Sheriff Crockett Says Victim Of Accident Died Before Passersby Could Pick Them Up And Render Assistance

(By The Associated Press)

ALAMOGORDO, N. M., Dec. 15—R. E. Rose, 50, mayor of Morton, Tex., died of injuries near the Mescalero Indian reservation today when the automobile in which he was riding with J. S. Crockett, sheriff of Cochran county, Tex., turned over in a narrow canyon.

Sheriff Crockett, who was only slightly hurt, said Rose lived about an hour after the accident, dying before passersby could pick him up and render assistance.

The pair had left Morton last night en route to Alamogordo to purchase lumber from the saw mills here.

Fireman Is Killed When Train Leaves Track

CORLEY, Dec. 15. (AP)—Fireman W. H. Wynn of Commerce, was killed and a number of passengers were shaken up when a northbound Cotton Belt train was derailed near here today. The train was en route from Dallas to St. Louis.

The locomotive and tender overturned and two baggage cars and two day coaches left the rails.

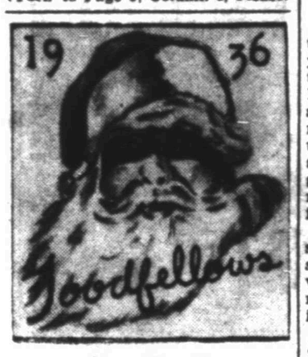

Trapped In Cab

Wynn was trapped in the cab and workers used acetylene torches to reach his body.

B. M. Holley, justice of the peace at Maud, witnessed the accident. He said the locomotive ploughed along the track for 300 feet before it overturned.

No official explanation was given on cause of the accident, but ob-

St. Nick's Assistants Push Cheer Fund Above $400

OLD ST. NICHOLAS' right hand assistants, the Goodfellows, had increased the Christmas cheer fund to the $400-mark last night.

That sum, of course, is far short of the total necessary to see that Santa Claus visits every one of Lubbock's estimated 1,500 underprivileged children.

The steady stream of cash contributions has never failed, although it has slowed considerably.

Many Lubbock men and women are planning to add their donations, whether $1 or $10, to the Goodfellows Christmas fund.

"DO IT NOW, please, so we can see how we stand," was the plea of Chief Goodfellow.

Response of Mr. and Mrs. Lubbock to that plea will be the yardstick of Christmas joy in many homes here.

Toys, candies, fruits, and nuts (and perhaps a bright shiny nickel) will go into each sock to be delivered this Christmas—if Lubbock persons rally behind the Goodfellows as they did last year.

The Goodfellows urged several persons who have pledged contributions to send checks at once.

J. H. Walker Retires From Land Office

Man Who Had Served 38 Years In State Land Office Yields His Post To Eastland Man Tuesday; Cites Payments

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Dec. 15. — Land Commissioner J. H. Walker, who has sold and resold some 40,000,000 acres of state land in his more than seven years tenure, yielded the office tonight to William H. McDonald of Eastland.

Walker did not stand for reelection this year. Completion of his term ended 38 years service in the land office. Prior to election as commissioner, he served 31 years, more than 20 as chief clerk.

Future Plans Not Definite

Walker said he would live in Austin and, although his plans for the future were not definite, would continue to work.

Reviewing his tenure, he said he believed expansion of the oil industry, in which the land office played a large part, was the outstanding development.

Report Shows Payments

His final biennial report showed that at the end of the last fiscal year, royalty was being paid through the office on 948 wells under 233 leases covering 34,238 acres of school land. On university land, royalty was coming from 585 wells under 63 leases covering 18,141 acres. Also the school funds was getting royalty from 197 wells in river beds and from 56 wells covering 2,253 acres of submerged land.

In the past two years, Walker said, receipts of the permanent school fund were $6,831,765, of which $3,353,588 was in bonus and rental on mineral leases, $1,780,167 in royalties and $1,698,009 as pur-

Gay Is 'Concerned' Over Situation

NEW YORK, Dec. 15. (AP)—Charles R. Gay, president of the New York Stock exchange, today expressed "concern" over recent increasingly heavy trading in low-priced shares.

In an interview, Gay said:

"It's not my place to say whether the market is too high or too low—that's for buyers and sellers of stocks to decide for themselves—and the exchange is only the meeting place for orders.

"But I don't like the looks of the recent flurry in stocks selling at a few dollars a share—that king of activity in 'penny' stocks usually means the uninformed person is coming into the market—and that's a matter for grave concern."

"Good Progress" Reported On Anglo-American Trade Pact

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15. (AP) — Secretary Wallace said today that "good progress" had been made recently toward a reciprocal trade agreement between Great Britain and the United States.

He added at a press conference that such a trade pact was important "because one-half of all of our agricultural products exported by the United States last year, excluding cotton, went to the United Kingdom."

German Views Are Given By Nazi Official

"Discriminating Party Of The Versailles Treaty" To Be Scrapped, Von Ribbentrop Says In London Talk

Solution Desirable

Colonial Question To Be Of Best Interest To All In Long Run, Ambassador Says In Frank Statement

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Dec. 15.—Joachim Von Ribbentrop, Germany's new ambassador to London, declared Germany was determined to scrap "the discriminating part of the Versailles treaty" in a speech tonight emphasizing Germany's need for colonial possessions.

"One thing is certain," he said, "and this I cannot help stating:

No Nation Would Tolerate

"Germany has made up her mind to get rid of that discriminating part of the Versailles treaty which no great nation could have tolerated forever.

"To attain this aim by agreement, Der Fuehrer and chancellor made his offer to the world, but the world, still blind and wrapped up in the mentality which is generally known today as 'the Spirit of Versailles,' did not respond."

Sees Two Essential Means

Speaking for the first time before an English audience since his appointment as ambassador, he continued: "but Der Fuehrer sees now, as before, in the possession of colonies desired for supply of raw materials only, on one side, and in world trade on the other, two most essential means of raising the standard of life of his people from the present subsistence level.

"A reasonable solution to the colonial question, therefore, is most desirable and to my mind to the interest of all in the long run."

Ginnings Gain Fifty Per Cent

Total Of 341,719 Bales Turned Out In 19 Counties Of Area Up To December 1; Lubbock County Leads Total

South Plains counties for the 1936 season, up to December 1, had ginned 341,719 bales, a net gain of a fraction over 50 per cent more than for the same period last year, it was shown by the bureau of the census report of ginnings, issued from Washington.

Last year the ginnings were 226,665 bales, or 115,054 bales less than this year.

Lubbock County Leads

Lubbock county led the plains with 53,515 bales; followed by Lynn with 44,527 bales and by Dawson with 40,928 bales. Lamb was fourth with 36,858 bales; Hockley fifth with 31,851 bales.

Four counties, Briscoe, Dickens, Garza and Motley, showed fewer ginnings this year than last.

90 To 95 Per Cent Out

Ginnings are estimated at from 90 to 95 per cent out, for the territory. In a number of areas, particularly west of Lubbock, the percentage is less than 90 per cent.

The total is slightly above the

Eastern Farm Group Gets First-Hand Knowledge Of Agriculture In Territory

Christmas For Farmer Richer

Despite Rumored Squeeze Coup Denial Of New Orleans Firm, Price Rise May Bring $10,000,000 To Farmers.

(By The Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 15.—One of the most welcome Christmas presents the South could expect—a high price for cotton—appeared assured tonight through a market maneuver of New Orleans brokers that may mean an added $10,000,000 for growers.

The price of the staple has advanced $5 a bale in the last month nearly 13 cents a pound. About 2,000,000 bales remain to be sold, thus increasing the value around $10,000,000.

Successfully Complete Coup

It appeared the firm of Tullis, Craig & Co., which has been behind the advance, had successfully completed one of the first coups on the cotton market in several years.

While hedged in with several technical factors, their operation followed the simple rule of buying when they thought cotton was cheap and selling it at a higher price.

The sharp upturn in the December position, in which most of the activity had centered, drew rumors of a "squeeze" and widely circulated reports the firm had realized from $200,000 to $2,000,000 on the deal. This drew a denial from Granger M. Tullis, head of the company.

Tullis said the firm had no intention of "creating a so-called squeeze

Delegation Of 150 Is Carried On Tour Of Lubbock Area

TRANSPLANT COTTON

Prize story of the lack of knowledge of Southern agriculture, as displayed by Northern agriculturalists Tuesday on their visit here is related by I. M. Robinson, traveling freight agent of the Santa Fe, who escorted a party of New Hampshire folks over the 50-mile trip.

"Now, about this cotton planting?" one of the party asked the railroad man. "Do you start it in boxes, around the house, and when it is big enough, transplant it in the field?"

Mr. Robinson explained the planting process and added, "That other way would be some job for some of these men who plant 300 acres or more in cotton."

Nelson Jost, Waltham, Mass., treasurer of the Massachusetts Farm Bureau federation, was head of the party, handling details. He arranged for the stop in Lubbock and an automobile trip to Slaton.

Consensus of the visitors was that the agricultural possibilities of the South Plains far exceeded any preconceived idea they had of the realties here. "We never dreamed

Wallace Cites Need For Crop Control Plans

Secretary Of Agriculture's Annual Report To President Gives Views On Situation In U. S. At Present

Insurance Is Need

Solution Of Farm Tenancy And Long-Time Program To Cut Down Drouth Damage Also Included In Proposals

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—A need for stronger crop control measures in future national farm programs was reported to President Roosevelt today by his secretary of agriculture.

Reviewing administration farm policies of the past four years, Secretary Wallace advised the chief executive that "on the whole agriculture is out of the red and making progress toward financial rehabilitation." This, he said, was despite devastating drouths this year and in 1934.

Contained In Report

Wallace's views were contained in his annual report on the department of agriculture.

Looking ahead, he reported a need for a federal crop insurance plan, a solution of farm tenancy problems, and a long time national program to reduce drouth damage.

These three matters are being surveyed by special commissions appointed by the president.

Scarcity Never Intended

Wallace said that "scarcity never was intended and never approached" by administration farm programs because the goal of both farmers and federal officials was "adequate production for domestic requirements, plus whatever additional supply can be sold profitably abroad."

The original agricultural adjustment act, voided early this year by the Supreme court was termed by

Approximately 100 Boys, Girls Who Had Completed Projects For 1936 In 4-H Work Are Given Achievement Pins

BY ARTIE HICKS

Lubbock county 4-H club boys and girls who had completed their 1936 projects received recognition for their work at an annual achievement program of the organization last night in the boy's dormitory of Texas Technological college.

Approximately 100 boys and girls representing the 14 clubs of Lubbock county attended the program and received pins, presented by J. D. Hassell, jr., president of Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, on behalf of the chamber.

Dinner Program Presented

A buffet supper served to the boys and girls and about 30 professional and business men and woman, was followed by a program.

Misses Geraldine and Louise Haney sang the national 4-H club song. Club sponsors were introduced by Miss Gladys Sanders, assistant county home demonstration agent. Mrs. V. L. Cade of Union discussed responsibilities of sponsors. Mrs. F. F. Revier of Carlisle and Homer E. Thompson summarized work of girls and boys.

Walter Britten, Texas 4-H club president, said the club movement is causing fathers of the boys to adopt more modern farming meth-

War Lord May Be Still Alive; Reports Vary

Serious Doubts That He And His Generals Were Executed Is Expressed; Japan Agency Issues Report

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Dec. 16. (Wednesday)—Reports reaching here indicate General Chiang Kai-Shek, China's strong man, may be still alive, the prisoner at Sianfu, Shensi province, of his rebellious subordinate, Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang.

