Chillicothe To Invade Rocket Field Friday

"It's a big, tough, ball team that the Rockets are tackling Friday night, but under favorable weather conditions, one that the Rockets can handle," Coach Scott McCall told Wellington sports fans this week, as final plans for the game between the Skyrockets and the Chillicothe Eagles fell into shape.

This game is to be played Friday night, October 3, at Rocket Stadium, beginning at 8 o'clock.

The Eagle record this year includes one win and one loss. Opening their season against Bowie, they came out victors by a score of 18 to 6. Their second game, played September 26, took them against the powerful Phillips Blackhawks, whom they held to a 7 to 0 score.

On an average, the Rockets will be outweighed by approximately 15 pounds to a man—a comparison of 154 pounds against slightly more than 169 pounds.

From what could be learned, the Eagles may be expected to engage in a running offense, spiced with short punts.

Coach McCall's Rockets are in good shape, he reported Wednesday at noon. No injuries are holding down his team, and two past victories have made the team eager for Friday's tilt.

"If the weather is bad, it may prove a disadvantage to us, but if the field is dry, we are confident we can hold our own against these visitors," McCall said.

Church Asks City Cooperation

Citizens of Wellington will be asked this week by the Church of the Nazarene to assist them in entertaining some four hundred delegates to the annual District Assembly, which meets here Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Oct. 29, 30, and 31.

"We are needing beds for these delegates and guests, and we feel that we can depend on the people of Wellington to help us in this as they have helped us so generously many times in the past," Rev. Hadley Hall, pastor, said early this week.

Dr. J. B. Chapman, Kansas City, Mo., General Superintendent of the Church of the Nazarene, will attend and preside over the sessions.

This is the annual business meeting of the Abilene District of the Church, and pastors and delegates from 70 churches will be present, the pastor explained.

"On two different occasions, Wellington has entertained this assembly and has done such a splendid job that the officers of the church expressed a desire to return here for this year's conference. We hope to be able to send them away this time with the same good feeling toward the people of Wellington and Collingsworth County," Rev. Hall said.

Cummings Heads Dickens County Teachers Group

Logan Cummings, former county superintendent of Collingsworth County, was elected president of the Dickens County Teachers Association at the opening meeting held in Spur Tuesday evening, September 23.

Mr. Cummings left here July 1 to become superintendent of the Patton Springs School. Mrs. Cummings is also a teacher in the system.

Mr. Cummings will work out all plans relative to the association's membership drive which opens in the near future. Mr. Cummings had previously served as president of the Collingsworth County Teachers Association. Both groups are units of the Texas State Teachers Association.

President Lauds Press

The White House, Washington

Dar Mr. Hardy:

The recurrence of National Newspaper Week should awaken in the hearts and souls of all Americans a renewed determination to defend and maintain and perpetuate the priceless heritage of a free press.

The maintenance of an unfettered press, informed by truth and guided by courage and conscience and wholehearted devotion to the public welfare, is a fundamental obligation of patriotism.

I trust as a result of the forthcoming observance that Americans everywhere will have a renewed sense of the incalculable blessing which a free press confers. It must be maintained against all assaults.

Very sincerely yours,

Glynn Moore Receives Private Pilots License

Glynn Moore of Wellington recently completed a CAA pilot's training, and has been granted his private pilot's license. Moore was one of seven completing this civilian aviation course at Childress to be granted a license.

He had completed 37 hours of flying when he received his pilot's license.

Moore began his CAA course in April, and completed the ground work June 30. At that time he was one of nine students from a class of 50 to be granted a scholarship for additional training.

Moore plans to apply for an advanced training course, and after completing that, to join the air corps, he said this week.

Quail's Future Farmer poultry judging team Monday won top honors in that division of the judging contests at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo, in competition with teams from the Texas Panhandle, Oklahoma, and New Mexico.

Making up this year's team were Orville Atkinson, Carl Wischkaemper, and Troy Cass. Atkinson and Wischkaemper also won individual high honors.

The team was trained by G. S. Dowell, vocational agriculture teacher of Quail High School.

While no complete list of winners of the Tri-State Fair had been received here Wednesday, products shown in the Collingsworth County booth had already received three first place ribbons and one fourth place, G. S. Dowell of Quail, reported Tuesday morning.

Winning items included cuscumbers, grown by Homer Ingram; field peas shown by Troy Cass; and sweet clover shown by Carl Wischkaemper. The fourth place award went to Billy Dennis on pumpkins.

This was the largest number of first place ribbons to be received by any single county booth on display, Mr. Dowell said.

Over 7,000 Visit Fair

As fine a County Fair as could have been put on!

This has been the verdict of Collingsworth County men and women since the second annual Fair closed in Wellington Saturday night.

More than 7,000 persons inspected the exhibits displayed at and near the Mears Chevrolet Co., Ben Hurst, Fair Association president, estimated early this week.

More than 600 entries were listed in the various divisions of the fair, and the premiums awarded winners of the event passed the $800 mark, Mrs. Guy Clay, secretary, revealed today, as premiums on most of these events had been called for.

"Although we were handicapped because of the shortness of time in which we had to work up this Fair, every person connected with this feels that this County Fair was truly representative of Collingsworth. The feed and cotton and vegetables and fruit were typical of what is being raised all through this area this year, and the livestock is an indication of what this county is really raising," Mr. Hurst said.

"Our rodeo, featuring amateur ropers and riders, gave stockmen and stock lovers of the county and Wellington a chance to take part in an entertainment that is typical of this western country," he added.

Booths from practically every community in the county, and from two Donley County communities were on display in the agricultural division of the Fair.

Attracting considerable attention in the livestock division were the Palomino horses, seen this Sheriff Paul Bell attended the North Texas-Southern Oklahoma Peace Officers Association in Altus, Oklahoma, Monday.

Principal speakers at this meeting were Paul Kitchens, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Dallas, and Mae Q. Williams, attorney general of Oklahoma.

Both men discussed sabotage and espionage in the United States. It was pointed out that while acts of this type appear occasionally in the Eastern states, the Federal Bureau of Investigation is coping with it, and that none has yet appeared in this area.

ELUSIVE LARRY SANDERS

Local People Attend Defense Stamp Meeting

Mrs. Deskins Wells, district committeewoman, and R. F. Curry, county chairman, of the defense bond and stamp sales, met in Amarillo with 150 other district leaders to map plans for their work.

