

UP TO INCH

Showers Hit County

Two rain showers, one of which only dampened the countryside and a second, which, for the time it lasted, rated the description of downpour, swept across the county Sunday afternoon and evening.

City Benefitted Most

Rain gauges showed from 40 inch to as much as an inch. Big Spring benefitted most from the showers. More rain fell here than in the rural and ranching areas. In town a number of one inch reports were heard and many gauges showed three-quarters of an inch.

Across the north half of the county, the average was about .50 inch. Complete reports from the southwest corner were not available. However, the Wilkinson Ranch had .50 inch and this was believed to have been about the lot of Lomax, Elbow and the farming communities in that part of the county. East of Elbow the rains picked up and Forsan had .75 inch. Chalk, according to the Texas Electric Service Co., had half an inch.

Moss Creek had .80, and Coahoma .70.

Luther Gets Half Inch

No report was available from Vincent, but Luther community had from .45 to .50 inch. Vealmoor had half an inch and Knott reported about the same. Ralph Proctor, near Vealmoor, also had half an inch.

In town, the U.S. Experiment Station had .44. A mile north of the Big Spring State Hospital, a full inch fell.

Howard County Junior College had .40 inch. Southaven and Parkway street gauges showed an inch. Tenth street reported .60.

TESCO said its switching station had .70 and Colorado City reported .51. Eskota had .70 and Morgan Creek .45.

Lots Of Lightning

There was considerable lightning with the evening storm and TESCO said it had considerable difficulty out in the county. In town, service was not hampered.

Total rain for the year now stands at 2.91 inches, of which 2.47 fell in February. The last measurable rain fell Feb. 27—.04.

No rain fell in January.

Last Day Of Winter

Officially, this is the last day of winter. Tomorrow, spring takes over.

The official time spring arrives is 1:37 a.m. Tuesday.

For what it may be worth to those who rely on the sign, mesquites are now beginning to bud. Only mimosa and a few crepe myrtle bushes are left in the holdout bracket.

Unless more rain falls between now and the end of the month, March stands to go down in the books as a dry month. The showers of Sunday, which ranged from less than half an inch to an inch, were the only rains which March produced.

With Easter next Sunday, some of the older citizens are still shaking doleful heads and predicting that the budding flowers and shrubs are still in danger. These folk are still anticipating for the legendary pre-Easter "cold spell."

Trips To Holy Land

Worshippers who go to the City Park amphitheatre Easter morning for the traditional sunrise worship will be treated to first-hand accounts of trips to the scenes of Christ's death and triumph over the grave.

Four sermonettes dealing with the Holy Land will be given, along with special music, prayers and Scripture reading.

The sunrise service will start at 6:43 a.m. The city police department is assisting in handling traffic, and members of the Chamber of Commerce Ambassadors Club will serve as ushers.

One of the Holy Land accounts will be by the Rev. Melvin Montgomery, pastor of the Mt. Bethel Baptist Church, who will speak on "I Kneel Before the Cross of Christ."

Others to give brief talks are Dr. Clyde Campbell, the Rev. James Puckett and the Rev. D. M. Duke.

The Big Spring Pastors Association sponsors the annual Easter inter-denominational worship. A large attendance is in prospect.

Women's Rights Bill Enlarged

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas senators approved the so-called women's rights proposal today after it had been enlarged to outlaw all civil rights discrimination.

"If you want to kill SJRS, then put this amendment on it," Sen. William Moore of Bryan warned when Sen. Don Kennard of Fort Worth proposed the change.

Kennard's plan to prohibit discrimination on the basis of race, color, creed and national origin — in addition to sex — was adopted 26-5, with Moore, author of the women's rights proposal, finally voting for it also. Then the suggested state Constitution change was approved 29-2 and sent to the House.

Earlier senators defeated 22-9 an amendment by Sen. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo that would keep any constitution change from affecting any present or Moore's measure two days last week with long, rambling discussions of his amendment.

The Senate quit until 11 a.m. Tuesday.

Speaker Ben Barnes told a news conference he thinks the legislature can raise the money it needs without a sales tax increase even if the governor's tax plan is rejected.

WIRETAP ACTION

House members approved, 116-29, Gov. John Connally's bill prohibiting electronic eavesdropping and wiretapping and tentatively approved on voice vote a bill establishing a "Little Hoover Commission" to find ways to make state government more efficient.

Rep. R. H. Cory of Victoria, sponsor of both bills, failed to get the needed four-fifths vote to take up the "Little Hoover Bill" for final passage. Another vote is needed.

LITTLE HOOVER

The Little Hoover Bill was amended to make it apply not only to state agencies but also to state-supported colleges and universities.

Two amendments to the wiretap bill were defeated before the measure was finally passed and sent to the Senate. One would have prohibited police from bugging or wiretapping without a court order in emergency situations to save human life. The other would have added suspected narcotics offenses to the list of crimes for which police could get a court order to bug or wiretap to collect evidence.

HOUSE QUITS

The House adjourned until 10 a.m. Tuesday in memory of Neil Addington, Houston Post capitol newsman who died today in Houston.

Before quitting, the House passed and sent to the Senate bills increasing the membership fee for the teacher retirement system from $3 to $5 a year and adding the pelican and the peregrine falcon to the list of protected birds.

TICKETS TAX

"I am still at this time convinced we can raise revenue without making an adjustment in the sales tax," Barnes said at a news conference.

Among the possible alternative revenue sources, he said, are a 5 per cent tax on tickets to professional events, such as baseball and football games, $22 million; and sales taxation of services, $29 million. Barnes said he was not necessarily recommending these taxes but was just pointing out that tax writers are not limited to a sales tax increase or the governor's plan.

PACKAGE

"They (the tax committee) will try to write a package that will raise the needed revenue without increasing the sales tax or removing exemptions," he said.

Barnes said the House Appropriations Committee probably will complete a 1967-68 state spending bill "in rough final form" by the end of the week. Preparation of the bill for the printer should take another three or four days, he said.

Barnes said a proposed constitutional amendment giving governors four-year terms beginning in 1970 is in trouble. The measure is on Tuesday's calendar, "and I expect to do some visiting with members" before then, he said.

Easter Recess Is Scheduled By Lawmakers

WASHINGTON (AP) — With its two misconduct cases temporarily simmering on back burners, Congress prepares to get out of the kitchen altogether for a 10-day Easter recess.

The exodus is scheduled to come Thursday after a shortened work week which is expected to produce little final action.

The Senate takes up today a $12.2-billion supplemental appropriation bill for the defense and the Vietnam War, providing another chance for critics of President Johnson's war policies to get in a few licks.

But like the first 10 weeks of the session, proposals and arguments are likely to pile up far faster than actual legislative solutions to problems.

DODD DELAY

The Senate Ethics Committee may begin considering in private the open testimony it took last week on the case of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., who is accused of using campaign funds for private purposes.

But Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., says it will be weeks before his committee makes its report to the Senate.

The House awaits results of Adam Clayton Powell's legal attack against his exclusion by the House. It was learned Saturday that about 150 House members have asked Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark to act with "due diligence and dispatch" on House findings of wrongdoing by Powell.

CODE OF ETHICS

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said the Dodd case "will perhaps give me some further light on what ought to be included in the code of ethics" for senators.

The Ethics Committee is drafting such a code, but Javits said he would "introduce a bill for an interim code of ethics very soon."

Bills are scheduled for introduction in both Houses today which would aim at helping finance openly overseas activities of organizations found recently to be getting help from the Central Intelligence Agency.

French Troops Kill At Least Three Africans

DJIBOUTI, French Somaliland (AP) — At least three Africans were killed today as French troops and armored cars shot their way into Djibouti's Somali quarter to smash a demonstration protesting Sunday's vote to keep this territory linked to France.

Police reported leaders of the anti-French, Pro-independence Party Movement were arrested. A party spokesman said those arrested included the party's president, Moussa Idris, and 12 members of the territorial assembly.

RADIO APPEAL

Gov. Louis Saget made a radio appeal for calm and a dusk to dawn curfew was ordered.

The violence erupted within hours of the announcement that France's last colony in Africa had turned down independence in the referendum and would remain associated with France.

NOISE BOMBS

Crowds of Somali men and women, stood behind barricades flung across narrow streets and alleys, hurling abuse at army reinforcements. A helicopter circled overhead, dropping noise bombs into the mob.

Cars were set afire and drums of gasoline spilled on the street in an attempt to form a wall of flames against the Frenchmen. Then rocks began to fly.

Three armored cars followed by steel-helmeted troops charged the barricades, firing machine guns and throwing grenades and tear gas bombs. The Somalis fled into a maze of alleys that lace the teeming shantytown.

Bad Weather Hides British Yachtsman

PUNTA ARENAS, Chile (AP) — Foul weather hid Britain's solo yachtsman, Sir Francis Chichester, today as he was believed rounding the rocky tip of South America on the last leg of his voyage around the world.

Winds were strong and waves as high as 20 feet were reported off Cape Horn. The Chilean air force said more bad weather was moving into the area Chichester has called "one of the toughest sailing areas in the world."

STATIC

No one in this port on the Strait of Magellan knew exactly where Chichester's 53-foot Gipsy Moth IV was. Static interrupted radio communications with the yacht, although one operator reported Chichester, 65, said Saturday night he was 180 miles from the cape.

Radio operators were also unable to contact an Argentine naval vessel and a British ice patrol ship that were trying to rendezvous with Chichester.

Newsman tried to fly over the waters but their plane could not get south of Cape Horn.

LUCK NEEDED

"You need a great deal of luck to get around the horn," Chichester said before sailing from Sydney, Australia, Jan. 29. "I'll get round or bust," he added.

There is only one navigation light at the cape and Chichester was reported planning to pass as far as 100 miles south of it to avoid any chance of running aground.

