spends more hours taking care of her constituency than any other legislator here."

Britain, France Seek To Settle Differences At Short Meeting

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

Britain and France, by publicly recognizing their differences and trying to settle them, lend considerable encouragement to those who believe the western countries have the moral courage as well as the material resources necessary to win the cold war.

One of the chief causes of worry among Americans responsible for the conduct of the foreign recovery program has been their inability to get France and Britain to pull together.

Foreign Ministers

The mere fact that Foreign Ministers Bevin and Schuman are meeting for broad discussions does not mean, of course, that they will be able to wipe out all friction. Not every conflicting national interest is capable of complete compromise at one swoop. But open admission that divergent view are unhealthy, and an honest effort to compose them, will in itself give strong support to the common program.

The issues scheduled for discussion at this week's meeting are mainly political. The fundamental issue of competition for markets, and for the upper hand in trade between themselves, apparently will not be approached directly.

One of the chief points under discussion is whether and what sort of agency can be set up for semi-political and economic unification.

Britain Opposes "Union"

France and a good number of other western European countries are ready to jump into a super-parliamentary experiment looking looking toward federation. Britain is not ready to yield the necessary sovereignty for a real union, sees no point in a mere debating society without authority to act, and prefers a more limited organization — a council of ministers which could act within certain limits.

France doesn't like British plans for Lybia, former Italian colony, and wants London to liberalize its policy toward Palestine.

Britain opposes the French idea for permanent internationalization of Germany's great industrial Ruhr, leading to fundamental disagreement on the complexion of a western German government.

There is little difference between French and British colonial policies in southeast Asia, but there is lack of co-ordination. Something may be done about this, especially in regard to Indo-China and the Malay peninsula, in the face of machinations of the Communist "Cominform" in Bangkok.

All of these things involve important technical problems which cannot be solved in a two-day meeting. But the picture of France and England trying to do their friendly best certainly will buck up Americans who are just now contemplating the necessity of spending $21 billion, half of their government's entire annual budget, in the international effort to make the world safe for Democracy.

Thousands Reported Homeless As Floods Hit Mexican State

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 11. (U.P.)—Thousands of persons are homeless and crop damage is skyrocketing in the flooded Mayo river valley of Sonora state, reports here said today.

Gov. Horacio Sobarzo of Sonora told newspapermen by telephone that at least 400 homes are destroyed and that 25,000 acres of fertile farm lands have been flooded. Other reports said that the entire winter harvest had been ruined.

Steady rains which have been falling in the valley for the past two days continued this morning, communications from the area indicated.

Reports from the valley are sketchy. Telegraph and telephone wires are down and highways into the district have been washed out.

Radio stations near the scene of the disaster have been asking aid in the form of food, medicine and clothing. Reports said help is on the way in from Mermosillo, capital of Sonora.

TITO NABS HIM—Dr. Obren Blagojevitch, above, deputy finance minister of Yugoslavia, has been arrested, while trying to flee the country, according to Belgrade. One of Yugoslavia's top economists, Blagojevitch supposedly confessed that he intended to "flee the country and defraud it."

Reburial Rites Set Today For Sgt. Bray

Reburial services for Sgt. Bruce Bray, who died in a Japanese prisoner of war camp during World War II, will be conducted at 3 p. m. today in the Sanders Funeral home chapel.

Carl Spain, instructor in Bible at Texas Technological college, will officiate, assisted by Horace Coffman, assistant minister at Broadway Church of Christ.

Pallbearers will be Dolph Pounds, Earl Langley, Jim Hill, Wade Webb, Jack Nelson and Norman Heath.

Honorary pallbearers will be all available men who served with Bray in the 131st Field artillery.

Burial is to be in Lubbock Memorial cemetery, under direction of Sanders Funeral home.

Born in Sweetwater, Bray attended public school in Lubbock, graduating from Lubbock Senior High school in 1936. He attended Texas Tech in 1936-37.

In 1940 he entered the Army, and after training at Camp Bowie sailed with the 131st Field artillery from San Francisco on Nov. 21, 1941.

He landed Jan. 11, 1942, in Java with the unit, and was captured in Batavia about two months later.

He later died in Burma in a prisoner of war camp. His remains later were removed from a prison camp cemetery to the American National cemetery in Barrackspore, India.

Survivors include the mother, Mrs. Nellie G. Bray of Lubbock; two sisters, Miss Hermanell Bray of Lubbock and Mrs. R. R. Struve of Abernathy; and two brothers, Dick and Joel, both of Lubbock.

Thirteen-Year-Old Mexican Girl Gives Birth To Daughter

OAKLAND, Cal., Jan. 11. (U.P.)—Mrs. Enriquez Ampora, who will be 14 years old in two weeks, proudly displayed her early birthday present today: A six-pound, six-ounce baby daughter.

The tiny, jet-haired Mexican girl gave birth to the baby Sunday at Highland Alameda hospital. Doctors said the young mother was "still weak from the ordeal," but that the infant was "doing nicely."

The pretty child-wife dropped from the seventh grade last March to marry her 18-year-old sweetheart, Alfonso Ampora. They were married with their parents' blessing in Reno.

Ampora works in a nursery near the couple's home in Russell City, a small suburb 15 miles south of here. He said Enriquez is an expert housewife.

"I'm going to name the baby Linda Hope," Mrs. Ampora said. "Isn't she beautiful?"

Federal Judgeship, Vet Hospital Is Sought For South Texas Area

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(AP)—A veterans hospital in South Texas and an additional federal judgeship for South Texas would be created under two bills introduced yesterday by Rep. Bentsen (D-Texas).

Bentsen said his bills are similar to those already submitted by Rep. Lyle (D.-Texas), who also represents the area affected by Bentsen's measures. Bentsen said he and Lyle are working together.

The hospital would be built in an area bounded by Corpus Christi, Brownsville and Laredo. The federal judge would also maintain residence in that area.

Texas Cutback Drops U. S. Oil Production

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 11.—(U.P.)—U. S. crude oil production dropped off sharply during the past week because of a whacking 156,160 barrels per day loss in the Texas average the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Texas conservation authorities ordered cutbacks in production there which totaled more than the average decrease for the entire U. S. Production for the nation averaged 5,468,685 barrels daily for the week ending Jan. 8, a loss of 139,590 barrels from the previous week.

Mississippi, Louisiana, Kansas and Oklahoma reported production gains but these did not offset the Texas reduction.

Voters' Choice Leaves Tarrant County Constables Without Pay

FORT WORTH, Jan. 11. (U.P.)—Tarrant county constables today were in the midst of a legal tangle, one that may deprive them of any compensation for their work.

It started when voters adopted a constitutional amendment removing constables from the fee system and placing them on a salary basis. But the amendment didn't specify how much the salaries should be.

Yesterday, county commissioners refused to set any salaries. They said that was something for the legislature.

An exception is Constable W. W. Wilson of precinct 1. Because population of his precinct places him under a special law, he is assured of $4,500 annually.

Dallas Private 'Clubs' Warned

AUSTIN, Jan. 11.—(U.P.)—John Lawhon, administrator of the Texas Liquor Control board, today announced crackdown, centering at Dallas, on the sale of whiskey in private "clubs."

He indicated the campaign also would be carried to Fort Worth.

The operation, he said, was being carried out by Bohn Hilliard, ex-University of Texas football player and now head of the board's enforcement division.

Told To "Get In Line"

It was reported that Hilliard had conferred with 55 club operators and managers, telling them to "get in line."

Lawhon, declining to confirm the exact number, expressed the opinion, "that's probably about right."

The agency, Lawhon said, was attempting to get the "clubs" voluntarily "into line."

If they don't, Lawhon said that prosecution would follow. Conviction of violation of the state liquor law provides for a fine of from $100 to $1,000 or up to one year in jail, or both.

Clubs, where whiskey is sold by the drink are classified, Lawhon said, "as open saloons."

Club Practice Spreads

"There can be no sale of liquor by the drink anywhere in Texas," he said. However, the law does not apply to wine which may be sold by the drink.

Likewise, the attorney general has ruled that the use of liquor in private clubs where the whiskey is provided by the individual members is legal.

In those cases, the club provides a locker for each member. The member provides his own whiskey, and his individual drinks are prepared from his stock. No money changes hands, except in some instances to pay for the mixer that might be used.

Lawhon said the "club" practice has apparently spread faster in Dallas than in any other city of the state.

Operators of the establishments, it was reported, defend their actions on the grounds that they have to conform with their competitors in order to stay in business.

"We have to do," one operator was quoted as saying, "as the others do."

Police Hold Six Suspected Of Robbing Corpus Christi Store

BROWNSVILLE, Jan. 11. (AP)—Four men wanted by Corpus Christi police for questioning in connection with the armed robbery of a grocery store last night were arrested today by deputy sheriffs and police officers. Two women also were arrested. No charges have yet been filed.

Corpus Christi police reported the Corner Grocery store was held up by three armed men. Two of the men held Mrs. H. McGrath, wife of the owner, and a customer at gun point while a third forced Mrs. Ruth Welborn, sister of Mrs. McGrath, to empty the cash drawer.

The fourth man was believed to have driven the getaway car, Corpus Christi police said. About $250 was taken.

Reports from Houston said the six suspects were wanted in connection with hijackings there.

Lions Club Founder Honored At Luncheon

The Lubbock Lions club paid tribute to Melvin Jones, founder of the organization, at its luncheon Tuesday at the Hilton hotel, and various members suggested ways in which they believe the club can be of greater service to the community.

Ray Wells, in charge of the program, said the organization which now operates in 19 nations on four continents, will seek 35,000 new members during January, Jones' birthday month. He said 620 new clubs were organized in the first eight months of last year, bringing the total membership to 330,000 in 6,300 clubs.

Tribute was paid to charter members, of which nine are still active, in the local club, by Dr. Doyle D. Jackson, and Leon Harris paid tribute to the efforts of 19 past presidents of the local club, many of whom were present.

An open forum conducted by Wells brought out suggestions from the membership.

Dr. Marshall Harvey, general chairman, announced personnel of the steering committee in preparations for the district convention to be held here May 22, 23 and 24. The group is to meet at the hotel tomorrow noon to start plans for the convention.

R. W. Duke was introduced as a new member. Club President Wayne Henly was in the chair, with invocation by Dr. J. Ralph Grant.

Mrs. Lotta Gardner, 'Mother Of Fort Worth Little Theater, Dies

FORT WORTH, Jan. 11—(U.P.)—Mrs. Lotta Carter Gardner, 72, recognized as "the mother of Fort Worth Little Theater," died at her home here today.

Mrs. Gardner, who devoted much of her early life to Fort Worth theatrical enterprises, died after an illness of several months.

The home where she died is on a site where once stood the family barn—a structure that was converted into a theatrical gathering place and housed the city's first Little Theater.

Red Raiders Gain 57-39 Revenge Game From Orediggers

Tech Rallies In Second Half To Cop Fifth BC Win

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche Sports Editor

Revenge—and the fifth Border Conference victory of the year—was gained last night by Texas Tech's basketball team, the Red Raiders turning in a convincing 57-39 defeat of Texas Mines, only loop foe to beat the locals this year.

The victory, before a packed, cheering gymful of people, came on a second half rally that threatened to turn the game into a rout. Earlier, the Raiders had sputtered, stuttered, stumbled and bumbled, going off the court with only a 21-15 lead at the half.

Gibson, Grove Lead

Gene Gibson and Don Grove had scoring honors for the night, each with 13 points, while Wimpy Hill and Ardis Barton had 12 and 11 respectively. But Whistle Banks and Jiggs Jackson, while not hitting the high spots in the scoring column, had a lot to do with fashioning the win.

Yvan Rechy topped Mines scorers with 12 points, other talented Orediggers failing to produce anything comparable.

Tech started like a house afire, running up an 11-0 lead in the first six minutes. They controlled the ball so thoroughly that Mines didn't come close to the basket and had to pot away from outside the defense.

Tech cooled off faster than the South Plains under the cold front after that, scoring only 10 points during the next 14 minutes of play. And the Orediggers found the range. Santos Perez started the damage with a set shot and followed with a charity heave. Abe Franco hit, Rechy sank a side set and went in for a layup and Earl Richards hit two hook shots off Grove to narrow the margin to 19-13. The teams traded field goals to give Tech a 21-15 intermission margin.

Gibson Sparks Rally

Nelson Ohlemacher hit a hook shot and Grove countered with two free throws, before Ventura Irrabali and Perez bucketed set shots to bring Tech's lead down to 23-21. That was the last time the score was close.

Gibson sparked the Raiders to a rally, pushing in a follow shot and Barton rammed home two fast goals to make the score 29-21 with three minutes gone. During the next seven minutes, Tech hit 15 points, while holding Mines to six and running the score to 44-27.

That was the game, with half of the final stanza left to play. Coach Polk Robison slowed his quintet down, getting them to play a deliberate game that kept them matching point for point through the remainder of the game.

It was the fifth Border Conference victory against one defeat for the Raiders, who face West Texas State Teachers College at Canyon Friday night. For Mines, it was their third defeat and their second on consecutive nights.

Top Gridders To Feature Coaches' Meeting

Star-Studded Array Of Gridiron Talent Scheduled Here Jan. 24

LUBBOCK MORNING AVALANCHE
Sports
PAGE SIX. LUBBOCK, TEX. WEDNESDAY, JAN. 12, 1949

TARGET FOR TONIGHT—With Jaycee and Golden Gloves bouts coming up, this picture seems appropriate. Arthur King, the pugilist at the right, has Tony LaBua pinned against the ropes. He proceeded to hold him there with rights and lefts in this lightweight scrap at Madison Square Garden, until the semi-final was stopped in the third round. King of Toronto, Can., holds the British Empire championship and was highly impressive.

A galaxy of football stars to rival anything seen in recent years in West Texas will feature the annual winter meeting of the South Plains Coaches and Officials association Jan. 24.

Joe Holmes, president, announced yesterday that Rusty Russell, assistant coach for Southern Methodist university, will be the main speaker at the dinner to be held at Luby's Cafeteria near the college.

But Coach Russell will have plenty of competition that night. With him on the program will be such grid greats as Doak Walker, the two-time All-America backfield ace of SMU; Bobby Layne, an All-America at Texas and a standout with the Chicago Bears this year; Clyde "Bulldog" Turner, all-Pro center for the eighth consecutive year with the Chicago Bears.

Baugh May Appear

Others to appear on the program will include Joe Coleman, coach of the Odessa Bronchos of District 3-AA; Howard "Bull" Lynch, Amarillo High school coach, whose team went to the state Class AA finals last year; James Garner, the brilliant end-quarterback on the Golden Sandies; F. O. Scroggins, coach of the Monahans High school team that won the first state Class A football championship; and possibly Sammy Baugh, former TCU star and outstanding field general and passer for the Washington Redskins.

As if the presence of these outstanding coaches and players wasn't enough, films of the SMU-Oregon Cotton Bowl game played Jan. 1 of this year, will be shown.

Only 100 Ducats Available

Holmes said that he would like to invite the entire public, but facilities are not available. As a result, only 100 tickets will be placed on general sale to the public.

Tickets may be purchased at the Sport Center or from Curtis Barrett in the recreation department office in the city hall. Admission will cost $2.50 per person.

The dinner will begin at 7:30 p. m. with talks by the principals following. Discussion of official matters by members of the association also will be held and Holmes is expected to discuss accomplishments of the SPCOA during 1948.

TICKET SALE WILL OPEN TODAY

Amarillo, Lubbock Boxers Will Meet In Jaycee Event Thursday

The ticket sale for the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce boxing card, which will be held tomorrow night at 7:30 in Sled Allen's arena, will open today.

Fight fans have three choices of tickets, ringside, reserved seat and general admission, with tax included in each purchase. Ringside tickets will sell for $1.50 apiece, reserved seats will go for $1.25 and general admission will cost 85 cents a copy.

The tickets are available at Wylie's Drug store today and tomorrow, with the Jaycee secretary present during daylight hours. A capacity crowd is expected to witness the first boxing tourney of the year.

A minimum of 12 bouts has been promised to the public, with Amarillo bringing a complete team here, although a couple of weight divisions will not be represented on the invading forces.

Duke Nally of Amarillo, in charge of the Amarillo team, said that at least 12 boxers will come to Lubbock, most of whom are experienced. The leading invaders will be Alex Perez, last year's hard-hitting middleweight Golden Gloves champion in the Amarillo region and now a light heavyweight; and Leon Palacio, state Golden Gloves champion in the bantamweight class.

Other top fighters coming to the Hub City will be Robert Blessin, Buster Holman, James Wortham, Sammy Sims, Monte Scott and James Bickel.

Leading the Lubbock contingent will be such established fighters as Don Williams, Jimmy Martin, Jack Wilborn, Lester York, Pat McCarty, Bill Kelly, Eddie Goetz, Jerry Martin and David Fawcett.

An exhibition bout is in the process of being arranged between Don Williams, the Texas Tech heavyweight, and another heavy. In addition, Amarillo will bring two or three boys here who are not paired and will stage exhibitions.

Lubbock fighters were busy putting the finishing trim to their boxing prowess yesterday at Foster's Gym, where most of the fighters are training. Bill Henderson and Babe Ritchie, former Golden Gloves champions, as well as professional fighters, are helping Foster with instructions. They are high on the local boys.

The Jaycees have arranged the card to move quickly and smoothly, guaranteeing one of the best amateur cards in a long time.

Australia is pushing a plan for government free dental service.

Free Substitufion Rule May Be Adopted

FORT WORTH, Jan. 11. (AP)—Quarterbacking from the bench will be out if the free substitution rule now before the national rules committee is adopted, says L. R. (Dutch) Meyer, president of the National Football Coaches Association.

Meyer, coach of Texas Christian university, thinks the new rule, which will allow free substitution when the ball changes hands or when time is out, will be adopted by the committee. It was recommended by the coaches group.

He does not believe the proposal to permit "the turn around center" will pass.

"The new proposal of substitutions," Meyer declares, "seems to fit the need. It will eliminate quarterbacking from the bench for the most part since a sub can't be sent in to call each play. Changes will be allowed only when the ball changes hands or when time is out. This will still permit the use of a large number of players, including defensive and offensive specialists, but will eliminate coaches calling each play."

