Aged Suspect In Double Slaying Admits Identity

GREEN ALLEN BROOKS, 82, DECLARES HE IS READY TO MEET FATE "IF THEY BREAK MY NECK OR TAKE MY HEAD OFF CLEAN"

BY GORDON WEBB
Journal Staff Writer

Green Allen Brooks, 82-year-old Virginia mountaineer, today is being returned to Virginia to meet "like a gentleman" whatever fate awaits him on a charge of murdering two officers.

"If they break my neck, take my head off clean at my shoulders, I'll die a gentleman," he told a reporter.

Electrocution is capital punishment in Virginia.

The erect, bearded man had contended his name was "J. H. Jones," that he knew nothing of the death of the two officers.

When Sheriff Robert F. Giles of Jonesville and Sheriff James W. Ridings of Pineville, Ky., confronted him here yesterday, Brooks told them, "Jones is the name."

Identity Is Admitted

Later he signed an extradition waiver, "J. H. Jones per G. A. Brooks," and today admitted he was the man sought.

Deputy Sheriff Arch Redmond and County Policeman Robert Bailey were slain as they were leaving Brooks' mountain home with Brooks' son-in-law, wanted in Pineville on a fugitive warrant.

Sheriffs Giles and Ridings and Deputy Sheriff J. S. Helton, Pineville, left at 10 o'clock on the return trip. They are traveling in an automobile.

Six Officers Killed

Sheriff Giles, who said six peace officers had been killed in his home county in the five years he has been in office, declared "it's harder on an officer who kills a man than on a man who kills an officer."

Sheriff Ridings, who has been active in trailing Brooks and who gave to Sheriff Tom Abel of Lubbock the tip which resulted in the arrest, said he feared reprisals if source of his information were learned.

"Two have been killed already, and there might be some more killings if they knew where I got my information," he said.

Has Many Relatives

Brooks, he said, has many relatives in Kentucky and Virginia.

A reward of $100 will be paid by Virginia for Brooks' arrest and conviction.

Hinting "there're many things to come out," Brooks declined to discuss the homicides.

He did say "about 15 minutes" separated the shootings, "and I was begging for peace."

"I'd love to tell you, but I can't; you're not the trying judge," said the 6-foot, 1-inch Brooks when pressed for details.

A news service had been informed Brooks, while a fugitive, had been preaching. He was asked if he were a preacher.

Denies Being Preacher

"You've gone crazy, ain't you?" he shot back. "A preacher! The [illegible] have mercy on me. Ain't you [illegible] to have men talk with sense with[illegible] being a preacher?"

He has "always been pious and [illegible] tended church and Sunday sch[illegible] regularly," but he is no preache[illegible] he declared.

He has been a Tennessee justice of the peace—"criminal judge," Brooks termed his office—and a school teacher.

He explained to Sheriff Abel, who arrested him here, why he had been using the name "J. H. Jones."

His mother, he said, died when he

INJURIES ARE FATAL TODAY FOR VICTIM

T. J. ALEXANDER DIES IN LUBBOCK; STRUCK BY CAR SUNDAY

T. J. Alexander, 77, Crosby county resident for about 17 years, died at 12:13 o'clock Monday morning of injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile within 200 yards of the Cap Rock school house 12 miles south of Ralls about 9 o'clock Sunday night.

After being taken to the office of Dr. W. C. Snow of Ralls by Mrs. Ralph Lewis of the Cap Rock community, he was rushed to a sanitarium in Lubbock for emergency treatment. After he was admitted about 10:15 o'clock last night, he died early this morning. He suffered head and chest injuries.

Had Attended Services

He had attended church services at the Cap Rock school house and had started to his farm home about two miles north. He was walking in the road when struck from behind by a light sedan occupied by Ed Lamb, about 20, "Red" McDuff, and a Miss Lewis, all of the Cap Rock community, it was reported. The accident, termed "unavoidable," probably was caused by decreased visibility due to a heavy dust storm, it was believed.

He was carried to Lubbock by an ambulance from Marr Funeral home of Ralls.

Funeral services for Alexander will be held Tuesday at Bellville, his former home and burial place of his wife who died about 40 years ago. Body will be shipped at 4:30 o'clock today, said Rix Funeral home.

He was survived by two sons, A. A. of Enochs, and T. H. of Ralls; two daughters, Mrs. George Cline of Crockett, and Mrs. W. E. Hunt of Lavita.

Lubbock Baby Wins In Child Contest

A winner in the Beautiful Child contest sponsored by the New York Sunday News is Wanece Lorine Bownds, 18-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gradie W. Bownds of 1825 Texas avenue.

She won a $25 prize and is eligible for the grand prize of $1,000 offered by the News. The winners are chosen on basis of pictures.

The baby has golden brown hair and hazel eyes.

LEAGUE BACKS COURT PLANS

LABOR GROUP SEEKING TO BRING PRESSURE UPON CONGRESS

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 8—Labor's Non-Partisan League set out today to bring pressure on congress in favor of the Roosevelt proposal to revamp the supreme court.

"The president has chosen this path—the only path—toward his humanitarian objectives," President George L. Berry told the league's national convention.

Must Follow Him

"It is up to those who supported him for reelection last fall to follow him now."

The meeting of the league, established last year to campaign for Mr. Roosevelt's reelection, opened a week which partisans of both sides predicted would bring debate on the court program to a new peak.

The president will follow up his Thursday's appeal for enlargement of the supreme court—if aged justices do not retire—with a "fireside chat" broadcast to the nation tomorrow at 10 p. m., Eastern standard time.

Farley To Speak

Postmaster General Farley will address the University of North Carolina political union tomorrow afternoon, and Attorney General Cummings will open senate hearings on the bill Wednesday.

League officials said every state and 2,000,000 union members were represented. Some farm organizations were invited to send observers.

The meeting brought together prominent members both of the American Federation of Labor and the Committee for Industrial Organization, despite the unrelenting struggle between those groups for

Big Manhunt Is In Full Cry As Assassin Flees

DISTRICT ATTORNEY BURON FITTS IS VICTIM LAST NIGHT; WOUNDED IN ARM WHEN NOVICE GUNMAN FAILS TO MAKE SURE OF HIS JOB

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, March 8.—District Attorney Buron Fitts, wounded in the arm by a "novice gunman" last night, lay behind guarded hospital doors today while a huge manhunt sprang into full cry for the assassin.

The 42-year-old Texas-born prosecutor was ambushed by a man in a black sedan, he said, as he drove the 200 yards from his ranch to his father's home along a country road in suburban Monrovia.

A bullet caromed off his left elbow and tore through the forearm muscles.

He Withstands Shock

"The district attorney has withstood the shock of the injury excellently," announced Dr. Ellis Jones after performing an operation.

Fitts, still under the effects of an anesthetic, gave a brief statement as he was wheeled from the surgery. He was turning out of his driveway into a public avenue, he said, when he suddenly saw the sedan parked back of a clump of bushes.

The car was dark but inside he could see the shadowy forms of "three or four men."

In For Trouble

"I knew I was in for trouble," he continued. "The ambush car moved alongside mine—the runningboards almost touching. A man leaned out of the sedan. There was a spurt of fire. A shot! My windshield was shattered and my left arm, which had been resting on the sill of the left front door, dropped helpless at my side.

"I am certain two shots were

QUAKE SHAKES CALIFORNIA

SHARPEST TREMOR FOR MANY YEARS IS FELT OVER WIDE AREA

(By The Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8—Residents of the San Francisco bay region were shaken from sleep by an earthquake at 2:32 a. m. today, which knocked articles from shelves and walls in Eastbay cities.

Officers at the Albany police station and the sheriff's office in Martines declared the movement was the sharpest they had felt since the 1906 San Francisco disaster.

Alarm Is Sounded

The quake started an Albany burglar alarm ringing and a radio station broadcast that a bank had been blown up.

Bottles on liquor store shelves were shaken to the floor and broken in an Albany store.

The shock was less severe in San Francisco, though the telephone company reported hundreds of calls by alarmed residents. Telephone exchanges were so badly swamped it sometimes took 15 minutes to complete a call.

Center Was Nearby

An attendant at the office of Dr. Perry Byerly, seismologist of the University of California, said the seismograph at Berkeley indicated the quake center was "within 20,

Three Persons Are Dead In Shooting

VIRDEN, N. M., Mar. 8. (AP)—A copper miner, his girl wife and her father were dead today and a coroner's jury decided they were victims of a double murder and suicide.

Twenty-three year old Paul Combs, the jury found, shot his wife, Evelyn, 17, and his father-in-law, Martin B. Echols 73, while infuriated over domestic troubles.

Sheriff John Cavin said he learned the shootings occurred a few hours after Combs' slim brunette wife of a year had taken their three months old baby girl and returned to her parents' home near here.

New "Miss Florida" Is A Chicago Girl

CORAL GABLES, Fla., March 8 (AP)—Maybe it's a sign of something or other, but the new "Miss Florida" is a Chicago girl.

Brown-haired Bonnie Edwards, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Edwards of Chicago, was selected for the title from 250 entrants in the Miami Biltmore's annual bathing beauty show yesterday.

Man Escapes Death In Train Accident

SAN ANTONIO, Mar. 8. (AP)—Earl Drury, mechanic, narrowly escaped death today when he was pinned in the wreckage of his automobile for 15 minutes after the car struck a Southern Pacific passenger train at a street crossing.

The injured man was extricated by firemen, a wrecker crew and members of the train crew.

The train was delayed 20 minutes.

YOUNG BANDIT TAKES CASH

THREATENS TO BLOW UP BUILDING WITH HIGH EXPLOSIVE

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, Mar. 8.—A young man who threatened to blow up the electric building carried out a bold holdup in the lobby of the Texas Electric Service company at 10:30 a. m. today and escaped with $300.

The robbery was so quickly and quietly consummated that others standing nearby did not know what had taken place until the man ran out and Mrs. Lottie Campbell, the victimized cashier, screamed for help.

The young man, about 25 or 30, and wearing amber glasses, walked to the center cage occupied by Mrs. Campbell and shoved a typewritten note under the grille. It read:

"This bottle contains nitro-glycerin. I don't care whether I die or not. Quietly give me all money or I will throw this bottle down. Keep still until I am out of store."

Hardeman Man Held In Sunday Slaying

QUANAH, March 8 (AP)—W. J. Johnson was held in the Hardeman county jail here today on a charge of murder with no bond set in connection with the Sunday slaying of Jim Reed while Mrs. Johnson lay near death in a Quanah hospital.

Witnesses said Johnson, who had been estranged from his wife for several months, shot Reed and Mrs. Johnson as they sat in a car outside a Quanah residence about 3 o'clock Sunday morning. The two shooting victims had just left a party.

Mary Astor Stages Party For Husband

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., March 8 (AP)—Fifty movie friends came, saw and were entertained by Mary Astor's Mexican bridegroom.

The 30-year-old actress held a "get acquainted" party at her home Sunday for youthful Manuel Martinez Del Campo. It was their first social appearance together since their elopement three weeks ago.

DEATH CLAIMS THREE HERE

LOCAL CITIZENS ARE CLAIMED; FUNERAL RITES ARRANGED

Mrs. J. O. Mullins, 58, died at the home of a daughter, Mrs. J. T. Alley of 1811 Seventeenth street, at 10 o'clock Sunday night after an illness of about 8 months.

Last rites will be read at the Calvary Baptist church at 4 o'clock today by Rev. C. J. McCarty, pastor. Burial will be in Memorial Park cemetery with Sanders Funeral home in charge.

Resident Here 21 Years

She had been a resident of Lubbock 21 years.

She was survived by two daughters, Mrs. Alley and Mrs. E. M. Elliott, also of Lubbock; and two sons, George Mullins of Plainview and J. O. Mullins, of Lubbock. A brother, Lee Ponder of Alexander, also survived.

Baby Boy Is Slain By Crazed Suitor

LONG BEACH, Calif., March 8 (AP)—A pretty theater usher, whose baby son was slain by bullets meant for her, wept inconsolably today at the tragedy caused by a crazed suitor.

The suitor, 23-year-old Walter Wengert, was dead. Detective Lieutenant C. E. Peterson said he fired a bullet through his head in a parking lot a few minutes after his pistol blasted out the life of 20-months-old Clyde Atherton, asleep in his crib.

A note, found at Wengert's side, indicated he had meant to kill Mrs. Ruther Atherton instead of her child, the detective said.