Chichester reached Australia Dec. 12 after what was believed to be the longest solo sea voyage in history — 13,700 miles from Plymouth, England, around southern Africa to Syd-

Rule Handcuffs Law Officials?

NEW YORK (AP) — Some admitted killers and rapists walk the nation's streets today because of a Supreme Court decision sharply limiting the use of confessions in trials.

Police and prosecutors say they are handcuffed. State legislators talk of new laws to redress the balance of justice, but concede that such statutes might be declared by the highest court to be unconstitutional.

A presidential crime commission studied the problem and seven of its 19 members said the situation calls for amendment of the Constitution. A Senate Judiciary subcommittee studying the implications of the court's 5 to 4 decision last June 13 has received similar suggestions. But some lawyer witnesses opposed a constitutional amendment, saying a future court might soften the ruling.

CLARK OPPOSITION

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark told a House Judiciary subcommittee he was against any such attempt to override the court.

"I doubt that anything approaching a case has been made for that at this time," said Clark.

Rep. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, introduced in the House a bill authorizing the appointment of "masters of examination" to supervise interrogation of suspects by federal law enforcement agencies. He said it could serve as a model for state legislatures to consider in revising criminal codes.

SPECTACLE

"We must not be faced with the spectacle of the acknowledged criminal freed merely because a policeman is unable to guess how five judges of the Supreme Court will vote on a particular issue," said Taft.

Concern over the situation came to a focus on Feb. 20 when Jose Suarez, 22, a New York factory worker, was set free despite his confession that he slew his wife and five children.

Across the country, there have been many similar cases involving murder, robbery, rape or kidnapping.

MIRANDA ISSUE

The Supreme Court decision came on an appeal by Ernest A. Miranda, 26. He was convicted of kidnapping an 18-year-old girl from a street in Phoenix, Ariz., driving her into the desert and raping her.

In ordering a new trial, the majority opinion written by Chief Justice Earl Warren said Miranda's constitutional rights had been violated and laid down this set of guidelines:

"The prosecution may not use statements, whether exculpatory or inculpatory, stemming from custodial interrogation of the defendants unless it demonstrates the use of procedural safeguards effective to secure the privilege against self-incrimination."

SILENT RIGHT

"Prior to any questioning, the person must be warned that he has a right to remain silent, that any statement he does make may be used as evidence against him, and that he has a right to the presence of an attorney, either retained or appointed."

Justice Michael Kern of the New York State Supreme Court decreed that by these rules Suarez must go free. His confession was the only evidence against him.

Said Justice Kern: "Even an animal such as this one, and I believe this is insulting to the animal kingdom, must be protected with all the legal safeguards."

FOURTH FREEDOM

"It makes one's blood run cold and any decent human being's stomach turn to let a thing like this out on the street."

Suarez was the fourth man freed in New York murder cases since the beginning of 1967 on the ground that they had not been advised of their right to counsel before they confessed.

Similar cases have been reported in other states.

Vietnam War Chiefs Begin Talks In Guam

GUAM (AP) — President Johnson's avowed intent to focus his Guam conference on the works of peace clashed today into a call by Premier Nguyen Cao Ky for a sharp escalation of the Vietnam war.

Johnson also got a report from his own close advisers that the Communists are doing some escalating of their own.

At the first formal conference session, atop the highest hill on this damp tropical island, Ky in his opening public statement questioned whether the time had not come for the United States to bomb Hanoi, block the harbor at Haiphong and expand the war into Laos and Cambodia.

NO ESCALATION?

The public expressions of such questions made it apparent that Ky thinks the United States should do all those things. But both Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, meeting with newsmen after the session, emphasized repeatedly that there was no discussion of escalation. Rusk contended that Ky raised his questions only in the context that Hanoi is unwilling to seek peace.

However, both McNamara and Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, said Johnson was told that the fighting in South Vietnam is becoming more intense and the Communists are stepping up the tempo of their offensive operations.

TEMPO UP

McNamara said the chief executive's military advisers reported: "The tempo of the war has increased significantly in recent weeks but, despite this fact, they believe the trend of the war is in our favor."

He said the Communists are using new weapons — rockets and bigger mortars — and are making an unsuccessful effort "to seize the initiative."

"The enemy is by no means beaten," said the defense chief, "but he is no longer capable of winning a military victory."

LODGE JOB

Rusk, McNamara and Westmoreland said several times that the afternoon of talk produced no discussion of sending more American troops to Vietnam—above those already planned—or about specific military measures.

Rusk made one announcement to newsmen: He said Johnson will nominate Henry Cabot Lodge, who is resigning as ambassador to Saigon, to be a full-time ambassador at large, a sort of diplomatic troubleshooter. In that position he will change places with Ellsworth Bunker, who is replacing him in Saigon.

PEACE HUNT

Rusk said the emphasis in the first round of talks was on the civilian side — political processes, pacification, economic matters. He said talk of military affairs was confined to a brief report.

He stressed twice that, as he sees it, the government of South Vietnam is in full accord with the search for peace.

McNamara said despite the new Communist offensive moves, their efforts have been unsuccessful, their morale is suffering and their losses are running 60 per cent higher than a year ago.

RED LOSSES

Westmoreland said that in the past year, Communist losses from all causes have doubled, the number of prisoners taken has increased fourfold, defectors have doubled, their losses of weapons are two and a half times higher, and only half of their 150 maneuver battalions are fully combat effective.

Johnson had indicated in advance that his main purpose at the Guam conference would be to discuss the works of peace. He told the opening session of the two-nation conference that more effective efforts are required on all fronts — military, social, economic and political.

Cargo Will Call Special Session

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — state operations in fiscal 1967-68, a bill to prohibit below-cost sales of liquor and a proposed income surtax.

Both the House and Senate recessed to await Cargo's return.

Cargo returned Sunday night from a governors' conference in Washington, D.C., and said he would call the session, restricting it to the general appropriations bill and property reappraisal. Significantly, he said he would not ask for any liquor legislation.

Before Cargo's arrival, the New Mexico House of Representatives became snarled by parliamentary procedure after Rep. Finis Heide, D-Lea, entered in the House journal the correct time and date alone with a charge the chamber was meeting illegally.

The Legislature was due to adjourn at noon Saturday but clocks were stopped and the lawmakers went into no-pay overtime work struggling with a record $186.6 million general appropriations budget to finance

The North Texas State University "Lab Band."

Other officers elected included:

Two Viet Cong Battalions Attack Green Yankee Force

BAU BANG, Vietnam (AP) — Two crack Viet Cong battalions hurled themselves at a smaller, untried American armored unit today but were smashed in a dazzling display of American firepower and maneuverability.

Only three Americans were killed, but the enemy left 224 bodies on the battlefield.

One senior American commander said the Viet Cong may have had more than 800 dead and wounded.

GRAVE GAMBLE

A Communist force estimated between 1,000 and 2,000 men apparently gambled on a lightning strike that would quickly overrun the 300 Americans and their armor and artillery positions 31 miles north of Saigon. But a mass grave dug by a bulldozer was the fate of scores who rushed the U.S. 9th Division positions moments after a mortar attack lifted.

The Communists screamed "Americans die" and Vietnamese battle cries as they streamed out of the nearby woods. American commanders shouted commands as their men fought like pioneers of a frontier wagon train under Indian attack. U.S. planes and ground reinforcements turned the tide. The enemy drove to within 15 yards of the American firing line before bullets, bombs and artillery crushed the attack.

They destroyed two armored personnel carriers, damaged six others, hit six tanks, none seriously, and shot down a U.S. jet bomber.

SCREAMING GI

Thirty-one Americans were wounded, nine of them in the two personnel carriers gutted by fire. A 10th man died when he was unable to pull himself from his flaming vehicle before ammunition inside began exploding.

"He was screaming horribly," one tanker said. Others said the cries of other American wounded filled the night air during the first confusing minutes. Nearly all of the wounded were hit in the first few minutes by the mortar fire.

The mortar attack opened at 12:40 a.m., and by 1:20 a.m. the Viet Cong infantry was attacking. The climax came about 2 a.m. when American jets appeared overhead and two more troops of armor came to the rescue.

DEADLY CLUSTERS

The Air Force, using deadly antipersonnel bomb clusters, continued hammering the enemy around the American position and later along jungle escape routes until noon.

Blood trails left by Communists hauled from the battlefield by their comrades were up to a foot wide and stretched out from the American positions by the scores like wheel spokes.

S. Sgt. George Hua of Hawaii Island said he and his three-man tank crew were hit by two heavy machine guns just after the mortars stopped.

OUT OF AMMO

"We threw every kind of ammunition we had at them. Every time a flare popped in the sky, we could see them coming and fired harder," Hua said.

His tank ran out of ammunition at one point, but for some reason the Viet Cong didn't or couldn't exploit their advantage.

Later, when the tank had been resupplied, Hua was firing his 50 caliber machine gun from a crouch when a blast knocked the gun from its mount. But Hua got only a small shrapnel cut on the hand.

Hua's tank took nine direct hits from mortars and recoilless rifles. His driver was hit in the chest and neck but refused to stop for treatment until the fighting died down.

Sgt. Robert A. Tydingco of Guam commanded a personnel carrier which had a gaping hole smashed in its front by a Communist rocket.

SPRAYING, PRAYING

"I could see them five or 10 feet away from me," he said. "I didn't have any (American) closer than 300 or 400 meters (325 to 433 yards) on my flank. I was firing my M79 (a grenade launcher) so fast it got too hot to hold."

Then he switched to another weapon.

"I just kept spraying (bullets) and praying," he said.

Lt. Col. Sidney Hazard of Needham, Mass., led two troops of armor to the rescue. He was slightly wounded on the elbow by shrapnel when the relief column was hit. A rocket explosion tore a gaping hole in his driver's stomach. Their armored personnel carrier was knocked out.

Brig. Gen. James Hollingsworth, assistant commander of the 1st Infantry Division, flew to the scene and awarded a Silver Star to Capt. Raoul Alcalá of San Antonio, Tex., commander of the armored troop that first came under attack.

