Collingsworth County has been accepted for the Sears Swine Program, to be set up among 4-H Club boys, county agent Bob Lynch announced this week.

Under the first year's plan, money to buy five purebred gilts and a boar has been allotted the county. Lynch will choose the pigs and distribution will be made between May 1 and 15.

He indicated at least part of these registered pigs will come from local herds.

Each boy receiving a gilt will return one to the program from his first litter, and the mother hog will then be his property. The pig will go to another 4-H boy and the program will be continued.

Boys wishing to participate this year should make application to the county agent and the final selections will be made by a committee.

The five gilts will be exhibited together at the Collingsworth County Free Fair in September, and a prize awarded the top animal. She, along with the boar, will be exhibited at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo.

A heavy litter contest will be held among the five boys having the Sears gilts, Lynch said, with a prize going to the

The boys trip is sponsored by the Salt Fork Soil Conservation District.

The National Land Judging Contest is sponsored by Oklahoma State University and is held at the experiment station at Oklahoma City.

This is an invitational event, and the Collingsworth team was asked to participate after it placed third in the state 4-H land judging contest at College Station in June 1960.

Students to Witness Safety Demonstration

Students of this county's four schools on Thursday, May 4, will see for themselves how the false impression and sense of security that a driver of a modern vehicle gets, can and does, often lead into the danger zone and trouble, when they participate in a series of driving tests, Dee Burba, manager of the Collingsworth County Farm Bureau, announced.

The tests, which will be in two parts, will be given under the direction of Joe Smetana, Director of Safety of the Texas Farm Bureau Safety Department, and law enforcement officers.

The schedule includes: Dodson, 9 a.m.; Wellington 10:50 a.m.; Quail 1 p.m. and Samnorwood 2:30 p.m. The film and demonstration last one hour, Burba said.

The first section will be a short talk on traffic safety and the showing of the much-talked-about movie "Death on the Highway," while the second will be a demonstration on a street nearby each school.

High point of the demonstration will come when driving tests are made with various students and faculty members in the specially equipped car. An electric detonator which is mounted on the front bumper of the car will fire yellow paint bullets to indicate the distance required to stop the car in an emergency.

The driver being tested will be signalled to stop by the report of the first shell. The second will be fired automatic-

First Baptist Church in New Building Program

Members of First Baptist Church on Sunday April 23 voted by a large majority to enter a long-range building program that will end with the construction of a new church costing an estimated $175,000.

The action Sunday closes a one-year preliminary study by the church's planning and survey committee, headed by the Rev. Glenn Hickey, pastor.

Business Planned

Greenbelt to Hold Annual Meeting Fri.

The annual meeting of the Greenbelt Electric Cooperative Inc. will be held Friday, April 28 at 2 p.m. in the community building, George Henry, manager, has announced. Approximately 300 from the five-county area served by Greenbelt are expected to attend.

At this meeting, presided over by A. J. Garland of Clarendon, president, members will hear a report of the year's accomplishments, adopt resolutions, hear reports, and name three directors for the coming year.

Both resolutions this year concern changes in the cooperative's by-laws. The first will propose an amendment to the by-laws which will eliminate proxy voting. The second resolution, if approved, would require a vote of two-thirds of the total membership of the cooperative to sell more than 10 per cent of the cooperative's property.

Judge Luther Gribble will read the minutes of the 1960 meeting, and there will be reports from the nominating committee, the president's report, a financial report and the manager's report.

This year's entertainment program will be by the Quail Chorus, just back from its first national appearance, before the National Federation of Music Clubs in Kansas City. Mrs. Lowell Wells will direct the group.

One director from each of three districts will be elected. Candidates from District 3 are Selba Rainey, Fred Johnson and Odus Offutt, all of the Samnorwood area; District 6: A. J. Garland and Hubert Rhodes, both of Route 1, Clarendon.

Albert Motsenbocker

Dodson Boy Top CJC Graduate

Albert Motsenbocker of Dodson is valedictorian of this year's graduating class at Clarendon Junior College, with a grade average of 94, Dean Oliver Abel has announced.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Motsenbocker of Dodson, and was also valedictorian of the graduating class there in 1959. He is married to the former Joan Valentine, now a student in Dodson high school.

In CJC, Motsenbocker is a mathematics major.

The second high ranking student in the CJC class of 35 is Jo Ann Edens of Clarendon, with an average of 93. She was unable to complete high school and was admitted to Clarendon Junior College on individual approval. Her husband is bus superintendent for Clarendon public schools and college, and they have three children.