Serious doubts that he and several of his generals were executed at Sianfu, as Marshal Chang was reported to have told China in a radio broadcast, were raised today by later dispatches reaching Tokyo.

Telegram Is Received

The Chinese ambassador to Tokyo Hsu Shih-Ying, said he had received a telegram from his government today stating that W. H. Donald, Australian adviser to the Nanking regime, was on his way back to Nanking from Loyang bringing Chang Hsueh-Liang's terms for the release of General Chiang. This message made no mention of the supposed executions.

The Domei (Japanese) news agency early this morning stated categorically in dispatches from Shanghai and Nanking that Marshal Chang had announced the executions of his prisoners.

Report Contradicted

Later, however, it published an account of Donald's return to Loyang from Sianfu, published in Nanking by the Central News agency, which tended to contradict Domei's earlier account of Marshal Chang's shocking announcement. The Central News agency is the organ of the Chinese government.

Donald, according to the later

FDR Returns To Capital Tuesday

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP)—President Roosevelt returned tonight to a capital scene already quickening to the tempo of his second term.

Arriving by special train from Charleston, S. C., where he landed this morning after a trip to the Buenos Aires peace conference, the chief executive was greeted by Vice President Garner, members of his cabinet and Mrs. Roosevelt.

The president's wife boarded the train shortly after it rolled into the station and then motored to the White House with Mr. Roosevelt.

Boarding the train for brief chats with the president were Secretary Morgenthau and Ickes, acting Secretary of State R. Walton Moore and Attorney General Cummings.

Great Plains Shelterbelt Is Defended By Agriculture Chief

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15. (AP) — Without specifically urging its revival, Secretary Wallace defended today the Great Plains shelterbelt, ordered liquidated by the last congress.

Landing Hoped Made In Rough Mountain Area

Plane Last Heard From At 3:27 A. M. Tuesday As Position Is Reported Over Milford In Southwestern Utah

Search Conducted

Planes, Motor Cars And Men On Foot Go On Hunt For Lost Plane, Pilot, Stewardess And Passengers

(By The Associated Press)

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 15.—Fear grew tonight that an airliner missing with seven persons, including a pretty stewardess who passed up love for her job, may have been forced down high among the forbidding crags of Utah's Wasatch mountains.

The plane—a twin-motored, 10-passenger Boeing of Western Air Express—last was heard from by radio as it thundered along 200 miles an hour at 3:27 a. m., mountain standard time. Then Pilot S. J. Samson reported his position over Milford, in southwestern Utah.

LOVE IN SEARCH

A Lubbock airman and co-pilot of WAE, Sterling T. Love, last night was taking an active role in the search for a missing WAE airliner, the Associated Press reported from Salt Lake City.

The 25-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Love of 2317 Thirteenth street, went by automobile to the Alpine, Utah, area in the afternoon with a radio operator and a stewardess and, that night, took off with Pilot Jimmy James, another co-pilot and a stewardess for a trip over the section believed to hide the airliner's fate.

The Lubbock flier was graduated from high school here, studied mechanical engineering two years in Texas Tech and completed in 1935 a flying course, a bombardment section at Randolph and Kelly fields, said his parents.

Center On Small Area

But as two Army biplanes, a W. A. E. transport, private aircraft and hundreds of volunteers on foot joined the widening search, incoming reports centered hope of searchers near tiny Alpine, only 25 miles southeast of here along the western slope of the Wasatch range.

Apparently last to hear the lost passenger plane—if, in fact, it was the lost craft he heard—was Rex Moyle of Alpine.

Plane Having Trouble

"It was between 3:30 and 4 a. m.," he said. "It sounded like the plane was having trouble. After awhile I couldn't hear the motor at all . . ."

Four searching planes droned back and forth through lowering clouds near Alpine late today—fliers' eyes trained upon the snow-covered slopes of mighty mount Timpanagos, 12,000 feet high, or 11,200-foot lone peak.

Motor Cars Dispatched

Motor cars were dispatched there from Salt Lake City.

Other planes, and searchers on land as well, worked the 180 miles of mountains and valleys and deserts stretching along the route from Milford to Salt Lake City over which the unreported ship would pass on its regular flight from Los Angeles.

Besides Pilot Samson and the now famous little stewardess, Gladys Witt, the airliner carried when it

Girl-Slayer Ends Own Life In Jail

LANSING, Mich., Dec. 15. (AP)—Hope Morgan, who killed her best friend, hanged herself in the county jail today after a plea that "the world forgive me for what I did in a jealous mood."

Scrawled notes found on magazines in her cell told her remorse for shooting Elizabeth Giltner, daughter of a Michigan State college dean, to death a week ago as the two addressed invitations to Miss Giltner's approaching wedding.

"I merely thought Bess was going to have something I never would have," the 25-year-old relief administration stenographer wrote, adding, in the margin of an advertisement picturing a happily married couple, "I couldn't stand the fact of being the only one left."

In the early hours this morning Miss Morgan fashioned a silken noose out of her pajamas. Her body was found hanging from a shower-bath fixture.

Members And Guests Of 1933 Study Club Attend Seated Christmas Tea

The Woman's Angle

By Mariorie Turner

TOO many spoil the lovely season before Christmas by fussing and losing their tempers. Things that ordinarily would pass over unnoticed upsets them and they get all hot and bothered and discouraged over the smallest thing.

Many nervous women look upon all holidays as a worry and responsibility and instead of letting the approach to Christmas be calm and sensible they use it as a club. They say "If you don't do that, Johnny, I'll tell Santa Claus not to leave you anything," until the exasperated child begins to look upon the patron saint as an evil thing.

They stew around. They say that they are declaring post mortums on gift-giving and then feel silly when some friend remembers them, and rush out and buy a last-minute gift. Christmas has come to mean too much of an exchange of gifts rather than giving prompted by love.

What you can do you can do. What you can't you can't. Take it easy. After all it comes but once a year.

DOES THIS EXIST?

WE HEARD of a racket, which should be broken up if it actually exists. The woman who telephoned us was rather excited over it; we'd like to hear opinions.

It seems there are a number of young boys in Lubbock who are determined to get new bicycles without being out any money. They dash in front of slowly moving automobiles or beat them into the curb if the driver is trying to park, falling out of danger themselves but getting their bicycles damaged beyond repair. An immediate howl goes up and the driver gives the boy the price of a new machine rather than go to court or perhaps receive newspaper notoriety.

The boys have picked women drivers for their victims, perhaps knowing that a man will not be won over so easily. However, it's going to make anyone rather shaky to realize that he has just avoided running over a child and perhaps mangling him or even killing him. Those boys, if there is such a thing, and we know the woman who telephoned us to be a truthful thoughtful person, should be taken in hand and made to realize what a dreadful thing this is. They evidently do not realize that they are taking their lives in their hands when they pass in front of cars, no matter how slowly they are moving.

ON BREAKING DIAMONDS

DID you know a diamond can be chipped if dropped? Or, are you like so many people and toss your rings around over the vanity t.) or try to scratch lines on window panes? A man called by the desk a while ago to suggest that we warn our readers. He had dropped his Masonic ring set with a flawless diamond and when he picked it up discovered a chipped facet. He thought what you would have, that the stone was imperfect, but the jeweler explained what had happened. The stone had hit in a position to break.

USELESS FEMININE GIFTS

IF WE were a clerk (and we couldn't sell umbrellas during a rainy season) we would sell men and boys who buy gifts for their sweethearts, wives and mothers something besides those trite presents, that while they are appreciated, because of the love the receiver has for the donor, are placed on a high shelf or exchanged or given to the cook.

In this list we think of huge boxes of candy. We have it on good authority that women prior to middle-age don't like chocolates because of what results are in a thickening figure and afterward their appetites change and they do not care for the taste. Yet, tens of thousands of boxes will be distributed this year to madame and miss. Have you waited on crystal bath salts to dissolve? Well, you agree that powder salts are the better of the two and still bath shelves will be loaded down with heavy glass containers after Christmas Day we wager.

We've expressed ourselves before where dresser sets are concerned. Now we'll merely venture that we have never heard a girl wish for one and we have heard them wish that a lavendar or amber of ivory was out of her sight.

Take atomizers, and you CAN take them because we don't believe many women want them. Certainly not an ornate gold and black one or expensive crystal one that will get knocked off and broken soon after Christmas.

We think giving is a lovely habit. But, that the depression is lifting and things are looking up a bit are not sufficient reasons for us to forget that presents may be sensible and usable and yet be thoroughly appreciated.

Yule Program Is Presented

Rix Quartet Sings Carols At First Methodist Church On Tuesday Afternoon; Bible Story Is Told

A seated Christmas tea was given for members of the 1933 Study club and their guests Tuesday afternoon in the parlors of the First Methodist church.

In the receiving line were Mesdames T. E. Hendrick, Charles Hvass, G. H. Ater and Marvin McLarty. Thirty-five persons attended.

The parlors were decorated with candlesticks, a lighted tree and other Yule decorations, centered mainly around a fireplace.

The Rix quartet, consisting of W. W. Rix, Rex Webster, Mrs. Lottie B. Hilton and Mrs. Kate James Lee, sang some Christmas songs. Piano accompaniments were played by Miss Ruth Elaine Lewis.

Mrs. L. T. Vaughn told the Biblical Christmas story and Mrs. Ater gave a reading which her mother wrote years ago about Christmas customs the world over. Mrs. R. T. Tubbs was program chairman.

Mrs. R. S. Wilkinson, vice-president, presided for a brief business session.

Refreshments were served by Mesdames C. C. Webb, Annie Steel and R. F. Stokes.

Sorosis Class Is At Recent Social

A supper and Christmas party was given for the First Methodist Sorosis class in the church basement Monday night. Mrs. Lottie Boles Hilton sang and gifts were exchanged.

Special guests were Mesdames H. Plate, F. A. Hardage of Amarillo, J. Taylor Bassett and Hilton.

Members present were Mesdames V. H. Lindsey, O. P. Harlan, W. M. Slagle, R. C. Bethany, L. L. Miller, W. E. Tosh, J. M. West, Harvey Austin, Joe Telford, H. B. Bryan, C. D. McGehee, Cecil Burnam, W. Precedent May Echo Decision

Allocation For Dam In Texas In Questioned As Figures Of Private And Army Board Of Engineers Differ

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15. — Precedent-making decisions may come out of forthcoming conferences looking toward release of $3,500,000 already allotted for the Possum Kingdom dam on the Brazos river in Palo Pinto county, Texas.

The government will have to determine whether it will, for the most part, accept cost estimates for flood control and irrigation projects prepared by army engineers or by private surveyors employed by the applicant for federal assistance.

To Seek Compromise

In the case of the Brazos, private engineers have said the Possum Kingdom project would cost about $3,500,000; government men say between $7,000,000 and $8,000,000. A conference will be held probably in Texas to work toward a compromise. Meanwhile, the alocation remains in the federal treasury.

Senator Morris Sheppadd of Texarkana was inclined to regard the difference darkly. He said:

"Why, if the government is going to take the estimates of its engineers, no one will get any of these projects. In a number of cases I know of, the army engineers have tacked about 50 per cent onto the cost figures prepared by experienced firms in the field of such construction."

U. S. Consumption Of Cotton Lower

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15. (AP) — Cotton consumed during November was reported by the census bureau today to have totaled 626,695 bales of lint and 63,767 of linters, compared with 646,499 and 72,546 during October this year and 512,312 and 59,373 during November last year.