The main talk of the meeting was made by Frank Scofield, state administrator. Aiming his remarks to the various campaign leaders of the Panhandle, Mr. Scofield said that through their efforts almost everyone is going to buy a bit of America and thereby be encouraged to put their hearts and souls into the defense of the country.

He asserted Texas is taking the lead in the bond and stamp program, adding that a state-wide plan for student savings programs has been worked out. Governor Stevenson has set November 3 to 11 as school defense stamp week. Detailed plans for the week will be announced later, Mr. Curry said on his return from Amarillo.

In addition to the principal address, inspiring talks were made by Congressman Gene Worley, Byron Singleton, district chairman, S. B. Whittenburg, Amarillo Times publisher, Charles Rogers, school superintendent, John McCarty, editor of the Amarillo News, and

East To West Pavement Is Due In 1942

Surfacing of Highway 203 from Quail east to the intersection of Highway 88 has been approved by the State Highway Commission, Judge C. C. Bishop was notified Saturday.

Preliminary field work will be begun within the next two weeks, but actual surfacing will not be started before 1942.

This program of work will come out of the Federal allocation of funds to the 1942 Secondary Highway Program, Judge Bishop said.

"This will give Collingsworth County a surfaced road from east to west through the county in 1942," the county judge reminded. "And except for only a few miles in Donley County, it will give a surfaced route from Amarillo to Oklahoma City which is as short if not shorter than Highway 66."

"We feel that if it had not been for the continued efforts of officials of the county, and the interest of the people of this territory, we would not have been able to receive this approval," Judge Bishop pointed out.

"The work authorized consists of grading and surfacing, and we are instructed to proceed with the preparation of the plans for this project. Preliminary field work will be started as soon as the engineering personnel can be spared from work now under way, which will be within the next two weeks," Palmer Massey, assistant district engineer told Judge Bishop Saturday.

"Our Austin office advises that the program will be transmitted to the Public Roads Administration at an early date, and we will be advised of the action taken as soon

Mrs. E. George To Erick Clinic

Mrs. Ella George, Wellington nurse and hospital manager for a number of years, left Wednesday to become manager of the Stagner Clinic in Erick, Oklahoma.

At the same time, Mrs. George announced that the Collingsworth Hospital, of which she has been manager since its opening five and one-half years ago, is being closed.

"I regret leaving Wellington and my many friends here and throughout the county, but my new place offers an opportunity that I couldn't afford to turn down. I have enjoyed the years that I have lived here, and I sincerely like the people of this county," Mrs. George said before leaving.

"I shall always be glad to see each of you, whether it is when I return or when you visit in Erick," she added.

Mrs. George has been a resident of Collingsworth County since 1922. She is a charter member of the Business and Professional Women's Club, and has been active in the work of that group.

Blankets Woven From County Raised Wool

Blankets made from Collingsworth County-grown wool have been sold here during recent weeks.

The sheep were grown by J. B. Baumgardner and his high school-age son, Marion, who live southeast of Wellington. The clip was sent to a woolen mill in North Carolina, where the fleece was cleaned, spun, dyed and woven into blankets of high quality.

"It takes about seven pounds of wool to make one blanket, then we send enough additional wool to pay for the spinning and weaving," Marion Baumgardner said recently.

Five blankets were secured recently. One of these was given as a wedding present to Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Baumgardner of Dallas, while the other four were sold.

"We make just a little more out of our wool this way than we would if we had sold it when it was clipped," Marion said.

Fair Winners Asked To Get Premiums

Those persons winning in the various divisions of the County Fair who have not yet called for their premiums were requested today by Mrs. Guy Clay, Fair secretary, to do so.

"We will continue to pay the premiums this week, but if there are any left unpaid at the end of this time, the money will revert back to the Fair Association," she said.

Mrs. Clay pointed out that this is necessary in order that the Fair's books may be closed in the near future.

Those persons wishing to secure their premiums may see Mrs. Clay at the Clay Produce.

Rockets Dash Over Mustang Gridders In Conference Tilt

A running attack that featured long, brilliant sprints halfway across the field, and short plunges that added to the mounting yardage, swept the Rockets to victory over the Wheeler Mustangs Friday night. This gave the Wellington eleven its first conference victory, and the second win of the season under Coach Scott McCall's direction.

Color and zip went into the game with Rocket halfback Goodner's 40 and 50 and 60 yard runs, while shorter but no less effective dashes by Melton, Gribble and Thompson kept the ball active in Mustang territory during most of the game.

Functioning in perfect unison with the backfield, the Rocket line cleared the way for these gains, led by Holton, Wiles and Brewer.

Only once did the Mustangs penetrate deep into Rocket territory, and even then the combined effort of their backfield led by fullback Craig, failed to get the ball beyond the Wellington ten yard line.

The Rockets' first touchdown came late in the first quarter, when Thompson plunged through center four yards to cross the goal line. Not until the middle of the third period did the Rockets score again, with Thompson again carrying the ball, this time from the one yard line. The final score came late in the fourth quarter, when Goodner sliced through right guard for six yards and the score.

First Quarter

Craig of the Mustangs kicked off to the 10-yard line, where Melton received and returned 15 yards. Goodner, on the first play, made no gain, but Melton went through center for 5 yards. A sparkling 60-yard run by Gribble was called back and Wellington received a 5-yard penalty for offside. Melton's pass to Cummings fell incomplete, and on the next play, Melton's punt was blocked and killed on the 25-yard line.

Craig, carrying the ball for Wheeler, went off guard for 8 yards, but on the next play, his pass to Goad was intercepted by Goodner, who ran the ball back 40 yards to the Wheeler 45. Thompson then picked up 4 yards through center, but this was offset by a 5-yard penalty for offside. Gribble failed to gain around right end, and Melton's fumble was recovered by Garrison of Wheeler on his own 45-yard line. Whitener skirted end for 5 yards. Two more attempts failed to net yardage, and Craig punted over the goal line.

Wellington took possession on their own 20-yard line, and on the first play from scrimmage Goodner circled left end for 40 yards. Melton plunged left guard for 8 yards, and then picked up 3 yards and a first down on the Mustang 29-yard line. Gribble picked up 8 yards at right end, and Melton circled the opposite end for 15 yards and a first down on Wheeler's 7-yard line. Melton plunged to the 4-yard line from which point Thompson crashed the center for a touchdown. The attempt to convert failed.

The quarter ended with the ball on the Mustang 32-yard line.

