Band given go-ahead for try at state

A contingency of Snyder High School band supporters — to include SHS teachers and band parents — were instrumental Tuesday in establishing a precedent that the Black and Gold Tiger Band will be allowed to compete at regional and state UIL marching finals "if they win."

As part of this decision — reached by the Snyder school board at its October meeting — the group secured also a guarantee that monies to fund such trips will be included in the annual school budget.

An alternative to this would have required band students to raise this money themselves. Tuesday, the board agreed to allocate some $20,000 annually for this purpose.

During a more than one-hour discussion, band representatives contended that granting the request would reinforce the band student's "incentive for excellence."

Tom Strayhorn, an SHS teacher and former band member here, used the example of a football team. "You never know how good you are until you play someone else," he said.

But the level of participation by band members — an indication of the success of the program — weighed against it during consideration of the request.

It was noted that approximately one-fourth of the students at high school participate in band.

Pointing to new state rules mandating student attendance, trustees noted "one-fourth of the entire high school would be out for two days of class."

Providing the marching band advances to state competition in Austin this year, it is estimated two days of missed class will be required.

The cost of such a trip was pointed to also. "We could hire another teacher for what it will cost us," commented J.D. Hinton, president of the board.

TOTALING UP — United Way campaign donations were added up Wednesday morning prior to the first official report meeting of the Scurry County effort. As of Wednesday, $48,406 had been collected, representing 63.8 percent of the 1985 goal of $75,830. Shown going over the figures are (from left) L.E. U-W hits 63-plus percent

At the first official report meeting of the Scurry County United Way, 64 percent of the 1984 goal had been achieved.

Two weeks into the campaign, United Way volunteers were encouraged by the swift response from both employees and businesses.

As of Wednesday, $48,406 had been collected, representing 63.8 percent of the 1985 goal of $75,830.

It was revealed that Western Texas College became the first organization--in the general campaign--to exceed its goal of $3,200. Gifts and pledges from faculty and staff at WTC now total $3,218 with a few cards yet to come in. It was reported that this is the strongest WTC participation in United Way during the 15-year history of the college.

Jerry Vestal, chairman of the United Way professional division, said "I want to congratulate everyone at WTC who worked and contributed during the campaign, and to say thanks for essentially completing it in a matter of a few days."

Roy McQueen, United Way drive chairman, said many firms--with the assistance of employee fair-share giving--are giving 200 to 400 percent above past levels.

It was reported that at least two firms were 100 percent--with every employee making a contribution to the United Way. The first was Texas Electric Service Co. in the Pacesetter Division and American State Bank in the commercial division.

Pacesetter Division was the first group to exceed its goal. Headed by Dr. Don Newbury, the

New athletic director may be named

A new Snyder High School athletic director may be named Friday, it was revealed Thursday night following an executive session of the Snyder school board.

The board went into closed session to discuss the AD's position, vacant since the start of this school year and the resignation of David Noble.

After coming back into open session, the board moved to have a special meeting at noon Friday to discuss "the appointment of an athletic director."

Superintendent Bob Hawes said Wednesday morning an individual currently employed by the district had been contacted about the job. He noted the naming was not final, howevever, since the staffer was still "considering" the appointment.

"If we name somebody Friday, it's fair to say it will be someone already within the system," he said.

The action regarding the post came during the regular October meeting of the school board. During it, a decision was made also which will equal a new food management firm for cafeteria services beginning with the spring semester.

The board Tuesday authorized school officials to allow the firm of American Food Management to accept the contract requirements for providing this service.

The company is the same firm now providing cafeteria services at Western Texas College.

The current food contractor, Greyhound Food Management, had indicated its intent to stop service effective at the end of this term.

After this school year, the board noted it will solicit bids for the service.

All board members attended Tuesday's meeting. J.D. Hinton, board president, presided. Trustees attending were Leslie Butler, Lillie Sullivan, Allen Grimmett, G.A. Parks Jr., J. Merrill (Mule) Kayser and Mike Reed.

In other school business Tuesday, board members:

—Approved a tutorial program for students requiring assistance with their studies following the first six-weeks of school, a requirement of H.B. 72. To finance the program, the board approved some $14,000.

—Tabled for further study a proposal regarding changes in the cost per day allowed professional staffers attending school-related conferences and workshops.

—Approved school policy related to local sick leave including a schedule of "days earned" for such leave for professional staffers and other personnel levels. Teachers automatically earn five local sick days when employed, then gain added days

Museum volunteers invited to meeting

Persons interested in working as volunteers in the Scurry County Museum are invited to a luncheon and workshop planned in the museum Monday.

The session will start at 10 a.m. Shirley Leftwich, interim director of the museum, will explain the various tasks performed by volunteers including giving tours, assisting with collection, cataloging and storage and participating in the museum's social activities.

Following the luncheon, Bobbie Donelson and Carol Bullard will give a tour of the museum and a brief history of the permanent collection.

Training programs for volunteers will start on Oct. 22. Docents will be expected to attend sessions twice weekly for three weeks.

"Volunteers do not have to be experts on local history to be valuable to the museum," Mrs. Leftwich said. "All they need is a desire to learn about Scurry County history and to enjoy working with people."

Art fund for SHS

A Fine Arts Endowment Fund has been implemented at Snyder High School — monies derived from the $10,000 grant awarded last spring through the 1984 Rockefeller Excellence in Arts Education Award.

The goal is to supplement the grant monies with local donations, providing an "impetus for (funds) to further the arts in our school and community."

Monies and interest derived from the fund will go towards bringing "art and artists" to the school campus.

The SHS fine arts faculty will determine which visiting artists or shows are invited.

Plans are to vary the selection among the various areas taught through the fine arts department.

This year, plans are to conduct a "Fine Arts Week" at SHS. No final dates have been set, but it is tentatively scheduled for the spring semester.

Stolen items recovered from business burglary

Snyder police said Tuesday they had recovered items taken in a business burglary reported to them last Thursday.

Investigators said all of the items thought taken from Dennis Printing at 2505 ½ Ave. U had been found and returned.

Police have made no arrests in the case.

In addition, officers began an investigation of a reported money theft Tuesday. Employees of G&G Grocery, at the intersection of Huffman Ave. and the Clairemont Highway filed the report at 6:58 p.m. Tuesday.

Said missing was a money bag containing an undetermined amount of cash. It was said stolen from behind the store's checkout counter earlier in the evening.

Pooor Aggies!

The multi-million dollar Aggie coach is crying because some ex-Aggie quarterback volunteered to be a coach for Tech last week.

We didn't know unpaid coaches were unethical like the Aggie boss claims. If that's so, we don't know a team in the country that doesn't have an ethics problem.

Giving advice to coaches and teams has long been an American tradition. Even Coach Tom Landry is starting to accept some friendly advice, Tech's Jerry Moore figured a little assistance couldn't hurt and if we were the high-paid coach of the Texas Aggies, we'd be looking for some "Bright or Bum" ideas.

We never get interested in baseball until the playoffs and the world series. If we had been a gambling man, we suppose we would have lost a bundle on the Chicago Cubs. We figured the bleacher bums would have made the difference.

Late last week we asked Snyder's resident authority on baseball who would win. Skipper Joyce says he'll always go with a team who won 104 regular season games. For this reason, Skipper says Detroit has to be the favorite.

Skipper drinks coffee almost daily with former Snyder baseball coach Speedy Moffett. We asked Skipper if Moffett agreed with his analysis.

"We just drink coffee, we don't talk."

A oilfield type caught us in the coffee shop this week to say if Reagan favors the rich--it's okay with him.

"I'm able to make ends meet," said the man whose face is aged by the West Texas wind and sun. "My boss is one of those rich guys you always hear about on TV. If he's rich, it's because he's built a successful company, and successful companies provide good jobs...I've got a good job."

Ask Us

Q. — What does it take to get a reporter to come to the soccer games and take pictures for the paper?

A. — When soccer began in Snyder, organizers desired that a low-key approach be taken with emphasis on participation rather than winning. Soccer league officers felt that the youngsters would have plenty of time in the future for publicity and pressure. For this reason, the SDN has printed game scores and standings only until the playoffs. Each year, a team photo has been published.

In Brief

Rate cut

AUSTIN (AP) – The first major electric case under the state's new utility regulation law has produced a $9.8 million rate cut and a message for other utility companies.