Rebels Today Open Up Another Attack

MADRID, Mar. 8. (AP)—Insurgents launched a sharp attack today on Almadrones, in the upper Guadalajara sector northeast of Madrid, apparently in an effort to encircle this besieged city from a new direction.

Gen. Josemiaja, supreme commander of the government forces in the Madrid area, said his troops were "resisting magnificently."

FIRE EXTINGUISHED

BIG SPRING, Mar. 8. (AP)—Fire at the Howard county refinery here which raged 17 hours had been extinguished today after causing damage estimated between $5,000 and $6,000. The blaze consumed more than 20,000 gallons of gasoline and destroyed two 500-barrel storage tanks. The refinery plant was threatened as winds whipped up the flames.

SIX ARE DEAD AFTER CRASH ON HIGHWAY

EIGHT OTHER PERSONS ARE IN HOSPITAL AFTER COLLISION

(By The Associated Press)

MONTERREY, Mexico, March 8.—Four Texans and two Mexicans were dead and eight persons were in a hospital here today after a car-truck crash on the Monterrey-Nuevo Laredo highway last night. The automobile carrying the Texans, collided with a parked truck, about 50 miles north of Monterrey, according to information here.

Dead were:
John Russell, about 42, Dallas.
Weldon Osborne, 25, Dallas.
Miss Katherine Gillespie, about 30, daughter of Mrs. N. K. Campbell, of McAllen.

Miss Madge Colburn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Colburn of Alamo.

Two Mexicans, occupants of the truck, whose names were not learned. Six on the truck were injured.

The known dead were passengers

FORMER TECH STUDENT

Weldon Osborne, a former Lubbock resident, was a letterman of the 1929 Matador football team, said Coach P. W. Cawthon.

Texas Technological college bulletins list Osborne's name in the student rosters for the fall session of 1929 and for the entire 1930-1931 term. In 1930 he was identified as a freshman student in the engineering school.

Coach Cawthon said he believed that Osborne went from Lubbock to Santa Fe, N. M. He was a Matador tackle in 1930.

REMISSION OF TAXES ASKED

FIRST OKAY IS GIVEN PLAN FOR AIDING OF TEXAS COUNTIES

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 8—The house of representatives stamped preliminary approval today on a bill which would remit state ad valorem taxes for general revenue purposes to all counties for five years.

Proponents argued the measure, engrossed 68 to 54 was justified in view of many special remissions, while opponents said the state could not afford to lose the estimated $8,500,000 revenue.

Bill Is Killed

The senate killed a bill authorizing guardians to make certain insurance premium payments on behalf of wards after critics asserted more safeguards were needed.

It received a report from an investigating committee recommending making the state superintendent of public instruction an appointive, instead of elective, officer, as well as a number of other changes in school laws.

VAN DYKE IS HARD WORKING CUPID OF FILMS

(By The Associated Press)

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., March 8—A romantic motion picture team can't be very convincing unless the party of the first part likes the party of the second part pretty well, and vice versa, in the opinion of W. S. "One-Take" Van Dyke.

Van Dyke

Van Dyke, film director, is one of Hollywood's hardest-working Cupids—for professional reasons, of course.

"In matching a romantic team," Van Dyke said today "it's necessary to have people who work smoothly together, who really like one another and attract one another."

MOTOR PLANTS ARE CLOSED

PRODUCTION AT FLINT HALTED TODAY BY LABOR DISPUTE

(By The Associated Press)

FLINT, Mich., Mar. 8.—A strike in the motor assembly division of the Chevrolet Motor Co. closed four plants this morning, affecting 6,400 men. Eight thousand men continued at work.

The company said the strike was confined to plant No. 4, where motors are assembled, but that plants

DEPARTMENTS CLOSED

DETROIT, March 8 (AP)—A sit-down strike affecting 3,500 of the 10,000 employes of the Hudson Motor Car Co. closed several departments of the plant shortly after noon today.

Nos. 5, 8 and 9 were closed because their operations are dependent upon production in No. 4.

Conference Arranged

A conference between representatives of the United Automobile Workers of America and Arnold Lenz, Flint area manager for Chevrolet, was arranged to discuss grievances which caused a brief strike Saturday night.

Between 400 and 600 men still were in plant No. 4 at 10 a. m. They did not barricade the plant, the usual procedure in a sit-down strike, after the company announced no attempt would be made to eject them or to resume production pending the outcome of negotiations.

Continuation Of Dispute

Harry Coen, assistant manufacturing manager, said the strike was a continuation of a dispute which started Saturday over the com-

Tax Office Being Opened In Slaton

SLATON, Mar. 8. (Special)—An office will be opened here today with Harvey Austin, deputy tax assessor-collector of Lubbock county, in charge for payment of automobile registrations.

The office will be in the City hall.

Purpose of the office is for convenience of automobile owners of Slaton, it was pointed out. An estimated 900 car owners will register automobiles at the office before end of the month, close of the vehicle registration period.

At noon today a total of 501 passenger cars had been registered at the office of Lubbock county tax collector.

House Leaders Ask Work Continuation

WASHINGTON, Mar. 8. (AP)—A group of house Democrats urged today continuance of federal work relief as an attack on unemployment.

"It must be a principle of American government that every citizen who is able and willing to work shall have work," said a statement signed by 16 Democratic representatives.

Spring Styles Will Be Displayed Here

ANNUAL UNVEILING OF STORE WINDOWS IS SET TONIGHT

Dame Fashion will don her finest tonight and will show Lubbock women what they will wear this spring.

Annual spring window unveiling of Lubbock stores will be held at 8 o'clock, to the accompaniment of music.

The unveiling, to which all Lubbock residents are invited, is an event set aside each year when the new and fashionable spring clothing received by each store may be seen.

Variety To Be Shown

Not only will feminine clothing be shown. Apparel for the man, school boys and misses, and small tots will be shown, in practical as well as solely fashionable materials, cuts, and colors.

The Texas Technological college and Lubbock High school bands will play.

"Bust defined; waist confined; hip streamlined"—That may be applied to the feminine spring apparel, the manager of the women's department in a local store said.

The "hour glass" figure will be given by full sleeves, small waistline, and full skirt.

It's just a matter of preference, however. Skirts with slender lines

Man Pleads Guilty To Get Two Years

Waiving trial by jury and pleading guilty of embezzlement, Antonio Lopez received a 2-year sentence from Judge E. L. Pitts of 99th district court Monday morning.

A similar complaint against Opal Jasper was dismissed on motion of District Attorney Bprton S. Burks, who said that the woman was necessary as a state's witness in the case.

Case of Ernest Dominguez, charged with driving while intoxicated, was to be called for trial at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, said District Attorney Burks.

KILLED BY TRAIN

CORSICANA, Mar. 8. (AP)—E. L. Carson, 48, was killed instantly at 10 a. m., today when struck by a northbound Houston and Texas Central freight train at a crossing in Wortham. Carson, a deaf mute, is thought to have failed to see the train and was killed as he walked across the tracks.

MATTSON CASE AT DEAD END

LIKELY TO BE LISTED AMONG THE UNSOLVED CRIMES OF NATION

Betrothal Of Miss Myrtle Porter And G. P. Cunningham Is Announced Sunday

Couple Is To Wed Here On March 21

Mrs. E. Porter, 2409 Fifteenth street, and Mrs. C. M. Sparkman of Littlefield entertained Sunday afternoon with a tea in the F. R. Friend residence, 2005 Broadway, announcing the approaching marriage of their daughter and sister, Miss Myrtle Porter, and G. P. Cunningham of El Paso.

The ceremony will take place on Sunday, March 21, at the First Methodist church. A series of parties is to be given for the honoree, who is a popular young business woman of the city. The couple will be at home here.

Mrs. Sparkman greeted guests. Her mother and the bride-elect were other members of the receiving line. Little Sammie Jane Battin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Battin of Littlefield, presented guests with corsages of sweet peas bearing engraved cards telling of the engagement, which were placed in an arm basket. She was dressed as a miniature bride.

Presides At Register

Miss Myrtle Ewell presided at the register, which was placed on a table bearing a tall vase of pink rosebuds.

The refreshment table was laid with a lace cloth and centered by a bouquet of lavender and pink sweet peas in a silver bowl. Tall pink candles in silver holders lighted each end. Mrs. Ethridge W. Eagan and Mrs. Wright Kerr presided over the silver service.

Others in the house party were Misses Halcyon Campbell and Ruth E. Ford and Mrs. Sherrill Boyd.

The honoree wore a black chiffon afternoon dress with corsage of white rosebuds.

About seventy-five guests called between 4 and 5 o'clock.

JAPAN STARTS NEW POLICY

NEW DEAL FOR CHINA IS BEING PROMISED BY STATESMEN

TOKYO, Mar. 8. (AP)—Japan disavowed any intention of territorial aggression in China today and pledged herself to a new policy built on a keystone of "equality" in dealing with her great continental neighbor.

Foreign Minister Naotake Sato launched Japan on the "new deal" for China to the cheers of a parliament stirred by his announcement.

Must Abandon Complex

Japan, he declared, must abandon her superiority complex in order ever to readjust her long-strained relations with China.

On that principle of "a fresh start on the basis of equality," he asserted he would build the policy of Japan's foreign office which he has just taken over.

Newspapers throughout the empire displayed Sato's speech under scare headlines as heralding a turning point in Sino-Japanese relations.

Has No Ambitions

"Japan has no territorial ambitions in China," Sato stressed, labelling as "imaginary" any fear Japan intended to "go beyond the great wall and extend its influence to Central or South China."

"Japan respects Chinese interests and wishes to shake hands with them economically," he declared. "That is the only way Japan can expand there."

Sato, who resigned as ambassador to France to accept the foreign affairs post in the compromise cabinet of Senjuro Hayashi, indicated the new policy was dictated by economic necessity.

Aside from the fact that Japan's former policy of infiltration in China has not worked out, Sato said Japan's attitude had caused unsatisfactory relations with other world powers.

Vocational Shows Aided By Tech Men

Vocational agriculture divisions of fat stock shows in Amarillo and San Angelo are being supervised today by O. T. Ryan of Lubbock, vocational agriculture supervisor of this area, and Ray L. Chappelle, head professor of agriculture education at Texas Technological college, respectively.

Four Tech trainees of vocational agriculture accompanied each official to assist in contests.

P. G. Haines of Austin, state director of vocational agriculture, was to accompany one of the local men and will return here to spend a few days. Haines arrived here the latter part of last week on an inspection trip.

WALLY SEEKS NEW PLACE OF REFUGE TODAY

CANNES, France, March 8 (AP)—Wallis Warfield Simpson, accompanied by her host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Herman L. Rogers, left Cannes today for what was reported reliably to be a two-months' visit to Tours, in eastern central France.

The party left the villa Lou Viei in two cars. Their baggage had been put aboard a train three hours earlier.

Servants remaining behind at the villa denied Mrs. Simpson and the Rogerses had left for Tours, insisting the three friends had gone to nearby Cannes country club for a game of golf.

Attendants at the golf club reported, however, that the course was deserted because of heavy rain.

Mrs. Simpson and the Rogerses were expected to travel by way of Toulouse, possibly staying there tonight. They probably will reach Tours tomorrow, it was said.

During the absence of the party from Cannes, the villa will undergo some repairs, reliable reports said.

Household Helps

Try following a red and green color scheme in your meal. Tomato juice, red cherries, cranberry juice—or other fruit juices colored red with fruit coloring—make good cocktails. Beets, spinach, green beans, asparagus, broccoli or kale may be used as the vegetables. Salmon, pork tenderloin or chicken, any of them garnished with pimientos, may be served as the main course. Cherry, raspberry or strawberry gelatin desserts make an appetizing last course.

Veal requires longer cooking than beef because it has less fat and more connective tissue. Additional seasonings—such as chopped celery, onions and parsley placed over the top during its baking—improve the flavor. Beef, lamb and pork, however, require only salt and pepper for seasoning.

Dogs having access to the house should be kept thoroughly clean and free from fleas. Serious damage may be done if fleas enter rugs or upholstered furniture.

Holtkort-McCarley Marriage Is Told

Announcement was made this morning of the marriage of Miss Geraldine McCarley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. McCarley of Longfellow, and A. J. Holtkort, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Holtkort, 2201 Eighth street, which took place February 26 in the Big Spring Baptist church with the Rev. Dick O'Brien, pastor, officiating.