Cotton on hand November 30 was reported held as follows:

In consuming establishments 1,792,250 bales of lint and 193,190 of linters, compared with 1,402,916 and 160,781 on October 31 this year and 1,348,830 and 161,787 on November 30 last year.

In public storage and at compresses 8,418,408 bales of lint and 54,762 of linters, compared with 8,028,140 and 62,780 on October 31 this year, and 8,629,078 and 51,778 on November 30 last year.

Imports during November totaled 8,945 compared with 9,944 in October this year and 7,403 in November last year.

Exports for November totaled 688,815 bales of lint and 27,461 of linters, compared with 861,016 and 32,135 during October this year, and 1,134,874 and 30,303 during November last year.

Cotton consumed in cotton-growing states during November totaled 528,513 bales, compared with 541,335 during October this year, and 430,758 during November last year.

English Woman Reports Loss Of $25,000 In Furs At Dallas

DALLAS, Dec. 15. (AP)—A woman who told police she was the Right Honorable Gladys Cecil Lady Gurnsey, mother of the Earl of Aylesworth, reported today the theft of furs and clothing worth $25,000 from her car parked outside a suburban hotel.

She gave her address as Packingham Hall, Warwickshire, London, Eng., and said she was en route from New York to Hollywood to visit friends.

Police wrote the report of the loss as including a $5,000 sable cape, an ermine coat and many other articles of great value.

Condition Of Texas Winter Vegetables Is Said Improved

AUSTIN, Dec. 15. (AP)—The department of agriculture reported today the condition of Texas winter vegetables on December 1 was improved over a month ago.

With the exception of the coastal bend area, all crops were making good progress.

The department said damage by light frosts in the winter garden on November 3 and 4 was not as great as growers expected. Harvesting of peppers and tomatoes was still active, and the quality was improved.

With the exception of a small acreage of cuccumbers that was lost, all other fall crops were still being harvested. Snap beans in the lower valley were hurt by cool weather and high winds early in the month and production will be lighter. The fall crops of Irish potatoes in the lower valley was moving in solid carlots, but most production will move during December in mixed cars. First solid car of English peas moved December 2.

OVERHEAD COSTS SAME

COLLEGE STATION, Dec. 15. (AP) —G. G. Gibson, dairy herdsman, told the A. M. short course delegates today overhead costs were virtually the same for poor cattle as good, and urged continuous rigid herd culling.

This, with proper feeding and herd improvement, would produce more income for each dollar of a dairy farmer's investment.

Fame Calls Mickey

Singing Mouse Is To Be On Radio

WOODSTOCK, Ill., Dec. 15. (AP) The call of fame filtered into the cage of Mickey, the singing mouse, today.

His caretakers at the Industrial Home for Children put the roundelaying rodent on a special diet of wheat, milk, corn, butter and meat to get him in trim for a radio audition tentatively set for Thursday.

The diet was prescribed by Dr. W. W. Lichty, a veterinarian. He was called when Mickey stopped singing after getting his feet wet Sunday.

Dr. Lichty soon had the mouse back in best voice.

Superintendent Herbert C. Gensch said a radio chain had arranged to broadcast Mickey's trills and chirps.

Directors Of Sears Roebuck & Company Vote Extra Dividend

NEW YORK, Dec. 15. (AP)—Directors of Sears Roebuck & company today declared an extra dividend of $2.50 a capital share and also authorized an offering to shareholders of additional capital stock at $72 a share in the ratio of one new share for each ten held.

The extra dividend is payable Jan. 7 to stock of record Dec. 26, which is also the record date for the stock purchase offer. Warrants for purchase of the new shares will expire Jan. 15, 1937.

Grasshoppers May Be Increased Next Year, Report Says

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15. (AP)—A threat of "exceedingly heavy" grasshopper infestation next season was reported today by agriculture department entomologists on the basis of their annual survey of grasshopper eggs.

They said the survey confirmed the result of their fall count of adult grasshoppers, which indicated possibility of the heaviest infestation since 1934.

It also showed a southward shift of the pest, they said, and a gradual spread of infestation over a wider area.

Officials of the bureau's cereal and forage insect investigation division said present conditions indicated that Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska might expect greater infestation.

While other states will suffer heavier damage, there probably will be a broad scattering of infested areas over most western states, including Utah, Arizona, Nevada, New Mexico, California and parts of Texas.

Man To Be Returned To Texas To Be Tried On Mail Fraud

DALLAS, Dec. 15. (AP) — Clyde Hood, assistant U. S. district attorney, said today A. M. Patchin, arrested in Los Angeles yesterday when a moving picture poker game destroyed his poise, would be tried here on an indictment charging mail fraud.

Hood said Patchin was one of two defendants yet to be tried on the El Oro Mines case, in which fifteen other defendants have been convicted or acquitted since last January.

Yesterday Patchin saw a screen character dealt five aces, jumped to his feet inside the theater and shouted; "throw one of those aces away."

A routine investigation showed the federal charge against him.

Faces A Crisis

Royal Chauffeur Is To Seek Position

CANNES, France, Dec. 15. (AP) Chauffeur George Ladbrook, beret perched atop his large head, has started back to England to confront a crisis of his own created by the abdication of Edward VIII.

Edward assigned Ladbrook to bring Mrs. Wallis Simpson to her Riviera refuge.

A chauffeur for 18 years with the royal family, he said his long record entitled him to a high place at the servants' table in Buckingham palace, but what his status would be under the new King he did not know.

HERE'S A SLEEPER
BUT FIRST
LET US TELL YOU WHAT A SLEEPER IS, AS APPLIED TO MOTION PICTURES—A SLEEPER IS A PICTURE WHICH IS MADE NOT WITH THE IDEA OF IT BEING A MAMMOTH PRODUCTION BUT JUST AN ORDINARY PICTURE; BUT WHEN IT IS RELEASED IT SUDDENLY TURNS UP AS A PICTURE WHICH THE PUBLIC TAKES TO LIKE A CAT TAKES TO MILK!
THE SLEEPER FOR '36
IS
"THEODORA GOES WILD"
with
IRENE DUNNE
HERE'S WHAT
Our Bookers Say About
"Theodora Goes Wild"
Here's one of those that has been commonly referred to as a "sleeper." When first released by Columbia, it was not seriously considered, mainly for the reason that we had heard practically nothing about it.
When screened, we were astonished to find that it is positively a "comedy smash" and one of the GREATEST AUDIENCE PICTURES, we have ever witnessed.
For clever dialogue and unexpected comedy situations . . . it can rightfully be classed with "IT HAPPENED ONE NIGHT!" This may sound like a broad statement, but mark our word, when you get this picture before an audience, you are going to witness UNHEARD OF LAUGHTER, AND ONE OF THE MOST SATISFIED AUDIENCES YOU HAVE HAD IN YOUR THEATER IN MANY MONTHS.
YOU ARE AT LIBERTY TO PERSONALLY ENDORSE THIS PICTURE AS . . . ONE OF THE MOST CLEVER . . . ENTERTAINING . . . COMEDIES OF THE YEAR . . . AND GUARANTEE IT TO YOUR PUBLIC.

Southern California Trojans Oppose Red Raiders At Tech Gymnasium Tonight

Big Time Club Features Tech Cage Schedule

Sell-Out At Gymnasium Seen As Certainty; Game Is To Start At 8 O'Clock; Curly Wilkinson Is "Out"

Texas Tech steps into big time athletic competition tonight when its basketball team clashes with the University of Southern California Trojans at Matador gymnasium.

The game is to start at 8 o'clock. One of the largest crowds ever to see a basketball contest here is expected to jam the gymnasium tonight and occupy all available standing room, of which there is a minimum. The two thousand seats, only 250 of which are reserved, are due to be filled several minutes before game time.

Coach Berl Huffman's Red Raiders, who got off to a season start last week by taking a double header from the Cosden Oilers, strong independent team of Big Spring, are primed to the limit of a handicapped physicial ability for the game, first ever played with the Trojans.

Garrett Is Eligible

Russell "Curly" Wilkinson, tall Tech center, is to be out of the line-up tonight and possibly for the next several weeks. He became seriously ill early this week, and has been confined. Robert Hale, letter man and senior guard, and Sam Garrison, junior college transfer and fine center prospect, are scholastically ineligible this semester, thus removing two leading centers and a reserve guard from the Red Raiders ranks.

It was announced through error last week that Judge Garrett, stellar forward, had been declared ineligible as a result of scholastic rating, but Garrett wishes it known he is just about as good a student as basketball player, and that there is no question regarding his eligibility. The names Garrett and Garrison were confused. The "Judge" is ready to repeat as the team's high scorer, and he's starting at forward tonight with Leroy Crews, veteran letter man who did not play last year.

Bob Case, 6 feet, 1 inch letter man, who alternates at guard and forward, is to start at center tonight, with two other last year regulars, Hugh Snodgrass and Paul Morris, at guards.

The center jump is to be eliminated in tonight's game. Southern California teams have discarded the center jump entirely, and have asked that it not be used tonight. Thus considerable burden is removed from the center's shoulders. The elimination of the jump tends to speed up the game, to keep it moving fast without waste of time.

Other Tech players who have been showing improvement and who are expected to see service tonight are Cotton Wiginton, Elmer Tarbox, George Underwood, Lloyd Taliaferro, Wayne Wilkins and Herb Currie, provided the regulars need assistance.

Coach Sam Barry's Southern California crew is expected in Lubbock this morning at 8:30 o'clock. The traveling squad of 13 players have made reservation at Hotel Lubbock. The Trojans come here from El Paso where they played New Mexico State Monday night.

The Trojans, like Tech, feature a fast breaking offense centered around Captain Edwin Oram and Wayne Garrison. Oram plays guard, Garrison at forward. Carl Anderson, tall center, Jerry Gracin, forward, and Bill Remsen, the other guard, are all players of experience. Gracin, Oram and Garrison are seniors, Anderson and Remsen, juniors. All are letter men, and most of them hail from Indiana, where the basketball players grow as tall as the corn stalks and considerably thicker.

The Trojans, however, will not exercise a great height advantage over the Red Raiders.

Rusty Russell Applies For Texas University Coachship

FORT WORTH, Dec. 15. (AP)—H. N. (Rusty) Russell, football coach and principal of little Masonic Home High school, today made application to University of Texas authorities for the coaching post recently vacated by Jack Chevigny.

Russell's action came at the behest of a number of former Texas university students and athletes, said Ernest anders, president of the Fort Worth Texas-Ex club.

In putting forth Russell as their candidate the Texas exes said he was the answer to the university's problem of securing a coach who can win in the face of ordinary material.

Russell's Masonic Home eleven, often with less than 20 boys on the squad, has been a consistent winner in class A circles for several years.

Trojan Coach Considered Leader Of Cage Mentors Along Pacific Coast

COACH SAM BARRY

Sam Barry, genial coach of the university of Southern California basketball squad, has become one of the outstanding men of his profession in the entire country. His rise to fame as head cage mentor of the Trojans has been rapid, and he is looked up to on the Pacific seaboard as the dean of hoop strategists.

The popular mentor, to whose annual basketball clinic at Los Angeles most of the California coaches and many of the nation's leading mentors flock, brings his team here this morning and sends it against Texas Tech's Red Raiders tonight at the Tech gymnasium.

Supremacy Of Schoolboy Teams Not All To Be Watched Saturday; Many Potential All-Staters To Make Bid

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS, Dec. 15. (AP)—An imposing array of candidates for the all-state team will be pitted against each other in semi-final games of Texas Interscholastic league football Saturday.

