

Hightower Wins County, Loses Race

Rainey, Wauer Fight Off Write-in Campaigns

Collingsworth voters confirmed John Rainey as sheriff and Ann Wauer of Tax Assessor-Collector for the county over their write-in candidates in the Tuesday, Nov. 6 general election.

Veteran former sheriff Rainey received 1177 votes to 1002 votes cast for incumbent sheriff Kenneth Maxwell, running as a write-in.

Rainey won nomination for the office over Maxwell in Democratic Primary in May. Rainey did not seek the office four years ago and at that time Maxwell was voted in as Sheriff.

After losing by a narrow margin in the primary Maxwell had filed as a write-in candidate under the regulations of the Texas Election Law.

Mrs. Wauer polled 1181 votes to 825 write-in votes cast for Patsy Barnett, a former deputy in the office.

Also in the general election, Democrat Jack Hightower lost to Republican Beau Boulter in the race for U.S. Representative in Texas 13th District.

Collingsworth County favored Hightower 1305 to 751 for Boulter. The district-wide count released as final by the office of the Secretary of State gave Hightower 95,283 to Boulter's 107,564.

A final Collingsworth County count was not available until mid-morning Wednesday.

At 9 a.m. Helen Gollighugh county clerk, reported that additional ballots were found in the absentee box which through error were not included in the tally of votes returned to the clerk's office Tuesday night. This gave additional votes to both Democratic and Republican candidates, raising these totals above what many people went to bed Tuesday night believing were the final figures.

These were ballots in which the voter marked a straight ticket.

A recount of votes in both the Absentee box and Box 9 had been made Tuesday by counters after they had discovered counting errors. The last box reported just before midnight Tuesday.

It was not surprising to veteran watchers of the political scene here that Collingsworth gave a majority to the Republican presidential team, Ronald Reagan and Texan George Bush, 1401 to 740.

One of the heaviest votes cast in any general election of recent years was polled.

The absentee vote was one of the largest, if not the largest, in county history, totaling 502 votes according to Mrs. Gollighugh.

This size contributed to some of the counting problems encountered in the absentee box.

2,000 Bales of '84 Cotton Ginned Here

Collingsworth County gins had weighed in just over 2,000 bales of the 1984 cotton crop Tuesday evening, Nov. 6.

Reports came from the gins that are operating in the county this year.

Lutie Gin has been reported as not in operation for the 1984 season.

Two gins, Wellington Gin and Davis Gin at Dodson began ginning operations this week.

First of the crop brought to the Farmers Co-op Gin in Dodson came from western Harmon County and the state line area, according to Ray Hightower, manager. Cotton being received this week will be approximately 60 percent from Texas and 40 from Oklahoma.

Both Farmers Co-op Gin in Wellington and Farmers Co-op Gin of Dodson report that yields are much better than expected before harvesting began. On the other hand, some growers were badly hurt by the early frost, which was spotted over the county, and by the dry weather that has held since summer.

Both the Dodson and Wellington co-ops reported cotton in small quantities on acreage in small numbers in which the yields were two bales per acre and a little more.

This is on irrigated land in the Loco and Arlie areas.

Hightower said none of his customers have finished cotton harvest, so it is difficult to pinpoint yields. A lot of this crop is making a bale and a half per acre on irrigated land, which is where more of the cotton now being delivered comes from.

He also reported much of this cotton is grading strict low middling, with some light spot appearing, especially in cotton that matured after the rainy spell a few weeks ago and much of this is still a little green.

Cotton on some land was badly hurt by the freeze; other acres show only damage in the top cotton.

Although not a lot of cotton was moving into the market, that coming across the Telcot screen was priced at 57 to 60 cents. There was not a lot of this, however. Low mikes is hurting the price of some cotton in this area.

Grover Graham reported that the two days Davis Gin has been in operation has brought in some good looking cotton, although some is awfully green.

Cotton planted earliest has been the best, with most turnout running between 20 and 23 percent, he said.

J.N. Glasgow of Wellington Co-op said cotton harvest was opening up in new areas daily, although quite a bite of that coming in is from irrigated land around Loco.

Here again were reports of yields above two bales, with the highest yield reported as being small acreage yielding between 2 1/4 and 2 1/2 bale per acre.

Low mikes are hurting the price of Wellington area customers.

Glasgow said staples of 1-3/32" are common, which is unexpectedly good in a year such as this.

At this point, he said that no cotton the gin has handled has gone into the loan.

Veterans Day Dinner Planned At Dodson

An annual community-wide event that draws together much of the Dodson and surrounding areas is the Veterans Day Dinner sponsored by the American Legion and Auxiliary unit. The time is Saturday, Nov. 10, in the American Legion Hall from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

Tickets are on sale for $3.50 each for adults and $1.75 for children under 12 years. They may be purchased from any Legion or Auxiliary Members.

Turkey with all the trimmings will be served.

Proceeds from the dinner will go into the building fund which covers building repairs, purchase of new furniture, assistance to needy veterans and their families and donations to the Veterans Administration Hospital.

CAMPAIGNING

Shamrock Hungry for Victory in Season Closer at Powell Field

Wellington Skyrockets close their season on Friday night, Nov. 9, when Shamrock Irish come here. Game time is 7:30.

Season records notwithstanding, this game is a big challenge to the Skyrockets, for Coach James Williams points out that Shamrock has not defeated the Rockets in 11 seasons. When they come to Wellington Friday, it will be with the idea in mind of doing something about this.

"They think this is their year, and if our kids don't get ready for the game, it could be Shamrock's Year," Williams said.

This also returns the game date of the Shamrock-Wellington game to the Friday nearest Veterans Day, a date observed for many years until conference scheduling made changes necessary.

Veteran Skyrocket boosters long ago wrote the Shamrock Irish-Skyrocket rivalry as the most intense and hardest fought of any of Wellington's football rivalries, both from the standpoint of the players and the townspeople.