Several friends and relatives of the couple attended the ceremony.

Mrs. Holtkort was graduated from the Colorado High school in 1933 and attended Texas Technological college for two years. She is teaching school at Buford this term.

Mr. Holtkort is a graduate of Lubbock High school. He is a senior student at Texas Tech college, planning to receive his degree in the summer.

After the close of school, the couple will be at home at a residence at 305 Avenue V, a gift of the bridegroom's father.

Mrs. Robert Womack Named Honoree

LORENZO, March 8 (Special)—Mrs. Robert Womack, who was Miss Rosa Lee Rankin of this city prior to her marriage before Christmas, was honored at a party given in Lorenzo Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Frank Terrell and Miss Alberta Gerlach in the home of the former hostess.

Preceding the presentation of a gift shower made by Mrs. W. P. Fullingim, Mrs. A. W. Lott and Miss Madelle Gerlach sang "An Old-Fashioned Garden" and "You're Just a Flower From An Old Bouquet."

A St. Patrick's motif was featured in refreshments.

Guests were the honoree's mother, Mrs. J. M. Rankin of Abernathy, and Mesdames Lott, Frank Hughes, M. Fitzhugh, Fullingim, Irl Robertson, Jim Duncan, Kelton Anderson, L. M. Laird, Oscar Thornton, R. J. O'Rear, John Huckaby and Misses Gerlach and Ethel Herrington.

Florence Read Study Club Will Meet

Members of the Florence Read study club of the Order of the Eastern Star will attend an all-day meeting Tuesday at the Masonic hall. A covered dish luncheon will be served at noon. The group will gather at 10 o'clock for study.

Birthday Dinner Is Surprise Honor

As a surprise courtesy to her daughter, Mrs. C. A. McDonald, on her birthday, Mrs. W. R. Graves, 1415 Avenue D, entertained with a birthday dinner Sunday. Mrs. O. C. Graves, another daughter, and her family, of Clovis, N. M., were guests.

Hour For Lecture Is To Be Earlier

Because of the Tony Sarg's puppet show at 8 o'clock tonight, the lecture meeting of the American Association of University Women has been changed to 7 o'clock, Miss Margaret W. Weeks, president, said this morning. Dr. R. S. Underwood will lecture on "Adventures in Astronomy" in the home economics building at Texas Technological college. This is to be a popular talk and husbands of members and others interested will attend the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Gill Moss of Amarillo visited friends in Lubbock this week-end.

QUIET YOUR NERVES

MOST women at some period of their lives suffer from nervousness, sideache, backache and pains due to functional disturbances. They need a tonic like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Also the prospective mother will find it a beneficial tonic, which stimulates the appetite. Mrs. Nettie Caldwell of 814 Garland Ave., Hot Springs, Ark., said: "I was feeling tired, nervous and weak and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription taken as a tonic helped to make me feel much better. It gave me a fine appetite and thus helped to give me more energy."

Romantic Flower Used As Hat Trim

Since romance is the dominant theme in spring fashions, designers are making ultra-feminine hats. Howard Hodge makes this flat sailor of navy blue straw (with a crown extending below the brim in a cap shape) and trims it with one snowy gardenia tacked to the undercrown. The navy blue suit is trimmed n dark blue and white checked taffeta.

Another Duster Is Noted Here Sunday

Dust, boosted along by a cold north wind, settled over Lubbock and the South Plains Sunday afternoon, spoiling what otherwise was expected to be a perfect spring Sunday.

Maximum temperature Sunday, as reported by the state experiment sub-station, was 66 degrees. The minimum in the morning was 33 degrees.

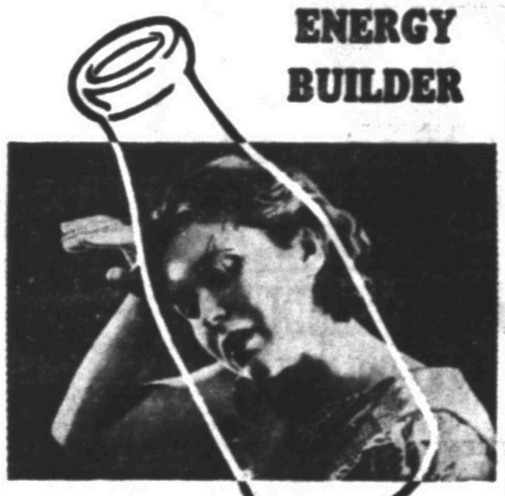

Minimum this morning was 36 degrees.

Mrs. Charles C. Watson returned Sunday from Houston, where she spent a week as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Balzer, former Lubbock residents.

SCHOOL PLANS ARE TALKED

PROPOSAL IS OFFERED FOR APPOINTING OF STATE'S LEADER

AUSTIN, March 8 (AP)—A majority of a special senate committee on education recommended today that the state superintendent of public instruction be appointed instead of elected.

The group, named by the last legislature to study school administration generally, reported it had found "rank dissension" between the state board of education and the department of education.

Would Define Duties

It recommended that the legislature "define the relative duties and rights" between the board and the department and added it regretted to report that "open friction" had arisen between the two divisions.

Sens. Claude Isbell of Rockwall and Gordon Burns of Huntsville did not join with Sens. Clay Cotten of Palestine, Olan R. Van Zandt of Tioga and Wilbourne D. Collie of Eastland in the recommendation concerning the superintendent.

The committee recommended also that administration of the rural aid or equalization fund, which was $10,000,000 for the current biennium, be switched from the department to the board.

Reasons Are Given

"Instead of this fund becoming an equalization fund to grant equal opportunities," the report read, "it appears to have been operated in some instances of actually forcing unequal opportunities, and permitting grab bag policies, actually encouraging expenditures of public funds on the part of certain schools in order for them to become eligible for aid."

It said the legislature had failed to give the board of education the power granted it by the constitution and that placing rural aid supervision under the board would make for a "higher degree of efficiency."

The committee also suggested legislation which would deny per capita apportionment to school districts becoming delinquent in their obligations to the permanent school fund unless they levied a 50-cent tax for serving their indebtedness.

Dr. Jack Lewis Is Back With Church

Return to his pulpit Sunday by Rev. Dr. Jack M. Lewis, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, after a long illness, was marked by a record crowd. The auditorium was filled to overflowing at the morning service.

On advice of his physician, Dr. Lewis is preaching only one sermon on Sunday for the present. He also is declining other speaking engagements.

The church has named James A. Pressley as general manager, to handle some details of the church work.

WOODUL FIRST HONORARY MEMBER

Lieutenant Governor Walter F. Woodul became the first honorary member of the West Texas Museum association when he paid a $25 fee to Mrs. W. A. Jackson of the membership committee at the eighth annual meeting of the association in the museum's first $25,000 unit Friday afternoon.

He formally presented the museum to the association and Texas Technological college in the afternoon session and later spoke on Texas Centennial Celebrations" at the evening meeting in Horn hall.

Dr. C. J. Wagner, vice-president of the association, obtained the first life membership of $100. Clifford Jones of Spur, president of the board of directors of Texas Technological college, purchased the second life membership.

TONY SARG'S MARIONETTES WILL BE OFFERED TO AUDIENCE HERE TONIGHT

Puppet versions of "The Mikado", operetta by Gilbert and Sullivan, and of "Alice in Wonderland", popular story book, will be presented by Tony Sarg's marionettes at 8 o'clock tonight in Senior High school auditorium, under auspices of the Texas Technological college artist course.

Episodes from plays given in other years were to be presented by the marionettes at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in the auditorium. Mark Twain's characters, Sinbad the Sailor, Rip Van Winkle and other familiar American story book characters, including animals, are characters in the matinee performance.

The play, "The Mikado", will take place in a Japanese setting. One act is set at the official residence of Koko, Lord High Executioner, and one in the garden of Koko's town house. Principal characters will be Nanki Poo, a wandering minstrel; Pooh Bah, lord; three little maids; Mikado, ruler of Japan; and Katisha, an elderly lady of the court. Various other Japanese characters will appear.

"Alice in Wonderland", in five scenes, will bring to life Alice, the King and Queen of Hearts, the white rabbit, Cheshire cat, Mad Hatter, March Hare, and other characters of the book.

Although the plays are enacted on a stage 27 inches wide and 10 feet long, illusion of lifelike size of puppets and staging is given since everything is made to scale.

Tony Sarg marionettes have appeared before Lubbock audiences for several years, under auspices of the artist course.

General admission price tonight will be 50 cents, and reserved seats, $1.

Drilling Of Wells To Start Thursday

Drilling of three wells, the first work to be done by the city of Plainview in its $100,000 expansion of waterworks system, is to begin Thursday, March 11, when L. A. Peebles, Idalou driller, gets under way, Harry N. Roberts, Lubbock, a municipal engineer and engineer for Plainview, said this morning.

It will take about six weeks for the wells to be completed and accepted by the city, the time depending on delays.

Construction of the remainder of the extensions will not start until the wells are accepted and approved. Panhandle Construction Co. of Lubbock has the general contract. It includes a reservoir, mains, etc.

Large Engineering Division Reported

The division of engineering, Texas Technological college, has 610 men enrolled in its various classes, the largest number ever known in the division, President Bradford Knapp reports.

Latest enrollment reports from the office of Registrar W. P. Clement, includes the following: mechanical engineering, 119; industrial, 116; electrical, 114; chemical, 76; architectural, 76; geological, 76; civil, 70 and textile, 61.

Largest previous enrollment in the division was in 1929-30, when there were 498 enrolled, Dean O. V. Adams reported. Last year there were 489 enrolled.

TEXAS TECH GRADUATES TO BE GIVEN TRAINING FOR JOBS WITH BIG FIRM

Two 1936 graduates of the division of engineering of Texas Technological college, "and four if I can have my way," will be given an opportunity to be among the 500 engineers given special training by the General Electric company of Schenectady, N. Y.

This was the statement Saturday night of L. T. Blaisdell, Dallas, recently promoted to a vice presidency of the company, following a day spent at the local school. He was here for the purpose of interviewing seniors in the division of engineering. From among those he interviewed will be selected the two men.

Fifty To Be Chosen

Fifty seniors are to be chosen from Southwestern universities with engineering work. "The most are from Texas," Mr. Blaisdell explained. These include Texas A. & M.; University of Texas; Rice Institute, Houston, and Texas Technological college. There will be several men from Oklahoma, New Mexico, Louisiana and other states.

Some years ago General Electric began the training of men for its technical staff by taking engineering graduates from schools and giving them special courses. Up to about 1931 the plan had averaged from 400 to 600 a year, from 100 colleges. In 1932 there were no men selected; in 1933, ten; in 1934 and 1935, about 50 men; in 1936, 300.

Increase Expected

"For this year we first planned 400 men; now it looks like 500 and there may be a thousand, if things go on as they seem to be going," Mr. Blaisdell explained.

"One of our own men, Mr. P. J. Minter, whom we selected last year, is already making good."

The company has need of many technical trained men, he said. For this reason the plan of selecting key college men was devised. They are given the necessary training and if they develop, are used by the company in its varied engineering departments.

Husband Shot

Marriage which began when she was 14 came to a tragic climax for Mrs. Susana Lara, above, 18, when she shot and seriously wounded her husband, Jesse, 29, in their Toledo, O., home after he accused her of "running around with other men." Mrs. Lara told police she fired through the bedroom door after she had locked herself in to escape her husband.

Local Peach Tree Now Blooming Here

A peach tree in the back yard of Mr. and Mrs. George Berry, 1631 Broadway, bloomed Sunday.

As far as had been reported to C. E. Russell, horticulturalist and head of the department of plant industry at Texas Technological college, no previous reports of blooms had been made.

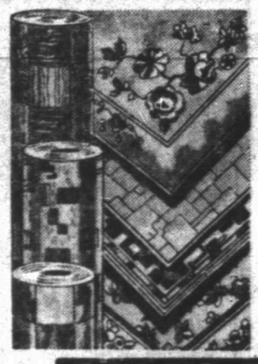

In the Tech orchard Friday, he said, buds were considerably swollen. No blooms were observed.

No damage from frost or cold weather to buds has been reported, Mr. Russell said. Unless the weather becomes very cold, below freezing, little damage is expected.