"The first steps will include the improvement of parking facilities and raising funds for a new building," he said.

"The fund-raising campaign will probably be projected over a period of two or three years, and no construction is planned until the end of that time," the Rev. Mr. Hickey explained.

"The preliminary plans call for the building of the auditorium and education space on the church's West Avenue property."

First Baptist Church already owns all of the block facing West Avenue that is south of the Post Office, as well as that part of the block fronting on East Avenue that is south of Strongs Flowers.

The auditorium will be planned to seat approximately 525 persons, with provisions for the addition of a balcony at a later date, the pastor said in outlining plans.

These also call for approximately 6,500 square feet of education space to provide for the church's nursery, primary, and beginners' departments, and adult classrooms, the church offices and other facilities.

Rev. Hickey estimated that six months will be required for actual construction.

"Made in America" by Neighbors and Friends

The Hereford City Commission set a precedent this week in which the entire citizenship may well take pride. The commission paid "just a little bit more" and purchased American-made, rather than foreign-made pipe.

At least three important phases are involved in the transaction. First, if Americans do not purchase American-made goods, how can we expect others to buy from us? Second, the quality of the American pipe, in the opinion of our commissioners, is sufficiently superior to justify the two or three per cent higher price. Third, our city officials set an example which most of us as individuals may well follow.

Today, we see on every hand an influx of imported products and materials, all based on lower price, and frequently of inferior construction and materials. Basically, most of these imports are produced lower in price because the people in competitive nations have extremely low living standards and often work for less than $1-a-day salaries. Needless to say, they contribute practically nothing to our schools, the maintenance of our armed forces, or the development of U. S. Missiles.

Through automation, the American manufacturer has been able to compete with these low salary scales and poor living standards . . . and still pay American workmen good salaries. Today, however, the bind is becoming tighter—and we find ourselves hard-pushed to compete. Japan, Italy, Switzerland and Mexico are making tremendous inroads into our national production schedules. Inflation and high federal taxes contribute toward placing the American manufacturer and laborer in an even more precarious position—and proposed increases in higher wage legislation would be another step in the same direction.

Just as we don't want the American farmer to become a peon, none of us want to see a living standard at $1-a-day levels for the American workman. Likewise, it seems impossible to operate our government in the "manner to which we are accustomed" with much less tax revenue. It can be done on both counts, of course, but we do not feel that the average American would approve.

It seems only practical that American municipalities, counties, states and other buying subdivisions should give extra consideration to purchasing American-made materials. And just as the City of Hereford led the way, all American citizens should follow.

Generally speaking, any immediate saving on foreign materials will probably be temporary, because such purchase can only increase taxes to offset the overall loss.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where Congress is working on a bill to make federal wards of children whose parents get unemployed and can't support them richly enough to suit Washington.

My let-Sam-do-it neighbor says with socialers to adjust our offspring, TV to immobilize them, and government to feed them, it looks like mere parents can start taking it easy.

Says he sort of likes his kids but it will be handy to let the experts be responsible for them, and when they get thirsty at night, he can just buzz the welfare office to send over a water boy.

I see where Russian airman Garagin followed the script on his long parachute jump and got awarded a bigger apartment for his family and a hug and kiss from Khrushchev.

My psychic neighbor says this news make American boys very reluctant to take a ride into space, on account of what might happen to them at the welcome back party.

Says to reassure our astronauts, the government ought to guarantee that when our first space man comes back to earth, he will not get kissed by some male politician.

I see where some battles of the Civil War will be re-fought this year, as the North seems to feel like the South needs to be reminded they are a conquered people.

But my rebellious neighbor says he notes the re-opening at Ft. Sumter ended up in a Yankee withdrawal with words flying.

Says the South hadn't ought to get blamed for this bad start, though, as the etiquette books are pretty vague about proper form for celebrating a 100th anniversary of getting licked.

I see where our new postmaster general is just like the one we had—he wants a 25 per cent increase in the price of mailing a letter.

But my phonics-flipped neighbor says with about one more generation of look-and-say teaching, nobody can read or write a letter anyhow, so the cost of mailing same won't matter.

Says, though, while some folks are still literate, Congress just might raise postage rates to $1 a letter, so as to discourage this write-to-your-congressman fad, before it leads to total government by correspondence.

I see where a New Jersey taxpayer got a court ruling that he can deduct the expense of family vacations in Florida because his doctor says these trips are good for his health.