"What we said pretty clearly here is the mere filing of a rate case is not going to guarantee anything. It may cost you some money," Public Utility Commission Chairman Phil Ricketts said Tuesday after his panel ordered the rate cut for Texas Utilities Electric Co.

TUEC, which serves about one-third of the state's population, wanted a $304 million hike that would have raised rates by an average of 8 percent.

Local

Yearbooks

The 1984-85 yearbooks are now on sale at Snyder High School. Books are the same price as last year's books–$16 which includes a protective cover.

To purchase a book contact Jan Henderson in Room 229 in the high school by Friday in person. Full payment must be made at the time the order is placed. No extra books will be ordered this year. The orders must be made now and must be accompanied by full payment.

Club assembly

A club assembly for Snyder Rotary Club members is due Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. as the membership will meet with the District Governor for Rotary District 573, Charles Beil of Big Spring.

The assembly will be conducted in the Reddy Room at the Texas Electric Service Company building. Beil will join the club for its regular noon meeting Thursday also.

Conference

District 14 of the Texas Elementary Principals and Supervisors Association will conduct its fall conference Thursday at Western Texas College. Registration will be from 9-10 a.m. at the museum.

High court upholds decision

LOCKHART, Texas (AP) — A former deputy sheriff and his wife say they're overjoyed with the Supreme Court's ruling Tuesday that upheld a $65,000 award in their lawsuit against Chic magazine that alleged libel and invasion of privacy.

"We still can't believe it, that it's really over, after all this time," Ed Braun, a former deputy for the Caldwell County sheriff's office, told the Austin American-Statesman. He and his wife, Jeanie, an animal trainer, live on a ranch south of Lockhart, about 35 miles south of Austin.

The Brauns sued Chic soon after the magazine published in its December 1977 issue an Aquarena Springs publicity photo of Mrs. Braun and a paddling pig known as "Ralph, the Diving Pig," which she trained for a novelty diving act at the San Marcos amusement park.

Although Mrs. Braun had on a bathing suit and was not identified in the caption, the Brauns said the photo was defamatory because of the context in which it appeared — in a magazine containing photographs of nude women.

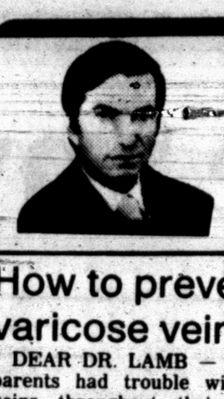

Mrs. Braun said the magazine did not have her permission to use the picture and misrepresented itself as a "men's fashion and travel magazine" to get permission from Aquarena Springs to use the photo.

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

How to prevent varicose veins

DEAR DR. LAMB — Both of my parents had trouble with varicose veins throughout their lives. My mother devloped hers at age 25. I am 30 and have not had any problems, but I do have broken blood vessels on my legs that I consider somewhat unattractive.

I'm considering joining a body-building club where I can work on toning up the muscles in my legs and abdomen, but I have heard rumors that leglifting equipment and other exercises may contribute to broken vessels or varicose veins. Is this true? If so, how does a person condition his body without the threat of unsightly veins?

DEAR READER — I am not sure what you mean by broken veins. If you mean those small "spider veins" that many people dislike, you could have them treated. Some doctors, including dermatologists, inject a strong solution into the small veins, which scars them so they disappear.

Weightlifting exercises can affect your veins in two ways. One is in how a person breathes. Breath holding impedes the flow of venous blood back to the chest and causes the larger veins to distend. The other way is by contracting muscles that clamp down on and obstruct veins. Otherwise, standing still is more likely to distend your veins and contribute to developing varicose veins than exercise will.

With your history, you should think about preventing varicose veins. You should wear support hose or some pressure stocking or bandage when standing any length of time. Don't stand still, if you can avoid it. Walking milks the blood out of the legs and decreases the chances of developing varicose veins as does any exercise that involves leg movement.

You will understand varicose veins better after reading my new issue of The Health Letter, Special Report 21, Varicose Veins and Venous Insufficiency, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Just what is a calorie? I know that too many calories turn to fat and that a calorie is a measure of energy, but what kind of measure?

DEAR READER — A calorie is a measure of heat energy. In nutrition and biological terms, it is called a kilocalorie or large calorie. It represents the amount of heat required to raise the temperature of one liter of water one degree centigrade.

You would think from all the emphasis on exercise, which is a healthy trend, that calories were a measure of work, but they are not. Your body produces heat. The big shocker is that all the energy your body uses at rest is converted to heat and eliminated from your body as heat. And, as far as exercise is concerned, more than 75 percent of the energy your body uses to do physical activity is also eliminated from your body as heat. The early studies of body energy were done with heat measurements, hence the calorie. Later, the heat energy was equated with oxygen use.

In my opinion, the obesity specialists have largely missed the main point. They have failed to see the forest for the trees. Eliminating body heat safely is the way to eliminate calories, not fad diets or tricks to wash out water. But what have you seen about ways to increase body heat loss? Nothing. It's crazy.

Library offers newest books

Louis L'Amour's latest book, "Bowdrie's Law," is now available in the Scurry County Library. This book brings back Chick Bowdrie, lawman, manhunter and peacemaker, with a new set of adventures along the deadly back-trails and amidst the bitter blood feuds of the Lone Star territory.

Also available at the library is a new study about the United States oil industry, particularly as influenced by independents in the Permian Basin and in southeastern New Mexico. Roger and Diana Olien, in their book "Wildcatters: Texas Independent Oilmen," note that prices present fewer problems for the independents than do our national political policies, and that it is in this area that their future is most precarious.

The Oliens' previous book, "Oil Booms: Social Change in Five Texas Towns," which includes a study of Snyder is also available.

East feels the pinch

By James Jacoby

So you have only eight tricks in three no-trump. If you knock out the defender's diamond ace, he'll take enough tricks to set you. Go ahead and take your eight tricks, but don't throw in your hand!

When your partner makes an overcall and you cue-bid the opponent's suit, you may be asking for a stopper in the enemy suit. If, on your next turn to bid, you repeat the cue-bid, you are asking for a partial stopper. And that's what happened on the current deal.

East happily cleared the hearts after the opening lead and, like a panther waiting to pounce, eagerly waited for the first play in diamonds. That was one play option for declarer — to lead the jack of diamonds from dummy as though he were missing the queen, and hope that East would carelessly duck.

There was another legitimate play for the contract and declarer took it. He played four rounds of clubs, discarding a diamond from the table. East had two easy discards — a diamond and a heart. But the fourth club gave him fits. If he gave up a spade, the spade suit would run. If he gave up one more heart, declarer would simply force out the diamond ace. There would be only one more heart for East to cash, and the contract would be assured.

Vivace hears about Ritchie's life

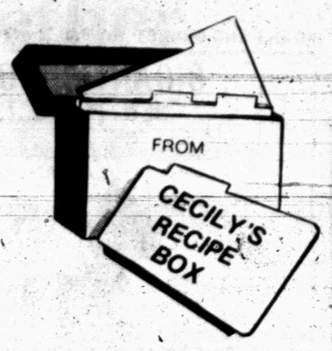

In keeping with their 1984-85 theme, "Composers, Yesterday and Today," members of the Vivace Junior Music Club heard Darrell Collins present a program on the life of Lionel Ritchie on Oct. 6 in the home of Myste Malone at 3910 Eastridge. Lyle Hale of Rotan presided over the get acquainted meeting.

Collins, a Snyder High School graduate, attended San Angelo College. Currently he is employed by Mobil Oil and is choir director at Mount Olive Baptist Church. In addition to discussing Ritchie's background and his early days with the "Commodores," Collins played and sang with his sister Debra, Patrick Malone and Evelyn Malone some of Ritchie's songs including "Endless Love," "Still," "Three Times a Lady," "Truly" and "Jesus is Love."

New officers for the club were installed in a candlelight ceremony; pupils received their yearbooks; and new members and parents were introduced. The group also sang the Texas Federated Junior Club hymn, "Alleluia" and recited the pledge and collect.

During the business session, the members decided to sponsor a booth for White Buffalo Days featuring Dr. Pepper and homemade candy. Proceeds will be used for SHS music scholarships.

Members enjoyed an informal dinner of sandwiches, hors d'oeuvres, sausage balls, fudge brownies, cookies, cake and tea punch. Shubnum and Huma Ilyas, Ken Gartman, Amy Armstrong and Myste Malone served as hosts.

