ROSS CALLS FOR VOLUNTEER REINFORCEMENTS IN ARMY

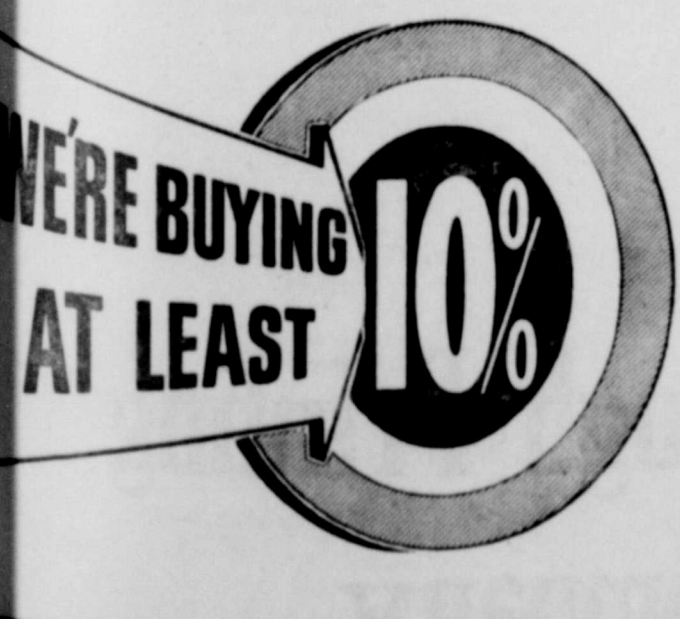

The Red Cross is urging volunteer reinforcements in its Floyd County Army. Friday afternoon at the District Court Room invited to come and hear Mrs. Hudson, who has been in a girls school on the island in the Hawaiian Islands of the work of the Red Cross and following the bombing of Harbor. Mrs. Hudson is the sister of Mrs. W. A.

The Red Cross headquarters in the Floyd County is accepting a new quota of volunteers and if possible to accept an additional one. The conditions require it. The house has not been finished, we are now room with 16 mattresses—a good place to spend each week helping win the important war. Come and see it.

Mrs. S. W. Ross left last night for a visit of two weeks in Arizona. They are the parents of Mr. and Mrs. Ross and his sister and others, including Tom Ross, who is in ill health. They have Mrs. Ross' niece, Mrs. and Mr. Faulkner of and her two brothers, F. and family of Huntington, California, and Frank and family of Phoenix.

Medicine will be operated by Baylor trustees and the Baylor Medical Foundation as a medical institution will be July 7 when the executive of the Texas Baptist General Convention meets in Dallas, it was early this week.

Everybody Know You're Investing 10 Percent of Your Income in War Bonds

Attractive red, white and blue window sticker, pictured above, is a reminder of patriotism in the War Bond drive throughout the country. With the slogan, "Everybody every day, ten percent," sweepstakes, patriotic Americans on the home front are rallying to their country's appeal for funds with which to help finance the war. The sticker displays the "ten percent" slogan in doing its share toward America and the United Nations. The stickers are being distributed through local War Savings Chairmen.

Wartime necessity has provided the poultryman with the greatest market in our history, and the price support level will continue until June 1943. Poultrymen should realize their responsibility in producing a food product that is rich in proteins, vitamins, and minerals.

The high nutritive value of the eggs is dependent on several factors, most important of which would include feeding, housing, and flock management, according to Jason O. Gordon, county agent.

The average hen will consume approximately 80 pounds of feed in a year. During winter months the feed allowance should contain about 60 per cent mash and 40 per cent grain. High protein feeds stimulate heat and energy that is essential in winter months when birds remain in the laying house longer hours and access to green feed is not easily obtained. Although water is not considered a feed, the production can be controlled by the kind and amount of water offered the birds. Especially at this season, the water should be clean, cool, and available in the laying house, and not around the barn or earthen tank.