My deduct hunter neighbor says his doctor is now prescribing his diet, so maybe he can deduct his grocery bill as medical expense.

Says it seems like the law is pretty liberal about not taxing what is needed to keep us healthy, and he ought to get 100 per cent exemption on his income, because it makes him sick to pay taxes.

I see where it says President Kennedy has told people on the government pay roll to work at their jobs and quit writing books and making speeches for extra gravy.

My revolting neighbor says this is not interfering with these people's Constitutional rights to free speech, because they don't do it for free.

Says, though, if he was running the country he would encourage bureaucrats to take up such hobbies, on account of nobody can waste as much money working at it part time as he can if he is putting his whole soul into it.

Cattle Population Up at '59 Census

The cattle population of Texas was 8,507,658 when the 1959 agricultural census was taken in the fall of that year. This compares with a count of 8,235,535 in the census of 1954. Historical records show that Texas had an all-time high of 9,800,000 cattle in 1891 and dropped to a low of just under 6,000,000 on Jan. 1, 1928.

Texas Fastest Growing Chemical State in 1960

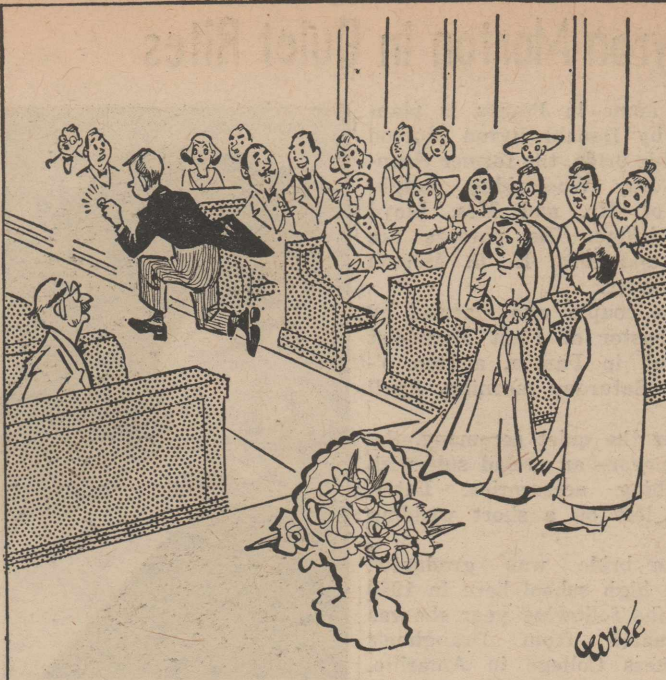

Texas held its rank as the fastest growing chemical state despite the 1960 slackening. Such states as Ohio and California scored big gains, however, as they more than doubled the amount of their completed projects during 1960. Top chemical-producing states are New York and New Jersey, with Texas a close third.

The bulk of the Texas chemical industry is located along the Gulf Coast from the Louisiana border to Brownsville. Several "inland" cities have developed large chemical complexes in recent years, however. Odessa, Longview, Rockdale, Big Spring, and Denver City are a few examples.

Homemaking, Science Join Hands in Careers for Girls Says Dr. Brandau

Careers that combine science and homemaking were outlined by Dr. Edna Brandau, consultant at Texas Woman's University, Denton, at the Future Homemakers Mother - Daughter Banquet Friday evening, April 14.

This is the first joint banquet held by the three FHA chapters of the county, Samnorwood, Quail and Wellington.

Dr. Brandau, whose subject was Homemaking in this Scientific Age, first told the girls that TWU is one of ten colleges doing research on atomic fallout, using rats in its experiments.

"People well nourished will be the ones who will withstand atomic fallout, or heal more rapidly after a fracture," she said.

Urging that boys and girls study nutrition, she added:

"The men believe in scientific feeding of cattle but we are slow to accept scientific feeding of humans."

Dr. Brandau explained the testing services TWU carries out to the cotton industry and other industries. Turning to other ways in which science has entered homemaking, she continued:

"There are now ultrasonic devices to clean fine china and linens. Sooner or later you will be washing dishes by sound . . . it even washes off the egg and lipstick."

Elaine Tate of Samnorwood was mistress of ceremonies and also introduced the special guests of the three chapters. Betty Moseley welcomed the guests and Mrs. Henry Sullivan responded. She told of Dr. Perry Miller, a teacher and lecturer, on tour in Europe, who had to answer if these novels were a true report on civilization in America.

At the end of the talk, a round table discussion followed on present day novels and moving pictures in the United States today.