People who take pride in their appearance have preferred rimless eyewear for years. The only drawback to the old style rimless mounting was its fragility. And now Loxit, the modern rimless mounting, has eliminated that. Instead of a screw, Loxit uses a formed metal plug. In assembly this plug is melted and forced into the mounting.

Consult your oculist for a thorough examination and advice in regard to your eyes. If glasses are prescribed then let us show you how graceful and attractive the rugged rimless eyewear can be.

SMU AND ARKANSAS DOMINATE ALL-SOUTHWEST TEAM

RICE STAR IS FIFTH MAN SELECTED

VETERANS BOW OUT TO MAKE ROOM FOR TWO FIRST-YEAR MEN

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT

DALLAS, Mar. 8. (AP)—Both reasons for Southern Methodist's amazing pennant drive—Sophomores Bill Dewell and J. D. Norton—had one leg today on a possible three-year stretch on the Associated Press' All-Southwest conference basketball five.

Veterans bowed out right and left to make room for the first year pair on an official team selected by the seven coaches. It included two Arkansas goalers and a Rice Institute standout.

Lockard Other Forward

Norton shared the forward posts with Don Lockard of Arkansas; Dewell breezed in at center and Jack Robbins, Arkansas' grid idol, and Willis Orr, Rice, were stationed at the guards.

Offensive strength dominated the selection, all but Orr finishing in the first dozen high scorers of the circuit. Lockard, with his fine average of 13.2 points per game over the 12-game schedule, led the league while Norton, with 126 points, landed the runner-up spot. Dewell's 96 points placed him fourth and Robbins, with 72 markers, was the second highest scoring guard.

Norton, who with Dewell, scored two-thirds of the points that brought the Methodists in a winner, was the year's sensation. Known to be quite a basket shark in his home village of Purdon, he came to S. M. U. unheralded and in his first year of varsity competition set a conference record for consecutive free throws at 18.

Lands In Second Place

Lockard's goaling pulled them out of mid-season slump and landed them in second place. He roped 66 field goals and 27 foul line tosses for a 159 point total.

Best ball "hustler" in the circuit was Dewell, an untiring worker around the enemy backboard and a crack shot himself.

Ordinarily Rice's best center, Orr was shifted to a guard when Dewell's six votes cinched that spot for him.

Robbins, Arkansas' "running" and offensive guard, who clung to enemy forwards like a wet lisle bathing suit, also found time to average six points per game.

He barely beat out Henry Clifton, Texas' great guard, who went to the second team with Benjamin (Jelly) Sorelle of Baylor as his running mate there. Capt. Ed Lee of Texas A. and M., and Bill Blanton, Southern Methodist's steady forward, who was the third reason S. M. U. won its first title, earned the forward spots and Wilson White, Baylor's rangy scoring shark who finished with 94 tallies, was placed at center.

BOWLERS PLAN FOR TOURNEY

THOUSANDS WILL GET INTO ACTION WHEN PLAY IS STARTED

NEW YORK, March 8 (AP)—New Yorkers who think of bowling only in connection with the Bowling Green subway station and of an alley as a queer name for a little side street, get a chance to see how big the sport has become when the 37th annual American Bowling Congress tournament comes to town Wednesday.

Although the A. B. C. originated here in 1895, the big tournament never has been held here. And somehow the game usually is associated with that little fenced-in plot of grass down near the battery and with memories of Rip Van Winkle and the little men playing nine-pins high in the Catskills.

Plenty Of Action

The fans and the curious who turn out during the 56 days of the tournament, which opens at the 22th anti-aircraft armory at 8:30 Wednesday night, can see how far the game has progressed from such beginnings.

After Mayor F. H. La Guardia rolls the first ball down the alley, pins will be crashing from nine in the morning daily until May 4. There will be 28 alleys in action; approximately 22,000 bowlers competing in three divisions and the spectator attendance is expected to go far above the record of 55,994 established at Syracuse two years ago.

The official entry list shows 4,106 five-man teams, 5,881 doubles combinations and 11,773 singles bowlers—a record in every division. Entry fees total $217,350 and the contestants will get $145,000 in prize money.

San Romani Looms As New King Of The Milers

SPORTORIALS

by COLLIER PARRIS

Copyright, 1937

VERY INTERESTING stories in some of our "exchanges" last week. . . . particularly in the Littlefield and Sudan papers. . . . They're getting the baseball fever over there, but seriously. . . . Amherst, too, has been sowing diamond seeds . . . Rumor hath it that Lamesa, once a baseball power in this section, is about to wake up and sing the old theme song. . . .

Littlefield, which has been out of the picture for several seasons, plans to construct a new park and go in for baseball on a larger scale than ever. . . . A meeting of Littlefield enthusiasts was held last Friday night, and a finance plan discussed. . . . Business men, it is believed, will purchase stock or otherwise "contribute" to the park and team fund. . . . Several already have promised amounts ranging from ten bucks to twenty-five. . . . One business man there is reported to have offered to build a park for a percentage of gate receipts. . . . Amount of the "rake-off" was not mentioned, but if it isn't too much, sounds like a good trade. . . . Nobody in Lubbock ever offered to do that. . . .

Sudan, which wound up with a nice ball club last season, plans to start strong this spring. . . . Amherst, which practically paid out a new ball park last summer, has purchased a bunch of new equipment for this year, and is busy lining up ball players. . . . Littlefield and Sudan, of course, have the same ideas. . . . Lubbock had best get busy if it wants its share of the section's leading players. . . .

Speaking of Littlefield reminds that recently there came a letter from Dick Ratliff, the veteran catcher who used to work behind Littlefield's gun when the Mueller boys, Simmons and the rest of that gang were tough for anybody to handle. . . . Dick is employed by an oil company and works out of Monument, N. M. . . . He wants to get back in baseball. . . . Served a hitch in minor league ball, after a tryout in the Texas League some years ago, and has played for nearly every club hereabouts. . . . One of the best catchers that ever "went up" from these bushes. . . . Dick would like to settle here if he could line up a job that would let him play baseball. . . . Also would like to manage a good club. . . .

Final meeting of the proposed West Texas league organizers and followers, originally scheduled for yesterday at Midland, was postponed until next Sunday. . . . Haven't heard much about that circuit since the Cavern session. A prediction is that when the showdown comes next Sunday at Midland, not more than three towns will be ready to put up the necessary dough and declare themselves definitely ready. . . .

CONGRATULATIONS to the Slaton Oilers, that independent team which qualified for the national AAU tournament by winning the state AAU joust at Dallas Saturday night. . . . Sponsored originally by the West Texas Cotton Oil Mill company of Slaton but carrying the banner of the Slaton Chamber of Commerce at the Dallas affair, the Oilers impressed everybody with (1) their basketball ability and (2) their flow of language. . . .

The Oilers, in their original lineup, were able to go through a pretty tough schedule in these parts without defeat. . . . At Dallas they were reinforced by three senior members of the Texas Tech team and by a former Tech captain and star, Wilson Gilmore, the assistant grid coach and head cage coach at Vernon High school. . . . Gilmore was the offensive star of the final game in which the ex-Tech lads downed a Dallas club made up largely of stars off the Southern Methodist university club. . . .

Except for Jim Neely, former Hardin-Simmons star and present coach at Slaton High, well known here as a basketball official, the Slaton team was made up of former Tech players. . . . Alvin Crews and Gilmore played together on two of Tech's Border conference championship teams. . . . Leroy Crews and Hugh Snodgrass played on Tech's 1935 championship club and for two succeeding seasons. . . . So you might call it a Border conference club. . . .

Some time ago this dept. made bold to suggest that the brand of basketball played in the Border conference was several steps ahead of Southwest loop basketball. . . . And offered the guess that a post-season meeting, while possibly interesting, would result in a one-sided victory for the Western team. . . . We intended to add that a climax to such a series would be a game between the winner and the Hardin-Simmons university Cowboys, probably the best college team in the state and Southwest. . . .

After winning 16 straights, the Cowboys dropped a second round game in the Dallas tourney to the Texas Tech exes. . . . In the semi-finals, the Oilers put away the Hamilton Motors club of Dallas, on which three members of the championship Southern Methodist university team starred. . . . Dewell, Blanton and Norton, the Mustang sensations in the recent pennant drive, were with the Hamilton team . . . Get the idea?

WINS VICTORY IN CLASSIC SATURDAY

BIG THRILL IS GIVEN TO RACING FANS IN BANKER'S MILE

BY WILLIAM WEEKES

CHICAGO, March 8 (AP) — Little Archie San Romani appears a cinch to succeed Glenn Cunningham as king of the American mile runners.

The latest demonstration by the frail-appearing youngster from Kansas State Teachers college at Emporia, came Saturday night and was nothing less than a surprising triumph over Cunningham in the Banker's mile.

Offers Big Thrill

He gave a capacity crowd of 8,000 its biggest foot racing thrill since Joie Ray's day.

The time, 4 minutes, 21 seconds was far from spectacular, but it was excellent for the tour over a slow, new dirt track in the international amphitheater.

After Blaine Rideout of the North Texas Teachers had set a crazy pace for nearly four laps, San Romani, Cunningham and slender Gene Venzke moved out in a body. A lap later San Romani started pouring it on, with Cunningham and Venzke still at his heels.

Cunningham Opens Up

Cunningham opened up at the start of the final lap and had moved up to the other Kansan's shoulder with a half lap to go. He got no farther for San Romani let out another peg, and finished two yards in front, with Venzke about five yards back of Cunningham and Rideout far in the ruck.

Don Lash and his Indiana teammates, Tommy Deckard and Jimmy Smith, finished in that order in the two mile, with the other Rideout twin, Wayne, a not-very-threatening fourth.

Final Racing Lap Starts In Florida

MIAMI, Fla., March 8 (AP)—The bangtails started the final 24-day lap of Florida's turf season at Tropical park today, the racing scene shifting from swanky Hialeah park.

Hialeah's 46-day meeting ended in record style Saturday when the filly Columbiana won the Widener challenge cup and $52,000 for Owner W. J. (Buddy) Hirsch, equalling the track record of 2:01 4-5 for the mile and a quarter.

Variety Of Game At Field Trials

DOGS BAG EVERYTHING FROM DEER TO SKUNKS BUT NO QUAIL AS FIRST DAY IS CLOSED

FORT SILL, Okla., March 8. (AP)—It isn't known whether the 20 bird dogs or the 67 deer were more surprised today as the sixteenth annual running of the Oklahoma amateur field trials went into its second day—but the quail definitely were not.

For the day's score when 20 of the ranking dogs of Oklahoma, Texas, Missouri and some from Arkansas sniffed over a section of this 60,000-acre federal reservation was:

Quail 0.
Deer 67.
Rabbits 46.
And one skunk.

Dry Weather Blamed

Dry weather was blamed for the lack of birds by Lee Kneedler, Byers, Okla., veteran dog fancier.

"The quail are here," he said. "But we don't know where to look for them. In dry weather, they desert their usual places and it's hard telling where a covey is likely to be."

It wasn't any trick for the dogs to find the deer. Officers at the army post located on the reservation said there were about 200 deer roaming the place. They are protected and quite tame.

The 20 dogs who worked were entered in the all age stake. About 70 dogs are here for the trials which continue through Wednesday.

One Gets Skunk

Beating down through the brush, the dogs invariably brought out a deer.

One dog, however, did not come back empty-mouthed.

Spunky Creek Delphi, owned by Mrs. Nina Billingslea of Catoosa, Okla., came upon a skunk, and much to the consternation of handlers and judges, bagged it.

"Anyhow," said Mrs. Billingslea, "he ran a good race.

"He got more than anybody else."

TROPHY GIVEN DALLAS STAR

McGONAGILL WINS IN GALVESTON TOURNEY OVER DICK NAUTS

GALVESTON, March 8 (AP)—Jimmie McGonagill of Dallas today displayed another golf trophy — emblematic of the championship of the second annual Galveston invitation tournament.

Playing consistent golf throughout, the Dallasite scored an impressive 7 and 6 victory over Dick Nauts of Houston in the 36-hole final match yesterday.

McGonagill shot a 74 in the morning round to take a six up lead and despite a strong comeback by Nauts closed the match on the 30th green.

The Houston player's downfall was attributed mainly to an unruly putter.

TOURNEY IS SET

ROSWELL, N. M., March 8—Boxers and wrestlers from several New Mexico and West Texas colleges and possibly from one or two in Arizona will meet here next Friday and Saturday, March 12-13, in New Mexico Military Institute's sixth annual invitational tournament. The cadets are defending champions in boxing and the West Texas State Teachers college Buffaloes in wrestling.