COME FOR DESSERT
Blueberry Tart & Coffee

PHYLL'S
BLUEBERRY TART

3¾ cups large cultivated blueberries
2½ tablespoons cornstarch
¾ cup granulated sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 cup water
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon lemon juice
9-inch baked and cooled pie shell
1 cup heavy cream
2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Rinse and dry blueberries on paper towels. In a medium saucepan stir together cornstarch, granulated sugar and salt; gradually stir in water, keeping smooth; add 2½ cups of the blueberries. Cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly and mashing berries, until thickened, clear and boiling. Off heat stir in butter and lemon juice. Tightly cover saucepan and reserve off heat. Arrange remaining 1¼ cups blueberries over bottom of pie shell. Gradually spoon reserved cooked mixture over fresh berries so it seeps down; chill. Whip cream, adding confectioners' sugar and vanilla; spread over top. Refrigerate or serve at once. Makes 8 servings. (You'll need a pint basket of blueberries plus half of another for this pie.)

Books needed

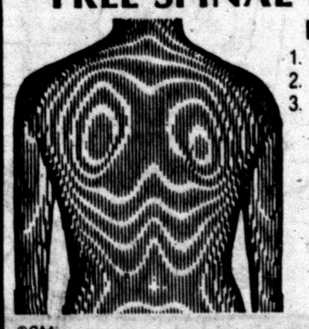

Since many books today, particularly light or entertaining fiction, are available only in paperback, the Scurry County Library is starting a paperback book service.

To establish this new collection, the library is asking for paperback donations in any genre including westerns, romances, science fiction and more. The library requests that the books be donated in good condition. They will be circulated for two weeks as other books are, but no limit on the number checked out at one time will be set.

Lady Tigers pull together, defeat Andrews in 3 games

ANDREWS -- Coach Penny Bane's Tigers pulled together to overcome a huge deficit and defeat Andrews in a key District 2-4A volleyball match here Tuesday.

Snyder, 14-8 on the season, will return home Thursday to entertain San Angelo Lake View at 7:30.

The Tigers lost the first game with Andrews, 4-15, won the second 15-13, then rallied from a 10-point deficit to win the third game and the match, 17-15.

"Andrews played very well," acknowledged Coach Bane, whose Tigers advance to 9-1 in district play with the win. "We had difficulty picking up their dinks at the beginning. They aren't a power hitting team, so everything was short and most of the play was at the net."

As is apparent, Andrews dominated the first game. Snyder finally adjusted, and after trailing in the second game, took a 9-8 lead. Andrews tied it back up at 13-13, but the Tigers got the final two points to win 15-13.

Snyder showed its character in the third game. Falling behind 10-0, the girls chipped away at the Lady Mustang lead. Andrews reached game point at 14-10, but Hope Hernandez served up five straight points to put Snyder in front. The game was deadlocked at 15-15 before Kima McLarty came in to serve the winning points.

"The girls learned how to come back from a great deficit," said Coach Bane. "At the end we finally started hitting the ball well. Andrews' Charlotte Jones played extremely well, and I think she probably intimitated us for a while. In the clutch we came through and did what we needed to do to win the game. It took an effort from everybody to win."

Sabrina Sullivan led in serving for points with 2 in the first game and 7 in the second. Hernandez had 6 in the third.

In addition to the varsity contest at home Thursday. Snyder JV will host Lake View at 6:30 and the Cat freshmen will entertain Big Spring at 5. Tickets are $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

Snyder junior varsity fell to Andrews on Tuesday, 15-12 and 15-8.

Monica Hinojos and Tammy Williamson had 4 each in the first game. Hinojos and Donna Clay had 3 each in the second game.

Cats defeat Andrews; host Big Spring next

ANDREWS -- Snyder freshmen defeated Andrews in volleyball action here Tuesday, 15-8, 10-15 and 15-5.

Scoring on serves were Yolanda Rivers, 17; YoYo Anderson, Jennifer Alarcon and Denise Overton, 4 each; Meredith Goodwin, 3; Kelly Walker, 2; and LaFon Williams and Brinda Gonzales, 1 apiece.

Also playing were Paula Caldwell, Becky Becerra, Melinda Tucker and Patricia Casias.

The Cats, now 9-3, will entertain Big Spring at 5 p.m. Thursday in the Snyder High School Gym.

Dodge working out but not full speed

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Todd Dodge, the starting quarterback for the No. 1-ranked Texas Longhorns who hyperextended a knee Saturday against Rice, returned to practice Tuesday but only for limited workouts.

"He did a fine job for what we were doing today. He got around pretty well, but then we weren't going full speed and there still were a couple of things he wasn't able to do," Head Coach Fred Akers said.

Akers said Dodge was able to throw the football but that it was unclear whether Dodge would play against No. 3 Oklahoma in a showdown Saturday afternoon in the Cotton Bowl in Dallas.

On Monday, Akers had termed a Dodge start "possible." Tuesday, he was asked the latest forecast.

"Well, what is a term between possible and likely?" the Texas coach said. "I really don't know what it is. Let's just stay with possible.

"I still want to see what he's able to do the next couple of days," Akers said.

Dodge, ranked No. 2 in the nation in passing efficiency, through three games has completed 30 of 49 passes for 488 yards and four touchdowns. He also rushed for two scores.

Dodge was injured late in the second quarter against Rice while throwing a touchdown pass in the 38-13 victory over Rice. The undefeated Longhorns also have victories over Penn State and Auburn.

Morris hangs tough, leads Detroit to opening victory

SAN DIEGO (AP) - The Captain had his hook out. San Diego had his ace in the hole. But Sparky Anderson went against his own instincts, left Jack Morris in - and the Detroit Tigers' right-hander dug himself out and buried the Padres.

San Diego Manager Dick Williams, who likewise has a propensity to reach for the hook and yank a body out of his bullpen at the slightest provocation, decided Tuesday night to give Mark Thurmond a little extra time.

And when Thurmond reached back for a little extra, he found not the bullets that Morris was firing but a bomb that blew up in his face.

While Morris struck out nine batters - three in the sixth inning, Thurmond ran out of luck in the fifth as Larry Herndon deposited a high 3-1 fastball into the right field seats at San Diego Jack Murphy Stadium, giving the Tigers a 3-2 victory in the opening game of the World Series.

It continues tonight with Detroit's Dan Petry, 18-8, opposing the Padres' Ed Whitson, 14-8.

Morris was hopping on and off the rim of disaster all game, from the first inning, when the Padres scored their two runs on Terry Kennedy's double, to the sixth, when Graig Nettles and Kennedy singled with nobody out.

By then, Anderson had had half his bullpen warming up at one time or another. "I move pretty quick and I was getting ready," said Captain Hook, whose habit of waving in relievers at a moment's notice followed him from his championship years in Cincinnati.

Bobby Brown was the Padres' next batter. His job: sacrifice the runners ahead. Twice he bunted foul. Then he waved half-heartedly at a bullet of a fastball.

One out.

"When he struck out the first guy, he started throwing after that," Anderson said. "Jack normally can come out throwing that way. Tonight I think he was a little nervous in the first inning."

Now there was one out and still two on in the fifth. Carmelo Martinez was next - Morris' next victim. Three strikes.

Two outs.

Up came Garry Templeton. Three strikes.

Inning over.

Morris had survived.

"If one more man would've got on that inning," Anderson said, "he would've been gone - and we would've lost!"

"He has a lot of confidence in me, so I didn't think he would pull me," Morris said. "Then again, he has a lot of confidence in the bullpen."

Whitson faces Petry tonight

SAN DIEGO (AP) - Despite the Tigers' success in the opener, Detroit right-hander Dan Petry says he's taking nothing for granted in Game 2 of the World Series tonight.

Petry, who was 18-8 during the regular season, will be opposed by San Diego left-hander Ed Whitson, 14-8.

"I'm not looking forward to anything," Petry said. "We've got nine possible days in the World Series and that's the way I'm looking at it. We're not going to let ourselves be overconfident. We've been around too long for that."

Petry and Whitson have a lot in common.

It will be the first World Series and second post-season start for each man. Both finished the regular season with identical 3.24 earned run averages and each won his start in the league championship playoffs.

"The key to beating the Tigers is keeping Alan Trammell and Kirk Gibson under control, I think," Whitson said. "I know we've got our work cut out for us now, but this team doesn't give up - as the world saw against the Cubs."

Whitson struck out a career-high 103 batters during 1984.

