Petition Asks for School Tax Election In Lindsay District

Every few days we hear of a little more legislative strength gathering behind a set of "Better Government" bills which are currently advocated by the Texas Press Association. The proposed bills deal with a variety of subjects but all could be grouped together under their common characteristic of bringing government into the open.

By that means the TPA and sponsoring legislators propose to avoid repetition of Duval County incidents or veterans land scandals. They expect to assure better government in the future by the simple method of presenting the facts of everybody's business so that everybody will have an opportunity to look at them.

One of the proposals would make it unlawful to hold closed meetings at any level of government. Reasoning behind it claims that official proceedings are more likely to conform to the public interest when they are open to public inspection. Another bill seeks to make political conventions open to the press. And again the purpose is to bring everyone's business to everyone's attention.

There are several other proposals which, if passed, will also serve to bring government into the open. One requires school districts to publish financial statements. One hits directly at officials who choose to ignore publication requirements, demanding their removal from office. Also hit are officials who try to hide behind the fifth amendment. A bill demands their removal from office. Still another step in the right direction is a bill requiring the proper prosecuting personnel to institute suits for recovery of stolen funds.

Obviously the TPA and legislators have intentions of going all the way in their efforts to get good government. They want to assure the public a comprehensive report on its business and also provide adequate penalties for officials who fail to meet the requirement. Had those laws been in effect before we would not have had the Duval case or the land scandals or insurance frauds. Regardless how bold or how clever the crooks are, few of them can operate in the open.

More legislative effort to make Texas a better state is contained in the proposal to work toward a solution of the water shortage problem. After these several years of drought everybody is convinced that the state's potential has about been reached unless we manage to increase our water supply.

The favored method of tackling the problem is to set up a special fund of $100 million to assist water districts, municipalities, etc., in building or enlarging their water storage and water development facilities. The fund is to be raised by a state bond issue and it is to become a revolving fund helping with the development of new projects as old projects pay off.

According to the estimates of water engineers, this one method alone should provide plenty of water to meet the state's needs. They say the annual run-off of unused water in all the rivers of Texas is 53,000,000 acre feet... approximately six times as much water as is used, for all purposes, throughout the state. The obvious conclusion is that a comparatively small percentage of that surplus water would be more than enough to meet the state's requirement.

But then we come to another question: How about areas that have little surface moisture and depend very much on underground streams? We are told that the underground water level is falling at an alarming rate in some parts of West Texas. Does any plan offer a solution in such cases?

In this locality it begins to appear that a single good gully washer will put an end to water worries. The Lewisville dam is ready to back up the biggest supply of water that Dallas has ever had, and dozens of detention dams on the watershed will help store more water. The same applies to the Fort Worth area. North Texas has the facilities. All it needs is a return of normal rainfall.

Future prospects at Dallas appear less gloomy when we consider that water worries there resulted mostly from a combination of circumstances which will

Girl Scouts Sell Cookies Saturday

Muenster Girl Scouts and Brownies will engage in cookie sales Saturday when they set up stands in local business houses. This activity is an annual project conducted by troops throughout the state.

Part of the money derived from local sales is retained by the troops and the remainder goes into the treasury for maintenance of the county's summer camp. The cookies sell for fifty cents a box.

Agriculture Offers Big Future, Says Banquet Speaker

"Stick with agriculture" was the message urged on members of the Muenster FFA chapter Wednesday night at its annual Father-Son banquet in the school lunch room.

J. W. Rollins, dean of men at ETSTC, stated that astounding progress lies ahead in the field of agriculture and wonderful opportunities await the young men who continue their studies in that direction. They will be able to accomplish big things either as farmers or as workers in the several fields related to farming.

The speaker reviewed the history of farming's decline in Texas, the continuous exploitation of the soil until much of it was not worth working. Then came a turning point and increasing emphasis on conservation, soil building, crop rotation, fertilizing, insect control, plant improvement, etc. "We have made lots of progress in the past two decades, but this is only the beginning. The future will see far more progress."

The banquet was the traditional featured event celebrating national FFA week. It was attended by 37 members and about 80 fathers and other guests.

The program opened with a ceremony in which each officer responded to a roll call and stated the duties of his office. Wylie Lewis, chapter president, served as toastmaster.

Dukie Fette extended a welcome to the guests and Arthur Hellman responded. Herbie Walterscheid introduced the chapter sweetheart, Margie Reiter and presented an FFA jacket to her. Butch Hudspeth summarized chapter projects, C. J. Hellman introduced guests and Chapter Adviser Glenn Hellman presented awards to the members. Father Patrick Hannon gave the invocation and the benediction.

Week-End Games to Close Cage Season At Parochial High

Two more double headers for the girls on Friday and Saturday nights of this week will end the 1957 basketball season at Sacred Heart High. Friday night the A and B squads will meet the State School here and the next night they will be guests of OLV Academy in Fort Worth.

Games scheduled for boys and girls last Friday and Tuesday with Whitesboro and Southmayd were both cancelled.

Those cancellations brought an end to the poorest season in the history of boys basketball at Sacred Heart High. Out of 17 games they won only once, over the Sacred Heart Exes. Severely crippled by the loss of Frank Fleitman before the season opened, they were outclassed in most games and had the misfortune to be at the short end of their few tight games.