Second Quarter

Burton, of the Mustangs, was stopped without gain, the Mustangs received a 15-yard penalty for unnecessary roughness, and Craig punted to Melton who received on his own 45 and returned 5 yards. Two rushing plays failed and a Rocket pass fell incomplete. Melton then punted over the goal line and Wheeler took possession of the ball on their 20-yard line.

A series of short plunges, offset by a 5-yard penalty, failed to net Wheeler sufficient yardage for a first down, and Craig punted to the Rocket 3-yard line, with Melton returning the ball to his own 25. Wellington gains were stopped at this point, and a 5-yard penalty assessed for offside. A pass from Melton was intercepted by Whitener of Wheeler on the Mustang 30-yard line. After only a short gain, the Mustangs punted to Wellington on the Mustang 40.

After Gribble and Melton had made short gains, Melton shot a long pass to Gribble, who gathered it in on the 10-yard line, where he was downed. Melton hit center to place the ball on Wheeler's 6-yard stripe as the half ended, Wellington 6, Wheeler 0.

Third Quarter

Craig received the Wellington kickoff on the 20-yard line and made a nice return of 18 yards to the 38-yard line. Whitener's fumble was recovered by Craig; Farmer's try through the line was stopped, and Burton fumbled the ball, Craig again recovering for Wheeler. The Mustangs then punted to the Rocket 30-yard line, where Melton was downed before he could make a return.

Goodner circled left end for 20 yards and a first down, placing the ball on the 50-yard line. Goodner again advanced the ball 15 yards. Gribble's end run netted 9 yards and Melton's plunge for 15 yards through left guard placed the ball deep in Mustang territory. A series of line plays carried the ball to the 1-yard line from where Thompson plunged over for the score. Try for the extra point was not good.

Melton's kick sent the ball down to the Wheeler 5-yard line, where Whitener took it and returned nicely for 23 yards. Short gains through the line by Craig and Whitener failed to gain the necessary yardage for a first down, and Craig punted to the 40-yard line, with Melton making a 5-yard return. Melton quick-kicked over the secondary, and the ball was killed on the 20-yard line. Craig hit center for 7 yards as the quarter ended, Wellington 12, Wheeler 0.

Fourth Quarter

The Mustangs could not make a first down and Craig punted to Gribble on the Rocket 30-yard line, whereupon, that fleet-footed Rocket made a beautiful 60-yard return, being downed on Wheeler's 10-yard line. Goodner picked up 6 yards at end, but on the next play Wellington lost 20 yards on an overthrow from center. Goodner gained 15 yards of this back at left end, but failed to gain on the next play and the ball went to Wheeler on the 12-yard line.

Brewer and Wiles threw Craig for a 5-yard loss, and on the next play Craig's pass to Burton was intercepted on the 22-yard line by Aldridge. Gribble and Melton picked up 13 yards, and Goodner, on the next play, went through right guard for 6 yards and the touchdown.

Craig received the kickoff on his own 25-yard line and returned it to the 40, and on the next play he tossed a pass to Burton that was good for 11 yards and a second for Whitener that netted 7 yards. For the remainder of the time they were in possession of the ball, Wheeler's gains were not sufficient for a first down, and the Rockets took over the ball on their own 35-yard line. Goodner picked up 7 yards through left tackle, but a fumble cost the Rockets 10 yards. Gribble's dash netted the Rockets 20 yards, while Kendrick picked up 6 through center. Wellington was assessed a 5-yard penalty, but Goodner regained it through center. Goodner circled left end for a 40-yard gain as the game ended, Wellington 18, Wheeler 0.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

Since this is National Newspaper Week, the following article is reproduced from the Des Moines (Iowa) Register. It was written by Harlan Miller:

SMALL TOWN EDITOR
He influences, in the aggregate, more people than the snarliest big town columnist. . . . He is so close to his readers an editorial controversy can have the impact of a quarrel with his wife. . . . So it takes real courage to speak his mind.

If he had wanted to, he probably could have had his shot at big town journalism. . . . He has seen lesser men acclaimed as journalistic prima donnas. . . . In his low moments, when readers and advertisers gang up on him, he sometimes regrets he didn't go after that job with the AP or UP or the big town sheet.

But at heart he prefers the more spacious life of the old home town. . . . He likes the familiar faces and knows he would be unhappy among crowds of strangers. . . . Like another doughty warrior, he would rather be first in a little village in the Alps than second in Rome.

His newspaper reflects the intimate life of his town more accurately than the New York Times' pages reflect New York's. . . . His modest income probably buys him more solid satisfaction than Ray Clapper's, and his writings win him more intellectual integrity than Pegler's.

Probably he does not realize fully the high esteem and honor with which the title "small town editor" strikes the ear around the press clubs in Washington and New York. . . . Nor how many high-priced correspondents and columnists, cornered in treadmills, wish they were small town editors.

He is something of an oracle along Main Street, but he must perforce accept on equal terms, if necessary, the opinions of the village idiot. . . . If he ever cut loose and wrote all he really knows and thinks, some of the neighbors might be surprised. . . . Sometimes he must even conceal his book-larmin'.

If anything, the small town editor is too modest, too humble. . . . He gives as big a dollar's worth as any man in town, and plays as vital and indispensable a role in the town's life—as well as in the state's and nation's. . . . But he must be mighty careful to give the bride her due in a wedding story.

When someone who inserts a $1 ad acts as if he were endowing the paper, the editor can only look inscrutable. . . . Sometimes he amuses himself by writing mentally a Winchell-esque column—but only in fancy—about the foibles of his neighbors. . . . But it wouldn't do. Indeed not. Especially when he's apt to have coffee with 'em Friday morning at the cafe.

Secretly he has done a little writing on the side, and feels he has a good novel or biography in his system. . . . But the only editor who's had time for that lately is an editor on Martha's Vineyard, where things are quieter than they are in an Iowa town. At heart he's an impatient reformer and crusader, but he's close enough to nature to be patient.

His desk is cluttered with innumerable details which require his personal attention, but he mustn't say no to any civic demand. . . . Somehow he manages to get a lot of reading done, though. . . . I think a congress composed of 531 small town editors wouldn't do so badly by the country.

He's bombarded with a lot of propaganda, and often he wishes he could scrutinize the men behind it with his own eyes. . . . But he must stay home to keep an eye on the printing press and see that the income equals the outgo.