"The Rockets and Irish are in similar situations," Williams points out. The Irish have won only one game this season, a non-conference event over Vega 12-6.

The Irish have good size, the Wellington head coach continues. Chet Coleman, senior tackle, weighs 230 pounds.

In the backfield, Quarterback Randall Hugg a junior, is regarded by many as the best passer in the Panhandle. Running backs are Rex Tarbet, No. 12, a senior weighing 140, and Mike O'Gorman, junior Edd Luna, a 195 pound junior, is sometimes used in this position.

Derik Smith No. 10, an end, is the team's outstanding receiver.

"As I see it, this game is a matter of pride for both teams," Williams says.

Conference games Shamrock has played with White Deer, Memphis and Clarendon have been close. Like Wellington, the Irish haven't succeeded in late game scoring that is vital to winning games.

$10,000 Gift Made to Cemetery Assn.

A gift of $10,000 from the estate of the late Mrs. Vertie Saunders has been made to Wellington Cemetery Association, the largest gift it has ever received.

Her sister, Mrs. Ethel Littleton, administrator of the estate, gave a check in this amount to Larry Adams, director of Schooler-Gordon Funeral Directors and one of those who knew of Mrs. Saunders interest in and concern for the Wellington cemeteries. Another sister here is Mrs. Ruby Sanders.

Adams made a formal presentation of the check to Grant Wooldridge, Cemetery Association president Monday morning. Nor was he the last to have a part in receiving this gift, for it went to Nell McKinney, treasurer, to be deposited in the Cemetery Association account.

"Mrs. Saunders spent a great deal of time at the Wellington cemeteries, especially Memorial Gardens, where her husband, the late Grover Saunders is buried," said Adams, a member of the cemetery board.

She took care of his grave, but she also took care of many other graves, and she did a great deal more work in the cemetery. She was there almost every day. That is where I came to know her and of her interest in maintaining the cemeteries. These were things that most people did not know," Adams continued.

The $10,000 will go into the Cemetery Association Trust Fund, just about doubling the amount in the trust, Wooldridge said.

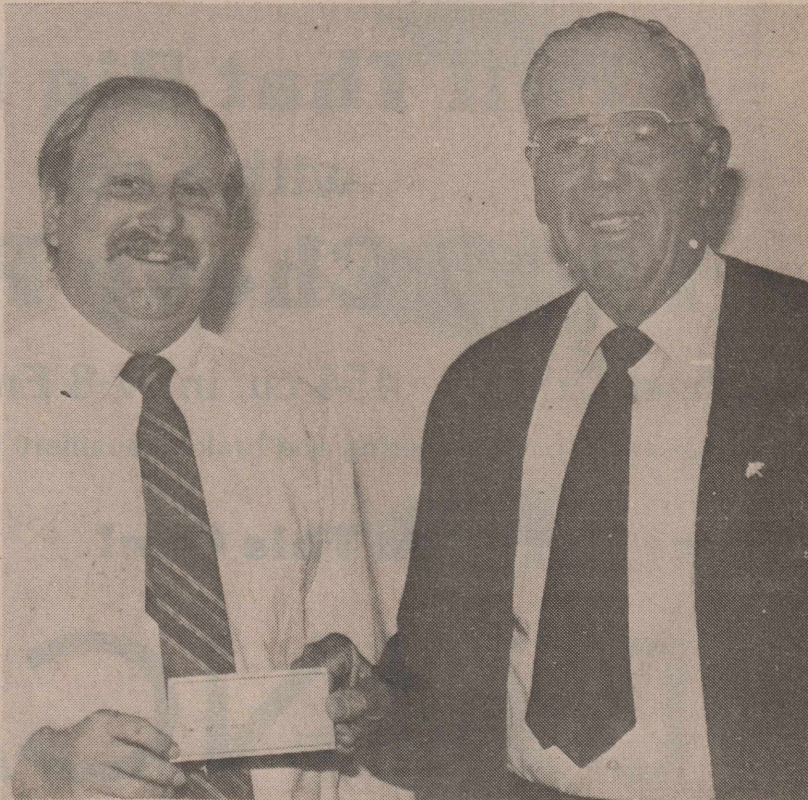

He pointed out that money in the trust fund cannot be spent. Only the interest can be used.

Mrs. Saunders gift alone will bring in approximately $1,200 in interest each year at the present interest rate, Wooldridge continued, and this interest will go in the general fund to be used where it is most needed in maintenance, purchase of equipment or to fill other needs.

Mrs. Saunders, 83, died at her home here on August 16. Since the death of her husband January 13, 1959 she had divided her time between Wellington and Merced.

She first came here in 1916 with her parents, John and Mary Lou Gardner. She and Mr. Saunders married in 1920.

He entered the construction business and they lived in a number of cities until he retired and the couple moved to Merced. There were no children.

Besides her two sisters, Mrs. Saunders was survived by a brother, Floyd Gardner of Grant's Pass, Oregon.

She was preceded in death by a brother and sister, Troy Gardner and Mrs. Vera Dunlap. Mrs. Billie Seitz and Mrs. Faye Horton are nieces.

Boosters to Give Metal Storage Building Friday

Skyrocket Booster Club will give away a 6' x 9' metal storage building at halftime during the Wellington-Shamrock game here Friday, Nov. 9, Mary Lou Souder, a club officer announced.

This is a major fund raiser of the Booster Club, and any member can give information on the project.

The building was donated to Booster Club by Kenneth Davis

Construction Co. Davis and his wife, Donnell, are the parents of a Skyrocket, Kacy Davis.

The building is on display on the parking lot of Cherokee Inn.

Mrs. Souder also announced that another supply of visors bearing the Skyrocket signature, in Skyrocket red and white, have arrived and are now on sale.

Program Building Committee Meets

State Representative Foster Whaley will be the guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Collingsworth County Program Building Committee Monday, Nov. 12, at a supper meeting in Bura Handley Community Center.

