P.-T.A. Closes Successful Convention

FOURTEENTH ANNUAL P.-T.A. CONFERENCE RATES HIGH IN ZEST, LOW IN ATTENDANCE

Unfavorable Weather Keeps Many Delegates At Home; Local Women Co-Operate Excellently Making Conclave Enjoyable

The fourteenth annual conference of the sixth district of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers came to a happy close in the midst of a calm and sunny morning, when the honorary vice-president pronounced the Mizpah Saturday at noon.

It was a conference marked by harmonious co-operation and gracious hospitality on the part of the home town women and of smooth functioning on the part of the officers. The only blustering was done by the weather.

Reports of local units that featured Friday's program were given in many interesting ways. The one of most interest probably was that given by Garden City which presented its report in the form of a mock trial. The witnesses on the stand related the P.-T.A. accomplishments in their speeches.

Of particular interest to local P.-T.A. members Saturday morning was the presentation of life memberships. Mrs. Charles Koberg general chairman of local committees, was made a life member.

The outstanding feature of the Friday afternoon's program was the panel entitled "The First Requisite for Tomorrow—Character Building." This was conducted by Mr. S. G. Boynton of San Angelo, deputy state superintendent. He was assisted by Mrs. J. M. Crain of Claude, Dr. C. E. Castaneda, Del Rio; W. W. Lackey, Midland; Mrs. H. P. Bybee, San Angelo; Mrs. W. J. McAdams, Big Spring and Rev. Melvin J. Wise, Big Spring.

An invitation was extended to the visitors by Mr. Richardson of the C.C.C. Camp on Scenic Mount to see what had been done in the way of developing this mountain into a state park. Mr. Richardson explained what the C.C.C. work and the National Park Service were doing by way of beautification.

Visitors were then driven to the park and served supper in the barracks, after which they were present for the flag lowering ceremony and sunset prayer delivered by the Rev. Father Theo Francis.

Evening Program

Mr. C. Q. Smith, president of McMurry College, Abilene, who was a guest in the home of the Rev. and Mrs. C. A. Bickley Friday, delivered a splendid address at the Municipal Auditorium on the conference theme, "Building for Tomorrow."

Mrs. Thomas Head of San Angelo, president of the sixth district, presided over the Friday evening session. With her sat the presidents of the local units and the district vice-presidents, all of whom were introduced to the assembly. The Rev. S. J. Shettleworth, pastor of the First Christian Church, delivered the invocation.

The district mother singers, led by Mrs. Shelby of Abilene, sang beautifully a group of songs prepared for this evening.

Mrs. J. M. Crain, fourth vice-president of the state and director of public welfare, brought greetings to the visitors from the state organization.

Saturday Morning

The Saturday morning program opened with invocation delivered by the Rev. C. A. Bickley, pastor of the First Methodist church. Mrs. Koberg was presented with a life membership at this time.

Poster awards were also made. All Class A awards which are given to schools having an art supervisor went to College Heights School in Abilene, being won by Glen Moore, Nelda Harper, Joe Lee Riddle and Hall Bond.

Class B awards, those going to schools without supervisors went to Gilbert Tonne, of the Grape Creek School, San Angelo, and to Mary Lynn of the Ballinger Primary school. Wade Boatwright of the Ballinger Primary school received third place.

Awards for public record books were announced Friday afternoon. The first place was won by the John R. Lewis P.-T.A. of Sweetwater. This book will be sent to the state meeting, also to the national P.-T.A. convention to convene in Miami, Fla.

The second place was won by Comstock P.-T.A. This book will go to the state convention, as will the book winning first place. The third place was a tie. San Angelo's Junior High P.-T.A. and Stephen F. Austin P.-T.A. rated equally high. The Lamar P.-T.A., Abilene, received honorable mention.

The conference closed with a special ceremony inaugurated by the national convention in 1934, with Mrs. Sidney T. Gilmore of Sonora, honorary vice-president, giving the benediction.

The decision regarding the next place of meeting was left over until fall, since no invitations were extended at this session.