There was a general cry last fall that the coaches were running the teams from the bench and thus were taking away the initiative of the players.

The rule to allow a center to face the backfield would reinstate a practice formerly legal.

Meyer also discussed the National Collegiate Athletic Association "purity code." He explained:

"Under the present rules, athletes may be offered tuition but are supposed to have 'jobs' to pay for board and room. The danger of hypocrisy comes in there where the old 'clock winding' does may be revived. There is much feeling in the coaches' group against such dodges."

The veteran coach said that the 1950 coaches' meeting would be held in New York but that of 1951 is definitely slated for Texas.

"There's already quite a balle for the big affair," Meyer grinned. "I understand that Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston and San Antonio are all bidding for it. I'm not sure when a decision will be made."

Tatum Elected Head Of Lubbock Gun Club

Clyde G. Tatum was elected president of the Lubbock Gun club Tuesday night, following reorganization of the group at a special meeting here at the courthouse. Tatum was named to head a new slate of officers, with B. R. Brady as vice-president and Lawrence Banks as secretary-treasurer.

Other officers elected were W. C. Boyd, W. C. Mingus, C. D. Blair and E. G. Pope, all to the board of directors.

Tatum revealed, following the meeting, that plans have been completed for moving the club to a new location. The group will probably be "setup" at the new site within 30 days, it was announced, and ranges will be available for trap and skeet, rifle and pistol meets.

Persons seeking membership in the club should contact any of the group officers, Tatum emphasized.

Plainview Boxers To Meet Abilene Team Saturday

PLAINVIEW, Jan. 11. — (Special)—The Plainview boxing team, already victors in one team match, Saturday night will go to Abilene to face the strong St. Joseph Academy team.

A 12-man team from this city will leave Saturday noon by bus for Abilene, where the fights will be held that night in the Fair Park Supper Club auditorium. A return match between the two teams will be held in Plainview Feb. 19.

Plainview turned in a narrow 6-5 team decision over Amarillo Junior college Friday night and of the 12 men making the trip to Abilene, nine of them fought on that card.

The Plainview team will be headed by Calvin Pyle, the sensational middleweight from Lockney High school, who has won 19 consecutive bouts last year and this. Friday night he beat J. R. Henry of WTSTC by decision to take his 19th straight fight.

Other boxers making the trip, all of whom will be seen on the regional Golden Gloves tournament in Lubbock Jan. 31, Feb. 1 and Feb. 2, include Ted Livesay Lester Ramsey, Jerry Johnson, Dub Bruington, C. L. Hosapple, Lee Jones, Bill Thompson and Jackie Johnson. These boys, who fought on the Amarillo-Plainview card, will be enlarged by the addition of G. D. Jeffcoat, Bill Chapman and Bill Davis, who did not fight last Friday, but who will be in the regional tourney.

Bud Dean, who has been coaching and training the Plainview boxers, will make the trip to Abilene.

LaDue, Funk To Meet In Main Go

Monte LaDue of Toronto, Canada, and Dory Funk of Hammond, Ind., are scheduled to meet in the two of three falls feature bout of a double main event tonight at Sled Allen's arena. Milt Olsen of Racine, Wisc., and Billy Hickson of Knoxville, Tenn., will tangle in the first spotlight clash.

The final card bout between Funk and LaDue is expected to give Lubbock mat fans one of their top matches of the year. Funk holds the Southwestern Junior heavyweight crown, which he won from the popular Dick Trout several weeks ago, but the Indiana grappler will have a tough battle with the rowdy Canadian. LaDue nearly upset the state title-holder in a bout last week before finally being disqualified for tossing his opponent out of the ring.

The first main event, pairing Olsen and Hickson, should provide plenty of excitement for local fans. Olsen is the state heavyweight champion and will be favored to defeat the powerful Hickson, but the mat veteran from Tennessee is rated as a strong challenger as a result of his impressive win over Lobo Brown here last week.

Two newcomers to the West Texas grunt-and-groan circuit are slated to meet in the 20-minute preliminary. Glen Detton, who recently moved to Amarillo, takes on Bill Parks of North Bay, Ontario, in the initial bout of the card. Detton, a speedy, clean grappler, is expected to build up a large following here within a short time. Parks is the brother of Herb Parks, a familiar mat figure here a decade ago.

Tickets will go on sale at 9 o'clock this morning at Wylie's drug. Matches start at 8 p. m.

BURRIS JOINS PACKERS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Paul (Buddy) Burris, All-American guard at the University of Oklahoma, was a Green Bay Packer today. He signed a contract with Coach Curley Lambeau here yesterday for an undisclosed salary. Lambeau said Green Bay policy prevented him from announcing terms of the contract.

Mexico estimates its 1948 corn crop at 3,080,000 tons, the largest in recent years.

Area Fighters Tune Up For Regional Meet

Tahoka Jaycees Will Sponsor Boxing Tournament Jan. 21-22

TAHOKA, Jan. 11.—(Special)—Golden Gloves fever is beginning to sweep Tahoka and several fighters are getting ready to enter the regional tournament at Lubbock Jan. 31, Feb. 1 and Feb. 2.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce, to further training of prospective fighters, both in Tahoka and in the surrounding area, will sponsor a two-day tournament here Jan. 21 and 22. Any amateur in any weight division is eligible to enter.

There will be the usual eight divisions open and handsome trophies will be given the winners in each division. There will not be a high school or novice division, only open.

Fights will start each night at 8 and tickets will be sold here and in surrounding places at two prices. Ringside and reserved seats will cost 80 cents each and general admission tickets will sell for 40 cents.

All fighters interested in entering the tournament should write the Tahoka Jaycees, giving their name, address, telephone number, weight, experience and any other information they may wish to add.

McMillan Top Prospect

In addition, each letter must be accompanied by a written statement, signed by a parent or guardian, releasing the Tahoka tournament of any responsibility in case of injury.

Several of the top area fighters are expected to enter the two-day tourney, during which area fighters will tune up for the regional tourney in Lubbock. Among the leading prospects to gain a title from Tahoka is H. L. McMillan, a former district Golden Gloves champion.

McMillan fights at 126 pounds and will be aiming at lifting the featherweight crown worn by Bill Henderson for two years. Paul Hill, a 160-pound fighter with a year's experience, is another potential entry in the Tahoka meet. A local boy, he already has entered the Lubbock tournament.

Westerners Hold Lengthy Drill

Lubbock High's Westerners were sent through their second consecutive lengthy drill session at the Chapman field gymnasium Tuesday afternoon, despite subfreezing temperatures and icy roads that made travel to the practice floor hazardous.

Play patterns and shooting drills again featured the workout, as Coach Roy Morris prepared his schoolboy cagers for their two crucial District 1-AA titles with Amarillo and Pampa this weekend. The Hub city squad showed considerable improvement in all departments of play Tuesday, and Lubbock High athletic officials are hopeful that the Westerners will be able to get at least an even split in the two conference tussles.

Opening district tilt of the season for the Westerners will be unreeled Friday night at Amarillo, where the Lubbock five meets the Golden Sandstorm. Coach T. G. Hull's Sandies are the defending district champions and are rated as co-favorites with the Pampa Harvesters this season. The Sandies have won six games this season, while losing one setto. The Amarilloans have defeated the defending state champions of both Texas and Oklahoma —the Crozier Tech quint of Dallas and the Classen Comets of Oklahoma.

Sports Study

By Earl Scudday

Strange as it may seem, there are a few persons, (quite a few in fact), who disagree with our analysis of the Lubbock Westerner Lamesa Golden Tornado non-conference basketball game last weekend. They point out that any kind of play is good—if you can win by using it. They have one definite fact that we can't dispute, since Lamesa won the game 22-20. We have even encountered some jeers and jibes within our own Avalanche-Journal office, and reporter Choc Hutcheson even turned out a humorous little work that we'll reprint below. Read it and duck:

Lamesa Sports Writer

Two days have passed since the Lubbock Westerner-Lamesa Tornado non-conference cage clash but the 1,500 Lubbock fans (all partisan, of course) and the Lubbock sports writer who must have suffered 12,739,45' individual and distinct deaths during the game, are still ranting and raving because of the lunk-headed Westerner strategy, which positively, definitely and absolutely refused to go out and get the ball.

Apparently the Lubbock boys have yet to learn that to score, you must first gain possession of the ball. For against Lamesa, they seemed quite content to huddle beneath their own basket and talk over prospects for next year's cotton crop while Lamesa smartly and smoothly played a possession game that would have made Hank Iba want to personally kiss each and every one of the Tornado cagers.

In short, the Tornadoes fiddled while a Lubbock writer burned.

For fans not fortunate enough to witness the smoothly-executed upset, here's what happened. Lubbock . . . having beaten Lamesa handily in an earlier game . . . apparently went on the court feeling that this one also was as good as wheat in the bin. But the Westerners soon discovered that their shooting was colder than the weather. In fact, they couldn't have hit the basket with a handful of sand even had it been in a phone booth with them.

Meantime, Lamesa—which apparently had a strange, unaccountable desire to win the game—decided that maybe old man Iba (who's been doing pretty well through the years) had something, after all. So they calmly held the ball out front and played for a low score game.

With time running out, a Lamesa player potted a field goal that deadlocked the game at 20-20. This meant that an additional three-minute period, during which the aforesaid Lubbock scribe could suffer 521,395 more mental deaths, would be necessary.

And, just to prove that the game-tying field goal wasn't a fluke, the Lamesans pitched in another one to win the ball game.

All of which caused quite a ruckus within the Westerner corral—and apparently among some fans who maintained that they had paid to see a basketball game, and instead had witnessed only one of the most startling upsets of the season.

Seriously, though, why couldn't the two teams arrange a special playoff game to determine the inter-city champion? Both teams have won a single game, and it seems a shame for the series to be completed on that basis. The game could also be used for a good cause, with all money above actual expenses going to the March of Dimes. We feel that a rematch between the two quints would pack the field house at Chapman field and give the boys a final opportunity to determine the "best team." We can find no important objection to such a game, since it would be possible for both teams to work in the tussle without damage to their district schedules, and the money would go to a worthy cause. How about it, you coaches?

Weather Causes Postponement Of Levelland Cage Tourney

LEVELLAND, Jan. 11 (Special)—Competition in the third annual Junior Chamber of Commerce independent basketball tournament was postponed here tonight as a result of unfavorable weather and highway conditions. Play will be resumed Friday night.

The three games originally scheduled tonight will be unreeled Friday night, with the Levelland Refiners meeting Brownfield-Layco of Lubbock in the opener at 7 o'clock. The Thomas Tinkers of Lubbock will test Denver City at 8, then Sundown battles Spade at 9 o'clock.

Play will continue Saturday night, meet officials have announced.

RAY CRENSHAW ENTERS TOURNEY

Golden Gloves Hopefuls Hold Rough Sessions At Local Gym

One of the largest crowds of the season took refuge from sleet and rain yesterday afternoon in Foster's Gym, 2417 Main street, and proceeded to turn in a heavy session of boxing in preparation for the regional Golden Gloves tournament, which will be held in Tech gym Jan. 31, Feb. 1 and Feb. 2.

The boxers included several entries for both the open and novice divisions of the tournament, with some of the best action of the training season exhibited. Several of the fighters yesterday turned in entry blanks to swell entries in the open division to over 15.

Ray Crenshaw Enters

One of the outstanding entries received yesterday came from Ray Crenshaw, former Texas Tech football player, who has performed in Golden Gloves before. Crenshaw has entered the open division in the welterweight class.

Crenshaw, a 22-year old boxer living at 2406 Main street, won two bouts in Lubbock Golden Gloves in his first year of boxing and is said to be greatly improved. Last year, during the football season, he broke an arm and was not able to enter. The break has healed entirely and Crenshaw has pronounced the arm strong again.

Another top entry in the open division is Pat McCarty of Tech, a 20-year old fighter in the featherweight division. McCarty has had one year of boxing experience, during which he fought six times. He is rated by observers as one of the better prospects to take Bill Henderson's vacated featherweight crown.

Route 2 Boy Contestant

A middleweight entered yesterday from Roaring Springs, sending his letter of entry in from Earth. Herman Phelps, a 160-pound 19-year old fighter states that he has had only one month's experience, during which time he fought four bouts, winning three at Ft. Worth. But when he fought there is not stated.

Jimmy Utley of Lubbock route 2 is another entry in the popular light heavyweight division of the open class. Utley, a 20-year old 173 pounder, hasn't had any Golden Gloves experience, but has done some fighting. He possesses a stiff punch and is given a good chance to go a long way.

Jimmy Martin of 2424 15th street is an 18-year old light heavyweight scaling 175 pounds. He has had two years of boxing, fighting eight times and winning half his bouts. He appeared in the Golden Gloves at Wichita Falls and will enter the open class here. Martin is called a top prospect to win the title won by J. D. Kirkpatrick of Petersburg.

Two More From Plainview

From Plainview come two more entries, both in the open division, G. D. Jeffcoat, a middleweight, and Harlan Martin, a flyweight.

Jeffcoat is said to be a classy boxer and very aggressive. He won the New Mexico novice title in the 1947 Golden Gloves tournament and has compiled a record of seven victories against three defeats. He is a member of the Plainview boxing team and coached by Bud Dean.

Martin is a tall, lanky fighter with more than average ability. He is eager to learn the ring game, since he has a brother fighting professionally and he wants to follow in his footsteps. He has shown enough ability to impress Plainview observers, who feel that he will be fighting for the flyweight championship in the Lubbock tournament.

Lloyd Mangrum Gives Pajamas Credit In Los Angeles Victory

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11. (AP)—Lloyd Mangrum today credited a change in equipment and a lucky pair of pajamas for his three stroke victory in the $15,000 Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament.

The lanky veteran shot a one-under par 70 yesterday for a four round total of 284 to break a four-way third round deadlock. It was Mangrum's first win in the 23-year-old classic and he called it the "One I'd rather have than any other."

He good-naturedly gave the rest of the star-studded field the secret of his success.

BOYS CLUB TEAM WINS

Roger Van Cleve's 10 points paced the Lubbock Boys club Seniors to a 43-29 victory over Texas Tech's "Hot Shots" Tuesday night at the club gymnasium. Armstead Smith notched 11 points for the losers.

Tyler Takes Lead In Junior League

ARLINGTON, Jan. 11. (AP) — Results of the first week's play in the Southwest Junior College Conference basketball title race disclose that the Tyler Apaches are hotter than July 4 firecrackers.

The east Texans having bounced Paris 76-32 and the Kilgore Rangers 63-39.

It now appears that the teams with the best chance to stop the Apaches are the Lamar Cardinals, who are idle against Conference foes this week, and the San Angelo Rams, who tackle the Apaches at San Angelo Friday. San Angelo last week nudged one of the best Tarleton Plowboy teams in recent years, 40-38.

Lamar's 70-41 victory over Schreiner was decisive enough to tab the Cardinals as title threats.

Other Conference games to watch this week end are the North Texas Aggie-Tarleton setto at Stephenville Friday night and the Tyler-Schreiner scrap at Kerrville Saturday.

Minimum pay for agricultural workers in Eire is to be increased.

Zale Wants To Fight Cerdan This Summer

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 11. (AP)—Tony Zale intends to fight Marcel Cerdan next summer for the middleweight championship the battling Frenchman took away from him last year.

Zale announced his plans here yesterday as he put Chicago's CYO boxers through their paces for charity matches here tonight.

Art Winch, Zale's manager, has said the 34-year-old boxer will do no more fighting. But Zale seems to have other ideas.

"I don't know what Art wants to do," he said. "But I know what I want to do. I want to fight Cerdan again."

Tony, never one to boast, nevertheless expressed clear-cut optimism. Does he expect to beat Cerdan if the fight comes off?

"I think I can do it," he said.

TRINITY NAMES COACH

James has accepted the appointment provided he can work out suitable arrangements for the continuance of his business interests near Kerrville.

Cage Gamblers Plead Not Guilty

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(INS)—Three of the quartet implicated in the current basketball scandal turned militant suddenly today after pleading not guilty in general sessions to indictments, charging bribery and conspiracy.

Two of the accused, Joseph Aronowitz and Philip Klein, alleged "front" men in a supposed conspiracy to "throw" last week's George Washington - Manhattan college game, told reporters they were getting a "raw deal."

A third, Jack Levy, free on $20,000 bail, asked permission to return to his Miami, Fla., home after Judge John J. Sullivan announced a delay in fixing a date for the trial. This was made necessary, it was explained, by the unavoidable absence of 25-year-old David Shapiro, star witness for the state.

The George Washington university co-captain, who led the police to the reputed swindlers before the game, was said to be unable to leave the campus at this time, owing to the proximity of mid-year examinations.

Levy's request to leave the court's jurisdiction met with a protest from Assistant District Attorney Alfred Scott and was curtly denied from the bench. Leaving court, meanwhile, Aronowitz and Klein said "nobody is giving us a break, we're getting a raw deal."

The fourth defendant, William Rivlin, said nothing and refused to pose for photographs. The three Brooklyn men, like Levy, were out on $20,000 bail.

BOWLING

The American Business club took over the lead position in the Civic Bowling league this week by winning three games from the Lubbock Bowling club team, while runner-up Exchange club keglers forfeited a match to the Kiwanis.

The Jaycees won two games from the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Lions gained a three-game forfeit from the Optimists.

High series were rolled by Smith of the American Business club, with a 213-543; Christensen, Lubbock Bowling club, 196-448; Stagner, Jaycees, 201-561; Coffey, Veterans of Foreign Wars, 189-467; and Vannoy, Lions, 209-561.

The league standings:

TEAMS	W.	L.
A. B. C.	38	17
Exchange	37	18
V. F. W.	37	18
Jaycees	36	19
Lubbock Bowling	23	23
Lions	23	23
Kiwanis	19	36
Optimists	9	36

Pacific Teams May Enter NBC Tourney

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 11. (AP)—J. G. Taylor Spink, publisher of the Sporting News and global commissioner of the National Baseball Congress, today approved a plan permitting both the Hawaiian and Philippine champions to compete in the national tournament at Wichita.

The tournament, the NBC's 15th, will open on Aug. 19.