Two of the most talked of backs vie in the upper bracket battle between Amarillo and North Side (Ft. Worth) at Amarillo. Wildhorse Mayes, 175-pounds of dynamite, paces the Golden Sandstorm with his sensational runs. Marion Pugh, the 180-pound one-man offense of North Side, is the talk of North Texas.

Lower Bracket, Too

In the lower bracket contest in which Kerrville engages Port Arthur at Kerrville the fans are looking forward to the dazzling runs of Roy Holbrook, 150-pound anteiope of the Antler backfield. Holbrook is the mainspring of Kerrville's "ironmen." Port Arthur boasts a prominent contender for a halfback post on the mythical team in Marland Jeffrey, 166.

The four teams are not wanting for line stars, however. Elwin Ricketts, 205-pound tackle who made the all-state last season, is again Amarillo's power in the forward wall. Don Williams, 196-pound guard, and Newman Miller, 205-pound tackle, are other Sandie standouts.

North Side presents its center, Fred Shook, 172, as a leader at the pivot post. Raul Monriquez is a star back.

Plenty Of Candidates

Port Arthur has a giant guard named Nace Formagus, whose 217 pounds plug a mighty space in the Yellow Jacket defense. Derwood Peveta, 210-pound tackle, and Calvin Raup, 145-pound end are other star Port Arthur linemen.

Henry Hauser, 192-pound center; Kyle Hollman, 198-pound tackle, and Chester Heinmann, 190-pound end, are bulwarks of Kerrville's team, and the Antlers depend greatly on Slick McCaleb, 160-pound fullback of smashing ways.

Robert Clesson, who was Amarillo's star back last season, returns better than ever though he has been somewhat overshadowed by the sensational ball-carrying ability demonstrated by Mayes.

Levelland Defeats Olton In First Conference Basketball Game; Curtainraiser Played

LEVELLAND, Dec. 15. (Special) Jumping away to an early lead and exhibiting bulls-eye target work and a well-caulked defense, Levelland's high school basketeers tonight won its opening conference game by retiring Olton quintet here, 31 to 6.

So alert was the Levelland defense that Olton, after arching one field goal through the basket in the first quarter, did not score another point until the fourth period.

Bill McIlwain, Levelland forward, in the meantime was whooping it up on a private party of his own. Fed by his mates, he tabulated 14 points.

In a curtainraiser, Levelland Junior high won from Olton juniors, 10 to 6.

Starting lineups: Levelland—McIlwain and Jackson, forwards; Langley, center, and Jones and Bates, guards. Olton—Huggins and George, forwards; Inglis, center, and Williams and Black, guards.

Horse Racing Dates For Big Tracks Of Texas Are Allotted

AUSTIN, Dec. 15. (AP)—The state racing commission today granted 118 days of horse racing in winter and spring meets to Texas' four major tracks.

Alamo Downs of San Antonio, represented by Raymond Russell, was granted a 50-day combined winter and spring meet starting Jan. 1 and continuing through Feb. 27.

Dallas Fair park, closed last year, will operate April 27 to May 22. The meet will conclude the spring program.

Epsom Downs of Houston, represented by H. D. Monroe, was granted March 3 to 27, inclusive, and Arlington Downs received the dates March 30 to April 24.

Great Passers Will Meet In Tilt At Dallas

Buzz Buivid Of Marquette And Sammy Baugh Of TCU To Be Spotted In Limelight; Game To Open Cotton Bowl

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT

DALLAS, Dec. 15. (AP)—Two top-ranking teams of the land, Texas Christian's aerial magicians and Marquette's Golden Avalanche, today were definitely matched for the Cotton Bowl classic here on New Year's day.

Final obstacle to the Christians' selection was removed when the Southwest conference members agreed, in a telegraphic vote, to permit the conference runners-up to play the post-season game.

J. Curtis Sanford, young East Texas oil man and head of the Cotton Bowl association, said tickets would go on sale tomorrow. He said tickets had not been printed but reservations would be accepted by mail.

Sam Baugh vs. Buzz Buivid

"Slingin' Sam" Baugh, great Texas Christian quarterback who kicked and passed the Horned Frogs to a 9-0 victory over Santa Clara's previously undefeated Sugar Bowl team at San Francisco Saturday, and Ray (Buzz) Buivid, Marquette's All-America halfback, will collide in the classic.

Both had been invited to gallop in the western team's backfield in the annual East-West game at San Francisco but declined.

Off to a feeble start, Texas Christian, winners over Louisiana State 1 the 1936 Sugar Bowl battle, came with a rush in their last seven games, piling up 103 points while limiting their foes to a single touchdown.

Both Clubs Powerful

Chiefly due to Baugh's superb passing and kicking, the Frogs have defeated Santa Clara, University of Texas, Centenary, Arkansas, Baylor, Tulsa, Howard Payne and Rice institute. Only Texas A. and M. and Texas Tech., the latter a potent West Texas college team, stopped the Christians in early season games. They wallowed in mud to scoreless ties with Mississippi State and Southern Methodist but muffed scoring chances in both those games.

Marquette dropped but one of eight games, losing their regular season finale to Duquesne, the powerhouse that flattened Pitt, University of Washington's Rose Bowl opponent.

Financial Cuts Arranged

Sanford said both teams had been given an option of 40 per cent of the gross receipts, while Marquette accepted a $6,000 guarantee and Texas Christian signed after getting a $10,000 guarantee.

E. W. McDiarmid, president of the Southwest conference and chairman of the Texas Christian Athletic council, announced today the conference faculty committee had voted overwhelmingly to allow the Frogs, returning home tomorrow from their triumphant invasion of the Pacific coast, to play in the first Cotton Bowl game.

Special Trains May Bring Marquette Fans

DALLAS, Dec. 15. (AP)—J. Curtis Sanford, promoter of the Marquette-Texas Christian Cotton Bowl game here Jan. 1, said tonight Conrad ". Jennings, Marquette director of athletics, advised him one or two special trains would bring Milwaukee fans to the contest.

Jennings said interest was high and one train had been assured. He said the team would leave Saturday and stop at Durant, Okla., for preliminary workouts, moving into Dallas about Christmas.

Lefty Grove Again Tops American League Hurlers

Rated Ready For Pitchers' Boneyard Couple Of Seasons Back, He Blazes Way For All

CHICAGO, Dec. 15. (AP)—A lot of baseball fans started to count Robert Moses Grove "out" two years ago but he's still in there pitching.

The lean, rubbery-armed Boston Red Sox lefthander, official averages showed today, topped all American league pitchers this past season with an earned run average of 2.81. It was the second consecutive year he accomplished that feat, having topped the junior circuit in 1935 after a bad slump the previous season.

Continues Brilliancy

He appeared in 35 games during the 1936 campaign, winning 17 and losing 12. He gave 237 hits of 963 batters in 253 innings. As in 1935, he was the only one of 66 pitchers working in 45 or more innings to allow less than three runs a game. It was the seventh time in 12 seasons that the brilliant Grove has been under the three-run mark, and the seventh time he has led the circuit.

Young Bob Feller of Cleveland, who won five games and lost three, had an earned run rating of 3.34. He appeared in only 14 games and worked 62 innings, fanning 76 of the 227 batters he faced.

Behind Feller came Johnny Murphy of New York, Johnny Allen of Cleveland, Pete Appleton of Washington and Tommy Bridges of Detroit. Bridges won the most games 23, against 11 losses.

Jim Henry of Boston had the best won and lost percentage, with five victories and only one defeat. Irving (Bump) Hadley of New York won 14 and lost four and had the best "streak" of the season with 11 consecutive victories.

Ousted PGA Official To Set Up New Body If Not Retained

Robert Harlow, Former Boss Of Pro Golf Tournaments, Threatens Competition If Not Reinstated

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 15. (AP)—Robert E. Harlow, notified that the Professional Golfers association had dismissed him as its tournament manager, indicated today he would attempt to form an organization of his own if the P. G. A. refuses to reinstate him.

Displaying a petition in which many of the nation's most prominent professional players asked that he be retained, Harlow defied the ouster, declaring he would continue with his work.

George R. Jacobs, president of the P. G. A., announced at his home in Sarasota, Fla., that Harlow's contract, which expired Dec. 1, would not be renewed because of his "outside interests, including a weekly newspaper column . . ."

Defies President

Harlow replied with a statement that "the president had been informed on the outside work . . . and this was merely a subterfuge being used to make the document of dismissal read nicely and avoid the real issue."

Harlow issued his statement in the third person. It said that he "stated today that in spite of the notification of his dismissal as manager of the tournament bureau of the P. G. A., he would continue to carry on as agent for the players until he had been reinstated in his office or could create a new organization through which to carry on his particular service."

Westerners Drop Cage Opener To Meadow, 24 To 21

Their offense going hay-wire from the beginning of the ball game, the Lubbock High Westerners dropped their first cage game of the season 21-24, to Meadow's basketeers.

Meadow opened the scoring with a crip shot by Burleson. A few moments later the lanky high-point man made it 4-0 with a neat goal from near the free throw ring.

Oden missed a free shot, but Letsinger broke into the scoring light with a looping goal from mid-court. Oden made another; then the Meadow firing lines opened up. Throughout the remainder of the first half, the visitors led the faltering Westerners, ringing up sixteen more marks while Lubbock scored only nine.

Trailing 20-11 at the half-way point, the Lubbock cagemen came back to cut down a nine-point lead to five counts, as Allen, Letsinger, and Simmons laid two-pointers into the mesh.

Although Lubbock halted the Meadow scoring attack during the final canto, they failed to knock the rust from their own scoring machine. Ketsinger was ejected via the foul route with only one minute of play remaining, and the score board showing Lubbock trailing 19-24. Oden fired one lone goal to end the scoring and the game.

Burleson, Meadow forward, was high-point man, while Letsinger and Simmons tied for Lubbock honors with seven points each.

Lubbock Tip-Top Cagers Win From Brownfield Team, 29-14

BROWNFIELD, Dec. 15. (Special) The Lubbock Tip-Top Cafe team won its fifth game in six starts by defeating the Brownfield All-Stars here tonight, 29 to 14.

The team, through its manager, said it was open for more engagements after this week. The Tip-Toppers are to enter an invitation tournament at Monroe Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

North Side High Team To Arrive This Morning

Coach Herman Clark and his North Side High School Steers from Fort Worth, who clash with the Amarillo High school Sandies Saturday at Amarillo in a semi-final game of the Texas Interscholastic league race, are to spend today and part of Friday in Lubbock.

The team is to arrive at 8:00 o'clock this morning via Santa Fe. Reservations have been made at Hotel Hilton, and Coach Clark has asked permission to use the Texas Tech gridiron for workouts this afternoon and Friday. The workouts will be secret. No spectators will be allowed.

Several citizens of the town, including Pete Cawthon, head coach at Tech, have suggested that a crowd of greeters meet the train this morning.

The University of Southern California Trojans, who play basketball here tonight, also will be on the train.

Stratton And Parks To Offer Another Clean Wrestling Go At Local Auditorium Tonight

Strong Man Faces Stiff Test Against Vancouver Ace In Main Event; Sailor Moran, Bennett, Perkins On Card

TONIGHT'S LINEUP

Preliminary—Art Perkins, Detroit, vs. George Bennett, Oklahoma City. One fall or 20 minutes.

Semi-final — Sailor Moran, Little Rock, Ark., vs. Bob Cummings, San Francisco. One fall or 30 minutes.

The Main event — Walter Stratton, Des Moines, Iowa, vs. Herb Parks, Vancouver. Two out of three falls or 2-hour time limit.