Starting time will be 7 p.m. This will be a Dutch supper and tickets are $3.75 per person. Those planning to attend should notify Extension Agent Don Reeves by calling his office, 447-2313 by Friday evening.

The county program building committee is made up of a group of independent committees relating to various phases of agriculture and agricultural life, they work closely with the County Extension Service office.

Besides Whaley's speech, which will be agriculture related, there will be reports from the various committees about the 1984 work, and plans for the 1985 program will be discussed, said Reeves.

Reeves and Nancy, Janes, Extension Agent for home economics, are in charge of the meeting.

Troy Gene Thomason, chairman of the County Program Building Committee, will preside.

Whaley had been an Extension Agent for Gray County nearly 30 years when he retired. Most of the years since have been spent as State Representative from the 84th District, which since re-alignment extends from the Texas-Oklahoma State Line westward to include part of Lubbock. It is also a district that has oil and gas as well as industry.

Whaley gained a state and national reputation in Extension Work, and he has carried his fight for agriculture into the legislative halls.

Committees making up the Collingsworth County Program Building committee include 4-H and Youth, family living, field crops, beef cattle and range and brush control.

Each of these consists of a group of county residents who work closely with the county extension office in developing and carrying out educational programs throughout the year, Reeves explained.

In their work on the 1985 program, committees are due to continue pushing ways to conserve moisture for field crops. One of these that is gaining interest in the area is stubble mulching.

The meeting will be about two hours long.

Extended Coverage

By Bobo Castleberry

"Most car owners would be devastated if they had to pay a huge injury claim out of their own pockets—yet they could afford to pay quite a bit toward the repair of a damaged fender. And that is the key to savings on your auto insurance.

Don't stint on liability protection. Many states require a minimum amount of liability insurance that would not cover current cost for personal or property damage.

The place to save is on collision and comprehensive coverage. Raising the deductible on collision to $500 may cut premiums in half. Similar savings are available for comprehensive, too.

A safe driving record can also cut dollars off your insurance bill. Insurers offer various discounts for safe driving, for seat belt use, for good grades, and other positive traits.

A prophetic message from a man who has waited a lifetime to give it.

"I hear the hoofbeats of the four horsemen approaching. I hear the thundering approach of false teaching, war, famine and death. I see and hear these signs as a shadow of God's loving hand at work for the world's redemption. God is offering hope for those who heed the warning."

The Church Building

This is only a building, but it is a special building for it is the worship place for God's people. It is a place where one may go to study and hear God's word preached.

"... faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God."

If there are unanswered questions in your mind... go... seek... and find God in his house

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

JV Defeats Bronchos 38-28

Skyrocket Junior Varsity defeated Clarendon JV 38-28 on Powell Field Thursday, Nov. 1.

This puts Wellington in position to end the season in a tie place with Memphis for second.

To do this, the Rocket JV must defeat Shamrock Irish JV at El Paso Field Thursday night, Nov. 8. Should Wellington win, then the Rocket JV and Memphis JV will each have two losses for the season.

In the Clarendon game, the Bronchos fumbled the ball and Wellington got it on the 20 yard line, worked it downfield to the 10 and Chuck Brown took it in from there. The try for extra point was no good.

On the next series of plays,

Clarendon fumbled again, and this time James McIntosh ran around end for about 10 yards and the touchdown. Brad Long made the conversion and the score was 14-0.

Also in the first period, the Bronchos scored on a pass and the score was 14-6.

Chuck Brown scored in the second quarter to up Wellington's score 22-6.

The Bronchos made one more TD before half time, again on the pass and the score was 22-14.

In the third quarter, Clarendon scored on a run, and the gap closed to 22-20.

A few minutes later, it was Chuck Brown and Brad Long who scored then made the extra point, and Wellington was 10 points ahead 30-20.

The Bronchos made their last score in the first part of the 4th quarter.

Midway in the fourth, McIntosh scored and this time it was Brown who added the extra points for the final score 38-28.

All of Clarendon's scores except one was made on pass plays, spearheaded by 6-foot pass receivers who towered over Rocket defense by several inches.

"A lot of the time we would have one of them covered but he could outreach us. We played the runs real good," said Coach Tom Johnson.

"All the kids played real well. Some of the boys on the kickoff team helped us a lot on our field position, then Brown and McIntosh each had over 100 yards. The linemen blocked real well."

Firecrackers Win 40-12 Over Clarendon

Wellington 8th Grade Firecrackers defeated Clarendon 8th grade 40-12, here Thursday, Nov. 1.

There is one more game this season, and the Firecrackers, if they can defeat Shamrock this week, have a good chance to be in a three-way tie for district winner, said Coach Gano Wilson, Wellington won its 1st game with Shamrock.

Wellington scored on the second play of the game to make their first touchdown with Carter Nash carrying the ball about 25 yards over the right side. The extra point play was good with Shane Black carrying on a wedge play left.

Clarendon then scored on a busted reverse but their try for the extra points was no good and Wellington led 8-6.

Still in the first quarter, Shane Black carried the ball one wedge play for 30 yards and a touchdown.

Carter Nash then swept right for the extra two points to make the score 16-6.

In the second quarter, Wellington returned a punt 55 yards down the right side for a touchdown. The extra point was good with Mark Myrick going around left end and at halftime the score was 24-.

In the 3rd quarter, Myrick score again, on a 15 yard left end sweep, then a pass play from Thomas Crytser to Davy Mithlo was completed for the extra points (32-6).

Clarendon accounted for its only other touchdown in the third period on a play up the middle, but missed the extra point try. (32-12).

Wellington scored one more time in the 4th quarter when Nash went around end for a 28 yard run then Crytser on another end run scored the extra points.

"We played a good defensive ball game," said Coach Gano Wilson. Oran Starkey, Mithlo and Jessie Barber all recovered fumbles. "We had a couple of touchdowns called back. Nash had a 90 yard kickoff return called back and Myrick had a 25 yard TD called back. Myrick and Mithlo each intercepted a Clarendon pass. The Firecrackers were playing without Kevin Kerlee, who hurt one knee last week in the Memphis game," said Wilson.

