UN Bombers Blasting Red Points in Northeast Area

Search Begins for Missing Aircraft

MORAN, Wyo. (P)—Four skilled mountaineers started at daybreak climbing cloud-shrouded Mount Moran in search of a missionary plane that disappeared near the peak last night with 21 persons aboard.

Forest Ranger Blake Van de Water and three ski-shod alpinists started trudging through snow toward a spot where watchers last night saw a huge fire. Heavy clouds cloaked the area but there was no snow fall. The temperature is around freezing.

Only faint hope was held by forest service officials that there were any survivors if the plane crashed and burned on the mountain. The four mountaineers carried radio and light signaling equipment but it was expected to take them six to eight hours to reach the scene of last night's fire.

B-36 Crashes Near Burleson

BURLESON, (P)—A B-36 based at Carswell Air Base crashed three and a half miles northeast of here this morning. Residents in the area reported they saw the giant craft go down and a number of bright ball out. The six-engine bomber normally carries a crew of 15.

Mrs. O. B. Adley, who lives on a farm nearby said the engines were making a "loud noise" as the plane neared the ground, then they were silenced. There was no fire, she said.

Capt. Robert S. Anderson of the Public Information Office of the 8th Air Force headquarters said he had only fragmentary information.

"An American Air Lines pilot says 10 men bailed out," the captain said.

The six-engine craft took off from Carswell Air Base in Fort Worth at 8:05 a. m. and crashed at 9:55 a. m.

A. T. Vandiver, who lives three miles west of Joshua said two men were dead on the Jim Bandy farm.

The Dillon Funeral Home at Cleburne reported two injured men were en route to Cleburne in ambulances.

Charges Pending in Tuesday Shootings

Charges have not been filed against Leroy Jones of Wellington in connection with a shooting in a local club Monday night yet, according to Judge D. R. Henry, justice of the peace.

Jones is still in custody of Gray County officials, and the whole case is waiting on action by District Attorney Tom Braly.

At press time this afternoon, the District Attorney's office was unable to locate Braly.

Jones was involved in a shooting at the annual pre-Thanksgiving dance of American Legion Post No. 234-A Dore Miller.

There are two legion posts in Pampa. The Dore Miller post includes members living in south Pampa.

Taft-Hartley Faces Revision

WASHINGTON (P)—There is increasing talk at the Capitol these days that Congress may revise the Taft-Hartley labor law next year.

On the other hand, there is a decided lack of talk about repeal of the controversial measure during the two-year life of the new Congress which convenes Jan. 3.

Even some of the bitterest foes of the law are known to feel the idea of repeal any time soon is out. The reason: the recent congressional elections brought defeat of some important backers of repeal and also resulted in a new six-year term for Senator Taft (R-Ohio), a co-author of the present law and leader of the anti-repeal forces.

Senator Ives (R-N.Y.) indicated Tuesday he will be active in a campaign to amend the act. "I don't think this election was a mandate to leave imperfections in the Taft-Hartley Act," Ives told newsmen. "If anything, it was a mandate to get it straightened out."

The prospects for any revision of the law appear now to favor retention of the basic provisions, with the possible changes pretty much in line with those proposed by supporters.

Taft reportedly plans to back substantially the same amendments which the Senate approved in 1949 when the administration tried unsuccessfully to repeal the law. Taft said then that none of his amendments would have made any essential change in the law.

Those who expect some revision of the law next year point to a speech which Senator Douglas (See TAFT-HARTLEY, Page 2)

Three Offices Being Shifted

They're moving, but not because they didn't pay the rent. Three departments in City Hall this morning started exchanging office space.

The Engineering Department, the Health Department and the school business office.

Since the city's health tests are being handled at Highland General Hospital, the old laboratory in the Health Department became just so much wasted floor space. So, the city engineers will move in The Health Department will be moved into the old school business office and the business office will move across the street.

Temporarily the Health and Engineering Departments will be virtually sitting in each other's laps until the school office is moved.

Rites to Be Held Here for Bishop

The Rt. Rev. E. Cecil Seaman, bishop of the Episcopal Church in North Texas for 20 years, passed away early this morning in Phoenix, Ariz. He resigned his post in January, 1944, because of ill health.

Funeral services will be held in St. Andrew's Church, Amarillo, at 10:30 Saturday morning. A memorial service will be held in St. Matthew's Church, Pampa, at 11 a. m. Sunday. It is requested that no flowers be sent, but that a gift be made to the bishop.

One son, Rev. Henry Seaman, is rector of the Episcopal Church in Plainview. A daughter, Mary, lives with the mother in Phoenix.

National Guard Cuts Enlistments

No further enlistments will be accepted in the National Guard for those men who have already received notice to report for a physical examination, according to the local draft board members.

A recent directive from Major General Kerry L. Berry, Texas National Guard, explained the new order.

Previously, men who have received calls for their physicals were still eligible to join the guard and thus change their draft status.

Family Seeks Name Change for Daughter

LOS ANGELES (P)—A family of three was in court because their name, Schoepfle, is a tough one to spell.

"Our little girl, Judith Ann, lives in kindergarten," said Mrs. Marjorie Schoepfle, 25. "It's hard for a little girl to spell a name that has 14 letters. Five will be lots easier."

Her husband, Lowell, agreed and they asked that the court legally change the name to Schep. The judge approved.

Advance Set Over Entire Battlefront

SEOUL (P)—B-29 bombers blasted Communist staging bases in Northeast Korea today as infantry patrols probed along the entire front to find where the Reds plan to make a stand.

Waves of Superforts rained 140,000 pounds of high explosives on the Musan border area while other B-29s struck the port of Chongjin, 45 miles to the southeast. It was the second strike in a week at Musan.

Germany Vole Decides Arms

FRANKFURT, Germany (P)—The biggest state in the American zone of Germany votes in an election that could decide the fate of American plans to rearm western Europe in the near future.

The voters of Bavaria elect a new state parliament. The results may determine whether western Germany will take part in the defense of Europe against Russia.

Two large German states gave a ringing "no" to rearmament in similar elections last Sunday. Allied officials said victories by anti-rearmament socialists in Hesse and Wurttemberg - Baden spurred the nationwide drive to keep Germany disarmed. Similarly, the forces seeking to enlist the West Germans in the western defense setup were weakened.

The result of the Bavarian election, where rearmament is also the big political issue, may turn the tide either for or against the creation of a new German army, these officials said.

Allied military officials agree that western Europe cannot be effectively defended without the full military participation of both France and western Germany.

The Atlantic powers now are considering how German armed units could be integrated into a unified western defense force.

Voters in the states of Hesse and Wurttemberg - Baden last Sunday rejected big Communist Democratic Party, which is seeking to enlist the Germans in the western defense setup. Victories went to the Socialists who attach what allied officials consider impossible conditions to German rearmament.

The Socialist demand that the Germans hold up on rearmament until the allies give them full independence and until the allies have enough troops along the Elbe to defeat any Soviet attack. Military men say, however, that Germany cannot be defended without German help.

Acheson Says Inquiry Okay

WASHINGTON (P)—Some of Secretary of State Acheson's critics are now being told by the State Department that Acheson fully favors congressional review of all his policies and programs.

That assurance, it was learned, is being given to members of the House who criticized the secretary's attack on the proposal by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) to re-examine the European aid program.

That criticism followed Acheson's Friday night speech in which he said that because of the need for the U. S. to follow consistent policy lines in cooperation with friendly foreign nations it does not "make sense" to want to re-examine American programs, as Taft has demanded.

Acheson has been under attack by some Republican senators and from other quarters on the point that he appeared to be opposed to congressional inquiry.

The reply which Acheson's aides are making in letters to interested members of Congress and orally to inquiring reporters is that Acheson did not mean that at all, Acheson said.

King Ranch Tries Artificial Rains

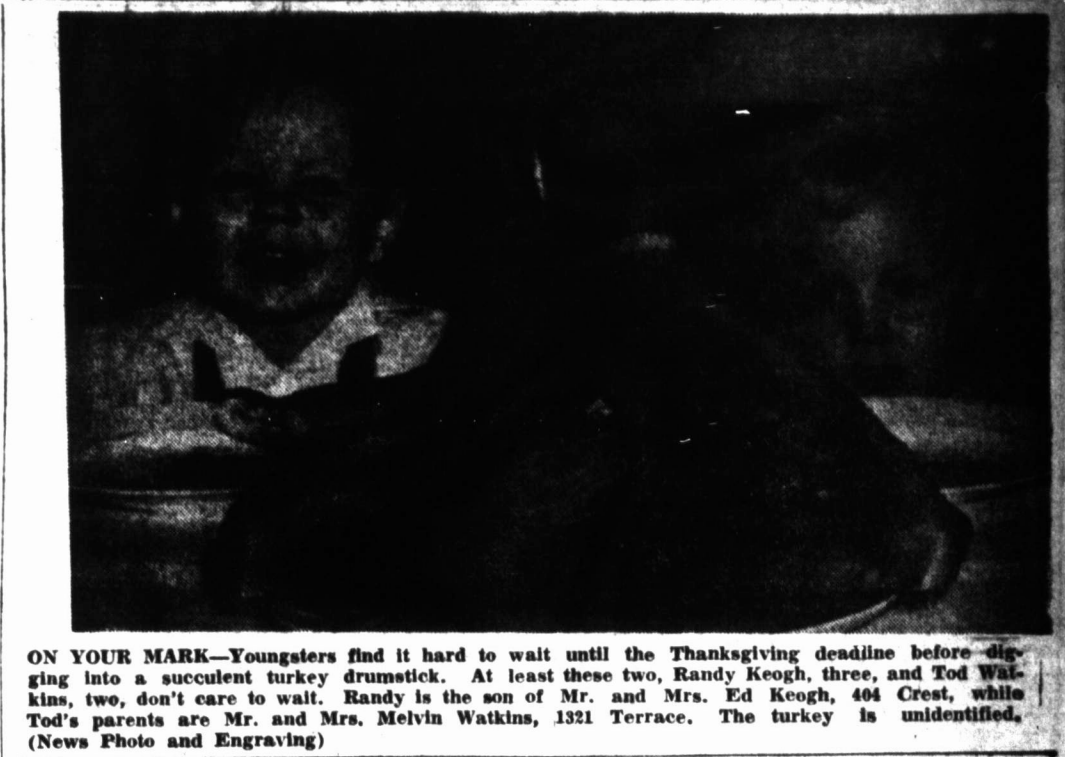

KINGSVILLE (P)—Rain making experiments are scheduled for parts of the vast King Ranch and Kleberg County.