The girls' season was almost as outstanding the other way. They enjoy the exceptionally good record of 14 wins out of 18 games. All of their losses came early in the season. Thackerville won the opening game and the return engagement shortly after the Christmas holidays. During the holiday tournament at Muenster High they lost the opener to Bellevue, which went on to the tourney title, then to Forestburg, which took the consolation trophy. The rest of the season was clear sailing for the Tigerettes.

Athletic interest at the parochial school for the rest of the year will center in baseball. Father Christopher said the boys will organize a team and try to arrange a schedule of eight or ten games. No games are on schedule at this time.

Track and field activity, if any, will be limited to fellows who compete on their own. Boys will be free to enter a SAL district meet if one is held but they will not have a training program.

Early Inspection Of Vehicles Urged By Safety Director

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, prevailed upon Texas automobile owners to "do their shopping early" this year in an effort to reduce the last minute rush for inspection stickers at the close of the 1957 motor vehicle inspection period. The deadline is April 15.

On information received from George W. Busby, chief of the department's Motor Vehicle Inspection Division, the state police director said only one-third of the state's four million vehicle owners have obtained their 1957 inspection stickers to date. He urged motorists to have their cars and trucks inspected now, as a means of saving time for themselves and to avoid a last minute congestion at inspection stations throughout Texas.

Last year, as was true in most preceding years, vehicles overcrowded inspection stations during the last week of the inspection period. More than a million automobiles were caught in the last minute rush, resulting in a loss of even more millions of manhours for the owners of those vehicles.

Garrison called upon the motoring public to adopt a "shop early" policy in this year's inspection program as a means of saving time and to afford better convenience for the vehicle owners involved.

Reduced Insurance Reflects Value of Driver Education

Of all the courses available in high school none can offer a more definite or immediate cash value than driver education. The benefit applies as a ten per cent reduction on the liability and collision rates of a car insurance policy.

Because of the high number of accidents involving drivers under 25, a higher rate is charged if a person of that age group is to be a driver of the insured car. However if the driver has successfully completed a driver training course the insurance rate is reduced ten per cent.

Behind the rate reduction are cold statistics compiled by insurance companies showing that youngsters who have had a driver training course are safer drivers... figures which point to the really important fact that driver training is actually a course in keeping alive.

A glance at methods and procedures in a driver education course will reveal why insurance companies have a great deal of respect for it. The first requirement is to complete classroom work on the fundamentals of car construction and operation and on traffic laws and traffic signs.

When the student completes that phase of the training he or she takes a paper examination given by the Department of Public Safety. Passing that test

FHA Chapter Treats Fathers at Banquet

Fathers of the Muenster FHA girls were their guests last Thursday night for a "Date with Dad" banquet in the public school lunch room.

Heading the event was Dr. T. S. Myrick who substituted as speaker after Superintendent Homsley was called away on an emergency. Talking on "What Daughters Mean to Us" he emphasized the importance of training. "Children are like arrows," he said, "We give them direction and send them into the world. Since we cannot go along to guide them the start we give is all important."

The program, directed by Marcy Klement as mistress of ceremonies, opened with invocation by Janice Klement, Margie Flusche welcomed the dads and J. P. Flusche responded for the guests. After that each girl introduced her dad and Mary Pick introduced members of the faculty and school board who attended as special guests. Pat and Carolyn Cain and Jean Wieler gave a song and dance act and Judy Cain led the girls in a group recitation, "Tell Me Why."

Preparation and serving of the chicken dinner was supervised by the girls' mothers.

Mayor, 3 Aldermen Seek Re-election

Up to now the city has a candidate for each position on the election ballot, but it has no contest. Each of the four council members whose term is expiring has agreed to run for another term. They are Mayor Urban Endres, and Aldermen Herbert Meurer, Rudy Hellman and J. A. Fisher.

The election is scheduled for Tuesday, April 2, and the deadline for announcing a candidacy is 30 days earlier, Saturday, March 2.

Local CYC Members At Deanery Meeting

Rev. Christopher Paladino and six members of the Muenster Catholic Youth Council attended a deanery executive meeting in Sherman Sunday afternoon. The young people present were Caroline Hesse, parish president and deanery spiritual chairman, Lu-Rena Wolf, deanery treasurer; Pat Horn, parish reporter; Lorraine Sicking, Loretta Mages and Patsy Bayer. Father Christopher is moderator for Muenster and for the deanery.

The group decided to start a Catholic Youth Adoration Hour in the deanery and set the first Wednesday of every month for the special service. It will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will be held in a different parish each time. During the Lenten season the hours will be held on Tuesdays so as not to conflict with Lenten devotions.

Muenster will have the first adoration hour on March 5. A short program will follow the church service.

Date for the next deanery meeting was set for May 5. It will be held in Lindsay.

The group also discussed the combination of physical and social activities such as volley ball, bowling and swimming tournaments.

Members were reminded of the national meeting in Philadelphia, Pa., and of two dances to be held in the deanery. Denison CYC will give a semi-formal dance on Feb. 22 from 7:30 to 12 with admission fifty cents. Lindsay will have a dance on Feb. 26 with admission one dollar.