7th Grade Defeats Clarendon 12-6 Here Thursday

Wellington 7th Grade football team defeated Clarendon 7th graders 12-6 Thursday, Nov. 1, in a game played here.

In the 1st quarter, Jessie Castillo scored for Wellington on a pitchout to the left but the conversion attempt failed and the score going into the 2nd quarter was 6-0.

Clarendon made its only score in the 2nd quarter on a 40-yard sweep to the left and again they failed to convert. This tied the score 6-6.

In the 3rd period, Wellington's Jeff Thomas blocked a Clarendon punt which was recovered on the 10 yard line. On the next play Jeff scored on a dive play to the left.

This ended all scoring for the game.

"The kids played an exceptionally fine game, and the Clarendon group did as well," said Coach A.B. Smith.

Free Services for Cancer Patients

A number of free services for Collingsworth cancer patients are available through the Collingsworth County unit, according to Edith Brown, president.

"We know of approximately 20 cancer patients receiving one or more of these services, but we believe there may be a number of others living in the county who do not know that they are available without cost," said Mrs. Brown.

"If you are not aware of these services, all you have to do is to contact the Collingsworth County chapter, and we will make the contact for you."

Those needing either services or information may contact Mrs. Brown by calling 447-2520 until 5 p.m., or 1-256-2058 (Shamrock) evenings or Mrs. Treva Stallings, 447-2625.

Mrs. Brown explained that supplies are not kept here, but the local society makes immediate request for what is needed from the Cancer Society in Amarillo, which in turn ships them at the earliest possible time.

Money is not given to the patients for any expense, and all funds raised here go to the Amarillo Center, to be returned here in the form of services.

Mrs. Brown named some of these free services:

Volunteer transportation for local patients to treatment centers. Loan equipment: beds, siderails, wheelchairs, commode chairs, walkers, crutches.

Gift items: limited ostomy supplies, dressings, bed pads, sheepskins, items made by local volunteers, wigs and much more.

Information, guidance and referral: answers to questions, helping patients and their families find solutions concerning financial resources and other problems.

Patient support: a chance to talk to someone who has been there, too; Reach to Recovery - for breast cancer patients; post laryngectomy speech lessons; ostomy visitation; CanSurnount - visits made by cancer patients; I can Cope - sessions for the patient and family; and Dialog-a chance to talk to other patients in a group setting.

Physician approval may be required for some of these services.

Also available are educational programs for the local cancer society, school, business, and civic organizations.

Mrs. Brown strongly urges that any one who has cancer, or has a family member with cancer, to get in touch with the Collingsworth Cancer Society.

Ratliff, the son of Mrs. Lois Ratliff, of Wellington joined Central National in April 1979 as assistant vice-president of operations and as a security officer. In 1983 he was selected to oversee the consumer services department which includes tellers, automatic teller machines and the account services area, while maintaining his position as security officer.

In his new position, Ratliff will add the wire transfer area, collections and return items to his

Fund Started to Aid Cancer Victim

A benefit fund has been started at City State Bank for Betty Bird, a Wellington woman who is a cancer victim. She is receiving daily chemotherapy treatments in High Plains Baptist Hospital, Amarillo.

Mrs. Treva Stallings, who initiated the fund, said that anyone wanting to help can make donations to the Betty Byrd Special Fund at City State Bank.

Mrs. Byrd has been told by her doctors the trip to and from Wellington each day is too hard for her. Alva Byrd is staying with his wife, said Mrs. Stallings.

She has been hospitalized, but an effort is being made to get Mrs.

Byrd and her husband into the Ronald McDonald House for outpatients and family members as soon as there is an opening.

Byrd is also in ill health and unable to work, Mrs. Stallings said. The couple does not have hospital insurance.

COLLINGSWORTH COUNTY AGENT REPORT

BEWARE OF CHILD SAFETY SEAT BARGAINS

Parents who feel they cannot afford the $30 - $40 cost of a new child safety seat may be tempted to search the garage sales and want ads looking for a bargain.

The recent passage of the Child Safety Seat Law by the Texas legislature now requires the use of child restraints for transporting children younger than four years old.

"But a used child safety seat that could be defective is no bargain," says Nancy Janes, County Extension Agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Parents need to shop very carefully to avoid buying a defective used seat which can endanger the life of their child if they are involved in an accident.

The first test of a child restraint device is whether it has a label stating that it "meets or exceeds all federal safety standards."

Beginning in 1981, the federal standard governing child safety seats required crash testing of the devices to insure their safety. All seats that meet the standard can be considered good ones.

Some car seats manufactured prior to 1981 meet these requirements, while others do not. Many seats now on the used market were made before 1981, so parents should always look for that label.

In addition to the federal safety label, parents should look for the following defects in used child restraint devices.

Check the harness to see if it is torn at any point. A torn belt system can be easily repaired on most safety seats with replacements ordered from the manufacturer.

Also examine the padding to see if it is torn. If so, it should be replaced with new padding from the manufacturer.

A child restraint system with these defects will not adequately protect a child until the belt system and padding are replaced. Parents should not purchase a used seat with these problems unless they actually intend to repair them.

If the device has a metal frame, check to see if it rattles. Ask the owner if you may tighten the screws on the frame. If the frame is still loose after tightening, do not buy it.

Also, check the seat bars, if they are twisted or bent, do not buy the seat since full protection cannot be guaranteed.

The manufacturer's directions for using the safety seat should be provided by the owner. Most seats made after 1981 have a place on the seat to store instructions. For effective use of the seat, parents must carefully follow the manufacturer's instructions.

Finally, try the seat in your car before buying. Certain types of safety belts may cause installation problems. Bulky seat-belt buckles, for example, will not fit through the belt slots on some safety seats.