"Things turned around for me when I started throwing a palm ball," Whitson said. "My normal fastball is about 90 m.p.h. but the palm ball floats up there doing about 55. It kinds of drives 'em crazy."

McNamara could manage Boston

BOSTON (AP) - John McNamara, who told the California Angels he will not return as manager next season, is a candidate, perhaps the leading candidate, to manage the Boston Red Sox.

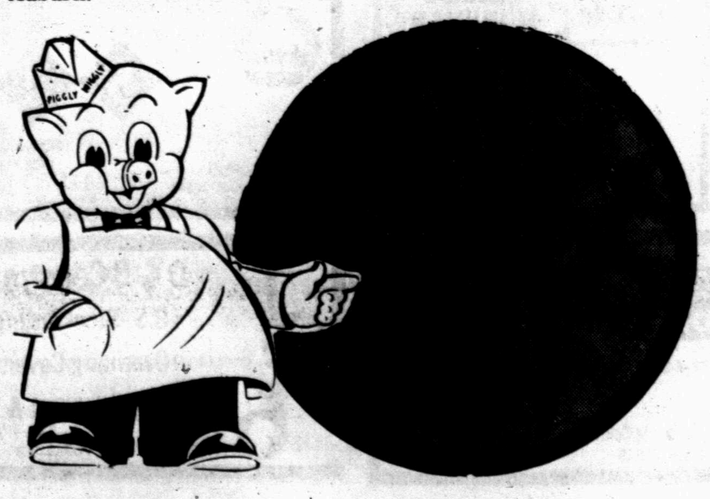

Haywood Sullivan, co-owner of the Red Sox, confirmed Tuesday that McNamara, 52, is being considered to succeed Ralph Houk as manager of the American League club, The Boston Herald and The Boston Globe reported today.

Both Boston newspapers predicted that barring a last-minute surprise or unknown complication, McNamara would become Boston's next manager.

Houk retired from the Red Sox at the end of the just-completed regular season.

Perkins finally signs with Mavs

DALLAS (AP) - Sam Perkins, the last of the first-round National Basketball Association draft picks to hold out for a contract, has signed a five-year deal with the Dallas Mavericks.

Campbell traded to Phillips' Saints

by The Associated Press

New Orleans Saints Coach Bum Phillips has been reunited with Earl Campbell, the running back he unleashed on the National Football League in 1978, and linebacker Brad Van Pelt has fulfilled his wish to move to the West Coast.

In the most notable transactions on a busy closing day in the league's trading period Tuesday, the Houston Oilers sent Campbell to the Saints in exchange for a first-round draft choice in 1985, while the Minnesota Vikings, unable to sign Van Pelt after a 12-week impasse, sent him to the Super Bowl champion Los Angeles Raiders. The Vikings will get a sixth-round choice in 1985 and a second-round selection in 1986.

Campbell, who gained 8,296 in his first six years, managed only 278 in six games - all losses - this year.

Under Phillips, Campbell led the NFL in rushing in 1978-80 and topped the AFC again in 1981.

"Obviously, we are glad to get him," said Phillips. "I've never had too many good players. This trade gives us a heck of a backfield," which includes the likes of George Rogers.

"I doubt if he and George would play in the same backfield in too many situations, but they might," said Phillips.

"It just so happens that in the sports business, you have to get traded around sometimes," Campbell said. "I hope it's good for them (the Saints) and I hope it's good for me."

As far as Van Pelt was concerned, what was good for him was any team in Florida or California so that he could pursue business opportunities.

Van Pelt, who played 11 years with the New York Giants and was a five-time Pro Bowl choice, held out for 12 weeks rather than sign with the Vikings.

Among other transactions Tuesday:

-The Pittsburgh Steelers acquired offensive tackle Steve August from the Seattle Seahawks in exchange for an undisclosed draft choice.

-Defensive back Lawrence Johnson was traded to the Buffalo Bills by the Cleveland Browns in exchange for an undisclosed 1985 draft choice. Lucious Smith, a cornerback, was waived to open a spot on the roster for Johnson.

-The Cincinnati Bengals traded the rights to unsigned first-round draft pick Ricky Hunley to the Denver Broncos for a first-round draft choice in 1986.

Keesee SWC player of week

by The Associated Press

Aaron Keesee was almost perfect.

If he hadn't thrown one pass too low, the Texas Tech freshman quarterback would have been graded 100 per cent against Texas A&M Saturday.

As it turned out, his 98 per cent, four-touchdown performance in the Red Raiders' 30-12 victory over Texas A&M was good enough to earn him The Associated Press Southwest Conference Offensive Player of the Week award.

Defensive honors went to Texas' All-American safety Jerry Gray, who intercepted two passes and made five unassisted tackles in the Longhorns' 38-13 victory over Rice.

Keesee completed 6 of 8 passes for 78 yards and 3 touchdowns. He also ran for another score.

Other offensive nominees included Houston quarterback Gerald Landry, who threw two touchdowns against Baylor; TCU wide receiver James Maness who caught the winning two-point conversion against Arkansas; and Texas Tech running back Timmy Smith, who had a 159-yard rushing day against Texas A&M.

The defensive honor roll included Texas Tech's Dwayne Jiles, who had 12 tackles and caused two fumbles; TCU's Kent Tramell, who made 18 tackles; and Houston's T.J. Turner, who had 10 tackles.

New Navy trainers will create 800 jobs in Corpus Christi, Texas

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — An estimated 800 new high-tech civilian jobs will be created at two Naval Air Stations in South Texas as part of a contract signed last week for new jet trainers to be in operation in six years, officials said.

A $3.2 billion contract between the government and McDonnell Douglas Corp., signed last week, calls for 300 jet trainers plus a computerized training and management system.

Family of missing minister hasn't given up hope-

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The father of a Church of Christ minister missing since July says his family has not given up hope of Wesley Barret Cox's safe return.

Wesley Cox, father of the 33-year-old former youth minister at MacArthur Park Church of Christ, said the family has no new clues into the disappearance.

"We hired a private investigator for about a month and it turned up nothing," Cox said.

BUSINESS AND INDUSTRIAL NEWS

Super Fill aids homeowners in insulating their homes

It was almost a year ago when Rick Freeman contacted Super-Fill to do something about his cold, drafty home. He and his family were so impressed with the immediate results that his personal testimony of praise and satisfaction of the insulation lead him to become the local sales representative for Super-Fill Insulation in Snyder. The company has been in business for 12 years with the main office located in Abilene and 10 other offices are located throughout Texas.

The partnership of Ken Stallings and Kenneth Green, owner-managers of Super-Fill Insulation, is fast growing due to a reputation built on doing exactly what they say they will do. One of their favorite sayings is "we guarantee what others only promise". Those are written guarantees and not just talk like most companies offer.

A new office has just opened in Lubbock and due to the overwhelming response and obvious need for the product in the Snyder area, plans are underway to soon open a locally operated office with Rick as the local sales manager.

Rick maintains that he is no high-pressure, smooth talking salesman. "I believe in this product and its results. It sells itself. All I do is explain the process of putting it in your home and how it will save you money. I tell you how much it is and then let the customer make up their mind if they want it or not."

"Back when my home was built, in 1958, insulation was the least worry a contractor or homeowner had. Utility bills weren't the highest rising expense the average working man encountered, and conservation of utilities wasn't important to the U.S. economy. About this time last year I realized it was very important to me. That is when I decided to call Super-Fill, set up an appointment to see a representative of the company and find out how I could conserve some energy and save money at the same time. After the salesman explained to my wife and I how they would drill small holes in the exterior of the walls of my home and then pump them full of a non skin irritating, fire retardant, insect resistant, sound proof insulation and then restore the exterior to its natural state, he showed me two written guarantees that I would save at least 40 percent on my last year's heating and cooling consumption and that this material would never settle as long as this house was standing.

He then gave us an estimate, explained 100 percent financing at a low percentage rate, thanked us for our time and left our home. No smooth talk, no high pressure. That was almost the most impressive part of the presentation. My wife and I talked it over and called him back later that week to get the job started. Two weeks later owner Ken Stallings came by to inspect the job and to see that we were completely satisfied. We definitely were satisfied to the extent that I now

Dear Abby

Credit Card Fraud Is Now a Growth Industry

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1984 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR READERS: Have you been careless about protecting yourself against credit card thieves? I was, until I read the following illuminating facts in September's Working Woman magazine:

Credit card criminals are now committing 20,000 crimes a day and are hauling away a billion dollars a year!