City Sets Uniform Sewer Use Charge

Hereafter the city will not make an extra charge against homes having an extra bathroom. The city council decided Monday night to have a standard sewer connection fee of $1.00 regardless of the number of bathrooms in a home.

The sewer fee for commercial buildings remains the same as before, $1.50 for the building.

Garage Warehouse At Milk Plant Due To Start Next Week

Construction on the North Texas Producers Association's combination garage and warehouse now waits only on the weather.

Community Lumber Company has a contract to build it and the two houses now on the location are sold, ready to be moved away.

Joe Luttmir is the new owner of the house at the south end of the lot and John Otto has the other house. Both will be moved to the northwest part of town as soon as the ground dries, probably before the end of the week. Work on the new building will begin promptly thereafter.

According to Jerome Pagel, who will be in charge of construction, the building will measure 126x114 feet and will be 24 feet high. The garage, at the west side, will measure 49x126 feet leaving a floor space of 65x126 for the warehouse. The garage will also be four feet lower than the warehouse floor level providing a dock for loading or unloading.

The west wall will consist of a series of doors, each a truck entrance. The same arrangement will make the wall separating the garage and warehouse. Behind each truck station is a door opening into the warehouse.

Material to be used in the wall is Haydite tile, the lightweight variety of building blocks. The roof will be tar and gravel. Local labor will do the work.

Play is Selected For Junior Class

MHS junior class has selected "The Scarlet Ghost" to be played March 15 in the Muenster High Auditorium.

The play is a thrilling three-act murder-mystery-comedy by Jean Provençe. Hetty Norton, a brilliant autocratic old lady, who has millions, is not to be crossed by her two nephews or her staff, but, her bark is worse than her bite. Difficulties start when her lawyer brings out a huge amount of cash, too late for bank deposit, and, a young woman reporter arrives for an interview about the elopement of one of the nephews with a chorus girl. The climax comes, shortly after the elopers' arrival, with the "death" of Aunt Hetty, the disappearance of the corpse and the money, and the report of a "scarlet ghost." Evidence and motives point to each in turn, with the wrong arrest by an opinionated policeman, until thrills end in laughter.

All members of the junior class will participate in the play activities. Five men and five women are required for the performance.

Play practice began last week.

On the last day the concluding conference will be followed by a social hour and refreshments. Father Elias will meet with the Gainesville fraternity on Monday and with the Lindsay fraternity on Friday.

Gasoline Refund Rule Explained

Many inquiries regarding claims for refund of federal gasoline tax paid on purchases made for farming purposes since July 1, 1956, are being received by the Internal Revenue Service. It has this to say:

"There is a misunderstanding among taxpayers eligible for these refunds. No claims should be filed for the period from July 1, 1956, through December 31, 1956.

"The law governing these refunds states that claims are to be filed on a fiscal year basis beginning July 1 through the following June 30. Since the program was authorized by Congress during the spring of 1956 it was necessary that the first claim include only the period from Jan. 1 through June 30, 1956.

"Forms 2240 for filing claims for the period July 1, 1956, through June 30, 1957, are not available now. However, the Internal Revenue Service will mail these forms to taxpayers who filed for the first six months of 1956. Form 2240 will also be available through other sources such as banks and county agents. Claims must be filed after June 30, 1957, but on or before Oct. 15, 1957."

Driver Education

entitles the student to a permit to learn to drive.

Then comes the next phase of the course, actual driving under supervision of an instructor. Finally an actual driving test is taken under a DPS officer and the student receives a regular driver's license.

According to L. B. Bruns, instructor of driver education at Muenster High, the course emphasizes defensive driving. The student is taught to be alert for every emergency, being careful to avoid driving mistakes and also to avoid trouble when the other driver makes a mistake. Much of the class time in driver education is devoted to studying accidents and how to prevent them.

In Texas schools driver education is listed as an elective subject with a half credit of value.