Representatives of the ranch said that equipment to be used had arrived. They said the Precipitation Control Co. of Phoenix, Ariz., plans to treat clouds with chemicals from ground generators and by seeding from airplanes.

Army Issues Call for Medical Specialists

WASHINGTON (P)—The Army has issued a second call for volunteer nurses and women medical specialists to meet expanded needs.

It called Tuesday for 3,000 nurses and 250 women medical workers through June 30. A first call for 650 women, listed Aug. 9, brought in 477 nurses and 17 specialists.

Tax May Hike Prices on Gas

WASHINGTON (P)—If increases in consumer prices for natural gas were foreseen today by an industry spokesman as one result of the proposed excess profits tax.

The higher prices prediction was made to the House Ways and Means Committee by William G. Woolfolk, chairman of the American Natural Gas Co.

Woolfolk was one of a group of witnesses called on this final day of committee hearings on President Truman's request for a 75 percent tax on excess corporate profits tax to raise $4,000,000,000 yearly in new revenue.

Like other business spokesmen, Woolfolk opposed the President's request. "So far as has found major support only from organized labor and the Treasury Department."

Woolfolk's company supplies gas to an estimated 4,000,000 consumers in Detroit, Milwaukee and Chicago through the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., the Milwaukee Gas Light Co. and the Michigan Wisconsin Pipe Line Co.

Even under most favorable conditions, he said in a statement for the committee, the excess profits tax proposal would increase the tax rate on the normal, regulated earnings of his company from 45 percent to 63 percent.

"In this event our system would have to apply for increases of about $16,000,000, or 20 percent, in its charge to the public for utility service to bring its earnings up to a normal return," he said.

"If our earnings, regulated by law, are reduced, we cannot raise new money, construction must stop and gas must be rationed," he added.

Other witnesses today represented various other utilities and agreed generally that an excess profits tax would be discriminatory, inflationary and difficult to administer.

City Calls for Bids On Hobart Culvert

The City Commission Tuesday afternoon called for bids on 1,336 feet of reinforced 36 and 24 inch concrete culvert pipe to be used for laying the storm sewer along N. Hobart.

The storm sewer system will use 880 feet of 24 inch pipe and 456 feet of 36 inch pipe. But it was the payment of installing the storm sewer along the southern anchor of State Highway 70 that bothered the commission. The question being whether they could legally pay for the sewer out of the $63,000 bond issue voted by the city on June 6, 1945.

The commission dug into the records and learned:

1. A specific designation for location of a storm sewer was not mentioned in the ordinance or on the ballot other than the sewer was to be installed in "the business district."

2. That only 201 people voted in the election, 183 favoring the issue and 17 voting against it. However, N. Hobart has been zoned a semi-commercial area—a business section.

City Attorney Bob Gordon advised the commission he was unable to find any ruling on the question, but added that it was possible to construe N. Hobart as a business section. He pointed to one court decision allowing the city of Beaumont to use bond money, set up for building a city park at a specific location, to purchase park land at another location within the city limits.

The question of how the sewer will be paid for was passed over, then, to a later date.

In the short session the commission also allowed bids to be opened on a which and oil field bed for a two and one-half ton truck. The bids to be returned not later than two weeks.

Other routine matters were discussed by the commission before adjourning the one hour and fifteen minute session.

City Explains Trash Problem

Property owners have been wondering why the Sanitation Department refuses to carry away dead leaves piled alongside family trash barrels.

This was one question put to City Manager Dick Pepin for the past few days as more and more people phoned in complaints about their leaves being left behind.

The sanitation crews will pick up the leaves, Pepin said, if those leaves are put in a box or put in the trash barrels.

Pepin added, "a lot of people just take their leaves together and pile them on the ground beside the trash barrel. If they will put them into the barrel or in a box and place the box beside the barrel, then they'll be taken away. However, if the man has to stop at every barrel and pick up the leaves from the ground, they'd never get over a route."

The sanitation men will take all of the leaves in the barrel or boxes, but won't pick them up if the leaves are just dumped and piled on the ground.

Services Thursday For John E. Jones

Funeral services will be held for John E. Jones, 81, who died in his home in Mobeetie Tuesday morning, Thursday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock in the Mobeetie Methodist Church.

Rev. V. E. Willard will officiate. Burial will be in the Mobeetie Cemetery. The Rev. H. H. Husted, Roy Johnston, Al Pima, Jim Selby, Clarence Byson, and Charlie Gatlin, Jr., honorary pallbearers will be C. A. Dwyer, A. B. Lancaster, D. G. Sims, H. L. Flanagan, Ernest Matthews, O. E. Sims and George Matthews.

Interment will be in the Mobeetie Cemetery beside his wife who preceded him 18 years ago. The body will be in state at Duenkel - Carmichael Funeral Home until shortly before the funeral.

Red Congress Asks Parley

WARSAW, Poland (P)—The Russian-supported World Peace Congress today called for a five-power conference, including Communist China, to ease world tension.

The congress began voting on the manifesto and other resolutions by tedious written ballot, and the applause with which the resolutions were received left no doubt of their adoption.

The congress also formulated a Soviet-style definition of aggression and deplored current fighting in Korea and Indochina. The congress demanded an end to military operations in Korea, and the appointment of an international court "to examine in particular the responsibility of Gen. MacArthur."

The reference to Gen. MacArthur was greeted by a storm of approval when the resolution was read to the audience. Dozens of speakers have contended that United Nations action in Korea under his command was illegal.

Another resolution proposed that the base of the World Congress of the Partisans of Peace be enlarged by creation of a World Peace Council. The council would be elected by the delegates of the 75 nations and regions represented here and would receive into membership any nation, any group, any current of "peace-loving opinion" will.

Community Service Planned Thursday

A community-wide Thanksgiving service, sponsored by the Pampa Ministerial Alliance, will be held in the auditorium of the First Methodist Church at 8 a. m. Thursday, Russell G. West, minister of the Church of the Brethren, will give the main sermon.

Harley Bullis, director of music of the First Methodist Church, will direct the music for the event, with Virgil Mott and Mass Oleveron Spencer providing special music.

"The entire community is extended an invitation by the ministerial alliance to attend this special Thanksgiving Day service."

COST UNIMPORTANT DALLAS (P)—U. S. Senator Tom Connally told a group here tonight that a tremendous preparedness program is necessary for the nation "no matter what the cost."

Democracies Concerned Over Slowness of Europe Defense

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The slowness of western Europe in responding to the needs for defensive rearmament is causing concern among the democracies.

While observers generally are expecting any attack from the east to come from the Soviet Union, the fact is that right now the western allies probably could not stop Russia if she suddenly decided to send her powerful armies through to the English Channel.

Potentially the allies have the power for the job, but practically the defensive organization has been making time. This has been due in part to indecision in some quarters, and in part to lack of accord on vital points.

One of the major problems has revolved about the sensational proposal to rearm western Germany and make her a part of the defensive force. The allied military experts reluctantly decided that, despite the original firm decision to keep Germany under wraps for a long time, her rearmament was essential to protection of this key position of central Europe.

France and Britain finally agreed to this, with misgivings and reservations because of Germany's past transgressions. Federal Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of the West German regime had announced that his government was prepared to cooperate. It looked as though that trilateral problem had been solved.

Then last weekend elections were held in the states of Hesse and Württemberg-Baden in the American sector, and Socialists blew the hot air. The Socialists who had been feared supporters of German rearmament, to support western defense, won a smashing victory. They forthwith changed the result in endorsement of their protest against Adenauer's policy.

After then, incidentally, the Socialists also gave the German people a terrible beating. Not one Red candidate was elected, and the result is hailed as a complete repudiation of Moscow's policy. Of course this Socialist repudiation of German rearmament is not necessarily the final word, though it is a clear indication that the proposal has powerful opposition among the Germans themselves. The western powers undoubtedly will continue working on the problem and it will be surprising if they don't come out with a rearmament with the incorporation of German units into the allied forces.

ing to work for any of the resolutions adopted here.

The aggression resolution closely resembled one circulated recently in New York by Russia's UN delegation. Most of the other demands in the resolution already have been made by the Soviets before the UN.

The resolution, an appeal to the UN, said the members of the times make it imperative that there be a conference as soon as possible of representatives of the United States, France, Russia, Britain and the Chinese People's Republic.

The "Congress of Defenders of Peace" set themselves up as alert observers and critics of the UN. The organization served notice that assisting it in the role of critic will be states not yet members of the UN and regions which now are colonies of the big powers.

Deer's Final Kick Believed Cause of Death of Hunter

tale of how a deer, mortally wounded by a hunter, evidently kicked and killed the hunter in its death throes was told here by Chief Deputy Sheriff Frank Newman.

Grandville Wiedner, 40, of Cotilla was the victim. His body was found a week ago on the J. W. Baylor ranch, 24 miles southwest of Cotilla.

"That's the only way we could figure that he was killed," Newman said. "There was a knife lying near his body. The deer lay about 200 feet away. It had bled to death."

Newman said a state ranger and several others investigated Wiedner's death and reconstructed the accident thusly:

Wiedner had come up on the deer. He shot once and the wounded deer ran off into the brush. Wiedner followed and when he tried to cut the deer's throat he was kicked.

"We found a large blue bruise on his head," Newman said. "There was another place, sort of a nick, on his head. We figured that he was either kicked hard enough to kill him or his feet were knocked out from under him by the deer and he hit his head on a nearby tree."

Wiedner was survived by a wife and two sons, of Cotilla.

The Americanism committee is composed of Cooper, J. C. Claborn and Ed Lander. The committee will work out a program to be presented Dec. 7. The preceding Sunday, a go to church drive will be conducted.

ACHESON

himself has an opportunity to clarify his position at a news conference today.

