VOLUME XIV | DUBLIN, ERATH COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1901. | NUMBER 23.

The Grand Bankrupt Sale of Dry Goods, Clothing and Shoes Continues Without a Precedent at MISTROT BROS. & COMPANY'S.

Mistrot Bros. & Co.'s big wholesale house at Galveston, Texas, occupying nearly an entire block, three stories high. Over $1,000,000 of Dry Goods, Clothing and Shoes on hand, distsibuting poini for their 25 retail stores. Annual sale outside of their 25 retail stores to other merchants in Texas, $1,250,000. Over $4,00,000 worth of Dry Goods, Clothing and Shoes handled by the Galveston wholesale establishment for the year 1900.

The greatest volume of merchandise ever sold by any one concern in this section of the state. Our store is crowded daily to its utmost capacity. Ten sales-people kept busy from morning 'till night waiting on the big crowds taking advantage of the Big Sale. People rejoice at the low prices. The big Bankrupt sale at Mistrot's is the talk of Dublin and surrounding country for 100 miles. Prices talk! "Our most convincing argument is to show you!" Bring this price sheet with you, all goods sold strictly as advertised. Unlike our little would-be competitors of the windy variety, we are never "just out." Over $40,000 stock of Dry Goods, Clothing and Shoes on hand in the Dublin house alone—more goods than any other concern in this section of the state. We employ ten sales-people to wait on our big volume of trade. $2,000,000 spot cash planked down at one deal by our New York buyer, Mr. S. P. Mistrot. That is why we can sell you goods so much cheaper than the little concerns who go to St. Louis market twice a year and have to stretch their credit to buy a few goods. They come home and are puzzled because they can't meet Mistrot's prices. Their cry is: "Times are not as they used to be." "Mistrot Bros. & Co. have demoralized the Dry Goods, Clothing and Shoe business in Dublin." We feel sorry for them, but we can't help them. We came to Dublin to do the Dry Goods, Clothing and Shoe business on a basis of "the most goods for the least money."

A DOUBLE TRAGEDY.

William T. Harris and His Son Are Killed at Waco.

TWO MEN IN JAIL.

An Old Suit Which Caused a Family Controversy Cause of the Deed. The Arrested Men Make the Claim of Self-Defense.

Waco, Tex. Oct. 22.—There was a double killing here late yesterday afternoon and two prominent citizens of this county are in jail charged with the crime.

The dead are:

William T. Harris, Sr., ex-sheriff of McLennan county.

William T. Harris, Jr., son of the above and a fireman on a Cotton Belt switch engine.

Dr. J. D. Lovelace and his stepson, Zach Reynolds are the men in jail.

The battle took place in the Turf saloon and restaurant. Dr. Lovelace and his stepson were in the restaurant when Harris and his son entered. All of them left the restaurant and entered the saloon. In the battle a doublebarrel shotgun loaded with buckshot and two revolvers were used. William T. Harris, Sr., received a load of buckshot in the back and three pistol wounds in the abdomen and breast and another in the shoulder. William T. Harris, Jr., suffered nine buckshot wounds in his legs, three in his abdomen, a pistol wound in his breast and another in his head.

Neither one of them spoke after being shot, and the saloon was soon filled with smoke, so that the spectators were unable to give a clear account of the method of the shooting.

When it was over, Dr. Lovelace and his stepson, Mr. Reynolds, surrendered to the officers and were placed in jail to await the action of the grand jury, which body is now in session. They both admitted that they fired the shots which killed Harris and his son, adding they were compelled to do so in self-defense.

The opposing parties in the desperate fight are connected by marriage and are connected also with the best families in McLennan county. Dr. Lovelace is a practicing physician at Speegleville, McLennan county, and his stepson, Zach Reynolds, is a farmer.

The quarrel grew out of a litigation pending in court in which a large body of land conveyed by Mrs. John McLennan, husband of Mrs. Lena Harris McLennan, the daughter of ex-Sheriff Harris, is involved. There has been bad feeling on the part of the dead men and those who survived the fight for several months.

Reynolds escaped without a scratch and Dr. Lovelace was merely touched on the finger with a bullet, slightly raising the skin. Otherwise the doctor escaped injury.

Surrendered to the Governor.

Austin, Oct. 22.—A negro convict named Henry Davis, who was serving sentences aggregating 16 years in the state penitentiary for three offenses, escaped from the Ellis farm, where he was being worked with other convicts, Oct 15 and walked into the governor's office Monday afternoon and gave himself up. He said he escaped for the express purpose of visiting Governor Sayers and laying his case before him in the hope of securing a pardon. After reviewing the cases, the governor promised they would be investigated and he was turned over to the officers to be returned to the camp.

NEW HEIR TO THRONE.

Dowager Empress Will Soon Select the Successor of Prince Pu Chun.

Georgetown, Ky., Oct. 22.—There was a big crowd in attendance at the trial of Caleb Powers Monday. Nearly all the prisoner's witnesses have arrived in Georgetown, and among them are former Adjutant General R. D. Collier, Dr. Morgan Vance, one of the physicians who attended Goebel, and ex-Jundge W. H. Yost. Holland Whittaker of Butler county, and now under indictment as a principal in the crime, is also here to testify in behalf of Powers. Whittaker was released some time ago on $10,000 bond.

When court convened Monday Powers resumed his testimony in chief. Powers said no one ever had his personal key to his office except Leo Davidson, son of Assistant Secretary of State Davidson. He gave Davidson his key to keep while he was away from Frankfort from Jan. 12 to 17. Powers said:

"I want to say that there is a possibility that the shots may have been fired from the secretary of state's office. Duplicate keys could not have been made. But when Goebel was shot I had the keys to my office in my possession."

Powers denied most emphatically that he had ever conspired with any human being to do violence to Wm. Goebel or any other Democratic official.

His cross-examination was conducted by Attorney Campbell.

Powers said the military force was to be used only in the event that the Democrats tried to take forcible possession of the public offices before the cases of the Republican contestants had been decided upon by the United States supreme court.

Powers denied that there was any plan for the mountain men to capture the train upon which they were to ride. He said Governor Taylor said he had arranged for the transportation.

Powers also denied that he gave Youtsey a key to his office during the month of January. He was asked why he did not put Youtsey out of his office when he found him there with a gun. Powers replied: "It has not been my custom in life to control the actions of man by brute force."

THE POWERS TRI

Defendant Gives Testimony in Behalf Before the Court.

Pekin, Oct. 22.—A new heir to the throne will be appointed when the dowager empress meets Prince Ching and several of the viceroys at Kai Feng, capital of the province of Honan, where there will be a general discussion of the affairs of the empire. This news is believed to be authentic, as it was received from high Chinese officials. The present heir has proven to be dissipated and uncontrollable. Moreover, his father's status as a banished prince makes his succession contrary to Chinese traditions.

The candidate of the empress is said to be Peitze, a nephew of Prince Tuan, who is intellectualy weak. He participated in the Boxer aggressions, personally leading an attack on the French cathedral. The reform faction disapproves the selection, and suggests that the powers oppose it if the empress wishes to carry it out.

The heir to the throne is Pu Chun, Prince Tuan. He was born in 1884. In 1885 Prince Chun, who had become one of the most powerful of the advisers of the dowager empress, obtained the honor of having his son named by the emperor, and a short time afterwards Pu Chun was selected as heir to the widow of one of the wealthiest Manchux princes. In the autumn of 1898, when the emperor was deprived of all but nominal power, it was announced that Pu Chun had been selected as the heir apparent to the throne.

It was announced in November last that Prince Tuan had fled to Kan Su. He is a Manchu of pure descent; is the grandson of the Emperor Taouk Wang, who died in 1850, and a nephew of the Emperor Hien Fung, who died in 1861. Prince Tuan's father, Prince Tun, was the most likely heir to the throne after Prince Taouk Wang's death, but his succession was set aside for some reason which has not been made public.

About the middle of this year Prince Tuan was said to be fomenting an insurrection in western Mongolia. He was last reported to be at Ulumski, in Turkestan, to which part of the world he had been banished as a result of the part which he took in the boxer uprising.

Monday morning he was found on the Southern Pacific railway in Orange county, five miles east, in a precarious condition, his head having been beat almost to jelly.

EVIDENCE ALMOST IN.

Schley's Counsel Says it Will Be Finished This Week.

WELLS ON THE STAND

He Was Schley's Secretary and Was Questioned at Some Length by Mr. Rayner and Turned Over to Lemly and Hanna.

Washington, Oct. 22.—Lieutenant B. W. Wells, Jr., flag lieutenant of Admiral Schley while the latter was in command of the flying squadron, occupied practically the entire time of the Schley court of inquiry yesterday. In his direct examination he continued his narrative. Lieutenant Wells was under cross examination for about two and a hours, largely at the hands of Mr. Hanna whose questions were directed mainly to the dispatches received and sent by the admiral, then Commodore Schley.

While this line of investigation was being exploited Mr. Rayner, speaking for Admiral Schley, said that the admiral was willing to admit that he had received the "Dear Schley" letter on the Dupont, which arrived at Cienfuegss on May 22, but he added that no duplicate of this dispatch had ever been received by Admiral Schley.

He said also that the admiral admitted the receipt of two copies of No. 8; Admiral Sampson's dispatch, saying that the Spanish fleet was probably at Santiago and telling Commodore Schley "if satisfied that it (the Spanish fleet) is not at Cienfuegos to proceed with all dispatch to Santiago." One of these being received by the Hawk May 23 and the other by the Marblehead May 24. Lieutenant Wells was still on the stand when the court adjourned for the day.

Washington, Oct. 22.—The Schley court of inquiry resumed its sessions at 11 yesterday morning. After the witnesses of former days had been recalled for the purpose of correcting their testimony, Lieutenant B. W. Wells, Jr., secretary to Commodore Schley during the Cuban campaign, resumed his testimony which he had begun on Friday. After a few preliminaries he began his narration of the battle of July 3. He was then questioned at some length by Mr. Rayner before he was turned over to Captain Lemly and Mr. Hanna for cross-examination.

The other witnesses called were Edward Graham, the Associated Press correspondent, who was with Commodore Schley on the Brooklyn from the beginning of the campaign at Hampton Roads until the close; Lieutenant Edward Simpson, who served on the Brooklyn and Dennis J. Cronin.

Among the former witnesses recalled was Captain Francis A, Cook who returned to the stand for the purpose of making a correction of his former testimony regarding the boilers of the Oregon.

It is the intention of Schley's counsel to finish the testimony by the end of the week and if no long cross examination is had he says the taking of evidence will certainly close by Saturday night.

ARMY COURT MARTIALS.

Over Two Hundred Were Given Death Sentences in the Philippines.

Washington, Oct. 22.—Gen. George B. Davis, judge advocate general of the army, has submitted to the secretary of war his annual report for the year ending June 30, 1901. It shows that during the year there were 6065 trials by general courtmartial, being 600 less than during the preceding year. Of these 16 were trials of commissioned officers, of whom 10 were convicted.

General Davis says death sentences were imposed by military commissions in about 242 cases, nearly all natives of of the Philippine islands, on conviction of more serious crimes and sentences were executed in about 101 cases. In most of remaining cases the sentences were commuted to imprisonment for terms varying from 15 years to life imprisonment, while in a few instances sentences were commuted to imprisonment for from 5 to 10 years and in other cases sentence disproved or set aside.

Preacher Kills a Burglar.

Madisonville, Ky., Oct. 22.—Rev. Eugene Harralson, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, here, shot and killed a negro named Jim Lewis Sunday night. Mr. Harralson heard some one trying to break into his house and the fatal shot was fired after the preacher had given up search for the supposed burglar and again heard the man trying to get into the room of Mrs. Harralson. The jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide.

Convicted of Murder.

Oklahoma City, O. T., Oct. 22.—Jas. Salyer has been convicted of the murder of William Davis, near Arcadia, O. T., in February, 1900, and will be sentenced to prison for life. Davis was a Kentuckian who had befriended Salyer, taking him on a prospecting expedition in Missouri and Oklahoma.

THE BOODLE RETURNED.

Stolen Bonds and Securities Taken Back to the Lowell Bank.

Lowell, Mass., Oct. 22.—Although the fact cannot be confirmed from official sources, it is believed the money and securities taken from the vault of the Merchants' National bank by two employes before they disappeared last Thursday, have been returned to the bank, for a number of bags, apparently containing money and bundles of paper believed to be bonds and bank securities, were delivered to the bank by a lawyer of Lowell who, it is understood, represents the absent men.