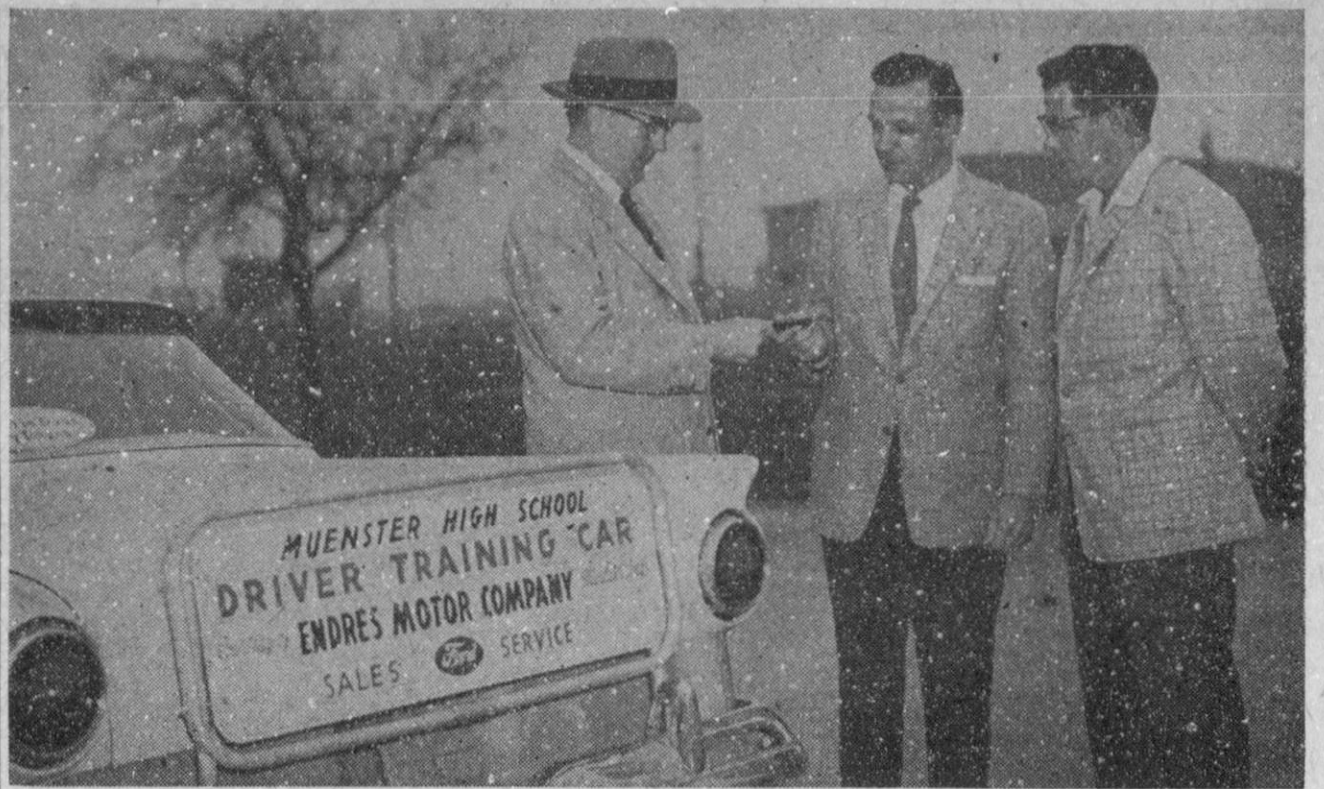

Seventeen students are enrolled in the local class. Four of those already have a driver's license, the others are beginners.

MOD Contributions Total $248.88 Here

Muenster's contribution to the March of Dimes this year totaled $248.88 when returns were tabulated at the close of the drive.

The five sources of revenue and the amounts derived from each are: Sacred Heart church door collection, $156.26; Porch Light drive, $26.81; Peanut sales, $16.39; contributions by Relax Theatre patrons, $30.23; Polio banks in business houses, $19.14.

Members of the VFW Auxiliary, sponsors of the campaign, this week express thanks to everyone who contributed and to those who helped in any way especially the local CYC members who conducted the porch light collections.

KEYS TO THE DRIVER TRAINING CAR of Muenster are presented to Superintendent H. H. Homsley by Urban Endres of Endres Motor Company. With them is L. B. Bruns, driver education instructor at Muenster High School. A new car is provided every year for the class. The car is equipped with dual controls enabling the instructor to take charge immediately if the student driver makes a mistake.

LuRose Henscheid, student nurse at St. Joseph's Hospital in Fort Worth, spent the weekend with her parents, the Henry Henscheids. Saturday, Margie Hermes, classmate of Lu Rose, who was weekending with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hermes in Lindsay, and J. C. Darling and Joe Pat, also of Fort Worth, were guests in the Henscheid home.

Aileen Schmitz, Edward Sandmann Marry at Lindsay

Saint Peter's church in Lindsay was the scene Saturday morning of the wedding of Aileen Schmitz and Edward Sandmann. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. William J. Schmitz and Mr. and Mrs. William Sandmann, all of Lindsay.

Rev. Conrad Herda, pastor, directed the exchange of marriage vows in a double ring ceremony and was celebrant of the nuptial high mass at 9 o'clock.

Mrs. Schmitz, mother of the bride, and church organist played the traditional processional and remained at the organ to accompany St. Cecilia's choir in singing "The Mass in Honor of the Blessed Virgin Mary." As a pre-nuptial presentation Mrs. Schmitz and Mrs. Bruno Zimmerer, cousin of the bride, sang two selections, "Heart of Jesus" and "On This Day." After mass they sang "Mother at Your Feet" while the bride placed a bouquet of white gladioli on the Blessed Virgin's altar.

Mr. Schmitz escorted his daughter to the altar and gave her in marriage. She wore a wedding gown of crystal while French lace over satin. The figurine bodice was designed with an oval portrait neckline accented with pleated tulle and lace petals entwined with sequins. Long sleeves tapered to deep petal points over her hands and the voluminous skirt that just escaped the floor was enhanced with a motif of pleated tulle and lace sequin-studded petals.

Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was caught to a double crown of pearls and paillettes and she carried her flowers, white gardenias, on top of a white mother-of-pearl prayerbook, a gift from the groom. She also carried a white rosary. It was "something old and borrowed," belonging to her aunt, Mrs. Jake Bezner who carried it at her wedding 37 years ago.