Indians Gig Uncle Sam

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The United States was accused in the Indian Parliament today of trying to influence India's national election last month, of attempting to undermine a local youth organization and of aiding the defection of Stalin's daughter Svetlana to the West.

Foreign Minister M.C. Chagla quieted the shouting opposition members temporarily with a promise to give a detailed statement Tuesday on Miss Stalin's flight from New Delhi to Rome March 7 after she sought asylum at the U.S. Embassy.

But he and Finance Minister Morarji Desai were then subjected to a series of questions about the activities of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency in use of the U.S. Embassy's huge rupee fund, acquired through the sale of food grains to India.

George Fernandes, a Socialist who defeated pro-American S.K. Patil in the Bombay parliamentary race, referred to disclosures in the U.S. press that CIA funds had been given to various U.S. and international organizations. One of the groups named was the International Youth Center in New Delhi. "Is the government aware of these disclosures?" Fernandes asked. Chagla replied it was but that "such activities are not normally capable of verification." Chagla added he understands the CIA "had not directly financed any Indian organization. It is reported to have given money to foundations which have been financing organizations in India. The organizations have been innocently receiving the aid not aware of its CIA origination."

ACAPULCO, Mexico (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy was reported upset Sunday when a boatload of photographers cruised close to the private home where she is vacationing.

The photographers reportedly appeared while Mrs. Kennedy was having breakfast beside the pool.

Fernando Parra Hernandez, her host, said he assured Mrs. Kennedy the photographers would not invade her privacy again. Boat owners were threatened with a 15-day suspension of their licenses if they take pictures close to the Parra home.

Mrs. Kennedy, her children, Caroline and John, and her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill, are vacationing at this West Coast resort.

Minister-Father Of 34 Expires

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A minister whose three wives bore him 34 children died Saturday at Strong Memorial Hospital here after an illness of two weeks.

He was the Rev. Willie L. Anderson, 62, pastor of St. Luke's Missionary Baptist Church in Rochester for more than 20 years.

The Rev. Mr. Anderson, twice a widower, fathered 22 sons and 12 daughters, including one set of twins. The eldest child is 37 and the youngest 3½.

Before coming to Rochester, he served churches in Cleveland, Ohio, his birthplace; Thomasville, Ga.; Tallahassee, Fla., and Niles, Mich.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠A6 ♥K5 ♦K73 ♣AKQ887

Your right hand opponent opens with one spade. What do you bid?

A.—Double. While the double of one major suit usually invites partner to compete in the other, you have no alternative bid available since the jump overall is now employed as a preemptive bid. If partner responds with two hearts, you can try two no trump inviting him to go on with a smattering of values.

Q. 2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠AK108 ♥3 ♦AJ95 ♣KJ104

Your right hand opponent has opened with one spade. What do you bid?

A.—Pass. There is no safe course of action available to you. A double would probably elicit a heart response which could be very embarrassing. A trap pass is recommended and if the opponents proceed incautiously, you may have a subsequent opportunity to lower the ax.

Q. 3—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠KQ5 ♥KQ5 ♦AKQJ72 ♣8

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East

1♦ Pass 2♣ Pass

3♦ Pass 3♥ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Four no trump. This is the type of hand on which a Blackwood call is in order. The limit of the hand is to be decided entirely by the number of partner's aces. In view of his two level response, it is safe to assume that he has at least one.

Q. 4—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠843 ♦A9862 ♣AK854

The bidding has proceeded: East South West North

Pass 1♦ Pass 1♠ Pass

2♣ Pass 2NT Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Three clubs. It is a cinch we don't like no trump, and some further action is indicated. The most expedient choice is the club rebid for, despite the mild spade fit, a raise in that suit at this level would be far too drastic on this minimum holding.

Q. 5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠QJ93 ♥AK87532 ♦Q ♣4

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East

1♥ Pass 1♠ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Two spades. With only three spades a heart rebid would be clearly indicated. But holding four of partner's trumps the raise is preferable even with minimum high card values. Your hand will make a very convenient dummy since the heart suit will most likely prove available for discards.

Q. 6—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠AQ1083 ♥J ♦AJ82 ♣104

The bidding has proceeded: West North East South

Pass 1NT Pass 3♣

Pass 4♣ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Five diamonds. Partner's raise following his opening no trump bid is encouraging and prospects for slam are bright. In fact, if he follows up with another forward going bid, such as five hearts, six spades should prove to be in the bag.

Q. 7—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠A10872 ♥A5 ♦Q10986 ♣4

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East

Pass Pass 1♦ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Four hearts. You have passed an optional opening bid and drastic action is, therefore, called for with this splendid fit. The jump shift, even after a previous pass, is forcing for one round and diamond support will be shown at your next turn to call.

Q. 8—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠AK872 ♥K54 ♦K ♣AK32

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East

1♥ Pass 2♥ Pass 3NT Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Four hearts is acceptable to us we have a leaning toward a pass of three no trump as partner's high card values are pretty well marked to be in spades and diamonds. In any event, his failure to indicate substantial strength in hearts puts a marked limit on the offensive possibilities of this hand.

TEXANS AT WAR 'Burial' Helps Save Austin GI

By The Associated Press

To save him from the onrushing Viet Cong, a Vietnamese medic bound the shrapnel wounds of Robert Thielepape with mud and cloth and buried him—or at least made him appear buried.

"I would have bled to death," says the young Texan at war, "if it hadn't been for that Popular Forces medic. The Marine medic had been killed."

TEXAN KILLED

Actually, all the other Marines—including another Texan, Cpl. Phillip Brannon, 19, of Odessa—in Thielepape's ambush patrol had been killed by a wave of Viet Cong which struck from the rear at midnight, outnumbering the combined Marine and Popular Forces patrol 12 to 1.

Between midnight and 5 a.m. Thielepape was knocked out of his bunker by grenades twice, and once knocked unconscious for 10 minutes. He is credited with killing up to 30 Viet Cong before a second grenade hit ridled him with shrapnel.

'SHALLOW GRAVE'

A few minutes later, the Viet Cong overran the post, but did not discover the lone surviving American in his "shallow grave."

At dawn, the Viet Cong had withdrawn and friendly troops found the young corporal from Austin and rushed him to medical attention.

He has since been discharged

Trustees Reject Head Start Deal

GAINESVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Gainesville Independent School District will not participate in Project Head Start this year.

Trustees have voted to not allow buildings of the district to be used for Project Head Start classes either. One elementary school was used in the program during 1966 summer classes.

Head Start, a federal program for the deprived pre-school children, includes reading and number readiness, music appreciation and art activities. One of the objectives of the program is to teach children to get along with others.

New Street Lights Contract Approved

GAINESVILLE, Tex. (AP) — New vapor street lights will go up in this city at the rate of 125 per year.

City councilmen approved a pact with Texas Power & Light Co. recently to replace present street lighting with a more modern system. TP&L estimates it will take at least five years to replace the present incandescent system.

Mao's Troops Kill Farmers

HONG KONG (AP) — More than 200 farmers in Wei An, in Fukien Province, were killed when pro-Mao Tse-tung troops opened fire on anti-Maoists, the anti-Communist New Life Evening Post reported today.

Quoting arrivals from Foo-chow, the capital of Fukien, the paper said the anti-Maoist farmers stormed a commune in Wei An to steal grain.

In protest against "the Communist troop brutality," the paper said, farmers in Wei An refused to go to the fields for spring planting.

The newspaper report could not be confirmed by other sources here.

The Hong Kong Star reported a Communist gunboat had captured 40 anti-Maoists trying to flee from Canton to Hong Kong in a boat. The English-language newspaper said the information came from wall posters in Canton.

The pro-Mao New China News Agency claimed widespread support for a Maoist order for the Chinese army to intervene in China's industry.

The order was issued Sunday, accompanied by hints it was designed to oust anti-Maoists entrenched in the nation's major industries. The army was ordered earlier to take a similar role on farms to help sow the spring crop.

UN Unit Sets
Out For Aden

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A U.N. special mission sets out for the British territory of Aden today in the face of threats from anti-British politicians that its arrival will set off widespread terrorist violence.

The mission is to recommend ways for the United Nations to help prepare and supervise an election before the British pull out of their foothold on the Arabian Peninsula next year. It might help prevent a war over Aden between Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Republic.

SHEIKHDOMS

The chairman of the mission is Ambassador Manuel Perez Guerrero of Venezuela. The other two members are Ambassadors Abdussattar Shalizi of Afghanistan and Moussa Leo Keta of Mali.

They are to confer with British officials in London this week, interview Adenis living in Cairo and Jiddah next week and reach Aden April 1 for an indefinite stay.

Aden is now part of the Federation of South Arabia, made up of local sheikhdoms and developed since 1958 under British tutelage. Its minister of civil aviation, Hussain Ali Bayoomi, is secretary-general of the United National party, which has Saudi Arabian backing.

TERRORISM

Afghanistan, Mali and Venezuela, the members of the mission, all voted last June 15 for a committee resolution stating the federation "an unrepresentative regime." But in a week-end declaration they said they are prepared to visit any place and "meet with any representatives of the people who might wish to address it."

The most vociferous opposition to the federation, the Front for the Liberation of Occupied South Yemen, has announced it will boycott the mission and that a wave of terrorism timed for the mission's visit will bring the federation to its knees.

DALLAS (AP) — The facelift on the old red Dallas County Courthouse, built in 1890, will almost reach the original cost.

The renovation will cost $500,000. It cost $650,000 to build. The county has a new courthouse but the space in the old one still is needed.

Give special dancing lessons, grooming.

In a three-day period it carried two of its greatest actresses working in graceful complement to each other as well as one of Broadway's classic musical comedies with the queen of the musical stage in her original role.