As the statement was made that the men cleaned out the bank vault before they left in order that they might be in a position to compel officials to promise immunity from punishment for any wrong doing which might come to light it is considered probable the men have reached an understanding with the bank officials and that the property of the institution was returned as the result.

A bank examiner from Washington began work on the books Sunday. The doors were opened as usual at 9 o'clock this morning.

WRECKED HIS HOUSE.

Dynamite Almost Totally Destroys the Home of Reed Morgan.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 22.—A dastard attempt to blow up the house of Reed Morgan, superintendent of the Murray mine, and kill him and family was made Sunday night. Mr Morgan's home is on Grant street one of the resident thoroughfares of this city. He had just opened the gate to go into the house when a terrific explosion occurred which nearly knocked him off his feet. When he was able to collect himself he saw that a portion of his dwelling had been wrecked. A further investigation showed that the whole rear portion of the house had been torn away by the explosion.

The general supposition is that some mine employe, who formerly worked for Morgan, and who imagined he had a grievance is at the bottom of the plot.

BIG STAMP STEAL.

Burglars Get $76,068 Worth from the Postoffice at Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—Burglars Sunday night stole $76,068 worth of stamps from the Chicago postoffice and escaped without leaving the slightest clew. A tunnel, which must have taken a week or more to complete, was run from the rear of the building and a hole was then drilled through the steel bottom of the wholesale stamp vault. There were 97 small holes around the square plate cut out and some of the drilling looked to be several days old. The stamp vault was only six feet away from the cashier's vault, which contained over $300,000 in cash. The latter evidently had been the objective point.

The People Are Delighted.

New York, Oct. 22.—The Simla correspondent of the New York Times and the London Times, says the envoy from Cabul at that city reports all quiet in Afghanistan. The envoy adds that the people are delighted with the new ameer and declares that the accession of Habib Ullah was like a feast after a feast, which graphically describes the situation, the Afghans having apparently accepted Habib Ullah with a sense of relief after Ameer Abdur Rahman's inflexible rule.

Collision on the Texas and Pacific.

Dallas, Oct. 22.—The eastbound "cannon ball" express on the Texas and Pacific for St. Louis was wrecked in the company's yards here yesterday morning in a collision with a switch engine. Engineer William Wilcox of Marshall, Tex., skull was fractured and Mail Clerk D. P. Kennedy of Fort Worth, was badly injured. No passengers were seriously hurt. Both engines were badly damaged, An open switch caused the accident.

Texas' New Health Officer.

Dr. Taber's appointment becomes effective Nov. 1. Dr. Taber has practiced medicine at Bryan for 16 years and has been through two yellow fever epidemics.

CELEBRATE HIS RELEASE.

Patrick McHugh Given a Welcome When Turned Out of Prison.

Dublin, Oct. 22.—Patrick A. McHugh, member of parliament for the north division of Leitrim, who was sentenced on April 23 to six months imprisonment as a firstclass misdemeanor for publishin his paper, The Sligo Champion, seditious libels calculated to interfere with the administration of justice, has been released from the Kilmainham jail.

McHugh was accorded an enthusiastic reception by a large crowd of people who repeatedly cheered him and eagerly rushed forward to shake hands with him. The lord mayor of Dublin, Sir Thomas D. Pile; a numerous deputation from Sligo and John O'Dowd, member for South Sligo, and John O'Donnell, member for South Mayo, were among those who welcomed his liberty. Mr. McHugh drove in the lord mayor's carriage, followed by a long procession of carriages to the hotel, where lunch was given in his honor.

Mr. McHugh will sail for New York with John Redmond and John O'Donnell on the steamer Majestic, which leaves Queenstown Thursday.

CARDINAL CANDIDATES.

It Is Said Many Are Aspiring to the Four Vacancies Existing.

London, Oct. 22.—Candidates for the "purple" robe at the consistory which the pope usually holds about Christmas time, according to the Rome correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette, are arising everywhere, their numbers seeming to increase in proportion to the distance from Rome. The United States for instance, besides the candidates of long standing, Archbishops Corrigan and Ireland who represent opposite tendencies in the American Catholic church, has on this occasion two additional aspirants for the red hat.

There are only four vacancies in the college of cardinals and the American prelates are thought to have few chances as the pope is credited with the determination not to have more than one cardinal in the United State, fearing the friction and antagonism would be difficult to harmonize and might be fatal to Catholicism in America.

ARMY REFORM BLOCKED.

British Officials Oppose to Reorganization of England's Militia.

New York, Oct. 22.—Concerning the South African situation, the London correspondent of The Tribune cables:

There are some curious tales going about with regard to the relations between General Roberts and Mr. Broderick. It is that things are not moving as smoothly as they might do in Pall Mall and that the secretary of war is not receiving that support from the military side of the war office which he is entitled to expect. Mr. Broderick is certainly doing his best to introduce reforms in his department, but the permanent officials are so poweful that a thorough reorganization is not to be expected. Not a few military men believe that General Kitchener is the only person really capable of tackling the serpent of red tape which strangles every attempt to run the war office on business lines.

A STORM RELIC.

A Vessel Wrecked in Galveston Storm Reaches New York Port.

New York, Oct. 22.—A souvenir of the Galveston hurricane of Sept. 8, 1900, has just reached this port in the shape of the British steamship Roma, of 1722 tons net, which was blown broadside by the current and swept through four bridges. Charles Clark & Co., who had floated six other steamships stranded by the hurricane, undertook to float the Roma, and she was sold to James Jerome, manager of the Saginaw Steamship company of San Francisco. The wreckers dug a deep trench and floated the steamer.

The Roma will be dry docked and overhauled at this port, whence she will double Cape Horn for the Pacific trade. Her new owners, it is stated, by spending three-fourths of her cost in repairs, will be allowed to fly the American flag.

Will Visit the United States.

New York, Oct. 22—According to The World there is a possibility that Crown Prince Wilhelm of Germany will visit the United States and probably New Jersey about April or May of next year. Emperor William is now having constructed at a shipyard in New Jersey a new yacht, ordered through the German minister at Washington. He intends ultimately to give the yacht to the crown prince, and on that account is desirous of having the son present when the trial trip is made. He wants the prince to study American methods in shipbuilding. The yacht will be ready in April The crown prince, if he comes, will be accompanied by several naval officers.

LAST AMERICAN CAMEL

Believed to Have Died Recently In Arizona.

AN EXPERIMENT THAT FAILED.

Attempt Made In the Fifties to Introduce the Camel Into the Southwest—Why It Was Not Successful. Wild Camels Seen at Intervals.

It is believed that the last American camel died in the Castle Dome mountains in southwestern Arizona a few years ago, and word has reached Phenix, says a correspondent from that place, from Fort Huachuca that a Mexican, known as Hi Jolly, who had charge of the first and only importation of camels ever made by the United States government, is on his deathbed at Quartzsite.

It was in 1853 that the idea of employing camels for transporting army supplies and equipment over the desert was conceived. At that time water could be carried over the waterless wastes only at a heavy expense in horses, oxen and mules. At that time, the heavy traffic to the California goldfields was in progress and the bones of thirst killed animals strewed the trail from Texas well into California. Under these conditions Lieutenant Edward F. Beale, who was later minister to Austria, but was then stationed at old Fort Yuma, conceived the idea that the use of camels would do away with the sufferings of emigrants and give the army a quick and certain method of transportation. He believed that the government should make the experiment and suggested the matter to Jefferson Davis, the secretary of war.

The war department approved the suggestion and a commission was sent out to ascertain the military uses to which camels could be put in the southwest. It reported favorably and an appropriation was secured of $30,000 for the purchase and importation of camels.

In December of the following year Major Charles Wayne was sent by the department to the orient, commissioned to buy seventy-five camels. In Egypt he bought half that number and secured the others in Smyrna, paying about $200 for each. The naval transport supply brought the camels, in charge of Hi Jolly, to the United States in 1857. Three died on the voyage. They were landed on the Texas coast, and, under the care of Captain J. N. Palmer, part of the herd were driven to Camp Verde, Arizona, and the others were sent at Indianola, Tex.

Months were devoted to a series of tests of the physical strength and endurance of the animals. Their employment met with great opposition from the army hostlers and teamsters. The camels were neglected, and a number of them died despite the efforts of the drivers to give them a fair trial. It was frequently reported that one or more had broken away and escaped during the night, and it was suspected that unusual zeal was not used to recapture the animals.

Until 1861 about thirty of them were at Forts Verde, El Paso and Yuma. The troopers and teamsters, however, could not be induced to use the beasts instead of horses and mules, partly because of the clumsiness of the camel and the labor necessary in preparing a camel for a trip, but largely because of an antipathy for the beasts. After the last year or two of their stay at the forts the camels were pensioned.

When the civil war came, and in the excitement of the times the camels were forgotten. The forts were abandoned when the troops were sent east, and the camels were allowed to wander away on the deserts, sometimes in pairs and sometimes in herds. They scattered through the deserts and mountains of Arizona, Texas and New Mexico and even wandered into northern Mexico, where several of them were seen years afterward in the Sierra Madre mountains.

In some instances they multiplied rapidly, and numbers of them were caught by white settlers, Mexicans and Indians, who tried, usually in vain, to domesticate them. Some cases are known in which descendants of the original herd were tamed and used as pack animals, and several of them were captured and sold to circus people. P. T. Barnum at one time secured four of them and added them to his exhibition herd.

Reports have frequently been brought in by prospectors that stray camels were seen in the foothills and among the cacti and sagebrush of the desert. They had become as wild as deer and even in the rocky hills had brought out a change in their appearance. Their hides had lost their hair, and their hoofs their cushions, becoming hard and horny.

Then for several years none of them were seen, and the failure of offers of large sums of money by circus people to secure some of them led to the belief that the last of the camels had disappeared. More than a year ago a pair of them, aged and feeble, were captured in the Castle Dome mountains and kept on a small ranch owned by the Howison brothers. A few months after the female died, apparently of old age, and since then her mate has been living away until he, too, died a few days ago.

Prize For Scientific Students.

Dr. W. D. Shelby, captain and assistant surgeon in the United States army, has given Hanover college, Indiana, a fund, from the proceeds of which a medal will be given each year for the student who ranks highest in scientific studies.

CROWDED WILD ANIMALS.

Serious Condition of the Occupants of the National Zoological Park.

Among the wards of the nation are not only the Indians and Eskimos so generally known, but also the 839 animals, small and large, which have been gathered into the National Zoological park at Washington. Judging from the recent report issued by the Smithsonian institution, which has charge of the park, the needs of these dumb dependents of the nation, which represent not only the animals of the United States, but of other countries, are sometimes lost sight of in the press of business with which congress is occupied. This state of things is considered the more deplorable since the park collection is being constantly increased by valuable contributions through American consuls and is used by zoologists as well as by artists and animal students, notably by such men as Charles R. Knight, J. M. Gleeson, L. A. Fuertes, Ernest Seton-Thompson, A. Radclyffe Dugmore and E. F. Keller.

S. P. Langley, secretary of the Smithsonian, says, for example, that among the imperative needs of the park are a suitable bird and reptile house, a house for small mammals and a building for the aquarium. The park, he says, has the nucleus for an excellent collection of aquatic birds, but no suitable winter quarters for them, no available bathing facilities, and as a consequence a fine group of flamingoes brought from Cuba was recently lost. The death rate among the parrots and macaws is also larger than it would be if they could be properly protected during the winter season.

The reptiles of the park are no better off, according to the detailed report of the superintendent. The rare and curious specimens of the giant tortoise from the Galapagos islands are housed in an office room wholly unsuitable, with little sunlight and insufficient ventilation. The alligators are unreasonably crowded and often injure themselves in consequence. With no room for tanks for other amphibious creatures no attempt can be made to preserve the American crocodile, now in danger of disappearing, as has the buffalo, or to obtain any of the large sea turtles of the American coast.

The case of the small mammals which are compelled to get along with no outside yards or secluded breeding places has resulted in complaints by visitors which the management have indorsed, although themselves unable to remedy the evils without aid from congress. The appeal of the regents of the Smithsonian institution for more liberal appropriations seems to have more than a sentimental basis, since the report shows that the deaths of animals last year reached 150, of which 87 were of birds and reptiles. If this death rate is allowed to continue, the value and permanency of the national "zoo" is threatened.

TO HARNESS CYCLONES.

Plan to Utilize the Zephyrs Which Blow Across the Prairies.

Professor B. B. Britts of Richland Center, Wis., has arrived in Omaha with a mysterious machine which he says will take power from the wind and store it in such a manner that it may be used at will. He maintains that he can bridle a slight breeze or a cyclone and convert its power to the use of man.