Sometimes these smart-aleck big-town columnists give him a pain in the neck and he cuts loose at them trenchantly. . . . It kinda relieves his feelings, at that. . . . He aims to phone every one in the telephone directory at least once a month, but that's a lot of telephoning.

Occasionally he permits himself a little humorous or poetic flight under a set of initials or a pen name, and I'd like to see a good anthology of these literary adventures. . . . He has become a pretty good orator because of the demand for his speeches, though he's still secretly nervous on his feet. . . . But he's affectionately regarded by the townsfolk and even respected by those who slap him on the back, and he can say more truth in jest than an outsider could get away with in earnest. . . . He survives as an idyllic figure in an idyllic life, maybe one of the last.

NOTICE
DELINQUENT SCHOOL TAXES
NOTWITHSTANDING the fact that many delinquent tax payers showed their desire to cooperate on the delinquent tax matter by paying some or all of their taxes, I was required to file some 60 suits before July 1st against those who had failed to take care of such taxes, and of course these suits if not settled, will be up for judgment in November.

I must now advise those who are delinquent with their taxes and against whom suits have not been filed, that I will be required to file many other suits within the next 25 days unless these taxes are cared for.

I have tried to give you every opportunity to cooperate in getting this matter settled without suit and still trust that you will see John Harper at once, if you owe back taxes to the school, as otherwise you must be sued.

Texas Products For Defense Cupboard Total $700,000,000

AUSTIN. — Texas-grown farm products valued at nearly $700,000,000 will be this state's 1941 contribution to the national defense storage cupboard, a University of Texas agricultural statistician estimates.

Basing his calculations on farm cash income for the past eight months — totaling $229,903,000 compared to $188,208,000 in the first two-thirds of 1940—Dr. F. A. Buechel, University Bureau of Business Research assistant director, looks to a year-end total second only to 1928's $800,000,000, including government subsidies.

With cotton sliding into second place, bulk of the Texas farm produce will be food and feedstuffs tagged as "strategic" for the government's defense storehouses—livestock and livestock products, grains, fruits and vegetables.

Even last year, cotton—not at present required for defense purposes in increasing amounts—accounted for less than 40 per cent of the total Texas farm cash income, compared to a 67 per cent slice in 1927.

Livestock and livestock products on the other hand brought in 46.5 per cent of the farmer's paycheck, up from a 1927 portion of 24.1 percent. In the 13-year period, grains had gained from 7.6 per cent to 9.7 per cent of the total income, fruits and vegetables had quadrupled from a tiny 1.8 per cent to a substantial 5.4 per cent.

Dr. Buechel did not look for cotton to regain its former pre-eminence even in an extended national emergency, and cited an estimated national crop of about 10,700,000 bales, plus 6,000,000 bales of government-owned stocks, making a total which he said was above government estimates of demand for the coming year.

In Texas, 1941 cotton production is estimated at 2,888,000 bales, compared to a 10-year average for the 1930's of 3,766,000 bales, even in a period of government-restricted production. Compared with the decade of the 20's, cotton acreage in Texas has been reduced 50 per cent, by about 8,000,000 acres.

"Even with prices of cotton lint again approaching the level which prevailed in the 20's and the price of cottonseed well above the average of that period, total income in 1941 from cotton and cottonseed will equal only about half that received from these sources during 1927 and 1928," Dr. Buechel predicted.

RED CROSS AIDE

Sally Bradley, above, models new uniforms to be worn by 100,000 defense volunteers who will be trained as nurses' aides by the Red Cross.

"Even of this sharply reduced total income from cotton and cottonseed, the older cotton producing regions of the state—central, eastern and southern Texas—will receive a much smaller proportion than in the decade of the 20's while the newer cotton producing regions of North and Northwest Texas will receive a larger proportion."

North and Northwest Texas will continue their comparatively high income for the remainder of the year, Dr. Buechel believed, due to (1) good yields of both forage crops and cotton, (2) excellent condition of both range and livestock, and (3) highest level of prices for these products in many years. In the production of basic foodstuffs, Texas is rapidly boosting its output. This state is now shipping in excess of 5,000 cars of livestock to market monthly, 300 cars of eggs, and is manufacturing four and a half million pounds of creamery butter, two and a third million pounds of cheese, and one and three-quarter million gallons of ice cream.

Shipments of livestock are up 5 or 6 per cent above this time last year, egg shipments have tripled, manufacture of cheese is up a third, ice cream up a fourth, and creamery butter production is 17 per cent higher.

"These crops are only a fraction of what our production should be," Dr. Buechel declared, "and they will be but a drop in the bucket to our production when a realistically adjusted agricultural program is put into effect in Texas."

Instead of being the storehouse of the nation, Texas is actually having to depend on other states to supply shortages here, he pointed out. While Texans annually consume approximately one hundred million pounds of evaporated milk, Texas produces only 32 to 35 million pounds; we use about 35,000,000 pounds of American cheese and produce only about 20 million pounds. Our production of butter, including country-butter—is about equal to our consumption, but quantity operation of creameries would result in lower operating costs, more efficient management and higher income for all the state's milk producers.

"I do not anticipate—nor do I wish to see—the day when Texas will eliminate cotton from its agricultural economy," the University researcher said. "But we do sorely need for farmers to awaken to the desirability—indeed the necessity—of adding other products to absorb the 8,000,000 acres of Texas farm land which likely will never again be planted to cotton."

"Those farmers who continue to plant cotton should place their farms on a sound farm management basis—cultivate intensively and economically—and should supplement their income with small dairy herds, hogs, sheep or goats, beef cattle or poultry, and should on their retired cotton acreage raise at least enough feed stuffs to nourish these animals."

SOLDIER'S LIFE

... As Soldiers See It

September 18, 1941
No. 15, S.F.T.S.
Claresholm, Alberta

Dear Deck:

Well, I just re-read your edition of The Leader and decided to write and tell you that I'm still alive and wish to be remembered at home.

I'm in my service training now. I'm in the last stage of my training and when I finish here, I'll be heading for England as a bomber pilot. I'm training on Arvo Anson bombers. These ships are really nice. Most of our ships on this station were used in the battle of Dunkirk. The Anson is now out-moded and under-armed for modern warfare. So I'll be flying either Bleinhiems or Beauforts when I get to England. I should be in England by Christmas if nothing happens in the meantime.

Before I go overseas I will get leave to come home and will I be glad to get there. The old saying that there's no place like home really means something to me. I will really be glad to see the cotton gins going and old Wellington in its usual run of life. From what I read in your paper, we must have some pretty good crops this fall. I'm really glad. It's about time there is prosperity back in the Panhandle.