It is the opinion of Mr. Gordon that more poultry troubles are traceable to poor housing facilities than any other factor. Ventilation is a problem during summer and winter months. Poor ventilation lowers the vitality of the birds and gives all diseases an opportunity to work. The house should smell fresh at all times. Proper ventilation reduces the number of times the house needs to be thoroughly cleaned during the year.

Every laying house should have at least one nest for every five hens. Keep fresh litter in the nests to prevent soiled and cracked eggs.

"Many farm poultrymen construct good poultry houses, with adequate ventilation, and sufficient nests but make the mistake of building pitched roofs," Mr. Gordon said. Birds like to be high off the ground as can be seen on some farms where chickens roost in trees. A good roost should be level and not over 18 inches from the floor of the house. This type roost prevents crowding because all birds are on equal level. The birds will naturally seek a uniform pattern over the level roost and be better satisfied.

Flock management includes a number of important things, such as removing roosters from the flock, gathering eggs three and four times daily, not overcrowding the laying house, watching for parasites and diseases, and practicing constant culling to eliminate low-producing and non-thrifty laying hens.

Laying hens will "stay on the job" if the poultryman "stays on the job."

Mrs. Bill Dyer and daughters left Saturday for Carnegie, Oklahoma, where they will visit Mrs. Dyer's parents for several days.

Help Win the War with the Money You Save

Of course freedom is expensive. The highest price tags are always attached to the most precious items. And the cost of human liberty in blood and treasure is a staggering one. But to be able to speak and pray and think and vote the way we wish—did you ever hear anyone question the cost?

Some Americans are paying the cost with their lives. Others are buying as many Defense Stamps and Bonds as they possibly can—every day. Are you doing your share?

In order to provide every opportunity for the daily purchase of Stamps and Bonds, we're now selling them at each cash register in our store. Wherever you go, whenever you can, buy your share in our country's most precious possession—the Liberty, the Freedom of America!

School Transfers Must be Made Before August 1

According to information from County Superintendent Clarence Guffee, school transfers must be made this year before August 1.

Such transfers applies to students who wish to transfer from one district to another or from rural to an independent school district.

When a student completes the highest grade taught in a rural school, he is required to get a transfer to another school in order for the state to know where to send his money, it was indicated, since there are no automatic transfers.

Miss Ruth Evelyn Kreis Makes Honor Roll

Miss Ruth Evelyn Kreis was one of 811 University of Texas students who kept at their books enough to be listed on the honor roll of the College of Arts and Sciences, Dean H. T. Parlin recently announced.

The honor roll includes the names of about one-tenth of the enrollment of the college—4,518 during the second semester. Upperclassmen are required to maintain a slightly higher average than freshmen in order to be listed.

College Station, July 2.—Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard will spend 24 hours on the Texas A. and M. College campus, from noon July 3 to noon July 4.

According to Director H. H. Wilkerson of the Extension Service of A. and M. College, the secretary accepted an institutional invitation from President T. O. Walton to be the guest of the college, and agreed to address a mass meeting in Kyle Stadium at 8 p. m. on July 3. He will dine with the cadets in the mess hall at 6 p. m.

Secretary Wickard will be the third man holding his cabinet office to visit the college campus in its 67 year history. Others were James Wilson, who was here nearly 40 years ago, and Henry C. Wallace, father of the vice president, who visited the college about 20 years ago.

The mass meeting will be timed to allow for visitors to arrive at College Station from Dallas and north Texas by rail. Arrangements will be made to have the through trains from Dallas and Houston in the late afternoon to stop at several points along the line to pick up those wishing to hear the cabinet member's talk.

The secretary will tour the campus and inspect the college buildings on the morning of July 4. It is expected that he also will hold information conferences with various farming and livestock groups, as well as with representatives of all the governmental agencies operating under direction of his department.