In his speech Acheson said he had read that the "isolationists" in this country is dead. Taft had told reporters, a few days before, that there are no isolationists anymore. Acheson also said he had noted the emergence of the American scene of the "re-examination" of an obvious reference to Taft's call for a re-examination of policy. Acheson asked what that meant.

In one paragraph of his speech he said that if it meant "to go before the Congress and explain every single item of every policy and every program and justify every dollar for which we ask the Congress then there is nothing new about it."

"It all belongs to that school and we all re-examine our progress," Acheson said.

From that point Acheson went on for many paragraphs to picture "something different" which he said re-examination might mean. That is, a probing into basic policy with the question, "I want to look at this all over again to see whether we should have started on it?"

"Is that the role that a leader in these troublesome times, these dangerous times, wishes to take in the world today?" Acheson asked. "I think your answer is that it is not."

Meanwhile, a Civil Air Patrol plane from nearby Jackson, Wis., was in the air. A CAP rescue unit headed by Maj. Arthur McCain was to move to the scene with snowmobiles. The air rescue service at McCord Air Base, Tacoma, Wash., dispatched a plane carrying a parachute rescue team and a winter-trained land rescue unit. Other groups were standing by at Lowry Air Base, Denver, and Hamilton Field, Calif.

another. This was blocked by a burning bridge and a landslide.

"We will keep pushing until we have the area cleaned out," a headquarters spokesman said. Headquarters First Division soldiers, seeking to envelop Changchun, were ordered to heavy small arms fire near Sunghun, seven miles up the east side of the reservoir. Red concentrations were reported nearby.

Northwest front — the ROK Eighth Division occupied Yongwon, and with other divisions of the ROK Second Corps established a line running five to six miles north of Tokchon. Chinese Communists were building a series of strong defenses six to seven miles north, just as they were on the rest of the north-west front manned by the U. S. First Corps.

First Corps patrols probed in spots as far as six miles without encountering the Chinese. But at either end they ran into trouble.

U. S. First Cavalry patrols on the right found Reds dug in on high ground five miles north of Yongbyon.

On the West Coast ROK First Division patrols clashed with Red troops foraging for food behind the UN line. This was south and southwest of Pakchon.

Chinese were building a mountain defense line to the north, and pack-marking highways with tank traps and road blocks. The flat lands along the coast leading to the border city of Sinuiju were dotted with roadblocks.

Arrests End Check Cases

Solution of two Burger robberies and two attempts to pass fraudulent checks in Pampa was completed with the arrest of two persons in Oklahoma City Tuesday afternoon.

They are William Nay Wood, 25, and Jane McManus, 20. The two were charged with burglary, theft and forgery early today.

Officers of three states are still looking for a third person, Lee R. Thomas, who had not been arrested at press time.

Wood was wanted on a charge of murder in Oklahoma City, and it is not expected that he will be returned to Texas for the more recent charges.

The trio passed checks made out to Lee R. Thomas at Lefors, Furr Foods, and Six Cakes, all in Pampa.

Burger officers state that the checks were stolen from the Church of Christ in Burger last week. A typewriter and an adding machine were also stolen from Weatherly School in Burger.

Cabot Engineer Is Speaker for API

The final fall meeting of the American Petroleum Institute was held Tuesday night in the Palm Room.

Bob Vail, chief engineer for Cabot Carbon Co., was the guest speaker.

Vail gave an informative talk on the carbon black industry past, present and future. A film, "A Study in Black," was then shown in conjunction with the talk.

Refreshments were served following the meeting, and plans were made for the annual installation banquet to be held in the Sunavista Cafeteria in Burger, Dec. 5.

Acting chairman Fred Neslage urged all members to secure their tickets for the function as soon as possible.

A CHRISTMAS CAROL

The heart of Ebenezer Scrooge was only slightly colder than the cell in which his one employee, the wretched Bob Cratchit, toiled.

When Scrooge's nephew, Fred, dropped by to wish him a merry Christmas, and to invite him to Christmas dinner, the old curmudgeon turned on him with "Christmas! Bah! Humbug!"

"Every idiot who goes about with 'Merry Christmas' on his lips should be boiled with his own pudding and buried with a stake of holly through his heart!" roared Scrooge.

Canadian School Presents Program

CANADIAN — (Special) — The civics speech class joined in presenting an assembly program Thursday morning in the Canadian High School Auditorium. The program opened with the student body singing the National Anthem. A choral reading, "The Living Constitution," was given by members of the speech department. The civics class then staged a play, "The Mysterious Tree," representing the Constitution, with Bobby Fry as the gardener.

A panel discussion on a student council was held, with W. H. Bryant as chairman, and Jan Watters, Sandra Wilkinson, Joyce Curmish, Leslynn Webb, and Anne Rathbun, giving talks. An open forum was then held, with members of the student body and faculty asking questions and expressing opinions. The question of a student council is being considered and is now an important issue in Canadian High School.

Fire Department Answers 20 Calls For Grass Blazes

The Pampa Fire Department has been spending a lot of the taxpayers' money this month, extinguishing grass fires. Up until 11 a.m., today, a total of 20 grass fires have been put out by the department during the month of November.

The department, according to Ernest Winborne, chief, put out four grass fires this past Sunday. They put out two more today.

Chief Winborne stated that the cause of these grass fires, residents decide the dead, tinder-dry grass on their lawn is getting too long and too ugly, so they figure the best way to get rid of it is to burn the grass off.

Fifteen minutes later, the fire department gets a telephone call, Grass fire!

Winborne urges citizens, in the first place, to not burn their grass off. And in the second place, if they do burn it off, to keep a water hose handy in case the blaze gets out of hand.

After all, the city taxpayers are using up a lot of their own money when they have to call the fire department. According to the chief, it costs from $5 to $8 for every grass fire they have to put out.

BEAT 'EM ALL, NOW

NEW YORK — (AP) — It took seven years for pro football owner Ted Collins to record victories over every one of his nine old-line rivals in the National Football League. Before this season, a Collins-owned team had never beaten the Chicago Bears, Green Bay Packers, or Chicago Cardinals, but he '50 Yanks won from the Cards in a pre-season game and beat the other two in the regular season.

Mrs. Flavia C. Kaufman, 2436 70th Ave., Baton Rouge, Louisiana, says it is a full time job keeping tabs on her little granddaughter, Mildred Gore, but it is a job she thoroughly enjoys. Yes, everything in life for her these days is enjoyable — because she has at last found her secret of feeling better. She now takes HADACOL regularly because she was suffering from a deficiency of Vitamins B-1, B-2, Niacin, and Iron.

Here is Mrs. Kaufman's statement: "I have been taking HADACOL for over a year. Before I started taking HADACOL I was terribly nervous and upset all the time. I was underweight and just couldn't eat at all. My appetite was so low that I ate irregularly at all hours of the day. Then I started taking HADACOL. After the third bottle I felt 100% better. I have gained weight, my appetite is tremendous and, best of all, I sleep well nights and my nerves are steady as can be. HADACOL is a very wonderful product. I just can't praise HADACOL enough."

HADACOL is that wonderful new preparation — promising blessed relief for your indigestion, stomach disturbances, gas, heartburn, (sour "rings" after meals), as well as that general run-down condition, and nagging aches and pains. If due to a lack of Vitamins B-1, B-2, Iron and Niacin in your system.

HADACOL is so amazingly successful because if your system lacks Vitamins B-1, B-2, Iron and Niacin it acts directly to relieve this deficiency — the real cause of your trouble. That's the kind of product you want — the kind you should buy — the kind you should start taking immediately.

HE CAME TO KILL

by ADELINE M'ELFRESH

THE STORY: When Aunt Maggie Thorne is murdered, suspicion falls on her nephew Peter. Peter gives Leana, the victim's granddaughter, a letter which she later finds out is a trap. Peter is supposed to have stolen the letter. Then Peter admits he wanted to kill Aunt Maggie but found her dead. That night Peter disappears, his note to Leana says, "Tomorrow you'll know the truth."

XXIII
AT midnight they had not found Peter. It had been raining since 10:30 and now, as Leana paced worriedly up and down the wide veranda, the steady drizzle accelerated into a bone-chilling, pelting storm. Shivering in spite of her close-buttoned sports coat, Leana thought of men from the sheriff's office, still determinedly beating the brush all over the rugged Thorne estate.

What did they hope to find? Surely Peter, with his innate love of comfort, would not let himself be miserably cold and wet, surely he wouldn't take to the woods. Not voluntarily.

But what if — Leana thought again of the note.

Peter was desperate. He must have been, she reasoned, or he would not have disappeared as he had.

They had found Jasper, or at least they knew he was in Thorne City. He had flagged a bus at the foot of the hill and, the girl at the bus station said, had gone across the street and into the theater, the one where Lana Turner's new picture was being shown.

She pulled her coat closer against the cold that seemed to press damply about her and resumed her pacing, up and down, past the lighted windows of the living room where Miss Aggie and Sandra sat on opposite sides of the fireplace, pointedly ignoring each other. Sandra was deep in a magazine, or appeared to be; Miss Aggie just sat there, looking into nothingness.

Sandra had been loud in her defense of her absent husband, and Peter. But it might have been left there by someone else.

"Peter's murderer?" the sheriff said quietly.

"And Miss Maggie's." Again that silence that so narrowly missed being hostile.

Quickly she told him. Words spilled over each other, their individual meaning being supplemented by fresh-looked terror.

That one thought kept going through her mind with maddening precision, dodging in and out among the things she told the sheriff. She didn't know Peter was dead. This might be another of his beastly cunning tricks. Peter was like that — clever. Leana jerked away from the sheriff's solicitous grip.

"He's running away!" she cried. "That's it! He said all those things to fool me. He knew I'd tell you — we've reached the point where we'll believe anything, all of us!"

"Now, wait up," Purdy, one hand on the doorknob, interrupted her sharply. "You're too fast for me, but maybe you're right."

He headed for the telephone, leaving Leana to close the door.

THEN, as she stood there hearing Purdy bark orders to send out a general alarm for Peter Thorne, she was conscious again of the mental mosquito that had plagued her before. What was it, why should it nibble at her sureness, now, that Peter was the murderer?