A "SWITCH-FIELDER"

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 8 (AP)—Manager Steve O'Neill, of the Cleveland Indians, said today he would encourage Roy Wetherly, hard-hitting diminutive outfielder, to work out in the infield. Weatherly played both second and third base positions before graduating to the majors. O'Neill said he needs a reliable hitter as a reserve infielder.

DuPont Horses Win Big Part Of Purses

LOS ANGELES, March 8 (AP)—The millionaire William Du Pont's string of race horses, headed by the great Rosemont, ran away with the biggest portion of purse money offered at the Santa Anita park 1936-37 meeting.

Rosemont's victory in the $100,000 added Santa Anita handicap and $7,500 San Antonio handicap, Fairy Hill's win in the $50,000 added Santa Anita derby, Supremist's win in the $1,000 maiden event enriched the Du Pont Foxcatcher farm to the extent of $146,125.

The runner-up amount went to the C. S. Howard stable, of which Seabiscuit is the star. The winnings totaled $37,370.

CLARK GRIFFITH BAD NEWS TO BASEBALL SCHOOL HEADS

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

SARASOTA, Fla., Mar. 8. (AP)—Clark Griffith of the Senators is bad news to operators of baseball schools . . . He has opened a new one at Sanford with Professors Joe Engel and Zinn Beck in charge . . . Griff figures he'll get most of the biz because tuition at his joint will be free . . . All the lads have to do is get there and find a way to eat once in a while . . . Griff and his specialists do the rest . . . Charlie Dressen, manager of the Reds, always wears No. 7 on his uniform and will not sleep in a pullman unless he gets lowers 7 . . . Most managers use a drawing room on the road . . . Messrs Kelley and Cohen pal around together in the camp of the Washington Senators . . . Stu Martin may be made into a first sacker by the Cardinals.

Cincinnati squad at Tampa numbers 50 and is far and away the largest in Florida . . . Col. Frank Grayson of the Cincinnati Times-Star says it is the best looking bunch of Reds he has seen in 11 years . . . Mickey Cochrane bet Tom Yawkey a $100 suit he would catch 90 games for the Tigers this year . . . They say Paul Dean is too fat and getting no thinner rapidly . . . If Lou Gehrig and Joe DiMaggio aren't signed by the end of the week you can sue us . . . Bill McKechnie watched young Vince DiMaggio clear the fence in the different fields on successive tries . . . Then decided he'd not try to change the youngster's style, after all.

Most big league first sackers use from six to eight pairs of shoes a season at $16 per throw . . . Some of the clumsier ones (you know who) go as high as eight . . . The shoes are made of kangaroo skin . . . The Washington Senators take the shortest practice sessions of any team in Florida—two hours daily. . . . The Cardinals, with two sessions daily, drill the longest . . .

Bill Hayes, 19-year old wonder of a semi-pro team in New Hampshire, aspires to be a baseball owner on a big scale when he comes into 15 or 20 million in a few years. . . . So he is down here with the Bees taking lessons in how to become a magnate.

CATHOLICS WIN

SAN ANTONIO, March 8 (AP)—The Central Catholics of San Antonio today held the Catholic basketball championship of Texas. They defeated the Cathedral team of El Paso, 23 to 19, in the final yesterday.

Texas still owes a war debt on the money it borrowed to win its independence from Mexico, in 1836.

FLASHES OF LIFE

Five Seconds Girls

NEW YORK — A man is suing the telephone company for refund of what he insists were overcharges on some long distance calls, and the testimony brought out:

That "hello girls" throughout the country regularly deduct five seconds from their calculations of the time consumed in calls to protect the patron from error.

The sum at issue in the suit is—$3.85.

Noise Abatement

MAUINIE, Ill. — Flood waters washed Noble Weare's hens away, drowned his cow and wrecked his home, but the fish added insult to injury.

They foregathered — this is verbatim testimony — in water three feet deep on his front porch every night and raised such a ruckus he couldn't sleep. He kept clubbing them away but they always returned.

They were whoppers, he said, meaning the fish.

Vice Versa

BEAUMONT — Business college students here worked a variation of the "sit-down" strike technique and got results — by standing up.

They wanted a half holiday to celebrate a state anniversary. When the assembly bell rang 300 students marched to classes but refused to sit down. School heads acquiesced before any fallen arches were reported.

Rolling Terrain

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa.—Police found Terry O'Brien, 37, a sailor from Charleston, N. C., unconscious on the street and took him to a hospital. Revived, he explained:

"Landsickness."

Traction

COLUMBIA, Mo.—The floor in the stall of Molly, a faithful member of the University of Missouri agricultural college dairy herd is sanded. She refuses to walk unless a handful of sand is thrown in front of her.

Years ago, college officials say, she slipped in her stall and learned her lesson.

Long Count

STOCKTON, Mo.—A customer—for an undisclosed reason—paid a $400 bill to John Keep, lumberman, in paper tax tokens worth one mill each.

Keep spent nearly two days counting the cardboard discs, then announced: "He must have weighed them" instead of counting them. The bill had been overpaid 13 mills.

Fisherman's Luck

MONETT, Mo.—Mike Meyer thought he caught the first trout of the season—but he was too quick.

With hundreds of eager anglers he waited on the bank of Roaring river for the gun opening the season. He saw a flash downstream, thought it was the starting gun and cast, hooking a beauty.

The flash, however was a photographer's flash bulb, five minutes ahead of time. Officials made Meyer throw back his catch.

Political Sedative

OMAHA, Neb.—Abbe Ernest Dimnet, French theologian and lecturer, discoursed on the merits of wine as it influences political credos.

"French communists are gentle fellows, and there is something about the wine they drink that counsels patience," he said. "You don't drink enough wine in this country."

ARMY TRIES NEW UNIFORM

WASHINGTON (AP) — The army is experimenting with a blue dress uniform and a new field uniform for enlisted men. The existing service uniform, a development since the World war, has proved to be an unsatisfactory field uniform and does not meet all requirements for dress occasions. It will be more than a year before the army could be equipped with the new uniforms.

Hold That Pose A Second

Like Longfellow's hero, Frank Sneary "shot an arrow into the air" and it fell just about the time he plopped into the Miami Biltmore pool at Coral Gables, Fla. That's not a Dan Cupid pose he's pictured in, but a demonstration of the new sport that has scored a bull's-eye with water enthusiasts—shooting a bow and arrow in mid-air while dropping into the pool from the high dive stand.

Discarded Articles Become War Craft

CHICAGO, March 8 (AP)—An old coffee can, some discarded beards, thread, nails and quantities of wood became war craft so precise in detail, under the skillful hands of Frank Stone, 22, that they are used for instruction work by naval reserve officers.

Frank is lauded by naval authorities as their whittler par excellence besides being a seaman, first class, in his fourth year of training with the 24th division, U. S. naval reserves.

He has a destroyer, the U. S. S. Texas and the U. S. S. Indianapolis on display at division headquarters where they are being used in teaching reservists what is proper aboard real battle craft.

The models are built on a scale of one-sixteenth inch to the foot.

TO BUY HOME

CORPUS CHRISTI, (AP)—W. W. Jones, capitalist and retired rancher-man, and his daughter, Mrs. Lorine Jones Spoonts, have arranged with the city to buy the Jones home here for conversion into a public library, museum, and art gallery. Mr. Jones and Mrs. Spoonts will contribute several historical objects, a collection of valuable books and book cases. The property includes four lots in addition to the house. The site of the La Retama library will be leased.

Six to eight different qualities of wool are represented in the fleece of each sheep.

The Clean, Gentle Way to clear mucus from Stopped-Up Nostrils
Which is the more pleasant way to clear up the accumulated mucus in your nostrils? To keep on blowing into your handkerchief until your nose is sore? Or to insert a pleasant, soothing ointment that gently breaks up the obstructing mucus?
Surely you prefer the latter, and that is why you should use Mentholatum. It not only breaks up the mucus and enables you to breathe more freely, but also soothes the irritated membranes.
MENTHOLATUM

CARE OF THE EYES is essential to your Health!

A HEALTHY YOUNGSTER
BUT an "Eye-Cripple"
Corrective work for cripple eye sight is one of those things which we cannot see, hear, feel, smell or taste the quality of. It is not a thing to be grasped by one sense—it combines the entire well-being of the human organism.
The value of a pair of glasses does not lie in the glass but in the judgment, integrity and skill of the man who prescribes it.
Only a complete Graduate Clinic routine examination will reveal all this information in a way it can be handled successfully. Only first quality materials will serve a first quality mind and only intelligent orthoptic re-education will correct faulty reflexes and associations.
Can "cheap glasses" and ten (10) minute "tests" do this job? Isn't your eyes, your health and happiness far more important than the price factor? Isn't it better to pay a fair price and hold your job than a cheap price and gradually fall behind in the economic race?
When an appendix bursts, peritonitis usually puts that patient under the daisies. When a tooth aches, there is no other business before the house until the condition is corrected.
Visual defects are rarely critical and do not explode. They slip upon you gradually and you do not realize the vital importance of your eyes, and that they cause sluggishness, nervousness, aches and pains, and not prosperity and happiness.
May I ask that you consider the importance of your eyes and have them examined by a modern Optometrist at least every eighteen (18) months.

'Swing' Tune

Anna Lee, British film favorite, must know her ropes or she wouldn't put so much faith in those she's swinging on, especially since the shadow which faithfully follows her on the wall would help little if she fell. If the public tumbles to her newest picture, she might be received with open arms.

Dutcher's News And Views OF WASHINGTON

(Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.)

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 8— The administration's wage and hour program will be given to Congress in about a month. A large pile of recommendations for "new NRA" legislation has accumulated at the White House and Roosevelt has asked a special group of advisers to study them and help formulate a program.

NO PLAINSMAN'S COLUMN

There is no Plainsman's column today due to the fact that The Plainsman has been out of the city the past few days. He will return to this page, however, tomorrow.

Although details remain to be worked out, it is reasonably safe to predict the main administration bill will cover wages and hours exclusively, and will contain no provisions as to trade practices or any other phase of business regulation.

A federal board is planned to handle the establishment of maximum hours and minimum wages in American industries.

Present indications are that provisions in the bill will give that task to the National Labor Relations Board.

Two Plans Studied

Among plans being studied by the president's advisers are Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney's federal corporation licensing bill, a program worked out by Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, and a proposal for a remodeled NRA, backed by Donald Richberg and Assistant Secretary Ernest G. Draper.

Chief of the advising group is John G. Winant, former Republican governor of New Hampshire, former assistant director of the International Labor Office, and, until recently, chairman of the Social Security Board. Roosevelt chose Winant because he wanted a nonpartisan of distinction who wasn't connected with any of the various factions lined up behind various plans.

The other members are Assistant Atty.-Gen. Robert H. Jackson, in charge of anti-trust litigation; General Counsel Ben Cohen of the National Power Policy Commission, and author of the New York minimum wage law; and Thomas G. Corcoran of RFC, Roosevelt's handy man and ace trouble-shooter.

The four will make a secret report to the president, upon which he is expected to base a message to Congress and some concrete proposals.

Conscience Bothered Him

The story of Winant's resignation from the Social Security chairmanship is almost a fairy story. He insisted on quitting because his conscience bothered him, although originally he had left a $25,000 job with the I. L. O. at Geneva to come here.

Winant privately insisted he didn't belong in the chairmanship—because he was a Republican. He had repudiated his party during the campaign and gone on the stump for the Social Security Act after Governor Landon attacked it. But he kept insisting to Roosevelt: "I won't pretend to be a Democrat when I'm not."

No such sensitive conscience as Winant's has been seen here since the days of Grover Cleveland.

Apology to McGrady

The General Motors Company sent one of its highest officials to make a personal apology to Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward F. McGrady, following revelation by the LaFollette committee that McGrady had been spied upon by Pinkerton operatives hired by the corporation. It happened while he was trying to mediate a strike at Toledo.

The G. M. official told McGrady the company hadn't known anything about that item of espionage.

Just Wanted Silence

Congressman Maury Maverick of Texas, opening an address to the House:

"Mr. Chairman, usually when I get on this floor I am all steamed up, but I feel rather relaxed today, and anyone who wishes to sleep or rest during my address may do so. But I shall appreciate it if the gentlemen who are talking loudly will go outside, so that the rest can sleep if they wish. That is only parliamentary courtesy."