Easter Dinner Is Served Bridge Club

Mr. and Mrs. M. K. House tendered the members of the As You Like It Bridge club with a lovely Easter dinner Friday evening at their home.

A yellow and blue color scheme was carried out with the use of yellow daisies in blue crystal holders. Easter rabbits made from gum drops in these two colors formed a ring around the floral centerpiece.

Attractive trophies were won by Miss Wells for guest high, Mrs. Cunningham for the women, and Mr. Croft for the men. Easter bunnies were cut favors.

Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Floweller sent in their resignations to the club.

Members and club guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Grover Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Croft, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Miss Fern Wells and Mr. James Little.

BRIDGE TOURNAMENT IS POSTPONED

The golf bridge tournament will not meet during Holy Week, it has been announced. The play scheduled for next Tuesday evening at the country club will be postponed until the Tuesday after Easter, when players will resume competition for the championship.

BETROTHAL ANNOUNCED AT TEA

Miss Mary Alice Wilke whose engagement to Edgar Poe Woodard of Stanton was announced Tuesday afternoon at a tea given in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wilke.

Three Are Hostesses For Party

Petroleum Members Are Entertained In Evening

Three hostesses entertained the Petroleum Bridge club with an evening party for members and their husbands Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Harry Lester. Assisting her were Mrs. P. H. Liberty and Mrs. Adams Talley.

Mrs. Ernest and Mrs. Le Bleu won couple high and were presented with a double deck of cards which they divided. Mr. A'ble received a deck of cards for high for the men.

Pie and coffee were served at the close of the evening by the three hostesses to the following: Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ashley, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Combs, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Faw, Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Johnson, Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Hardy, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Carpenter, Mmes. Joe Ernest Calvin, B. K'n, J. J. I. Bleu, Fred Hyers; Messrs. P. H. Liberty, Le Fevre.

Mrs. Burns Hostess To Two Clubs

Entertains Cactus And Lucky Thirteen Same Day

Mrs. Morris Burns entertained both of her clubs, the Cactus and the Lucky 13 clubs, Friday with attractive Easter parties, using a yellow and orchid motif for both parties.

The Cactus club rushed up its meeting from next week to this one, because of Holy Week. Its members were entertained with a bridge breakfast commencing at 9 o'clock, after which bridge was played.

Yellow chickens were plate favors for both occasions. High scores were similar, the hostess presenting Evening in Paris perfums. The bottles were in a container representing Easter eggs.

Tallies and house decorations as well as prize wrappings carried out the yellow and orchid color scheme.

Mrs. Angel made high score for Cactus members. Mrs. Worley made guest high and was presented with several linen handkerchiefs. Mrs. Pendleton won cut prize, which was a kitchen set.

Cactus guests were: Mmes. Larson Lloyd, Hugh Dubberty, and Charles Worley. Members present were: Mmes. Clyde Angel, C. E. Hahn, Harold Parks, Lester Short, R. E. Lee, W. W. Pendleton, L. R. Kuykendall, Herbert Whitney and M. E. Tatum.

Mrs. Whitney will entertain the club again on April 30.

The Lucky Thirteen bridge club was entertained by Mrs. Burns Friday afternoon. Mrs. J. D. Elliott was the only guest. She was presented with handkerchiefs.

Mrs. Kin Barnett made high score. Mrs. Collings' high cut trophy was an ivory salad set.

Members attending were: Mmes. O. M. Waters, L. G. Talley, H. E. Howie, Kin Barnett, R. B. Reeder, H. N. Robinson and Cecil Collings.

Mrs. Collings will entertain the Lucky Thirteen again on May 3.

Aids Mexican School

Mrs. Frances Youngblood and pupils put on an expression recital Thursday evening for the Mexican school which was a repeat performance of the recital given last week. Admission fees went to funds for buying costumes for the Mexican Cinco de Mayo program.