Spink said that Adm. Giles C. Stedman, far eastern commissioner, had recommended a berth for the Philippine champions in the forthcoming U. S. finals. And he added that Earle Vida of Honolulu, Hawaiian commissioner, who accompanied the 1947 territorial champions to the 1947 national tournament where they finished fourth, reported that plans are being made to stage a tourney on each of the six islands with the champions playing a final series in Honolulu to determine the 1949 champion.

Bus Travel, Phone Service Over South Plains Disrupted By Ice

Western Union reported late last night that it had only one line in operation out of Lubbock because of damage to connecting circuits.

Many Schools Close

Southwestern Public Service company reported some interruptions to service south of Lubbock. Slight damage was reported at Slaton when tree branches fell and ripped down power lines. The city light plant reported no trouble from the storm.

Many schools over the South Plains had closed down yesterday for the duration of the storm. Most of the schools still operating upon a restricted basis had cancelled all school bus schedules as a safety measure. Some few schools were operating school buses on a complete schedule and others were giving service over a few limited routes that were least affected by the icing conditions.

A blanket of sleet and frozen rain ranging from two to five inches covered the South Plains and extended far north into the Panhandle, east to the Dallas-Fort Worth area and south to San Angelo.

More Rain Forecast

The Weather station north of town said last night that occasional rain, freezing rain and sleet probably would fall today but that temperatures would be higher than Tuesday. Precipitation today was expected to be considerably lighter than Monday or Tuesday.

The mercury was expected to climb to 32 degrees this afternoon from a morning low of 10 degrees. Skies probably will begin to clear tonight, the Weather bureau said, with readings Thursday ranging from a minimum 10 degrees to 38 to 40 in the afternoon.

Precipitation at the Municipal airport had been measured at 1.96 inches late yesterday afternoon. The measurement included all moisture since Sunday. Only a trace of sleet and rain had fallen up to early this morning after a 6:30 p. m. measurement.

Hits Low Of 13

Temperatures yesterday continued to hold below the freezing mark. A minimum of 13 degrees was recorded in the morning, while 27 degrees was the high mark for the day. A slight thaw was reported in the less exposed areas in Lubbock during the afternoon, but those isolated areas quickly glazed over again as the afternoon waned.

Glazed runways and icing conditions continued to block air transportation to and from Lubbock Municipal airport Tuesday. Operations were halted Monday and are not expected to be resumed before Thursday.

Areas just off the South Plains proper, especially to the east, south and southwest reported damage from the storm.

Power lines were reported down late last night at Big Spring and Sweetwater as a mantle of ice spread over those cities as well as Midland, Wink, Crane and Abilene. San Angelo at one time was isolated as communication lines broke down under a weight of ice. Highway travel in the San Angelo area was also completely halted at one time by glazed highways. Hobbs, Clovis and Roswell, all in New Mexico, reported curtailed travel and some damage from the ice storm.

Funeral Rites Scheduled Here Today For Shallowater Baby

Mary Ellen Hardy, six-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Hardy of Shallowater, died in her parents' home early Tuesday morning. The infant was the sole survivor of triplets born to the couple, the other two infants having died shortly after birth in a Lubbock hospital.

Services are set for 3 o'clock this afternoon in Rix Funeral home chapel, with Rev. Cecil Ottinger, pastor of the Shallowater Methodist church, officiating. Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery with Rix in charge.

Survivors in addition to the parents include the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Van Buskirk of Shallowater; and the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Hardy, also of Shallowater.

Dragnet Out For Prisoners Who Escaped Cottle County Jail

PADUCAH, Jan. 11. (INS)—An extensive police dragnet was set up in West Texas today for three long-term prisoners who sawed their way out of jail last night while awaiting transfer to the Huntsville state penitentiary.

The escaped prisoners were identified by authorities as Raymond Adams, 38, Golton Lester, 40, and James Ward, 28.

The trio sawed their way through the bars of their cell in the Cottle county jail at Paducah.

Sheriff Bill Kirk said Adams and Lester were under sentences of 12 years each for burglary while Ward was under a five-year sentence for the same offense.

Senate Stage Set For Filibuster Against Anti-Filibuster Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11. (INS)—A Senate filibuster against an anti-filibuster bill threatened today to block action on a major portion of the Democratic legislative program.

Sen. Ellender (D-La) said he will take the Senate floor to fight "until the breath is out of my body" against a bi-partisan anti-filibuster proposal.

Sen. Hill (D-Ala) warned that there will be "vigorous opposition" to the measure. He made it clear he would participate in the "vigorous opposition."

Patrick Laverty of Ballynahinch, Eire, who has been collecting lost playing cards for 50 years has announced he now needs to find only three more to complete a deck.

Gas Station Owner Waits For Melting Of 'Frozen Assets'

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Jan. 11. (AP)—Gas station operator Ted Gietzen today is waiting for his frozen assets to melt.

The assets consist of a $20.89 check in the center of a 100-pound cake of ice.

As a joke, Gietzen sent a collect telegram to his friend, Chauncey Todd, dunning him for an unpaid bill. He asked if Todd's assets were frozen.

Gietzen's answer arrived today, delivered by the iceman.

Texas Hard Hit

the highway patrol urgently advised against it.

Buses were turned back between Abilene and San Angelo.

Phone Service Curtailed

The Southwestern Bell Telephone company reported 450 ice-sheathed telephones poles broke in West Texas. In one 25-mile stretch from Vernon to Electra there were 500 wire breaks. The company said 465 circuits in West Texas were out of service.

Ice glazed a vast area westward from Fort Worth and northward to the tip of the Panhandle.

Most of the remainder of the state shivered in a cold, drizzling rain.

And the weather bureau said there would be no letup for at least 24 hours.

Four inches of snow and sleet burdened Pampa.

Even some city streets were impassable at San Angelo and three Tom Green county schools were closed.

Electra Hard Hit

From Electra, in northwest Texas, came this report:

"All public meeting cancelled by a blizzard of sleet that has continued since Monday morning. Bus schedules have been cancelled, utility lines are breaking, only essential work is going on. Even the refineries have closed down."

By nightfall Tuesday, the cold front had pressed on south to the gulf of Mexico but south of Dallas the temperatures were generally above freezing.

Amarillo reported that moisture from snow and sleet the past 24 hours had measured about .40 of an inch. The weather bureau expected a low temperature at Amarillo Wednesday of about 15 degrees.

In the Panhandle, roads in Donley, Gray, Carson and Hemphill counties were icy and hazardous and barely open.

Continental Trailways and Panhandle Trailways were not operating out of Amarillo but the Greyhound buses were running. Of the airlines, only Braniff was operating.

Ranchmen Aided

The snow and sleet moisture will provide lush grass for grazing next spring. Joe Gamble, superintendent of the Coldwater Cattle company, Amarillo, said the Panhandle cattle industry will benefit from the storm unless it gets extremely worse. The weather bureau thought conditions would moderate.

Gamble said reports from ranchers at Fritch, Channing and Texoma indicate no loss of stock from weather.

Funeral Services Are Conducted For Tom May At Brownfield

BROWNFIELD, Jan. 11. (Special)—Last rites for Tom May, 59, mayor of Brownfield, were conducted at 3 p. m. today in the First Baptist church here with Dr. J. M. Lewis, pastor of First Presbyterian church of Lubbock, officiating, assisted by Rev. J. Preston Murphey, pastor of the Brownfield Presbyterian church.

Burial followed in Terry County Memorial cemetery, under direction of Brownfield Funeral home. A Masonic Blue Lodge graveside service was conducted by Temple H. Morrow of Lubbock, assisted by members of the Brownfield Masonic lodge and Masons attending the services from elsewhere.

May, a thirty-third degree Mason and prominent business and civic leader, died unexpectedly in a hospital here early Sunday morning.

Los Angeles Police Hold Suspect In "Black Dahlia" Murder Case

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11 (INS)—Los Angeles police today jailed one "red hot" suspect in the mutilation murder of Elizabeth "Black Dahlia" Short and opened a nationwide manhunt for a second man.

Police said suspect number one, Leslie Dillon, a 27-year-old bellhop, broke down after all night questioning and named a Jeff Connors. Connors now is sought for questioning in the death of the 22-year-old beauty.

Police said that Dillon described Connors as "about 5 feet, 10 inches tall with brown hair and blue eyes." Authorities said that every effort will be made to find Connors. In the meantime, Dillon, tabbed the "hottest suspect in the case so far," was booked for murder.

KIWANIS OFFICIAL DIES

HOLLYWOOD, Fla., Jan. 11. (AP)—Roe Fulkerson, 79, one of the founders of Kiwanis International, died today. Fulkerson, who had been in failing health for three years, was the first president of the Washington, D. C., Kiwanis club and the founder and editorial writer of Kiwanis magazine.

Mexico is making preparations for a census in 1950.

Breakin Of Store Under Investigation

Montgomery Ward and Company store at Broadway and Texas was broken into shortly after midnight, a back door opening onto the alley apparently having been pried open with some heavy instrument such as a crowbar.

A police prowl car discovered the open door a few minutes after midnight, and A. H. Maas, store manager, was called.

A cursory examination of the store failed to reveal that anything was disturbed. Maas said that very little money was kept in the store, and the safe and papers in the office were not disturbed.

Police surmised that the intruder may have been frightened away before taking anything. Maas said that a more complete check of the store's departments will be made to determine loss, if any.

Three Are Nabbed In Guam Attack-Slaying

GUAM, Jan. 11. (INS).—Guam authorities believed today they have the Ruth Farnsworth rape-slaying case "in the bag" following the reported confession of one of three negro GI's held as suspects.

Navy Commander James P. Hackett——on leave of absence from the Chicago police department—said the soldiers were arrested on information they had tried to date girls at the curio shop where Miss Farnsworth worked.

The former police lieutenant refused to disclose the names of the soldiers but he said that one of them had "confessed" and that "the case is in the bag."

Girl Found Dying

The beautiful Navy civil service employe was found dying in the jungle almost 40 hours after she was reported missing under peculiar circumstances from the jade shop in which she made extra money.

The 27-year-old San Francisco girl died without gaining consciouness from injuries she received in a savage beating.

Hackett, who has been working closely on the case with lie detection expert A. E. Riedel of Berkeley, said one of the GI's had admitted being present in the shop and seeing his two companions slug the girl and carry her off the night of Dec. 11th.

He said the case was "so conclusive" that Riedel would return to Berkeley with his lie-detector tomorrow. Riedel had been "borrowed" by Guam authorities to question a large number of suspects.

Russian Leaders

stirring up a fight which might lessen Acheson's usefulness in future international negotiations.

One of the chief tasks which will confront Acheson, provided he is confirmed by the Senate, will be completion of negotiations for a North Atlantic defense alliance. Lovett has been supervising the months-long talks with representatives of Canada and the five-nation Western European union.

Lovett was expected to give the foreign relations committee a fill-in on the proposed pact since that group must pass on any such treaty. Latest word is that the agreement may be ready for Senate action by February 1.

Stalin Said Key Man

In his global summary today committee members said Lovett saw small chance of an early agreement with Russia on the Berlin blockade. He told them, however, that the air lift will enable U. S. occupation forces to remain in the German capital indefinitely.

Lovett was reported to have held out little hope of any rift among Soviet leaders that would ease this country's difficulties in reaching an understanding with Russia. It was in this connection that members said he gave his interpretation of how Soviet leaders view war, with Stalin holding the key hand in the final decisions of the Politburo.

Acheson himself said in a speech last September that Stalin was the one who held the whip hand in Russia. He said that the Russian ruler had boldly outlined the course of Soviet expansion in a speech delivered in January, 1946. But, Acheson said, Stalin's forthright disclosure of future conquest plans had been disregarded by the democracies.

Lightning Sets Fire To Two Hugh Diesel Oil Storage Tanks

WILMINGTON, Cal., Jan. 11. (INS) — Lightning accompanying rain and snow storms in the Los Angeles area set afire two huge storage tanks tonight at the union oil company's Wilmington plant.

Flames from the tanks, each of them reported full of 60,000 gallons of Diesel oil, were visible from two miles away.

One workman at the plant, a gauge watcher, was unaccounted for.

The populace of a nearby housing project, "western terrace," was evacuated as a precautionary measure although it was not expected that the flames would jump to the houses.

President's Pay Hike Gets Committee Okay

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11. (AP)—A bill to increase the President's pay from $75,000 to $100,000 a year was approved today by the Senate Civil Service committee.

Chairman Johnston (D-SC) told reporters he sees no reason why the bill should not be passed by the Senate on Thursday. He said the committee vote for the measure was 10 to 1.

Senator Langer (R-ND) said he cast the dissenting vote.

The measure gives the President a tax-free expense allowance of $50,000 in addition to the pay raise. It also raises the pay of the Vice President and the Speaker of the House and gives other top officials a salary hike.

VIOLINIST TO APPEAR

Ginette Neveu, famous young French violinist, will play tonight at 8 p. m. in the Lubbock High school auditorium under the auspices of the Texas Technological college artist course.

DRILLS CALLED OFF

Weekly drill periods for National Guard units here—Headquarters and C Battery units—which were scheduled for last night, were cancelled due to bad weather and ice-coated highways, Lt. Col. Walter Smith, information officer, said Tuesday. A scheduled meeting of the Lubbock district of the Retail Grocers association, which also was to have been held last night here, was postponed until next Tuesday night, Clyde Stovall, president, announced Tuesday. Postponement of the meeting was made because of the icy conditions of streets and highways which would prevent out-of-town members from attending.

BLOW AT ICE TRADE

The ice man surely must be having a bum business these cold days.

Usually that commodity, highly perishable, is delivered either in blocks or in bags.

But yesterday, a woman living in the near southeast part of the city, called to say that a neighbor woman came by her house at mid-afternoon carrying on her shoulder, as though it were a log, a giant icicle measuring fully five feet in length and weighing—she would not attempt to estimate.

Source or destination of the giant ice cone was not known.

Infant Son Of Avinger Addition Couple To Be Buried Today

Pierce Arthur Eskue, three-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Eskue of the Avinger addition, died there early Tuesday morning of pneumonia.

Burial services will be conducted this afternoon in Anton cemetery, Rix Funeral home reported last night.

Other survivors include three sisters, Julie, Lettie, and Carolyn Eskue, all of Lubbock; the paternal grandmother, Mrs. Lizzie Eskue of Wills Point; and the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sullivan of Olympia, Wash.

Three Negroes Burn To Death In Fire At Wichita Falls

WICHITA FALLS, Jan. 11. (AP)—Three negroes died here late tonight when the home of Albert Henderson, negro, burned after kerosene spilled on the floor of the dwelling caught fire, police Capt. A. M. Davenport said.

The victims were Ruby Henderson, 34, wife of the home owner, Namon Jefferson, 38, and his wife, Ella Mae Jefferson, 37.

Henderson escaped, but the other three occupants were trapped by the rapidly-spreading flames. The small home was destroyed.

Texas House Chooses One-Armed Man For Sergeant-At-Arms Post

AUSTIN, Jan. 11. (AP)— The House of Representatives will have a one-armed Sergeant-At-Arms.

He is Robert W. (Bob) Murphey, a 27-year old rancher, lawyer, World War II Merchant Marine, who got his first taste of politics as a page boy in the legislature in 1939. He cruises the highways in a smooth-running model "T" but can handle the high-speed autos of today as well as the best of two-armed drivers.

He beat Woodrow Bean of El Paso for his new job. The House elected him, 73 to 61, in a runoff contest. Murphey lost his left arm near the shoulder when he was thrown by a horse during a "kid" rodeo on his grandmother's ranch near Junction. He was 12 at the time.

Contract Is Let For New Grain Elevator

The contract for construction of Lubbock's new 2,000,000-bushel grain elevator was let Tuesday afternoon to the Macdonald Engineering company of Chicago, J. Frank Triplitt, vice president and general manager of Producers Grain corporation which is to erect the gigantic structure, announced from Amarillo.

Work on the elevator, which will be erected at an estimated cost of $1,400,000, will begin immediately, Triplitt said. Ted Brooker, representative of Horner & Wyatt engineering firm of Kansas City which designed the structure, Mr. Macdonald of the contracting firm and Triplitt are to be in Lubbock today to take preliminary steps toward getting construction under way.

The new modern structure, which will be built of reinforced concrete, is to be located in the southeast section of Lubbock served by trackage of both Santa Fe and Fort Worth and Denver railways.

Good Crowds Again Attend Tech Movie

Despite frigid weather, approximately 1,000 persons attended each showing of "Futures Unlimited," technicolor movie showing campus life at Texas Technological college, in the second night's presentation of the film at Senior High school auditorium Tuesday night. The movie had played to a packed house Monday night in its world premiere.

The picture now will be sent to numerous schools and towns over the state to advertise Texas Tech. First stop on the schedule is a showing in Houston before the Central Lions club and the Texas Tech Alumni and Ex-Students association in Houston sometime this week, Bill Jackson, who was in charge of the film's showing, said.

Naming Plan Studied

ginning with the letter "C" and so on.

This system of giving alphabetized names to streets was probably the most important adoption a last night's meeting, for the system is to be used in other parts of the city, including the streets lying north of First street in north Lubbock, which at present are known as North First, North Second, etc., and streets lying eastward of Ave. A, now known as East Ave. A, East Ave. B, and so on.

Colleges To Be Honored

Streets lying north of First street are to be given names of well-known colleges and universities. In effect, North Second will be renamed Amherst street, North Third Baylor street, North Fourth, Dartmouth street, and so on.

Flower names are to be used in renaming avenues east of Ave. A. Here as in the other affected sections of the city, alphabetized names will be used, with East Ave. B renamed Oster or Amaryllis street, East Ave. C, Bluebonnet street, East Ave. D, Camellia street, and thence down through the alphabet.

The above alphabetized names are only examples, however, since definite names were not decided last night.

When the alphabetical series has been exhausted in any of the three section of the city, a new alphabetized series will be started. Suggestions for the second three alphabetized groups of names included Eastern cities, Western cities, Texas cities, names of local pioneer families, and names indigenous to the west.

Half Streets Pose Problem

It was deemed advisable to keep the present base lines of First street and Ave. A in making street name changes, thereby affecting the least number of streets.