The old fear rippled up her spine and, as the sheriff hung up and she took her eyes from his broad back, she saw Sandra, standing like a pale, silent ghost in the doorway.

"What was it?" she barely whispered.

She came forward slowly, moving like someone in a nightmare. Leana started to her, and stopped. It was Purdy who explained.

"That," he half-gestured toward the telephone, "was the state police. I asked them to send out an alarm for Peter — for murder. We — Miss Leana thinks — Mr. Thorne."

He sprang forward, but he was too late. Sandra had slumped to the floor in a dead faint.

Pampa, Canadian Waitresses Enroll for Training Classes

The waitress training school got off to a fine start Monday morning when 22 persons, including two from Canadian, enrolled for the first class.

Classes are being held each morning and afternoon throughout this week in the basement banquet room of the Schneider Hotel. Classes meet from 9 to 11 a.m., and from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Miss Luda Davis, restaurant training specialist on the staff of the University of Texas, division of extension, is instructor for the course, and is recognized as an expert in the field of waitress training. She has had 10 years actual experience in the food selling business, and has taught this particular course throughout the State of Texas for the past four years.

The course is being sponsored by the Pampa Chamber of Commerce at the request of many restaurant owners and managers, and is highly recommended not only for waitresses, but for housewives, and anyone who is interested in the art of food serving. There is no charge for the course other than $1.50 enrollment fee to cover miscellaneous expense.

Restaurant and drug store managers are urged to send as many employees as possible to this training school. It is recommended as a fine brush-up course for employees with many years experience, and especially beneficial for new employees, or those contemplating going into this field of work.

A distributive education certificate, issued by The University of Texas, will be presented to those who complete at least eight hours of this 10-hour course.

McLean Schools Close Thursday

McLEAN — (Special) — The city of McLean and the McLean schools will observe Nov. 23 as Thanksgiving holiday this year of the two dates open for the holiday, disregarding Nov. 30. Schools will close both Thursday and Friday, giving teachers the opportunity of attending the 72nd annual convention of Texas State Teachers Association in San Antonio.

Most business houses will close Thanksgiving day. Recent Diet legislation provides for the licensing and registration of architects throughout Japan.

These Cases Are From Chiropractic Clinics All Over The U. S.

HEART PALPITATIONS

CASE NO. 971: A single working girl, age 31, suffered with backache, constipation, irregular palpitation of the heart and constant nervous indigestion, irregularity with severe cramps, nervousness and headaches for a long time, although she had gone the usual round of doctors. She had become fearful that nothing would ever help her. In that state of mind she came to the clinic. The neurological spinal analysis indicated nerve wave interference in the spine near the top of her neck as a possible cause of functional trouble. X-rays of the area disclosed a subluxation of a vertebra. She recalled several falls that could have wrenched this vertebra from its normal position. Adjustments were begun. X-rays showed the vertebra in correct position. She reported that all symptoms had vanished and that she was normal in all respects.

PSYCHO-NEUROSIS

CASE NO. 1484: Case discharged from army with diagnosis of psychoneurosis and arthritis came to the Chiropractic Clinic complaining of constant pain in all his joints and especially his spine and neck; nervous shaky spells, absent-minded, blank spells of forgetfulness, dizziness, blurred vision at times, terrible headaches lasting several days, and a feeling that everything was wrong, that something was wrong with his mind. Neurocalometer spinal analysis revealed defective energization and X-rays exposed vertebral subluxation causing the nerve interference and defective energization. After a few months of corrective adjustments the alignment was restored to normal, nerve interference removed, and the case reported feeling well and completely at ease and full of pep and vigor. He said the past was like a bad dream.

LOW BLOOD PRESSURE

CASE NO. 2013: A young mother, age 32, after being treated three times a week with results, came to the Chiropractic Clinic complaining of a pressure feeling inside her head. "Feels like the top will blow out," she said, "then it will itch and tingle, and then my entire back tingles painfully. Nose stops up all the time, eyes burn and feel sore above them, and the back of my head and neck feels sore. I feel tired all the time and have weak appetite. Have frequent colds, dizzy spells, indigestion, gas, bloating, constipation and low blood pressure. "Generally speaking," she said, "I've been sick most of my life." The neurocalometer spinal analysis and X-ray located a spinal subluxation. It was corrected by adjustments. When the patient was discharged she said she felt perfectly well, full of life and vigor, and not a single complaint remained.

NERVOUSNESS

CASE NO. 1629 is a matron, age 24, who had an appendix operation and afterward began to develop nervous spells, grew worse, became fearful, had desire to run and scream; imagined dreadful things; had crying spells, headaches; pressure feeling in back of head and neck, extending to top of head; was weak and trembling; had rheumatic pains in her left hip and leg, and trouble at period time. She grew worse while under the usual professional care and finally came to the Chiropractic Clinic. A neurocalometer analysis revealed nerve wave interference and X-rays located the spinal subluxation causing the interference. Adjustments restored alignment and this patient when last seen, reported all nervous symptoms had disappeared and that she felt fine.

Our Liberty Is Cause for Thanks

The year 1950 brought us a war we never dreamed of in a place called Korea of which we knew little. It brought death and pain and new taxes and chafing controls — and the promise of more. It has seen no lessening of Communist threat, but it has seen the free world, rather than the menace grown, despite tremendous efforts on our part to reduce it. And so we find ourselves getting a bigger Army and Navy and Air Force, though "peace" has been the word since World War II.

All the world seems beset by strife and strain. There is almost no quiet corner any more. Far off, Tibet, land of lost robbers, has tumbled over the edge of the turbulent news of the day. What's next? Bali? Switzerland? Little America?

Yet it wouldn't be right to say we have nothing to be grateful for on this new Thanksgiving Day. We have much to be glad about.

Of course, our bountiful crops and thriving industry which together are lifting us to a plane of living we've never before enjoyed. Our nagging anxiety over what's in store for us tomorrow can't wholly mar the basic material satisfactions an unmatched prosperity is bringing us.

But beyond all this we can be happy that liberty is still a word with meaning for us as individuals. All the turmoil and anguish of the times has not yet robbed us of that freedom which is our greatest hope for fulfillment.

To be sure, the danger from the Red enemy has spread an uncommon fear among us. Many frightened people have been spurred to accuse those who support our liberties, too often on flimsy or non-existent evidence. By their charges they themselves have put our heritage in danger.

But essentially it is still intact. We can walk the land with heads held high. We are still free to build our character and purpose in ourselves and our children. We are pretty much as we please, to build the kind of life we want, to work for good within our homes and beyond them. And free to vote as we think best.

We should be deeply thankful we still have these things. And we should recognize clearly that having these things is a heavy responsibility.

Wise individuals use of freedom gives the greatest assurance that freedom as a fundamental of our life shall never vanish.

Mr. Ruml has a reputation for being a progressive businessman with many liberal ideas which

Fair Enough—Pegler

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Isidore Lipschutz, the mysterious emigre diamond dealer, who runs the Society for the Prevention of World War III and his own personal espionage cohen called the non-sectarian Anti-Nazi League was granted citizenship in the United States on July 7, 1947, by United States Judge Edward Southern District of New York Judge Conger gave Lipschutz the benefit of a doubt in charges that he had not established good moral character. The hearing was held before him on Friday, June 27.

Friday is the last day of the court week. Persons who are in court know that it is let-down day. Proceedings which occur on Friday are likely to attract less public attention and newspaper publicity than they might attract on other days of the court week.

Judge Conger wrote that "it would be idle and serve no useful purpose for me to write a long and detailed opinion."

He was badly mistaken, to put the best face on the matter. It would not have been "idle."

And it would have served a very useful purpose for him to write a detailed opinion because his decision was arbitrary and did not justify itself. He would have been justified in submitting the whole dirty mess to the federal grand jury. The government's effort was flabby and unaggressive. The want of cross-examination of Lipschutz's witnesses was noteworthy.

Judge Conger observed that "the government offered no witnesses." He might also have commented on the unconvincingness of this remark by the government's counsel: "It cannot be said that there is no doubt as to that an illicit relationship has taken place. A review of the file and of all the evidence will indicate that it did exist."

The illicit relationship referred to was alleged to have existed between Lipschutz and the wife of an old friend in Belgium in the presence of her two children.

Having made this gratuitous admission, the government's lawyers, Mario T. Noto, and Abraham Scharf, failed to sustain his burden of proof of good moral character. The government therefore objected to his naturalization. Mr. Noto, however, was a relatively green hand in this case which involved an enormous record, a bribery incident, recent admissions of testimony and implications of perjury. He had had it in hand only a short time. Lipschutz had built up a political pull with persons who could have interfered with the immigration service. This service has sought itself into bad reputations concerning the volume of immigration, blackmail and other matters of importance.

The witnesses for Lipschutz, who were not cross-examined, included Senator James Murray, of Montana, a radical of the same hue as Claude Pepper, who was beaten recently largely on the issue of pro-sovietism; the Rev. Guy Emery Shipley, one of the most notorious clerical associates of Communist fronts; and James H. Sheldon, the so-called executive director of Lipschutz's gun-shut society, known as the Anti-Nazi League.

The Society for the Prevention of World War III has recently been sending out its propaganda free in envelopes bearing the frank of Senator Murray. The envelopes reach the society unaddressed, but containing matter printed by the government, at private expense, but at bargain rates. A former member of the society, who is familiar with its office methods, states that the envelopes are delivered by the society to an addressing and mailing list service which prints the addresses from a mailing list and puts them in the mail.

Shipley's record in the files of the House Committee on Un-American Activities is so long that it takes up three and one-half typewritten pages of single space, elite type.

Sheldon said he was "formerly professor of government at Boston University," a Methodist institution. He was also "a member of the faculty of the graduate school of religious and social work at Boston University."

He is an employee of Lipschutz as the principal supporter of the Anti-Nazi League.

On Nov. 2, I visited Dr. Daniel L. Marsh, president of Boston University, and he told me that Sheldon had been brought in to fill the vacancy when the head of the university's department of government went on leave. His status was "visiting assistant professor" and his subject was "U.S. citizenship" in 1932 and 1933.