Mmes. Mel Thurman, Ben Carpenter, Rev. W. J. Ray and Mr. Alvin Smith have returned from Houston where they attended the biggest Sunday School convention ever held in the world, they said. They also visited in Austin and in Galveston enroute.

Fisher, Tom Donnelly.

In the three weeks intervening between now and Miss Wilke's marriage date on May 4 many other hostesses will entertain with showers and bridge parties honoring this very popular member of the younger set.

Mrs. R. C. Strain and Mrs. Vivian Nichols have invited guests to a bridge party on next Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. V. H. Flewilen and Mrs. W. W. Inkman have reserved a date for later in the week.

Miss Wilke will be honoree for several post-Easter parties, including those to be given by Mrs. Albert M. Fisher, Miss Vance Kencaaster, Mmes. C. W. Cunningham, H. C. Stipp and J. D. Biles, and several others whose dates have not yet been set.

MUSEUM TO BE OPEN THIS AFTERNOON FROM THREE TO FIVE FOR SUNDAY PROGRAM

Unique Representation of Christ In Gethsemane To Be Presented With Invisible Music By Several Church Choirs

By O. E. P.

The Museum is introducing something truly original and devout to Big Spring, with its Easter Grotto. The grotto is a scene that defies words and newspaper print; all one can really say about it is to recommend that it be seen. It is a story told through the eyes.

Mrs. Mary Bumpass, director of the Museum, speaks of it as the Grotto of Gethsemane.

In a deep niche in the museum wall a print of Hoffman's painting of "Jesus in Prayer" is placed on a dark-blue background. Around the picture and around the walls of the niche are sprays of cedar and other evergreens. Ferns and flowers form the background.

The picture represents Christ in Gethsemane. Next Saturday, in anticipation of Easter the picture will be changed to a resurrection scene.

This afternoon in celebration of Palm Sunday and all next week with the exception of Monday, the Museum building will be open to visitors from 3 to 5 o'clock.

Because today is Sunday the choirs of four city churches have agreed each to devote half an hour of song for those who want to spend a few minutes of restful contemplation and meditation before this picture.

Woodman Circle Has Initiation Class; Holds Party Friday

Thursday evening at their regular meeting, the Woodman Circle voted on ten new candidates. A class of seven was introduced and initiated by the drill team.

Little Nelda Cavanar, nine months old was presented with her junior certificate, in a beautiful ceremony.

Mrs. Tressie Goldsticker who was a delegate to the state convention gave her report. Several talks on the good of the society, and a social hour were enjoyed. Cake and coffee were served to about fifty members.

Friday evening at the W. O. W. hall the Woodman entertained, honoring the drill team of the Woodman Circle, that won honors at the state convention recently at Waco. The following program was given:

Opening song by all.
 Invocation—E. Reagan.

Addresses by Judge M. H. Morrison, C. R. Valentine, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Stephens of Colorado, Mrs. Jannie E. Garner, district manager and national representative of Colorado. Mrs. Tressie Goldsticker, district manager and state attendant.

Readings by Betty Joe Jenkins, Peggy Gere Holt, Inez McCullough and Mrs. Youngblood.

Out of town visitors were: Mr. and Mrs. Sephens, Mr. and Mrs. Wigly, Misses McCorkel, West, Mrs. Jannie E. Garner all of Colorado, who enjoyed the evening's entertainment. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served to about 125 guests.

Worker's Conference At Coahoma Tuesday

The monthly workers' conference of the Big Spring Baptist Association, including the churches in Howard and four adjoining counties, will be held with the church at Coahoma on Tuesday, April 16th.

Speakers on the program will include Rev. W. F. Borum of Midland, Rev. W. C. Harrison of Odessa, Rev. W. D. Dever of Foran, and Rev. E. F. Ferguson of Big Spring.

Lunch will be served by the church at Coahoma.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Union will be held in the afternoon.