In regard to a number of short half-streets in the city, the group decided to submit alternative suggestions to the City Planning commission. One suggestion was that such streets be named after the larger street immediately preceding it, with the fraction one-half to it. For example, a hypothetical half-street immediately following Eighteenth street would be named 18½ street, the half-street following Nineteenth would be known as 19½ street, and so on.

The second suggestion regarding these half-streets was the use of letters "A" and "B" to distinguish a regular street from the half-street named after it and immediately following it.

Cooperation Urged

K. N. Clapp, chairman of the City Planning commission who presided at last night's meeting, said he was aware of the inconvenience such street name changing would cause, but expressed confidence that all local citizens affected would cooperate with the city in such changes, and in doing so, would aid in providing the city with a long-range, standard system of street naming.

Attending the meeting were Mayor W. H. Rodgers, Robert E. Miller, engineer who has been asked by county commissioners to prepare an estimate on cost of naming streets and numbering houses in areas outside the city limits in which postal delivery is contemplated in the near future; R. L. Oldham, city engineer and ex-officio member of the City Planning commission; Chas. A. Guy and Clapp, also of the City Planning commission; W. H. Evans; Homer Maxey; E. F. St. Clair, jr.; G. C. (Mule) Dowell; Marlin R. Smith, jr., city manager; Neil H. Wright, jr.; Marvin McLarty; and E. J. Ohnemus, of the Lubbock Post Office.

OWEN STAYS WITH JACKETS

FORT WORTH, Jan. 11. (AP)—Truett Owen, coach of the Arlington Heights high Yellow Jackets here, said today that he had requested school authorities at Beaumont to withdraw his name as a candidate for the open coaching position there.

News Briefs

The civil damages action of A. T. Cocanougher against Carl Bunyan Odom will continue at 9 o'clock this morning in 99th district court, when the jury convenes for deliberation. The charge was filed about 4 p.m. yesterday and arguments of counsel were concluded about 6 p.m. Judge G. V. Pardue ordered the jury to report back this morning. The case, an outgrowth of an August 1947, collision on College avenue, involves slightly more than $500 being asked by the plaintiff.

William Haslett Upson, author of the famous "Little Tractor" series in Saturday Evening Post, speaks at 8 p. m. tonight in the Recreation hall at Texas Technological college.

A. B. Bryant, who was severely burned Friday afternoon when he contacted a "hot" switch carrying 22,000 volts of electricity at the Southwestern Public Service company substation at Tenth and Ave. C, was reported last night to be recovering satisfactorily in West Texas hospital. A hospital physician said earlier in the day that Bryant had recovered from the initial shock of the injury, although he will remain in the hospital for some time.

A negro convict, identified by prison officials as Robert Fennell, 46, a lifer from Hale county, was still at large late Tuesday after he escaped from Ramsey prison farm, the Associated Press reported.

flaring and on crude oil production. Permanent or temporary injunctions against shutdown orders on 14 other fields are on record and the commission has scheduled a show cause hearing on proposed shutdown of 26 additional fields.

The court today granted each side one hour to present its case, with the state then having 15 minutes for rebuttal. Normally, each side is allotted only 30 minutes.

Filing the new brief today were Warren Scarborough, Ira Butler and Gillis A. Johnson who identified themselves as attorneys for plaintiffs and plaintiffs-intervenors in the temporary injunction cases involving the McElroy, Slaughter, Goldsmith, North Wither Magnet - Withers, Wasson, Fullerton and Levelland oil fields.

They entered the case as a friend of the court.

Listing 10 counter-points, the attorneys termed the Heyser order unreasonable in that no time was allowed for compliance.

The eighth point said there was "no reasonably substantial evidence showing the operators failed as a result of indifference, perversity or unreasonable conduct."

But the city's defenses were reported cracked by the fury of the well known Red "human sea" tactics.

Reds Thrown Back

Some 65 miles west of Tientsin, the Reds stormed the suburbs of isolated Peiping with similar charges. The first waves of attacking shock troops under Communist General Nieh Yung-Cheng were reported thrown back from eight suburbs outside three gates of the "walled city."

As the Reds also battered at the Nanking approaches, the capital's newspaper Ta Kang Pao said Vice President Li Tsung-Jen, former Premier Chang Chun, Gen. Chang Chih-Chung and Saho Li-Tze were drafting a new peace plan.

The paper said the plan—described as a "concrete" peace proposal to end the civil war—will contain peace conditions set forth by President Chiank Kai-Shek in his New Year's day message.

The article declared that the plan will also contain ideas "voiced by other government leaders."

Israeli, in its appeal to the UN alleged Britain has intervened in the Israeli-Egyptian fighting although neither British territories nor interests "are in any way threatened." It accused the British of having given first "clandestine" then open aid to Arabs fighting the Jews.

Ralph J. Bunche, acting UN mediator, arrived at Rhodes to start preliminary discussions with vanguards of the Egyptian and Israeli delegations today.

At Amman, in Trans-Jordan, a government spokesman said King Abdullah had not been officially notified of the peace talks, and said he was "very doubtful" the discussions "will attain any success."

Two Men Injured Near Stamford As Car Hits Gasoline Truck

STAMFORD, Jan. 11. (AP) — Bryan O. Winter, Dallas, suffered a skull fracture, and Thomas Dean Snider, Wewoka, Okla., a fractured shoulder and arm Monday afternoon at Avoca, 15 miles east of here, when their automobile collided with a gasoline truck driven by Quincy Lee Mills, Knox City.

Both were taken to Stamford sanitarium, where Winter remained unconscious and in a critical condition today.

Baptist Convention Plans Revival Series

DALLAS, Jan. 11 (AP) — Christians must feel genuine compassion for their fellow man if America is to experience the revival of a compelling faith that all Christians devoutly seek, Dr. James Landis, pastor of the First Baptist church at Wichita Falls, declared today.

Three thousand members of Texas' associations of Baptist churches in the second of a three-day southern Baptist convention of clergymen and laymen.

Sponsored by the state department of evangelism, the convention is being held at the First Baptist church.

Dr. Landis said that "as Jesus wept over Jerusalem, so must we follow his example today. Our hearts must be broken for the people around us."

Convention Sets Goals

Toward that end, the convention has set up two major goals, according to C. B. Jackson, associate superintendent of evangelism in the state of Texas.

"We seek to reach 75,000 new people for Christ in 1949 in Texas," Jackson said, "and also hold 75 simultaneous associational revivals this year."

The 75 revivals would represent an increase of 15 from the approximately 60 held in 1948, Jackson said.

As a longer range objective, Baptists of Texas envision simultaneous revivals in every one of the 115 associations, Jackson continued. Through these revivals they hope to "reach 100,000 persons for Christ in 1950," he said.

inch in downtown Los Angeles to 12 inches in the suburbs.

Even the flossy desert resort of Palm Springs was converted momentarily into a winter wonderland. And at Big Bear lake, a nearby mountain resort where movie stars and socialites also hang out and hangover, the snowfall was 56 inches.

Hundreds of automobile accidents were reported. The sirens of ambulances whined and screamed constantly through the frigid streets. Pedestrians slipped and slithered on early-morning icy pavements like mobs of demented jitterbugs.

Traffic throughout the area was clogged by ice-caked bridges, slush and sporadic "baby" blizzards. Commuters were hours late punching timeclocks.

Rubbing Alcohol Sold Out

For the first time in history snow plows lumbered into Topanga canyon, La Crescenta, Montrose, Flintridge and other suburbs.

And thousands of motorists, for the first time in memory of native sons, were initiated into the mysteries of using anti-freeze in car radiators.

Drug stores sold out their stocks of rubbing alcohol to auto owners who were unable to purchase anti-freeze, an unknown commodity at filling stations.

In Hollywood all production was suspended on outdoor sets until the return of "typical" southern California weather.

Schools Dismissed

Goose - pimpled life guards at snow-covered bathing beaches huddled around bonfires and glared gloomily at chamber of commerce signs that read:

"Year-around weather. Swim in the surf."

Many schools dismissed classes so bug-eyed kids could cavort in the snow, which most of them had never seen. Snow men popped up magically on thousands of lawns.

In Van Nuys, 40 exhuberant youths pelting snowballs at passing motorists mobbed police officer J. F. Cizen and rubbed his face in the snow. Five of the boys wound up in the Van Nuys "cooler" when police reinforcements arrived.

Ten Redlands boy scouts were feared lost last night in a blizzard on the Mojave desert but they were found today huddled in an abandoned mine.

The desert town of Mecca, Cal. where it never had snowed before, was the scene of slight flurries this afternoon. Mecca is 200 feet below sea level.

In talking with reporters today Forrestal also disclosed that he conferred with the President about proposed changes in the security act. He said Mr. Truman will deal with the subject in a message to Congress "in the next two or three weeks."

Forrestal did not elaborate.

In his annual report, made public last Dec. 30, Forrestal urged greater, more direct authority for the secretary of defense over the three branches—Army, Navy and Air.

Forrestal gave no indication today whether Mr. Truman will support his plea for sharper authority.

Temperatures rose 10 to 15 degrees in the great plains states and 20 to 25 degrees in the northern and central Rockies. Even at that, it was still eight below zero at Great Falls, Mont.

On the other end of the thermometer, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and parts of Mississippi and Florida had temperatures in the high 70's and 80's.

Savannah had 83 Atlanta 79 and Chattanooga 78 — January record highs in each city. At Mobile, Ala., and Macon, Ga., it was 84.

Overcoat, Sleds Reported Stolen

Thieves and burglars in Lubbock were apparently adapting their "business" to the weather, with two sleds and an overcoat occupying prominent positions Tuesday on police reports of stolen property.

The overcoat had been taken a day earlier in a breaking and entering of Ray Stiff Motor company, and the sleds were taken from Hugh Stone of 2110 Fourteenth and Dr. J. M. Reynolds of 2706 Twenty-eighth. The latter sled, about 5 feet, was lashed to Dr. Reynold's car when removed by the thief.

The sheriff's department was informed of the finding of what was left of property taken in a burglary or theft recently from J. R. Sechrist.

Trunk Broken Open

C. C. Knott of a mile east of Doud switch reported to the sheriff's department that he had found a trunk broken open and its contents scattered in a field 300 yards from his residence.

Some of the contents indicated they belonged to Sechrist. Sechrist, communicated with by a sheriff's deputy, said the trunk had contained when taken: An irish linen table cloth, 11 matching napkins, several new sheets and pillow cases marked "Auto Inn," an old gold closed face watch, three silver dollars, and a linen table cloth.

Theft of a spotlight from E. T. Nichols, from a service station at 106 East Broadway, was reported.

Theft of a 15-jewel, yellow gold wrist watch valued at $60 was reported to police by A. J. Willis of 1010 Ave. M.

All South Plains enforcement officials were advised by the sheriff's department at Paducah that two men who had been convicted and sentenced to serve 12-year sentences for burglary had escaped jail there about 8 p. m. Monday and had fled in a stolen pickup truck. The truck was described as a black 1941 Ford, license RB 829.

A third man who escaped was not identified closely. The other two were said to be David Golston Lester, 37, and George Raymond Adams, 35.

Ernest Emitt Taylor, 43, of Waco, arrested Monday night by the sheriff's department on a warrant charging threat to kill, was placed under a $500 peace bond late Tuesday afternoon by Justice of the Peace C. E. Lynn.

During the hearing before Lynn, Taylor's ex-wife testified that he had called her from San Antonio and threatened to kill her and their four-year-old son who is in a local hospital after undergoing an emergency operation for appendicitis.

At one time during the proceedings, Taylor was reported to have called the complaining witness "a liar," and was fined $10 by Lynn for contempt of court. Taylor was warned a second time and threatened with a heavier fine for the same offense, Lynn said. The $10 fine was remitted when the $500 peace bond was set, Lynn reported.

Al Hays, a 25-year-old negro, pleaded guilty Tuesday morning of an aggravated assault charge—then rolled his eyes.

For County Judge Walter Davies accepted a recommendation of County Attorney Waggoner Carr and imposed a fine of $200 and court costs and sent the black to county jail for five months.

The charge was one reduced from a felony charge of assault Dec. 24 with intent to kill Ray Hall, a negro soldier.

Hays, in addition, is serving a fine of $50 and costs and three days in jail in connection with a Jan. 8 theft conviction — and an old pistol case assessment of $87.40.

Texas Legislature

important finance committee. It would appropriate $350,000 for legislative expenses.

Manford Takes Lead

The senate set aside its rules to whip the bill through and send it along to the house.

Then it stood at ease while the house for the first time in 14 years settled a speakership race on the floor the first day of a session. Usually this matter is ironed out by compromise in advance.

There was no compromise between Manford and Kilgore until the vote tabulation showed definitely Manford had it in the bag. Then Kilgore moved to make it unanimous and the house agreed.

When the counting stopped, Manford was ahead 73 to 20.

Much Work Faced

This was about the only drama in the otherwise quiet opening of the session that has already cut out for it more work than any previous legislature in Texas history.

It must decide among other things whether it can reconcile heavy spending for more state services with available income, without adding taxes. It has been asked to start the job of constitutional rewriting. It is under pressure to change the whole public school set-up, to modernize the prison system and the juvenile correction plan.

There were only two absentees: Senator Dorsey B. Hardeman of San Angelo and Rep. J. R. Eames of Comanche.

Flowers were banked about the speakers stand and the rostrum of the senate for the opening day.

It was family day in the house, with wives and children mingling on the floor with the lawmakers. There were seven babies in arms and they kept much quieter than most legislators will during the next four or more months of arm-waving debate.

LAY DOWN LAW IN OKLAHOMA

'Pretty Boy' Floyd's Brother, Woman Attorney Take Over Posts

SALLISAW, Okla., Jan. 11—(INS)—A reluctant woman county attorney and a new sheriff who knows "crime doesn't pay" have laid down the law in Oklahoma's Cookson hills where the law used to be what gun-toting badmen made it.

The sheriff is E. W. Floyd, a grocery clerk and brother of Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd who roamed the hills as modern "Robin Hood" until he graduated to bigger things like murder and bankrobbing and won the No. 1 spot on the public enemy lists.

The new Sequoyah county attorey is a one-time stenographer, Mrs. Amelia Patterson Frye, who refused to campaign for the job because she doesn't like speechmaking but was elected anyway.

Have Residenis Wondering

Between them, they've got the Sequoyah citizenry wondering, particularly the bootlegging citizenry who like Oklahoma's dry laws and hate sheriffs and county attorneys.

Oklahoma's bad men of the roaring 20s knew how to handle sheriffs: Buy 'em or shoot 'em.

But Floyd doesn't talk or act or look like most of the sheriffs in the county's turbulent history. He never owned a pistol until he inherited a shiny new one with his office. He says he doesn't know much about guns and doesn't expect to use the pistol much.

He also says he doesn't know a thing about law enforcement. But he adds:

"I just know I want my home county to be a good, clean place to live, and I'm going to make it that."

That, Sequoyah residents sigh, is a new approach. Just how he plans to go about putting a shiny new exterior on the county's tarnished history is even more novel. Floyd said, without tongue in cheek:

"I am going to make a personal call on all bootleggers and lawless elements. I am going to personally tell them that I expect them to close up their bootlegging dives and their gambling dens.

"I'll give them a few days to close up—and then, if they don't move, I'll pay them a second call. And then I'll take them in to jail. After that it is up to Mrs. Frye."

Oklahoma residents, who think of "Pretty Boy" when someone says Floyd, aren't used to such nice, polite, if firm, language from a member of the Floyd family. That's why they're wondering.

Business Was Profitable

They're also wondering because bootlegging is a mighty profitable line of endeavor right at the moment.

Sallisaw, the county seat, is only 18 miles from Fort Smith, Ark. Bootleggers beat a path through the county to Fort Smith, load up with the liquid stuff and lug it back into Oklahoma, where the legislature made liquor illegal but didn't quench the thirst.

As for Mrs. Frye, a pretty, brunette, well—she says:

"I love my county and want to see it a clean place. The Cookson hills have had a bad reputation long enough.

"If Sheriff Floyd will just bring them in, I'll do all I can to send them to the penitentiary. I a mnot a reformer, but I won't stand for lawless elements making these beautiful hills in our county their rendezvouz."

Mrs. Frye's election startled Oklahoma just about as much as the headline: "Pretty Boy Floyd's brother a sheriff."

Fifteen years ago she was graduated from Sallisaw High school and became a stenographer in the law office of George Frye. After a while she took a leave of absence to attend law school. When she got her degree, the law firm became Patterson and Frye."

Last April the firm became Frye and Frye—she married her partner.

When a citizens committee asked her permission to file her name as candidate for county attorney, she said O. K., but no speech-making. She also wanted to attend the Republican national convention in Philadelphia. Her husband is GOP county chairman.

When she got back from the convention, she learned that the Democrats had given her the nomination over four other candidates. She was as good as elected in a heavily Democratic state.

That gave Sequoyah it's new team. Of the team, Wheeler Mayo, editor of the Sallisaw Times, said:

"We don't even like to recall the days when some notorious bandits roamed our hills. Now, we're going to open a new era in Sequoyah county."

Robert Mitchum Is Back On Film Lot Awaiting Decision

By JAMES PADGITT
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 11 — Film Star Robert Mitchum, convicted yesterday on a narcotics charge and facing a possible 6-year prison term, was back before the cameras today just as if nothing had happened.

The film hero was going through his usual sardonic movie mannerisms for his forthcoming $750,000 thriller, "The Big Steal," in which he portrays a government agent out to clear his good name, being unjustly accused of stealing a fortune in Army occupation money.

Mitchum, the top-flight actor nabbed in a marijuana smoking party last Labor day, appeared to be just as anxious to face the music on Feb. 9—when he appears for probation and sentencing.

On that day the $3,000-a-week actor learns whether his plea of probation is granted or whether he must serve between 90 days in jail or a maximum of 6 years in prison on a felony dope charge.

He said that once the Feb. 9 court session is over, he is "going to be a good boy."

Studio officials quoted their no. 1 film hero as saying:

"I'm glad the worst is over. I won't even predict what might happen on Feb. 9.

"You can be sure of one thing though. I'm going to be a good boy and a good father and family man from now on."

On the movie set, the actor refuses to discuss the marijuana case. He appears greatly concerned over the outcome of his plea for probation.