Omaha capitalists have been asked to invest in a plant for the manufacture of Britts' strange machine. The inventor guards his secret with great care, but says that he will be in a position to make a public demonstration of the cyclone harnessing machine in a short time. He maintains that patents are pending and hopes to have his rights so fully protected that his invention may be put into common use before the opening of next year.

When asked if his plan was superior to the scheme of utilizing the sun's rays in generating power, Britts said that he has spent much time in investigating the plants constructed in California for the utilization of the sun's rays and that he is confident that his machine is far superior to anything of the sort ever tried.

"In this western country there is never a time," said Inventor Britts, "when there is not sufficient wind to make it possible for my device to acquire power. It is different from a windmill and is so carefully constructed that it may be operated with the slightest breeze. My invention will do away with all other methods of generating power. It is applicable to locomotives and will displace electricity and compressed air in propelling street cars. It will also be valuable for navigation purposes and will make coaling stations and steam power a thing of history."

Autumn.

The rose of summer puts its glory by;
A shadow o'er the velvet petals falls,
And faded ferns upon the hillside lie;
The tiny owl unto the twilight calls.

The goldenrod has husbanded its coin
Safely within the mint, no hint betrays,
Sitting in dust and ashes all forlorn,
Unmeasured riches of the former days.

The pink spirea has grown brown and sere,
The goldenrod forgets its days of gold;
The bluejay shrieks that autumn days are here,
The bashful chickadee is pert and bold.

The squirrel chuckles o'er his winter store—
"'Tis only they who work may hope to thrive."
The tender birds have sought a southern shore;
The brown bee early seeks the sheltering hive.

The trees suffused with blushes softly weep,
Distil red tears that cover all the ground,
And autumn's arms have rocked the birds to sleep
Ere winter spreads a snowy blanket round.

God touches softly all the finer keys
Of life, attunes them to the sweetest sound;
The threads of gold, the perfect harmonies,
In one rich braid, one perfect whole, are bound.
—Nelly Hart Woodworth in Boston Journal.

TO CONTROL COMBINES

Proposed Recommendations of Industrial Commission.

WIDE DIVERSITY OF OPINIONS

Suggestions That Will Probably Be Made to Congress—Publicity One of the Plans Proposed—Improvement of Present System, State Control and Federal Control.

Wide division of opinion in the industrial commission will be shown in its report to congress on trusts, says the Washington correspondent of the New York Herald, and there will be at least three diverse recommendations as follows:

First.—Stricter antitrust legislation by the several states and by congress without altering the present relations between their respective jurisdictions.

Second.—The delegation by congress to the states of its interstate commerce jurisdiction, so as to allow the states to regulate manufacturing or trading corporations engaged in interstate commerce.

Third.—The assumption by the national government of a larger and perhaps exclusive control of all such corporations, and their regulation by act of congress.

These three methods of meeting the trust problem have been designated for convenience by the commission as, first, the present system improved; second, the state control system, and, third, the system of federal control.

Publicity is a conspicuous and important feature of each of these systems. It will be recommended in each of the three reports that trusts be required to show not only their gross and net earnings, but also the character of receipts and expenditures and the form of the agreements under which the constituent companies are operating.

This subject of trusts is the rock on which the commission will split. The members have been discussing the matter with a view to securing a majority report, but it has become evident to all that their divergence of opinion will prevent this.

The commission will recommend the enactment of more stringent immigration laws. Considerable attention has been given to this subject and the members are practically unanimous in their view on how the existing statutes should be amended. The assassination of President McKinley by Leon Czolgosz has inspired a strong recommendation.

The commission will urge the establishment of a system of inspection of all immigrants at the ports of embarkation in Europe, with a view to detecting persons of anarchistic tendencies, who intend to sail for the United States, where they may have more freedom in advancing their propaganda of assassination. This system, it is proposed, shall be operated in conjunction with the governments of Europe.

Two other methods of preventing the arrival of anarchists from abroad will be suggested. The first is to apply to cabin passengers the same rigorous rules of inspection to which steerage immigrants must submit on arrival at the point of debarkation in the United States. The second is to extend the period of possible deportations from one year to two or more years. Under the present law any alien who has resided in this country twelve months is exempt from deportation. These propositions are calculated to affect other undesirable foreigners than anarchists. There is little sentiment in the commission in favor of an educational test for the average immigrant.

Another recommendation is that Congress re-enact the Chinese exclusion law. The Geary act will soon expire by limitation, and the members of the commission have given heed to the urgent requests of labor organizations that the bars against oriental immigration shall not be lowered.

The New Philippines Bishop.

The Rev. Charles Henry Brent, who has been nominated for bishop of the Philippines by the Episcopal general convention, was born in Newcastle, Ont., in 1862, and was graduated from Trinity college, Toronto, in 1884. His first clerical charge was at St. Paul's pro-cathedral, Buffalo, where he was an assistant for the first year after his entrance into the ministry. In 1888 Mr. Brent went to Boston to work in the high church parish of St. John the Evangelist, under Father Hall, who later became bishop of Vermont. In 1891, on Father Hall's elevation to the bishopric, Mr. Brent was transferred to St. Stephen's church, where he has since remained. St. Augustine's Episcopal church, in the west end, is a monument to Mr. Brent's zeal and energy among the colored people of Boston. In the early part of last month he was nominated to the chair of pastoral theology in the General Theological seminary in Boston, the election to which is to take place in December. He has done considerable work of a literary nature, having been connected editorially for some time with the New York Churchman. He is the author of the book, "With God In the World."

Caught Strange Big Fish.

A few days ago two fishermen observed a dark object in the surf near the big elephant at Atlantic City. They found it to be a monster fish of some unknown species, and it required a horse and tackle to pull it ashore. The fish is nine feet in length and four feet in circumference. It has three rows of saw teeth and fins like a walrus. None of the old fishermen who examined it could name it.

CAMPAIGN BUTTONS.

Making of Them Is a Unique Business.

It seems that there is at least one man in the community to whom the nominations of the two city conventions were no surprise, says the New York Tribune. He is the man who furnishes the campaign buttons which have become a prominent feature in all political contests. A few minutes after it had been decided that Mr. Low should be the fusion candidate for mayor "Bim, the button man," appeared at the Fifth Avenue hotel and distributed handfuls of Low buttons and with every lot he gave away he threw in for good measure the remark, "I told you so!"

When Tammany had its convention called for the purpose of indorsing the choice of Croker, Bim was on hand again. The house resounded with cheers for Coler, but Bim passed among the delegates and spectators and distributed Shepard buttons and made the same self satisfied remark with which he had greeted the friends of fusion at the Fifth Avenue hotel a few days before.

"If I could pick the winning horses in Saratoga," he said, "with as much certainty as I can local candidates, I'd have money enough to buy the city hall. Last summer, when everybody was making wild guesses about the nominations, I laid in a stock of Low buttons, and two weeks before Shepard was spoken of I had three barrels of Shepard buttons ready to put on the market. Of course there were several barrels of other buttons ready in case the cat jumped the other way, but it couldn't jump any way and get out of my reach."

When they were first introduced, campaign buttons were worn by men to show their political leaning in a campaign. The sales were comparatively small because the price was high, but improved methods have made the campaign button a cheap article and the sales have become enormous. They are packed in boxes containing 1,000, and cases containing fifty or a hundred of these boxes are sent to headquarters and to candidates who wish to distribute them.

"If buttons were used only by voters," said Bim, "our business would shrink. Thousands and tens of thousands are 'taken home to the baby,' bushels of buttons are used by the boys on the streets to play with, as they do with marbles, and great quantities are put away in collections."

OUR ENGINEERS IN RUSSIA.

American Mechanical Triumphs In the Czar's Realm.

The new German monthly periodical, Russia and Germany, contains a long article concerning the commercial relations between Russia and the United States, writes the United States consul at Frankfort, Germany. It notes that although the trade between the two countries is not large, American enterprise has gained triumphs in another field in Russia. The transportation problems in the Asiatic possessions resemble those solved in the United States. American engineers have rendered valuable services in the Manchurian railroad and the East Siberian line. In European Russia, also, the government is availing itself of their experience. The ice breaker Jermak was modeled on those employed on the great lakes in the United States. An American has shown Russia how to dredge her rivers at a great saving of expense.

The journal adds: "These facts show that American competition, even if today it does not figure formidably in the trade of Russia, will surely be felt in this rich country in the future. The advantages of the Americans must be offset by a new German-Russian treaty. The German is much superior to the American in adapting his goods and his mode of conducting business to the requirements of the Russian markets."

Dallas a Harness Making Center.

"It is not generally known that Dallas, Tex., manufactures more harness and saddles than any other city in America and perhaps than any other place in the world," said A. A. Green, a prominent resident of that city, recently in the Washington Post. "This industry has grown immensely in the last year. The products are distributed over a wide area of country, over Texas, Oklahoma, up through the Mississippi valley, to the west and, for that matter, over most of the states of the Union to some extent. Dallas is also rapidly becoming a great center for the manufacture of agricultural and farm machinery. The field supplied from Dallas in these products is very extensive indeed."

Platinum Found In Egypt.

M. Berthelot, a French savant, has discovered platinum in Egypt. Examining a metal box, once the property of an Egyptian queen in the seventh century B. C., he found a plate supposed to be silver. Closer examination showed that the plate is made of an alloy of platinum and gold. The box itself is otherwise interesting, its sides being covered with inscriptions and designs in gold and silver. It hails from Thebes. The platinum probably came from the alluvial deposits in the valley of the upper Nile.

Four Times Reported Killed.

W. J. Kelly of New York, supposed to have committed suicide at Bangor, Wis., by throwing himself in front of a moving train, has been located. He says it is the fourth time he has been reported dead. Three times he was reported to have committed suicide, and once he was nearly buried alive. The man killed at Bangor this time was enough like Kelly to be his twin.

English History, Biography and Literature is What
"A SYNOPSIS OF ENGLISH LITERATURE,"
By W. H. Garrett is.

Covers a period of 1500 years. Tells of nearly 125 of England's most noted writers—when they were born, when they died, and what they wrote. Tells of the influences that effected each one. Names all the important events in English History and tells when they happened. Names all the English Kings and Queens and tells when they ruled. It indicates more about figures of speech and poetry than any half dozen rhetorics. A veritable cyclopedia; a life long study mapped out.

DUBLIN, TEXAS, FRIDAY, OCT, 25, 1901.

The board of managers of the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo say that up to the present time over five million people have visited the exposition.

In the amount of operative telegr wires the United States leads th orld with one mile of wire for ev seventy-seven population. G Britain and Ireland have a m to every one hundred and th persons.

The Moran Weekly Eagle is the title of a new paper recently established by Trammell Bros. The paper is very creditably gotten up and if the venture meets with the success it deserves it will supply a long felt want at the thriving little city of Moran.

It is a common opinion that Missourians have to be "shown" in everything. This is not the case however in the manufacture of cob pipes, for the product of that state last year numbered seventeen million pipes, valued at nearly three hundred thousand dollars.

The democracy of Massachusetts has withdrawn the right hand of fellowship from George Fred Williams of that state, who has for years been a leader in the party, three times its candidate for governor and was last campaign an ardent supporter of Bryan. In fact, he has been "bodily kicked out of the party."

Former Governor Jas. S. Hogg, who made such a howl about trusts and combinations whille running for the democratic nomination for governor, is now reported in New York in company with James S. Swayne of Ft. Worth, engaged in an effort to interest capital in procuring all the oil land in the Beaumont field in one big conbination.

A SCIENTIFIC BREAKFAST.

Rightly selected food will cure more than half the diseases. Try a scientific and healthy breakfast:—Fruit of some kind, perfectly cooked; a dish of Grape-Nuts, with cream; two soft boiled eggs. Put two eggs in a tin pint cup of boiling water, cover and set off for nine minutes. Whites will be the consistency of cream and most easily digested. One slice of bread with butter, cup of Postum Cereal Food Coffee.

On that breakfast you can work like a horse and be perfectly nourished until noon. Your nervous troubles, heart palpitation, stomach and bowel troubles, kidney complaints and various other disorders will gardually disappear and firm solid health will set in.

Why? You have probably been living on poorly selected food, that is, food that does not contain the required elements the body needs. That sort of food, and coffee, is the direct or indirect cause of more than half the ills the human body acquires.

Grape-Nuts is a perfectly cooked food and both that and the Postum Food Coffee contain fine microscopic particles of phosphate of potash obtained in a natural way from the grains of the field and by scientific food experts incorporated into food and drink. That element joins with the albumen in food to make gray matter, which is the filling of the brain cells and the nerve centers all over the human body.