Miss Mayme Parr Is Speaker To Lomax Girls

"How we look depends on the way we care for our clothes when we do not have them on," stated Miss Parr to the Lomax 4-H club at the April 11 meeting. A dresser drawer which contained compartments for different articles was demonstrated by Miss Parr. A miniature clothes closet was shown along with a bag for keeping shoes. Different kinds of coat

Presbyterian choir will sing at 3 o'clock "I Walked in the Garden." At 3:30 St. Mary's Episcopal choir will sing "The Palma." At 4 o'clock Mrs. Pat Martin of the First Baptist choir, accompanied by Mrs. Bruce Frazier will sing, "Ride On, Ride On."

At 4:30 members of St. Thomas Catholic choir will sing a group of songs of it sown choicing. During the week days the music will be furnished by a victrola playing hymns.

The grotto was in readiness on Easter afternoon the choirs of the Christian and Methodist churches will sing for the visitors to the district P-T. A. session. Mrs. James Smidly helped Mrs. Bumpass plan the grotto and arrange the picture in its setting of ferns and flowers. The invisible music which adds to the awe and reverence that the grotto inspires was the happy thought of Mrs. Bumpass herself.

The banks of ferns was lent by Mr. Nat Shick. Mr. Ross donated small pines and potted arbor vitae. A real Clender combines well with imitation dogwood blossoms lent by Mrs. Omar Pitman to give the scene the effect of looking into deep green woods.

Many women of town and of the Home demonstration clubs have acted as hostesses. On Thursday Mrs. P. W. Malone, Mrs. George Gentry and Mrs. Bumpass were hostess to the visitors of the P-T. A. On Friday Mrs. R. E. Blount and on Thursday Mrs. J. A. Myers and Mrs. F. Tinsley of Chalk were hostesses.

This afternoon the women in charge will be: Mmes. Carl Blomshild, W. C. Blankenship and L. L. Freeman; the hours will be 3 to 5 o'clock.

During the week the museum will be open from 4 to 6 o'clock. On Tuesday Mrs. J. T. Brooks and Mrs. C. C. Carter will be hostesses. On Wednesday Mrs. Ross Hill and Mrs. L. S. McDowell will be hostesses; Thursday, Misses Pearl Butler and Lorraine Lamar; Friday, Miss Nell Brown, Mrs. E. H. Happel and Miss Lorena Huggins. Other hostesses will be announced later.

Chairs are arranged in front of the grotto where visitors may rest while gazing on this inspiring scene.

Maxine Hull Honoree For Birthday Party

Mrs. M. B. McFarland honored her niece, Miss Maxine Hull, with a surprise birthday party Saturday afternoon. The Easter motif was used in flower decorations and by means of Easter rabbits.

During the games and contests a prize was awarded to James Arthur Curley.

Ice cream and cake were served to the following: Hazel Coming, Milton Knowles, Dorothy Moore, Ruby Sherrod, Mae Sherrod, Almoraine Pinkston, James Harold Craig, James Arthur Curley, Dorothy Lee Hull, Lenora Masters, Ulla Mae Masters, Maxine Hull, Bobby Ruth Harris, James Harry Billington, Maedella Miller, Daisy Pearl Reed, Mary Eva Harris, Mary Ann Goodson, Coming, Janice Coming, Lula Jean Billington, Elda Mae Mercer, Radford Lee Robinson, Ross Darrow Jr., Ovella Shirley, Christine Pinkston, Donald White, Wilmetth Robinson.

NORGE ROLLATOR REFRIGERATION SAVES UP TO $11.00 A MONTH

There's a world of difference between keeping food fresh and just keeping it from spoiling. Food loses its fine flavor long before it actually spoils.

And right there you have one of the biggest advantages of Rollator Refrigeration. That surplus cold-making power in the Rollator cooling mechanism protects the fresh flavor of perishable foods. The result is that you can take advantage of one-day food bargains—you can market for days or weeks in advance—you can make tasty and wholesome use of left overs.

All of that means economy. Add it to the saving in refrigeration cost and you'll see that Rollator Refrigeration will actually pay for your Norge.

Come in and learn about Rollator Refrigeration. See the Norge before you buy any refrigerator.