Thomas F. Kelleher, vice president for security and fraud control of MasterCard, says, "Our research indicates that the dramatic increase in account-number abuse is in large part due to the participation and direction of sophisticated criminals, not the penny-ante thief of earlier times." From 1973 to 1982, credit card crime jumped 1,540 percent.

Unfortunately, the majority of offenders cannot be caught because of the lag time between fraudulent purchases and their discovery by consumers. "As long as the criminal is smart and throws the card away before the end of the month and doesn't use it for two billing periods, it's difficult to get him," a U.S. attorney is quoted as saying.

Protecting your account means taking precautions. Experts have this advice for cardholders:

— Never give your account number over the phone.

— Always ask for the carbon paper after you charge an item and make sure you or the cashier tears it up.

— Examine your statement monthly and make certain you have ordered everything listed and make sure that the amounts are accurate.

— Always check to be sure you get your own card back from a waiter or salesclerk.

— Don't let anyone memorize your card over your shoulder while you're signing it.

— Keep a list of all accounts and their numbers at home in a safe place and report all lost cards immediately.

I hope the above does as much for you as it did for me.

DEAR ABBY: On the last weekend in August, I went to Harris Beach, Ore., and met this really nice girl from Grants Pass, Ore. It was love at first sight, and we spent a fabulous weekend together. I never experienced anything like it in my life. The only bad thing about the weekend was that when we said goodbye, I didn't get her last name or address.

I would like to get in touch with her. Can you help me?

IN LOVE IN OREGON

DEAR IN LOVE: Did you give her your name and address? If you did and she feels the same way about you, you will hear from her. If not, you're out of luck, Romeo.

"Talk health. That dreary never-ending tale
"Of mortal maladies is worn and stale;
"You cannot charm or interest or please
"By harping on that minor chord, disease.

"Say that you are well, and all is well with you,
"And God shall hear your words and make them true."

Actor objected to tug-of-war

HONOLULU (AP) — Actor Jeff McCracken says he doesn't mind bikinis, but he drew the line at a tug-of-war with a group of scantily clad women for an episode of the ABC-TV series "Hawaiian Heat."

"Women should be treated as people, not objects," said McCracken, co-star of the new series. "I know it's awfully hard to do a show in Hawaii and not have beautiful women in bikinis, but there are values to uphold."

Astro-Graph

By Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday

Oct. 11, 1984

You will be fortunate this coming year in trying to improve the quality of life for those you love. You'll be lucky for them, as well as for yourself.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Shifting or changing conditions tend to work for your ultimate benefit today, even if they are not alterations of your own making. The areas in which you'll be the luckiest in the year ahead are revealed in your Astro-Graph predicitons for the coming year. To get yours, mail $1 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Today has far more promise for you than early signals may indicate. Something good could develop through a close associate.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) This can be a very profitable day for you if you think in terms of being helpful and of service to others. Sincere motivation will be rewarded.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your competent, optimistic outlook will win the admiration of others today. It will serve to buoy their spirits and enhance your popularity.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Strive to be optimistic regarding the outcome of events today. If you have a positive attitude, you'll make all the winning moves.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If you have been neglecting two close friends lately, this is a good day to make amends. Get in touch with them because they'll be delighted to hear from you.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Focus your total efforts today on financial or career objectives that are truly meaningful. Lady Luck may help you pull off something big.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Somewhere far removed from your present circumstances good things are happening on your behalf. You may get an inkling of them today.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) A kind gesture you made in the past may be repaid today in a far greater measure. Your good deeds are coming home to roost.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your influential friends will not be adverse to helping you achieve things you couldn't do unaided today. Request their assistance.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You are likely to experience success today in areas where your plans were previously thwarted. Regroup your forces and try again.

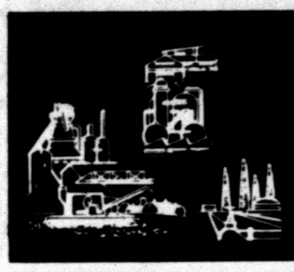

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) This is a good day to begin to make efforts to enlarge your circle of acquaintances. Don't turn down invitations where you'll have a chance to meet new people.

Widow donates to husband's home

LIVERPOOL, England (AP) — Yoko Ono's donation of $110,700 may not keep the Strawberry Fields Children's Home going forever, but it certainly should help.

The widow of ex-Beatle John Lennon marked his 44th birthday Tuesday with the gift to the home where he had often played as a child. Ms. Ono had donated $12,300 to the home in January.

Southwestern Brick makes homes beautiful, efficient

Efficiency is the key to lower cooling and heating bills, and Southwestern Brick is the key to efficiency. Located on the Brick Plant Road, Southwestern Brick specializes in clay products that make your home more beautiful and efficient.

Southwestern Brick has been located in Snyder for more than 30 years. The ownership of the company has changed recently, but the products are still the same high quality as before.

Brick is an excellent insulator against summer heat and winter cold. Not only is it efficient, but attractive, for outside as well as inside your home. Southwestern Brick carries six different colors and textures of brick including two new shades of sand-faced brick.

Southwestern Brick makes their own brick. The way the plant produces brick is by mining local clays and shale and storing it at the plant. The material is crushed, screened and stored in silos. Then the ground material is mixed with water in a "pug mill" and extruded in a continuous bar of clay. At this time the texture and color of the brick are added. The brick size units are cut from the bar and set automatically onto kiln cars. The "green" bricks are dried for 48 hours at 200 degrees. The dried bricks are moved into the kiln and burned at 1900 degrees for 24 hours. The finished bricks are unloaded from the kiln cars and packaged into cubes of 400 bricks.

Individual, commercial, retail and wholesale customers are all welcome at Southwestern Brick. They can also order fireplace equipment of all kinds.

Whether your needs are for a small home repair, a major remodeling job or starting from scratch, contact the folks at Southwestern Brick for a helping hand. The main telephone number is 573-5741 or for the office call 573-2901.

Super Fill is coming to Snyder spend most of my time giving the same presentation I had received and pride myself on a no pressure, informative, energy efficient presentation. Super-Fill Insulation has added a lot of comfort to our home that pays for itself in heating and cooling costs. I would like to share this with everyone in Snyder and the surrounding area, so call 573-0734 and let me show you what Super-Fill can do for you. We guarantee what others only promise-GUARANTEED."

Liberace never met impersonator

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Entertainer Liberace contends he never met the man accused of using the pianist's name to raise money for a golf tournament.

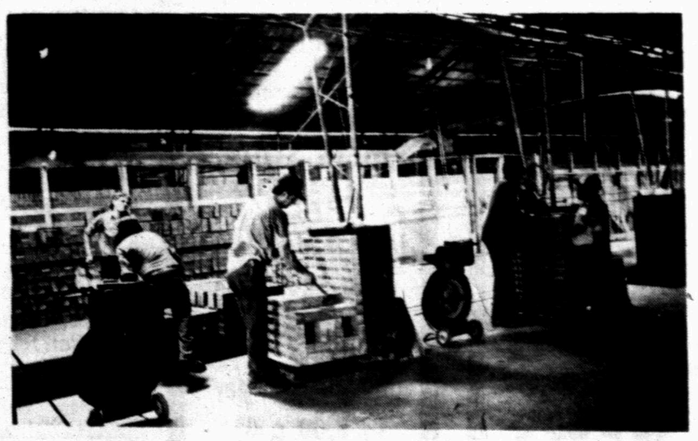

Liberace answered, "No, sir," several times when prosecutors asked if he ever made arrangements with Dirk Summers for a tournament Summers allegedly claimed was to be sponsored by Liberace.

During cross-examination, defense attorney Peter Flangas attempted to show that Liberace knew Summers.

"I never saw that man in my entire life," Liberace said.

Summers is charged with forgery and attempting to obtain money under false pretenses. Prosecutors allege he forged Liberace's signature and tried to raise as much as $75,000 for the tournament.

Liberace, 65, testified Tuesday at a preliminary hearing in Justice Court.

Hurricane Josephine said stronger

MIAMI (AP) — Hurricane Josephine became stronger and better organized, but a high-pressure system moving in the North Atlantic today prevented the storm's 85 mph winds from threatening the United States, forecasters said.

Miles Lawrence, a forecaster with the National Weather Service, said the high-pressure system will keep Josephine parallel to the coastline.