The NBC treats started with Friday night's "Anastasia" with Julie Harris and Lynn Fontanne. The 90 minute drama, adapted for television, suffered considerable in passage. The viewer was never given enough time to become really acquainted with either the troubled girl who agreed to pose as the Russian czar's daughter—Miss Harris—or the dowager empress portrayed so movingly by Miss Fontanne.

"TARZAN" STAR

But the structure—even the workings of the plot to steal the imperial fortune if the old empress could be persuaded to accept the girl as a long lost granddaughter—was almost unimportant. The performances of the two fine actresses was the important thing.

By coincidence, Friday night on NBC was a sort of Julie Harris festival. Shortly before "Anastasia," she appeared as guest star in "Tarzan," of all things. Miss Harris playing a missionary captured by savages, gave the role the same concentration and artistry that she used on the more serious effort.

PACE CHANGE

"Annie Get Your Gun" also was reduced to a miniversion so it could be squeezed into 90 minutes including commercials. But it was handsome, gay and as bouncy as all those great tunes Irving Berlin wrote more than 20 years ago. Ethel Merman perfectly at home in the role she created, and handsome Bruce Yarnell and his fine voice backing her up, it was a fine, amusing change of pace.

NBC also tossed in a documentary for good measure—"Whose Right to Bears Arms." Sunday night. It revealed nothing new in the current controversy over the restricted sale of arms. But it did make dramatic points with statistics.

The program raised the question about stronger gun legislation, and spent considerable time on activities of the National Rifle Association which opposed strict federal regulation of firearms purchase. It offered no solution to the problem. Recommended tonight: Perry Como Show, NBC, 9-10 EST. Easter program with Woody Allen and Connie Stevens as guest stars.

Adam Delivers 'Love' Message

BIMINI, Bahamas (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell delivered his "victory speech" on Palm Sunday but not to his huge congregation at Harlem's Abyssinian Baptist Church.

Instead of a pulpit, Powell spoke from the white coral steps of the Bimini Hotel. The message was brotherly love.

Some 72 hours before he delivered the sermon, Powell announced he had "reluctantly" decided against returning to Harlem for Palm Sunday. He said he was staying on the island because he feared his possible arrest in New York would bring violence and rioting.

At the Harlem church about 10 members of a black nationalist group who call themselves "Mau Mau" stalked out when the associate pastor, David N. Licorish, warned of "extremist elements in our midst."

The Mau Mau members had distributed leaflets at the door proclaiming their readiness to "prevent Adam Clayton Powell's arrest."

British Pilot Returns For Visit With Farrow's

Webb AFB is a mite greener than it was when I trained here with Class 53-F," explained Flight Lt. Roy J. Davey, of Britain's Royal Air Force. The lieutenant was in the Big Spring area visiting Mr. and Mrs. Warren A. Farrow — his first visit to Webb since he graduated from pilot training while participating in the Mutual Defense Assistance Pact.

Lt. Davey came to the United States in November, 1966, to train in the C-130 at Sewart AFB, Tenn. He is assigned to the 242nd Operational Conversion Unit, RAF Station, Thorney Island, Emsworth, England. Visiting Webb's pilot training facilities especially interested the lieutenant because he is an instructor pilot in England. His training duties involve converting British pilots to multi-engine aircraft.

The RAF is currently converting multi-engine training to the C-130. The lieutenant will ferry a C-130 back to England late this month. After his graduation from Webb, the lieutenant flew Sabre jets with the 2nd Allied Tactical Air Force in Germany. When his tour was completed he was a jet instructor pilot in Swindley, England. The RAF trains its jet pilots in the Vampire T-11. Other assignments included a tour at the RAF's Central Flying School and another as a jet instructor pilot.

Lt. Davey was a newly commissioned officer of 18 when he came to Webb in 1952.

"The Farrow's were second parents to me during my stay in Big Spring," he explained. "I've looked forward to an opportunity to visit them and Webb again." The lieutenant now resides in South Hampton, England, with his wife and family.

DAKAR, Senegal (AP)—William R. Rivkin, 47, U.S. ambassador to Senegal and Gambia and former ambassador to Luxembourg, died Sunday of a heart attack.

Death Claims 'Mom' Farley

HOUSTON (AP) — Mrs. Cal Farley, whose late husband founded Boys Ranch in the Texas Panhandle, died Sunday night.

Her death at Houston's Hermann Hospital occurred exactly one month after that of her husband. She was 66.

Mrs. Farley had been in poor health for several years and suffered a heart attack Jan. 10. She entered the hospital here only last Wednesday, however, for what was considered a checkup.

Hundreds of men graduated from Boys Ranch near Amarillo knew her as "Mom," the little woman who helped her husband establish that institution in 1939.

Farley, formerly a professional wrestler and baseball player, and the former Mimi Fincher were married at Amarillo in 1924.

She also helped run his small tire shop and a busy chain of gas stations and retail stores in to which it grew before Farley retired to devote full time to Boys Ranch.

Well-Wishers Present Gifts To Well Victim

VOTAW, Tex. (AP) — Two-year-old Theresa Fregia had a doll bigger than herself to play with today, a gift from the man who plucked her from death at the bottom of the old well beside her grandmother's back porch.

All day Sunday, strangers pulled up at the weatherbeaten, tin-roofed house in this town of 300 in the Big Thicket country of southeast Texas. They sought out Theresa and photographed her where the well used to be. The giant crater the rescuers dug has been filled and smoothed over.

Excited "Oh, she's so excited," said her grandmother, Opal Allen. "But just like any other child, she didn't realize what it was all about. She just thinks she's having a good time."

Many of the visitors brought presents for the little girl with the big brown eyes — apples, oranges, candy, cookies, a stuffed rabbit.

DEATH FEARED The gift she liked best was the big doll from Ransom W. Bill Jr. of Houston. In Saturday's

Thieves Get Light Hauls

Three burglaries and four thefts were reported during the weekend.

Pollard Chevrolet, 1501 E. 4th, was entered through an east window and $107 in silver was taken from soft drink and cigarette machines. An employee at Whiteway's Cafe, 904 E. 3rd, reported that an undetermined amount of change had been taken from the cigarette machine.

A. L. Axtens, 1200 Wright, reported the theft of 50 feet of copper tubing, valued at $20. Hosea Banks, 1106 NW 7th, reported the theft of a tire and wheel from behind his car which he had left in his yard.

Mrs. Willard O'Neal, 3608 Calvin, reported Sunday that four TV trays and several tools had been stolen from the store room in her carport.

Larry Frick, 2105 Warren, reported the theft of four wire wheel covers valued at $63 while his car was parked at his residence. Michael Burleson, 1702 Runnels, reported a boy's bicycle was stolen from the residence.

Award Winning Reporter Dies

HOUSTON, (AP) — Neil A. (Bill) Addington, 42, award winning reporter for the Houston Post in Austin and formerly for the Santa Fe New Mexican, died early today.

He had been ill several months and at M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute here since Feb. 16.

Survivors include his widow; four children, Kandis Louise, 16; Michael Terrance, 14; Kerry Lynn, 12, and Kathleen, 4; and his mother, Mrs. Fred Boyd of Topeka.

WAITING FOR RESULTS

Jimmy Griffin made these candid photographs of local high school and junior high school bandmen Saturday, as they waited to compete in the ensemble and solo contests at Midland Lee High School in Midland. Patricia Bogard and Charles Macklin kept track of the results of the keen competition between 1,400 school bandmen from all over West Texas. Big Spring accounted for a large majority of the high ranking winners, who will compete at the state level in Austin June 4-6.

Big Oil Tanker Seems Doomed

LANDS END, England (AP) — Calm seas today increased the chances of hauling a leaking American supertanker from an offshore reef, and thousands of tons of its crude oil cargo floated away from British beaches and out into the open sea.

As salvage crews renewed their efforts following an Atlantic storm, coast guardmen said the prospects of refloating the 123,000-ton Torrey Canyon were still slim. A major worry was that the tanker, even if freed from the rocks, might break up and pour all its 120,000 tons of oil into the sea.

BELIEVED BIGGEST
The Torrey Canyon is nearly 1,000 feet long, bigger than many ocean liners, and is believed the largest ship ever wrecked in British waters in peacetime. It is owned by the Liberian-based Barracuda Tanker Corp., a subsidiary of the Union Oil Co. of California.

About a quarter of its cargo has already seeped through a hole in the tanker's hull and has formed an oil slick 15 miles long. The slick covers 70 square miles of water and is more than a foot deep in parts.

Miles of beaches in Cornwall and the Scilly Isles, as well as seaside resorts in Ireland and France had been endangered. Prime Minister Harold Wilson ordered a major navy operation to protect the beaches. Three ships sprayed the oil slick with thousands of tons of detergent, and naval officers said the oil appeared to be dispersing in some areas.

Lodge Lands New Position

GUAM (AP) — Henry Cabot Lodge is getting a new diplomatic post as ambassador at large.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk told newsmen today that President Johnson will nominate the outgoing ambassador to South Vietnam for what amounts to an assignment as a diplomatic troubleshooter.

Lodge thus will change places with Ambassador at Large Ellisworth Bunker, Lodge's successor in Saigon.

Rusk said Lodge will work fulltime and will be much involved with Vietnamese and Southeast Asian affairs but will be available for trouble shooting chores anywhere in the world.

Lodge, 64, has served two terms as ambassador to Saigon. He was first appointed by President John F. Kennedy in 1963 and stayed until June, 1964, when he returned to the United States to join moderate Republican forces in an unsuccessful attempt to prevent Barry Goldwater from getting the party's presidential nomination.

CAP Holds Lake Camp

Sixteen members of the Big Spring Composite Squadron, Civil Air Patrol, participated in a survival bivouac at Camp Ed Murphy on Lake J. B. Thomas during the weekend. The encampment is part of the cadet training program for young persons, 13-18 years old.

The group, under the command of 1st Lt. E. L. Mulkey, left Webb AFB Friday and returned to Big Spring late Sunday evening.