"There are three ranks of professorship," Doctor Marsh said, "professor, associate professor and assistant."

Doctor Marsh said that the qualifying term "visiting" tended to "dilute the honorific," "professor," and that the further qualification "assistant" tended to dilute it still more.

Referring to directorship he said that in 1937-8, Sheldon was an "instructor" in "governmental social agencies." An instructor is markedly inferior to a full professor in the professional scale.

Judge Conger wrote that Lipschutz's application for citizenship had been pending "for some time." Actually it had been held up for three years, an extraordinarily long time.

The government relied on circumstantial evidence. Lipschutz relied on recantations of testimony by the son and son-in-law of the woman. The former was a trade to appear to be mentally ill. This is a common resort in Lipschutz's political circle for the purpose of discrediting hostile witnesses. The attacks on Whittaker Chambers in the Hiss case, Mario T. Noto, and Abraham Scharf represented the government.

I have been unable to communicate with Mr. Noto, who argued the government's case. He is on leave. However, I did ask Mr. Scharf why the government did not cross-examine Lipschutz's witnesses and his answer was, "I can't tell you why. I can't reveal any information. Yes, I was present at the hearing."

I have reason to believe that Mr. Noto did his best under the handicap of a scant preparation with a voluminous, complex record in a short time. Mr. Scharf would appear to have taken no active part and to be blameless.

The soft approach and the lack of cross-examination are unexplained, however, and the whole mess should have been referred to the grand jury under an inquiry which should have touched the higher management of the Bureau of Immigration. Corruption was flagrant and admitted.

Jim—Yes, the engagement is off. She won't marry me.

Tom—Why not? Didn't you tell her about your rich uncle?

Jim—I sure did. Now she's a Hindu.

Tom—(over telephone)—Hello, Rick, did you see the report of my death in the morning paper?

Rick—Yes, where are you talking from?

By DAVID BAXTER

Among letters received from Nationalists there was one couple of days ago which I regarded as very thought-provoking.

The man who wrote it has often said something which gave me material to write about. In this last letter, though, he remarked that his opinions probably weren't very important because he wasn't a big shot but just an ordinary citizen.

Let's take a look at this country and see just how important a thinking, talking American is. The kind of nation a man lives in has a lot to do with how much weight he carries. In China, for example, half the population could drop dead tomorrow and it wouldn't make much difference. In Russia Ditto. And it's becoming that way in America as we become more collectivistic and governed by dictatorial bureaucrats. Do you like that idea? If all of us expect to be vital human beings, free and independent, instead of insignificant worms of the earth, made to serve the government, we are going to have to get busy.

To begin with, perhaps we should check up on our background before pursuing the point. Originally we were authorized, both by rights given to man by God, and by our official papers setting up a constituted government, to be a free nation populated by "free, independent nationals or citizens. The historic emblem of national sovereignty — the authority of any nation to exist, govern itself and make laws, is the fasces, a bundle of rods tied together and containing an axe. Magistrates in the ancient roman empire always had a fasces as a sign of the authority placed in them by the people. There is a huge one behind the speakers rostrum in Congress and you will find one on the American dime.

That fasces is symbolic of any independent, sovereign nation. That is why every kind of leftist, from world federalists to Communist party members and Socialists — all collectivists — all one-worlders — everyone who wants to abolish the sovereignty of an independent people — call patriots and individualists and nationalists "Fascists." The word has come to have a bad sound because it has been abused and misinterpreted.

When the Italian Fascists led by Mussolini started out to clean up their country, rid it of Collectivists and Internationalists and Communists and too much monarchy, they were on the right track. But when Mussolini made and more tried to make himself a one-man government he betrayed the principle of true national authority. Hitler made the same mistake in Germany but tried to correct himself in 1942 when he began to throw his dictatorship overboard and turn the country back to free enterprise and more individualism. He saw his error too late. In Germany's case, though, I'm inclined to think the Communist situation had become so critical and Germany was so close to the abyss that when the German Nationalists came to power Hitler couldn't have avoided being a dictator if he had wanted to. The Germans practically demanded that he take the leadership. If independent American individuals do not help clean up our country and make it truly a sovereign nation of free individuals we may have a situation like the German one on our hands some day in the near future. That is no alarmist statement. The signs are everywhere.

One of the most ominous ones is the great increase in anti-semitism. Some of the more fanatical Nationalists, with little understanding of the true issue between individual liberty and Collectivism — and Nationalism vs. Internationalism — want to take a short cut and find a scapegoat to load all of the Collectivist, Communist sins upon.

In discussing this matter I am leading up to why you are important in a nation founded upon your rights, with authority to be self-governing and to guarantee those rights. Each and every one of us must choose between this form of government ("the least-governed people") or Collectivism with the new deal or welfare state with everybody dependent upon the government instead of independent. We can't have both. One recognizes the dignity of the individual, the other cannot recognize any individuals. One stands for personal liberty, the other for hordes of bureaucrats to order everyone around and issue directives ("the most-governed people").

Finally, home audiences appear to be in no mood for color on their screens. The pressure for precipitate action has come mainly from Advocate Rosenman, his clients and the Coy — Jones bloc on the commission.

Anyway, it has been many years since a single federal agency has invited a fight from so many powerful interests on and off Capitol Hill.

HANDICAPS — The names of two prominent Democratic senators are written in capital letters in the Truman-Boyle black book because of their contribution to the party's November 7 reverses, and the handicaps they have hung around the Truman-for-1952 movement.

One is Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, who first antagonized the take-it-easy Missouri crowd by smashing the regular Crump machine in Memphis a few years ago. The second is Guy Gillette of Iowa, whose current impudence of presidential persuasion derives from his survival of the Roosevelt "purge" in 1933.

Mr. Kefauver's new crime is that he exposed the crooked connection between law enforcement officers and politicians, mostly Democratic, in the months before the polls opened. He was impervious to quiet suggestions that he delay any action or hold closed hearings. He is held directly responsible for the defeat of Senate Leader Lucas of Illinois, and for a general fall off in the Democratic vote in many large cities.

Mr. Gillette's offense is of a negative nature. As chairman of the Senate Committee to Investigate Campaign Expenditures, he refused to furnish headline support of administration charges that the Taft, Dewey, Duff and other GOP campaigners were spending "barrels of money."

Mr. Gillette is too old a hand to believe that political chicanery is non-partisan. He also knew how much White House allies, especially the CIO — PAC group, were shelling out, and he has already dismissed their charges against Mr. Taft. Moreover, he wins in Iowa only because of Republican farmers' votes.

His after-the-event inquiries and reports will hurt nobody. He figures that he can survive Truman-Boyle warfare, as he did Franklin D. Roosevelt's.

MONOPOLISTIC — Senator Taft has followed the situation closely, and it is understood to feel that the FCC has gone much too far. Other congressmen on committees regulating the radio-television field fear that the order constitutes as flagrant an example of monopolistic tendencies as has been witnessed around the Capital in years.

According to this theory, it is as if, in the early days of the automobile, the government demanded that all cars be equipped with a certain engineering device produced by only one firm.

In that event, the customer would have to buy that make or go to the expense of adding the government-specified gadget to his machine.

HEALTHY — The FCC's disruptive directive also comes at a time when the industry was beginning to reach a healthy state after years of heavy losses during the period of development and educating the public to this new medium. Now most of the manufacturers, distributors and dealers report that they are in the black.

Should sales fall off after the holidays, as expected, the decline will be attributed to the FCC's heavy and unexplainable intervention at this particular moment. Other factors, such as the new tax and credit regulations, will be partially responsible, but emphasis will be placed on the government's alleged high-handedness.

PRESSURE — As the Chicago court suggested when it granted an injunction against immediate use of the CBS color system, it might have been wiser, legally, economically and politically, for the FCC to give the various competitors more time in which to develop color telecasts that would be universally available to the seeing and listening public.

Finally, home audiences appear to be in no mood for color on their screens. The pressure for precipitate action has come mainly from Advocate Rosenman, his clients and the Coy — Jones bloc on the commission.

Anyway, it has been many years since a single federal agency has invited a fight from so many powerful interests on and off Capitol Hill.

news behind the news

WASHINGTON — The swaddling clothes television industry has landed squarely in the middle of an uproarious political struggle as a result of the Federal Communications Commission's highly controversial order authorizing use of the color system developed exclusively by the Columbia Broadcasting Company and its associates.

With more than 9,000,000 families now owning sets. It will be fought out in living rooms as well as in the courts and on Capitol Hill. It will involve the unions because of the order's possible adverse effect on sales, business activity and employment.

It has already led rival companies — Columbia and Radio Corporation of America — to engage such politically influential counsel as Samuel I. Rosenman and Clark Clifford, respectively, two White House ghost writers.

INVESTIGATION — It will probably lead to a congressional investigation of charges that FCC has exceeded its authority, shown economic partiality and behaved in a high-handed and dictatorial manner. It may force President Truman to revamp the commission when and as vacancies occur.

Chairman Wayne Coy, a combination of Fair Dealer and New Dealer, may face stiff Senate opposition if he is reappointed next June. He has been one of Columbia's strongest champions against the agency, teaming up with such a former anti-Truman opponent as ex-Representative Robert E. Jones of Ohio.

MONOPOLISTIC — Senator Taft has followed the situation closely, and it is understood to feel that the FCC has gone much too far. JACOBY ON BRIDGE

This Slam Contract Can Be Made

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

"How do we stay out of this slam?" asks a Phoenix correspondent. "North thinks that South overbid when he jumped from three clubs to four hearts. North says that three no-trump was quite enough, and that even a cue-bid of three spades would warn North that there was duplication of values."

South thinks his jump was not an overbid inasmuch as he had passed on the previous round. If his hand had been any stronger, he would have bid instead of passing.

"South goes so far as to say that the slam should have been bid even though it was not made. He thinks he had a good play for the slam, but was unlucky."

West opened the king of spades, and South won with the ace. He then took the king and queen of diamonds, noting the bad break. He continued with the rest of the trumps, ending with the ace. His next step was to trick with the ace of spades and then cash the king and queen of diamonds. Just as declarer actualized this plan, however, the trumps failed to break, declarer must lead a low club from dummy. It's dollars to doughnuts that the king of clubs is with the spade overall, especially when that overall was on a queen-high suit.