Intimates of the actor say that he is not the brash, wisecracking man he was before the marijuana raid. He is quiet, studies his lines constantly and keeps to himself.

Settlement Reported In Union, Bus Line Wage Negotiations

FORT WORTH, Jan. 11. —Representatives of the Southwestern Greyhound lines and union employes reached a settlement in their wage negotiations today, C. T. Emory of Tulsa, Okla., federal conciliator announced.

The settlement, terms of which were not announced, is subject to approval by members of local 1313 of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric, Railway and Motor Coach Employes of America, AFL.

The 1600 union members involved are scattered throughout the nine state region in which the bus lines operate. Small group meetings of the union members will be held and the results will be announced at union headquarters in Kansas City. The union represents bus drivers and terminal employes.

Studio Is Convinced Don O'Connor Rates Top Pictures After Adding Up Receipts

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 11 — If there was ever a time when Universal - International looked on Donald O'Connor as just a cute kid to have around they've had an awakening with the receipts on the movies he made last year. His pictures have been made for peanuts but they brought in the cocoanuts.

Now Don is set to get the "A" treatment all the way. No sooner does he finish "Yes Sir, That's My Baby," on February 7 than he starts "Curtain Call at Cactus Creek.' The story gives Don a chance to do all the things he does best — singing, dancing, imitations — because it's about a handyman in the Eighties who takes a repertoire company on the road.

Bill Goetz wants Gloria De Haven for the femme lead.

To Use President's Voice

We will hear the voice of Franklin D. Rooseveit in "The Bright Promise." Strange that four years after his death the most familiar voice probably in the world, will speak the lines in the film adaptation of Richard Sherman's best seller.

George Seaton, who has prepared the story for the screen, has taken F.D.R.'s voice from newsreels and radio recordings and uses them over the action throughout the picture. The story tells the effects of the 12 years of Roosevelt's regime on the lives of two people.

The nightmare of all stage actors happened to Jean Parker during the second act of "Born Yesterday" in Kansas City. Without rhyme or reason a man got out of his seat in the audience, jumped onto the stage and started talking to her!

Jean was petritied—she didn't know whether he had a gun or not, or what would happen. With the equally petrified audience looking on she lead him to the wings where the boy, a "vet," collapsed.

To the tune of ambulance sirens and the arrival of the police the show continued— but the cast was badly unnerved. When the boy came to at the hospital he didn't remember a thing.

'Loot Of Lima' Beckons Treasure Hunters

Sportsman Makes Fifth Attempt To Find $60,000,000 Treasure

By EVAN HOSKINS
INS Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Cal., Jan. 11— Some 100 tons of undersea engineering equipment was being hoisted aboard the Simon Bolivar today in final preparations for the $60,000,000 treasure hunting expedition to storied Cocos island.

The voyage, slated to begin before the end of the week, will be the fifth attempt of sportsman James Forbes to recover the centuries old "loot of Lima," assertedly buried on the island in the days of pirates and buccaneers and Spanish galleons.

Forbes' previous attempts have either ended in disaster or in only meager returns from weeks of back-breaking digging for the fortune in doubloons, diamonds and rubies and statues of solid gold supposedly still buried in the shifting sands of the fabulous island.

Take Treasure Equipment

This time, in command of 24 men, Forbes will carry with him the very latest wrinkle in treasure finding equipment. One of his partners is Verne Britton of Beverly Hills, Cal., a wealthy structural engineer who has specialized in underwater projects.

The treasure boat, the Simon Bolivar, is a converted infantry landing vessel owned by former California Lieutenant Governor Ellis Patterson, who also is a member of the party.

There are only a few weeks out of the year that Cocos island, a posession of Costa Rica, is free of treasure hunters.

Among the most distinguished of the adventures was the late Sir Malcolm Campbell who tried for the hidden treasure—and without success—in 1929.

Loot Is Bloody

The story of the "loot of Lima," a treasure wet with blood and tears, goes back to the era of the gold-mad Spanish conquistadores who sacked cities and massacred a civilization for the sake of the shining metal.

Most of the loot was cached in Lima and between the founding of the city in 1535 and the war for independence in 1820 the wealth of Peru motivated wars and massacres on an unprecedented scale.

Panic gripped Lima in 1820 when Simon Bolivar, who had been spreading independence throughout South America, neared Peru. The grandees and clergy of Lima became alarmed. Private families gathered together some $30,000,000 worth of gold and silver plate and carried it to the fort for safekeeping.

Priests from the cathedral of Lima packed away another $30,000,000 worth of valuables, including life size statues in pure gold, priestly garments of gold, candlesticks and plate and jeweled swords.

Captain Steals Valuables

As the revolution spread, the city bigwigs took drastic measures and placed the treasures aboard the frigate "Mary Dear." The captain, a man identified in history only as "Thompson" and his crew, massacreed the government people and sailed for Cocos island with the treasure.

Cocos, lying nearly 400 miles off Costa Rica and an equal distance from the forlorn Galapagos archipelago, was the obvious hiding place.

The treasure was put in a cave and the idea was to leave it there until the hue and cry had died down and it would be safe to sell the valuables.

Captain Thompson and his men continued their campaign of piracy and few lived to revisit the island. In the interim nature had done its work, the cave could not be found and distinguishing landmarks were obliterated or overgrown with jungle growth.

Forbes, head of the current expedition, claims that Captain Thompson was a distant relative of his and that a map of the buried treasure with the traditional "x marks the spot" has been handed down in the family.

Forbes related:

"Letters and a map left by my great, great grandfather indicate that the treasure was covered with sail cloth before the sand was poured on top of it.

Men Find Evidence

"On our last expedition we found rotting bits of canvas which we brought back to San Diego with us and sent to a laboratory for examination. The scientists told us they were between 100 and 120 years old. That's enough for me."

Forbes currently is in Costa Rica making final arrangements for the treasure hunt. Because the uninhabited island belongs to the Central American Republic, Forbes must take 10 Costa Rican soldiers and between 20 and 30 native laborers with him.

Half of anything that the party finds reverts to the Costa Rican government under terms of international law covering finding of treasure troves.

Cocos island is 12 days sailing from Long Beach harbor. The party expects to spend 90 days on the island.

All hands are confident that a sizeable portion of the "loot of Lima" will be recovered in the current operation.

Forbes said he had a hunch that "this time is it."

Two White Men Freed In Slaying

By ALLEN COMPTON
INS Staff Correspondent

LYONS, Ga., Jan. 11. — Two white men were cleared quickly today in the alleged lynch slaying of Robert Mallard, negro casket salesman.

A Tombs county court jury exonerated William Howell, a farmer, in 26 minutes.

Judge R. H. Humphrey then dropped further action against Roderick Hill Clifton, an auto salesman, whose trial was scheduled to follow Howell's.

Jurors Testify For Defense

Howard's trial reached its height with the collapse of Mallard's widow after she pointed to the white farmer as a member of the robed mob which she claimed killed her husband.

Howell denied participation in the slaying.

Two of the jurors, L. J. Usher and J. W. Currie, were called to the witness stand at one point of the trial. Both testified for the defense.

Each of the jurymen said that the Mallard woman had a "bad reputation," and added they would not believe her testimony.

State's attorneys did not protest the action, explaining it was not unusual for the jurors to become character witnesses.

The defense lawyers for Clifton protested the judge's ruling that Howell's acquittal did not call for further hearing.

Clifton's attorneys asked instead that Clifton be summarily declared not guilty of the murder charge.

Judge Humphrey explained, however, that the solicitor was only "doing his duty" in requesting the ruling.

The jurist fined one man, an unidentified spectator, for contempt when he openly applauded the jury's verdict in the Howell trial.

The swift-paced trial in the jampacked courtroom at Lyons reached a surprising conclusion when attorneys finished their final arguments in half their alloted time. The jury took the case at 3:05 p. m. (EST).

Mallard was killed, according to testimony, by a single .32 caliber bullet fired from a Smith and Wesson revolver.

Howell made an unsworn statement, as allowed by Georgia law, but did not take the stand. He denied any guilt in the case, said he was "home in bed at the time of the crime," and added that he does not own a gun.

New Mexico Solons Handed Tax Problem

SANTA FE, N. M., Jan. 11. (INS) —Gov. Thomas J. Marby, in a message to the New Mexico legislature today, called for additional funds to finance the department of public welfare and health.

The governor left it up to the legislature as to what new sources of revenue should be tapped, but did suggest a study be made of a severance tax on minerals, including oil.

While he did not directly recommend the two-cent increase in gasoline tax wanted by the New Mexico Highway department, the governor did advise putting the department on a pay-as-you-go basis.

Governor Marby said the $2,500,000 bond issue voted last fall was not sufficient for construction of buildings at the state institutions and added that the legislature would have to dig up additional funds.

He recommended continuation of reassessment of counties to increase property taxes. The program was started two years ago.

Marby said that if Congress did not provide for the Indians of New Mexico, the state would be forced into a program of aid.

Texas Solon Discusses Goat Industry Problems With HST

By FRANCIS KELLY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—President Truman took time out today from world affairs to discuss the angora goat raising industry with a Texas congressman. He was quoted as being "very sympathetic" about the current economic problems of goat raisers.

As a result of his White House conversation, Rep. Fisher (D-Tex) was hopeful of giving the situation a thorough airing. He said he told the President that goat raising is in a bad way, and has been "depressed for the last two years."

Major Industry Involved

There was no hint that Mr. Truman contemplates a special message to congress on goats. Rather, Fisher reported, the chief executive "promised to discuss the matter with the secretary of agriculture."

The well-being of some 3,000,000 goats and a considerably smaller number of goat ranchers is involved. The industry is centered primarily in Texas, Fisher said, although other vast goat hatcheries are maintained in Arizona, New Mexico, California and Oregon.

The Texas congressman said he told the President the industry wants mohair— the fleece from goats— "treated on a comparable basis with wool and other agricultural products." He implied that prices aren't what they should be in the eyes of the industry.

Climate Is Factor

The angora goat is believed to have originated in Tibet but moved to Texas on account of the climate. Reference works on goats describe the angora as a poor milker, but it certainly has pretty fleece. Even the animal's legs are covered with close matted ringlets.

The angora is considerably larger than the guinea goat of central and west Africa, which is celebrated among goat men for its outstanding resistance to trypanosomiasis.

Trypanosomiasis is a goat malady due to infection by trypanosomes. Trypanosomes are a genus of parasitic flagellate protozoans having the anterior flagellum expanded into a delicate, undulating membrane.

ACCIDENTS COST MONEY

CLEVELAND, (U.P.)—The average cost to employers for lacerations, punctures and burns suffered by workers in industrial accidents is $39.04 a case, the national safety magazine Occupational Hazards reported.

New Tax Formula Is Suggested By WTCC

SAN ANGELO, Jan. 11. (AP)—A formula to give cities a part of the tax windfall counties will get as the result of a recent constitutional amendment was devised here by a committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The constitutional amendment would remove a 30-cent per $100 valuation tax received by the state and allow counties to levy a like amount for flood control, farm-to-market roads and soil conservation.

The formula devised by the committee would allow cities to retain one-third of the 30 cents tax the counties would receive from city property. This would be used for water supply facilities.

Of the estimated $4,500,000 remissible to 130 West Texas counties, as much as $1,000,000 might be utilized by cities to improve their water facilities, D. A. Bandeen of Abilene, West Texas Chamber of Commerce manager, said.

Among those participating in drawing up the formula were Bandeen, John Mitchell of Odessa, WTCC president; W. R. Cusenbary, Sonora; Rep. Sterling Williams, Snyder; Judge Roger Barret, Anson; Paul Counts, Fort Stockton; Robert R. Herring, Breckenridge, and Charles C. Thompson of Colorado City.

Solon To Oppose Tidelands Bills

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11. (U.P.)—Rep. Emanuel Celler, (D-N Y) said today he will use his position as chairman of the House Judiciary committee to kill any legislation giving states title to the oil-rich tidelands.

"I will not permit any tidelands legislation to come out of the committee," Celler said. "The President's position is against any cession of the tidelands to the states and I am going to see to it that his program is carried out."

"By-Pass" To Be Sought

Advocates of state ownership of the tidelands, informed of Celler's position, said they will try to by-pass the Judiciary committee. But they admitted their chances are slim.

Legislation to grant states title to the tidelands is supported by members of Congress from California, Texas and Pennsylvania.

The Supreme court has held that the federal government has "paramount interest" in the marginal lands off the coast of California.

Despite the name, the controversy does not involve tidelands. In most instances, it concerns land below the low tide mark which both the federal government and the states believe has heavy oil reserves.

The long argument began in 1938 when the Senate passed a resolution granting title to the lands to the federal government. The measure died in the House as did a similar bill in 1939.

In 1946, a bill to grant the title to the states was passed by both houses. But it was vetoed by the President and his veto was sustained by the House.

Celler, who is slated by seniority to be chairman of the House Judiciary committee, will be in a position to decide what legislation it taken up by that group. His stand could be reversed only by a major upheaval—considered unlikely in view of Mr. Truman's opposition to turning tidelands over to the states.

Port Of Houston Sets All-Time Record For Handling Cargo

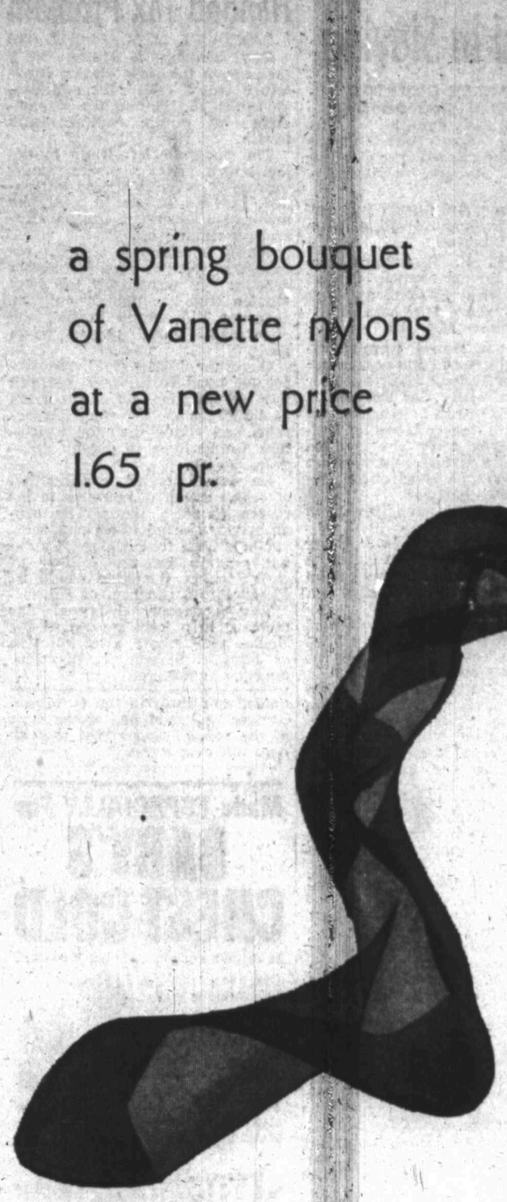

HOUSTON, Jan. 11. (U.P.)—The port of Houston handled more than forty and one-half million tons of cargo in 1948 to set an all-time high in operations, the Houston navigation district announced today.

The figure was 40,679,029 tons valued at $1,129,701,400, the navigation office reported. It was a 19.14 percent increase over last year's 34,143,777 cargo tons, according to port director W. F. Heavey.

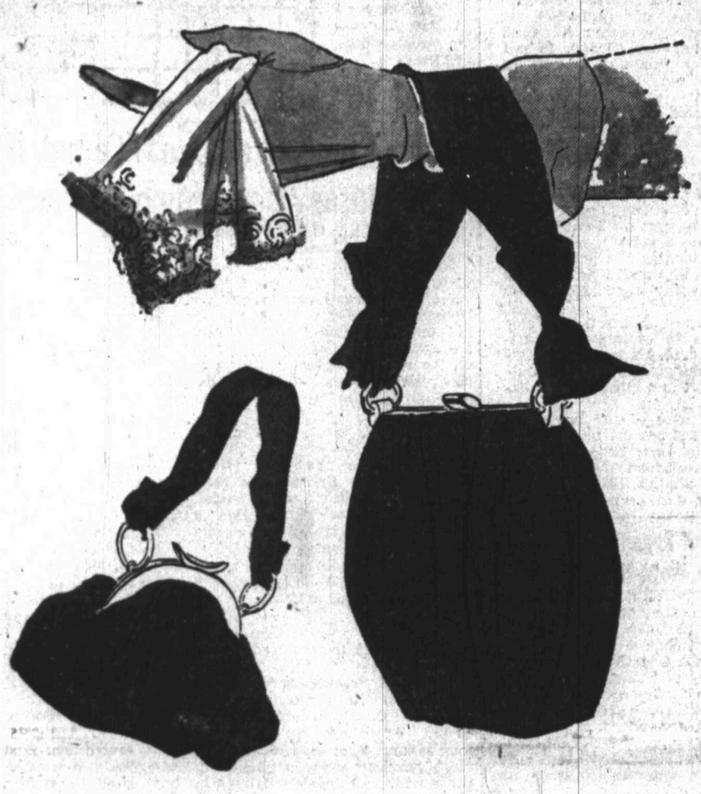

Heavey said the boost could be partially accounted for because of larger grain shipments under the Marshall plan, and more extensive shipments of petroleum and fertilizer all over the world.

U. S. engineers have not ranked the nation's ports since 1946. At that time, Houston was fourth.

Senate Committee Appointments Made

Corbin Is Placed On Seven Groups

By MAC ROY RASOR
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Jan. 11.—Assignments to 40 important standing committees today quickly prepared the 51st Senate for legislative business.

The fate of much proposed legislation is decided in the Senate's committee parleys which customarily must approve—or may block—any bill before the Senate proper gets a whack at it.

Lieut. Gov. Allan Shivers—empowered to divide committee duties as he deems fit—was ready with the assignments well before his gavel rapped the Senate into session at noon. A few minutes later they were made public.

CORBIN ON SEVEN

Senator Kilmer Corbin, of Lamesa, representing the 30th senatorial district on the South Plains, was named to seven committees, according to the Associated Press.