The minimum voting age for men and women in England is now 21 years.

READY MADE WIFE

BY CORALIE STANTON

Chapter 47
ACCIDENT

Rex Moore came into the little salon. In his grey eyes was a glint of satisfaction.

He ordered food and a bottle of champagne. With the quick response of the French to all culinary emergencies, it was soon brought. Hot soup and cold chicken.

Gladys took some soup and a glass of wine, and almost immediately afterwards fell asleep on the couch.

Rex Moore and Laurie said very little.

"I gave that young cur a sound thrashing," he said. "I don't think he'll forget it."

"How did you come to meet Glad?" she asked.

"I followed you, Laurie. As soon as the car turned the corner, I got out. I couldn't let you go off like that, alone. I saw you go into this hotel. They told me at the office that you had called on Mr. Dallas. I—well, I guessed something was up. So I walked up and down outside, and then came across this poor child."

"Thank God, you were there!" she said aloud.

And then, in an immense revulsion of feeling, she spoke soundlessly to her inmost heart.

"I love him! I love him! He is the finest man in the world—the only man in the world. How can I go on living? How can I?"

Laurie and Gladys came back to London by train and boat.

Rex Moore flew back alone.

A shock awaited him when he reached the Chelsea flat. He found a message to say that Mrs. Steele had been in a motor accident and was seriously injured. They had rung up from a nursing home to say that Mrs. Steele was asking for him. She wanted to see him very urgently.

He drove immediately to the address, and saw from the face of the woman who received him that Wanda must be very ill indeed.

"There is no hope," the matron said. "She is barely conscious. A spinal injury. If she lived, she would be a cripple."

In silence he stole into the room and looked down with sad, self-reproachful eyes at the grey face on the pillows.

He thought she was unconscious, and did not speak.

"She is slipping away," the matron whispered. "Say something to her. She wanted so much to see you."

"Wanda!" he said gently. "Wanda, dear, I am here!"

It took a perceptible time, but his voice reached her and brought her back literally for a few seconds from the other side.

She opened her eyes; she tried to move.

"Rex, darling!" It was a thread of a voice, wandering, uncertain. It hardly seemed to come from the woman on the bed.

He tried to stammer out conventional sayings about getting better; but his voice broke.

Then a smile flickered over her face. Her lips moved. He bent down, and that whisper, hovering between two worlds, came to his ears.

"I want you to be happy. I want you to have—to have—"

But it was too much. She was already too far away.

The eager lips dropped apart. The matron motioned him away and bent over the bed.

Wanda Steele, who had saved his life, who had given him back his eyesight, who had loved him with a strong woman's tenacious passion, was no more.

He gave her his last homage and his first true caress, as he bent reverently and kissed her forehead.

Albery had returned to London on the same day as Laurie.

When she was called into his room on the following morning, she found him his usual suave, impassive self. But there was something in his manner that warned her. He spoke smoothly, but she seemed to see the whip in his hand.

"I got your message in Berlin," he said. "I am sorry about your sister. How is she?"

"She is getting on all right, thank you."

"How did you go to Paris?"

She was startled, but her instinct was always to tell the truth, and she answered frankly:

"Rex Moore took me by air."

"You had given me your word of honor not to see him again."

"I couldn't help myself. I had to get there as quickly as possible. It was very urgent."

"You did not tell anybody that you were going to Paris. My people here thought you were at home."

"I wired to Mr. Mortimer from Paris. He had asked us to dine with him."

"That's how I found out you were in Paris. Mortimer told me. Laurie, you're not telling me the truth. That's not only unkind, but unwise."

"I am telling you the truth." She felt a furious resentment against him. It was a foretaste of what was to come. She had sold herself to this man with the unreadable Oriental face, and always the whip in his hand. She could not call her soul her own. She was a slave. "Are you going to get together with Moore every time my back is turned?" he asked in that silky voice that stabbed like a stiletto. "Do you want to call our bargain off?"

"No—no!" she said. What was there behind his eyes that gave his words such a sinister meaning? On the face of it, he was in the right. She had given him her word and broken it. And she could not explain. She felt actually that she would rather die than explain. But their bargain — that was another matter. That meant Rex Moore's career, which was his life.

"I have settled my business," he went on, and now he was the smiling, ardent-eyed lover on the point of achieving his desire. "So there is nothing to wait for. I am going to take a holiday, entirely away from business. I have a place in France, not far from Paris. We will go over and be married there, and then we will tour through Spain for our honeymoon.

"And when I have to come back here, you will stay in some quiet little place and I will come over every week-end. Mortimer is going to work things when he gets back to Australia. I can trust him. He will wangle it so that we can announce that you have divorced Rex Moore down there, where you were married.

"So you see, it's all fixed up. Get ready to leave London in the middle of next week. Don't bother about anything in the way of clothes. You can do your shopping in Paris. I shall have to go over a few days before to arrange about the wedding. Laurie! Laurie! My lovely girl!"

His voice changed to passionate exultation. He took her in his arms. She was caught in the merciless spokes of the wheel of life. She was helpless. She could only submit.

Next week she would be Mark Albery's wife. And life would be over for her.

Wanda Steele was buried in England, according to her wishes, and the cabled confirmation of her nearest relative, a brother in New York.

After the funeral, Rex Moore learned the meaning of those last words that she had breathed.

A member of a firm of solicitors that had been acting for her, who, besides himself, her maid, and her chauffeur, were the only mourners, drove him back from the little country churchyard of the village that her family had originally come from, and asked him to come into his office.

Here he revealed the fact that Mrs. Steele had made a fresh will the very day before her accident, in which she had left him nearly the whole of her property in California, and securities that would bring him in a very comfortable income.

Rex was overwhelmed. His first thought was that he would be independent of Mark Albery. He felt an inexpressible gratitude to the dead woman who had demonstrated her love for him beyond the grave.

Everything was in perfect order, the lawyer assured him. He had exchanged cables with Mrs. Steele's men of business in California and with her brother. There could be no question about the validity of the will.

Rex Moore went out, dazed, into the hot July afternoon. He felt humble; so unworthy of the dead woman's great love.

He walked swiftly through the streets; not only a free, but a rich man.

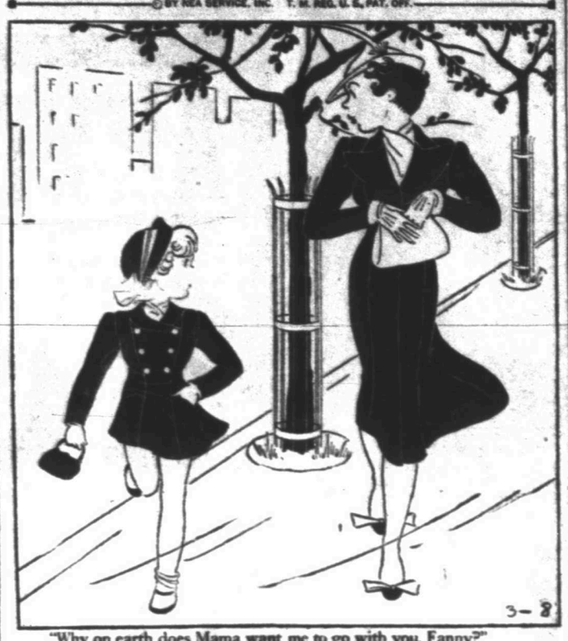

The next day an even greater blessing was bestowed on Rex Moore. On paying a visit to the famous eye specialist, he was told by the great man:

"I can find no more trace of the trouble, Mr. Moore. I am happy to pronounce you completely cured."

Laurie defies Albery, tomorrow.

TODAY'S JOURNAL EDITORIAL

WHAT DIFFERENCE DOES IT MAKE?

The Texas legislature, now noted for pulling stunts out of the hat which have little to do with the business at hand or what they're paid by the people of the state to do, goes on record with another.

Last week the house of representatives staged a somewhat bitter word battle following a speech made by United States Senator Tom Connally of Marlin in opposition to President Roosevelt's court revision program and another speech made by the president and broadcast over the radio.

The bone of contention was whether the president's or Connally's speech should be printed first in the house journal.

Rep. Paris Smith of Bay City sided with the senator, declaring it would be unfair to him, and saying sponsors had insinuated Connally was a "Jeffersonian Democrat." Others took sides and when it was called to a vote the president's speech won by a vote of 51 to 50.

Now what we are puzzled about and have been scratching our heads about ever since the "momentous" event occurred is "what difference would it have made which speech was printed first?"

The Evening Journal believes that it would not make President Roosevelt feel bad to have his speech printed after a senator's. And we believe that Senator Connally will not feel that his official dignity has been trampled upon by the house's action.

We think the people of the state of Texas would be better served if the good men who make up the house would turn their attention to real problems facing them and try to formulate some constructive legislation instead of engaging in child's play.

From Hollywood MOVIE SIDELIGHTS

Behind The Scenes With The Stars Of Talkietown

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, March 8. — There is just a shade too much realism about this war they're waging down at Universay — practically in my backyard. A man has been killed in one of the fierce, bomb-torn engagements.

He died, anyway. One minute he was standing in a corner of a wrecked French farmhouse, operating a machine gun which sprayed wax pellets over the heads of advancing German troops. The next minute there was a terrific blast outside, in simulation of an exploding shell. The machine gunner slumped to the floor. It was a swell job of dying, but it was his last performance. George R. Daley was actually dead.

There were no wounds, it was said, so it might have been heart failure brought about by the heavy concussion. The cause is of no concern whatever to George R. Daley.

Quite a few people are killed making movies, although the fatalities have proven less numerous than in several industries of lesser magnitude. Screen players receive a very good wage as compensation for the risks involved.

Knew Victim

The case of Sergeant Daley is close to me only because of its actual proximity. I have talked to him and have watched him work. Night after night, for two months, I have heard the chattering of his and other machine guns, and the blasts of black-powder bombs. Always after each take, clearly audible from the loudspeaker, came the voice of Director James Whale: "Anybody hurt?"

And always, until this night when Daley died, a reassuring hubbub of voices answered Whale's inquiry. I had developed quite a neighborly feeling for the war, which is destined to provide the opening sequences for "The Road Back," another of Erich Marie Remarque's powerful preachments for peace.

An ironic thing about these sequences is that their whole portent in the story is grimmest irony—the fighting and death which they portray are supposed to have happened needlessly, after the actual signing of the Armistice, but before its official announcement. Daley's death wasn't utterly futile, though; the scene had been shot.

Martial Magic

The battlefield is only about 400 feet square, but such is the magic of the designers' diminishing perspective that it looks like miles of desolation laced by trenches and riddled by explosives. On one night, shots are taken from, say, east to west; the next night, south to north. Thus a number of completely different scenes have been secured.

Frank Hunter, the studio's explosive, fog, and fire specialist, took me to his workroom and showed me his bombs. There were scores of them, sinister cylinders weighing two pounds are variously made to produce flashes, noise, and smoke.

He showed me his switchboards, too, from which he explodes the bombs in "No Man's Land." These bombs must be carefully placed, and their detonations perfectly timed, because the appearance on the screen must be of heavy shellfire striking among advancing soldiers.