East takes his club king and probably returns a club (as good as anything). South wins in his own hand and should now take out insurance against a bad break in hearts. Without drawing any more trumps, he should cash the king and ace of hearts. (If West could ruff, the hand would be hopeless anyway.) When the actual heart situation is thus revealed, he takes the queen of hearts and ruffs a heart with his low trump.

Now South can lay down the ace of diamonds, enter dummy with the ace of clubs, draw the last trump with the jack of diamonds, and cash the last heart. Difficult, but it works out.

Turkey Prices Down Slightly

(By The Associated Press)

Many food shoppers who put off their turkey buying this year until the last day or so before Thanksgiving Day found prices trimmed a few cents a pound in most places.

Many stores said their turkeys were selling for the lowest prices since the end of the war—a 10 to 15 cents below a year ago. That's because this year's crop is the largest on record—about 41,500,000 gobblers.

Cranberries also are cheaper than a year ago—and lowest in eight years, according to the National Cranberry Assn.

Most other meat course items, however, were unchanged to a few cents a pound higher than last week end. And top grade eggs jumped as much as 10 cents a dozen in many large marketing centers. Trade authorities said egg consumption has been heavy recently and that even cold storage stocks of eggs are declining rapidly.

Despite the lower cost of turkeys, most housewives are likely to find Thanksgiving dinners as a whole costing more this year. Several staples like butter, coffee and eggs are higher than they were last November, and so are most of the trimmings that go on the holiday menu—plum pudding, nuts, raisins, dried fruits and so on.

Use all the green outside leaves of lettuce and romaine. These green leaves contain ten times as much vitamin A and five times as much riboflavin as the white leaves.

Q. and A.

You and Service

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Q. If I think I am about to be drafted, how long can I wait before volunteering for one of the other services?

A. You must volunteer before you receive your pre-induction physical.

Q. I have been deferred to finish this school year, which will let me complete my pre-med education. Is there any way I can get a deferment to start medical school?

A. If you have had one deferment to finish school, under the present regulations it will be difficult to get your draft board to let you start medical school. But there are several reports being studied by Selective Service which might result in permitting students to enter medical school with deferments until they finish. The present regulations might be changed.

Q. My twin brother was in the service three years and finally got out because of a nervous breakdown. He is afraid they might draft him now. I am completely deaf but do you think they might let me go in with him if he is called again?

A. If your brother served three years he won't be drafted. And

If you are completely deaf they won't take you under any circumstances.

Q. I am a conscientious objector and married. Suppose they start drafting married men. What should I do?

A. You should have stated on your questionnaire that you are a conscientious objector, in addition to being married. If you didn't you'll probably have a tough time convincing your board that you really are a conscientious objector now. If you did, there's nothing to worry about.

Q. My son was in the National Guard. But when he became an apprentice embalmer he asked to be transferred to the inactive reserve. He was. Is there any chance of his being drafted? If he was about to be drafted could he go back with the Guard?

A. There is an excellent chance of his being drafted. And he can't go back in the Guard to avoid the draft.

Bulldogs Threaten Harvesters' Undeclared Grid Record

GANGWAY—George Evers got credit for tackling Michigan's Chuck Orman, top, but two of his Indiana teammates at least had a hand in the play. Three Texas A. & M. defenders converged on Southern Methodist's Benton Musselwhite.

Plainview Line May Check Pampa's Running Attack

The Fighting Harvesters will put their unblemished record on the line at 2:30 Thursday afternoon in Harvester Park against the Plainview Bulldogs in a District 1-AA contest.

Pampa and Plainview are tied for first place in the conference, and the winner of the turkey day battle will be a big favorite to take the district crown. Borger and Amarillo both have one loss in conference play.

With eight straight wins behind them, the Harvesters run up against one of the strongest defenses in the conference. The Bulldogs measured Borger 13-12, at Plainview, for their conference win. Plainview's line has been tough all year. Lubbock's Westerners downed the Bulldogs 18-7, but one of the touchdowns was scored on a pass interception.

If past games with Plainview are any indication of a close contest tomorrow, the game won't be decided until the final whistle blows. The Bulldogs have been a tough crew for Pampa to stop in the past.

The Harvester offensive attack will be manned by quarterback De Vey Cudney, right half Jimmy Hayes, left half Elmer Wilson, and fullback Carl Kennedy.

Matching the Plainview line will be ends Roy Pool and Jimmy Cook; tackles Jerry Walker and Buzzy Tarpley; guards Dale Gantz and Eddie Scheig; and Gerald Matthews at the center position.

Coach Tom Tipps sent his riders through a two-hour session Tuesday afternoon, with defense and offense getting a good working over. The Harvesters will hold a light workout today.

In knocking over first eight opponents, the undefeated Harvesters have rolled up 241 points to 59 for the opposition.

The Harvesters hold wins over Hobbs, El Paso, Wichita Falls, Lubbock, Lamesa, Childress, Vernon, and Amarillo.

Bulldogs Drill Hard for Pampa Game Thursday

By LURON BROWN

PLAINVIEW — (Special) — With just four wins out of eight starts this season, the Plainview Bulldogs have to grin and bear being pointed out as the underdogs against the untied, undefeated Harvesters at Pampa Thanksgiving.

Plainview has had a two weeks layoff, as have the Harvesters, and regardless of whether it will make a lot of difference in the final score, the Bulldogs probably have worked as hard as Pampa getting ready to go for their nickel's worth against the 1-AA threat.

The entire squad is in as good shape physically as it has been all season, and in better condition than it has been for most of its games.

To date Plainview has scored 148 points to their opponents' 102. The team has scored twenty-two touchdowns and accounted for an unusually good percentage of scores from placement.

Leading touchdown maker for Plainview is Weldon Hayes, two-year letterman end, who has accounted for seven. Practically all of Hayes' touchdowns have been made on pass interceptions.

Tom Caskey, letterman halfback, and runner-up scorer with six touchdowns, has made his counters on running plays. These two lads will be counted on to generate a lot of Plainview's offensive power against the Harvesters.

But Otis Ratcliff, other Bulldog halfback, and with four touchdowns to his credit, will carry a big share of the backfield load. Ratcliff has shown remarkable improvement as the season advanced and the lad is capable of rising to the occasion.

Brian Bell, Plainview's stand-out placement kicking halfback, won the game against Borger with his toe. He has split the uprights eleven out of twelve tries.

Lee Dye, right end, has shown great improvement in the last two or three games. As Hayes' wing mate he is counted on heavily to help Plainview in the air.

The Plainview high school band will leave here around 9 o'clock Thursday morning for Pampa. Indications are that a large section of the student body and a good representation of other fans will make the trip. Plainview business places are to close for Thanksgiving and that is expected to give impetus to the attendance from Plainview.

Six Bowl Teams Already Picked

NEW YORK — (AP) — Six bowl games were set today, but the big attractions—Rose, Sugar, Cotton and Orange—must wait until the football sun sets Saturday.

Only in the Cotton Bowl, where Texas is an assured participant, has any team been definitely chosen.

Rose at Pasadena—Illinois vs. California.

Sugar at New Orleans—Kentucky or Tennessee vs. Oklahoma or SMU.

Cotton at Dallas—Texas vs. Oklahoma or Tennessee.

Orange at Miami—Miami vs. Kentucky, Tennessee, Clemson or Wyoming.

Gator at Jacksonville—several of the above teams are in the running.

West Texas State and the University of Cincinnati accepted bids to play in the Sun Bowl game at El Paso on New Year's Day.

The orange blossom classic at Miami Dec. 2 also was set as

Chiefs Scrimmage

The Noblitt-Coffey Chiefs basketball team went through a 90-minute scrimmage with Meyer Motors of Amarillo Tuesday night in the junior high gym.

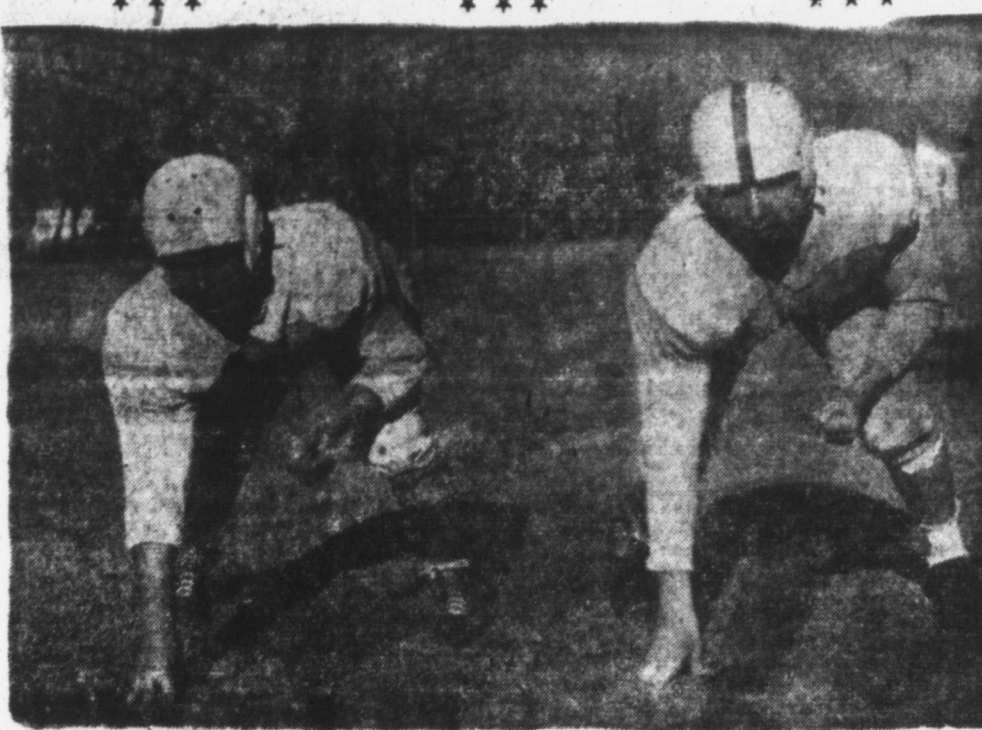

No box score was kept of the game, but the Chiefs looked good in their first cage scrimmage. The Chiefs are managed by Jim Arndt.