Aileen's four sisters were her attendants. Maxine was maid of honor and Judy was bridesmaid. Patty and Carolyn were junior bridesmaids. They wore identical gowns in four shades of blue fashioned with scooped necklines and short sleeves. The fitted bodices came to points in the front and back and the wide waltz length skirts were gathered at the waist. Each carried a white prayer book topped with a gardenia and ivy leaves, and wore rhinestone chokers and earrings, gifts from the bride.

Paul Sandmann was his brother's best man and Paul Schmitz of Fort Worth, brother of the bride was usher with Raymond Sandmann, another brother of the groom. Harold Neu was groomsman for his cousin.

White glads and pompon mums with greenery and candles adorned the altar. Billy Schmitz, brother of the bride, and Leroy Neu and Donald Sandmann, cousins of the groom, were acolytes.

Mrs. Schmitz attended her daughter's wedding in a charcoal dress with black and white accessories and Mrs. Sandmann wore blue with black and white accessories. Both had white carnation corsages.

After the services a brunch was given by the bride's parents in their home for immediate members of both families. A 5 p.m. a reception was held in the Lindsay Hall and buffet supper was served to about 325 guests. A dance followed. Registering guests at the reception were Ethel Sandmann and Alta Louise Kuhn, cousins of the couple.

When the newlyweds left on a honeymoon trip she was wearing an orchid tweed two-piece outfit with navy accessories and a gardenia corsage. They will make their home in Lindsay. The bride was graduated from Lindsay High school in 1954 and is employed at Boyd and Breeding studio. The groom also was graduated from Lindsay High in 1954 and is employed at National Supply Co.

Denis Koesler Has Birthday Observance

Denis Koesler observed his 11th birthday Sunday with an almost day-long celebration that included a turkey dinner at noon and an afternoon party.

His grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfons Koesler, were hosts for the dinner in their home. Table centerpiece was a decorated cake and places were laid for the honoree and his family the Norbert Koeslers, and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Caplinger, and sons Paul, Bobby and Jerry of Sherman.

In the afternoon Denis' mother entertained at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. August Walterscheid. Fifteen of his classmates were guests. The children played games, posed for flash pictures and watched Denis open a shower of gifts. They were served ice cream, cake and cold drinks.

Cousins at the party from out of town in addition to the Caplinger youngsters were Ralph and Francis Hernes of Lindsay and Tommy Lyn, Leonard Ray and Cindy Walterscheid of Wichita Falls. The Walterscheid children spent the weekend with their grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Insel and daughters of Gainesville were Sunday dinner guests of her parents, the Bill Kathmans.

LESSONS OF HISTORY

Five generations of American citizens have enjoyed individual freedom as a matter of course. The present population of America, with the exception of a comparatively few immigrants, was born into freedom and would find it difficult even to conceive of living under any other circumstances. And yet no nation in all human history has ever achieved lasting freedom. This is an extremely significant fact which Americans should understand.

Man's desire for freedom was first recognized when the development of civilization brought on the need for government. Man quickly found that government by its very nature encroaches upon individual freedom. It must have power to operate, and that power can only come from one source, the people; they must give up some power, some freedom, to the government. When the founding fathers built the structure of the American way of life they surrounded government with various kinds of restrictions limiting its powers. The Bill of Rights, which was attached to the Constitution, was written altogether to protect the individual citizen against his own government.

The Founders Knew

The men who worked on the creation of the Constitution all knew that freedom had never existed for long anywhere, and that no nation had ever become a world leader and survived. Twenty world-leading nations had floundered in their own mistakes and eventually had fallen. Washington, Hamilton, Webster and the other framers of the Constitution were determined that the American system should survive and become a world pattern for lasting freedom and human progress. The structure they developed has lasting qualities—if each succeeding generation will but understand its workings and safeguard its principles.

Can we who have benefited from this wonderful legacy of freedom take lessons from the history of the nations which have risen to world leadership and subsequently fallen into oblivion? Indeed we can.

The Onetime Leaders

Among the most notable world leaders whose histories we have available in great detail are Old Babylon, Ancient Egypt, Assyria, Egypt under the Pharaohs, New Babylon, Phoenicia, Persia, Greece, in which Sparta and Athens represented two kinds of government, and Rome. Many of the achievements of these nations contributed to the march of human progress.

Babylon developed the basic science of astronomy, the duodecimal system of numbers, and an early form of the calendar. Egypt challenged man's imagination up through the centuries by building the pyramids; Assyria built the first roads known to mankind, constructed canals for irrigation, and grew the first cotton known to the world; Greece became the fountain-head of great architecture and art, and the cradle of man's first experiment with democracy; Rome contributed a great republic, established remarkable courts of justice, and made notable achievements in art and music.

Causes of Downfall

The three major causes of the downfall of these nations of the past were: political decay, economic decay, moral decay. The decline and fall of each nation was characterized by these three common causes—and we should note well that each cause was something over which people had control. Many of these nations established some degree of individual freedom which lasted for a while. In each case, government ultimately became too powerful, and the citizens too indifferent to what was going on around them.

Rome's downfall was preceded by the government's attempt to bribe the people into inaction against the political and moral decay within government. The government provided the populace with "bread and circuses"—meaning that it undertook to feed the people and to provide entertainment at the coliseum games. The decay went from bad to worse—and the people didn't seem to care. Rome's downfall ushered in the 1000-year-long Dark Ages for mankind.