Sen. Corbin was named chairman of the Committee on Towns and City Corporations, and to membership on the following committees: Aeronautics, Civil Jurisprudence, Congressional Districts, Finance, Oil and Gas Conservation and Public Printing.

Taylor Heads Finance Group

One of the most important posts, chairmanship of the powerful Finance committee which sits in judgment over the spending of state funds, went again to veteran James Taylor of Kerens.

Taylor's iron hand over the 50th Senate's same committee has been accredited as the major force that kept the spending of the 50th from dipping the state deep into financial red ink two years ago.

Senator A. M. Aikin Jr., of Paris drew the steering job on the State Affairs committee, recipient and processor of many bills carrying statewide ramifications.

The controversial Gilmer-Aikin education committee's work and resulting bills are due a vigorous workout before the Education committee where Senator R. A. (Bob) Proffer, long a chief proponent for improved education, will be at the helm.

Other Appointments Made

Other significant assignments include prison-interested Senator Jimmy Phillips of Angleton at the head of the Prison committee. That's the first scheduled stop for legislation proposing a $4,000,000 revamping of the Texas prison system.

Senator Pat Bullock of Colorado City will guide the highways and motor traffic committee whose business includes rural roads.

Senator W. R. Cousins Jr., of Beaumont is head of the Labor committee—initial focal point for any consideration to repeal of restrictive labor legislation sought by organized labor.

Senator Gus Strauss of Hallettsville will head the committee on Governor's nominations. Senator

New Levies On Low Income Groups Are Scored

Blanket Tax Boost Is Opposed

By DARRELL GARWOOD
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 — Congressional leaders said today they will refuse to support any new taxes which fall directly on middle and low income groups.

Except for a small increase in social security levies, they said any new revenues must come from corporation profits and personal incomes above $10,000 a year.

Sen. Bridges (R-NH), warned that any new levies "will fall directly or indirectly, upon all the people of the country."

To Oppose New Taxes

Bridges said he will oppose new taxes in any form, and will seek substantial cuts in President Truman's record peacetime budget. He added:

"Mr. Truman's staggering budget will not provide the answer to the day's problems, and the burden of debt and taxes will force the country backward."

On the majority side, there was mounting pressure in Congress to increase the Truman budget still further, accompanied by a backflow of sentiment for slashing his tax requests.

Spending Pressure Expected

The most influential legislators in both houses of Congress agreed that "we will be doing well" if a balanced budget emerges from the two conflicting trends.

On the spending side, they predicted that the most pressure to raise Mr. Truman's budget figures will come through proposals to:

1. Provide more than the 48 Air Force groups he recommended.

2. Raise farm price supports and increase the amounts for rural electrification.

3. Expand the program for building veterans' hospitals.

Moderate Hikes Seen

Concerning the President's proposals for four billion dollars in new taxes—actually six billion dollars if the recommended social security "contributions" are included—the leaders said sentiment in Congress is for:

1. A moderate increase in corporation taxes raising less than two billion dollars.

2. A mild increase in the tax rate on personal incomes above $10,000, to make the total additional revenue from direct taxes about two and one-half billion dollars.

3. A small increase in social security levies—less than the two billion dollars the President favors.

There was no suggestion among leaders that the President's budget of nearly 42 billion could be cut.

To Seek Larger Air Force

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Mont.), new majority policy chairman, said he thought Mr. Truman has set "an extraordinarily low figure for what the country has to do."

Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), influential member of the appropriations committee, agreed that "if we can hold down to 42 billions, we will be doing well."

A leading legislator who asked that his name be withheld said that 2½ billions in new taxes—providing no more than a token payment on the national debt—was "about the most that can be expected."

Rep. Vinson (D-Ga.), armed services chairman, served notice that he will continue to fight for a 70-group Air Force, and Rep. Rankin (D-Miss.), veterans' committee chairman, said he will press for more money for hospitals.

Rankin said he was "extremely disappointed" in the President's recommendation for $280 million for hospitals in fiscal 1950.

BUSES, TAXIS KEEP MOVING

Public Is Good-Natured About Cold, Slowed Transportation

Mr. and Mrs. Lubbock and all the little Lubbockites generally reflected high good humor Tuesday as they went about their business.

Downtown store clerks were manfully hoisting shovels to clear ice-bound sidewalks. Salt was being spread to help reduce the hazard to venturesome shoppers.

Shivering patrons waited on street corners for delayed city buses, showing various attitudes of anger, resignation and laughing acceptance of the situation.

A. M. Cope, office manager of Lubbock Bus company, said "it's making a mess out of our schedules."

"With the exception of the East Broadway bus, which has a tough time making it up and down the canyon slope, we haven't had too much trouble," Cope explained.

"We've had a lot of calls asking if buses are running. The drivers have instructions to observe safety first, and we are making all runs with that in mind."

Taxicab companies were smiling bravely and making the best of trials and tribulations.

"We're getting five to ten times as many calls as normal," said Alton Abbott of the Yellow Cab company. "Everybody wants us to be there right then, and naturally we can't always make it."

Abbott said the company Tuesday had received dozens of calls to push stalled cars, take children to school and perform other extra-normal tasks which add to the already heavy load.

"One of our biggest problems is the person who will call every cab company in town in the hope he will get a taxi right away. Then, when they get there, no one's at home."

Ray Farmer, owner of City Cab company, said business was easily double a normal day. The company received many out of the ordinary requests for delivery service, car-pushing and the like. All cabs were being

Cochran Test Makes Show

Indications of an extension to the Landon-Strawn field of extreme South-Central Cochran county developed at Stanolind Oil and Gas Co., No. 1 Adams, 457 feet from south and 1,063 feet from west lines of section 13, block L, psl survey.

This semi-wildcat drillstem tested in the Strawn lime of the Pennsylvanian at 10,274-345 feet, with the tool open on hour and 15 minutes. A good blow of air held at the surface for part of the period. A 1,500-foot water blanket was used.

Recovery was 360 feet of slightly gas cut water blanket, 360 feet of slightly oil and gas cut water blanket and 170 feet of slightly oil and gas cut drilling mud.

The venture then drilled to 10,381½ feet, recovering seven and one-half feet of crystalline lime with fair porosity and stain.

On last report, the prospect was coring ahead. Original projected depth was 10,700 feet.

To Swab And Test

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 H. C. Moore, possible discovery from the Canyon-Pennsylvanian, in Central Scurry county, two miles southwest of Snyder, and 660 feet from south and west lines of section 207, block 97, H&TC survey, had perforated casing which had been set on bottom at 6,885 feet, and was to swab and test.

The current perforations are at 6,845-50 feet. This wildcat flowed some clean oil on a recent drillstem test to indicate that it might be completed as a new field opener.

Section Treated

Placid Oil Company No. 1 Davis, six and one-half miles north and slighly east of Snyder, in north-central Scurry county, and 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 387, block 97, H&TC survey, treated perforated section at 7,385-7,405 feet, with 1,000 gallons of acid.

In nine hours of swabbing recovery was 100 barrels of oil, which was cut with 14 per cent water. In the next 24 hours the project swabbed 33 barrels of oil and 33 barrels of salt water. That zone, which is in the Strawn lime, will be squeezed off and operator will plug back to the Canyon zone of the Pennsylvanian and test. That section offered some possibilities of making an oil well and a discovery on drillstem tests.

Preparing For Test

The best show from the Landon-San Andres production in extreme south-central Cochran county was recovered at Texas Pacific Coal and Oil company No. 1 Edwards, flanker to the pool.

After cemented 7-inch casing on 4,995 feet, this project moved in cable tools and drilled out to 5,034 feet. At that bottom, there was 3,150 feet of oil standing in the hole.

Swabbing tests were begun. In 24 hours, the venture recovered

CATALOGUE DATES ARE CHANGED

Spring Graduation Exercises At Tech Advanced To May 30

Changing of catalogue dates for the latter part of the spring semester at Texas Technological college will result in senior commencement exercises being held on May 30 instead of June 6, as stated by the catalogue, and in the first session of summer school starting on June 6 rather than June 8, Dr. E. N. Jones, vice president, has announced.

"Such a schedule will permit earlier opening of summer school, and will also make commencement exercises the climax of the school year," Dr. Jones said.

Change Offers Advantages

Under the old set-up, all students were gone from the campus when commencement exercises were held, and many of the faculty were required to stay at college several extra days in order that they might take part in the exercises. Also, by starting summer school earlier in June, it will allow public school teachers to complete both terms before going back to their work.

Baccalaureate services were moved up accordingly to May 29. This will necessitate that graduating seniors take final examinations for the second semester early, beginning May 19 and ending May 25.

Dr. Jones also announced there will be no "summer executive" in the future, and that the summer sessions will be directed under the same administration as other terms. He said: "Dr. Ernest Wallace, formerly serving as summer executive, has done superb work as director of the summer school, and under the revised system, the same organizational and administrative ability will be released to give more time for student testing, counselling and guidance." Dr. Wallace is professor of history and assistant dean of Arts and Science.

REPORT SHOWS LIST OF DEMOCRAT STRAGGLERS

Cabinet, Prominent People Flood Demos' Campaign Fund After President's Upset Victory

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—Defense Secretary Forrestal and White House Military Aide Harry H. Vaughan led a list of prominent persons who poured money into the Democratic campaign after President Truman's surprise victory.

Among those whose campaign contributions were received after the Nov. 2 election were cabinet officers, government officials, judges and financiers.

Their names were listed in the annual reports of the Democratic National committee and the Democratic Congressional Campaign committee which have been filed with Congress in accord with the federal corrupt practices law.

Forrestal Contributes $250

The Democratic National Congressional committee reported that Secretary of Defense Forrestal contributed $250. His check was dated Nov. 9, a week after the election.

The committee also received a check for $100 dated Nov. 20 from Francis B. Sayre, head of the United Nations Trusteeship Council and former assistant secretary of state.

Bernard M. Baruch, elder statesman and financier, contributed $250 to the Democratic National committee. His contribution was received Nov. 10.

Most of the post-election contributions were made to the Democratic National committee which revealed that an avalanche of funds, $602,346 in all, was received from Oct. 28 to Dec. 31.

Other Donors Named

In addition to Forrestal, three other cabinet officials contributed to President Truman's campaign after the election. They were: Secretary of Agriculture Brannan, Postmaster General Donaldson and Secretary of Commerce Sawyer.

Both Brannan and Donaldson campaigned actively for the president.

The committee reported that it received $500 from Brannan Nov. 23; $200 from Donaldson Nov. 20, and $500 from Sawyer Nov. 30.

"Little cabinet" officials who contributed after Nov. 2 were under Secretary of the Navy W. John Kenney, Nov. 22, $1,000; Under Secretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman, Nov. 23, $500, and John E. Peurifoy, assistant secretary of state, $100.

Other important Truman administration officials from whom post-election gifts were received were: Joseph K. Carson, Jr., Maritime commission member, Nov. 15, $1,000, and Nov. 23, $1,000; Housing Administrator Raymond M. Foley, Nov. 15, $100; William M. Martin, jr., president of the Export-Import banks, Nov. 17, $2,500; Harry B. Mitchell, president of the Civil Service commission, Nov. 17, $100.

George J. Schoeneman, internal revenue commissioner, Nov. 17, $150; William Alexander Julian, treasurer of the United States, Nov. 17, $1,000; Preston Delano, comptroller of the currency, Nov. 19, $100; Philip B. Perlman, United States solicitor general, Nov. 22, $500; Stephen J. Spingarn, assistant general counsel, Treasury department, Nov. 22, $100; Paul M. Herzog, chairman of the National Labor Relations board and Mrs. Herzog, Nov. 22, $100 each.

back after an absence of 10 years. He was formerly assistant cashier of the Lubbock National bank two years from 1937 to 1939. A graduate of Texas Technological college in 1931, he started in the banking business at Tahoka where he served four years. In 1939, he went to the First National bank at Levelland as cashier and went to Slaton as a vice president in 1943.

A Methodist and Rotarian, he is married and has three children, Robert, 11; Jimmie 7, and Nancy Jo, 5.

Pendleton, who resigned as vice president and director of the Lubbock National bank, is moving to Ordway, Colo., where he has purchased a Ford automobile and implement dealership. He has been associated with the Lubbock National bank for 10½ years including the time he was in the Navy during World war II.

Fred (Red) Harris of Dallas is chairman of oil, gas and conservation; and Senator Rogers Kelley of Edinburg, chairman of Veterans affairs.

All of the chairmanships differed from the 50th assignments except in five instances.

Besides Taylor's reappointment, they included Aikin's reassignment to Contingent expenses; Charles R. Jones, of Bonham, Counties and County boundaries; Howard A. Carney of Atlanta, Game and Fish; and Harris, Senate rules.

MARLIN PIONEER CLAIMED

MARLIN, Jan. 11. (AP) — Mrs. Mollie Fannin, 101-year-old Marlin woman, died today after an illness of five months. She came to Falls county in 1875 and her husband built the Fannin hotel, Marlin's first brick hotel, in 1899. He died in 1910.

Payments Okayed By County Officials

Lubbock County Commissioners court, which met in regular business meeting Monday afternoon, authorized payment of special accounts totaling $22,151.97.

The figure included purchase of a caterpillar diesel grader, an adding machine, tires, tubes, culverts, a pickup truck, machinery parts and repairs, and oil for road machinery.

The commissioners approved the transfer of administrative management of City-County Welfare association to the City of Lubbock, subject to final approval by the city commission.

Under the plan, the city would authorize disbursements and the county would be billed for its pro rata share, which is 50 per cent.

Bond of J. W. Martindale as public weigher of precinct 2, at Slaton, was approved.

A petition of Ed Moore and others for a public road leading from the Acuff road to highways 62 and 82 was ordered opened provided right-of-way is furnished and fences are moved at no costs to the county.

R. C. Bolton was reemployed as courthouse janitor at no change in salary.

Commissioners are R. O. Short, George G. Green, Ottis Isom and Pat Corley. County Judge Walter Davies presided, and County Clerk Louie F. Moore transcribed minutes of the proceedings.

Hunter Bryant of Bryant's Taxi also issued a plea for consideration by the public. "Please tell everybody to allow plenty of time during the rush," Bryant said.

"We've been awfully lucky—haven't had as much as a scraped fender. We have put chains on all our cars and drivers have instructions not to go over 20 miles an hour."

Bryant mentioned one incident when a woman requested a taxi driver to shovel the snow out of her driveway so she could get her car out.

Forged Checks Traced To Boys

Two juvenile boys allegedly "forged so many checks that they ran out of names, so started twirling juke box dials to find more names that suited them," county and juvenile officials said Tuesday afternoon in announcing that the boys and one other had been questioned and that investigation will be continued.

Dep. Sheriff Earl Horton and John W. Wilson, city-county juvenile counsellor, found the boys at a school Tuesday after a Monday afternoon abortive attempt by boys to cash a $16.50 check at a downtown drugstore.

Based on their investigation, they estimated that from 15 to 20 checks had been passed in perhaps the last 30 days. Those checks, they believed, would range from $5 to $20 each.

Four of them used the name of a Texas Tech instructor as payor, approximately four the name of a business man on Ave. Q. One, for $20, using the name of a prominent physician (one of the initials was wrong and "Dr." was prefixed to the signature), was cashed but was not paid when it reached the bank. Another attempt allegedly was made to cash a check similarly signed.

Officials said they were checking to determine whether "some of our bad check warrants received in the last 20 days or so may trace back to operation of the boys."

The third youth admitted, they said, that he had "found" a check about Christmas time and had erased and substituted a name for the payee inscribed on it.

Officials wonder whether checks will show up incorporating the names, or part of them, of prominent orchestra leaders and singers.

Former Wichita Falls Man Shot Down On Street In New Mexico

EUNICE, N. M., Jan. 11. (AP) — A 31-year-old oil field worker was shot and killed on a downtown street in this southeastern New Mexico town last night. Officers held another man without charge.

Homer Lee Daugherty, formerly of Wichita Falls, died at a hospital two hours after he was struck by the discharge from a .410 gauge shotgun.

Undersheriff Charles Trimble said he was holding Glen Skinner, 26, formerly of Electra, pending the outcome of a coroner's inquest.

Texas Senators List Federal Job Choices

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11. (AP)—The two senators from Texas have indicated they will cooperate closely on federal job appointments in their state.

Veteran Tom Connally and newly seated Lyndon Johnson expect to get together this week and make the decisions. Their recommendations will be submitted to the President who actually makes the appointments. The appointments are subject to senate confirmation.

Jobs where vacancies exist or are expected soon and individuals who have been recommended to the Senators for the positions include:

East Texas district attorney — Ed B. Levee, Texarkana; Roy Baker, Sherman; and Gaston Wilder, jr., Beaumont.

The present district attorney, Steve King, is retiring.

U. S. marshal for West Texas —Acting Marshal Kehoe Shannon of El Paso.

Beware Coughs Following Flu
After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and to aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

Air Force Cancels Orders For $300 Million Worth Jet Planes

By LEON SHLOSS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—The Air Force today cancelled orders for $300 million worth of jet-propelled warplanes and indicated it would rely on conventional-powered bombers for its main striking strength.

The cancellations were announced within 24 hours of congressional receipt of President Truman's budget message which would halt the 70-group air force expansion and slash current 60-group strength to 48.

Many Orders Cut

Cancelled today were orders for: 51 North American four-jet B-45 bombers, leaving 139 of these planes on order.

30 eight-jet Northrop flying wing bombers, leaving 13 of these revolutionary craft on order.

118 jet-powered North American F-93 fighters. The F-93, until recently known as the F-86, holds the world's established speed record of 670 miles an hour. Earlier orders for 330 planes are not affected.

Orders for a number of transport planes and helicopters also were cancelled.

Modernization Planned

The Air Force said the action would make about $300 million available for procurement of "a substantial number of B-36s and extensive modernization and improvement of other B-36s and B-50s."

The B-36, powered by six conventional, piston-type engines, is the biggest bomber in the world. It is built by Consolidated-Vultee at Fort Worth, Tex.

Designed for a 10,000-mile range and being modified to reach 12,000 miles, the B-36 already has made 8,000-mile nonstop flights with a full load of bombs.