A man or woman thus fed is scientificaily fed and rapidly grows in vigor and vitality, and becomes capable of conducting successfully the affairs of life. To produce a perfect body and a money making brain, the body must have the right kind of food and the expert food specialists know how to make it. That is Grape-Nuts and Postum Cereal Food Coffee, produced at the food factories of the Postum al Co., Ltd., at Battle Creek, higan.

Col. Henry Watterson of the Louisville Courier Journal has announced his intention to make the race for the democratic nomination for governor of Kentucky in the next campsign. He has made a bad start very early in the campaign by criticising President Roosevelt's action in the Booker Washington incident, for extending the ordinary civility due from the president to every person with whom he advises to secure information. This sort of pandering to race prejudice as a means to gaining notoriety is for below what should be expected of any high-minded gentlemen seeking the office of governor of a sovereign state.

On high authority it is stated in Washington dispatches that the policy of the administration under President Roosevelt will pursue the same tenor regarding the South African war as has characterized the administration of the late President McKinley. It had been announced in the dispatches that the United States was sounding the powers of continental Europe with a view to ascertaining if they were prepared to act with her in restoring peace in South Africa, but it is stated that no such action was taken or is contemplated.

Quite a flurry has been created in Washington and in fact throughout the country by the recent action of President Roosevelt in entertaining the noted negro writer and lecturer, Booker T. Washington, which occurred during the latters recent visit to Washington. A great many prominent citizens have been expressing their commendation of the president in thus recognizing the brilliant negro.

Will Fulkerson, city marshal of Stephenville, was in the city yesterday.

John Holden of DeLeon was terribly lacerated on the right foot and leg last Tuesday morning by a dog presumed to be mad. He had stepped out of the back gate at the Key hotel in De Leon, where he was employed, and without any warning the dog grabbed him by the foot, with the other he tried to kick the animal away, but his efforts along this line were not successful and he caught the dog by the neck and choked him loose. The dog was at once shot and precautions taken to confine other dogs that had been exposed. Mr. Holden left for Desdemonia where he tried a mad stone with indifferent results, probably because it was broken in two or three places. He came from there to Dublin and tried a stone here, which stuck on one of the wounds fairly well. He will continue to use the stone and in the meantime take medical treatment to try to offset any poison that might result. Mr. Holden has been in De Leon but a short time, having made a crop this year on the Walker place near Theny.

Mrs. Charlotte Josephine Catherine Reid, wife of R. Reid of this city, died at the family home in Ross addition Monday night and was buried at the New Cemetery on the following evening. She would have been sixty years of age next December and leaves four grown children, by the husband who survives her and was also the mother of Mr. G. W. Stancil by her first husband. She was a christian and model woman, a member of the Baptist church for twenty-five years and loved by everyone who knew her. To the aged companion who survives her and to the surviving children the Progress extends its sincere sympathy. The children are: Mrs. L. B. Braswell of Morgan, Mrs. Will Shultz of near Waxahachie, Mrs. L. D. Keith and Joe Reid of Dublin, besides G. W. Stancil of Dublin. The deceased was a lineal descendant of the celebrated English navigator Sir Francis Drake.

W. W. Kilpatrick, living four miles northwest of Comanche, has been trying diversification of crops. In 1895 he planted one thousand apple trees on twelve acres of land. There is now eight hundred of the trees living. They have been bearing for three years. Last year they bore about five hundred bushels. This year the crop will reach one thousand bushels, for which he has a ready market at $1.25 per bushel, or $1,250 off twelve acres of land. He also has peaches and pears, but has found the apple crop more certain, more easily handled and finds a better market for it. His land is a deep sandy soil with clay foundation. The Ben Davis variety has proven to be the most thrifty and to give best results.

Mr. J. H. Whitten and Miss Nellie Ivey were married Sunday afternoon, while seated in their carriage about one and a half miles from Dublin on the Purvis road. The young couple had intended to surprise their friends and in company with John Lewis and lady left that evening for the home of Rev. W. S. Evans near Purves, whom they intended should perform the ceremony. On the way out there they met Rev. Boone of Dublin, and called upon him to perform the service, which he did in a very few moments. The contracting parties are both well and favorably known in Dublin and have many friends with whom the Progress joins in extending congratulations.

Henry Bain, colored, was very severly hurt at the compress last Tuesday evening. He was engaged at the press at a duty particularly dangerous in the event an accident should occur. Through some mistake a signal was given to turn on the steam that drops the lower lip of the press and releases the cotton bale. In coming down this piece caught Bain's heel and terribly crushed and lacerated the heel and tore the ligaments running up the back of the leg. He is reported doing very well at present.

Manager C. H. Bencini of the oil mills at Dublin, Brownwood, Stephville and Hico has, contracted with the Yellow Pine Oil Co., at Beaumont for a supply of fuel oil for each of the mills. A thirty thousand gallon oil tank will be put in at each of the mills as soon as is practicable and oil burners will take the place of coal grates. This change is expected to effect an annual saving in the expense account of the four mills of $15,000 a year, or about half of the total cast of fuel.

Lee Harris at the the Dublin National bank, received a telegram last Wednesday morning from John G. Harris stating that he had just arrived in New York and had immediately gone under treatment at the Pastenr institute. The telegram was dated Tuesday afternoon. Last Saturday night a number of fence cutters litterally riddled a wire fence around a four hundred acre block of land on the Leon river near Hazel Dell, which belonged to J. A. Holman. The land had been leased by Cary Peeples of Dublin and Sam McCain of Coleman and the work had just been finished, preparatory to feeding cattle on the property. It is said that the fence was completely destroyed, the wire being cut between every post.

The board of managers of the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo say that up to the present time over five million people have visited the exposition.

The Moran Weekly Eagle is the title of a new paper recently established by Trammell Bros. The paper is very creditably gotten up and if the venture meets with the success it deserves it will supply a long felt want at the thriving little city of Moran.

It is a common opinion that Missourians have to be "shown" in everything. This is not the case however in the manufacture of cob pipes, for the product of that state last year numbered seventeen million pipes, valued at nearly three hundred thousand dollars.

The democracy of Massachusetts has withdrawn the right hand of fellowship from George Fred Williams of that state, who has for years been a leader in the party, three times its candidate for governor and was last campaign an ardent supporter of Bryan. In fact, he has been "bodily kicked out of the party."

Former Governor Jas. S. Hogg, who made such a howl about trusts and combinations whille running for the democratic nomination for governor, is now reported in New York in company with James S. Swayne of Ft. Worth, engaged in an effort to interest capital in procuring all the oil land in the Beaumont field in one big conbination.

A SCIENTIFIC BREAKFAST.

Rightly selected food will cure more than half the diseases. Try a scientific and healthy breakfast:—Fruit of some kind, perfectly cooked; a dish of Grape-Nuts, with cream; two soft boiled eggs. Put two eggs in a tin pint cup of boiling water, cover and set off for nine minutes. Whites will be the consistency of cream and most easily digested. One slice of bread with butter, cup of Postum Cereal Food Coffee.

On that breakfast you can work like a horse and be perfectly nourished until noon. Your nervous troubles, heart palpitation, stomach and bowel troubles, kidney complaints and various other disorders will gardually disappear and firm solid health will set in.

Why? You have probably been living on poorly selected food, that is, food that does not contain the required elements the body needs. That sort of food, and coffee, is the direct or indirect cause of more than half the ills the human body acquires.

Grape-Nuts is a perfectly cooked food and both that and the Postum Food Coffee contain fine microscopic particles of phosphate of potash obtained in a natural way from the grains of the field and by scientific food experts incorporated into food and drink. That element joins with the albumen in food to make gray matter, which is the filling of the brain cells and the nerve centers all over the human body.

A man or woman thus fed is scientifically fed and rapidly grows in vigor and vitality, and becomes capable of conducting successfully the affairs of life. To produce a perfect body and a money making brain, the body must have the right kind of food and the expert food specialists know how to make it. That is Grape-Nuts and Postum Cereal Food Coffee, produced at the pure food factories of the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., at Battle Creek, Michigan.

Col. Henry Watterson of the Louisville Courier Journal has announced his intention to make the race for the democratic nomination for governor of Kentucky in the next campaign. He has made a bad start very early in the campaign by criticising President Roosevelt's action in the Booker Washington incident, for extending the ordinary civility due from the president to every person with whom he advises to secure information. This sort of pandering to race prejudice as a means to gaining notoriety is for below what should be expected of any high-minded gentlemen seeking the office of governor of a sovereign state.

On high authority it is stated in Washington dispatches that the policy of the administration under President Roosevelt will pursue the same tenor regarding the South African war as has characterized the administration of the late President McKinley. It had been announced in the dispatches that the United States was sounding the powers of continental Europe with a view to ascertaining if they were prepared to act with her in restoring peace in South Africa, but it is stated that no such action was taken or is contemplated.

Quite a flurry has been created in Washington and in fact throughout the country by the recent action of President Roosevelt in entertaining the noted negro writer and lecturer, Booker T. Washington, which occurred during the latters recent visit to Washington. A great many prominent citizens have been expressing their commendation of the president in thus recognizing the brilliant negro.

As he fell one of the horses kicked him in the face, badly mutilating his nose. He also received very painful injuries on the hip and shoulder. He is about thirteen years old and son of C. W. Barrett of this city.

The members of the Stephenville gun club are proud of having won the medal from the Dublin club last week, especially as the Dublin club had met with Hico, Comanche, Brownwood and others this year and this was the first defeat. Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is the means of life, and enjoyment of life to thousands: men women and children.

When appetite fails, it restores it. When food is a burden, it lifts the burden.

When you lose flesh, it brings the plumpness of health.

When work is hard and duty is heavy, it makes life bright.

It is the thin edge of the wedge; the thick end is food. But what is the use of food, when you hate it, and can't digest it?

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is the food that makes you forget your stomach.

If you have not tried it, send for free sample. Its agreeable taste will surprise you.

A large number of the friends of R. B. Spencer and lady were entertained last Tuesday evening at their hospitable home on north Patrick, the occasion being a crystal wedding celebrating the fifteenth anniversary of their marriage, each of whom on this happy occasion looked as young as many of their friends present remembered them to have looked on the day of their wedding. Refreshments were served in an elegant manner and the host and hostess and assistants made those who were fortunate enough to be present spend a pleasant evening. A large quantity of presents in cut glass were presented in slight testimonial of the high regard in which this couple is held by young and old alike. The Progress extends to Mr. and Mrs. Spencer its congratulations and hopes that they may live to happily celebrate many more wedding days.

John Holden of DeLeon was terribly lacerated on the right foot and leg last Tuesday morning by a dog presumed to be mad. He had stepped out of the back gate at the Key hotel in De Leon, where he was employed, and without any warning the dog grabbed him by the foot, with the other he tried to kick the animal away, but his efforts along this line were not successful and he caught the dog by the neck and choked him loose. The dog was at once shot and precautions taken to confine other dogs that had been exposed. Mr. Holden left for Desdemonia where he tried a mad stone with indifferent results, probably because it was broken in two or three places. He came from there to Dublin and tried a stone here, which stuck on one of the wounds fairly well. He will continue to use the stone and in the meantime take medical treatment to try to offset any poison that might result. Mr. Holden has been in De Leon but a short time, having made a crop this year on the Walker place near Theny.

Mrs. Charlotte Josephine Catherine Reid, wife of R. Reid of this city, died at the family home in Ross addition Monday night and was buried at the New Cemetery on the following evening. She would have been sixty years of age next December and leaves four grown children, by the husband who survives her and was also the mother of Mr. G. W. Stancil by her first husband. She was a christian and model woman, a member of the Baptist church for twenty-five years and loved by everyone who knew her. To the aged companion who survives her and to the surviving children the Progress extends its sincere sympathy. The children are: Mrs. L. B. Braswell of Morgan, Mrs. Will Shultz of near Waxahachie, Mrs. L. D. Keith and Joe Reid of Dublin, besides G. W. Stancil of Dublin. The deceased was a lineal descendant of the celebrated English navigator Sir Francis Drake.

W. W. Kilpatrick, living four miles northwest of Comanche, has been trying diversification of crops. In 1895 he planted one thousand apple trees on twelve acres of land. There is now eight hundred of the trees living. They have been bearing for three years. Last year they bore about five hundred bushels. This year the crop will reach one thousand bushels, for which he has a ready market at $1.25 per bushel, or $1,250 off twelve acres of land. He also has peaches and pears, but has found the apple crop more certain, more easily handled and finds a better market for it. His land is a deep sandy soil with clay foundation. The Ben Davis variety has proven to be the most thrifty and to give best results.