Yes, human history presents powerful lessons. Will enough Americans recognize these lessons and understand their significance? The future of freedom

What You Should Pray For

By Rev. Donald F. Miller, former editor of "The Liguorian"

PEOPLE WHO say, "I don't get much out of my prayers," or "God doesn't seem to answer my prayers," have a wrong idea about the principal purpose of prayer.

Prayer is not for what you get out of it, but what God wants to give you in answer to prayer.

TOO MANY people come to look upon prayer as though it should always be a means of getting an answer that can be felt and enjoyed.

The effect looked for may be a feeling of intense devotion and a delightful closeness to God. Or you may be looking for better health, the money to pay big bills, a change of heart in an ungrateful husband or wife, or something else to make life easier.

NONE OF these things is bad in itself, nor completely outside the purpose of prayer. But concentration on the things of this world blinds you to prayer's most important goal: union with God in this life as a beginning of union with God in eternity.

God wants four things for every person that He has created. Therefore every Christian should make an agreement with God, covering all the prayers of his life, and making sure that God's purposes are covered. The agreement might take the following form:

THE FIRST purpose of every prayer I ever say, O God, will be to ask You for the grace to save my soul, to reach the happiness of heaven, to enjoy the glorious beatific vision of Yourself forever.

THE SECOND purpose of every prayer I ever say, O God, will be to ask You for an ever-increasing measure of the means to salvation, that is of the helps necessary to do Your will, and of the courage I shall need in using my free will to cooperate with your help.

THE THIRD purpose of every prayer I ever say, O God, will be to ask You for the grace of salvation for all whom I love, for all who are dependent upon me, for all to whom I am indebted, and, in a special manner for my enemies.

THE FOURTH purpose of my prayers, O God, may be to obtain relief from any one of the thousand forms of temporal suffering, or the benefit of any one of a thousand sources of passing joy, either for myself or others. This purpose may at times seem first and uppermost in my mind. I intend it now and always to be last, and subordinate to the three purposes named above.

One may pray for a cure of cancer, for a happy marriage, or for a loved one. But if he prays as a true Christian, he knows that although not getting exactly what he asks for, he is receiving a surer hope of enjoying heaven forever.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

How strong will your pasture grasses come out this spring? How much of the grass is dead?

These questions are uppermost in the minds of landowners this year on account of the severe drought last summer. Grass did not make much growth last year and continued grazing did not allow much food to be stored in the roots before the plants went dormant in the fall.

According to local SCS technicians many grass plants are either dead or so weakened that they must have special care or pastures will be bare. Even Buffalo and Bermuda grass are in bad shape.

Soil conservation technicians are urging all landowners co-operating with the Upper Elm-Red district to make plans now to help the weak grasses over the crisis by providing supplemental grazing in the fields or by a proper stocking-rotation grazing program. A perennial grass lives off the food stored in its roots the previous year until enough leaves are grown to manufacture more food. In their weakened conditions the grasses are going to get a slow start this year. If cattle can be kept off the pasture for a while the grasses can regain their strength. The longer they can grow the stronger they will become.

Grazing small grain fields can keep cattle off the pasture. Sweet clovers and vetch furnish lots of high protein grazing. A rotation system of grazing pastures can give at least a portion of the grasslands that much needed time to grow for a part of the growing season.

Soil conservationists point out that any plant can be killed by continually removing the top growth by grazing or cutting and that permanent pastures are in a weakened condition this spring and badly in need of a chance to grow. They urge landowners to plan to give pastures and rangelands that much needed rest during this spring or summer. Grass is the basic raw material in producing beef or milk and it deserves the best management possible.

Prescher Cows are Champ Producers in DHIA for January

Peter Prescher's herd was at the top of the list when milk and butterfat averages for January were totaled in the Cooke County Dairy Herd Association. The cows chalked up 53 pounds of butterfat and 1360 pounds of milk to become the champ producers for the month.

Richard Frasher's herd with 47 pounds of butterfat and 1300 pounds of milk was in second place; Ben Davis' cows were third in milk production with 1289 pounds and tied with W. H. Frasher's herd for third in butter fat, each recording 45 pounds.

Ten Münster dairymen had their cows listed among the high herds but they failed to get in on the championship bracket. Local herds listed in the summary for the month are those of George Bayer, Alfred Bayer, J. W. Fleitman, Paul and C. A. Fisher, Paul Fetsch, Tommy Knabe, Martin Bayer, Leo Hesse and Edward Sicking.

The summary, prepared by Supervisors Carl Kemplin and Jerry Vernon, shows that 23 herds were tested and the 179 cows produced 50 pounds or more of butterfat. The association average was 37 pounds of butterfat and 951 pounds of milk per cow. There are 740 cows in the association. Prescher also had the highest individual butterfat producer with a record 105 pounds.

Statistics for December released by the State DHIA show the Cooke county association as first in Texas in milk production with 900 pounds and tied with the Randall county association for first in butterfat production with an average of 36 pounds.

Eat Hearty and "Starve"

By John C. White

Three "hearty meals a day" is no guarantee of good health. It is "what you eat" and not "how much" that counts.