Not A Sissy War

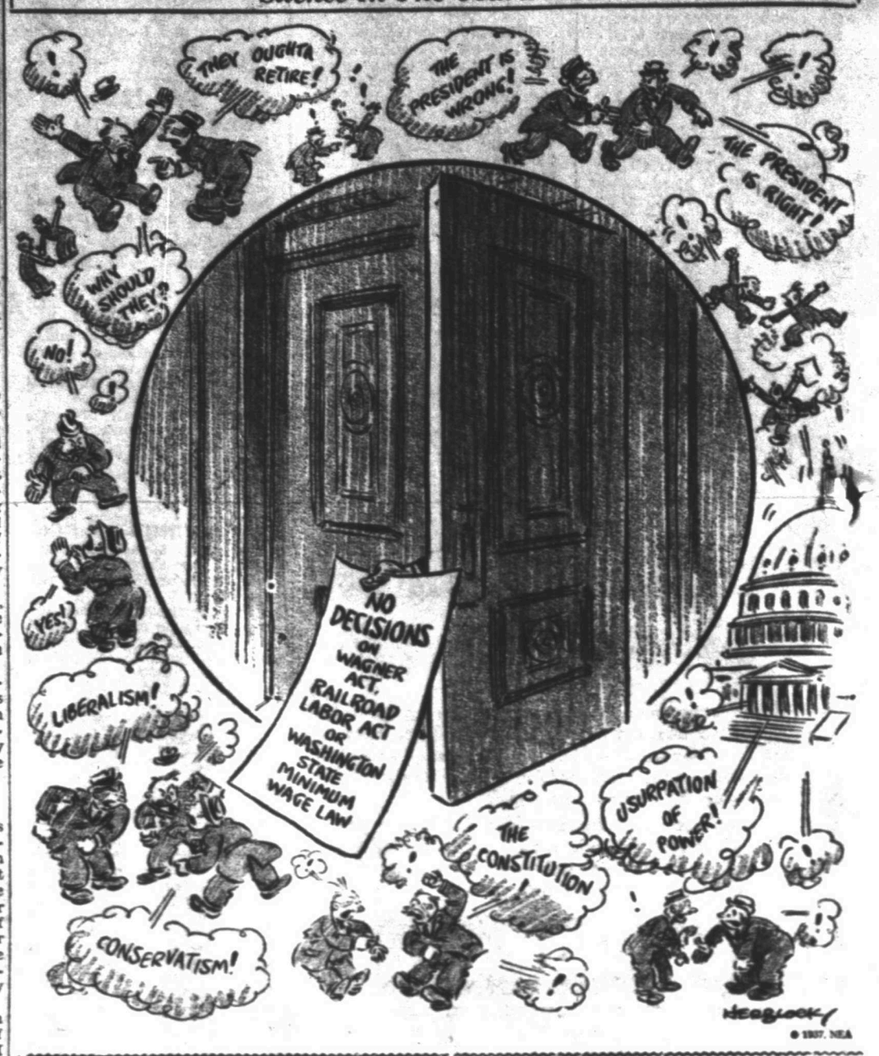

The actors really need their heavy uniforms and steel helmets. There is little danger from flying debris because the bombs are bedded in charcoal and ground cork to provide spectacular bursts. But there is danger from concussion and from flaming black powder. Several men have been burned. Andy Devine came in from a sortie with the entire back of his overcoat on fire, and he hadn't even known it.

This is not a sissy war. One night the doctor in attendance treated 33 men. Influenza has felled 22, for the nights have been cold and the trenches are kept muddy.

I watched a man with a tub of mud and a broom swearing the shivering persons of John King, Slim Summerville, and Larry Blake. I saw the late George Daley almost slain by an over-zealous thrust with a real bayonet. I tried to talk with John Emery, who was plunged into this synthetic purgatory from an engagement on Broadway in John Gielgud's "Hamlet."

The bedraggled and weary Mr. Emery said: "G&*?!)@&()@&() Hollywood! !(?)@!b()&, also $)?($( ?!)@&?)$!bar!?)(movies!"

Silence In The Courtroom!

The Plainsman Gets Some Mail

Dear Plainsman: It seems inconsistent to me, since I served for three summers on the ice and milk fund—for which your paper raised the funds—that you should take the attitude you have recently about the work of our local Salvation army.

It was through serving and teaching for seven years in Sanders mission and two years on the advisory board of the Salvation army, that my eyes were opened to our local conditions and from my personal health, I can all the more sympathize with those less fortune and the woman who recently died, and I realize that proper food and good care has prolonged my life.

Like the attack on "The Wind" by Sweetwater Chamber of Commerce, which sold the book, I hope such advertising sells Lubbock on Salvation army and more eyes are opened and funds raised to assist army and those who know that we do not have to go far to be real missionaries.

I pass these encouraging words on to Captain Churchill, his wife and soldiers, including all who may serve and at ttimes become discouraged.

"Are thou discouraged in thy work?
Doth ministry seem vain?
I ministered amidst unbelief,
Midst those with greed and gain.
They would not hearken to my voice,
But scoffed with one accord.
Your abor will not seem in vain,
If done unto the Lord."

So we that love our fellowmen and try to serve will go on with more courage and faith to make Lubbock a better town in which to live.

Sincerely,
Mrs. G. W. Scott.

"BLACK-DRAUGHT IS PURELY VEGETABLE" —What Does That Mean?

A great many things can cause constipation and there are many remedies to relieve it, but possibly none more popular than the "vegetable" laxatives.

Among these, Black-Draught is outstanding. In its manufacture, leaves of a certain plant are used, and the roots of certain others. These are dried so they will keep without preservatives . . . no other chemical change from the way they grew in "Mother Nature's medicine garden." By their being finely ground, the digestive system extracts the active medicine right where it is needed. Constipation is relieved.

Black-Draught is so economical that a 25-cent package averages upwards of 25 doses.—Adv.

How Quick Does "BC" Ease Headaches and Neuralgia?

The answer is, "very quickly". Usually, it's a matter of just a few minutes, and this is true because "BC" is a prescription-type remedy, containing several quick-acting, reliable ingredients widely prescribed by physicians for aches and pains due to inorganic causes.

Use "BC" with the full assurance that it is in every sense a trustworthy remedy. You'll find that it is also effective for the relief of muscular aches; pain and discomfort due to simple head colds; simple nervousness and for headache and backache due to functional disturbances. Try "BC" and see if it doesn't give you relief in just a few minutes. Convenient 10c and 25c sizes, or by the dose at fountains. (adv.)

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Mar. 8. (AP)—Trading forces in today's stock market transferred their buying affections from steels and motors to selected rails, utilities, metals, oils and specialties.

Gains running to 2 or more points among the favorites were tempered by losses of 1 to 3 in depressed groups.

Sloss-Sheffield, an odd-lot unit, ran against the steel trend with an upturn of 9 points at the best. N. Y. Central jumped into the limelight with an opening block of 30,000 shares, the largest single transaction in this department in a long time. It was ahead about a point.

Others in demand during the greater part of the proceedings were Pennsylvania, Great Northern, Delaware & Hudson, American Telephone, Western Union, Electric Power & Light, Columbia Gas, American Water Works, International Hydro-Electric, Anaconda, Kennecott, Homestake Mining, St. Joseph Lead, Inspiration Copper, Texas Corp., Seaboard Oil, Barnsdall, Standard Oil of N. J., Macy, Du Pont and National Steel.

Inclined to slip were Illinois Central, Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio and Lackawanna.

U. S. Steel dropped about 3 at the worst. Among other laggards were Bethlehem, Republic, General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, United Aircraft, Crucible Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube and Loew's.

Dodge Dealers Are To Gather In City

Dodge dealers and service managers of Lubbock, Amarillo, Pampa, Clovis, Childress, Carlsbad, Lovington, N. M., Plainview, and Roswell, N. M. will meet at 8 o'clock tonight in the ballroom of the Hilton hotel to discuss importance of proper maintenance and service of a car to the driver's safety.

In charge of arrangements is F. E. Seaman, regional sales manager for the Dodge Brothers corporation.

J. D. Winters, regional service manager, will direct technical discussions at the meeting.

"After manufacturers build safety into the cars, we have an important job in teaching owners the part that service and proper maintenance play in keeping them safe," Winters said.

Final Decision On Laws Are Delayed

WASHINGTON, Mar. 8. (AP)—The supreme court deferred until at least next Monday today final decisions on constitutionality of the Wagner labor relations act and the Washington law establishing minimum wages for women.

It also postponed action on a petition for reconsideration of its decision upholding constitutionality of

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, March 8 (AP)—Cotton futures opened weak, 25 to 36 lower, caused by sharp Liverpool declines and heavy general selling following last week's gain of about $5 per bale. March 13.77; May 13.35; July 13.15; Oct. 12.70; Dec. 12.60; Jan. 12.67.

The initial break of $1.25 to $1.30 a bale occurred under unusually heavy liquidation from domestic and foreign sources. Trading was at most active rate in recent years.

The weakness of Liverpool, which had preciously led the advance, and fears the recent rise has been too rapid brought in offerings but very active buying developed and prices quickly rebounded 12 to 33 points from the opening lows on replacement buying and renewed active speculative demand from traders who had been awaiting a reaction to reenter the market.

During the first half hour prices fluctuated over a wide range. May which had recovered from 13.26 to 13.53 was selling at 13.48 when prices generally were 10 to 19 points net lower. Aside from a somewhat weakened technical condition there was no change in the news over the weekend to influence the market.

At Liverpool heavy profit-taking in new crop positions uncovered stop orders.

The market ruled steady later in the morning. There was less pressure to sell. With trade and speculative sources taking contracts, prices held within a few points of the best at the beginning of the noon hour. May recovered to 13.54 and sold at 13.51, with prices generally six to twelve points lower.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, March 8 (AP)—A sharp reaction occurred at the start of trading on the cotton market today, carrying futures off more than $1 a bale.

The decline was considered the normal set back following last week's sweeping advances that carried all options up around $5 to new highs for the season.

Foreign markets were sharply lower prior to the opening on domestic exchanges and when heavy selling came into the ring prices opened sharply lower.

May started at 13.29, off 24 points, July was 23 lower at 13.11 and similar declines were shown by Oct. at 12.75 and Dec. at 12.80.

As there was little change in the news regarding cotton over the week-end this morning's break was considered the normal expectancy after such a sharp upturn.

The early break was partially recovered by the time the market had reached the half-way mark in trading and active futures were trading narrowly 9 to 13 points under the previous close.

A return of trade buying in volume to the market was largely responsible for the recovery from early lows. Speculative participation on the buying side was not present as notably as in last week's active dealings.

Trade reports were mostly favorable. Manchester and Worth St. indicated that prices for cotton cloths were holding up well with inquiry broad.

Official forecasts were for fair and colder weather in the central belt, with the west fair and cooler. The weather map showed rains in the east today, with temperatures normal for this time of the season.

A private crop estimate appeared during the morning and predicted an acreage of 34,639,000 acres this season. Planting of this scope would be 12 per cent above last season.

probably 15 miles."

He said that the fact the movement appeared more severe on the Eastbay side, would seem to indicate it was caused by a slipping of what is known as the Hayward fault.

He describes the quake as "moderate" intensity.

Motorists Leave City

Toll collectors on the San Francisco-Oakland bridge reported a marked pick-up in traffic shortly after the shock. They said motorists indicated they were in a hurry to leave the city.

Street lights were put out of commission in some Eastbay sections.

One resident of Richmond reported he was shaken out of his chair.

The earthquake, which lasted not more than two or three seconds, came with a rolling motion in San Francisco and jolting shocks in the Eastbay.

A check by Oakland police indicated that principal damage was in stores, where stock was tumbled from shelves.

domination of the organized labor field.

John L. Lewis, heading the CIO, will join Senator LaFollette when the latter gives a second address tonight. The program will be broadcast at 11 p. m. (EST.)

The league's activities attracted attention at the capitol in view of the political possibilities. Senator Burke (D-Neb), opposing the president on the court issue, has predicted a party realignment unless the program is defeated.

Berry expressed the belief congress would enact the legislation. Taking notice of new party talk, he said in an interview that the league is not engaged in forming a political party.

SENTENCED TO DIE

LISBON, Portugal, March 8. (AP)—General Gonzale Quiepo De L'ano, in an insurgent broadcast from Seville, said today the famous Spanish painter, Ignacio Zuloaga, had been sentenced to death Sunday in government-held Bilbao.

the New York unemployment insurance act.

AGED SUSPECT

was young. "I lived with a family named Jones awhile, and then a family named Brooks," he said.

Has Been Lecturing

Although not a minister, Brooks had been doing some "lecturing" in jail, he said. Sheriff Abel referred to a man in jail "whose fault is drinking."

"He's done had a lecture," Brooks said quickly. "He gave me his hand and he promised me he wouldn't drink any more and that he'd keep out of bad company."

Brooks said he had been thinking of "going back."

"If a baby had come here after me, I'd have gone back with him," he said.

His voice became husky and his eyes damp when he spoke of his three daughters, "as much like Shirley Temple as they can be."

Was Married Twice

Brooks has been married twice. His second wife is the mother of his three daughters.

The aged man was eating breakfast. When he had drunk his coffee, he picked up the dishes and started in the back of the cell. Although he had spoken freely under questioning, he indicated he had finished the interview.

Brooks praised the treatment he had received while in custody of Sheriff Abel and his deputies.