Mr. J. H. Whitten and Miss Nellie Ivey were married Sunday afternoon, while seated in their carriage about one and a half miles from Dublin on the Purvis road. The young couple had intended to surprise their friends and in company with John Lewis and lady left that evening for the home of Rev. W. S. Evans near Purves, whom they intended should perform the ceremony. On the way out there they met Rev. Boone of Dublin, and called upon him to perform the service, which he did in a very few moments. The contracting parties are both well and favorably known in Dublin and have many friends with whom the Progress joins in extending congratulations.

Henry Bain, colored, was very severly hurt at the compress last Tuesday evening. He was engaged at the press at a duty particularly dangerous in the event an accident should occur. Through some mistake a signal was given to turn on the steam that drops the lower lip of the press and releases the cotton bale. In coming down this piece caught Bain's heel and terribly crushed and lacerated the heel and tore the ligaments running up the back of the leg. He is reported doing very well at present.

Manager C. H. Bencini of the oil mills at Dublin, Brownwood, Stephville and Hico has, contracted with the Yellow Pine Oil Co., at Beaumont for a supply of fuel oil for each of the mills. A thirty thousand gallon oil tank will be put in at each of the mills as soon as is practicable and oil burners will take the place of coal grates. This change is expected to effect an annual saving in the expense account of the four mills of $15,000 a year, or about half of the total cast of fuel.

Lee Harris at the the Dublin National bank, received a telegram last Wednesday morning from John G. Harris stating that he had just arrived in New York and had immediately gone under treatment at the Pastenr institute. The telegram was dated Tuesday afternoon. Our readers will remember that the Progress of last week contained an account of Mr. Harris having been bitten by a rabid dog.

DUBLIN, TEXAS, FRIDAY, OCT. 25, 1901.

The board of managers of the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo say that up to the present time over five million people have visited the exposition.

The amount of operative telegr wires the United States leads th orld with one mile of wire for ev seventy-seven population. G Britain and Ireland have a m to every one hundred and th persons.

The Moran Weekly Eagle is the title of a new paper recently established by Trammell Bros. The paper is very creditably gotten up and if the venture meets with the success it deserves it will supply a long felt want at the thriving little city of Moran.

It is a common opinion that Missourians have to be "shown" in everything. This is not the case however in the manufacture of cob pipes, for the product of that state last year numbered seventeen million pipes, valued at nearly three hundred thousand dollars.

The democracy of Massachusetts has withdrawn the right hand of fellowship from George Fred Williams of that state, who has for years been a leader in the party, three times its candidate for governor and was last campaign an ardent supporter of Bryan. In fact, he has been "bodily kicked out of the party."

Former Governor Jas. S. Hogg, who made such a howl about trusts and combinations whille running for the democratic nomination for governor, is now reported in New York in company with James S. Swayne of Ft. Worth, engaged in an effort to interest capital in procuring all the oil land in the Beaumont field in one big conbination.

A SCIENTIFIC BREAKFAST.

Rightly selected food will cure more than half the diseases. Try a scientific and healthy breakfast:—Fruit of some kind, perfectly cooked; a dish of Grape-Nuts, with cream; two soft boiled eggs. Put two eggs in a tin pint cup of boiling water, cover and set off for nine minutes. Whites will be the consistency of cream and most easily digested. One slice of bread with butter, cup of Postum Cereal Food Coffee.

On that breakfast you can work like a horse and be perfectly nourished until noon. Your nervous troubles, heart palpitation, stomach and bowel troubles, kidney complaints and various other disorders will gardually disappear and firm solid health will set in.

Why? You have probably been living on poorly selected food, that is, food that does not contain the required elements the body needs. That sort of food, and coffee, is the direct or indirect cause of more than half the ills the human body acquires.

Grape-Nuts is a perfectly cooked food and both that and the Postum Food Coffee contain fine microscopic particles of phosphate of potash obtained in a natural way from the grains of the field and by scientific food experts incorporated into food and drink. That element joins with the albumen in food to make gray matter, which is the filling of the brain cells and the nerve centers all over the human body.

A man or woman thus fed is scientifically fed and rapidly grows in vigor and vitality, and becomes capable of conducting successfully the affairs of life. To produce a perfect body and a money making brain, the body must have the right kind of food and the expert food specialists know how to make it. That is Grape-Nuts and Postum Cereal Food Coffee, produced at the pure food factories of the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., at Battle Creek, Michigan.

Col. Henry Watterson of the Louisville Courier Journal has announced his intention to make the race for the democratic nomination for governor of Kentucky in the next campaign. He has made a bad start very early in the campaign by criticising President Roosevelt's action in the Booker Washington incident, for extending the ordinary civility due from the president to every person with whom he advises to secure information. This sort of pandering to race prejudice as a means to gaining notoriety is for below what should be expected of any high-minded gentlemen seeking the office of governor of a sovereign state.

On high authority it is stated in Washington dispatches that the policy of the administration under President Roosevelt will pursue the same tenor regarding the South African war as has characterized the administration of the late President McKinley. It had been announced in the dispatches that the United States was sounding the powers of continental Europe with a view to ascertaining if they were prepared to act with her in restoring peace in South Africa, but it is stated that no such action was taken or is contemplated.

Quite a flurry has been created in Washington and in fact throughout the country by the recent action of President Roosevelt in entertaining the noted negro writer and lecturer, Booker T. Washington, which occurred during the latters recent visit to Washington. A great many prominent citizens have been expressing their commendation of the president in thus recognizing the brilliant negro.

Will Fulkerson, city marshal of Stephenville, was in the city yesterday.

John Holden of DeLeon was terribly lacerated on the right foot and leg last Tuesday morning by a dog presumed to be mad. He had stepped out of the back gate at the Key hotel in De Leon, where he was employed, and without any warning the dog grabbed him by the foot, with the other he tried to kick the animal away, but his efforts along this line were not successful and he caught the dog by the neck and choked him loose. The dog was at once shot and precautions taken to confine other dogs that had been exposed. Mr. Holden left for Desdemonia where he tried a mad stone with indifferent results, probably because it was broken in two or three places. He came from there to Dublin and tried a stone here, which stuck on one of the wounds fairly well. He will continue to use the stone and in the meantime take medical treatment to try to offset any poison that might result. Mr. Holden has been in De Leon but a short time, having made a crop this year on the Walker place near Theny.

Mrs. Charlotte Josephine Catherine Reid, wife of R. Reid of this city, died at the family home in Ross addition Monday night and was buried at the New Cemetery on the following evening. She would have been sixty years of age next December and leaves four grown children, by the husband who survives her and was also the mother of Mr. G. W. Stancil by her first husband. She was a christian and model woman, a member of the Baptist church for twenty-five years and loved by everyone who knew her. To the aged companion who survives her and to the surviving children the Progress extends its sincere sympathy. The children are: Mrs. L. B. Braswell of Morgan, Mrs. Will Shultz of near Waxahachie, Mrs. L. D. Keith and Joe Reid of Dublin, besides G. W. Stancil of Dublin. The deceased was a lineal descendant of the celebrated English navigator Sir Francis Drake.

W. W. Kilpatrick, living four miles northwest of Comanche, has been trying diversification of crops. In 1895 he planted one thousand apple trees on twelve acres of land. There is now eight hundred of the trees living. They have been bearing for three years. Last year they bore about five hundred bushels. This year the crop will reach one thousand bushels, for which he has a ready market at $1.25 per bushel, or $1,250 off twelve acres of land. He also has peaches and pears, but has found the apple crop more certain, more easily handled and finds a better market for it. His land is a deep sandy soil with clay foundation. The Ben Davis variety has proven to be the most thrifty and to give best results.

Mr. J. H. Whitten and Miss Nellie Ivey were married Sunday afternoon, while seated in their carriage about one and a half miles from Dublin on the Purvis road. The young couple had intended to surprise their friends and in company with John Lewis and lady left that evening for the home of Rev. W. S. Evans near Purves, whom they intended should perform the ceremony. On the way out there they met Rev. Boone of Dublin, and called upon him to perform the service, which he did in a very few moments. The contracting parties are both well and favorably known in Dublin and have many friends with whom the Progress joins in extending congratulations.

Henry Bain, colored, was very severly hurt at the compress last Tuesday evening. He was engaged at the press at a duty particularly dangerous in the event an accident should occur. Through some mistake a signal was given to turn on the steam that drops the lower lip of the press and releases the cotton bale. In coming down this piece caught Bain's heel and terribly crushed and lacerated the heel and tore the ligaments running up the back of the leg. He is reported doing very well at present.

Manager C. H. Bencini of the oil mills at Dublin, Brownwood, Stephville and Hico has, contracted with the Yellow Pine Oil Co., at Beaumont for a supply of fuel oil for each of the mills. A thirty thousand gallon oil tank will be put in at each of the mills as soon as is practicable and oil burners will take the place of coal grates. This change is expected to effect an annual saving in the expense account of the four mills of $15,000 a year, or about half of the total cast of fuel.

Lee Harris at the the Dublin National bank, received a telegram last Wednesday morning from John G. Harris stating that he had just arrived in New York and had immediately gone under treatment at the Pastenr institute. The telegram was dated Tuesday afternoon. Our readers will remember that the Progress of last week contained an account of Mr. Harris having been bitten by a rabid dog.

Last Saturday night a number of fence cutters litterally riddled a wire fence around a four hundred acre block of land on the Leon river near Hazel Dell, which belonged to J. A. Holman. The land had been leased by Cary Peeples of Dublin and Sam McCain of Coleman and the work had just been finished, preparatory to feeding cattle on the property. It is said that the fence was completely destroyed, the wire being cut between every post.

The Mistake of the Polar Bear.

Nordenskjold found that the white bears generally went through a long performance of stalking his sailors, clearly on the mistaken conclusion that they were seals. As the men were clothed partly in sealskin, it was a very natural mistake. But the interest of the story lies in the generalization made by the bear. The bear said:

"There are two or three seals, one standing up on its flippers in a very unusual way. I will therefore stalk them unseen as long as I can and when they see me pretend to be doing something else."

So the men, with their guns and lances, who wanted to shoot the bear had the pleasure of seeing him carefully crawling behind rocks and ice hummocks, making long detours this way and that and every now and then clambering up a rock and peeping cautiously over to see if the seals had gone. On the open snow the bear would saunter off in another direction and then, falling flat, push himself along on his belly, with his great front paws covering his black muzzle, the only thing not matching the snow about him. Just as the bear thought he had got his "seal" the latter fired and shot him, a victim of false analogy. —Spectator.

Norwegian Hotel Fire Escapes.

Nor do Norwegian hotels themselves console you. Built of wood, their chief merit lies in the fire escape, which is to be found in the chief room upon every landing. At Visnes I spent a happy night answering the questions of nervous travelers who came from hour to hour to see if the fire escape in my room was working properly. Angry assurances were powerless to convince timid if ancient ladies. Did I really think the rope would work? Was there any danger? Had I tried the contrivance myself? Excellent souls! As if the printed notice were not enough!

Ah, that printed notice! I have a copy of it by me as I write. It is the complete instruction in English to the traveler threatened by fire in a wooden hotel in Norway. Let me give it you as I found it:

"Fire escape to throw out the window.

"The plaited snotter shall be found in every room.

"To increase the hurry let down the body one by one until all shall be left.

"N. B.—The cord shall put out the ground from the shoulder thereunder." —London Mail.

Florists' Lives Are Short.

"It is commonly supposed that the men who work in the mines or those whose occupations necessitate the breathing of poisonous fumes and gases are the shortest lived," said a prominent physician. "This is a mistake, and it will surprise many to learn that the highest death rate is found among a class who breathe in the sweetest odors—florists.

"The reason is a simple one. The florist lives at once in the torrid and the frigid zone. From a greenhouse atmosphere of nearly 100 degrees in the winter months he must step out into one that is nearly always below freezing point, and often below zero. In summer he has change to encounter, too, as in the spring and fall. By force of habit he grows careless and often works without his coat in the hot, artificial atmosphere, and this increases the dangers to which he is exposed. Lungs and throat and stomach diseases, as well as rheumatism, find in the florist the least resistance."—Galveston News.

The Change In the Tenderfoot.

"This is a remarkably healthy climate, they say," said the easterner.

"You're right thar," said Arizona Al. "F'r instance, not long ago a tenderfoot with a weak chest an' a pale face dropped inter the Miners' Delight, called me a liar an' o' course I had to clean up. 'Bout two months after a big sunburnt cowboy stopped me on the street, wiped the earth up with me an' slammed me up in a tree to recuperate. Same feller. Best climate in the world, pard." —Indianapolis Sun.

A DOMESTIC COMEDY.