Since Mr. Wickard's visit will be of an official nature, the usual military ceremonies accorded a cabinet member will be observed in his honor. A mounted troop of cavalry will meet him at the main entrance to the campus and a salute will be fired by the R. O. T. C. artillery unit.

THREE FRESH FRUITS AND IRISH POTATOES ADDED TO JULY BLUE STAMP FOOD LIST

Three fresh fruits and Irish potatoes have been added to the list of Blue stamp foods available during July under the Food Stamp program in Floyd County, according to C. W. Henderson, issuing officer for the supervisor, Agricultural Marketing Administration Food Stamp Plan.

Fresh peaches, fresh plums, and fresh apples are the fruits added. These, together with oranges, all fresh vegetables, including Irish and sweet potatoes, and the staple foods continued on the list, will give participants a wide variety from which to select the foods they require.

Dried prunes and fresh grapefruit are the only two commodities removed from the July list. Dried prunes are being acquired for use largely by our armed forces and the season of heavy marketing of grapefruit is drawing to a close.

With these changes, the complete list of Blue stamp foods issued by the Agricultural Marketing Administration for July 1 through July 31 in all stamp program areas is as follows: Fresh peaches, plums, apples, and oranges, all fresh vegetables including Irish and sweet potatoes, shell eggs, butter, corn meal, hominy (corn) grits, dry edible beans, wheat flour, enriched wheat flour, self rising flour, enriched self rising flour, and whole wheat (Graham) flour.

"Farmers", Mr. Henderson said, "are working to produce abundant quantities of all the food needed by the United Nations. The Food Stamp Program helps to assure them, particularly in seasons of heavy marketing, of a fair return for the efforts they are making. At the same time the program adds many nutritious foods to the diets of families in need."

PANHANDLE DOCTORS JOIN ARMED FORCES

All Panhandle doctors, dentists and veterinarians eligible for service are expected to report for examination. Eligibility is determined by the local procurement board. The age limit on dentists is 37 years; the limit on doctors is 45, but doctors can be taken up to 55 years.

Eligibility is based on age and whether the professional man is of more service in the community than in the armed forces.

Texas School Chil- dren Would Suffer From Rationing

Schooling of Texas children may suffer heavily if gasoline rationing is extended to Texas.

That's the conclusion to be drawn from study of a school tax survey just received here. The survey, compiled from reports of independent school districts and official state records, shows that last year petroleum and its products bore 39 per cent, or virtually two-fifths of the total cost of schooling Texas boys and girls.

Or to put it another way, two out of every five Texas school children were educated last year through taxes on the Texas petroleum industry and on gasoline. A total of 600,000 Texas boys and girls out of the state's scholastic population of 1,- 539,006 had their entire school expenses paid by petroleum and petroleum product taxes last year.

The report, compiled by Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association statisticians from figures obtained from independent school district tax collectors and from state officials, shows $91,754,249 was spent for educating Texas school children last year. Of this amount, $23,254,172 was paid by the Texas petroleum industry in State and local taxes used for school purposes. An additional $12,384,568 was paid for schools in gasoline taxes by individual Texas motorists, making a total of nearly $36,000,000 from petroleum and its principal product. Not only gasoline taxes but also oil taxes would be seriously affected by rationing, it was pointed out, as Texas oil output would drop even lower if the market for Texas gasoline were cut further.

Of the average per-pupil school cost of $59.62, oil and oil product taxes paid $23.25.
Revenue from these sources have aided the State Tax Board to cut the State school ad valorem tax rate to its present 16 cents, less than half its constitutional maximum of 35 cents per $100 valuation.

While oil and oil products bear two-fifths of the cost of Texas public schools, they pay an even larger part of general state taxes, the Texas Mid-Continent report shows, the Texas petroleum industry paid 55 per cent, or well over half, of all State business and property taxes.
If sales taxes are included, petroleum and its products bore 62 per cent, or close to two-thirds, of all State taxes.

Plea for Safe Driv- ing is Made by Health Dept.