Josephine, the third hurricane of the 1984 Atlantic hurricane season, was upgraded from tropical storm status Tuesday afternoon.

At 6 a.m. EDT today, the hurricane's center was near latitude 27.8 north and longitude 72.8 west, or some 375 miles east of Freeport, Grand Bahama Island, the weather service said.

Maximum sustained winds were 85 mph with gales extending 250 miles east and 150 miles west of the center. Some strengthening was expected through Thursday morning.

"Since the hurricane is moving slowly, this increases the uncertainty of its future course," the weather service said in a statement. "Therefore, interests along the southeast U.S. coast should closely monitor the progress of this hurricane."

National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials, worried over Saturday's scheduled landing of the shuttle Challenger at the Kennedy Space Center on Cape Canaveral, were keeping an eye on Josephine's progress.

"We'll make an attempt to land if the weather is good," commander Robert Crippen said Tuesday during a 44-minute space-to-ground news conference. The shuttle's landing could be diverted to California or postponed a day, officials said.

The Bahamian government issued a hurricane watch for Eleuthera and Abaco islands after sending out gale warnings for the central Bahamas.

The Coast Guard reported today that six people on a disabled sailboat had been rescued from the oncoming hurricane.

The 41-foot sailboat "Covenant" was on its way from Moorehead, N.C, to St. Thomas in the U.S. Virgin Islands when 33 to 38 mph wind ripped its sails Tuesday and 15-foot seas broke its centerboard, spokesman Joe Gibson said.

The tanker Esso Melbourne was diverted from its course to the Dutch island territory of Aruba to rescue the sailboat's crew, Gibson said.

Forecasters expected Josephine's 5 mph drift to the north-northwest to continue.

School agenda lengthy Tuesday after their first year of employment. Other areas addressed in the policy include absences due to immediate family illness, compassionate leave, personal business, maternal leave, jury duty and payment for unused sick leave. Under personal business, the board did delete a provision to attend funerals since it was pointed out such a leave was already granted as compassionate leave.

—Approved new school policy noting that the school district will pay no more than two months of premiums for an employee who has exhausted their sick leave and have not returned to work. Thereafter, the employee must pay the monthly insurance premium. Employees granted leave must also pay their own insurance premiums.

—Granted a request from Wanda Hudgins, elementary teacher, allowing her to apply to participate in the Fulbright Teacher Exchange Program.

—Accepted the resignation of Linda Sellars, secretary at Stanfield Elementary, and approved the hiring of Barbara Gowin for the same post.

The board also approved several new policy items which relate to new state mandates approved under House Bill 72. These include requirements that:

—All grades for students must be reported numerically rather than by a single letter, with the exception of kindergarten. Any grade less than 70 is considered failing (the failing level was 60 locally). In addition, when a grade of less than 70 is given, the grade report must include a notice to parents seeking a conference with the teacher.

—Report cards will be issued for grades 1-12 every six weeks (locally, such reports were issued every nine weeks).

—School teachers will attempt to schedule parent-teacher conferences related to all students. This should include written notice to the parent. Requirements include, for kindergarten students, a minimum of one conference prior to the end on the ninth week; for grades 1-6, a minimum of two, one during the first semester and the second following the end of the fifth six-weeks; and for grades 7-12, "to the extent that time and circumstances allow."

—A requirement giving parents 10 days from the start of school to provide a valid birth certificate for their child.

Pacesetter Division has collected $27,342 for 116 percent.

Four divisions are above the halfway mark. These include Special Contributions, headed by Bobby Beard; Public Employees, headed by Polly Underwood and Fran Farmer; and National, headed by Rick Conner. Also above 50 percent is the Commercial-Retail division headed by Tom Latos, Mike Banta, Joee Gainer and Bob Clifton.

Rural, headed by Jay Martin, is at 38 percent of its goal; royalty owners group is at 33 percent; professional at 35 percent. Oil and industry is at 6 percent of its goal.

It was reported that workers still have many packets out which are expected to be complete within the next week. A second report meeting was set for 10 a.m. next Wednesday at city hall. The campaign is due to end Oct. 24.

Band has chance for Austin event

a regional and state trip, the regional trip was projected to cost some $2,000, leaving an estimated $18,000 expense for state.

Trustees Lillie Sullivan and J. Merrill (Mule) Kayser spoke out in favor of the proposal, however. Sullivan commented, "It's a shame to say, 'It so many wouldn't come out, we could afford to send them."

Kayser also pointed to the lifelong effect learning music has on a youngster. It was Kayser who made the motion to grant the request, and Sullivan seconded.

The measure passed with five trustees voting for it. Leslie Butler abstained. Voting for were Kayser, Sullivan, Allen Grimmett, G.A. Parks Jr. and Mike Reed. As board president, Hinton was not required to vote.

It was noted that the budgeted funds will be used only if the band qualifies. Otherwise, it was proposed to set aside the monies to allow them to draw interest for the following year.

The fall trip to Austin would also not be in addition to a spring band trip, it was noted. Traditionally, band and choir students alternate with a "long trip" in the spring.

The advancement to state begins Oct. 27 with district competition in Abilene.

Winners there will advance to a regional marching contest in Vernon Nov. 3, and winners there — which will comprise only 14 bands throughout the state — will go to Austin Nov. 12-13.

This will mark the second year for a UIL-sanctioned state marching contest. Snyder High School was among the bands advancing to state last year, eventually finishing a percentage point away from the five-band finals competition for the AAAA classification.

Passenger said injured

A passenger reportedly sustained minor injuries in one of two traffic accidents reported in Snyder Tuesday.

According to police reports, a passenger in a 1978 Buick driven by Josefina C. Alvarez of 2101 24th St. sustained minor injuries when the car struck a concrete culvert railing in the 800 Block of E 37th St. The mishap occurred around 7:10 p.m.

The injured passenger — who was not named in the police report — did not require medical treatment.

Tuesday's first minor mishap was recorded at 2:08 p.m. at the intersection of 25th St. and Ave. T.

Involved in it were a 1981 Pontiac driven by Jack Jean Pointeau of 1006 25th St. and a 1983 Ford driven by Richard Robert Mena of 601 N Ave. T.

Press Club elects 3 new officers

Steve Cullen of Clyde has been elected president of the Western Texas College Press Club. David Stewart of Roby has been elected vice-president and LaDonna Way of Monahans secretary/-treasurer.

Cullen also serves as advertising manager for the campus newspaper, The Western Texan. Stewart, a page editor for The Western Texas, also writes a column. Miss Way is a member of the reporting staff.

Lucy Herrera, WTC journalism instructor, is faculty sponsor for the Press Club.

Obituaries

Joshua Hildreth

Graveside services for Joshua McCay Hildreth, stillborn son of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Hildreth of Route 1, Snyder, were to be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at Snyder Cemetery. Bell-Seale Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

He was born Monday at Lubbock General Hospital.

He is survived by his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hildreth of Snyder and maternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Billy Kenly of Snyder.

African violets course planned

A 12-hour Continuing Education course on African violets will be taught at Western Texas College in evening classes meeting on Mondays from Oct. 15-Nov. 19.

Jimmy Ritchey will be instructor for the course. Classes will meet in the Christian Student Center on campus from 7-9 p.m. Students will pay fees of $25 each.

Topics to be covered include propogation of violets from seeds, leaf cuttings and plant divisions, soils suitable for violets, lighting, watering, fertilizing and producing hybrids by breeding.

Group wants jobs to be discussed

AUSTIN (AP) — A coalition of community groups, saying it signed up 104,636 new Texas voters this year and vowing to turn many of them out on Nov. 6, wants candidates of both parties to talk about issues such as jobs.

"The issues are critical to us and we want to see responses to those issues," said Sonia C. Hernandez, president of Communities Organized for Public Service.

She identified jobs, water, health care and education as some of the top issues considered important by the groups making up the nonpartisan Industrial Areas Foundation Network Organization.

"But the No. 1 issue for our families is a decent job that pays a good salary so we can support our families." she said Tuesday. "That's an issue that transcends community lines, county lines, city lines because it involves all of us."

Ms. Hernandez said some 4,000 officials of the IAF member groups will go door to door in 223 Texas precincts the two weekends before the election and on Nov. 6 in a bid to turn out at least 50 percent of the voters.

Also urging the two political parties to address the issues was the Rev. D.L. Ellison of Fort Worth, voter registration coordinator for Allied Communities of Tarrant.