Florida A&M and Wilberforce (Ohio) State agreed to meet.

The Presidential Cup game, Washington Dec. 2 match, also was undecided, when Maryland's athletic coach couldn't make up his mind. Texas A&M was reported still interested. The Aggies might play Georgia.

A New Club For Pampa Coming Soon

Playoffs Open in Class A Texas High School Football

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

The state playoff opens in one division, another paves the way for it to begin and a third decides all except a few district champions in Texas schoolboy football this week.

Starting tomorrow there will be 64 games played throughout the state with major interest on the Class A division which swings into the sudden death battle for the state championship.

There are 32 district champions of Class A and this week will cut to 16 the number that will contest for the title in December.

Feature game of the state, however, will be in Class AA where two of the five undefeated, untied teams get together. This headliner matches Cleburne with Brackenridge with the District 6 pennant on the line.

The City Conference already has two district champions—Arlington Heights and John Reagan of Houston. Sunset has clinched at least a tie for the Dallas District title and can win it undisturbed by heating Woodrow Wilson Thursday night. Brackenridge and Thomas Jefferson met Thursday for the San Antonio District crown.

Next week the Dallas winner plays Arlington Heights and John Reagan. The Brackenridge-Thomas Jefferson survivor in the first round of state play.

Three champions already have been decided in Class AA—Texarkana in District 9 and Cleburne in District 10, who play their bi-district game Dec. 8 at Cleburne, and Baytown in District 12, which must wait until the District 11 championship is determined next week.

Definitely on the line this week are championships of District 5 where Abilene meets San Angelo, District 14 where Austin plays Kerrville and District 15 where Laredo takes on Alice. A number of other district titles will be determined barring upsets that can throw the races into jumbles.

In Class A there will be two games matching unbeaten teams. Brenham, undefeated and untied, plays New Braunfels, which is undefeated but has been tied. Alvin and French (Beaumont), both undefeated but tied, get together.

The opening round of the state playoff in Class A: Hereford vs. Shamrock, Spur vs. Levelland, Kermit vs. Colorado City, Coleman vs. Ranger, Albany vs. Olney, Newcastle vs. Arlington, Athens vs. Mineola, Mt. Vernon vs. Atlanta, Jacksonville vs. Huntsville, Mexia vs. La Vega, Georgetown vs. Llano, Brenham vs. New Braunfels, Alvin vs. French, Wharton vs. Karnes City, Sinton vs. Donna, South San Antonio vs. Pasadena.

There are 13 undefeated, untied teams left in the state.

Guesser Makes Final Grid Appearance This Season

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK — (AP) — The final appearance of the season as a pigskin prognosticator, the week after having picked 51 of 60 games correctly for an average of .850.

Here is hoping the swan song is as good.

Kentucky at Tennessee: Kentucky has the more outstanding record and the more widely known players. That's duck soup for Gen. Bob Neyland, the Tennessee coach, who specializes in knocking off the big ones. Tennessee.

Stanford at California: The Californians have won 33 straight schedule games with defeats in two Rose Bowl games as the only blemishes. It will be 34 by Saturday night and the Bears will be headed for another Rose Bowl contest.

Illinois, Wisconsin and Ohio State over Northwestern, Minnesota and Michigan: Illinois, the likely California visitor on Jan. 1, appears to have the easiest job of the three unless battered too much by Ohio State last Saturday. Texas Conference Closes Out Grid Season Saturday

(By The Associated Press)

Only one statistical lead appears likely to be changed as the Texas Conference closes through its last week of play. Alton Green of Abilene Christian College is likely to beat out Brad Rowland of McMurry for the scoring championship. Rowland has 60 points and has finished his eligibility. Green has 54 and has a game to play—against Howard Payne at Abilene tomorrow.

Rowland is more than 300 yards ahead of Green in rushing—with 1,018 yards—and has a healthy margin over Ben Harmon of Austin in punting. Harmon finishes the year with 2,510 yards. But their defense mark of 148 is expected to be swollen somewhat after the game with the fast-moving Yellow Jackets of Howard Payne.

Among the pass receivers, and Roy Jackson of Austin leads with 31. His nearest rival, and James Adkins of Southwestern, completed his season with 26.

Abilene Christian still holds the team statistics. First in rushing and fourth in passing, the Wildcats have the best total offense mark with 2810 yards. But their defense mark of 148 is expected to be swollen somewhat after the game with the fast-moving Yellow Jackets of Howard Payne.

Freshmen Battle In Benefit Game

COLLEGE STATION — (AP) — The Nov. 23 turkey day will still feature a University of Texas-Texas Aggie grudge battle, but this year's will be on a freshman level.

The first year teams will meet on K. Field, what should prove to be an interesting game. These same boys will carry this rivalry, to begin Thursday, throughout their next three years in the two schools.

The game is sponsored by the Brazos Valley Shrine Club, in cooperation with the Ben Hur Temple of Austin. All profits gained in attendance, programs and concessions will go to the Crippled Children's fund.

Last year's game in Austin was attended by 16,000 fans, a record attendance for a freshman game in the Southwest. Sponsors are hoping for a crowd of 20,000 this year.

Shamrock Tangles With Hereford Here Friday Afternoon

SPECK SPECULATES

By SPECK REYNOLDS

I wonder what happened to my Texas Aggies? A&M was a three touchdown favorite over Rice, but they lost by a score of 12-13. The Mustangs ran all over the Owls, and the Aggies defeated SMU. I figured the payoff date would be Nov. 30, when the Aggies play the Texas Longhorns. I thought the Rice team would fold like an accordion when the Aggies unleashed Bruising Bob Smith. It looks like the A&M players were caught in the same channel — A&M playing Texas for the right to play in the Cotton Bowl. Texas is in and A&M is out.

It's a tough job keeping a team up mentally for every game week after week, because along the grid routes somewhere is a "sleeper." A team, who doesn't have a Chinaman's chance of upsetting the favorite, comes through with a victory. That's what happened to A&M last week, and it could happen to the Harvesters Thursday afternoon. That is if Pampa's looking past Plainview and Berger to a bi-district game. The winner of District 1-A-A meets Wichita Falls in a bi-district contest, and Pampa followers have the Harvesters skimming the Coyotes and then battling Joe Coleman's Odessa Broncos. I hope the Harvesters aren't that far up in the clouds, because if they are they'll end up with the posterior of the turkey in their Thanksgiving engagement with Plainview.

If Plainview thought they didn't have a chance of measuring the Pampans, they wouldn't even bother to make the trip. The Bulldogs have a stubborn dicty and are capable of knocking the Harvesters spinning from their eight-game winning streak.

Here's hoping the Harvesters aren't caught in the same channel of wishful thinking as I was with my Aggies, because they're going to have their hands full Thanksgiving Day with a Bulldog clemency from Plainview.

John Sharp was a popular grid official when he was calling Texas as high school games. In a football game between De Leon and Strawn, Sharp stopped the game and lined up both teams on the goal line. The 22 players walked down the field slowly arm in arm as the amazed fans wondered what was taking place.

Finally the line broke up and the players and officials returned to the line of scrimmage. The referee to call the confusion was Referee Sharp. The Pampans had lost his wrist watch and he stopped the game and then started the watch hunt. Sharp said the watch cost more than what he was drawing for officiating, and he figured a delay wouldn't hurt. De Leon won the game 33-7.

Stroup Is Placed On Panhandle AAU

SHAMROCK (Special) — Jack Stroup of Shamrock is the local representative on a committee to form a self-governing unit of the Amateur Athletic Union in the Panhandle and High Plains of Texas.

Stroup is one of 35 committee members in the Panhandle, each to supervise athletic activities of the group in their local areas.

APPACHES WAIT — (P) — The Tyler Junior College Apaches will find out the next few days who they will play Dec. 9 in the annual Texas Rose Bowl game here.

The Apaches formally accepted their invitation last night. Under consideration for the other team are Boise, Idaho, Junior College; Olympic College of Bremerton, Wash.; Garden City, Kans.; and Coffeyville, Kans.; Hinds Junior College of Mississippi; and Santa Rosa, Calif.

DALTON CRISWELL — Hereford High School head football coach. Coach Criswell is in his second year as head coach of the Whiteface squad. He was formerly assistant coach to H. V. Stanton for three years. Coach Criswell played his college football at North Texas State. He received his degree at West Texas State after coming back out of the Marines. He will head the Whiteface gridsters into Harvesters Park at 2:30 Friday afternoon to meet the Shamrock Irish in a bi-district game.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK — (P) — Talk about over-emphasizing football, how about this? Colorado College, which won the Rocky Mountain Conference grid title this season, already is worrying about a surplus of good hockey players. Seems that so many Canadian boys, and other good skaters, have listened to the encouragement from C. C. that 28 first-class prospects turned out for practice while only 16 can be dressed for any game. Some of the eleven lettermen may be cut from the squad. Colorado Springs also is coming up as a rival to Hershey, Pa., as a home for retired cross-checkers. About eight of the Canadian alumni are established in business there and will form the nucleus of a team that will oppose the C. C. varsity in an "old timers" game. Coach thumper K. C. Freyschlag also will try to hold those varsity tigers.

The New Oklahoma U. press box, tabbed as the "most improved" in the nation by a vote of sports writers, already has drawn its first complaint from the scribbling fraternity. During last Saturday's game against Missouri a visiting writer moaned: "What sort of a joint is this? The pencil sharpeners are manually operated instead of by electricity."

Letty Gomez has been telling update New York audiences that Joe McCarthy belongs in baseball's hall of fame because he "made more records than any other manager." And Tommy Henrich adds: "I played under the great managers, Casey Stengel, Bucky Harris and McCarthy. I'll take McCarthy as the greatest manager who ever lived. He wrote the book." George (Greenboro) Corcoran says to tab golf's "three busy B's" as the best prospects to win on the winter tour. They're Jack Burke (who has been tabbed before), Julius Boros and Tommy Bolt. Harold Simmons U., hopeful of plugging John "Model" Ford for All-America, points out that in three seasons he has completed 290 out of 502 passes for 4,842 yards and 56 touchdowns. After last Sunday we'd say that's approximately equivalent to one game between the Yanks and Rams.