Austin, July 2.—A plea for a safe and sane Fourth of July was issued today by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, who declared, "We should not forget that the glorious Fourth is the anniversary of American freedom—a freedom which is now in jeopardy."

"This nation needs every man, woman, and child at maximum physical strength. Unnecessary loss of life or time from careless accidents is a form of sabotage against our total war effort."

Dr. Cox stressed the fact that hundreds of accidents occur each year among Fourth of July celebrants, including drowning, traffic casualties, and serious injuries from fireworks.
He declared that every day's time lost in this manner will handicap the nation's war effort.

"The celebration of American independence is a custom dear to the hearts of all Americans," Dr. Cox said, "but this year as never before care should be taken to avoid accidents which cripple or kill since our maximum manpower is needed for the successful prosecution of a war to defend that same American freedom."

"Using caution in water sports and in traveling on the highways will aid materially in cutting down the total number of accidents, and the cautious handling of all fireworks will result in fewer painful injuries to small children," Dr. Cox declared.

A service commission, the housing registry and the Aid society, after devoted thought to the question, decided that landlords do not want tenants because they are generally more troublesome, require more "looking after" and do their laundry in the kitchen, and cause a nuisance to form at the bathroom. They also swipe the landlord's rent for their electric bills.

USO State Chair- man Calls for More Action

Houston, July 2.—Fifty Texas counties have completely failed to do their share of the USO campaign, Harry C. Wiess, state chairman reported today.

Ninety-one counties have made their quotas, and reports have been made of partial completions in 114 other counties, bringing Texas with in $175,000 of its $1,110,000 quota in the war fund campaign which will provide recreation and comforts for the men in Uncle Sam's fighting forces.

"We can make this a glorious Fourth of July by completing this campaign by that date," Mr. Wiess declared. "Then we civilians can truly say that we have made our soldiers, sailors and marines independent of want for a home away from home."

The drive opened May 11 in every state, seeking a national fund of $32,000,000, and is scheduled to close July 4.

In telegrams to county chairmen, Mr. Wiess called for unceasing effort until the quota is attained.

"We in Texas have an unusual responsibility in this matter because Texas is host to more soldiers than any other state and the USO is spending much more money here than we are being asked to contribute," Mr. Wiess pointed out.

"You realize the important work USO will do to maintain the morale of our soldiers, sailors and marines at the high standard necessary for America to win this war. Knowing that everyone in your county wants the hundreds of men who have gone into the war from your county to be given the best care within the power of the USO, we feel confident that your county will make a good showing."

Mr. Wiess also announced that 700 USO centers are now in operation at home and abroad.

Texas Wheat Growers Urged to Grow War Crops

College Station, July 2.—Texas wheat growers will be urged to substitute war crops for wheat on land where such crops can be successfully raised, B. F. Vance, chairman of the Texas USDA War Board, said in announcing the Texas 1943 wheat acreage allotment of 3,727,966 acres.

"We have plenty of wheat, while we still are short of having enough of some crops, particularly oil-bearing crops," the war board official pointed out. "Under present law, the national wheat acreage allotment of the AAA cannot be less than the 55,000,000 acres which Secretary Wickard has announced, but I hope that Texas growers will voluntarily shift part of their wheat acreage to the production of crops which we need much more than we need wheat."

Vance said that AAA committee-men will work out with each grower a war production plan to get the maximum production from each farm to meet war needs.

Panhandle wheat growers already are being forced to pile wheat on the ground because of a severe shortage of storage space, the USDA official explained. USDA war boards have carried on a campaign for several months acquainting growers with the tight storage situation and urging them to construct more farm storage capacity. Despite these efforts, however, a lot of wheat will be lost for lack of storage.