Airman I.C. David Hammon, of the Webb AFB Hospital Survival Training Unit, was flown from Big Spring to Lake Thomas to teach the class on desert and mountain survival by 1st Lt. George Andrews, operations section.

The encampment was the second in a series of four required for the cadet to graduate from the program, according to Warrent Officer Kenneth D. Lawhorn, information officer.

The next encampment will be a field trip to Fort Worth, to tour the General Dynamics aircraft manufacturing plant.

Standard Oil Co. of Texas will dig the No. 1-5 T. L. Griffin as a Reinecke (Pennsylvania) field location in Borden County. It is projected to 7,300 feet, six miles northwest of Vincent and 1,067 feet from the south and 1,506 feet from the east lines of section 60-25-H&TC survey.

Texaco Oil Co. will dig the No. 2 J. O. Reese as an Ackery field location in Martin County. It is projected to 8,800 feet, seven miles southwest of Ackery and is 660 feet from the south and 1,978 feet from the west lines of section 36-35-T3, T&P survey.

American Petroleum Co. of Texas will dig the No. 2-C W. R. Read as anlatan, North (Clear Fork) field location in Howard County. It is projected 3,100 feet, six miles east of Coahoma and 990 feet south and 330 feet west of section 48-30-T1, T&P survey.

TWO DOZEN
Dist. Atty. Arlen Specter of Philadelphia predicted that two dozen confessed slayers would escape punishment in that city this year because of the Miranda ruling.

Said Specter: "I think we ought to stop complaining about it and do our best within the limits of the Miranda rule until we have a chance to relitigate it by taking another case up to the Supreme Court on the same subject."

Charles E. Moylan Jr., state's attorney for Baltimore, said he saw no chance that state legislation would be effective "since no single act of a single legislature could affect the U.S. Supreme Court."

AMENDMENT
Moylan noted that a bill proposed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Judiciary subcommittee, to admit voluntary confessions as evidence would apply only to federal courts.

"If the McClellan law passes, however," Moylan said, "this would have some persuasive weight in terms of the Supreme Court's attitude."

"It might even be a precedent to press for a constitutional amendment to permit us to do nationwide what McClellan would do for the federal courts alone."

The New York State Legislature is looking to a legal commission to suggest changes in the criminal code. The commission will report next year.

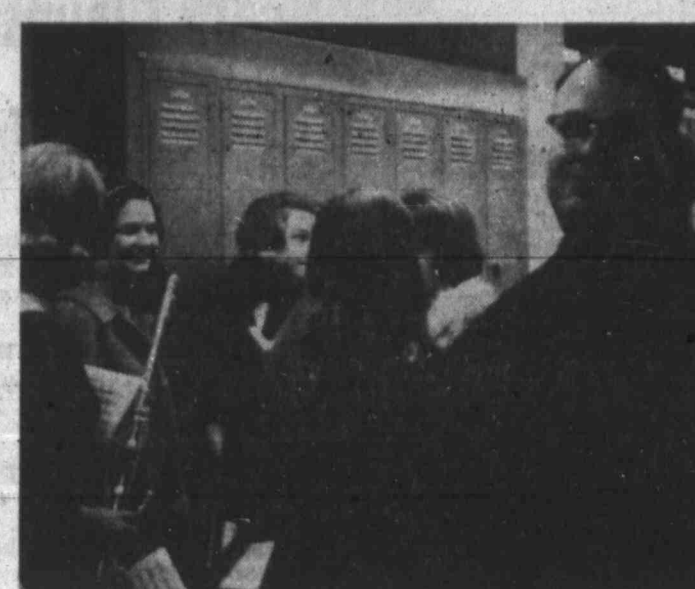

Commission Chairman Richard J. Bartlett of Glens Falls said "rulings on the admissibility of confessions are so recent and so unsettled that for anyone to suggest statutory or constitutional change is premature."

First Trial Gets Started

Carol Ann Scaggs, charged with theft from a person, was on trial today in the 118th District Court. Her case was the first on this week's jury docket called by Judge Ralph Caton.

A jury was being qualified to try the woman at noon. Evidence was slated to begin this afternoon.

Judge Caton said that 15 of the 140 men and women on the jury list called for duty failed to report when their names were called.

He said that he would issue citations for the arrest of these 15 persons and bring them before the bar. Those without a highly plausible excuse for not answering the court's summons will be fined $25, he said.

At the outset today there were 73 jurors left on the list. These were the panel members still on the list after those legitimately excused had been stricken.

Of the 73, only 58 were in the courtroom when Judge Caton opened court.

Others were excused until only 44 remained to serve in the trial of the Scaggs case and other matters slated for disposition this week.

River Bill Is Signed

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally signed into law today a bill adding four counties to the Middle Sabine River Navigation District.

Upshur, Van Zandt, Smith and Wood counties would be added to the district, created by the 1965 Legislature to bring barge traffic up the Sabine River from the Gulf of Mexico.

The original district was composed of Gregg, Rusk, Harrison and Panola counties.

Sponsors of the bill were Sen. Jack Strong of Longview and Rep. George Hinson of Mineola. It goes into effect at once.

Another bill signed by the governor would allow Texas breweries to import ale and malt liquor from outside the state for repackaging and distribution to other states.

The bill, by Rep. John Allen of Longview, passed the House 143-2 on Feb. 21 and was approved by the Senate 26-1 on March 2.

Allen said the bill is necessary to allow breweries to receive imported ale and malt liquor in bulk, then break it down into odd-sized containers for sale outside Texas. He said the Schlitz Brewery at Longview asked him to introduce the bill, which will apply, in all, to eight breweries and will bring in $8,000 a year in state revenue from additional license fees.

The measure goes into effect Sept. 1.

Connally also signed bills raising the bonded indebtedness limit of Dallas County from $135 million to a percentage of the assessed property valuations, which, in effect, would be a limit of $300 million, and removing Glasscock County from counties exempted from laws governing the sale, use and transportation of herbicides.

The indebtedness bill, sponsored by Sens. George Parkhouse and Jim Wade, both of Dallas, is effective at once. The herbicide bill, sponsored by Rep. Gene Hendrix of Alpine, becomes effective 90 days after the legislature adjourns.

Lake Elevation Is Unchanged

Elevation of Lake J. B. Thomas was unchanged at 2240.14, almost 18 feet below spillway, but .4 of an inch fell at the dam and .35 of an inch at the Big Spring-Odessa intake. Other reports from the Colorado River Municipal Water District showed .50 of an inch at Morgan Creek pump station 12 miles northeast of here, and the Big Spring pump station north of town, and .40 of an inch at the Martin County pump station.

LSD Called Rot In Human Soul

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dealing with LSD will be the biggest problem in California education of the near-future, says the state superintendent of public instruction.

Dr. Max Rafferty told about 1,200 public school administrators Sunday that policies must be devised to combat the hallucinatory drug. He termed the problem "dry rot in the human soul."

Rafferty spoke at the opening session of the annual convention of the California Association of Secondary School Administrators.

Agrees To Go Back

Samuel Frazier Searcy, 31, wanted in Arizona to answer a charge of car theft, told Aubrey Standard, sheriff, today he was willing to waive extradition and return to Arizona.

Standard said he had notified the Phoenix officers of Searcy's decision.

Searcy was first arrested by the city police. He was held in jail there until his attorney, George Thomas, brought a petition for writ of habeas corpus in his behalf.

This writ lead to his removal to the county jail, where Standard filed a charge of defrauding an innkeeper against the man. He pleaded to this charge and was sentenced to 15 days in jail and costs. This was on March 2. He has just about served out the 15 days and costs, the sheriff said.

Rubinfoff Will Play In C-City Tuesday Concert

COLORADO CITY — Rubinfoff and his violin, once in the national spotlight on the Eddie Cantor radio show, will be featured here Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in the Colorado City High School auditorium. The Kiwanis Club is sponsoring the appearance of the renowned artist-showman.

Dave Rubinfoff has appeared on stage, radio and television, and he will be playing his $100,000-insured Romanoff - Stradivarius violin. He has included in his program here Chopin's Polonaise, Warsaw Concerto and the Gershwin Rhapsody in Blue. He is a graduate of the Royal Conservatory in Warsaw, Poland, and came to this country as a young man. His violin, noted for its silken, lustrous tone, was made in 1731 and found its way into the hands of the Romanoffs, one-time rulers of Russia. During the revolution, the instrument was smuggled out of Russia and eventually was purchased by Rubinfoff. He plays the Warsaw Concerto with such force that at times he exerts 60-pounds pressure on the instrument.

Pests Gulp World Food

ROME (AP) — Half the food produced in India is wasted by rats, rot, birds and insects, the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization reports. It estimates the world average loss of food to pests is at least 20 per cent. The wastage is greatest in regions of Asia, Africa and Latin America where hunger already is the worst.

Even at 20 per cent the loss means this: where there should be enough food for five persons to eat, one will starve. Or, if the available food is divided equally, all five will be undernourished.

When the loss reaches 50 per cent the results become starkly tragic.

The estimate of India's loss was given to the FAO regional conference for the Far East by the Indian government.

That loss, in financial terms, is equal to about twice India's national budget.

Part of the loss comes while crops are still in the fields, but the greatest waste is during storage and transport after the harvest.

Even in the United States, where food protection and storage systems are highly advanced, rats alone destroy 5.3 million tons of grain a year, FAO reported. That, however, is only about three per cent of U.S. production.

Barnes Willing To Compromise

AUSTIN (AP) — Speaker Ben Barnes says he plans to talk compromise with House sponsors of the $1.25 minimum wage bill.

The bill was heard Thursday afternoon by the House Labor Committee, then was referred to an apparently unfriendly subcommittee of West Texans from rural areas.

Barnes told a news conference today that the biggest objection to the bill could be removed by taking out farms not already covered by the federal minimum wage law.