THE VARIED RESULTS OF REARRANGING THE FURNITURE.

Mrs. Blank's Mania For Changing the Appearance of the Rooms Brought Trouble to the Male Contingent and Sorrow to Herself.

"Do you change the position of the furniture when you clean a room?" inquired housewife No. 1 of a friend in the course of a heart to heart talk.

"Do I? Why, yes, indeed! I don't feel as if the room is cleaned unless I change the furniture a little bit. Do you?"

"Well, I usually change the ornaments around and so forth, but in the spring and fall I like to change everything in a room—completely alter the whole appearance of it. Then I fancy the things are all new, and they seem to look prettier somehow. But, do you know, my husband doesn't like it at all!"

"Neither does mine! Isn't that singular? Men are so peculiar!"

"Yes, indeed they are!"

So many housekeepers share the views of these two that a story with a moral will not be out of place.

It was the other night only that Mr. Blank went unsuspiciously up stairs to bed at an unusually early hour, leaving his wife reading in the sitting room. He had a headache and carried a goblet of water in his right hand. Fearlessly advancing into the dark bedroom Mr. Blank suddenly felt both legs violently cut from under him. He clutched wildly at the air and said several things of an exclamatory nature, but there was nothing to save him. He went down.

"Good gracious, Henry!" ejaculated Mrs. Blank, hurrying to the scene of disaster. "What is the matter? Where are you? Why don't you light the gas?" Suiting the action to the word, she beheld her husband sprawling across the bed; the glass he had carried had discharged its contents across the pillowshams and shivered on the floor.

Mr. Blank did the talking for the next ten minutes. He said that of all the blankety blank folly of which the mind could conceive this of changing furniture around was the worst. He said it was a pretty thing for a man to walk into his own room and have to fall over things in the dark. He said he wouldn't stand it; the furniture must be replaced where it formerly stood.

"I shan't do anything of the kind," replied Mrs. Blank. "It looks very much nicer where it is. Why don't you feel where you are going when you get into a dark room?"

"S'pose you'd like me to crawl in on all fours!" snarled Mr. Blank. "I couldn't feel where the bed was unless I happened to touch the footboard. I thought I could walk clear over to the bureau. I tell you it's a confounded crank you have on this subject. Some day you'll precipitate a serious accident."

"If any one precipitates, it'll be you, I should think," retorted Mrs. Blank icily. And the furniture remained where it was.

It was the next evening that Master Blank undertook to carry a pile of schoolbooks from the dining room to the sitting room. He had a bottle of ink in his hand, and he thought he knew exactly where the center table was. In the course of his peregrinations in search of it, however, he came into violent collision with the glass door of the bookcase, which he broke. There were also inky traces discernible on the carpet when Mrs. Blank came in. This time there was some balm for her feelings. She could spank Master Blank and did it with the best will in the world.

Her own downfall was not long in coming, however, although for a few days only minor inconveniences were met with, such as the abrasion of ankles against chair rockers and slight bruises received by means of sudden contact with unforeseen obstacles. Last evening Mrs. Blank undertook to transfer the cage of her pet parrot from the window where it spends the day to the snug corner where it passes the night. She did not trouble to light the gas, and by some unaccountable mental lapse she had forgotten the precise point at which a tabouret, on which stood a jardiniere, was stationed. She charged into the tabouret with considerable force, was overbalanced by the weight of the cage in her arms and took a header with a resounding crash. The parrot shrieked, and, unable to distinguish friend from foe, inflicted a severe bite on her mistress' finger. Mr. Blank came in hurriedly, picked up his wife and assisted in making an inventory of sundry contusions. Then they lifted the parrot cage, badly bent, and the jardiniere with a piece chipped out of it and the tabouret somewhat scratched, and then Mr. Blank observed quietly:

"I have just one thing to ask you, Mrs. Blank. Was I right?"

"No, you were not!" retorted Mrs. Blank savagely. "Serious accident? What's serious about this, I should like to know? For goodness' sake, Henry, don't stand there trying to look like a martyr! If you must have the furniture moved back, I'll move it!" And she did.—Philadelphia Record.

Preoccupation.

"Why do you speak so slightingly of that eminent scientist?"

"I didn't mean to speak slightingly of him," answered the young man with the striped shirt front, "but it does seem peculiar to me that a man who knows just when the next comet will arrive and just how far it is to the moon should be so utterly ignorant when it comes to a question of when it's time for dinner or what train to take to get to the nearest town."—Boston Traveler.

Two Circus Feats.

"A great deal of unnecessary sympathy is wasted upon the circus man who stands up proudly in spangled tights and lets another circus man bring down a sledge hammer upon a rock placed upon his head with force enough to break it," says an old circus man. "This is spectacular, but is entirely painless and calls for no great strength or endurance. Upon the cranium of the strong man is put an iron contrivance weighing about 150 pounds and provided with cushions both above and where it rests upon the head. A pretty good sized rock is used, and the hammer is a heavy one, so you can see that the blow that cracks the rock is really a serious one. But most of the force is taken up by the rock and the rest by the iron and cushions, while the only sensation felt by the subject is a gentle tap.

"No more difficult than this is the act whereby the hero of the canvas tent permits a rock to be broken upon his chest with a blow from a sledge hammer. So long as the subject's back is free and does not rest against any solid object the trick is perfectly simple. A little illustration: Take a board up and let it lie freely in your hand and hit it smartly with a hammer. It is difficult to hurt your hand, and the thicker the board the less the sensation. But now put your hand on the table and hit the board. Hurts, doesn't it? Well, it's the same with the rock on the chest."

How Our Ancestors Quarreled.

A study of mediæval rural life is apt to give the impression that the principal part of the life of the people was spent in quarreling or in the commission or prosecution of offenses. Our ancestors certainly were a very litigious and a very disorderly people. The records teem with instances of men and women drawing knives against one another, of breaking into houses, of prosecuting one another for slander. Then we have such entries as these:

"It is ordained by common consent that all the women of the village must refrain their tongues from all slandering." "Thomas, son of Robert Smith, is fined 12 pence because his wife Agnes beat Emma, the wife of Robert, the tailor, and Robert, the tailor, sixpence because his wife Emma swore at Agnes, the wife of Thomas." "It is enjoined upon all the tenants of the village that none of them attack any others in word or deed, with clubs or arrows or knives under penalty of paying 40 shillings."

Such entries, frequently occurring, in addition to the innumerable instances of individual attack, slander, petty theft and other immorality seem to show a community of far from perfect virtue.—Lippincott's.

Italians Love Tomatoes.

Italians more than any other people value tomatoes, and each one that comes to perfection is as carefully tended as though it were an apple of gold. Not only do the housewives delight in the fresh vegetables themselves, but, generally speaking, those home tended are better than any purchased at the market, and so each one is jealously saved to make tomatoe sauce for the spaghetti, without which no Italian Sunday would be Sunday. One soapbox gardener one season sold enough tomatoes to give her quite a little pin money. No one who knows the Italian well will be surprised to learn that many of the boxes are devoted to peppers, for they in truth furnish much of their spice of life, and even the little Italian girls know how to stuff and cook them in a dozen different ways that tempt the palate.—Boston Transcript.

Coloring of Flowers.

A florist says that the law governing the coloring of flowers makes a blue rose impossible. According to this law the three colors red, blue and yellow never all appear in the same species of flowers. Any two may exist, but never the third. Thus we have the red and yellow roses, but no blue; red and blue verbenas, but no yellow; yellow and blue in the various members of the viola family (as pansies, for instance), but no red; red and yellow gladioli, but no blue, and so on.

Rubber Plants.

Many plant growers become annoyed because the older leaves at the base of their rubber plants turn yellow and fall off. This is a natural process. It does not indicate any defect in the plant. It is simply the ripening of the old foliage, which cannot be retained indefinitely. Sometimes, however, the loss of foliage results from the want of root room, but in such cases the plants refuse to grow.

Railroad Telegrams.

When a traveler in the grand duchy of Baden, Germany, wants to send a telegram while he is in the train, he writes the message on a postcard, with the request that it be wired, puts on a stamp and drops it into the train letter box. At the next station the box is cleared and the message sent out.

Matrimony and Eyes.

An old man was rallied by his friends, on his marrying a young wife, on the inequality of their ages. He replied, "She will be near me to close my eyes."

"Well," replied a friend, "I've had two of them, and they opened my eyes."—Exchange.

The Consultation.

"My wife always consults me about every article of attire she buys—frocks, hats, shoes, gloves, everything."

"My wife does, too—that is, she asks me for the money."

A QUESTION OF TEETH.

Did the Immortal George Wear Artificial or Natural Ones?

"George Washington's false teeth, which were supposed to have been made of ivory, are giving a certain class of freak historians about as much trouble as they must have given the venerable patriot who wore them," said one of the professors of the Smithsonian institution to a reporter recently.

"Many times a year for several years this institution has been called upon to produce these mysterious teeth for the inspection of persons who insist that they are here.

"Our matter of fact answer to these inquiries that Washington had no false teeth, or at least if he did, that they are not in the possession of the museum, seems only to stimulate the inquiring mind to protest our statement. They proceed to give us authentic accounts of these teeth and always conclude with expressing the belief that they must be in the museum somewhere.

"Where or how the idea that Washington had false teeth originated is an unsolved mystery. That it is firmly believed by many is certainly a fact. There seems to be no authentic record of the Father of His Country possessing ivory teeth, and by a study of the bust we have of him, which was made but a few years before his death, there is no indication of an indentation along the line of the gums such as can be noticed in persons who have had their teeth drawn, even though they wear artificial ones. However, we will continue to answer the same question in the same way probably many times in the future."

According to some biographers Washington lost his teeth during his service as commander in chief of the Continental army and had a set of ivory ones made. These teeth, it is also stated, gave him much trouble because they did not fit.—Washington Star.

RAILWAY RUMBLES.

Ireland claims the honor of the first electric railway in the United Kingdom.

It is said that the cheapest railway fares in the world are to be found in Hungary.

Denmark has a government railroad system of 1,167 miles and 525 miles of private railroads.

The Servian, Roumanian and Bulgarian railroads are owned exclusively by the respective governments.

Travelers on Prussian railways whose baggage, through no fault of their own, fails to arrive with them can now have it sent on request free to their houses.

The difficulty of railway construction in some parts of Africa is illustrated by the fact that on the Freetown-Mattru line, in Sierra Leone, eleven steel bridges had to be built in a distance of only thirty kilometers.

A representative of the Paris Temps has been examining railway stations in Germany, and he declares that those of Dresden, Cologne, Hanover, Frankfort, Bremen, etc., are far superior to any of the French except the Parisian.

Paying a Creditor.

Like many another famous man both before his time and since, Talleyrand exhibited, at least in early life, a great reluctance to settling with his creditors. When he was appointed bishop of Autun by Louis XVI., he considered a fine new coach to be necessary to the proper maintenance of the dignity of that office. Accordingly a coach was ordered and delivered, but not paid for. Some time after, as the newly appointed bishop was about to enter his coach, he noticed a strange man standing near who bowed continually until the coach was driven away. This occurred for several days until at length Talleyrand, addressing the stranger, said:

"Well, my good man, who are you?"

"I am your coachmaker, my lord," replied the stranger.

"Ah," said Talleyrand, "you are my coachmaker! And what do you want, my coachmaker?"

"I want to be paid, my lord."

"Ah, you are my coachmaker, and you want to be paid? You shall be paid, my coachmaker."

"But when, my lord?"

"Hum," said Talleyrand, settling himself comfortably among the cushions of his new coach and eying his coachmaker severely, "you are very inquisitive!"

Salad Eating Good Sense.

Even men are progressing gastronomically. Scientific dietetics has at last revealed to us the fact that the woman who eats salad on a hot day in July, August or September is displaying sound gastronomic sense, says What to Eat. The long haired dreamer in the restaurant may have been nineteen different kinds of a fool upon every other proposition in life, but he knew what to eat on a hot day. The human animal needs grass or its equivalent in summer. With their oil the salads supply everything a man physically needs in hot weather. All the civilized races of the world are salad eaters, but Americans eat less than do any other people. It is not a sign of mental decay or moral degeneracy for a man to eat salad; it is gastronomic sense.

Harpers Ferry.

Harpers Ferry was named after Robert Harper, an architect and mill builder, born in 1703 in the town of Oxford, England. He came to America in 1735 with his brother Joseph and located in Philadelphia, where for a time he prospered but, failing later, concluded to join the Friends of Loudoun county, Va. En route to his new home he came upon the gap in the Blue Ridge mountains, where he made his home.

THE STIRRUP CUP.