It is really surprising how many Texans are here in the air force. Here at this station alone are eight of us, from El Paso to Perryton, but all real Texans from head to toe, and really looking forward to when we can get home again.

Well, I have to stop now as I'm on night flying these nights, and it is cold up here now, especially at night.

Sincerely yours,
Pat N. Templeton.

Wellington Leader,

Dear Deck:

I thought I would write you a line to thank you for The Wellington Leader. I don't know just what to say but it sure helps out.

I have a new address now. I am at Ft. Ord, Calif. I like it better than I did at Camp Roberts. I am in the 58rd Unit Tank Co. I'll get to ride now instead of walking all the time.

Yours truly,
Pvt. J. C. Breeden.

Defense Bond QUIZ

Q. How do I get the highest return on my investment in Defense Savings Bonds?

A. By holding each Bond for its full term of years you will secure the full maturity value. A Defense Savings Bond of Series E increases in value 33 1-3 percent if held for 10 years.

Q. Is the Government concerned over whether I buy my Defense Savings Stamps at post offices, banks, savings and loan institutions, retail stores, or elsewhere?

A. No. The Government is interested in having as many persons as possible take a hand in the National Defense Program. Toward that end the Treasury is making Bonds and Stamps available for purchase in the largest number of places possible.

Note.—To buy Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office, bank, or savings and loan association; or write to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C. Also Stamps now are on sale at retail stores.

Billie Whitten Enlists In Navy

Billie W. Whitten of Houston, formerly of Wellington, enlisted in the U. S. Navy at Dallas Sept. 3, and is now stationed at San Diego, Calif.

Whitten was born in Wellington September 3, 1920, and lived here until 1933. He is the son of the late Will W. Whitten, a World War veteran, who died here in 1924.

His enlistment in the Navy came on Whitten's 21st birthday, at which time he is just ten years younger than was his father when he entered the armed service of the United States.

He is in the same company with Darrell Crooks, also of Wellington, who enlisted recently at the age of 17. He, too, is just 10 years younger than was his father, J. R. Crooks of Wellington, at the time the latter was drafted. Crooks is a nephew of Mrs. Buck Hankins of Wellington, while Whitten is a nephew of Mr. Hankins.

J. A. Kitchens, Route 1, Wellington, is this week a patient in St. Joseph's Hospital, where he is receiving medical treatment.

Junior Young Heads School Service Club

Junior Young was elected president of the Boys Service Club of Wellington High School in a reorganization meeting held Monday, September 22.

Other officers include Conrad Melton, vice-president; Joe Horn, secretary-treasurer; Willard Edmondson, reporter; Evnyl Wallace, parliamentarian; and W. F. Decker and Roy Long sponsors.

"This club was formed with 'service' as its purpose. Every member has an active part in the club. The only requirement for membership is willingness to serve the student body and the school, and to live up to the club's motto of 'unselfish service,'" Mr. Long said.

Forty-three boys were present for the first meeting, and plans have been begun already for the year. One service sponsored by this group is a student employment bureau for part-time and regular work. Persons wanting to secure a student for work may do so by contacting the sponsors or club members.

The boys will also operate an improvement and beautification bureau. "These boys know that character is the sum total of their habits and conduct. Through the practice of courtesy, friendship and conduct in rivalry and through such services as ushering, meeting strangers, giving information, making new students feel at home, and arranging outings for club members the boys hope to form desirable traits of character," Mr. Long explained.

Mechanic Hurt When Chain Hoist Breaks

Odis Jesse, who is employed as a mechanic at the Collingsworth Motor Co., received painful injuries Sept. 22 when a chain hoist by which he was working broke, striking him.

He received a long gash on the head and a lacerated left hand. The accident occurred about 1:30 p. m.

He received treatment in a local doctor's office.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Fortenberry spent the week end in Lubbock with his brother, J. W. Fortenberry and family. Mrs. J. W. Fortenberry, who had previously suffered a stroke of paralysis, had another stroke Monday, the relatives here were informed. Her condition is still regarded as critical.

WHY ON EARTH DO THEY DO IT?

...spread their insurance out among Tom, Dick and Harry

It's a nice friendly act to give each of the boys a share of your insurance... but you may learn what fancy side-stepping really is. When you split responsibility... you may be in for rough going.

Moral: Choose ONE good agent and make him carry the load. A good many people in this town like the way we shoulder this kind of responsibility.

Mr. Deskins Wells,
The Wellington Leader,
Wellington, Texas.

Dear Mr. Wells:

Thanks very much for your letter with reference to the cartoons in the Weekly Service, and especially for the copy of your editorial page. I'd like to tell you, sincerely, that of the many editorial pages which reach my desk each week, yours is one of the best.

I took the liberty of showing your editorial page to several of our editors here, who devote their time to editorial page features for dailies. They unanimously agreed that your make-up is excellent.

If I may have your permission to do so, I should very much like to use your editorial page in our monthly promotion house organ, which we plan to issue regularly and to distribute to newspapers throughout the country.

Sincerely,

For 1942—a Beautiful New

FORD

"6" OR "8"

IN THESE UNUSUAL TIMES we invite you to inspect an unusual new car—new in its beauty, its comfort, its choice of two fine 90 horsepower engines, 6 cylinders or 8.

See it and you sense at once that here is new style that will stay good for years. On a lower, wider chassis, we have designed new long, low, wide and modern lines.

Interior treatment is entirely fresh, distinctive, pleasing. The beauty of this Ford will more than hold its own in any company.

Inside, the car is big—wide across the seats, generous in knee-room, leg-room, elbow-room.

On the road this year you find the "new Ford ride" still further advanced in its softness, quietness, steadiness and all-round comfort.

At the wheel, you will find driving easier than ever. Steering, gear-shifting, action of the big and sure hydraulic brakes have all been made smoother and easier.

In quality, the car is sound to the last detail. Defense requirements have all been met without a single reduction in the basic and lasting goodness of the Ford mechanically. Some new materials have replaced old ones, usually at a greater cost to us, but in every case the new is equal to or better than the old.

If your family needs a new car, go see and drive this Ford. For what it is today and for what it will be through the years ahead, we believe that you will find in it more and better transportation for your money than you have ever found before.