Dear Abby

Keep Your Guilt Secret

DEAR ABBY: Your answer to "DON'T KNOW," as to whether to tell her fiancé about a previous "indiscretion" was misleading. You said, "If he asks, tell him the truth. Otherwise keep quiet; he may never ask."

May I quote Father John Egan, an eminent pre-marital counselor, who had this to say on the subject: "Neither partner has the right to burden the other with guilty knowledge. To do so is cowardly, as it attempts to share a burden that belongs to the 'guilty' one alone, and could lead to an unhappy distrust that might spoil the marriage. Better that each should presume, in charity, that each enters marriage with a clean slate."

Call this self-delusion if you will, but I have been assured by other sources that it is more conducive to good mental health than to "tell all."

AN M. D. IN SAN RAFAEL

DEAR ABBY: I think I can improve on your answer to the girl who had a boy in her past named Bernie and was marrying a boy named Ernie. If Ernie asks her what went on between her and Bernie she should tell him it's none of his business.

And if he gets tough about it, she should tell him to get lost. Any man who would insist on knowing a lady's past would be a devil to live with.

EXPERIENCED

DEAR ABBY: You should have told DON'T KNOW who was afraid her fiancé would ask her some embarrassing questions about her past to answer in this way: "Don't ask me any questions and I won't ask you any, O.K.?"

BEEHIVE

DEAR ABBY: If you let a person go ahead and think something that isn't true, isn't that the same as lying? I don't agree with you that the girl shouldn't tell her boyfriend everything about her past because he thinks she's a "nice" girl, and she really isn't as nice as he thinks she is.

After all, even if she made only one mistake, she's not pure anymore, and she should have to pay for it. HIGH MORALS

DEAR ABBY: If you want it straight from the horse's mouth, ("jack-ass" would be more like it), here it is: Don't tell your future husband anything. I made the mistake of answering all his questions and now I am the sorriest woman on earth.

Oh, he did me a favor and married me anyway, but he has never let me forget it for a minute. If I had it to do all over again I wouldn't have been so honest. TALKED TOO MUCH

DEAR ABBY: I think you erred in telling the bride to confess her one mistake — IF HE ASKS. He may ask, but he really doesn't want to know. A confession would help to ease her guilt, but what a price for HIM to pay!

Men are like children. And you wouldn't give a child that which would hurt him just because he asks for it, would you? I should know! Tell her to lie, and to let him keep his precious illusions. That's HER punishment for her sin, not his! KNOWS

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

CARD OF THANKS

Our most grateful thanks are extended to all the people in Big Spring, the military friends at Webb, and our Jordanian friends, for the wonderful help given us in our hour of loss. The expressions of sympathy and the kind deeds were of utmost comfort and we pray God's blessings upon all of you.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SEC. B. BIG SPRING, TEX., MON., MARCH 20, 1967

Rain Roams Across Texas

Thunderstorms loosed welcome moisture on crops and pastures over much of North, Central and East Texas today, then spread south and east.

At least one death was blamed partially on the rains—that of Mrs. Annie Mae Burgess, 65, of Douglas, Tex., whose car was smashed up during a rain near Nacogdoches early today.

TORNADO
The rainfall developed on the heels of turbulence generating at least one tornado, gusty winds, hail and scattered showers Sunday in parts of West Texas.

The 24-hour rainfall totals ending at dawn showed 1.90 inches at Nacogdoches, 1.36 at McKinney, 1.20 at Red Oak, 1.17 at Cresson, 1.16 at Burleson, 1.15 at Crandall and .96 at Kaufman. Dallas' .73 of an inch from the storm was the heaviest moisture since last Oct. 4—but still left the city more than five inches short of its average rainfall for the time of year, a situation reflected over and again through Texas.

A tornado watch was up for much of the Panhandle-Plains sector until nightfall and the lone twister destroyed a farmer's barn at Hub, near Hereford.

WINDS ROAR
Winds gusting up to 60 miles roared through Morton, near Lubbock. Small hail stones pelted areas around Plainview and Ralls.

As much as an inch of rain fell in a place or two. For some points, including Dallas, the moisture was the heaviest since last October.

Nowhere was there any word, however, of enough precipitation for appreciable relief from drought which has nearly destroyed some wheat crops and caused some livestock losses.

RAIN IN ANGELO
Rainfall amounts ranged up to an unofficial 1.04 inches at one point in San Angelo as lines of thunderstorms and broken areas of showers roamed across the state. San Angelo's official gauge caught .75.

Measurements elsewhere included Fort Worth .83, Junction .74, Dallas .73, Abilene and Mineral Wells .63, Wichita Falls .60, Big Spring .47, Midland .42, Lubbock .32, Lufkin .27, Tyler .23, Amarillo .22, College Station and Waco .18, El Paso .16, Austin .06, Longview .04 and Del Rio .01.

WEAK FRONT
Temperatures remained unusually mild, ranging from 38 degrees at Dalhart up to 70 at Corpus Christi.

A weak Pacific cool front dropped temperatures a bit in the Panhandle but promised to have little other effect.

The last of the showers were expected to subside in East Texas by tonight.

Missing Texan Washed Ashore

PORT O'CONNOR, Tex. (AP)—The body of Larry Lauritsen, 20, missing with his brother and father since March 11, was found washed ashore near Decas Point Sunday.

The three men, including Larry's brother, Donald 27, and his father, A. H. Lauritsen, had been missing since they took off from their home near El Campo for a flight to the Matagorda Bay area.

Heavy fog was in the vicinity of their destination. The crashed aircraft was found several days later off Matagorda Island. Bodies of the father and the other son had not been found at a late hour Sunday.

Beaumont Hospital Completion Slated

BEAUMONT (AP) — Plans and specifications to complete a sixth floor of St. Elizabeth Hospital are in the working stages, according to Pitts, Mebane, Phelps and White and their associate architect, Doug Steinman Jr.

The outside walls and roof of the sixth floor were completed when the hospital was built and is presently a shell.

It was originally designed to accommodate 57 beds, nursing stations, utility rooms, kitchen and other necessary facilities. An estimate made in 1964 listed the costs of completing as $400,000.

'Inside' Stock Duel Continues

NEW YORK (AP)—Government enforcers and Texas Gulf Sulphur Co. were set to renew today their duel over alleged "insider" stock dealings and the Texas Gulf 1964 ore discovery near Timmins, Ont.

Four hours were set aside in the U.S. Court of Appeals for a debate important from Wall Street to Toronto's Bay Street and beyond. It involves interpretations of a 33-year-old law and rules against "manipulative and deceptive devices."

The Securities and Exchange Commission wants the three-judge court to upset Dist. Judge

Dudley Bonsal's decision last Aug. 19 that Texas Gulf and 10 of its officers, directors or employees did not violate securities laws.

The company's lawyers dispute Bonsal's ruling that Texas Gulf's secretary and a Canadian mining engineer benefitted unfairly by inside information.

VERBATIM
Arguments before the appeals bench usually go unrecorded, except through printed legal briefs. This time, however, the court is permitting a verbatim stenographer.

As a visual aid, the SEC is providing a three-dimensional plastic model of the Kidd township scene where Texas Gulf struck it rich in April of 1964, drilling through muskeg into the Canadian shield.

The SEC wants to convince the court that Texas Gulf wronged the public in a news release April 12, 1964, indicating that drilling was "not conclusive" and public evaluation was "premature."

ADVANCE TIP?
The public included 65,000 Texas Gulf shareholders. Four days later, the company announced the ore strike. The stock price rose from around $30 to $58 by the end of April in 1964. It closed last Friday at $103 3/4.

Wacky Hat Prizes

MUENSTER, Tex. (AP) — Prizes in the annual Sacred Heart High School "National Hat Day" contest were as wacky as the hats worn by students. Prizes included, such things as a cabbage head for the largest hat, the most beautiful hat, the craziest hat and the most original hat. Students made their own hats for the special day.

Sewer Program Bids Revealed

PORT NECHES, (AP) — R.B. Butler Inc. of Bryan is the apparent low bidder on the Port Neches sewer plant and the Texas Gulf Coast Construction Co. Inc. of Houston is apparent lowest bidder on all other major items in the Port Neches $2 million-plus sewer improvement program.

In the program is installation of sewer mains and collections lines, lift stations and other companion facilities.

The 15,000 population-capacity sewer plant will be built on a site obtained from Jefferson Chemical Co. southwest of the city.

Completion of the program will eliminate the necessity of having to dump raw sewage into the Neches River. Port Neches is the only remaining city of its size in the state without sewer treating facilities.

Nonprofit Home For Aged Okayed

BEAUMONT (AP) — Beaumont Home for the Aged, Inc., known locally as Sabine Oaks, 1495 Pennsylvania, has been accepted as a member of the Texas Nursing Home Association.

H. W. Graff, president of the board of the home, will serve as representative of association activities.

Sabine Oaks is a nonprofit custodial home for the aged and not a nursing home.

Texans Blast Power Plant

SAIGON (AP)—Maj. Samuel H. Martin, 35, of Texas City, Tex., and Capt. Buddy L. Bowman, 28, of Blackfoot, Idaho, were among pilots who flew raids Sunday against the Nguyen thermal power plant 38 miles north of Hanoi, the Air Force said today.

The two men, in Thunderchief jets, flew through low clouds, light drizzle and mist to drop 500-pound bombs.

"At times the flight to the target could be compared with driving a car along a winding road at 100 miles per hour during a night thunderstorm," Bowman commented.

A Devotional For The Day

Verily I say unto thee, Today shalt thou be with me in paradise. (Luke 23:43)

PRAYER: O Lord, help us to face this day with confidence. May we rely upon Thee in faith; confident Thou canst turn any defeat into victory. In the life to come may we know the joy of richer fellowship with Thee. In Thy spirit we ask. Amen.