At the football writers' gathering Monday, a scribe asked Navy Coach Eddie Ederlitz: "roughly, what's your program of preparing for the Army game?" Replied Ederlitz thoughtfully: "That's it — roughly."

Latest hot tip on the Texas coaching situation, says Kentucky's Bear Bryant has the inside track, with Texas Line Coach Ed Price the outside man. Bill Skyns, Syracuse soph tackle, who is tabbed by Coach Ben Schwartz, walder as a future All-American, took fourth place in the AAU heavyweight wrestling championships last winter although he never had wrestled before he entered college. Another "rookie," Hank Rosenstien, star of the Soranton Miners on the American Pro Basketball League, never played high school basketball. He took it up at City College (New York) last school and played at Brooklyn Jewish Center and in the Navy.

Troops Transferred To Berlin Garrison

BERLIN — (P) — Seven hundred American troops will be transferred here from West Germany this week to strengthen the Berlin garrison, it was learned today.

The GI's are the first battalion of the Sixth Infantry Regiment.

Two hundred other troops of the regiment arrived last week.

ACTOR CLIPPED

HOLLYWOOD — (P) — Actor Paul Douglas, now 42, finds football a little too rough — even though it's just for a movie scene.

The former pro gridster came out of a pileup yesterday with two fractured ribs. His doctor said Douglas may be out of the first string movie lineup for three months.

Bi-District Winner Will Face Levelland or Spur

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Shamrock's District 2-A champions collide with the District 1-A winners, Hereford's Whitefaces, at Harvesters Stadium in Pampa, Friday, Nov. 24, at 2:30. The outcome cannot be predicted on the basis of current comparisons.

Shamrock defeated McLean 25-7 three weeks ago, and McLean whipped Hereford, 12-0, but Hereford was without the services of its star quarterback and passer, Jack Stanton.

Shamrock tied the mighty Phillips Blackhaws Sept. 29 here, 13-13, coming from behind in the final three minutes to knot the count. Hereford stunned the Panhandle sports followers two weeks ago in crushing the Blackhaws, 35-0, at Hereford. Phillips had been counted a nearly certain 1-A winner. Thus each team has an advantage compared to teams each has played, but the indication is not definite.

This bi-district contest will determine the winner to face the Levelland and Spur 2-A and 3-A clash. Winners of these two bi-district contests will meet in the Regional playoffs the weekend of Dec. 1.

Shamrock has been drilling hard for more than a week in anticipation of this playoff. Injuries have healed and the team is expected to be in top form for the crucial battle.

Hereford is both a running and a passing team. Against Dumas last week Stanton passed to Kenneth Brock, end, for one TD. He raced 57 yards for one TD, and Duane Walker, fullback, rushed 50 for another, as Hereford shelled the Demons, 40-14, at Dumas.

Shamrock has both a good running assault and a passing attack. Of the 34 Irish touchdowns, 18 have come on the ground, 14 in the air and two on pass interceptions.

Harold Dunning, Irish quarterback, paced the Shamrock passing assault, in addition to field generalizing the crew. Dunning has able receivers — Vern Norbert, right half, Vaughn Terry, right end, Van Pennington, left end, and others.

Shamrock will hold a weight advantage averaging 191 in the line to 150 for the Whitefaces. In the backfield, however, the Herefords average 157 to 147 for the Irish.

The game will be broadcast by at least two stations — KEVA, Shamrock, and KPDR, Pampa, add 5 pt lineup.

ICC Decreases Rail Rates on New Autos

WASHINGTON — (P) — The Interstate Commerce Commission today ordered an average 12 percent reduction in railroad freight rates on new automobiles.

Officials estimated the cut, dated to become effective Feb. 20, will involve savings of $10 and up for new car purchases.

The retail price of new automobiles traditionally includes the rail transportation charge from the manufacturer's headquarters factory to the home city of the purchaser, regardless of how delivery is made between these points.

Be Good Hosts

The Pampa Chamber of Commerce Sports Committee urges that Pampa fans be good neighbors and get out to see the Shamrock-Hereford bi-district game in Harvesters Park Friday afternoon, and the Canadian-White Deer game in Pampa Friday night.

Fans from these four cities will be in Pampa Friday and a lot depends on what kind of welcome we extend whether the visitors return to Pampa. A good turnout at Harvesters Park Friday will be a good indication that we want these visitors to return to Pampa.

Willie, Joe Are Tied For Racing Honors

INGLEWOOD — (P) — Two little giants of racing, Willie Shoemaker and Joe Cullumone, put their even-steps battle for national riding honors on a face-to-face basis Monday at Bowie.

It's obvious, too, that their contest will be decided at Hollywood Park in Florida in December. The jockeys, going into today's races, and tied with 333 winners apiece for the year. Both have thoroughly busy Johnny Longden's previous record of 319 for a year.

Shoemaker, riding at Hollywood Park, decided last night to fly east Saturday night, ride at Bowie, Md., against Cullumone Monday and fly back for the card here Tuesday. Hollywood Park is dark Monday.

Michigan State, which lost only to Maryland in nine games, was extended a feller by the Cotton Bowl. Thompson said the Spartans were not formally invited but had merely been asked whether they could play if they were.

Moore Attends Homecoming at Texas Tech

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Elmer J. Moore, superintendent of Shamrock schools, was one of 11 honor guests at Texas Tech Lubbock, at the homecoming game with Tulsa.

These 11 were former state various sports at the Lubbock game during the first year of school, 1928-29.

They were honored at a homecoming celebration of the D.T. Association breakfast Saturday morning and introduced to crowd at the Tulsa-Tech contest.

Then they were carried off field on the shoulders of Tech freshmen.

Moore was a track star, serving his sixth year as he Shamrock schools.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Card Of Thanks
CROSSING THE BAR
Sunset and evening star,
And one clear call for me,
And may there be no moaning of the bar,
When I put out to sea.
But such a tide as moving seems asleep,
Too full for sound or foam,
When that which drew from out the boundless deep
Turns again home.
Twilight and evening bell,
And after that the dark,
And may there be no sadness of farewell
When I embark;
For though from out our bourne of Time and Place
The flood may bear me far,
I hope to see my Pilot face to face
When I have crossed the bar.

Deer Hunting Season Ends With Casualty

CLARKSVILLE — (AP) — The five-day deer hunting season in Red River County ended with one casualty. Charley Webb of Avery, Tex., was treated here for a gunshot wound, but his condition was not serious.

He had been mistaken for a deer.

McLemore Has Good Reasons For Boarding in Pet Shop

By HENRY McLEMORE

It's an even-money bet that there isn't another column in this paper today that was written in a pet shop.

You see, I am, boarding in a pet shop for the next couple of weeks, and here is the reason for it.

Each year, just as surely as the sun comes up in the east and goes down just opposite, I have to go on a diet. If I don't I have to pay excessive corporation taxes, so to speak.

After years of dieting, I finally came to the sensible conclusion that the only place for me to stay while on a diet was in a pet shop.

All I get to eat — unless you call black coffee something to eat — is what rabbits eat. Lettuce, carrots, parsley, cabbage, and other delectable foodstuffs which delight the gourmet rabbit's palate.

It costs me only a dollar a day to board at this pet shop. The first day she went out to lunch I would take my pants to the nearest tailor and, using bribery, have them let out and returned before she got home.

It was with a smile on my face that I saw her down the elevator. One minute later I had scooped up my pants and headed down the elevator, too.

What do you think happened? I met her in the lobby. She had forgotten her change purse and was headed back to get it.

"Where in the world are you a situation I couldn't talk myself out of.

You're right. Quit guessing. I was caught by my wife, Jean. These are the unhappy circumstances.

Several months ago — in Copenhagen, I believe — I found it difficult to get my trousers around my waist. All my trousers, too. A month ago my pants had shrunk to such an extent that I could put them on only if I didn't wear a shirt. There just wasn't enough room between me and my pants for a shirt to get tucked into.

So I gave myself the old middle age pep talk. You are no kid any more. I told Henry, and you are supposed to get a little fat. Your athletic days are past. Besides, I dreaded going on a diet, but I knew that Jeanie, if she knew the difficulty I was having with my pants, would have me on water and no bread right away.

So, with all the cunning at my command, I laid a scheme. The first day she went out to lunch I would take my pants to the nearest tailor and, using bribery, have them let out and returned before she got home.

What do you think happened? I met her in the lobby. She had forgotten her change purse and was headed back to get it.

Secretary Predicts Taxes, Sacrifices

CHICAGO — (AP) — The nation's partial mobilization program, says Army Secretary Frank Pace, Jr., will mean higher federal budgets and higher taxes for several years and further sacrifices "that would affect our entire way of life."

There may be price and wage controls, Pace said, and a lowering of the American standard of living.

Pace, speaking to members of the Economic Club of Chicago said that for the next several years "we are going to have to devote a major portion of our national income and effort to defense needs."

going, and what have you in your arms?"

Before I could answer, she had figured it all out.

That's why I am boarding in a pet shop.

And that's why I am going to be here until I can get into those pants without having them let out.

Production Workers Show Paycheck Rise

WASHINGTON — (AP) — America's 13,100,000 production workers earned an average of $61.36 a week for 41.4 hours of labor during October.

This was reported by the Bureau of Labor Statistics which said the average weekly paycheck was $1.30 more than during September. The bureau also reported the work week of the average production man was about 25 minutes longer.

Thanksgiving

For 329 years, since the first year after the original colonists landed at Plymouth Rock, Americans have paused following the harvest season to offer Thanksgiving for the benefits that have been theirs.

There have been lean years as well as those that were bountiful. Peace—the credo of all Christian men—has in some years been replaced by warfare and strife. But on every Thanksgiving occasion there has been much for which we—and our forefathers—could give thanks.

At this Thanksgiving season there will be those of us who will discount the riches and blessings that have been our lot. But now—as never before in history—humanity looks to the United States for Thanksgiving. And all our people can be thankful that we share our bounty with the peoples of other lands in the cause of a permanent peace.