Starting time — 8 o'clock, at the Auditorium.

Applause which local wrestling patrons tendered last week's grappling show, headlined by a "clean bout" for the sake of variety, causes Promoter Sled Allen to present an encore tonight at the Auditorium. Fair-haired followers of the profession, clean and legitimate, are matched in tonight's main billing, and once more the fans will have the opportunity to see a clash of strength and science.

Conqueror of Bennett

Walter Stratton, who overpowered the clever George Bennett in last week's main, is back on top tonight, facing another scientific struggler who knows his way around a rassling ring and whose defeats can be numbered here on the thumbs of both hands. Herb Parks, the blushing scientist from Vancouver, has matched every opponent in these parts, and more than matched most of them. He was crowded out of the victory picture a few Wednesday nights ago by the ex-sailor man, Moran, but nobody liked it.

Parks is not without resources when the match embodies things other than science. He is strong, though not as muscular as Stratton, and he wields a wicked punch when and where he does the most damage. But ordinarily, Parks is a clean, easy-going fellow, apparently slow to move around, and minus a lot of color. He does manage to win the great majority of his matches, and that's what counts.

Stratton, never defeated in this circuit, meets one of his toughest foes tonight, the concensus of opinion indicates. They have never clashed here, and there is nothing to point out the probable winner except Stratton's unusual muscular development which has never let him down yet.

Moran At Meanest

Patrons tonight should see a fairly fast show, despite the fact that both parties are by no means known for their rapidity in moving around the ring, but they'll be wary and alert, which makes for speed, especially on defense.

The supporting card promises more variety. Sailor Moran is on the semi-final, and fans who like it rough will see it here. Moran, who has most of the referees, including Lubbock's own Big Train Clements, somewhat buffaloed, is due to be at his meanest tonight, because he meets a clean fighter, Bob Cummings, which is about all one can say for Bob Cummings.

Art Perkins, the Detroit Tiger who enjoys main event billings all over the country and who has proved himself worthy of the spot here, nevertheless gets another "try-out" on the supporting card tonight. He meets the Oklahoma Cowboy, George Bennett.

The preliminary, in this particular case, promises some of the fastest, most interesting action on the card, and only its time limit prevents it from threatening to steal the show.

Junior High Grid Team Is Honored At Turkey Dinner

The Lubbock Junior High school Cowboys, known as the "hustlin'est" football team in Lubbock during 1936 and recognized as having made the best record in town during the season, demonstrated their hustle and scrap last night at the banquet table. They didn't leave a scrap.

The charges of Coach Mule Davis and Assistant Lovic Liston and Thompson, charged through a "turkey dinner with all the trimmings" prepared and presented by the women of First Christian church. The banquet was held in the church annex, and was attended by about one hundred, including fathers of several players, high school and Texas Tech coaches and a few special guests.

12 Lettermen Named

Coach Davis called the names of twelve "seniors" of junior high and commended them for letters as a result of outstanding football work during the season. The 1936 letter men are Co-Captains Leete Jackson and Howard Alford, Pat Farris, James Merriman, James Barker, Paul Sparkman, J. B. Privett, C. B. Southard, Geari Hensley, Billy Knight, Troy Davidson and manager James Williamson. They boys named have completed their eligibility at junior high.

Speakers on the program were J. A. "Judge" Raley, A. C. Jackson, Head Coach Weldon Chapman of Lubbock High and Head Coach Pete Cawthon of Texas Tech. Dr. Kenneth Oberholtzer, superintendent of schools, presided as master of ceremonies.

Won 6 Out Of 8

Music was furnished by the junior high orchestra under the direction of Miss Beulah Dunn. The junior high gymnastic class of girls presented an amusing skit.

The Cowboy football team played an 8-game schedule, won six and lost two, gathering 175 points to 46 for the opposition.

Other members of the squad introduced at the banquet were Francis Bearden, Walter Glaze, Arthur Casey, L. A. Storrs, Ancel Douthit, Bob Griner, William Summers, Joe Terry Jackson, Orville Alderson, Jesse Bumpass, J. D. Wynn, Buddy Beasley and Roland Nabors.

Church Meet In City Today

One Hundred Laymen And Pastors Are Expected To Attend "Harvest Day" Program At Methodist Church Today

One hundred laymen and pastors are expected for the annual "Harvest Day" program of the Methodist Episcopal church for the Lubbock district which is to be held today in the chapel of the First Methodist church. The meeting will begin at 10 a. m. and will end at 3 p. m. A covered dish luncheon is to be served at noon.

Letters were sent by Rev. Dr. W. M. Pearce, presiding elder, who has charge of the meeting, to laymen and pastors giving an outline of the program, for the day. Reports by pastors will include: Public services, including prayer meetings, attendance spirit and interest; organization plans, and new enterprises.

Subjects Outlined

Subjects to be discussed will include: Points of emphasis on the work of the year, the pastor's attitude toward, and use of, his laymen; how laymen can best cooperate with their pastors.

A meeting of the district stewards will be held at 1:30 o'clock to discuss the district parsonage on Broadway.

Other Workers Expected

Sunday school superintendents, lay leaders and other workers are expected besides pastors and stewards.

Dr. Pearce said, in a discussion of the work of the district, he had visited every one of the 31 pastoral charges of the district, and had held nine quarterly conferences. He had also held several meetings in connection with his work.

"This meeting will show what has been done to date and cultivate the spirit and cooperation for the work of the year that has already well begun," Dr. Pearce said.

County Representatives Will Attend Conference In Austin

Seven representatives from Lubbock county will attend a state convention in Austin January 4 and 5.

The convention will consider a proposal to increase the number of grades taught in the public schools to 12 and to discuss pending school legislation.

The Lubbock county representatives will include County Supt. Joseph R. Griggs, E. R. Haskins, Frenship; G. A. Lowery, Idalou; B. M. Hays, Woodrow; A. L. Faubion, New Deal; E. L. Farr, Shallowater, and M. L. Kelly, Roosevelt.

Queen Mary May Assume Her Role As "Shadow Empress" For England Again

By ROGER D. GREENE
(Copyright, 1936, by The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 15. (AP) — At sixty-nine, Queen Mary today finds herself restored suddenly to great "behind-the-scenes" influence in shaping the new era of empire.

During Edward's reign, deeply shocked by the death of her monarch-husband, George V, last January, the stately queen went into retirement.

Edward Ruled Alone

Edward ruled alone. He seldom consulted her. Strong-willed, trained from boyhood to the job of sovereignty, he needed no emeritus guidance.

But the "one man revolution" conducted by Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, which swept Edward from the throne when he chose the love of Wallis Simpson instead of the crown of empire, has changed all that.

May Assume Role Again

Now, with the shy, self-effacing "Bertie" on the throne as George the Sixth, with the new Queen Elizabeth — the former "smiling duchess" of York — more famed for her smile and her motherhood than for knowledge of statecraft, it is likely Queen Mary may assume once more the role of "Shadow Empress."

Historical commentators are agreed that Queen Mary exerted a powerful influence over the philatelic George V. Some maintain George loved his stamp albums more than affairs of state, and that throughout their long married life he never made any important decision without first consulting Queen Mary.

Photos Of Mrs. Simpson And Duke Are Banned In Germany

BERLIN, Dec. 15. (AP)—Pictures of neither the Duke of Windsor nor Mrs. Wallis Simpson may appear in German newspapers, an official regulation instructed editors today.

The ban on publication of the American woman's photograph, in effect since before King Edward's abdication, was ordered extended to include the prince.

Editors were told also not to print stories concerning the Duke's stay in Austria.

War May Cost Million Lives

Archbishop Of Toledo Tells Of Atrocities Which Are Being Committed In Civil War In Spain

(By The Associated Press)

ROME, Dec. 15.—The civil war in Spain may cost a million lives, Monsignor Goma y Tomas, archbishop to Toledo and primate of Spain, said today in the Catholic newspaper, Avvenire D'Italia.

The published interview aroused keen interest, since it was assumed the primate's opinions were those he conveyed to Pope Pius during a recent audience. Prelates said the cardinal would not have granted such an interview unless he had obtained Vatican consent.

"Never in history has there been so barbarous a war," the newspaper quoted his eminence. "The atrocities are indescribable.

"Precious art treasures have been destroyed. Unheard-of violence has been directed against priests.

"Two women were brought to trial at one place. One boasted she had killed six priests; the other, nineteen."

The Fascist insurrection, he added, barely staved off a Communist coup d'etat. The latter, he said, had been planned for five years.

Texas Turkeys On Way To Markets

CUERO, Dec. 15. (AP) — Texas turkeys headed for Eastern and Northern Christmas dinner tables today.

Growers who withheld their birds from the Thanksgiving market because of low prices dumped them in an unprecedented rush over the week-end at no higher prices.

Some Bring 13 Cents

Some turkeys were sold at 13 cents but the top price at most centers was 12 cents, the same as during the Thanksgiving season.

About 40,000 birds were sold here in two days, reducing the Dewitt county crop to about 20 per cent. Twelve cents was the highest offer.

Best prices were 12 and 13 cents at Gonzales, where 100 cars had been sold for the Thanksgiving and Christmas markets. Buyers predicted 15 more cars would move before the end of the season.

Brownwood Ships 35 Cars

Thirty-five cars were sold at Brownwood. Members of the Brownwood Cooperative Marketing association received 13 cents for best birds while non-members got 12 cents.

Growers and buyers saw a possible benefit in the low prices.

"If low prices wreck the big commercial turkey ranches in the colder climates, growers in Texas and Oklahoma may come into their own again," one buyer commented.

The powerful kea bird of New Zealand is accused by settler of killing sheep.

American Cowman Says He Has Faith In Mexico's Chief

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 15. (AP) — Raymond Bell, American cattleman of Hacienda Atotonilco, Yerbanis, Durango, Mexico, says he was "absolute faith" that Lazaro Cardenas, president of Mexico, is going to protect the cattle industry of the republic under the country's agrarian system now in effect.

Bell, who with his family is visiting here, had President Cardenas as his guest on the Durango hacienda recently. He said he was impressed with emphatic promise of protection to the cattle industry under the agrarian system.

Have Been Greatly Alarmed

"I, like most others in the cattle business in Mexico, have been greatly alarmed the past few months as to our future," Bell said. "I have planned to greatly reduce my operations and developments; but have been so impressed with the sincerity of President Cardenas' assurances that I shall continue my operations and improvement program just as I have from the start.

"I have absolute faith that he will carry out what he told me. He assured me that my ranch would have protection and guarantees continued, as well as all other cattle ranches endeavoring to properly carry on the industry.

To Pass New Law

"He said that very shortly a law guaranteeing this would be put into effect, and in the meantime individual and concrete cases would be handled and taken care of by his direct intervention.

"My suggestion is, if you are threatened with immediate dispossession of pasture or water or both, that would force you to move your cattle to the United States, you get in direct contact with President Cardenas and acquaint him with your problems."

Fencing Is Demonstrated At Lions Club By Tech Professor

Fencing was demonstrated yesterday before the Lions club by Prof. Julien Paul Blitz, his son Edouard and Thomas Akarman, a high school student, in a series of three short bouts following the luncheon at the Hotel Hilton.

Chairman W. H. Evans of the club's Christmas committee, reported collections of $9 and toys from the crowd; every Lion contributing to one or the other.

Ben F. Condray was program chairman for the day.

Mr. Blitz explained the purposes of fencing, going back several centuries in European history to trace its rise from a Spanish sport to a high place in Italian and French court life. He said he believed "the sport dates back to prehistoric times."