"We challenge both the Democratic and Republican parties to address the issues that affect our families," Ellison said.

Robert Bailon, Hispanic coordinator for the Texas Republican Party, told the groups that the GOP is pleased by the registration drive and will cooperate.

Bob Slagle, chairman of the Texas Democratic Party, said his party's candidates also will gladly speak to the groups.

WTC professor has written instructor's guide for book

Ray Robbins, Law Enforcement professor at Western Texas College, is the author of a newly published instructor's guide prepared to accompany a widly used law enforcement textbook.

The textbook, now in its third edition, is "Legal Aspects of Criminal Evidence." Authors of the book are Julian R. Hanley, a retired judge who serves as special assistant public defender in Naples, Fla. and Wayne W. Schmidt, executive director of Americans for Effective Law Enforcement, Inc. of Evanston, Ill.

First published in 1977, the textbook was revised for a second edition in 1979. John McCutchan, publisher of the book, sent Robbins a review copy at that time. Three years later he called Robbins to ask his opinion of the book and they continued their acquaintance by telephone on later occasions.

When McCutchan finalized plans to publish the book in a third edition, he called and asked Robbins to prepare the instructor's guide and Robbins put it together in about 60 days. It was published in September, along with the next textbook.

Included in the instructor's guide are 15 lesson plans and 575 examination questions, making it especially valuable for part-time law enforcement instructors who have a limited amount to time to spend preparing lesson plans and tests, Robbins said.

Robbins has received a complimentary copy of the latest edition of the textbook along with copies of the instructor's guide, which contains 281 pages.

"Legal Aspects of Criminal Evidence" is designed to inform the law enforcement officer and students of the rules of evidence that guide the enforcement of criminal law in its two most important stages--investigation and trial, Robbins said.

The authors bear impressive credentials. Hanley was county judge in Wyoming County, New York, where Attica prison is located and heard the habeas corpus and other court petitions from the inmates, holding court for this purpose once a week inside the prison walls.

He had 18 years of experience as a district attorney before his election to the bench.

Schmidt is a former director of the Legal Center, International Association of Chiefs of Police, and former legal adviser to the Chicago Police Intelligence Division.

Robbins was one of WTC's original faculty members. He received the Associate in Applied Science degree from Odessa College and holds the Bachelor of Liberal Studies and Master of Liberal Studies degrees from the University of Oklahoma.

Recent study results indicate papers have high readership

Newspapers pack a solid wallop for Texas business and residential communities alike, far outdistancing all other forms of communication.

Results of Texas Consumer Survey 84, the largest and most comprehensive study ever conducted on readership, listening, viewing and shopping habits, heavily documents Texas newspaper superiority.

—86.3 percent of Texans read a newspaper every week, with 80 percent reading their local community newspaper;

—70.6 percent of Texas newspaper readers usually read local merchant ads, and

—87.6 percent of the readers say that the ads in their local newspaper are important to them personally.

These are just three of the dozens of highlights revealed by the statewide study which was conducted by Consumer Data Service (CDS), of Oklahoma City.

The massive survey was under the supervision of Dr. Ernest Larkin, director of the Journalism Research Center of the University of Oklahoma.

The study also provides in depth detail of the vast audience appeal of Texas newspapers. This portion of the data emphasized that:

—(A) 69.6 percent read at least five issues of their local daily, and 84.3 percent read every issue of their local weekly newspaper;

—(B) 72.6 percent of local newspaper readers who responded to the survey are married;

—(C) Over 50 percent of the families subscribing to local newspapers comprise three or more people;

—(D) Husbands and wives in 43.3 percent of the Texas newspaper reading families both have jobs with combined incomes totaling more than $20,000;

—(E) 64.19 percent of Texans who voted in the 1982-83 elections are newspaper readers, and

—(F) 79.4 percent of Texas newspaper readers own their own homes.

Lyndell Williams, executive vice president of the Texas Press Association (TPA) in Austin, after receiving the study report said this week, "This survey not only confirms what major advertising retailers already know, but also provides undeniable proof of newspaper strength in all other areas as well."

He cited the high readership interest in local news as an example of "newspaper wallop for a better informed community and state." Williams pointed out the following additional facts that were revealed by the survey data:

—82.8 percent of Texas read all local news in their newspapers;

—70.3 percent read the special sections;

—58.4 percent read the editorials, and

—54.3 percent read the state news.

Williams also cited local merchant ads as the most thoroughly read advertising matter. Those figures read:

—89 percent of Texas newspaper readers usually or at least sometimes read all local merchant advertising;

—85.4 percent usually or sometimes read all grocery ads;

—85.8 percent usually or sometimes read all the inserts in newspapers, and

—85.59 percent usually or sometimes read department store advertising.

The survey also outlined the strengths and weaknesses of direct mail along with radio and television.

Direct mail advertising in Texas, much of it conducted by out-of-state firms, is usually read by 43.7 percent of the addresses, with only 31 percent of that number reading all of a single mailing.

Radio and television while being listened to by as much as 73 percent of Texas consumers and seen by at least that many people, nevertheless, must divide those numbers by dozens of stations and channels. The most watched cable television channels do not even accept advertising.

John Taylor, director of the Texas Newspaper Advertising Bureau (TNAB), explained that an analysis of the massive survey easily reveals numerous additional newspaper assets that may be overlooked at first glance.

Taylor explained, "Every Texas nespaper is a dues payer to its community and state, as well as a major contributor to a better society. Texas newspapers, their publishers and staffs have spent lifetimes creating communities that justify the investment of millions of dollars by major retailers.

"Our newspapers represent major local payrolls and substantial taxpayers to the local, county and state governments. In all cases, one newspaper and not more than two thoroughly dominates the markets which they serve.

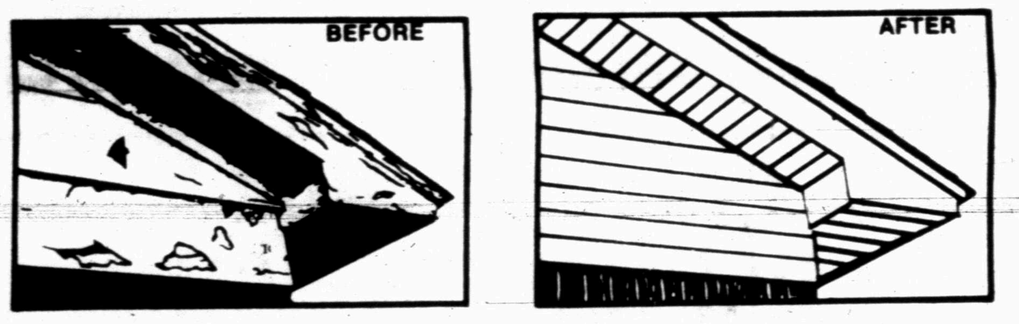

"Texas newspapers represent quite a choice from the major direct mailers who often don't even pay state taxes, and the electronic media which must share its hour-by-hour audience with about 50 competitors."

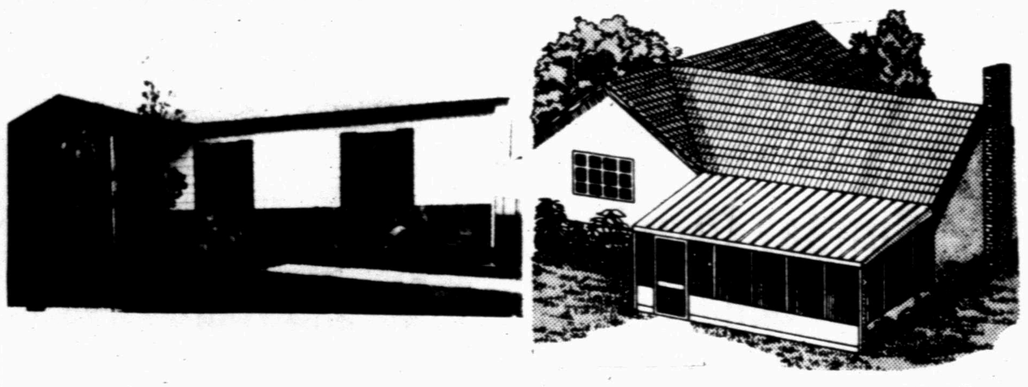

Tasmanian evenings are characterized by strong winds that, at times, include hail, sleet and rain. The TKAMANIAN Aboriginal hated the night and believed it was ruled by his most frightening devil, Wraggeowrapper, said to be "like a black man, only very big and ugly," National Geographic reports.