The B-50 is an improved version of the Boeing B-29 Superfort, leveler of Japan in World War II. It is powered by four conventional engines.

The Air Force announced that the "readjustment of presently available Air Force procurement funds in line with the President's budget message" was made "to achieve a more effective Air Force in being with minimum delay."

Air Force Secretary Symington last Sunday warned that the 70-group Air Force is America's only assurance against "horrors of war which it has never known." He also warned that the aircraft manufacturing industry is behind schedule due to federal "stop and start planning."

Chairman Vinson D-Ga), of the powerful House Armed Services committee, has already introduced legislation to provide funds to continue the 70-group expansion program.

A disastrous fire in Delft, Holland, helped transform that city from a brewing center to Europe's clay tile capitol. Eighteenth-century tile makers selected sites of Delft's razed breweries for their factories.

Tardy State Senator Takes Oath Of Office At Special Ceremony

AUSTIN, Jan. 11. (AP)—Senator Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo today got a delayed special ceremony for taking oath as a member of the 51st legislature.

The senator was reportedly weather-bound in Amarillo when the oath was administered by Lieut. Gov. Allan Shivers to 16 other newly-elected and re-elected senators at today's session.

Just before the Senate was ready to quit for the day, a telephone call informed the senior law-making body that Hazlewood was in town. The Senate stood at ease until the delayed senator arrived and took the oath.

White To Abandon Divorce Case Plea

WAXAHACHIE, Jan. 11 (AP) — Curtis Hall, attorney for Henry Ford White, said today White will drop his appeal from a divorce decree granted his wife, the former Molly O'Daniel, here last Oct. 13.

Mrs. White, daughter of former Senator W. Lee O'Daniel, married Harold J. Moffatt, a Los Angeles stockbroker, in the California city last Tuesday. It was her third marriage. Her first husband was Jack Wrather, oil man and movie producer.

Her divorce from White, granted here by District Judge A. R. Stout, became final on Christmas Eve. The judge stated last week that notice of appeal to the tenth court of civil appeals at Waco had been filed Dec. 20.

Hall told a reporter today that White had decided to abandon the appeal in view of his wife's remarriage.

Hall has filed a motion in court here to require Mrs. Moffatt to pay off all indebtedness before disposing of the Ellis county property awarded her with the divorce decree. He also asked the appointment of a receiver to handle the sale. The chief property is a livestock auction barn at Midlothian.

A hearing on Hall's latest motion has been set for Jan. 19. He said Jesse Martin of Fort Worth, Mrs. Moffatt's attorney, was expected to represent her at the hearing.

Suicide Verdict Returned In Woman's Death At Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Jan. 11. (U.P.)—A verdict of suicide was returned today by peace justice Whit Boyd in the death Sunday of Mrs. D. D. Kolp, a native of Ranger and wife of a retired Houston banker.

Justice Boyd said death was caused by an overdose of cocaine, and other sedatives and by natural gas escaping from a disconnected stove in her closed bedroom.

Her husband was found unconscious in the room, and is recovering in a Fort Worth hospital. Authorities said discovery of the pair was made by relatives, calling on a visit.

Irish Minister Opens Revival Service Here

A 28-day revival Bible conference will be conducted in Lubbock by Rev. William S. McBirnie, clergyman of Belfast, Ireland.

Arrangements have been made for use of the auditorium of the First Nazarine church.

The meeting, general theme of which is "The Second Coming of the Lord Jesus Christ," is intended for all denominations, and the interested public is invited to attend.

Dr. McBirnie's subject tonight is to be "The Midnight Cry;" Thursday night, "The Two Vines;" Friday night, "The Supernatural World;" Saturday night, "Eight Kinds of Devils;" Sunday at 11 a. m., "Fundamental or Instrumental;" Sunday at 2:30 p. m., "The Ministry of Tears;" Sunday night, "The Five Crowns;" and Monday night, "God in Nature," accompanied by pictures.

Each night service is to begin at 7:30 p. m.

Federal Court Orders Texans' Suit Against USDA Dismissed

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 11. (AP)—The U. S. Fifth Circuit court of appeals today returned to a lower court with an order of dismissal a suit filed by 10 Texas landholders against the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The suit charged "unlawful reserving of mineral, oil and gas rights" in quitclaim deeds made out to the landowners at the time of purchase.

In returning the case to the U. S. district court for the northern district of Texas, the appeals court ruled that "the Department of Agriculture . . . not being an individual nor a corporation, but an agency of the government, is not empowered to sue, or to be sued in evasion of sovereign immunity."

It continued that the secretary, Clinton P. Anderson of the Department of Agriculture, also named in the suit, "may be enjoined if he by affirmative act exceeds his lawful authority . . . to the injury of established rights, for in such circumstances he is not truly representing the government."

Dallas Man Squares Up On Three Dollar Debt Some 45 Years Late

DENISON, Jan. 11. (U.P.)— A Dallas man overlooked a $3 debt to a Randolph, merchant in 1904. But he remembered it this week and today the merchant had his $3.

Although J. W. Smith, the merchant moved here several years ago, the letter with the money enclosed was forwarded to Denison. Smith said he would send the Dallas man, James Medlin, (1908 Orleans St.) a receipt.

The World's Best Tires Are Here

Condensed from Popular Science Monthly — Charles Stevenson and Alben P. Armagnac

IF LUCK is with you, next time you buy a tire for your car you'll get more than you expected for your money. This year something like three out of 100 purchasers will receive a "surprise-package" tire.

The prize will be of a standard make and will bear no distinguishing label. It looks exactly like any other tire. Neither you nor the dealer can tell it from the rest—not even an expert could. So you won't even know you have the jackpot tire until some day, perhaps in 1950 or 1951, you realize it has worn longer than any other tire you ever owned.

Treads of these wonder tires are made of a brand-new kind of synthetic rubber, called "cold rubber" made i[illegible]

The special synthetic rubber that goes into these tires is not expensive. It sells at the same price as standard synthetic rubber—18½ cents a pound. Natural rubber costs about 22½ cents.

In synthetic-rubber plants that they operate for the Government, the Copolymer Corporation, jointly owned by eight tire manufacturers, began making the new rubber last February at Baton Rouge, La., and the U[illegible] pan[illegible] T[illegible]

THE LEGISLATURE:

Big Job, Small Pay

THE convening of a new session of the Texas Legislature causes, as always, renewed puzzling over the question: What is the attraction for anyone in this field of public service?

Certainly it is not the salary. Senators and representatives receive $10 a day for the first 120 days and $5 a day thereafter, while actually in session. Only the most thrifty pay bare expenses out of the amount while in Austin. And most of them have to neglect their personal business affairs during sessions.

So, what might be the average Legislator's motives for service?

Some with political ambitions may regard a legislative seat as a possible stepping stone. Some, such as attorneys, do benefit professionally from enhanced prestige and "good will" business. Some may enjoy the excitement of participation in such assemblies. Some undoubtedly derive their greatest compensation from the inner knowledge of a sincere desire to serve. Some unquestionably go to the Legislature determined to make as much as they can in any way they can out of their job. These, we believe, are in the very small minority.

Thus, when Texans get a predominantly good Legislature, they are getting something for which they pay an exceedingly low price. Yet it always has happened that the overwhelming majorities in such sessions have been men of unquestioned integrity.

The membership of the new Legislature, taken as a whole, measures up to previous standards of quality. Even those who may disagree with Legislators frequently and violently during the next few weeks and months will concede that the typical member will be doing the best job he can, wholly without consideration of the niggardly per diem he receives.

An Unfair Move

SENATE Republicans have a legitimate complaint because of the Democratic decision to change the party line-up of membership on the Foreign Relations committee. During two past years of Republican control, seven Republicans and six Democrats have comprised the group. Expectation was that this arrangement would be reversed in the new Congress. Surprise of the committee will be eight Democrats and five Republicans.

Republicans were justified in expecting more generous treatment. Even the President, who has been viciously critical of most acts of Congress, acknowledges freely that Senate Republicans have made possible a truly bi-partisan foreign policy.

It is to be hoped that this harmony will not be disturbed now. It is to be hoped and expected that Senate Republicans can rise above political resentment when U. S. relationship to the world is involved. But if friction should supplant harmony, Democratic leadership must accept much of the blame because of their refusal to give the minority an equitable representation on this vitally important committee.

Down Memory Lane

Orphans Of The Storm

Beware Of Romance

By ROBERTA COURTLAND
Distributed By NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Life seems bright and beautiful to sixteen-year-old Merry Carson, whose big moment is Tip Kennedy, captain of the high school football team. And when Tip, driving her home in his Struggle Buggy, says there's something he wants to talk to her about, Merry's heart begins to do nip-ups in her throat.)

II

TIP seemed to have difficulty with his words, and the Struggle-Buggy was parked in front of the Carson home before he finally said awkwardly, "I know that we're pretty young, Merry, and I don't want to go all soft and gooey. But I'm going to be through with high school this spring, and I've decided I'm not going to college. Seems a waste of time, when I'm going into the garage business with Pops, and I've got enough 'book-larnin' for that. Pops needs me, and I figure I can learn as much by working with him as I could by taking a four-year loaf in college."

"Oh, Tip, I do think that's smart of you," breathed Merry, just exactly as she would have said it if he had said, "I'm planning to dive off the bridge into the river tomorrow at 3." Because to Merry whatever Tip did would be smart! Because Tip did it.

"I'm glad you think so, Merry," said Tip gratefully. "And—well, I know you've got another year at high, and I thought by the time you finished, if you didn't plan to go to college—"

"Oh, I don't, Tip—I wouldn't think of it!"

"Well, then, how would it be if you and I sort of set our sights together? That is, when you get through high, we could be formally engaged and everything?"

Merry's eyes were shining and her young face was all aglow.

Tip's lean, boyish face beneath the straw-colored thatch of slightly curly, thickly crisp hair was radiant, and his blue eyes were warm and tender.

"You do, Merry? Gee, that's great. You've always been my girl, Merry—I think you're swell," he said huskily, and took off his class ring and offered it hesitantly. "Will you wear this, Merry, until we can persuade your folks and mine that it'll be all right for me to give you one with a diamond in it?"

* * *

MERRY held up her little paw, grubby from the day's activities at school. The nails were embarrassing to her, for no matter how she tried, she couldn't quite manage not to bite them in moments of stress. And Tip slipped the ring on her finger, where it hung loosely.

"You're sweet, Merry. I'm pretty crazy about you," he said huskily.

"I love you, too, Tip," she told him shyly.

Awkward, young, abashed, he bent his blond head and kissed her, and for a moment they sat looking at each other with shining eyes. And then, crazily, the most absurd shyness swept over her and she fumbled with the door and said hurriedly, "I'd better go. Dad's home. I see his car. They don't like me to be late for supper."

"Your dad's frantic, Merry. One of the best. And your mother, too. Gee-gosh, isn't it great our parents are such close friends? You know something, Merry? You and I are going to be exactly like them; they've been married for 20-odd years and they are still in love and still devoted. I don't think I could take it if we had the kind of parents that are always shrieking at each other and maybe getting divorced."

Merry shivered. For in Marshallville, an old-fashioned, rather sedate town, divorce was still a word one did not quite accept.

"Wouldn't it be awful?" she agreed, and smiled at him radiantly. "Well, we don't have to ever worry about divorce in our families Tip—there's never been one in our family as far back as I have read or heard. Nor in yours, either."

Tip smiled tenderly at her.

"And we'll see to it that we keep the record clean, won't we?"

"Oh, yes, Tip!"

He kissed her, came around the car to help her climb over the door, carried her heavy pile of school books up to the front door of the big mellow old-fashioned white frame house, and there in the autumn dusk, he said softly, "Be seein' you, dream boat."

"Be seein' you," she answered lightly and was gone.

MERRY stood just inside the big front door until the protesting clamor of the Struggle-Buggy died away and then she heaved a long, happy sigh, and came out of her happy dream to listen with incredulous ears to the sound of a furious word battle going on in the living room.

Dazed, she moved to the door of the living room and stood there, staring and wide-eyed.

It was a big, handsome, well decorated room. The furnishings were old and well loved and polished to a satin smoothness. The draperies of chintz were harmonized with the slip covers and with flower prints framed in bamboo against the soft green walls. It was a charming, restful room that Merry had always taken more or less for granted. It was part of home and that was that.

But now she was sharply conscious of the room as the back-

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

ONE of the nicest compliments I ever received came to me today from Mrs. Helen L. Hart of Hollywood, Calif.

"It is with sincere regret that I read about your illness, she writes. "But surprisingly enough your column has become increasingly more interesting since you had your attack.

BRANDIES

"So many people become bitter from illness, and their ihner feelings are made evident in their attitude toward life, people and conditions.

"You are like the man next door, a kind and respected neighbor, a well-loved friend, unbiased, keen and sincere."

Don't ever think that such a compliment is not sincerely appreciated.

It is such a relief from some of the other letters that come to my desk—and I am sure to every columnist's desk. (Only yesterday a dear, old lady informed me that I am one of the most ignorant persons in the world, because I wrote that I don't know what is meant by "federalizing the United Nations." She explained it all to me and now I know less about it than I did before.)

* *

It seems to me that if illness teaches you anything at all it teaches you the unimportance of yourself.

And once you learn how unimportant you are you stop worrying about yourself and begin to enjoy each new day as a gift from Heaven.

Mrs. Hart writes that so many people become bitter from illness, and show it in their attitude toward life, people and conditions.

But why should they? I am sure—and this has been corroborated by many physicians—that most of our illnesses come from our own disregard of the simple rules of living.

A FRIEND of mine was a notorious hog.

He overate, overdrank, underslept and did about everything a human being is supposed not to do.

He developed ulcers, was operated on, had half of his stomach removed and now is on a most rigorous diet and general regimen.

To hear him talk today, you would think that he is the most abused individual in the whole wide world.

The doctors know nothing in his opinion.

Being a bachelor, he used to have a lot of women around him. Now that he can't dance, drink and stay up late any more—well, you know the rest.

And what does this poor, lonesome fellow say now? "Women are no darn good! They only go with you for what they get out of you."

Take my own illness. For years the doctors (and my wife) had been telling me to slow up, to take it easy, to eat slowly, not to worry.

"Money isn't everything," my wife used to say, and, my supercilious reply was "Name something else."

Get bitter by illness? Because Nature has at last forced us to do the things which she requested and begged us to do many years ago?

I just turned on the radio. Someone is singing "Oh, what a beautiful morning." So let us enjoy it.

IN NAMING McKELLAR

South Wins Battle

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Southern Democrats in the Senate brought their revolt against President Truman's Civil Rights program to the battle scene on Capitol Hill even before the present session opened, when they elected Kenneth W. McKellar of Tennessee as president pro tempore over Millard Tydings of Maryland by the narrow margin of two votes. It was almost entirely a battle of the Blue against the Gray.

The Tennessean's age, ill health and irascibility make him unfit to preside over the upper chamber, and so his colleagues realize. Indeed, it was thought that his fisticuffs with two newspapermen within the last few weeks would have swung enough votes to defeat him. He has also fought both the Roosevelt and Truman administrations on the Tennessee Power Authority.

TUCKER

As chairman of the Appropriations Committee, he has cantankerously withheld funds wanted by the White House for numerous pet projects. He is hardly the ideal presiding officer for a body committed to the liberal reforms which Mr. Truman pledged in his recent campaign.

BATTLE: It is true that other minor factors figured in the contest. Older members, especially from the South, do not like to violate the seniority rule lest the precedent be used against them some day.

Although a brilliant legislator when he overcomes a certain streak of laziness, Mr. Tydings has a sharp personality and a caustic tongue. He also travels too much in "high society."

Nevertheless, it was a straight-out battle over the Civil Rights issue which decided the issue, and for the following reasons:

COMMITTED: The Senate leadership, which consists of two men chosen only after consultation with President Truman, are Northerners strongly committed to the Civil Rights program. As a matter of fact, without the colored vote in their respective commonwealths, they could not be elected to Congress.

The big floor boss is bulky, handsome and likable Scott W. Lucas of Illinois. His assistant will be Senator Francis J. Myers of Pennsylvania, who was chairman of the convention platform committee at Philadelphia which framed a Civil Rights plank decidedly unpalatable to the men of Dixie.

Although not so blunt as the substitute forced through on the floor by Senator Humphrey of Minnesota, it was bad enough, in the opinion of the Dixiecrats.

PROMISED: Both these men have promised the White House to use all their influence to obtain enactment of measures against the poll tax, lynching and segregation. They must make every effort in that direction or face a dangerous loss of support in such cities as Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Chicago.

Now, had a Marylander been elected to sit in the chair in lieu of the Vice-President, with power of ruling on recognition of speakers and other questions pertinent to debate on the Civil Rights question, the South would have been outmaneuvered completely.

DISAPPOINTED: The fact that Senator Barkley is Vice-President and the ordinary occupant of the chair does not affect this parliamentary situation. For one thing, he will have to support the White House on this issue.

Moreover, the V.P. sits on the rostrum only an hour or so during sessions. This will be particularly true of the Kentuckian, in view of the White House plan to use him as liason man and legislative quarterback.

Mr. McKellar's age and poor health will not permit him to preside for long periods. But, as president pro tempore, he will have the right to summon any Senator to take his place. During the debate over Civil Rights, it is expected that he will yield the chair only to members who will use their power as presidin officer to aid the South.

The very fact that the Dixiecrats would elevate such a man as Mr. McKellar suggests that those who voted for Mr. Truman because of his Civil Rights stand will be disappointed over the outcome of this historic struggle.

ECONCILICAL: The very Senators who voted for Mr. McKellar left the caucus chamber to relay a humorous yarn on why the "old man" insisted on running for the office. For a while, it was understood that he would not attempt the strain of keeping the Senate under control.

But, according to this anecdote, the economical Mr. McKellar decided to trade in his old car for a new model. Upon talking with the automobile dealers, however, he discovered that the transaction would cost him $1,000. It was then, according to his associates, that he changed his mind about running.

The Senate president pro tempore rates an expensive limousine and chauffeur at Uncle Sam's expense.

Mathematicians report the discovery of a new and entirely incomprehensible geometric shape. If this turns out to be the shape of things to come, we shall not be greatly surprised.