Among Women Bridge Champions
Miss Murdoch Retains Top Place
In Epoch-Making Year Of Play

Among the women bridge champions, Miss Elinor Murdoch of Birmingham, Ala., retains her top rank in the awards, just made public, of the annual "All-America" rankings, which are selected annually by Collier's Weekly. Not only is she the only woman in the "big ten", but she also wins the annual award, against all the men players for "the most spectacular event in the year's championship play."

The judges' citation says of her achievement during the past season:

"The most important single event among the 14 great national bridge championships is the individual masters' championship conducted by the American Bridge League.

"In this nobody is eligible except players who have real championship records. Thirty-six of them came together this time under conditions whereby each had to take turns with every one of the other thirty-five as partners. For the first time in the game's history, this championship was won by a woman. Miss Elinor Murdoch, formerly of Birmingham, Alabama, and now of New York. She beat out E. Jay Becker of Philadelphia by half a match point in a great contest. The year before, Miss Murdoch was second barely behind the winner, Mr. Burnstine.

"Miss Murdoch's triumph must be conceded as the greatest single piece of news produced by any championship tournament on the 1934-35 calendar. It gives her the unquestioned right to boast of an achievement more startling than any other particular feat by a woman in the history of championship play, or even by any man, as far as that is concerned."

Among other women players in the year's championship, honorable mention in the All-America selections goes to Mrs. Elliot Evans, Chicago, and the following New Yorkers: Mrs. Ely Culbertson, Miss Ruth Sherman, Mrs. Thomas Stern, Mrs. E. B. Banfield, Mrs. A. Leroy, Mrs. J. Gardner, Mrs. E. Cross, Mrs. Fred Wise, Mrs. Jerry Swan, Mrs. Fred Fuld, Miss Marybelle Metzler. Other women tournament winners who are listed include Mrs. A. C. Hoffmeier and Mrs. Anne Rosenfeld of Cleveland, Mrs. Albert Rockwell and Mrs. Gail Hamilton of Warren, Penn., Miss Helen Bonwit and Miss Helen White of New York.

First place in the year's rankings goes to Oswald Jacoby of New York, the youngest player ever to win this honor. He is 32 years old and has been playing bridge since he was ten. Last year his wife, who was Mary Zita McHale of Dallas, was one of the winners in one of the Eastern bridge championships. The story of their marriage is told, in connection with Mr. Jacoby's winning of the year's big plum, by Shepard Barclay, bridge editor of Collier's.

"Jacoby was making a tour of the south in April 1932, lecturing on bridge. At Dallas he was having a friendly doubles game of tennis one afternoon with the people who had brought him to the city. On the next court a young woman was playing. She had dark hair, "a way about her", and was playing wonderful tennis. Jacoby's own game became terrible. His concentration was gone. He couldn't make an accurate shot to save his life. That evening, at a reception, he was introduced to the cause of his poor tennis. She was Miss Mary Zita McHale, holder of the state's championship in both singles and doubles. No time was wasted. By Wednesday it was all settled, but the laws of Texas made it impossible for them to be married until the following Monday. He had been scheduled to leave Dallas the day after he arrived, but the lecture dates were revamped to make the rest of the tour parallel their honeymoon."

Mrs. Jacoby had never played bridge before. He began to teach her, and she took to it like a duck to water. They started a contest to see if she could win her first bridge tournament before he could win his first tennis tournament. He almost won by getting into the final round of the Oklahoma men's doubles, but she ended the argument a year ago with him helping her to do it, by winning the Eastern mixed team-of-four championship with Mrs. Silver Furlow and Waldemar von Zedtwitz as their teammates.

Mrs. Vivian Nichols has as house guest her sister, Mrs. Watt Yester of Columbia, Tenn., who arrived Saturday night.

Local Teacher Is Represented In Nat'l Anthology

As an echo of the Parent-Teachers' convention, the Herald has been given to publish a poem written by a local teacher, John R. Hutto, principal of the Kate Morrison school.