Simply using a child restraint device is not enough. Parents must also make sure that the device itself is safe and used properly in order to protect their children from injury or death in an accident.

FmHA State Directors Advising on Farm Credit Initiatives

TEMPLE--All of the Farmers Home Administration's state directors and farmer program chiefs are reviewing plans to put into action President Reagan's farm credit initiatives to help farmers experiencing severe financial stress, J. Lynn Futch, FmHA state director for Texas said today.

J. Lynn Futch and Robert Hopper, farmer program chief for Texas, returned over the weekend from a day-long strategy session in Washington with FmHA National Administrator Charles W. Shuman and other national and state FmHA officials.

"There can be no question about the commitment of the Farmers Home Administration at all levels to put this plan to work to help those farmers with sustainable operations who are caught in a financial squeeze through circumstances beyond their control," Futch said.

Based on the agency-wide discussion of loan and guarantee details, final procedures for operation will be completed in the FmHA National Office in a matter of days. Once any legal questions are resolved, the agency then will publish the instructions and distribute them to field offices for action.

Under the President's plan, FmHA will be able to set aside up to 25 percent -- to a maximum of $100,000 -- of a qualifying farmer's loan without interest for five years.

For farmers in financial distress who do not have FmHA loans, the agency can guarantee up to 90 percent of a new loan if their lender is willing to write off enough of the farmer's debt to put the loan in a secured position and achieve a positive cash flow.

The key in both approaches is to restore the farmer to a positive cash flow situation. Essentially, that means to restructure the debt and reorganize the farming operation, if needed, to establish the financial strength needed to meet all farm operating costs, family living expenses, machinery upkeep and service all debts.

Futch said FmHA borrowers will be advised of their eligibility to participate during the annual review of their loans

Farm Bureau Fights Pesticide Regulations

The Collingsworth County Farm Bureau is taking steps to oppose pesticide regulations which are being proposed by the Texas Department of Agriculture, according to Lynn Emmert of Wellington, county president.

Emmert pointed out that existing state and federal regulations are adequate for protection of farm workers, farm operators, applicators, and others.

The county farm leader said the proposals are unnecessary, unreasonable and, in many cases, unworkable. The proposed regulations, which deal with the application of pesticides, would make it difficult for farmers to use this valuable tool to make a profit, he said.

The proposed standards were printed in the Texas Register Oct. 23. Interested parties have 30 days from that date to make official comment.

The Collingsworth County Farm Bureau has sent a letter to the TDA in opposition to the proposals. A number of county leaders will attend a hearing on the subject Pesticide Regulations in Lubbock Thursday, Nov. 15 at 2 p.m., at Lubbock Convention Center, Emmert said.

The regulations would establish rules for:

(1) Notifying persons who might be affected by pesticide.

(2) Posting notices and knowing specific details of chemical safety information.

(3) Providing oral warnings to persons who might enter a treated field.

(4) Determining illegal applications and clarifying drift liability.

(5) Establishing re-entry intervals into treated fields.

(6) Establishing a TDA technical advisory committee.

The county farm leader said farmers who must use agricultural chemicals should not be fooled by conditional exemptions for some crops. He said the rules relate only to posting warnings and re-entry intervals -- and then only if workers are not "required to make substantial contact with plants, foliage, soil, or other sources of pesticide residue."

The farm leader said that farmers and ranchers have more reason than most people to be careful with farm chemicals.

"We live on the land, and of course, we don't want to hurt the environment or those who work for us," he said.

He said that by complying with existing state and federal regulations, farmers are providing adequate protection. He said the Texas Department of Agriculture has not made a convincing case for the proposed stringent regulations.

WHS Texas Resources Library Still Growing

By Anita Roberts

Wellington School Librarian

The Wellington High School Texas collection is growing!

New additions feature the newest Texas Almanac 1984-85, four new collective biographies and a children's writing book of prose and poetry.

The biographies feature known and lesser known Texans mostly women. "Women of Texas" written by several authors has short biographical writings with lovely colored pictures as well as black and white sketches.

"Women on the Texas Frontier" a cross cultural perspective" by Ann Patton Malone has lesser known Texas women and the hardships endured in early Texas.

"We Can Fly" by Mary Beth Rogers covers doctors to civil rights crusaders to space women with short write ups and many photographs.

A gift from the Texas Historical Foundation is "Hometown Heroes of Texas" - a who's who of community people, very short biographies.

An unusual addition is "I will always stay me" by Sherry Kafka and has writings both in prose and poetry by Texas migrant children ranging in age from five to seventeen.

The high school library became a charter member of the State Historical Foundation in 1983. As new Texas or Texas related material comes out there are donations from companies, individuals or outright purchases so they are available at each center. Much of the material may be limited edition, and can be other than books such as tapes, pamphlets, pictures, filmstrips or movies pertaining to Texas.

Scoopin'

As Election Day's spectacularly brilliant, rich pink sunrise spread across the eastern sky, it seemed to herald something. As it turned out, it heralded the end of Jack Hightower's decade-long tenure as U.S. Representative from Texas' 13th Congressional District.

That means that traditionally Democratic Collingsworth County now has a Republican Congressman (Beau Boulter), a Republican Senator (Phil Gramm) and a Republican President (Ronald Reagan.) And no organized county Republican Party.

We are in need of one more now than ever before.

County citizens have traditionally turned to their local Democratic Party chairman or to the respective Democratic county campaign chairmen when they were in need of help in dealing with the state and, especially, federal governments.

With Republicans in office, we need a conduit of local supporters to relay the problems and provide the answers to our questions. When we have trouble with the passport office, the IRS, or the Social Security system we need a local Republican who can provide us with a little clout in dealing with the bureaucracies.

It's time for Republicans to come on out of the closet, get organized and get with it. All of us in Collingsworth County will be better off if they do.

The absentee box in the general election is usually the first one counted, but a record turnout (502 absentee ballots) and a partial recount delayed that box's returns until after midnight on election night, hours after the regular voting boxes had been accounted for.