Strangely enough, in the richest agricultural nation on earth, an alarming percentage of the population is deficient in consumption of vital nutrients such as calcium and vitamin C. Even over weight people who eat high-calorie foods rarely get a real balanced diet.

The current popularity of high-calorie foods only tends to make some people fat, according to recent diet studies. A danger point is approached when these rich but unbalanced eating habits prevent a person from getting enough protective foods necessary for good health.

It is generally accepted that people should maintain in later years the weight that was ideal for their height and bone structure at age 25. Yet, regional studies show that a large number of older people are seriously overweight. The problem today is to encourage people with low energy requirements to plan diets that eliminate surplus calories but do not curtail essential nutrients.

For example, the National Research recommends a daily intake of .8 grams of calcium as necessary for good health. Yet, only about one person in six takes that much calcium daily—and calcium is abundant in eggs, milk and cheese.

It is well established that vitamin C is important in maintaining health, teeth and gums. Most people are 10 percent below normal in Vitamin C intake except in areas where citrus fruits are plentiful.

Texas is a big producer of citrus fruits. The diet study seems to suggest that foods rich in vitamin C should be promoted and made more attractive to adults, and that frozen and dried citrus concentrates and other dependable year-round sources deserve more attention.

Greater calcium consumption should be encouraged through increased public education on the value of milk and milk products, and perhaps also through development of new calcium-rich foods. Overeating of the wrong foods may make a person fat, but he still may be starving for the essential nutrients.

Large seeds, should be planted much deeper than small ones.

It is illegal to keep an eagle for a household pet.

There is no legend of historical event attached to the English "Tommy." It used to be the custom of the English war department to supply every British soldier with a small pocket manual, in which were entered the name, age date of enlightenment, length of service, the wounds, and the medals of honor awarded.

The war department in sending out forms for information used the hypothetical name "Tommy Atkins." This name was used to designate any British soldier. The title is now shortened to just "Tommy" in referring to a British soldier.

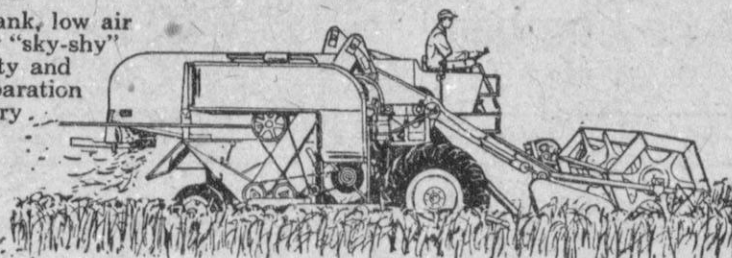

Rudyard Kipling, in his "Barrack Room Ballads," used the title "Tommy Atkins," and made it famous.

I've been leading a dog's life since she got that new ELECTRIC CLOTHES DRYER...

"Gr-r-r... that new electric dryer. In the good ol' days B.E.D. (Before Electric Dryer)... I used to pull laundry off the line, chew up clothespins and sox, while loungin' 'round on my favorite bath towel. How can th' missus look so happy... puttin' wet clothes in and, pretty soon, taking them out so fluffy, so sweet-smelling dry... right before me!

When all I got to chew is my tail... and no more tug o'war with the clothes on the line! Drying electrically makes women happy... but it means a dog's life for me."

"Lady, don't lead a dog's life yourself... get your electric dryer today on easy terms at your nearest appliance dealer."

TEXAS POWER & LIGHT COMPANY

"knock you cannot hear!"

Engineers call it "trace knock," and only the trained ear can hear it.

But trace knock, like any knock, robs your engine of its power, forecasts engine damage.

If yours is a modern car in any price class—especially if it's a 1957 model—prevent trace knock with Golden Esso Extra, the gasoline with the highest octane rating ever.

Use Golden Esso Extra. Added value from full performance offsets the small extra cost. Stop at the golden pump under your neighbor's Humble sign.

If you answer yes to any one of these questions, you should try Golden Esso Extra—world's finest gasoline.

- ☐ Does your car knock on "premium" gasoline?
- ☐ Is your car air-conditioned? (On an average, the engine pulls a 3-ton air conditioner.)
- ☐ Does the engine have a compression ratio of 9 to 1, or higher?
- ☐ Does your car have more than one carburetor or a "Power-Pack"?
- ☐ Is the engine rated at 200 horsepower or higher?

(These points become even more important as you add miles to a new car; anti-knock requirements increase when you pass the break-in point.)

CARD OF THANKS
Thanks to everybody who remembered me with cards, visits and other kindnesses while I was in the hospital.
Mrs. A. T. Dickerson

Consistency, Thou Art A Jewel
There's one sad truth in life I've found,
While journeying east and west—
The only folks we really wound
Are those we love the best.
We flatter those we scarcely know,
We please the fleeting guest,
And deal full many a thoughtless blow
To those who love us best.

More than 100 miles off the New England coast, this man-made "island" is the first open-sea radar tower in the nation's new Atlantic defense network against air attack. Costing $13 million, it houses 60 Air Force personnel on its three decks, and enough electrical gear to supply a city of 100,000. Its three spherical "radomes" are designed to spot enemy raiders at distances which are a military secret. The 6,000-ton "island" is the largest structure ever to stand so far from land amid such hazardous sea conditions, according to Gulf Oil which supplied fuels and lubricants during the unprecedented erection job by Raymond Concrete Pile Co. and DeLong Corp. (a joint venture).