Does it always pay to be honest? A man found a handbag with considerable money in it and returned it to its owner, and several weeks later she hauled off and married him.

It's strange that the physicists don't make an effort to determine how the hanger-on girl passenger on a motorcycle manages to violate the laws of gravity, centrifugal force, momentum and acceleration.

To place the likeness of Ben Franklin, famed exponent of thrift, on our highly inflated half dollar of today is the height of incongruity.

"According to the judgment of a court, the sense of smell is an asset worth $3,000." Perhaps so, except during an election year, when it is a distinct liability.

OTHER LEGISLATION PUSHED

Civil Rights Fight Is Delayed

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON—As far as civil rights legislation is concerned the Democratic leadership in Congress has adopted the policy that discretion is the better part of valor.

Nothing is expected along this front until well along in the present session of Congress despite President Truman's reiterated demand in his message for his civil rights program which he described as "among the highest purposes of government" and added "I stand squarely behind those proposals."

STOKES

Delay is dictated by practical strategical reasons relating to the rest of the President's comprehensive legislative program and the matter of timing to get the best over-all results, that is, to get as much of the program on the statute books as early as possible.

Would Avoid Filibuster

The key to the civil rights program is the filibuster weapon that southern Democrats hold in the Senate. The first thing necessary then is to disarm the southerners. Numerous proposals to limit debate to eliminate endless filibustering were submitted in the early days of this session.

But, as southerners demonstrated in the last Congress, it is possible under present senate rules to filibuster even a motion to take up a proposal to limit debate. The Senate Democratic leadership has decided that it does not want its victory session to begin with a protracted filibuster on the civil rights issue which would not only accentuate the schisms in party ranks and stir up presently latent bitterness, but also would hold back other parts of the President's program.

So an attack on the filibuster will be delayed, and consequently the civil rights program which is dammed up behind it.

Under legislative strategy now devised, it is the administration's objective to get as much of its social welfare programs as possible on the statute books as soon as possible. The chief obstacle to this phase of the program was the veto power of the house rules committee and the balance of power held by southern conservatives on legislative committees. Both have been corrected.

This will open the way for early action on such measures as the long-range housing bill and the federal aid to the education bill, both of which passed the Senate in the last Congress only to be bottled up in the House, and both of which have been re-introduced in the senate in the new Congress and slated for early consideration.

The way for repeal of the Taft-Hartley act and for increase of minimum wages and expansion of social security also should be eased by procedural reforms in the House and increase of administration members on House and Senate committees. The President's proposed health insurance bill, an important part of his social welfare program, is headed for trouble and delay, but enactment of the other measures will make an impressive record and redeem pledges to labor which was such an important factor in the election. Measures for the benefit of farmers, who turned the tide in key midwestern states, also will be pushed ahead.

Compromise Plan Talked

There is another avenue to a partial civil rights program other than elimination of the filibuster. That is a compromise proposed by some southern senators to permit passage of anti-poll tax and anti-lynching bills if the fair employment practices commission bill, F.E.P.C., is dropped.

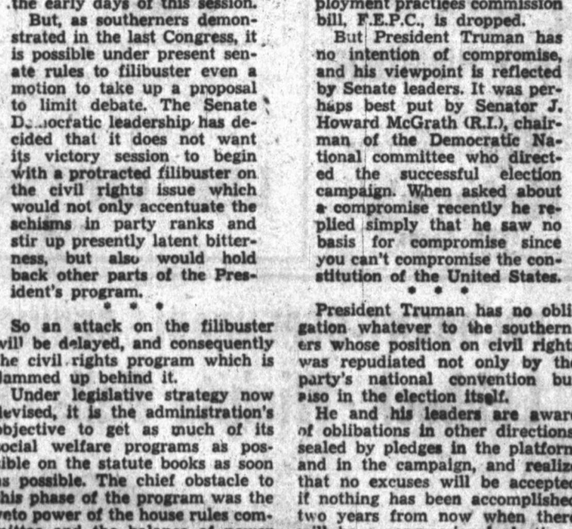

But President Truman has no intention of compromise, and his viewpoint is reflected by Senate leaders. It was perhaps best put by Senator J. Howard McGrath (R.I.), chairman of the Democratic National committee who directed the successful election campaign. When asked about a compromise recently he replied simply that he saw no basis for compromise since you can't compromise the constitution of the United States.

President Truman has no obligation whatever to the southerners whose position on civil rights was repudiated not only by the party's national convention but also in the election itself.

He and his leaders are aware of oblibations in other directions, sealed by pledges in the platform and in the campaign, and realize that no excuses will be accepted if nothing has been accomplished two years from now when there will be a congressional election.

TO: JAMES A. BENNETT, and if dead, his Unknown Heirs; John C. C. BENNETT, and if dead, his Unknown Heirs; WILL BENNETT, and if dead, his Unknown Heirs; NANCY A. BENNETT, and if dead, her Unknown Heirs; FRANK BENNETT, and if dead, his Unknown Heirs; JEFFIE NEWTON, and if dead, her Unknown Heirs; ELLA BENNETT, a widow, or if she be dead, her Unknown Heirs; ETHEL MCCLOD and husband, W. C. MCLEOD, also known as ETHEL MCCLOUD and husband, W. C. MCCLOUD, and if either or both of them be dead, then their Unknown Heirs; HAZEL SHERILDS, and her Unknown husband, if she be married, and if either or both of them be dead, then their Unknown Heirs; and ARDELE BENNETT, a widow, or if she be dead, her Unknown Heirs, Defendants, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to appear before the Honorable 99th District Court of Lubbock County at the Court House thereof, in Lubbock, Texas, at or before 10 o'clock A. M. of the first Monday next after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being the 21 day of February, A. D., 1949, then and there to answer Plaintiff's Petition filed in said Court, on the 7 day of January A. D. 1949, in this cause, Numbered 16449 on the docket of said court and styled D. MOXLEY, Plaintiff, vs. MRS. BERTHA WILLIAMSON, a widow, H. L. CAPPLEMAN, JODIE MCDONALD and husband, C. A. (CHARLIE) MCDONALD, R. C. NEWTON and LUBBOCK INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT, et al, Defendants.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to wit:

January 1, 1949, Plaintiff was in lawful possession of Lot Twenty-three (23) in Block Seventy-nine (79) of the Overton Addition to the City of Lubbock, Lubbock County, Texas. Plaintiff alleges title under three, five and ten year statute of Limitation.

On January 2, 1949, Defendants unlawfully entered and dispossessed plaintiff of above described lot. Plaintiff prays for title and possession of above described lot and any other relief to which he may appear entitled, as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's Petition on file in this suit.

The officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law, and make due returns as the law directs. If citation is not served within ninety days after date of issuance, it shall be returned unserved.

Issued and given under my hand and the Seal of said Court, at office in Lubbock, Texas, this the 7 day of January, A. D. 1949.

(SEAL)

Attest:

MARKET GOES UP

NEW YORK, Jan. 11. (AP)—A slow pull ahead in late trading wiped out or trimmed earlier losses in the stock market today.

Turnover amounted to only 716,000 shares, one of the slowest sessions in months.

Price changes either way were mostly fractional. The market followed a downward course during the first half of the day but demand perked up enough toward the close to eliminate or pare outside losses. Some issues finished at the top marks of the session.

Dome Mines, largest U. S. producer of the Yellow Metal, closed ¼ higher at 13⅛ and Alaska Juneau added ⅛ at 3⅝. Up a point or more were Homestake Mining at 37⅛ and McIntyre Porcupine at 46⅝.

Gold issues created a puzzle for market analysts last month when prices advanced in response to an overnight step-up in demand.

Consolidated Vultee gained ⅝ at 10⅝ soon after an Air Force announcement of a change in its procurement plans which affected the company.

Others higher included U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, General Motors, Studebaker, Firestone, Schenley, Consolidated Natural Gas, Kennecott Copper, American Can, Du Pont, Standard Oil (NJ), Superior Oil of California (up 3), and United Air Lines.

In the minus column were Sears Roebuck, Oliver Corp., Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Western Union, General Electric, Westinghouse Electric, U. S. Gypsum, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Texas Co., and Transcontinental and Western Air.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks remained at 65.6, with the industrial component a little higher and the rails a trifle down.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Jan. 11 (AP) — Advances in all futures were scored at the board of trade today, with soybeans showing the sharpest advance. Reports of increases in first quarter allocations of soybeans brought buying by cash houses.

The nearby wheat contract spurted under buying said to be hedge lifting against sales to Norway and Brazil. Mills were also buyers.

Corn and oats gained some strength from other grains, although advances in those pits were very moderate. Lard pushed upward on reports of additional authorizations to Austria.

At the finish wheat was ¼ to 2 cents higher than the previous close, May $2.36⅛-⅜. Corn was unchanged to ⅛ higher, May $1.46⅛-¼. Oats were ⅛ to ⅜ higher, May 71⅛-⅜. Rye was 1¾ higher, May $1.69⅞. Soybeans were 4 cents to 4½ higher, March $2.51¼-½. Lard was 17 to 25 cents a hundredweight higher, January $15.52-55.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP) — Cotton futures turned firm today on short covering trade buying. Additional ECA cotton credit and predictions that export for the full season will come up to 4,000,000 bales, or almost double the previous year, aided sentiment. Traders also felt that with the administration messages to Congress out of the way, some retarding influences in the market had been removed.

The ECA announced an additional credit of $16,700,000 to Great Britain for purchases of American cotton, estimated by traders to cover almost 100,000 bales.

Monday China was reported in the market for a similar amount of cotton.

Cotton futures rallied sharply into new high ground for the day on a broad covering movement in late dealings.

Organized Reserve In Lubbock Area Shows Strength Decrease

Strength of the Organized Reserve corps in the Lubbock district of 20 counties is decreasing, Capt. Jessie Williams of Amarillo said Tuesday while visiting the ORC office in the basement of Lubbock county courthouse.

Numerous men were enlisted in the Organized Reserve corps for three years from August, 1945, to February, 1946, and those enlistments now are expiring, the captain, who commands the ORC in an area extending from Sweetwater to Dalhart, pointed out.

Of those whose enlistments are expiring, "we are losing approximately 50 per cent," he estimated. About half are re-enlisting.

There now are approximately 1,300 enlisted men and approximately 500 officers in the Lubbock district.

New Members Named

Men who have joined the ORC, 469th composite group, since Dec. 10 include Walter A. Woods, sergeant, finance, Crosbyton; Isaac A. Johnson, master-sergeant, corps of engineers, Levelland; J. R. Splawn, sergeant, corps of engineers, Abernathy; Tom C. Condron, master sergeant, coast artillery; Thomas H. Weir, sergeant, signal corps, Slaton; J. W. Vanderford, sergeant, coast artillery, Levelland; Billy T. Byrne, corporal 4, 710 Ave. M, Lubbock; Harold L. Key, sergeant, coast artillery, Morton; Bobbie D. Richison, sergeant, quartermaster corps, 113 N. Ave. V, Lubbock; Gaylon F. Mankins, private, armored, 3102 Thirty-fourth; Morman Gandy, master sergeant, quartermaster corps, Lamesa Star route 4; Franklin J. Kennedy, private, engineers, Lubbock route 1; Leroy D. Lane, private first class, quartermaster corps, Lubbock Army Air field; Harry E. Blenden, sergeant, signal corps, Lockney; J. R. Robertson, master sergeant, staff and administrative, Plains; Alvin L. Gouge, private first class, quartermaster corps, Lubbock; Jessie A. Burcham, private first class, field artillery, Post, and Don L. Sealy, master sergeant, coast artillery, Snyder.

Expressing interest in more reenlistments in the ORC, Captain Williams said men are eligible for recall to active duty in the grade held in the reserve and that time spent in the reserve counts on longevity for pay purposes, amounting to five per cent increase for every three-year period.

Emphasis is being placed on reenlistments and that is the main purpose of his visit here, the captain stated.

Men in the reserve in this district who have gone on active duty recently include Hubert Masters, corporal 4, of Post, who went to Camp Hood; Jack C. Hays, private first class, of Lubbock, who went to Fort Dix, N. J., and William L. V. Hale, who has been on duty in the ORC office as master sergeant on reserve status and went to Fort Riley, Kas., as a first lieutenant.

BABY'S NECK BROKEN

WEST WITTERING, England (AP)—Three-year-old Beth Gray tried to follow a kitten through the posts of a wooden fence. Her head got stuck and she struggled to free herself. She was found dead, wedged in the fence with a broken neck.

Beware Of Romance

ground of the two people who stood facing each other. Susan, her mother, was not quite so tall as Merry, pleasantly plump, and had neat brown hair with unashamed streaks of gray here and there. She was wearing a neat, crisp, dark blue housegown. Susan's face, that was ordinarily touched by only the lightest of make-up, was an ugly brick red and her eyes were blazing. Her mouth was thin, and out of it came little gasping cries of fury and shocked disbelief.

Dad was—Dad. Tall, distinguished, good-looking. Crisply tailored, the picture of an up-to-date, progressive, mentally and physically alert man. But now his face was tired and old-looking and there was a sick look in his eyes. And he was watching Susan as though he had never seen her before in his life, and saying nothing.

"Mother!" Merry's voice was shaken with terror. "Dad! What in the world—"

Susan whirled about, and to Merry she looked like a stranger.

"Well, Merry," Susan flashed, her voice thin and shrill and shaking. "You're just in time to hear the news. Your father has decided that he's bored with us, you and me, and wants a divorce."

THE word struck Merry like a rock thrown straight at her quivering heart. She dodged instinctively as she would have dodged an evil missile, and her hand clung to the edge of the door and she whispered incredulously: "A divorce?"

"Now that I've worked myself into a homely old woman for him, giving him the best years of my life, bringing up his child, taking care of his house, helping him to become a success in business, he's found some cheap little flirt he wants to take up with."

"Susan!" Kinian Carson's voice cracked like a whip. "Control yourself! I will not allow you—"

Susan whirled on him like the spitting cat she seemed.

"You won't allow me? You won't allow me? Do you think for one moment you have any more power over me? I'll spread her name to the whole world. I'll see to it everybody knows just what a vile, wicked, filthy creature she is."

"You don't know anything about her." His voice came through clenched teeth.

"I know she's a no-good. Any woman who plots and connives to steal a husband from his family."

"Nobody stole me. Don't talk like a fool, Susan" Kin's voice grated furiously. "You and I haven't had a real marriage, not in years, and you know it. Our marriage fell apart ages ago. You are so busy with your house, with your domestic problems, you haven't had time to give a thought to me, or to Merry either."

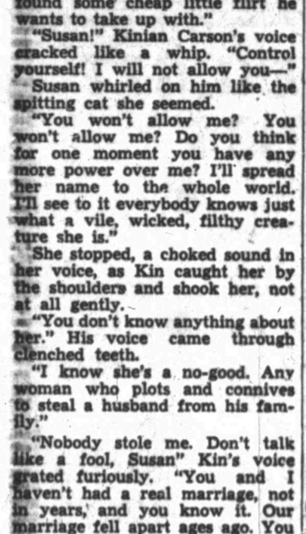

"That's a lie! I've never had a thought for anything but you and Merry."

"You let your mind stop growing when you settled down to having the most immaculate house in town. You stopped being a companion to either Merry or me."

"Oh, so that's going to be your plea, is it? The wife is to blame! She neglected you, she didn't understand you; and so this cheap little wanton—"

Kin's hand raised swiftly and struck her. Not hard. A mere tight if stinging slap across the cheek. But to Merry, dazed and uncomprehending and shocked to her very toes, the blow resounded like the crack of doom.

Revenue Head Offers Help On Tax Forms

Forms to be used in filing of income tax returns will be mailed upon request, L. B. Barkley, internal revenue chief of the Lubbock division, said Tuesday.

Persons wishing such forms may go to the internal revenue office on the second floor of Lubbock National building to get them or may telephone or write to ask that forms be mailed to them, he said.

The internal revenue office is open from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. Mondays through Fridays and is closed on Saturdays. Persons needing help on Jan. 15, which will fall on Saturday, will have thrgugh next Monday to obtain such help, said Barkley.

Reminder was given that Form W-2, the withholding statement showing amount of wages paid and income tax withheld, must be attached to the U. S. income tax return. When returns are filed without an attached W-2, the return must be sent back to the person filing it so it can be completed. it was stated.

Personnel of the internal revenue office is aiding persons in preparing income tax returns, but still is having to limit help on larger returns, said Barkley.

Colorado Springs Man Jailed After Taping Baby's Mouth

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Jan. 11.—(INS)—A 22-year-old Colorado Springs man was in city jail today after his wife told police he had taped their baby's mouth to keep him from crying, held the infant over a stove "to warm him up," and splashed cold water over the child's bare back.

The baby, four-month-old William Paul McCracken II, was hospitalized with pneumonia.

The mother, Mrs. William Paul McCracken, told Police Chief I. B. (Dad) Bruce that her husband had threatened to kill her on the night of Nov. 22, with a butcher knife, but that she fled the tourist court where the family was living at that time.

Firemen Sunday rushed to the McCracken room in a hotel when the baby was found strangling, and subsequent reports of the father's treatment of the child led to his arrest. Firemen revived the infant after using a resuscitator for nearly half an hour.

Mrs. McCracken also told police that her husband attempted to take his own life Dec. 12, 1947, two days after their marriage, and tried to persuade her that she should commit suicide.

COLUMBIA CITY, Ind. (AP)—A white raccoon was treed and killed by Harley Zumbrun on his farm. He said it was the first albino raccoon he had seen in years of hunting experience.

Musical Group Plays For Optimist Club

Two selections by a woodwind quintet composed of Texas Tech students featured the program at Tuesday's weekly Optimist's club luncheon in Hotel Lubbock, at which a large turnout of some 70 members and guests were present.

Members of the quintet included Billy McClatchy, clarinet; Beryl Harris, bassoon; Norma Hammer, flute; Paul Huntington, oboe; and J. R. McEntyre, French horn.

Mrs. C. H. Scales, pianist who accompanies club members in weekly pre-luncheon group singing, expressed her thanks to the club for its Christmas gift to her.

Three guests, Howard Stroud, E. T. Perhamus and "Cowboy" Kyle, and a charter member of the club, Bill Wylie, were introduced.