The large turnout had some other side effects. A friend who voted in the Precinct 2 box at the courthouse said the old county school supervisor's office, the traditional polling place for that box, was too small to accommodate voters in any sort of privacy when he went to vote. We may have to look for another room in the courthouse for that box, now that the elevator makes all the floors equally accessible.

Another sign of the times: a friend asked an election judge here a question about how to vote a straight ticket and still vote for other party candidates in unopposed or write-in races. The judge said "Well, you just place your x here," indicating the Democratic Party column. After several failures to communicate, my friend said "No, you see I want to vote a straight Republican ticket."

The final tally on the Congressional race is a surprising 107,564 votes for Beau Boulter, 95,283 for Jack Hightower.

Here's a thought to console the Democrats: If the next four years prove to be as tough economically as some people are predicting, and if the choices to be made are as unpopular (such as raising taxes or cutting services severely) as some have suggested, the Democrats may be happy they are out of office and out of the blame line.

1985 Spelling Bee Plans Announced

AMARILLO - For the 37th year the Amarillo Globe-News and West Texas State University, Canyon, are again sponsoring the National Spelling Bee for students in public and parochial schools in this area.

Directors of the 46 counties of the Panhandle of Texas, parts of Oklahoma, New Mexico and Kansas are being named to handle their respective events. Directors select the dates of their county bees and report their champions to the Amarillo newspaper. The director for Collingsworth County will be Dollie Mae Wilson of 1808 Ellison. For a number of years the Collingsworth Retired Teachers Association has sponsored the county bee and Mrs. Wilson serves as their director.

Information relating to the county program may be obtained from the director. Other information concerning the 1985 Regional Bee, scheduled for April 27 on the campus of WTSU, will be available on request from Gene Parker, bee coordinator. Parker is director of placement for WTSU.

The deadline for directors to report their county champs to Jeane Bartlett, Spelling Bee Editor for the Amarillo newspaper will be April 6. The winner of the 1985 regional bee will be sent to Washington, D.C. to take part in the National Spelling Bee, early in June, with all expenses paid, courtesy of the Amarillo Globe-News. This includes expenses for one parent.

Rules, established by the national sponsors, the Scripps-Howard Newspapers, state that any student who will not be older than 16 by June 1, or in a grade higher than the 8th by the end of the current school term, may participate.

A Junior Bee for younger students, grade six and under, will also be conducted in each county if directors so desire. The county junior winners do not spell in the Regional Bee, but are special guests of the sponsors and will be recognized and awarded trophies.

The booklet, "Words of the Champions", containing more than 3,000 words and prepared by the national sponsors, is used in most school events and county contests. The booklet is available from the Amarillo Globe-News and is priced at only 40-cents each. Orders should be mailed to Spelling Bee Editor, Amarillo Globe-News, Box 2091, Amarillo, Texas 79166.

STATE CAPITAL

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—While the Texas Secretary of State checks preliminary totals of the massive voter turnout in Tuesday's general election, political party leaders are sorting the ballot returns to dissect the largest voter registration war this state has witnessed.

A month ago, party chiefs and others knew the election result would hinge on how the more than one million new registrants would vote.

The Democrats targeted precincts that traditionally vote 65 percent Democrat or better, figuring that statistically they would pick up almost seven out of every 10 new voters.

The Republicans weren't sitting idly, either—they concentrated on their key precincts and on college campuses, trying to take advantage of the wave of conservatism there.

In the final days before the election, each side claimed victory in the voter registration war, but privately most political observers felt that no one could say just who gained where. It will be a favorite subject of political reporting for weeks to come.

No Son of '82

This business of registering new voters was what Democrats were heavily banking on to overcome the point spreads that pollsters everywhere were shaking out of their computers. Until the last weekend, virtually every poll made public indicated the Republicans—Ronald Reagan and Phil Gramm—were leading the Democrats in Texas, anywhere from 10 to 20 points.

But the same polling results in '82 had Republicans overconfident that Gov. Bill Clements would defeat his challenger Mark White, the Democrat. And while the GOP basked in the security of summer poll results, the Democrats were changing the rules of the game: they were out registering new voters that the pollsters didn't even know about yet.

When the '82 returns came in, the Democrats knew that their registration drive, coupled with an energetic and modernized "Get-Out-The-Vote" effort, had done the impossible.

They tried to work that same plan again this year, but the Republicans had caught on, at least enough to neutralize the Democratic hopes of swelling the black and Hispanic percentages.

Breakdown

Some estimates of the '84 voter pool ranged at about 76 percent Anglo, 13 percent Hispanic and 11 percent black.

Voter registration increased in the following counties: Bexar, 7.3 percent; Dallas, 16.9 percent; El Paso, 26.9 percent; Harris, 24 percent; Hidalgo, 30 percent; Jefferson, 14.7 percent; Lubbock, 13.2 percent; Nueces, 14.3 percent; Tarrant, 26 percent; and Travis, 31.9 percent.

The Hispanic registration was a one point gain over the percentage signed up in '82, but Democrats counted heavily on Hispanics turning out in record numbers to vote for Walter Mondale and Lloyd Doggett.

Meanwhile, absentee balloting in rural counties across the Lone Star State indicated that the real key voter was the Independent Anglo, still the majority here.

More Polarization?

In the election aftermath, it may never be determined which party actually profited from the massive number of voter-citizens participating at the ballot box, aside from the bottom line indicator of who won and who lost.

Two years ago, the Democrats swept the entire ballot and promptly installed a bevy of liberals in the party headquarters, alienating or angering the conservatives of the party. The bitter primary battle featuring personal attacks from liberal Lloyd Doggett against his two conservative rivals, Kent Hance and Bob Krueger, further divided the party. It was symptomatic of the thinking of some liberal Democrats that they could win without the conservatives once and for all because of the new minority voter registration.