With his son, Mr. Blitz demonstrated the various thrusts and moves. He told how he had had an opportunity in 1912 to study fencing in Belgium, but had dropped it until a few months ago.

In three demonstration bouts, Mr. Blitz won two over Ackerman and his son one.

What New Capital Can Do

THE markedly growing demand for new capital that is said to have been so pleasing to the investment bankers recently in convention at Augusta, Georgia, is no less pleasing to the country in general.

New capital, as the bankers refer to it, is capital sought by business, not for refunding old loans, but for additions to working capital or for improving plant and equipment. Therefore reviving demand for it indicates curative activity at the very seat of the economic ailment which, even in recovery, has afflicted the country with a stubbornly persistent and seemingly "incurable" unemployment.

By this The Avalanche does not mean in the least that all of those still unemployed formerly had jobs in the construction, machine tool and other capital goods industries which they would return to if a renewed flow of capital purchases should fully revive these industries.

What we do mean is that a large proportion of the unemployed can not hope for jobs until the economic system as a whole gets back to "normal" and that this "normal" must include a greatly increased use of new capital. The economic system never is normal and not provide normal employment unless it is growing; that is, unless capital is being used freely to renew and expand plant and equipment. The absence of growth means loss of jobs not merely in the industries supplying capital equipment but in the manifold other industries and businesses, retail and wholesale, which can not function at the maximum, except as the economic system as a whole enjovs normal health.

That is one reason why unemployment still persists, even though many industries here and there already are operating again at 1929 levels or better. While the revival above noted is rapidly gaining headway, new capital issues this year apparently will be but a seventh or an eighth of the billions normally devoted to this purpose in an average pre-depression year.

How much of the existing unemployment will be absorbed when the productive use of new capital finally gets back to pre-depression figures no one can say. Certainly, however, the revival referred to should give pause to those, many of them in high places, who are advocating remedies based on the theory that most of the unemployment is due to labor-saving machines.

The Wrong Murderer

By HUGH CLEVELY

SYNOPSIS: Terence Mahony has had a busy night. Since nine o'clock he has rescued two girls from Ambrose Lawson's gang of kidnappers: Elsa Little, the cinema star, and Ruth Fraser, wealthy young sportswoman and aviatrix. Unfortunately, Terence managed to make himself a suspect in the murder of Elsa's uncle when he returned her to her home just now he is asking Ruth about her experiences, especially as to whether she had been drugged by the gang.

Chapter 12
IT'S GOOD-BYE

"Yes," said Ruth. "I noticed that after meals I always felt terribly queer—all light-headed, as if I didn't care a hoot for anything—but when that feeling had worn off I felt depressed and awful.

"I stood it for about a day then :I got desperate. The day before yesterday, when the fat men brought me my supper, I hit him on the head as hard as I could with a chair. It knocked him unconscious.

"I went through his pockets and found a pistol and took it. Then I heard one of the others coming, so I shoved him outside the door, got the key, and locked myself in. The other two men stormed and shouted a lot, but the window was too high for them to get in that way, and when they tried to break the door down I shot at them through it and nearly killed one of them, I believe. I wish I had killed him.

"After that they didn't try to break in any more. But every now and then they came and threatened me with the most horrible things if I wouldn't let them in, and promised me a marvellous time if I would. I think that what they really meant to do, when they found they couldn't get in, was to starve me out."

She paused.

"They'd have done it, too, if you hadn't turned up. I was getting to feel that I'd give anything for a chop, or even a plate of rice pudding. I'm terribly grateful to you, really."

The child certainly had some pluck, reflected Mahony. During his wanderings about the world he had known many women, but none who would have been capable of holding her own against a crowd of toughs as this girl had done.

"I wonder what happened to Billy Ross," she went on. "Did they get him too?"

"Yes," answered Mahony. "But not when they got you. Ross was smashed up in a motor accident yesterday. If he lives, which is very doubtful, he'll be a helpless cripple for the rest of his life."

He paused.

"You say you're grateful to me," he continued. "Then I can ask you a favor. You'll probably have to tell all that's happened to your parents and the police. You can't tell them my name, because you don't know it, but I'd be very grateful if you won't describe me too accurately to them. And I'd like you to leave out Ross's name altogether. He was partly responsible for the fact that you were kidnapped. But he can't be punished any more than he has been punished. If his name is dragged in the mud, his parents will be the only people to suffer. I want to prevent that. And that kidnapping gang won't get away with it. I'll deal with them all right."

"I bet you'll deal with them," she said. "I won't say anything about Billy Ross. If I tell my guardian that I got into a taxi, and a man jumped in with me and chloroformed me, that ought to do, oughtn't it? Anyway, I don't suppose he'll want a lot of police fussing around. He hates a lot of fuss and scandal."

"That story ought to be all right," agreed Mahony. "But mind you stick to it."

"I'll stick to it," she promised. "But won't you tell me who you are?"

"No," answered Mahony.

By this time they were passing through Hampstead, and in a few minutes they drew up outside the house in Upper Brook Street, Mayfair, here Mr. Lee-Ramsden, Ruth's guardian, lived. She got out of the car and stood for a moment at the edge of the pavement, looking rather wistfully at Mahony.

"Shan't we ever meet again?" she asked.

"Who am I that I should prophesy?" asked Mahony.

"Don't you want to see me again?" she persisted. "It's a bit impolite, you know, to rescue a girl from a lot of villains and then walk lightly out of her life like that."

Mahony grinned. He liked her. In ordinary circumstances he would have been glad to meet her again. But the circumstances were not ordinary. He did not want any friendship with a girl hindering his activities.

"Sorry," said Mahony. "I expect I would bore you stiff. So really it's probably all for the best that it's impossible for us to meet again."

A slight smile touched the corners of her lips.

"Oh, you think it's impossible, do you?" she said. "All right. Well, I won't keep you now. So long. And thanks for the ride."

With that she waved to him, and turned and mounted the front doorsteps of her guardian's house. She rang the bell and turned and waved again. Mahony waved back. Then he drove away.

In answer to Ruth's ring the door was opened by an elderly butler clad in pyjamas and a dressing-gown. At the sight of her his eyes opened wider; he seized the door with his right hand as if he needed support.

"Miss Ruth!" he exclaimed in a startled tone.

"That's who it is, Mullins," answered Ruth. "Very hungry and very sleepy. Be an angel and get me some hot soup or something. And tell me, has the household been terribly agitated by my absence?"

"Mr. Lee-Ramsden has naturally been very worried," stammered the butler. "I must wake him at once and tell him of your safe return."

As Ruth advanced into the hall, there was a sound of movement at the top of the stairs, and a voice called out: "What is it, Mullins?"

The speaker began to descend the stairs into the lighted hall. He was a tall, well-made, vigorous man, of between fifty-five and sixty, with the air about him of one accustomed to command.

His features were handsome and well formed; his white hair waved back from a broad, intellectual forehead, his eyes were blue and steady, with a hint of cynical humor in their cool glance; his nose was Roman, lending a touch of severity to his face; his mouth and chin were well shaped and determined. One ugly feature he had which was not noticed by the casual observer—his hands. They were very broad in the palms, with short, ugly, dumpy fingers, varying little in length. A distinguished criminologist had once laughingly told Lee-Ramsden that he had the hands of a man conscienceless and implacable—the hands of a killer. Lee-Ramsden had merely laughed.

Half-way down the stairs, catching sight of Ruth in the hall, he stopped short with the air of a man who has received a sudden shock. In a moment he recovered himself and hurried on down the stairs.

"Ruth! My dear child! Where have you sprung from?" he exclaimed. "We thought you'd been kidnaped. Your aunt came round and made an awful fuss. Really, we've been worried to death about you."

"I've been a bit worried about myself," answered Ruth. "But I'm not going to talk till I've had some food. I'm almost dying of starvation."

She also wanted to get quite clear in her mind the story she was going to tell. Hot soup was brought into the dining-room, and when she had drunk it, Ruth related the story she had arranged with Mahony. Her guardian listened attentively until she had finished. Then he shook his head slightly and smiled.

"It's a good story, my dear, an excellent story—in fact it's been one of my favorite stories ever since I first read it as a boy," he commented, "but it won't do. Won't you tell me where you've really been?"

"But I've told you," she protested. "I got into a taxi and a man got in with me and chloroformed me. Then I was taken to a house somewhere outside London; I don't know exactly where because it was dark and I didn't pay much attention on the way back."

"And a gallant stranger dashed single-handed into the house and rescued you from the sinister trio and brought you safely home," observed Lee-Ramsden. He shrugged his shoulders slightly.

"You don't know who kidnaped you. You don't know where you were taken. You don't know who your rescuer was," he continued in an ironic tone. "My dear, what a story to tell the police when they ask where you've been. I'm quite sure they won't believe you."

"But what else can I tell them?" asked Ruth.

Lee-Ramsden gives Ruth another story to tell, tomorrow.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

SENATOR JOSEPH P. GUFFY has been taking more than his share of bows for swinging Pensylvania's twenty-seven Democrats behind Sam Rayburn in the House leadership contest. The man who really fingered the strings is Patrick J. Boland, smart, shrewd House whip from the coal fields.

Mr. Boland was playing understandable, personal politics if you know the House membership. He realized that he might lose his post as whip if John J. O'Connor of New York achieved the leadership; the House would be loath to place two Irish Catholics—and both from the same section of the country—in charge of the lower branch of Congress. From both the religious and geographical angle a Rayburn-Boland tieup would be ideal, or so he figured. Moreover, if the Texan wins, he will pay his debt by lining up the solid South—or most of it—when it is the Pennsylvanian's turn to climb even higher.

The Boland backing means much more than Pennsylvania. He has 48 assistant whips—one for each state. He can't switch all 48 into the Rayburn column, but he will try with the threat that if he is displaced as head flagellant, they will be tossed out. They won't, of course, but it's smart strategy. And the presidential election was a quiet, unemotional affair compared to the leadership squabble.

INDICES: Columns of cables about the Edward-Simpson sorrows smothered Harold L. Ickes recent speech, although it contained a most remarkable tip on a basic shift in the New Deal policy of subsidizing individuals, cities, business and industry.

The Secretary of the Interior clothed his thoughts in somewhat ambiguous language. But here is what the President has in mind; Hereafter he—through Mr. Ickes and other givers or grantors of federal funds—will distribute government largesse in accord with the degrees of need in various sections of the country. Prosperous sections will be crossed off Uncle Sam's books as prospective recipients. Even those states still deemed in need of charity or loans will be rated on a prosperity percentage basis.

Economists and accountants will arrange the details, but indices of production, unemployment, payrolls etc. will be the determining factors. Only practical psychological problem confronting the theory's exponents is that it seems to place a penalty upon prosperity. Off-hand the theorists regard Virginia, North Carolina, Michigan and California as sample states which can be discharged from the federal poor house as able to make their own living.

KEYMEN: The "economic royalists" not in hiding have been peering around corners and under official carpets to discover the identity of President Roosevelt's advisers and confidants.

Here's the answer: Mr. Roosevelt's "idea men" are the famous team of "Tommie and Bennie"—Thomas G. Corcoran and Benjamin Cohen, two brilliant proteges of Professor Felix Frankfurter of Harvard and Associate Justice Louis Brandeis. Mr. Cohen is an extremely gifted Jewish liberal with an amazing faculty for hacking through to the heart of a subjert—legal, economic, philosophical. He is of a retiring nature, and remains in the background. Mr. Corcoran is a handsome, gay, smart Irishman with an excellent mind. He tells stories, plays the accordeon, regales the President with his wit. He also serves up Mr. Cohen's suggestions, though by no means backward or unable to present his own.