RED CROSS CALLS FOR VOLUNTEER REINFORCEMENTS IN SEWING ARMY

The Red Cross is urging volunteer reinforcements in its Floyd County Sewing Army. Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the District Court Room you are invited to come and hear Mrs. H. P. Hudson, who has been teaching in a girls school on the island of Maui in the Hawaiian Islands, tell of the work of the Red Cross during and following the bombing of Pearl Harbor. Mrs. Hudson is here visiting her sister, Mrs. W. A. Cates.

National Red Cross headquarters has requested the Floyd County Chapter to accept a new quota of 619 garments and if possible to promise to accept an additional one, should conditions require it. The last quota has not been finished, we have a sewing room with 16 machines in it—a good place to spend a few hours each week helping win this all-important war. Come and hear about it.

Know your Navy—Chevrons under an eagle on the right sleeve are the marks of a petty officer of the sea-man branch.

Small Loss Farms Will Get Premium Reductions

Some Texas wheat farmers will pay less for wheat insurance on their 1943 crop.

Under a new reduction plan, announced by Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, individuals' premiums will be cut as much as 50 percent provided premiums paid during unbroken series of crop years, less in-demnities, equal or exceed insured production for 1943, E. R. Duke, state wheat insurance supervisor, explained.

Only those wheat farmers who have insured wheat crops for an unbroken series of crop years up to the present, with few or no losses, can qualify for lower premiums. Maximum reduction in premium rates, which is 50 percent, will be given farmers only in those years when no losses occur.

If premiums which have been paid during unbroken series of crop years are slightly less than 1943 insured production, premium cost for 1943 crop year will be counted toward the premium balance and a proportionally lower cost will be given.

In no case will farmers be granted the lower rate simply because they have built up a premium balance from large operations and shifted to lower operations. If operators have materially reduced acreages or lowered insured production for any other reason, adjustments will be made.

Purpose of reduced plan is to distribute cost of insurance more equitably by recognizing smaller risk on farms where few or no losses have occurred, Duke said.

State Land Use Planning Committee Sets Aims

College Station, July 2.—Winning the war is the first and immediate objective of the State Land Use Planning Committee, and preparation for successful post war reconstruction is its second, members agreed last week as they concluded a two-day conference on the A. and M. College campus.

H. H. Williamson, director of the A. and M. Extension Service, is the committee chairman.

The group learned that 245 county land use planning committees have agreed to aid all war efforts by serving for the duration of the war as County Agricultural Victory Councils. This means they will do emergency war work in addition to their long time planning activities, it was explained. Council members—10,037 farm men and women—will serve as community Victory leaders. These, aided by 42,008 neighborhood Victory leaders, will form a "human chain" of communication for rapid transmission or collection of war information related to agriculture. The communication system will serve all farm and ranch families in the state.

Discussions during the two-day program were devoted to storage of the state's wheat crop, salvage collections, experimental county health and medical programs, post war planning, assistance for rural families evacuated from war project areas, and the farmers' battle against inflation.

The committee is composed of 24 farm and ranch men and women from all types of farming areas in Texas and representatives of the Federal and State agencies working with agriculture.

NYA YOUTH GIVE BLOOD FOR WOUNDED

Austin, July 2.—NYA youth give blood and sweat—they haven't time for tears!

Beginning this week, youth employed on Texas NYA Projects will furnish a Blood Plasma Bank with 100 liters of their blood each week, J. C. Kellam, state NYA administrator, said today. He added that the first 100 liters would be taken Tuesday from boys and girls working at the NYA War Work Center at Inks Dam, near Burnet. Private physicians and NYA nurses will draw the blood.

Governor Coke R. Stevenson several months ago became interested in the plan for a Blood Plasma Bank for emergency use in the case of civilian men and women who might be hurt during air raids. At that time he appropriated funds from the Office of Civilian Defense to the State Department of Health for that purpose. State Health Officer Dr. George W. Cox then was able to purchase the necessary equipment. Since December ten pints of blood a week have been taken from youth on NYA Projects.