But whatever the final, official outcome, the Republicans have bounced back from their shattering defeat only 24 months ago: Texas is again, and probably for all-time, a two-party state. All signals indicate that more polarization is likely to occur.

Or Reconciliation?

However ignored or overlooked the moderate voter was in this election, they could find themselves the target of persuasion from both parties in the coming months.

Conceivably, conservative Democrats could find themselves more at home in the GOP because of fiscal philosophy and liberal Republicans could feel more comfortable in the Democratic Party because of social issues.

Perhaps the most obvious factor will be how the liberal party leadership treats conservative Democrat Kent Hance, an all-but-announced candidate for some statewide office in '86. Whether they embrace his candidacy as good for party unity or whether they urge his final ousting on grounds of party purity will make a big difference on future elections.

SWCD Directors at State Association

TEMPLE -- District Directors at the Forty-fourth Annual State Meeting of Soil and Water Conservation District elected Waldo Smith of Brenham president, and W.Q. Richards of Paducah vice president of the Association of Texas Soil and Water Conservation Districts. Approximately 1,000 persons attended this meeting including directors representing the 201 conservation districts in Texas. The meeting was held recently in Corpus Christi.

Representing Salt Fork Soil and Water Conservation district at the meeting were Tommy Lewis and Dan Henard, Jr., both members of the district board.

Smith, a livestock producer and agri-businessman, has served as a director of the State Association for Area Three since 1980. Area Three consists of 40 SWCDs which cover 50 counties in the southernmost region of Texas. Smith is also a current member and secretary of the Washington SWCD which is headquartered in Brenham.

Joe Montgomery, immediate past president of the State Association, will continue to serve on the Board of Directors as an

USDA Announces Cotton, Feed Grain Programs

Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block has announced provisions of the 1985 cotton and feed grain programs:

1985 COTTON PROGRAM

Secretary Block announced a 20 percent acreage reduction program and a 10 percent paid land diversion program for the 1985 crop of upland cotton.

Program sign-up will be Oct. 15 through March 1.

Producers may request 50 percent of their projected 1985 deficiency payments and 50 percent of their 1985 diversion payments when they sign up.

USDA estimates the deficiency payment rate at 19.80 cents per pound. Advance payments to eligible farmers will be half that rate.

The land diversion payment rate has been established at 30 cents per pound. This is based on the per pound payment rate times the farm yield times the acres diverted. Advance payments will be one half of the diversion payment.

A producer who accepts an advance payment, but who later does not comply with program provisions, must refund the amount of the advance payment with interest plus liquidated damages.

Secretary Block encouraged cotton producers to participate in the 1985 program and help prevent stocks from rising to excessive levels.

To be eligible for program benefits, a producer must agree to limit upland cotton acreage planted for harvest to not more than 70 percent of the farm's upland cotton base and devote to acreage conservation reserve an acreage of eligible cropland equal to 28.57 percent of the 1985 planted acreage plus 10 percent of the applicable upland cotton base.

The 1985 target price is 81 cents per pound. The loan rate for the 1985 crop cannot be determined until after Oct. 15. The statutory minimum loan rate is 55.0 cents per pound.

Other 1985 upland cotton program provisions include:

--The 1985 acreage base will be the average of the acres planted and considered planted to upland cotton in 1983 and 1984.

--Acreage conservation reserve acres must have been devoted to a row crop or small grains in two of the last three years. For summer fallow acreage, the cropping requirement is one of the last two years.

--Haying will not be permitted on acreage conservation reserve land. However, the acreage may be grazed except during the five principal growing months as designated by county ASC committees. Block said he has approved a standby measure authorizing, in the event of a natural disaster, implementation of emergency haying and grazing privileges. Approval of the emergency privileges would be made as needed on a county-by-county basis.

--Offsetting and cross compliance will not apply.

--Contracts signed by program participants will be considered as binding and will provide for liquidated damages in cases of failure to comply with program requirements.

--Recourse loans will be available for seed cotton. The seed cotton will be adjusted to a lint basis and the loan rate applicable to lint cotton will be used.

TONY JACKSON

Tony Jackson Receives Eagle Scout Award

A Boy Scout Court of Honor was held at the 1st United Methodist Church in Wheeler Sunday, afternoon, Oct. 14, in which four members from Troop 272 received their Eagle Badges.

One of these Tony Jackson, 14-year-old son of Jim and Frankie Jackson, formerly of Wellington.

The Eagle is the highest earned award a Boy Scout can receive.

Tony is the grandson of Sylvia and Palo Cummings and is a freshman in Wheeler High School.

New Tax Changes Book Cost; More Volumes Must Be Sold

Due to the increase in state tax, effective Oct. 2, 1984, there is a new price on those books for Texas delivery, Evelyn King, chairman, announced. It does not affect the out-of-state price.

The new price for books to be picked up locally is: $35 cost of book, plus $1.80 state tax, total $36.80.

Cost mailed to Texas residents: book - $35.00; tax - $1.80; mailing charge $3.25 for a total of $40.05; books mailed to other states: book - $35.00, cost of mailing - $3.25.

BPW members will begin selling county books by streets within the next few weeks. More books must be sold. At this time, the goal of 1000 book orders has not been reached," said Mrs. King.

There are 1255 family histories to be included in the book. These have had to be typed, numbered, words in each counted, all names in each story underlined, copies made, and all recorded in record books. The same procedure is being done for all pictures received, as well as on the sections on schools, churches, ranches, clubs and organizations, old businesses, governments, as well as the general history section of all communities in the county.

"Many volunteers have helped the volunteer book committee. The deadline to have the process completed is October 24, at which time all material is to be sent to Taylor Publishing Company in Dallas," Mrs. King said. Within a certain time, the publishers will return material to be proof-read by the committee as to the way material is to be in the book.

After the proofreading, material is returned to the publishers to begin their work of putting book together. At this time, there is no exact date the books will be received.

Rockettes-Stratford Play at River Road

A reunion of sorts will take place in the Wellington Rockettes basketball team in its scrimmage with Stratford girls at River Road gymnasium in Amarillo, Saturday, November 17.