Editorial

Editorial Writer Simeon Strunsky, of the great metropolitan newspaper, The New York Times, pays tribute to the influence to the country weekly, in his book "The Great Tradition," published recently by Doubleday, Doran and Company. In this book in which Mr. Strunsky examines the forces that have made America, he devotes one chapter to the press. After discussing the circulation of daily and weekly newspapers and weekly and monthly magazines, he states that in this nation of 30 million families, the average family each month reads 40 daily newspapers, nine weekly newspapers and magazines and five monthly magazines. Then he adds these significant paragraphs:

What is the relative weight of each of these types of journal in molding American public opinion and, beyond it, in shaping the permanent ideas of the American people? . . . Instinctively, when we think of the power of the press we think of the daily newspaper, always hot from the griddle, always bringing the latest bulletins—the latest victory or disaster, the latest reassuring communique, the latest alarm. The politician in the sidewalk cafe snatches the newspaper from the shouting vendor and leaps without loss of time to the top of a table to harangue the crowd for a march on the Bastille or on Parliament, or on the convention hall—it is a familiar symbol of the power of the press which may be as faithful to the facts as most symbols are. But whatever may have been true of the coffee houses of Queen Anne, when English journalism first became a power, or the militant newspaper of the French revolution, or the cafe politicians of Europe since then, the picture does not hold good for this country.

With us the shaping of public opinion is less the work of city gossipers in a club or a back room than of half a dozen rural debaters at the general store or in the local garage. With us the small-town and country newspaper, which is most often a weekly journal, is more influential than the daily. Primarily this would be due to the very fact that it is a small-town rural press. As late as the 1930 census, 51 per cent of the population of the country was living in places having fewer than 8,000 inhabitants; but this small advantage of 2 per cent does not really measure the weight which the non-urban half of the American

OTHER EDITORS SAY--

• Crops And No Labor

Faced with harvesting the largest feed crop produced here in ten years and probably the best all-around crop ever grown in this section of the country, Dal-lam and Hartley county farmers are crying for helpers, a cry that has reached out in every circulation without results.

Chamber of commerce officials, well aware of the situation have sent pleas to various parts of the country only to be told that a similar situation exists elsewhere. It now appears that unless local people solve their own problem that it will remain unsolved and thousands of tons of feed will be left standing in the fields.—Ed Bishop in The Dalhart Texan.

• Why Good Soldiers, Unless . . . ?

Individually, the American soldier, sailor or flyer is far superior to any that Europe has or can produce. He has morale, stamina, the ability to size up a new kind of situation and to act quickly and decisively, on his own volition, when occasion demands.

But what are these qualities worth to him today if he is to be inadequately or too slowly armed, if he is to be trained and disciplined by officers whose one-track minds are filled with paper theories of strategy that applied to the Mexican War of 1846, if indeed they ever applied to any war at all.—W. Connally Baldwin in The Lamesa Reporter.

• Law Enforcement Begins At Home

Too frequently we are want to criticize our peace officers and court officials for failure to enforce the law as we think it should be. District Attorney Barber very tactfully pointed out how the responsibility is as much the public's as it is the elected court officials.

In the first place, the people—the qualified voters—in turn elect the men who interpret and put these laws, passed by the legislature, into effect. The district attorney did not say so, but it's plain to see that the voter's responsibility in law enforcement is to select officials who are capable and willing to put the laws into operation.—Robert W. Cook in The Nolan County News.

In these small towns and farm homes the ratio of native-born is much higher than the cities. The ratio of old-stock population is much higher; and it is still a fact of prime importance for the realistic observer that the American of the older stocks is a more powerful force, man for man, than the American of later origin. Country journalism, in addressing itself to this better entrenched and more highly privileged section of the American people, has right at the start a selective advantage over the urban daily press.

To this we may add the a priori argument that a weekly newspaper which is read and absorbed in the seclusion and comparative leisure of the small town or the farm is likely to exercise a greater pull on its readers than the average copy of the metropolitan daily paper, crammed with a bewildering array of reading matter and consumed amid the distractions of urban life. Psychologically, it is a sound contention that a single copy of a weekly newspaper slowly absorbed may succeed in driving home a point more effectively than seven daily newspapers repeating the same point in the course of a week to a metropolitan audience.

Washington Week

By RALPH HERBERT

WASHINGTON.—Here is a little puzzler for the American housewife.

If you were asked to produce an All-American dinner, what would your menu be?

By "all-American" we mean foods that were not known to the world before the lands of the Western Hemisphere were discovered. We mean foods that the Indians of this hemisphere discovered and cultivated and which the European explorers brought back to the Old World.

Well, here is the answer:
Tomato juice.
Roast turkey.
Corn on the cob.
Baked squash.
Lima beans.
Sweet and Irish potatoes.
Pies made of blackberries.
Ditto of huckleberries.
Ice cream flavored with vanilla.
Ice cream flavored with chocolate.
Salted peanuts and pecans.
Cigars and cigarettes.

The Indians of North and South America, except the Aztecs, were not much on writing history—or writing much else for that matter—but they certainly made history when, patiently and persistently, they experimented with various wild plants, domesticated them and found they were good to eat.

There are countries in northern Europe today whose people would go hungry if it were not for the potato, and other countries in southern Europe whose people would be in the same boat if it were not for corn.

And men and women all over the globe would find life not half so agreeable if they missed their smokes. The wonder about the weed is not so much its spread, but the vast variety of kinds of tobacco that have since been developed—the fragrant Turkish, the cigar wrapper from Sumatra, the heavy burley of Kentucky, the alluring cigaret material of North Carolina and Virginia, just to mention a few.

George Faucher of Sanford, Me., thought his appendix was infected, but an X-ray showed that a half-dollar Faucher had swallowed 10 years before was still in his stomach.

A Guernsey cow owned by John F. Maley of East Putney, Vt., gave birth to quadruplets. Three were females and the other a male.

Four young men were arrested for playing cards on a tombstone in Floral Park cemetery, Indianapolis, using other stones for seats.

Attendance at church every Sunday for six months was the sentence given by a Salem, N. J., judge to three men and a woman convicted of resisting arrest and assaulting a state trooper.

Fred Smith of Greenville, Me., catches fish by trolling with a line between his teeth, claiming that his teeth are more sensitive to a "strike" than his hands.

William Masterson, Elmer Condon and Louis Capasso roller skate eight hours a day, five days a week, 50 weeks a year, as testers for a roller-skate manufacturing firm in New Haven, Conn.

The coldest natural temperature ever recorded is said to be 92 degrees below zero, in Siberia.