Highway Death Record Up to 6 During March

The Highway Patrol investigated three rural accidents in Collingsworth county during the month of March, according to Sergeant D. R. Dowdy, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

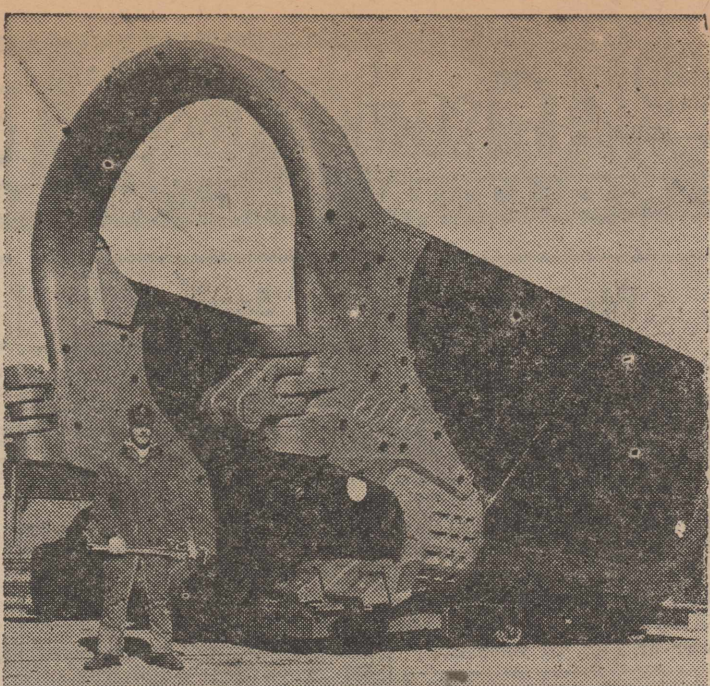

These wrecks accounted for six persons killed, three injured and a property damage of $3,100.

This brings the total for 1961 in this county to six killed, four injured, and a property damage of $3,800.

"Knowing and obeying the traffic laws is a must in traffic safety," the sergeant said. "If all motorists would obey traffic laws, our accidents and fatalities would decrease sharply."

"For instance, the driver of a vehicle about to enter or to cross a highway from a private road or driveway shall yield the right-of-way to all vehicles approaching on said highway. The driver can safely perform this maneuver by waiting until he can enter the roadway without interfering with other vehicles and accelerating immediately to the normal safe driving speed and blend with the flow of traffic in the area," the sergeant explained.

Texas receives more than a quarter billion dollars a year for gas sold in other states.

WHALE OF A BUCKET—A worker in Danville, Ill., looks as though he is about to be gobbled down by a huge drag bucket—the world's largest. It is destined for service in an open pit coal mine in Brazil, where it will take 50-ton gulps.

Welch Injuries Knee in Game

Charles Welch, guard on the North Texas State College Eagles, received an injured right knee during an intersquad game Friday night, April 21.

This was a regular event of Eagle spring training.

Welch, a junior, told his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernice Welch, that it could not yet be determined if the injury will heal of its own accord or if surgery will be necessary later.

Better Beef, Less Cost Asked in '83

Fort Worth.—We need to improve the quality of beef, and to be able to produce it at less cost.

This was the theme of the main speaker's address at the annual convention of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association in 1983, the first time Fort Worth was host to this group of men who six years earlier had joined forces to "work together" for the good and common interests of all stock raisers.

Junior High Second at Track Meet

The Wellington junior high track team placed second in the track meet at Shamrock recently, Coach Harvey Millsap reported.

This meet served as the District 5-AA competition for junior high school, but several teams outside the district attended by invitation.

Childress placed first; Canadian, third; and Shamrock, fourth.

Ike Bruton brought home the only first place, in discus throw, with a distance of 114 feet 7 inches.

Other winners were: 75 yard dash: third, Bobby Hudson, 8 seconds flat; 100 yard dash: Hudson, second with 11.2 seconds, just .1 second behind the winner.

220 yard dash: Chester McLain, third, 26.1 seconds; 440 yard dash: Lynn Wolf, second, with 60 seconds, and Bobby Holtzclaw, third, with 60.2 seconds; and 440 yard relay: Wellington team second, with 52 seconds flat. Team members were Bruton, Ronny Hurst, Glen Homer and Hudson.

In the field events: Hudson was second in shot put with a distance of 41 feet 11 inches and Chester McLain was third with 40 feet 11 inches. McLain was second in the discus throw, with 109½ feet. Bruton placed second in high jump, 5 feet; and in the broad jump Hudson was second, 16 feet 2 inches, and Holtzclaw third at 15 feet 9 inches.