This poem was published in the Texas Outlook and clipped from that by the editors of a yearbook of magazine verse. They asked permission to include it in the 1934 Anthology of Magazine Verse, which is a high honor for a Texas poet. The book will be off the press in the near future. The poem follows:

THE TEACHER'S TASK
They come,
Echoes of the past,
Of all their fathers have been,
A connecting link
Of the hidden past
With the ever present,
With the far-flung future.

Unprejudiced
By dogmas and creeds,
Unstained
By the deft fingers of sin,
Untouched
By the arts of man.

With eyes upturned,
With faces expectant—
Clay, unmolded—
They sit,
Ready to be fashioned
Into vessels,
Fit for man's use,
Designed for God's Eternity.

Scanning NEW BOOKS

By JOHN SELBY

NEW YORK—A curious and delightful book comes to light in Patrick Carleton's "One Breath" (Dutton); comes also to a climax which must not be given away.

It is a pungent, racy book about a group of people one does not often meet, about animals, about "life" from a new angle. Often it seems that a man who really understands animals, understands people all the better for that ability. It is certainly so in Carleton's case.

Specifically, "One Breath" concerns a traveling menagerie which, after a few generations of travel up and down England, becomes an important zoological collection for the edification of the public, housed permanently and handsomely.

There is much about animals, their breeding and care. There is not too much, however, and since all the information lies in with the lives of the trainers and others, one never has the feeling of being "instructed." And old Sarah, daughter of the founder, who still lives at the end of the book, is a first-rate addition to the gallery of salty old ladies, which has had some notable additions of late.

Mr. Carleton minces no words. Nor does he use too many of them. The book runs easily from cover to cover—which means much, for family sagas have a tendency to get lumpy, like gravy.

THUMBNAILED REVIEWS

"The Pumpkin Coach," by Louis Paul (Doubleday, Doran): a first novel by a "discovery" who tells of the experiences and reactions of a Samoan boy who comes to America with an open and active mind; very naive, very tender; very nice.

"Carson the Statesman," by Ian Colvin (Macmillan): Edward Marforbanks' "Carson the Advocate" took care of that side of Lord Carson's life; now Colvin writes of another facet, particularly of Carson's work with the Ulsterites against the Separatist movement.

"Shoulder the Sky," by James Gray (Putnam): a pleasant novel about the effort of a young doctor and his wife to adjust themselves to each other, pat enough psychologically; the setting is midwestern.

MR. FITZGERALD

"Taps at Reveille," by F. Scott Fitzgerald (Scribners): 18 or so of Mr. Fitzgerald's human stories about human people (mostly young), and likely happenings; some say Fitzgerald lacks social consciousness, although perhaps it is only that he does not have class astigmatization.

"Fatherland," by Karl Billinger (Farrar & Rinehart): the old and dreary story of Nazi corruption and brutality, told this time by an Aryan communist; smuggled chapter by chapter out of Germany, and why?

"Light From Arcturus," by Mildred Walker (Harcourt, Brace): a good solid novel about the growth of awareness in a young bride who goes to Nebraska from Chicago in 1876 to make a home for her practical husband; Miss Walker is one prizewinner whose second novel is better than her first.

"The Lark Legacy," by Alice Hagan Rice (Appleton-Century): a tangle of love, temperament, self-interest and altruism on the rock-bound shore of Maine; Mrs. Rice is definitely out of the cabbage patch.

THE KALEIDOGRAPH APRIL

Something different in the line of sonnet subject matter is a poem in the April number of The Kaleidograph on the coming Texas Centennial. It is entitled "Texas Speaks," by Eda H. Vines.

My fellow Texans, you have granted me,

A modern daughter of this Empire State,

The boon to hold the Anniversary Of Texas Liberty within my gate.

We will review the days of long ago When Texans, with that spirit none could bar,

Threw off the iron yoke of Mexico. And, though these present days are distant far—

From those brave souls who gave to us this land.

I too can feel the source of all I do In all they did for me, my sons will stand

And honor them as long as men are true.