Protect Your Children

Renewed emphasis is being given care to prevent deaths by poisons, and properly so. Presence of medicines and other compounds, potentially lethal when improperly used, have long been hazards for youngsters. In an age when chemical magic is being applied to everything from animal protection to weed killing, it is imperative that control efforts be increased and improved.

Information concerning the observance of National Poisons Prevention Week points out that 500,000 children will be poisoned and more than 500 will die from accidental poisoning in their own homes during this year. Chances of a child under five years of age being accidentally poisoned this year are one in 38.

More than 90 per cent of all poisoning accidents involve children under five years of age — the "curious years" when children get around fast, are fearless, will put anything into their mouths, and are far too young to read labels and understand warnings.

We are warned never to underestimate the ability of our children to crawl, climb or reach almost anywhere.

Take this into consideration when handling, storing or disposition of medicines or household - farm products. This is certainly one area in which being safe will prevent being sorry.

Well-Meaning, Ill-Advised

A hearing is scheduled this evening in Austin on HB 307 which would prevent retailers and wholesalers from selling any type of goods or merchandise at less than an eight per cent profit.

While well-meaning, this is another of those "fair trade bill" efforts which crop up perennially. There are laws on the books which make it a violation of anti-trust statutes to sell items at a loss for the purpose of driving out competition. For instance, a super - market chain cannot cut prices unrealistically in one city for competitive reasons while absorbing this loss out of normal prices at other outlets.

But to dictate at what level a businessman can price his goods is impractical. He may have items which are perishable and need to be sold at whatever price it takes to move them. It would be better to sell at 50 per cent of cost than to absorb 100 per cent of the cost as loss because of inability to sell. Sometimes seasonal merchandise or low - demand merchandise needs to be moved out to make way for new inventory. The consumer, as well as the merchant, is beneficiary of this process.

The proposed bill seems to us to be unworkable and unwise.

Holmes Alexander Humphrey Vs. Kennedy In Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. — Was this trip necessary? I came here because Vice President Humphrey and Sen. Bob Kennedy staged what could be a preview of their battle for the mantle of President Johnson — when he's ready to discard it, that is.

Humphrey and Kennedy went far from their normal haunts to make back-to-back speeches before the National Farmers Union here in this swing-vote state, and to test their cross-country appeals. The contrast struck out strongly.

HUBERT HUMPHREY was trying to live something down, whereas Bob Kennedy was trying to build something up. The vice president's reputation as a yammerer, a radical and an appeaser still sticks in the craw of the old Southwest.

The vice president put his most dignified foot forward. He had to be dull in order to be sound. Banality was the order of his day as he told the left-leaning Farmers Union: "Good farm prices are good for America, good for American business, good for American labor, good for the American economy and good for the American consumer."

CALVIN COOLIDGE couldn't have been more bromidic. Humphrey made his biggest pitch for normalcy at a pair of background conferences. The impression he left must have been just what he hoped for—that of a cautious, capable, well-informed public servant who could easily make a private fortune except that he regarded the vice presidency as a higher duty—and was not looking beyond it.

If Humphrey came to soothe and comfort, Kennedy came to startle and command. Where the vice president played it heavy, but with a homey touch of the old shoe at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon, the New York senator with the Massachusetts accent played it portentously and a little zany.

HUBERT WAS going for the maturity stakes, and Bob was going for the futurity stakes. The senator wore his near-beatnik haircut, and he brought along his cattle goad and his gag book.

When he wasn't jabbing, he was gagging. When introduced by President George Cross of the University of Oklahoma, Bob remarked that Dr. Cross was "one of the friendliest presidents I've seen in a long time." He quipped that President Johnson, in their February meeting at the White House, had urged him to get a haircut and then proceeded with their conversation about a cease-fire in Vietnam.

KENNEDY'S sick - sick wisecracks that passed for humor here were methodically juxtaposed alongside the unfunny subject of making a living and fighting a war. Some newspaper persons remarked that Kennedy made us on Monday half of the comedy-skits he'd laid on for the Gridiron Club dinner in Washington over the previous weekend. One listener observed how easy it must be to be clever when able to hire a stable of gag-writers.

There were other indications that the senator rated higher as an entertainer than a statesman. Students applauded when he asked for a final peace bid to Hanoi before further escalation of the war. But when he called for a show of hands, local reports estimated that the students were stronger for bombing than for stalling in Vietnam.

THE CHOICE of a post-Johnson leader of the Democrats may have been indicated here. Humphrey did a lot better at living down his erratic past than Kennedy did in proving that he has a national destiny. It was an early trial, but one of which the political rail birds might well take notice.

Luxury Shopping

MIAMI (AP) — Wall-to-wall carpeting is only one of the unusual features of Bert's Grocery Store in suburban Coconut Grove.

Bert Albury also has installed sculptured Italian lighting fixtures and walnut paneling. Shelves are lined with paper lace doilies.

"I wanted to be different," says Albury. "I want to have a unique place. Well, I think I've got it—and the customers love it."

Other touches: Bert's carries French bread flown here within 24 hours after it leaves the oven in Paris, canned octopus, boiled quail eggs and fresh fruit from South America, Africa, Australia and Switzerland.

Chocolate-covered ants and caterpillars are a popular item. Albury finds it hard to keep them in stock.

Peace Hopes Look Bleak

WASHINGTON (AP) — Peace hopes for Vietnam look as bleak as a flag at half-mast.

Just as President Johnson was flying to Guam for a war conference with his top advisors, the North Vietnamese once more doused peace talk in a cold bath.

IN DOING so, they gave support to Johnson's critics at home although without the slightest hint they themselves will make one move toward discussion.

Not that Johnson is on a peace mission to Guam. The belief seems general the conference will produce an intensified war.

But at home he has been drenched in suggestions for getting talks started. He has spoken endlessly about this country's willingness to talk, on one condition.

THIS IS IT? This country will ease up on the war if the North Vietnamese will only give a sign they are willing to do likewise. They ridiculed this proposal Sunday in a broadcast.

Their foreign ministry rejected any peace talks, military de-escalation, or cease-fire unless the United States abandons what Hanoi calls its "policy of aggression." What does that mean? The broadcast didn't say.

But it did say: "To demand de-escalation and cease-fire at a time when half a million American troops are occupying South Vietnam is to demand that the Vietnamese people surrender to aggression."

THE BROADCAST, describing as "gangster's logic" the U.S. demand for a reciprocal gesture by North Vietnam before it will stop bombing the North, said this country must stop the bombing "unconditionally."

The North Vietnamese were laying down a condition of their own while giving no assurance they will do differently if the bombing does stop.

IN SHORT, they leave themselves free to do as they please.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., recently urged Johnson to stop the bombing unconditionally and wait—he was vague on how long—to see if North Vietnam right then want to reciprocate in order to get peace discussions started.

Johnson's answer to that is this: "The United States has repeatedly had bombing pauses, one of them 37 days long.

and Hanoi did nothing to indicate it wanted to talk.

IN THE past U Thant, secretary-general of the United Nations, had proposed a three-step plan toward negotiations: a bombing stop, military de-escalation by both sides, and discussions by all parties, including the Viet Cong.

Most husbands think their wives are pretty good at getting rid of money fast. But if you gave your wife a billion dollars and told her to spend it at the rate of $1,000 an hour for 12 hours every day, it would be 228 years before she came back and told you, "Honey, I'm broke."

Some Things Can Help A Bronchiectasis Patient

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband has bronchiectasis and is always tired but at times without any reason he becomes very fatigued, chilly, perspires and raises a dark, offensive sputum. He then soon raises some blood and this may continue for two or three weeks. At such times his arthritis is much more pronounced.

Isn't there any medication or treatment which would help him over these periods? Should he take a complete rest at such times? — M.T.S.

Bronchiectasis is an infection of the bronchial tubes along with dilation of the tubes which permits pooling of phlegm and pus, continued irritation, and consequently difficulty in breathing.

It can be treated medically up to a certain point, primarily with antibiotics to suppress infection and drugs which loosen the secretions and help the patient get rid of them.

In addition, postural drainage helps get rid of the purulent material — in essence, this means lying with head lower than the chest, so the phlegm can drain downward instead of having to be raised by coughing.

This can be of very considerable help at times.

When the condition cannot be controlled in this fashion, surgery may be considered. It is possible to remove the infected segments of the lung and rid the patient of the disease which is a debilitating one — as your husband knows.

It is not unusual for a chronic infection of this sort to flare up periodically as it does with your husband, but treatment only at the time of these flare-ups does not promise much success. Treatment should continue the rest of the time, too, to suppress the infection and prevent further attacks if possible.

Your question about "complete rest" does not lend itself to a flat answer. Extreme fatigue is Nature's way of saying that the patient needs some rest, and he ought to have it. But if by "complete rest" you mean putting him to bed, that does not necessarily follow. A physician, examining your husband at the time, can say more accurately whether bed rest is wise.

As we know from such things as early ambulation after operations, the body processes generally operate better when they are permitted (or even forced) to engage in at least limited activity. Breathing, digestion, elimination, circulation of blood and lymph all benefit.

At the same time, the patient gains nothing and usually sacrifices much if he tries to force himself into too much activity. Certainly a man with bronchiectasis, coughing blood and having chills, is in no condition to work. He ought to be at home resting — but not necessarily flat on his back. He might lie down for an hour or so (not forgetting that matter of postural drainage) and then get up, to sit and read, have his meals, and so on.

But please remember my earlier qualification: A physician seeing the patient can judge much more accurately how much rest is wise.

"Vitamin starvation" is possible even if you eat a lot. In order to check your diet to make sure you are getting necessary nourishment, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for a copy of the pamphlet, "Vitamins — The Alphabet of Health." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and five cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim

Protecting The Trademarks

One thing and another:

More and more words are having to be capitalized because they're becoming trademarks, which means we may all have to go back to class for a refresher course in spelling.