Ex-Rep. Charles West of Ohio is closest to Mr. Roosevelt politically, with the exception of James Aloysius Farley. Mr. West performs the most secret and important missions. During the campaign he was often summoned to the telephone by the President at midnight or later. So, if you want to submit an economic or political prosposition to the "big boss," see Messrs. Corcoran, Cohen, or West. They're sitting on the world's most important lap right now.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

THE American Federation of Labor officially states that the 30-hour week was made its paramount objective by the recent AFL convention. The statement continues: "From its very origin the American Federation of Labor has fought with unremitting vigor for a shorter work week, not only as a matter of equity and justice for all workers but also as essential to promote the public welfare."

New Yorkers familiar with the subject remark that the federation began to campaign for the 48-hour week back in 1881 and finally got it recognized officially in 1918. Thereafter AFL leadership appeared content with having reached this goal. It stopped fighting along shorter week lines and substituted no other maximum hour objective until quite recently.

Comment runs that it will undoubtedly not take as long to bring about the 30-hour week as it did the 48. However, the 30-hour week is no more imminent as a reality than the 48-hour week was in 1881.

UNBALANCE: From 1898 to 1918 the industrial work-week in the United States was shortened by 10 hours. This reduction of half an hour per year on the average just about kept pace with improvements in production methods and employment remained reasonably stable. By contrast, the reduction in the average work-week for the eleven years from 1918 to 1929 was only 30 minutes for the entire span—and this during a period when the introduction of new labor-saving machinery was speeded up. Naturally employment was thrown out of balance.

At the same time, fixed labor conditions meant larger profits for industry. Substantial payroll economies were made possible by the relative stability of the work-week. These in turn were translated into the huge increases in net earnings which contributed so materially to the fantastic stock market boom psychology of the late '20's.

Wise New York observers agree that drastic readjustments in working hours will be necessary—whether industry undertakes them of its own initiative or has them forced on it—to prevent a repetition of the unbalance of 1929.

VOLUME: The utilities will go in heavily for new expenditures in 1937. They have to. Plant capacities are being crowded to the limit in many sections of the country. Additional power facilities simply must be provided. Total capital outlay for the industry next year is estimated at more than $400,000,000.

From December 1, 1935 to November 30, 1936 nearly $1,400,000,000 in new utility securities was registered with the Securities Exchange Commission. This kind of registration should not be confused with registration under the holding company act.

Nearly half the past year's huge volume of financing (mostly for refunding purposes) was done by operating companies whose parent corporations have refused to register in accordance with the holding company law.

STIMULUS: Large as last year's total was, next year's is likely to exceed it if the government and the private utilities compose their differences amicably.

Plenty of unregistered holding companies would be delighted to take advantage of prevailing cheap money rates to refund their bonds and preferred stocks.

The pressure of growing business—demanding bigger and better equipment which must be financed somehow—is another potent stimulus to new security issues.

Criticism Of Singing School Is Voiced At Baptist Session

FORT WORTH, Dec. 15. (AP) — Criticism of the all-day singing school as a means sometimes employed to capitalize on mediocre songbooks issued today from E. O. Sellers of New Orleans, music director of the Baptist Bible institute.

As the second day of the church music conference got underway at Southwestern Baptist Theological seminary, Sellers pleaded for as careful training in religious music as is given for the ministry.

"A singsong devoted to vocalising on pure piffle is of no value in church music training and frequently is sponsored by someone wanting to promote the sale of third-rate songbooks," he explained, "and you can find better music by twisting the radio dial to a Saturday night barn dance."

TARZAN AND THE LEOPARD MEN, 123

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

As the three small warriors sprang at Old Timer, three more arrows in lightning succession brought them down. Instantly, terror filled the breasts of the remaining pygmies, and prompted a pell-mell flight to the greater security of their huts. . . .

. . . In a tree above the scurrying pygmies, Tarzan smiled; for it was the ape-man who had saved Old Timer. In his long search for Kali Bwana, the Jungle Lord had arrived just as she was about to die, and his quick bow had done its work well. . . .

. . . Now Old Timer threw his precious burden across his shoulder and bolted for the open plain. Behind him he heard rending of wood and a crash, but he did not know what had happened nor did he seek to ascertain. His sole interest was in saving the girl he loved. . . .

. . . His duty done, Tarzan was about to hasten into the forest to join the fugitives. But as he turned to descend, the branch on which he was standing broke suddenly and crashed to the ground, carrying the ape-man with it. As he struck, he lost consciousness!

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 15. (AP)—Late selling chilled the stock market's advancing spirit today, although a smattering of industrial specialties managed to retain gains of fractions to a point or more.

The list whipped up considerable speed in the first hour or so when the ticker tape fell behind floor dealings for a while. Increased offerings then began to appear and the volume dwindled until the last half hour when the pace picks up momentum of the ownsle.

The Associated Press average of 60 issues was off .1 of a point at 70.8. Transfers totaled 2,483,000 compared with 2,865,920 Monday.

More public buying was noted in boardrooms, especially in issues selling under $20 a share, and this was attributed by brokers principally to the increase of idle funds resulting from the record flow of dividends.

Livestock

KANSAS CITY REPORT

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 15. (AP) (USDA) — Hogs 2500; rather slow; steady to 10 lower than Monday's average on 170-lb. up; underweights 10 to 15 off; top 9.75; desirable 200-lb. up mostly 9.60@9.5; 170-190 lb. 9.25@9.60; better grade 140-160 lbs. 8.50@9.35; sows 9.00@9.50; stock pigs 7.50 down.

Cattle 5,000; calves 1,000; reduced supply killing cattle selling on a steady to strong basis; calves steady; no strictly choice or prime fed steers or yearlings offered; several loads medium to good short feds early 8.00@9.35; yearlings held around 11.00; good heavy short fed heifers 7.25; load good cows up to 5.75.

Sheep 4,000; lambs steady to strong; odd lots sheep, steady to weak; early top native and fed lambs 8.35 paid freely; other fed lots down to 7.75.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Dec. 15. (AP) (USDA) — Hogs 2,000 Hogs 2,000; top 9.60 paid by shippers; packer top 9.50; packing sows steady to 25c lower, 8.75 down.

Cattle 3,500; calves 2,500; highly finished mixed yearlings averaging 844 lbs. at 9.00 and 740 lbs. at 10.00; most beef cows 3.60@4.35; good slaughter calves 5.75@6.25.

Sheep 1,500; good fat lambs mostly 8.00; wooled fat yearlings 7.15; medium grade shorn yearlings 5.50; medium grade shorn wethers 4.50.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 15. (AP)—Liquidation in preparation for the last delivery day for December cotton tomorrow brought enough selling into the market today to depress prices 50 cents to 75 cents a bale.

December goes off the board at noon and some last minute selling in this position served to unsettle the market. Notices of intention to deliver amounting to 1,500 bales were issued at New Orleans and 4,000 bales at New York.

The support that had been accorded the spot month by New Orleans speculative interests was not apparent and Dec. slipped off to close at 12.47. March finished 15 points lower at 12.25 and May was off 11 points at 12.16. October, 1937, held up relatively well, losing 8 points to 11.72.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 15. (AP)—Early rallies in forward cotton today met heavy liquidation and realizing. March reacted from 12.47@12.29 and closed at 12.32. Final prices were 7 to 14 points net lower.

Large blocks of cotton changed hands at the opening with initial quotations 2 points lower to 6 higher. The issuance and circulation of 40 December notices contributed to the irregularity.

Active foreign buying in late months carried the July and October deliveries to new highs for the movement. Although Wall Street and trade bought, the bulk of early demand came from foreign sources. When this tapered off after the first hour prices weakened.

Exports today 38,377, making a total of 2,695,425 for the season thus far. Port receipts 27,551. U. S. port stocks 2,916,000.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 15. (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 12.69 cents a pound.

Sooners Take Methodists By 43-41 To Sweep Cage Games

NORMAN, Okla., Dec. 15. (AP) — Oklahoma's Sooners nipped a last half rally just in time tonight to send the Southern Methodist University Mustangs back to Dallas with the short end of a 43 to 41 score in a basketball game which packed its only excitement into the closing seconds.

It was Oklahoma's third victory in four nights and closed a two-game series with S. M. U. which the Sooners opened with a 32-27 win last night.

California Amateur-Pro Golf Matches Halted By Rainstorm

GLENDALE, Calif., Dec. 15. (AP)—The amateur-pro matches, prologue to the $1,500 Southern California open golf tournament, were called off today because of rain.

The tournament, featuring the entries of Mildred "Babe" Didrikson, all-star woman athlete, and numerous male luminaries, is to get underway tomorrow, rain or shine.

The amateur-pro affair may be held next Monday, officials announced.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Dec. 15. (AP)—Despite flurried monetary upturns to new peak prices, wheat today averaged lower, largely because of profit-taking, together with increased margins asked by commission houses.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were unchanged to 1⅛ cents lower compared with yesterday's finish, Dec. 1.33¼@1.33⅜, May 1.30⅛@1.30⅜, July 1.17⅛@1.17¼, corn 1⅛ to 2⅛ down, Dec. 1.07⅛@1.08, May new 1.04⅛@1.04⅜, July new 1.00⅞@1.00⅞@1.01, oats ½ to ⅛ off, May 50⅝@50⅞, and rye varying from ¼ decline to 1⅛ gain, May 1.06⅜. Provisions results were unchanged to 15 cents setback.

Rye emulated wheat in reaching fresh peak quotations. Oats provisions responded to setbacks of grains and of hog values.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Dec. 15. (AP)—Demand for grain was fair at Fort Worth today. Wheat No. 1 soft red winter 1.49½@1.50½; barley No. 2 nom. 97@99; sorghums No. 2 yellow milo per 100 lbs. nom. 1.95@1.98; No. 2 white kafir nom. 1.90@1.93. Corn, shelled, No. 2 white 1.17½@1.18½; oats No. 2 red 60½@61½.

FORT WORTH, Dec. 15. (AP)—A man who said he was Charles B. Wooten of Midlothian, Texas, was found fatally shot and his underclothing afire in his room at a local hotel here today. He died while he was being rushed to city-county hospital a few minutes later.

An inquest verdict of suicide was returned.

Missing Plane

Mr. and Mrs. John Wolfe of Chicago; H. W. Edwards of Minneapolis and C. Christopher of Dwight, Ill., passengers, and Co-Pilot William Bogan.

Flew Low All Way

Airline attaches expressed belief the plane flew low "all the way north from Provo," about 45 miles south of Salt Like City.

Mrs. W. H. Pierson at Pleasant Grove, north of Provo, said she saw the craft—"and it was so low I could tell the color. It was going north and the motor was sputtering. It appeared to have only one motor working and at times it would be silent altogether."

Hope was expressed by W. A. E. officials that Samson had brought the plane down on one of the many remote landing fields in central or south-central Utah.

One by one the searching planes swooped back to Salt Lake City's airport or settled for the night on landing fields in other parts of the state. Darkness put an end for the day to their part in the search.

Midwestern Grid Glory Is Recalled In Death Of Star

CHICAGO, Dec. 15. (AP)—Memory of the midwest's early football glory lived again today in the death of Clarence Herschberger of Chicago.

The first of Amos Alonzo Stagg's great stars, whose exploits forced the late Walter Camp to go beyond the Appalachian mountains in 1898 for the first time in naming the All-America team, took his own life yesterday by inhaling gas.