I bid you welcome, Texans, near and far,

We'll live again that past one hundred year

In song and story, both of peace and war,

And plan the next one hundred while you're here.

Coahoma Man To Celebrate 87th Birthday

Friends To Gather At
Primitive Baptist Church
To Honor John Hale

JOHN HALE

Many citizens of Coahoma and the surrounding country will gather at the Primitive Baptist church in that community today to celebrate the eighty-ninth birthday of John Hale. His birthday was Wednesday, April 10, but for many years it has been the custom to celebrate it at the church on the second Sunday of April. Last year more than a hundred descendants and friends attended the church services and an even greater number is anticipated this year.

The services will begin at 11 a. m., with preaching by Elder Reeves of Brownwood and Elder Calloway of Big Spring. A big basket dinner will be served by Coahoma women to all attending the services. In the afternoon an old-fashioned singing will be held.

Mr. Hale is in good health despite his 89 years. Although he wears glasses his sight is quite good and he spends a good part of the time reading. He walks without the aid of a cane and makes frequent trips to Big Spring.

He was born April 19, 1846, in Pinola county, Mississippi. He joined the Confederate army at the age of 16 and served in Hood's battery of Artillery for the remaining months of the war.

He brought his family to Texas in 1875 and settled in Bell county where they lived for twenty-two years. He says at that time there were no towns nor fences in that county.

He moved to Howard county in 1901 and purchased nearly two sections of land north-east of Coahoma. After letting his children have the major portion of it he still retains a half section although he now makes his home in Coahoma with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Adams. He says that in all his 89 years of farming this land, through all the droughts and storms, he has never failed to make money on his crops each year.

His wife, Lizzie Hale, passed on about six years ago. He is the father of eight children, six of whom are still living. He has 21 grandchildren, 21 great-grandchildren and one great, great-grandchild.

W. B. Buchanan who has been in Colina at the bedside of a sick sister returned to Big Spring Saturday. He reported that his sister was still very ill.

Mrs. Fort Is Hostess For Matinee Club

Mrs. J. E. Fort entertained members of the Matinee Bridge club Friday afternoon with a "Mogul Diamond" party which introduced a new stunt into bridge playing.

When the guests arrived they were presented with their tallies, each one of which held a picture of a different comic character. To the tallies were attached small baskets filled with beans.

Whenever one guest addressed another by any name other than her comic name, she had to forfeit a bean. The member who had the most beans in her basket at the end of the games was given a mogul diamond, which in this case happened to be a set of rhinestone ear screws. Mrs. Foosee won the ear screws.

Mrs. Farley was given a cake plate for high club score, Mrs. Jeter a salt and pepper set for guest high.

Members attending were: Mmes. A. E. Underwood, Jimmy Tucker, Charles Badwick, Hal Farley, H. G. Foosee, Tom Donnelly, Sam McCombs, Geo. S. Harvell, Dillon Smith, L. T. Leslie. Guests were Miss Smith and Mrs. F. L. Jeter.

Mrs. Leslie will entertain next on April 26.

Special Services At 1st Christian Through Easter

Beginning this morning and continuing through Easter Sunday special services will be conducted daily at the First Christian church. This evening and each evening this week the services will begin at 7:45 p. m. Special Pre-prayer services will be announced from time to time so that groups may be formed for special seasons of prayer.

Special nights will be observed throughout the week. Monday night will be "Official Board Night"; Tuesday will be "Family Night"; Wednesday, "Blue Bonnet Class Night"; Thursday, "Sunday School Night"; Friday is "Young People's Night"; Saturday will be "Home Makers and Builders" night, honoring those two Sunday School classes. Committees are being appointed to be responsible for a representative attendance on each of these dates.

The sermons for the week will be built to a very great extent around the eternal experiences during the Passion Week, or Holy week just prior to our Saviour's death and Resurrection.

The public is cordially invited to attend all these services. A baptismal service will be conducted at the close of the sermon this evening, S. J. Shettlesworth, pastor, announces.