(May 31)

A big crowd was at the station Monday to give the boys who were leaving for Camp Bowie, a good send-off. The boys were all seemingly in fine spirits and wanted to get into training for the task they know awaits them. On Friday night, the Red Cross gave an entertainment for their benefit at the Wellington Motor Co. Garage. Special music and addresses by G. W. McCauley and Judge R. H. Cocke entertained the crowd. A cake was sold by vote and brought $136.80.

Wednesday evening the south end of the county had a good rain, which was accompanied by wind and hail. Some crops east of Fresno will have to be planted again. The roof of Mr. Chandler's barn was blown off, Mr. Cobb's windmill was torn up and two telegraph poles blown down.

Mrs. W. F. Roberts, who taught the Salt Fork school the past term, left for her home at Alanreed Sunday.

Mrs. T. M. Stansell is having a modern brick residence built in the south side part of the city. This will be one of the nicest homes in town when completed.

Miss Kate Cocke has returned from the Powell Training School at Dallas. She was awarded a scholarship by that school which is good in any college or university in the state.

Wellington was selected as the next meeting place by the delegates of the District Convention which met in Clarendon Monday, after a spirited fight in which both Panhandle and Hereford tied for first place. Wellington got the convention finally.

A new test well for Collingsworth County was spudded in last Saturday. A. F. Wischkaemper, who was in Wellington Monday, said the Norwood-Wischkaemper is located about a mile south of Dozier.

The business men of Dodsonville have organized a Chamber of Commerce with J. G. Nesbitt as president and Dewey Malone as secretary. One of the first jobs commenced by the organization was the grading and graveling of the streets of their city.

Wellington won the Sunday baseball game from Hollis by the score of 4-0. Burleson, Tom Young and Hickey were outstanding players.

Several old timers gathered at the L. H. Stall home Friday night. Frank Groves and wife, who have been visiting in Sulphur Springs, Bill Groves, Judge Myers, T. J. Stall and their wives were all present.

Drilling at Downey No. 1, located in the Marella community near Quail, has been suspended during the past week, due to complications in securing leases. Drilling operations will not be resumed until lease complications have been worked out.

N. C. Duggins, principal of the Pleasant Hill School, who gained his first teaching experience back in 1881 at the age of 18 years, is celebrating his 50th year of being in the profession. He taught his first Collingsworth County school 21 years ago, being employed at Ring in 1910.

Contracts for paving 17.2 miles of Highway 75 in Wheeler County from the Collingsworth County line to the town of Wheeler, was awarded last Wednesday to L. E. Whitman Company of Wichita Falls.

Notes from the Fair and otherwise . . .

Mrs. W. K. Cottingham, now of White Deer, sitting in their car with her small son at the courthouse curbing waiting for Mr. Cottingham, and this looked just as it did when she used to come for him when he was county agent here. Although Mr. Cottingham is stationed at Panhandle, they have been unable to find a house to live in there, and at present they are living at White Deer while he drives back and forth to work.

Mrs. Frank Eikenburg taking her two small children, John Joseph and Madeline, James Frederick LeDerer, and her colored girl to the carnival. While they were on the ferris wheel, Mrs. Eikenburg's hat blew off and over into the machinery of the Rollo-Plane, not only stopping it, but completely ruining the hat.

Grace Aaron of Quail buying poster paper to make signs for the Future Homemakers booth at the Fair. . . Cloice Brown, draftee, who left for the army Thursday, saying he went back to Canyon to enroll in West Texas State, and the day after he arrived he was notified to report for service. Cloice would have received his degree next summer.

Mrs. Ike Rogers, working with the Fair, saying her brains felt like they had been stirred with a spoon, and that she couldn't even remember where the family car was. . . Mrs. R. W. Brantley admiring watermelons on exhibit, and jokingly suggesting that they roll one off. . . Mrs. J. L. Alexander of Lutie in town with her very small son, John.

Chester Gunter, who rode in the parade Friday, saying he hadn't been on a horse since 1923. . . J. W. Kromer making what looked like it would be a beautiful catch on one of the Brahma steers, only to have the rope slip off. Kromer is generally considered one of the best rodeo stars of this section. . . Walter Dee Breeding, small son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Breeding, just so-o-o tired after all day at the Fair, and the fact that his Shetland pony won first place didn't help much.

Mrs. Wayne Parker working in the Fair bingo booth. . . Troy and Roy Cass helping around with the Lillie Exhibit. . . Mrs. J. W. Masten getting signs printed for the home demonstration club booths. . . Velma Sweat directing her homemaking girls in their exhibits. . . Jake Tarter, county agent from Wheeler County who served as one of the agricultural judges, coming around to the homemaking exhibits and saying he'd be ready to judge the pies about 7 o'clock, that he thought he could best judge them by eating them, and that he liked them only two ways—hot and cold.

Rose Erisman, Bula Bess Bell, and Lucille Bennett all ready to start to the football game. . . A. V. Green with his small grandson, who is visiting him and Mrs. Green from Odessa. . . Claude Savage saying one day recently how many women suddenly quit frowning, or smile, or straighten their hair when they walk up the steps of the postoffice. The reason is that the way the light shines on the windows, just back of the entrance, turns them into a fairly good mirror, and more than one woman gets a glimpse of just what she looks like as she enters the office.

Lee Lehmberg going toward the junior boys' ball game Friday night eating a sandwich and carrying a sack of something and a bottle of pop in the other.

Little Edna Bess Curtner dressed in a fuzzy white wool cap and mittens, all ready for Monday's cold weather.

Unfair at the Fair: Someone furnished an entry of as fine apples as this county has seen for the Sammorwood booth at the Fair, but before the entry could be judged, one of the apples was taken off the plate. This not only ruined the looks of that particular item in the booth, but made this one ineligible since the Fair rules require five pieces to every fruit entry.

Brown roof and upper walls white body, eaves and trim, make this house seem lower and longer. How clever use of color can vastly improve the exterior lines of a home, and how standard paint colors properly used, can transform a drab and uninteresting room into a gay and inviting retreat, are shown here. Top-heavy houses can be made to look lower by painting roofs and upper portions in dark colors and by accenting horizontal trim with light colors. Ceilings can be "raised" by using light-colored paint, and long, narrow rooms can be "squared" by painting end walls in warm, positive colors. Bathrooms can be "warmed" by using rose or other warm colors, the experts explain.