My short and happy day is done;
The long and lonely night comes on,
And at my door the pale horse stands
To carry me to unknown lands.

His whinny shrill, his pawing hoof,
Sound dreadful as a gathering storm,
And I must leave this sheltering roof
And joys of life so soft and warm.

Tender and warm the joys of life;
Good friends, the faithful and the true;
My rosy children and my wife,
So sweet to kiss, so fair to view.

So sweet to kiss, so fair to view;
The night comes on, the lights burn blue,
And at my door the pale horse stands
To bear me forth to unknown lands.

A NOVEL HOTEL BILL.

The Man to Whom It Was Presented Could Not Understand It.

"Talking about bookkeeping, there used to be a man in Yankton whose system of bookkeeping accounts was wonderfully efficient. He kept a hotel, and he could neither read nor write. He did not know how to spell his own name, but he did a thriving business and collected every dollar of his accounts. Once, years ago, when I first came to this country, I went to his hotel and stopped there two weeks," writes Milt Brinben.

"When I left, he presented me with a statement of what I owed him, and it was a curiosity. He had copied it from his ledger. At the top of the sheet there was a rude picture of a soldier on the march and after it three straight marks. Then there was a scene showing a man at table eating. Then appeared a bed with a man in it. In the amount column there was a picture of a doll and after it the two letters "RS." After the picture of a man eating there were forty-two marks; after the view of the man in the bed, fourteen marks. I looked at the account, then at the proprietor, and told him it would take me a week to answer that conundrum.

"I was completely stumped, and when that hotel man deciphered the amount for me it was this: The picture of the soldier walking meant march, and the three marks supplied the date, March 3, when I began boarding. The man at the table with forty-two marks after it indicated that I had eaten forty-two meals. The man in bed with fourteen marks showed that I had slept in the house fourteen nights. The doll with the 'RS' after it meant 'dollars,' and in the figure columns appeared the figures 14, which was the amount I owed him. And it was a true bill."—Yankton Press.

A Persian Barber.

A Persian barber works in a style very different from that in vogue in this country. A typical shop is a square room, with one side open to the street. In the center is a tiny bed of flowers sunk in the floor, from the middle of which rises an octagonal stone column about three feet high.

The capital of the column forms a receptacle for the water in which the barber dips his hand as he shaves his customer's scalp. In Persia they do not lather. The shop is very clean. In two recesses stand four vases filled with flowers and the implements of the barber's art—scissors, razors, lancets, hand mirrors, large pinchers to extract teeth, branding irons to cauterize the arteries in amputating limbs, strong combs, but not a hairbrush, for that implement is never used by Persians.

From the barber's girdle hang a round copper water bottle, his strop, and a pouch to hold his instruments. In his bosom is a small mirror, the presentation of which to his customers is a sign that the job is finished and that the barber waits for his pay. The barber shaves the heads of his customers, dyes their beards, pulls their teeth, blisters and bleeds them when ailing, sets their broken bones and shampoos their bodies.—Exchange.

Strange Lapse of Memory.

Cases of forgetfulness on matters of interest are on record. While Dr. Priestley was preparing his work entitled "Harmony of the Gospels" he had taken great pains to inform himself on a subject which had been under discussion relative to the Jewish Passover. He wrote out the result of his researches and laid the paper away. His attention and time being taken with something else, some little time elapsed before the subject occurred to his mind again. Then the same time and pains were given to the subject that had been given to it before, and the results were again put on paper and laid aside. So completely had he forgotten that he had copied the same paragraphs and reflections before that it was only when he had found the papers on which he had transcribed them that it was recalled to his recollection. This same author had frequently read his own published writings and did not recognize them.

A BIG LEAD IN IRON

European Prices Depend Upon the American Market.

VIEWS OF A BRITISH EXPERT.

Stephen Jeans, Now In This Country on a Tour of Observation, Expresses His Opinions—Shipbuilding the Mainstay of the British Iron Trade.

Stephen Jeans, secretary of the British Iron Trade association and editor of The Iron and Coal Trades' Review is in this country making a personal study of the situation in iron and steel. His observations on the ground coincide with his judgment formed from the water, and the results of his study as written by him for The Manufacturers' Record of Baltimore, can hardly be encouraging to American iron and steel interests.

Mr. Jeans finds the iron trade here now at the crest of a wave of prosperity, which seems likely to continue for many months to come, but which is only dimly reflected in the iron trade of Europe. He regards as the mainstay of the British iron industry at present the shipbuilding, which, having had a remarkable revival, is now enjoying something like a boom and which has not yet begun to cut into by American or German competition than any other branch of the British iron industry. At the same time British manufacturers are concerned with the possibilities of keener competition all round, because of the rapid and large increase of the resources of production both in America and Germany. As to the part America is to play in this connection Mr. Jeans says:

"So far as the American iron trade is concerned as or is likely to have in the future a material influence on the British iron trade, I think there can be no doubt that under the existing economic regime European prices must largely be largely fixed, if not wholly determined by the markets of the United States. This, of course, is likely to mean that British manufacturers can only look in the future for the exceptionally high prices to which they have been more or less accustomed at intervals in the past, unless, indeed—which is highly probable—American firms are already booked that they cannot undertake outside orders. Such a considerable loss naturally a very seriously depressing influence on British industry. Whatever enterprise has hitherto been developed in the British iron trade has largely been a function of the expectation of amounting to a certainty, that if the buying powers of the makers were sufficient to enable them to wait until it was certain to come that would recoup them for years of bad business. The prospect is clearly by no means so good as it was since American manufacturers began to turn their attention in solid earnest to the capacity of European and other outside markets. The impression is growing among those who spend a great deal of money in new and improved plants in the face of such an outlook are taking many chances, and hence that way failures lies. Nevertheless there is a great deal of new outlay being incurred in Great Britain in the remodeling and improvements of both iron and steel works, and probably quite a dozen of the leading steel plants would be hard to find in America. This remark applies more particularly to steel works at Ebbw, Dowlais, Dalzell, Weardale, Workington and Cyfartha. But the trouble is that these works cannot, however, depend on securing orders that will keep them in regular operation owing to the necessarily contracted limits of available markets, and in this respect they stand at a great disadvantage as compared with the trade of the United States, which, protected at home and does make full use of its great resources and opportunities to enter the markets of other countries to whatever extent may be needed to keep its great works fully employed is a recognition of the fact that full employment is a fundamental condition of cheap production."

Paper Reading In Mexico.

The sale of daily newspapers over the country is a remarkable development of these latter years, says a correspondent of the Boston Herald writing from the City of Mexico. People formerly were contented with the government organ, devoted mainly to governors' decrees and official notices, and with a column of the dryest official information, now buy daily papers. Newsboys with City of Mexico dailies haunt hotels and railway stations and there are local distributers for the journals in all the chief towns. This is an indication of the modernization of the country, this awakened appetite for the daily news. A few papers actually date their editions one day ahead so they may appear fresh to their readers! But this practice will soon disappear. It is inherently absurd. Everybody sees through it.

Chinos Buying Typewriters.

"Apollo," writes an army man in Munsey's Magazine, "there are ten typewriting machines, and these machines are a wonder of the rich natives and business men. Any one having a typewriter here can sell it for $250 gold. There are some thousands of native families on the isle of Panay alone, and they do not hesitate to adopt the modern things as fast as they know of their existence and use. The typewriting machine in the possession of your correspondent has been seen in America for several years, and would bring $250, gold, any time."

THIRTY-THIRD DEGREE.

Important Gathering of Masons Addressed by Mr. Richardson.

Washington, Oct. 22.—The supreme council of Thirty-third Degree Ancient Scottish Rite of Free Masonry for the southern jurisdiction of the United States, the mother council of the world, met yesterday in biennial session. The gathering marks the centennial celebration of the council which was established in Charlston, S. C., in May 1801, the actual recognition of the centennary being deferred until now to be coexistent with the unveiling of the monument to the late General Albert Pike, long sovereign grand commander. The feature of the day's session was the allocution delivered by Representative Richardson of Tennessee, lieutenant grand commander, and acting sovereign grand commander.

The allocution, among other things, laid down an important ruling that a member of a foreign jurisdiction cannot become a member of the jurisdiction here without severing his connection with the former. "If an applicant is a member of bodies in a foreign jurisdiction," according to the allocution, "he cannot be admitted into a body in ours until he renounces his allegiance to such foreign jurisdiction. A citizen of Great Britain or other foreign government may be a citizen of the United States, but he must first renounce foreign allegiance and swear allegiance to our own government. A similar rule should apply in Masonry."

MISS STONE'S ABDUCTION.

The Macedonian Committee Believed Concerned in the Kidnaping.

London, Oct. 22.—The idea that the capture of Miss Stone originated with the Macedonian committee is corroborated, according to the Vienna correspondent of the Daily Mail, by the fact that numerous Macedonians in Sofia have offered to mediate with the brigands.

The rumor originated from a Bulgarian source that Miss Stone is hidden in the village of Salonika is regarded as very improbable, says the Sofia correspondent of the Daily Telegraph.

Charles H. Dickinson, United States consul general at Constantinople, is still firmly convinced of the complicity of the members of the Macedonian committee. In missionary circles the view is favored that when the ransom is paid the brigands shall also be granted amnesty and that all records of agreement with the band shall be cancelled.

No Tidings from Miss Stone.

Constantinople, Oct. 22.—The officials of the United States legation are still without news from the missionaries who are seeking to make arrangements with the abductors of Miss Ellen Stone and her companion Mrs. Tsilka.

Investigation Resolution Signed.

Austin, Oct. 22.—Governor Sayers Monday approved the concurrent resolution passed at the recent special session of the legislature providing for the appointment of a special committee of five—three representatives and two senators—whose duty it shall be to make an investigation of the several state departmentf and institutions. This investigation shall be made during the interim between now and the coming of the next legislature. The resolution will go into effect on December 30. The members of the committee will not be appointed until after the resolution becomes effective.

Another Letter from Crowe.

Omaha, Oct. 22.—Pat Crowe has written another letter to Chief of Police Donohue. This latest communication from the alleged kidnaper was mailed in Omaha and states that the writer is secluded within two miles of this city. Crowe insists that unless he is given assurances from the court that his bond will not exceed $500 he will not give himself up. The communication is evidently written by Crowe.

Chastised a Brazilian Youth.

Rio de Janeiro, Oct. 22.—The Austrian minister to Brazil will soon start for Europe and will probably not return because the Brazilian newspapers have been attacking him. The cause of the attacks is a whipping the minister is said to have administered to a boy whom he caught stealing flowers from his garden. The minister chastised the boy severely.

To Ascertain the Situation.

Colon, Oct. 22.—The captain of the American battleship Iowa, now here, and the superintendent of the Panama railroad have gone to Chame, on the isthmus of Panama, to visit the insurgent camp and ascertain the exact situation.

Import Duties Doubled.

Colon, Colombia, Oct. 22.—The government has issued a decree doubling all import duties. The merchants will therefore cancel most of their foreign orders. Business is depressed.

Boer Leaders Banished.

Pretoria, Oct. 22.—Twelve more Boer leaders, including Commandant Scheepper, whose capture was announced Oct. 12, have been permanently banished from South Africa.

ANCIENT UMBRELLAS

THEY FIGURED IN CHURCHES IN THE EARLY CHRISTIAN DAYS.

When First Adopted by the Public, They Seem to Have Been Utilized Solely as Sun Protectors—Once an Attribute of Dignity.

In the early Christian churches a large umbrella usually hung over the priest, and it is said that from this custom it became one of the attributes of cardinals appointed from basilican churches. For years the doges of Venice carried umbrellas of state, and in 1288 Pope Alexander III. declared that these should be surmounted by golden statuettes of the annunciation.

Michael Morosini was the first Venetian layman to carry an umbrella, which consisted of a small, flat square of green stuff, over which was a copper spiral. Soon after the umbrella was adopted by fashionable Venetian dames. According to Coryat's "Crudities" (1611), the Italian umbrella was a small canopy and was made of leather extended by a series of wooden hoops. He says umbrellas were used by horsemen, who, resting the handles on the thigh as they rode, bore them so that they should "minister shadow unto them for shelter against the scorching sun."

In the Harleian manuscripts, now in the British museum, there is in manuscript No. 603 a crude illustration showing the figure of a yoeman holding an umbrella over his lord, which leads me to infer that umbrellas were known in England even in the early Anglo-Saxon period.

Beck, as quoted in the Draper's Dictionary, asserts that at the time that Stephen usurped the crown of England (twelfth century) umbrellas were in common use among the English. The first mention of the umbrella in English literature is in Florio's "World of Wonders" (1598), where it is described as a "kind of round fan or shadowing that they use to ride with in summer in Italy; a little shade."