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Arendt had as guests Monday and Tuesday her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Mart of Pocahontas, Iowa. Monday evening other relatives joined them for a get-together in the Arendt home. The visitors were enroute to their home after a three-week vacation in Illinois, Arizona and Texas.

Marlene Bezner and Margie Hermes were weekend visitors with their families. The girls are student nurses at St. Joseph's Hospital in Fort Worth.

Wednesday to return to Lafayette, La., after visiting his parents, the I. A. Zimmerers, and other relatives since Saturday. Here for the weekend to see Father Francis and the family were the Paul Zimmerers of Oklahoma City. Paul, who is stationed at the Norman Navy Base, is expecting a transfer in the near future.

Rev. Herman Laux of Little Rock, Ark., visited with home-folks this week. He came to attend the funeral of his uncle, Martin Muller, at Pilot Point Saturday. Also attending from here were Walter Norman and Mrs. Lawrence Zimmerer.

Mrs. Frank Seyler of Muenster is visiting here with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank Popp.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Strategier of Norman, Okla., were here for the wedding of their nephew Edward Sandmann to Aileen Schmitz Saturday and were houseguests of Mrs. George Spaeth. Monday Mrs. Arthur Felderhoff and sons of Muenster and Mrs. Spaeth took them home by car, returning Tuesday. Also going back to her home in Norman with them was Mrs. Mamie Loeffelholz who attended the wedding and was the guest of her sister, Mrs. William Sandmann and family.

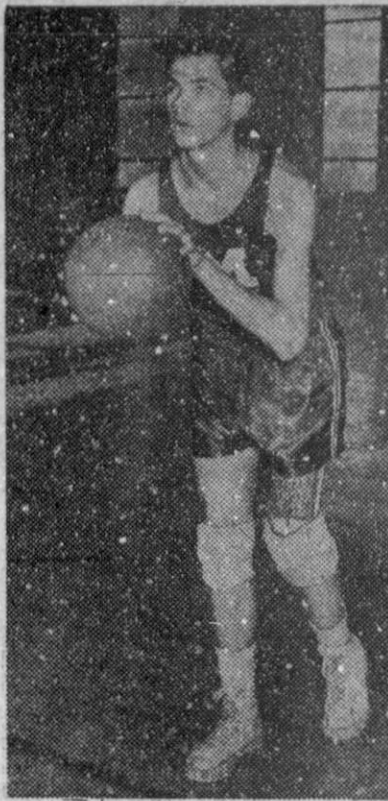

Mr. and Mrs. Henk Strategier and Robert Loeffelholz of Norman and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Letso of Tulsa were among out of town guests at the Schmitz-Sandmann wedding Saturday.

Miss Yvonne Allen, assistant county home demonstration agent, met with the Lindsay 4-H girls for their regular lesson. She gave helpful hints on sewing and discussed the coming dress review. She also demonstrated several sewing instruments and passed out leaflets of instructions to help the girls in finishing their garments.

Lindsay 4-H club boys held their regular meeting with D. B. Wheeler in charge of the program. He discussed the coming soil judging contest and asked if anyone wanted to be on a team to compete. Five members are interested in making up a team from Lindsay. Discussion then centered around soil texture, slope, erosion and similar topics in connection with land judging.

Mrs. John Furbach and Johnny of Amarillo visited here Thursday to Sunday with relatives and friends. From here they went to Dallas to market. Johnny was recently discharged from the Navy and is back at home. Friday he enjoyed a visit at Sacred Heart school with former teachers and showed his colored slides to the high school students. The pictures were taken when he and his mother were on their European trip.

THE GOOD FIGHT—Tommy Meagher, 14-year-old Cleveland, Ohio, schoolboy, has been averaging eight points a game for St. Malachi's CYO basketball team despite an artificial left leg. The eighth-grader, who lost his leg in a 1953 bus accident, is shown practicing in the St. Malachi gym. Tommy also played for the team last year.

Confetti - - - not work together for quite a while. For a long time water supply was decreasing while demand was increasing. Lakes were silting and reducing storage capacity. Meanwhile population grew and per capita consumption increased. Dallas saw the squeeze coming and provided a more adequate reservoir. But then the drought hit. The big reservoir remains empty. However, Dallas will definitely be well stocked after a few of the old time rains. After that, when Big D big wheels get over their jitters, perhaps they will be less contentious about the water rights of reservoir owners up here.

As might be expected, some of the proposed solutions to the water problem are lulu. One calls for a pipe line to tap the Mississippi River for about 700 million gallons a day. It does not go into detail about engineering problems and costs. Another scheme proposes a canal from East Texas lakes to the Gulf Coast.

Compared with those pipe dreams a system of dams at strategic spots on the state's streams seems like a very simple solution.

Mrs. Willie Walterscheid and little son Terry of Fountain, Colo., visited here during the weekend with family members, the H. H. Homsleys and Al Walterscheids. She and the baby made the trip with friends as far as Amarillo where her parents met them. Sunday the Homsleys took them to Sham-