TEXAS' GREATEST WEEKLY NEWSPAPER

August Food Stamp Purchases Pass $6,000,000

During the month of August approximately $6,977,933 was spent by clients of the Surplus Marketing Administration's Food Stamp Program in retail stores operating in the 200 Food Stamp areas in the 13 Southern States.

Of the total amount $3,204,872 was used to purchase "Blue Stamp" foods with free blue stamps. The balance $3,773,061 represents the amount clients spent to purchase orange food order stamps from local issuing offices.

The Economic Section of the Surplus Marketing Administration in Dallas, with the cooperation of certain retail stores in the Southern Region, is making a study of blue stamp food purchases. The following figures indicate how stamp clients used their free blue stamps during August in the Southern Region.

They purchased $523,328.15 worth of dried raisins, dried prunes, oranges, fresh apples, peaches, prunes, plums and pears with blue stamps. Dried beans, snap beans, potatoes, fresh tomatoes, cabbage and other fresh vegetables amounted to $914,896.30 in blue stamps. $1,260,847.50 was used to purchase self-rising "enriched" flour, self-rising flour, "enriched" wheat flour, wheat flour, graham flour, corn meal and hominy grits. Free blue stamps bought 1,564,785 dozen eggs totaling $505,800.05.

The Food Stamp Program gives the farmer a wider market for his crops. At the same time it adds needed health-building foods to the diets of families participating in the program, thereby strengthening the Health Defense of America.

The funds to be used on this road come from the federal government, and are in no way to be connected with the $500,000 bond issue voted early this year for the purpose of surfacing an east-west highway as such a time as they could be assumed by the state, Judge Bishop said in order to clarify any question that might arise on the matter.

County Agent Explains Soil District Election

By B. A. ZORNS
County Agent

The State Soil Conservation Board has set Saturday, October 25, as the date for an election of landowners of Collingsworth and Donley Counties on a proposed soil conservation district for the two counties. I was notified from the state office at Temple.

The election which has been called will give each landowner in the county a chance to express his views, pro or con, on the establishment of a conservation district, in which soil conservation practices would be carried to the greatest possible extent. Efforts will be made to get every landowner to cast a vote in the election, so that the result will be a fair test of sentiment on the question. The proposal to establish a district must receive a two-thirds favorable vote to pass.

Advantages offered by a soil conservation district in any agricultural area are said to include unified and cooperative soil-saving practices, carried out with technical assistance and advice from various governmental agencies. None of the expenses of soil conservation practices would be borne by the district or by any governmental agency, however, and the landowner would have to finance any improvements in soil-saving conditions himself. While whatever technical advice was advisable can be secured by any landowner in the district, no landowner will have to cooperate in the conservation program unless he chooses to do so.

Soil conservation is a big problem. Our social institutions, schools, churches—even the hearthstone—will survive only in proportion to the progress that is made in conservation; therefore, landowners, let's investigate the advantages or disadvantages that could be obtained by having a soil conservation district and be able to vote intelligently in the election October 25.

To bring about a better understanding of the soil conservation district idea, I plan a series of meetings to be scheduled later this month at which the plan will be explained to landowners of Collingsworth County.

Rocket Gridders Stand At Top Of District 3-A

The Wellington Skyrockets, along with Lefors and Lakeview, stand at the top of football district 3-A by winning their Friday night's games.

Each of these teams has played one conference and one non-conference game.

Strong contenders for the district title again this year will be Coach Scott McCall's Rockets. To a non-conference win over the Panhandle Panthers two weeks ago, the Rockets added the conference win 18 to 0 from the Wheeler Mustangs Friday night.

The Lefors Pirates, another strong team of the district, opened their conference playing by defeating the heavy, but somewhat inexperienced Clarendon Bronchos. This year's Pirates have weight and speed, backed by their experience of last year.

Surprise team of the entire district are the Lakeview Eagles. After winning a conference game from Memphis, they tied the Turkey Turks 0 to 0 on their home field. Since Lakeview is the smallest school of the district, and the Eagles have relatively small manpower from which to build a team, they generally hold a low place in the conference.

McLean Tigers continued their winning streak, but on non-conference ground, by defeating the Panhandle Panthers 53 to 0. All indications are that the Tigers will be one of the high scoring teams of the district.

The Memphis Cyclone lost their second consecutive game of the season when they were overrun by the Paducah Dragons, 19 to 6. The Cyclone held a 6 point lead throughout the first half, only to have the Dragons rally for a powerful comeback in the last two periods.

Shamrock, the remaining district team, also experienced bad luck Friday, when they bowed to the class AA Childress Bobcats 14 to 0. Shamrock, last year's district winner, is expected to show other teams of the district their fighting Irish spirit, in spite of last week's loss.

Arlie Men Sue Childress Co.

Childress County was named defendant in a suit, filed there recently, involving alleged diversion of flood waters in the Arlie community, north of Childress.

The plaintiffs are T. A. Wyrick and B. Hammon, Arlie land owners, who contend that a drainage ditch and dyke, constructed along a county road and in the field of L. S. Owens, diverts flood waters onto the Wyrick and Hammon lands.

They ask $1,250 damages from the county and Owens and seek an injunction ordering that the dyke and drain ditch be removed to permit the water to flow its natural course.

Little Rockets Downed By Hollis

The Little Rockets, Wellington Junior High School team, were downed 13 to 6 by the Hollis Junior High School team Friday afternoon, September 26, on the Little Rockets' gridiron.

This game will be returned Thursday, October 2, when the Little Rockets go to Hollis. The game is scheduled to begin at 3:30 o'clock, Lee Lehmberg, coach of the local youths, said this week.

Mrs. Permelia Crow is receiving medical treatment in St. Joseph's Hospital this week.

October Blue Stamp Foods Are Listed

Foods available during October for purchase with blue stamps by families taking part in the Food Stamp Plan in Collingsworth County, were announced today by Wynn S. Goode, local Stamp Plan representative. These foods are obtainable in local stores throughout the month of October.

Fresh prunes, plums and peaches, obtainable for blue stamps during September, are not listed for October. With this revision, the complete list of "blue stamp foods" for the period October 1 through October 31 in all Stamp Plan areas is as follows: fresh apples, oranges and pears, fresh vegetables (including potatoes), corn meal, shell eggs, raisins, dried prunes, hominy (corn) grits, dry edible beans, wheat flour, enriched wheat flour, self-rising flour, enriched self-rising flour, and whole wheat (Graham) flour.