This was the first track meet for the Wellington boys this year, although the other teams had participated in a preliminary meet, Millsap said.

Mrs. Albert Gollighugh and children of Quail visited over the week end in Amarillo in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Gollighugh and family and Mr. and Mrs. John R. Gollighugh and family.

Mr. and Mrs. R. N. McAlister and Selma Lee visited in Mangum over the week end in the home of her sister, Mr. and Mrs. George Terry and Howard.

Families Move from Kelley

Five families are moving or have moved recently from the Kelley community, and four of these concern the family of Mrs. T. J. Lewis, who died recently.

Mrs. Lewis' home became the property of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert McWhorter, who have torn it down and are moving the lumber to Hedrick, Okla., where they will build their home.

This was one of the oldest houses in the county, with part of it built more than 70 years ago. It was added onto at least twice, neighbors report.

Another daughter, Mrs. C. C. Camp, who lived nearby, plans to move her house to Wellington, friends said. Her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Covey, have been living in this house and they have bought the Henry Vaughan house with one acre of land, near Wellington.

Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan, in turn, bought the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Busby in Wellington and have moved in to it.

Mrs. Camp, who was living in a smaller house near her daughter, has sold it to a sister-in-law, Mrs. A. T. Lewis, and she will move it to Hollis.

One other long-time resident left the community some months ago, Mrs. Winifred Vaughan, who bought her home in Wellington.

Daniel Offers Aid on Farm Trailer Bill

Governor Price Daniel today advised Representative Grainger McIlhenny that he would cooperate in every way possible toward enactment of farm trailer legislation which would accomplish the purpose of his original bill, H.B. 59.

"As indicated in my veto message today, the original bill by Representative McIlhenny was limited to relief for farm trailers, and the reasons for my veto applied almost entirely to additional exemptions and amendments added in the House and Senate," Daniel said.

America's Vanishing Gold

From many sources, official and unofficial, we are hearing a great deal about America's vanishing gold. We are told that the United States government retains presently only $17½ billion in gold and for the past three years has been losing gold at the rate of $3½ billion a year. It is evident that if this continues we shall have no gold, or shall have additional foreign liabilities that further obligate whatever gold we have on hand.

We are also told that we already have foreign obligations consisting mostly of short-term government certificates to the tune of $19 billion.

These creditors could also ask for gold in lieu of the certificates they hold. A rush by these creditors could deal us out of gold within a year. All this puts us in double jeopardy. In the first place, we must find a way to stop losing gold so fast, and in the second place we must maintain the confidence of our foreign creditors so that they will not increasingly demand gold.

Touches Many Lives

This is a realistic problem. It is not an imaginary one. If our gold vanishes, we shall have only a managed currency with inflation no longer under control. Preserving our gold is vitally important to the welfare of the American people. There are those who have paid insurance policies for the last 40 years in an attempt to have old age security. There are many wid-paigned to encourage foreign tourists to visit America. All these efforts would help some. It is also possible to make a sizeable reduction in our foreign aid without injustice to the countries involved.

It has been my opinion for some years that we should be lending money to foreign nations instead of merely giving it to them.

If we had been doing so, we now would have money coming in from Japan, England, West Germany, and other foreign countries that are now in better financial position than we are.

It is my conviction that foreign aid ought to be shifted to a business-like basis, with aid given on the basis of a return expected at a later date. Cutting foreign aid where we can afford to do so would help some in relieving the strain on our gold reserves.

Lonnie Roark visited here last week with his mother, Mrs. Lola Lee Roark, as he was en route from Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., to Fort Ord, Calif.

Texas Cattle Population Shifts

Fort Worth—A marked shift occurred in the Texas cattle population between 1954 and 1959, says the census bureau.

Some areas in the Lone Star state have more cattle than five years previously, and some have fewer. More often, however, there was considerable variation within an area with some counties showing decided increases and neighboring counties definite losses.

The 1959 census showed that a 31-county area in far East Texas had a loss of approximately 10% in total cattle population between 1954 and 1959. However, the census does not differentiate between dairy and beef cattle, and much of this decrease may have been in dairy type cattle. Milk cow numbers in this area decreased 30% during the 5-year period.

The majority of counties in the blacklands—an area long considered as one of the top farming sections of the state—showed an increase in cattle numbers and cattle raising there appears to be steadily gaining in popularity.