Scientist claims he can see new currents in ocean

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Oceanographer Paul Scully-Power, the "forgotten man" on space shuttle Challenger, reported from orbit Tuesday that he has seen ocean eddies and subsurface waves that seem to be interconnected in a vast ballet of natural forces.

Scully-Power, a Navy oceanographer, said such findings may lead to "integrating the knowledge that we have into one big vista of the ocean."

The Austrialian-born scientist was added to the crew of Challenger in the final months of training. His specific assignment was to look out the spacecraft window and observe the surface of the ocean. Until Tuesday, he had had very little to say to Mission Control and was wryly referred to by some at the Johnson Space Center as "the forgotten man."

He proved Tuesday that he has not been idle during his time in space.

Scully-Power said he found motions in the vast reaches of the ocean, including the eddies that were first found by astronauts and which scientist now believe are an important factor in the formation of the world's weather.

The eddies, he said, were everywhere in the oceans.

"As soon as we got over Long Island," he said, "there was a whole stream of spiral eddies that went down the eastern shore. . . As we orbited out over the Atlantic, there was a whole series of internal waves."

Off the coast of the northeastern United States, said Scully-Power, he saw a color change in the ocean and discovered "that, indeed, was the north wall of the Gulf Stream (a powerful current that moves up the east coast of the U.S.)

"For the first time we have seen a whole packet of very long internal waves associated with the north wall of the Gulf Stream," he said. "These particular waves were inboard of the north wall, in other words, in the Gulf Stream itself."

Scully-Power added: "This combination of spiral eddies outside the Gulf Stream and the long internal waves inside . . . is a combination that's never been seen before."

The scientist and other oceanographers have studied space pictures for years and have conducted seminars for astronauts, teaching the space fliers what to look for as their craft orbited over oceans.

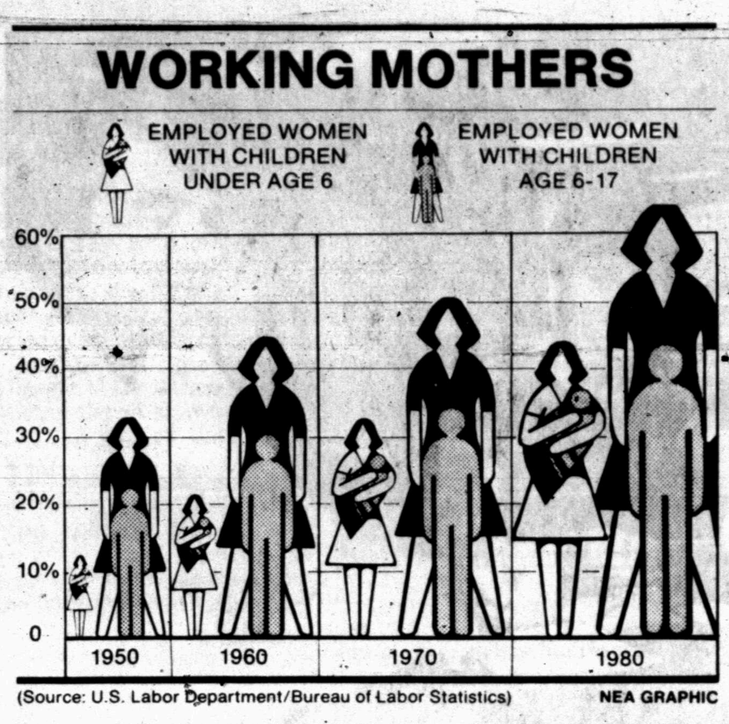

It was an astronaut, Vance Brand, said Scully-Power, who first photographed an eddie moving on the surface of the water. Since then, scientists have learned that the eddies are powerful forces, some more than 100 miles across. They are thought to influence the mixing of water, the distribution of the planet's heat and to have a strong effect on the weather.

Scully-Power said in a pre-mission interview that these forces were what he was going to study the most in hopes of gaining insights into their extent and importance.

He said Tuesday that the motion of the water was even more common than he thought.

"One of the big realizations coming along on this flight is seeing what I call integrating the knowledge of oceanography," said Scully-Power. "For years now, astronaut crews have brought back photos of the ocean from space which sort of captures small areas.

"When you come up here, you see all those small areas and all those dynamics are interrelated," he added.

Growth is a way of life to working mothers. They've revolutionized America through the rise of two-job families. Among U.S. women with pre-school (under age 6) or school-age children (6-17), the percentages of working mothers have more than doubled sinced 1950.

Mayor, two council members are ousted

PATTON VILLAGE, Texas (AP) — Three top city officials — including the mayor — are out of their jobs in Patton Village after allegations they held secret meetings and misused village money.

Steve Byszeski Sr., the mayor of the east Montgomery County community, and two city council members, Mary Allen and Patti Sumners, were ousted at a city council meeting on Monday night.

The meeting of the six-member panel was called at citizens demand.

Bob Devaney, another councilman, alleged the mayor and two council members met at 3 a.m. on Aug. 29 and signed overtime pay for two police officers who had been laid off. Devaney said the expenditure was approved despite a council decision to review the expenditure.

"Byszeski made a decision to pay them in spite of the fact we'd passed a motion not to," he said. "And he coerced one council member into doing it."

Ms. Sumners said she signed the checks only after the mayor sent to police officers to escort her to the early morning meeting in August.

"I felt threatened having two police officers sent for me," she said. "I don't feel it was properly done, but I was told that it had been researched and the men were due the money — just to sign the checks."

The mayor said he did not consider the early morning session a meeting and that no rules were violated.

"No one was forced to do anything they didn't want to do," he said.

Ms. Sumners said she would appeal the decision in court if the council did not reconsider its action. Byszeski said he was uncertain what action he would take. Ms. Allen was not available for comment.

Researcher says virus variability hampers efforts

NEW YORK (AP) — The virus suspected of causing AIDS is showing up with so many genetic variations that it might be difficult to develop a vaccine for the incurable disease, according to a noted AIDS researcher.

Dr. Robert Gallo of the National Cancer Institute said viruses from individual AIDS patients show many variations in their genetic makeup, especially in the genes that control characteristics of the viral protein coat.

As a result, it might be difficult to design a vaccine that will stimulate the body to create disease-fighting antibodies that recognize the virus despite variations, Gallo said Tuesday at the Bristol-Myers Symposium on Cancer Research, held at Rockefeller University.

"I don't know if it will be a problem. I hope not," Gallo said in an interview Tuesday.

Gallo added, however, that the genetic variations are not as extreme as those seen in influenza, which strikes populations in waves as new variants develop that resist vaccines for the previous wave.

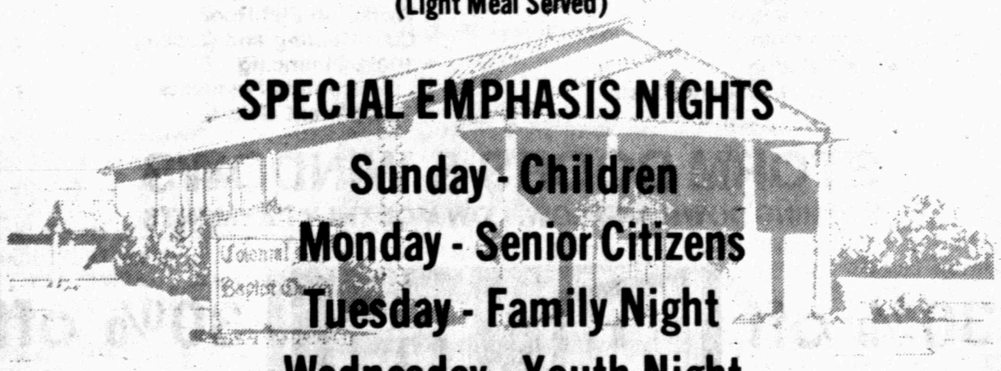

Work to develop an AIDS vaccine has begun in several laboratories. A California genetic engineering firm hopes to produce one in a few months, while other scientists say it could take a few years to make a vaccine available.

Gallo also said that despite the variations found in the virus, it appears that the HTLV-3 virus identified in April by scientists from the cancer institute and Litton Bionetics Inc. is essentially the same as the LAV virus found last year at the Pasteur Institute in Paris.