The suspect said he was 21 years old when he was elected "criminal judge." He said he served six years "and never had an appeal from my docket."

Would Return Here

He expressed a desire to return to Lubbock.

Sheriff Giles said Brooks had had no brushes with the law until after his second marriage, about 18 years ago.

The suspect spoke of his wife as a member of "a feudist family of the Kentucky mountains."

"I don't know when I'll see you again," he said when the sheriff and the reporter left.

A long-bladed knife Brooks was carrying was recognized by Sheriff Giles as one he had taken from Brooks when, early in 1935, Brooks had been arrested for possession of illegal whisky. Giles said the aged man received 90 days in jail and a $50 fine for that offense.

No Smoking Or Drinking

Brooks declared he neither smoked nor drank—"except to touch my tongue to the bottle when a friend passes it."

He said he came to Lubbock last November. Since that time he had been washing dishes, doing yard-work, and had painted one residence.

The day after his arrest, he had declared slaying of the two officers "is entirely out of my sight." He said he had never been in Virginia.

Sheriff Giles said Brooks lived within one and one-half miles of the Kentucky border and that immediately after the shooting he had escaped into Kentucky. Bloodhounds, Giles said, lost the trail in the mountains in the vicinity of the state lines of Virginia, Kentucky, and Tennessee.

TWO OTHER MEN TAKEN FROM CITY

Two other men, one wanted in Galveston and the other in McPherson, Kas., were taken from Lubbock Sunday.

Bernhoff Bidenkap, 43, ex-sailor and native of Norway, was taken in custody by Galveston officers who want him on a charge of robbery by assault with the use of firearms.

Jack Allen, 20, wanted at McPherson, Kas., as a jailbreaker, was removed by Sheriff Ralph McPhail. Sheriff Tom Abel arrested the youth here Friday. Allen, who signed extradition waiver, surrendered voluntarily.

Bidenkap was arrested Saturday by Don Reeder, identifications officer, and Chas. Chase, assistant police chief.

He is a suspect in the $500 armed robbery of the carpenters' union in Galveston Feb. 12. Bidenkap denied complicity in the holdup, declaring he had been in Lubbock since February 4 or 5.

in the car. Russell and Osborn were members of a Sun Oil company engineering crew stationed at McAllen. Two other occupants of the car, William Bills, also a Sun Oil company employe, suffered cuts and bruises, and Miss Josephine Evans, daughter of Marvin Evans, of Pharr suffered bruises.

The Texans were returning from a trip to Monterrey when their car hit a truck parked in the highway. The injured were brought to the Gonzales hospital here.

Both Russell and Osborne, residents of Dallas when not on location with the oil company, were engineering draftsmen. Surviving Russell were his widow; their son, John M., jr., his mother, Mrs. Katie Russell, and a sister, Mrs. Katie Isherwood, all of Dallas.

Osborne was survived by his mother, Mrs. R. J. Osborne, and two sisters, Mrs. W. L. Allen and Miss Berlin Osborne, all of Dallas.

No funeral arrangements had been made. Officials of the oil company were aiding families in arranging for return of the bodies.

Reports Approved By Commissioners

Lubbock county commissioners court, in regular session this morning, approved annual report of county auditor and approved reports of county agricultural agent, county home demonstration agent, county librarian, and justices of peace of precinct 1, places one and two, and Idalou and Slaton precincts.

Commissioners voted to transfer $2,000 to the City-County welfare association provided the City would give $1,000.

Bids are to be asked for installation of new drinking fountains on the first and second floors of the court house.

School 'Grown Up' At 150

"The school that grew up instead of out" is the theme of the University of Pittsburgh's 150 anniversary celebration, scheduled from Feb. 28 to commencement week in June. From a log cabin, lower left, with a half-dozen students in 1787, the institution has grown to embrace 17 divisions, occupying a 42-story, 10-million-dollar Cathedral of Learning, right, near downtown Pittsburgh. Sponsor of the skyscraper school idea is John G. Bowman, upper left, who has been chancellor of the university since 1910.

rightly suspect, said Van Dyke, that when screen lovers get a reputation for the wholehearted and effective manner in which they go into clinches there is something to it, after all.

Not love, necessarily—not affection that has the slightest impression on their off-the-screen relationships. The screen lover may be a happy husband and a good father; the other half of the team a devoted wife.

But you can assume, said Van Dyke, that the two get along quite well, if they don't, the audience detects it, and no amount of histrionics can completely conceal the friction.

Some of the teams he is credited with creating include those of Joan Crawford-Clark Gable, William Powell-Myrna Loy and Jeanette MacDonald-Nelson Eddy.

A more recent combination is that of Jean Harlow and Robert Taylor. At the moment he is acting as the John Alden for Spencer Tracy and Gladys George.

Suspect In Texas Bank Robbery Held

EMPORIA, Kas., Mar. 8. (AP)—Texas officers were en route to Coleman, Tex., today with a suspect in the $23,706 First National bank robbery there Feb. 2, 1934.

The suspect, booked as George Dewey Shipley, 37, was arrested in a raid at a secluded ranch house in northern Lyon county early Sunday.

Work On Road Is Started In County

Thirty-four Works Progress administration laborers began work this morning on improvement and construction of a farm-to-market road north of Slaton on the Acuff road through to McClung, according to information from district WPA headquarters.

Under the present set-up the government project is outlined to operate four months.

Project calls for laying a caliche base on the road.

Other road construction and improvement projects in the fifteen counties of Works Progress administration district 17 are reported to be progressing rapidly, according to W. E. Burke, supervisor of the division of operation.

FITTS SHOT

fired. As the black sedan roared away, I got my car in gear and drove to the home of my parents."

Only one bullet was found.

Work Of Amateurs

Marshalling his ace investigators, Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz declared the shooting "unquestionably is the work of amateurs. No expert machine-gunner or hardened gangster would have bungled the job. The only reason Fitts wasn't killed was because a novice gunman was appointed to 'get' him."

The militant prosecutor, whose eight years in office have seen him convict some of the west's most notorious criminals, staggered up to his parents' house and called: "Mother! I'm shot."

Relatives said Fitts' first concern was for Mary Lou, his adopted 10-year-old daughter, who has been guarded for several months since threats were made against the district attorney.

"Don't let them get Mary Lou," he was quoted as saying.

Guards Are Increased

Guards about the Fitts family were increased last week following the sit-down strike at the Douglas aircraft factory. Fitts obtained the indictment of 343 sit-downers on charges of conspiracy to trespass and yesterday conferred with police on reported molestation of Douglas workers.

His office announced scores of threatening messages had reached him after the indictments were voted at his request.

PLANTS CLOSED

pany's refusal to discharge or transfer a workman in plant No. 4 who was regarded by union members as a leader of non-union activities.

A company official said 35 union men "sat down" at their places when the non-union workman to whose presence they objected appeared for work this morning. He said non-union employes threatened to stop work if the man were discharged or transferred and that the plant was closed until the differences could be settled.

Started Saturday

The dispute started Saturday and resulted in closing the plants Saturday night with an understanding that the men would return to work today pending negotiations. They had worked only an hour this morning when the strike was resumed.

A spokesman for the U. A. W. A. said the dispute started Saturday after five men, including a foreman, had been discharged because the foreman refused to obey orders to speed up his assembly line.

also will be shown.

An unusual feature will be offered at Levine's department store, where children will model clothing. Young women also will model street, sport, and evening dresses and accessories. The modeling, in windows, will begin at 8 o'clock and last about one hour.

Since "Easter ushers in spring" for the average woman, styles seen tonight in local windows will no doubt be donned soon by Lubbock women.

Coronation Colors

"Coronation" colors will be shown. The English coronation plans also are influencing styles. Tryloean styles may be seen.

"Prettiness" no longer is to be sacrificed for smartness, it was reminded in one local store. Although mannish suits will be worn, frilly blouses and hats will soften the effect.

Window unveiling usually is the occasion for jammed streets and blocked traffic in Lubbock.

this sum an insignificant stimulus for such a crime.

To identify the criminal, officers have only the descriptions of three youngsters, William and Muriel Mattson and Virginia Chatfield. From these descriptions, they have pieced together a composite drawing; but the children have been unable to point to any picture among the hundreds of rogue's gallery portraits shown them as resembling the man who snatched Charles from his home last December 27.

LOSES IN COURT

WASHINGTON, Mar. 8. (AP)—Halsted L. Ritter lost in the supreme court today in his attack on validity of senate impeachment proceedings which produced his removal as a federal district judge for the southern district of Florida.

FEDERAL DEBT BEING CUT

HOME OWNERS IN THE NATION NOW ARE PAYING LOANS

WASHINGTON, March 8 (AP)—The general upswing in business is making easier the job of Uncle Sam's giant mortgage collection agency—the Home Owners Loan corporation, created during the depression to help finance 1,000,000 American homes.

The HOLC loaned slightly more than $3,000,000,000 at 5 per cent interest to about 1,000,000 persons.

To Clear Up Debts

Charles A. Jones, general manager, said today improved economic conditions made it appear a large percentage of those borrowers who at one time seemed hopelessly in arrears would be able to clear up their past-due obligations.

He announced these round figures:

More than 452,000 are currently paying their bills and in good standing as to both principal and interest.

More than 85,000 additional borrowers are less than three months in arrears.

Reduce Obligations

Of those remaining, more than 200,000 not only are meeting monthly bills, but also are reducing their arrearages.

Figures presented to congress showed that the first of this year HOLC had collected $191,000,000 in principal and $282,000,000 in interest on its loans. Many loans were made with a moratorium on the principal for the first three years.

Congressional hearing disclosed that up to last December HOLC had taken over 17,800 properties and authorized foreclosure on 70,000.

sources, to be drawn two years hence after a legislative study, was received by the house, which last week voted for a big increase in tax on crude production.

Much interest continued in the hearing tomorrow night on proposed repeal of the law authorizing wagering on race tracks. The house has voted finally for repeal and the senate has engrossed a repeal proposal with further floor action slated for Wednesday.

Senator Albert Stone of Brenham, chairman of the senate committee on criminal jurisprudence, said plans for the committee hearing on repeal had not been changed.

HE CAN TAKE IT BUT HE'S HAD ALL HE WANTS

LINCOLN, Ill., March 8 (AP)—Max Silverman says he can take it but he thinks he has had enough.

First, a burglar climbed into his bedroom and removed $163 from his trousers. Then fire caused about $1,000 damage to his warehouse building.

Learning of the fire, his wife started to return to Lincoln from Chicago. As she was about to board a bus, she slipped on the ice, and went to the hospital with a fractured leg.

HE just didn't feel like work or play. Always draggy and worn out—often cross and irritable. But like so many women, his wife knew about Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets). She put him wise. He found out what an astonishing difference there was in this purely vegetable laxative. Not merely partial relief. Instead thorough cleansing action that aided in ridding his system of poisonous waste, refreshed him, made him feel like a "million." Try NR Tablets yourself. HELLO! Attractive Evelyn Chandler—America's Queen of Figure Skaters—leaps into the camera's range.

THE ARABIAN CARTWHEEL—a complete somersault without touching the ice. The only one who has mastered it is Evelyn Chandler.

SUCH BALANCE takes healthy nerves! So she smokes Camels. "Camels are so mild," she says, "they don't jangle my nerves."

"ACROBATIC SKATING is strenuous and exciting," says Evelyn. "It takes a digestion in tiptop shape. I make Camels an important part of my meals. They help me enjoy my food and give me a sense of well-being."

19 DIZZY SPINS in rapid succession! Another time when smooth-working digestion stands Evelyn in good stead.

WHY HEADLINERS IN WINTER SPORTS MAKE IT CAMELS

FAMOUS SKI EXPERT. Sig Buchmayr says: "I smoke with my meals and afterwards, 'for digestion's sake.' And I'll pick Camels every time for flavor."

Modern life often pushes us to the limit. At such times especially, smoking Camels is an aid to digestion. Camels help to ease tension and speed up the flow of digestive fluids—alkaline digestive fluids—that play so vital a part in the way you enjoy food and in the way food agrees with you. Camels are milder—an important point with steady smokers. With their finer tobaccos, Camels are gentle to your throat.

COSTLIER TOBACCOS

A fact of interest to smokers: Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand.

SPARK-PLUG of the Detroit Red Wings is Herb Lewis. "I keep an eagle eye on my digestion," Herb says. "Camels top off a good meal."