The law has concluded that many valuable trade names are being lost by becoming part of a language—just another word that anyone can use. That is what has happened to such once-famous trademarks as Aspirin, Mimeograph, Dry Ice and Kerosene, to name a few.

FOR THAT reason, American business firms are spending millions of dollars each year, just to remind the public to start certain words with a capital letter and thereby protect their products.

If you start the word Coke with a small "c," you likely will get a polite reminder from the Coca-Cola people. Words which have already been assimilated into the language cannot be claimed by manufacturers as their very own and treated with capital respect.

FOR INSTANCE, one industrial titan was denied trademark rights to the word "aluminum" and the owner of a food center was turned down when he sought exclusive use of the word "food center."

If the problem mushrooms, we may all have to adopt Latin as the mother tongue.

YOU CAN'T fault a taxpayer for trying.

Consider the case of the Midwestern who wrote the Bureau of Internal Revenue not long ago, copying the plea that he deserved a little tax relief.

His argument was that he had "invested" a couple of thousand dollars in a young lady, in an effort to negotiate a lasting marriage.

The marriage never came about, the petitioner lamented. He took the position that he was poorer for the experience, since he was not permitted to file a joint return.

HE THEN asked the taxing agency if he could deduct those expenditures as a business loss or perhaps a bad debt.

Let's see now: $10.50 for fillets and the floor show . . . $8 for roses . . . $2.50 for that taxi ride to the service station after I told her I had run out of gas.

HOW ABOUT this plaintive ad which appeared in the London Times' personal columns shortly after Feb. 14:

"Pamela Dewhurst announces she did not receive any Valentine cards this year."

Telling The Schools What To Do

WASHINGTON — Nowhere in the Constitution or in a Supreme Court decision or in an act of Congress is authority given to the federal government to tell the public schools what teachers they may select or otherwise to exercise control over the choice of faculty members of an educational institution. Yet the U.S. Commissioner of Education has just notified 17 state governments that, in effect, he intends to withhold federal funds unless they obey the rules he lays down.

THE CIRCULAR letter to the state school superintendents says that at least two Negro teachers must be assigned to predominantly white schools and two white teachers to each school where Negroes are in the majority. The objective is to start to achieve "racial balance," and each year hereafter the quotas will be increased.

Neither the Supreme Court of the United States nor any law of Congress since the Court's 1954 decision on segregation has commanded the schools to "integrate." The only word used is "desegregation," and the Civil Rights Act of 1964 defines it as follows:

"DESEGREGATION" means the assignment of students to public schools and within such schools without regard to their race, color, religion, or national origin, but "desegregation" shall not mean the assignment of students to public schools in order to overcome racial imbalance.

Congress, however, is doing nothing about the flagrant violations of the law that are involved in stretching the word "desegregation" to include the assignment or selection of teachers.

THE "DESEGREGATION" decision of the Supreme Court in 1954 ruled that the assignment of students in public schools solely on the basis of race is in violation of the Fourteenth Amendment, which guarantees "equal protection of the laws" to all citizens. The decision did not say that local school authorities cannot use other criteria in the assignment of pupils, and the Civil Rights Act of 1964 specifically provides that nothing in the law "shall prohibit classification and assignment for reasons other than race, color, religion, or national origin." But if a local board permits students to choose which school within the district they will attend, the same rule has to be applied to all, irrespective of race or color.

SELECTION of teachers, however, is the prerogative of a school district. The U.S. Department of Education, on the other hand, has virtually taken over the educational system. Will the choice of textbooks for the classroom come next?

Some idea of what is happening can be gained by a reading of the testimony of Duane J. Matthews, Minnesota's commissioner of education, who told the House Education and Labor Committee this week that many federal education programs are being injured by "a mixture of politics, bureaucracy and increased control and direction from the U.S. Office of Education." He added:

"FROM WHAT I have experienced, all ideas and innovations relating to education, good ones that is, don't originate in the U.S. Office of Education, and they never will. There is need for significant additional state responsibility and authority with regard to the administration of federal education legislation."

Demand For Workers Continues

NEW YORK (AP) — The present economic slowdown is very clearly shown by a half dozen indicators. Curiously, though, the nation's employment figures show little change at all. They remain strong.

At 3.7 per cent, the jobless ratio in February remained steady for the third month in a row, dispelling some of the feeling that it sank that low in the first place merely because the nation was over-producing.

This interpretation no longer seems to have weight. It now seems that the rate of unemployment during the past year, low as it was, really didn't give an adequate measure of the intense demand for workers.

THE EVIDENCE seems to indicate that even more workers could have been employed if they had the proper skills. But, since these jobs went unfilled, the demand was channeled into overtime hours instead.

This overtime still averages more than three hours a month in manufacturing but is now dropping. Its existence, however, is still a cushion against layoffs. Hours are cut before jobs are eliminated.

The most serious blemish on the sparkling job figures is the rate of non-white joblessness—7.1 per cent compared to 3.3 per cent for whites. This is a serious, persistent problem, with consequences throughout society.

ASIDE FROM this major problem, the outlook for the immediate future seems to be good also, despite the slowing of the productive pace. In fact, there is some slight evidence of even more pressure on employers to find workers.

The National Industrial Conference Board's help-wanted advertising index, a sensitive measure which dropped in January, has now begun to climb again.

THIS INDEX measures the volume of classified job advertisements in 52 major newspapers across the country and is considered to accurately measure business conditions.

Comments the board, a non-profit, independent, largely business-supported organization: "Gains in the index have usually been followed by dips in the unemployment rate; declines in the index have been followed by increases in unemployment."

This lends weight to the belief that employers, in personnel matters anyway, are looking beyond this slowdown to the eventual upturn.

THE FACT is that the great majority of analysts today mix their forecasts of a near term slowdown or adjustment with a glowing forecast for the latter part of the year.

There seems to be, in other words, a feeling that the adjustment will simply be the penalty to pay for the next advance.

There is increasing evidence that companies are stockpiling workers for this expansion. Campus recruiters are said to be especially active and competitive for this year's graduating classes.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

"The Lyndon B. Johnson who met with the press Thursday was a restrained, forthright and unpretentious man," wrote The New Washington Bureau chief Robert Baskin.

The President, in his most recent press conference and his nationally televised State of the Union message, has taken the calm, dignified, down-to-business approach that shows him at his best. In doing so, he has abandoned the high-pressure, rostrum-thumping speaking techniques that have marked previous presidential speeches.

Lately, he has given mudslingers the presidential attention they deserve—that is, none whatever. And by responding to the detractors of his "style," with calm and dignity, he has elevated his own standing in the public eye, even as the detractors reduced their own.

If the noisy fracas over the Manchester Book has done nothing else, it has demonstrated conclusively that the American people respect and appreciate a chief executive who can act with restraint and responsibility under extreme provocation.

The President of the United States has more serious work to do than publicly answering personal attacks in kind.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Fireplace Can Be Cleaned

Dear Heloise:

After working seven years with a commercial and residential cleaning firm, I believe I have the solution to cleaning smoked fireplaces.

Most stores sell what is called art gum erasers. These are ordinarily used to erase charcoal drawings.

Buy yourself a couple and just start erasing . . .

These erasers work especially on porous rock fronts. On smoother stone or brick fireplaces, use a little water.

Mickey E. Hood places, after using the art gum and getting all of the smoke off that is possible, it can then be washed with a strong solution of tri-sodium phosphate. We use one-half cup to one gallon of water.

Well, by golly, it works.

However, I have just quit cleaning ours. I learned to open the damper properly, how to use various woods and fire starters that cause the least amount of smoke, etc. One thing about it, folks, if you've got a little smoke above the hearth, it shows you use and enjoy that fireplace! . . . Heloise

Dear Heloise:

For adults who want a little added flavor to dry cereals, try sprinkling a teaspoon of instant coffee over the cereal before adding the milk.

It's very tasty and is a welcome change to the old routine. . . Verda Allen

Dear Heloise:

Please tell the folks that when they store their overshoes to be sure and take one sheet of newspaper, crumble it up and stuff it inside!

The newspaper will absorb the moisture and save your overshoes. . . Reader

Dear Heloise:

Here is the way I shorten my machine-knitted skirts on knit dresses:

I put the skirt on and while standing in front of a mirror, pull it up to the desired length.

I put a string or belt around my waistline and mark along this point with a piece of chalk.

After removing the skirt, I zig-zag two rows loosely along the mark and cut the excess off above the stitching.

Bias facing may then be put on the skirt to make a heading and elastic run through this.

By using a zig-zag attachment, it allows the material to stretch and the threads won't run. . . Bubbles Quinen

Dear Heloise:

One more use for nylon net. Apply liquid soap to white sidewall tires and scrub with nylon net.

This makes nylon on nylon so there is no damage to the tire. . . Female Tire Washer

A LOVELIER YOU

Develop Sane Policy For Eating, Exercise

By MARY SUE MILLER

Have you ever reduced and then gained weight almost immediately thereafter? It's not an uncommon experience. Nor is it a happy one.

If you wish to stay trim, you must have a sane policy of eating and exercising. Suggestions follow:

Keep track of your daily calorie intake and weigh weekly. When you gain as much as one pound, reduce your daily count by at least 300 calories. By so doing, you soon will learn the count that maintains your ideal poundage. And that's the best insurance there is against creeping gains.

Always use the largest share of your calorie allotment for the protein and vitamin foods. Everything lovely about you, including your figure, depends on it.

If party and weekend fare are your downfall, diet on one convenient day during the week. For breakfast have juice, one boiled egg and thin slice of diet bread toast. Lunch on cottage cheese and a raw apple. At dinner take one slice of lean meat, a serving of steamed carrots and a half grapefruit. The saving may not make up for a splurge, but it helps.

Make a habit of daily exercise — any kind that fits into your routine. If you don't think you need it, try to sit down on the floor and rise without using your hands.

While keeping in shape, keep in mind that your plan is for today's Eve the modern, healthful way of living.