In 1656 an umbrella was exhibited in the "Museum Tradescantianum; or, Collection of Rarities Preserved at South Lambeth, Near London, by John Tradescant," which was known as "one of the wonders of the ark."

In the church of Cartmell, in Lancashire, England, there was preserved until a few years ago an umbrella said to be over 300 years old, which was used chiefly to protect the host.

References to the umbrella are to be found also in Blount's "Glossographia" (1674) and Phillips' "New Worlde of Words" (1678). In the first the reference reads: "Umbrello, a fashion of round and broad fans, wherewith the Indians (and from them our great ones) preserve themselves from the heat of the sun, and hence any little shadow, fan or other thing wherewith the women guard their faces from the sun." The second runs: "Umbrello, a screen against the sun's heat, used chiefly by the Spaniards, among whom it is known by the name quitasole."

The imaginative Dean Swift in the "Tale of a Tub" (1696) depicts Jack, an ever resourceful type, making use of a parchment copy of his father's will as a nightcap when he went to bed and as an umbrella in rainy weather. Did the worthy Hanway take his cue from this or from Kersey, according to whom the umbrella was a "broad fan or screen commonly used by women to shelter them from rain?" The last reference, made in 1709, is the first mention of it as a protector from the rain. Later Bailey, who in his dictionary (1737) called it a parasol, defined it as "a sort of small canopy to keep off the rain."

Small, light umbrellas came into fashion among the ladies of the French court in 1675, and these were carried by attendants. Richelet tells us that they were made of oilcloth or leather and had ribs of whalebone. A century later they found favor with the men, who carried red umbrellas, with edges fringed with gold lace.

The precise date when Jonas Hanway, who died in 1786, introduced the umbrella into England is not recorded in any of the encyclopedias I have at hand, but they all state that he was popularly known as its introducer.

With the Dutch, as with the Indian grandees, the umbrella was first an attribute of dignity, and well it might be, for the prices paid for them at The Hague in 1650 ranged from $75 to $120 each. The Dutch colonists who settled at the Cape of Good Hope were not slow to insist on preserving the dignity of the umbrella, for Ryk van Tulbagh, governor of Cape Colony in 1752, enacted that "No one less in rank than a junior merchant or those among the citizens of equal rank, and the wives and daughters only of those who are or have been members of any council shall venture to use umbrellas, and those who are less in rank than merchants shall not enter the castle in fine weather with an open umbrella."—Frank H. Vizetelly in New York Times.

A Nongolfer's Opinion of Golf.

Imagine a great fat creature who ought to wear a turban and a long black robe to hide his grossness whacking a little white ball for miles and miles with a perfect surgery of instruments, whacking it either with a babyish solemnity or a childish rage, as luck may have decided, and incidentally training an innocent eyed little boy to swear and be a tip hunting loafer. That's golf.—H. T. W. Wells in Pearson's Magazine.

To the Best of Her Knowledge.

A lady was looking for her husband and inquired anxiously of a housemaid, "Do you happen to know anything of your master's whereabouts?"

"I'm not sure, mum," replied the careful domestic, "but I think they're in the wash."—Pathfinder.

AN EFFECTIVE REMEDY.

A Series of Orders That Rejuvenated the Ailing Slaves.

A correspondent sends the following story of an old Virginia gentleman:

Some years before the war a gentleman of large landed interests counted among his possessions a plantation on the James river, an estate of considerable dimensions. Other interests kept him away from the old place for some years, during which time there was a marked decrease in the revenue. Upon his return to the plantation he discovered that many of the slaves were laid up with rheumatism and other miseries, the farming implements were in bad order and the old homestead was fast going to rack and ruin. Calling his overseer he said:

"Anderson, I notice a great many old wagons, plows and harrows about the place. Have them brought and piled in front of the house, and on Monday next order all the niggers on the place to be present."

At the appointed time they came. The pile was set on fire and the implements destroyed. The following week he called the overseer's attention to the sick and infirm horses, hogs and cattle and gave the same order. When the negroes had assembled all the animals were knocked in the head. The Friday following the landlord again called his overseer.

"Anderson, I see a great many sick niggers around here—many who seem to be laid up with rheumatism and are good for nothing. Give orders that on Monday morning at 10 o'clock they all appear in the front yard."

The effect on the slaves was magical. On Saturday men who had been unable to walk were skipping around like children; the sick grew well suddenly, and from that time on the plantation was most prosperous.—Exchange.

FOOD OF AMERICANS.

An English Woman Tells of the Strange Things She Ate Here.

An English woman who visited America a short time ago has been telling her country women about the "strange food across the water." Of course she discovered green corn, but she had been prepared for that. Oyster crabs were quite new to her.

"They look like Boston baked beans," she explains, "but they taste much better."

An oyster cocktail filled her with awe and enthusiasm. She tried it at Delmonico's and thought it was soup. Of course in England one didn't serve soup in a glass; but, then, neither did the English serve boiled eggs in a glass. One could never be sure of Americans.

Of canvasback duck she has a poor opinion, but thinks she might like it better if Americans would have it cooked or even warmed. As for terrapin, she sings its praise. She found it much like calf's head, and she always liked calf's head. Shades of Maryland gourmets, what a slur is there!

"All the puddings in America are pie or ice cream," she says, but it must be understood that pie does not mean game pie. The Yankee pie is a tart and is ubiquitous, she explains.

She sat next to an American man who ate a lump of cheese with his strawberry pie and turned a plateful of ice cream over both, but she doesn't know that that is a general custom.

The oysters were good, but had most impossible names, and the cockles (meaning clams) are excellent. On the whole, Yankee food and cooking are good, but there is too much of the food on the table at one time.—New York Sun.

Portrait of Cocker.

Edward Cocker, who lived in the reign of Charles II., is chiefly known to the present generation by the saying in common use, "According to Cocker," which means in accordance with arithmetical rules. I saw the other day amid the treasures of a private collector a copy of the first edition of Cocker's immortal work on arithmetic, published by T. Passenger at the Three Bibles on London bridge. Only two, or at most three, perfect copies are known to the book collector. One is in the British museum. This particular copy, its brown morocco pitifully faded, bears on its title page the inscription, "Cocker's Arithmetick, Perused and Published by John Hawkins by the Author's Correct Copy."

It contains what purports to be a portrait of "ingenious Cocker." Experts, however, shake their heads over the authenticity of this work of art. There are many engraved portraits of the epoch, but there was only one Cocker. The British museum copy has no portrait, and there is too much reason to fear that this embellishment was added by some ingenious owner of an earlier century. Cocker died in 1675. This rare relic of the past bears date 1678.—Scotsman.

George's Father.

Augustine Washington, the father of George Washington, was engaged in 1732 in making pig iron at Accokeek furnace, in Stafford county, Va., about fifteen miles from Fredericksburg, when his famous son was born. This furnace had been built by the Principio company, composed of English capitalists, as early as 1726, on land owned by Augustine Washington, aggregating about 1,600 acres and containing iron ore, Mr. Washington becoming the owner of one-sixth of the furnace property in consideration of the transfer of his land to the company.

In my opinion the man who kills his fellow is the hero of barbarism; the man who risks his own life to save the lives of others is the only hero that a true civilization can honor.—Andrew Carnegie.

TEXAS HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Officially Recognizes the Shirt Waist.

The one thing that is sure to stir up the American public is any radical departure from custom—anything that is not in style and lacks Dame Fashion's approval, no matter how sensible and full of service the new idea is—vide the shirtwaist man for instance. In time, however, the merits of any worthy innovation impress themselves, and the distrusted theory becomes fact—as in the case of the shirt waist, adopted at Austin, August 6th, by official vote, as the proper thing.

"THE DENVER ROAD" was the first to break away from the electro-slug method of display advertising, giving the people something to read, with frequent changes and it worked well. This year in the interest of our "constant readers" we have put in a little time courting the Muse, also the Amuse, and—has it worked? Well, the shirtwaist man realized that he had been flagged and backed into a blind siding when he heard the talk. The "TALK" was what we were after—we thot the people a trifle slow in coming to a full understanding of what we were offering them for their money.

Within the last three years "THE DENVER ROAD" has made several quite radical departures in the matter of regular, daily equipment and service, viz: Pullmans with comfortable large dressing rooms for ladies, Cafe Cars, meals a la carte, Day Coaches—of the most modern variety—a handsome, box-ve-tibuled train, run thru without change. These trains, as well as our individual advertising, both strictly "Poetry of Motion"—have attracted considerable attention, and we are doing a good business, which is a compliment to the intelligence of the people who are our guests.

After a three weeks absence I am back, ready for the Masters work. My trip to Minneapolis was in every respect a pleasant and profitable one. The great Northwest is a wonderful country. The weather gave us a taste to show us Texans that it can get cold up there. They do every thing on a big scale. even to their entertainment of a big religious convention. The enrollment at the convention reached nearly three thousand. It was in every way a success. The interest was intense throughout. I am truly thankful to the good ladies who made it possible for me to attend the first twentieth century convention of the Diciples of Christ. Next Sunday morning I will tell something of the convention. Preaching also at night.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundations of the disease, and giving the patient strength by builing up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. Letter From Canada.

Dear Editor Progress.

Emo, Ont., Oct. 3rd.—We presume our Texas friends may by this time, if they are thinking anything about it, think that our interests and attachments must be taking root very strong, as our absence has been conspicious. They may perhaps think we are forgetting the "Days of Auld Lang Syne" but never: Time may come and go up here in this land of ice and snow, but nothing has offered us sufficient opportunities to cause us to forget the good people and beautiful prairies and other pleasant memories of dear old sunny Texas, but we will seize the present moment of telling you all of some of the happenings of the newly settled part of Ontario.

The most recent occurence, and the things that has made the most indelible impression on our minds is our latest and thrilling adventure with forest fires. Your Texas drouth struck this part of Canada about the fifteenth of July, and the result is not so much the loss of crops as it is of much valuable timber, also giving this rising colony some good scares and changing the monotony of life into something more exciting. There is something indescribable in the feeling of one to behold a roaring, seething wall of fire in all its grandure showing itself for the time king of all that lies in it's path. But now that we have the fiery tongue of the flames mastered and quenched by the refreshing showers, we can emerge from our smoking retreat and say, as the average Canadian would, that it is not too bad to have a farm cleared up for us. We will advance faster than by the ring of an ax only.

However, we have something else now to break the unpleasant quietude of the lonely forest and that is the whistle of the locomotive. Our colony has not heard, or seen a train since we came here three years ago. So you see it is quite a treat for we back-wood boys just to go over three miles to the store and see the train. Now Dublin boys laugh! Never mind, we have a good school granted us by the government, ten months session each year with one of the best of teachers at the helm. Possibly we will not always be so green. The law regarding education here is compulsory. Every child from the age of seven to fourteen is forced to go to school, and the directors are fined heartily if they fail to enforce the law. Now how would some Dublin boys like this, especialiy those who indulge in a game of "hookey," when their lessons get hard.

Well, we have a fine crop in Ontario this year, and good weather for harvesting.

We ask our Texas friends to remember us. We beg to remain

Sincerely yours,
CALVIN RICHARDSON.

We want all the guineas you have for sale. Bring them in at once. Will pay you $1.50 per dozen.—C. H. Strong, at Utterback & Harris'.

Why We Have Friends and How We Keep Them.

The way to keep your friends is to treat them right all the time. That is the way the Great Rock Island Route keeps its friends. We give them the best we have and we've got the best.

The way to gain new friends is to have something attractive to offer you. Some of the attractive things about the Great Rock Island Route are, a rock ballast road bed, the best dining stations and best dining car service in the world, the latest and most elegant Pullman sleepers running out of the state, the finest free reclining chair cars, employes that look after your comfort and welfare and give attention in a civil, respectful manner, rates that you can well afford to pay for the accommodations secured. Of course we are making new friends every day, for we have these attributes to win them.

The Rock Island has such a commanding way about it. It takes you into Chicago without changing cars, and lands you in the heart of the city. If you are going east of Chicago to Buffalo, New York or Boston you can make connections in the same depot and get the best of lines too.

The Rock Island takes you to Omaha and Lincoln too, and gets you there quicker than you can get there by any other route. It takes you to Kansas City, or Denver, or to St. Joseph, Des Moines, or Minneapolis and its agents sell tickets to and from any destination, and check your baggage through so you will not have to worry about it.

The Rock Island takes pleasure therefore in inviting you to travel with one of its friends by becoming a friend of its passengers, and promises to treat you right all the time.