TULSA, Okla., Dec. 15. (AP) — The title of world light heavyweight champion wrestler, held by Leroy McGuirk of Tulsa, since March, 1934, was held today by Bobby Chick, of Toledo, O., who defeated the champion here last night two falls out of three.

McGuirk was recognized by the National Wrestling association.

Meats Laboratory At Tech To Be Completed By January 15

A $2,500 frame structure which will house a meats laboratory at Texas Technological college is to be completed between Jan. 15 and 20 in time for use during the semester beginning Feb. 1.

The structure will be 20 by 88 feet.

Jess Williams has the contract. Bids were reduced after Dec. 1, when W. T. Gaston, business manager, refused to let the contract, saying that bids for the meats laboratory and a bee house were higher than the amounts the board of directors allocated for the structures. Contract for the bee house has not been let. Williams' former bid was $2,770.

Eastern Group

there could be such a territory as this, from an agricultural standpoint," said A. S. Foster, Ithaca, secretary of the New York Farm Bureau federation. "It is far beyond anything we thought of. I had no idea there was such a vast resource as this in this part of Texas and the Southwest."

Similar views were expressed by H. P. King, Trumansburg, N. Y., president of the federation. "We certainly have learned a lot about agriculture in this section," he added. "It was beyond our comprehension that such a fine territory was here."

Woman Praises Section

Mrs. J. M. Sargeant, Manchester, N. H., president of the National Association of Farm Bureau Women, likewise was loud in her praise of the scenes she had witnessed during the two hour and a half stay here.

Forty-five cars were at the Santa Fe station when the special arrived from Clovis, at 3:15 o'clock. The reception committee included: A. C. Jackson, L. D. Casey, R. H. Forbes, O. B. Conley, W. O. Daniels, I. M. Robinson, J. V. Jones, L. Wesley Read, R. Q. Pierce, jr., and Robert W. Wright.

Stop At Texas Tech

Jack Reaves and William Alderman, state highway patrolmen and Lewis Kittrell, city motorcycle officers, on motorcycles, led the procession as it headed west on Main street from the depot. Driving on the scheduled route through the wholesale section, the party went to the Stanton feed pens north of the city and then back to the textile buildings at Texas Technological college, where the only stop was made.

The visitors were shown through the building, students operating a number of machines to show how the cotton and wool yarn was made. Students had for sale a number of neckties, made from wool grown, spun, dyed and processed on the college campus. Many were sold, students said.

Leaving the college, the party drove through the campus, down Nineteenth street to Avenue Q, thence through the business section to the oil mill and compress. From there the party headed down highway No. 7 to Slaton, arriving there about 5:30. The train was scheduled to leave Slaton at 5:45, but was delayed a few minutes for late comers.

Some Visit Buffalo Springs

Some of the party went by way of the compress, several cars stopping there to see cotton pressed. Others, headed by City Manager W. H. Rodgers, went to Slaton by way of Buffalo Springs, for a short stay.

As a treat, many of the visitors asked their hosts to stop the cars by cotton fields wherein were a few open bolls remaining. These were taken along as souvenirs.

The visitors were lavish in their praise of the hospitality of Lubbock. The visit was a break in the monotony of the return trip from Pasadena to New England by way of Houston. A visit to that city is planned for Wednesday.

Fifty From New York

There were about 50 from New York in the party, the remainder being from New England and two North-Central states.

Numerous questions were asked by the visitors of their hosts as to agricultural conditions here, crops, livestock feeding, etc. If there were some "tall tales" told, it was due to the enthusiasm of the locals when they saw the Eastern farmers, who had more the appearance of bankers or business men than horny handed sons of toil from the rock-ribbed hills of the north and east.

Some From "Mill Towns"

The women were much interested in the textile department and watched with interest the spinning of yarns and the weaving of cloth. A number were from "mill towns" of the New England states.

H. M. Bainer, Amarillo, general agricultural agent of the Santa Fe, joined the Lubbock party and discussed many questions with leaders of the federation groups. Several Texas Technological faculty members, headed by Dean A. H. Leidigh of the division of agriculture, were with the host party and they were bombarded with questions on agriculture in this section.

The chamber of commerce arranged for the details of the visit. Each visitor was given a booklet on agriculture of the South Plains area.

Pope Pius Wants To Die Busy

Even When He Is Gravely Ill, Pope Tries To Maintain His Rigorous Schedule; Always Has Been A Zealous Worker

A SAINT IS CREATED

This striking photo of Pope Pius was taken as he blessed a huge crowd on his way to St. Peter's to canonize the blessed John Bosco, the missionary monk.

(By The Associated Press)

Despite bodily ills and mental resignation to death, 79-year-old Pope Pius XI is striving to carry on his arduous spiritual duties. Always a zealous worker, he once expressed the hope that he might die busy.

During most of his pontificate, his day has begun with mass at 6:30 or 7 o'clock, followed by a light breakfast and audiences which frequently were so long and numerous that his lunch was delayed until 3 or 4 o'clock.

Then he would turn to other tasks and continue until his final meal at 10 or 11 at night.

He usually has received the papal secretary of state to consider international affairs at 9 a. m., then has seen cardinals resident in Rome, heads of church departments, archbishops and bishops reporting on their dioceses, and diplomats accredited to the Holy See, with public audiences yet to follow.

In addition he has listened to news reports, dictated replies to scores of messages, and prepared apostolic letters and encyclicals. That he goes over his helpers' voluminous reports meticulously has been shown by his many requests for revisions.

Pius XI In Prayer

The Pope, first pontiff to leave Vatican City since 1870, celebrates mass in Rome.

Although famed as a mountain climber in his youth, he has given up nearly all exercise in recent years. A weekly auto ride in the Vatican gardens has replaced his daily walks.

Never has he pampered himself. He has abstained rigidly from cigar smoking from the moment of his election as pope. Even when the "imprisonment" in the Vatican was ended by settlement of the "Roman question," it was some time before he granted himself the relief of summering at Castel Gandolfo.

Order Of X-Ies Starts Campaign For New Members; Theme Song Is Adopted

BY EDDY GILMORE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15. (AP) — Royal C. Johnson, high priest of the Ancient and Honorable order of X-Ies, announced today a drive for members in the organization of former congressmen.

"Smoke from oratorical guns has cleared," said the ex-representative from South Dakota, "the national scene has been surveyed for new timber, and I'm happy to report the political woods are full of it."

Organized Four Years Ago

Organized by a group of good losers after a landslide four years ago, the order's first banquet attracted, among others, 100 lame ducks.

Under a new constitutional clause, national and international X-Ies can join, but only by invitation. It was on this basis that an overdue was made last week to the Duke of Windsor when he left the British throne.

Song Is Adopted

A coat of arms has been designed and a theme song written to the tune of an old Irish melody, the song goes:

"When a congressman's elected he begins to draw his pay.
"And he soon becomes a statesman with a cane and cut-away.
"He gets himself a high hat and wears it night and day.
"But when he becomes an X-Ies, sure, he throws them all away."

The coat of arms consists of a battered silk hat on a background of splintered canes and tattered spats.

Domei dispatch quoting central news, asserted that he saw both Marshal Chang and General Chiang when he arrived at Sianfu Monday. At that time, he said, the Nanking generalissimo was still alive.

Donald, according to this account, confirmed earlier reports that the rebel chieftain had urged General Chiang to declare war on Japan.

Authorities in Both Tokyo and Nanking were divided in their views on whether General Chiang was alive or dead.

Domei, from Shanghai, reported Chinese sources were authority for its account of Marshal Chang's broadcast.

Alabama's Unemployment Act Is Ruled Unconstitutional

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 15. (AP) —A three-judge federal court today held Alabama's unemployment insurance law violated state and federal constitutional guarantees that no man shall be deprived of life, liberty or propedty without due process of law.

Federal Judges Samuel H. Sibley, C. B. Kennamer and Robert A. Ervin in a unanimous decision granted the Gulf States Paper corporation and the Southern Coal and Coke company a permanent injunction restraining the state from collecting the tax provided by the law.

Attorney General A. A. Carmichael announced he would take an appeal to the United States Supreme court which recently upheld the validity of New York's unemployment insurance law.

Wallace Report

Wallace an "emergency effort."

He said the present soil conservation program, enacted by congress as a substitute for the AAA, was "weaker" but had "launched a positive attack on the dual problems of soil destruction and unbalanced cropping."

Probably in a period of good crops and high yields, the degree of crop control attainable under the present measure will not be adequate, he said. A return to normal weather and yields "would revive the problem of agricultural surpluses," he added.

Regarding a permanent long-time farm plan, Wallace said this must "achieve soil conservation, consumer protection and crop control together."

Rational use of land was termed the "cornerstone of a sound national economy."

Pope's Breathing Difficult After He Suffers A Relapse

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 15. (AP) — Pope Pius' breath came with difficulty tonight after he suffered a relapse from the ailments which have kept him in bed for ten days, Vatican sources said.

The set-back in the previous improvement of the 79-year-old pontiff—whose legs are partly paralyzed and who also suffers from the infirmities of old age—was understood to have been brought on by his increased exertions today.

Rupert Ogg Of Plainview Gets Two-Year Term In Federal Penitentiary Suspended For Five Years Here

Rupert Ogg of Plainview, charged with violation of internal revenue laws, Tuesday was found guilty in federal court at Lubbock and sentenced to two years in Leavenworth, suspended for five years.

Examination of Mrs. Clara Ryan, reported in a hospital at Slaton, to determine whether she is able to appear in court to answer a prohibition law violation charge, was ordered.

Only Case Called

All jury cases, with exception of one, on the docket for that day had been disposed of when Judge T. Whitfield Davidson adjourned court at 11:30 o'clock until 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon, at which time criminal complaints were tried, Ogg's case being the only one called.

Default judgments, amounting to $14,001.61, were awarded by juries on instruction of Judge Davidson. A number of cases were dismissed or continued.

Texas Fugitive Is Arrested In Kansas City On Tuesday

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 15. (AP) — A man who gave his name as Floyd C. Seay, 28, arrested here today, was quoted by detectives as saying he escaped from the Huntsville, Tex., prison October 25, after a prison rodeo.

Detectives William Simpson and Fred Ennis quoted him thus:

"I'm 28 years old and in 1933 I was sentenced to 276 years in prison . . . I was a pretty accommodating fellow down in Liberty county where they arrested me. They charged me with 42 highway robberies. Some I did and some I didn't. But I thought I'd help the prosecutor who was anxious to get a lot of crimes cleared up. I confessed to 'em all. The judge threw the whole book at me.

"If there's any crime in this city you want cleared up, why I'll gladly plead guilty to it and you can send me to the Missouri prison."

He was held for Huntsville authorities.

Strato Flight By Army Made

Ten U. S. Army Planes Speed Through Air, 21,000 To 22,000 Feet Up From Shreveport To Santone In 2 Hours

(By The Associated Press)

SHREVEPORT, La., Dec. 15. — The first long-distance tactical flight of Barksdale field's third wing in the sub-stratosphere was written into army records today after 10 oxygen-fed pilots flew from Shreveport to San Antonio, Tex., in less than 2 hours at an altitude ranging from 21,000 to 22,000 feet.

Major Armin F. Herold, commander of the 20th pursuit group, who accompanied the flight, said the planes were in sub-zero temperatures most of the 360-mile route. He said cities 50 miles off were visible from the high altitude.

The pilots wore heavy leather flying suits and leather face masks.

Flames leap outward from the surface of the sun at the rate of 20,000 miles a minute, and sometimes reach a height of half a million miles, according to a California scientist.