Both the varsity and junior varsity teams will play, with the JV game starting at 10:00 a.m.

Rockettes, coached by Don Lacy, will meet a Stratford team coached by Dale Morris, Wellington girls coach for a number of years.

County Participates in Home Weatherizing

Governor Mark White announced Sept. 24 that the Texas Department of Community Affairs has released $2,419,613 to contractors for the continuation of the Weatherization Assistance for Low-Income Persons Program.

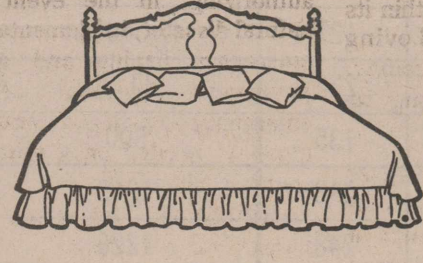

From these funds, the Panhandle Community Action Cooperation will receive $49,636. Participating in this money will be Collingsworth and 24 other counties in the Texas Panhandle. Those in this area are Childress, Hall, Donley, Gray and Wheeler.

These funds will be available for the Fiscal Year 1985 program from fuel overcharge funds set aside by the 68th Legislature for this purpose and $419,613 supplemental grant from the FFY 1984 Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP) block grant funding.

Additional support will be added to the Weatherization Program later in the year from the regular 1985 U.S. Department of Energy funding for this program and from the 1985 LIHEAP funding.

The Weatherization Assistance program provides help to low-income households, with priority to elderly (60 plus) and handicapped.

BPW Thanksgiving
Dinner Set Nov. 13

A community wide Thanksgiving dinner, offering an evening of good food and good fellowship, will be sponsored by Wellington Business and Professional Women's Club Tuesday, Nov. 13. It will be in Bura Handley Community Center from 5:30 to 7 p.m.

Tickets are still available from BPW members at $4.00 each or $4.25 each if the plates are taken out.

The traditional Thanksgiving meal will be served, according to Dollie Mae Wilson, chairman. This will include turkey with the usual vegetables, relishes and pie.

It will be a home-cooked meal, it is pointed out, as various members will prepare the turkeys in their own kitchens.

"As in the past, this will bring the people of the community and the outlying sections together for a period of enjoying good food, and good fellowship among friends. This is one of the events at which you may see friends whom you do not often get together with," said Mrs. Wilson.

Jeanice Adams, B&PW Club Woman of the Year, will greet the people as they arrive.

All club members will join in preparing and serving the dinner.

Each year proceeds from the dinner are used by B&PW to finance their various community project and to contribute to state and national B&PW projects. Some of these are ongoing. Others are new projects carried out on a one-time only basis.

The community is invited to join B&PW in this annual dinner.

BLOCKING

Skyrocket Neal Duncan, 81, leads the blocking for James Patterson, 21, as Clarendon Broncho Dewey Mincey, 25 closes on the ball carrier.

Clarendon Downs Skyrockets, 26-12

It was the game of the big play, and the Clarendon Bronchos put together more of them to defeat the Wellington Skyrockets 26-12 at Clarendon Friday, Nov. 2.

The action started after a couple of punt exchanges in the first quarter when the Skyrockets recovered a Clarendon fumble at the Clarendon 33. The Rockets offense quickly made a first down but then stalled at Clarendon's 15 on 4th down and turned the ball over.

The Bronchos came back with a 4-play 85-yard drive that included a 35-yard pass from quarterback Trent Sharp to Robert Youngblood and a 24-yard touchdown run by Rodney Smith. Sharp kicked the extra point to give Clarendon a 7-0 lead with five seconds to play in the first quarter.

In the second quarter the Rockets gave Clarendon a terrific scoring opportunity when the Bronchos recovered a Wellington fumble at the Wellington 18.

But excellent pass defense including outstanding play by Jamie McKay and Johnny Nash held Clarendon at the 14.

The Skyrockets moved to midfield on the ensuing drive before being forced to punt. Tracy Day's perfect punt rolled dead inside the Clarendon 1 yard line. But Clarendon was able to work out to the 19 before punting the ball back, and the Rockets fumbled the punt return and turned the ball back to Clarendon at the 44.

Neither team could come up with more than 1 first down per series and Clarendon went into halftime with a 7-0 lead.

But on the first play after the half, Broncho Rodney Smith broke through Wellington defenders for a 69-yard dash for a touchdown. The Skyrockets blocked the extra point kick and Clarendon held a 13-0 lead.

Then on Clarendon's next possession, the Bronchos put together a 52 yard scoring drive keyed by a 34-yard pass, again from Trent Sharp to Robert Youngblood. Stanley Gardner carried for the 3-yard touchdown run. The Skyrockets intercepted an extra point pass attempt and the score stood at 19-0.

Clarendon was threatening to score again in the third quarter, but Skyrocket James Benton intercepted a Broncho pass at the Wellington 13. And two plays later Benton broke through the center of Clarendon's defensive line and outran two backs for an 89-yard touchdown run. An extra point pass attempt failed and the Rockets closed to 19-6 with 4:30 to play in the third quarter.

On the Skyrockets next possession, they put together a 57-yard drive that culminated in a 5-yard touchdown run by James Benton with 8:25 to play in the final quarter. The extra point pass failed and Clarendon clung to a 19-12 lead.

But Clarendon came back with the final big play of the night to put the game away with 2:52 to play: Halfback Stanley Gardner slipped through Rocket defenders for a 57-yard touchdown run. An extra point kick by Trent Sharp made the final score 26-12, Clarendon.

Non-profit Groups Can Request Tax Exempt Status

Many non-profit civic and social welfare organizations can have their tax exempt status recognized by the Internal Revenue Service by filing an application for recognition with the IRS.

The IRS says that an organization with subordinate chapters can apply for a group exemption letter, rather than having each affiliate apply.