Plasma eliminates the need for blood typing, because all plasma is the same. The liquid part of blood

Binoculars Are Needed by U. S. Navy Forces

New Orleans, Louisiana, July 2.—Since the supply of binoculars is still far below the needs of the U. S. Naval forces, a second appeal was directed today to the owners of binoculars meeting service requirements to loan them to the Navy for use in the war effort, it was announced by the Eighth Naval District Public Relations Office.

Because of the lack of facilities and of highly-trained personnel necessary to the manufacture of these precision instruments, the maximum production of binoculars remains insufficient for the requirements of the rapidly expanding armed forces. As a result, the need for privately owned glasses gains week by week.

In these days of combined sea and air warfare, additional look-outs are required on all Naval vessels to maintain a constant watch. This vigil is most effectively maintained, especially at night, by personnel equipped with binoculars that have large projective openings for better light transmission and resulting binocular vision. A binocular of less than six power is of small value as is one of high power with a small objective aperture.

For these reasons, and because of the difficulty in obtaining replacement parts and trained personnel necessary to keep a variety of glasses in good repair, the Navy accepts only 6X30 and 7X50 binoculars manufactured by either Zeiss or Bausch & Lomb. Toys, lorgnettes, opera glasses and small binoculars are useless for Naval purposes.

Persons who own binoculars meeting the above requirements and who desire to lend them to the Navy for the duration of the war have been requested to pack them carefully and ship them to the Naval Observatory at Washington, D. C. Because the Navy is not authorized to accept gifts or free loans, the binoculars furnished by the public and accepted by the Navy will be purchased for $1.00 each. If they are still in use at the end of hostilities, the Navy will return the instruments to the former owners and the $1.00 purchase price will constitute the rental and depreciation fees.

Club Women Are Taking First Aid Work

College Station, July 2.—Texas 46,000 home demonstration club women are taking first aid and home nursing courses just as rapidly as instructors can be produced, reports Helen H. Swift, sociologist for the A. and M. College Extension Service who works with rural women's organizations. Courses they arrange are open to their neighbors and friends as a war-time service.

Howard County has reported that 1,450 had received instruction, while at least one member of 75 percent of the families in Young County have studied first aid. Many counties report an increase in club membership resulting from this work, Miss Swift says. Six clubs in Brazos County have had a 25 percent increase.

Classes have been sponsored by county home demonstration councils and by some of the state's 2,200 clubs.

Keeping in touch with the boys in the armed forces is one other activity popular with the rural club women. Dallas County sent a truck with 200 cakes for one party at Camp Bowie, and Palo Pinto women make cookies regularly for the boys at Camp Wolters. Recently the Prairie View Club in Orange County gathered two tons of scrap iron, sold it, and put the money into a fund to buy gifts for local boys with the colors.

Many clubs have sponsored or co-operated with community school lunch programs. In Lynn County, 1,050 children in 11 schools have a hot meal at noon. Increased production under the Food for Victory program is an aim of women in Fort Bend County. Each of the county's 248 club women have increased their ordinary poultry flocks by 50 pullets. Thousands of club women are Victory demonstrators.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Amburn, Sr., spent the week end in Childress visiting their son, W. A. Amburn, Jr., and Mrs. Amburn. Mr. and Mrs. Amburn carried their grandchildren home who had been visiting here several days.

TO THE PEOPLE OF PRECINCT

NUMBER ONE, FLOYD COUNTY:

There are many voters in Precinct No. One I have not seen personally and solicited for their votes for Commissioner. In view of the tire shortage and the near approach of the First Primary I am sure I will not be able to get around to all the voters.

To these I want to say that from business experience and familiarity with the problems of the precinct and the county, I am qualified for the place. And with the co-operation of the people I am sure I can make you a Good Commissioner and give you a business administration of the office.

I appreciate the good vote you gave me two years ago and hope this time you will see fit to give me top place and elect me to the office. Anything you can say or do for me will be appreciated.
